Startling Disclosures in Halleybury Court—Pinkerton Men Were Employed by Superintendent of Provincial Police Thru Toronto Head of Agency Who Both Sit Silent While Tale is Told.

HALLEYBURY, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Pinkerton detectives, employed by Superintendent Joseph Rogers of the provincial police, and acting, as they swore upon oath, upon the instruction of Superintendent Wilcock of the Toronto office of the detective agency, have been selling whisky in the neighborhood of Halleybury. This oath was pledged in the police court here to-day.

The evidence was drawn out by James Haveron, K.C., acting for the defence, while Superintendent Rogers and Superintendent Wilcock sat in the courtroom and did not deny the statement. Superintendent Rogers, in making this trip to the north to oversee the administration of the License Act, and incidentally to investigate his local constabulary, has retrieved his local uniform from the moth-balls, and is resplendent in wet paint and feathers, to wit, said uniform.

RAILWAY BOARD DEFER OVER P-A-Y-E CARS

Chairman Leitch Over-rides Colleagues Who Stand Firmly for Double Doors in Rear Vestibules—Board's Engineer Must Approve Cars Before New System is Adopted

Lively, and unique in some respects, was yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. The board met in court room No. 3 at the city hall and Chairman Leitch was early to arrive and sat alone on the bench for a time awaiting the arrival of his colleagues. What material difference their presence or absence meant appeared to be a question in the minds of Messrs. Ingram and Kitchin, as their two judgments were annulled by the single one of the chairman of the board.

A curious spectacle was presented when the chairman read a judgment of the board followed by the vice-chairman reading dissenting judgments. Chairman Leitch's point, however, which prevailed, was that, in view of a question of law which was interesting to the board regardless of the attitude and opinions of his colleagues.

MACLEAN PROGRAM STILL LIVE TOPIC

Western Liberals Are on the Anxious Bench as to What Constituents Will Say of Their Silence.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—The Maclean program is still the source of considerable discussion. A state owned cable will have quite a number of friends when it comes to discussion. In the meantime, the government are relying on making an announcement in a few days of reduced cables rates negotiated by them. The proposal for a tariff commission has also friends among Conservatives and Liberals, and it will get good support. Hon. George E. Foster is believed to be in favor of such a commission, and may speak in its favor at an early day.

Liberals from the west are very sore over the Maclean resolution on the Canadian Pacific traffic charges. They are anxious over what their constituents will say when they hear that not a single man from the west allowed the statement to be made in the house that there was no dissatisfaction in the west with C.P.R. freight, passenger and telegraph tolls. Mr. Sifton's newspaper, the Manitoba Free Press, is and has been for weeks demanding lower freight charges for the people of the west and for their charter rights.

Sir Alan Aylesworth Makes Official Statement of Result of Recent Negotiations—Newfoundland Not Included—Diplomacy Better Than Arbitration.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—In the house of commons to-day Sir Alan Aylesworth announced the result of his recent negotiations with United States authorities which practically constitutes a clearing up of the final outstanding issues with that country over the subject of the North Atlantic fisheries.

The agreement, which is in the form of a minute of the conference at Washington, signed by all parties present, applies only to Canada. Newfoundland could not reach an understanding with the United States, and in the agreement the republic reserves the right to re-open the questions involved, pending a final disposition.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, the much sought after ex-president of the Farmers' Bank, arrived in the Soo Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, on a freight train which was stopped so he could alight at Pim-st. and catch the ferry for the Michigan side, where he registered at the Park Hotel. On his way over on the Canadian Soo, and later phoned for him from the Park Hotel, So. Mich. Nesbitt, who is a friend of Nesbitt, was in conference with him till 4 p.m. Nesbitt left on Monday afternoon, his destination, it is alleged being Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The opening gun in the fight for fortification of the Panama Canal was fired to-day, although the postoffice appropriation bill, ostensibly, was under consideration. Gen. Kiefer of Ohio declared that the fortification would not be enough. He said that it would cost at least $100,000,000 to so fortify the canal so that it could be held against the attack of a first-class power. Gen. Kiefer asserted that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, which still is in effect, specifically provides for the neutralization of the isthmian waterway.

LABOR MEN DENOUNCE EIGHT-HOUR DAY BILL

Much Parliamentary Tinkering Has Made It Abortive, in Their Opinion.

A resolution was passed by the Trades and Labor Council last night condemning the eight hour day bill in its present amended state and instructing the secretary to send emphatic protests against any emanation of the original bill to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. W. L. M. King, minister of labor, and R. L. Borden.

THEY WANT CONNAUGHT

Postmaster-General Cheered When He Referred to King's Uncle.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—It is evident that the ministers at Ottawa are and hope for the advent of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught to the governor-generalship of the Dominion. Speaking at the banquet this evening of the Dominion Manufacturers' Association, Hon. Rodolphe Laflamme, referring to his recent journey in South Africa and to his meeting with the King's uncle, added: "Who I hope will be our next governor-general and the whole body arose and cheered the sentiment to the echo."

WESTERN MEMBERS WEAKENED.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—The journal, in its report of the proceedings in parliament on the day when Mr. Maclean, member for South York, made his defence of the people as against the C.P.R., says:

"But the result must have been disappointing to Mr. Maclean. He has intimated, not so much yesterday as in his newspaper and in other speeches, that he understands the C.P.R. management has earned severe criticism in the Canadian West.

"Hence he looked yesterday for a measure of support from the thirty-four western members of the house. That support, however, was not forthcoming, or, at any rate, was given him to a most limited degree.

"The opposition leader, Mr. Borden, while he treated Mr. Maclean's motion with all seriousness, and while he discussed it fully, did not approve of it. The opposition followed, to a considerable extent, the opinion of Mr. Borden.

"Government members had not a great deal to say on the question, and that not of material assistance to Mr. Maclean."

Laid Siege to Bartender.

The above startling facts were brought out in the prosecution of local hotel keepers for selling liquor in quantities larger than permitted under the act. The Pinkerton men, Otto C. Weller and Charles Turner, sworn in the case of James J. Doyle, proprietor of the Marlborough Hotel, that when they found Doyle would not sell they laid siege to his bartender, and finally persuaded him to make the sale and violate the law. A conviction was made in this case, and a fine of $20 and costs imposed. A second charge against Doyle for a like offence upon another day was dropped.

And More to Follow.

The case of Otto Knapp of the Maple Leaf Hotel was next taken up, and two charges were sustained where the bartender had sold. First, that when they found Doyle would not sell they laid siege to his bartender, and finally persuaded him to make the sale and violate the law. A conviction was made in this case, and a fine of $20 and costs imposed. A second charge against Doyle for a like offence upon another day was dropped.

For Ladies' Costumes.

Some eight months ago the Dinsin Company introduced a new department in its big store—one for ladies' suits and skirts. Just now the company is having a sale to clear out the entire stock of these goods, and if prices can prove a temptation to the wise buyer, the sale should prove a success. A cut of at least seventy per cent has been made in every line of ladies' hats, coats, jackets and skirts. If you're down town to-day call at the show-rooms.

So Railway Will Buy Church That Blocks the View.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—At a meeting of the members and board of trustees held last night, it was decided, on the advice of Geo. Hood, to accept the offer made by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the Calvary Congregational Church property.

The church has been considered as a disadvantage to the locomotive engineers of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as it has obstructed their view of the tracks and the block signals.

On the other hand, the passing of trains during the time of service, has been very annoying to pastor and congregation alike. The Canadian Pacific Railway's offer for the entire property was $28,000.

C.P.R. SWITCHMAN FOUND DEAD NEAR LAMBTON

Trainmen Make Gruesome Discovery—County Council Meets on Tuesday—Suburban Notes.

WEST TORONTO, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Lying in a crouched position against the C.P.R. fence near the Jane-street crossing of that railway, the dead body of Daniel Harrington, a switchman employed with the company, was found this morning shortly after 2 o'clock by the crew of an incoming train. The men were attracted by the light of a lantern, and, going over, found the switchman dead, but his lantern burning brightly. The friends of the deceased were at once notified, and later Mr. Speers, the undertaker, was acquainted with the facts and the body removed to his undertaking parlors, where it is at present.

The circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. Harrington were peculiarly sad, and have aroused the greatest regret around town, where he has resided for the last 30 years, and where he is well and favorably known.

About two weeks ago the unfortunate man was taken ill with pneumonia. Dr. Alex. Mavety was in charge, and the members of the family had been unremitting in their attentions to the sick man. Last night while the waters were apparently, washed with their vigils, dozed off for a brief spell. Mr. Harrington in his delirious state and, partially dressed, went out the back door without awakening the other members. He lit his railway lantern and walked across Jane-street over to the C.P.R. property, in the direction of the Lambton station. The distance from the house to the point where he was found was probably less than 200 yards, but the effort was too much, and death had apparently supervened at once.

The late Daniel Harrington was 69 years of age, and had been employed with the railway company for many years.

WOH'LL BE THE NEXT WARDEN.

The first regular meeting of the York County Council for the year 1911 will be convened in the council chamber on Adelaide-street on Tuesday morning next. The little will be done outside of the enrollment of the members until the afternoon. There will be little change in the personnel of the council, only two or three new faces being in evidence. Of these, Deane Skelton of the newly-fledged Village of Mimico is one. Keave Pugsley of Richmond Hill, the dean of the council, will exercise a fatherly eye as of yore over the rank and file.

The real fight will come when the race for the wardenship gets fairly under way, the horns as everywhere else, it is the unexpected that often happens, and sometimes the keenest contest prospective does not materialize. In the southern portion of the county they do say that Bob Bull, the general chief magistrate of the county of Scarborough, too, the young man, has had longings eyes on the warden's chair, and he, too, would make a good executive head. There may be, and probably are, other dark horses, so to speak, who will come out in the limelight, but time alone can tell. Tuesday afternoon will definitely dispose of the question.

beside this will be called upon to deal with the good roads question, and this may cause a good deal of discussion, for while the principle is fairly well endorsed among the members the details have yet to be adjusted to cause the least friction. As stated before, the northern part of the country north of the boundary line between Markham and Whitby, being outside the zone, are not interested in a financial sense in the movement. A good many routine matters will be in the natural order of things come up, and altogether the session promises to be a fairly busy one.

WOODBRIDGE.

Annual Meeting of Presbyterian Church Was Best Ever Held.

WOODBRIDGE, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the Woodbridge Presbyterian Church was held on Wednesday evening of this week. The attendance was large and enthusiastic. The reports from the various organizations of the church were very satisfactory. The Sabbath school is growing, and an organized class of young men is doing splendid work. Twenty-six new names were added to the roll of membership.

The treasurer reported the revenue for current expenses as being $1081, a balance of $129 being on hand. The sum of $225 was contributed to missions. The pastor was given a bonus of $50 for the past year, and the organization has had a splendid year.

JUMPED HIS BAIL

John Dixie Was to Have Been Tried for Importing Stolen Boat.

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—John Dixie of Escott failed to appear for trial to-day before Judge Reynolds on a charge of bringing a stolen boat into Canada at Gananoque. Dixie was out on bail, his own bond of $500 and two sureties of 250 each, given by two sisters of the fugitive from justice, residing in Brockville. The court ordered the bail forfeited, and issued a bench warrant for Dixie.

Scare 'Em, Then Catch 'Em.

These directions for catching wild animals were given last night by Buffalo Jones, ranchman of Las Vegas, breeder of strange animals and African big game hunter.

"Other wild varmints is the same way exactly. We roped a big rhino around the fore and hind legs. For about fifteen minutes he raised an awful rumpus, chasing the moving picture man up a tree and dragging our horses and ourselves after him. Finally we tied him securely to a coconut tree. He set up and left during the night, taking the tree along."—Chicago Tribune.

MADE GOOD ARRANGEMENT.

Ratepayers Thank Retiring Trustees and Appoint New Ones.

At a meeting of the ratepayers of School Section No. 13, York Township, a section which was not in common with the rest included in the city at the time of the annexation movement, held last night in Miller's Conservatory, the resignations of Trustees W. A. Robinson and W. A. Carter were tendered and accepted. The arrangement made by these trustees with the city was ratified and fully endorsed by the big meeting last night, and the gathering agreed that Messrs. Robinson and Carter had made excellent provision for the education of the children of S.S. No. 13. The new trustees appointed are Edwin Miller, John Dixon and Thomas O'Keefe. The sum of $10 was donated to the secretary, treasurer, Charles Stephens. The meeting passed strong resolutions thanking the retiring trustees.

Tetrazzini in Grand Opera.

Wherever this queen of song appears she electrifies her audience. Nothing else is to be expected, says one, from the voice of "quified and rarified gold." This was the effect on the large audience that assembled in the Vancouver Opera House, a week ago, when the famous diva appeared in grand opera. At the Vancouver concert, as will be the case everywhere else in Canada, where Tetrazzini appears, a piano of the old firm of Heintzman & Co., Ltd., was used.

Won't Increase Library Grant.

The controllers yesterday voted down the legislation committee's report asking for power to increase the public library grant from 1-4 to 1-3 of a mill on the dollar.

IMPORTANT CASES FOR RAILWAY BOARD

Sleeping and Parlor Car Tariff and Charges of Discriminatory Grain Rates.

At a meeting of the board of railway commissioners, to be held in Montreal on Jan. 23, the application will be heard of the C.P.R. and other railway companies for the approval of their tariffs of sleeping and parlor car tolls. On Jan. 21, 1911, the following cases will come up:

The complaint of the board of trade of Halifax relative to the differential rates of railway companies of one per cent. per ton for goods shipped westward against that port, as compared with the Port of St. John, N.B.

The application of the Vancouver Board of Trade for an order directing the C.P.R. and other companies, among other things, to cease charging discriminating rates on Alberta grain to the Pacific coast, as compared with grain rates to Port Arthur and Port William.

The C.P.R., C.N.R. and G.T.P. will be required to show to the board the reasons for the mileage tariff rates on grain and grain products now being charged for local shipments within the territory between Lake Superior and the mountains.

The application of the board of trade of Vancouver, B.C., for an order to direct the C.P.R. to: (a) cease charging discriminating rates on goods transported by that railway from Vancouver, B.C., to points located in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and on the Crow's Nest branch line, as compared with the same territory (or the greater distance) from Montreal, Quebec and other points on the Atlantic seaboard; (b) to cease charging discriminating freight rates on wheat and oats consigned to or from the Pacific coast; (c) to cease charging discriminating passenger rates to passengers in British Columbia, as compared with the passenger rates charged by that railway in other portions of Canada.

MORE THAN SUSPICIOUS WAS THIS LOT OF EGGS

Canned Hen Fruit From China, Valued at $100,000, Not Good Enough For Montreal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—A condition of affairs like unto that revealed by the investigations made in the United States some time ago, was brought out at the city hall this morning. The board of control announced that canned eggs worth $100,000 must be removed from the Gould Cold Storage, where they were brought from Hankow, China. The intention is not to have the eggs destroyed. The board does not know whether it has power to take this step.

"We must see that the market at Montreal is not flooded with stuff which is unhealthy," said Dr. Lachapelle. "If your analysts are able to find a few good cans of eggs, all right. We have found on careful examination by experts that they are bad. If the eggs were only suspicious, we would have refused to permit their sale, but they are more than suspicious. You'll have to take all these eggs from the province, or we'll apply the law, confiscate and destroy them. If you are not satisfied, you can take any legal action you like."

"Our analysts have found that the eggs are not wholesome, and they cannot be used with safety by the public. As far as we are concerned, the case is settled, and settled for good. The city experts and the expert on the provincial health department have decided that they are unfit for consumption."

FRENCH-CANADIANS ARE AFTER A JUDGESHIP

One of New Appointments Should Go to Them, They Say, on Basis of Population.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—The vacancy on the high court bench of Ontario, resulting from the death of Mr. Justice McMahon, brings up the question of French-Canadian claims to a member of the judiciary. It will be recalled that this was discussed at the French-Canadian Congress a year ago. "We feel strongly in the matter," stated a prominent French-Canadian, "but I do not think we will press our claims in this instance. Judge McMahon was an Irish Catholic, and I presume his successor will be one also. But two extra judgeships have been created, the first of them should go to us. We should have it on the basis of population."

It is said that there are several mentioned for the position to succeed Judge McMahon. They include Mr. O'Connell of Peterborough, Messrs. Mr. McEvoy of London and a couple of others.

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 20 1911. PAY-AS-YOU-ENTER CARS.

Yesterday's proceedings before the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board in connection with the pay as you enter system on the street railways, was anything but satisfactory. The board seem to have agreed that the system should not be authorized unless suitable cars were provided—the chairman differing from his two colleagues on the necessity of each authorized car having both an entrance and an exit at the rear.

AN IRISH POET.

Those who have not yet had an opportunity of becoming familiar with the work of the late J. M. Synge, the Irish poet dramatist, should take advantage of the opportunity to-morrow evening at the Margaret Eaton School of Expression, when a recital of some of his best work will be given for the first time in Toronto.

Synge, it is held by critics of austere reputation, has made a deathless name for himself by his transcriptions of elemental Irish life and feeling. It is difficult to realize after long courses of stage Irishmen and women and theatrical logs and mountains, that humanity may be as human, and may become the foundation of as great literature in Ireland as in Syria or Greece.

Yet it is to such parallels that the critics are referring Synge's work, and one of them declares that no writer since Homer has written so directly and truly. His early death cut him off, like Keats, perhaps from the loftiest summits, but as Keats in "Hyperion," so Synge in "Diarda," has left a masterpiece.

In such works as "The Playboy of the Western World," "The Shadow of the Glen" and others, the modern peasant life of Ireland is depicted with extraordinary fidelity, and the peasant life, with its marvelous picturesqueness, becomes under Synge's control, a vehicle of tense poetic expression, simple and unstrained and spontaneous, and yet almost the language of a different world than the Anglo-Saxon's in its vivid metaphor and imagery, its agile thought, and its utter naturalness.

LAUGHTER AND TEARS spring together in these pictures of Irish character, and under Synge's guidance, one escapes from what we call civilization into a realm of ancient survivals.

CANADA'S TESTING TIME.

An important deputation will wait upon Sir James Whitney this afternoon to press upon the premier the desirability of having the provincial government take part in the erection of the memorial proposed to the memory of those who fell on behalf of British interests in Canada in 1812-14.

More than two hundred petitions have already been sent to Sir James from all parts of Ontario commending the proposal. These represent every phase of military, national and patriotic interest. The government, it is believed, will not be heedless of the claims put forward if sufficiently reinforced by to-day's representations.

There are already in Queen's Park monuments commemorating every important military campaign of the country except the war of 1812-14, the result of which was to secure the British fealty of Canada for all time.

Queenston Heights and Chrysler's Farm are shining names in Canadian history and Brock and Tecumseh would add fame to any roll of glory. In twenty-four victories, Canadians proved their manhood in that campaign.

We trust Sir James will see his way to facilitate the object of the deputation, which is to have a stone and bronze memorial of the campaign erected in Queen's Park on the hundredth anniversary of Queenston Heights.

BRITISH PROSPERITY. Proof of the prosperous trade conditions prevailing in the United Kingdom during 1910 is afforded by the reduction in the number of business failures to 9054, the lowest recorded for 23 years.

LEVEL FOR RADICAL REFORMS IN SCHOOLS

At Inaugural Meeting Chairman Expounds His Views—Motions by Trustees.

Chairman Levee's inaugural speech was a feature of last night's meeting of the board of education, many points of educational interest being presented by him, especially with regard to the system of education, whose curriculum of study pointed solely towards the learned professions.

"The interests of the 55 per cent. of our population, that is, of producers, not of our factories and stores should receive more careful consideration," he said.

After speaking in favor of vocational schools, he emphasized the necessity of increasing the scope of the public school work. "The fact that 95 per cent. of the school pupils never see the inside of a high school, is the saddest thing that has happened since the public school should not be subservient to the high school, nor should the entrance examination be the standard on which to base public school graduation."

He also pointed out the present system in vogue among many of the high school teachers, of teaching pupils with a view of entering one of the learned professions. Mr. Levee gave expression to a new idea in the connection, saying he would like to see all schools preparing students for the university and "commercial" work.

Enlarging on the work of medical inspection, he congratulated the board on the great progress which had been made in the past year. "The results that have been attained by so small a staff, and the amazing discoveries which their examinations have effected, make it imperative to start a medical inspection department at the start of physicians and nurses, that the physical needs of the children may be adequately met."

There are 40,000 children at present in our public schools, and the number is increasing at a rapid rate. Experience has shown that the maximum number which a nurse can look after is 2000. From this it follows that the number of nurses must be increased to 20. The necessary implies a substantial increase in the staff of physicians. And this is the greatest asset of the state, and a good omen that the stress formerly placed on the development of the intellect has been partially transferred to the upbuilding of healthy and effective body."

Many of the notices of motion presented by the new board embody original and important suggestions which are being put into practice so far as possible. The board of control appears to be afraid of an intelligent electorate. Librarian Locke says the people want to read about great men. The board of control says no. Comparisons would be odious.

PEAT UTILIZATION.

Ontario has considerable deposits of peat, and therefore it is of interest to learn that among the numerous schemes for its utilization one of special promise is that which regards it as a power producer. A Russian installation has proved a success. A writer in The Paris Cosmos says that for a long time it has been sought to find remunerative means to use peat as an industrial fuel, either by extracting simultaneously, but separately, gas and the nitrogen it contains in important quantities, or the gas by itself alone.

But for purely economic reasons it cannot be dried artificially, and when dried simply in the air, it still contains a very large proportion of water, which has hitherto put a stop to the attempts of all investigations. At the same time there is at present in Russia, a factory that is operating continuously with an explosion meter of 600-horse-power, fed solely with peat gas. Although it dates back less than a year, the results are stated to have been quite satisfactory and the opinion is hazarded that this means to be used for a rational and remunerative exploitation of peat beds.

The board of control appears to be afraid of an intelligent electorate. Librarian Locke says the people want to read about great men. The board of control says no. Comparisons would be odious.

Mr. Campbell prophesied the formation of a provincial organization to control the main roads of the province and construct them where needed. The automobile owners should be made to contribute to the maintenance and construction of roads. He favored a tax in proportion to horsepower. At least $100 from each machine would not be too much, and that would give in Ontario a revenue of a million dollars. In one year the tax alone would build a main road from Montreal to Windsor at about $3000 per mile. This would leave only one-third of cost to be divided among municipalities and the province.

Vegetarian Boots and Shoes. An enterprising manufacturer has discovered a process whereby a possible imitation of leather may be manufactured from a vegetable product. The novelty owes its introduction to London vegetarians, who shuddered at the thought of the number of animals that were killed annually to keep humanity in boots. The imitation leather is being used for the manufacture of boots, shoes, Bible covers and a hundred other articles usually found in the art leather department.—Jewish Chronicle.

Kingston Presbytery Votes Down Proposal to Discuss It Now. KINGSTON, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Kingston Presbytery voted down the petition of a few members to discuss church union, and will take it up at the March meeting, as decided upon at a recent meeting. IMPROVED WAGON ROADS WILL HELP RAILWAYS

A. W. Campbell Looks For Provincial Organization to Maintain Roadways.

A. W. Campbell, deputy minister of railways, speaking before the Empire Club yesterday, said: "Railroads are the modern highways, and we have in Ontario a network of railroads so complete that it is difficult to see where others are economically necessary. But it must not be lost sight of that more than all the traffic that passes over the railway systems of the province must first pass over the wagon roads, which are the feeders of the railways. To get the most of the expenditure on railways, attention must be directed to the betterment of the wagon roads. The most important matter in connection with this is organization of forces and the taking care that the expenditure of money is under proper specifications and under trained and competent supervision."

"Consumption"

Three Doctors Attended Her. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Cured Her.

It has long been known that the balsamic odor of the newly cut pine tree heals and invigorates the lungs and consumptives improve and revive amid the perfume of the pines. Since but few can command the luxury of a visit to the pines, it will be good news to many to know that the essential healing principle of the pine has been separated, and refined, and combined with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth in the manufacture of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Mrs. Charles McBurnett, Bathurst, N.B., writes: "I thought I would write and let you know the benefit I have received through the use of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Three years ago I had Consumption and had three doctors attending me, and they were very much alarmed about my condition. I was so weak and miserable I could not do my housework. While looking through your B.B.B. almanac I saw that Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was good for weak lungs so I got a bottle and after taking ten bottles I was completely cured. At that time I weighed 135 pounds and now weigh 172, a gain of 37 pounds in three years. I now keep it in the house all the time and would be without it for anything as I owe my life to it!"

RAILWAY BOARD DIFFER OVER P-A-Y-E CARS

When requested, shall be liable to a fine of $10 with costs.

Section 116 of the Ontario Railway Act, 1906, provides that the fare or toll shall be due and payable by every passenger of the car, and he is liable under the provisions of the act, or other conveyance, and every passenger who refuses to pay his fare may, at the discretion of the company, be expelled from and put off the car, with his baggage, at any usual stopping place, or near any dwelling house, and using no first stopping place, the conductor or other necessary staff may, by subsection 2 of this section, be expressly to apply to street railways.

Must Pay on Entering. By both of these the fare is due and payable by the passenger on entering the car, and he is liable under the first mentioned act, if he refuses to pay his fare or to quit the car when requested, to a fine of $10 with costs.

The board are of opinion that the company have the right to select and adopt either single door or two doors between the rear vestibule and the body of each motor car. Where the opinion of the experts is equally divided as to whether one door or two doors is the better plan, the company has the right to select whichever plan they choose.

P. A. Y. E. Cars in 18 Months. The board are of opinion that all the company's motor cars should be changed to pay-as-you-enter cars with all reasonable dispatch; that each car should be put in commission as soon as finished; that the whole system should be completed in eighteen months from this date, and that such changes and equipment should be subject to the direction and inspection of one of the board's engineers.

Trailers to Stay. In view of the congested condition that exists in Toronto, the board declines to order the company to discontinue the use of trailers or to construct its cars with compartments for the use of smokers. To do otherwise, at least at such time as the new lines and cars ordered by the board in May, 1907, are completed, would only intensify and aggravate the congestion.

Platform Fare Box. The platform fare box now in use by the Toronto Railway Company, or an approved one of similar design, be used on all cars intended for the collection of fares by the P.A.Y.E. system.

That an upright be placed near the center of each step opening, extending from the floor to the ceiling, which shall be used as a grab handle. The spacing from the body to be left to the discretion of the railway company.

That the grab railings now in use on the ends of the car be retained in their present location.

That a similar grab railing be placed all around the interior of the rear vestibule.

That at the discretion of the railway company a grab railing be put on the fare box.

That in all cars intended to be used for the collection of fares by the P.A.Y.E. system, there shall be one door in the rear, end bulkhead on the devil-strip side for entrance and one door on the street side for exit, or in lieu of the two doors, there shall be one reasonably large door on the devil-strip side, the minimum width of which should not be less than 36 inches.

In the event of two doors being used there shall be a dividing bar to separate the two systems, and to separate the cars with one large door.

Better Than Double Doors. The experts report that one large door on the devil-strip side has advantages over the two-door system, but satisfaction in other cities, they give it as their opinion that either system would be satisfactory.

The board also recommends that the system now in operation of entering cars by the rear door and leaving by the front should be continued.

The board adopts the said recommendations of the said experts, and determines that the same are the reason-never, intended to be applicable to our open summer cars. Why not then, observe the operation of the present system here for the rest of the winter, and in the meantime regard the matter as open. Let it stand, and observe the result. I had intended to be ready with evidence on behalf of the company to-day, but that is not in the shape which was anticipated at the time of the last adjournment. It is only another two and a half months in before all this fruit goes up in smoke unless engineers could then have a more definite report of the conditions as they exist. The company has to show shown itself willing to try what can be done to furnish the best service for the people.

Chairman Real Disenter. "I certainly do not. And it appears to me that in this case the chairman of the board is the disenter, and not the other two commissioners. The judgment of the board specifies two rear doors on the P. A. Y. E. cars; so we are entitled to a suspension of the system until that is brought about."

Company No Choice. "I further dissent from the view expressed by the chairman that the Toronto Railway Company have the right to elect and adopt either single or two door system at the rear end of each car. The chairman in his judgment sets forth that under the act of 1910 the board has power and authority to determine the proper and adequate regulations, practices, equipment and appliances necessary for the P.A.Y.E. system. In my opinion the board have the right to order the installation by the Toronto Railway Company of separate entrances and exits on all cars when the act of 1910 is enforced, and I am, therefore, of the opinion that this board should order the Toronto Railway Company within a reasonable time to alter their cars so that a separate entrance and exit at the rear end will be installed before the P.A.Y.E. system can be permitted on such cars."

Legal Question First. "The primary necessity in this case," said Mr. Leitch, "is to settle the question of law. Here we have sent out two experts who recommend two rear doors on the P. A. Y. E. cars, and a difference between these experts in this connection, I think that the Toronto Railway Company has the right to select the one which it chooses. My two associate commissioners here are not car-builders nor railway men, nor in any sense experts. Yet they are quarrelling with the opinions of experts who have studied the matter and first settle these questions of law, and then take evidence."

Question of Fact. "The difficulty," said Corporation Counsel Drayton, "seems to be a matter of one or two doors at the rear end of a car is not a legal question for the court of appeal. The choice of a system is for the Toronto Railway Company to determine. That would be usurping the privileges of the railway board. If there are differences of opinion, such as the question of one or two rear doors, this board should itself decide the dubious points. Furthermore, there appears to be a misunderstanding as to just what the experts' report is."

Company Has Option. H. S. Osler for the company said it was "undoubtedly a question of law, involving, as it does, the forcing upon the company of one or other conditions. If it is a question of fact, which the majority of the board might handle, it has not been tried out."

That's Just It. "That's just it," agreed Mr. Leitch. "The board either have or have not the right to collect fares from passengers as they enter," continued Mr. Osler. "So also they have the right to choose how it is to be done. There are at least three ways of doing it. As it is done in Toronto, under the alleged P.A.Y.E. way, or with the conductors stationed inside the car and collecting the fares as the passengers come in."

Very Well. But the main point to decide is whether, under the contract, the board can force one of these ways on the company. I would suggest, then, that as your honors differ with the report of the experts, it is a matter of practical working out. The system admitted to be the best in one place may not be adaptable in another locality, and an expert cannot easily say what is best for Toronto. Of course, this system is not, and was

Public Amusements

Marie Dressler will be followed at the Royal Alexandra Theatre by Lieber & Co.'s big production of 'The Estate' the newspaper play by Joseph Matthiessen, starring Harriet Ford, that proved one of the dramatic sensations of last season in both New York and Chicago. Few plays are so much to offer as this interesting and powerful take to 'the road' so highly recommended. The strong original cast and the massive production, including the much heralded opening room scenes, will be presented here intact. The seat sale opened yesterday with a rush.

Wright Lorimer in his intensely interesting romantic drama of 'The Shepherd King,' will be the attraction at the Grand next week. This celebrated actor is presented here under the auspices of Wm. A. Brady in a production of unusual magnitude and splendour. More than one hundred people are required to present 'The Shepherd King,' and there is a wealth of gorgeous costumes and scenery. The play revolves around the story of the youth of David, the poet-king of Israel, and the friendship of David and Jonathan. There is a very pretty love story in the play, the younger daughter of Saul. There is an Oriental dance in the third act, in which a well trained corps of dancers figure.

When Julian Eltinge, the star of 'The Fascinating Widow,' with comes to the Princess Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Wednesday matinee, Jan. 22, 24 and 25, made his first appearance as an impersonator of women with the Boston Cadets. It was so successful in fact, that he has since been engaged to play a job as a chorus girl. They took him up on it, confident that in street clothes he would not make the bluff. He was, however, engaged as a show girl at $25 a week.

At Shea's Theatre next week Manager Shea has one of the biggest shows of the season. The headline act will be seen here for the first time and is sure to prove a sensation. Amelia Stone and Armand Kesley will be seen in the musical romance 'Mon Amour.' 'My Love,' music and lyrics by Mr. Kally, booked by Edgar Wolf.

The burlesque attraction next week at the Gayety Theatre will be Jas. E. Cooper's 'New Jersey Lilies' Extravaganza Company, enlarged by the addition of several of the best American and European vaudeville performers of the olio. Leading players are: Leon Errol, Alf. P. James, Robert Agler, Marty Season, Robert Walker, Symphony Quartet, The Milky Musical Four, Hazel Crosby, Lucia Cooper, Stella Chatsline, Kate Prior and two of the thirty handsome and more or less funny comedians, Bluch Cooper.

An Opinion Desired

Toronto citizens who have visited other large cities on this continent have made comparisons in their own minds between the Street Car services there and at home.

In many cases, conversing with friends on their return, they have expressed opinions favorable to the local service.

Any of the Toronto Railway Company would appreciate the kindness of these citizens who would frankly express to the Company by telephone or letter the opinions they have not hesitated to communicate in private conversation.

"Rounding Up" a Herd of Elephants

CAPTURING a wild elephant alive is considered such a difficult and hazardous undertaking that elaborate expeditions are usually organized for the purpose, but in Siam, where elephants are employed to do most of the hard work connected with felling timber, building roads and similar operations and where, consequently, the big animals are required in large numbers, the natives capture them wholesale.

Elephants are plentiful enough in Siam, where they gather in large herds, but it would be almost impossible to capture them save by the use of strategy. The natives resort to the old expedient of employing "a thief to catch a thief," or in other words, of using tamed elephants to catch the wild ones.

When the Siamese Government is in need of elephants, a herd of wild ones is sought out. Then experienced elephant hunters—and almost every Siamese is taught from childhood how to handle the big beasts—are sent out with a number of tamed elephants, some of whom are mounted, while others are allowed their full liberty.

The tame elephants without riders are used as "stool pigeons," so to speak, and mingle with the wild herd, while the hunters surround it. The tame animals among the herd know almost as well as their masters what is expected of them, and they urge their wild companions to follow them toward a specially constructed corral, or kraal, as they call it, built of strong timbers with large doors.

In this manner the whole herd is slowly but surely driven through forest and field, and sometimes even across large streams. Once in a while one of the older elephants tries to break away, but is as a rule easily driven back by the hunters, who are armed with long spears, with which they goad the recalcitrants into line.

When the herd is nearing the corral, the bunch is slowly thinned out until it forms in single file, the animals trotting willingly behind each other. A tame elephant leads the line and enters the corral, and all the others follow him quite unsuspiciously. As soon as they are all inside the stockade, the doors are closed and it is not till then that the wild elephants realize that they have been deprived of their natural liberty.

Sometimes they charge the barrier and injure themselves in consequence, for the stockade is built of sturdy teak logs, twelve feet high and driven eight or nine feet into the earth. Usually, however, they acquiesce in their fate. After they have quieted down somewhat they are lassoed with strong ropes and their legs are tied to the strong posts of the stockade.

The wild elephant of Siam is not generally savage, but unless he is harassed he is quite gentle, and the elephant drive is witnessed by large numbers of the population who follow the drive without fear of any danger.

Of course, there are plenty of savage elephants in Siam, but these, as a rule, do not travel with the herds, but roam singly through the primeval forest. The natives know well enough to leave them alone, but they provide the most exciting sort of sport for the foreign hunter.

The King of Siam is an expert on elephants, and he invariably at-from the fear that the animals may kill each other, and the herd be so much the smaller as a result. After the return of the Crown Prince of Siam from Oxford, England, and this country, a special elephant drive was arranged for his benefit. A herd of two or three hundred wild elephants was located in the jungle and a large cord of tame animals was employed for the round-up. The affair was made a great society event and all the power of Siam's aristocracy was on hand to watch the proceedings.

The royal elephant drive used to be an annual event in Siam, but of recent years the custom has died out and these round-ups occur only on special occasions or when the need for animals makes them necessary.

tends an elephant drive with his whole suite. A regular grandstand is erected near the entrance to the corral, from which point of vantage the King and his royal suite witness the process of capturing the elephants. The King is a great camera fiend, and from his royal lodge he takes many an interesting snap-shot of the big beasts.

Often the proceedings are enlivened by a contest between a tame elephant and one of the herd of wild elephants who discovers the treachery of his companion and shows his resentment by attacking him. These elephants furnish great amusement for the natives, although they usually separate the combatants before much harm is done, not so much, it must be admitted, from humanitarian motives as

How the Big Animals Are Caught in Siam, Where the "Elephant Round-Up" Is a Frequent Event

The Fascinating Gamble of Playwriting

EVERYBODY has heard of the fortunes made by successful playwrights—how the author's royalties on a single popular drama may insure him an income of from $100 to $500 per week, according to the number of companies engaged in performing it, through the entire season of forty weeks, and continuing for a long period of years.

No wonder that more stage manuscripts are written than in any other kind—almost everybody who writes at all should make at least one trial for this rich prize, even without any training whatever in the most exacting department of the literary art.

That playwriting is, even with the deceptively small amount of capitalizing which is again shown in the reading in London of the late

Captain Robert Marshall's will, Captain Marshall wrote a score of successful plays, yet he will lumped them all together as having a value of $1 each!

At least three of these plays—"His Excellency the Governor," "The Duke of Killcrunkie"—can be counted among the most popular productions of recent years. One week's royalty dues from Mr. Charles Frohman for "His Excellency the Governor" alone amounted to $38. What, then, was the explanation?

As with most mysteries, the truth is probably simple enough. The play was proved in talk with Mr. Henry Brigidand, of French, upon whose shelves so much of the present-day English drama awaits either immortality or the dust.

There is probably nothing in the whole world where value is so utterly incapable of being reduced to rules as that of a stage-play. Roughly speaking, a play may be worth absolutely nothing, or it may be worth many thousands.

The actual value of plays, so far as the future is concerned, can hardly be gauged by any one. One may take it, indeed, that a new play by an unknown author is, until its production, valueless. If it is a success its worth makes up instantly to hundreds and thousands as the case may be.

"Always, of course, the bigger the play and the more elaborate the production necessary, the greater the risk. Take, for instance, some of the Drury Lane dramas that have ceased touring and that demand an enormous amount of mechanism and a large stage. If they were revived at Drury Lane they would instantly be worth money—at any rate, to the authors. But under ordinary circumstances they might be so much waste-paper.

"On the whole, I should say that the play that has brought more money to the owners of the copyright than any other in the history of the stage is 'The Silver King.' For twenty-eight years it has been running somewhere or other—in England, America, or the Colonies—without a single break. It is still on tour.

"Among the more recent plays that have brought fortunes, there is, of course, 'Peter Pan,' though it is possible that of all Mr. Barrie's plays 'The Little Minister' has made most, with its enormously successful tours. Mr. Shaw is credited with having added a very tidy sum to his exchequer by his vogue in Germany, but in general Continental rights are not worth as much as might be thought, as the runs are shorter than they are here."

As showing the playwright largely does, after all his labor, it was recently calculated that the total royalties made by Sir Arthur Pinero, Sir William Gilbert, Mr. Henry Arthur Jones and Mr. Barrie would in each case run well into six figures.

The Shirra and the Caddie - - - By Laurence North

THERE is a choice of caddies, said my friend the Advocate.

"Now, will you take the character of the gowfer?"

"Oh, by all means," I said, "give me the character. He is in my vein. The gowfer would hold very cheap. He would be a trying taskmaster; and today, at any rate, I am out for pleasure. So let me have the character."

I was only a visitor to the Links, where the Advocate, underterred by my small skill in the Royal and Ancient Game, had most kindly insisted on my playing a round with him. I had told him honestly what he might expect, but the good man would not be denied. He said he feared men at games they did not understand, and I would have felt complimented but for memories of the Heathen Chinee. The Advocate made haste to say that Ah Sin had not been by all his thoughts; and in golf, to be sure, it is impossible to keep a long drive or a fell putt up one's sleeve, except metaphorically. So I accepted the invitation in the spirit in which it was offered; and now a beautiful afternoon, clear and sunny and bracing, as only Northern afternoons can be, found us ready to begin. You need not try to discover the locality. There are other places where the sea is blue, the salt spray flies in feathery plumes from the crest of the waves, the sands are golden, and the greens are vivid and fragrant after rain. But what you say, of the river, fish in noble salmon—the river that winds beneath one perfect Gothic arch? What of Thomas the Rhymer, and George Gordon Noel, Lord Byron, and the weird prophecy that made him dismount at the bridge? Oh, my dear sir, you know too much. Besides, you are quite wrong, and I am just going out with my friend to play golf, more or less, and my caddie is a character. We shall discuss topography another day.

We picked up our henchmen at the corner of the fence, and the same began. It was quite uneventful. There was no great distinction or great disgrace on either side. Perhaps the dull mediocrity depressed Duncan. He kept his character well hidden under his long and loose black coat, which had a suspiciously clerical cut. I have little doubt, indeed, that it was the gift of some reverend and smiling father. My caddie, however, had a reassuring manner. His coat seemed to have ended him with Christian charity, for never by word or look, or what is still more terrible in a caddie—by indefinable and satirical superiority of manner, did he make one feel that it had been better not to have been born. Only by this and by occasional hearty words of praise—quite well deserved, although I say it myself unblushingly—did Duncan show that he was a man out of the common. But he said nothing original, and I was frankly disappointed with him. The fact that it was Monday night might have had something to do with his lack of brilliancy. Who knows what subtle influence a coat of cloth, one knows, is never at its best on the second day of the week. The quip pleased me for a time, but afterward I heard a more rational explanation of Duncan's moodiness.

The truth is, he is never quite himself on Monday, because on Sunday he shaves. With Duncan that is a weekly ceremony. On Saturday, when the bristles hedge his jaw like a zaroba, his wit is at its sharpest. But on Monday, when his lantern jaws are overcast with melancholy blue, Duncan's spirits take the same tone. When he is dull he broods on an event, which was in some ways fortunate for him, but not an unimpaired boon, for it robbed him for ever of the great pastime and passion of his life. Duncan's honor makes his renunciation final.

Anti-sentimentalists may read further without fear. This is no mawkish tale of blighted love, but one that a good sportsman may hear and repeat without reproach.

It is well to remember that Duncan is a sportsman first and foremost. Considering how his wings are clipped nowadays, one wonders whether it would be more correct to say that Duncan was a sportsman; but perhaps the present tense is still true. The desire may be there, although fate has taken away the performance. In his day Duncan was a doughty performer. The mere mention of his pastime makes his eyes light up for a moment. Then the steam rises and a wistful look takes its place. Some day, some night—again—who knows—but, say, Duncan, whatever his failings is a man of honor. Some say he gave the

that the Shirra is dead and gone languish—Duncan keeps faith with the departed, if, indeed, there was any formal pact, which I take leave to doubt.

Probably there was never a more curious situation on any golf links in Christendom. It appeared to the Advocate, who told his part of the story very well. I hope I may be enabled by the muses to conceal the denouement as cleverly as he did until the last moment. Well, as I remarked, there was surely never a queerer situation on any golf course than that which is the cause of humor in this story. That it could have arisen at all is due to a peculiarity of the Scots judicial system. This circumstance is quite as it should be in a tale wherein a Sheriff, an Advocate, a caddie, and an indifferent golfer and scribbler are concerned. How fortunate it is for literature that Scotland kept her own laws at the Union! No, my dear but captious friend, I am not conceited. I assure you my thoughts were all of Sir Walter Scott, the Shirra of Shirras.

But the odd situation occurs at the end of the story. There is a beginning, likewise a middle, to be unfolded first; for this little drama, as befits a thing born in an ancient university city, is framed on the strictest Aristotelian canons. The beginning was enacted by the Riverside, the middle in a court of justice, and the end upon the links. At the beginning, strangely enough, we lose sight of our protagonist. That may only have been because the action—a sadly illegal action—took place in the twilight. It is impossible to decide the matter with any certainty. Some said it was and some said it wasn't, and truth to tell, it must have been hard enough to see. But the water bailiff said he had noticed a figure armed with a cleek—not the golf iron of that name, but a different instrument with a different use—moving stealthily along the deep-wooded bank toward the cruives. For a while the man eluded him; he was evidently an old hand; and at length the bailiff thought he had taken fright and made off. The official's cottage stood not far away. He turned about and sauntered leisurely homeward. Going in, he banged the front door smartly, and immediately hurried out by the back way. Yes, his stratagem had succeeded; his man had been watching him.

The Sheriff paid little heed to the name of the accused, and even if he had, it would not have suggested very much to him. He was glad that the day had been

It was a good idea to bang the door. "Na, na, my mannie," he thought, as he went along with careful steps, "I'm no at my supper for a bittie yet. There's you to catch first."

It was deep gloaming now, and a few stars were already reflected on the reach of water above the cruives. The bailiff, like all his class of open-air men, was alive to the joys of a fine evening, but this was not a time for sentiment. He had his duty to do. He would take his time, however, and his man in the meantime.

Dimly outlined against the faint sheen of the water, the figure stole out upon the cruive, and remained motionless. Crouched behind a bush the bailiff bided his time. His lieutenant lurked not far away. The sky grew darker, the stars winked more brightly, the light show of the wind among the trees and the song of the river became more audible as other sounds, the sounds of the workaday world, slackened and died away. The bailiff noted these things as he watched and waited.

"Ah, at last! A splash, a commotion, a struggle, then stillness again, save for the rush of the water over the cruives. The bailiff met his man just as he stepped carefully off the wooden bank on to the bank.

links early in the afternoon. The last case had just been called; a summary complaint in a matter of salmon-poaching. It would not hinder the Court very long. The Sheriff gave it all the attention that a strict sense of duty demanded. That did not preclude some pleasant thoughts of golf. If the accused pleaded guilty, so much the better; the Court would be on the links all the sooner.

But there was no one there to plead. No matter, it simplified things considerably. The accused was not represented. The water bailiff and his lieutenant gave conclusive evidence of the crime; services of the summons was also proved. The Court was satisfied. Guilty.

Five pounds or three months. Immediately the Court rose. Amid the bustle of dispersal there was some talk between the bar officer and the water bailiff.

"Hoot ay," said the bailiff, "ye'll get him easy. He's never far awa' just send a Bobby ower to the links during the afternoon, and he canna miss him."

Duncan's reputation as a character had endeared him to the Sheriff, and that afternoon, when the Court appeared on the links, it was not ill pleased to find the chubby humorist at its service. As it happened, Duncan was just then wearing a cast-off coat of the Sheriff's, which might possibly, in accordance with a theory already indicated, give a legal color to his reflections. There was another bond between master and henchman that afternoon, but one of them at least did not suspect it.

Early in the game the Sheriff got a bad lie. He asked for his iron. Duncan hesitated and cocked his eye at the man of law.

"I would tak' that to avizandum, Shirra," he suggested.

Now for the benefit of the uninitiated, he it said, avizandum is the term used in Scotch law to signify that the Sheriff has reserved judgment.

he took a high spiritual view of his text, and dwell on the sanctity of a pretty generally. I liked him well enough when he denounced the iniquity of the methods of the stock market; but I wish he had made an exception. There's the game laws, for instance. I can not see, how the wild thing, be it bear or bird, or fish for that matter, gets the property of a landlord. We're told that the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, and that surely means that the good things are free for man.

"I fear, Duncan, that wouldn't be a denance in law against poaching."

"Ye ken best about that, sir. I suppose you never heard it offered?"

"I have not."

FRIDAY MORNING

RE "HIGHER CRITICISM" OTHER- WISE "THE NEW THEOLOGY."

Editor World: In a letter published in a Toronto and Winnipeg daily last summer, I predicted that we had every reason to believe that the "H.C." squawk, as far as Canadian Methodism is concerned, would be made at Victoria general conference, and such claim was verified to a demonstration.

Immediately before and at Victoria conference higher critics evinced their usual shrewdness, along with feverish activity: The Toronto Globe, whose editor, I am credibly informed, was Prof. Jackson's next friend, came out Aug. 15, with a double leader, tenderly endorsing "the Jackson volume," which latter had received some rough jolts at previous Toronto conference.

Now, the said Globe editorial said, of the said volume, that this book, viz., "Studies in the Old Testament," is not only marked by "sweet reasonableness," but it is unequivocal in its belief in divine revelation. Now, in the first place, "Studies in the Old Testament," is largely a crafty, "H.C." squawk, as is the New Testament, is outrageously illogical, and flatly denies divine revelation; see said volume, folio 50, where Mr. Jackson states: "Christ, for example, assumes the Messianic authority of the Pentateuch and the Davidic kingship of the 10th psalm; modern scholarship denies both."

When another feature of the campaign was the copious issue of the anonymous, dateless "Extracts" pamphlet at general conference and elsewhere, since, now, Mr. Editor, it seems to me that "sweet reasonableness," the "Christian spirit," and any church member or set of church members, who propose to assail the Scriptures and the infallibility of the Saviour, as does this pamphlet in question, should have the courage and the honesty to disclose the authorship of the publication, and especially so in this case, as I am told that a prominent delegate at conference, who has figured on the firing line in the laymen's mission movement, and who belongs to a profession which (as a rule) snuffily delights in publicity, had much to do with the notation of the "Extracts" pamphlet, which same, after all, is nothing more or less than a defence of the "H.C." squawk.

Further, it would seem that the new theologians, altho making great pretensions as to "sweet reasonableness," and "the Christian spirit," in the abstract, need very careful watching in the concrete, for they certainly shone as artful side-trackers at Toronto conference, and after craftily delaying the division on the most important issue of our faith, the infallibility of the Scriptures, until the closing hours of the same, when over 100 delegates were away, secured a vote of 125 to 84 in favor of the Watson-Principal Spaulding amendment, which is the most important resolution, which latter strongly condemned such teaching as can be found in the volume referred to in the said Globe editorial. But the pro-Jacksonists had evidently selected too much rope, and were so hopelessly entangled in its modernistic coils, that they, an hour after the vote was taken, when they saw the storm of righteous indignation which had developed, began to wobble, and the infallibility of the Scriptures was recognized by the framers of said amendment, proposed that the following words be added to the Watson-Spaulding amendment, viz., "that in His word, God has revealed Himself as the infallible teacher as well as revealer of the things of God." After the addition of these words at the instance of N. W. Rowell, K.C., the leading conservative champion of the Jackson theory, whose book he said he had read three times, the amendment was passed almost unanimously, and, by the way, Dr. Burwash, also, at the same time, proposed that the volume in question and of the author of it, graciously conceded, even before the first vote was taken, to the admission "that there were certain truths from which the earnest student of the Bible cannot depart; that Christ was one and the authority of the word of God was another." The learned doctor of divinity, however, may be possibly excused for not having seen the importance of the subject he was discussing on the grounds (2) that he did not claim, as did the K.C., that he had given "the little volume" a triple perusal. In connection with the conference debate, the fact must not be overlooked that the K.C. before referred to, evidently forgot for the moment his sacred surroundings and seem to be seized with the idea that to ally quotation from "Dr. Orr" about there being "no stenographer at the well mouth, or in Laban's household to take a verbatim report of the story of the meeting of Abraham's servant and Rebekah, the use of in a religious assembly, where the historicity of the scriptures was the issue on trial, would rank in the same degree of effectiveness as would some weighty utterance of the same K. C. made at conference; at the present, it is quoted by the same K. C. in the presence of a learned trial justice. Then, in this connection, this same K. C. made a sad slip, when he used the said quotation relating to Abraham's servant, for the said K. C. had perused the Jackson book three times, and if he had, it seems strange that he failed to discover that the said book leads its readers to believe that Rebekah was the use of in a religious assembly, where the historicity of the scriptures was the issue on trial, would rank in the same degree of effectiveness as would some weighty utterance of the same K. C. made at conference; at the present, it is quoted by the same K. C. in the presence of a learned trial justice.

And, Mr. Editor, as collective modernism at general conference has with practically unanimous consent expressed the "one word" which makes their position absolutely untenable, therefore, I have the right to claim that my prediction has been fulfilled, to the effect that the final "H.C." squawk, as far as Canadian Methodism is concerned, would be made at Victoria conference, for Principal Spaulding, Chancellor Burwash, N. W. Rowell, K.C., and all the "yea and nay" men who constituted their following, have declared by solemn vote "that as in His word, God has spoken to us by His Son, we acknowledge Him as the infallible teacher as well as Revealer of the things of God."

Infallible! My, what a word is this! What a sweeping definiteness there is in that word "infallible," so that it is free or exempt from liability to error! Unerring! Affording certainty or assurance! Indubitable! Incontrovertible! And now, as the heavier weights among the higher critics have come into the open, and have trotted out their editorials, the extracts, pamphlet, etc., and by these having completed their course, they will freely admit that Mr. Jackson never for a moment stood for unqualified infallibility, and I sincerely regret that such is the case, but the position of the general conference contingent above-mentioned is decidedly different. For these gentlemen, with distressing inconsistency, not only affirm the Jackson teachings, but at the same time stand for the infallibility of the Saviour whose utterances simply efface the idle assumptions of their present-day idol, and, therefore, I think I can logically claim that the final result at conference was certainly a signal defeat for the new theologians, for the very moment they declared for infallibility, they thereby conceded the infallibility of the Mosaic authorship of the Pentateuch, which was irrefragably shattered, and the same as an issue, is one of the paramount vestiges of our faith, which depends in large degree the integrity of the Scriptures. For the first five books of the Bible are so frequently cited by the prophets, the disciples and all by our Saviour Himself, and referred to by them as being written by Moses, the Man of God, that if it was admitted for a moment that Genesis was not the work of Moses, the author of Genesis, do not doubt else would reach the conclusion that if Moses was not the author of these first five books, then the whole fabric of Scripture simply crumbles into dust. But that is not the position, and never was, and never will be, for "the Scriptures are (true) mighty and will prevail." But, Mr. Editor, we must not forget that the volume in question, and I would here commend all concerned (and that means everybody) to read and compare the following passages (along with their various contents) which show conclusively the correctness of my contentions relating to the authorship of the Pentateuch: Mat. xv. 12; Mark vii. 10; Ex. xx. 17; Mark x. 6 and Gen. i. 1; Mark xii. 24; Deut. vi. 7 and Ex. iii. 1; Deut. xii. 29 and Deut. vi. 4; Mark xii. 32; Leviticus xix. 18; Mark xii. 32 and Deut. iv. 3; Luke ii. 24; Leviticus x. 1; Deut. xxxi. 30 and Gen. i. 1; Romans x. 5 and Lev. xiv. 5; Romans x. 8; Deut. xxx. 14; Romans x. 19; Deut. xxxii. 21; Revelations xv. 3 and Ex. xv. 1 and Deut. xxxi. 30 and Gen. i. 1; 2. 3. 8. 14 and Leviticus xxiii. 34, 40, 42; Neh. xiii. 14; Ex. xviii. 23 and xx. 8, 11; Neh. xiii. 1; Deut. xxiii. 3-5, and as denying the Davidic authorship of the 110th Psalm (see folio 46), if anyone will read Mat. xii. 186 and Mark xxi. 44, along with the Psalms which will be readily discovered that the extracts proposition falls very flat in view of the infallibility declaration. By the way, it appears from excellent authority that "the anonymous dateless extracts pamphlet" has been improperly quoting the Rev. W. H. Griffith Thomas, D.D.; now surely "sweet reasonableness" should protest "the extracts" to make proper apology to Dr. Thomas, and now it occurs to me that there is another little matter which deserves mention, which is the unfortunate attack of "sickness" which Mr. Rowell states "acted him while attending the Edinburgh Missionary Congress, when he heard that the orthodox laymen, championed by Dr. Cleaver at Toronto Conference, were making matters uncomfortable for the higher critics, which affair he termed a theological squawk; however, it is satisfactory to know that such ailment cannot develop again, as long as the "K.C." remains true to his Victoria Conference infallibility declaration, which same is infallibly orthodox, right down to mother earth—and in this connection let me say that the most satisfactory feature of the orthodox attitude was the complete vindication of the general action taken by Dr. Cleaver, whose task has been everything but a pleasant one; his "yea," however, has been in variably "yea" all thru the controversy and the evidence of his tireless effort is now beginning to obtain, for I notice that Dr. Chapman and Dr. Toy strongly corroborate Dr. Cleaver's contention for Bible integrity, which fact will gladden his, as well as the heart of every true believer, who is watching the progress of Toronto's great revival.

in conclusion, let me say that in order to give "higher criticism" its effectual quietus, it is only necessary to stand firm for the truth: "the dog peace and sacred attitude towards lay thinkers in the church must be abandoned by men who believe the Scriptures, for peace will never be found where there is no peace—John vi. 23 and James v. 12; 11 Cor. ii. 17, 18, 19, 20.

Toronto, Jan. 19, 1911. P.S.—According to "Onward," Oct. 15, Dr. Cruise must have had his stenographer on hand at conference; at all events, someone was present, who was jotting down all kinds of nice things about a leading "H.C." who was present. It looks to me that it would be just as well for a Sunday school paper to withhold eulogiums relating to who approves of the proposition that "it has somehow to be made plain to the youth of our Sunday schools and of our churches that these chapters (first eleven of Genesis) are not science and are not the history of the patriarchs' servant logically comes in, and if there was no "Isaac," where is the utility of dragging the fair Rebekah into the limelight?

And, Mr. Editor, as collective modernism at general conference has with practically unanimous consent expressed the "one word" which makes their position absolutely untenable, therefore, I have the right to claim that my prediction has been fulfilled, to the effect that the final "H.C." squawk, as far as Canadian Methodism is concerned, would be made at Victoria conference, for Principal Spaulding, Chancellor Burwash, N. TWENTIETH CENTURY HAMLET
Son of Wealthy Widow Killed Her for Marrying Against His Wishes.

A Paris despatch to The London Daily Express says: A twentieth-century Hamlet was recently tried by the Paris Assize Court for the murder of his mother, and strange as it may seem to British readers, altho the facts were admitted, the sentence passed by the court was only ten years' imprisonment.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Liquidation for profits exercised a determining influence upon the stock market to-day. The movement was accompanied by a partial reversal of position on the part of important traders, who had accumulated stocks on the recent advance, and the closing accounts from that quarter gave rather a bearish tone to the day.

Headlines of the U. S. movement was most pronounced in Western Pennsylvania, New York Central and Amalgamated Copper. After the opening there was a passing improvement, particularly in the copper and western railways. As the selling movement gathered volume, the market relaxed wherever there were active traders, until net losses were general. While the more speculative issues were declining, unsuccessful efforts were made to advance some of the minor stocks. The market grew stronger in the late trading, and closed near the final figures of yesterday.

PROSPECTS ISSUED BY HOLLINGER GOLD MINES

Company Gives Complete Details of Properties Held and Done to Date. The Hollinger Gold Mines, Limited, has issued the following report under the signature of the president, Noah Timmins: The company is incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act, with full powers for the mining and treatment of gold and silver.

Great Importance Attached to Recent Discovery—Stamp Mill Will Be Erected. The directors and officers of the company are N. A. Timmins, president; John McMartin of Cornwall, vice-president; L. H. Timmins of Montreal, Duncan McMartin of Montreal and D. A. Dunlop of Toronto, secretary-treasurer. The Toronto Gold Trust Corporation has been appointed transfer agent and registrar of stock.

Traced to Adjoining Claims. The Scottish-Ontario have opened up an enormous body of ore at the 100-foot level, and their claim has been traced to the Mulholland, two claims to the east. To-day the same vein was cut third on the Hughes still east of the Mulholland. A shaft of quartz as big as a man's hand was taken out of the vein to-day, with the seams jammed with free gold.

At the Scottish Ontario. Following the cutting of the ore body at the 100-foot level on the Scottish Ontario mine, one of the best of the district, Peter McLaren, the engineer in charge, was asked to-day if he attached great importance to the new discovery. "It is a wonderful discovery," said Mr. McLaren. "I am satisfied. It means that development work is showing that the district is a wonderful place."

“GOLD FIELDS” WILL ERCT POWER PLANT AT THE RED STONE RIVER

Buffalo Interests to Supply "Juice" For Development of Garman, Shaw, Langmuir Townships. Mr. Sherrill has 20 men at work proving up on claims and ground being broken for the township. Just the exact details as to the plans for the power dam have not been given out, beyond the fact that the location is admirably adapted for volume of water and pressure.

Mr. Sherrill has 20 men at work proving up on claims and ground being broken for the township. Just the exact details as to the plans for the power dam have not been given out, beyond the fact that the location is admirably adapted for volume of water and pressure. The Red Stone is 125 feet wide at the falls, which are eight miles up from Nighthawk Lake. Gasoline launches ply the river for the township. The Frederickhouse thru the Nighthawk on the Red Stone to the falls, making the district very accessible during warm weather.

In the winter months teams drive down Nighthawk Lake on a beach road. Dog teams are also used to good advantage as a means of rapid transit. The Garman-Langmuir districts look so favorable at present, with a $25,000 and a $45,000 sale recorded there this week, that enquirers, who regard the period as being high in the district, are watching the new territory with eager eyes. Charles Fox.

“The second Porcupine, perhaps a still greater one, must come. It may be north, south or west; I know not where, but the eruptions which left this formation here had accompanying eruptions at some other spot like it, and that place may be even richer. “Larder Lake, by the way, will yet turn out some good. Low grade production is the general rule in all the camps, but with the body, they will make paying propositions. Claims are held too high. There is just one thing which holds back progress here. Men hold prospects up to the standard mines. The prices are too high. No company can afford to come in. It would be far better to have the Dominion ore sold, would give companies a better chance to prove up the claims before requiring such heavy payments. “No company will come in at the present price. Men have had to make the entire showings on the strength of what a half dozen other mines have done. Give capital a show. It will be concerned in the prospecting, for if he liberates himself now on undeveloped property, he will be in a position to get in on the big fields yet to be opened, fields that are bound to come. “I can see nothing but a bright future for the district, with more work accomplished. It is a great field.” Charles Fox.

Definite Firmness to Market Dividend Payers the Feature

Kerr Lake Continues Its Advance and Other Higher Priced Issues Are Also Strong—Beaver Makes Advance. World Office, Thursday Evening, Jan. 19. There was a more active trading in most of the Cobalt stocks on the leading exchanges to-day, and the operations of the session did not result in much change in the current range of values.

The dividend payers continued the strong advance in the market. LaRoe, Nipissing, Crown Reserve and Kerr Lake all holding remarkably firm, with little stock offering except at advances. Kerr Lake moved up 20 points, but was offered below that price. Beaver carried in the market, however, and to account for the buoyancy in these issues, other than the favorable light in which the better class of Cobalts are held in market circles. START DIAMOND DRILLING Crown Charter Will Commence at Once—Good Plan on Property. PORCUPINE CITY, Jan. 18.—(From Our Man Up North.)—Diamond drilling will be started on the Crown-Charter Company's property this week, following the discovery made last week, of a lead carrying handsome free gold. The prospect is a low spot, where the streak comes in.

Managing Director Hefferman of the Montreal is here, bearing forth the happy smiles over the company's good fortune. A $20,000 plant is in operation. There is a sawmill in working condition on the ground and few companies in the district have as good buildings. The location of the Crown-Charter in the midst of such electrifying stars in the Porcupine constellation as the Scottish-Ontario, Armstrong-McGillivray, Miller, Davidson, Miller Porcupine, the Walker-Carson (now held by A. B. Stewart of New York), all gold-bearing, is indeed most promising for gold veins in this spot, cross-cut like wires in a sieve. Chas. Fox.
