Madam Conway's Disasters.

The gry idea was overwhelming dinner: and returning to her room she tried, by looking over the books and examining the carpet, to forge how hungry and faint she was. Whether she would have succeeded is doubtful, had not an hour or two later brought another knock from the umbrella, and driven all thoughts of eating from, her mind. In grim silence she waited until her tormentor was gone, and then wondering if it was not time for the train, she consulted her watch. But alas 'twas only four; the cars did no leave till six, and so another wear hour went by. At the end of that time, however, thinking the depot preferable to being a prisoner there, she resolved to go; and leaving the key with the clerk, she called a carriage and was soon on her way to the cars.

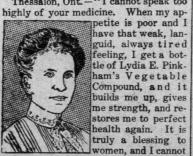

As she approached the depot she observed an immense crowd of people gathered together, among which the red coats of the firemen were conspicious. A fight was evidently in progress, and as the horses began to grow restive, she begged of the driver to let her alight, saying she could easily walk the remainder of the way. Scarcely, however, was she on terra firma when the yelling crowd made a precipitate rush to wards her, and in much alarm she climbed for safety into an empty buggy, whereupon the horse, equally alarmed, began to rear, and without pausing a moment, the terrified lady sprang out on the side opposite to that by which sile had entered, catching her dress upon the seat, and tearing half the gathers from

To reach the depot was now he great object, and as the two belli gerent parties occupied the front. she thought to effect an entrance a the rear. But the door was locked. and as she turned the corner of the building she suddenly found herself in the thickest of the fight. To advance was impossible, to turn back equally so, and while meditating some means of escape she lost her footing and fell across a wheelbarr w which stood upon the platf rm, crumpling her bonnet and scratching her face upon a nail which pro-

For half an hour she waited patiently, but though the cars were illing rapidly, there were no indications of starting; and it was almost seven ere the long and heavily loaded train moved slowly from the depot. About fifteen minutes prevous to their departure, as Madam Con vay was looking ruefully our upon the multitude, she was horrifiel at seeing, directly beneath the window, the veritable woman from whom, through the entire day, she had been hiding. should be discovered, she drew her veil closely over her face, keeping very quiet, and looking intently rom the window into the gathering darkness without. But her fears were groundless, for Mrs. Dougla nad no suspicion that the crump'ed connet and sorry figure sitting so li-consolately in the corner, was the same which but the day before had h moured her with a call. She was in high spirits, having had, as she ormed her neighbor, a "tip-top time." One one point, however, s'ie was disappointed. 'She meant as much as could be to have seen Theodoshy, but she wan't to hum. Her grandmother was in town,' dreadful deaf, for I pounded with a'l my might. I'm sorry, for I'd like to scrape acquaintance with her, bein' we're connected.' An audible groan came from b neath the thick brown veil, whereupon both ladies turned their heads. But the indignant woman made no sign, and in a whisper loud enough for Madam Conway to hear, Mrs. Douglas said, 'Some Irish critter in liquor, I presume. Look at her ammed bonnet.'

Fortunately for Madam Conway he cars moved on, and when they stopped again, to her great relief, the owner of the blue umbrella, together with 'Sam Babbit's wife.' alighted, and amid the crowd assen bled on the platform she recognized Betsey Jane, who had come down to meet her mother. The remainder of the way seemed tedious enough, for the train moved but slowly, and it was near ten o'clock ere they reached the Hillsdale s'ation, where to her great delight, Mad am Conway found Margaret awaiting her, together with Arthur Carrollton. The moment she saw the former, who came eagerly forward to meet her, the weary, worn-out woman burst into tears; but at the sight of Mr. Carrollton she forced them back, saying in reply to Mag-

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.-Please allow reply to a short letter signed Young Fellow Who Wasn't There, concerning a petition which he sa requests that the S. S. Argyle lea off Great Paradise and make Little Paradise a port of call which Editor, is a deliberate lie, or writer is labouring under a false pression in which case I, as one of the petitioners, can assure him that the petition sent to and presented by Mr. Devereaux from Little Paradise Little Bona, Great Bona, S. E. Bight and Great Paradise contained no such request, nor was Great Paradse andwhere mentioned in the petition excepting that seventeen out of said harbor joined with the residents of the other settlements in the prayer that the S. S. Argyle call at Little Paradice, also for crection of a whar Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to ask him wherein is this petition famous or what claim above the general rule of such pettions has it got to fame? None whatever, sir, more so than it roused the ire of a few what Walt Mason would call Chautaukas, and who feared the Argyle would be taken off Great Paradise if a wharf vere crected at Little Paradise. And so signing a petition for public mprovement is patriotism is it? Then t is at a very low ebb in Young Felow's mind. I wonder what he would all the feelings of Robert Emmet or George Washington or of the gallant Wallace, I guess it must-amount to something like super-patriotism in his mind. In the olden days patriots were few and the man whose breast was animated with that then high and holy feeling was hailed as a hero from the days when Judas Maccabeus defended his country from the inroads of the Syrian despoiler, but now, Oh what a change twixt now and then! No matter in what light a man regards his country if he can sign a petition he is a partiot in those days according to Young Fellow's Again, I must ask him is it because the voters of any particular place are prosed to the Government? Is that any reason why they don't contribute to the support of that Governmen financially? Must not the Representatives of any district, Liberal or Tory look after the interest of the peopl they represent whether they be Lib eral or Tory?

If Governments acted like Young Fellow would fain have them act then a Liberal District in a Tory Govrnment or vice versa would fare very badly. Young Fellow displays his ignorance of such matters.

As to the allegation that the people of Little Paradise would not allow the Tory candidates to speak at that place, is a deliberate falschood. was present at the meeting held in the schoolroom at which Messrs. Morris, Howley and Devereaux spoke and can testify that no voter of Paradise interrupted that meeting in anyway except to ask a question, despite the fact that they were Liberal to the core and are yet.

And now a word of advice to Young Fellow. Don't place your political or social convictions too fixedly on any particular obect, for Sir Robert Bond o whom we will all be faithful to a certain extent, says it is only fools that do not change their opinions sometimes.

I would likewise assure him, Mr Editor, that I hold no brief from the people of Little Paradise nor do any person therein know of this letter be ng written, and it is only because the petition to which he referred interests all the petitioners as well as the people of Little Paradise, though the violence of the attack fell on them, that I decided to cross swords with him.

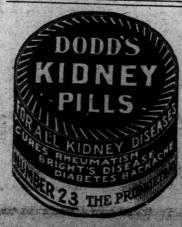

Thanking you in anticipation for space. I remain, yours truly,

JAMES J. DRAY.

OBJECTS OF THE COMPANY.—To take over as a going concern. The Nova Scotia Carriage Company, established 1868, at Kentville, and large new works at Amherst to carry on the business of manufacturing Carriages, Sleighs and Motor Cars on an extensive scale. This is the only cencern manufacturing Notor Cars and Carriage; in the Maritime Provinces, and its market embraces Newfoundland, the Provinces, Quebec, Western Canada and British Columbia, with a promising overseas connection. The present works at Kentville are overtaxed, and in order to meet the growing demand it became necessary to reorganize to obtain ad-

THE BUSINESS AT KENTVILLE

Amherst was selected as the new home of the company, owing to its great advantages as a distributing centre.

The success of the Nova Scotia Carriage Company is due mainly to the able management of Messrs. J. W. and D. C. McKay, practical carriage builders, both of whom are large shareholders in the new concern, and who are under contract to serve the new concern for a period of

The success of thi	is concern can be best judged by the f	ollowing comparative stateme	ent for three years:-
Year.	Assets.	Liabilities.	Net Surplus.	Net Profits.
1909	$86,206.21	$19,068.47	$67,137.74	$37,949.3
1910	108.126.48	17,928.29	90,198 19	22,860.4
	184 808 69	39 557 43	145.246.26	54.848.0

OPERATIONS.—While the new plant is being erected at Amherst this year, the manufacturing operations at Kentville will be carried on without interruption. The goods manufactured enjoy a high reputation. This year's output will be approximately, 250 Motor Cars, 2,000 fine Carriages and 1,500 Sleighs and Slovens, representing an aggregate value of $475,000 or thereabouts.

The manufacture of Carriages and Motor Cars under the one roof ensures a busy season all the year round and is invaluable from an economic point of view and assures stability and permanency in times of depression. The company enjoys the advantage of cheap raw material water transportation and good labor supply.

THE MANAGEMENT'S ESTIMATE OF BUSINESS AND PROFITS.

Messrs, Canadian Investors Limited, Halifax: Gentlemen,-We beg to hand you an estimate, herewith, of our business and profits from November 30th, 1911, to November 30th, 1912, at Kentville: also from November 30th, 1912, to November 30th, 1913, at Amherst:

At Amherst, Nova Scotia ...... $1,089,500 $166,800 We might state that the output for 1912 is already booked, and we will have no difficulty in selling that of 1913, as we have turned down over $100,000 worth of business during the last three months. (Si med), NOVA SCOTIA CARRIAGE AND MOTOR CAR CO., LTD., J. W. Mckay, Managing Director.

THE NET EARNINGS of $54,848.07 for the year 1911, are sufficient to pay bond interest and sinking fund charges and dividend on the issued preference stock of the company, and leaves a surplus. According to Mr. McKay's estimate the net profits for the current year on orders and work on hand will pay the bond charges and preferential dividend and leave a surplus of $40,150,—more than 4 per cent. on the issued common stock. The surplus earnings for the current year would really be nearer $50,000 than $40,150, as the new capital will not be entitled to a full year's dividend. By the foregoing estimate the net earnings of the company next year will show a surplus of $116,300, after paying bond interest and sinking fund charges and preferential dividend. This is equal to more than 12 per cent, on the issued common stock.

THE FUTURE OF THE COMPANY IS ASSURED.

Under the management of the McKay brothers, and with the growing demand for Motor Cars and Carriages, the new business can be expected to assume steadily increasing proportions. In this connection the following letter from Mr. Nathaniel Curry will be of interest:— "Canadian Investors Limited, Halifax:

"Gentlemen,—I have your favour of the 6th instant, asking my opinion as to the future prospects of the Nova Scotia Carriage and Motor Car Company, to be located at Amherst. "I consider this company is doing a wise thing in locating at Amherst and getting practically all the business men of that place financially interested. This, of itself, would mean success for any legitimate enterprise. Amherst men pull together and have long and successful experience in manufacturing. There is a great future in Canada for the Automobile, also the Motor Truck for freight purposes. "I understand that the above company has an excellent management and I see no reason why this industry should not in a few years be one of the largest and most prosperous in the Maritime Provinces. (Signed), N. CURRY."

WOMEN TAKE NOTICE!

A man cannot understand the torture and suffering many women endure complainingly. If the majority of men suffered as much pain and endured with tience the weakening sicknesses that most women do, they would ask for mediate sympathy and look for a quick cure.

Many women have been saved from a life of misery and suffering by turning to the right remedy—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy which is safe to take because containing no narcotics, alcohol or injurious ingredients. It is an alterative extract of roots, made with pure glycerin, and first given to the public by that famous specialist in the diseases of women—Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

MRS. LIZZIE M. HESSHEIMER, of Lincoln, Neb., 520 "C" St., says: "I send a testimonial with much pleasure so that some suffering woman may know the true worth of your remedies. I was a great sufferer from female broubles but after taking one bottle f Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which a friend advised me to take, I found myself very much improved. After taking three more bottles, and using two boxes of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets, I found myself on the road to recovery. I was in poor health for five years but now I am cured.

"I hope all women suffering from female weakness will give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a fair trial.

"With General Approval."

We observe that the Daily News states that the appointment of Capt. Fitzpatrick to succeed the late Mr. Edward Sinnott, as sub-collector of Customs at Placentia will meet with general approval. No doubt, the wish is father to the thought, and the Tory morning organ hopes that the appointment will rouse no resentment. In the meantime, there can be no doubt that the appointment is a great relief to the Tory authorities that be, as Capt. Fitzpatrick has of late been by no means the warm and enthusiastic supporter of the Picnic Party that he was three or four years ago. Leslie Grossmith

HUMORIST-MUSICIAN.

Born in Birmingham, and reared in Australia, Leslie Grossmith commence ed his musical studies at an early age, and was always worrying his parents for permission to go on the stage as a comedian. Although he worked hard as a musician, the humorist was always prevalent. In 1885 he gave his first important concert at the Melbourne Athenaeum, appearing as solo pianist, composer and conductor. After performing one of his serious compositions he slyly introduced one of his own comic songs as an encore, which brought down the house, much to the young man's de-light. With his own Royal Standard light. With his own Royal Standard Opera Company he made several tours through Australia, Tasmania, and New Zealand, superintending the musical rehearsals and playing lead ing comedy parts in a repertoire of comic operas. With the Robert Brough and Dion Boucicault Comedy Company, so famous in Australia, he appeared in several farcial comedies. appeared in several farcial comedies.
Later on he toured throughout the whole of the Australian country with his humorous and musical recitals.
In Sydney he organised and conducted the Sydney Opera Society producing "Maritana," "Faust," "The Grand Duchess" and other operas in conjunction with Mr. J. C. Williamson. perrived yesterday and reports the Mr. Grossmith has travelled profes-channel clear between Quebec and sionally nearly round the vast Aus-Montreal.

Shell Sinks Steamer.

Special to Evening Telegram.

CONSTANTINOPLE. To-Day. A telegram from a shipping agency at Smyrna to-day says the Archipelago-American Steamship Co's. steamer Texas, which went down in the Gulf of Smyrna with 140 persons on Monday night, was sunk by a shell ired from a military fort and not by mine, as at first reported. The despatch says two blank shots were fired first by the Turkish fortificaions, warning the vessel she had strayed from her proper channel, but when she took no notice a shell sent ner to the bottom. This version of the steamer's loss is regarded as quite probable, for the authorities have repeatedly warned shipping companies of the risks their vessels would run of being fired on by the fort if they strayed from the channel marked out for them when entering or leaving the harbor. The blowing up of the steamer Texas brought the Dardanelles into greater prominence but has not caused a rise in the rates of insurance to the Black Sea, as it was regarded as an isolated case due o a mine breaking loose. Both the Italian and the Turkish Ambassadors had interviews with Sir Edward Grey at the Foreign Office. It is understood that the Turkish Ambassador stated that an additional reason for keening the Dardanelles closed was that the Italians had cut the telegraph ine and no information could be obtained as to the whereabouts of the Halian fleet. Sir Edward also received a deputation from the Chamber of Shipping protesting against serious injury to British interests which the closing of the Dardanelles involved. The Secretary replied, explaining it would be difficult for Britain to bring ressure on other Powers in connec tion with their conduct of warlike

"Come hither, little Mary Ann," the doting mother said; "I have about three quarts of jute to put upon your head. I see they neighbors' daughters go to school, fixed up so fine, and I won't have it said, my dear, that you are not in line; so let me kalsomine your face with pigments rich and rare, and put some red paint on your lips, and cook and curl your hair, and push you in a narrow skirt that shows your every curve, so you will get from rubbernecks the notice you deserve. And you must wear your snowy shoes that advertise your feet, and eke the erazy hat that scares the horses on the street, for I won't have the neighbors say that my dear little maid is not as good as any or as stylishly arrayed. Of course you don't look like a child with all your paintand curls, but you're upholstered just as well as any other girls; of course you cannot run or play, as children used to do, but we must show the neighbors' girls they have no edge on you; of course you're like a monkey, dear, of course it is a shame; but since the neighbors turn out apes, Copyright, 1911, by boorge Matthew Adams Walk Mason have to do the same!"

CHAPTER VIII. FROM THE ETHIE'S DECK.

THE NORTH SHORE AS SEEN On Saturday, August 5th, our rambings led us to Carbonear where we boarded the good ship Ethie en route to Old Perlican. By foot and carriage we had formerly covered much of this district, and therefore knew something of its importance; but now we were to see it from a different vantage ground and learn more about it. To make the very best possible use of the trip, and to get the most we could out of it, we kept the deck nearly all the time, and noted all the settlements as in panoramic order they opened out to our view. They all looked comfortable and independent; and the homesteads, and halls, and school action that is quite possible; but when houses, and churches, were the best we add to this aspect of it, the comproofs, if such were needed, of the fort and convenience that a railway peoples' thrift and perseverance. At Blackhead we noticed the large Meth- and what all round improvement it odist Church built some fifty years ago, under the superintendency of the late Rev. John Peach. At Northern Bay we saw a very modern piece of architecture surrounded by spacious subject from other people, both withgrounds. This church is expected to be the largest and one of the most handsome of the entire district. At Adam's Cove we also noticed a new building of large proportions going up, and on enquiry we learned that it was a puble hall, and that its ercction was mainly due to the persistent rulers, and one that means much for efforts of James Evans, Esq. Of ccurse all who know James Evans also know that he is a hustler, and therefore it is not to be wondered at that this hall is in a fair way to be very soon completed. Such a build-

Campbell, of Powassan, Ont., writes: "One of my heels was very badly blistered by a pair of new shoes, and the poisonou dye from my stocking got into it, and made a bad sore. For a week I could not put on a shoe, and suffered great pain. I applied Zam-Buk, and in few days it drew the poison out and healed the wound. Bad Cut.-Mrs. J. Virgint, of Onondaga, Ont., writes: "Zam-Buk healed a bad cut which I sustained. I was hurrying across my yard one day when I slipped and fell heavily, my knee striking a sharp stone. At the moment I did not realize how badly I was hurt, but I found I had a bad cut about two inches long, very jagged and very deep. We bathed the cut and applied Zam-Buk. This stopped the smarting very quickly, and in a few days it had healed the wound completely. For cuts and bruises Zam-Buk is a splendid remedy."
