Roumanians Are Acting Badly in Budapest

Situation There Reported Growing Critical—French General To Have Command On Rhine—Germans Annul Objectionable Article in Constitution

Budapest, Sept. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The situation here is growing more critical. As the Roumanians withdraw they continue to requisition railway equipment of all kinds. It is said in Hungarian quarters that the food in Budapest is insufficient to care for the needs of the people.

Not only have the Roumanians failed to arm the Hungarian police as they were requested and promised to do so, but they have looted the police equipment and arrested the policemen. The telephone equipment has been removed from the ministerial offices, so that in case of disturbances, the situation will be aggravated by lack of communication.

Paris, Sept. 20.—(Havas)—The Journal says that Belgium has agreed to a proposal of France that a French general be given supreme command of allied forces on the Rhine.

Paris, Sept. 20.—French military units will be sent to Bulgaria to supervise the execution of the provisions of the treaty with that country, according to the Echo de Paris.

Germans Give In Paris, Sept. 20.—Paul Duta, secretary of the peace conference, has received a long note from the German delegation at Versailles advising the conference in the name of the German government of the annulling of the article of the German constitution which would give Austria representation in the German Reichstag.

Kurt von Lersner, head of the German delegation, says in the note he has been authorized to sign a declaration that Article 61 is null and void, but takes occasion to complain at what he characterizes as the "ironical tone" of the last note from the Entente Powers.

Geneva, Sept. 19.—Roumanian is recalling volunteer troops scattered through southern Russia for concentration on the Danister river in anticipation of Bolshevik disorders, according to a statement issued today by the Roumanian bureau at Berne. It is said Roumanians also are awaiting the repatriation of fifty thousand Roumanian troops from Transylvania and elsewhere.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The seventh division of the Roumanian army has arrived in Budapest, according to an official wireless message received by the French government. It paraded on Thursday before the inter-allied commission in the Hungarian capital.

OIL-BURNER IN THE PORT TODAY

The first oil-burning vessel to bring cargo to St. John, the Montic, Capt. Osborne, steamed into the harbor this morning from Cuba with a cargo of raw sugar for the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd. She is a very trim, neat-looking craft and attracted considerable attention amongst the shipping men along the harbor front this morning. She brought 38,000 bags which are now being unloaded at the refinery wharf.

The Munro was built in 1916 at Sparrow point, Maryland, and is 3,968 tons gross. She is constructed on the double-bottom principle, the space between bottoms being used as oil reservoirs. She has a capacity of about 1,200 tons, approximately 34,000 gallons of fuel and consumes at the rate of 6,500 gallons per twenty-four hours. She is fitted up to date in every particular, and is an excellent example of this class of steamer.

Other Ships The steamer Inca, also bringing a cargo of raw sugar for the local refinery, is expected in port tomorrow. The R. M. S. P. liner Chigaco, Capt. William, cleared this morning for the B. W. Indies via Halifax, with part cargo. The schooner Isiah K. Stetson has been chartered on private terms to load coal at New York for Yarmouth.

CONGRATULATIONS Mrs. C. A. Sweet of Manawagonishish, Fairville, is today celebrating her seventieth birthday. Mrs. Sweet is very active for her age, does all her own work and is actively engaged in other duties. She is a charter member of the I. O. B. A. and has missed only one meeting in ten years. She is also a staunch temperance worker, an honorary member of the No Surrender Lodge of Fairville. Two years ago Chestnut Lodge presented to her a veteran's jewel in recognition of her long and faithful service. The many friends of Mrs. Sweet wish her many happy returns of the day.

BECOMES FATHER AT 92; HAS 15 OTHER CHILDREN (New York Herald.) Mrs. Minnie Holloway, wife of an East River barge captain, gave birth to a boy in Bellevue Hospital last Sunday. Her husband, Ezra Holloway, is ninety-two years old and is employed by the James F. McGuire Transportation Company, of No. 1 Broadway.

Mrs. Holloway, who is forty-one years old, said she was married to the barge captain last December. She is his third wife and this is her second venture in matrimony. Holloway is the father of fifteen children by his two other wives. He is a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars. Mrs. Holloway is the mother of five children by her first marriage.

AT IT AGAIN A letter received this morning from New York by the board of trade was addressed to the chamber of Commerce, St. John, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Premier Foster's Message to Industrial Conference

Co-operation in Legislation—Regrets He Was Prevented Attending—Closing Session At Ottawa

(Special to Times) Ottawa, Sept. 20.—At the opening of the industrial conference this morning the secretary read a letter from Premier Foster of New Brunswick expressing his regret at being prevented at the last moment from being present. He asked for a report of the proceedings so as to enable him to determine just what legislation will be necessary for the government of New Brunswick to consider arising out of the various discussions and resolutions adopted. He stated that the government of New Brunswick would be prepared to co-operate in the passing of any legislation desirable in order that the various laws affecting the employment of labor may be as uniform throughout Canada as possible.

This was the final session of the conference with the exception of the matter of collective bargaining and the eight hour day, nearly all the troublesome questions had been "disposed of" by referring them to the government. Possibly that will be the fate of the two remaining questions. The joint committee from capital and labor is still wrestling with them and it seems probable that the report will be a major one.

He expressed surprise at the high price of sugar in America, as the staple was being refined in large quantities and the crop in Cuba was unusually good.

SAYS ALL CUBAN SUGAR IS GOING TO ENGLAND The reason no sugar has been coming to the United States from Cuba, although one mill alone produces 70,000 bags, equivalent to about 237,373,000 pounds, is because it is all going to England. This was stated yesterday by the Hon. Wm. H. Whelpley, minister of the mills controlled by the Cuba-American Company, on the island upon his arrival on board the Manzanar, of the Manzanar line.

"It has been going to England for the last three years," he said. "England has the ships to send for the sugar and is getting all she can. You should have more American sugar ships in Cuban ports and then you would get some of it." He expressed surprise at the high price of sugar in America, as the staple was being refined in large quantities and the crop in Cuba was unusually good.

THE RETURNED SOLDIER AND THE MILKMAN This is not a fable but a true story of a regrettable incident which took place in Union street yesterday morning. A returned soldier who had lost both legs in the war, one above the knee and the other above the ankle, was on his way to the station to take the morning train. He made poor connection by street car and was making his way down Union street as fast as his crutches could carry him. Fearing that he might miss the train he halted a passing milk wagon, asking the driver for a lift. He was so injured that the driver refused point blank to carry him. Proud to say this man is only one in many thousands.

BRITISH TROOPS ARE LEAVING ASIA MINOR London, Sept. 20.—(Reuters)—It is reported that the British evacuation of Asia Minor has begun.

STEEL REPORT DENIED. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 20.—Reports that the United States Steel Corporation would shut down its plants in the Pittsburgh district unless there was 100 per cent union loyalty shown by the workers, were denied today at the offices of the Carnegie Steel Company, a subsidiary. It was said the plants could operate as long as men report for work.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY. In honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, relatives and friends last evening assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gillen, 23 Victoria street, and tendered them a hearty and substantial congratulations. They received several handsome gifts as tokens of best wishes for many more years of wedded happiness. Among those present was Mrs. J. E. Rupert, sister of Mrs. Gillen, who has been visiting her for some weeks and who will leave this evening on her return to her home in West Medford, Mass. Music and games afforded pleasure to the gathering.

WESTERLY GALLES The storm signal indicating westerly gales was displayed from the tower of the local customs house this morning.

As Hiram Sees It

The Settlement, Sept. 20. Hiram and the Times reporter had been gathering cucumbers and squash for a frost had struck the vines and it was time to save the crop. They had a fairly busy afternoon in the garden, the sun was warm and sunny, tempered by a breeze, and it was with a relish they set down to supper. "Hiram," said the reporter, "I want to congratulate you on your farming. Every year you seem to have turned out well. Finer potatoes I have not seen. Not a sign of rot among them." "That's Bordeaux mixture," said Hiram. "Some of my neighbors who didn't use it is complainin' about their crop. I told 'em in the spring what they ought to do—but they didn't." "But everything seems to flourish with you," said the reporter. "How is it?" "Well, sir," said Hiram, "I don't set on the fence an' talk to everybody that comes along when the crops is growin'. No, sir. An' that makes a good deal of the difference. Of course, I try to get good seed an' plant it right—but that ain't all, by no manner o' means. You got to watch right along. There's weedin', an' hoein', an' cultivatin'—an' some-thin' to tend to all the time. I like to potter around among stuff that's growin' good—an' give it a better chance. These fellers that goes around all the time talkin' like a calf goid' to market about the bad weather, an' the poor crops, an' the hard times—they ain't farmers at all—By Hen. If I kin get my hands on a piece o' ground here, I kin tendin' the crop when it's growin' I orto be kicked if I don't—yes, sir."

"There is just one thing more I want to congratulate you on," said the reporter, "and that is on having a wife who can put everything you raise to the best possible use. I thank you, Mrs. Hornbeam—really, I would wish another piece of that pie."

HE HOLDS BACK DATE OF THE ELECTIONS Quebec, Sept. 20.—The international labor unions have decided to put one of their own representatives in the field as candidate for the federal seat in Quebec East in the coming by-election, a vacancy caused by the death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Michael Walsh was nominated, and he accepted.

F. X. Gallois, Liberal Independent, and Oscar Drouin, Liberal, have also thrown their hats in the ring, and Dr. Alphonse Lessard, in the presence of the official nominee by the Liberal convention to be held soon.

Cooper-Pettie A nuptial event of interest to a large circle of friends took place on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Pettie, South Coles, N. B., when their youngest daughter, Florence Mabel, was united in marriage to Charles Frederick Cooper of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Prescott, in the presence of immediate friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white silk and carried a prayer book. She was attended by Miss Gertrude Cooper, sister of the groom, and the groom was supported by Charles E. Pettie, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served in the dining-room, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Both bride and groom are very popular young people, as was witnessed by the magnificent array of handsome and costly gifts received, including cut glass and silverware, also substantial sums in cash. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper left on a honeymoon trip to cities of interest in the States of Maine and Massachusetts, Ennis, Bangor, Me.; also Mrs. W. R. McLaughlin of Rockland, Me., both of whom are sisters of the bride. The bride's going-away dress was of navy blue serge with hat to match.

DEATH OF WM. H. WHELPLEY There died in Providence, R. I., on August 20, a man who was much in the public notice in St. John some years ago in the person of William H. Whelpley, but who was living in the United States for the last quarter of a century. For twenty years he had been with the Otis Elevator Company for a long time in Bangor, Me.; and the last five or six years in Providence, where his death occurred after an operation for appendicitis, complicated with pneumonia. He was noted among the speed skaters of the city. He is survived by his wife, who was a daughter of the late Emory Belyea of St. John, and one son and one daughter besides his mother, Mrs. William H. Whelpley of Long Beach, four brothers and two sisters. The latter are Mrs. David Pitt of Boston and Mrs. H. L. Williams of Long Beach, Bangor, Me.; also Mrs. W. R. McLaughlin of Rockland, Me., both of whom are sisters of the bride. The funeral took place in Cambridge, Mass.

SOLDIER AND BRIDE Among the soldiers to bring home English brides was Private J. S. Haberfield, who arrived home yesterday after having seen forty-two months of service in France. He was married to Miss Fannie Booth of Stockport, Lancashire, England, whom he met in Manchester while on leave on July 16, 1914, and his wife arrived in Quebec recently and came to this city yesterday. Private Haberfield enlisted in No. 5 Canadian army service corps in April, 1915. His father, J. Haberfield, who is now sixty-six years of age, enlisted with the Canadian railway troops and went overseas to France, meeting his son at Passchendaele.

IN THE MARKET. Despite reports of many moose and deer having been bagged through the province there was a scarcity of game in the country market this morning and prices ruled as high as on choice cuts of beef, forty cents a pound being asked for wild ducks sold at $1.50 a pair. Chickens were reported scarce and brought 55 to 60 cents a pound with fowl 45 and 50. Eggs sold at 65 cents a dozen and butter 55 cents a pound. Lamb was quite plentiful and sold from 20 to 30 cents a pound, veal 25 to 35, beef 20 to 40. Vegetables were abundant and about the same in price as last week.

Allied Naval Guns Said To Be Trained On Fiume

Report Adds That D'Annunzio Has Been Given 24 Hours to Move Out of Disputed City—A Difference of Official Opinion

London, Sept. 20.—After a conference of Allied commanders at Abbazia, Allied warships have left the harbor of Fiume and have levelled their guns on the town, according to a German government wireless report quoting advice received in Berlin to Laibach and Vienna. The dispatch states that it is assumed an ultimatum will be sent demanding that Captain D'Annunzio's forces evacuate the town within twenty-four hours.

Rome, Sept. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Among measures adopted by the government to prevent reinforcements from reaching the Italian "irregular" troops in Fiume, is a military order removing the magnets from airplanes at all aviation camps.

Captain D'Annunzio has already succeeded in gathering about him at Fiume airplanes forming part of his famous squadron. Rome, Sept. 20.—Premier Nitti and Foreign Minister Tittoni have disagreed over the Fiume incident, the latter insisting to tend to all the time. I like to potter around among stuff that's growin' good—an' give it a better chance. These fellers that goes around all the time talkin' like a calf goid' to market about the bad weather, an' the poor crops, an' the hard times—they ain't farmers at all—By Hen. If I kin get my hands on a piece o' ground here, I kin tendin' the crop when it's growin' I orto be kicked if I don't—yes, sir."

A despatch from Trieste says a fleet of airplanes has landed near Fiume and has been placed at the disposal of the captain Gabriele D'Annunzio, having flown from one of the Italian aviation camps. A brigade of Lombardy troops which arrived at Fiume and volunteered to join the D'Annunzio forces was sent back to its garrison, says a despatch to the Messenger.

There is just one thing more I want to congratulate you on," said the reporter, "and that is on having a wife who can put everything you raise to the best possible use. I thank you, Mrs. Hornbeam—really, I would wish another piece of that pie."

SEVERAL CANDIDATES FOR SEAT VACATED BY DEATH OF SIR WILFRID BALFOUR TO BE EARL IS REPORT

Ultimate Intention to Ask Him to Be Ambassador to United States

London, Sept. 19.—According to the Daily Mirror, Arthur J. Balfour, secretary of state for foreign affairs, is soon to be created an earl in recognition of his services to the empire during the war.

The newspaper adds that the raising of Mr. Balfour to an earldom is likely to come simultaneously with his retirement from the foreign office, which is expected to take place during the autumn.

The Mirror says also that when Viscount Grey relinquishes his post of ambassador to the United States a few months hence, Mr. Balfour may be invited to succeed him.

Walter Gilbert. WM. F. GRIFFITHS IS PRESIDENT AGAIN

The matter of re-classification of civil servants will probably engage the attention of the house of commons next week, it being expected that the bill providing for such will be brought in on Monday. Wm. F. Griffiths, of the local railway staff, who returned this week from Ottawa where he was attending, as president, the convention of the Dominion Federation of Railway Mail Clerks, said today that much interest was being taken in the measure. It had been one of the matters under discussion at the convention and he was one of those appointed to interview the premier with respect to it.

It provides for examination of members of the civil service for promotion to positions above those they now hold, for the recognition of ability and service rather than allowing outside influence to interfere in the matter of promotions.

Mr. Griffiths said the convention had been quite satisfactory and had been well attended by delegates from all provinces. He said that in addition to the question of re-classification there had also come up the matter of better provision for railway mail clerks on trains, with the suggestion of using steel cars, instead of wooden ones.

The honor of being re-elected president for the next two years was accorded Mr. Griffiths. The other delegate from New Brunswick was D. Dalgic of Edmundston.

SUCCESSFUL WORK AGAINST BOLSHEVIK; BRITISH IN IT. London, Sept. 19.—A war office communication issued tonight records a successful anti-Bolshevik operation by British, Serbian and Russian troops with the capture of two villages on the north-west shore of Lake Onega. The republic by aircraft fifteen Bolsheviki vessels which attempted to intercept the landing of an Allied column on the western shore of the lake is also reported.

No dates are given as to when these incidents took place, but they are regarded in some quarters here as indicating a movement towards Petrograd, possibly confirming the recent suggestion that it is the intention to evacuate Archangel by that route.

The communication issued tonight claims a series of successful attacks in the Tsaritsin district with the capture of more than 4,000 Bolsheviki troops. It adds that General Denekine's advance continues steadily northeast of Kharkov, but that the Bolsheviki have recaptured Koelets, northeast of Kiev.

"It is kind of you to offer it, but Fred left us beyond need of financial assistance. Three years ago he was persuaded to buy an Imperial Monthly Income Policy." "I opposed the idea then, but I realized how many good friends we have, and I count not the least among them the young man who persuaded Fred to buy that Imperial Monthly Income Policy." "The hundred dollars which I am to get from The Imperial Life, every month, as long as I live, makes it unnecessary for me to become a burden to my friends." "If I don't live for twenty years, the monthly income will go to Mary to keep her until she is well able to look after herself." "It is not until lately that I have realized how many good friends we have, and I count not the least among them the young man who persuaded Fred to buy that Imperial Monthly Income Policy." Thousands of good wives and mothers, made desperate by circumstances, are literally compelled to fall back upon the practical kindness of those whom they have known in "better days." It may mean some sacrifice on your part to protect your loved ones from such misfortune, but are they not worth the sacrifice?

RAILWAYS OF FRANCE AND U. S. COMPARED

American Railway Man Finds Roads in Old Country Better Built, But Not So Efficiently Operated.

Brig. Gen. W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company and former director-general of transportation of the American expeditionary force in France, in an interview published by the Baltimore & Ohio Employes' Magazine, says a warm tribute to the railroad men of the transportation corps of the United States army and discusses features of the relative merits of French and American railroading. General Atterbury says, in part: "I believe that we in this country have been 'fed up' on the greater safety of French railroads. It is, of course, quite difficult to arrive at a fair measure of comparison, considering the great difference in the way of equipment, methods of operation, etc., but taking everything into consideration, my opinion is that, on the whole, the operation of our railroads is, in reality, even safer than theirs, because of our highly developed methods of train dispatching, our superior signal systems and the general and increasing use in this country of steel or steel underframe passenger cars.

"The French and Germans, too, for that matter, are much more highly disciplined than our Americans; they have greater respect for laws and regulations. As you know, it is the breaking of the rules of our American railroads that is so often the cause of our accidents.

"The French build more slowly and more surely than we do. Their ballast and their drainage are better. And this insistence on permanency and stability is not only shown in the construction of their roadbeds, but also in the building of their bridges and other structure of all kinds. They had been suffering the devastation and destruction of war for three years. Yet their tracks and equipment in general has stood up under the excessive hard usage remarkably well; and this with very little time and money having been devoted to maintenance.

"It is not an uncommon thing to see an engine on a French railroad which is sixty years old, and still giving good service. While this is a tribute to their careful workmanship and exacting repair methods, it must be remembered that our own engines would last as long if they were not continually being discarded, before being worn out, for newer and more powerful types. In France, generally speaking, they scrap locomotives only for age; here we scrap them for obsolescence.

"You will probably be surprised to know that just before the war the Paris, Lyons & Mediterranean, the largest private owned line in France, carried more passengers in a single year than did the Pennsylvania system. Yet this is not so strange when we consider the greater density of population in France and the closer proximity of their cities, both indicative of a larger amount of

PREDICTS ERA OF CHAOS IN ASIA

(Continued from page 1) tion, among others, of these two particular points—the claims of Persia to compensation for material damage sustained during the war, and the rectification of the fronts of Persia at points agreed upon by the parties. To this end I shall be only too happy to be chosen for these matters to be discussed, which will be as soon as is practicable. I believe that among other subjects which will occupy the Shah of Persia during his visit to England will be conversations with myself upon this matter. I shall be only too happy to enter into these discussions and arrive at an agreement. Should he so desire, we shall give our support to Persian delegates at Paris should they wish to raise these claims before the peace conference in that city.

"If I attempt to forecast the future, nothing seems to me in this era of confusion and chaos to be more certain than a time of great trouble and unforeseen development lies before the continent of Asia. I doubt very much whether, as a result of the war, we shall see in pacifying Europe, but whether we do or not, I am quite certain we shall not for some time secure stability in Asia. The break up of the two great empires of Russia and Turkey has left a vacuum in this area, which it will take a great deal to fill with orderly settled elements.

I ask our guest to give, as I am confident will be able to do, recognition of the fact that in the recent negotiations between us both parties acted with absolute freedom and were subject to no pressure whatsoever. We could not have imposed this agreement upon Persia if Persia had not been willing to accept it, and that country could not have wrung it from us. We are jointly prepared to defend this agreement, and look forward to the vindication of its real character in its operation."

A WAR MYSTERY. The following notice was published in district orders recently: "An inquiry has been received in regard to a sum of money in gold, state to have been buried on LaFolle Farm on the top of Vimy Ridge by the owner of the property. This money is stated to have been subsequently found by Canadian soldiers while digging in a gun, and to have been handed over by them to their superior officer. Any one possessing any information in regard to this matter should forward such information immediately to Militia Headquarters, quoting the undermentioned reference."

THE PRINCE AT NIPIGON

WARRANT OF $20,000 FOR VISIT OF PRINCE OF WALES TO CANADA

Ottawa, Sept. 20—Governor-general's warrants covering unforeseen expenditures aggregating $795,000, were issued during the parliamentary recess, according to a return tabled in parliament yesterday by Hon. A. K. MacLean. Of this amount $375,000 covered the cost of moving stock from and to dry areas in western Canada, $400,000 was required in connection with the reconstruction of the government elevator at Port Colborne, while $20,000 was required to cover the cost of the visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada.

FIFTEEN YEAR OLD HUSBAND WANTS TO BE FREE AGAIN

Montreal, Sept. 20—Rene Juras, who gained some notoriety as a fifteen-year-old husband, and whose early marriage has brought him once before the police court and twice before the juvenile court, has had enough of matrimony and though his lawyer and his family, has entered a formal petition for the annulment of his marriage.

As the marriage of Juras was solemnized in the Catholic church, his attorney, A. S. Archambault, K. C., following the usual channel, has filed a petition before the ecclesiastical authorities.

SUNKEN STEAMER IS LIKELY THE VALBANERA

U. S. Naval Officer Says He Saw Name Plate—Missing Ship Had 450 People Aboard

Ke- West, Fla., Sept. 20—That the Spanish steamer Valbanera, carrying 300 passengers and a crew of 150, went down in the hurricane that swept Key West ten days ago appeared to have been made certain last night by a statement of Ensign L. B. Roberts, commanding officer of the United States submarine chaser 203, who said he painfully saw the name plate of that steamer on a vessel found yesterday in an investigation of the sunken vessel. The wreck was seen by the sub chaser and the coast guard vessel Tuscarora near Rebecca Shoals Lighthouse, about forty miles from Key West. It lay in water which covers a bed of quicksand. No bodies were seen.

The Valbanera has been missing since the storm which caught her as she neared Havana en route from Spanish ports to New Orleans. The passengers are thought to have been almost entirely Spaniards or Cubans, as virtually all of them were to have departed at Havana.

Madrid, Sept. 20—Despatches from Havana confirm the loss of the Spanish steamship Valbanera. Among the first class passengers was Anastasio Sierra, a Havana merchant, who was accompanied by his three children. There were five second class passengers and sixty-four third class.

TROOPS FROM REGINA LANDED THIS MORNING

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 20—The transport Regina, which reached port a little after eight o'clock last night, docked at Pier No. 2 at seven o'clock this morning. On board were 1400 members of various Canadian details. There were thirty officers and three nursing sisters. The Regina carried no civilian passengers. Disembarkation was very rapid and nearly all the troops had left the boat by nine o'clock. Major C. H. Westmore was the officer in charge.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPT. 20, 1919

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

"HANDSOME IS AS HANDSOME DOES"

The people of St. John should long since have discovered that in the matter of railway connections and terminal facilities they will not get anything from the Federal government, or from the various bureaus or commissions to which the Federal government delegates powers, without fighting for it.

The proposal here is not to discuss the matter from a political standpoint. We do not assume for the purpose of this argument that St. John will fare any better at the hands of one political party than at those of another.

For a long time past the government, and the Canadian National Railways Board—a creation of the government—have ignored St. John's value to the rest of Canada by reason of its open harbor and the short haul which constitutes a decisive advantage in sound national transportation.

It is a fact that if, during the coming winter, there should be sent to St. John by way of McGivney that portion of the traffic which would naturally be coming here because St. John is the proper objective, we should be told that we have not the docking facilities, the yard room, the properly placed elevators, the immigration sheds, the trackage, the switching arrangements, and other facilities necessary to handle such traffic cheaply and expeditiously.

But such foresight as has marked the policy of the government, and of the government's creations, has been directed toward constructing terminals at Halifax and improving the Moncton-Halifax railway connection, with the idea that Halifax is the natural terminus of the bulk of the export and import business of this country after ice has locked up the great St. Lawrence.

And this, as the Evening Times ventures to suggest, is the situation confronting St. John today, a situation calling for prompt, energetic, aggressive conference and action between those organizations and those men in St. John who believe in the port, who know how good our case is, who approved of the policy under which St. John spent millions of its own money to secure recognition as a winter port.

The people of the Great West and Ontario have in the House of Commons sufficient members to hold the balance of power if they act in concert. Those western and Ontario members have no prejudice against the port of St. John. In fact, taking the business view, they want their export and import freight so routed that it will be hauled as cheaply and as rapidly as possible. We must take our case to the highest court in the country—the House of Commons, which makes and unmake governments. We must show them what the real situation is. We must make them see that this is not a local question with us, but, in a very true sense, our business is their business.

We must ask them as reasonable men why freight is hauled past Dorchester, when the fact is that the same locomotive power which hauled it to Dorchester, one hundred and fifty odd miles from Halifax, would haul it to the steamer's side in St. John. If we do this, and if we concentrate upon it as the first business of the hour, we shall have no great trouble with the politicians.

We must have on the floors of the House of Commons, regardless of politics, men who can hammer this case home and win from the first court of the country a definite and comprehensive plan of national transportation which will serve Canada by putting St. John on the front street.

WELCOME VISITORS.

It is to be hoped that Irvin S. Cobb will find it possible to accept the invitation to address the Canadian Club during his stay in St. John next month. Mr. Cobb is one of the best known writers on the continent and has been hailed as the foremost of present-day American humorists. There is depth as well as sparkle to much of his work and his experiences in the war some during recent years have given him an immense fund of material from which to draw inspiration for his writings.

Other members of the party of writers who are to pass through St. John on their way to the sister province will be sure of an equally hearty reception. New Brunswick has received wide publicity of incalculable value as a result of the visit of the group of writers who spent some time here last year and, while this province is not the chief objective of the men who are coming in October, those who are interested in making known the attractions and resources of the province should not lose the opportunity presented by their stay in St. John.

We have in New Brunswick a country of unrivalled attractions, but these attractions must be made known more widely if we are to reap any great benefit from them. While we are ready to welcome all visitors to New Brunswick in hospitable fashion for their own sakes, we need not overlook the commercial advantages which are to be derived from an influx of tourists and sportsmen who would bring much money to the province, and leave most of it behind them when they depart.

The proposal to inaugurate a series of concerts in this city will be received with general satisfaction. St. John has given little encouragement to local musical talent and little opportunity for its development, and anything which would tend to remedy this condition should be encouraged. In addition to those whose knowledge of music gives them the ability to appreciate fully the best in that art, there are thousands whose appreciation may not be so critical but who enjoy good music and who would be glad of the opportunity to hear more of it.

If the despatches correctly depict the situation in the Hungarian capital, the Roumanians continue to behave badly there, even though withdrawing their forces. They went into Budapest against the Allies' wishes and they evidently leave with poor grace. It may yet be necessary to take a bit sharply with them.

Viscount Grey is on his way to the United States to fill temporarily the position of British Ambassador. That is an interesting report which names Mr. Balfour as ultimate permanent appointee to the Washington office.

After twenty-three years a man in Kansas City has confessed to the killing of his daughter, and another crime mystery is solved. There's something in the saying "murder will out."

With two treaties signed and a third presented, the Peace Conference takes a vacation, awaiting some show of a stable government at Budapest.

NEW MINISTER

Hon. Antonin Galigneault, M.P. P. of the Province of Quebec.

(Copyright by George Matthew Adams.)

Uncle Sam's as slick as wax is, and he's in a class alone; when he asks me for my taxes, I dig up with a groan; oh I dig the hard-earned money, put it in a sack of gunny, and with smile serene and sunny, I don't waste it so; people tell me, hourly, daily, that our Uncle burns the dough; he blows in the precious roubles like a drunkard blowing bubbles, caring little for the troubles that their earning made us know.

TAXES.

Uncle Sam, all our struggles to forget; for the sins of our fathers, cold and clean; we have earned in toll and sweat; you are welcome, when you need 'em, in the sacred cause of freedom, but you really shouldn't feel 'em to the cows, already yet. We have earned them at the forge, we have earned them pitching 'aters; we have earned them digging 'aters, we have earned them steering freighters, and it jars us to our gaiters when you throw the sends away. Uncle, let there be an ending to the carnival of wastes, and this jamboree of spending; let us seemly haste; save the taxes and the wages, so that on the shining pages of the works of future sages, your redemption may be traced.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Dominion Happenings of Other Days

A Tragic Earth-quake.

What a cliff that is upon which the upper portion of the city of Quebec is located. It is the pride of every one of the residents of the place and the wonder of all tourists who voyage up and down the St. Lawrence each summer.

Every summer great masses of the rock are torn away from the parent cliffs and fall into the debris below. In many places the little houses seem to be in grave danger as they nestle at the base of the cliffs. But year after year they pass securely and without danger.

On Sept. 19, 1888, a great mass of the rock fell and the worst accident in the history of the masses occurred. A flow of earth, sliding down the face of the hillside, burying deep the seven happy homes that had been erected under the shadow of the towering rock.

The St. Clair Tunnel.

For years traffic across the Canadian-United States frontier between Sarnia and Port Huron was hampered because a great river flowed between the two cities. Both were centres from which continental railway transportation lines branched. Ferry services were slow and costly and at the best but a poor way of meeting the enormous trade opportunities the two nations offered.

A tunnel was first a reality. One day engineers started the work that was to connect Canada and the United States by a hole beneath the St. Clair River. By compressed air a great shield was forced through the soil beneath the stream and foot by foot a tube was constructed under the water as the earth was removed.

On Sept. 19, 1890, Sir Henry Tyler, chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway board, officially declared the bore open to the two Anglo-Saxon peoples dwelling in North America. On the day following the final preparations for the real use of the St. Clair tunnel were begun.

THE BLACK BOREEN.

(Nora Chesson Hopper, in New York Evening Mail.)

There's a lane beyond the village that they call the Black Boreen, and there's the earliest cowpals, and grass is soonest green; and if you're there at noontide when shadows shorten all, you'll maybe hear a fairy voice out of the hedgerow call—

So they say! If you should go at twilight into the Black Boreen, shut fast the lids upon your eyes lest fairy hands be seen. Stretch out the hand to hold you, to stop you as you pass, to draw you to your dancing upon the hungry grass—

Och, you may! If you should go by moonlight into the Black Boreen, you never will come out again as light-heart as you've been; you will have looked on beauty too much for earth to bear—

Och, I was in the Black Boreen and saw the fairies there— Yesterday.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Mrs. Haughton—My ancestors, were among the Plymouth Rock Pilgrims. Little Willie—Oh, now I know why ma says you're an old hen.—Baltimore American.

Naturally. "I suppose when Hungary settles its government it will change its form of national assembly." "Why should it?" "Because its Diet might not agree with its new constitution."—Baltimore American.

New Variety. "Mama, I want a dark breakfast." "Dark breakfast? What do you mean, child?" "Why, last night you told Mary to give me a light supper, and I didn't like it."—Bijahy (London).

First Rustic (in London Bystander)—It looks like Bill was going to marry that there wilder. Second Rustic—Well, 'e might do worse. Her first husband left an uncommon good overcoat. "Number, please?" says the fair, if dilatory operator, quoted in Life, "Never mind, central, I wanted the fire department, but the house has burned down now."

ORIGIN OF THE TRICOLOR

(By special correspondence of The Christian Science Monitor.)

Paris, France—As one gazes at the innumerable flags decking the windows of the City of Light, which is gradually examining its usual life, one realizes, that the whole history of France is, so to speak, contained in the glorious emblem which has led France on through the bitterest struggles to the greatest victory. Her heroic armies have gained until now. Yet the Bleu-Blanc-Rouge of the color of France symbolically sums up all the vicissitudes through which the country has passed since the earliest days of its national history.

According to a habit which was perpetuated for several centuries, the first kings of France had chosen, as their emblem, the religious banner of the saint in whom they had most faith. As the first patron of the rising monarchy of France was Saint Martin, it was therefore very natural that the Frankish kings should have chosen his cope as a banner. It is more probable, however, that this was the banner of his abbot, St. Denis, and blue became the national color of France until the accession of the new dynasty of the Carolingians to the throne made it indispensable that the national standard should be changed, so as to affirm more strikingly the rule of the new sovereigns.

For the cope of Saint Martin, whose arms were always retained in the royal banner of Saint Denis, which the new kings had chosen for their particular patron. Now this standard of the Carolingians was to become celebrated in the course of French history under the name of the "Oriflamme" of red silk, bearing ornaments either of silver or gold. Thus, red became in its turn the color of the kings of France; and during the Holy Crusades, and were still faithful to it until the latter part of the fourteenth century.

In the Wars of the Roses. "Du Guesclin," says Mr. Roy, in his interesting "History of the Plantagenets," the Red Cross when warring against the White Cross of the English in Poitou. However, after the defeat of Agincourt, Henry and when the King of England, Henry V, had become master of Paris and of the Abbey of Saint Denis, and had assumed the title of King of France, the exclusive color of the French, for the kings distributed red flags and scarves to their partisans, while on the contrary, the King of Navarre and the Calvinist troops adopted white banners.

It is also curious to note that the tricolor after the revolution was definitely adopted, was more than once adopted by the kings of France—if not as a flag, at least as a livery! Thus, under Francis I, Henry II, Francis II, and Henri III, the royal pages were dressed in tricolor uniforms, and under Henri IV, the royal halberdiers and footmen were clothed in tricolor costumes. Nor was this simply due to a royal caprice. For Henri IV, the tricolor was already a national flag, and it is only necessary to point out that when, at the end of his reign, Holland asked leave to assume the French colors, he was immediately consented to, and the flag which he sent to the Stadtholder of Amsterdam was a tricolor flag!

Tricolor Ever Popular. At the wedding of Louis XIV, the documents of the time specially mention the fact that the livery worn by the "gens du roy" consisted of tricolor checked suits, whilst the red costumes which had been worn since the time of Louis XIV by the royal servants were always trimmed with blue and white braid.

The tricolor was not officially recognized as the national emblem of France at the beginning of the eighteenth century, French soldiers donned the tricolor after the alliance formed between the kings of France and Spain and the elector of Bavaria. When the three armies were combined it was decided that the soldiers should don a cockade, which, in order the better to symbolize the union of the three nations would unite the colors of each. Thus it was that the white of France was allied to the red of Spain and to the blue of Bavaria.

However, in 1789, the revolution came very near adopting green, popularized by Camille Desmoulin at the Palais Royal, as the national emblem of France. But it was remembered, just in time, that green was the livery of the Count of Artois, the most unpopular of all princes, and thus it was definitely rejected. It was then proposed that France should adopt the colors of its capital, the city of Paris, red and blue, already celebrated in more than one popular riot, and which the Provençal Etienne Marcel had worn as early as 1488 on his revolutionary hood. To these colors the new standard of the French people soon joined white, which belonged to the national guard of Paris, still faithful to royalty and its emblems.

The tricolor was definitely adopted only a few months after the taking of the Bastille, and Bailly and Lafayette offered a tricolor cockade to Louis XVI in the great hall of the Hotel de Ville. The convention ratified this choice of the national emblem at the sitting it held on the 27th of July (January and February) in the second year of the republic.

"The navilion as well as the national flag will be formed of the three national colors in three equal bands, so that the blue may come next the staff, the white in the middle, and the red wave in the air."

Suppose There Was No Paint!

The hot summer sun would broil the life out of your house and barn, the winter rain and snow and sleet would rot the wood, and the wind would rack them asunder.

But there is paint—good paint, Hand and Ring Pure Prepared Paint, and we sell it. Paint up NOW. By having your property painted this fall you'll prepare for the wear and tear of winter storms.

flag will be formed of the three national colors in three equal bands, so that the blue may come next the staff, the white in the middle, and the red wave in the air.

Several decrees, a law of 1791 concerning the flag of the republic and another dealing with the flag of the national guards, sanctioned the three colors of the French flag in the order mentioned above.

Truly the tricolor is the only flag worthy of floating over the soil of modern France which is formed out of the debris of ancient Gaul. For, by a strange coincidence, the tricolor unites the three colors adopted eighteen centuries ago by the three great nations when they peopled Gaul—the blue of the Celt, the white of the Belgian, and the red of the Aquitanian Gaul!

RECENT WEDDINGS

Clark-Melaney.
Miss Helen Seeley Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sutton Clark, was married on Wednesday afternoon to Dr. Frank Lemont Melaney, of Brooklyn (N. Y.). The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Mortimer at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the family and a number of intimate friends.

Hitchcock-Dickson.
A wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening at St. David's Presbyterian church, Kirkland (N. B.), when Mary Hazel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dickson, became the bride of Amos G. Hitchcock, of Ortonville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Millar assisted by Rev. M. S. McKay.

McAuley-Steeves.
A pretty wedding took place at the home of Benjamin Steeves, Campbellton, on the evening of Sept. 17, when his daughter, Hattie Albina, was united in marriage to George Wilbur McAuley of Jacquet River, Restigouche county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Camp, B.D., pastor of the Baptist church, in the presence of about fifty friends of the bridal party.

Irving-Steeves.
Hillsboro, N.B., Sept. 18.—One of the prettiest home weddings of the season was solemnized on Wednesday evening, Sept. 17, at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Steeves, Albert Mines, when their eldest daughter, Minetta Evelyn, was united in marriage to Mr. Everett E. Irving, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Irving of this place, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Aubrey Horwood, pastor of the United Valley Baptist church, in the presence of only immediate friends and relatives.

RECENT DEATHS

J. S. Edwards.
J. S. Edwards, formerly of this city, but for several years resident in Halifax, died in that city yesterday. He is survived by his wife, three sons, one of whom, Roy, was an original member of the 26th Battalion, and two daughters. One brother, William, of Augusta (Me.), and two sisters, Mrs. A. Tilley, of this city, and Mrs. George Keithlin, of Glenwood, Kings county, also survive the deceased.

Mr. Edwards was a well known and prominent citizen of our sister city and had served as an alderman. He made frequent visits to St. John and many friends here will hear with deep regret of his death.

William Spinney, a veteran of the civil war, died in St. George on Sept. 16, leaving a widow, four sons and one daughter all of St. George.

Alvin W. Haddock died at his home in St. Andrews last Sunday, leaving one sister and one brother. The funeral was held under the auspices of the K. of P. of which he was a member.

Lettuce Kills Baby.
London, Sept. 20.—"Accidental death" was the coroner's verdict at the inquest at Brixton on a seven-months-old baby who picked up a piece of lettuce, swallowed it, and died in convulsions.

Killed by Halfpenny.
London, Sept. 20.—While playing with a half-penny coin, George Walton, an eighteen-months-old infant, at Lestock Hall, swallowed it and died before a surgeon could remove it.

Paid Long After Death.
Clearfield, Pa., Sept. 20.—Fenwick McCloud is in receipt of a check for $15 from the United States government, accompanied by a letter, explaining that the amount was his father's for services rendered fifty-three years ago. McCloud's father died forty-seven years ago.

Fatal Courtesy.
London, Sept. 20.—Courtesy to a stranger led to the death of Thomas Dunn, nineteen, before his fiancée's eyes in the River Ness. Dunn and Miss Elsie Read had gone out in a canoe. An angler asked him to release a line which was entangled in a tree. In standing up he upset the canoe and was drowned before aid could reach him.

Suicide at Twelve.
London, Sept. 20.—Stanton Bayliss, a twelve-year-old schoolboy at Birmingham, hanged himself after being reproved by the headmaster of the school which he attended there. The body was found swinging from a grotto in the cellar.

Things Are Not Always

—as they seem. Take for instance that material known as Silver Plate and compare it with any article which bears our mark—"Birks E.P.S."

It may be a beautiful "Silver Flower Basket" or an elaborate Centre-piece or Casserole or only a humble Spoon or Fork—our imprint stamps it as a piece of guaranteed quality.

Composed of an under metal of zinc, English Nickel Silver upon which we ourselves deposit a heavy coating of pure silver. It is then hardened by a process of hand burnishing—this also gives it the endurance and appearance of Sterling Silver. The pleasure and satisfaction that you will get out of Birks' Plate is something worth while—ask any of your friends who know.

LOCAL NEWS

ENLARGEMENT.
The New Freeman appears this morning in enlarged form. The six column size has given way to the standard newspaper page. Naturally the paper benefits by the change, both in appearance and in amount of reading matter.

NO DEVELOPMENTS
The detectives had nothing further to report this morning concerning the gambling case which was aired in the police court yesterday. They are being given very generous praise for their prompt action in effecting arrests in the case.

BASEBALL
The Carleton Juniors defeated the Courtenay Juniors in an exciting game of baseball this morning by a score of 6-4. The battery for the winners was McLeod and Campbell, while White and Joyce formed the battery for the losers.

CHAUTAUQUA IN HAMPTON.
The Chautauqua which is now being held in Hampton was well attended last night. Dr. Frank Bohn was the lecturer last night and his subject was the revolutions in Europe at the present time, including Bolshevism. He also discussed the League of Nations.

BURIED TODAY
The funeral of John P. Bawn took place this afternoon from his late residence, Eastmount. Service in St. Mary's church was conducted by Rev. R. Taylor McKim, and interment made in Fernhill.

A SURPRISE PARTY
About thirty friends called last evening at the home of Joseph Johnson, 62 Eldon street, and tendered him a surprise party in honor of his birthday. With their congratulations they presented a smoking stand and other gifts. Music and games were enjoyed, and refreshments were served.

The many friends of Mrs. George Porter of Queen street will be glad to know that an operation which she underwent in the Springfield, Mass., hospital on Tuesday has proved successful. Messages to relatives here have been more encouraging each day, and the doctors now pronounce Mrs. Porter to be out of danger and well on the way towards complete recovery.

POLICE COURT
In the police court this morning Gregory Machias and Alexander Nicholas appeared, arrested on suspicion of stealing $50, the property of L. O'Neill, Gilbert's Lane, from the Y. M. C. I. building while Mr. O'Neill was in the swimming tank. No plea was entered and the accused remanded to jail until Monday morning at ten o'clock. H. O. McInerney and E. S. Ritchie appeared for the defence.

One man charged with drunkenness was remanded to jail.

Military advices here are that the men will reach St. John at half past four on Sunday afternoon.

OPEN REGISTRATION STATIONS IN THE CITY

Hon. Dr. Roberts Arranging Facilities for Women to Have Names on Voters Lists

In order to facilitate the work of having women register their names on the voting lists for the city, it was said by Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts this morning that the provincial government is arranging to open booths in each ward. An official will be in charge at certain hours. Dr. Roberts said that the procedure for the revision in St. John differs from that for the surrounding parishes and necessitates that each woman, not a taxpayer, make personal application to have her name added to the voters' list. Thus far there has been but one form of service arranged, sub-divided into two heads, one by mailing to one or other of the three revisions the sworn statement required, the other by attending the revisors' court for the purpose of registration. Either of these, he said, may be difficult for many women to do. To make the process easier for all women, Dr. Roberts has arranged with the provincial government to have placed in convenient points in each ward in the city, registration stations at which there will be an official to assist them in having their names registered so that they may have an opportunity if they so desire to exercise their franchise when the occasion presents itself. He wishes it understood that the ladies of the city will kindly bear in mind that registering their names places upon them no responsibility whatever regarding taxation or other civic obligations other than those at present existing. The location of the stations and the days or hours at which such will be open will be published next week in the local papers.

ST. JOHN GIRL WINS PRIZE AT THE BABY SHOW

Aubrey Young Takes First—Circus Performer Falls and is Injured at Fredericton Fair

(Special to Times)

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 20—Aubrey Young of Silver Farms, St. John County, won first prize in section III of the baby show at the Fredericton Exhibition, girls more than twelve months and less than twenty-four months.

One of the young women forming the Tasmanian Troupe of aerial performers at the exhibition met with an accident last night. The members of the troupe swung by the teeth in the air some distance from the ground. One lost her hold and fell. She was taken to Victoria Hospital. Although severely bruised she had no bones broken.

Elmer H. Clarkson and Jennie A. Stuart, of Stanley were united in marriage on September 17 in St. Paul's Presbyterian Manse by Rev. J. S. Sutherland.

At St. Paul's Presbyterian Manse on Wednesday Rev. J. S. Sutherland united in marriage Edwin A. Moore of Edmundston and Gertrude M. McLellan of Fredericton.

On Wednesday evening September 17th George M. Aiken of this city and Myrtle E. Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Logan of South Devon were united in marriage by Rev. Canon Cowie at Christ Church Parish Church. The witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Case of Burton. Mr. and Mrs. Aikens will take a short trip throughout the province and on return will reside in Hanwell Road.

TRAFFIC CASES.
A case against W. E. Brennan, charged with running his car in City road without a rear light burning, was resumed in the police court this morning.

Mokorman Trot of the street railway, who was on the night in question directing the street cars in City road, said he was spoken to by a policeman who asked, "Are there any cars speeding here or running without a rear light burning?" He said he told the policeman, "Stay here a few minutes and see for yourself." The witness said a car came along and about 10 o'clock car No. 7099, owned by W. E. Brennan, drove along and had no rear light burning.

The defendant said that he was at the Imperial on that evening and was not in City road. A fine of $200 was imposed but allowed to stand.

Thomas J. Dean was charged with operating a car in Main street without a number plate. He said he was not aware that the plate was missing then and it had since been put on. The explanation was accepted.

George McLennan, who was charged with driving his car past a street car while passengers were alighting, was allowed to go.

A case against Charles Harrington, who was charged with exceeding the speed limit in Adelaide street, Cyril Kee and Joseph Melanson denied that he was exceeding the speed limit. A fine of $10 was imposed but was allowed to stand.

Man In The Street

The women have hesitated to put their names on the voters' list for fear they might be taxed. As Irvin Cobb puts it, "You know how women are."

Still, after the experience that the taxpayer has had in mind that registering their names places upon them no responsibility whatever regarding taxation or other civic obligations other than those at present existing. The location of the stations and the days or hours at which such will be open will be published next week in the local papers.

Girl robber is said to have worked at her profession eight hours a day and six days a week. That's carrying it a bit too far.

The commissioner of ferries proposes widening the ferry boats. They were apparently too narrow to be observed at all when the government outlined the harbor commission bill.

Funny how returned men will hang around when coal is being shot down a metal chute in a cellar. Seems to be something attractively familiar in the racket.

One thing about some of the names of dogs in this week's show is that the puppies can't help it, poor things.

The price of milk has been singled out by the Moncton board of trade for protest to the board of commerce. Evidently few of the members are farmers.

Mr. O'Connor of the board of commerce sees quite a decline in food prices, but it would seem that the rest of us are rather near-sighted.

Local adv. says that "girls use lemon for sunburn and tan," but policemen say it has other uses.

U. S. Food authorities say that tons of goat meat have been sold in Detroit this year as spring lamb. Now, that that would get you, wouldn't it?

Immigration authorities in the States are concerned over the admission of a singer, asking the question "whether a second tenor is an artist or a laborer." Frequently he's not even a second tenor.

If local milk dealers are going to charge fifteen cents a quart for the milk some of them are selling now, has any one an idea of how much would be charged for the real milk of a few years ago?

THE PRINCE AMONG THE COWBOYS AND THE CREES

Takes Part in Cattle Round-up—Picturesque Scene as Stoney Indians Make Him Chief Morning Star

Despatches the other day gave a brief outline of the visit of the Prince of Wales to the southern Alberta cowboys and Indians. The Montreal Star's special despatch is worth reproducing in part. The writer says:

The Prince of Wales astonished the cowboys at the "Bas U" ranch at High River yesterday by running five miles across the prairie before breakfast.

These tough sons of the plains cannot understand a man walking when he can ride. Hence their amazement when they saw the slight young figure in a sweater and running togs foot legging across country alone before breakfast.

An elaborate ranch programme had been prepared for the prince's pleasure, branding, roping, and riding wild horses. "Bullet," the whirlwind equine demon of the prairies, was straining at the leash to buck his best for royalty. But after a great round-up of 2,000 cattle, a heavy rain cut off the rest of the programme. During the cattle round-up the prince rode out on horseback among the whirling, surging cattle, and helped to drive them in.

GIRL SWIMS 5 MILES TOWING AN UNCONSCIOUS BOY

Esther Fuller, Seventeen, Heroine of Corpus Christi

Saves Life of Brother in Cruelling Swim Through Hurricane—Bonds and Diamonds on Body of Another Girl

Corpus Christi, Texas, Sept. 20.—A stirring story of the hurricane and tidal wave of last Sunday is that of Esther Fuller, a seventeen year old girl. She swam five miles through Nueces Bay, towing the unconscious form of her nine-year-old brother Ted. To her the feat was a matter of course. "Why, what else should I do?" she said. "I could not leave him to drown and go on alone, could I?"

Brother and sister were swept into the tidal wave when their home was carried away in the height of the storm. The boy was hit by a piece of debris while struggling in the water and was rendered unconscious.

The girl seized him just as she started down and began her battle with wind and waves. Making use of every bit of driftwood and wreckage that came her way she struggled on, sometimes clinging to a house-top and at others only a board. Again she was forced to swim until almost exhausted before another piece of wreckage came within her reach.

For five miles she fought the hurricane and the waves. She and her brother were finally washed ashore on the opposite side of the bay, where they were found on Monday by rescue parties. Ted still was suffering from his injury. Esther, although suffering from exposure and exhaustion, was practically uninjured.

Searchers found $10,000 in Liberty Bonds and diamonds tied to the body of Miss Rosie Miller of Beville, Tex., which was washed ashore at Portland.

PRINCE TALKS OF ALIEN QUESTION

Speaks in Surprise in Address to People of Calgary

Calgary, Sept. 16.—The Prince of Wales sounded a note of deep earnestness when speaking at the civic luncheon here yesterday. He not only chose Calgary as a suitable place to refer to the alien problem in Canada, but he added later very significantly: "Canada has played such a great part in the war that she has more than won her place in the fraternity of nations. Proof of this was found in the appendixing of the signature of the representatives to the peace at Versailles. Her place in the British Commonwealth will increase until it is equal or maybe some day even greater than any part of the British Commonwealth."

Earlier in his speech he had declared how much he had noticed the divergent interests in Canadian life, divergencies which were heightened by the great distances. He referred in passing to "Here in the West you have a splendid alien human element to assimilate. I know that the assimilation will be achieved but it will need the co-operation of all classes, uniting together in the common cause, Canadian nationhood under the British flag. (Cheers). Serious differences and controversies are bound to ensue after the great war, but nothing can set Canada back if the people look on the wider interests of the Dominion as well as their own personal aims. I realize that in the scattered communities people are occupied in the all absorbing task of making good and they find the wide view rather difficult to keep, but I feel sure these wide views will be kept in view by the people of the West who will be called on to wield a wide influence not only in the Dominion but throughout Canada."

Speech Was a Surprise.

The Prince spoke with great seriousness the quality of his utterances was entirely unlooked for. For the most part up to the present he has confined himself to saying pleasant things about that part of the country where he has been for the time sojourning. It is the first time that he has attempted to touch intimate Canadian questions or utter anything of a political nature. That he should have tackled such a live issue as the alien question, especially in the West where it has a special significance, was a surprise to everyone.

The Prince's speech was somewhat longer, too, than usual. The distinguished company who heard his speech in reply to the Mayor's toast at the civic luncheon in the Hotel Palliser were much more restrained in their enthusiasm than usual. For almost the first time in the

DOMINION CHIEFS AGAINST UNIONS AMONG POLICEMEN

Calgary, Sept. 19.—A resolution was passed unanimously by the police chiefs of Canada, in convention here yesterday forbidding the unionism of police forces with a view to affiliating with labor movements and asking that legislation be passed to this end.

WORKERS FROM THE DOMINIONS IN THE BALKANS

The Canadian War Hospital Fund for Serbia, Montenegro and Macedonia, which was established as a Canadian enterprise with headquarters at Winnipeg, and which has received hearty support from all sections of Canada, has now reached the stage where actual work is being done in the Balkans under the personal supervision of Dr. F. W. Burnham, founder and president of the fund, who has been a prominent surgeon in Winnipeg for many years.

Rawcett New Rival

Is a coal Furnace, which is the result of more than half a century of successful experience and painstaking effort. It is the embodiment of all a Warm Air Furnace should be.

The New Rival is of the finest construction, most compact, durable and best finished Warm Air Furnace on the market. It has large heating surface, every inch of its external area being an active and effective source of heat radiation.

It has many features of unequalled excellence. Accept no substitute or you will regret it.

Ask for circular on Warm Air Furnaces.

Ask your dealer to show you the Rawcett Line or write direct.

Typhoid and Its Prevention

Timely Information and Advice by Provincial Department of Public Health.

Dr. George G. Melvin, chief medical officer of the department of public health for the province, issues the following on typhoid which ought to be read carefully by everybody. In our country where the seasons are so sharply differentiated into Winter, Spring, Summer and Autumn, it has for long been noted that in a very rough way, certain diseases, apparently, have favorite seasons. Thus small-pox, pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism and others are of more frequent occurrence in winter and early spring than at any other time. Summer, late summer with us, is the especial time for intestinal diseases in young children, while the typical disease of the end of summer and autumn is, beyond doubt, typhoid fever.

SUMMER COMPLAINT IS A SERIOUS BOWEL TROUBLE

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight, or it may be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it. You can't tell when it seizes on you, how it may end.

Allow the profuse diarrhoea, the vomiting and purging to continue for a day or two and you will become weak and prostrated. Just as soon as the bowels become looser, get a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and check these unnatural movements, and thus prevent the system from becoming weakened.

Mrs. L. J. Altzen, wife of the well known wholesale and retail fish dealer, 44 Hill St., Amherst, N. S., writes: "I have four children, the oldest being eight years old. Every summer they were troubled with Summer Complaint. Doctors' prescriptions did not seem to help them any. One day a friend asked me to use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I at once got a bottle, and to my surprise and wonder, I soon saw a change in them. I now keep a bottle of it in the house all the time, and will recommend it to any mother."

"Dr. Fowler's" is 35c a bottle. Get the original which has been put up for the past 74 years by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

There is no evidence of insistance upon the reinstatement of pre-war restrictions of output. Most impressive during the travels of our commission through Great Britain was the attitude of broad minded representatives of trade unionism in seeking to establish cordial plans of co-operative action between employers and employees. "Labor as a whole is more trustful of British employers than the government or the politicians. In considering Great Britain's industrial situation the American reader should remember that the government officially recognizes the legality of trade unionism, and there is practically no issue between employer and employed with respect to the enforcement of the principle of the closed shop."

NOTED WRITERS TO VISIT ST. JOHN

They're Coming Here After Moose - Irvin S. Cobb Among the Number

St. John will welcome a distinguished party of American literary men on October 14, amongst them Irvin S. Cobb, of the Saturday Evening Post. The secretary of the Canadian Club, C. W. Romans, has wired to Mr. Cobb asking him to be the guest of the club and address it on the occasion of his visit to the city and the answer to the telegram is eagerly awaited. Mr. Cobb was one of the first of the American war correspondents to reach the firing line in the late war. He was with the German army on its advance into Belgium and narrowly escaped being shot as a spy. His stories were reproduced in "The Telegraph" at the time. He has had thrilling experiences and is besides an author and a humorist of great repute.

The party of which he is a member, will arrive on the Montreal train on October 14 and will spend the afternoon and evening in St. John and cross to Digby on the morning of October 15 by the steamer Empress. From Digby the party will proceed to Kegonsarogee to spend ten or more days in the big game hunting grounds of Nova Scotia.

A. O. Seymour, of the C.P.R. publicity staff, was in the city yesterday making preparations for the visit here. He and other members of the C.P.R. staff will go with the party on the hunting trip.

The party includes some of the best known writers in America today as follows: Irvin S. Cobb and Harry Leon Wilson, of the Saturday Evening Post; Major Bozeman Bulger, New York Saturday UNIVERSITY SEERS EXCITED OVER A "NEW" PLANET. New York, Sept. 20.—The astronomers of a local university were greatly excited the other night over the discovery of a brand new planet in the sky. The planet was surrounded by an individual moon and a group of new satellites.

The biggest telescope in the observatory was brought out to study the phenomena and hurry calls were sent to other professors and scientists to come to the observatory. At the height of the excitement it was noted that a dark line, like a hair, seemed to run across the lens of the telescope. The glass was polished but still the "hair" remained.

Suddenly one of the professors saw a kite riding the gentle breeze and noted that the hair line ran from the kite through the "new planet" to a dormitory. Investigation showed that a student had rigged up the "phenomenon" which was suspended from the kite and lighted by a candle.

Latest Dog Fashion. London, Sept. 20.—The Alsatian wolf dog is the latest fashion in fancy pets. It is supposed to be a cross between a wolf and an Alsatian dog. ENGLAND TO BUILD HOMES FOR 250,000

Civic Federation Report Tells of Government Aid to Meet Housing Situation

Praises Trade Unions—A. P. Nevin Describes Opinion in Great Britain as Alert to Labor Conditions.

(New York Times.) Plans providing for 250,000 houses with government financial assistance have been made in Great Britain in an attempt to meet the housing needs of the nation, according to a report by Albert Farwell Bemis, a member of the National Civic Federation sent by the National Civic Federation to England, France and Italy to study industrial conditions.

Mr. Bemis, who is president of Bemis Brothers Bag Company of Boston, represented the interests of the American employers on the commission. His report was made public yesterday by the federation simultaneously with a report by Andrew Parker Nevin, a New York lawyer, who represented the "Public Opinion and Labor in Great Britain."

"In France," said Mr. Bemis in his report, the housing shortage is a devastating area may be taken as the measure of the present shortage. This would approximate 410,000 homes. In Great Britain 450,000 would probably represent the actual need.

"Strange as it may seem, the conditions of the war have increased among all classes of people a greater interest in humanity, and a greater regard for the physical and social conditions under which the masses of the population live. During the war the people of Great Britain and France became accustomed to the handling of large national problems by direct governmental action.

Name Propaganda Expert. "The government has appointed a new official in connection with housing known as the director of propaganda. It will be his duty to arouse and maintain general interest in housing matters, and it is proposed that he work through a subordinate attached to each of the thirteen regional commissioners.

"Financial assistance to local authorities is to be calculated on a basis estimated to relieve these of the burden of any annual deficit in expenses of operation to the extent of the excess in the local tax 'rates' of a penny on the pound, assessable against the area in question. There is to be no donation by annual excess of capital over income. It is estimated that the capital expenditure by government would amount to £200,000,000 for England and Wales, based upon an average capital cost per house of £200, and the net deficit to be met out of public funds on account of subsidies to public utility societies and contribution toward the cost of operation in the case of developments by local authorities would amount to £25,000,000. Similar figures for Scotland would be £200,000,000 capital expenditure and £25,000,000 net deficit.

"With a view to meeting the demands of demobilized soldiers who want to acquire small agricultural properties, the government has introduced into parliament two measures known as the 'acquisition land bill' for improving and clarifying laws governing the condemnation and acquisition of land for public purposes, and the 'land settlement bill.' The settlement bill not only contemplates the sale of land, but the operation of colonies under the supervision of the department of agriculture and fisheries for the training of agriculturists and the forming of co-operative organizations for the distribution and sale of farm products."

Mr. Nevin, in his report on labor conditions, said that opinion in England in its attitude toward the labor problem was more active, responsive and alert than in the United States, but that the methods adopted by the public were less complicated and effective than similar agencies in the United States.

"The old idea of limitation of production by British workmen is being abandoned, and there is being substituted a better and quickened understanding of the necessity of enlarged productivity. Trade unions clearly recognize and openly advocate the economic effect of increased production, and

Have You A "Twenty Pay Life Policy?"

A true story of a Canada Life Policy issued over forty years ago.

At age 30 he secured his $5,000 Twenty Pay Life Policy.

At age 35 he received his first Dividend, which was added to the Policy.

At age 50 he received notice that his Policy, with 20 years' Dividends, was fully paid for.

At age 60 his Policy, still earning Dividends, helped him to finance the purchase of a new home.

At age 70 he withdrew the Cash Value for his own personal use. He received a Canada Life cheque for $6140 in return for his $2830 paid in premiums. For many years his home had been protected by insurance of $5,000 and Dividends.

A Policy on your life may do much that you intend to do—if you live. It may pay off the mortgage, supply food and clothing for your family, keep the children at school and prevent a forced sale of your other property.

It may be all that is left of your life work—to keep you in comfort in your old age.

But—your Policy must be large enough.

The Twenty Payment Life

Our new up-to-date policy provides—

- 1. That premiums will cease in 20 years.
2. That dividends will be paid during the 20 years, and afterwards.
3. That if you should be totally and permanently disabled before age 60, all premiums will be cancelled, and a monthly income paid to you.
4. That such monthly payments will not be deducted from the policy at your death.
5. That after 3 years you may take a Cash Value, or receive a paid-for policy or pledge the policy as security for a loan.
6. That the policy cannot lapse while a cash value exists; that the policy is indisputable after one year; that you may reside or travel in any part of the world or engage in any occupation without affecting your insurance.

(There are many other valuable privileges.)

An Immediate Estate

The great advantage over any other form of investment is that a small percentage paid yearly creates immediately an estate of $5,000, $10,000 or more.

These active, progressive years of life in which you are earning the most money are the years in which premiums can be more easily met.

Twenty years is a convenient period and premiums spread over that length of time are moderate and easy to handle.

Do not delay this important matter. Ask for particulars today.

COMPACT EMPIRE HAS BEEN MADE IN WAR'S FURNACE

Lord Finlay Tells Canadian Club That Unity is Lesson of Conflict—Says British Navy Beat the Germans

"If one lesson has been impressed on our minds by this war, it is the absolute necessity of maintaining the British Empire one and indissoluble. And I think we may take as our motto the familiar saying, that united we stand, divided we fall."

WHEN USING WILSON'S FLY PADS READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY. Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores bears a record approached by few of Great Britain's legal celebrities. Holding successively the offices of solicitor-general and attorney-general, to be elevated in 1916 to the lord chancellorship, which coveted position he but recently relinquished, he combines, as was pointed out by Major Percy Brown, by whom he was introduced, the finest traditions of the English bar and British statesmanship.

style and convincing argument he pressed home some of the old truths about the part played by the navy and mercantile marine during the war, the necessity of maintaining the imperial connection, and the splendid destiny which awaits Canada as a nation within the empire.

"The discipline of war has drawn us closer together," he continued. "Out of the furnace of war emerged a more compact empire, an empire of which every part was more sensible of its attachment to every other. Germany thought the empire would not stand the strain of war, but she was sorely disappointed. And a great part of her failure was due to her underestimation of the strength and enthusiasm of those men who came from the dominions, and crossed thousands of miles of sea to answer her challenge."

"I believe that never in history have any troops ever surpassed the Canadians for courage and discipline."

Every Size a Supersize. VOLVO TIRES. DURABILITY. Like the riveted steel plates of a battleship, defiant to the stress of wear and tear, so is the structure and composition of a V.D.L. Tire. Layer on layer, built by hand with exacting care and patience, the finest rubber, fabric and cord combine to make tires that are massive, strong and resilient, giving an assurance of stability, confidence and endurance, yet without imparting an appearance of dignity to any car.

A HOT SPOT Chalmers does these—and more

- It saves wear on tires. It saves wear on all working parts. It relieves vibration. It increases mileage on gas. It starts quickly on a cold day. It runs cool on a hot day. It reduces engine knocks. It reduces carbon deposits. It keeps spark plugs clean for a long time. It gets more power out of gas. It accelerates faster. It rides more smoothly. It is absent of all carburetor and engine noises.

All because of Hot Spot and Ram's-horn. Hot Spot "cracks up" the raw gas and gets it in excellent condition for combustion, like a fine chef preparing an omelet, while Ram's-horn tosses it gently but with amazing speed into the cylinders.

You simply get more for your money every time you fill up the gasoline tank of a Hot Spot Chalmers.

It is fast being regarded as one of the few great cars of the world.

"We are beginning to realize that the real base of the British Empire is its sea supremacy. But for the existence of a predominant British navy, the dominions, and especially the more distant dominions, would not enjoy the proud position they now occupy. What, say, would the position of Australia be were she not joined to the empire."

Foundation of Unity. "Community of race and loyalty to one crown are the foundation of our unity. And that unity brings common advantages."

"You hear a great deal nowadays about the 'freedom of the sea.' That is a phrase which has been used a great deal by those who are not too friendly to the empire, and who put their own construction upon it. But in reality the freedom of the seas consists largely in rendering impossible such outrages as the Germans committed throughout their campaign by land and water. That we were saved from the fate which threatened us owe after all to the paramount efficiency and devotion of that navy which brought the empire into being and is guarding it now."

Lord Finlay said that it was the blockade that finally brought Germany to her knees.

Ensures Peace. "I think we may look forward to the peace of the world being assured by the close friendship which will always exist between Great Britain and America. And by America I mean the great Dominion of Canada. I also mean the United States of America."

"It wouldn't be correct to say the peace of the world depended entirely on the English-speaking races, for in North America there are many people who speak French. And in this war the position of that magnificent race has displayed itself even more strikingly than it has ever done before."

"I think we may be of good cheer with regard to the future of the world. Whatever may befall, the League of Nations, if the great countries hold together, the future of the world is safe. And in that future Canada will play a part."

M. CONNOLLY DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE ACTION

(Buffalo Commercial.) On complaint of Cyrenus J. Laughlin of 483 Norwood avenue, Capt. Michael Connolly of Montreal was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Andrew Kick in an action started by Laughlin against Connolly for $25,000 damages for alleged false arrest. Connolly is the man who says he was swindled out of $125,000 by a gang in connection with a supposed race track transaction here about a year ago. Three men, Jarvis, Drucker and Ryan, New Yorkers, were indicted in connection with the Connolly charge and their case will be disposed of at the present criminal term of supreme court.

Mr. Laughlin says that about a week ago while he was in the Hotel Iroquois Connolly pointed him out to detectives as the man who had impersonated a detective at the time the fake arrest case was pulled off in connection with the swindle, and that he was arrested.

Charles Oishei, attorney for Captain Connolly, was asked if his client later withdrew the charge he had made against Mr. Laughlin and said, "Capt. Connolly told me that he cannot conscientiously identify Mr. Laughlin as the fake police officer in the case."

EDDIE COLLINS TAKES LEAD OF BASE STEALERS

Celebrates 14th Year in Major Baseball

Cobb Far in Lead of Batsmen of American League—Ruth Best Run Maker and Leader in Number of Bases

Chicago, Sept. 20—Eddie Collins, star second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, celebrated his fourteenth anniversary as a member of a major league baseball club by stepping out in front among the base stealers last Wednesday and is showing the way in this department with thirty-one thefts. He also climbed from tenth place among the batters of the American League, who have participated in sixty or more games, to sixth place, according to averages released today.

Cravath of Philadelphia is leading the National League batters with an average of .326, five points ahead of Thorpe of Boston, the runner-up. The Philadelphia manager is in front in home runs with eleven. Rousch of Cincinnati is being pressed by Myers of Brooklyn for total base honors. Rousch has 214 total bases, while Myers has one less. Burns of New York moved Groh of Cleveland out of the scoring honors and leads his rival by one run. Burns registered seventy-nine times while the Cincinnati captain crossed the plate seventy-eight times.

AQUATIC. Veteran Shoots Himself. James H. Butler, West End, Boston, a veteran oarsman, in a fit of despondency, completely lost his mental balance on Thursday morning at the rear of 17 Leveitt street, shot himself through the head the bullet entering close to the right ear. He was removed to the Relief Hospital where, after being examined, his name was placed on the dangerous list.

"Jim" Butler was one of the real old-time characters along the Boston side of the Charles River and still one of the authorities on oarman'ship in the east. He might be said to be a product of the river as he has spent the most of his spare time on its waters. Here he and his brother "Tom," who died some time ago, became the centre of boating on the Charles. They were the organizers of the old West End crew and were likewise deeply interested in the St. Joseph's Boat Club.

Having been successful in business he could, of course, satisfy his love for the water. At his float at the Boston end of the Craigie Bridge "Jim," in addition to rowing, conducted a little work of charity or mercy or whatever one may be pleased to call it. Anyhow, without the oarsman telling it, the fact became generally known that driftwood never drifted by his float. This he collected and modestly distributed among the needy families of the West End, and needy families there were many in those days in that locality. Generosity was a quality of which he and his brother were known to have had an abundance from childhood. Their good wishes were always evinced by their advice and not seldom material help to aspiring oarsmen.

NEW YORK BIDS ADIEU TO PENNANT. (New York Times.) Any attempt to disguise chagrin would be fruitless. Joy has departed from the land of the Giants and is lifting up its clarion cry in Cincinnati, far away. Serenity in defeat is the prerogative of sportsmanship—so rare that it is unknown to most of us. It has been a bitter time, and we make no pretense of erasing quantities of paper with pencil marks to figure that the Giants still might win. But with the decline of the sun on that fatal day even figurative hope was ended. What does it matter that in other seasons, and not a few of them, the pennant has come to Manhattan? It is this year's contest we have been waging, and we have lost the prize. It was really harsh conduct in the Reds, cruel and unusual. They might have ruled up the requisite victories against Fall-enders—Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston. Thus we could have ignored them—or seemed to do so. We could have gone our way to Pittsburgh, even to Chicago, where we still have a reputation as second in command. None of that for Cincinnati! She lured us into her own alley and fell upon us in the presence of all the gang. Since way back in the '70s, longer ago than most people now alive can remember, the city upon the Ohio has been striving for its hour of triumph. Now it has achieved it, and ours is the land that is humbled. What we have done or may yet do is nothing. Cincinnati, we are there! But we don't like it. Measure our chagrin by your own rejoicing.

ILL-FORTUNE AND GOOD LUCK CAME TO THESE MEN IN ONE WEEK. Meaford, Ont., Sept. 20—As Mervin and John Laycock, who suffered the loss of their home and all their household effects by fire only a few days ago, were walking along the bank of the river their attention was arrested by the buzzing of bees in an old elm tree. They at once went to the owner of the property and got his permission to cut down the tree, and to their great surprise, they found that the hollow of the tree about fifteen feet above the ground was thickly coated with combs containing mixed honey, which had been deposited there by a swarm of tame bees. By cutting out eight feet of the tree and smoking the bees, the young men were fortunate in securing eighty-six pounds of delicious comb honey. It is thought that the bees must have come from a distance, and that they had been in the tree for a long time, as the quantity of honey would seem to indicate.

Also Cost Much Cash—Many Stricken Soldiers Helped By What the People Pay Taxes For.

Following is a copy of a letter addressed by Beny R. Iseli, Swiss consul-general in Montreal, to W. F. Cockshutt, member of parliament for Brantford, Ottawa:

Montreal, Sept. 13, 1919.
Sir,—I have taken cognizance through various newspapers and also through the official report of the House of Commons debates, of Sept. 10, 1919, of your speech in the house regarding the seat of the League of Nations and in particular what you had to say regarding Switzerland and Geneva.

As the official representative of Switzerland in the Dominion of Canada, I feel it to be my imperative duty to enlighten you with the following statement, as I am of the firm belief that, if you had been better aware of the conditions prevailing in my country and the sufferings of Switzerland, you would probably have found ways and means of turning your debate concerning the seat of the League of Nations, in words of another nature.

What you have deemed expedient to remark is for me conclusive proof of how little you are aware of the affairs of my country and, therefore, for the sake of truth and fair play, which we doubtless both equally cherish, you will allow me to give you my reply, in such respect, address your distinguished audience with matters of fact. I do not think that the League of

For Weak Stomachs

Everyone Talking About the Cures Made by Dr. Hamilton's Pills

There are despairing men and women by the thousands in this city, whose stomachs keep them in constant misery that can be quickly restored to vigorous health by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

We know of no other medicine that possesses such power to kindle into new life the exhausted energies of chronic stomach sufferers.

There is an extraordinary power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills that searches out the weak spots, that braces up the delicate glands and complex workings of the stomach and bowels.

There are invigorating, stimulating tonic ingredients in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are derived from powerful juices taken from rare herbs and roots, and these are scientifically combined with other medicinal products so as to assist in a harmonious and proper working of the entire system.

The ingredients of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, coming from the great storehouses of Mother Nature herself, can be relied upon to be harmless. Gas-trapped results follow to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for Stomach Weakness, Colic, Sourness, Headache, Biliousness or Constipation.

Seekers of the better health can not do better than invest 25c in this health-bringing family medicine.

Nations should have been housed at Geneva. Why do I say that? Geneva is the capital of Switzerland, a country which, during the war, never sent a man to fight a country which was busy lining its pockets with the gold of its struggling neighbors.

Permit me to firmly remark that Berne is the capital of Switzerland and that Geneva is only the head seat of the small canton bearing the same name.

As to your statement that Switzerland during the war never sent a man to fight, I could really not do any better than quoting here what our minister in Rome, G. Wagniere, has uttered once about Swiss neutrality:

"Since 1815, Swiss neutrality has been recognized and guaranteed by Great Britain, France, Prussia, Russia, Portugal and Austria. That recognition has been considered as binding upon the Swiss as well as upon the great European powers, so that in any conflict of our neighbors we feel bound to remain neutral as long as our neutrality is respected. Thus in addition to the historical reason, there is a moral reason. We are neutral because we are true to our word. To ask us why we are neutral is to ask us why our word of honor is worth more than a scrap of paper."

This gives you clearly the standpoint of my government, well known and well recognized everywhere. If I were to establish for you a list of my countrymen who have been fighting, out of their own free will, for the cause for which you speak, you would undoubtedly be astonished to hear of their great number. And, even at Ottawa at the department of militia and defence, you may find information and how many Swiss have enlisted in the Canadian forces.

You have been discussing peace and you have hurt my patriotic feelings. Whilst the peace of the seat of the League of Nations in itself will surely not be the basis of everlasting peace we all desire, but only and exclusively the good-will of all its members, I can here assure you that Switzerland never expected to be the basis of everlasting peace now being the case, she will live up to her new duty. The best versed men in world politics have made this choice and I unhesitatingly admit that, after all, my little country deserves it well for all she has done during the war for the cause of humanity.

In spite of all difficulties, economic and political, imposed upon the country through the war, the spirit of unity and neutrality had grown stronger. Patriotism has given way to a most noble work of humanity in behalf of all victims of the war regardless of nationality.

Switzerland had become a great clearing house for the exchange of communication and material relief between prisoners and persons living in conquered areas in all the belligerent countries and their families. Prisoners interned in Switzerland had been received and succeeded with a generosity that should earn undying gratitude for the little republic. In spite of her modest role in international politics, Switzerland had been a recognized leader in many earlier works of mercy and in other organizations of world-wide influence.

At the Geneva Convention in 1864, the Red Cross was founded and the administrative offices of the international committee of that society have been located ever since in that city. As a gracious tribute to the Swiss, it chose as its emblem their national flag with colors reversed.

A great deal more could be said about Switzerland's actions during the war. I, however, refrain from doing so, as what she has done is well known everywhere and the testimony of many a returned soldier, who has come to life again through Swiss charity and kindness, forms a better document for history than all I could indicate to you.

You said that Switzerland never spent a dollar to help save civilization. This utterance of yours is equally astounding as unjust, you attack unjustly my country, which deserves no provocation; you inflict harm to the good old name of a nation, which has never provoked you. I am glad to know that the number of people in this country is great who have a better knowledge of facts and who cannot agree with you.

Allow me finally, and I will try to be as short as possible, to speak to you about the effect of the war on Swiss finances in order to show you also in this respect that your assertions that Switzerland has been busy lining its pockets with the gold of its struggling neighbors, do not correspond with actual facts and are just contrary to what might have been stated.

Prior to the outbreak of the European war the financial system of the Swiss Confederation seemed to be attaining satisfactory results. Counting in railroads and forest lands monopoly, the Swiss government spent in 1910, all together, the relatively large amount of three hundred million francs. All of this, however, except ninety millions, was returned by the ordinary receipts of the business undertakings in which the state was engaged, and the profits of these further reduced the burden of taxes by four and a half million. There was no complaint of extravagance or corruption on any branch of the administration. The national debt was moderate, amounting to 124,430,000 francs in 1910 (per capita 33.25 francs or $6.42).

On the other hand, the "Petraire reform" or state property, was valued the same year at 236,582,750 francs. This does not include special funds and foundations for beneficent purposes in the hands of the Confederation, amounting to 110,075,250 francs. Relying, as the central government did, largely upon customs duties, the people scarcely felt the burden of its support.

The earlier flourishing finances of the confederation, as former President Schulthess said in a speech, "were the secret of its popularity." There was, however, one very serious defect in the system; namely, its reliance to an extreme degree upon the revenue from customs. Even in time of peace, far-sighted statesmen had frequently pointed out the necessity of widening the tax base of the federal government in order that it might further expand and particularly that it might meet the obligations of a progressive policy of reforms.

Against them, however, were constitutional texts, traditional maxims, and a characteristically democratic aversion to new tax burdens. It was a fiscal system that was just keeping its nose above water upon which the war broke in 1914.

On the left, the country and railroads, and with them, of course, the revenue from customs, industry was crippled. Tourists left the country and railroads, posts and telegraphs suffered in sympathy. Some recovery there has been, but not enough to offset materially the increase in the certain unavoidable items of federal expenditure. Chief among these is the cost of mobilizing a large part of the army for the protection of the boundaries and the maintenance of neutrality.

To the end of May, 1917, the debt on this score alone amounted to 276,000,000 francs, and this enormous total was increasing by fifteen million francs a month. Deficits from the ordinary operations of the government, for the war years 1914 to 1917 inclusive, amount to 125,000,000 francs, and this amount does not include the deficits from the operation of the federal railroads, for instance, interest and sinking fund charges to retire this new debt, totalling seven hundred millions, within forty years would require forty-five million francs annually. As a result of this mountain of debt, which the war was heaping ever higher, the systematic reform of federal finances has become the paramount issue of Swiss politics.

Some partial steps have already been taken to this end. In all government services economies have been undertaken except as regards high-prices-increments. The war-exemption tax has been doubled. Fees for export privileges and profits on the various state monopolies have also contributed something.

Small returns have been secured from the new war-time food monopolies, although these, of course, are operated primarily not for profit, but to keep prices down and to assure a sufficient supply to the masses of the people.

The problems of Swiss federal finances are, therefore, by no means solved at the present time. They are very serious problems, but there seems to be no doubt of the ability of the country to provide the necessary resources. On the whole, the leadership of the Federal Council has been admirable. After more than four years of war, however, it is manifest that reform must begin at once, regardless of the size of the burden ultimately to be shouldered. The present problem is largely that of educating the people to meet the situation promptly and adequately.

In concluding my reply to your remarks, which have made it necessary for me to bring to your knowledge what I have said before, may I be permitted to mention that Switzerland's services to civilization are well known to all the great Allied powers, which have at all times, lent us a helping hand in our days of trouble, and that the Swiss people know what gratitude means.

God has blessed by country with isolation in a sense, and isolation is indeed a blessing in these turbulent times. Switzerland is and has been as a nurse, silent, courageous, never tiring in watching over the ill, but convalescing form of liberty. But when the time comes that she can do a service to the world, and to mankind, Switzerland will never be found wanting.

I have written you the above in the spirit of a better-understanding and I shall consider myself happy if my opinion is received in the spirit it is written.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
BENY R. ISELI,
Swiss Consul-General.

"Cure Your Rupture Like I Cured Mine"

Old Sea Captain Cured His Own Rupture After Doctor Said "Operate or Die."

His Remedy and Book Sent Free.

Captain Collings sailed the seas for many years; then he sustained a bad double rupture that soon forced him to not only remain ashore, but kept him in bed for two years. He tried doctor after doctor and truss after truss. No relief came until he had spent $10,000. He must either submit to a dangerous and painful operation or die. He did neither! He cured himself instead.

"Fellow Men and Women, You Don't Have To Be Cut Up, and You Don't Have To Be Tortured By Trusses."

Captain Collings made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man.

Anyone can use the same method! It's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collings book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. The book and medicine are FREE. They will be sent prepaid to any ruptured sufferer who will fill out the below coupon, and send it right away—now—before you put down this paper.

Be Among the First to Drive this Astonishing Post-War Maxwell

If you're buying a car this year, why not have the most recent thing offered?

Here we have a Post-War Maxwell, developed during the war years, and given to you now, not only a far greater Maxwell, but more advanced even than many cars that twice exceed its price.

It's an engineering treat to look it over; and an event that will linger in your memory to ride 5 miles behind the wheel.

For a new Elliott type front axle gives you a casting effect in steering that will surprise you.

A heavy rear axle, new, makes you hug any kind of a road.

New full oval fenders express the rhythm of motion, and two new types of brakes bring you to a halt in a very decisive way.

The "emergency" is up at the transmission, as in so many foreign cars. The "service" is equipped with equalizers, and thus any tendency to skid is prevented.

Many louvers in the bonnet, a large tank in the rear—the number of fine developments seems endless!

Also equipped with Hot Spot and Ram's-horn.

But it's the same basic chassis as the 300,000 Maxwells that preceded this post-war car. How well the public has regarded these is expressed in the sum of $200,000,000—the price paid by the public for the previous ones.

This Post-War Maxwell is a greater car. $1,395 f. o. b. Windsor.
