GENERAL STRIKE MOVEMENT IS SWEEPING WESTWARD; B. C. UNIONS CONTEMPLATE WALKOUT

Workers in Victoria Take Vote On Going Out in Sympathy With Winnipeg Strikers—Results Are To Be In by Sunday Night.

CABINET CONSIDERS LABOR TROUBLES.
Ottawa, May 27.—The industrial situation in the west was under consideration at a meeting of the Cabinet council this morning, which lasted from 11 o'clock till practically 1:30. There were fifteen members of the Government present, Sir Robert Borden presiding.

Reports submitted showed that a number of the postal employees in Winnipeg have returned to work. All is quiet there, according to information received by Major Gen. Mewburn, minister of militia. The 27th Battalion, C. E. F., has arrived in Winnipeg and been demobilized. So far, there is no indication of serious trouble.

Following the meeting of the council, Sir Robert Borden announced that he hoped to make a statement in the House this afternoon respecting the situation.

Vancouver, B. C., May 27.—The general strike, in progress more than a week in Winnipeg, spreading during the last 24 hours to Calgary and Edmonton, Regina and several small districts, seemed today about to sweep into British Columbia. Last night it was announced from Victoria that the trades council had decided to call for a strike vote in sympathy with Winnipeg strikers, the results to be in by Sunday night. In Vancouver the strike movement has been initiated by labor leaders, who said, however, they view with apprehension what might occur should it be found necessary to call upon the militia in the strike-affected areas. Several unions here, it was said, have strike votes in preparation for a week, but no results have been made public. Acting President McConnechy of the Postal Workers' Union declared the Vancouver union did not purpose to take any radical action without deliberate consideration.

In Edmonton, the general strike was but partially effective Monday. Sixteen hundred votes favored the Edmonton strike, leaders announced, and 500 opposed.

MAYOR GRAY SAYS TERM "REBEL" SUITED TO ONE LABOR LEADER
Winnipeg, May 27.—Extreme bitterness marked the city council meeting last night. The word "rebel" was used twice.

The council adopted a resolution to provide that any employee on strike prepared immediately, and commencing on Thursday, to desert the strike, should be considered a deserter. The council also adopted a resolution to provide that any employee who is guilty of word "rebel" as applied to any person connected with the strike, should be considered a deserter, and that he be expelled from the city.

REGINA TO BE NEXT TO JOIN IN GENERAL STRIKE MOVEMENT
Regina, May 27.—Regina will be in the throes of a general strike by Thursday, judging by indications at meeting of the trades and labor council last night, when it was unanimously decided to take a strike vote in sympathy with Winnipeg. Expectations are all that the vote will be in the affirmative. The Trades and Labor Council have already voted to strike in sympathy. Clerks, however, are not organized here, so the strike will principally affect building.

WINNIPEG LABOR DELEGATES APPEAL TO REGINA WORKERS
Regina, May 27.—Regina labor unions will take a strike vote in sympathy with Winnipeg, all returns to be in by Wednesday evening this week. Two local unions, bricklayers and electrical workers, have already voted to go on strike in sympathy with Winnipeg. The situation in Winnipeg was outlined by delegate Eldrick and delegate Rogers from Winnipeg.

"The situation in Winnipeg is critical," said Mr. Eldrick. "The issue is clear cut, the workers are fighting for fair living wage for the recognition of the union, and for the principle of collective bargaining. If we fail in Winnipeg, the cause of labor will be dead in Western Canada for years to come. In order to inform the workers in other western centers of what is transpiring, messengers have been sent out. That is why delegates Rogers and I are here tonight."

Half of City on Strike.
"More than half of the population of the city of Winnipeg is either on strike or directly interested in the strike. The actual strikers number between 20,000 and 35,000. It is estimated that 100,000 out of the 200,000 inhabitants of the city are directly interested, either strikers, members of strikers' families or sympathizers."

Mr. Rogers stated the workers were much distressed.

"Everything has been done to discredit the workers," he said. "The committee of one thousand citizens is strong and while it does not constitute anywhere near that number of citizens it is backed financially and very powerfully. The men behind it are out to break the strike."

One of these representatives stated last night that breakfast was coming in the morning, the commercial telegraphers were voting tonight and the running train, the trainmen, were voting yesterday in Western Winnipeg.

New York, May 27.—Extension to that Italy was afraid to disband her army, because she could not employ the men and was afraid of idleness. Mr. Vanderlip quoted a British minister as saying, that means would have to be found to send six or seven million of Englishmen out of the British Isles, and closer to the food problem, as at present. He said that the printing presses in Petrograd were turning out masses of counterfeit, pounds, francs, marks, lira and pesetas, so that the money market was almost impossible. These counterfeits were being sent largely by Germany to Europe outside of Germany. He said that the most perfect laboratory of Bolshevism in Europe outside of Russia, was in Barcelona, Spain, which he declared was ruled absolutely by a mysterious secret council, which had caused the death of the newspapers until they quit publication, and by assassination, which no one dared to punish.

BREAD DELIVERY MEN IN CASE STRIKE BREAKS HERE

Customers to Buy Readily

Secretary of T. and L. Council Says There is "Nothing Doing" in Regard to a General Strike, But He Is Awaiting Word From Toronto as to Situation.

Bread delivery men were today warning their customers to buy in a stock of bread, as today's delivery might be the last for some time, as they were expecting word from Toronto to strike. If the order comes they say they will carry it out.

In spite of this, James Husey, secretary of the T. and L. Council, declared that regarding a general strike in this city, there was "nothing doing as yet." Mr. Husey has been appointed as a pro-conviction of the world as to give any information regarding the situation that the labor men see fit. He is also on the executive of the Trades Council of Ontario, and the executive of the trades and labor council here.

Word from Toronto has been expected all day, but until the time of the strike, the situation is not clear. Dr. Wood was struck on the side of the car and was thrown out of the car.

THIEVES ARE BUSY AMONG MOTOR CARS AND BICYCLE STANDS

S. J. Meredith's Auto Stolen From Clarence Street.

ANOTHER FOUND IN DITCH

Citizens Warned To Use Locks or Other Devices For Safety.

This is the usual daily automobile theft story. Only the scene of the robbery is different.

While a car owned by Stanley R. Meredith was conveniently waiting near the entrance to the Patricia Theatre last night, thieves stepped aboard and disappeared with it. The lock was picked with wire, a key known to the thieves. Police instituted a search today for the missing car and expect that it will be recovered.

AN EXCELLENT BILL AT THE MAJESTIC FEATURES MISS GISH

In Fine Comedy Full of Humor and Entertainment.

"I'LL GET HIM YET!"

Brings Out Star of the Silent
Drama in Her Latest.

An excellent bill is presented at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday of this week, featuring Dorothy Gish in "I'll Get Him Yet," a Harold Lloyd comedy and a scenic film. The vaudeville act is a high-class one, presenting a skit on Shakespeare and his works, which evokes a good deal of laughter from the audience, and a couple of comic songs.

Dorothy Gish, in her latest comedy, is a crum-fall of humor and the story is very entertaining. Dorothy Gish plays the part of Dussy Faraday Jones, whose father has put the Standard Railway Corporation in her name that she may, to some extent, dodge the heavy income tax of Uncle Sam. While she is running the corporation she puts some queer orders into effect, one of which forbids the through trains to stop at Riveria. This upsets the whole community in Riveria, and, thinking that the owner is a man, they dub him "Skindint Jones." A young man, Mr. Packard, by name, with several other men is smitten with Dussy, and then a reporter falls in love with her, too, but he is thrown out by her father.

Scoop's body and pride are hurt, and he tells Dussy that he is through with her. But Dussy is not so easily deterred, and she fairly drags her young lover off to the altar with her. She promises never to touch a cent of her father's money to appease Scoop, but forgets to mention she has a few millions of her own.

They go to live in a honeymoon cottage, which happens to be in Riveria, where the cars won't stop. Dussy could fix this, but she is afraid to reveal that she is "Skindint Jones." And then Packard, being jealous, fires Scoop.

Whereupon Scoop, financed by the Riveria Board, starts a rival paper, roasting the wicked railroad which doesn't even hesitate at Riveria. A committee is formed to go and see S. F. Jones and demand the stopping of the cars at Riveria. And Dussy is asked to be on the committee.

She can't refuse and makes a speech to her father, demanding that he let the cars stop at Riveria. Packard knows her real position and is about to speak when she says Scoop doesn't understand and is jealous.

The next day Packard calls on her, and she hides him in a closet; her lawyer comes on business, and she hides him in another closet; the superintendent calls to find out which of her rights about Riveria she meant, and she hides him just as Scoop enters. Scoop leaves, but comes back unexpectedly to see them emerging from their hiding place.

places and threatens to murder them all. Then Dussy confesses about the railroad and Scoop forgives her for this and for having five or ten millions, and station is built at Riveria and things run very smoothly thereafter.

This performance will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

MRS. HAWKER'S FAITH

LONDON, May 25.—Showing the faith of Mrs. Hawker in her husband's return, the Daily Mail prints a letter she wrote to Lord Northcliffe on Friday regarding his offer to divide the prize of $50,000 among the aviators' heirs. She said:
"While appreciating this as a very noble offer, I cannot and will not, as you know, believe that my husband is not alive."
Mrs. Hawker also wrote to the Mail the same day as follows:
"With firm faith in the power of God to succor my husband and his company, I have, with a lonely heart, I thank you for your generous offer. Whenever the time comes for my trouble to be relieved, among my happiest duties will be that of teaching my little Daniel that her father did not hesitate to venture all for the honor and glory of his country."

OLD LONDON'S HEART WARM TROUBLE FROM BEGINNING

Preparations For Handling Defective Water Circulating Enormous Crowds When System a Strain on Heroes Come.

THURSO, Scotland, May 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Harry G. Hawker and Lieut. Commander MacKenzie, who were warmly received today when they landed from a torpedo boat destroyer at the Seaboard pier, two miles from Thurso town. The parish councillors welcomed the rescued aviators officially.
"In the name of the people of Thurso," said Provost Mackay, "I offer you a warm welcome. I am glad to see you back in the arms of your countrymen. Your countrymen greet you warmly and proudly as heroic winners and aviators."
"It was at this landing stage that Lord Kitchener said farewell to the two men, and now we shall see them again," said Mackay.
Hawker replying, merely said, "I thank you for your kind greeting."
An official luncheon followed by reception.

A WELCOME IN LONDON.
LONDON, May 25.—An official reception will be given Harry G. Hawker and Lieut. Commander MacKenzie, the daring aviators who had been given up as lost, at their arrival in London tomorrow from Scotland. The reception will take place at the Marlborough Hotel, according to plans arranged today.
The police have made extensive arrangements to handle the enormous crowds which are expected to flock to the station to welcome the aviators. The reception will be brief as Hawker is expected to go immediately to his home in Thurso, and MacKenzie to his home in Thurso. Parents of Lieut. Commander MacKenzie, who had sent a message of congratulation to Mrs. Hawker, today sent a message of congratulation to Mrs. MacKenzie. Others who sent messages to Mrs. Hawker today were: Lord Admiral Kitchener, the American naval commander, the admiralty, air ministry and Royal Aero Club.

JUSTICE SUTHERLAND MAY BE LEADER OF ONTARIO LIBERALS

Represented North Essex in House of Commons For Ten Years

[Special to The Adviser.]
OTTAWA, May 26.—A question of a permanent seat for the Ontario Liberal party is the subject of very general interest in Ottawa. In 1871, when Hon. Edward Blake, then prime minister of Ontario, retired from provincial politics in order that he and Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, one of his closest friends, should devote their whole attention to federal affairs, a number of leading Liberals met to consider the question of a successor. It came to the conclusion that the best man for the position was Hon. Oliver Mowat, at the time and for some years previously, a judge of the High Court of Ontario. Mr. Mowat, at the time, was in the position of a justice of the peace, continued in office for about 25 years, subsequently becoming minister of justice at Ottawa and eventually lieutenant-governor of Ontario. Liberal success continued in office for nine years, thus giving the Liberals 31 year lease of office in the province.
The position of the Liberal party in Ontario is not parallel to that at present, but the same method of selecting a leader. It is understood that the members of the local "House" are giving consideration to the matter of leadership and they will readily unite on a man whom they may think would add strength to the efforts now being put forth.
The name that occurs to many people here is that of Mr. Justice Sutherland. Mr. Justice Sutherland was born on April 18, 1853, in the County of York, Ont. In addition to his judicial experience has had, like late Oliver Mowat, before joining the bench, a very considerable political career. He represented North Essex in the House of Commons for ten years, during which time he impressed the House in his capacity on judicial matters. He was unanimously elected Speaker of the Commons for one Parliament.

DANDRUFFY HEADS BECOME HAIRLESS

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to trip brush or wash it out. The only way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with your fingers. By morning, most if not all of the dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely solve and entirely destroy every sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching, itching of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel much better. You can get liquid arvon at drug stores. It is inexpensive and is all you need, no matter how much dandruff you have. A simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

"paid these dividends, which amounted to 21 per cent of the capital of the company. As long as such profiteering is permitted there will be trouble in the country, when a wage of $4 a day will not enable a man to feed and clothe his family. If the farming community is relieved of some of the burden it carries people cannot be kept off the land with a club." The debate arose when the Senate went into committee on the Government measure to provide $30,000,000 for demobilization and other purposes. The debate continues tomorrow.

Gouin's Fine Record Will Give Him Another Victory

The Quebec Legislature has been dissolved and elections set for June 23. Of recent years provincial governments have gone to the country with such assurance of being returned to power as the Gouin Liberal ministry holds today. And this certainty of success is based on splendid record of reform and progress. Under liberal governments, Quebec has moved steadily forward for twenty years, but it has been the Gouin administration which, more than any other, has advanced the general welfare of the province. Public health, education, agriculture, industry and commerce have benefited by wise, progressive policies. Building of colonization railroads and assistance in establishment of vast pulp and paper industries, harnessing of limitless water powers, good roads, new mining and lumber regulations that place stupendous natural wealth more under control of the people, while at the same time offering inviting prospects for investment and development, an advanced scheme of forest protection and conservation, this has been the Gouin Government has performed.

It has accomplished it, too, with clean hands, without looter kept out, and with wise and careful expenditure, as a handsome surplus.

One of the best acts of Sir Lomer was the taking of bankrupt Montreal out of the hands of a band of looters and incapables and placing it under control of a commission of experts responsible to the Government. Today Montreal, principally speaking, is "coming back."

In the last Legislature the Liberals held 74 of 81 seats, which some critics contend is an unhealthy condition, but the Gouin Government has so consistently made good on its promises of reform and progress within the limits of a strong opposition that it is quite likely it will be returned with another overwhelming majority.

Bolshevism On the Wane

Even should the report that Lenin has asked for an armistice prove an incorrect one, there are many signs that Bolshevism is a lost cause. Sweeping victories are recorded for the allied forces in North Russia, the Finns and Lithuanians are menacing Petrograd, Kolchak in the southeast is slowly winning his way to Moscow, and in Hungary the Communist Government is tottering. Germany, Poland and Rumania have pretty well rid themselves of the Red element. The torch of organized anarchy tossed into adjacent lands is sputtering weakly where it has not been extinguished. Without a continent-wide, if not a world-wide conflagration, Lenin and his followers are doomed to downfall. And when their inevitable surrender comes it will be necessary that the terms made by the peoples they have outraged shall be such as will make them incapable of further mischief. The Lenin Bolshevik must be treated with the same dose of free world forces on that other wrecker and destroyer, the Prussian junker.

The Old Timers Get Together

"Hello, Bill! Hello, Charlie! Darn your old hide! Put her there, oldtimer! There's the colonel! Got darn it, colonel, got to shake hands with me today! Look at Pete, over there! Got about three feet off that left kicker, eh, Pete! Well, you don't have so much to carry round, Pete! Cheer up, you everlasting grouser! Got this old left flapper of mine off at the elbow, but who needs a left arm now! The Buffaloes has gone out business."

The Rank Outsider remembered what the last part of it meant. The Buffaloes were an organization who always tipped the glass with the left hand back in the days of universal wetness and the Pan-American. The old-timers were gathered at the Princess Avenue School, and in all its kid pranks and carefree scamperings of the bygone days, the old "knowledge house" never saw such a crowd of grown-up youngsters before.

Several hundred members of the 18th had come from near and far for the homecoming of the unit. Most of them came home in the days before the armistice. They were the lads of the little parties who limped back from England and didn't hear much cheering. They were eventually discharged and scattered to the well-known fourteen points. They had not seen one another, except in rare instances, since they had been shot back in a hurry from the front line, prone on a stretcher or between a couple of comrades, eventually cleared for blighty and long periods of convalescence.

They were having the time of their lives. The male equivalent of Judy O'Grady was right up close with a colonel's lady's man. Everybody was calling Capt. Eddie Shuttleworth "Galloping Dick," because the name hangs to him as a sort of service badge. Col. Wigle was with his old men, and giving them a word that told of how long the "disbanded" 18th and the 18th spirit would last. Sergt.-Major Bill

White was constantly on the job, as he always has been, to find places for the boys who had a stiff knee or a more serious disability they will carry forever.

Old Fred Young—roaring as Old Bill must have roared at times—came along to join the throng and accelerate the spirit of 1914-15. The 18th never has any deadly monotony or pauses for want of conversation; it has a crowd of interesting men—men who have bucked life in many games and who have the easy confidence of their experiences. Tyros neither in soldiering nor in the more difficult pursuits of peace times, they are a merry and gay crowd, with a ready story or a song, and now a background of the inferno in France, with a library of incident and memories that will never fade.

One man sat in a motor car apparently unable to join the walking parade of old-timers as it moved away. He was "Charley," and not a man of the hundreds who passed but failed to give him a hail and a word. Whoever Charley was, whatever he did, he was "ace high" with the other survivors who came home before the unit.

It was a fine picture these comrades of the 18th made. Something deeper even than the old song about

Comrades, comrades, ever since we were boys,
Sharing each other's sorrows, sharing each other's joys, was in the spirit of that reunion. A day to be long remembered, indeed, and full of meaning for those old lives made new again. The Rank Outsider could only tell a curly-haired lad who watched it all with wondering eyes that "those were the kind of friends to have."

Prince of Wales' Visit

The visit to this country next fall of the Prince of Wales will be an excellent educational experience for the young man and an interesting and pleasant one for Canadians. The public will be glad to welcome and "show the sights" to one who has accompanied and roughed it with the Canadians in France, and who displayed a red-blooded activity on the various fronts within the limits forced upon him by his position. He will be welcomed and entertained more because of this recognition of his manliness and democratic ways than because of his destined occupation of the throne.

Royal tours of dominions have lost a good deal of their former significance now that we are partners, no longer colonials. No doubt this is the attitude his royal highness himself will take, and we should help him out by avoiding the lionizing that has turned some former royal visits into little more than a pageantry for the snobocracy of the land. The prince has learned by close contact with them how Canadians can fight. Now we will be enabled to show him our stupendous natural resources and how we work and play. Providing we don't crowd, cramp and bore him with too much kow-tow, he will go back convinced, as we are, that Canada is the prize package of the whole Empire, and that it possesses the greatest economic possibilities, the finest shooting and fishing and the prettiest girls in the world.

Canada's Title Precedent

By the way, it is interesting to observe that the hostility of Canadians to the bestowal of titles grows stronger with the increasing indulgence of the mother country in these tomfooleries. The further debate in the Dominion House of Commons last week showed that there was a practically unanimous feeling not only against the granting of any more titles to Canadians, but in favor of the abolition of such hereditary titles as are already held in the Dominion. The latter proposal presents some difficulties, and at the request of the Imperial Government it is left in abeyance, but no undertaking has been given that the King shall no longer confer either titles or "honors" on Canadians unless they are recommended by the Dominion prime minister—and in the present state of public opinion the Dominion prime minister dare not make any such recommendation.—From Truth, London, Eng.

How far-reaching may be the effect of the appeal against titles by Canada may be conjectured from the above comment in an English review that, ever since the day of Labouchere, has been truly worthy of its name. Truth usually knows the truth of things. It knows that the rest of the Empire is thinking seriously of titles, and that Canada will be distinctive for its rejection of "these tomfooleries." As a Toronto editor puts it, it may never again be said of a Canadian going into public service with a lavish display of bounties and an eagerness for service, that he is a mere "title chaser." Liberalism led the way to this epoch-making reform, a change in itself that should be reassuring to the turbulent masses in Canada, that a new day will come for this country, that as wealth has been told it cannot dominate by buying baubles of rank, it will be told that a mountain of dollars is not a Mammon before which the people of this land will bow down.

Australia shows signs of following Canada to the list of non-titled nations. Worthy of distinction as many British men have been, and worthily as many titles have been borne, there is yet a host of Britain's greatest and Canada's greatest, and the Empire's greatest who never have desired titles. In fact, it has become a greater distinction for a statesman to be clear of titles; he is the more titled who does not show any mark of rank.

Who knows but that one day before long His Majesty King George may smash all precedent in responding to the desires of his people by sending to Canada some great commoner like Asquith or Balfour to represent the bond of Empire in this country!

BRITISH POLICY AT PARIS.

[London Times.]
Has this country a definite policy in Paris? If it has, then it has been very clearly expressed. Mr. Lloyd George clearly inclines more and more to Mr. Wilson's views. But the "old gang" of diplomats sympathize with the French. On the whole, we get an impression of a compromise and bargain driving. Unless this country is frank with herself and the world, she will again deserve the old description of her as a "house of cards." This is no time for compromise, for a choice is coming between Bolshevism and Wilsonism, and the latter will win, in which this country can exert must be on the side of the latter.

A reader has asked for the words of Mother Shipton's famous prophecy, which dates from some time in the fifteenth century. The version of the original prophecy in doggerel rhyme was put into circulation by one "Charles Hindley, about 1862, including two verses, added by himself on his own confession. The remainder of the forecast has apparently been fulfilled.
Carriages without horses shall go,
And accidents will fill the roads with woe.
Around the world thoughts shall fly
In the twinkling of an eye.
Water shall yet be scarce, and wars do now,
Now strange, yet shall be true.
The world upside-down shall be,
And gold found at the root of a tree.

And this world to an end shall come

SOME OF THOSE TRITE PHRASES.

[Toronto Star.]
A headline in the press having referred to John Burroughs as "eighty-two years young," New York Life says: "Eighty-two years young" is a fine thing to say that every writer must call somebody eighty years young at least once. "It was," says Life, "a fine thing to say the first time, good the next ten times, fair the first few hundred times, but it begins to get a little stale." Other trite phrases which should be dropped are "acid test," "psychological moment," "common or garden." It is interesting to note that in Toronto the city editors seem to have put a ban on the word "commonplace," which a year ago was scattered over every page. No place in the language because it so well expresses so much, but it was being over-used to such an extent that several persons began to resent the sight and sound of it. After a well-earned rest it will probably reappear and take its place modestly among the serviceable words and phrases which this great war has lessened once preceding it have added to the always growing English language.

IS your library complete without a record of the victorious battles fought by our heroic Canadian Soldiers?

"CANADA at WAR"

In One Volume by J. Castell Hopkins and Capt. R. J. Renison (Chaplain 4th Infantry Brigade C.E.F.)

HERE, at last, is the book every real Canadian has awaited—a book devoted solely to Canada's part in the war—a complete book—written by two Canadians.

In the first part of the volume is the full story of what those at home—behind the fighting line—did. It covers everything from Red Cross work or Patriotic Fund Campaign to Victory Loan drives and munitions-making. And it records also all the battles in which our troops fought.

Masterly compiled and written by J. Castell Hopkins—the one Canadian best fitted to compile such a story. So declares Premier Borden in his introduction to "Canada at War."

In the second part of this volume is the most enthralling, most HUMAN, story of the war yet written. A message teeming with pathos and tragedy, humour and hope! Written on the battlefields by Capt. R. J. Renison as he marched with the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade from Amiens to Mons, "The Story of Five Cities" is a veritable epic which will thrill the heart of any Canadian.

The last chapter, "The Invisible City," is a masterpiece of literature that will be a consolation to all who have lost a loved one over there and an inspiration even to your children's children.

RURAL DECADENCE SPELLS SLOW NATIONAL DISASTER

Country Should Waken Up To This, Says Margery Mills, in Latest Article.

It is very gratifying to those of us who have this farm movement so much at heart to note the progress, to note the steadily-increasing number of rural folk who are awakening to a sense of their individual and class importance as a national factor. Along with this, we are dimly seeing that the "redeeming forces" must be the resident forces, that is, that any real "betterment of rural conditions" and the economic, political, must of necessity be attained through the actual work of the farm folk themselves. And the first step toward the realization of power.

Development of Power. Then there is the development of power. This ought to come only through education. It is only the man or woman of narrow vision who is always sure that his or her views are absolutely correct. A little knowledge is a dangerous thing, but as our vision widens and we are able to catch a glimpse of the nation as a whole, we become less dogmatic. We want to study carefully the views of those who are well acquainted with the national development. We must read all the different interests which make the great national interest, and try to find a system in which each shall have consideration in proportion to its value as a national asset. No demands that that class be discriminated against.

Organization of power—units, atoms are valueless unless their tiny strength be welded into the united strength of many such units. We see instances of this all about us in the world of nature. Organization of our forces so that our aims may be unified and brought under wise leadership is a necessity. This is being accomplished throughout the province—see, through the whole Dominion.

We have our national council of agriculture, with a clear-cut statement of aim and policy, to which we invite the attention of all thinking men and women, whether their personal interests be agricultural or not. Lastly comes co-operation. Our aim is to educate and develop the consciousness of rural power, and responsibility to use that power wisely, that through our organizations we may co-operate socially, politically and economically to the end that our goal may be reached. We would be glad to repeat that our emblem, the clasped hands of producer and consumer, and privileges to none, mean nothing else. No class in this or any other country is or can be an enemy of any or every other class. None has interests wholly its own; all are interdependent, and the only worthwhile interests of any class are those in which the whole of the nation is interested, and which, therefore, belong to us all.

Have Individual Rights. We certainly have our individual rights and interests, and must organize to protect the one and develop the other. But only the leaders who recognize that these individual rights are also national rights are safe to follow. Such leaders do not wish a blind following. They appeal to the intellect, not to emotion. They are not in a great hurry to see results. But they patiently and persistently do after day teach their principles, inspire their followers with something of their own broad vision and high aim, and some day their work will be approved by all.

For success we ask no more than this—To bear unflinching witness to the truth. All will be well. Success is ours unless it be the thought of a noble purpose to a noble end."—MARGERY MILLS.

These are the means of realization of power; these four are interdependent, no one by itself can be of any real value, but the four, working together intelligently, can accomplish anything worth while. Realization of power—social, political, economic, national status in the first two of these. Up to the present we have none.

The press indulges in caricature, state jokes, gibes, etc., to its heart's content and to the detriment of a multitude of thoughtless people. This is true, with very few exceptions. Very few of the papers published anything from our viewpoint; indeed, it is only recently that more than one or two of them knew we had a viewpoint at all. But economically ours is the most important of the callings of the day, which all others depend. That being true, national progress should be made for the furtherance of our industry economically.

Rural Decadence is Disaster. Rural decadence spells national disaster. There is no gaining that statement. Now it is possible to deny the fact that rural decadence is a disaster upon a very satisfactory basis. Now, since the "redeeming forces" are the resident forces, it behooves us of the farm-men and women together to use our united intelligence toward economic betterment. It is far more than a matter of personal concern; it is of vital national importance. Agriculture Canada is not being governed from any agricultural standpoint at all. The whole trend of legislation is for the benefit of another and altogether different class. What results our farmers have? Our intelligence, our franchise, fifty-four per cent of the federal seats are rural. And, in the risk of repeating and re-repeating further statements, I say these two must be used jointly.

My Belief. My belief is the means of personal expression upon the wisest course of national action—or it is less than nothing. The voter who degrades his vote to a piece of marketable trash, or the one who uses it without giving serious personal consideration, is a national personal consideration.

POPULAR VEGETABLE SHOULD BE EATEN IN SPRING FOR HEALTH

Asparagus Served in Any Fashion Is Delectable.

Asparagus is not plentiful, and too much cannot be eaten of this delicately-flavored vegetable in spring-time, as it abounds in those mineral salts which make it a veritable tonic. It is a prime favorite cooked in its own juice, but a little variety in its preparation will make it an even more appetizing dish.

The Most Popular Way. Cut the firm ends of asparagus into inch cubes, and put in to boil. Boil ten minutes. Then add the tips of the asparagus and cook just until they are tender. Or the asparagus may be tied together in a bunch and stood tips up in the boiling water until tender. The tips, which come above the water, are steamed and do not break up. Drain, dredge with butter, salt and pepper, and serve on buttered toast.

A cream sauce may be used if desired.

Asparagus Salad. Have mixed asparagus to be served with. The dressing is made as follows: Start with a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a pound of paprika and a dash of black pepper. Mix in tablespoonful of vinegar (white or cider), six of olive oil, one of sweet pickles, one of green peppers, one of parsley, chopped fine. This makes enough dressing to pour over the salad and also to serve in a bowl; everyone will want more.

Asparagus Loaf. Arrange asparagus stalks around a loaf of toasted bread, trimmed into shape desired, then pour a hot Hollandaise sauce over it. Asparagus should be eaten two or three times a week to really appreciate it.

Dainty Asparagus Basket. Arrange well-cooked asparagus stalks about a mound of chicken jelly, masked in mayonnaise, thus forming a dainty basket for the salad. Allow two asparagus stalks to meet over the top in each of the four sides.

Served With Planked Chop. Boil some thick chops on one side and arrange them crosswise overlapping each other on a hot buttered platter. Season with salt, pepper and melted butter. Cook in the oven for twenty minutes, basting with hot fat. Decorate with masked potatoes, asparagus tips and parsley. Return to the oven for a few minutes. Serve at once with brown sauce.

Another Salad. Arrange asparagus tips, which have been lightly dipped in vinegar, on a

Mr. and Mrs. John Elder of Hensall announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Grace Victoria, to Robert McKinnon, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Peck of Hensall. The marriage to take place early in June.

Captain and Mrs. T. H. Jones and their daughter were in the city from Guelph for the holiday to welcome home Colonel L. E. Jones, officer commanding the 18th Battalion and his wife. The bride presented colonel and Mrs. Jones with a lovely silver tea service.

The marriage was solemnized last week of Miss I. Tiffin to Roger Perry by Rev. H. D. McCulloch of Appleton. The bride was prettily gowned in white crepe de chine. Miss Lottie Perry was the bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Perry left on a trip for western points, and on their return they will reside in Appleton.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Banhart of 1111 Dufferin street, celebrated the 36th anniversary of their wedding day. A large number of relatives and friends gathered and spent the afternoon and evening in games and dancing. A sumptuous fowl supper was provided. During the evening Mrs. Banhart was presented with a gold ring, set with pearls, by Mr. Banhart. The sons presented Mr. Banhart with a gold Masonic pin, the bride with a gold watch, and the guests, Mr. Banhart made a fitting reply. Good music was furnished by Messrs. Banhart and Platt.

A recent meeting of the Trafalgar Chapter, held at the home of Mrs. G. H. Chapman, 1111 Dufferin street, was the occasion of a presentation to Mrs. Harding of a life membership pin in appreciation of her long and efficient service as treasurer of the chapter. The hostess, who is one of the oldest and most enthusiastic members of the chapter, was presented with a beautiful plant. At present the chapter is serving for the Royal Navy and already great many war front letters and other comfortable things have been served by the members, who are taking up the work with characteristic enthusiasm. The chapter recently gave a delightful evening party for returned soldiers at the recreation hut. Teatime and dancing followed, which was enjoyed by the men, to whom ice cream and cake were served, following the game. Mrs. Chapman has donated a beautiful cut glass basket to the chapter which will be drawn at the next business meeting in June, and for which there are still a number of tickets which a quarter of a pound of paprika and a dash of black pepper. Mix in tablespoonful of vinegar (white or cider), six of olive oil, one of sweet pickles, one of green peppers, one of parsley, chopped fine. This makes enough dressing to pour over the salad and also to serve in a bowl; everyone will want more.

Asparagus Loaf. Arrange asparagus stalks around a loaf of toasted bread, trimmed into shape desired, then pour a hot Hollandaise sauce over it. Asparagus should be eaten two or three times a week to really appreciate it.

Dainty Asparagus Basket. Arrange well-cooked asparagus stalks about a mound of chicken jelly, masked in mayonnaise, thus forming a dainty basket for the salad. Allow two asparagus stalks to meet over the top in each of the four sides.

Served With Planked Chop. Boil some thick chops on one side and arrange them crosswise overlapping each other on a hot buttered platter. Season with salt, pepper and melted butter. Cook in the oven for twenty minutes, basting with hot fat. Decorate with masked potatoes, asparagus tips and parsley. Return to the oven for a few minutes. Serve at once with brown sauce.

WINNIPEG STRIKERS PLANNING TO EXTEND STRIKE OVER CANADA

Test of Strength Will Be Made in Manitoba Capital Today.

Mayor Gray Declares Public Services Will Be Maintained.

WINNIPEG, May 26.—The plan of collective bargaining submitted by the central strike committee as a basis for settlement of the Winnipeg general strike was formally rejected this afternoon by the Winnipeg citizens' committee.

The action of the citizens' committee was formally approved by Gideon Robertson, federal minister of labor, who denounced the labor plan as a scheme to put a few labor leaders in control of Winnipeg industry.

The striking forces have ignored or municipal officials that public utilities of postal employees remain out. The majority of the postal employees, however, have volunteered postal workers, but to no avail.

Government officials stated that they would take immediate action to resume to maintain public services and to provide the industrial situation.

Domination-Wide Movement On?

A general strike was declared in Calgary at 11 o'clock this morning. The Winnipeg strike committee, however, has not yet decided whether to extend the strike to other cities.

Decision To Walk Out Is Reached At Meeting Last Night.

TORONTO MILITARY COMMANDERS ASKED TO GIVE INVENTORY OF AVAILABLE FORCES.

TORONTO, May 27.—A general strike is to be called on Wednesday at 10 o'clock in Toronto. This was decided at a meeting of the various unions tonight, and while no official statement was given out, it is understood that there was an overwhelming majority of the unions in favor of the strike. The vote, according to one of the delegates stood about 12,000 for the strike and about 1,000 against.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, May 26.—The metal board of the employers' association and the metal trades council reached a deadlock at 5:30 tonight, and in an effort to avoid a general strike, Brig-Gen. John Gunn and John M. Godfrey of the Citizens' Repatriation League discussed the issues with the strike committee, and asked for permission to place before the meeting tonight a proposal that the strike be deferred for one week until an independent board could discuss the schedule of the metal trades council.

That meeting was still in progress at midnight.

The employers today, through their representatives, refused to recognize the metal trades council, and offered collective bargaining to the crafts embraced in the federation, in addition they granted a 10-hour week, with a Saturday half holiday, whenever possible. The representatives of the men insisted upon definite recognition and rejection of the offer of the employers.

Meeting Late In Starting.

The meeting tonight did not commence until late, and was likely to be a long one. The metal trades council, however, was not in attendance, and the meeting was likely to be a long one.

Commanders of militia regiments here have been requested by the officer commanding the district, who is asking for all information on the strength of the regiments and their equipment.

HAWKER AND GRIEVE

a good course because of the clouds. When about 800 miles out, the weather continued very bad, and clouds rose to great heights. At that time the machine was started, and the water in the radiator boiled furiously, which was a bad sign.

Travelled at 12,000 feet.

At last, however, the clouds cleared, and a height of 12,000 feet was reached. At that level for the rest of the trip.

"We had not as yet doubted being successful in getting across," Hawker said in describing the experience. "The moon had risen, and we were keeping a good course, although we had to go a little slower and close the throttle to keep the water from heating up."

We continued at this height until we had been in the air twelve and a half hours. Then came heavy clouds again. They were very high, reaching a level of 15,000 feet, and being very black. It was almost impossible to steer through them, and each time I tried to climb the water boiled badly."

Hawker then described his efforts to find the cause of the trouble, and said he concluded that the water in the radiator had got into the water pumps, and that the only thing to do was to stop the motor and get the machine down steeply with the throttle to keep the water from heating up.

Filter Gave More Trouble.

Motor Not To Blame.

Hawker said that he and Grieve slept, and that the motor was not to be blamed for the trouble. They saw the lighthouse at St. Kitts, but were unable to communicate with land until the ship reached the Butte de Lewis.

I want to emphasize," Hawker said, "that the fault was not due to the motor, which was reliable in every way, running satisfactorily from start to finish. Every drop of water had boiled away, the motor was still running merrily, although it was hot when we moved on to the water."

Women Kissed Aviators.

The correspondent adds that there were amazing scenes on the trip through the Scotch Highlands to Inverness. At every station women threw flowers and kisses to the rescued aviators and member of the team and sought to enter into the life of the aviators.

Grieve shook hands with hundreds in a cheering crowd which had invaded the Inverness station.

On their arrival at Inverness the aviators received a telegram from King George, inviting them to Buckingham Palace on Wednesday.
