N. PHONE EXCHANGE ON EGLINTON WEST

Reported That Company Has Bought Site—Will Build at Once.

It is reported on good authority that the Bell Telephone Company will in a day or so let contracts for the construction of a branch of their system in North Toronto.

The site suggested for the building is on Eglinton avenue west, and negotiations are almost complete in connection with the purchase. The structure will be good sized with allowance for the future development of the system in the district.

This news will be welcome to the residents of North Toronto, as it is reported that it will practically mean the lowering of the rates and placing the northern subscribers on a level with the city.

Mayor Hocken has written to E. V. Donnelly, president of the North Toronto Ratepayers' Association, intimating that as soon as Commissioner Harris has submitted his report on motor buses for the district, he (the mayor) will call a special meeting of the council to have a bylaw submitted to the people and secure their judgment on the matter.

A prominent member of the North Toronto ratepayers said last night that he was glad to "know" that the city intended to settle the vexed question of transportation in some manner. The district was now an important part of the city, contributing to the general taxes and had a right to expect transportation as convenient and at the same rates as other sections of Toronto.

FIRST NIGHTS AT TORONTO THEATRES

'NEVER AGAIN' WAS A REAL SURPRISE Percy Haswell Shows Versatility in Merry French Farce.

Charles Fletcher's Solo 'Rosy' in Last Act, Brought Down House.

'Veracity plus' is the keynote of the performance of Miss Percy Haswell's company in 'Never Again,' a rollicking farce comedy, with which they opened this week's bill at the Princess Theatre last night.

But the real surprise of the evening, was the incidental singing and dancing provided by the company. As a rule when a dramatic organization undertakes such a venture, the result is something trying on the audience. This was above ordinary. She has a voice, or voices, that deceive, and her humor is above reproach. Daniels and Conrad, musicians with vocal parts, handle modern music excellently. Lawrence Crane & Co. introduced some new tricks in the way of mystery plays. The first was witty, and his wit was clever. Dora Deane and her company of colored folk offers a new and interesting dramatic dancing. Brenard and Roberts, in ten minutes of fun and Grey and Peters, acrobatic exploits, rounded out the bill.

At the opening of the third act Miss Rutherford, who has been singing and dancing a really beautiful Grecian gown, which was the good as the interpretation of Mendelssohn's spring song, which was at the end of the act. But it was at the end of the last act that the real surprise was sprung by Mr. Charlie Fletcher with his song 'Rosy.' This was a real treat and brought down the house, his splendid voice and quaint humor made his rendering of the song a hit of the performance. Little Miss Ogden, who she did not sing, assisted in the choruses.

Miss Haswell has provided an entertainment for her credit, long after the season has closed.

Amalgamated Carpenters last night discussed the strike at present pressing between Carpenters' unions and the fighting unions. No decision could be reached owing to the matter being international-wide, and it was to be solved by agreement between the local executives of the two organizations.

Six-year-old Tilly Winscott, 1073 West Queen street, was knocked down by a motor car in front of her home yesterday afternoon, sustaining a fracture of the right leg. She was conveyed to the Western Hospital in the police ambulance.

BONSTELLE PLAYERS SCORE ANOTHER HIT

Catharine Proctor in Leading Role of 'The Girl of the Golden West.'

The Bonstelle Players scored another success in the production last night of 'The Girl of the Golden West,' at the Royal Alexandra Theatre. Catharine Proctor, in the leading role of 'The Girl,' did splendidly, supported by Edward Robinson as Dick Johnson. Interest was keen and well sustained throughout the performance.

Humor, mingled with pathos, combines to form a fascinating plot, which was depicted in detail above the average. The poker game of the second act was intensely interesting, and Miss Proctor carried her part well. The school scene in Act 3 marked the climax of the humor, which was evident in each of the other scenes. Robert Homans, as Jack Rance, showed up the qualities of the villain, and the simplicity and affecting quality of the final note at the end of the act.

As previously announced, Miss Proctor and Miss Wheatley will alternate in playing 'The Girl.' Miss Wheatley in the role of Blanche Bates in this role under David Belasco's management, tonight Miss Wheatley will assume the part.

FUNNY SKIT, 'EASY MONEY' IS HEADLINER AT LOEW'S

George Richards and company are playing a skit, 'Easy Money.' The theme is financial. It tells of a 'good old boy' in the financial world, who gives advice to his ambitious young secretary on how to win a wife and a million in one swoop, and the 'poor old fool,' as he later calls himself, realizes too late that the schemes he lays are to catch himself, his million and his daughter.

ROMPEIAN PICTURES PERFECT PHOTOGRAPHY

Pasquali's great historical photographs, 'The Last Days of Pompeii,' an especially good photographic dramatization of Lord Lytton's famous play, and attracted large audiences at the Grand Opera House at the opening performance yesterday. A presentation of a small production of this play was given in Toronto some time ago, but this is the first offering of the great Italian masterpiece in its entirety. It is a beautiful and elaborate photo drama, and lovers of this class of entertainment should not miss this series of perfect photography. Several of the scenes show thousands of people congregated. The popular novel has simply been turned into a photographic reality, and no less a description of the scenes show the destruction of Mount Vesuvius and the destruction of Pompeii, has been too difficult for Sig. Pasquali to successfully depict. The pathetic, yet hopeful, love story of Nydia, the blind daughter of a king, is presented in an interesting manner, with the various characters impersonated by eminent Italian artists.

The condition of the crops in the Canadian West is a barometer that indicates the kind of weather and little business in this country is going to have next fall and winter. The next ten weeks in the West are fraught with great interest to everyone whose personal prosperity is synchronal with Canada's prosperity. You want the straight facts of the condition of the crops. You want to know where you are at. Then read the weekly crop reports in The Sunday World. They give the straight facts.

TO WASH DRESSES CALLS FOR CARE

Some New Style Garments Have Pitfalls—Trimmings Need Care.

Many of the so-called tub dresses will need a very special laundering, as one of the fads of fashion is to trim wash dresses with soft silks or satins. When these materials are employed as trimmings they are usually sewn on by hand that they may be removed when the frock is laundered.

A charming parasol is in white, half covered with a "modern style" material with bunches of fruit forming a second dome ended by a shirred ribbon.

THE NEW HOUSEKEEPING

BY MRS. CHRISTINE FREDERICK

VACATIONING AT HOME

THESE are days when many of us are sitting to camp and seashore, but many of us must at home tied down to the regular grind. For such of us it is still possible to get some vacation joys by deciding to camp out at home and to run our household as much as possible like a summer camp.

Why is it that it takes us only half an hour to do the necessary cleaning in camp or bungalow? Why is it that the odorous cooking of three square meals is reduced to almost nothing in a summer cottage? Why is it that the laundry question vanishes to a point in the sensible vacation camp? Just because when we go to cottage or bungalow we are willing to lead the simple life in truth. But why is it necessary to go to some other place to some other setting, to lead the simple life? Why not do this vacation at home as elsewhere? This is what we must first simplify the furnishings, lay away useless ornaments and remove every heavy hanging that will keep the house from easy care.

Why have a hot roast and steaming vegetables on a hot and steaming evening? Cook the roast and vegetables at 10 o'clock in the morning, let the roast lie without cutting, so as to retain its juices and at night serve it in delicious slices with a salad made from the vegetables, cooked early in the day. Why do we have sandwiches only at picnics? The sandwich offers the easiest method of preparing and serving meat and bread, and all kinds of delicious fillings can be made and prepared in the morning and laid in paraffin paper to keep fresh until night. A salad may also be a substantial dish and the same meat, fish or eggs which we might roast or fry we can serve just as well cold if we add a quantity of vinegar and spices.

While there are many dainty things, especially of personal apparel, that we must spend time in laundering, we can do our own laundry. Khaki jumpers, persimmon house dresses, ruffled blouses and rompers all save ironing. Paper napkins for the children and simpler services instead of long elaborate tablecloths will all cut down the big laundry bill, time and work.

Even if we can't go away we can perhaps explore our own town or the neighborhood around it, which we have been too busy to do during the year. Doubtless strangers come on a "tour" to the very place we have lived in all our lives and about which we know almost nothing. Here is the time to discover our own environment and get as much recreation as we can from everything about us.

I know two little girls who every year give their mother a vacation. None of them are getting all the possibilities of vacation joy even if you cannot so simplify your housekeeping that the hot season will bring you as much benefit as it does those who go a distance.

Lychnis The Lamp Flowers

There is but one other contemporary perennial that rivals in height and intensity of coloring this very old-time favorite of the herbaceous border, and that is papaver orientalis. The lamp flowers of the Maltese Cross are the most brilliant of the Maltese Crosses. From the earliest days of spring the lychnia plants grow as small green fleshy specimens, each leaf oblong, two or more inches growing simply from a fleshy stem, clasping the upper growing leaves. Until late in June this small leafy stem holds unnoticed in the background, suddenly the upper part of the stem lengthens out in a few days and a tall waving flower stem shoots four to five feet high.

Slowly the green stem bill out, giving not the least hint of the dazzling scarlet ball that soon tops the plant. In a week or ten days a gleaming tint of scarlet orange flame shines out and then—the fire-like ball. Each plant produces one great ball four or more inches in diameter and made up of dozens of four or five petalled florets arranged in the most symmetrical manner covering the entire lower head. The stem is of the slenderest, and the heavy blossom swings back and forward at every breath.

How to Beautify a Summer Soiled Face

It's really a simple matter to renovate a face soiled by sun, winds, dirt, ordinary cold cream, wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snow whiteness and velvety softness. It literally peels off the outer veil of surface skin, but the outer veil of there's no discomfort. The worst skin comes off, not in patches, but evenly, in tiny particles, leaving no evidence of the treatment. The younger, healthier, inner-skin forming the new complexion, one of captivating loveliness. One ounce of mercerized wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to remove any tanned, reddened, pimpled, or blotchy skin. Apply before retiring, washing it off mornings. Many a skin wrinkle, every wind that blows, every worry, etc. An excellent wrinkle-renewer, because it tightens the skin and strengthens relaxed muscles, is a wash lotion made as follows: Powdered saxatille, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, 1 pt. This gives immediate results.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 115.

Forced to Borrow.

It hurt me more than I said to have Mary think so much of painting lessons and "At Home" days when she knew well enough that I could not afford it. It hurt me that she should not realize how steadily we were drifting behind in our domestic book-keeping. The instalments on the new furniture were left unpaid—agents began to call with disconcerting frequency, and Mary was very much upset.

"He comes nearly every day," said Mary, "that furniture man. Oh, Peter, what will the neighbors say?" "I don't care what the neighbors say," I admitted. "My chief thought is how to stop his visits in a wholly agreeable way."

"Can't you send him a check?" "I'd like to," said I. "But a check is only good when it stands for something. I can't overdraft." "I don't see why it is," said Mary tearfully. "I don't see why it is," said I. "I don't understand that we were living extravagantly, that the fault was wholly hers, that she could put her shoulder to the wheel and help me economize. I don't understand financial things. I would insist when I tried to make her understand. 'You know I don't, Peter. I never had to think of money at home.'"

"And that was a mighty bad beginning," I said solemnly. "I don't think so," said Mary. "I don't see why women have to worry about that side. Their side is home-keeping."

"Home-keeping needs financial oil to keep the machine in order," I said. "I do not think Mary always means to be extravagant. Money slips from her fingers like rain drops from a pail. She literally does not know where her money goes."

I gave her money for the furniture instalment—money that I saved with the most rigid economy—and it got away from her—she didn't know where. We had a scene. I interviewed the furniture man and he refused to wait. We faced the disgrace of having our furniture taken away from us. Mary did nothing but cry, and how in heaven's name can you reason with a crying woman? If you shoot logical facts at her when she's crying—she'll cry harder. If you shoot them when she stops crying—she'll cry again.

Mary uses her tears for a weapon. I know of no better one. "There is only one way left," I said. "I'll ask father to go on my note at his bank."

I went to Dad and told him the facts, saving Mary as much as I could. Dad looked grave. "You're welcome to the money, son," he said, leaning back on my shoulder. "But aren't you and Mary living pretty fashionably for your salary? You're travelling with a crowd that has more money—you're living up to every penny—are't you?"

"Living one beyond the last penny," said I bitterly. "And," said Dad, "notes are bad things. You've got to pay sooner or later, of course. It's merely postponing the day of reckoning."

I spoke of the furniture bill. "Well, well," said Dad, "that's too bad. Let's clear up that furniture bill once for all. I'll give you a note for $500, Peter, and you'd better pay it in full."

I had only meant to ask Dad for $50—just sufficient to tide over one or two instalments. But two hundred and fifty figured would put me safely on my feet. I thought hard for a minute and took it. Dad's eyes were very kind.

CHORUS GIRL TYPE IS CHANGING

FACE AND FIGURE GIVING WAY TO CLEVERNESS

By ELEANOR AMES

There are ever-changing styles in everything, and the best policy is to be ready to nab one, if it comes her way.

Some of the Chorus Girls who look the most stunning from the house go home after the performance and take care of the baby, and do the mending for Friend Husband.

The fact is that brains play a very important part in the career of the new type of girl. It is an everyday remark that some girl, who is asking for a chance, is "pretty enough and good figure, but she has no brains."

Speak her name as lightly as you please, and allow her a place in the froth of life, but the fact remains, when you know facts, that the Chorus Girl, in the modern days, which needs her talents, has to have a lot of ability.

Neither one is perfect, as there is no perfection in this world, but if, when the old order changes, as change it will, it is always as much for the better as in the style of Chorus Girls, the world will not deteriorate.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

The scientific housekeeper plans to order her house during the hot weather that the work of cooking is reduced to a minimum.

But in arranging household affairs so heat and work shall both be minimized, the housewife must not forget that there are certain food elements that must be incorporated in each meal, else the health and happiness of the family will suffer.

Food must be selected that will furnish the needed heat and energy to accomplish the daily work of the individuals comprising the family, and supply the material for growth and repair.

The rich pastries and heavy puddings which once were every day factors in the average menu are practically forgotten by the modern cook.

Soak half a box of gelatine in a cup of cold water and dissolve it in a pint of boiling water. Add the juice of a lemon and an orange, half a cup of sugar and pour it over a pint of preserved berries, strawberries or raspberries. When mixed, strain a portion of the clear juice into a separate dish, and when it begins to stiffen add the beaten whites of two eggs and beat as you would the snow pudding. Pour this over the other mixture, which should be allowed to harden in a mold. Whipped cream may be served, but is not essential.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

I have been going with a fellow over a year now. He has never told me he loved me, but has written to me telling me how much he cares, and he kisses me when he comes in and goes out.

But I have always distrusted him. I have thought he was not so true as he should be, and just lately I found out I was right. He goes to see another girl sometimes once a week. For two weeks he never went at all. When I told him I found out he was awfully mad. He said he would do as he liked; it was time enough for me to tell him what to do when we were married. And then he wouldn't even be bossed by his wife. But I love him, and he says I should not distrust him so. If I loved him I wouldn't.

Do you think he is true? Would you believe in him? I think he loves me dearly—he is so good sometimes. Do you think he would go to see this girl knowing how much it hurts me? Please let me know soon.

WELL, little Sorrow, you have chosen your name with discretion. You will have nothing but sorrow if you stick to this man who has caused you so many tears. He is a self-proportion of boiling water to be used depends upon what other liquid may be added. Snow pudding is easily made and delicious.

The simplest rule calls for two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatine soaked in two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Dissolve in half a cup of boiling water. Add one cup of sugar and a third of a cup of lemon juice. When the mixture begins to thicken as it is stirred, add the beaten whites of three eggs and beat with an egg beater until stiff enough to drop.

This may be molded in individual molds or in one form. It should be served with a custard sauce made with a pint of scalded milk poured over the beaten yolks of three eggs and a third of a cup of sugar. Cook for three minutes in a double boiler. Add a pinch of salt to the milk and flavor with cherries.

Neapolitan pudding is made as follows: Soak half a box of gelatine in a cup of cold water and dissolve it in a pint of boiling water. Add the juice of a lemon and an orange, half a cup of sugar and pour it over a pint of preserved berries, strawberries or raspberries. When mixed, strain a portion of the clear juice into a separate dish, and when it begins to stiffen add the beaten whites of two eggs and beat as you would the snow pudding. Pour this over the other mixture, which should be allowed to harden in a mold. Whipped cream may be served, but is not essential.

Those who like the flavor of bananas should try banana cantaloupe. Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in a quarter of a cup of cold water, and dissolve it in a cup of scalded cream. Add one cup of sugar, whites of three eggs, pulp of six bananas and a quarter-cup of lemon juice. As it thickens fold in a cup of whipped cream. Line a mold with waxed paper, add the mixture, chill and serve with whipped cream garnished with cherries.

fish, cold-blooded brute, and he does not love you. No man who loves a girl will treat her as you say this man treats you. Get rid of him—get rid of him now. It won't be half so hard as you think. The world is full of nice, decent chaps who are just hungry for some nice girl to love them deeply and sincerely. Don't waste your love on such a worthless object.

Don't try to make him ever, you might as well attempt to fashion a fine cloak for Sunday wear out of a worn, old potato sack. Let the man go to some other girl who will make him suffer as you suffer now.

And some day, when you are married to the right man, at the right time, you will want to sing a song of thanksgiving every time you think what a narrow escape you had.

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care of this office.

Great Novels in a Nutshell

GEORGE ELIOT'S "THE MILL ON THE FLOSS" CONDENSED BY AUGUSTA SHELBY

COSE to the town of St. Ogg, where the Ripple flows into the Floss, stands Doricote Mill. On the grassy banks, by the never resting wheel, Maggie Tulliver loved to wait for Brother Tom, her hero and "big sweetheart."

Maggie was very homesome when Tom went away to school, and she often went to visit him. There she met Philip Wakem, puny, white-faced and hunch-backed, and learned to like him. She did not love him, how could she, when she did not know what love was? But Philip loved Maggie with all his heart.

It had taken all his father's ready money to send Tom to this good school, and soon he became involved in a law suit that threatened to take even the mill away. Pivart, who had lands higher up the river, was taking water to irrigate them, and Mr. Tulliver went to law to stop him. Philip's father was Mr. Pivart's lawyer. Consequently, out of their fathers' quarrels there developed a keen antagonism between Tom and Philip.

It made Maggie doubly sad when her father commanded her not to see Philip again, or to speak to him when she went to tell Tom that he must leave school for leave school Tom must. The blow had fallen on their father. The law suit had been decided against him, and he had lost Doricote Mill, the land and everything. Nothing was left.

That night, when Tom and Maggie got home, they found the sheriff in possession of the house, and there was a debt against my father, besides for $3,750. Tom bravely took the debt upon himself, and vowed to earn the money to clear his father's name. Against his will, Mr. Tulliver remained as Mr. Wakem's manager at the mill.

Stephen Guest came upon the scene. Guest was older than Maggie, and a woman can know, took up her residence in a boarding house in the town. Though all the world turned against Maggie, her mother and Philip still remained true to their love for her. A few months of bitter suffering and penitence came to Maggie, and then the end of it all.

One night in her bedroom, while reading a letter from Philip, she heard the sound of rushing waters. The Floss had broken its banks. An empty rowing boat, crashing against the shutters, gave Maggie her chance of escape.

Climbing into the boat she pulled and rescue her mother and her brother Tom. Her mother had gone away for the night, and so was safe, but Maggie got Tom into the boat. They were together once more.

Half-way to safety a vast mass of wreckage, that spanned the stream closed in upon them and crushed their boat. In each other's arms, forgiven and forgiving, Maggie and Tom disappeared under the yellow flood.

Five years passed in Maggie's troubled life. She had grown into a beautiful girl. Philip still loved her, but was shipped from a distance, and when they parted, but Maggie had learned that she really loved Philip—she told him so. It was only their father's quarrel that kept them from happiness.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why You Rest the Best Sleeping on the Right Side

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

SLEEP has through the ages been one of the greatest mysteries of life. It has been sought by the wiser, wooed by the wicker, studied by the scientists, encouraged by poisons, hypnotism and unnatural practices, and investigated by everybody.

Almost all investigators are agreed that rhythmic movements of the circulation and respiration are essential to sound sleep. Disturbed, restless slumber is indicated, if not often caused, by irregular breathing, palpitation and spasmodic muscular movements. Of the many physical imbalances likely to disturb the sleeper, none is more frequent than turning on the "wrong side" or resting on the back. Children, when they are 12 or 14, are able with comfort to sleep on either side, but from 70 to 80 per cent. of their elders sleep best on their right sides.

Why is this so? How is it you are more refreshed and contented after seven or eight hours of oblivion on your right side, than an equal period of restlessness on your back or your left side? The answer is a complex one, and includes hypotheses as well as facts.

Except in some 10 or more per cent. of individuals, sleeping on the right side means rest on the diaphragm, always thicker on that side in right-handed people than on the left or left side. Sleep on the right side removes pressure on the diaphragm of nature's true liver pad; it obviates all interference with the stomach, sally filled with late hour saravots from the gilded lobster palaces of the pale White Way, and of not the least moment is the remoteness of any obstruction of the heart action—a not uncommon sense of discomfort to many persons when lying on the left side.

What a Snore Is. A snore is nothing more nor less than a form of stertor or noisy breathing. As the rhythmic inspiration and expiration take place through the open mouth, snoring may be prevented by gluing a bit of sticking plaster or fly paper over the closed lips.

In snoring, the moving waves of air impinge upon the soft palate, and the little finger of flesh called the uvula, connected with the roof of the mouth and cause the muscles to vibrate. This rate of tremulo vibration is sufficient to cause a snore.

To lie on the back is more or less conducive to snoring. The reason is not far to seek. When the body is relaxed and symmetrically placed, the soft tissues of the cheeks become, if possible, even more flabby than when you sleep on the side. The part played by the bellowing like cheeks in causing snoring has been generally overlooked. To put it mildly and modestly, I believe I am the first observer to call attention to the important role taken by the cheeks in snoring.

Any one who has witnessed as many instances of stertorous breathing, and the accompanying blowing in and out of the paralyzed cheek in cases of apoplexy as I have, cannot but conclude that snores are caused as much by the relaxed cheek muscles as by other factors. True enough, any sort of nasal obstruction such as adenoids, thickened bones and membranes, overinfected tonsils and swollen adenoids, all tend to excite the bugle calls of the wee wee hours. But the intrinsic cause of the snore is, nevertheless, a complete relaxation of the cheeks, girths, uvula and soft palate.

How to Cure Snoring. Now, though a man may be immunized against most diseases, by the proper methods of health building, and an insomniac may by physical exercises be made to sleep, as can be done in the prevention of snoring? Well, much may be done. The solution can be read from the explanation of its cause. If lack of muscular tone has as much to do with snoring as other causes, such as resting upon the back, a cure may be effected by the simple procedure of retraining the one cause and removing the

The Good Night Story

The Empty Boat—By VERNON MERRY

IN the very long ago, when Evil still appeared upon the earth in person, a rich man went up to his treasury and, as he closed the door, something knocked, not on the door, but upon his heart. A voice spoke: "Have you been good to the poor; have you fed the hungry? Or are you content with your life and want more gold?"

The rich man had no time to answer, for there came another knock, this time on the door. He shouted, "Come in," and there stood a poor neighbor, who had come to him as a last and hopeless resort. All of the poor man's family were starving and he pleaded with the rich man to lend him four quarts of corn. The rich man refused to lend, but offered to give him eight quarts if he would promise to spend three nights beside his grave, when his wife was dead. The poor man did not like this, but he had to have the corn, so he promised.

The very next day the rich man died and was buried. The poor man found it hard for him to go and spend the night beside the rich man's grave, but he had promised and so he went. He spent that night without anything happening, and the second night passed in the same quiet way.

The third night, as he was sitting there by the rich man's grave, a soldier came into the graveyard. He frightened the poor man at first, but when he had told the soldier why he was watching there, the soldier agreed to keep him company. Everything passed safely until the church clock loomed the stroke of twelve, and then there came a rushing through the grass. The poor man and the soldier looked up and there stood the Evil One himself. "Get off that grave," he ordered, "I have come for my friend the hard-hearted rich man."

But the comrades would not rise. Whereupon the Evil One offered them a purse of gold, but they refused. At last the soldier agreed to get up if he was given enough gold to fill his boot. The Evil One agreed, but, not having enough gold with him, went away to get it. Then the soldier cut off the sole of his boot and hung the boot on a grave with the foot in the grass. When the Evil One came back he poured the gold into the boot, but it did not fill it; he had to go back for more. But the more he put in the less full seemed that boot—all the gold fell through into the grass. At last the Evil One grew tired and threatened them with bodily injury, out, just as he was about to strike, the first faint rays of dawn appeared in the sky and he was forced to fly back whence he came.

Whereupon the poor man and the soldier took the gold from out the grass and divided it into two equal parts. Half they gave to the poor. Upon the remainder they lived together in happiness all the rest of their lives.

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 7.

LET US BE FAIR.

Our good neighbor The Globe labors to prove that the Borden government is holding back the construction and operation of the National Transcontinental in order to help out the Canadian Northern. As we understand it, the steel is laid from Moncton to Winnipeg, and indeed from Moncton to Prince Rupert. But everyone knows that it is usually a year or two after the last spike is driven before a great railway system is ready to handle big transcontinental passenger and freight trains. As early as 1909 the steel was laid on the Grand Trunk Pacific between Winnipeg and Fort William, but western grain did not get to the head of navigation by that route in commercial quantities until 1911. The steel was laid between Winnipeg and Cochrane a year ago and over that line will be carried in commercial quantities the crop of 1914, and we should see a fine passenger and freight service inaugurated this summer or fall via the Grand Trunk Pacific between Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton and the Northwest.

So far as this business is concerned it would make no great difference if the National Transcontinental east of Cochrane is not operated, because by using the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway the Grand Trunk and the lakes, and also by the Canada Atlantic to Montreal and tidewater.

The Grand Trunk Pacific might begin to operate from Quebec to Cochrane this fall, but it prefers to begin operating in the spring of the year for reasons which are obvious enough when considering it goes through practically an unsettled country. The local needs of the settlers are already being looked after by the contractors, who run regular passenger and freight service on many parts of the line. However, the point is that the Canadian Northern can in no way be advantaged by the Grand Trunk Pacific taking the wheat this fall to Ontario points and Montreal rather than direct to Quebec.

The Globe says:
It would seem as if the Borden government, not content with providing all the money needed to build the C. N. R. across Northern Ontario, is deliberately dawdling over the completion of the N.T.R. so that its privately-owned rival may get a grip of the business passing between east and west before the system in which the people and the G.T.R. are jointly interested enters the field. The owners of the C.N.R. are no doubt greatly interested in the completion of the National Transcontinental, and are pushing work upon the N.T.R. with feverish activity.

But the connecting line between the east and the west upon which all this "feverish activity" is being expended by the Canadian Northern is the line between Sudbury and Port Arthur. It is already paralleled by the National Transcontinental west of Cochrane, which The Globe admits is to be immediately operated. Let us get the Grand Trunk Pacific into Ontario and into Toronto as soon as possible; our neighbors in Quebec may be trusted to look after the line east of Cochrane.

THINKING HARD DOWN SOUTH.

Arkansas has never been looked upon as progressive, but we should judge from The Benton Courier, a weekly newspaper published at Benton, Ark., that the people down there are doing some hard thinking on the big economic problems of the day. The Courier reproduces an article from Collier's Weekly upon the astonishing career of the late Frederick Weyerhaeuser, who came to the United States a few years ago without a dollar and engrossed the forest wealth of the country to such an extent that he died wealthy in the neighborhood of a billion dollars, and then asks why it is that the great magazines and newspapers do nothing to change the laws and judicial decisions by which the natural resources of all the people are monopolized by a few. The revelations in the New Haven enquiry, it thinks, more than justifies the suspicion that the big newspapers and periodicals are in receipt of hush money.

The Courier then resumes the recent debate between Governor Stubbs of Kansas and Mr. Frederick L. Chapman, editor of Better Farming, on the nationalization of railways. It fears that it would be impossible to obtain the same honest and efficient administration of public utilities which obtains in European countries. But in this connection it says:

Yet what are we to do? Mr. Chapman tells of the widows and orphans and other small holders of railroad stock who need the increased revenue that their money might not be lost. But if Morgan and others steal from the New Haven millions and millions, the Moores steal from the Rock Island 129 millions at a clip and more, Yookum and others loot the Frisco and still others take from the other systems, we ask, could our politicians do worse? They surely could not take such big chunks as these captains in piracy (meant to say finances).

A NOVEL ARGUMENT.

Sir R. P. Roblin bitterly complains that direct legislation means republicanism. He is credited with having said some time ago that direct legislation and the direct nomination of party candidates would bring about anarchy. What direct legislation might bring about is not republicanism but prohibition, and what direct nominations would bring about would be a better class of men in public life.

Direct legislation, or the initiative and referendum, enables the people of any state or province to pass any law they desire to have passed with or without the consent of the legislature. A certain percentage of the electors may propose a law which must be submitted for ratification to the people. They cannot be side-tracked thru by partisan agreements between the politicians. Probably under our system the bill as passed by the people would have to receive the royal assent but that is an unimportant detail.

CONTROL OF OCEAN FREIGHT RATES.

To every farmer, and indeed to every shipper of food and industrial products, the matter of transportation rates is of vital interest and importance. On them depend in large measure the prices the grower or manufacturer will receive, and the further inland he is the more do rates become of prime consequence. This is now universally recognized in English-speaking countries of North America. The United States, thru its federal and state governments and legislatures, and Canada thru her Dominion and provincial governments and legislatures, have alike endeavored to regulate railway rates on a basis of fair and equal dealing as between the transportation companies on the one hand and the shippers and consumers on the other. This has involved much more than a mere attempt to arrive at a reasonable return on the nominal capitalization. The power of the state has been invoked to compel that capitalization to come into closer relationship with the real money invested, and to secure that the proceeds of all bond and stock issues shall be devoted to their proper purpose and not manipulated for the advantage of high financiers or the concealment of unreasonable and extravagant dividends to speculative stockholders.

But there is another phase of the question which still awaits adjustment and settlement, and that is the matter of water transportation, either alone or in conjunction with the railroads, the latter involving the imposition of thru rates. In Canada water transportation includes that of the great lakes system, which constitutes "a great public highway, stretching for fifteen hundred miles in the natural trade currents and leading two thousand miles from the Atlantic Ocean directly into the interior of a continent," and also the ocean routes along which the grain-products of the west pass to reach the European markets. Over the great lakes system the Dominion Government and Parliament can exercise absolute control. Control over ocean freight rates presents a more difficult problem which is now to undergo investigation by the Dominion Royal Commission. Sitings for that purpose have already begun in London, and early in August the commission will arrive at Sydney, whence it will travel across Canada, holding sessions in each of the principal centres of the Dominion. As the Dominion Government will to a large extent be guided and influenced by the information laid before the commission and by the results at which the commissioners arrive, every possible effort should be made by farmers and shippers to present their case in a form embracing all its aspects for the reduction of ocean freight rates.

Any attempt to regulate ocean rates will be strongly opposed by the shipping and railroad companies. Indeed, at the opening session of the Dominion Royal Commission in London on June 24, Sir Norman Hill, secretary of the Liverpool Steamship Owners' Association, emphatically denied that it was desirable to have standard maximum freight rates fixed by an independent authority and increases allowed only with its consent. He stated it would be practically impossible for any third party to fix minimum freight rates unless they could be guaranteed. This witness also denied that there was any shipping combination in existence, or connected with the United Kingdom which could either force freight rates up or maintain them in the face of a slump, but he admitted that combinations could and did regulate earnings, and within certain limits could regulate freight rates.

Notwithstanding this testimony it is unquestionable that there has been a very large advance in ocean freight rates both from British to Canadian ports and from Canadian to British ports. Between 1907-8 and 1912-13 rates on six different lines of British products shipped to Canadian ports rose by from 45 to 125 per cent, while rates on wheat to British ports rose from 6.11 cents per hundred pounds in 1907-11 to 18.87 cents in 1912, and on flour from 8.72 cents to 16.83 cents per hundred pounds. Such increases cannot be attributed to the operation of normal trade causes. Connected with this matter, too, is the further point strongly urged by Canadian millers that they are discriminated against in the fixing of flour rates as compared with rates on wheat to an extent which makes competition with British producers on a profitable basis with current values of wheat entirely out of the question.

Far more than suspicion exists that a powerful combine is in existence, including practically all the Atlantic shipping companies. British lines have been earning enormous profits for some years, out of which they have paid very high dividends, besides passing huge sums to reserve. The Canadian Pacific and other railroad companies that are also ship-owners are in that combine, and it works in close association with the great lake companies, now under unified control. As they hold a virtual monopoly of lake, land and ocean transportation their authority over rates, whether water or rail, or both, is complete so far as Canada is concerned, and this accounts for the discrimination used in their favor of New York. The World absolutely denies that it is impossible to regulate water rates, by any independent authority, and it is for Canada, either in co-operation with the United Kingdom, or alone, if need be, to find an effectual remedy. That remedy will not be got thru the mother country, which is still infuriated with the belief that combines are good in themselves and can be trusted to protect the public equally with their own interests. Not long ago the Union Government of South Africa was faced with the fact that the combine controlling its external trade threatened an all round advance in rates. It met the proposition squarely by proceeding to arrange for an independent fleet of steamers, and the would-be monopoly of the government in earnest promptly broke down. This was one way out of the difficulty, but The World can find no reason why steamship companies should not be subjected to regulation in the public interest, or why their rates cannot be fixed on the basis of cost of operation plus a fair return on the equipment actually engaged in the transportation service.

CONGRESSMEN ARE AHEAD.

President Wilson is one of the new breed of statesmen who have as few friends as possible, who work hard and have only one object—to get things done and rush business thru. His speech in Philadelphia had one paragraph which ought to be engrossed and framed and hung up in the city hall wherever aldermen most do congregate. There are men in Washington, he declared, "whose patriotism is not showy, but who accomplish great patriotic things. They are staying in hot Washington, doing their duty, keeping a quorum in each house of congress to do business."

When one reads this the fear arises that our aldermen are not all so fine and patriotic as the American congressmen, and this is sorely disappointing. Toronto people thought that their aldermen were at least as good as congressmen. Evidently they are not. We will have to take the bitter pill. Perhaps there will be some alleviating feature about this blow. Maybe there is a congressman who talks oftener and longer than Ald. McBride. We do not care to pursue the matter for an undefined hope is better than a shattered illusion. We do not want to know that no congressman in America talks longer and oftener than Ald. McBride. But even if they do talk all day and all night and all week, they keep a quorum. Think of that. They keep a quorum. This beats the aldermen.

A DIFFERENCE OF METHOD.

Former Whitney has discriminated in his statement between the noxious clerical partisans and those who are soothing, grateful and comforting. There was a doubt in some minds that Sir James had been condemning the whole clerical body indiscriminately, but his message makes quite clear whom he meant to be after. Nor should there be any difficulty about understanding the distinction which was so very clear to the premier's own mind. He could see no parallel between the denunciation of a proven crime and the violent and intemperate abuse of voters who did not think a certain method of curbing the liquor traffic was as good as another method. Those who are familiar with the clerical mind and temperament are aware that method is almost everything with the greater part of them. They are all after the same object, to get us into Heaven and they all want us to do so, but they differ as to method. This is why Sir James' statement is not likely to carry conviction to those who have already come under his denunciations. But reasonable men, and fortunately a large proportion of the clergymen are reasonable men, will see the distinction readily enough.

Sir Rodmond Roblin's "Landscape on the frozen shores of Iceland" shows that he is getting his geography and ethnography mixed up a bit.

HUGE WATER POWER MODEL ON EXHIBITION IN WINNIPEG.

Made by a Toronto Firm for the Dominion Government.
What is probably the largest model ever seen in this country is now on exhibition in the Winnipeg industrial building, showing, by means of a water power model, the water power of the Winnipeg River in Manitoba, now under construction by the Dominion Government.

The main model of the exhibit covers the whole of the Winnipeg River between Slave Falls and Pine Falls, and shows the present existing power plants at Pinewa, as well as the proposed plants at Slave Falls, Upper Seven Sisters, Lower Seven Sisters, McArthur Falls, Grand du Bonnet and Pine Falls. All the concentrations show the power houses electrically illuminated, dams, spillways and miniature replicas of the plants as proposed.

The model is constructed in several sections, and the total weight is over three tons. It is estimated that the amount of water on the model at one time is 1200 gallons.

On the north wall of the booth in which the exhibit is erected is a bas-relief of the city of Winnipeg plant at Point du Bois, showing it as it would appear at sunset with an illuminated sky and the windows of the power house also illuminated. The exhibit is a masterpiece of making the exhibit model above Slave Falls, from whence the water comes, in a series of giant steps over the various concentrations. On the north wall of the booth is shown a relief model of the drainage basin of the Winnipeg River, and by a series of bas-reliefs, the water forming this basin, in electrically illuminated blue transparent tubes, while the locations of developed powers are indicated by small lamps, and the undeveloped powers are shown in dark tubes. This relief model has been constructed for the water power project of the department of the interior, Ottawa, by the Geographical Institute, 208, Davenport road, Toronto, under the supervision of J. T. Edwards, F.R.G.S., F.A.G.S.

COLONIAL RAILWAY TRAINS AS THEY GO RUSHING BY THE MOST POWERFUL WIRELESS STATION IN THE WORLD REARS ITS MARVELOUS STEEL HEAD 500 FEET ON THE SPOT WHERE IN OLDEN DAYS SUCH CONQUESTS OF THE ELEMENTS WERE EVEN UNDREAMT OF.

NEWCASTLE, N. B., WIRELESS LARGEST IN WORLD. (Special Correspondence.)
NEWCASTLE, N.B., July 6.—Perched on the banks of the Miramichi, the little town of Newcastle can boast of the world's largest wireless station in the world, in the now complete wireless outfit, whose tower is 500 feet high, and which has 150 words at its disposal. The station is situated on the banks of the Miramichi, on Ireland's southwest coast. All that is lacking to place the Newcastle station on the active list is the completion of the Ballybunion station, which is nearly done.

Immediate connection from one continent to another 70 years ago sounded as real as building a tower to the moon. When the great cable was laid in 1857 that connected Ireland with Newfoundland, there was great rejoicing in the old and new world, and the feat was thought a wonderful accomplishment. But in 1897, when the first Marconi system was sent through the air without any visible path to travel, it was deemed marvelous, and a modern miracle. The system used in Newcastle is the Poulsen, which was invented in 1905 by Dr. Poulsen, a Danish scientist, and while his system is much like others, it still differs materially in many ways. The Marconi system makes signals by closing and breaking an electric circuit, every dot and dash signal represents an independent electric impulse transmitted through the air; the Poulsen system makes signals by varying at the will of the sending operator. The electric wave length is a continuous current. The Marconi system opens the line once and keeps it open by the signal being transmitted. Poulsen signals can only be read by Poulsen receiving apparatus. This prevents other wireless stations from reading messages not intended for them. Duplex sending and receiving has been accomplished by this system, that two messages can be sent or received by the same network of 120,000 feet of silicon bronze wire that is hung between the big towers.

BLUE RIBBON AT DETROIT, MICH.

DETROIT, Mich., July 6.—Trotters and prospects in training never have shown as much vitality during the waning days of this long and trying preparation as they are at this time.

Generally the last part of June brings from all of the big tracks, where the famous drivers are engaged, reports of ailing horses. This year the physical condition of the campaigners is excellent, few are on the hospital list from lumbago, and all seem to have unusual vigor and speed.

This condition foretells large fields and exceptional contests for Detroit's annual midsummer carnival of speed, the Blue Ribbon races, which this year will be held from July 27 to 31.

The entry in the stakes was the largest in the history of the club and the percentage of horses on which third payments have been made also is the greatest, so the racing of these and other events on the program should produce sport of the special sort.

While the Merchants and Manufacturers' and Chamber of Commerce Stakes are the center of attraction, for they stand unrivaled on the list of harness turf, the program for the Blue Ribbon meet, as a big day. There are from two to three star races for each of the five afternoons.

If a person is unable to be in Detroit on one day he will see just as good racing on another. This is a convenience to the people in the state who make an annual pilgrimage to a Detroit meeting, and from the hotel reservations the number of visitors will be unusual.

Signs of the times point to this as the banner year for the sport of the sulky and the Detroit Driving Club may be relied upon to maintain the standard which has made the Blue Ribbon races world famous. The rebuilt mile track is the fastest race course Detroit ever has known, and this with the skillfulness of the meeting and the freshness of the horses probably will result in lowering all speed averages for the Blue Ribbon meet.

RALPH BRITTON WILL TRY AGAIN FOR CANOE TROPHY. NEW YORK, July 6.—Another of the many international sporting events of the year is set for the New York Canoe Club's international challenge cup, to be decided in Gravesend Bay, on the Manhattan Canoe Club's grounds, Bath Beach, Brooklyn, on Friday and Saturday, July 17 and 18.

The trophy has been awarded to the Manhattan Canoe Club, which was written of the Ganarogue Canoe and Motor Boat Club, Canada, who was defeated last year by Leo Friede of the Manhattan Canoe Club. The trophy has been awarded since it was first offered in 1886 by the New York Canoe Club.

KING FARMER'S WILL. According to the will of the late John Egan, a farmer of King's Town, his daughters will each have a choice of a cow, while each of his two elder sons will get a farm. The estate is valued at $16,300, and is composed of a 250-acre farm, farming implements, a 100-acre farm, and a 100-acre farm. The three daughters will receive $100 annually for a period of ten years, and then share the household furniture between them. The son, John Egan, receives $500 which he reaches the age of 25, and then a further sum of $2000. Reuben gets a farm of 107 acres, and Aubrey a farm of 150 acres.

RABBI TO STUDY ABROAD. Rabbi Dr. Price of University Avenue Synagogue will leave town shortly for Germany, to study for some manuscripts dealing with the history of the Jewish race. After his studies there he will visit Barcelona, Spain, to look for some Spanish manuscripts. On his way back to Toronto he will stop at Oxford for a few days. He expects to be in the city again by September 2.

CADETS AT BARRIEFIELD. KINGSTON, July 6.—Six hundred cadets went into camp at Barriefield today from Kingston, Nanawake, Brockville, Renfrew, Altona, Williamstown, Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.

AT THE 'DROME TONIGHT.

The greatest race yet arranged to be run off at the Motordrome is the feature on tonight's card. There will be only three starters, but the field will be made up of the great trio, Leonard, the Cleveland wreck; Carslake, the Australian wonder, and Henkman, the Detroit daredevil. They will compete in a five mile event, heat two out of three heats, and it is anticipated that the race will be something terrible. Each of the three starters has won a bunch of races at the local auver this season, and the rivalry between them is at a most interesting stage. Henkman is a rough-rider and will force his opponents to keep away from him, but he can't watch two at once.

Another good race for tonight is a trial against time which young Art Spencer, the bicycle sprinting sensation of the year, will make in an effort to beat the Canadian quarter mile record, unpeaced, of 25 seconds. This record was made so long ago that no one just seems to know who holds it. There will also be a half-mile bicycle handicap, in addition to several motorcycle thrills.

As usual, ladies will be admitted free tonight if they are accompanied by escorts. The admission for children is half price.

KELLEYWITES FIGHTED DAILY BISON CAPTURED THE FINAL

Wagner to Retire When He Was Hit by a Batted Ball and Palmero Was Hit Freely.

BUFFALO, July 6.—Timely hitting, aided by weird fielding on the part of the Leads, ended the Bison to down the Leads in the final game of the series, 5 to 4, today. Wagner was disabled by a line drive, and gave way to Palmero in the second. Palmero was hit freely, but good holding behind kept him from going down. Score: A. B. R. H. O. A. E.

BEAVERS TOOK FIRST GAME FROM SAINTS

Knotty Lee's Boys Came From Behind in Eighth and Won Out—A Snappy Game

ST. THOMAS, July 6.—Toronto won the first game of the series here today by defeating the Saints by the score of 5 to 2 in a contest which was featured by several fine fielding plays by outfielders. Everything looked smooth for the locals to annex the pastime with the score 2 to 1 in their favor, but Trout spilled the bases for Picher Horvick when he tripped in the eighth innings with three on, second and later scored on Shultz's hit, putting the game on for the Beavers. Second baseman Orr was chased by Unipier Halligan for dropping a decision, and Trout returned to the field, while Harkins caught.

Toronto was the first to score in the third inning when Keady opened with a hit to Kading and advanced on Kroy's throw. Burritt was safe when Kading threw to catch Kroy going to second, but hit him in the head, allowing Hunt to score. The next two men were easy outs.

The Saints evened up the score in the fifth when Nevitt singled and stole second, and scored on Inker's two base hit. Another run by Nevitt in the seventh gave the locals a narrow margin when the chief tripped and scored as Kopp grounded out.

Burrill, the demon batsman for the Beavers, started a rally which won the fifth when Nevitt singled and stole second, being the first man up, and going to second on Harkins' bunt to second, and both were singled, and Keady scored. Keady grounded to Kopp. The bases were filled with none out when Trout smashed the first ball over to deep right for three bases. Trout scored the final run in the seventh. Two men were left on base when Kroy's Texas leaguer was grounded out.

BOSTON, July 6.—After losing three straight games to Brooklyn, Boston came back today and won both ends of a double-header, 3 to 1 and 3 to 0. The Braves won the first game by bunching hits in the third innings, when they scored all their runs.

The second game was a pitchers' battle between Allen and Crutcher which Allen lost when he was walked a base on balls in the second, and allowed Mann to drive the ball to the centre-field fence for two bases, scoring the only run of the game. Score: A. B. R. H. O. A. E.

SINGER IN WORKHOUSE

Some time ago it was brought to the notice of the West Ham (Eng.) guardians that there was in their workhouse a girl named Mabel Clark, who possessed a very remarkable contralto voice. Several of the guardians took occasion to hear the child, who was employed as a domestic servant, and were so much impressed that they took expert advice on the matter. Royal College of Music reported that the girl had the makings of a very unusual contralto voice, and recommended that her musical education should be carefully watched. The guardians have determined to give the girl every chance of developing her gift.

MANY WINDFALLS FOR KING GEORGE

Southport's intestate spinster, Miss Amanda Cooper, has provided the crown with one of its greatest windfalls. Her treasury of £51,000 will be paid to the Treasury for the use of the king.

The phrase is no empty form of words, says The Sheffield Telegraph, for his majesty does have assumed control over all consequences of their own dying without relatives. If these crown windfalls are estimated over a long course of years it will be found that Southport amount has several times been exceeded.

In recent years the most remarkable instance of the crown's luck was £150,000 in 1907, from the estate of the romantic recluse of Folkestone, Captain George Wilson, who changed his name, cut himself off from the world, and allowed his possessions to take care of themselves.

During 1913, ninety-seven estates were reported to the king's and lord treasurer's offices as having fallen to the crown in Scotland, among them being the estate of a certain Mr. Watt of Dundee. The amount received in respect of estates in the year was £12,655. Receipts on account of treasure trove were £12,176 6d.

BEER WAS HIDDEN IN RAIN BARRELS

Northern Ontario Policeman Discovers Queer Hiding Place of "Blind Piggers."

Some very funny hiding places have been found by the provincial police in Northern Ontario for the "boozers" called "blind piggers," but Provincial Constable E. Stallwood of Gowganda has just had one of the cleverest concealments revealed to him.

When Superintendent Rogers of the provincial police was in Gowganda a little while ago, he issued orders to Constable Cohen, who was suspected that one J. Cohen had been hiding and selling "spotter" method. Stallwood learned that Cohen always went out the back door for the liquor. On a Wednesday night the constable concealed himself in the rear of the shanty and waited for him to come out. The night passed off and one after another of the early hours came and still determined to finish his work. At late hour in the morning Cohen issued from the back door of the shanty a barrel filled out a bottle.

Stallwood sprang out of the thicket in which he had been hiding and arrested the man. The next day in court Cohen was fined $200 and costs.

COUNTRY IN SHAPE FOR GOOD BUSINESS

New York Market Dragged Along in Midsummer Fashion.

STRIDES PREDICTED

Steel Industry Shows Improvement—Metal Trade Better.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Aside from some artificial activity at higher prices in the group of "spoiled" specialties, today's market dragged along in traditional midsummer fashion. The better feeling fostered last week by developments at Washington seemed to have been dissipated, and traders were again averse to follow the upward movement while those of bearish tendencies were no less averse to investment in speculative circles.

According to authorities, the steel industry is said to show appreciable improvement and the monthly statement of the U.S. Steel Corporation, which will be issued later in the week, is expected to show a moderate increase in orders. The June statement of the Copper Producers, which comes out Wednesday, is the subject of considerable speculation, but the state of the metal trade is plainly better than it was a fortnight ago.

RECOMMENDATION OF CONGRESS and the expected trust legislation failed to excite the slightest attention in financial circles. Some apprehension was felt over the Mexican situation, but confidence was expressed that a way would be found out of the tangle.

MONTREAL MARKET ENJOYS ADVANCE

Better Tone in Power Stocks—Brazilian Easier—Textile Improved.

MONTREAL, July 6.—Two point advances in Montreal Power and Textile stocks were the outstanding features in the local stock market today. Buying of both issues, which was in steady progress last week, was resumed in the early trading and continued throughout the day. Power was at new high record figures for the year from the opening transaction and in the afternoon touched 22 1/2, a rise of 2 1/2 from closing Friday. There was a slight reaction just before the close, but the market closed with a net gain of 1 1/2 on the day. Shawinigan rose to 136 and closed there with a net gain of 1 1/2.

RAILWAY EARNINGS

What The Grain Brokers Say

Lanman Bros. & Co.: With favorable weather, the short side is more preferable.

Phinley, Barrell & Co.: All rallies in wheat from these prices should be met with caution.

Wares & Leland: Believe the technical position of the wheat market has been weakened considerably.

Logan & Bryan: There is little doubt that the wheat market will turn on climatic conditions in the northwest early this week.

Walter Pitch & Co.: It will depend on the weather, and with reasonably fair conditions we look for the pressure to increase on wheat.

Thomson & McKinnon: The deferred wheat deliveries are dependent entirely upon spring wheat weather conditions, and will be very susceptible to black rust reports especially.

For use in small gatherings there has been invented an attachment for phonographs that illustrates songs as they are sung by projecting lantern-slide views on a screen hung in front of the phonograph horn.

FARMERS REORGANIZE

ORILLIA, July 6.—P. J. Cary of the market extension branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture will address a general meeting of the North and South Orillia Farmers Clubs on Tuesday, and reorganize the Co-Operative Fruit Association.
