PRINCE ARTHUR GRIEF STRICKEN BY NOGI'S DEATH

Was to Have Accompanied Noted Japanese on Trip Tomorrow

SUICIDE SENSATIONAL

Hero of Port Arthur and Wife Slashed Themselves as Funeral Gun Boomed out for Emperor's Last Journey — The Ceremony at Aoyama

(Canadian Press) Tokio, Sept. 14.—The body of Emperor Mutsuhito was conveyed from Tokio to Aoyama last night on the first stage of the journey to its last resting place at Monayama, and early this morning the journey was resumed. Borne on a two-wheeled cart drawn by oxen, the huge basket containing the body of "The Emperor of the Era of Enlightenment" was taken through lines of soldiers back of whom thronged countless thousands of natives and numerous foreigners. More than three miles of rows, that were brilliantly lighted with torches and are lights under the glare of which the black and white funeral poles and sacred trees stood out in bold relief from the background of mourning draped and bedigged buildings.

Following the impressive funeral services in the palace here the single detachment of a gun served as an announcement to the waiting thousands in Tokio that the cortege was leaving the palace for Aoyama. The firing of this gun, it developed later, also was the signal which General Count Marasake Nogi one of Japan's foremost soldiers and his wife followed in their own selves so that they might be with the departed emperor, whom the general had served so well in life.

At the boom of the signal gun resounded General Nogi arose, and grasping tightly in his hand a sword, plunged it into his throat, while the countess stabbed herself through the stomach. A student who resided in Nogi's home heard the fall of the bodies and rushed into the room. Lying upon the floor were the bodies of Prince Arthur and his wife. Both still were breathing, but their spasmodic gasps showed plainly that their lives were ebbing. The student went for aid but when he returned both the general and the countess had passed away.

The tragedy created a profound sensation and expressions of sorrow were heard on every hand today. Especially grief-stricken was Prince Arthur of Connaught who was to have gone with General Nogi tomorrow to the former capital of the Shogunate Kanazawa.

Those who knew General Nogi well declare that he calmed after his death. He was the kind of general he always had displayed no matter what crisis faced him. Within the palace park, torches and electric lights illuminated the spectacle of the casket being conveyed from the palace and placed on the funeral cart. One hundred thousand persons had been favored with permits to enter the park and they stood silent as a military salute of 100 guns was fired in honor of the dead ruler. The rail bearers included General Kuraki, General Ota, Admiral Togo, Vice Admiral Sato and Viscount Ijima.

Immediately the cortege left the grounds of the upper palace windows were drawn and Emperor Yoshihito proceeded in a carriage. His Majesty was accompanied by Prince Satura, the first cousin of the emperor.

The funeral train bearing the body of Emperor Mutsuhito left Aoyama at two o'clock this morning for Monayama. The Japanese fleet in Tokyo bay saluted as the train passed.

Both the emperor and the people of Japan paid homage to the memory of Emperor Mutsuhito in the funeral hall at Aoyama. In front of the great casket the young emperor read an address of lamentation in which he referred to the events in the life of his dead father. Then, in behalf of the people of Japan, the premier, Marquis Satouji, delivered a patriotic address and was followed by the minister of the household, who spoke for the attendants of the dead emperor.

When the great procession accompanying the body from the imperial palace to the grounds of the palace at Aoyama ten huge gas lanterns were lighted. Ritualists then arranged white curtains at the back and side of the bier and a half drawn blind in front. The hall was crowded with thousands of high dignitaries, among whom was sprinkled considerable number of foreigners. Also present were hundreds of priests of various Shinto and Buddhist sects, who took up positions in the hall, dressed in their multi-colored robes. The emperor and the other members of the imperial family meanwhile waited in a waiting room until the arrangements for the services were completed.

The many battalions comprising the military and naval escorts lined up outside the entrance while the bearers of military emblems and golden "sun" and "silver moon" banners assembled in columns just inside. Others formed along both sides of the space in front of the casket and a pair of immense sacred trees also were placed in position there.

From the entrance of the grounds up to the funeral hall a special road of concrete had been built to accommodate the funeral car. Along this road the car passed slowly, drawn by the five oxen, and halted at the door. As the coffin was taken from the car the officiating priests and

BRIG BOUND FROM LUNENBURG CUT DOWN BY STEAMER

Captain Burke and Crew of the Sceptre Rescued By Roselands After Collision

(Canadian Press) Savannah, Ga., Sept. 14.—With seven men, captain and crew of the British brig Sceptre on board, the British steamer Roselands, Captain Emery, made this port last night with a story of a collision at sea and the loss of the brig.

The brig, Captain Burke, master, was bound from Lunenburg, N. S., for Ponce, P. R., with fish and lumber. At half past three o'clock on Monday morning, Sept. 8, in fine weather, the bow of the steamer Roselands suddenly appeared out of the darkness and crashed into the brig's side, practically cutting her in two.

The vessels clung together a short time and the brig's crew scrambled aboard the steamer. The brig was a total wreck. The Roselands sailed from Havana on August 28 for Savannah.

Just before court adjourned for the afternoon Mrs. Ruth A. Cross, of Oregon, filed an affidavit in which she stated that she was the daughter of Jeremiah Moyrinh. Six hundred other claimants will contest for the estate.

THE FUTURE OF JAMAICA

New York, Sept. 14.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: "Jamaica's probable future as a dependency on the United States has a prominent position in the 'Morning Post.' A gentleman who is closely connected with Jamaica says that so far as the sentimental side is concerned, it is unfortunately true that the younger generation of whites and educated negroes, believe that the prosperity of the island lies in the direction of a commercial union with the United States. Even political union is regarded with complacency unless Great Britain adopts a policy of colonial preference and thereby assists the West Indies.

ENGLISH LABOR MEN FOR AN INDEPENDENT PARTY

Midlothian Election Reveals Their Plans For Break From Liberals

Mr. Churchill's Speech Criticized — Talk of Dangerous Conditions in the London Tube—Organized Opposition To Lloyd George Insurance Act Has Finally Collapsed

(Times' Special Saturday Cable) London, Sept. 14.—English liberalism has this week received two bad jolts. The significance of the Midlothian election lies not in the fugitive and temporary victory of a Tory candidate, but in the evidence that a new third party has really emerged in English politics. The labor party at first was practically a wing of liberalism, its representatives in parliament are still mainly sympathetic to the liberal government, but Midlothian comes, after much other evidence, to prove that large sections of the British workmen are resolved to run the labor party as an independent, irresponsible and wholly independent group. They may not be able to return their candidates but they believe that they will at least succeed in wrecking liberal hopes in 100 constituencies in the next election.

They are angry with the present government for its firm action during the railway and dockers' strikes, for the refusal to force the amending trades disputes bill through parliament and for some of the effects of the insurance act on semi-organized labor.

They have allied themselves with the most extreme section of the women's suffrage party. They repudiate their bitter denunciations for their old liberal friends. The union of the labor party and the women's suffrage party is a step towards the creation of a new party.

CRITICISM OF CHURCHILL'S SPEECH

The second jolt in the London tube comes from the criticism of Mr. Churchill's speech in the House of Commons on Thursday in Dundee where he boldly proposed the revival of the old heptarchy and division of the United Kingdom under several separate parliaments. His statement has created universal surprise.

Tories welcome it as foreshadowing a scheme by which Ulster shall be allowed to remain separate autonomy apart from the remainder of Ireland. London's liberal morning papers the Daily News and the Chronicle made no comment on Friday morning, evidently fearing to commit themselves either way. The principal provincial liberal journal, the Manchester Guardian, declares that Mr. Churchill has given a handle to his critics and that he has evidently not thought out the boundaries of his English heptarchy very completely. His idea, it maintains, seems to confuse nationalities with mere local pride and is artificial born not of conscience and passion but of a purely intellectual act of vision on administrative convenience.

Even the Westminster Gazette, which usually closely voices the views of the inner government group, openly expressed doubts about the practicability of Mr. Churchill's suggestion and confesses it finds it rather startling to imagine Lancashire and Yorkshire parliaments each electing their own ministers.

Unionist workers continue to express confidence in the early dissolution of parliament, possibly before Christmas. For this there is no evidence whatever. All impartial observers are agreed that the government will continue to exist, whatever temporary victories the Unionists may gain in parliament or the country, until its main measures are carried over the head of the lords.

London is laughing over the severest trades union comedy. A union of railwaymen employed fourteen temporary clerks at thirty shillings a week each. These clerks demanded the trades union rate of wages, thirty-five shillings. Their demand was rejected and the men were all dismissed and expelled from the railway union. They were now peacefully picketing the railwaymen's headquarters, Unity House, to prevent blacklegs entering to take their places.

The men's leaders charge the union officials with nothing more atrocious than ordinary capitalist employer. The strike promises serious results for union leaders, many branches of railway men apparently supporting the strikers.

LLOYD GEORGE'S INSURANCE ACT

The collapse of organized opposition to the insurance act is now virtually granted on all sides. Even the Times, which recently has been showing amazing journalistic energy, admits in a leader of one looking at the insurance act from the outside point of view and in a general light, the enactment of a measure so large, complicated and disturbing and its practical inauguration in so short a time are very remarkable facts. The thing will stand now that it has been done and it is irrevocable. Nevertheless the act gives much occasion for irritation and trouble and all are agreed that drastic amendments will be required at an early date.

COLONEL SAM HUGHES BACK IN ENGLAND AGAIN

Praises French Army Work—Invited To Germany, He Says, But Cannot Go

(Canadian Press) London, Sept. 14.—Colonel Sam Hughes, Major Robertson and Colonel Landry are in London today, having shortened their visit to France to attend the launching of H. M. S. Audacious from the Cammell-Laird's shipbuilding yard at Birkenhead, this afternoon. The launching and naming ceremony will be performed by the Countess of Lytton.

The Audacious, which is the first vessel of the dreadnought class which has ever been constructed on the Mersey, represents the fourth armored cruiser of the 1910-1911 programme, now in course of construction. She is 553 feet in length, 89 feet beam, and displacing 23,000 tons, while her armaments consist of ten 12.5 inch guns and 16.4 inch anti-aircraft guns. Her turbines of 31,000 horsepower, are designed to produce the standard dreadnought speed of twenty-one knots an hour. Her total cost, exclusive of the guns, is estimated at nearly $8,000,000.

Colonel Hughes said he and his officers attended the French military maneuvers at the express invitation of the French war office and were given a cordial reception.

"We travelled right along the fighting line, a distance of some 200 kilometers," said the minister of militia. "The sight was magnificent, the fighting of the French soldiers showing splendid co-ordination between the various parts of the force. Each section knew what to do and the way to do it."

HELLO GIRLS HERE FOR SOME YEARS AT LEAST

Telephone Superintendent Speaks of Matter of Automatic System

THINKS NOT READY YET

St. John Office Will Continue To Employ Young Women in Central—He Compares Features of the Two Methods of Service

The girlless automatic telephone, which is being tested by the general post office authorities of London under whose direction the English national telephone system is operated, is not likely to be introduced in St. John for some time to come. It is one of the developments which many telephone men regard as inevitable, but it has not yet reached the stage where it has become immediately so.

The automatic telephone seems to be new in England, but it has been used to a considerable extent on the continent and in America. The system was introduced in Brantford and Peterboro, Ont., about two years ago, but has not proved very popular. The Alberta government introduced it into Calgary and Edmonton and there is a marked difference of opinion among the subscribers as to its success.

An example of its operation nearer home can be found in Portland, Me., where the automatic system was introduced by the New England Telephone Company in 1904. The time, subscribers who were connected with both exchanges preferred the old system. It is also worthy of note that the New England Company, which is one of the most enterprising in the world, had abandoned the automatic in Portland where they now have an exchange of 9,000 instruments.

As to St. John Speaking of the possibility of introducing the system in St. John, F. J. Nisbet, telephone manager of the New Brunswick Telephone Company said that he believed that it would be adopted some time in the future, but that the time is not ripe yet and will not be for many years. His chief objection to the system was that it was still in the process of evolution and that a system adopted today might be superseded in a few months by something so much better as to put the installation out-of-date.

In the meantime there would be no uniformity and the equipment which was costly to install, would be excessively expensive to keep up. On the other hand the manual system in use here had been practically perfected as far as the switch board goes, and all its parts had been standardized, thus greatly reducing the trouble and expense of repairs and upkeep.

General Manager Donnerschlag of the N. B. Telephone Board and Supply Co., Chicago, who was in St. John last winter, on his return from Europe where he had investigated the automatic systems in use in Austria and Germany, found this lack of standardization the chief objection to the automatic. Steady progress was being made, however, and it was expected by most of the experts that the automatic system was the one which would prevail in the future.

The system was attractive to the managers not only on account of the saving in the money spent in wages for operators, but also because of the relief it would give from the ever-present problem of finding sufficient girls with the proper qualifications to operate the switch-board.

A Problem at Rothway This problem had been a pressing one at Rothway, where it had always been difficult to get operators. When the salesman of an automatic system was around about a year ago he was asked what he could do to solve the difficulty. He said quite confidently that there need be no more trouble on that score. One of their automatic systems could be installed at Rothway to do the work of the local exchange at that place and could be connected with the city for town and long-distance calls. He was given instructions to go ahead and submit plans and estimates for the new plant. "The fact that we have not heard from him yet," said Mr. Nisbet, "seems to indicate that the automatic system is not quite ready yet to undertake the work which can be performed by the aid of the operators."

One of the chief arguments in favor of the automatic system was its secrecy, from the fact that there is no operator at central to overhear conversations. Anyone who has visited the central office of the telephone company and watched the operators at work, twenty girls sitting closely packed side by side with both arms flung up as if their lives as well as their jobs depended on it, with supervisors walking up and down behind them constantly and the chief operator keeping a watchful eye on the whole scene from the middle of the room, will soon gather the impression that central has more important work to do than listening to other people's conversation, besides having no time in which to indulge in that pastime. A smart operator, in the rush hour will handle 250 calls. "Doing away with the operators did not necessarily make the telephone system faster. As a matter of fact, with the present equipment, the girl operator could give one the desired number quicker than her mechanical rival could do so."

An improvement which the local manager expects to see adopted before the complete automatic system comes is the use of automatic apparatus, which is now being introduced. With this system the girls are retained but much of their work in the way of making connections, ring up, repeating rings, disconnecting, etc., is done automatically. With this system, girl can do the work which now takes five minutes with the apparatus in use here but the man element is still preserved and they some one at central to tell their troubles

DECISION SUSPENDED. "Father, our daughter is being courted by a poet."

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

(Newcastle Elder). Miss Marguerite Fallon, daughter of Thos. Fallon, had a very narrow escape from being drowned Tuesday evening at the public wharf. Miss Fallon, with other young ladies, went down to the wharf to meet the arrival of the Alexandra, and shortly before the boat arrived, while the young ladies were comfortably seated on the railing it gave way and precipitated her into the water.

When Miss Fallon was about to sink for the third time Ernie Green of Moncton, lowered himself down the side of the wharf and Miss Fallon caught his foot and held on until Mr. Fallon of Nelson, who was coming to Newcastle in his boat, succeeded in rescuing her.

THE OBSERVER. (Washington Star). I like to sit beside the road awaiting for the mail. Each day the driver will unload. He treasures, without fail, and, be the weather dry or wet, Asta's in the row, Amanda Hogg's there to get a letter from her beau.

I've watched her now for quite a while, An' lately I perceive She's lost her laughin' careless smile, And seems inclined to grieve, Can't help sharin' her regret, That seems each day to grow, I wish Amanda Hogg would get a letter from her beau.

Her eyes were never made for tears, However light their mist, These ought to be the happiest years In all her birthday list. Her feet should dance an' never ebb A solemn pace an' slow, I wish Amanda Hogg would get a letter from her beau.

Why, there's Amanda, 'cross the way, With sunshine in her face! I haven't seen in many a day Such joyous, girlish grace. I share her happiness, and yet, I'd never let her know How glad I am to see her get a letter from her beau.

LONG DISTANCE CAMERA.

The most successful thing which has been introduced in the way of long distance camera is one which makes use of reflectors inside the camera to get the enlarged object. The box which accommodates the apparatus is not excessively large and has the appearance of two cameras of medium size superposed, and in his manner a focal length of 48 inches is provided. Under ordinary circumstances camera of this focal length would be very large and awkward to handle. Enlarged and detailed views of objects as far as 1,400 feet have been made without any sacrifice to minutiae.

AUTOS AND ROADS

The New Brunswick Automobile Association seeks to have the money which it pays into the provincial revenue expended to improve the roads. Owing to the Toronto Globe says:

"Britain appears to be solving the hitherto perplexing problem of keeping her good roads in repair, and at the same time encouraging the use of automobiles. Two years ago Mr. Lloyd-George had legislation passed by which the money paid for automobile licenses, no matter where issued, and a special duty on petrol or any other motive power used for autos, were set aside for road improvements, the construction of new roads, new bridges, straightening and widening of highways, wherever the central board, which manages the funds raised should, in consultation with the municipal authorities, decide. During the past year the sum of almost $6,000,000 has been available from the Road Board, in addition to the moneys paid by the municipalities, and the result is that everywhere good roads are made better and bad roads are rapidly disappearing in the British Isles. Wherever a municipality desires to improve a purely local roadway the services of the Road Board's experts are freely placed at the disposal of the local authorities, and if the road is meant to assist farmers, fruit-growers, poultrymen, or other industry to have a good road to the market or market street it always made to help in the necessary work. Many old country farmers are sanguine enough to believe that in the course of a few years, when the license fees on all vehicles are payable to the Road Board, the total expense of the roadway system of Britain will be borne by the central funds, and road rates disappear altogether."

To make such a system effective in Canada or in this province it would be necessary to have a central authority. This could be provided, and money expended in such a manner as to ensure a constant increase in the mileage of permanent roads, so greatly needed not only by motorists, but the farmers of the country.

SOME DIFFICULTIES

Before Mr. Borden launches a scheme to change the system of government of the Empire he must answer some questions put by Sir George Reid of Australia, who, by the way, is the man who was moved by Tory hostilities to observe ironically that the Canadians were great talkers but not so vigorous in action. Referring to the question of imperial government, and especially to an imperial parliament, Sir George pointed out that there are 300,000,000 British subjects who are not of the white race. Then he said:

"When you would recast parliament in an Imperial mould is there to be no account taken of these 300,000,000 Asiatic subjects? Would we sit happily in an Imperial parliament hearing our actions with regard to the emigration of these inhabitants of India discussed? In such a case what harmony would there be?"

Again, assuming that all these people were left out of the count, Sir George said no solution of the difficulties. He said:—"Remove the representation of these myriads altogether and deal for a moment with the 60,000,000 white Britishers. Suppose that the new parliament consisted of one member for every million of population. How happy would Australia with her five members or you with your six or seven be should forty-five from the mother country decide upon and carry some methods of taxation to us or otherwise? No local parliaments in the different dominions are the safety-valves of Empire, while an Imperial parliament might result in a calamity such as caused your neighbors across the border to be known as the United States at the present day."

Those Canadians who have lately discovered that they have a mission to save the Empire will discover in the end that the task is not one to be settled off-hand at a party caucus or in an after-dinner speech. Change must be gradual, and made with exceeding care.

A POSER FOR BORDEN

Those Conservatives who derived the naval policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and sneered at the "tin pot navy," are answered by no less a personage than Sir Richard McBride, the Conservative member of British Columbia. Sir Richard declares that his province expects Mr. Borden to execute a strong and adequate naval policy on the lines laid down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Sir Richard is quite ready to endorse an emergency contribution to almost any extent if it is shown to be necessary, but he sees no immediate danger. Here are his words—

"I regard the German war scare as an exceedingly unfortunate, ill-advised exploitation."

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier remarked in Ottawa recently that there was no serious Canadian peril he was denounced by the Conservatives with some vigor. Will they now denounce Sir Richard McBride? And how will Mr. Borden bring his Quebec supporters into harmony with those of British Columbia on the naval question?

It grows more and more apparent that the Laurier naval policy is the policy for Canada. Neither Liberals nor Conservatives will object for one moment to an emergency contribution when it is needed, but since Mr. Winston Churchill has declared in parliament that the British government has the situation well in hand, and since Mr. Borden does not appear to be in any hurry to announce a naval policy or to call parliament together, we may assume that the need for such a contribution is still somewhat remote. But there is an immediate and urgent need for the adoption of a Canadian naval policy, in order that this country may be able to do something toward the protection of its own coasts and commerce.

MANNERS AND SPEECH

Do parents and teachers pay enough attention to the training of boys and girls in good manners and correct speech?

The question is raised by the Maritime Merchant in some observations relative to the Nova Scotia teachers' convention. The article is worthy of general attention, for when one thinks about it the defects to which the Merchant refers are far too prevalent. We quote—

"We think the occasion opportune to say something regarding the deficiencies of too many boys—we will not include the girls—in two points that are very important and essential to their best success in life. One of these is an ability to speak correctly; the other to be polite. Not less than seventy-five per cent. of the youths with whom one comes in contact these days seem to have forgotten that propositions govern the objective case and that the noun complement of the verb 'to be' is always in the same case as the subject. It seems to us that much of the time that is given to storing the mind of the average child in the public schools with a knowledge of subjects which will not be directly useful in after life, might better be given to impressing him with the correct use of the King's English. Of course, we realize that this instruction should come from the home. But if it doesn't—and apparently it doesn't—then it devolves upon the school teachers to correct the defects in speech with which they find children growing up."

The same thing obtains with respect to ordinary manners. In nineteen cases out of twenty, boys speaking to their elders omit the polite "Sir" in their address. They seem to think that if they make use of it they sacrifice their sense of independence. This sort of thing may not be very much of a handicap in the community in which the boy lives, but it certainly is when he goes away from home. There is nothing that the public appreciates more than politeness and we can think of very few things that we would rather have said of the youth of Nova Scotia than that they are the most polite of all youths of America."

Two notable speakers from abroad will be heard in St. John tomorrow, Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston and Mr. John Bradford on the responsibility of the community towards its coming citizens.

The Toronto Globe says:—"Toronto and Winnipeg men to the number of a score or so have signed a memorial for presentation to Hon. R. L. Borden, praying that he take the Canadian naval question out of politics. Doubtless the signers of the memorial are perfectly sincere, but who ever drew it up had a sense of humor, for they know that if Mr. Borden accedes to their request he must take up the Laurier naval policy, which the premier when in opposition supported until the honesty of others, and is perhaps not as keen a business man as he is a missionary. The story as told does not present any new features. There never yet was an ardent worker for the welfare of others who was not deceived in some of those who were his associates. To a certain class of mind it makes no difference whether funds are provided for a charitable or other purpose, so long as they can divert a portion to their own use. Dr. Grenfell has spent anxious and lonely years on the bleak coasts of Labrador. He has given the best years of his life to the people of that region. His name will always be held in honor as that of an unselfish man who believed in human brotherhood and devoted himself with splendid courage to a task from which most men shrink."

WAS ST. JOHN MAN?

The body of the man found in the Mitchell boom near Fredericton on Wednesday last has been identified as being that of Peter Conacher, formerly of this city, aged sixty. Mrs. L. E. Carmall, of Boston, a daughter of the deceased, identified the body. The man was subject to epileptic fits and it is feared fell in the river when seized with one. The body is being brought here today for burial.

SEPTEMBER IN THE LAURENTIAN HILLS

Already Winter, in his sombre robe
Before his time, hath touched these hills
With lonely flame. Last night, without a sound,
The ghostly frost walked out by wood and mere,
And now the smutch curls his frond
The aspen-tree reluctantly drops his gold,
And down the gullies the North's wild, riband
Rouses the bitter armies of the cold.

O'er this short afternoon the night draws down,
With ominous chill, across these regions bleak;
Wind-beaten gold, the sunset fades around
The purple loneliness of ere and peak,
Leaving the wood an iron house wherein
No love nor life nor hope hath ever been.

LIGHTER VEIN
WE HAVEN SEEN THEM.
Tom—"Nothing but women at the beach where I'll stoppin'."
Jack—"Summer girls, eh?"
Tom—"Yes; some are girls, but most of them are too old even to pretend to be."—Boston Transcript.

HIS TIME LIMIT.
"Your beau," remarked the first summer girl, "doesn't seem to care to spoon in secluded nooks."
"No; but I didn't have any room left on the billiard table."
Landlord: "Ah, well; fifty cents an hour."

HER TERMS.
"Can't you sell this shawl cheaper?"
"No madam. Fifty marks is really the lowest possible price."
"Well, I'll take it. But make out two bills, one at twenty marks to show my husband, and one at two hundred to show my friends."—Punch.

BROKE THE MONOTONY.
"Yesterday," complained the Sunday school superintendent, "you boys sat through a twelve-minute game and you showed no signs of uneasiness. Yet here you cannot listen to me for thirty minutes without becoming restless. I can't understand the matter. But I didn't have any room left on the billiard table."
Landlord: "Ah, well; fifty cents an hour."

RATHER THIN.
Two men, one of them very short, were passing through a station toward the train gates, when the bigger one was heard to say:
"I've took a half ticket for ye, George. Ye so little ye'll pass all right."
"But," protested George, "how about my beard?" And he twiddled his thin beard nervously.
"Oh," rejoined the other, "tell 'em it's a mole."

MISCALCULATION.
Well, it's always this way with me when the summer starts to wane. With the coming of September I've a grief to entertain.
In the gladsome, gleeful springtime, when my summer suit was done,
With tan shoes and shiny straw hat I paraded in the sun,
Sneered at winter clothes discarded, proudly spurned them where they lay,
Told my helpmate she would better give the whole outfit away.

I thought when the dew of autumn came in heavy, dank and chill,
When the leaves came drifting gently from the trees upon the hill,
When the frost was on the punkin and the fodder in the shock
I'd have saved a roll of money that would buy a city block.
Now the autumn days are nearing and the harvest moon, and gee!
I might search my summer garments and not find a sou' marquee.

That is why impending autumn fills my spirit with dismay.
What on earth could have impelled me to give those old clothes away?
How could I have thought the ice trust and the most trust would permit me to pile up golden ducats, and the fuel trust would sit Idly by while I bought garments to defy the cold and snow?
Now my wife's sole words of comfort are just these—"I told you so!"

The Neal Three Day Treatment
Have You a Friend or a Loved One Who Has Become Addicted to Strong Drink?
If to—Get full particulars about The Neal treatment at once! Read what a noted Canadian Doctor, Graduate of Laval University, Quebec, P. Q., has to say about this famous treatment.
"IT SIMPLY HAS NO EQUAL"

In an open letter to the medical profession, Dr. J. F. Landry, relative of Senator Landry, of Quebec, says:
"I am quite familiar with the various liquor treatments, their therapeutic action and pathological results, and I wish to say from a purely professional standpoint that the Neal Three-Day Treatment for a liquor habit is superior to all others in its highly satisfactory action and desired permanent results. It simply has no equal and therefore should not be compared to any other known medication."
"Fraternally yours,
(Signed) J. F. LANDRY, M. D."
When a noted physician, as Dr. Landry, makes a thorough investigation of the Neal Treatment, endorses it and writes an open letter to the profession, all doubts as to the effectiveness of this treatment should be removed in the mind of every doctor, of whatever school, as to the treatment, taking away all inclination to drink, all desire, craving and appetite for liquor, in three days, and converting the drinker who is lost to drink into a sober and respected citizen, to the joy of his relatives, friends and acquaintances. An internal treatment, without hypodermic injections, that requires only three days to complete the treatment, must appeal especially to every business and professional man and mechanic, and every other man whose time is valuable.
The St. John Neal Institute, corner Crown and King Streets, affords the comfort of a refined home for its patients while under treatment. If you have a relative, friend or acquaintance who needs the Neal treatment, call on, write or phone B. L. Stevens, the St. John, Manager. Phone 1085 for full particulars, as the cost of this treatment is easily within the reach of every drinking man, who wants to quit liquor.

AUDIENCES DON'T COUNT

Nation Goes on Writing and Staging Weird Dramas and Old Time Comedies and Paying All The Bills—Hobby Proves Expensive One (Times' Special Correspondence) London, Sept. 6.—W. H. C. Nation's dramatic season at Wyndham's theatre here has drawn attention to one of the most amusing characters in England. Years ago, fascinated by the stage and possessed of plenty of the world's goods, he went into management at Sadler's Wells theatre, presenting plays largely written by himself; at various times since he has re-appeared in the same capacity, and though his plays were hopeless, his companies were below criticism, his box office receipts would not pay his lighting bills, and his monetary loss must have been enormous, he has kept serenely on his way, taking a huge delight in his own productions and not caring tuppence whether audiences came or not.

His offering this year at Wyndham's, one of the best of the West End houses, is voted the worst of his many productions. It is divided into two parts, the first consisting of a two-act drama translated from the French, the second of a three-act "musical comedy." The first is an extraordinary affair in which the characters come on the stage and indulge in long uninteresting dialogue in monotonous voices and then go off to make room for others. It is almost impossible to follow the story, which does not amount to anything when it is finally run down.

Nation says he paid a man to translate the play from the original French and then "added a bit here and there myself." Of the musical comedy it is impossible to speak seriously. Nation admits he is largely responsible for the words and almost wholly responsible for the songs and music. There are five principals in the cast and a chorus of the same number—two soldiers and three women. The scene is set in a court which is as elusive in its identity as Anthony Hope's "Khartana." The scenery gives no clue as to the time or place, a Moorish interior through the wideportal of which can be seen a Venetian canal, a bit of Leno in the distance, and a wheat field. The last is necessary to excuse the inclusion of Nation's "Harvest Song" in the second act, which does nothing whatever to do with the show.

To Empty Houses

Night after night these two productions given to empty seats in one of the largest theatres in the heart of London. The side there is a regular box office in which the official dozes and sighs for the audience that never comes. In the foyer there is a small army of attendants who never "attend" anybody. Inside the theatre there are programme girls, a full orchestra and a chorus of the same number—two soldiers and three women. The scene is set in a court which is as elusive in its identity as Anthony Hope's "Khartana." The scenery gives no clue as to the time or place, a Moorish interior through the wideportal of which can be seen a Venetian canal, a bit of Leno in the distance, and a wheat field. The last is necessary to excuse the inclusion of Nation's "Harvest Song" in the second act, which does nothing whatever to do with the show.

With that the writer left him, busily preparing for next year's show, deciding which of his many hundreds of songs he would introduce into the production and as much joy out of his theatrical "warrior" as if the box office below was doing a record business. In the orchestra and dress circle the attendants were busy preparing for the audience that never comes, brushing the seats and polishing the metal work with a sort of warty of a better recognition.

COLORED PIE. A westerner visiting in Boston was much surprised when served with jelly make, to have it called Washington pie. He made a mental note of this, and when in Washington asked again for "Washington pie." The waiter brought him a piece of chocolate cake. He eyed this for a moment and pushed it from him, saying, "No, go! I want George, not Booker T."

Towels should be thoroughly dried before being put away. In their damp condition there is mould which forms on them, which not only spoils the towels but even causes skin troubles.

Can Afford It

Nobody, not even Nation himself, knows how much his bad has cost him. He is a country squire and a lord of the manor down Eicker way and his income is said to be something like $20,000 a year. Of this amount the present season at Wyndham's will rob him of more than $15,000. He knows it and looks forward to the deficit with equanimity. If he could get a first-class theatre—and none but a first-class house is worthy of his productions, he believes—he would run his shows at a loss the year round. Fortunately for him there is a pretty steady demand for play houses in the heart of London and it is only at odd seasons of the year that Nation can step in and play the theatrical "angel" in the style he likes.

A conservative estimate of his total losses in the forty-six years he has, off and on, been in management, places the figure at $200,000. In 1860 he opened Sadler's Wells Theatre; in the following year he was to be found at Astley's. In succession he opened at the Royalty, the old Holborn, the Charing Cross, Terry's, the Scala, the Royalty again, and now at Wyndham's. He has never had a successful season and has never expected one. The writer found him in the office of Wyndham's theatre a couple of days ago attending to the voluminous correspondence incident to theatrical management. In answer to a remark to the effect that business did not appear to be very good, Nation said:

"Ah, but look at the weather! There is not a theatre in London doing big business. Then this is a bad season of the year for plays."

"But why did you open at this time?" was asked.

"It is the only time of the year I could get the theatre," Nation replied. "All the first-class houses are engaged at other times."

Nation explained that he was not in the theatrical business for "profitably."

"Of course," he added, "I like to make money but then I would not produce a play which I did not like simply because

MANCHESTER ROBERTSON ALLISON, LTD.

I believed it would be a money maker. For instance I would not produce a play like these modern sex and problem dramas. I would rather offer the innocent fun to be found in the popular plays of thirty or forty years ago. You may have noticed that my plays are what might be called mid-Victorian in their humor. Well, the trouble seems to be that the taste of the theatregoing public has changed in the past generation."

Has Stood Still

Apparently, it has never occurred to Nation that this change of public taste necessitates a change in production. Instead he goes serenely on his way, offering comedians that crack jokes of our fathers and mothers and sing the songs written and composed by himself when he was a youth in a silken mustache and mid-Victorian side whiskers. In short, he has stood still while the world has rushed swiftly by, leaving him an odd, old-fashioned figure unchanged and unchanging in a time that makes over its theatrical modes, from head pieces to shoe tip, with the coming of every autumn.

With it all Nation is extremely modest. His attitude appears to be that he should be permitted to do as he pleases, since it is his money and his time that he is wasting. "You know," he confided to the writer, "I don't pretend to compete with George Edwardes. My productions make no pretensions to being anything more than they are."

"But why," he was asked, "do you put

AMHERST EXPERT TO TALK

HERE ON COMMUNITY WORK

John Bradford, supervisor of community work in Amherst, will address a meeting for men and women under Y. M. C. A. auspices in Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, taking for his subject The Responsibility of the Community Towards Its Coming Citizens.

Mr. Bradford has done a great work during the last year in Amherst. Through his efforts a study of the recreation situation was made and the new $30,000 school building was thrown open at night as a community and social centre with gymnasium classes for employed boys, young men, employed girls and young women, reading and story clubs, sewing classes, social evenings, first aid and health talks, readings and lectures.

The law relating to the sale of tobacco to minors has been more strictly enforced. In the schools medical inspection has been inaugurated, story telling has become a feature, a school nurse has been employed and domestic science is being taught.

Through the campaign led by Mr. Bradford there has been an increased attendance at Bible classes, new Sunday schools have been organized and a federation of men's Bible classes was formed and this has become an aggressive force in public affairs.

Juvenile police court cases have been handled, with the result that the number of cases have been reduced from thirty-five in a single month last year, to none for the corresponding month this year.

Parents and others, it is felt, should make a special effort to hear Mr. Bradford on this very important subject. The meeting will be opened to the public and among those invited to occupy seats on the platform are Magistrate Ritchie, Mayor Frink and Commissioners Agar, McEllan, Wigmore, Schofield, Dr. Bridges, McEllan, Emerson, from the school board, and W. C. Allison and A. M. Belding, from the Playgrounds' Association.

BUNTY PULLS THE STRINGS; OPERA HOUSE NEXT WEEK

Unquestionably there is a wave of "Buntynia" sweeping over the country, and St. John will be caught in its vortex when the phenomenally successful Scottish comedy, Buntynia Pulls the Strings, comes to the Opera House next Monday evening. No theatrical event in years has been looked forward to with as much pleasure as "Buntynia" and it is quite safe to say that the fondest hopes of local theatre-goers will be realized. During the phenomenal two years' run of this famous play in London and New York, several of St. John people have witnessed the performance. They are loud in their words of praise, and were so taken with the play that many have signified their intention of seeing it a second time next week.

BORDEN FOLLOWS ON SIR WILFRID'S LINES

Government After Cadets For Training Ships—New Halifax Navy School

Ottawa, Sept. 13—One of the first tangible fruits of Premier's Borden's conference with the admiralty will be the vigorous continuation of some of the cardinal features of the Laurier naval policy. The training of Canadian naval cadets at the Halifax naval college in increasing numbers will go steadily on.

The stringent examinations for cadets will be held this fall as usual, and the naval department is anxious to have the full complement of twenty cadets enter for training as officers. Last fall only twelve cadets entered.

One of the chief things learned by Premier Borden and Hon. J. D. Hagen from the admiralty in London was that the most imperative need of the imperial fleet is now trained officers and men, rather than new warships. The personnel of the navy, as Lord Charles Beresford has pointed out, is considerably below the necessary standard of numbers and of efficiency.

This first essential of a navy was fully recognized by the Laurier government, and it is this starting point of the Laurier naval policy. For Canada to make an emergency contribution of battleships to the imperial navy, as is now contemplated, without at the same time endeavoring to train officers and men for these ships would hardly be a policy of "adequate and effective aid."

Consequently one of the first steps of the government's naval policy will be to extend as rapidly as possible the work of the naval college at Halifax with its complementary training of officers and men on the present training cruisers Rainbow and Niobe. It would not be surprising if further cruisers suitable for training purposes were purchased from the admiralty next year.

The senior Canadian cadets who were trained on the Niobe last year are now finishing their course on British cruisers, and will take their examinations for junior officers this fall. They all have splendid records and will doubtless pass high up in the list.

POSTAL BANK SUCCESS

In Eleven-Months Deposits in New York Reach $724,432

New York, Sept. 13.—The Postal Savings Bank has had a great success in the first year of its existence. So successful has it been that branches have been established about the borough at the various carrier stations until the system is now made up of twenty-two parts, each of which is thriving. The last three new branches were opened one month ago. Monday was the first anniversary of the establishment of the first branch, the central branch at the post office building in Washington street. On the first day 130 men, women and children opened accounts and deposited together the sum of $2,335. On Friday Postmaster E. W. Voorhies furnished the figures of the bank's transactions for the first eleven months of its existence. At the end of this period, August 1, Brooklyn stood seventh in the list of cities in which the banks had been established. It had then on deposit the sum of $688,563. The number of depositors was 8,774. The people who have benefited by the bank are those who can deposit only small amounts and who must be able to withdraw their money as they need it, a necessity not contemplated by the rules laid down by the savings banks. In consequence of this condition the withdrawals have been enormous in comparison with the deposits. In the eleven months there were 12,243 withdrawals of sums ranging from $1 to $500. The aggregate amount taken out in the eleven months was $234,589, while the entire amount deposited in the period was $724,432. In other words the withdrawals amounted to about 33 1/3 per cent. of the deposits.

NEW OIL FUEL SHIP MAKES GOOD RECORD

The Christian X Burns 710 Tons of Crude Petroleum From Hamburg to New Orleans

The first of the Hamburg-American line's new oil burning vessels to arrive at New Orleans was the Christian X, which reached that port last week from Hamburg after a successful voyage. The Christian X is of the new "stackless" type, equipped with Diesel engines, using a low grade of petroleum oil. The driving machinery, which is extremely compact, does away with cumbersome coal bunkers, the necessity of many stokers and the delay of coaling. The Christian X left Hamburg on July 22, and on her first day, with good weather made an average of 11 1/2 nautical miles an hour. Later, under heavy weather and storm conditions, her general average for the trip was 11.0 nautical miles an hour. She spent four days in port at Havana and eight at Vera Cruz, and consumed 710 tons of oil. This is a creditable record for a vessel of this size driven by oil engines, the Christian X is 370 feet long by 63 feet beam and, loaded, her tonnage is 9,380. She has two heavy duty engines, which can be controlled by a single lever, and reversed from full speed ahead to full speed astern in less than nine seconds. The exhaust gases, after being cooled, pass out 40 feet above the funnel through the funnels, which is hollow. A memorial to the late Mrs. J. Ramsay MacDonald, wife of the leader of the Labor Party, is to take the form of a stone seat with symbolic sculpture. The seat will be placed in Lincoln's Inn Fields, where a site has been granted by the London County Council.

AUSTRALIA'S BID FOR MEN

Canada Being Outdistanced by Hard Work and Expenditure of Money in the Fight for British Emigrants

(Times' Special Correspondence) London, Sept. 2.—Arguments designed to show that the firm recently made about Australian emigration is unalloyed for that it is due to the statistical artistry of Australian compilers of blue books and that there is really nothing in it, are now frequent. It is difficult to understand why these are advanced. The cold fact is that while British emigrants to Canada were nearly 6,000 fewer in July than in June, Australia's numbers increased by about 3,500. Add to this the fact that two extra Nord-Deutscher Lloyd boats are full up, that the "Aberdeen" and other lines have augmented their services, that even with this increased accommodation berths cannot be secured before December and you begin to grasp the force of the work of the committee of that country and, given a continuation of this condition, it is only a question of time before Canada will take second place. Experts in these matters will tell you that Australia is putting down two to one, and it is money that counts. Schoolboy Humor A number of good stories are on record representing the strange mixture of knowledge displayed by schoolboys under examination. But one of the latest, which appears in the Windsor Magazine, is one of the best, not for any great show of ignorance but more as an illustration of the strange confusion of ideas brought about in the youthful mind by "a little knowledge." The schoolboy had to write an essay on "Grass," and he wrote: "Grass comes up in the spring, grass is the only thing that grows in the garden, grass is the only thing that grows in the Scriptures. Some of it develops into haystacks, some into grass widows, and some into breakfast food. Grass is worth money in the meadow and not worth allowing to grow on the lawn. Lawn grass is grown from seed, which is brought from the forist. Grass seed of that kind produces mostly plantain, dandelion, burdock, and such like weeds. Grass will grow between the bricks on a wall, but will not grow in nice, rich black soil in the yard." An amusing story of baffling ingenuity on the part of a pupil in replying to the questions of an examiner is told in the same magazine: "And you attended the class for mathematics, is that correct?" "Yes." "How many sides has a circle?" "Two," said the student. "What are they?" "What a laugh in the class the student's answer produced when he said, 'an inside and an outside!'" But this was nothing compared with what followed. The examiner having said to this student, "And you attended the moral philosophy class also, is that correct?" "Well, you would hear lectures there on various subjects. Did you ever hear one on cause and effect?" "Yes." "Does an effect ever go before a cause?" "Yes." "Give me an instance." "A man wheeling a barrow." The examiner proposed no more questions. WIFE OR FORTUNE. In a certain debating society one evening the subject of debate was—"Which is better—a good wife or a large fortune?" The champion of a "good wife," warning to his subject, scouted the mercenary suggestion that riches could take the place of a good wife, whose place was "far above rubies," and eloquently declared that even paradise was not paradise without his Eve! In reply his opponent acidly retorted that it had been argued against him that riches was not paradise without his Eve, but he knew it was not long paradise after she entered it.

STATE PROJECTS TO INCREASE BIRTH RATE

Lloyd George Has Precedents in Many Countries in His Present Plan

London, Sept. 13.—In 1801, the French parliament had before it a bill proposing to divide the whole nation into five classes. In the first were to be the parents of ten children, who were to be honored by wearing a tri-color ribbon in their hats. On the other hand bachelors were to suffer all kinds of disabilities. No bachelor was to be allowed to dispose of property at death; he was not to be permitted to live with payment of but a third of the ordinary taxes, while, if a courageous husband and wife managed to have more than a dozen children, they were to have a house provided by the municipality free of all rent and rates.

New Material From Seaweed

Sequitum is a new material made from seaweed, which promises to take the place, to a great degree of hard rubber, gutta percha and leather. It was discovered by an Englishman and it is of special value in all electrical industries, being a non-inflammable insulation of high dielectric strength, proof against heat, cold, oils and weather. A singular property is the increase in its insulation resistance following immersion in water. The material is unaffected by dilute sulphuric acid, which makes it well adapted to storage-battery jars and separators. Among associated mechanical uses, sequitum seems well adapted for motor gears, switchboard panels, and insulators, steam and gas packings, especially for high pressures. The product is also well suited to replace leather in belting and all the other varied uses of leather.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, is the only medicine on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teacupful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous membranes of the entire system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 7c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ARE AGAINST LEMIEUX ACT

Trades and Labor Congress Want Repeal—Closing of Federation Convention. Guelph, Ont., Sept. 13—This has been the busiest day of the Trades and Labor Congress, three sessions being held, at which the time was divided between the adoption of resolutions, a protest from French Canadians against a report in a Toronto paper that they placed racial considerations before the cause, and a discussion of the Lemieux Act.

There was a spirited discussion on a resolution to do away with private police by powerful corporations, and the government will be asked to pass a law prohibiting the employment of such men. Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 13—The resolution passed at the closing session of the Canadian Federation of Labor this morning included the following:

A decision to petition an official organ; a petition to the dominion government to restrict the hours of labor for young girls to 45 hours a week; and a resolution to restrict the hours of labor for young girls to 45 hours a week.

The following officers were elected: John Moffatt, president; George Vepper, vice-president; Maurice, secretary; C. A. Laroche, Edouard Pepin and the officers, executive committee.

DRUNKENNESS CAN BE CURED

Old Fallacy That Drunkenness Cannot Be Cured Exploded. Many men drink who desire to stop the habit. Whiskey, however, has undermined the constitution and created a craving that is not to be denied, and the man must have whisky or something that will move the craving and help him to get on and restore the nerve.

Samaria Prescription stops the craving, steadies the nerves, builds up the general health and makes drink actually distasteful and nauseous. It is tasteless and odorless, and can be given with or without the patient's knowledge, in tea, coffee, or food. It is used regularly. Aunt Sally's Advice To Beauty Seekers

C. M. P.: The neck should receive similar attention to that given the complexion, so color and texture of skin will be the same. A yellow neck and a white face give a discordant effect. I advise using for both neck and complexion, the treatment recommended to "Monica." F. M.: First, stop scowling, if you would get rid of the lines between the eyes. The best application for such lines, and all wrinkles, is a solution of powdered salicylic acid, dissolved in witch hazel, 1-2 pint. Bathe the face in this daily until entirely relieved. Monica: You hardly need such a list of cosmetics as you mention. Ordinary mercurized wax will help you more than any of them. It will gradually absorb the withered, discolored complexion and you will soon have a new, youthful and healthy-looking skin. You needn't get more than an ounce of the wax, which will cost you little at any drugist's. Apply nightly, like cold cream, washing it off morning.—Woman's Realm.

The taking off by their own hands of the famous general, and wife, in itself was dramatic as it was sad. The general cut his throat with a short sword, and the countess committed harakari. General Nogi and the countess had attended the funeral services of Mutsuhito at the palace here today, and it was expected that they would proceed to Aoyama tonight with the cortege. The excavations, which were made by the cemetery custodian, resulted in laying bare a temple and the statue of the hitherto unknown goddess, Paicranta, was found within the ruins. Paicranta's marble head was found in splendid preservation and is equal in size and workmanship to the Louvre statue of Venus. In the ruins there were also found about 1,000 old Greek coins and 100 marble and terra cotta statues and vases of the fourth century, B.C. Also marble pillars, dedicated to Paicranta, and some frescoes, which are described as ranking among the rarest and having the finest colors ever seen. RAMSAY'S DRIVE WINS FOR GREEKS

Victory perched high on the heads of the Marathons yesterday afternoon when they defeated the crack Lynn team by the score of 4 to 1. The game was one of the best seen on the North End diamond this season, and all agreed that the Greeks played the snappiest game of the year. O'Brien at third was a veritable basket and gathered in four flies that were very difficult to judge. Ramsay at short, Pinkerton at second, Dutton at first, Winter at centre and McGovern behind the bat, were the particular stars, while Jordan, who did the heaving, pitched in great style. He had the Lynn team on the run all the way and was given great support by his team-mates. The credit for winning the game is equally divided, but to Eddie Ramsay a special bouquet is due. With three on base in the eighth inning he hit a slaking two-bagger to deep centre and cleaned up the base. The score at the time had been 1 to 0 in favor of the visitors.

Waller pitched a great game for the Lynn team, and had it not been for the eighth he would very likely have pitched a shut-out game. Terry McGovern at first, and Joe Neptune at shortstop, two favorites, played good ball. Bill Harrington did not have the class that his brother Frank has been playing in this season, striking out three times out of four times up. The Lynn team as a whole, are good players, especially their outfield, but the field also play first-class ball.

Capital Comment.

The Fredericton Glens says—Charlie Martini is some talker in the infield. He had lots of ginger all the time.

With the Pats at their proper strength they would have copped all three games from the Lynn team.

It was George Finnamore's first offering as an umpire and everything considered he didn't do too badly for a novice.

LAST GAME OF SEASON THIS AFTERNOON

TICKET PLAN FOR THE WORLD BALL SERIES

A big crowd should turn out this afternoon to see the Greeks and the Lynn team try conclusions on the North End grounds. After yesterday's exhibition, which was practically the best game of the season, the fans ought to turn out in good shape to cheer the Greeks on to victory in the last game of the season. This will be the best chance to see the Greeks play together, for they will disband after this afternoon's game. Most of the players will leave for their homes at the first of next week.

Winter or Winkler will be sent in to pitch for the home team and Bill Harrington, a brother of Frank, now playing with Fredericton, will be on the mound for the visitors. Bill says side-wheeler and is reputed as being "some" pitcher. If the Greeks play in the field that they showed yesterday they can be counted on to come out well. The teams will line up as follows:

McGovern, Catcher.Wheaton
Winter, Pitcher.Harrington
Dutton,McGovern
Pinkerton,Logan
Ramsay,Ryan
O'Brien,Neptune
Riley,Strands
O'Donnell,Waller
Jordan,Orritt
Umpire Rudderham will handle the in-stator.

HERE'S GOOD BYE BOYS

The Marathons and Their Plans For The Winter—They Have Won Many Friends in St. John

"Where do the flies go in winter," and also "where do the ball players go when the air gets chill?" The sporting writer of the Times, having in mind the fact that the sporting public of St. John turned out in good style this season to witness the ball games here, and who watched the every move, upwards and downwards, of the Marathon team, undertakes to supply the solution.

First of all we have our old reliable catcher, when Mac is not throwing them out at second, walloping the pill and standing up to them behind the plate, he is dodging street cars, automobiles, etc. in the busy streets of Boston, where he spends the winter. It is altogether likely that Mac will be back on the job here next season, for he certainly made a hit with the fans this season, and will be welcomed here as warmly as ever.

Then we come to the beavers, George Winter, who managed the Greeks for the greater part of the season, and who has pitched some fine games makes his home at Burlington, Vermont, where he conducts a large billiard and pool room. George had his wife and little son and her, down here all season, and all will leave for home the first of next season. Jordan, who joined the team only lately, but who has made good with the Greeks, goes back to Portland, and is expected back on the job next season.

Dutton, Fraser and Winter will return to continue their studies at the University of Vermont. The first two are studying medicine while Winkler is awaiting to become an electrical engineer. The good wishes of the fans go with all three students, and they will wish them much success in their studies this term. All three have done good here this season, especially Dutton and Winkler.

Little Doc White, who was the utility man on the team, and who figured prominently in several of the contests, will be himself back to Boston, where he will sojourn during the long winter months. O'Donnell will betake himself back to Dorchester, Mass., where he is employed when not chasing the long season. Mac, the snappy little third sacker, who has made a decided hit with the fans, goes to take up his studies in the Tutin Dental School, outside of Boston, as he is aspiring to become a dentist. He will in all probability be back next season, and expects to keep in training by pulling molar, etc.

when things go wrong and you cannot get the number you want.

Although mistakes in calling up are quite as possible with the newer as with the older system the operation of the automatic telephone is comparatively simple.

You want a number. You poke a finger through the hole of that number's first figure, and pull the die as far round as it will go. This you do two, three or four times, according to whether your number runs to tens, hundreds or thousands.

Then you wait. Excited buzzing from the machine; a bell rings, and you are "through."

Sometimes the number is engaged, if it is, you hear no bell. You wait and try again. If the mechanism gets out of order then the trouble starts. The central switchboard is a wonderful piece of work.

Before the girl's phone is in general use here it will have to be greatly improved, in the verdict of the officials of the local telephone company.

DEATH OF MRS. CHARLOTTE BELL

The body of Mrs. Charlotte Bell, widow of Joseph L. Bell, of Norton, Kings county, was laid to rest today at the Lester burying ground, near Bowrick Corner. A service was held in the Baptist church, Norton, early in the forenoon and then the funeral procession proceeded to the place of interment.

Mrs. Bell would have been eighty-one years old had she lived till the day after Christmas. She entered into rest on Thursday morning, September 12, after many months of failing health, during the last week of which she was unconscious through paralysis.

Her husband died on August 27, 1909, aged eighty-one years. On October 29, 1886, she was married at Beech Grove, Kings county and her first home was the present house, the second above the Methodist parsonage at Millstream, where all her eight children were born. In 1876 the family moved to McFarlane Settlement, and in 1884 to Norton.

The surviving members of the family are—Wm. T. of St. John; Mrs. Samuel Allison, of St. John; John E. of Seaside; Joseph H. of Norton; Melvin H. of Norton, and Heber W., of Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Bell was of United Empire Loyalist parentage and of loving and patient disposition.

CANNED GOODS DEARER AND MORE BEING USED

Some Reasons That Operate To Make The Prices Higher Than Before

The matter of prices on canned goods is a subject of much interest with local dealers both in the wholesale and retail grocery trade at present, and it is a question which should be of no small interest to the general run of housekeepers and breadwinners as well. Of late years there has been a decided increase, fairly slow but steady, in the price of most lines of canned goods, and various causes have been assigned. A well known local dealer yesterday gave his views on the subject, and stated that one of the reasons for the marked advance in canned goods was the fact that the canning companies do so much control over the industry that, though they were separated in name, they worked almost as a combine, and another reason was that the people were eating more canned goods than had ever been the case.

The great influx of new settlers to the west had provided a wonderful market for canned goods and with the enormous growth in population increasing the demand there was a natural increase in prices. Of course in the case of canned vegetables more would have to be expected than had been the case, but once the price was raised it was hard to get it back again, even a cent or two. The high price of meats was inducing, or rather forcing many people to eat more canned goods, and the quantity consumed and sold was increasing year after year.

The dealer said he had sold nearly twice as much tinned food stuffs this year to the present than he had last, and he could sell considerably more if prices remained lower than the tendency showed.

THE REDEMPTORIST FATHERS

Plan For Work in Missions In Canada, Directed From New Provincial Headquarters

The fathers of the Order of the Holy Redeemer, now that an English vice-province has been established in Canada, with headquarters in Toronto, will devote their untiring energies to the work of missions throughout the dominion, and it is expected that in the west during the next few months and thereafter an extensive missionary campaign will be conducted, while the west will not be neglected. With hundreds of thousands of people migrating to the west and the widely scattered townships, it is reasoned that there is great need of the visits of the missionaries, and to meet this contingency a large band of Redeemptorists has been established in the mother-house of the new vice-province, St. Patrick's, Toronto.

Among the fathers stationed at this house are some well known in St. John. These are Rev. W. H. Brick, vicar and director of missions; Rev. S. L. Conolly, rector; Rev. Martin Maloney, Rev. Wm. Hogan, Rev. Edward Scully, Rev. John McPhail, Rev. John Deering and Rev. John Barry.

It is probable that some of these clergymen will be in the city for the next three weeks conducting the mission, which will open tomorrow in St. Peter's church. The first week will be devoted to a series of special services for the children, the second for the women, and the third for the men, the mission being brought to a solemn close on Sunday, October 6.

Calwell, N. J., Sept. 14.—An audience crowding the First Presbyterian church in Calwell, by unanimous vote, made Madam Schumann-Heink an honorary citizen in recognition of her giving her services at a concert for the benefit of the Cleveland memorial fund for the purchase of the old Presbyterian mansion in which she was born.
