Pilkington Ploughing Match.

The annual ploughing match of the above township took place on the farm of Robert Cronar, Esq., on Tuesday last. There was a large turn out of spectators and competitors, more so than we have seen at any previous match. Mr. and Mrs. Cronar throughout the day were most indefatigable in their efforts to attend to the creature comforts of those present. After the labours of the day were completed the annual dinner took place in the house of Mr. Cronar, that gentleman as President of the Society took the chair, while the Vice-President, John Smith, Esq., Warden, discharged the duties of the vice-chair; their being over thirty gentlemen assembled to do honour to the occasion. The following were the successful competitors in their various classes:

FIRST CLASS.—John Harper [McInnes plough], 2nd Thos. Angel [do. do.], 3rd Hugh Davidson [do. do.], 4th Thos. McQueen [Johnston do.], 5th Wm. Gordon [I. Modeland do.], 6th Francis Murch [do. do.]. Best finish, Thos. Angel; best crown ridge, Hugh Davidson.

SECOND CLASS.—1st, John Davidson, [McInnes plough]; 2nd, Thos. Hall [do. do.]; 3rd, John Jones [do. do.]; 4th, Charles Hall [Modeland plough]. Best finish, Thos. Hall.

THIRD CLASS.—1st, George Wallace [Johnston plough]; 2nd, Henry Marten [McInnes plough]; 3rd, Wm. Hall [do. do.]; 4th, Henry Ariss [Johnston plough]; 5th, Albert Wallace [do. do.]; 6th, James McKay [Anderson plough]. Best finish, William Hall.

JUDGES.—Henlock Young, Guelph Township; Miles Jackson, Peel; and James Haig, Pilkington.

The annual meeting of the Society was held after the dinner, when the following gentlemen were elected officers bearers for 1869: President, Henry Larter; Secretary, Edward Patmore; Directors: William Clarke, John Harper, Richard Hughes, John Burnet—West side; Wm. Haig, John Marriot, A. Aitchison, and Patrick Nagle—South side.

For the first prize in the men's class at next year's match, Mr. McInnes offers a plough; and Mr. Modeland will give a turnip drill as another prize. The whole proceedings of the day were most pleasant and satisfactory.

St. Andrew's Society.

The annual meeting of the Guelph St. Andrew's Society was held last Thursday night in the Town Hall, and was well attended. Mr. James Massie, the retiring President, occupied the chair. The first business was the reading of the annual report by Mr. Geo. Pirie, the Secretary:

ANNUAL REPORT.

Your Committee congratulate the members at this their annual meeting on the continued stability and prosperity of our St. Andrew's Society—in that while its institution was coeval with the birth of our good town, it will hold a place among the most favoured Associations of the locality till Guelph ceases to exist.

The celebration last year having been of a popular character commanded a large attendance, and the monetary result was an addition of over $43 to the funds of the Society. The applications for aid in the past year have not been numerous. Twelve persons have sought and obtained relief; none have been sent away unrelieved.

Your Committee regret to state that not fewer than five of their number have died since last annual meeting. Among those the name of the Hon. A. J. Ferguson Blair stands pre-eminent. He was one of the earliest members, and was several times President of the Society. He ever retained the warmest affection for the land of his nativity, and manifested the liveliest interest in the welfare of his "brither Scots," while your charitable Committee have often and ever found him prompt to render pecuniary aid when their funds were depleted and poor Scotchmen sought relief.

JAMES MASSIE, President.

The report was adopted. The Treasurer's report showed that the financial affairs of the Society were in a flourishing condition. After paying all expenses and relieving the wants of all who have been found in want, or who applied for assistance, a balance of $23 remains to go to next year's account.

The following officers were then elected for the current year: President, Alex. McKenzie; 1st Vice-President, D. Guthrie; 2d Vice-President, James Cormack; Secretary and Treasurer, Geo. Pirie. Chaplain, Rev. John Hogg. Physicians, Drs. Howitt, Herod, Cowan, and McGregor. Auditors, D. McFarlane and R. S. Brodie. Piper, John Watt. General Committee, D. Stirling, M.P.P., P. Gow, M.P.P., James Massie, James Barclay, Wm. Allan, John Davidson, Wm. Whitelaw, D. Kennedy, J. Rennie, Jno. Mewhort, Geo. Bruce, Jr., Wm. Stewart, A. McIntosh, Robt. Boyd, Wm. Alexander, A. Robertson, Sr., Jas. Webster, David Allan, Wm. Hewat, A. Robertson, Jr., J. Innes, Geo. Jeffrey, Hugh Walker, J. C. McLagan, J. Webster, Jr., D. Kennedy, (Woolwich street) J. C. Allan, Jno. Stewart, C. Davidson, R. Melvin, G. B. Fraser, Jas. Gow, D. McFarlane, R. S. Brodie, G. A. Burt, Hare, and a woman named Robt. Martin. Charitable Committee.—The officers of the Society, Andrew Armstrong, Jas. Gow, G. B. Fraser and H. Walker.

It was then decided that "The Day" should be celebrated by a Festival, to consist of a Concert and Ball with the addition of Parquet Entertainments. Sub-committees were appointed to make the necessary arrangements, and as they will enter on their duties with spirit, it is confidently believed that the celebration this year will be one of the most popular, as it is the most varied, which has ever been given by the Guelph St. Andrew's Society.

The sub-committees will meet in the Town Hall this (Friday) evening at eight o'clock.

The Saul Davis Libel Suit.

The Hamilton Times deserves the hearty thanks of the press and people of Ontario for the service it has rendered the community in ferreting out and exposing the gross impositions practised at the "Table Rock Hotel," Niagara Falls, kept by the notorious Saul Davis, and also for the manner in which it has conducted the defence, which was founded upon the libel articles which appeared in the Times last spring, and some of them so severe and couched in language of so strong a character that it was generally supposed the allegations could not be sustained. But the Times in its introduction to the report of the trial says:—"Before pointing out the establishment in the emphatic manner in which we did, we had taken great care to ascertain that there was good foundation for our strictures, and a general perusal of the evidence given below will show clearly enough that we were not mistaken. We have been incensed by no other motives than a conscientious desire to discharge our duty to the public. The reputation of the Province has been, in the eyes of our neighbours, greatly injured by the systematic swindles which we pride ourselves we have never been afraid of exposing fearlessly and faithfully. In performing this duty we have incurred great expense and have no expectation of ever being able to realize a cent thereof from the plaintiff. We have fought out a defence which is not merely a defence of the Times, but of all Canadian newspapers that have had the courage to expose a public and glaring 'hiquity'."

The case came up for trial at St. Catharines on the morning of Friday, the 6th inst., before his Lordship Justice John Wilson, and lasted till after six o'clock on Tuesday, the 10th inst. For the plaintiff there appeared Calvin Brown, of St. Catharines; R. A. Harrison, Toronto, and J. C. Rykert, of St. Catharines, Counsel. For the defendants, J. M. Gibson, S. B. Freeman, Q. C. of Hamilton, and Roland McDonald, Q. C., of St. Catharines, Counsel. As our readers know, the jury gave a verdict for the defendants.

THE GUELPH POLICE COURT.

Before T. W. Saunders, Esq., Police Magistrate.

FRIDAY, 13th.—Jackson Molton was charged with being drunk, and sent up for 21 days.

A TIMELY HINT.—The Pull Mall Gazette has heard of the grief felt by John Sandfield Macdonald and the Toronto Telegraph at the pettiness of the title conferred on Mr. Howland, and makes the following suggestions: Here is an opportunity for Mr. Disraeli, or his imitator Mr. Addeley. The policy of "making things smooth and round" might be extended to the colonies, and a Canadian popularity chiefly acquired by conceding to the representative of dominion dignity the title of 'His Magnificence,' or 'His Incomparableness.'

The Burke and Hare Murders.

A paragraph from an Australian paper brings back to remembrance the horrible deeds of the miscreants, Burke and Hare, who in 1828 were tried in Edinburgh for the deliberate murder of unfortunate victims who fell into their clutches, and whose bodies were sold as subjects of dissection. The mysterious disappearance of men, women, and even children, excited general alarm in Edinburgh; but although every exertion was made to ascertain their fate, no traces could be found of even the bodies of those who had disappeared, so that the widest and most improbable stories were set afloat to account for the mysterious occurrences. What led to the discovery of the series of murders and the murderers themselves was, if we mistake not, the disappearance of a well known character in Edinburgh—Daft Jamie—who was suddenly missed, and who had been seen in the neighbourhood of the "close" in the West Port already suspected. The place was searched and in a cellar house, occupied occasionally as a cobbler's shop by Burke, an Irish shoemaker, were found evidences implicating the inmates of the house in robberies if not murders, and the body of Daft Jamie being discovered, testimony being rapidly to gather. The repugnance of the Scotch to allow of the dissection of dead bodies for anatomical purposes had excited a strong prejudice against schools of anatomy, it being believed that the means employed to obtain subjects were not to be closely investigated. Graves were robbed of their dead, and many exciting stories were told of the adventures of medical students, and so difficult was it to procure the means of studying surgery that it was not wonderful in the minds of the public, that even the living would be spared if bodies could not be procured otherwise. The disclosures, or rather the hints at disclosures, for at first they were little more, roused the people to fury, and the story of the Porteous mob and others of a similar kind show that this is no light thing to face. Dr. Knox, the anatomical demonstrator at Burke's chief customer, had to fly for his life. To save the college from destruction guards of soldiers had to be stationed constantly, and from end to end of the United Kingdom there was the wildest excitement, it being believed that Burke and Hare were but detected criminals, while others were still at large carrying on the trade. A most interesting and dramatic scene was witnessed at the trial of Burke and Hare, with little druggists shops not well furnished, were objects of the deepest suspicion and not seldom of ill-usage. The three wretches engaged in the bloody traffic of killing for the sake of a few pounds for each body were brought to trial in 1828. These were Burke, Hare, and a woman named Ellen McDougall, a paragon of Burke. The highest legal talent was employed. The Justiciary Court was crowded day after day to hear the sickening details of the manner in which the murders were effected, the jovial hilarity of Burke as he plied his guest with liquor, laughing and singing till his "subject" overcame by liquor, sunk down insensible; the sudden change as the murderer proceeded to smother the victim, strip him of his clothing, and when the vital heat had left, carry the body to the Surgeon for sale, had in it an awful element that caused a horrible fascination. The man who had been called "Daft Jamie" was said to have been one of the most difficult they had to accomplish, and it is told that Burke said the only time he ever felt a twinge of conscience was when a little child smiled in his face as he lifted it on his knee to destroy its young life. In consequence of the powerful exertions of Lord Cockburn, the man who had advocated the woman was allowed to escape, the verdict of "not proven" being returned. Burke was condemned and hung in 1829, and confessed that from the beginning of 1828 till they were arrested, he and Hare, the woman McDougall being used as a decoy, had murdered fifteen persons. McDougall after the execution, returned secretly to the village in Stirlingshire where Burke had first met her, but had to fly for her life. All traces of her were subsequently lost. Where the wretched creature had hidden herself could never be discovered. Whether she had died in a ditch or still lingered out a miserable existence was unknown, but many a poor tramp, mistaken for Nelly McDougall, has had cause to remember the Burke and Hare murders. At last, after forty years silence, the news comes from Australia that the accomplice of Burke and Hare has, at the age of seventy, been burred to death at a public station. These details are given, but it is probable by the Australian mail some particulars may be received. It is almost like the grave giving up the dead to hear of this woman, after more than a generation in time has passed away since the crimes in which she participated, took her place into which the events of whole generations have been crowded, having survived so long, to meet at last so dreadful a fate.—Herald.

HORRIBLE ABORTION CASE.

FRIGHTFUL DOINGS OF A DRUNKEN PHYSICIAN IN GEORGETOWN—CORONER'S INQUEST.

From the Toronto Telegraph.

Georgetown, Nov. 12.—One of the most horrible affairs that we have ever heard of occurred in this town yesterday, and is now the universal topic of conversation. The facts of the case, as elicited at the Coroner's inquest, are as follows:

John Vance, a blacksmith here, at the request of his wife called upon Dr. McConnell a short time ago for the purpose of getting medicine to procure an abortion. The doctor gave him a prescription which was made up by a druggist in town. The medicine, however, failed to produce the desired result. Vance went again to the doctor, told him of the failure of the medicine, and requested him to come with him to his wife. The doctor lives in Cheltenham, and while driving from that place to here, they drank so many times that the doctor became considerably under the influence of liquor.—On arriving here they went to a druggist and procured some medicine, after which they went to Vance's house. Mrs. Vance was preparing supper when they arrived. She was in excellent health, but for some unknown reason she was opposed to having any more children, and it was at her request, according to her husband's statement, that he consulted the doctor, and asked him to produce an abortion. She was the mother of three children, and had been married for several years. A few minutes after reaching the house the doctor and Mrs. Vance went into her bedroom. What occurred there is so awful, so horrible, that it can scarcely be told; yet, fearful as the facts are they cannot be concealed. A few minutes after they had entered the room the woman called to her husband for help, and moaned aloud with pain. Vance ran in and found his wife dying. Dr. McConnell having, with a feignishness unparalleled in the annals of crime, with his own hands, not even using the instruments, torn the unfortunate woman's womb and intestines from her. In less than half an hour she died. These are the simple facts. The neighbors being called in and having informed the authorities, McConnell was arrested, and to-day Coroner Dr. Wright held an inquest, when the following evidence was taken:

John Vance sworn, said—I am husband of deceased; my wife was in good health yesterday; she performed her ordinary household duties; I got a horse from Jarvis' stable to go for Dr. McConnell, of Cheltenham; she often wanted me to get medicine for her, but I refused to do so; she did not want to have the child; I went and got such a prescription as she desired from Dr. McConnell about two weeks ago; it was made up by the druggist in Georgetown; the medicine made her sick at the stomach but did not have the effect she had looked for; the prescription produced in court is the one I received from the doctor; on Sunday last the doctor said the prescription had not been properly mixed by the druggist; the doctor came down with me last night in a buggy I had brought for him; we were drinking in Cheltenham, in Glenwilliam, and at hotels in Georgetown; we arrived at Vance's hotel, Georgetown, about 11 o'clock; cannot say how many drinks we had; we afterwards went to the druggist for medicine; the doctor got what he wanted and I paid for it; we then proceeded to my house; found my wife up getting supper ready; she went into the bed room and the doctor followed her and partly closed the door; he shortly after came to the door, and my wife called me to take our three children into another room; while I was removing them I heard her call out "Oh, doctor!" and moan; in a few moments she called out "Johnny, Johnny!" and I rushed into the room, and seeing that my wife was in great suffering, I called out "my God, doctor, what has you done?" He said she was all right, or would be shortly; the doctor then told me to go for a pint of brandy, which I procured at Clark's hotel, and brought home; he gave her some of it mixed with water, and said she was getting better; he afterwards took several drinks of the brandy himself, using nearly all of it; the doctor soon after said she was dying, and slapped her and breathed into her mouth; I told him to go after Dr. Wright or Ranney; while he was away my wife died in my arms, and for some time I could not believe that she was dead; the doctor was away a considerable time and returned, stating that Dr. Wright was coming; I then awakened Mr. Brown and Mr. Wilson who came in about the same time as Dr. Wright; Dr. McConnell was drunk, or considerably the worse of liquor.

A Juror.—Who put the basin in the back room containing the womb and entrails?

Witness.—The doctor handed it to me and I put it there.

A Juror.—Did the doctor come with you for the purpose of procuring an abortion?

Witness.—Yes.

A Juror.—Was the doctor drunk when he first went to your house?

Witness.—Yes. Dr. McConnell was in the room about five minutes before my wife cried out; she was dead before any of the neighbour's came in.

Dr. Starr, who held a post mortem examination of the body, made a statement that the organs were all in a sound and healthy condition, but that the womb and intestines were entirely removed; he found them in a basin in the house; it was clear that they had been torn from their position by force, thus causing the death of the woman.

After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict of "Manlaughter" against J. McConnell, who was then committed to Milton Jail by the Coroner. The husband, though almost as guilty as the doctor, has not been arrested.

Dr. McConnell, the perpetrator of this fearful crime, is a young man who recently commenced practice in Cheltenham. He is a graduate of Toronto University, and is one of the most brilliant scholars that ever graduated at that institution. He there obtained the degree of B. M., carried off high honors every year of his course, and won a gold medal in graduating. Since graduating, however, Dr. McConnell appears to have become a lover of whiskey—which has destroyed so many great minds and shattered the prospects and hopes of its thousands of victims. "Through it he is now an inmate of a prison, charged with a crime that one shudders to think of.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday the 5th inst., an accident resulting fatally occurred on the farm of Mr. Robert Hay, near Hollis. A hired man named Thos. Mines was tying up a bull belonging to Mr. Mines, which had got loose in the stable, and while doing so the brute ran one of its horns into his abdomen and tossed him into the manger. The bowels protruded through the wound, and in about twenty-four hours the unfortunate Mines, aged 23 years, was a corpse.

GUN ACCIDENT.—On Saturday the 7th inst. a son of Mr. James Forster, 16th con., Garafaxa, was going out shooting, and at a neighbour's, where a little boy took hold of the lower part of the gun, and accidentally pulled the trigger. The ball entered Forster's hand, at the base of the thumb, passed under the skin, and came out near the little finger. The boy is only 15 years of age.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.

He in whose mind philosophy mingles with politics will read Mr. J. S. Macdonald's bill for securing the independence of the Legislative Assembly with a mixture of pleasure and sadness—pleasure that there is a prospect of the Government being prevented from acquiring an unjust and overwhelming preponderance from the grateful zeal of a phalanx of minions; sadness that some men should be so venal, and others, "dressed in a little brief authority," so disposed to turn to illegitimate account the power which adventitious circumstances rather than merit have conferred upon them, as to make such a bill necessary. The magnanimity of the Government in proposing this measure is scarcely equal to that of Dioclesian when he resigned the imperial purple of Rome, or that of Charles V. when he took the crown from his own head and placed it on that of his son; none of the Ministers are personally affected by it, but considering that it will very materially decrease their powers of nurturing creatures of their own, and by benefits attaching them to their standard, it is truly a remarkable concession. The members of the Coalition Government cannot, dare not, ignore the fact that the day may come when their star shall be declining, and when they may stand in need of the assistance of all whom it might have been possible for them to lay under obligations during their tenure of office. Perhaps they consider their present numbers and their profession of a desire to do justice to all parties a sufficient fortification of their position, or it may be that they have resolved to accede to all demands of the leaguering force on the one condition that they shall be allowed to retain possession of the citadel, and keep their colours flying.

Mr. Macdonald's Independence of Parliament Bill strikes the first blow at that mischievous absurdity, dual representation. It aims to destroy the power of members of the Executive Council, or of the Privy Council to hold more than one seat. So far this is very good; but in this instance smiting the shepherds will not scatter the sheep, and after Minister have been divested of the privilege of sitting in both Parliaments the right will remain to private members. This is at least anomalous; Councilors are supposed to be made out of clever men, and if there is any advantage in dual representation it must be that it gives to those of narrow experience and ordinary mental power the opportunity of profiting by the instruction of their superiors. This indeed is the chief, perhaps the only, argument in favour of members holding two seats; plausible enough reasoning in the abstract, although if considered in the concrete, if answered by enumeration of the men who hold only a seat in the Assembly its impotency would immediately be apparent. There are some of this class there who not only require no tuition in parliamentary matters, but who are in all respects qualified to teach "raw recruits" their duty. One thing more is required in this bill, and it is probable that the omission will draw forth an amendment from the opposition. While it disqualifies all persons holding office under either Government, to which an annual salary, or any emolument in lieu thereof, is attached, from being eligible for a seat in the Assembly nothing is said about those who do government work occasionally and by the job. Members of the House who are lawyers may be deputed Crown Counsel at the Assizes; and in short they may perform any remunerative piece of labour that turns up, so long as they are not paid by the year. But after all the bill coming from the source it does is not so bad. It provides that no person holding office under the Dominion or the Province shall be eligible as a member of the Assembly, excepting of course the members of the Executive Council of Ontario, and, after the example of Britain, officers of Her Majesty's army and navy, and all members of the militia not receiving permanent salaries. The bill likewise disqualifies Senators, Privy Councillors and public contractors, and makes the penalty for violation of the statute $2,000 per day for every day an ineligible person may sit and vote. Any member of the Executive Council who resigns his office, and within one month takes any other office in said Council shall not be held to have vacated his seat in the Assembly; and any member of the Executive Council who sits or votes in the House of Commons shall forfeit his office as Councilor. The Bill in its present form grants much that was required; a slight effort of generosity would make it include all.

Two or three nights since an elderly man fell through a bridge at Belleville, in consequence of the removal of a plank, and was drowned, notwithstanding he was seen to go down.

Despatches to the Evening Mercury

London, 12th.—There are four parties who will contest the coming election in Spain. The party of the Provisional Government under Serrano and Partero representing the army. The Conservative party composed of commercial and industrial classes desiring a monarchy and monarchical constitutions, with the maintenance of local liberals. The Democratic party inclining toward the Republic and demanding government of the nation by the nation. The Clerical party wishing for the return of Isabella, and for the restoration of the privileges taken from them by the revolution. La Commune Revolutionnaire an association of French Republican Refugees have issued a manifesto recommending the overthrow of Louis Napoleon's imperial dynasty. The Emperor and Empress of Austria are expected at Paris in the course of the present month. Gustave Lambert is now at Havre for the purpose of organizing his arctic pole expedition. Miss Bismarck, daughter of the celebrated minister, is shortly to be married to Count Luxburg, President of the Regency in Wurtemberg, Bavaria. The Turkish Government has made a contract with a house in Boston for the purchase of 100 revolving guns. The agitations in the Danubian provinces are said to be the cause of the present military preparations. Vienna, Nov. 12.—The Reichsrath has passed the Bill prescribing new regulations for the army of reserve and for soldiers of three years' service. Before the passage of the Bill, Baron Von Boust carefully explained his former speech, so as to remove all cause of anxiety. London, Nov. 12, evening.—It is announced that the Rev. W. Thompson, D. D. no Archbishop of York, succeeds the late Rev. Charles Thomas Longley as Archbishop of Canterbury, and that the Rev. L. Wilberforce, D. D., now Bishop of Oxford, succeeds to the see of York. The Parliamentary elections commence tomorrow. Most extensive measures of precaution against disturbances at the polls have been taken by the police authorities. Troops have been sent to Blackburn, an important borough in the county of Lancaster, where serious trouble is feared. St. Petersburg, Nov. 12.—The International Military Commission has agreed to prohibit the use, in time of war, of all explosive projectiles weighing less than 400 grammes.

Legislature of Ontario.

TORONTO, NOV. 12. A number of petitions were presented, and, as usual, the greater part of them were either for aid to superior education or against it, and in favor of the disendowment of the Upper Canada College. Mr. Wigle introduced a bill in relation to abandoned oil wells. Second reading on Thursday next. In answer to an enquiry by Mr. Blake, relative to the pardoning power, the Attorney General said it belonged to the Lieutenant Governor. Mr. Blake moved an address to His Excellency the Lieut-Governor, for copies of all correspondence between the Government of Ontario and the Government of Canada, and between the Government of Ontario and the Government of Quebec, on the subjects of immigration and the public debt; also an address to His Excellency the Lieut-Governor, for copies of all correspondence between the Government of Ontario and individuals or Companies interested on the subject of the Mining Act, and of all orders in Council or Departmental orders under that act. Mr. Blake introduced a resolution that in the opinion of this House, no Minister of the Crown should act as counsel against the Crown on a Crown prosecution. He introduced the resolution in an able speech. Attorney General Macdonald promised it would not happen again under any circumstances, and the motion was accordingly withdrawn. Several bills were advanced a stage after which the House adjourned. A number of women, married to men of the 100th, without permission, have been left behind in Montreal.

The Braes of Yarrow

An Historical Tale of the Sixteenth Century.

CHAPTER LI.—THE DWARF'S STORY. But as higher drew, three Knights he stood...

'It behoves me to acquaint you, my lady, how it is that ye have found me so ready to take part in your cause and your goldman's...

'Ye ken that ye have been kind to the auld wife, and, what was mair to the purpose, the Knight of Haleside befriended my father...

'Whether he was his father or no—and that ye'll give me leave to doubt—Heron Barras struck the first blow, for I saw him do it.'

'Then, may the sweet Virgin obtain pardon for him,' moaned Mrs. Spens, subduing her emotions with all the strength of her command.

'Syne, when it was kent that blood was drawn a' the mirth of the day was changed like magic into the din of battle. There was riding and fighting, and swearing and tearing enow, and in the midst of the steer the three lions were all safe and sound...

'Stay, for pity's sake—I know that my brother is base—I know that he has been most unkind to me, but I cannot credit that he would have raised his hand to kill his own father.'

'He carried Barras safely with him and got him across the border in a day or two hale and sound. Well, Sir Walter Spens learned through me how Sir Matthew had fallen; but what wasnae sae weel, Tushielaw soon kent that he kent it. Guid reason why Tushielaw should set himself to work to get Spens out o' the road...

'As our duty bound us, we have tried to act faithfully.'

'And you have done it truly.'

'These words are sweet, lady, for it warms the heart to ken that those we serve value our service. Well, on the night before the battle of Flodden I was in the English camp. Two men in black mail with visors closed sought audience with the Earl Surrey on a matter of high import to England. The interview was granted.

'Raise your visors, Sirs,' said the Earl. 'We crave indulgence, my noble lord,' said one of the two, 'we are a couple of unfortunate men, and under your lordship's favour, must state our business ere we reveal ourselves.'

Have you corns as large as acorns which have a row every morning with your boot, causing a great sensation for a while, finally your feet corns subside, cured for the time by Mr. Hyde (the boot) Use Briggs' Curative and all contention ceases in that quarter. Have you Bunions which kick up a commotion every time you take the liberty of hitting your foot against a chair, bench, or any obstacle in your way, your Bunion from this cause is so quarrelsome that you have very little peace? Use Briggs' Curative, the Bunion will soon be subdued, and you will have no further trouble from that source.

A CARD to THE PUBLIC.

THE GOLDEN LION

IT is certainly marvellous that any community should be so excited over the great success that has attended the efforts of THE GOLDEN LION to obtain in the first Manufacturing Districts of the World the very excellent, novel and substantial fabrics in all of the various classes of

Fancy and Staple Dry Goods & Millinery,

Shawls, Bonnets and Mantles,

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Buffalo Skins, Grain Bags, &c.

Indeed everything in the Mercantile line usually kept in a first-class establishment. That MR. HOGG'S efforts have been crowned with unprecedented success is beyond a doubt. The great Bargain that he is daily giving causes his immense establishment to be crowded from early morning until night. His stock to select from is so large and varied that parties get suited without loss of time, let their taste be ever so difficult; and in addition, by being able to import all of his goods direct from the Manufacturers, to offer a saving of 12 1/2 per cent (12 1/2 cents on every dollar), over any establishment in Town.

All classes and descriptions of Clothing made to order by a first-class cutter, and sent free of charge to any part of Canada.
