Ottawa, Aug. 16 .- (Special.)-No bet-In 1894 the aggregate value of the pre-cious metals mined in British Columbia cious meta's mined in British Columba was $1,000,000. Last year it reached the grand total of $5,038,376, and this year the output promises to be still greater. For the period in 1896 ending July 15, practically only three months from the opening of the season, the total quantity of ore produced in Kootenay was 56,550 tons, of which 14,797 was exported the estimated value of ore smelt. ed and shipped to July 15 was one million and three quarter dollars. Owing to the boom now in progress, the suggestion comes from the west for the organization of a Dominion Bureau of Mines. The Geological Survey Department is devoting attention to the wonderful Rossland country and is sending two skilled surveyors there.

For some years the Geological Survey Department has had geologists engaged in making topographical and geological surveys of parts of British Columbia. The examination of the rocks has been very thorough, and the results have been set forth in voluminous reports illustrated by maps showing the rich formation and configuration of the country. Each of these maps represents a tract of country fifty niles square. The last to be published was that of Kamioops and vicinity, and last year the work on the Shuswap district was completed though the wars and year.

port will probably not appear for another year.

Mr. J. McEvey, B.A.Sc., of the survey staff, who received his training under Dr. Dawson, has just arrived in Rossland preparatory to beginning work from the Columbia River westward. He will be met there by R. G. McConnell of the same staff, who has been engaged for two years in the Slocan, and the two will work-together for the remainder of the season. An accurate contour map will be made, showing the distribution and formation. The work will occupy more than one season.

The opening of Parliament this week will bring to the Capital a larger crowd of visitors than have attended any similar function in recent years. Special rates are given on all lines of railway running into Ottawa, and it is said that from Montreal alone will come four excursions. Seven hundred people from Kingston and along the St. Lawrence to Prescott are coming through for the occasion.

Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen have come to the conclusion that it is too hot for the holding of formal entor-tainments at Government House during at least the early part of the session. There will therefore he no State dinner at Government House on the night of the opening of Parliament, and no State reception as in other years. The men who are obliged to appear in their heavy Windsor uniforms or in military uniform at these State receptions must be rather gratified than otherwise.

Numerous entertainments at Government House of an informal character are on the cards. Everybody knows what pleasant garden parties the present occupants at Government House have given, and the comfortable and unceremonious style of costume His Excellency and the members of the

The suicide of Count Pallavicini has caused a revival of the stories in which the Barrison sisters have figured, including the elopement of one of the sisters with Count Bernsctorff of Berlin.

Then it is recalled that in February last Count von Wedel, a young officer in the German army, was arrested for having pawned jewelry which he had was stated that Count von Wedel was only one of a number of members of the nobility who had become victims of the enchantments of the American serpentine dancers. When these facts became known, the sisters were ordered to cease their exhibitions in Berlin and leave Germany.

Hamilton, Aug. 16.—(Special.)—About 4 o'clock yesterday morning burglars successfully cracked the safe of the Hamilton Engine Packing Company in Alanson-street, but got away with only $5, the same amount of postage stamps, a gold and a silver watch, a revolver and a number of valuable papers. The explosion awakened the family of Alex Grant, who lives close by, and upon-looking out saw smoke in the factory and heard men hammering. Mr. Grant aroused J. H. Clappison, who lives some distance away, but when the men returned the night artists had decamped. The police were telephoned for, but it was some it mes before the patrol arrived. When it got there the officers endeavored to trace the footprints, but were thrown off by four tramps in a barn, whom they thought were the burglars, and arrested them. The tramps were discharged at the Police Court. The artists were evidently experts, as they first tried to drill the safe, but then Budapest, Aug. 16.—The funeral of took place yesterday. Social circles are discussing nothing else but the young man's untimely end.

The lieutenant was a handsome, well career in New Yark and Bertin caused considerable comment, are playing here at a music hall. Count Pallavicini saw the sisters and fell deeply in love with one of them, Ethel Barrison.

He-obtained an introduction to the his love. The song and dance artist laughed at the Count, who declared he would kill himself if she did not return his affection. She paid no attention to his threats of suicide, and refused to change her manner towaged

Toronto, Aug. 17. The tollgate on Yonge-street, just beyond the city limits, and what is known as the check gate at Deer Park, were set on fire by parties unknown at 3.30 o'clock on Sunday morning. Policeman Crowley of No. 5 Precinct saw the flames issuing from No. 1 toll-

Policeman Crowley of No. 5 Precinct saw the flames issuing from No. 1 tollegate, and summoned the fire brigade, who extinguished the biaze. The check gate, however, was burned to the ground.

High Constable Jones was notified of the occurrence, but so far there is no clue to the identity of the firebug. At about 3 o'clock Policema Crowley saw a man come from the direction of the gates and turn along Wickson-avenue, but it is not known who he was.

It appears that there has been some dissatisfaction existing on the part of parties passing through the gates for some time past. Until a short time ago Mr. Mowat was lessee of No. 1 gate, but it has lately passed into the care of Mrs. Atkinson. Gate-keeper Mowat was casy on the patrons of the road, giving some people credit and allowing others the privilege of single fare. Since Mrs. Atkinson has taken hold, she and her two sons have been running the gate in a more businesslike manner, and this has not been agreeable to some of Mr. Mowat's dellarquents. Until a couple of months ago it was possible for those desirous of doing so to evade payment of toll by going around the gate via Reservoir Park-avenue-road and St.Clair-avenue, but since the crection of the check gate at Deer Park this evasion of the tollism of feasible. This may have had something to do with yesterday morning's incendiarism.

Mr. Atkinson intimated has night that it was probably some sorchead, owing to the determination on the part of the lessee that toll should be paid. Often people driving through have referred to the demolition of other toll-gates, and have hind that have gate would, perhaps, suffer, but Mr. Atkinson and the light that person having said this.

The places were set on fire through hooles being made near the bottom, and the lightlen of coordinated the path which had desired the content of the check of the content of the check of the lessee that person having said this.

Warning Has Been Given That the Re-maining Two Gates Will be Fired. Windsor, Ont., Aug. 16.—Another tollgate outrage is reported from Essex county. Some men went to the gate at Ouellette's Corners and hartly tore it down, but left after notifying Mrs. Smith, the tolkteeper, that next week they would return and burn this gate and the gate at Grand Marais, the only gates left standing at present. The gates destroyed during the recent rlots are not rebuilt.

room in the presence of Mr. Gladstone's family. The Chinese statesman complimented Mr. Gladstone upon his services to his country, to which the latter replied that he had done all becould, but would have liked to have done more. In accordance with Chinese etiquette, Li Hung Chang propunded numerous questions, chiefly relating to public topics.

In replying to one of the 'questions Mr. Gladstone advocated economy in public expenditures, whereupon Li Hung Chang said that the revenue of Great Britain was so large that she could afford to dispense with economy. Mr. Gladstone adduced reasons why economy was a necessity, and Li remarked that British interests in the trade of China were greater than those of all the other powers combined. Mr. Gladstone thereupon entered upon a strong advocacy of free-trade, and said he hoped Great Britain would always be as attached to this system as she is now. He added that he rejoiced that China was also mainly a free trade country.

Li Hung Chang interposed with the

The sun sets at a quarter past 7 this week, and before we were clear of the town his last rays had shone across the meadows. The moon, in her last quarter, would not rise for hours. Diaphanous clouds softened the evening sky, and upon all things rested a tender, misty light. We rumbled along the dusty road, already dry again after the storms of the previous night. Each the storms of the previous night. Each man and woman had his or her half-digested, agitated version of the calamand before us. We could see that, crowds approaching along other roads, all converging toward one point. All were going to look on death, and on agony of body and mind, in one of its most appalling and hideous forms. But, from a distance, the concourse looked from a distance, the concourse looked like a throng of merrymakers hurrying to a festivity. Only when you were near enough to see their faces and hear the strange tones of their volces, hushed or excited, would you realize that this was/mo holiday occasion.

The expedition to Jones Sound, planned for 1897, is intended to initiate a system of continuous scientific explo-vation. Its object is scientific research, and to this all else will be subordinated. Special attention will be paid will be the establishment of a base at the mouth of Jones Sound, which Julious von Payner calls "the one spot most suitable for such a base."

Affections of the ear, the internal passage of which opens in this region, are also facilitated by the same cause. Dr. Madeuf noticed that diseases of the nose, ears and throat, so common in Europe, are very rare in Aigeria.

The reason of this he attributed to the fact that the Arab mother put ther odild to sleep on a mat, with one or two light coverings. The hard couch was made necessary by the climate, a but it also served a valuable purpose in obliging the child to sleep on its stood a better chance of growing up without weakness or disease of the throat, ears and nose.

put Parliament above the throne once for all, and so, though he refused to modify the prerogative, and would not even hear of a Republic, he in the most commonplace way, as if he were modifying copyhold tenure, just invented a legal fiction, and—changed the dynasty.

He would not for works declare that women ought to have all the legal freedom of mer; but the other day it occurred to him that it was "a great shame" that marriage should dispossess women of their property; so almost in silence, without the slightest idea of doing anything dramatic, he made women, as regards property, the equals of men-perhaps the greatest social revolution ever carried without a fight. Yet he will not admit women to all the professions, or allow them to claim university degrees; but opens one door after another when passage is strongly asked for, and allows the women to obtain the "equivalent of degrees"—that is, allows them intellectual rank without the power of governing universities. them intellectual rank without the power of governing universities, which might be inconvenient. As regards property, the end could not be reached without a big change, so he made the big change; but as regards the professions, the end can, he thinks, be reached by piecemeal reforms, so he doles out rights by the cup.

He has, in fact, none of the discontent with intellectual imperfectness which marks the Frenchman, but just which marks the Frenchman, but just the abstract wrong to sulk if it like the abstract wrong to sulk if it likes in the corner, where it is in nobody's way. The truth is he considers that the one test of an institution, or a law, or a line of action is result, and if he approves the result. Is perfectly contented. So fixed is this idea in his mind that he even applies it to creeds, and considers Macaulay perfectly sensible when he exhibits, as proof positive that Protestantism is more right than that Protestantism is more right than Catholicism the fact that a Protestant Catholicism. the fact that a Protestant canton in Switzerland is usually more prosperous than a Catholic one. How can there be better evidence, says the Englishman, though he hears every week of places where the wicked flourish like a green bay tree.

We wish very much that the Bishop of Peterborough, with his unsurpassed knowledge of English history and his obvious interest in the recessor of the knowledge of English history and his obvious interest in the recesses of the English character, would tell us what he thinks have been and are the usual English ends. He seems to say all through his lecture that the principal end of an Englishman is, not to be interfered with; but is that quite true as regards the nation? We are not quite sure. The people, no doubt, izvented the phrase, "An Englishman's house is his castle," they have never borne for long a disciplinary church, and they have always appeared intolerant of police supervision, while they and they have always appeared micer-ant of police supervision, while they reject with anger that claim of "the family" to interfere with the individual which is the very basis and buttress of the continental systems of social life.

All the same the English bore for years the most interfering system of

POPE'S HOROSCOPE.

LEO XIII. APPEARS BY LIGHT OF ASTROLOGY

bination of the Occult Planets, Sa

Pope Leo XIII. is now some Pope Leo XIII. is now some months past his 86th year, and cannot, in reason, be expected to remain upon this world's stage much longer. No correct horoscope of the Pope could be cast until recently, for the reason that his birth hour was unknown. This high now been made public in Rome, and the present instance is the first of its publication, certainly in this country, possibly anywhere, says the New York Recorder.

Gioacchino Pecci, archbishop in 1843, cardinal in 1853 and Pope in 1878, was born in the little village of Carpincto, in central Italy, March 2, 1810, at 5 o'clock a.m. He came of an old patrician family, and studied in Rome, where he was graduated in law and theology. He was a favorite of Gregory XVI., who advanced him rapidly. At first glance there is nothing in the appearance of the planetary positions at his birth to indicate the supremedignity he was to reach. It is, in fact, a case out of thousands. Born with Mercury rising in the aerial sign Aquarius, and with the sun and venus Mercury rising in the aerial sign Aquarius, and with the sun and venus in conjunction in the ascendant in Pisces, the sign governed by Jupiter, we find Pope Leo to have come into the world under the dominion of the planets Saturn and Herschel, both generally considered evil in their influence. Thus far we have signified a man possessing nobility of character, lofty aspirations, a desire for the acquisition of wealth and generosity in its expenditure, with unquestioned success in both particulars. Mercury rising in Aquarius shows one "fond of the arts and sciences, given to study and research, of a pregnant wit and admirable understanding." He is sharply intuitive, gifted with excellent judgment and knowledge of human nature, strongly inclined to religion—by reason of Mercury being one of the houses of Saturn—according to wise old John Gadbury. Affilicted surely by many crosses and misfortunes, since Saturn is in his tenth house, or midheavens; a favorite of women, and sure to derive much benefit from the sex, and liable to danger from treachery, because that the moon is in the evil twelfth house, the "house of witcheraft,"according to the great William Lilly. Nothing very remarkable thus far, or that is not paralleled in dozens of horoscopes.

But now we come upon something quite unexampled in my reading or experience in the history of the art. Pope Leo was born with the three great over perience in the history of the art. Pope Leo was born with the three great oc-cult planets, Saturn, Neptune and Her-Leo was born with the three great occuit planets, Saturn, Neptune and Herschel, clustered immediately above the mid heaven, and with the moon in the mystic zodiacal sign Capricorius, As to the position of the great triumvirate of planetary lords in the inith and tenth houses, it is to be said that these ponderous bodies, more than any others, rule and direct the lives of men. Admit that the sun and moon cause him to live, that Mars kills him, that Jupiter gives him his fortune, Mercury is intelligence and Venus the affections which so often sway him—to his enthronement or his debasement, as the case may be—grant all this, and it is still the fact that to Neptune, Herschel and Saturn do we owe the great truth that men are defiferent, and that some of them are demigods and others demons. Here we have Neptune, poised almost on the cusp of the powerful tenth house, in the sign Sagittarius, whose lord is Jupiter, the patron of divines and physicians. Neptune, who is the highest spiritually, or the lowest materially, according as he is placed, herein sustained by the magical influence of the occult star Uranus on the one side and the gloomy, bigoted saturnine son of Ouranos, the on the one side and the gloomy, big-oted saturnine son of Ouranos, the devourer of his own children, on the other. Never before have I met this surprising constellation in any horoscope, and this alone will account for the majesty of demeanor, the strange scope, and majesty of demeanor, the strange weird power over those nearest him, the singular influence welded in forelgn lands, the thousand and one specific natural qualities exhibited by Leo XIII., and which make him one of the agost, if not the most,remarkable of all the popes.

Leo XIII may live to the close of the year 1897. At that time Saturn comes to his mid heaven, and a conjunction with place of Neptune, while, by a singular fatality, Neptune in his revolution comes to the opposition of Saturn's place in the horoscope, and in both instances afflicting the sun in nativity. It will be a most disastrous combination; unlikely to be evaded or successfully resisted. And, as Satstatic place of the place of successfully resisted. And, as Sator successfully resisted. And, as Sat-urn is now passing over the place of Herschel in the horoscope, the present time and immediate future are likely to produce some unexpected and se-rious ecclesiastical difficulty in connecion with the pope. A British sailor's Rations.

A British sailor's daily Government ration consists of one pound and a half of bread or one pound of biscuits, one pound of meat, including bone; one ounce of cocoa, a quarter of an ounce of tea, two ounces of sugar and half a pound of mixed vegetables. These quantities compare very favorably with the soldier's rations, which consist of one pound of bread, three-quarters of a pound of meat, including bone; the remaining articles of food, such as vegetables, coffee, tea, coca, sugar, etc., the soldier has to pay for himself, and for this purpose the sum of three pence per diem is deducted A British Sailor's Rations. of three pence per diem is deducted from his pay. From this statement it can easily be seen that the British sailor appears to fare considerably better than the soldier. The Lisbon Earthquake.

The Lisbon Earthquake.

The great earthquake at Lisbon occurred in May, 1755, when in about eight minutes most of the houses and 50,000 of the inhabitants were destroyed and whole streets swallowed up. It originated in the island of Metoline, in the archipelago, whence it extended 5,000 miles, doing considerable damage in Spain and Africa as well as in Portugal.

In answer to enquiries as to how this change had been brought about, Mr. Pettit, promptly and emphatically replied, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did it." Being further interrogated as to whether he was willing that the facts be made public, he cheerfully consented to give a statement for that purpose, which in substance is as follows:—He was first attacked in the fall of 1892, after assisting in digging a cells. The first awm. ing in digging a cellar. The first symptom was lameness in the right hip, which continued for nearly two years then gradually extended to the other leg and to oth feet. The sensations were a numbness and pricking, which continued to get worse and worse, until he practically lost control of his feet. He could walk but a short distance before his limbs would give out, and he would be obliged to rest. He felt that if he could walk forty rods without resting he was accomplishexperience what virtue there is in them and I am satisfied they will cure ou." Mr. Petit had tried so many things and failed to get relief that he things and tailed to get relief that he was somewhat skeptical, but the advice was so administered, and given so earnestly that they concluded to give Pink Pills a trial. In a practical, everyday sense it might be said that this is still the age of miracles. At least in many cases where people have looked upon death as imminent the disease has been removed and they have been made whole.

Records like the following lead to this belief:—John Lee of Pembroke, of Commons in sension.

A novelty in the way of steeping cars will shortly be put on several of the large transcontinental lines, and it is expected that it will greatly increase the comfort of night travel by railroad in this country.

Among the earliest provisions for the comfort of travelers was the providing of places for sleeping while en route. Improvements were constantly being made and the palatial staterooms now in use on lake and river steamers of the country are the result. A certain amount of privacy can be had in the berths provided on all steamers for night travelers, but until now the matter of providing sleeping quarters for the night travelers by rail has been a great problem for the architects.

for the night traveler by rall has been a great problem for the architects. The traveling public has projected against being obliged to spend the night in a two-by-six coffin-fike affair with only a thin curtain between the sleeper and the gaze of his fellow travelers, to say nothing of the acrobatic agility necessary to accomplish the feat of disrobling and dressing while lying at full length, flat on one's back, with only eighteen inches head room. All of these objections have, howroom.

All of these objections have, however, been overcome in the new stateroom car, and in them a traveler can, if he so chooses, lock himself into his stateroom and secure as much privacy and have as many comforts as could be furnished at a first-class hotel. Not only are these new cars, which are soon to take the place of the ordinary night coach, especially adapted to securing for the traveler the desired privacy at night, but they are also a novelty in the manner of their arrangement for day travel. The car is divided into staterooms all of which open into a long corridor running the entire length of the car. The staterooms are all on one side of the car and the corridor on the other.
During the day the car is divided into compartments, opening into the corridor. At night, however all this is changed, and standing in the corridor the car appears to be about a third of its ordinary width, with all the windows on one side, the opposite side being to all appearances a dead wall.
This change in the appearance of the

partments.
These partitions are so constructed that when they are slid into position the upper berth is in the next one six feet and a half long and four feet wide and contains a sofa nineteen and one-quarter inches wide. All this is changed with the coming of night, however. The upper part of each alternate partition is unfastened and slid forward nineteen and a quarter inches in grooved guides and refastened. The lower portion of the partition is then raised and fastened in a horizontal position which forms the bottom of the upper berth.

If two persons desire a double state-

These new sleeping cars are seventy-two feet long, and have fourteen single ordinary betths, eighteen berths in all it does not afford as many berths as the ordinary Pullman or Wagner cars, which is practically impossible where a separate room is given to each pass than those of ordinary possible were a separate room is given to each pass than those of ordinary cars, two persons traveling together can comfortably steep in one berth. FOUR MOST REMARKABLE REMEDIES.

The development of science in recently are gives hope for the curing of many of the worst forms of disease that afflict humanity. Even so dreaded a disease as heart disease is curable. This is being demonstrated almost daily by the use of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. It postively gives relief in any case within half an hour after the first dose is taken, and this often means the saving of a life. Alfred Couldry of West Shefford, Que., suffered from heart disease for four years. He found no relief until he made the acquaintance of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the heart, and says:—"After using eight bottles of this medicine I know nothing of this dreaded trouble."

Catarrh in its worst forms is deemed incurable. But here is what Mrs. Geo. Graves of Ingersoll, Ont., says:—"My little daughter Eva, aged thirteen years, four years ago was taken with the most skillful physicians for over three years, but with no avail. We considered her case chronic and incurable. Last winter I he rd of the fame of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and was persuaded to try a bottle, and I must confess, for the sake of all suffering humanity, that after taking two bottles my child was completely cured."

LAKE STREET

Tuesday, August 18.—There is an abundance of wild rice in the marshes around upper Beverly lake, and thousands of blackbirds to eat it. Edward Thomas declared the other day that they were wild ducks, which induced they were wild ducks, which induced Wm. Stevens to go down and personally investigate. William came home and hung up his gun, having decided that any man who did not home and hung up his gun, having frey, and decided that any man who did not know a blackbird from a duck was unfit to raise a moustache or leave his mother on Sunday nights.
