TORONTO WILL OPEN DOORS TO Some Horse Show Impressions * * ONTARIO SYSTEM OF RADIALS

Taking Over of Local Car Systems Will Let Business Bringing Electric Roads Into City From Every Big Point in

"By bringing the Toronto Railway Company and Toronto Electric Light Company properties under municipal control, Toronto will clear the way for a provincial system of radials," said Mayor Hocken. "At present all radials are held up at the city limits of Toronto. This excludes the radials in Ontario from entry into the best businessgetting city of the province, makes the marketing of their bonds difficult, and to a large extent prevents construction.

"Once Toronto has complete control of its rapid transit service, the heart of the city can be opened up to the radials, construction of radials will go on, and the business of a wide-spreading district will be drained into Toronto."

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

The business situation in Canada is slowly improving, even the the banks continue to refuse expansion of credits. In spite of them we are getting substantially nearer another crop—and a crop that has been well got in or is being well got in from ocean to ocean. The United States is a lot nearer what is likely to be the greatest crop. These things help a lot—even if the banks do not. Extravagance has been checked and real estate inflation in the west has been pricked. Many kinds of high-rolling has been stopped. Immigration is active, settlement on new land is not behind recent years, every municipality that has been able to borrow money is spending it. The railways are spending more on construction and improvements and on equipment than ever before. Building was never so active in Toronto, Montreal and other places east. The factories are all busy. Labor has not to look for work.

And yet we have to come back to this that money is hard to get. You can't borrow on your name, still less can you borrow on securities of high class. The banks sit tight and only use the stringency to press the renewal of their charters thru parliament.

Europe is moving toward settlement. But even if the settlement is delayed, that can't hold back Canada—tho it will make for saving, for economy, fer prudence, for minor postponements of one kind or another. But our crops will grow, and the old situation of barter of that which we have for that of others which we want will go on. A man can still get boots for bread, and a wagon for pork. But you can't get cash for a printed piece of paper that represents over capitalization in some corporation. We are going thru a squeeze that lets out water, checks extravagance, makes us study our compass, re-set our rudder. But business goes on. And for this reason the best thing for the public to do is if the banks do not exhibit confidence in the public the public must show confidence in one another. By learning to lean less on banks we hasten the time when they will be chasing the public for business.

Will Bombard Government With Night Lettergrams For Suppression of the White Slave Traffic.

MONTREAL, Que., May 8 .- (Speial)—This may be called Education Day with the National Council. This morning has been taken up with the hings that most nearly concern the lives of our children and the youth of the land.

The motion of the kingston Council police court in the sum of $10,000 to for the adoption of night schools in Tural districts was carried. Mrs. Leathes was of the opinion that vocational training would be the better substitute, and Mrs. Courtice thought that the work of the social centres to find sureties for his behaviour and the investigation carried on by the local councils thruout Canada was read by Mrs. Ritchie, Ph.D. The chief points brought out in the paper were that women do not receive equal pay for equal work, and that a necessity exists for the development of public sentiment in the matter of attendance at rural schools. The appointment of women on school boards will be worked for by the councils.

Domestic science has received quite an impetus during the past year. Vancouver, Halifax and Toronto have lone much in this direction.

Miss Mabel Peters read the report of the standing committee on supervised playgrounds. This is another movement that her developed in a process. ment that has developed in a most nat influential men and women everywhere are now seeing the necessity for those places for our cities.

The paper stated that one playground association had one archbishop and a association had one archibishop and a provost on its board. This, of course, referred to Toronto, which has his Grace Archbishop McNeil and Provost Mackiem on its executive. Three councils have expressed their desire to take up the subject. that would make Longboat turn green with envy.

Supposing I had joined the coterie of bakeries in raising the price of bread a cent, my profits would have instantly gone up $120.00 a day, $720.00 a week, and $37,540.00 a year-and without laying out an extra nickel. But I didn't. My bread has and always will be made and sold on honor.

That extra eent means that the families who are not using Lawrence's Bread are giving, in hard cash, over a QUAR-TER OF A MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR FOR NOTHING to the bakeries who now demand 6 cents for their bread. That extra cent is a "hold-up"-to swell profits and give nothing for it.

Of course people pay it because they have been led to believe that it is necessary. That's the point and there's the delusion. A trial loaf of Lawrence's Bread settles that delusion forever. Lawrence's Bread is the better bread and you like it better. There's no deceiving your taste, and, after all, if you get bread that you like better and save paying an excess cent on each loaf -isn't it worth your while to do so? Take action to-day and henceforth pay only

"If Sir William Mackenzie will give the city a square deal in having the Toronto Railway Co. and Toronto Electric Light Co. properties brought under municipal ownership, Toronto should make the deal without hesitation," said Ald. Rawlinson to The Sunday World. "To worry along for another nine years in misery would be senseless, should the city be offered the properties at a price that it would pay Toronto to accept. "Had Toronto control of the light and power service within the city limits the citizens would be relieved of considerable expense thru the duplication of lines. Without a doubt the cost of duplicated lines comes out of the pockets of the citizens. Any good business man realizes also that were the service under one control, and that municipal control, it would be brought to as near perfection as is pertance to the city is the control of the rapid transit service. The pro-blem of housing the families whose bread-winners earn only $16 a week, high have the rents of dwellings gone thru the lack of building space within epend more than a quarter of income on rent without merely existing. "No one can deny that the solution of the housing problem is the extension of the rapid transit service to new territory, and no one can deny that the Toronto Railway Co. refuses to extend its lines beyond the consested area. The civic car lines on St. Clair avenue and Danforth avenue will bring a little relief, but there still remains the double fare to bother the workingman. Most ronto Railway Co. and Toronto Elec-tric Light systems if a reasonable price is agreed upon."

"Canada and U. S. Have Set the World an Example of a New Kind," Says a Toronto Newspaper Man.

ST. LOUIS, May 3 .- "Canada and the United States have set the world the example of a new kind of international relation," said John Lewis of The Toronto Star, at the fourth American Peace Congress here today. Mr. Lewis spoke on "The Identity of the Interests of the United States and Canada."

"The growing interest of governments in social reform is one of the forces making for peace. The international gatherings of scientists and others having common interests are the beginnings of the parliament of man. The scientist who is seeking a cure for the proculosis in Germany can have no rational cause of quarrel with the man who is seeking a cure for tuberculosis in France. In Canada or in the United States, we men and governments are busy in fighting disease, dirt, insect pests and weeds in the physical world—crime and ignorance and injustice in the moral world. The more society concerns itself with these things, the less the danger of war. In these conflicts also will be found the true outlet for human energy and human combativeness.

"Canada and the United States have set the world the example of a new kind of international relation. Disputes far more serious than those that have led to war elsewhere have been settled by arbitration. But we must not be satisfied with a mere negative advantages, freedom from war and from the apprehension of war. We must make full use of our exceptional advantages. We must look, not backward to the year 1813, but forward to 2013.

"The three stages of development may be thus indicated—in 1813 war, in 1913 peace, in 2013 friendship and active co-operation in social reform, inspired by all the courage and energy which were once devoted to war. Our should be companied to take please and the courage and energy which were once devoted to war. INFANTILE PARALYSIS AND PHEUMONIA

No curative agency yet discovered compares in efficiency with the Oxypathor, the little instrument which enables the human body to absorb oxygen from the atmosphere. Wonderful cures are being made every day, and in many cases after the most expert medical treatment has failed. Hundreds of testimonials as grateful in tone as the following may be seen at our the following may be seen at our office:

The Ontario Oxypathor Co.,

701 Yenge Street, Toronto.

Gentlemen,—I purchased an Oxypathor from you last March to give it a trial on my boy. Ernest, then aged three years, who had Infamilie Paralysis a year and a half before, which left him with his left leg utterly paralyzed. He could not raise it, or even move a toe, and, the doctors said his leg would always be dead. He was in the Sick Children's Hospital one month, but derived absolutely no benefit from the treatment he received there. Mere words cannot express my gratification at the wonderful improvement effected in him by the Oxypathor. He can now stand alone and walk across the own quite unaided, whereas before using the Oxypathor his leg used to dangle around like the leg on a rag doll. I only wish I had known of the Oxypathor when he was taken sick with this terrible disease. It cured him of an attack of Pneumonia in three days during the latter part of September.

I have myself used it on several occasions with instant benefit while suffering from colds, sore throat, and only this week from a badly-sprained and swollen ankle.

If you will send anyone to see Ernest we will gladly show what it has done for him. Yours faithfully, Charles E. Barker, 24 Price street.

Judge Riddell's Address.

William Renwick Riddell, justice of the supreme court of Ontario, reviewed the history of British-American relations for the last hundred years, and said that questions more difficult of settlement than any settled by war had been adjusted peacefully between the United States and Great Britain.

"The determination of the English-speaking peoples," he said, "that they will conclude their disputes by peace-world that no possible question could ister (Mr. Fielding) had come from arise between them that was not capable of adjustment without recourse to the sword. "That being so," he said, "our first duty is to have this understanding formulated in a treaty, ask for an assurance that there was accurate, the declaration Travers had made was untrue and it would seem no foundation for the statements that had been made to the minister from the very man whose honesty was in question and unwise to have acted on the assurance; that an enquiry would undoubtdly have resulted in the discovery of the manner in which the $100,000 had been raised and in the refusal of the treasury board to give the certificate.

Culpable Neglect.

The petitioners say they have never imputed any intentional wrongful act or default to the minister or department of finance. The minister and the treasury board were deceived and defrauded by a plausible, unscrupu-lous, dishonest and dangerous pirate, who was at the time of his application who was at the time of his application in debt and had no personal credit and who was not entitled to a certificate. "The whole case," they say, "has been rested upon the culpable neglect and default of a department of government, because the government has, in the face of all this accumulation of evidence against the application, given an official government certificate which enabled this dangerous promoter to go into the country and establish bank branches and gather in the savings of the people and waste them in speculation."

The petition further points out that the certificate was given on Nov. 30. that the letter of Sir Edward Clouston, that the letter of Sir Edward Clousion, president Canadian Bankers' Association, is dated on the same day and that the certificate was not acted upon and the bank was not opened till the following 2nd of January.

Criticize Finding.

A portion of the petition criticizes the finding and report of Sir William Meredith. The commissioner stated that notwithstanding the irregularities in connection with the application for the certificate, "the evidence satisfies me that if the bank had been prudently an honestly managed there is no reason why it should not have succeeded. The promissory notes that had been given by subscribers were for the most part good and were subsequently paid, and while it is true that if the certificate of the treasury board had not been granted the money of the shareholders and depositors would not have been

This, the petitioners say, is erroneous in law and fact. It is at variance with the report and the facts reported therein. I That the provisional direction of the certificate of the charter to Travers.

The efficient cause of the loss of the deposits was that the government issued a certificate giving statutory power to the bank to receive money on deposit. # Echoes From Parliament Hill

OTTAWA, May 3.—This week had its back broken by the holiday of the Ascension. It was, on the whole, a dull week, being devoted strictly to so much progress with government legislation has never been made before in so short a time, but the Liberals seemed determined to relieve themselves of the general charge of obstruction. Then, too, the prorogation bug was in the air, flitting from member to member in the windowless horror of the green chamber. The stifling atmosphere of the house contrasted with the bright, sunshiny contrasted with the bright, sunshiny contrasted with the saneral feeling to private life at the last election. the transaction of business, Probably so much progress with government

When the prorogation bug is once at work it is hard to restrain members of parliament. They break the corral and stampede. Were the naval bill out of the way, parliament would almost force the government to prorogue in a fortnight. But the naval bill is not out of the way; indeed, it is quite in the middle of the road. For the Liberals to abjectly swallow the bill at this juncture would be construed as surrender, and would condemn their course from start to finish during the entire session. In what way can they save their face and yet permit parliament to enjoy at the earliest moment a long vacation?

$35,000,000. Whether it be called an emergency measure or a conscience fund assessment, the ordinary citizen has made up his mind that the amount will not break this rich and prosperous country, and that we may as well do the thing handsomely, if we are going to do it at all. The opposition would have played a keener game had they proposed a rider to the naval bill, declaring that its passage should not be construed as a precedent for future contributions, and that the country intended to build up and organize a Canadian navy. This would have brought the government near-

From what can be gathered here, there, and everywhere, it is a fair surmise that the people of the country generally are satisfied, if not content, with the contribution of $35,000,000. Whether it be called an emergency measure or a conscience

In this connection it may be prope to recall an amusing typographical mix-up in relation to the report of the Doctor's speech in a recent issue of The World. Borden government. As it was, some of the govern-ment supporters were a trifle net-tled by Sir Edmund's declaration that no speech made during the na-val debate had added anything to the speeches delivered by the prime minister and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Sir Edmund is, perhaps, too much of a business man to relish the tendency of his colleagues to talk, but he probably voiced the general view in saying that a good many speeches on either side of the house are "rubbish."

Mr. W. M. Martin, the Liberal member for Regina, is a clean-cut, fine-looking young fellow, who has done a great deal of hard work this session. He is a successful lawspeech, and would be a power inveterate tendency of talking too fast. ### Popular Resorts Of Lake Simcoe

Kempenfeldt Bay to Become Resting Place For Toronto People.

To own a lot and a nice summe nome in the beautiful district of Lake Simcoe has been the desire of many Canadian and American citizens, but to now it has been practically impossible to buy a lot in a developed ocality owing to the fact that owners of large estates refused to sub-divide. Realizing the demand for sub-divided summer resort lots or summer estates, Messrs, M. S. Boehm & Co., Limited, associated with the Kempenfeldt Land Co., Limited, secured some very attractive sites on the shores of Lake Simcoe and Kempenfeldt Bay and are now in a position to sell lots at $50 pen lot and up. From a health standpoint there is no summer resort locality in the vicinity of Toronto with standpoint there is no summer resort locality in the vicinity of Toronto with so many advantages as the Lake Simcoe summer resorts. Few people are aware that Lake Simcoe has some of the best bass fishing in Canada, but many have heard of its fame as a yachtsman's paradise. Annual regattas are held at the various points, under the auspices of the Lake Simcoe Yachting Club, which add a social standing as well as the friendly rivalry for the trophies.

The short distance by rail and motor from the Lake to Toronto makes it ideal for the busy man as he may join his family at the week-end without delay or heavy expense. Many prominent Torontonians have already secured a site on the shores of the lake and on Kempenfeldt Bay and we have no doubt that this district will quickly develop into an exclusive high-class summering locality. Aside from the pleasures to be derived and the personal pride you will take if you purchase in that locality, there is the probability of substantial profits being made in the discriminating buying of a summer home among these beauty spots.

England now possesses more than 4500 motion-picture theatres, with a seating capacity of 2,000,000, representing a capital outlay of 363,264,500. It is estimated taht 28,000,000 people attend these theaters each week. Motion pictures are als particularly popular in Germany, and an extensive censorship is maintained. In Breslau, for instance, this is done by the police department, and before a film can be exhibited it must be tested on a police machine at headquarters. The films examined average about 200 per week, and four regular days have been set for the task.

With Price-Cutting That Has Never Been Approached in the City END OF LEASE MEANS IMMEDIATE CLEARANCE OF ENTIRE STOCKS

Negotiations for a continuance of our lease having failed, we were abruptly compelled to realize our entire stocks. We have very limited time to accomplish our object, and have set about cutting prices in drastic fashion. We are certainly succeeding in great measure, and have sold close on $11,000 worth of our original $35,000 stocks. It is good work, but not sufficient. Prices below tell of further outs which will make Monday a day of wonderful selling. We cannot guarantee articles being in stock all day, and advise an early visit for sure savings.

across the country, Toronto brokers are remarking at the activity that generally prevaits locally in the face of talk of trade declines and the uneasi-feeling. It will be noticed that many of the newest land offerings are ac-companied by promises of improve-ments, and this very policy of development, demanded by the land buyers now in the market, has done most to steady the suburban situation and keep activity healthy and not abnormal. Last year The World said that landmen would this spring prepare to spend money on improvements and that the day of selling land simply because it was divided into small rectangular strips with plow lines marking streets was ending. People now ing streets was ending. People now demand something more in the way of tetterment than stone entrance gates. The new feeling is putting the subdivision business entirely in the hands of responsible companies, and shutting out the man whose whole reprints and the hope that enough lots will be sold to keep up the payments to the vendor after a small first payment. The disappearance of that kind of real estate business removes much of real estate business removes much of the hazards, and as said before, weeds out of the market a lot of "stuff" that might eventually prove a drag on healthy conditions.

The realty market this year has The realty market this year has lacked anything of a stimulating nature. Annexation of Leaside would have accelerated the building up of that suburb and helped the whole north-east part of the city, and particularly North Toronto. Now development has been delayed until the town can be organized. There have been no large central sales simply because the big buyers haven't the money cause the big buyers haven't the money to spare. Displays of confidence on the part of big men shown in large down-town transactions help the general market greatly. No new car lines have been started and the effect of those civic roads under .co has been largely anticipated, if not by prices, by activity at least. The proposal to buy out the street railway system is a strengthening factor, but it is not absolutely an assured

The amount of building under way and proposed, and the consequent re-moval of considerable vacant land from the market, is a very bullish feature. With permits far in advance of last year and giving every promise of retaining their good showing, building land is sure to remain in excellent demand. Very little is heard of builders being pressed for money and the building supply men, without exception, report collections good.

The builders of this city are on the average men of considerable means, and the speculative element is removed from the business by the chronic scarcity of housing accommo-Add to these good features the change of heart at the city hall, where it is realized now that the unprogressive man is pursuing a decidedly unsive man is pursuing a decidedly unpopular course.

That there has been no impairment m property values is attested in the lack of large sales. If owners shaded prices down there would immediately be a rush of buying. Peo-ple with money, looking for bargains, are on the customers' list of every important dealer, and the fact that they are getting no bargains may, and may not be, a good sign. If the owners did not have everything on their side, the agents would be able to put thru many more deals and more commissions would be made and ac-tivity would be far greater.

LGIN MARKET GARDENS will more than pay for themselves the first year they are planted. The soil when analyzed by experts was found to be one of the richest of any on the continent. It is black, deep, rich in nitrogen, very friable, and absolutely perfect for the growing of such big-paying vegetables and small fruits as celery, lettuce, tomatoes, onions, string beans, garden peas, potatoes, strawberries, raspberries, melons, etc. We will arrange with you to market all the vegetables and fruits you can grow on Elgin Gardens, and in a way to pay you the biggest profits possible.

Besides increased income, Elgin Gardens offers you improved health for yourself and family, a greater independence, and better social standing. You will no longer belong to the great army of city toilers—you will be your own boss, your own employer. Your land will increase in value, and in a few years it will be worth two or three times the amount you pay for it now.

ELGIN GARDENS are in the heart of Elgin County in south-western Ontario. Elgin County is a narrow strip of land with a shore-line of about 60 miles on Lake Erie. The "Gardens" are situated on the height-of-land of the county, and water from them runs into Lake Erie on the south, and into the Thames River on the north. Two railways pass right through the property, and it is so situated that in less than ten hours you place your produce on any market in the following cities-Toronto, London, St. Thomas, Woodstock, Ingersoll, Hamilton, Windsor, Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, New York, or Chicago. Elgin Gardens has almost an ideal climate for growing garden products. The climate is two weeks earlier than other sections of Ontario, which gives its gardeners the opportunity to get their vegetables on the market beforetheir rivals' products are ready, thus commanding top price. Send for Beautifully Illustrated Booklet

This booklet will show you what money can be made on Elgin Gardens, why the soil is adapted to the production of the big-paying vegetables and small fruits, and howthey can be marketed so as to secure the best prices. If you are dissatisfied with your present position in the city, this booklet will show you a new vista of life, sane, healthy, and independent.

Two New Industries Locate in

Every Month

For the past two years a new industry has located within the vicinity of Windsor every month, and during the first four months of this year the record has been one every two weeks. The city has now about one hundred thriving manufacturing concerns, including many which are known over the entire Dominion, such as the Reming Arms Union, Metallic Cartridge Company which recently purchased ninety-six acres of land-Canadian Bridge Company, Ford Motor Car Company, Hup Motor Car Company, Kelsey Wheel Company, and many others.

A few months ago the city obtained permission from the legislature to buy large tracts of land for the purpose of reselling to industries desiring to locate in Windsor. This step was found necessary owing to the increase in value of land by reason of the location of industries.

Forty acres have already been resold to industries which will give employment to thousands

Thirty more acres have been purchased by the city and are quickly being bought up by manufacturers seeking to take advantage of Windsor's ideal location and their unexelled shipping facilities.

AVISESTATE

has the advantage of both Windsor and Walkerville Industries

This subdivision is in Windsor, close to the division line between that city and Walkerville. and is within a few minutes' walk of the industries of both places, and only a short distance of Ford City, where fifteen thousand motor cars are turned out every year. In Walkerville are some of the largest industries on the continent. On the other side of this estate are the industries of the thriving City of Windsor,

A thousand people working close to the Davis estate are forced to live in Detroit because of the lack of houses in Windsor.

Every house in this locality is either rented or sold before its completion—unless it is to be occupied by the builder.

Street cars connecting Ford City, Walkerville, Windsor, Sandwich and Ojibway run close by this property, making it the most convenient location of homesites of business men.

Right in the heart of the Davis estate is a Civic Park. All local improvements have been arranged for and will be completed with the least possible delay.

The land is level and ready for building purposes.

Acreage In and Near Windsor

We own and have for sale desirable acreage in and adjoining the city of Windsor. These properties are very desirable and ready for subdividing. We would be glad to furnish you with information regarding these properties.

NEW PITTSBURG IS RISING IN ONTARIO

Windsor is becoming noted. Already the people are coming to think of themselves as Pittsburgers even as they are hoping to join the five separated communities along the river front into one big city without a contlicting interest. river front into one big city without a conflicting interest. Not that the advance of one reflects adversely on the others. On the contrary, Windsor, as an instance, expects that the establishment of the steel company's plant at Ojibway will mean the location of scores of kindred manufacturing concerns using steel company products within Windsor's borders. It it expected that on the steel company's property a community of 15. pany's property a community of 15,-000 or 20,000 will be established in five years, and this must, of itself, mean bigger business for the mer-chants of Windsor, the business sec-tion of Which is directly opposite Detroit's downtown.

The steel works is the biggest thing that has come to the Canadian side of the river, but there are some other big plants like the Ford motor factory, three miles above Windsor, where over 1500 men are amplified.

Today there are 30,000 people living in the eight mile rivar strip opposite Detroit, split up this way: Ford City, 2000; Walkerville, 4000; Windsor, 22,-000; Sandwich, 2500.

Windsor's growth is typical. Ten ears ago 10,000, assessment, $6,000,-00. Now 22,000, assessment $18,000,- no spot in Canada will you find

In no spot in Canada will you find the percentage of workers to population so high. The men in the factories have their families in Ontario cities like Chatham, Woodstock, London, then thousands work on the Canadian side and live in Detroit Lack of houses is largely the reason, the Detroit has attractions.

A daytime census of these Canadianside places would make that 100,000 mark look a very short stride.

To few cities is given the privilege of voting on feur factory bylaws, May 30 the people of Windsor will be asked if they want to sell at $500 an acre five acres to the Detroit Steel Products Company, three acres to the Vincent Steel Process Company, three acres to the Swedish Crucible Steel Co., and four acres to the Kelsey Wheel Co. And also if they care to give these industries free water and free light and exemption from general taxation—not school of local improvement rates, which no municipality can remit—for ten years. The land is part of the which no municipality can remit—for ten years. The land is part of the city's "industrial area," bought a couple of years ago at $500 an acre, worth to-day $2000 an acre, but being sold by the citizens without profit. The four factories will employ 200, 100, 100, 300 men respectively, or, in all, 700.

Some Big Factories.

Seven hundred men, which normally means 3500 additional people, is a pretty good stride, but already this spring the Remington Arms Union Metallic Cartridge Co., has started a plant on 35 acres that cost about $50,000, and which begins with 100 men; The Motor Street Cleaning Co. is setting up a plant, and the Canadian Roofing Manufacturing Company is building. Some other smaller firms have taken up flats in downtown buildings. Two days ago Windsor had 96 factories and Walkerville 29, Sandwich has a dozen. Walkerville 29, Sandwich has a dozen. A hundred factories in a city of 22,000 is a pretty good basis to build up on. No wonder every property owner, or nearly everybody, has made money in Windsor real estate in the ast year, since real estaté began to

What the Mayor Says. Mayor Clay says anything inside the limits of Windsor is splendid investment. "The houses that we are buildment. "The houses that we are pund-ing and should build make city land good. The people with speculative tendencies can buy down at Qibway." But the land quite close to Windsor's not too capacious limits might be in-cluded. Walkerville, Sandwich, with Windsor between have grown together so that the stranger cannot tell where one leaves off and the other begins. Windsor's houses, brick or semi-frame detached, spread out in bright newness mile or more along the river each way from the postoffice, and back compactly three-quarters of a mile outh. Residential land on which are houses that sell at from $2500 to $4000, has a market price ranging from $15 to $35 a foot; $50 is a high price, $25 the average. A deal put thru lately at Oulette and Pitt streets gave business ground a high-water mark of $1200 a foot. Building permits thus far this year are about $250,000; last year they totalled $1,098,063, in 1911, $739,515; in 1910, $392,040. Only eight cities in Ontorio west over the eight cities in Ontario went over the million mark in 1912. Last year 350 houses were put up. The man who built 100 of them says a thousand more would have been filled. Some rather costly office blocks have gone up lately and among those started is a six-storey one for the Masons, to cost $100,000. The giving way of antiquated business structures to modern. well lighted stores and offices is one of the most pleasing features of progress. One incongruous note is struck in the sections that in-dustry has claimed. ()ld-fashioned frame houses, built in the days when Windsor was a retired-farmers' town nestle close to many-windowed, low storeyed factories. These buildings, trim, the spreading, make it appear that factories, like homes, had adopted the bungalow type.

Canada's Auto Centre.

Like Detroit, Windsor and vicinity is becoming an automobile centre. The bigger firms on the American side find it handy and profitable to establish branches for the Capatian trade ish branches for the Canadian trade another line of communication. FOR DR. FRIEDMANN Local Doctors Averse to Aiding in Giving Publicity to "Patent Medi-

Pinal arrangements are now under way for the clinic that Dr. Friedmann will hold in Toronto on Monday after noon at 2.30 in the pathological building of the new General Hospital.

Dr. Friedmann is likely to meet with a cooler reception upon his arrival than that accorded him six weeks ago on account of the report of the sale of his tubercular serum to a syndicate in New York, and that it will be placed on the market as a "patent medi-cine," which is entirely contrary to professional ethics.

A number of Toronto physicians

A number of Toronto physicians would rather not give their opinion of the cure, only stating that they cannot see any apparent improvement in the patients inoculated, which is not secured by other methods of treatment, and are only waiting for time and further results, while a few doctors who have been watching closely, say they are becoming very ontimistic as they are been watching closely, say they are becoming very optimistic as to the cure, and one prominent medical practitioner says that he is going to congratulate Dr. Friedmann upon the improvement of a young girl who was one of the first to be inoculated by him in Toronto who was affected by him in Toronto, who was affected with tubercular gland. The Academy of Medicine of Toron-

The Academy of Medicine of Toronto disapproves of the spectacular and commercial manner in which Dr. Friedmann's treatment of tuberculosis has been presented, it strongly advises both the profession and public to await results of an investigation not yet complete.

WATER BEYOND THE LIMITS OF CITY

Board of Control Says Householders Should Have It-None to Spare, Says Committee.

Whether householders immediately beyond the city limits are to be supplied with city water will be threshed out in the city council on Monday afternoon. The committee insists that not a drop of city water should go beyond the city limits, Commissioner Harris holding that there is not a drop of water to spare. The board of control has taken the stand that people are being forced to live outside the city limits only because there is no room for them within the limits, and that too harsh a policy of water supply is not in the interests of Toronto. Another issue that will likely cause much discussion will be over the period of guarantee of pavement conlasting as they should be many aldermen demand that all contracts should tee. Commissioner Harris declares that unless the 5-year guarantee policy is held to for this year the large amount of work arranged for will be considerably delayed. The board of control is backing the commissioner.

PLOWED PLAYGROUNDS.

Big-hearted farmers from York Co. came to Toronto Saturday with their plows and teams and broke the ground of many vacant lots that have been made available by public-spirited citizens for garden plots for school children. This week the children will be busy seeding the plots allotted to them. Flowers and vegetables are to be raised. The plowmen were the guests of the Toronto Playgrounds Association during the day and evening.

PUBLIC DRINKING CUPS NOW FORBIDDEN IN 22 STATES

The campaign against the common drinking cup has resulted in its abolition by law in California, Colorado, Coneoticut, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachustte setts, Michigan, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.
The perils f the public diriking cup were demonstrated by experiments made in the Chicago Board of Health laboratories. Guinea pigs were treated with material taken from the rims of public-school cups. Five developed abscesses in 72 hours; five died from pus infection and one from diphtheria

Even "sanitary" cups that can be folded up and re-used have been condemned by some health authorities, only paper cups that are so fragile as to be practically self-destroying being recommended as a substitute for the common cup.

Been Cheered by Recent Developments — The Wall Street Attitude.

Erickson, Perkins & Co. had the following review of conditions in Wall street at the week-end:

NEW YORK, May 3.—After a week of almost continuous declines in stocks a sharp rally set in late in the week. There was small wonder for this: yet traders were surprised at the ease willing to await the outcome of the commerce communication in the week. traders were surprised at the ease willing to await the outcome of the with which the recovery occurred.

The foreign political outlook probably furnishes the key to the immediate situation. Sober judgment convinces one that a way out will be found from the Balkan trouble. If it is found, all securities should be temporarily helped, and a vast amount of hoarded money will come out of hiding places. Any one who could be induced to predict the course of prices—and everyone hesitates to do so—would probably say that chances moderately favor short speculative turns for the rise. It is considered, for instance, that American stocks are intrinsically. that American stocks are intrinsically cheap, but no one would go ahead for other than quick profits, and the same judgment applies to almost al Ispecu-

General trade is undoubtedly still active, but the rise in commodities, and the extravagant expenditure of nations and individuals, keeps up the cost of living and leaves less than the usual margin for savings.

Prolonged Political Strain.

One broad consideration seems to cover the outlook for both European and American markets, namely, that the public is so completely alternated.

In many sections of Toronto neighbors are getting together and cleaning out the old, unsightly, unsanitary board fences and are replacing them with neat, attractive, Dyer wire or iron fences. The old board fence has not one refuseming feature; it is unsightly; its corners are accumulating places for refuse that breeds unsanitary conditions. Many cities—Detroit as a notable example—have passed bylaws against the erection of board fences. In some sections of Toronto, building restrictions prohibit board fences. This is "cleaning-up time." Get your neighbors interested and clean the old board fences out of your block. Board fences make rear yards look like pens in a stockyard; wire or iron fences make them look like miniature parks. Dyer's wire or iron fences let the sunshine in, do away with dirty fence corners, give the grass, vines, flowers and shrubs a chance to thrive and appear their best. Where these fences are used people don't let refuse accumulate in their rear yards; flowers, vines, shrubs and well-kept lawns become the rule. You can save money, have a more durable fence, and have the most attractive rear yard by taking advantage of the Special Reduced Prices on

DYER'S WIRE AND IRON FENCES Effective Until May 15th

We remove the old board fences; we replace them with Dyer's unclimable, indestructible, ornamental wire or iron fence; we give you expert service and prompt attention; and we give you a better fence for less money. We know that every fence we erect will bring us orders for many more from the neighborhood in which it is erected. Therefore, until May 15th we will erect fences at special reduced prices. Consult Dyer on this fence question now. You can get a Dyer wire or what you need, and he will show you a fence best suited to your requirements, and show you how he can save you money.

UNIFY SYSTEMS BY BUYING T. R. C.

But City Should Not Handicap Itself at Outset by Reduction of Fares, Says Civic Guild.

The monthly bulletins of the To-ronto Civic Guild deals in a very comprehensive manner with the latest problem—the proposal to purchase the street railway system. The guild congratulates Mayor Hocken on having carried negotiations to the present stage, and heartily endorses his policy. It is pointed out that the transportation experts engaged by the city emphasized the necessity for the various transportation agencies being whited as speedily as possible.
With regard to tubes, the guild is of the opinion that, in order to make a civic system in Toronto a success, a tube service from the centre of the city to its borders would have to be constructed, and an adequate service of the kind would cost many millions. The guild claims that the time required for construction would allow the Rallway Company to reap enormous profits on its short-haul traffic in the centre of the city. It is suggested that the next eight years will be the most pro-fitable for the company, and that the profits might be better expended by the city in bringing service and equipment to a satisfactory state.

Would Be Handicap.

An immediate reduction in car fares does not appeal to the guild as being wise, in view of the gigantic nature of the proposed purchase.

They point out that the interest on purchase price, cost of new cars, equipment, roadbed, and an annual um to retire debentures, would have to be met out of revenue, and that the city should not handicap itself at the outset by a reduction in fares.

The "scrap valuation in eight years' argument is, they think, misleading, as long protracted legal difficulties may crop up, and eostly arbitration might last several might last several years, while the service would go from bad to worse. Convincing arguments are also presented to prove that the city's borrowing power would not be affected by the purchase, and that it would not place the slightest burden with the city's the convergence of the city's convergence den on the taxpayers.

In conclusion, it is sincerely hoped that Mayor Hocken may be given the fullest opportunity to carry negotiations to a successful termination.

more to be feared than the "yellow peril." Baseball, as conducted, is all that its traducers have alleged. It is monopoly or trust, but thru force of circumstance, not thru any designs upon restraint of trade. That organized baseball cares no whit for opposi-tion was shown in the attitude to-ward the United States circuit a year ago. This league was permitted to linger out its, brief existence without interference—doubtless because there was nothing in its ranks worthy of interference. Organized baseball is one great happy family, working in harmony and unison toward a certain end, financial success. It has passed thru its stages of strife and discord, and learned its lesson at a cost.
But organized baseball is not the octopus that the radical element would have us believe. It is a pretty good business firm that looks after its employes financial interests with has done for the great playing frater-nity. Biased opinions doubtless pre-Continued on Page Four

Chinese merchants in Shanghai have taken up electric advertising to a surprising extent, and particularly is this so in Nanking road, Shanghai's principal rative business street. How electrical display advertising was started in this section is a rather interesting story. The municipal authorities are forcing property-owners to move back when rebuilding, so as to allow more sidewalk space. The proprietors of the first store thus compelled to move back feared that the competitors who had not rebuilt, and were, therefore, not compelled to move back, would have an advantage, so erected a steel staging completely covering the front of the store, and arranged an extensive electrical display. This was no sooner in operation than another moved-back store erected a similar display, and competition in electric signs has been growing ever since.

The U. S. Consul-General in Shanghai also reports that the Chinese cotton mills are beginning to use electricity for power. (Under New Management).

Saints Run Up Big Score in the City Amateur League First

DUFFERIN PARK, May 3.—Beautiful baseball weather greeted the big crowd that turned out to see the Senior ful baseball weather greeted the big crowd that turned out to see the Senior City Amateur League games. Today's bill reads: Dufferin v. St. Marys and Wellingtons v. Park Nine. In an endeavor to reverse last week's result, Manager Turnbull of the Dufferins has secured the services of the sterling little southpaw, Doc Woods, with his namesake at the other end of the battery, while Dinny McGuire used the same line-up as last Saturday. Dooney Hardy handled the indicator.

After the Dufferins had been retired runless in the second innings, the Saints went quite briskly to Woods' delivery. Beatty lined out to Grogan, Kelly tripled and scored when Batewell threw wild to third. O'Toole was an infield out. Gustin singled and scored on A. Thompson's long hit for three bases. Byrne went out, second to first.

St. Marys earned a count in the third on O'Grady's single, McGuire's sacrifice and hits by G. Thompson and Beatty.

Beatty.

Two singles, a double steal and errors by Yeates and Nevins gave the Saints a trio of counts in the fifth.

The sixth innings saw McGuire's crew add a couple more runs on Byrne's single, errors by Verall, Picton and Navins.

Nevins.

Dufferins avoided a shut-out by scoring two runs in the last half of the same innings. Dodds and Woods singled successively and pulled off a double steal. Yeates' sacrifice fly and Verrall's single scored the base-run-

Toronto Senior League Gets Off to a Good Start-

Close at All Stages.

STANLEY PARK, May 3.—The ideal weather conditions attracted a large crowd to the prying off the lid of the Toronto Senior League. Controller J. O. McCarthy and Ald, Maybee officiated at the opening. Controller McCarthy took the bat and Ald, Maybee went to the rubber. The controller hit the first ball for a liner down first base. The initial game was between Crescents and St. Patricks, with Barker opposing Tetley.

The St. Patricks got off with a clean sheet by defeating Crescents 5 to 4. Tetley was hit hard in the opening finings, but settled down and proved invincible. St. Patricks got all their hits in the second and third and with running the bases at will, gave them their victory. A fast double play by St. Patricks and running catches by Connley featured. Joe Brown handled the game. The score:

every major league athlete outside the playing managers. This fraternity was indirectly fathered by this same Tyrus Raymond Cobb, who indirectly, too, threatens to precipitate an investigation as a trust of the profession from which he earns a most lucrative livelihood. It was the direct outcome of the strike of Detroit players, following the suspension of Cobb for assaulting an obstreperous fan at the Hilltop last spring. The great majority of baseball players are content with the present form of contract. They know that so long as they are deserving their services will be properly rewarded. Few have been the cases where magnates have taken advantage of their power to dismiss players incapacitated thru illness or injury.

Would Survive Investigation.

Without a doubt organized baseball would survive federal investigation. The reserve clause is the only vulnerable point of attack. To date it has been a necessary evil. In a pinch the organization might pursue its trammelled course along present lines of procedure regardless of dictates from the United States government. It wouldn't be hard for the club ownfrom the United States government. It wouldn't be hard for the club owners to cut out the reserve clause on the contracts but to reserve in several by several bush contracts but to regard in secret such obligations, with a national commission acting as general attorneys for the two circuits.

Where so much smoke there is bound to be a little fire. Organized baseball might do well to heed the big agitation with a view toward bettering present conditions. The reserve clause doubtless works an injustice on the star player unfortunate enough on the star player unfortunate enough to be associated with a poor club in a poor paying town. He cannot hope ever to secure remuneration equal to his worth with a strong club. Hereto-fore Nap Rucker of Brooklyn, and Walter Johnson of Washington, have belonged to that clease Washington. Walter Johnson of Washington, have belonged to that class. Fortunately both Washington and Brooklyn are now on the upward trend and these wonderful stars may yet find themselves associated with winners. Ty Cobb is being exceptionally well paid in Detroit. New York could afford to pay perhaps double the sum. Thus the reserve clause is an injustice to Cobb in a way; but it is by the same token a protection to Detroit. And, after all, the Detroit promoters hold the greater risk of the two interested parties. the greater risk of the two interested

The clubs with the money would corral all the stars. There would be no competition. None would become disgusted sooner than the fans. It strikes the writer, however, that organized baseball might operate under just a trifle more favorable privileges toward the player, who, after all, is the real backbone of the many steel and concrete grandstands that have been built within the past few seasons. In many cases the edifices represent no more than the owners' faith in the future of the game. Still these same magnates

WE SURPRISED THE COUNTRY WITH OUR VALUES AND ARE BREAKING SALE RECORDS DAILY

We know that there are lots of suits sold at Fifteen Dollars---made-to-order clothes as well as ready-mades. We want you to compare our product with any that you know of at any price up to thirty dollars the suit. We'll take chances on the result.

The test of all value does really lie in comparison, and that is the reason we want you to place ours alongside anything of which you have knowledge.

The very fact that we have made a big success of our business at Fifteen Dollars suit, made-to-order, absolutely shows that we must be making a great deal finer article for the price than any other tailor. You know that we've been in business some years now and that we have built up the biggest affair in our line on this continent.

YOUR CHOICE OF ANY MATER-IAL IN HOUSE MADE-TO-ORDER OR OVERCOAT.

Our old customers return to us for more clothes, and new friends are continually flocking to our branches. We are proud of the success that has attended us, and we are not resting on our victory, but are working night and day to give the public even more value.

THE SCOTLAND WOOLEN MILLS COMPANY HAS SUPPLIED, AND IS DAILY FULFILLING A NEEDED AND INTERESTING PUBLIC SERVICE.

AN INTERESTING PUBLIC SERVICE.

The Scotland Woolen Mills Company vas worked to a successful issue on the astonishing basis that under the ordinary conditions of buying and selling cloth and of tailoring a good suit could not possibly be made to sell at Fifteen Dollars. We realized from the start that unless we could establish a tremendously large business and deal direct with the mills, we actually could not exist on a fifteen dollars basis. Even after establishing the company on a huge scale there remained the work of convincing an incredulous public that it wasn't necessary for it to pay thirty or forty dollars for a good suit.

It did take a lot of printers' ink and energy to swing the public, but we have the satisfaction of knowing that we did absolutely convince every man who heeded our call. We have converted thousands to paying the same price for the clothing they wear.

Thereby the Scotland Woolen Mills Company has supplied and is daily fulfilling a needed and an interesting public

Politics and Progress

Little in the way of political or social reform has hitherto been accomplished by means of a general strike, the means by which the syndicalist hopes to reach control of production. But the success of the recent general strike in Belgium in compelling the government to take up seriously the matter of electoral reform will increase confidence in its efficacy. The Belgium workers, who stopped the wheels of industry thruout the country, were united in their demand for the removal of the franchise anomalies which practically deprive the mass of the people of any say in the administration and legislation of the country. Their union was the secret of their victory, but it by no means follows that had the object been economic similar loyal co-operation could have been obtained. That co-operation too accounted for the orderly conduct of the strike and made it a much more formidable weapon than it would have been had it been accompanied by violence. The Belgium leaders proved themselves men of moderate, not extreme views. They counseled acceptance of the offer to confer and the undertaking that the government would accept the necessity for electoral reform. Having thus vindicated the principle at stake and demonstrated the power of the universal strike the workers resumed their posts conscious that the same weapon remained at their command should the government fail to keep its pledges.

The Belgian strikers deserved political reform in order to compel social reforms. Their action was not isolated, but was part of a general movement visible in all civilized countries. That movement has for its end the establishment of political equality in order thereby to secure economic equality and the political parties of the future will gain or lose as and when they recognize that at the root of the world-wide unrest among the workers lies the unfair distribution of wealth and opportunity. This is very well brought out in two articles that recently appeared in The New Statesman of London, England, one an attempt to forecast the future of the political parties of Britain and the other contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webb, the well-known writers on social and economic questions. "The contest of the future," says the writer of the first article, "will be between sidetracking schemes of reform and progressive schemes; between specious opportunism and careful construction." Both parties," he proceeds, "are faced, amazingly enough, by a very simple inability—the inability to conceive the people as identified with the state, for economic as well as for political purposes. The danger which confronts Liberalism is that of ignoring the need of economic equality to give effect and reality to political equality; the danger which threatens Conservatism is that of clinging to the old idea of the state as something alien and august and beneficent doing for the people what they cannot even desire for themselves." This is exactly what underlies the new freedom of President Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb undertake to explain the reason for the insistent demand for economic equality as a sequel to political equality and they find it in the glaring inequality in the distribution of the national income which is the characteristic of every capitalist society. "What modern industrialism, generation after generation, destroys is the soul of the people," they say strongly. "The dwellers in the slums of our great cities with 'life on a pound a week' (and that perpetually snatched from their grasp!) find themselves embedded whether they like it or not, in all the ugliness, the dirt and the disorder of the mean streets. It is not in material things alone that 'the destruction of the poor is their poverty'". The destitution against which the writers protest is thus degradation of character, a spiritual demoralization, a destruction of human personality. They find the spirit of revolt to be strongest alike in England and France, the United States and Germany, in that stratum of wage earners which lives in the long rows of solidly-built, bow-windowed artizans' homes in the manufacturing districts or the picturesquely tiled cottages of the model village. To them have come, thru the great growth of national income, more of the cheaper luxuries of life, less exhausting toil and perhaps greater social security but they revolt against the misery beneath them and the ever-present peril of unemployment. The basis of this revolt, Mr. and Mrs. Webb think, is not so much the inequality of income that private ownership of the instruments of production involves as the resultant inequality of power over human lives. This basis of revolt, they say, is at once the weakness of socialism and its strength. And there is far more socialism than there are avowed socialists. Declared adherents may not number more than ten millions, but their creed is admittedly permeating all other political parties and economic sects.

Much of the discussion now proceeding in the United states is permeated with the recognition of the same social unrest. Questions regarding the relationship of insufficient wages to social problems are everywhere being asked and investigated. The agitation against the courts is another symptom of the revolt against existing conditions. This feature of the present time was dealt with the other day by William Draper Lewis, dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School in an address delivered at Columbia University on the relation of law to social science. In his view a bench and bar that does not perform the function of molding law so as to express changes in social ideals is a bench and bar losing the confidence of the community with all the evil consequences resulting from that loss. There is, he went on to say, a growing distrust in the justice of the law and by reflex action some feeling of antagonism to lawyers and especially judges. Its fundamental cause is, he believed, the fact that the people of the United States are passing thru a period of comparative rapid change in some of their fundamental social ideals. The laws on such subjects as workmen's compensation no longer satisfy the felt sense of justice. Dean Lewis remarked that apparently the people are ceasing to test progress by income and are beginning to test it by prosperity. Prosperity is not obtained unless the great bulk of the people are prosperous and thus conditions which fail to render the laborer prosperous are beginning to be looked upon as unjust. In this he finds, the rise of the doctrine of the living wage since only with a living wage is prosperity possible.

The Legislative Probe

While everyone who desires honest government would have preferred to see the Committee of Privileges and Elections open wide the scope of the investigation, Chairman Ferguson was undoubtedly technically correct in confining the probe to the charge made by Mr. Proudfoot upon his responsibility as a member.

No one, we believe, seriously entertains the idea that either Mr. Hanna or Sir James Whitney were guilty of more than an indiscretion with reference to the granting of the fiat to Contractor Taylor. Both the accused ministers frankly admitted the acceptance of the contribution of $500 and the investigation, so far as it went, completely exonerated the ministers from any corrupt action.

It was clearly proven that Taylor had a just claim against the government and in view of that fact would anyone desire that the government should claim immunity from suit? The main point was whether the acceptance of the $500 influenced either Mr. Hanna or Sir James Whitney to urge upon the proper officers that the fiat be granted. It was shown that the officials in charge of that department were

The worst than can be said is that Mr. Hanna made a mistake in accepting money from a contractor but he is too valuable a man to be thrown overboard because of one slip. Both he and Sir James Whitney sincerely desire to serve the people. We fancy that the electors will take little stock in the mock heroics of Mr. Proudfoot and his Liberal associates. They had an opportunity to prove the charge to the hilt but there is a vast difference between what is admitted to be a blunder and a corrupt and illegal act which was specified in the charge made by Mr. Proudfoot in the house.

From the course taken by the Opposition members of the committee it is evident that they were conscious the attempt to attach moral blame to Mr. Hanna had failed. Hence their embarkation on a fishing enquiry without first laying other and specific charges, a way of procedure which the chairman promptly and rightly disallowed.

Sir Wilfrid's Visit

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will speak to a Toronto audience in the Arena tomorrow night. The Liberal chieftain has always been well .eceived in Toronto. Indeed it speaks the high est of Toronto's hospitality that Sir Wilfrid has invariably met with nothing but the greatest consideration not only from his own friends, but from the vast majority in this city who listen to him and then vote the other way. Indeed it is rather remarkable that in the past quarter of a century the only federal premier who has met with an hostile reception in Toronto was Sir Charles Tupper in 1896. The Conservative leader was howled down by an angry audience, mostly Conservatives, and was unable to give his promised address.

This is evidenced by the affiliation with the league of so many local automobile clubs. Many of them have been formed expressly for the purpose of becoming identified with the Motor League. NO LOOSENED TREADS

LARGEST AIR CAPACITY

Never Did Rim-Cut

Here's the story of a tire which has set all America talking because it set new standards in tire mileage and was the first and only tire to make freedom from skidding a realizable factor in motoring. This tire, which is patented by us, stands alone in the whole field of tiredom as the anti-skid without a rival for efficiency. It is the one tire in Canada which has a built-into tread. That exclusive feature alone saves Canadian motorists 30% of tire life.

Unique Construction

Have you ever noticed closely the construction of Dunlop Traction Tread? As many motorists say, this tire is the most stylish anywhere, yet every point in its construction serves a purpose, and,

"Classy" in Action

Have you noticed how under application of the brake, the "Fr of Dunlop Traction Treads act upon the wet or greasy pavement? Each "V" finds a footing, so to speak, passes off the greasy mud by means of its side channels, and finds dry pavement for each succeed-

Other Tires Ineffective

Other so-called anti-skid tires just wiggle through the mud or over the asphalt—on chance. Each "button" or "wart" just pushes aside some of the grease for the next button to slide on.

No Loosened Treads

With Dunlop Traction Treads in service there is no "wave of rubber" being pushed ahead, as with other tires, because with Dunlop Traction Treads the tire runs along under pressure, each "V" expanding the maximum amount without touching the next "V." You see, there is a space between each "V" as big as the width of the "V" itself. This exclusive Dunlop Traction Tread feature prevents. ecsening of the tread, a defect in ordinary tires eating up 80 per cent

Dunlop Traction Tread Straight Type

Most Envied Tire America

Air-Cooled Feature

The construction of Dunlop Traction Tread "V's" prevent neating of the tire tread when the car is going at high speed. It's a matter of common-sense that the greater you make the depth of your antiskid corrugation the greater opportunity you afford for the free passage of cooling air. Dunley Traction Tread anti-skidding feature is made larger than that on any other tire in the world, because the tread of the master tire is built into place.

The Old Way

Other anti-skids merely possess a strip of rubber covered with "bumps," said strip being stuck onto the tire. You probably have noted with ordinary tires that all the "buttons," no matter their shape, are of one depth. This is because if the "buttons" of the stuck-on type of anti-skid were made big enough to really be effective they would air-fill in the process of manufacture and crumble away in first usage.

Comfort to Passengers .

With Duniop Traction Treads, no unevenness is felt by the passenger or driver. The deep, resilient rubber absorbs all shock, and removes altogether that consciousness of tire contact with the road, common to so-called anti-skids. Motorists tell us they notice how often different manufacturers have their cars equipped with Dunlop Traction Treads when they take the prospects out to demonstrate the comfortable riding qualities of the cars.

Exit to Skidding

That extra depth of rubber, an exclusive Dunlop Traction Tread feature, besides giving double tire life, absolutely ensures to the motorist a real anti-skidding feature, and a feature which lasts with the life of the tire. You know yourself that with ordinary tires the socalled anti-skidding virtues vanish after a few hundred miles of tire usage, then the rear tires are shifted to the front of the car to do "plain"

Passing of Punctures

Punctures are almost unknown to Dunlop Traction Tread Tires, because of the impenetrability of the combined depth of tread and heavy fabric wall. You see, Dunlop Traction Tread in use has approximately one inch space between that portion of the tire touching the road and that portion of the tire which contains the inner tube. No other tire in the world gives the user such protection from those obstructions on the road commonly found in motoring experience.

More Rubber--More Air

Dunlop Traction Treads are larger than any other tires made in Canada. Actual tests made in our laboratory show that users of Dunlop Traction Treads-or, for that matter, Dunlop Tires in general-get an average of 66 more cubic inches of air capacity. That means Dunlop Tires are larger than se-called "over-size" tires, or any other kind of

Never Did Rim-Cut

Two years' search for information from the men who know about rim-cutting in actual experience—dealers and motorists—proves that Dunlop Tires are the one make of tire which never did rim-out. All the tires which come to our repair shops labelled: "Defect; rim-cutting." have some other maker's name moulded into them.

The Dunlop Line consists of Tires for Automobile, Motor Truck, Motorcycle, Bicycle and Carriage, Rubber Belting, Packing, Hose, Heels, Mats, Tiling and General Rubber Specialties.

NEW JERSEY STATE EXAMINES DRIVERS

Competence of Chauffeurs to Be Proved Before License is Issued.

NEW YORK, May 8.—By compeling strict examinations to be made beore the issuing of any licenses to drivers or cwners of automobiles Job H. Lippincott, commissioner, expects to bring about a better enforcement of the automobile laws and also to lessen to a great degree the number of accidents in New Jersey. Mr. Lippincott last week sent out notices to all agents of the department as follows:

"The question of examination of drivers is becoming of more and more importance. In the most progressive States regular examinations are held under the supervision of experienced men. In New Jersey this very important branch of the subject has in the past been very laxly administered, owing to the fact that under our statutes licenses are issued thru agencies placed in different parts of the State, and examinations were either not of a uniform character or were utterly disregarded. he automobile laws and also to lessen and examinations were either not of a uniform character or were utterly disregarded.

"It was not possible to correct entirely this condition, on account of a lack of proper assistance in our inspection force. The increase in the number of inspectors granted by the legislature this year has made possible the establishment of a policy of increased efficiency in this and other branches of the department's work.

"Hereafter strict examinations will be conducted before any drivers' licenses are issued. This will apply not only to chaffeurs, but to owners, and will place New Jersey in the forefront of those states which require strict qualifications for those operating automobiles under drivers' licenses.

"It seems necessary, with the great increase in motor vehicle travel, to prevent the possibility of licensed incompetency, and I believe that a strict examination is the only way to minimize accidents."

SEACHLIGHTS

Auto Editor, World: Dear Six—Having seen a piece in last Sunday's World re headlights. I wish to say that I don't think "our friend" is quite correct in saying that head lamps should be used in the city limits. Lamps of the power of Packard 48's and the ones on most of the new models are too powerful to be used on city streets, because all of the larger electric lamps have a pure white beam of terrific intensity, and are almost sure to dazzle another driver coming from the opposite direction.

He says that they serve as they live in a great city; a city where they must, when crossing intersections, proceed with as much caution as tho they were in the streets of Chicago or Cleveland; where, altho traffic is undoubtedly heavier (tho not much, at that), there is more room on the roadways.

Your aldermen, too, curious to say, cannot seem to entirely grasp the fact of Toronto's rapid development. Plans are laid for certain improvements, and, by the time the improvements, and, by the time the improvements are completed, the growth of the city has again outdistanced the provisions made. Roughly speaking, about the only scheme for improvement, beautification, and general utility, which in any way measures up to what was really necessary, is the recently published plans of the harbor commission.

He says that they warning to pedestrians crossing the streets. That is correct, but I want to know if there is any use protecting foot traffic if it is going to endanger vehicular traffic.

The public in this city seems to be absolutely without semse in crossing streets and waiting force.

The public in this city seems to be absolutely without sense in crossing streets and waiting for street cars. They seem to take up more room than the street car itself, and if you come within ten feet of them, they look at you as if you had no business on the streets at all.

Then there is the matter of the police Toronto has a fairly good police department, and handles most things nicely. But the motorist better take a bank book and mortgage on his house with him, or else he is liable to lose his car, if he is an owner; or if he is a chauffeur he goes down until someone pays his fine. The judges are mostly very fair, and treat everyone alike, but they listen to a couple of old fogles called inspectors, and then tack on a fine big enough to buy a set of ventilators for the police court. The constables are very decent, outside of one or two, who ought to be run over with a car, to take the frozen appearance off their faces. But, on the whole, they are a very decent and obliging lot of men and a credit whole, they are a very decent and obliging lot of men and a credit to the town.

Did you notice in tonight's (the 24th) Telegram police news. The case of Mr. H. T. Rogers, charged with crossing Queen and Roncesvalles at too great a speed. He said that he did not think motorists were getting a square deal on trivial charges. The magistrate dismissed him, and very decently at that. But one of those inspectors had to have his little say, so he told Mr. Rogers that the sooner he stopped complaining about the police, the better for himself. That sounds pretty much like a threat, doesn't it? Anyway, he said just enough to spell the fairness. Anyway, he said just enough to spoil the fairness of Mr. Rogers' dismissal. He has of Mr. Rogers' dismissal. He has no more right to talk in court than anyone else, and yet did not know enough to keep his tongue to himself, or, in other words, "stop butting in." This is rather long-winded, but I am no hand at writing articles as I am no hand at writing articles, so hope that you will look at it, anyway. Thanking you for time and trouble consumed, I remain,

Toronto, April 24, 1913. CARELESS PEDESTRIANS.

Automobile Editor, World: Dear Sir The wonderful growth of the City of Toronto during the last few years is no more clearly evidenced than in the fact that he fact that, altho now a metropolis the fact that, altho now a metropolis of half a million persons, the average citizen of your city has evidently absolutely falled to keep pace with the times. The city has grown so quickly as to outdistance the minds of her citizens. This state of affairs is nowhere so clearly evidenced as in the where so clearly evidenced as in the absolute disregard of danger amongst heavy traffic. In this respect, Toronto s the most provincial city of any in which I have ever been.

streets is probably the busiest cor-ner in the City of Toronto; yet pedestrians will saunter across, looking neither to, the right or left, as the they were out for a stroll on a country green. Women and children, too, I have seen crossing with an absolute disregard for the ever-present danger at an intersection of this

A motorist in Toronto has to be constantly on the lookout for some person making a sudden diversion onto a busy roadway; and, should an accident occur, the motorist will have a hard fight to prove that he was proceeding with all due caution, and that the suddenness of his position entirely prohibited any at-tempt at averting a disaster. How long will it take Toron-tonians to awaken to the fact that

Authorities Everywhere Endorse The Russell-Knight Car

Men who know cars-men who have run them since "the early days" and who have made a careful comparison of the Russell-Knight with other high-grade cars are unanimous in their approval of its all-round superiority.

The design is later and will be standard, not only for 1913, but for 1914 as well. The Russell-Knight Engine is an advance upon even the Knight Engines in the European and United States licensees' cars. It is absolutely the "latest" Knight model, passed and approved by a corps of engineers second to none in the world. Russell-Knight Model "28" today is a proved success.

The body is of an entirely new design-not a part or accessory is visible upon it. It is a handsome body, designed to be comfortable and spacious. The Russell Left Drive leaves all four doors available. The driver has a clear view in both directions before turning into passing traffic. The rear Windshield—a unique and exclusive Russell feature, is a great boon when winds are high or roads are dusty.

Demountable Rims and the Square Rim save many a roadside repair. The ample clearance and low centre of gravity make it the ideal car for Canadian road conditions. The Power Tire Pump eliminates all labor in re-inflating tires. Call on nearest branch or agent and see the car, Catalogue upon request.

Annie Russell in Old-Time Comedies

Famous Actress With Strong Charming Comedy Actress Comes Company in "She Stoops to Conquer" and "Rivals."

Annie Russell has turned to the sterling writers of other days, and, surrounded by a company of her own telling plays of the moment.

The beauty of these eighteenthcentury writings is that they have such a compelling vitality that they are just as funny to modern audiences as they were to the people who went to see them at the time they were first presented.

Miss Russell has surrounded herself with an exceptional cast, which includes Oswald Yorke, George Giddons, Frederick Permain, Murray Kinnell, Ffolliott Paget, Henrietta Goodwin, and some 20 others. Mr. Yorke will be seen as young Marlowe in
"She Stoops to Conquer," and as Jack

Miss May Robson In "A Night Out"

to the Princess Theatre This Week.

May Robson, one of the most charming actresses of the present day, has choosing, is delighting large audiences everywhere with her brilliant production of "She Stoops to Conquer" and "The Rivals," the former the comedy of youth and manners par excellence, by Oliver Goldsmith; the latter a wonderful old satire on human nature, by Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

She comes to the Royal Alexandra Theatre on Monday, May 5, and selected a type of character new to the stage. The conventional old lady of the farce with traditional manner-isms of her predecessors, is absent from the work of May Robson, since she offers a distinctive type of the good natured, generous woman of to-day. Combining the rare ability to express naturally pathos and humor; and her manner of expression sways to laughter. While there is a wide scope for the introduction of "horse"

Toronto Actress Stock Company Star

Kathleen MacDonell Will Be With the Bonstelle Players at Shea's.

Few, if any, of the present-day theatrical stars can boast of attain-ing such a high position in their pro-fession in such a short time, as Miss Kathleen MacDonell, the popular young Toronto actress, has reached. It is not many years since Miss Mac-Donell, who will be at Shea's Theatre this summer, was graduated from Loretto Abbey, and yet she is acknowledged by all the leading dra-matic critics to have attained to histrionic talents that many of the greatest stars have had to sacrifice both youth and beauty to reach.

From the very outset, Miss MacDonell's career bore the ear-marks of success. Her very first appearance upon the stage was in a leading part in "The Country Chairman." Her sterling abilities were at once recog-nized and her future assured. The season with Lawrence D'Orsay and the two seasons with the Orpheum Players in Philadelphia proved that her popularity was no flash in the pan. Then came a season as minimum fiske's leading woman in "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh."

be the scene of her native daughter's first great triumph, and the medium thru which it came was Gertrude Atherton's short-lived play, "Julia France," which received its first production here. Local theatregoers will not soon forget Miss MacDonell's wonderful portrayal of the child of nature, which was the real success of the production.

Great as was this success, however, it was as Virginia Blaine, in George Broadhurst's famous play, "Bought and Paid For," that she made all the leading dramatic critics of the United States sit up and take notice. They were prepared for really good work, but Miss MacDonell's performance was the sensation of the season, and for ten weeks in New York and twen-ty weeks in Chicago her name was on every playgoers lips. Even her tears became famous, and she became

"One day, when I was at work on a ladder outside the barn, a thun-der-storm came up. The scene I was working on would be ruined if it got wet, so some quick action was necessary. From my screams, I guess the people in the house thought I was being murdered, but they had the effect of bringing help in short or-der. Miss Russell and her husband, Oswald Yorke, with several guests and all the servants, came running out to the barn, and I never saw a quicker change of scenery on any stage than we effected.

"If that scene could be acted out behind the footlights, with the old stone barn and black clouds for a background, it would be one of the dramatic successes of the age, because every conceivable kind of emotion was portrayed, from hysteria and tears to laughter, but it was almost a tragedy for me, because had spent days of backaching work on that particular canvas, and to have It ruined when it was so near com-pletion would have almost broken my "I was quite a curiosity to the farmers and other persons who dally drove past the barn; and they would stop and gaze at me open-mouthed.

"Miss Russell is a delightful person to work for, because she is full of ideas, and knows exactly what she wants. Both of us made a thoro study of old English furniture and architecture before I began the work of painting the scenery for 'Much Ado About Nothing.' We discussed every little detail before it was put on the canvas, and everything, even down to such insignificant articles as snuff boxes and candles, is true to the life of that period." A considerable portion of the world's automobiles are manufactured in Design of the construction of the world's automobiles.

automobiles are manufactured in De-troit. In each different make of car built in this city, copper is used to a greater or lesser degree.

Literally millions of pounds of the mineral go into these cars. Detroit consumes the output of several mines

An idea of what this demand is may be obtained by considering the amount of copper used by the Ford Motor Company. This year the Ford Company is building 200,000 cars. In each of these cars there will be ap-proximately forty-seven pounds of proximately forty-seven pounds of copper. This means that this single automobile plant will use more than 9,000,000 pounds. Nine million pounds of copper is more than the total yearly output of some mines. It is half the yearly output of the great Osceola Consolidated mine, one of the largest copper mines in the world.

Of course, there is very little pure

Of course, there is very little pure copper used in automobiles. The most of it appears in the form of brass in radiators, bushings, windshields, etc.
This data will reveal where a lot of the copper of the country is going and where a lot more will go during the coming years.

Shakspere Again

Brutus that was seen earlier in the effect.

Tyrone Power has often been spoken of as an exponent of "the old school," meaning that his method is ak n to that of Booth, Barrett and other tragedy kings of the last generation. If this be true it must be affirmed at ence that he does that school credit, and leads us to believe that the old school is the best school. If the dignity, poise and artistic restraint dishity, poise and artistic restraint discernable in Mr. Power's Brutus are ributes of the old school, then all to the old school! We have seen ranted and tere the atmosphere in a decidedly objectionable manner. Apparently Mr. Power has all the virtues of the old school without its vices; or parently Mr. Power has all the virtues of the old school without its vices; or else he is old school modified by new school—in other words, transition achool. But why bother about the classification? Suffice it to say that "ower's Brutus is an artistic achievement, which would do hones to appropriate the say that which would do hones to appropriate which would do hones to appropriate the say that which would do hones to appropriate the say that the say that which would do hones to appropriate the say that the say the say that the say that the say that the say that the say the say the say that the say the say the say that the say t ment which would do honor to any The best scene was of course the

In the tent scene he uncovers his emotions and becomes the kind of man whom we can sympathize with and in 2002 cerstand. Probably it is the contrast with the stoicism of the early scenes that makes his unbending all the more effective. Shakspere knew how to go after his effects. In the quarrel and reconciliation with Casslus, in the grief over Portia, in the kindness to Lucius, in the terror sloused by the visitation of Caesar's spirit. Tyrone Power was equal to every number of emotional shading always impressing the spectator and never overdoing. And the variegated emotions were all part of the same man, all in keeping with the character.

Another effective scene was his address to the mob. To rise to such a high ideal of manhood in actual life is a great achievement: and to depict such a character on the stage is also, an achievement. The number of living actors who could do it are very, very few; and it is difficult to conceive of even one who could do it better than Mr. Power. As Brutus is one of the great test roles, it follows that Mr. Power is one of our best actors.

ship of the American stage, a title that has lacked an incumbent since the death of Richard Mansfield. His sponsor is William Winter, the veteran New York critic, who, in a biography of Tyrone Power recently published, calls him "the most auspicious actor of the present day—in whom are combined great dramatic talent, sensitive ten:perament, enthusiastic spirit, devoted love of acting, the knowledge that is gained by experience, a noble ambition and rare personal qualifications for the stage." And Mr. Winter substantiates these generalizations with an abundance of concrete proof. The acclamation of one critic, however, no matter how commanding his influence, is not enough to exalt Tyrone Power to the leadership of the American stage. average, all of them doing their best to please, and seldom without avail. Opening in a Paris cabaret the gayety assumed a high pitch at the start and was not diminished, as one rather ex-pected it would be, when the scene shifted to Scotland. The latter localty afforded opportunity for pictures-que costuming, particularly around the knees, of which full advantage was taken by the lassies of the chorus with attractive, even absorbing, results. Mrs. Grundy probably looked on with considerable asperity; while Mr. Grundy slipped out to buy a ticket for the next performance.

When the chorus was not on view the principals came in for notice, and well they deserved it, for in their re-spective ways they were expert en-tertainers. Otis Harlan, quite fat and ually funny, roused gales of laughter with his clever fooling; ably abet-ted by Maude Odell, whose face and gure proved that she was a comedian ccause she wanted to be and not beause she had to be. Side by side with this innovation a new style of dinner was introduced this week by Pierre Lafitte, the publisher, and 'social leader, and is be-

ICEBERGS ATTRACT WARM WATER.

Icebergs produce a certain rise in temperature while melting in salt wa-ter, according to observations taken by a scientist of McGill University, Montreal. It is said that this peculiar result is caused by a cold current descending from the iceberg and carrying with it all the cold water from the icebery, while a horizontal current near the surface of current near the surface of the water flows in toward the ice, thus causing it to melt. This is the reason, it is claimed, why the water in the immediate vicinity of icebergs often shows a perceptible increase rather

The hydro-plane is the outcome of the motorboat which set up a new standard in naval speed records by the use of a gasoline engine. The motorboat could not, however, progress beyond a certain point in speed. Skin friction and wave-production held it back as they hold back all craft which are driven thru water. This wave-making resistance is due to the displacement of water by the moving boat. Eut if one can avoid driving the craft thru the water at all? If we can drive it over the water we can largely reduce the displacement resistance. Then we shall be utilising the principle which keeps a well-thrown skim-ming stone flying for a long distance over the water. A new type of boat was therefore devised with "steps," which would skim over the water and not move thru it as all other boats had hitherto done.

When the engine is started the bow

HOME DECORATING MADE !NEX-PENSIVE.

New pretty wall papers in a home do more to improve the appearance of it than anything that could be done. Yet many people live year after year amongst ugiy faded or shabby wall papers, or, worse yet, bare walls. Some hesitate to decorate because they fear it is an expensive undertaking; others because it is so hard to speak, upon this point; and with further increase of speed the boat, powerfully upheld by the fluid pressure on its bottom, drops its bow but raises its stern till its bottom rests on the surface of the water at a small angle therewith and with very little displacement of water compared with that in the position of the boat when at rest. The main factor is no longer static buoyancy, but the new lifting force due to the speed of the boat. This is the true planing or skimming position; the power of the engine is translated into a speed which could never be attained in an ordinary boat with a displacement hull. If the speed is still further increased the bow may be sharply depressed, causting the wind presses the craving for drugs, but actually creates a loathing for them, and while perfectly harmless, acts as a revivifying tonic, building up the wasted tissues and invigorating the whole nervous system.

Instead of the explosive shell, one might have simply a fireworks, a kind of Roman candle, which would splutter fire all around, or throw

I have other ideas as to how to deal with dirigibles, not quite so deadly, perhaps, but still very effective. I prefer not to say anything about these, for various reasons. For one thing, I anticipate, if necessary, joining the reserve of the Royal Fly-

I would undertake to make everything myself, including the bomb, ut all right in the end, they may not. if necessary. On the wire would be a slip-hook, which would let go at a strain of 100 pounds. The shell would weigh 50 pounds, say. Then, all that would be necessary to set the hook loose from the aeroplane would be a good tark on the mine. This would o it is best to do a little fore-thinkit means of putting a dirigible out action, given that you have only eroplanes with which to do it? good jerk on the wire. This would explode the shell at the same time. I

Now a dirigible carries its own destruction about with it-its inflaminto how to ignite this gas in the plane. If the slip-hook failed to act, a simple mechanism would enable the airman, simply by kicking a lever, to cut the wire, if necessary, and the wire itself would break with a strain of 200 pounds. But the airman would not want to cut the wire. He would want to be able to haul it in the case of a miss. There is a simpler and surer method than that. Fish for your dirigible with an explosive bomb or with an inflammable bcmb. Let us suppose an enemy's dirigible has appeared over England. We are prepared for it, say—for we are certainly not prepared for it as things are now. Three aeroplanes appear, armed and armored. One would be sufficient, but three are sent up to make assurance doubly sure.

The Hawk Attacked.

Now begins the story of the hawk

Now begins the story of the hawk attacked by smaller birds and with the same result. Only it is a clumsier same result. Only it is a clumsier hawk and the finish is quicker. Two of these aeroplanes are heavy chines of big horse-power, and armed with-for aeroplanes—heavy guns. The third is lighter, swifter, and a much faster climber. The first two relatively heavier charge, and the wire would stand the strain of a ton. In this case, too, the explosive-hook would be especially useful in the night, for, when steaming at full pace, battleships are always distinguishable by aeroplanes, even on the darkest night, by the sparks and smoke from their funnels. The two others proceed to worry be put into practice, Airmen ought to be trained in fishing for dirigibles. it with their fire. The third is armed only with a thin wire line. This it proceeds to drop, having first baited it with death. Then commences a grim angling. The other two aeroplanes are wary of that line; it is as much their business to keep out of its way as it is that of the dirigible. The angling aeroplane flies at right angles across the dirigible swenging its across the dirigible, swinging its hooked line with it. It has missed line is too short. More is paid out and back she comes. Too time, but the aeroplane suddenly ounts as the line falls across the dirigible, and before the crew of the latter has had time to cut the line it has been pulled up, the hook has caught, and shut; an explosion, a purst of flame, and destruction for that dirigible. This is not a fanciful It is what could and what would happen every time. It is the fire that follows the explosion that counts. In fact there need be no ex-plosion. Popular Vision Wrong.

The popular vision of the leader of the militants in the votes for women war was wrong from the start. Frequently as her portrait is printed, she still figures in the public mind as a gaunt figure in ill-fitting clothes, with scanty hair, large features, a rasping voice. hair, large features, a rasping voice. That is perfectly natural. That, given That is perfectly natural. That, given her behavior, is how she ought to look. Actually she is the very opposite of what the public are determined to believe. She is a little woman of a delicate prettiness. Her voice is soft and musical. She is always well and becomingly dressed. It is almost ludicrous to see her as "general" issuing orders to her "soldiers," 'as she calls them. It would be ludicrous but for an earnestness about her which rises above laughter and exacts from opponents a certain grudging respect.

Violence."

First of all, she had to use violence in her own ranks. Many who had supported the worrying tactics felt doubtful whether the British nation could be terrorized into giving women votes. These waverers numbered among them Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, givers of much money and all their time to the cause. The stalwarts drove them and all their doubters out of the Women's Social and Political Union. Mrs. Pankhurst and her daughters were free to carry out their plan. She herself set them the example of not shirking any of the more unpleasant "duties" of the campaign which she began in 1908. First, it was a cam-paign of irritation. In order to worry men into giving them votes, suffragettes forced their way into parliament, chained themselves to ministers' railings, interrupted speeches, and broke shop windows. Since that did not seem to bring the consummation they deoutly wished much nearer, it was decided to alter their tactics—to go on from worrying to bullying. ### SUNDAY WORLD IN ENGLAND

Many Sunday World readers of British birth have the commendable habit of mailing their copies to relatives and friends in the Motherland. A lady resident in Toronto, whose brother has a barber shop in Birmingham, England, omitted recently to dispatch the paper and in early course received a letter enquiring whether it had been posted as usual. His customers, he wrote, watched for its arrival and not a day passed without enquiries for the latest issue. They knew, he added, all about "Snookums" and the other features of the comic supplement and greatly appreciated the Toronto weekly.

THE LURE OF SPRING VOICES

In the breathing winds from far-off hills that sweep With a message that the wilderness rejoices, For the spring has wakened, smiling, from her sleep.

There's a murmur as of music faintly ringing Where her feet have touched the jewel-sprinkled sod, Where a myriad green and growing things are singing Low and sweet a joyous anthem to their God.

I have heard the onward march of countless flowers O'er the hills and in the valleys that I know, Where the wild birds wait to greet me in the bowers. They are calling, calling, calling, Let me go!

There's a rippling, ringing note of waters rushing Thru the gold and ruby portals of the dawn, While the shadows, velvet-shod, are stealing softly

There are voices manifold of winds awaking Airy strains from harps aeolian. List, O list!

O my heart makes joyous answer; I am coming Little voices, wild, sweet voices of the woodland, Where I hear you calling, calling, lo! I go.

BY LILIAN LEVERIDGE. I have listened to the lure of little voices

From the mountain and the meadow and the lawn.

There's a murmurous lisp of leaves adown the forest, Where the amorous night and morn have met and kissed.

By the dear delightful pathways that I know.

Toronto Prima Donna Makes Italian Debut

Phenomenal Success of Bertha Crawford in "Pagliacci" at Salo, Italy.

The many friends of Miss Bertha Crawford, who has assumed the stage name of Berta de Giovanni, will be delighted to hear of her phenomenal success in the opera "Pagliacci," at Salo, Italy. On the evening of her debut she sang "Caro Nome" in such a manner that the audience were wildly enthusiastic, insisting upon encore after encore, the last of which she responded to by singing the aria from "Lucia." She was made the recipient of numerous baskets of flowers and a beautiful gold locket, with the date of the debut inscribed on it, the gift of the directors of the date of the debut inscribed on it, the gift of the directors of the theatre. She also received from the impressario a pearl pendant in a large basket of flowers, and many other presents. Miss Crawford's voice beauty, and, even in Italy, she is looked upon as one of the coming singers. Her going to Europe was at the suggestion of Signor Morando, of the Canadian Academy of Music, who predicted a great future for her, and who arranged for her recentless. who arranged for her reception and study in Italy. Miss Crawford writes: "I should like Signor Morando to know how thoroly delighted I am with his countrymen; they are all so hospi-table and enthusiastic." When Miss Crawford returns to her homeland she will surely find a warm Canadian welcome awaiting her, and especially in Toronto, who claims her as its own.

Miss Isabelle Eden, the English lutinist, has filled many private and public engagements during the past season, when her singing to the accompaniment of the ancient instrument gave a unique and pleasing note to the otherwise conventional programs.

A feeling of sadness was cast over the audience attending the Boston Symphony concerts last week when it was noticed that the large harp standing in its accustomed place was ening in its accustomed place was en-twined with a laurel wreath, and that the player's chair was vacant. Miss Marie C. Strong, the noted teacher of singing, announces a reci-tal by several of her advanced pu-pils at Foresters' Hall, on May 19. Miss Strong's recitals are always in-teresting, as she never allows her students to sing in public until they have mastered the fundamental principles of the art.

Week-end recitals are becoming popular feature of the Hambourg Conservatory of Music. Professor Hambourg makes these rehearsals constitute a review of the work done audience who warmly expressed their by his assistant teachers, and gives the young performers and others interested in matters musical. ### Constipation Cured By Common Sense

The wonder is that so many people endeavor to cure Constipation by the use of drugs when experience of so many proves that drugs cannot cure Constipation. Drugs simply form a temporary relief and by persisting in their use people gradually become slaves to the drug habit.

The common-sense method of treatment for Constipation and all its attendant ills is one recommended by physicians generally and now in use by over 300,000 people. This is Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell's J. B. L. Cascade. This treatment requires simply the use of pure water.

Mr. A. MacLean, of the Conger Lumber Co., Parry Sound, Ont., states: "Before I started this treatment I could not pass one day without taking medicines, and since then I have not taken one dose, and feel much better. I have been troubled with constipation for the past $5 or 40 Fears, I cannot speak too highly of the Cascade Treatment."

Let us tell you why Dr. Tyrrell's Cascade treatment will cure you. You who suffer from not only Constipation. Billiousness, but all ills that Constipation—this blocking of the system with terribly poisonouswaste—brings about. This system is fully explained in Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell's book, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient," a well written treatise that will interest you very much. Dr. Tyrrell will be glad to send you this book free if you will address him, Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell, M.D., Room 451-3, 280 College St., Toronto, Sold in Toronto by the Owl

The loudest scream of approbation had come from the yellowhaired, loose-lipped youth who had made the wager, and lost it. The heavy blonde, in the inevitable violet draperies, showed signs of wanting to dance on the table. Her companion, a structure made up of layer upon layer, and fold-upon fold of flabby tissue—knew all the waiters by their right names, and insisted on singing with the orchestra and beating time with a rye roll. Altogether Sir Richard McBride is one of the striking personalities in the political life of the Dominion and believe to seemplis: much in the years that to accomplis: much in the years that lie before him;

he can indulge his fondness for canoe-ing the followed in the little soapy pool that followed in the wake of Tillie, the scrub woman. "Hi, Miss Fink!" it was the steward's voice. "We need you over in the bar, to help Miss Sweeney check the drinks. They're coming too swift for her. The eating will be light from now on; just a little something salty now and then."

So Miss Fink dabbed covertly at her eyes, and betook herself out of the atmosphere of roasting, and broiling, and frying, and stewing; away from the sight of great copper kettles, and glowing coals, and hissing pans, into a little world fragrant with mint, breathing of orange and lemon peel, perfumed with pineapple, redolent of cinnamon and clove, reeking with things spirituous. Here the splutter of the broiler was replaced by the hiss of the siphon, and the poppop of corks, and the tinkle and clink of ice against glass.

"Hello, dearie!" cooed Miss Sweeney, in greeting, staring hard at the suspicious redness around Miss Fink's eyelids. "Ain't you sweet to come over "Aw, shod op yur mout."
The thind-thind of Miss Fink's checking stamp kept time to fiying footteps, but even as her practiced eye wept over the tray before her, she aw the steward direct Henri toward are desk, just as he was about to sead in the direction of the misor based in the direction of the misor she had saw the figures and the saw film coming. "I hope," said Miss Fink, pleasantly, "that the supply of 1874 will hold out till morning. I'd hate to see them have to come down to $10 wine. Here you, Tony! Come back here! I may be a new hand in this department, but I'm not so green that you can put a gold label over on me as a yellow label. Notice that I'm checking you another 50 cents?"

"Ain't he the grafter?" laughed

Miss Gussie Fink stared, indignation choking her utterance. And as she stared the fierce light in Henri's eyes was replaced by a light of tenderness. "We'll 'tend to her," said Henri; "she ain't fit for you to touch. I wouldn't let you soil your hands on such truck." And, while Gussie woman by the shoulders, while another waiter grasped her ankles, with Tillie, the scrub-woman, arranging her draperies pityingly around her, and together they carried her out of the dining-room to a room beyond. H'm! then, he'll split even with you. H'm! O, well, now, don't get so high and mighty. The management expects it in this department. That's why they pay starvation wages."

An unusual note of color crept inturned to face him, she found Henri looking at her. and as he looked all the Heiny in him came to the surface and shone in his eyes. He looked long and silently at Miss Gussie Fink—at the sane, simple, wholesomeness of her, at her clear, brown eyes, at her white forehead, from which the shining hair sprang away in such a delicate line, at her immediately with the shining hair sprang are such as the shining hair sprang away in such a delicate line, at her immediately with the shining hair spranger levels.

"Do I, Heiny?" whispered Miss Fink.
"Believe me!" replied Heiny, fervently. "It was just a case of swelled head. Forget it, will you? Say, that gang in these to-night—why, say, that gang—" "I know," interrupted Miss Fink.
"Going home?" asked Helny. "Yes."

"Suppose we have a bite of some-Miss Fink glanced round the great, deserted kitchen. As she gazed a little expression of disgust wrinkled her pretty nose—the nose that perforce had sniffed the scent of so many rare and exquisite dishes.

"Sure," she assented, joyously, "but not here. Let's go around the corner to Joey's. I could get real chummy with a cup of good hot coffee and a ham on rye."

He helped here on with here

He helped her on with her coat, and, if his hands rested a moment on her shoulders, who was there to see it? A few sleepy, wan-eyed waiters, and Tillie, the scrub-woman. Together they started toward the door. Tillie, the scrub-woman, had worked her wet way out of the passage and into the ktohen proper age, and into the kitchen proper. She and her pail blocked their way. Laurier possesses. Three times more did Henri enter an all-encompassing gray scrub-rag. Helpy and Gussie stopped a moment perforce to watch her. It was rather fascinating to see how that artiful scrub are a state of the famous of the famou perforce to waten her.
fascinating to see how that artful scrub-rag craftily closed in upon the soapy pool until it enguifed it. Tillie sat back on her knees to wring out water-soaked rag. There was sight. Tilthe water-soaked rag. There was something pleasing in the sight. Tillie's blue calico was faded white in patches, and at the knees it was dark with soapy water. Her shoes were turned up ludicrously at the toes, Naturally he is a man who is a good "mixer." for he is at home under all conceivable conditions. The he has never played any games himself, he is an enthusiastic "fan" and will give up other engagements to attend a lacrosse match, especially when the New Westminster team is playing. His favorite recreation is fishing and no summer would be complete which did not see him setting out for a couple of weeks' sport at Pitt Lake or some other inland body of water. As it is, the people generally are finding it a matter of difficulty to drop the "Dick" and substitute "Sir Richard."

Sir Richard was born forty-two years ago in New Westminster where his vocation, he was sent right across the continent to Halifax to take his law course. At Dalhousie University, within sight of the Atlantic, this bright young product of the Pacific province took his degree in 1890, thus making it possible to say that the whole breadth of the Dominion formed the oundation on which the education of coming nation-builder was

The year that saw the young lawyer from New Westminster enter the legislature, also witnessed the political debut of two other notabilities, one the Hon. "Joe" Martin, the other the Hon James Dunsmuir. Political conditions at the time were unsatisfactory. To a certain extent Sir Richard has been swept along on this wave of progress, but he has been adept enoug' to make the best use of it all and to entrench his government behind its advantages.

Henri turned. He saw Miss Fink. There's one thing harder than paying a creditor; that's dodging him. Millionaires are the only people who can afford to have debts.

Some are born musicians, some acquire music, and the rest have music thrust upon them.

Did you ever get in as the clock struck one and your wife struck too?

Many a man labors under a misapprehension who never was known to labor under any other significant.

goes slower.

To be on the safe side of matrimony, marry either a bachelor or a widower.

A woman is happy whose children are younger than herself.

Owing to the wonderful popularity of the score of "Madame Sherry," and to the fact that many of its song hits, especially "Ev'ry Little Movement Has A Meaning All Its Own," have been played, hummed and sung every been played, hummed and sung every-where for monvis, the impression is current that the appeal of this sensational success is chiefly musical. sensational success is chiefly musical. But such is not the case, for its mirth qualities are quite as engaging as its musical score. An idea of the comic possibilities of "Madame Sherry" may be gained from a glance at its list of characters, which include a fussy old uncle and his pleasure loving niece, a New York man about town, a Spanish beauty, a temperamental South American, a French janitor and his spouse, a lively dancer and several others.
