4 DEAD, 2 INJURED IN N. B. TRAIN SMASH

FLAT CAR LOADED WITH MEN AND RAILS STRUCK BY ENGINE

Tragedy Occurred Near Edmundston This Morning on Transcontinental Division of Canadian National Railways; Inquiry to be Held

Special to The Times-Star EDMUNDSTON, N. B., Oct. 28.—One of the worst railway accidents in the history of New Brunswick occurred at Belanger, 31 miles west of Edmundston, at 8 o'clock this morning, when four laborers were killed and two badly injured, following a collision between a freight train and a working train. Pending an exact check of the men, it is learned the following were killed: Isadore Ouelette, T. Parent, Philippe Ouelette, all of St. Alexandre, P. Q., and Simon Caron, St. Aubert, P. Q., while Joseph Pelletier and Joseph LeBoeuf, both of Monk, P. Q., lie in the hospital here with broken legs.

CRASH HEAD ON The engine of the freight train, out of this place, crashed head-on into a flat car filled with heavy rails, hurling them off the car, with tragic results for workmen on the car and nearby, according to reports received here. The exact cause of the accident is not known, but an official inquiry by the Canadian National authorities will be undertaken. It is estimated that the work of clearing the track, which is part of the Transcontinental division, will be completed by midnight tonight.

SAYS FERGUSON BROKE PLEDGES

Liberal Leader Opens Campaign With Policy Announcement

Canadian Press TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 28.—Marshaling charges of broken pledges, jerry-mandering in the re-distribution of constituencies, utter contempt for the will of the people and wasteful expending of public money under the heading of mal-administration against the Conservative government of Ontario, W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader of Ontario, opened the Liberal campaign here last night, at which he announced the policy of his party and declared that the Liberals of the province stood for the maintenance and enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act. Mr. Sinclair's speech was an amplification of his campaign slogan that "the Ferguson government cannot be trusted."

ADMITS DIFFERENCES

Hon. A. C. Hardy was the chairman of the evening and in a speech readily admitted that there were differences between the two parties on the temperance question. These differences had found expression in the conferences during the day, Senator Hardy said, but he was glad to say there had not been an unkind word spoken and from one end of the province to the other they had been but one feeling to work for the benefit of the Liberal party. There would be those who would dissent from the attitude to the temperance question as laid down by Mr. Sinclair, he continued, but he appealed to all Liberals to have a kindly feeling toward each other when the time came to work for the principles they represented.

SHIP SUNK IN CRASH

First Mate Adams of the Louisiana suffered a broken leg.

Overseas Premiers At Automobile Exhibit

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Premiers Bruce and Coates are visiting the motor show here today paying special attention to the cars of British manufacturers who are seeking to capture the Australian market with their special type of machine. These manufacturers are demanding that Australian premiers should give them a higher tariff for British cars because they say the thirty-three and a third tariff under the McKenna scheme is insufficient to compete with American cars.

Files Message To War Lord of The Skies

Canadian Press LONDON, Oct. 28.—Due professional gravity was maintained by the officials of the Central Radio office here late last night when Dr. Mansfield Robinson handed in, with business-like seriousness, a message for Mars, some 42,600,000 miles distant and asked the rate. The message was prefaced with three M's, which Dr. Robinson said was the call sign for Mars. It was composed of two words, "Opastipitia Scoomba." The receiving clerk asked what the language was, and Dr. Robinson said, "No known language."

The message was accepted by the clerk for transmission to Great Britain's most powerful radio station, Hilmorton. The sender was charged the "long distance ship rate" equivalent to 36 cents a word. The clerk informed Dr. Robinson that he could not guarantee delivery, but the doctor agreed to take the risk. It is not known whether the message reached its destination, as no reply has been received. Dr. Robinson, who is versed in practical esoteric claims, he has previously had psychical communication with the Martians.

BISHOP OF LONDON ANSWERS QUERIES

English Divine Declares There is no Conflict Between Service and Religion

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 28.—There is no conflict between science and religion, the Right Rev. Arthur R. Wainwright, Bishop of London, told students of the University of Pennsylvania yesterday. He also said he believed there was hope of a re-union of all Christian denominations. "I will answer you students five of the most common questions that have been asked me since I came to America," the Lord Bishop said at the close of his address.

Six Men Held In Chicago Robberies

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Six men, alleged to have stolen jewels valued at upwards of $100,000 in a series of robberies, were reported named in two bills voted by the county grand jury here today. The men had testified before the body. Lawrence Charles Lloyd, and Arthur McClelland alias Roy Horton, recently arrested in Englewood, N. J., were the first named. They were reported named on robbery charges, and charges of receiving stolen property. Also reported named in the true bills were Morris Lewison and Rupert MacDonald, who are sought.

TUG SINKS OFF SABLE

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 28.—The tug Falmouth, owned by H. G. Kennedy of Sheet Harbor, and used there in handling pulp saws, sprang a leak yesterday off Sable Island and sank a few minutes later. Captain R. Dykeman and his crew got off safely in a boat and rowed to Sheet Harbor Passage.

Reporters Covering Imperial Parley Find News Scarce

By Cable from GEORGE HAMBLETON Staff Correspondent of The Canadian Press LONDON, Oct. 28.—An air of extraordinary mystery now surrounds the Imperial conference. All the delegates are warm in their contention that it is a conference, not a cabinet, but no Downing Street cabinet ever guarded its secret more jealously. Twice a day, a dwindling crowd of newspapermen gather in the office of the Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs and solemnly admire a Rubens hanging on the wall. With poised pencil and bated breath they listen while the official spokesman of the conference gives what purports to be a story of the conference doings. But it is not very illuminating.

HUDSON'S BAY RAILWAY WOULD AID MARITIMES

Hon. J. G. Gardiner Says Work Is National in Scope

OTHER SPEAKERS Banquet at Saskatoon Celebrates Resumption of Freight Traffic on the Road

Canadian Press SASKATOON, Sask., Oct. 28.—The Board of Trade last night was host at a banquet celebrating the resumption of freight traffic on the Hudson's Bay Railway from the Pas to Kettle Rapids. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Premier of Saskatchewan; Hon. W. Bracken, Premier of Manitoba; Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, and several members of the Federal Parliament were guests of honor. Premier Gardiner said that Western Canada's problem was chiefly one of transportation; that the Hudson's Bay Railway was not only a project of the west but national in its influence and that to Saskatchewan it meant the opening of a great stretch of productive territory between the Saskatchewan and Churchill Rivers.

WESTERN CANADA WANTS INDUSTRIES

Profers Help in Development From East, Says Winnipeg Mayor TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 28.—"If western Canada does not get the support she is seeking for her industries from the east, then she will appeal to England or the United States for it is a country abundant and rich in natural resources, which have yet to be mined and manufactured," said Lieut. Col. Ralph H. Webb of Winnipeg here today. Mayor Webb stopped in Toronto for a short visit while on his way home from Saint John, N. B., where he attended the meeting of Canadian Boards of Trade. He said that this year's experience had shown the western people how important it was to secure immigrants for the land and industries. Although rains had recently hampered the progress of harvesting the season had been the most of the last 14 years for it had brought before the people the three vital questions of settlement, labor and the marketing of produce.

EMIGRANT RATE IS LIKELY TO REMAIN

New Agreement Reached Regarding Settlers From Great Britain to Canada

LONDON, Oct. 28.—A new agreement continuing the £3 (about $15) fare for British emigrants to Canada is being entered into and it is expected the agreement will be concluded this week. There are three parties to the agreement, the Overseas Settlement branch of the British Government; the Canadian Government and the transportation companies interested in migration. The existing agreement for the £3 rate of passage for migrants to the Dominion expires at the end of this year. The new agreement will modify it in some respects, but its main basis of £3 ocean rate remains.

Financial Interests Intervene In Strike

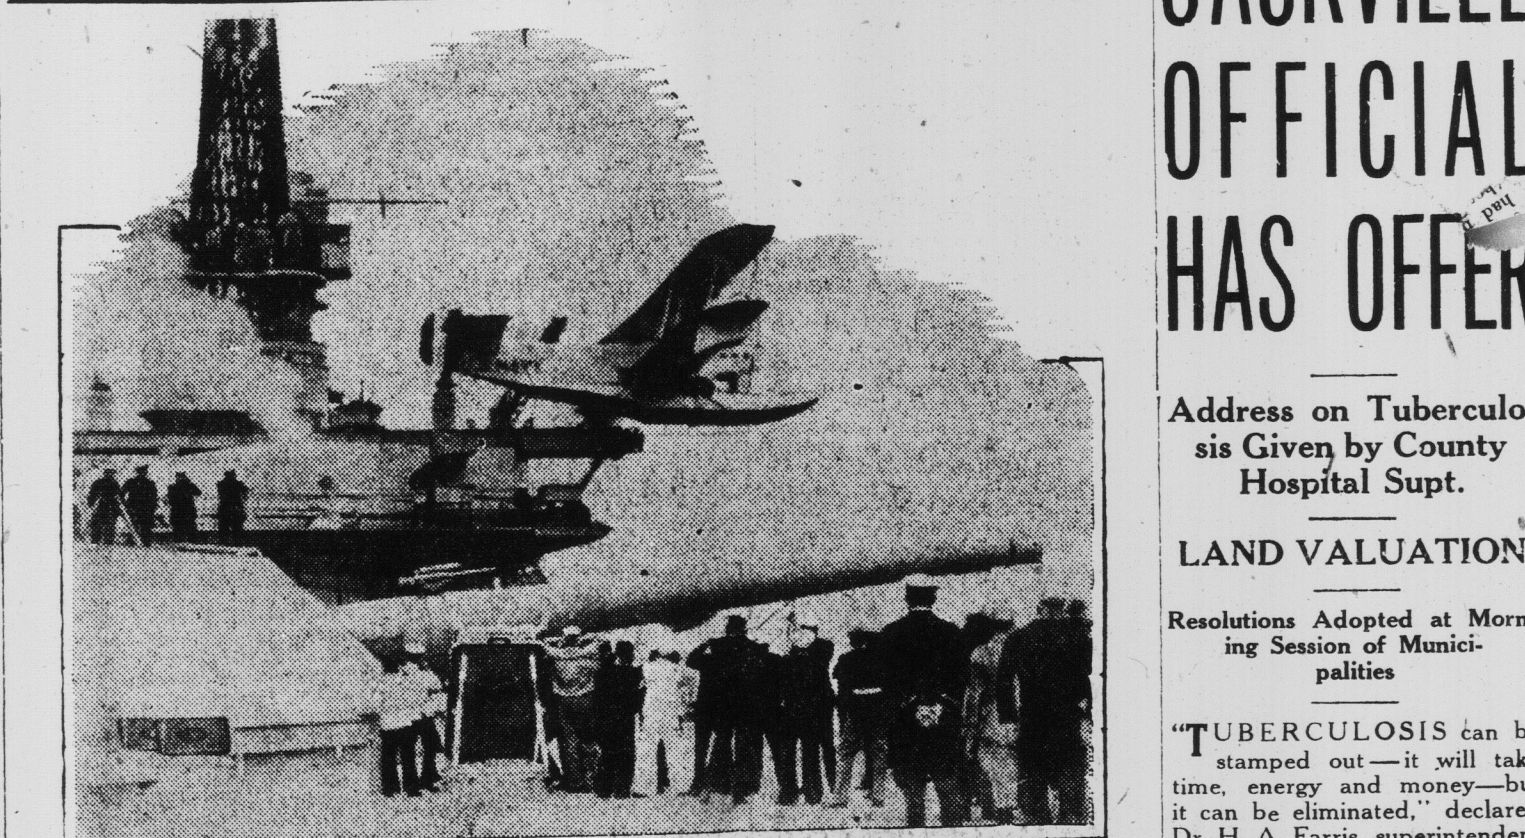

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Labor has finally succeeded in securing at least tentative intervention of the leading business and financial interests of Britain in the coal mining dispute and hopes are naturally reviving that there will be a settlement. Lord Derby, Lord Ashfield, Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England and the Lord Mayor of London have been appointed members of a committee which will investigate the possibilities of preparing some draft scheme that will lay the foundations of a settlement. They have already been in touch with the leaders of labor and are now seeking the opinions of the miners.

ANOTHER VESSEL WRECKED

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Oct. 28.—The schooner Golden Hind, bound to Sydney, N. S., from Belleoram in ballast was blown ashore and wrecked at Bay Lemoine yesterday. The master Captain William Prosper and his crew escaped in a dory and managed to gain safety on Isle Au Mort.

Catapulted From Battleship by Powder

"HISTORY in the making" may be the term applied to the shooting of a 5,100-pound amphibian plane from the top of the turret of the U. S. S. "West Virginia" in Los Angeles harbor. It never had been done before. A charge of powder equivalent to that used in an eight-inch shell was exploded. Lieut. D. S. Fahney piloted the plane in the experimental take-off.

Empire Leaders Discuss Air Defense Question at Today's Session of Imperial Parley

By GEORGE HAMBLETON Staff Correspondent of The Canadian Press LONDON, Oct. 28.—The Imperial Conference had a full dress discussion this morning on Empire Air Defence. Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for Air, opened the discussion. He was followed by Lt.-Col. L. C. Amery, Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs; G. G. Coates of New Zealand. Col. Amery brought up the question of air developments in the Crown Colonies and Protectorates. The conference has entered on the subject of air defence. The strict silence which is drawn over all the conference proceedings is giving rise to all kinds of conjectures. The Daily News today features a story that after Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, made his statement to the conference, all the dominions were in favor of it. STORY DENIED. So far as the News' story professes to reflect the Canadian attitude on the Locarno pact, it is denied in toto. The Canadian delegates to the conference, it is stated, have not signified any opinion. It is added, in fact, that the attitude of the Dominions on the Locarno question has not yet been discussed at all.

BODY IS EXHUMED

Investigation in Hall-Mills Case Takes New Turn NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 28.—Four years ago the body of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills was laid to rest in the cemetery here. Once it was exhumed and an examination was made to disclose that her murderer or murderers cut the throat of the choir singer, almost severing her head. Again last night the grave lay open and the pine box, the outer casing of the coffin was guarded by a policeman. The second exhumation was ordered by Senator Simpson, special investigator of the murder of Mrs. Mills and the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, pastor. He said he received a report from a New Jersey attorney that Mrs. Mills' tongue had been cut out. Mrs. Mills' grave was unmarked save by two glass jars containing faded flowers. James Mills, husband of the murdered woman, told reporters he consented to the re-opening of the grave. He was sure it was the right one because he remembered placing the flowers on it last spring.

GOVT. WANTS TIME

Plan of Bond Exchange For Canadian Northern Held up LONDON, Oct. 28.—A meeting called for November 4 by the builders of Canadian Northern five per cent income bonds to consider their position with regard to the recently reported agreement for an exchange of each Canadian Northern bond maturing in 1930, for a new 40 year 4 1/2 per cent fully guaranteed Canadian National Railway bond, has been postponed. The postponement is due to Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, having notified the Canadian Northern bondholders that the Canadian Government desired to consider the matter in all its aspects before submitting to them the agreement in question was entered into between representatives of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Northern bondholders under a former government at Ottawa and Hon. J. A. Robb, Canadian finance minister, has stated that the Mackenzie King government had not authorized the offer of settlement contained there in.

TOKIO, Oct. 28.—The Japanese navy survey ship Manzur, returned to Yokosuka yesterday after a six months' trip and reported it had discovered the deepest spot in the ocean to be the Izu Peninsula between Izu and Bonin Islands. The depth is 9,433 metres. The deepest spot previously found was off the Kurile Islands, where the depth is 8,500 metres.

Docket Is Heavy For English Divorce Court This Year

British United Press. LONDON, Oct. 28.—More than 1,000 husbands and wives, tired of marital discord, are digging away the coverings of family scandals in preparation for England's autumn divorce court season. The docket of the Earl of Cowley's suit for divorce from his wife, the former Mrs. Pickard, a New York chorus girl, on Tuesday, brought to the attention of society the fact that there were at present 876 petitioners for absolute divorce. The pittance, the stage and high society generally, both British and American, are represented in these pleas. The High Court judges already have started the task of deciding whether or not the irksome shackles of matrimony shall be moved. Of the petitioners, 620 are undefended and unless the King's proctor, a sort of official snapper whose job it is to keep divorce petitioners honest, finds reason to oppose these suits, the divorces will be granted automatically.

"Movieized" Lectures Now Considered

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Professors may soon be able to lecture once and then on a continuous holiday, the New York Electrical Society learned yesterday. The happy professors would be "movieized" by means of the machine which synchronizes a picture of the figure and the reproduction of the voice. It was pointed out that these professors would be "immortal," since after their death their lectures would continue indefinitely and generations upon generations of freshmen would be able to hear the same master's voice.

He declared, showed the swing of the pendulum back to centralization. He stated that he had on the authority of a member of Parliament that New Brunswick was the poorest in per capita material wealth than any province in Canada.

REMEDY SUGGESTED

The remedies suggested included the establishment by the legislature of a board of provincial valuers to have supervision over all the local assessors similar to the method used in the State of Maine, co-ordinating the some 150 boards of assessors now operating in the province and all under a different system.

PREMIER SPEAKS

Premier Baxter, who was present, was asked to speak on the matter. He said that the whole of the province was being done as rapidly as possible and any requests for alterations would have to be made now.

OLD TIME MOVIES GET A BIG LAUGH

The Imperial caused a hearty laugh with its old-time Biograph picture, "Shadows of Doubt," last night, a picture with Mary Pickford, Owen Moore, James Kirkwood, Florence Lawrence and others in the cast. The funny old costumes, stilted acting, old-fashioned furnishings and then, again, the typical piano-and-drum music, made a big hit. The slides were side-splitting. Then the regular up-to-the-minute feature, "The Waning Sea," with Conrad Nagel and Norma Shearer, was splendid entertainment. Last time for this show is tonight. Tomorrow and Saturday, Richard Dix in the liveliest sporting picture of the hour, "The Quarterback," will be the attraction. Saturday night (Halloween) the kiddies have their usual gambol across the Imperial stage for cash prizes.

Justice Carroll Says Injunction Outstanding Will Be Dissolved; Refers to Concern as Going One and Live Corporation With No Peril to Property

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 27.—There will be no receiver appointed for the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, one of the component parts of the British Empire Steel Corporation, according to the decision handed down in the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia by Mr. Justice Carroll today. COMMITTEE REPORT

The resolutions committee also submitted a report in reference to the president's address and the many things of vital importance which it contained. It was recommended that the address be considered carefully by all who had the interests of the province at heart.

A financial statement was presented to the secretary, showing a balance of $118,688 due him. Hon. Lewis Smith addressed the meeting on the matter of improvement in the breed of cattle in the province, during which he said that he intended to ask for more money next year for the administration of the Department of Agriculture. Secretary J. S. Scott, York, and J. K. Kelly also spoke on the matter, after which the following resolution was passed:

"That scrub cattle of all kinds are a liability and should be replaced by good breed and to that end, the Province of New Brunswick should in conjunction with the municipalities render necessary financial assistance in re-stocking the province in all localities found necessary."

Little Miss Patricia Morrison, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room of the home in the presence of the bride and groom, relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. E. I. Morrison, who wore a white suit embroidered with pearls and a bridal veil and carried a bridal bouquet.

Bride and groom left by C. P. R. to Quebec, Montreal and other cities. After the honeymoon they will take up their residence at 36 Queen square, Saint John.

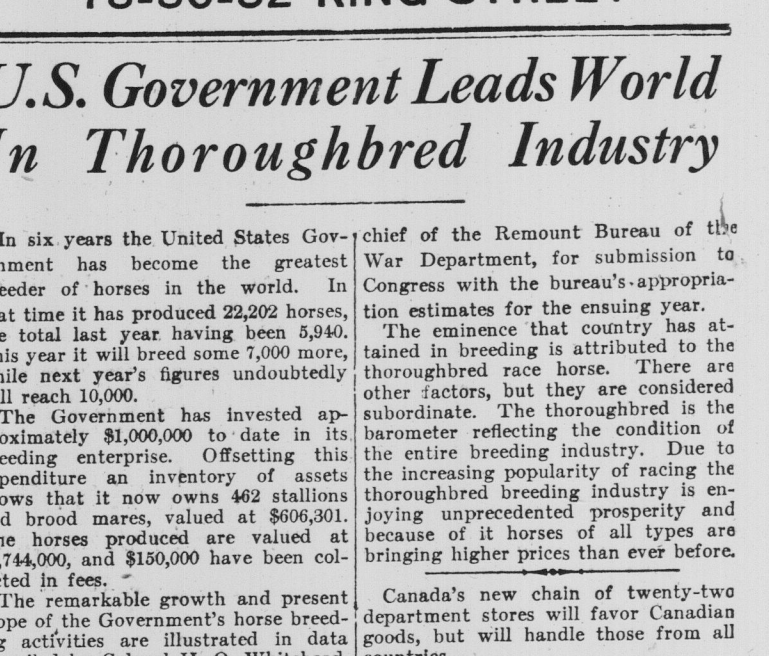

The bride has a wide circle of friends in this city and has been a prominent member of Annapolis Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. She received a large number of beautiful and valuable wedding gifts, a number of which were given by the bridegroom. The groom is in business in Saint John, being office manager for the Imperial Tobacco Company in that city.

SMOKE TROUBLE IS DEALT WITH BY LECTURER

K. L. Dawson, A. M. E. I., of Halifax, Addresses Engineers Here

"Coal and Other Fuels Derived From It" was the topic of an address given last night by K. L. Dawson, A. M. E. I., of the Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company, Halifax, before members of the Saint John Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, in the New Brunswick Telephone Company's building.

The speaker declared that most of the stoves and furnaces waste 60 to 70 per cent. of the energy it contains. The average steam plant wastes from 85 to 45 per cent. and the best steam plants waste about 20 per cent.

By means of an apparatus provided for the occasion, Mr. Dawson showed that the use of raw soft coal for domestic purposes and in inefficient steam plants, gives rise to the public nuisance known as smoke, which has grown in some places to such an extent that municipal and federal committees have been appointed to investigate it and legislation, in some instances, has been passed which tends to its abatement.

QUOTES INVESTIGATIONS.
He quoted British investigations in Glasgow and London to prove that the deposits of carbonaceous materials from smoke were heaviest in the residential and office-building sections of the cities and that smoke from this source is particularly harmful to health, because its constituents include

Bud Fisher Loses Alimony Fight

The appellate division of the New York Supreme Court has affirmed the alimony award granted Mrs. Aedith Fisher, wife of "Bud" Fisher, famous cartoonist and race horse owner, pending hearing of her action for separation. She had been awarded $250 a week temporarily by Justice Ford, along with $10,000 counsel fees. The higher court cut this latter award in half. Fisher will also have to pay his wife $1,000 to cover living expenses from May 15 to July 7. Photo is of "Bud" and his wife.

RETURNING TO U. S.

Henri Berenger's Term to be Extended For Six Months

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Ambassador Henri Berenger's mission as ambassador to the United States will be renewed for a period of six months when the present term expires in November, the United States learns.
No official decision has been made on the subject yet, but Foreign Minister Briand has conferred with Berenger at length and the ambassador is believed to have said that he is at the disposal of the Government in view of the fact that the cabinet in Parliament has ratified the American debt agreement, even though this is with some reservation.

The Government, in seeking to return Berenger to Washington, is said to be desirous of showing that it still approves the principle of the Washington agreement, although it can hardly be discussed in Parliament before February. It is understood that if Berenger does return he will be entrusted with the work of explaining the proposed reservations to the United States.
Reception Protested By the Ukrainians
WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 28.—Protest against the government of Manitoba being party to a public reception to Queen Marie of Rumania, upon her arrival here on Saturday, was lodged today with Hon. R. W. Craig, K. C., Attorney-General, by a delegation representative of the Ukrainian population of Manitoba. The delegation claims Rumania had violated the Treaty of Versailles, and had mistreated Ukrainians, who by the peace treaty had been promised full civil and religious rights under Rumanian rule.

MOVIE OF YEARS AGO FUNNY TO PATRONS TODAY

Old Film of Mary Pickford, Florence Lawrence and Others Showing

Fifteen years! What a small span in a lifetime, and yet, when considered from the standpoint of the development of the motion picture industry, it appears to be more than a lifetime itself. Yesterday many people, who visited the Imperial Theatre, saw a reprint of an old-time film which was almost a classic a decade and a half ago, and preceding it, one of the ultra-modern features.

The aged film, designed as a drama, in its present day showing develops many of the characteristics of a satirical comedy. The costumes of the players themselves furnish a series of laughs, and the almost crude handling of the theme, even in the hands of such modern celebrities as Mary Pickford, Owen Moore, Florence Lawrence and James Kirkwood, etc., and under the direction of the great David Wark Griffith, approaches the ludicrous.

P-haps one of the revelations is the scarcity of sub-titles, particularly those recording the conversation of the players, on which a great deal of the comedy and pathos of the present day pictures depend; the actors being forced to convey the substance of their

SAINT JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 28, 1926.

HELPING OURSELVES

MUCH attention is now directed toward means which the Maritime Provinces may adopt to advance their prosperity. As was pointed out by Mr. J. D. McKenna in his address before the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities yesterday, agriculture is still our great basic industry.

An interesting experiment has been made this year at Goldbrook in the canning of fruits and vegetables. The number of persons employed ranged from seventy to two hundred and fifty, and we are told that practically the whole output of the factory has already been sold.

The gentlemen who prefer blondes have evidently a sound appreciation of values. A New York beauty specialist told the Barbers' Supply Convention that blondes have 150,000 hairs on their fair heads and brunettes only 100,000.

MILL STREET

NEVER will The Times-Star advocate procrastination. Nonetheless the note of caution discernible in the Common Council's deliberations on the Mill Street crossing is highly welcome.

The Mill Street crossing is matter for immediate consideration. The spot is highly inconvenient from a traffic standpoint, and has many elements of danger. The level crossing must go and an overhead crossing is talk of a momentary digression may be justified to remind the reader that a high level viaduct—or perhaps a suspension bridge to limit the excavation for foundations—linking Hazen Avenue and Rockland Road has been proposed.

Then there is the Navy Island Bridge project with the cheap price that it might be found possible for the C. N. R. to move their freight sheds from the east to the west of the depot. If that could be done, only passenger trains and those freight trains going through to the main C. N. R. yards and eastward would cross Mill Street.

This, of course, brings both the railways and the Minister of Public Works—assuming a nationalized port—into the discussion. Saint John would presumably receive for her harbor and works enough, not only to make the high-level viaduct financially practicable, but to enable the city to bear its share of other aerial traffic improvements such as Mill Street. Let us make haste, but slowly, and let us call all interested parties into consultation, including the new train shed—be it through, so that what is done now will be part and parcel of a comprehensive and progressive program. Caution without delay is the watchword.

INDIAN AFFAIRS

THE Indian representative attending the Imperial Conference has thus far made no striking contribution to the councils of that body, and it may be that the Indian Empire has no pressing question to urge which would rightly come within the purview of an Imperial conference. India is on a footing entirely different from that of the Dominions, and India's status being so little understood, it may be permissible to examine just how that empire within the Empire is situated.

India is ruled by His Majesty King George in his capacity of Emperor of India. His minister in England, who is responsible to the British Parliament, is the Secretary of State for India. That minister has a Council, but can, in matters requiring secrecy, act on his own authority, and may in most other matters overrule his Council. The India Office has power to impose its orders on the Government of India. The executive head of the Government of India is the Viceroy, appointed by the King-Emperor, and the Viceroy has an Executive Council of seven members, including the Commander-in-Chief. Ordinarily the voice of the majority prevails, but the Viceroy again may overrule his Council.

The population of the Philippine Islands on July 1, 1926, was 11,968,491, an increase of 1,217,854 since 1918. Manila had a population of 316,266.

FRANCE NEEDS OUR WHEAT.

France will have to import about 70,000,000 bushels of wheat or substitutes to meet domestic needs this year, the Department of Agriculture estimates on the basis of a French forecast of a 248,605,000 bushel crop. Last year's crop totaled 530,842,000 bushels, leaving a negligible carry-over.

BEST SINCE 1912

The change that has been recently wrought in the financial position of the C. P. R. is not as marked as that of the C. N. R., for the reason that as large an improvement was not open to it as to the Government owned railway.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

Pioneering is not the rough job it was once. The trees are cut down, the land is cleared, and we are thinking of new plantations. Nature has been tamed and ridden to a great extent. The natural cherture is styled auburn or carrots according to circumstances, can claim only 30,000.

The Bishop of London has said no more than the exact truth when he declared: "I have never known the gentleman class of England to be so utterly poor in my life. That is why I have consecrated only two new churches since the war."

THE INCOME TAX

At the Canadian Board of Trade Convention in Saint John one of the speakers advocated a Dominion-wide campaign for the abolition of the income tax. It was an extreme view. Because, while the present Canadian income tax may be too high, and while that feature of it which taxes dividends may react harmfully upon Canadian enterprise, abolition of the tax altogether is impossible.

Trappers in Automobiles

The Indian trappers of the Bulkley Valley have abandoned the moose and canoe in favor of the automobile. The Uchena Valley was treated to a strange spectacle recently when a caravan of automobiles loaded with pelts came through the forest. Poems I Love

"The House by the Side of the Road"

By S. W. Foss.

Several readers of these little articles have written asking me if I would not include these lines in the series. I am happy to say that I can, with a good conscience. They are not poetry, perhaps, but they have that warm human appeal which gets hold of one. They belong to the honest verse of our time, and I venture to say there are thousands of scrap-books which contain them, as one might put away a rose-leaf in memory of a certain golden day.

There are heroic souls that live with-in the dream of their self-content. There are souls, like stars, that dwell apart.

There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths Where the highways never ran— But let me live by the side of the road And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road, Where the race of men go by— The men who are good and the men who are bad, As good and as bad as I. I would not sit in the scorners' seat, Or hurl the cynic's ban— Like a man who dwells alone, In the house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road, The men who press with the ardor of hope, The men who faint with strife; But I turn not away from their smiles, nor their tears— Let both parts of an infinite plan— Let me live in a house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man.

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead, And mountains of wondrous height, And the road passes on through the long afternoon, And stretches away to the night, But still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice, And weep with the strangers that live in the house by the side of the road, Where the race of men go by— They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong, Wise, foolish, so am I, Then why should I sit in the scorners' seat? Or hurl the cynic's ban? Let me live in my house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man.

Manchester Shipper Sinks Danish Boat in Delaware River

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 27—The Danish Steamship Fredensbro, laden with coal, was sunk in the Delaware River today after colliding with British steamer Manchester Shipper, bound for this port from Baltimore.

The Danish ship sank in a few minutes and it was only through the quick work of three tugs that its crew of 35 was rescued. All were taken off without mishap. The Manchester Shipper was not badly damaged.

No one appeared able to explain the cause of the accident. There was no fog. The two ships met about 200 feet off shore, the Fredensbro having just warped out of its slip to sail for Belfast. Struck amidships the Danish vessel with a big hole in her prow at the water line, settled to the bottom of the river, only the funnel and part of the super-structure projecting.

SHIPPER LARGER CRAFT. The Manchester Shipper is a slightly larger craft than the Fredensbro, being 370 feet long, 48 feet beam and 2,542 net tons. The Fredensbro measured 300 feet and had a net tonnage of 2,133.

Describing the accident as he saw it from shore, Joseph Poole, a shipper at the Camden Wharf of the Reading Railroad, said the Fredensbro had just reached the channel when the Manchester Shipper loomed up.

"There was a crash that made everything on the wharf startle," said Poole, "and I saw the Fredensbro back up like one who has just taken a stiff punch on the jaw. The Manchester Shipper shook all over and then backed away. The Danish ship sort of slid onto one side in a few feet and so, and then began to go down fast. I could see the crew running around on the deck."

Confidential Communications Between Two Charming Girl Friends—One Married

DEAR KATY: Jack did not return today as he had said he would and I cannot help worrying for fear something has happened to him. Perhaps I should not be so uneasy if he is still interested in a girl in Fredericton. Of course I have the fullest confidence in Jack and everything, but somehow I can't sleep when I know he is out town. Just think, he may have been run over or something I might not know about. If he had only telegraphed, everything would have been all right.

Blackheads Go Quick

By This Simple Method. Blackheads—big ones or little ones—come out quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxide powder from your drugist—sprinkle a little in a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Finishing and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxide powder and the wash dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

Solving the Problem of the Fault-Finding Mother—Advice to the Perplexed Parent of a Stage-Struck Girl—Why a Henpecked Husband Deserves Little Sympathy

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—What can one do with a mother who is a chronic fault-finder? There are four of us children, all grown and married and with families. After our father's death some ten years ago, it was up to us to make a home for our mother, which we were all more than glad to do. But the time has come when we each dread our turn to have her with us, not for lack of love of her, but because she makes herself so disagreeable by her continual fault-finding that she makes our homes places of torment while she is in them.

She finds fault with our husbands and wives; she finds fault with our children, and the things any longer, of having their opinions set aside and overruled. Everything modern is wrong because it is not what they did, or thought, or said when they were young. Nobody listens to what they say, and they revenge themselves by querulous complaints.

Fault-finding becomes a habit very difficult to break, and I doubt if any old man or old woman is capable of exercising enough self-control or has consideration enough for other people's feelings to deny himself or herself the pleasure of indulging in it.

Old people are continually complaining that nobody wants them; that they are unwelcome guests in their children's houses, that they are not loved and cherished as they should be. Yet they cannot be made to see that it is not their own fault, but the reason they make themselves so disagreeable by their perpetual fault-finding and giving of unsolicited advice that they are a torment to all about them.

They cannot realize that their children have a right to run their homes in their own way, and that time has brought about changes in the mores of living, in points of view, that there are different customs and manners and morals from those that prevailed in their own youth. So they find fault, and nag and criticize until they ruin their families, distracted.

It is such a pity, for not only their children but their in-laws and their grandchildren would so love to honor them if the old folks would only let them.

ANSWER:
I certainly do. And make it snappy. And if your mother refuses to mend her ways, the proper thing for you children to do is to pool together enough money to pay her board in some comfortable place. It is not your duty to keep her in your homes when she is a continual source of discord. Your first obligation is to your husband and children.

It may seem hard to your mother to have to go and live among strangers, but that is the price she must pay for indulging her temper and her tongue.

Fault-finding is the pet vice of the old. Nearly all of them indulge in it. It is the protest that their vanity offers against not being at the head of things any longer, of having their opinions set aside and overruled. Everything modern is wrong because it is not what they did, or thought, or said when they were young. Nobody listens to what they say, and they revenge themselves by querulous complaints.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a beautiful motherless daughter, who has a chum almost her age. Two years ago I sent them to school in Boston, but they never entered the school. Instead they joined a musical show in which they played two weeks, then returned home at my command.

That was the beginning of the change in them. Before that I was my daughter's pal and confidante. Now she will tell me nothing. She has become an enigma she is always on her guard. Answers the few questions I ask her with well-thought-out evasions.

A few days ago a tiny ribbon broke and fell from about her throat. On it were two slender platinum bands, wedding rings, but she gave no word of explanation. Recently the two girls have been offered—I suspect they sought and found—positions in a good stock company. They have left with me to see whether or not to accept. Shall I let these two lovely young things live their own lives in the theatre? Will my daughter be drifting further away from me, or shall I keep them at home and go on in my helpless man fashion trying to solve the mystery that has somehow changed my daughter from a girl to a woman and driven her from me?

ANSWER:
From your story, it seems quite certain that your daughter and her friend, like so many other young girls, are stage-struck, and I suspect that during the two weeks the girls played in Boston they made secret and inadvised marriages that they regret.

Inasmuch as your daughter and you have been on such confidential terms, she is suffering cruelly in keeping from you something that she wishes to tell you, but has not the courage to do, so my advice to you is to tell her that you know she is married, that you understand how she did it in a moment of romantic folly, and that you have no censure for her, only sympathy and love, and a great desire to help her solve the problem that is troubling her.

You are older, wiser, stronger than she. You are the one to whom she has looked up, so it is for you to break down the barrier between you. Don't let it stand another day.

It seems to me that the best thing that you can do is to let the girls join the stock company. They need a vital interest and hard work to take their minds off their troubles, and they will certainly get this in a stock company, which is the greatest grad on earth.

Don't believe all the old bogie stories about the temptations of the stage. There are no more there than anywhere else. Life everywhere is full of them for the weak, and they exist nowhere for the strong. You could not protect your daughter at home, but after the lesson she has had, she will be able to look out for herself anywhere.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—What do you think of a woman whose husband is so henpecked that she saves her ironing for him to do on Sundays when he is off from work? She even saves the breakfast dishes for him to wash at night.

This woman is in the best of health and capable of doing her household work and more, too.

ANSWER:
Why, I think a woman who is that sort of a female Simon Legree is wasting her talents on henpecking one poor little cowed husband. She needs a wider field, and should be a mine boss or the commander-in-chief of the army, or something like that.

But I have no tears to shed over any man who lets his wife make a domestic slave of him, after he has done his part by earning the living for the family. If a woman is sick, and not able to do the cooking and cleaning and washing for her family and her husband cannot afford a servant, it is dear and sweet of him to help her. But any husband with an able-bodied wife who makes him get up and get his own breakfast, or wash the dishes, or walk the baby with the colic, deserves just exactly what he gets.

FOR Stomach Acid PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

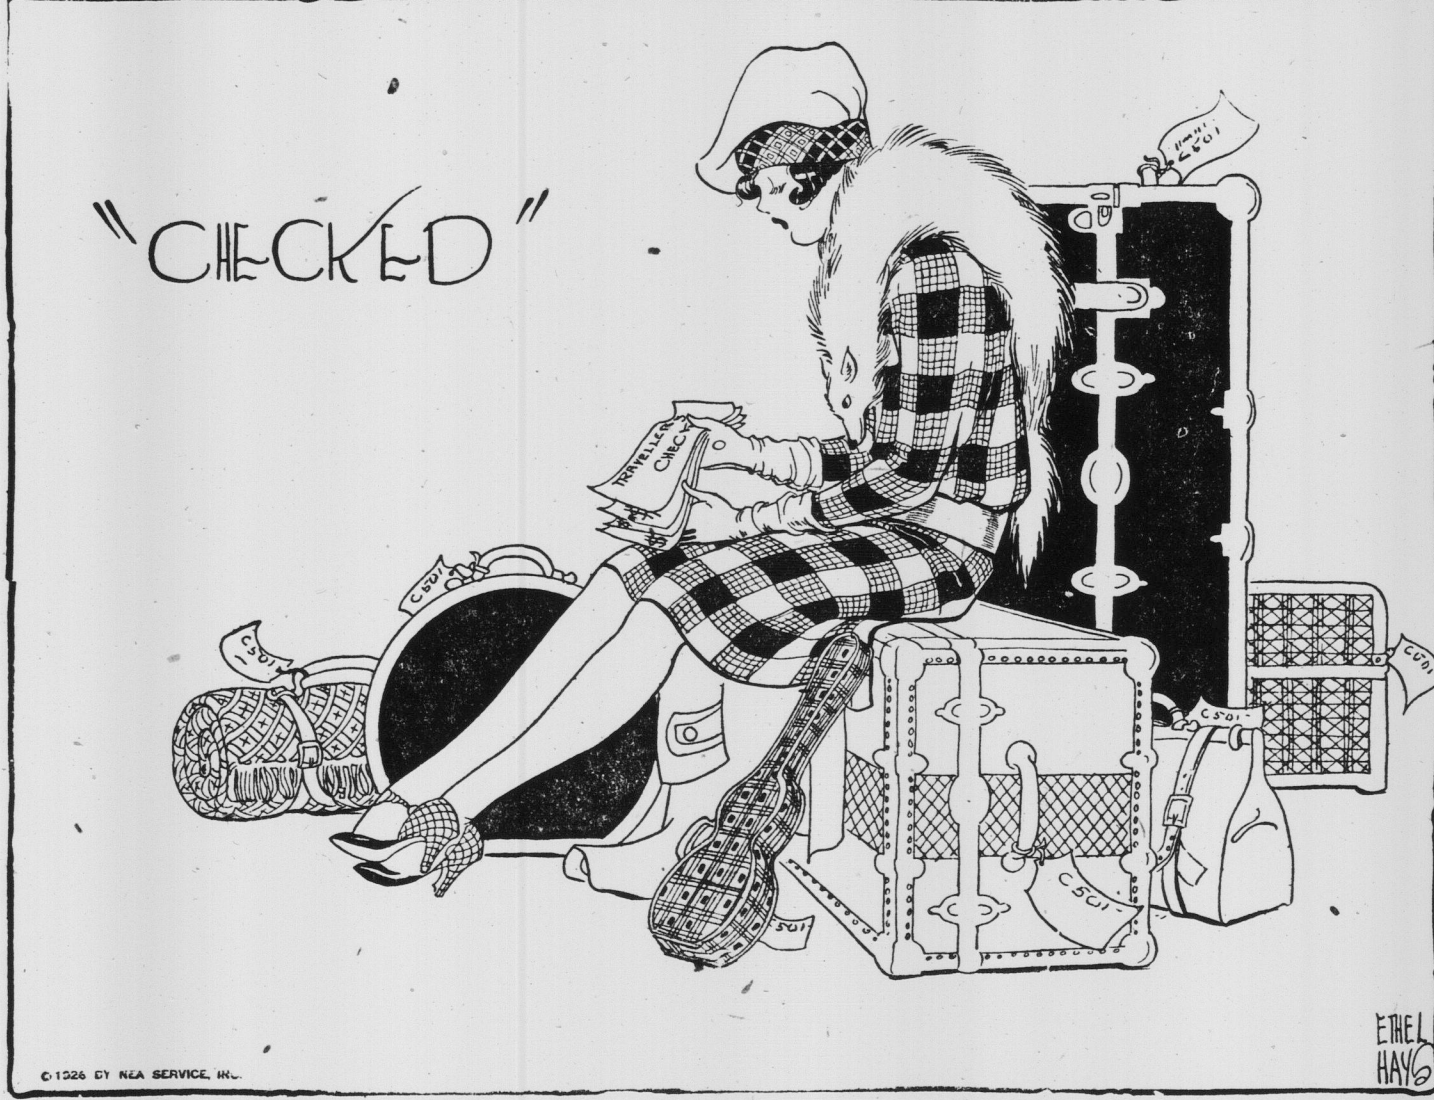

BETTER THAN SODA
For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

INSIST UPON "PHILLIPS"
Each bottle contains full directions and an druggist.

While the two-piece frock retains all its popularity of last season, it shows distinctive new touches that mark it as essentially up to the moment.

The dream of electrification of the Central of Brazil Railway recently faded away when it was found that the country had no funds for the purpose.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

"The King of Kings"
Jacquelin Logan as Magdalene and Joseph Schildkraut as Judas in "The King of Kings" by DAN THOMAS

THE greatest love story ever put on the silver screen. Such will be seen in "The King of Kings"—life story of Christ.

Perhaps this will be a strange aspect to put on a religious picture, but it's true nevertheless. In this film Cecil B. DeMille, producer and director, is showing in pictures what many have read in the Bible but never witnessed—Christ's love for the whole world.

Hear what DeMille has to say about it: "I have wanted to film the story of Christ's life for 10 years. But I could not do so until after I made 'The Ten Commandments.' My reason is very simple. No one thought a religious story could be made into an interesting motion picture. 'The Ten Commandments' proved what could be done in filming 'The King of Kings' we have the best story ever written. What every exterior is being shot with a technical camera as well as with the usual black and white film. When the picture reaches the cutting room DeMille will have color film to inject wherever it will bring out the best results. Present plans set the release for about next Easter."

See-Sawing Along Broadway

FALL more news issues from New York concerning those who reach the top of the ladder than those who slide to the bottom.

The home towners eagerly devour every detail of the success story of the lad or lass who started out to conquer the great city. How proudly, too, do the achievers write home from Manhattan when they have done something that sounds, at least to them, important!

But what of the tens of thousands who just go away and drop out of sight? Most of them continue in respectable mediocrity. They rise to salaries of a hundred or so a week and that's that.

A Thought

REPROOF is a medicine like mercury or opium: if it be improperly administered it will do harm instead of good.—Horace Mann.

MAN has long been interested in experimental research. He is much more successful in the laboratory than he is on the links, but it is said by his associates that he negotiates most of the courses well under 100.

PERHAPS you think me sentimental. Very well! About two weeks ago a girl crashed to the street from the window of an apartment. She was picked up, crushed and dying, a crucifix clasped in her hand.

She was unable to speak, but wrote:

MAX MASON
President Max Mason of the University of Chicago, known in England during the world war as "the crazy Yankee who invents submarine detectors between golf matches," likes to play golf almost as well as to perform experiments in the physical laboratory.

The inventor, according to the U. S. War Department, of the "most practical submarine detector" President Mason can do with it depends entirely upon our own brains.

H. B. Warner, of high rank among actors of stage and screen, portrays Christ. Mary Magdalene is played by Jacquelin Logan, Ernest Torrence, Theodore Kosloff, Victor Varconi, Rudolph Schildkraut, Joseph Schildkraut, Robert Edison, Mabel Coleman, Josephine Norman and many others are seen in garbs of 2000 years ago.

Apricot in Orange Jelly—Soak two tablespoons granulated gelatin in one-half cup cold water twenty minutes, dissolve in one and one-half cups boiling water, strain, add one cup sugar, one and one-half cups orange juice and three tablespoons lemon juice. Drain peeled canned apricots from the syrup in the can, pour orange mixture into individual molds (first wetting the inside of the mold with cold water) to the depth of one-half inch. Place a blanched almond in the pit cavity of each apricot, and when jelly is set arrange prepared apricots over gelatin, cut side down. Fishbein Scores Healing Fads and Superstitions

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
IN the earliest of man's history, he believed disease was caused by demons entering the body, and that it could be cured by conjuring forth these demons through some magic or supernatural influence.

With doctors, voodoo doctors and savage medicine men sometimes seemed to achieve remarkable cures. As medicine progressed and man began to learn more about the working of his body, he began to use methods based on the actual causes of disease, but still continued his efforts to placate or mollify the spirits.

QUACKS AND THEIR CHARMS
The middle ages gave rise to Mesmer and mesmerism, and to all sorts of traveling quacks who healed largely by charms and incantations.

In more modern times there still is a considerable number of people likely to trust to faith-healing methods when first confronted with the possibilities of illness, and to continue such methods until pain and weakness become so prominent that the patient no longer is able to carry his burden of illness. To this class are addressed the advertisements of some of the latest faith-healing cures, of peculiar patented dumbbells and exercisers, of extraordinary systems of diet and starvation and even of combined religious and healing institutions.

NEW PROMISED LANDS
As Dr. Samuel P. Gorly has said: "Many otherwise fairly intelligent people go in for mental telepathy, numerology and a variety of mystic conglomerates of metaphysics, religion, ethics and medicine. The soulia religion had a brief period of popularity. "Every now and then a new Moses arises to lead the tabernacles to the promised land. It may be a Cote or a tall, thin, long-haired, dark-skinned, dreamy-eyed Swami who recruits his apostles to a new faith from the afternoon tea clubs, becomes fashionable and lectures to select audiences from the social registry. "As long as we have the tender-minded tallapping will experience periodic rebirth."

Napkin, Made From Dining Cloth of Victoria, Comes Here

A napkin made from beautiful fine linen used on the dining table of Queen Victoria at Buckingham Palace has been presented to the Natural History Society as the gift of Miss A. L. Hunt, of Hampton, who received the handsome piece of damask as a gift from Miss Henrietta Martley, a cousin of the Duke of Wellington.

SHOWS AGE

The napkin shows its age in some discolorment and in some darned spots, but it is in remarkably good condition and while it is only a small portion of a large tablecloth and does not contain a complete pattern, it gives a very good idea of what the tablecloth was like.

NEAT LETTERING

In neat lettering the words "Buckingham Palace" are printed on one corner of the napkin. It is more than probable that no more beautiful and perfectly made piece of damask has ever been seen in Saint John.

SEARCH FOR HAT REVEALS DIAMONDS

Stones Valued at $2,200 Found in Disused Garret or Old Home

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28—A search for an antique silk hat, to be used in costuming an orchestra, led Paul Schubert, of 75 Avon Place, to a little ginger box bearing a label dated 1870 and containing eight unset diamonds, valued at $2,200, in the garret of his abandoned ancestral home near Middlebury, Vt.

EXTENSION PLANS He said that should the company decide upon the plan of extensive alterations of the plant work would probably be commenced quite early next season.

Inside the tin box he found some old-fashioned jewelry and a little paper-wrapped bundle, in which lay the eight diamonds. Cleans faster and deeper and better "POSITIVE AGITATION"

HAD ordinary methods of cleaning rugs and carpets been generally satisfactory, there would have been no need for the new and greater Hoover.

But because they were not satisfactory—because good housekeepers sincerely sought deeper, better cleaning—the new Hoover has taken household Canada by storm.

"Positive Agitation," a few months ago only an unfamiliar phrase, today is a nationally known and accepted standard for electric cleaning efficiency.

The new Hoover embodying this revolutionary principle does its work with such undreamed-of thoroughness and ease, it surpasses even the famous standard-design Hoover in these important particulars:

- 1 For the first time, it makes possible "Positive Agitation" of floor coverings. 2 By actual test, in the ordinary cleaning time, it beats out and sweeps up from carpets an average of 131% more dirt. 3 It is an even greater rug-saver—the oftener a carpet is cleaned with a Hoover the longer that carpet will wear.

4 It is virtually service-proof; every part, including the new motor, requiring no oiling. 5 It increases the efficiency of its remarkable dusting tools because of its 50% stronger suction. 6 Its exclusive dust and germ-proof bag is now washable. 7 Its form and finish are of startling beauty; and every new feature insures greater operating ease.

If you want faster, deeper, better cleaning on your rugs and carpets, assuredly you want the new Hoover and "Positive Agitation." Your Authorized Hoover Dealer will put this greater Hoover, complete with dusting tools, in your home today, for only $6.15 down, and the balance in easy monthly payments.

MRS. LONGLEY IS AGAIN HEAD OF RED CROSS HERE

Unanimously Re-elected at Annual Meeting of Organization OPEN NEW QUARTERS FIRST OF NOVEMBER Will be in Sears Building, King Street—Work Is Reviewed

Mrs. I. F. Longley was unanimously re-elected president of the Saint John branch of the Red Cross Society at the annual meeting held last night in the Church of England Institute. Reports showed that the year just closed had been one of great achievement in many avenues of endeavor.

Mrs. Walter Hall as secretary reported gratefully donations from Royal Standard, DeMolles, Brunswick and Seven Seas I. O. D. E. chapters and the Junior Red Cross, expressed gratitude to Trinity church for a work room and to the Church of England Institute for the use of a room.

Mrs. Hall reported on the successful conducting of the nursery at the Saint John exhibition, the carrying forward of two drives for funds and members, one in 1925 and one in 1926. She thanked all who assisted. She gave a statement of special donations at the Provincial Red Cross for assistance with relief work in the summer, towards the Lady Byng camp and workers supplied for Health Centre tag day and the G. W. V. A. Poppy Day.

Mrs. Hall reported on the home nursing classes for soldiers' wives which had been organized by Miss R. A. Barrington in Saint John, for which Mrs. Margaret Lawrence had given a special address and Miss Burns had convened a committee on refreshments. She paid a warm tribute to Miss Barrington's work in organizing these classes.

Mrs. Hall also told of the appointment of nourishment committees which co-operated with the V. O. N. in supplying nourishment homes where the mother was ill. A Junior Red Cross committee had also been appointed and had visited Junior patients in hospital. Dr. J. L. Biggar, chief commissioner; Miss Jeanne Brown, director of Junior Red Cross for Canada, and Dr. J. L. Robertson had each been entertained during the year and a program of addresses by Miss Helen G. Campbell, of the Federal Department of Agriculture, had been arranged.

The report also told of the decision of the society to discontinue the giving of relief and the statement by the Associated Charities that that body would carry on this work. It was announced also that the society had secured a new place of meeting in the Sears building, King street, and would occupy it on Nov. 1. The report closed with an expression of regret in the death of Mrs. John McAvity, a wartime president, and a hope that the coming year was to be a banner one for the society.

Mrs. W. H. Downie reported Canadian mothers' books had been sent and cards of congratulations forwarded to 1,200 city homes where there were new babies.

Mrs. Bert Gordon, relief worker, reported 928 applications some representing from two to 12 people. Relief given was as follows: Grocery orders, 184; fuel orders, 87; milk, 109; layettes, 111; clothing, 423; milk, 9; transportation furnished, 10; doctors for maternity cases, 29; doctors for other cases, 7; and medicine supplied, 10.

Miss S. A. Barrington, organizer of home nursing classes, wrote to thank the branch for co-operation. Miss Jessie E. Lawson, Junior Red Cross supervisor, wrote to thank the branch for assistance in visiting Junior patients. She hoped the Junior Red Cross committee would be formed.

Mrs. W. R. Penick, convener for buying reported material purchased for making into garments had cost $506.37.

Miss H. B. MacKay, superintendent of the V. O. N., spoke of the co-operation of the Red Cross in a health program. The home nursing classes gave the secret of self-help, and providing of nourishment in homes of sickness was a great benefit. The work of the society for mothers and children in the families of ex-service men was where it came in closest touch with the V. O. N. She spoke of the great need of a home worker which it was proposed the society should maintain to assist in household management in homes where there is need or sickness.

She said the V. O. N. had tried to find a substitute through appealing to neighbors, or church visitors or paying some one to come in for a day or two. This last service had been obtained through the Red Cross.

Mrs. Longley said that it was hoped to have the society support a home worker but funds to date did not permit the undertaking of this service. GIVES RELIEF. She believed, however, that the public desired this service and that it would be possible to have it established at a later date. Miss Burns reported on visiting 46 homes in which there was great need. She declared conditions were appalling and she did not know what would have happened in these homes if the society had not helped. Rev. J. V. Young spoke of the society as a selfless organization helping others. He paid a tribute to its work in war-time and to its peace-time policy, especially its work for the needy. He believed more publicity was required to help the people be better managers.

Mrs. Longley reported on the home nursing class for soldiers' wives at which the social hour was also much enjoyed. She paid a tribute to the work of the visitors and having spoken of what the society had accomplished during the year she heartily thanked all who had assisted.

Created by experts for one purpose only—to safeguard your complexion

That's why, on expert advice, thousands are gaining the charm of natural loveliness through this simple daily rule in skin care

THERE are many places where experiment is safe. But not with the complexion. To endanger one's pretty skin is a folly.

Before Palmolive came women were told, "use no soap on your face." For soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty soap. A soap made by experts in skin care for one purpose only—to guard youth and charm. A soap made to be used freely, lavishly on the skin.

It changed the beauty situation throughout the world. It supplanted artificial beauty methods by the score. World's authorities widely urge it. The thousands of pretty skins you see today are largely due to it.

Wash, launder, scrub, with any soap you wish; but when beauty is at stake, take care.

This simple daily rule to natural skin beauty

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the morning. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

BRITAIN LOSES FIVE-MASTER

One of Five Remaining Is Sold to Norwegian Group

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Britain is soon to lose one of her five remaining fully rigged sailing ships, negotiations for the sale of the Monkbars, a steel three-master of 1,700 tons, now lying in the Thames at Charlton Buoy, being practically completed.

She is going to be used by a Norwegian whaling company. With the passing from the Red Ensign of the 31-year-old Monkbars—an event which will ring regret from shellbacks and from many officers of great liners who graduated on her before "taking steam."

The Kilmalle, built in 1893, and described as "a bald-headed barque" is expected in the Thames this month from Peru after ploughing the seven seas for nearly 18 months. The William Mitchell, built in 1892, is lying at an American port.

It was not decided to sell the Monkbars until recently when, after an absence of 9 1/2 years, she came galley into the Thames with a cargo of grain. She had been 99 days on the voyage from Rio.

Steamers gave her a warm welcome by sounding their sirens, and in the true old-fashioned way the men of the Monkbars lined up above the figurehead of Pegasus, and sang the old "cherry" "Blow, Bullies, blow For Callum-o-o."

It took her nearly seven weeks to discharge her cargo, and meanwhile her fate was under consideration.

For the benefit of those having low-power radio sets the Irish Free State will establish three new broadcasting stations throughout the country.

Vocal solos by Miss Carr were very greatly appreciated. Mrs. Alfred Morris, honorary president, who was in the chair for the election of officers, thanked the society for the honor conferred on her.

She paid a great tribute to Mrs. Longley as president, saying her resourcefulness had only been equalled by her devotion to the work.

Additional members were Mrs. L. Isaacs, Mrs. L. C. Malcolm, Miss Price, Mrs. H. Dowling, Miss Edythe White, Miss Ethel Hazen Jarvis, Mrs. Atwater Smith, Mrs. E. T. Sturdee, Philip Simms, Dr. G. B. Peat, H. Dev. Partidge and G. G. Murdoch; representative on the provincial executive, Mrs. Longley; delegates to the provincial meetings, Miss Stetson, Mrs. Morrissey and Miss Burns.

On resuming the chair, Mrs. Longley was heartily applauded.

MR. SHORT HEARD

F. T. Short, provincial president, addressed the meeting, exhorting the members to carry out the ideals of the society. He hoped there would be a larger enrollment and a more general support of the work in order that the society might be a real benefit to the city and a credit to itself.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

SEARCH IS KEEN FOR OSMIRIDIUM

Valuable Deposits Found in Almost Inaccessible Parts of South Africa

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The lure of gold is today leading men into the most inaccessible parts of the earth, as it ever has done, but other sister sirens are now calling, and the recent platinum rush in South Africa shows that they, too, can cast an enchanting spell over mankind.

One of those tempting, soundless summonses at present broadcast throughout the world comes from far-off Tasmania, and the enchantress who calls is Osmiridium.

Tasmania is the world's chief producer of osmiridium, and new finds have just been made in the ranges of the northwestern district which are causing men to forsake other professions to go osmiridium hunting.

One needs only a pick, shovel, pan and a good constitution for the quest, and as the mineral is today quoted at nearly $200 per ounce the risks of failure fade into nothingness, and the earning of a good living and the chances of making a fortune are not remote.

Osmiridium is a combination of the metals osmium and iridium, and is called by scientists iridosmine, but the happy-go-lucky miners know it simply as "gold."

It is a greyish-white metal found in grains and small nuggets and is used for tipping fountain-pen points and for a variety of mysterious purposes in the arts and sciences. These deposits lie in the gullies of mountain rivers in the heart of country covered by forests of beech, leatherwood and scrub.

The chief workings until the late rush were on a tributary of the Savage River called "Linger and Die Creek," which name seems to suggest that some miners of osmiridium were disappointed.

AMENDMENT OF TAX LAWS IN N. B. URGED BY DR. W. C. KIERSTEAD

NEED OF PROVINCIAL COMMISSION IS TOLD BY U. N. B. PROFESSOR

Municipalities Union Takes Up Resolutions at Evening Session; Revaluation of Soldiers' Farms Recommended; School System Under Fire and Changes Talked

SEVERAL recommendations, designed to improve the administration of taxation regulations in New Brunswick, were advanced by Dr. W. C. Keirstead, Professor of Philosophy and Economics, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, in an address given before the nineteenth annual convention of the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities in the County Court House last evening.

Prof. Keirstead suggested the substitution of a county assessor for parish assessors; the establishment of a provincial tax commissioner or commission to have charge of provincial taxation and to supervise municipal assessment and taxation; reorganization of the methods of school taxation and administration with the county unit, except in the case of large towns and cities; a higher assessment and more adequate returns from the provincial road tax with cash payments in preference to statute labor encouraged; the enactment of better legislation in place of the present Rates and Taxes Act, abolishing the income tax unless better methods of assessment and collection are provided; increased co-operation between the provincial and municipal administration in taxation matters.

The party left the court house in automobiles for the Provincial Hospital where they were the guests of the institution at luncheon at noon.

Following the banquet Dr. V. Anglin, superintendent of the institution, gave a short address in which he thanked the party for their interest shown in the hospital. Premier Baxter also gave a short talk. He lauded the work of Dr. Anglin. During the course of his speech, Premier Baxter pointed out the necessity of making an addition to the institution claiming that at the present time it was overfilled to capacity and that it was imperative to make an addition in order to carry on the work.

A thorough inspection of the hospital was made by the party. Others present besides the delegates were: Colonel Harrison, M. E. Agas, C. D. Richards, B. Frank Smith, A. D. Taylor, D. A. Stewart, L. Smith, H. Wood, Dr. Dougan, Fred Squires, E. W. Melville, I. P. D. Tilley, J. W. Smith and W. B. Evans.

MORE PAPERS READ. The afternoon session was opened with the presentation of an address on the "Council-Manager System of Government for New Brunswick Municipalities" given by M. J. Rutledge, town manager of Woodstock. He was followed by A. Arthur I. Anglin, formerly of Harvard University, who gave an interesting review of town management.

The session adjourned at 4:30 to permit the members to attend a reception given by Mayor and Mrs. White at their home in Sydney street and resumed their deliberations in the evening.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED. At the evening session the resolution to the effect "That the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities recommend forthwith a revaluation of properties

Two members from the convention will be elected today as representatives on the New Brunswick Fire Prevention Board.

SCHOOL MOTION UP.

A resolution "That the common school system of New Brunswick has in general terms failed and in lieu thereof a modern system of education should be established without delay," caused some prolonged discussion. Before Dr. Traeman, of Mount Allison, spoke to the motion, J. King Kelly, honorary secretary-treasurer, read from the reports of the 1924 minutes, a resolution to the effect "That this convention express its appreciation of the able address of President 'Frueman upon the educational system of this province; that we recommend that his address be published in the press and in the Journal of Proceedings of the convention, and further be it resolved that this convention recommend to the Provincial Government an outside expert in education and in educational administration be secured and asked to survey the present conditions and needs of this province."

In his remarks Dr. 'Frueman said: "I have made a study of the educational system of New Brunswick and I find that we took our system from Nova Scotia a short time after they had got theirs in Upper Canada. The authorities in Upper Canada in turn had obtained theirs from the United States. The educational system has been at a standstill for some time and is now ready to advance a better one than they used to be. Two years ago I gave an address at Moncton on the 'Administration of Public Education' and I haven't changed my views. I would not say that I approved of the resolution as it reads now without some change."

CARNEGIE REPORT HIT.

"A few years ago the Carnegie Corporation made a study of educational conditions in the Maritimes and the results of their study were published in the fact report speaks harshly of the Maritime educational system. Dr. Webster in an address at Moncton on educational system based his remarks on the fact that that report of the Carnegie Corporation was not only correct but that he is to be here tomorrow as we will have an opportunity of gathering around us and discussing the situation in the Government stepped in and said, 'Here let us get at the bottom of this question and bring in an outside educational expert and remedy the situation in public education.' A committee be appointed to urge the Government to make a survey and follow out its recommendations. Councillor Simpson moved an amendment to the motion already before the convention that a committee be appointed from the chair in the matter of revaluing the resolution for today's session."

This amendment was seconded by Councillor Allen, of Fredericton, and unanimously carried. The committee appointed by Chairman Traeman and Mr. Thomas Murray, Sackville. A telegram was read from Louis P. Robichaud, Richibucto, vice-president of the union, regretting his inability to attend the convention and wishing the conference every success.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE.

A nominating committee to bring in a slate of officers for the coming year was proposed from the chair by President Wigmore and consisted of the following: Warden Muehlich, of St. John; George Simpson, Simonds; A. T. LeBlanc, Shediac; Warden Campbell, Sackville, and Councillor Currie, St. John. A special committee was also appointed from the chair consisting of Thomas Murray, Sackville; George Bligh, and Councillor Allen, Fredericton. This committee will deal with various votes of thanks to be passed during the session.

Dr. W. C. Keirstead

Dr. Keirstead in a review of taxation in New Brunswick described the system in vogue, proceeded to say:

Personal property is defined to include all tangible property other than real estate, such as tools, fixtures, machinery and live stock. Rates and Taxes Act. Revised and consolidated in 1924. Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, and 13, and intangible such as mortgages, bonds, stocks and shares, notes, book accounts or other evidences of indebtedness. But in the case of personal estate there are so many qualifications and exemptions that it is well nigh impossible to determine just what property is taxable and very little is actually taxed. Household goods, mechanics' tools, and fishermen's boats are exempt from taxation. Farm implements and implements of farm labor belonging to the farmer are exempt. Would farm implements include farm wagons, carriages, auto trucks or a little automobile used partly for marketing purposes and partly for family convenience and pleasure? Since there is no adequate enforcement of the act these questions are seldom raised.

EXEMPTION.

An exemption which makes difficult the assessment of personal property is that just debts owed by a taxpayer may be deducted from the value of his property.

The clause requiring the debtor to give the name and residence of his creditor is evidently meant to be used for the taxation of the latter if such a course is possible. But in case the creditor lives outside the parish he is likely to escape since parish assessors are not liable to communicate and cooperate with one another in any extent.

Considerable personal property is exempt from taxation. All federal, provincial, municipal or school bonds are generally exempt by acts of the legislature. The shares of New Brunswick corporations are exempt since they are taxed on their property.

PROVINCIAL ROAD TAX.

Under such a system of municipal administration there would be a higher assessment of and more adequate returns from the provincial road tax. The amount secured by this tax should be doubled by such administration. Cash payments in preference to statute labor should be encouraged. If labor is accepted in preference to statute labor should be encouraged. If labor is accepted in preference to statute labor should be encouraged.

BETTER LAWS URGED.

The existing Rates and Taxes Act should be repealed and better legislation enacted. Income taxation should not be permitted unless better methods for its assessment and administration are provided. It adds that the present method of assessing intangible property is based on a valuation of the property at a lower rate than that for real estate and that equalization should be made for debt. Or in place of the tax on intangible property some form of a business tax might be drafted and administered by provincial cooperation and revenue so received be divided between the municipal and provincial governments.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED.

We have reached a stage in the history of the province when we need co-operation of the provincial and municipal administrations in taxation. Hitherto we have had separate sources of revenue and independence in administration. Municipalities have imposed direct taxes upon property and income and the province has looked to successions and taxes upon corporations. But provincial taxes which may increase as heavy as can wisely be exacted from the province have led provincial administrations to shoulder upon municipalities functions and services that should be undertaken, at least in part, by the province. If a provincial government is not prepared to relinquish the essential functions of a provincial administration it must increase its revenues to care for the improved and yet growing needs and services of the public welfare. Let us have the economy which comes through wise and efficient use of public funds but not the economy that is attained by relinquishing the essential functions of civilized governments.

"I tried several remedies without results. My mother advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some. After using them a short time the terrible itching was greatly relieved and in three months my face was healed. (Signed) Miss Mandy Sten, Redway Center, Ala."

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1.—The first step for the improvement of municipal tax administration should be the substitution of a county assessor for parish assessors. The County-Secretary is used to collect delinquent taxes.

2.—A provincial tax commissioner or tax commission should be established to have charge of provincial taxation and to supervise municipal assessment and taxation. This provincial department should prescribe uniform methods of municipal accounting and adequate forms for the returns of municipal statistics to the provincial office.

3.—There is needed a reorganization of the methods of school taxation and administration. The small school district should give place to a much larger unit of school administration. Perhaps the county should be the unit of school administration except that towns and cities with well organized schools might form independent districts. Enlarged school districts should be formed after careful consultation with the Provincial Department of Education and the Inspectors of School Districts.

owner is in one parish and he has business in one or more other parishes it is pretty certain that his personal property will largely escape taxation. He may finance through one bank for his stores or branch offices and then what exemption he can claim for indebtedness? If he is both wholesaler and retailer, can he claim exemption for stocks in retail stores because they are being carried by the parent store and for his stocks in the wholesale store because they are being financed by the bank?

But all classes of property other than real estate are lumped together under the blanket term of personal estate. If a taxpayer objects that he does not possess personal property in one form or another he will be likely to hold the amount of the assessment in property of another class.

INCOME TAXES.

The act provides that income and income is defined "as the annual profits or gains from any business, profession, trade, calling, employment or occupation" and "from any source whatsoever except by gift."

SCHOOL TAXATION.

The evils and inequalities of parish underassessments can be better appreciated with respect to school taxation. There are four different rates of tax, population and wealth of different school districts. Revenues for different purposes are levied on the same property. There is paid to each teacher a provincial grant which varies according to the length of his term of office and his experience in the profession and this grant pays from one-fifth to one-third of the county school funds and the district assessments. The county tax is levied on the assessed property of the county and is apportioned to the parishes on the basis of the county valuation. The county assesses for an amount equal to 60 cents for each dollar of assessed property. This amount is divided among the schools of the county on the following basis: There is a grant of $200 to $800 a year for each qualified teacher employed and for each pupil enrolled in the school. There is a grant of $100 to $200 a year for each pupil enrolled in each school as compared with the total number of pupils enrolled in the county. This county tax is meant to relieve to some extent the financial burden of the taxation for education. But the county funds are less than one-tenth of the total cost of education and consequently is not sufficient to equalize the taxation within a county.

In order to render further assistance to poor districts the Board of Education has recently increased aid to districts of low valuation. The marked inequality of district taxation for school purposes is a serious and persistent condition and may be unwisely given. A yet remains true that some districts find the school tax oppressive and are unable to provide the educational facilities that their children need.

Another tax imposed upon ratepayers is that known as the Road Tax. The Highway Act provides for the imposition of a poll tax of $1.50 and a property tax of 40 cents for each $100 of assessable property and incomes. In many cases this assessment is equal to the total assessment for county and parish rates and offers added inducement for low parish valuations. Present valuations of the tax for roads is unequally distributed; is far less than it should be and is imperfectly collected.

Amendment of Tax Laws In N. B. Urged by Dr. Kierstead

St. Lambert's, Que., 4,000. "It is the greatest advantage in the field of municipal administration and is based on principles paralleling business, being founded on the 'board of directors general-manager' plan used by the most effective corporations in a great business nation.

ADVANTAGES OF PLAN.
"During the past year 90 per cent of all cities making a change have adopted this plan. Some of its advantages are as follows:

"1. The elected councillors are not paid and they have to devote their time only to meetings, which can be held at night. This eliminates the citizens to elect successful business, professional, labor and women leaders, who could not otherwise give up their time. The council is elected at large, and acts for the city at large. This eliminates sectional extravagances. The ballot is short, enabling all voters to investigate the candidates' records and vote intelligently. This eliminates politics, and makes municipal policies the issue.

"2. All executive and administrative positions are filled by appointment or civil service, as it is almost impossible to secure men of the required ability and training for their permanent jobs to the uncertainty of running elections. "3. Responsibility for administrative acts can be definitely fixed. "4. The legislative or policy forming function of the council is separate from the executive administration. The manager is responsible to the council direct, and can be removed by the council. This separation of functions is inherent in all successful municipal government to the public.

"5. It has passed the experimental stage and experienced managers, are available. The largest colleges, such as Harvard, Syracuse, Michigan, University of California, etc., are training men for the new profession which insures a continuously growing personnel to choose from. For the first time, we have a system which has a technique based on such sound principles that men can be educated and trained for public administration as well as any other profession.

AUSTRALIAN ENDORSEMENT.
Sir John Sulman, who was chairman of the commission on building Canberra, the new federal capital of Australia, attended the city managers convention in Montreal in 1924 and on his return to Australia he recommended the council-manager form of government for the capital. I. G. Gibbons, assistant secretary to Minister of Health of England and Wales, also attended this same convention and

"Thus no government will satisfy all. We must recognize, accept, and not be disturbed by the annual reaction of delinquent taxpayers and establish a system which will ride these reactions successfully for the benefit of the 80 per cent majority who do pay, and still leave the mayor and council unabsorbed and unwilling to continue to serve their town for longer periods and give more continuity and saving to its policies.

WHEN TAXES HURT.
"Let us examine the elements of administration. In Woodstock I have divided the activities as follows: Expenditures—Administration, grants, finance, fire, police, street, lights, streets, sewers, poor, water, Revenue—Taxes, water, sundry.

"Now, let us see where we have contact with the individual on a ruling passion, and the reaction is rebellion against government. But all governments must tax if they render services. If reaction could be measured, I am certain, that a greater amount of unfavorable sentiment than favorable is created each year, and the mayor and councillors suffer accordingly. They are glad when their term is over. New men continually serve and get the same experience. Continuity of policy is broken.

SUGGESTED SOLUTION.
"Now it is my opinion, where the population has been practically stationary for a generation, that the solution to our problems in New Brunswick must be sought in well planned, continuous, long term policies and the efficient management of them. This can be obtained by the Council-Manager plan and longer terms for councillors.

"Where would you find a business man who would sanction changing directors continually and have no general control at the head of affairs to give continuity to his business? A business run this way would fall absolutely, and our towns are falling for the same reason, as is shown by the increasing bonded debt and increased tax warrants with the same or less population to serve.

"Under the manager plan the manager acts as a buffer between the public and Council in all detail work of every department. The prominent citizens in all walks of life are capable to act on a board of directors and give instructions on problems and policies. If an experienced manager is employed mistakes will be reduced to a minimum.

COMMISSION DEFECTS.
"The Commission form of Government has been in operation long enough in cities both large and small to reveal its defects by practical experience. At present there is no ten-denity to adopt it and more than fifty cities have discarded it and substituted the Council-Manager plan.

"Under the Commission plan it is impossible to secure at all times, by election, a chief executive who is either able to devote all his time to the city or willing to sacrifice personal interests to such an extent that the modern city requires. On account of the insecurity of his position there is not the incentive to study and keep abreast of city government everywhere, as there is for a city manager who makes this his profession.

SUGGESTED FOR HERE.

"We have in the province three cities and eight towns which could adopt the council-manager plan with profit to themselves and the province. They are with populations:

Saint John	47,166
Moncton	17,488
Fredericton	8,114
Woodstock	3,500
Cambridge	5,570
Chatham	4,506
Newcastle	3,507
St. Stephen	3,452
Edmundston	4,035
Sussex	2,186
Bathurst	3,227

"As the number of cities operating under this plan increases, as it is bound to, more trained municipal men will be available at these conventions. Necessary recommendations with the proper supporting data from each town can be submitted to the provincial government and the influence of this Union will be increased for the good of the towns, cities, county, and the province as a whole.

CHARTS OF POPULATION.
"Now, let us first take a general view of the province from several standpoints. Physically, it is an immense tract of 28,000 square miles with a fringe of population around its coast line and on the St. John and St. Croix rivers. It has plenty of timberland and beautiful scenery. Of this area 11,700 square miles is uncultivated crown land. The climate for six or seven months of the year causes inactivity.

"Socially, there are about 390,000 people and the number has not changed much in the past 40 years. It has taken 322 years to obtain this population, which is only an average of 14 per square mile and there is only one city of 50,000 people.

OCEAN TRADE ROUTES.
"Commercially, the world's ocean trade routes, for heavy traffic both ways, pass us by on the west by the

St. Lawrence to Montreal and on the east from Europe to Boston and New York. On land we are restricted by the industrial area of Quebec on the west and by the political boundary line between United States and Canada on the south. As a consequence of this geographical location, our position is one of comparative isolation; off the world's highways so to speak, and population as a type is affected. For the above reasons we will never be an industrial area, nor have a large population. We will probably continue to be drained of the youth who will leave the province to seek better opportunities elsewhere. The type of population will remain homogeneous, that is, born on New Brunswick soil but the youthful element and the good that new emigrants bring will be lacking. Our problem is certainly a special one and requires special study.

SOLUTIONS TO PROBLEM.
"Now there are several solutions to our problem:

1. To retrench. (This is only a temporary cure.)
2. The provincial government to limit the taxing and bonding powers of municipalities. (This is poor policy.)
3. More efficient administration.
4. Policy of "pay as you go."

If charts were plotted for each city and town they would show large increases each year for schools, county taxes, interest on bonds, bonded indebtedness, etc., and the population remaining the same to share it all.

A great improvement will come when we decide on no more bond issues, and to redeem some bonds every year. The cure is a slow one, but a certain one, and as it goes on more money is released each year from interest payments to use elsewhere.

"As a practical example, this policy has been followed for the past four years, since I have been in Woodstock, and we have reduced the bonded debt for $270,000 to $238,000 (12 per cent) and saved about $2,400 annually in interest. Last year the taxes warrant was reduced $10,000 (or 11 per cent). We have $30,000 cash in the bank now the tax warrant can be reduced another $10,000 (or 12 per cent) next year if the council decide to do so.

MORE CONTINUITY.
"In following a policy of 'sit tight' and 'pay as you go' it seems desirable to have more continuity in the council itself. A council elected for a term of four years with one councillor going out annually and two bi-annually would be able to work out long time policies economically, and avoid sudden changes of policy by inexperienced new councillors, with strong personalities and no municipal experience.

"Ability to manage municipal affairs successfully is not conferred by vote, by inspiration or by street corner consultations. It comes only by experience and by feeling a sense of responsibility in handling a large trust fund for the people, and in giving each matter grave thought. It takes time to become proficient like it does in any other trade, business or profession.

"By having a longer term for councillors, they become more proficient and then when they do leave the council they bring a sober sensible influence to the outside citizenship and form a growing body of men available to direct public opinion thoughtfully, and for the good of the town.

"Just before I close I wish to make a plea to offset the lack of interest in this important subject of government, because it controls the preservation of life, property and health. These reasons, however, are seldom considered. The taxpayer pays in taxes about three per cent of his holdings, and of his income, and three per cent is about the active interest he takes in his government.

SAFE GOVERNMENT.
"Now a good safe government under our present system requires more active interest on the part of all of the citizens. This we can only hope for. What we do know, and what is practical experience, is that we won't get it. Only one point in our administration touches the citizen enough to evoke interest as mentioned before, and Another interesting and instructive address was delivered at the afternoon session by A. Arthur I. Anglin, formerly of Harvard University, who took as his subject: "Review of Town Management and the English Borough System." the people as to promote their progress. We want leaders, not rulers, and today more than at any other time in the history of Canada. The routine of administration is a simple matter to regulate, but the framing of a civic system that offers an opportunity to the leaders of the community to give a little of their time to the public service is a task that calls for the careful thought of those who thoroughly understand the character and individuality of the community in question...

Although it is costing the cities of Canada and the United States a lot of money to realize it, there isn't any one form of government that will meet the needs of all cities alike. The city-manager type may be the best bet in Woodstock, N. B., but it will not win out in Saint John for instance. Yes, it will if the same opportunity is given to the city-manager as has been done in Woodstock and Westmount. But when one reflects that we the citizens of Saint John are not given sufficient inspiration in the old aldermanic system to sustain our interest in the city-manager system...

FREE STATE TROOPS TO ASSIST BRITISH

Arrangement Expected in Garrisoning of Points in Ireland

DUBLIN, Oct. 28 — An arrangement which would associate troops of the Free State army with British troops at points now exclusively occupied by the latter is regarded as probable in the prospective rearrangement of the Free State treaty with Britain. Under provisions of the treaty by which the Free State was constituted, detachments of the British forces remained at Berehaven, Queenstown and Lough Swilly, all the rest of the British troops withdrawing from the country. This arrangement was made pending the time when the Free State should undertake its own coastal defence and naval defence...

OLD VERSION OF NATIVITY IS DISCOVERED

Provost of Eton Finds Ancient Document at Hereford

LONDON, Oct. 28.—A sixth-century version of the story of the Nativity, which gives the narrative in greater detail than has hitherto been available, has been discovered in Hereford Cathedral library by Dr. M. R. James, Provost of Eton.

He describes it as "a new piece of an old Gospel"—a new telling of the story of the Nativity and of the shepherds and the wise men of the East, and believes it to be "a bit more of the Gospel of St. Peter."

The origin of this version would appear to be as follows: The original story by St. Peter existed about the sixth century as a Greek M. S., and was brought to England by Anglo-Saxon pilgrims from Rome. About the 13th century this version was translated into mediæval Latin by some unknown scribe, and this is the M. S. which has been found at Hereford.

BY ST. PETER. Dr. James says that if by fortunate chance he is right that here is another portion of the Gospel of St. Peter, the find is a curious and exciting one.

There is always a possibility of securing a second-century Gospel from Egypt, but one of the last things he would have expected was to find it in a thirteenth-century manuscript in an English Cathedral library.

At first, when he examined it, he thought it was a compilation for liturgical purposes. He was right as to the compilation, but it proved unexpectedly interesting because it gives in Latin from the Book of James, which we have never had before.

ASCRIBED TO JAMES. In the title the whole is ascribed to James, the son of Joseph the carpenter, who, however, does not appear in the narrative. The title declares that James was an eye-witness of the Book of James is of the Apocryphal Gospels. This writing does not exist in Latin, but in the original Greek and some few Oriental versions.

The Hereford book becomes doubly interesting because, while it employs pseudo-Matthew and the Nativity of Mary. It also uses an unknown source. A new passage appears in this piece of literature. Symeon, another of Joseph's sons by his first wife. The Gospel of Peter is the one which tells us about the sons of Joseph, and Dr. James suggests that in the unknown source we have a piece of the beginning of the Gospel of Peter.

Points that bring the unknown source into connection with the Gospel of Peter are substantial references of the sons of Joseph, both are Doctico—appearance as opposed to reality—and both are anti-Jewish.

In support of the last-mentioned, Dr. James points to the manner in which the older Scriptures of the East, and how Joseph contrasts his own people, and the shepherds, with the wise men.

PENALIZED PLAN FLIGHT TO CEMENT RELATIONS

U. S. Plans to Circle South America; To Make Start on December 15

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Advance officers will leave this country within a few days to make final preparations on the ground for the U. S. Army 18,500 mile Pan-American flight.

Starting from San Antonio on December 15, the five Lockheed amphibian planes will head towards Panama and the Pacific, later crossing the southern continent from Chile to Argentina and returning up the Atlantic coast.

"The purpose of this flight," according to Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, "is to strengthen the amicable relations already existing among the American republics, to demonstrate the feasibility of aerial transportation and communication between these widely separated nations, and finally to subject the amphibian airplanes to a severe test over both land and water."

Effort will not be made to attain speed records, stops being so arranged as to permit the personnel of the flight to visit the capitals of the nations along the itinerary and give opportunity for examination of the airplanes by such observers; those nations as may be interested in the development of commercial air transportation.

The flight itinerary includes stops at all of the Central and South American countries except Nicaragua and Ecuador, whose governments are not recognized by the United States. In general the flight will keep to the sea coast.

EYE-EAR-NOSE PART OF HOSPITAL URGED

Canadian Press Despatch. MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—The importance of having a well planned, well organized department for the treatment of eyes, ears, nose and throat in every general hospital, and the best means of achieving this end, was debated by the leading authorities on this branch of medical science at yesterday's session of the American College of Surgeons now in convention here.

It was pointed out during the discussion that this specialized department was not only important for its own sake, but was of great importance in co-operation with the general surgical and medical work of the hospital.

Canadian Press Despatch. BRUSSELS, Oct. 27.—A new metal currency, corresponding to multiples and subdivisions of the newly created Belgian monetary standard, the Belg, was instituted today by a royal decree. The new currency will replace the five and twenty franc notes.

The present five and twenty franc notes will remain in circulation, but will be withdrawn gradually. Today's measure will place from 155,000,000 to 150,000,000 francs in metal money in circulation as compared with the 25,000,000 now in circulation.

SIR FRANCOIS WILL DISCUSS INQUIRY

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—Sir Francois Lemieux, chairman of the commission investigating the administration of the Customs Department, is expected in Ottawa Thursday.

Sir Francois will probably confer with Hon. Lucien Cannon, acting Minister of Justice, and an itinerary for the resumed sitting will be considered. It is said that the commission is unlikely to sit in Ontario during the next few weeks, on account of the provincial election campaign. It is assumed that if the hearings in Ontario are postponed, the probe will go to British Columbia early next month and commence work there.

LENDING A HAND TO MOTHER NATURE

UNFORTUNATELY Mother Nature made no provision for the growing time the trout are caught in nets, stripped, and returned to the streams while the eggs from the female and fertilizing fluid from the male Cut-throat are mixed. In ten weeks the young fry is ready for its new home in the trout stream, where it reaches the length of over eight inches in about four years.

Towards the end of March just before opening time the trout are caught in nets, stripped, and returned to the streams while the eggs from the female and fertilizing fluid from the male Cut-throat are mixed. In ten weeks the young fry is ready for its new home in the trout stream, where it reaches the length of over eight inches in about four years.

Authorities have estimated that only about three per cent of all Cut-throat trout eggs naturally spawning hatch. The reason given is the desire of fish spawning at other times to feed on the newly-laid eggs, with the result that the male Cut-throat eats the eggs to life, when they have absorbed so much water that they cannot absorb the fertilizing fluid.

From 87 to 90 per cent of eggs artificially spawned at Banff and Spray Lakes hatch under artificial methods. This is how it is done:

share in helping to provide for the addition of a new wing to the Provincial Hospital. At noon the delegates were guests at luncheon at the Saint John County Hospital at East Saint John.

Dr. Farris in his address said that the loss of child life in the province was serious and the infant mortality the highest of any province in the registration area, and should be remedied. There had been a gradual improvement since 1920; in 1920 there were 1,454 infant deaths, and in 1924, 1,098, thus showing a steady improvement, but this steady improvement was not sufficient.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN "The great problem in the loss of child life," the speaker continued, "is the protection of children up to two years of age. In Saint John City 23 of the total deaths of the infant deaths are due to premature birth or prenatal causes."

More Clinics Necessary Clinics should be established throughout the province. The traveling diagnostic team, Dr. Wainwright, is doing excellent work and his work in assisting the doctors needs to be extended. The early cases should be found and treated given in the early, curable stage, before they have had a chance to spread the disease.

PREMATURE BIRTHS "Premature births are due to prenatal causes and a great deal of this is due to ignorance, poor health, either general or local, and should be given attention. If we are going to expect healthy, robust children we must have healthy, robust mothers. Education would demonstrate lack of knowledge and must be one of the greatest factors in the campaign in saving child life."

TUBERCULOSIS NEXT

"Tuberculosis probably comes next. It has only recently been recognized that tuberculosis among infants is fairly common, and within the last few months a doctor from Toronto gave clinics in the different centres in this province on how to diagnose and treat tuberculosis in infants, and this was much appreciated."

DISEASE COMMUNICATED "No infant is born with tuberculosis, but it is acquired from the mother. Tuberculosis is communicated by direct contact with some one having tuberculosis, especially pulmonary, or from milk."

UNDIAGNOSED CASE "The public must be educated to the frequency of undiagnosed pulmonary tuberculosis. Opie, of Philadelphia, at a recent meeting in Washington reported the findings in the autopsy room that 30 per cent of those who had no evidence whatever of tuberculosis had living tubercle bacilli in the tops of the lungs and these bacilli must have been fairly recent in origin, it would be surprising if the number of cases of bacilli carriers and how many people were spreading tuberculosis were not very high. If all persons with a chronic cough were to have their sputum properly examined, it would be surprising how many cases of bacilli carriers that would be found."

PREMATURE BIRTHS "Premature births are due to prenatal causes and a great deal of this is due to ignorance, poor health, either general or local, and should be given attention. If we are going to expect healthy, robust children we must have healthy, robust mothers. PASTEURIZATION

Pasteurization properly carried out to 145 degrees for half an hour does not alter the food value of the milk in any way nor would it change the taste. Above 145 degrees, it might alter the cream that rises to the top, but does not affect the actual cream content. Heated to 150 degrees, it might alter the taste slightly. The vitamins in milk are an uncertain quantity and should not be depended upon.

90 P. C. IN SAINT JOHN "We have had complete pasteurization of milk in Saint John up until recently, and now it is probably 90 per cent, and we hope that such education has been carried on and the demonstration so good, that it will not go below 90 per cent, and that it will even rise again. In Saint John, since pasteurization of milk had been enforced, infant deaths from malnutrition decreased 50 per cent; from convulsions, 60 per cent, and from acute intestinal diseases, 27 per cent. This speaks for itself and the problem now is to educate the public so that there might be pasteurization throughout the province. Pasteurization is not a cure-all, but it is one of the great factors in preventing many diseases. Tuberculin tested cattle was a very necessary thing and if properly carried out, it was something that could very easily be done improperly—would eliminate many cases of tuberculosis, but neither milk from tuberculin tested cattle or certified milk is safe, and the only safe milk is pasteurized or boiled milk."

UNDIAGNOSED CASE "The public must be educated to the frequency of undiagnosed pulmonary tuberculosis. Opie, of Philadelphia, at a recent meeting in Washington reported the findings in the autopsy room that 30 per cent of those who had no evidence whatever of tuberculosis had living tubercle bacilli in the tops of the lungs and these bacilli must have been fairly recent in origin, it would be surprising if the number of cases of bacilli carriers and how many people were spreading tuberculosis were not very high. MOVE IS MADE TO MARK SITE OF JENNY'S SPRING

Spot Near Cranston Avenue Associated With Love Story of William Cobbett

Saint John boasts an historic site that rivals in its romantic appeal the site of Fort de La Tour. It is "Jenny's Spring," that is so closely associated with the pretty love story of William Cobbett...

SPOT COVERED OVER

The spot has been covered over in recent years when roadwork was done there and recently there has been some effort made to have the spring uncovered, and properly marked in order that its historical associations might be preserved...

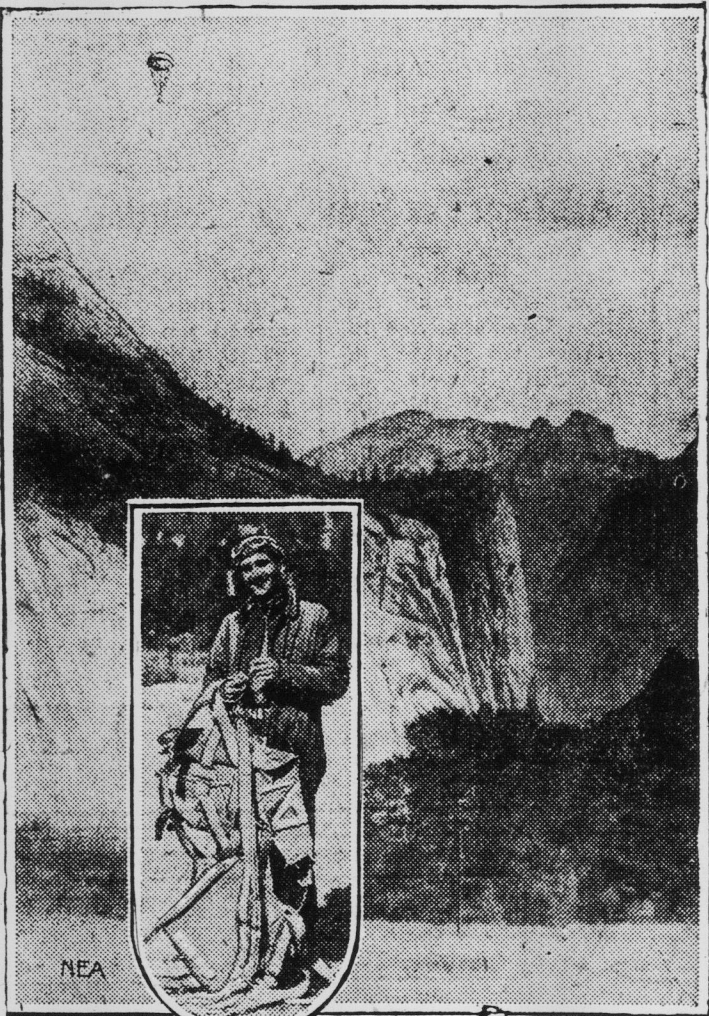

NEGLECT SEEN

That Saint John is passing by a very interesting historical site in its neglect to mark and to restore in some degree "Jenny's Spring," is the opinion expressed by more than one tourist in Saint John...

The guide book having made reference to Fort Howe and the old well once used by the garrison there makes the following comment on "Jenny's Spring":

"Here, too, is Jenny's Spring, so named from the tradition that it was here that Cobbett, then a soldier in the 54th Regiment, fell in love with his future wife, then a girl of 13 years." It quotes the following from Cobbett's own writings: "In about three mornings after I had first seen her, I read it appears was an unusually striking child, tall and well grown, strong and healthy in physique, with the ruddy coloring and fair hair typical of English girls."

BUT HE FOUND A SOFT SPOT!

Looks as if Sergeant A. P. Atterton of the U. S. marines is in for a rough landing at the end of this parachute ride, doesn't it? But Atterton "hit" safely as the inset shows. His jump was from a plane 4000 feet above Yosemite National Park, California.

had, by an invitation to breakfast with me, got up two young men to join me in my walk and our road lay by the house of her father and mother. It was hardly light, but she was then out on the snow, scrubbing out a wash tub. "That's the girl for me," said I, when we had got out of her hearing.

RETURNS GUINEAS.

Nevertheless, when he returned to England, at the end of four years, he found his "little girl a servant of all work, at 25 a year, and without hardly saying a word about the matter, she put into my hands the whole of my 100 international guide books "Jenny's unbroken." The guide book narrative concludes with the statement: "It is satisfactory to know that their marriage was as happy as it should have been."

The title "Jenny's Spring" has been difficult to account for as Cobbett's "little girl" was named Ann Reid. Whether her nickname was "Kenny" or whether "Jenny" is connected with a still earlier legend and a former owner of the spring or maiden who used the spring is not determined. Ann Reid's father was a sergeant in the artillery and it was in February, 1787, at Reid's home he first met his future wife.

INGLEWOOD AWARD SLATED SATURDAY

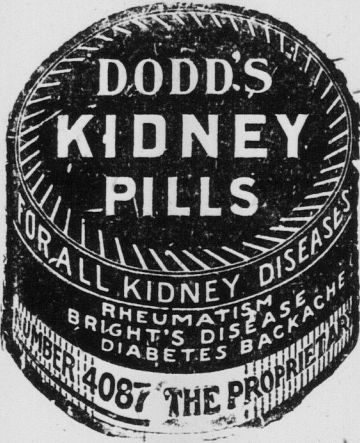

Will be Rendered in Moncton by Mr. Justice A. T. LeBlanc

MONCTON, Oct. 27.—The award in the Inglewood case, in connection with the arbitration over the value of the lands of the company which were taken by the New Brunswick Hydro-Electric Power Commission for the development of the Musquash water power, will be rendered here on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock by Mr. Justice Arthur T. LeBlanc...

Cobbett died and the London Times in its reference to his death described him as "Perhaps the most extraordinary Englishman of his time." It might seem only reasonable that Saint John should take some steps towards preserving the record of its association with Cobbett's romance.

FIREMEN SAVE COTTAGES AT THE BAY SHORE

Miss O'Neill Pays Tribute to Good Work of Firemen

Tribute was paid by Miss A. O'Neill, Main street, this morning, to the good work of the west side firemen in saving a number of cottages on the Bay Shore, owned by her, when a large barn belonging to her, was destroyed with its contents, last night. The fire was first seen about 11 o'clock last night and a still alarm sent to No. 7 fire station. The men responded and had to stretch eleven joints of hose. As the barn was seen to be doomed, the fire fighters confined their efforts to saving the surrounding houses, which they were successful in doing.

The barn was a large structure and housed in it was a motor, the body of a seven-passenger car, two sleighs, a delivery wagon, a motor truck, a car and some farming implements. The loss will be heavy as only a small amount of insurance was carried, Miss O'Neill said.

MORE CLASSES TO BE STARTED MONDAY

Vocational Announcement—Regret at Courses in Trustees' Building Being Discontinued

The night classes for cookery, sewing and millinery at the Saint John Vocational School will open on Monday of next week it was announced last evening by the director, Fletcher Peacock. The first of the night classes in general education for those who have less than high school standard was held last evening with E. J. Alexander as instructor.

A number of the women and girls who had attended night school classes in general education subjects in the Board of School Trustees' building, have been making inquiries at the office lately hoping that these classes were being held again this winter. Many of them, when they learned that only classes in the Vocational school are available for them have regretfully decided that they cannot continue their night courses as the Vocational school is an unfair discrimination against the women and girls. Fletcher Peacock, who the matter is being given his attention last night, said that it was the first he had heard of it. He thought there would be no difficulty in establishing a class in a more central location.

Mr. Peacock pointed out that one branch of the Vocational school work which has a big future is the night-time high school course. Plans are being made to give a regular high school course for those who have left school in earlier grades and would like to obtain their school standard. For those who complete the high school course in night study certificates will be given, standing equal to that of the high school graduate.

ARE BUSY ON RIVER

Steamers Handling Good Cargoes of Produce

The Saint John River steamers arriving at Indiantown at this season are carrying heavy cargoes in which potatoes and apples form the chief shipments. The Majestic, from the Washademoose route, arrived yesterday and carried a big cargo, chiefly of potatoes. The Hampton came from Moncton and had a full cargo. She carried a large consignment of barrelled apples as well as potatoes. The apples were not offered for sale at the wharf but were all consigned. Potatoes at the wharf yesterday brought $2.60 and $2.75 to $3 a barrel.

The recent heavy rains have raised the river by five or six feet above its summertime level and the high water wharves are being used at a number of stopping places. The Premier left at 2 a. m. yesterday for the Grand Lake route, making her first trip since she was laid up for the installation of a new crank shaft. She is expected to be back at Indiantown tonight.

Autos Collide In Charlotte Street

While Douglas Tims, of the Tims Service Station, Fredericton, was driving automobile No. 23-353 from Queen Square, north side, to Charlotte street, at 6 o'clock last night, his car was struck by a Ford sedan, No. 18,940, owned by Walter King, 68 High street. The Tims car was crowded up against a pole and received damage to the fender and running board. The Ford car lost a hub cap and had its two fenders damaged. The collision is reported to have been caused by the King car being obliged to turn out to avoid colliding with truck X-1282, driven by William Yeomans, 26 St. Patrick street, who was backing into the curb to load furniture. No person was injured.

Nixon of Glen Falls, gave an address of welcome and Father Carroll responded fittingly. Father Carroll met each member of the congregation personally and a very pleasant evening was spent. Arrangements were made to hold a chicken supper in the near future.

As Hiram Sees It

"There's a regular 'fleet goin' up,'" says I to the town feller, moonlight on Long Reach. "Them," says he, "is the 'ghosts' o' Ben Church's an' Colborne Hawthorne's craft goin' 'in' up to attack Villebon's fort at Nashuapenset. That was just two hundred an' thirty year ago this month. Think of five hundred men sailin' up Long Reach that long ago. Well, sir-oh! Villebon was ready fer 'em. The feller, Chevaller, that was killed by Ben Church's Injuns had sent messengers up to tell what was happenin' at the mouth o' the river—an' Villebon sent scouts down river to keep watch while he got ready for a siege. He had only a hundred men in the fort—but he made a speech that stirred 'em up so that they was 'red-hot' as a light. Hawthorne an' Church got there all right an' landed their guns—but it was so cold they had to build fires that night to keep from freezein'. Both sides had Injun fighters. The French had the best of it with the big guns. The English didn't make no headway the first day or the second—an' the second night they got aboard their craft an' started down river agin. Old Ben Church had been agin goin' up at all—ter the men had no warm clothes—an' they wasn't no fun in navigatin' the Saint John late in October—an' hevin' no warm quarters ashore. They had four vessels of about sixty tons. Them was their 'ghosts' what I see in the moonlight on the river."

YOUNG PEOPLE GATHER HERE IN 2 CONVENTIONS

Boys' Conference and United Church Assemblage for Next Few Days

Two notable gatherings of young people are to be held in the city during the next few days. Commencing on Friday night a boys' conference will be in session in St. David's church memorial hall during Saturday and Sunday. Arrangements are being made for a meeting of the Young People's Societies of the Saint John Presbytery of the United Church convened at Eskamoth street church for three sessions on Monday.

The delegates of the boys' conference will come from Saint John, Kings and Queens counties and it is expected that there will be about 100 present. One of the chief speakers at the opening session will be Jim Fay, who is a student at Pine Hill college and a member of the Maritime Boys' Parliament who was selected as one of 12 Canadian boys to attend the world peace conference held in Stockholm. He is a brilliant speaker and an enthusiast in boys work. He will be accompanied by his mother and they are to be guests of Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Fulton during their stay in Saint John. Rev. F. M. Strothard and Rev. M. S. Richardson. The sessions will continue throughout Saturday and a banquet will be served at 6 o'clock on Saturday evening when members of the C. C. I. T. groups of the city will have charge of the serving. The conference closing session will be held on Sunday night after the regular church service.

CHEESE BOARD HAS SEASON CLOSING

At Meeting at Board of Trade Here 456 Boxes Are Disposed of

The last meeting of the New Brunswick Cheese Board for the present season was held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms, when there was a brisk demand and prices were advanced by 1.2 cents above those which prevailed at the last meeting, which was held three weeks previously. Frank Rowe, president, was in the chair and had charge of the auction. There were 281 boxes of twins which sold at 18.3 cents a pound and 175 boxes of triplets, which brought 18.8 cents a pound. The deputy minister of agriculture, Harvey Mitchell, attended the meeting.

During the season that has just closed the quality of cheese produced by the New Brunswick factories has been very good and the buyers yesterday expressed themselves as well satisfied on that score. In the dry cold weather of a few weeks ago, cheese production dropped off to a considerable extent but previously in this season the reckoning of the year's total will reveal a slight increase over that of 1925 but not so large as had been anticipated.

Prices throughout the season were a good average, although they did not reach the very high mark of the 1926 season. There were two more factories operating in New Brunswick this year, one at Petitcodiac and one at Portage.

Those attending the Religious Education Institute in the German Street Baptist church, last evening, met for group discussion first and then from 8 to 9 o'clock they joined the congregation of the church in the mid-week prayer meeting and the large gathering filled the auditorium. There was a large attendance at the Institute growing keener each evening. The sessions will conclude tomorrow night.
