1867 to 1895.

Prime Minister.	From	To
Hon. Sir John Alexander Macdonald, K.C.B.	1st July, 1867	6th Nov., 1873

Hon. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, K.C.M.G.	13th Dec., 1894

(1) The following letter, respecting the appointment and office of the Prime Minister, received by the author from Dr. Bourinot, is, on account of the interesting information it contains on the subject, by kind permission, inserted herein:—

"The Premier is the choice of the Crown or Governor-General and the members of the Ministry, practically of the former. (See-Bourinot, 2nd edition, pages 791 et seq.) The Governor-General, on the retirement or dissolution of a Cabinet, sends for a member of either House, and commissions him with the task of forming a new Cabinet. Should he accept the task, he is nominally the Prime Minister, but his position is conditional on his formation of a government. Should he fail, some one else would be commissioned. As a matter of fact, there is no appointment in the legal sense: the Governor-General authorizes a public man to assume the responsibility of forming a Cabinet. Only when the Premier takes a departmental office is there an appointment. The Premier is chosen under the conventions of the constitution. When he accepts the command of the Governor-General he is Premier theoretically. From a strictly legal point of view, I should say the moment the new ministers are accepted, and are sworn in, there is a legal ministry, and a first minister."

The Judicial Bench in the Dominion of Canada.

Dominion and Provincial Courts of Justice.

1867 to 1895.

Powers vested by "The British North America Act, 1867," in the Parliament of Canada, and the Provincial Legislatures respectively, in regard to Courts of Civil and Criminal jurisdiction.

Section 129 of "The British North America Act, 1867," provides, amongst other things, that all Courts of Civil and Criminal jurisdiction, and all legal commissions, existing in Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick at the Union, shall continue in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick respectively, as if the Union had not been made; and, by Section 96 of the said Act, the power of appointing the Judges of the Superior, District, and County Courts in each Province, except those of the Courts of Probate in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, is vested in the Governor-General, their salaries, under the provisions of Section 100, being fixed and provided by the Parliament of Canada. Section 99 provides that the Judges of the Superior Courts shall hold office during good behaviour, but shall be removable by the Governor-General on Address of the Senate and House of Commons.

Under the authority of Sub-Section 14 of Section 92, in each Province the Legislature may exclusively make laws in relation to the administration of justice in the Province, including the constitution, maintenance, and organization of Provincial Courts, both of Civil and of Criminal jurisdiction, and including procedure in civil matters in those Courts, but the Criminal Law, including the procedure in criminal matters, under Sub-Section 27 of Section 91, comes within the exclusive Legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada. By Section 101 of the same Act, the Parliament of Canada is also granted the power to provide for the constitution, maintenance, and organization of a General Court of Appeal for Canada, and for the establishment of any additional Courts for the better administration of the laws of Canada.

Constitution of the Supreme and Exchequer Courts of Canada.

The Supreme and Exchequer Courts of Canada were, under the authority vested in the Parliament of Canada by Section 101 of "The British North America Act, 1867," constituted and established by "The Supreme and Exchequer Courts Act" (38 Vict., Chap. 11), (Chap. 135, R.S.C.), which, as respects the appointment of Judges and Officers of the said Courts, the organization thereof, and the making of general rules and orders, was, by Proclamation dated the 17th September, 1875, declared to be in force from and after the 18th September, 1875; while the other provisions of the said Act, and the judicial functions of the Supreme Court of Canada and of the Exchequer Court of Canada respectively, were on the 10th January, 1876, proclaimed to take effect and be exercised from and after the 11th January, 1876.

The Supreme Court of Canada consists of a Chief Justice and five Puisné Judges, who were also respectively, the Chief Justice and Judges of the Exchequer Court, until "The Supreme and Exchequer Courts Act" was amended by the Act 50-51 Vict., Chap. 16, which was proclaimed to be in force from and after the 1st October, 1887. The hearing and trial of any case in the Exchequer Court was, however, by and before one Judge of the Court sitting alone, whose decision in such case was the judgment of the Court therein.

The Exchequer Court of Canada, as constituted by the Act 50-51 Vict., Chap. 16 (1887), already referred to, consists of one Judge appointed by the Governor in Council; and such Court, in pursuance of the powers given the Parliament of Canada by "The Colonial Courts of Admiralty Act, 1890," (53-54 Vict. (Imp.), Chap. 27), was constituted, within Canada, a Colonial Court of Admiralty by "The Admiralty Act, 1891," (54-55 Vict., Chap. 29, Sec. 3), which came into force, by Proclamation, on the 2nd October, 1891.

The Surrogate Courts of the Province of Ontario.

There is in and for every County in the Province of Ontario a Court of Record called "The Surrogate Court" of each respective County, which is presided over by the senior Judge of the County, who is ex-officio Judge of the Surrogate Court for the County. In case of the illness or absence or at the request of a Judge of a Surrogate Court, or in case the office of senior Judge is vacant, the duties of the Judge of the Surrogate Court are performed by the Junior Judge or Acting Judge or the Deputy Judge (if any) of the County Court. Constitution of the Court of Queen's Bench for the Province of Quebec.

The Court of Queen's Bench for the Province of Quebec is divided into the Criminal Court and the Civil Court of Appeals, and is composed of six Judges—one Chief Justice and five Puisné Judges, two of whom must reside at each of the cities of Quebec and Montreal, and the others at or near the said places. (Articles 2289, 2292 and 2293 R.S.Q.)

Whenever by reason of leave of absence or sickness, it becomes probable that any Judge of the Court will be absent for one whole term or more, the Governor-General may, upon the recommendation of the Chief Justice, or in case of his absence or disability, of the senior Puisné Judge able to act, appoint any Judge of the Superior Court Assistant Judge of the Court of Queen's Bench during such absence or sickness; but, during the time for which he is so appointed, such Assistant Judge cannot act as Judge of the Superior Court, except only that he may in the latter capacity render judgment in causes or proceedings of any kind heard by him in the Superior Court or Circuit Court before his appointment as Assistant Judge of the Court of Queen's Bench. (Articles 2299 and 2301, R.S.Q.)

The Act 54 Vict., Quebec, Chap. 22, (1890), not yet proclaimed in force (12th October, 1895), provides that hereafter the Court of Queen's Bench shall be composed of eight Judges instead of six—one Chief Justice and seven Puisné Judges. Prior to the coming into force, on the 27th April, 1881, of the Act 43-44 Vict., Que., Chap. 4, amending Section 1 of Chapter 77 of the Consolidated Statutes for Lower Canada (1860), the Court of Queen's Bench was composed of five Judges—one Chief Justice and four Puisné Judges.

Constitution of "The Supreme Court of the North-West Territories."

The Supreme Court of the North-West Territories is a court of record of original and appellate jurisdiction, and was constituted by the Act 49 Vict., Chap. 25, Sec. 4, (1886), of the Parliament of Canada, which came into force on the 18th February, 1887, by proclamation, bearing date the 21st January, 1887.

The said Supreme Court consists of five Puisné Judges appointed by the Governor in Council, whose respective places of residence in the Territories are also fixed by the Governor in Council. Every Judge of the Court has jurisdiction throughout the Territories, but must usually exercise his judicial functions within the district to which he is assigned by the Governor in Council.

Sittings of the Supreme Court, presided over by a Judge of the Court, are held in each Judicial District at such times and places as the Lieutenant-Governor of the Territories may appoint. The Court also sits in banc at the seat of Government of the Territories at such times as the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may appoint—the senior Judge present presiding, and any three Judges of the Court forming a quorum—for the purpose of hearing and determining appeals, applications for new trials, questions or issues of law, questions or points in civil or criminal cases reserved for the opinion of the Court, and all matters which are lawfully brought before it. It is provided, however, by the Act 57-58 Vict. Chap. 17, (1894), amending Section 50 of Chapter 50 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, that the Judge by or before whom the judgment, or order or decision then in question was rendered or made, shall not sit as one of the Judges composing the Court, unless his presence is necessary to constitute a quorum.

Under the provisions of Section 51, of the said Chapter 50 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, empowering the Governor in Council, by proclamation to divide the Territories into Judicial Districts, and in like
