

Women's Council Plans To Assist In Winter Carnival

Tag Selling Committees Named at Yesterday's Meeting

Committee Arranges for Reception to Visiting Queens—Further Details of the Sportsman Show and Kennel Club Events.

Plans for the sale of badges for the international skating meet accepted much of the time at the meeting of the executive of the local Council of Women held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms with Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, president, in the chair. Members were enthusiastic in undertaking the full charge of the badges.

Letters were received from the Moncton and Sackville councils and it was decided to postpone the provincial conference until later in the season because of stormy weather. Mrs. H. H. Pickett was named to replace Mrs. Richard Hooper on the committee to present resolutions at the conference, at Mrs. Hooper leaves for England on Saturday.

The matter of tag days for the coming season was spoken of and the recently appointed tag selling committee of the Council was asked to report on what number of tag days were expected to be arranged with a view to preventing too numerous street collections and running tag days too close.

As convenor of the committee appointed to interview the carnival committee concerning the sale of badges, Mrs. H. B. Peck reported that the Women's Council was asked to assume full responsibility for the sale of 60,000 badges of which the Rotary Club would take 1,000. Any surplus from the sale of badges would be divided equally among the Protestant and Catholic organizations in the city. The badge committee, Mrs. H. B. Peck, Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell, Mrs. A. C. D. Wilson and Mrs. E. A. Young, was continued in office. Mrs. G. C. Poole and Mrs. J. H. Doody were appointed to assist Miss Alice B. Estey in receiving returns from the sale of badges and the various business sections were given to convenors to have charge of the preliminary sale of tickets. Subject to the consent of those appointed, the business sections were divided as follows: West St. John and Fairville, Mrs. E. A. Young and Mrs. Ernest Waring; Prince William street, North and South wharves, Mrs. A. C. D. Wilson and Mrs. A. M. Belding; North End, St. John, North C. W. Miss M. McCloskey convenor; Germain street, Chipman Hill and Canterbury street, St. Vincent's Albanians; Miss M. Chaston convenor; Princess Water street, Market square, Mill, Dock and Smythe street, the Daughters of Israel, Mrs. L. N. Harris convenor; British street and Lower Cove street, Mrs. James Christie; King street, St. John subdivision, C. W. L. King square and Sydney street, Mrs. S. Atherton Smith and Mrs. J. H. Peck; Charlotte street, Mrs. H. J. Sheehan; Union, Waterloo and Prince Edward streets, Mrs. J. D. Seelye; March road, Mrs. Stockhouse.

The greatest part of the work in connection with the sale of badges falls on the days of the meet when badges are sold at the park and it was hoped to have many hundred workers at that time.

Mrs. Richard Hooper had kindly offered the hospitality of her home to the badge sellers during the meet and it was suggested that the council should appoint a hostess to be responsible because of Mrs. Hooper's absence.

The Daughters of Israel at their regular meeting last night decided to assist the local Council of Women in selling badges for the International Skating meet in one of the business sections of the city. Mrs. J. N. Harris, the president, was in the chair and the meeting was well attended. The routine business of the society in connection with its philanthropic work was dealt with.

At the meeting of the committee last night the various preparations for the entertainment of the queens were considered. It is planned to meet Mrs. St. John and the other queens when they arrive here, probably on Monday, and proceed to the Royal Hotel. D. J. Corr, secretary of the society, said last night that he had arranged a suite for the other queens to stay there. A reception room has been secured and the Ladies Committee, which is composed of the wives of members of the executive, will be in charge. An opportunity will be given at 5 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon for all the visiting queens to meet members of the local government and the city commissioners.

Captain K. J. MacLean, of the Salvage Corps, announced to the secretary yesterday that the local salvage corps men were planning to hold two open nights at their rooms for the benefit of any visiting firemen and he thought that these nights would probably be next Monday and the following Friday evening.

Entries are still arriving for the skating meet and last evening Hilton Belliveau's entry from the home of the veterinarian is entering the three-quarter mile, one mile and three miles events and his entry has assured the success of the meet. Mrs. L. N. Harris convenor, British street and Lower Cove street, Mrs. James Christie; King street, St. John subdivision, C. W. L. King square and Sydney street, Mrs. S. Atherton Smith and Mrs. J. H. Peck; Charlotte street, Mrs. H. J. Sheehan; Union, Waterloo and Prince Edward streets, Mrs. J. D. Seelye; March road, Mrs. Stockhouse.

The sportsman show, which is one of the big features of the week, will open in St. Malachi's hall, near King street, on Saturday and will continue for the entire week. It will be one of the largest shows of game animals, including moose, deer, bear, fish and forest scenes which has ever been attempted in the province.

The show will be open to children, accompanied by teachers, every morning at 5 o'clock, with motion pictures from 10 to 11:30 o'clock. In the afternoon there will be two shows, one at 1:30 and the other at 4:15 o'clock; also one show every evening commencing at 7:30 o'clock. All children will be accompanied at the show by parents, guardians or teachers.

The habits of the game animals of New Brunswick will be explained by experienced guides during the show.

BUYING CARNIVAL DURING THE WINTER SPORTS WEEK HERE

Retail Merchants to Give Citizens and Visitors Opportunity to Combine Business with Pleasure.

Preparations for the big carnival week are going with a swing and every meeting of the executive in charge of the affair brings additional attractions to the already extensive program planned for the great occasion.

Along with the amusements a buyers' carnival is planned for the members of the Retail Merchants Association and this event will give visitors from outside places a grand opportunity to combine business with pleasure.

The merchants of the city, who are members of the association, have arranged to hold a whole week of bargain days. Special rose colored price cards, which will be used by the members of the association, have been prepared with "we are participating in buying carnival week under the auspices of the Retail Merchants' Association" in black letters on the top and then a space for the price of the article to be sold. These cards have been prepared in two sizes and they should prove a valuable aid to visitors in locating the stores where the buyers' carnival is being conducted. This banner event will continue for one entire week under the direction of the committee composed of F. W. Daniel, J. H. Marr and S. C. Young.

The merchants yesterday afternoon decided to uphold the idea of two half holidays as proclaimed by the city council. The members of the association have planned to decorate their stores especially for the big week and in addition the poles in both sides of King street will be decorated and efforts are being made to have several other streets follow in line.

In connection with the parade the latest reports show that everything is moving smoothly and it is expected that one of the big features of the week, H. Everett Hunt is in charge of this and he has already secured the torches for the occasion.

BOBBED HAIR LOSES WOMENS VERDICT

Lacks Dignity, the Majority Say, in Reply to Artist's Questionnaire

Time Saving is Admitted—Expressionless as a Derby Hat, Says One—It Standardizes, Asserts Another—Incongruous for Older Women.

New York, Feb. 7.—Bobbed hair having passed the peak of its popularity, as well as to whether it is getting in or out of fashion, a questionnaire that bobbed hair is no longer the thing. That, at least, seems to be the opinion of the growing women, no matter what the ultra-flapper may think about it.

Mr. Stanlows sought his information from presidents of women's clubs and federations all over the country. He didn't write to the college clubs or high schools, or he might have learned that no matter what the matrons think about bobbed hair there is a lot of it being worn in preparation for the summer swimming season. But in the words of Mrs. Otto Kahn, president of the Society for Political Study, "I consider bobbed hair inartistic and as lacking in expression as a man's derby hat."

Most of the objections by the older women to bobbed hair is what they term its lack of dignity all right, but particularly pretty girls, but rather of form for their elders.

"I am not in favor of bobbed hair for women," wrote Mrs. W. A. McIntyre, treasurer of the North Dakota Federation. "It has been a pretty fashion for a long time, but it is not dignified, and a woman to be beautiful and womanly must have dignity."

Mrs. Gilbert Davis of Vermont, director of the General Federation for that state, wrote: "Personally I like bobbed hair, but I think that though I consider it incongruous for older women."

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1923

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis
Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 225.
THE TUBE RECTIFIER.

The selection of a storage battery for the operation of the detector and amplifier tubes in a radio receiver, depends primarily upon the facilities for charging the battery and upon the number of tubes and the length of time, each day, the tubes are in operation. For a single tube receiver the current necessary to properly heat the filament is approximately one ampere, and if the set is to be operated for three hours each day total discharge of the battery per day will be three ampere-hours. On this basis a storage battery having a total capacity of sixty ampere-hours would supply the required amount of filament current for a period of twenty days. If, however, a receiving set employing three tubes is used, the total discharge of the battery per day, under the same conditions, will be nine ampere-hours and the battery will require charging in approximately seven days.

It is apparent, therefore, that if the amount of current drawn from a battery is comparatively large, frequent recharging will be necessary. In addition to the expense, considerable inconvenience results in the transportation of a battery to and from a service station, due to the weight and also to the fact that the receiving set is inoperative for the period that the battery is being charged. If a battery of large ampere-hour capacity is selected, charging periods are not so frequent but the weight is considerably increased; for example, an eighty ampere-hour, six volt lead-acid battery weighs approximately 45 lbs., while an 120 ampere-hour battery weighs about 60 lbs.

For these reasons it is essential that continuity of service, efficient operation and convenience necessitate the employment of charging apparatus in combination with the receiving sets, so that removal of the battery with consequent interruption of operation is avoided. If the only available supply of electrical energy is the alternating current house lighting circuit, it is necessary to employ a rectifier and associated apparatus, first, to reduce the voltage of the circuit, and second, to convert the alternating current into a current which flows in one direction.

The accompanying diagram shows a form of gas-filled tube rectifier known as "half-wave" rectifier which converts the alternating current into a series of half-wave pulsations, mounting in effect to a flow of direct current. The transformer (T) reduces the potential of the 110 volt lighting circuit so that, after rectification, from ten to fifteen volts are impressed upon the six volt battery. The secondary winding of the transformer has two coils, one of which consists of a few turns of heavy wire for supplying current to the filament, the other coil having a large number of turns for furnishing the battery charging current.

Current flows through the bulb (B) from the plate to the filament during one-half cycle, but no current flows during the other half cycle, and consequently a series of unidirectional pulsations of charging current flow through the storage battery. The arrows in the diagram illustrate the flow of current during the half cycle when the battery is charging. It has been determined experimentally that "half-wave" rectifiers of comparatively large current capacity have an efficiency as high as 75 per cent, due to the fact that only sufficient energy to heat the filament and excite the transformer is drawn from the lighting circuit during the half cycle when no current is flowing through the rectifier tube.

If the storage battery is connected to the centre points of a double pole, double throw switch, while the receiving set is connected to one side of the switch and the rectifier to the other side a convenient and safe arrangement is obtained whereby the receiver is automatically disconnected when the switch is closed between the rectifier and the battery. When the switch is closed in the other direction, the battery operates directly on the receiver and the rectifier is disconnected.

It is evident, therefore, that the addition of charging equipment to a receiving set, employing vacuum tubes, permits the battery to be maintained in a fully charged condition by the application of a daily charge of short duration, thus securing uninterrupted and efficient service at a comparatively small expense.

device supplies a method by which the output of a single tube for radio telephony may be controlled without distortion and in addition allows a number of oscillator tubes to be operated in parallel without the use of special modulator tubes. The "magnetic modulator" has a winding through the controlling current of speech frequency flows and unlike the modulator tubes is not subject to burn-outs of the filament and consequent short length of life.

STABILIZER.
An arrangement employed in amplifier circuits for placing a position bleating potential on the grids of the amplifier tubes. It may consist of a resistance of 200 to 800 ohms connected across the filament battery terminals and an adjustable contact connected to the grid. By regulating the position of the contact the proper value of positive biasing potential is placed on the grid and the various tubes in the amplifier are prevented from oscillating. In amplifiers utilizing stages of both radio and audio frequency it is desirable to have a separate "stabilizer" for the radio frequency stages and one for the audio frequency stages.

"PEANUT" TUBE
A type of small detector tube designed for operation on a single 1.5 volt standard dry cell. This tube is provided with the usual elements of filament, grid and plate and its dimensions are approximately four and one-half inches by one and one-quarter inches. The filament current consumed by this tube is about .25 ampere and when in use as a detector should be provided with a plate potential of 22.5 volts. One type of this tube has a specially coated filament and must not be burned brighter than a dull red.

"BEVERAGE" ANTENNA
A type of antenna which has proved very successful in the reception of trans-oceanic messages. It consists primarily of one or more wires located horizontally a short distance above the ground and having a length which should be at least as great as a half wave length of the signal it is desired to receive. In the single wire type, one end is grounded through an inductance coil with the receiving apparatus is extended to the other end. The antenna is grounded through a non-inductive resistance of several hundred ohms. The antenna should extend in a direction parallel to the direction of the transmission of signals from a desired station.

"BELLAST" TUBE
A vacuum tube designed for use as a controlling element in the filament circuit of detector and amplifier tubes. By the use of this control tube the filament current is accurately and automatically adjusted and filament rheostats are not required.

GRID BIAS
For satisfactory operation of vacuum tubes, either as detectors or amplifiers, it is necessary for the potential of the grid to be maintained at a definite potential with relation to the negative terminal of the filament in order for the tube to operate on the proper point of the "grid voltage-plate current" curve. This biasing potential may be obtained (1) by utilization of a grid condenser and leak (2) by inserting a low voltage battery in the grid lead (3) by connecting the grid to the adjustable contact of a comparatively high resistance placed across the filament battery terminals (4) by connecting the grid to the adjustable contact of a low resistance place in the filament battery circuit.

PHOTOGRAPHS NOW SENT BY WIRELESS

Experiments Under U. S. Navy Auspices Show Practical Results.

(Science Service.)

Washington, Feb. 2.—Strange but regular notes that have puzzled Washington radio fans almost daily for the last month were explained when it became known that photographs are being sent by radio from naval air station NAF, at Anacostia, to the laboratory of C. Francis Jenkins on Connecticut avenue.

Likenesses of President Harding, Secretary of the Navy Denby, several feminine portraits, and written messages have been transferred by the Jenkins apparatus through the ether, and these have produced the rhythmic and somewhat musical sounds that have been heard on the NAF wave length of 422 meters. The listeners in have been "hearing" photographs.

The method is relatively simple and it is predicted that the results will be of practical use. Transmission of photographs, black and white drawings, sketches or handwriting by radio or by land wires can be accomplished. The Navy Department is co-operating with Mr. Jenkins in the first practical trials of his method by allowing him to utilize the high-power radio telephone transmitter of NAF. At present pictures and photographs are being transmitted over a distance of about five miles from the city, but Mr. Jenkins is planning to give a demonstration from Washington to some distant city soon.

The Jenkins apparatus has the effect of dividing an image of the photographic negative being sent into many closely spaced horizontal lines. These lines, point by point, are transmitted to variations in electrical intensity by a process analogous in some respects to the way in which telephone transmissions convert sound into electrical impulses. These variations represent the photograph as broadcast in the radio telephone song or talk, and when received they are changed back into light variations and built up into the photograph again, line by line.

The novel features of the Jenkins apparatus are prism lens disks which, in the sending set, impress the picture point by point upon a light sensitive cell, and in the receiving set similarly impress the variations of light point by point on a photographic plate. These disks are really crown prisms near their circumferences and the angle of the prism constantly changes so that a beam of light passing through the prismatic portion is thrown from one side to the other, as a disk revolves on its axis.

The Apparatus Required.

The sending apparatus consists of an ordinary stroboscopic projector and the prismatic disk. These impress the projected photograph point by point upon a substance that has the power of changing light variations into electrical variations. This varying current is amplified and transformed and then broadcast.

In the radio picture receiver, the incoming current moves a very small mirror, the amplitude of this movement being controlled by whether the current represents a light or dark place in the picture being transmitted. A beam of light, broken by the shadow of a human hair, is reflected by this mirror so as to pass through a slit and be impressed upon the photographic plate by the prismatic disk. When black is being sent the reflected shadow of the hair completely excludes the light from the plate, but when a light portion of the photograph is being received the mirror vibrates and lets through sufficient light to reproduce the tone of the original photograph.

Mr. Jenkins declares that his method is the first to satisfactorily transmit a flat photograph in adequate detail and shading. The photographs received by radio have good detail and a finish that almost may be described as artistic.

Next Mr. Jenkins intends sending from an actual photographic print instead of employing a photographic negative, by using a reflectoscope such as is used in producing stereoscopic views directly from objects. In the same way he hopes to transmit actual still scenes.

Then he looks forward to motion pictures. A photograph is now transmitted in about six minutes. If a photograph could be sent to one-sixteenth of a second, Mr. Jenkins explained, motion through space will have been achieved. When the eyes see sixteen pictures a second or wired across a second, seeing by radio and wire will be as real as a telephone conversation.

BISMARCK'S WORDS.

(New York Times.)

To the Editor of the New York Times:

In your recent editorial "A Language Which Germany Understands," you quote the following statement by Bismarck, early in 1871, "We should from time to time send a flying column wherever they show themselves recalcitrant, and shoot, hang and burn."

If this is true, it would brand Bismarck as one of the most inhuman statesmen. I have relied upon your accuracy and repeated this statement in an argument, but its truth has been challenged, and I therefore ask of you to bring proof that you have quoted Bismarck truthfully.

1,500,000 CHILD LABORERS IN U. S.

Secretary of Labor Davis, in Annual Report, Recommends Amendment to the Constitution.

Washington, Feb. 2.—An amendment to the Federal Constitution to enable Congress to fix standards that would take a million and a half boys and girls of school age out of the drudgery of mine and mill, field and factory, recommended by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in his annual report. Secretary Davis declared that every instinct of humanity prompted the resolution of child labor.

"The subject of child labor," says the Secretary, "has been given very careful attention in the last year and a number of important surveys have been made to ascertain the extent of this unhealthy economic factor. The reports of the Bureau of the Census would indicate that more than a million children between the ages of 10 and 16 are engaged in the industry. The details reveal that children between 10 and 15 years of age are engaged in the sugar beet fields, the cotton fields and the onion fields of the land. Apparently the usual method is to employ whole families by contractors to work in these fields. More than 80,000 children are employed as spinning girls and doffer boys in textile factories. Children in the cotton mills, it is reported, work sixty hours a week, and those over 14½ years old work nights. Thousands do industrial home work stringing beads, pulling threads from lacework, etc.

"The condition of children in industry under supervision of parents and near relatives seems to have gone on without interruption while the national child labor laws were in force. It is doubtful whether any legislation of the type heretofore enacted or thus far contemplated would reach this evil, or children working in agricultural pursuits or in the homes under the supervision of their parents or close relatives.

"Under the previous Administration the custom grew up of suspending the operation of the immigration laws on the Mexican border to permit the importation of Mexican children for the purpose of working in cotton fields and sugar beet fields. After carefully reviewing the whole situation, I reached the conclusion that this was not only unauthorized by law but was really an extension of the child labor law to child labor. It is true that these industries are really suffering for help, but it seemed to me improper to permit the importation of so-called cheap labor in the form of the labor of women and children from another country. I feel that it is a practical and sound way of eliminating child labor when we create conditions which will require that adults or people above the age of 16 shall do this work.

"A complete survey would indicate that 1,500,000 American children are now the victims of premature toil in the mines and mills and factories and homes of this country. This is all wrong. The great problem of our time is the physical and mental deterioration of the nation. Our children are entitled to a life that will conserve their strength while young and that will educate their minds and hearts so that they may be efficient when they grow to maturity.

"Forty-two States out of the forty-eight have adopted so-called child labor laws, some of which are highly developed and rigidly enforced. Others are rather rudimentary and indifferently enforced. The manufacturer in the State where children under the age of sixteen years are not permitted to work at all and where those above sixteen and below eighteen are permitted only to work under certain restricted conditions and regulations complain that they are subject to unfair competition by competitors who manufacture in States where there are no laws on the subject of child labor or where the laws are not comprehensive and practically not enforced. A remedy must be found to meet this condition. There are those who advocate uniform child labor laws by the States, believing that it is a subject which should be dealt with only by the States. On the other hand, there are those who advocate the adoption of an amendment to the Federal Constitution giving Congress exclusive power to deal with the subject. Regardless of which method may be adopted, it is urged that some remedy should be adopted which will forever blot from the recollection of this

BISHOP HUGHES SCORES BUTLER

Sarcastic in Arraignment of Foes of Prohibition and Volstead Act—"No Likelihood of Amendment Repeal."

(Boston Herald.)

Scathingly denouncing those who declare that the 18th amendment cannot be enforced, and charging that such persons do not want prohibition enforcement, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes last evening held spellbound an audience which filled the Park street church with a biting sarcastic arraignment of the foes of prohibition and the Volstead act.

His principal attack was on Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and his effort was largely bent toward refuting Dr. Butler's statements regarding the unenforceability of the Volstead act made in an address at Columbus, O., recently.

Ridicules Butler.

Ridiculing Dr. Butler's stand and carrying it to what he designated as the logical conclusion to his arguments, Bishop Hughes asked why, if it were true that the 18th amendment should be repealed because it was violated, all law should not be done away with for the same reason. He took up the statements of Dr. Butler that the foundation of lawlessness was laid in 1890, the year of rapid extension of the elective system in colleges, and declared that if the elective system had caused lawlessness, then the grandfather of this statute-defying movement for the elective system, Dr. Butler's address at a little utterance. Says in a general reference to "sound education" and "true religion" the quoted part of the address offers no constructive suggestion. He links the 10th and 18th amendments as partners in producing lawlessness. He well knew the vanity of such a course. Though the Democratic party has been so largely the party of the South, it would not be silly enough to advocate the repeal of the 18th amendment.

No Chance of Repeal.

"No political dreamer sees any likelihood of the repeal of the 18th amendment. It took thirty-six states to put that amendment into the constitution.

All talk of "unamendable" constitution is the merest moonshine; as silly as if it came from a brain muddled by another kind of moonshine!

Continuing his address, Bishop Hughes declared that, while the lower and middle classes of Americans had been reached by prohibition and were more sober today than ever before, some members of the upper classes have not yet been touched and hold themselves above the law. Those persons, he said, are the ones who sow the

60,000 YOUNG AMERICANS DIE

Each Year—From Old Age Diseases—Due Largely to Faulty Food

PROFESSOR McCOLLUM, of Johns Hopkins University, says these old age deaths, from diseases of the heart, blood vessels, kidneys, brain, digestive organs etc., have doubled in thirty years, and that younger persons are every year being attacked. McCollum also says 10% of all deaths are due to tuberculosis, and "this condition is largely due to faulty food."

Conditions are identical in Canada and all civilized countries where the same foolish food habits prevail.

The food mistakes of civilization and therefore of us Canadians—of me and mine—of you and yours—are too much "denatured" flour, refined cereals, "access acid," white flour, refined cereals, meats, and sweets; too little whole grain cereals, milk, eggs, leafy vegetables and fruits, the immemorial natural food of the human race.

McCullum has demonstrated that a combination of whole grains is even superior to one whole grain—because bet-

New Method of Detection Discovered by Police Director in France

Even though he wears gloves the modern yeggman can no longer prevent telltale evidences of his presence being left on the premises he robs. The French police have found a way to determine the identity of a criminal by an examination of the skin pores in any impression left behind.

This new advance in baffling law-breakers is called "poroscopy." The man to whom society is chief indebted for this development is Dr. Edmund Locard, director of the police laboratory at Lyons.

There is a great variation in the shape, size, position and number of the pores of the skin, so that even a fragmentary portion of the skin of the hand is a valuable clue.

Not so many years back another Frenchman demonstrated the value of the study of the fingerprints in running down criminals. Then the crook began to wear rubber gloves to evade detection. Now comes poroscopy to add to the burglar's worries.

CHURCH NOT TO TRY DR. GRANT

Bishop Tells Rector His Reply was "Vague and Ambiguous" — "Still Grave Doubt as to Your Belief."

Rev. Dr. Percy Stickey Grant will not be tried for heresy because of recent sermons before his pastorate in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, he was informed last week in a letter from Bishop William T. Manning.

The bishop, who had requested Rev. Dr. Grant to "retract or resign" because of his professed doubt of the deity of Christ, said he would let the matter rest for the present, because the pastor, replying to the request, had not made clear whether he really doubted Christ's deity or not.

"Vague and Ambiguous."

"You are not brought to trial because your letter in response to mine is vague and ambiguous, instead of clear and explicit," the bishop wrote.

"You have, by your utterances, caused grave doubt in the mind of the church at large as to your belief in the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ. You have been given an opportunity to remove this doubt, but you have not done so. You have made my reply to me in words that fail to make clear your belief in this essential truth."

Of the threatened heresy trial, Bishop Manning said:

"Even though the faith of the church may virtually be denied and doubt cast upon her most essential belief, a court ought to be convened only when this denial is in terms that are clear and free from ambiguity."

The Bishop's Letter.

Bishop Manning's letter read, in part:

"The real issue which you have raised by your own utterances is whether you believe that Jesus Christ is Lord and God, for if you do not so believe, it is plain that you cannot with self-respect, or with freedom to express your real convictions, continue to hold your place as a minister of a church whose whole life and teaching is founded on this belief."

"It is this faith in the Lord Jesus Christ which you refrain from clearly expressing in your letter. You rather confirm the impression that you do not so believe, but you do not say so plainly and definitely. The terms in which you express your faith in Christ are all of the terms which may be used and are in fact used by teachers who definitely deny His deity. There is no statement in your letter which indicates any belief on your part in Jesus Christ, the eternal Son of God, the second person of the Holy Trinity."

"The suggestion that young men of intellect and vigor will be repelled from the ministry if they are required to believe the faith of the church is irrelevant. No one can, with honesty, enter the ministry of Jesus Christ as God, Full Believer in the gospel of Christ does not repel young men if they are Christians. What may well repel young men of high character and sound mind is any doubt as to the deity of Christ."

"The suggestion that this is a difference between low church and high church is merely an attempt to confuse and obscure the true point at issue. There is here no mere issue between parties in the church. The real issue is that of belief in the power and Godhead of Jesus Christ, and here all parties in the church are at one."

"This issue is far larger than the Episcopal Church, as the letters which I am receiving from ministers of other churches amply testify. The time has come for all believers to stand openly together upon this matter of life or death to the Christian religion."

"You stand in this position—You have by your own utterances, caused grave doubt in the mind of the church at large as to your belief in the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ. You have been given an opportunity to remove this doubt, but you have not done so. You have made my reply to me in words which fail to make clear your belief in this essential truth. There, for the present, the matter rests."

FARMERS NEED WOOD AND THE TOWNS COAL

(Sackville Post.)

The great depth of snow everywhere is paralyzing business of every description. Out through the country there is usually a large amount of hauling going on at this time—ice, hay, logs, poles, wood, etc., are being moved, but not so this year. The snow is so deep that practically nothing can be done. It is next to impossible to get hay out of the marshes, and as for getting into the woods—many persons have tried and failed.

An Upper Sackville man told the Post yesterday that he and his neighbors were nearly out of wood. He said he could not get his horse into the woods, and had been forced to carry out a little every day on his own back in order to keep his house fires going. He thought town people had very little idea of the actual condition of things out through the country districts.

But here in town conditions are far from being ideal. There is something closely resembling a coal famine. Many people if not actually out of coal, have a very limited supply—only sufficient for a few days in fact.

URGES LAW TO CONTROL FLYING

Would License Aircraft and Pilots and Ban Stunts Except in Training.

Washington, Feb. 6.—In an article written for the Aeronautical Digest and made public today by the National Aeronautical Association, Charles M. Schwab says that as the next generation is to make wide use of the airplane, this generation should do everything to make flying safe. Fatalities, he said, were due almost invariably to haphazard flying or stunt flying. As the cure for this situation Mr. Schwab proposed the enactment of a Federal law to control the licensing of aircraft pilots and the prohibition of stunt flying except in restricted areas during the training of flying personnel.

"I do not mean to imply that flying is particularly dangerous," said Mr. Schwab. "Far from it. Properly regulated and properly conducted, air navigation can be made safe. It is only the unregulated use of aircraft with reckless stunt flying which has cost us lives."

"This, of course, is aside from the military and naval use of aircraft, which is largely experimental and consequently hazardous. The commercial use of aircraft is the legitimate use, although there is no greater factor in the common defense of our country than a well-developed air power. Aircraft employment during the great war and in the aerial bombing experiments against naval vessels since that time have given conclusive proof of the military and naval value of aircraft, both lighter and heavier-than-air."

"That flying is safe is proved, however, in the performance of commercial aircraft in this country in the past two years. The Air Mail maintaining a line running entirely across the Continent, making twenty-four flights daily, as operated during the last eighteen months without a fatality and has closely approached perfection in its schedule. All planes have left on time and arrived on time in over 95 per cent of their service, and stunt flying has been conducted during rainy, foggy and snowy weather.

Carry 500,000 Without Fatality.

"Furthermore, those aircraft operating companies which have approximated in their self-imposed regulations the standards adopted by the Air Mail have carried in the last two years more than half a million passengers without a fatality.

"The other side of the picture is not so pleasant. The records for the year 1922 are not yet complete, but in 1921 fifteen or unregulated aircraft operations were responsible, I understand, for forty-nine deaths, most of which would have been avoided had proper regulatory laws been in force, making inspection and licensing of pilots obligatory. Even this record of unregulated flying is not so dismal when we realize that such flying comprised more than two and one-half million miles and involved the carrying of nearly 100,000 passengers.

"It speaks well for the ruggedness and stability of American aircraft and the general excellence of our flying personnel when we learn that this record of deaths shows a greater degree of safety than that of the European continental aircraft operations. Our pilots in their haphazard flights were responsible for a lesser number of deaths per passenger-mile than the well-regulated subsidized air lines of Europe."

"Our problem is not a difficult one. It is plainly a matter of regulation.

An example of this was brought out at the air meet and air races held in Detroit last October, where racing machines under competent control flew approximately 200,000 miles at speeds ranging from 170 to 240 miles an hour without so much as scratching an aviator. Speed in flying in itself does not feel dangerous. The real danger lies in defective aircraft, both in the machines and the engines, and undue recklessness and disregard of flying conditions on the part of the pilot. Wants a Federal Law.

"To make flying safe the enactment of a Federal law is absolutely essential. Such a law should control the licensing of aircraft, their pilots, and the prohibition of 'stunt' flying except in restricted areas during the training of flying personnel. A knowledge of 'stunt' flying, I understand, is necessary for pilots, in order that they may properly handle the aircraft, which, for one reason or another, becomes unstable, instability being brought about by air pockets or unusual atmospheric conditions. 'Aviation fits into so many phases of our commercial life that measures should be taken immediately to regulate and foster its growth and control. There is, at the present time, a bill before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives for creating a bureau of civil aeronautics in the Department of Commerce, and squarely placing the responsibility for the regulation and building of airways and air terminals upon the shoulders of the Government. This is, as it should be, because unified control in the hands of the general Government, will preclude conflicting legislation on the part of the various States and will tend to reduce confusing and ill-conceived rules and requirements which would hamper rather than assist in the development and general use of air navigation."

"Together with the regulatory measures proposed, the Government will be required to furnish navigational facilities for day and night flying, and for the regulation and building of airways and terminals at various points throughout the country. This is conceivable to Government aid to shipping through the establishment of docks, breakwaters, lighthouses and buoy and beacon systems, which have contributed so much to the development of ocean-borne commerce and safety in its use."

WORKS COUEISM ON A CRIPPLE

Unsuspected Healer Gives a Prisoner Six Months to Get Better.

(New York Times.)

Magistrate Charles A. Oberwieser, hitherto unsuspected healer, who never had practiced in Nancy, worked a remarkable cure in Night Court recently. At the door of the Detention Room, first floor from the bench, stood Samuel Horowitz, professional beggar, leaning heavily on two crutches. He learned heavily last night with the art that is not effort; he was there for intoxication. The Magistrate, who had been reading about Emilie Coue, looked at Horowitz and crutches.

"Believe you can walk," he said. "Ah," sighed Horowitz, "I am a cripple. I wish I were well."

"Why, you can walk," said the Magistrate. "Walk over here."

"It is no use," said Horowitz, smiling sadly.

"Put your subconscious mind to work," said the Magistrate. "Come on, now, walk."

"No, I can't."

"Drop those crutches and walk! The order came with a snap."

Horowitz's crutches dropped with a thump and he sauntered over. He was about to report improvement, when the Court said:

"There you are; you're feeling better and better. Six months in the workhouse."

The word "longshoreman," a man who loads and unloads boats, is derived from the original "along shoreman."

INDIA GRIPPED BY COCAINE TRAFFIC

Habit widespread among Natives—Drug Imported from Japan.

(London, Dec. 25.—(By Mail).—The cocaine habit is widespread in the north of India, particularly among the Mahometans of the Punjab and their co-religionists, the Pathans, and Delhi is one of the chief distributing centers of the drug, writes a correspondent of "The London Times." In a recent message I recorded the arrival here of one consignment of 100 pounds, which, at the ruling price of £10 an ounce, was worth about £25,000. The authorities are active in suppressing the traffic; last year, for instance, they made a sensational raid, which resulted in the conviction of two notorious Hindu traffickers.

"The story of this raid illustrates the extent of the organization of the cocaine smuggling trade and the difficulties of coping with it. These two Hindus were formerly Dacoits, who had been caught and imprisoned. When released, about six years ago, they were known to be penniless. When the cocaine trade came to an abrupt end one of them was living in a veritable palace in one of the narrow mohals (residential quarters) of the city. The house was luxuriously furnished and heavily barred. It was even fitted with steel bars inside to guard against the intrusions of the police. Like others of this trade, this smuggler employed spies, whose duty it was to warn him in advance of the appearance in the vicinity of European and police officers."

"The method of distribution of the cocaine is, roughly, as follows: The consignment reaches Delhi from Japan by way of Calcutta. There it is passed on to various retailers in the shuttered palaces of the super-stagger. The retailers, in their turn, have distributors, who, in the guise either of belt-nut sellers or of casual traders, sell the drug in packets to the agents of the eventual consumers."

MRS. SKINNER AGAIN REGENT

Satisfactory Year Noted at Annual Meeting of De-Monts Chapter.

The annual meeting of the DeMonts Chapter I. O. E. was held this morning in the election of officers resulted in the re-election of Mrs. Sherwood Skinner as regent. Reports were received from the various officers and committees of the chapter and all were of a very satisfactory nature. Arrangements were made for the chapter to assist in the sale of tickets for the military ball in the army next week and to assist in the support. As is customary the chapter will meet for weekly sewing societies during the Lenten season and will make articles for the Red Cross, the V. O. N. and the Protestant Orphans' Home on the West Side. It was decided to take fifty tickets for distribution from the Red Cross in connection with the showing of the picture "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

Officers were elected as follows: Regent, Mrs. Sherwood Skinner; first vice-regent, Mrs. Leonard Tilley; second vice-regent, Mrs. W. H. Lapsley; secretary, Mrs. Robert Cruikshank; assistant secretary, Mrs. H. C. Spry; chaplain, Mrs. W. E. Foster; Mrs. G. K. McLeod, Miss Edith Skinner and Mrs. Andrew J. ...

The report of the secretary, Mrs. Cruikshank, showed the loss of three members through removal from the city and the resignation of four new members, bringing the membership up to its full complement of fifty. The various activities of the chapter were reviewed. Last year's Lenten work resulted in 220 children's garments being made and presented to the V. O. N. and the Protestant Orphans' Home. The chapter had accomplished much in sending books to schools, homes and soldiers' families living in isolated parts of the province. Appreciative reference was made to the selection of Mrs. Courtenay Robinson as provincial delegate to the National Council. The thanks of the chapter were expressed to Mrs. W. E. Foster for her generous support of the members of the chapter during the past year and bespoke the same support for the incoming officers.

The treasurer's report showed the amount raised by the chapter to be $444.60. For charity $274.18 had been expended and $428.85 for patriotic purposes.

CARTRIDGES IN INCINERATOR

Ammunition Makes Lively Time for Man in Charge. The man who is in charge of the city incinerator in the south end of the city, and through whose hands passes all the refuse gathered up and deposited there for destruction, is a chap who is not usually perturbed by the quantity or nature of the material that comes under his observations from day to day. This morning, however, he had an experience which tended almost to make him and which may seriously affect his liking for his occupation. He was busy, as usual, dumping great quantities of paper and other refuse into the flames when a fastidiously clean man to a machine gun bombardment, commenced in the depths of the incinerator. So insistent did it become that the tender of the fire withdrew to a safe distance until things quieted down a bit. He then carried out a minute examination of the material from which he was shoveling and found several hundred rounds of small arms ammunition, of the calibre used in the regulation military rifle. Whether it was a warning or how it is not known, but a warning has been sent by the city to the military authorities and the public is also requested to refrain from sending anything of an explosive character to the dump for destruction.

VALENTINES

St. Valentine's Day is almost here, with its usual attendant of sending greetings or gifts to our friends—and others. It's rather a cheerful habit, and that little card with its friendly or non-sensational message may be just enough to start somebody's day off with a smile. Be sure you get it addressed properly, though, and mail it in good time. And with the right amount of postage on it, so it won't arrive "C. O. D.", which might rather spoil the sentiment.

Perhaps, reminded how reasonable it would be, you are sending "her—or him"—a little gift to mark this day of special remembrance. If so, why not take advantage of whatever security the postal service offers you? If it's quite a small parcel you are sending, which you can conveniently pay for at letter rate, by all means register it, so that it will be sure of special handling, and you won't need to be wondering whether it actually got there all right. Or if you are sending anything by parcel post, insure it; then even if by some mischance something should happen to it, you can at least get some return from the post office and replace the gift—better late than never.

PASTEUR, MAN AND SCIENTIST

Centenary of Great Frenchman's Birth Evokes Warm Tribute to His Personal Qualities and His Epoch Making Discoveries.

(By Dr. Robert Abbe, member of the committee on Pasteur Centenary, New York City, in New York Sun.)

Today the civilized world is celebrating the birthday of Louis Pasteur, who holds the most exalted position in scientific achievement. On the four walls of the earth comes the fragrance of incense burned on a new altar, dedicated to "Science and Religion," embodied in him. It would be difficult to invent a new type of man.

In every century the achievements of a man will show that by his character and by the circumstances of the day, these have combined to create one supremely conspicuous personality who has done most to make the world a better place to live in.

Pasteur towers above all scientists and humanitarians of the past century. His father was one of the fine bourgeois of the period of France, who fought under Napoleon, and was decorated for bravery on the battlefield with the cross of the Legion of Honor. When Napoleon was crushed and proud France humbled, he returned to his hometown among a group of pasture artisans in Eastern France, tanners of leather when that was a fine art. This proud father was the constant companion of his son's boyhood and poured out his soul to him from day to day.

As a boy in school, his genius was not conspicuous. He loved sports, he loved art. Not until his twentieth year and having exhausted the resources of some schools did his ambition take him to the Ecole Normale of the Paris University.

Here the brilliant lectures on science fascinated him. In the laboratory of chemistry, the eloquent Professor Dumas welcomed his aid on further study of the mystery of crystal formation out of clear chemical solutions—of which the professor was already the authority.

He distanced his beloved teacher, when, in his graduating thesis on crystallography he offered conclusive proof of molecular dissymmetry. Pure science threw its charmed spell over his life. At twenty-seven he filled his first professorship in chemistry at the University of Strasbourg. Here his soul was captivated by the charm of the reactor's daughter, Marie Laurent, in whom he found a helpmate throughout more than forty years of his wonderful working life.

Science welcomed him at the door, and love met him on the threshold. For several years he taught chemical science there, until his ambition called him to organize a science university at the great industrial center at Lille.

Here he wrote a book which opens eyes which the mind that is prepared. In his case so it proved. He was now in the grip of a fever which was declining, owing to the pouring of wisdom from the heavens. Here his knowledge of crystals led him to study the tartar crystals deposited in the wine casks, and he made his discovery that bacteria growing in the new wine led to decadence, and that heating it destroyed the bacteria, but did not harm the wine. The preservation and transport of wine were now possible through pasteurization.

His dislain of wealth is a lesson for all ancient workers. When Napoleon III, gave him a court reception he expressed surprise that "with all his than can be credited to the work of any other man in the century.

The qualities of mind and heart that now brought scientific precision to every problem he attempted to solve were, first, a love of incessant work (even in his boyhood he had written to his little sisters: "Once you get the habit of work you cannot live without it"); second, a power of intense concentration; third, a determined will to keep in spite of apparent failure; his experiments; fourth, a supreme dependence on laboratory experiment to ascertain actual facts, which he regarded as of greater power than all the philosophical deductions of the educated mind relying on itself alone.

Pasteur's resources were always limited. His laboratory was wherever he could get a room, a garret or a cold cellar heated by radiators or stoves. The next demand of his country was to solve the mystery of the ruined silk industry of southern France. He attacked this apparently obdurate problem with the belief that every mystery can be revealed by intense and continuous study. After five years his reward was a complete restoration of this great industry to its original prestige.

In the midst of this work he was stricken with complete paralysis of the left side, though he was only 46 years old. His life was despaired of. Great scientists gathered about him and vied with each other in wishing and nursing him. The Emperor sent daily to get a gleam of hope. At last he was able to get up, and in three months he was sitting in his sunny garden. In six months he was directing a laboratory. In a year he was active in scientific discussion, dragging his paralyzed limb to the platform.

For twenty-six years after what would have been a crushing calamity to most men Pasteur's indomitable spirit took up the thread of scientific problems. Year after year yielded epoch making discoveries of the microscopic origin of all contagious diseases. Greatest of all, when his country called him to study the scourges of farm and civil life he took up cholera, diphtheria, swine cholera and anthrax, that scourge of sheep fold and cattle herds. In 1880 he discovered the cause of anthrax, a germ which he called Bacillus anthracis. He was the first to show that anthrax is caused by a germ which he called Bacillus anthracis.

His search for the germ of hydrophobia, then counting thousands of victims yearly. No one has yet found the microbe, but his cure and his method stand today as the effective resources of science. This frightful disease has been almost annihilated.

For twenty years of Pasteur institutes scattered throughout the world, with an army of followers pursuing methods initiated by him, emulating him and winning new victories. The world has never before seen a master mind so dominating the life saving work of civilization.

His dislain of wealth is a lesson for all ancient workers. When Napoleon III, gave him a court reception he expressed surprise that "with all his

Used After Shaving Keeps Skin Soft and Smooth

Many men suffer from irritation of the skin as a result of shaving. With some it assumes a form of eczema and becomes most annoying and unsightly. By applying a little of Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving the irritation is overcome and Barber's Itch and Eczema are prevented or relieved.

MANY WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

Through the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Two Interesting Cases

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the common ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same. When disturbing ailments first appear, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Mrs. Edwards Avoids Operation. "Wilson, N. C. For about a year I was not able to do anything, not even my housework, because of the pain in my sides and the bearing-down pains. I could only lie around the house. The doctor said nothing but an operation would help me, but I tried different medicines which did no good, until my sister insisted on my trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She said there was nothing like it. I know that she was right, for I began to improve with the first bottle and it has done me more good than anything else. I am able now to do anything on the farm or in my home, and I recommend it to my friends."—LILLIE EDWARDS, R.F.D. 8, Box 44, Wilson, N. C.

Another Operation Avoided. "Aron, Ohio. I can never praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for what it has done for me. I had such pains and was so weak that the doctor told me nothing but an operation would help me. But my sister had taken the Vegetable Compound and she told me what it had done for her, and so I took it and I am glad to tell every one that it made me a strong woman, and I have had two children since then."—Mrs. R. G. WETZEL, 225 Grant Street, Aron, Ohio.

Com. Thornton Asks for a Detailed Estimate—Appointment in Water Department—To Send Delegation to Ottawa re Harbor Development.

At yesterday's Common Council session, Commissioner Wigmore's recommendation that Walter Thompson, at present employed as a mechanic at the Union Foundry Co., Ltd., plant in West St. John, be appointed to vacant position of superintendent of the water and sewerage department, carried unanimously. The salary named was $1,700 per annum.

Reporting on the request from the Winter Carnival committee regarding the electric lighting effects for the side of King square facing Charlotte street, Commissioner Thornton said that he had all the material necessary for $75,000. The contractor would supply and install all the material necessary for $75,000. The contractor would supply and install all the material necessary for $75,000.

A bill for horse hire amounting to $207 from A. G. Day, as presented by Commissioner Thornton, was ordered paid. Commissioner Thornton's request for authority to have the uniforms for the police and fire department men manufactured now at a price of $24 per suit than paid last year. The work will be done by local tailors.

A delegation to be appointed by Mayor Fisher will proceed to Ottawa on Monday to urge on the Federal Government the extension of the Negro Point breakwater to Partridge Island, and also the extension of the grain conveyor system at Sand Point. Commissioner Thornton, was ordered paid.

Commissioner Wigmore in seconding the motion, said that it was not out of order. "Yes, the council had not but it certainly had been the feeling of Monday's meeting that the council would take the lead in the matter and therefore, no resolution had been put to the meeting. He felt quite strong conditions at Ottawa, he urged that he be attended to at once. Supplementary to the breakwater was a necessary step. The time is opportune to press our case," he concluded.

"There is no question but that the primary matter is the extension of the breakwater, and the time now ripe to go to Ottawa," he said. The governor declared that the breakwater would be a necessary step.

Her Three Children HAD Whooping Cough

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but it is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than in male children.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINK SYRUP is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way brings on the "whoop" which is so much dreaded for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. W. H. Mahar, Kentville, N. S., writes: "My three children had whooping cough. I tried every medicine I could think of until an old gentleman told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pink Syrup. Before they had one bottle taken the cough seemed better, and after two bottles, they were about well. It loosened the cough and relieved them of that hard, distressing and straining feeling that goes with it."

Dr. Wood's is 88c and 60c a bottle. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RUHR QUESTION IS REVIEWED AS VITAL TO WORLD

Interests of All Nations Lie in Settlement of the Situation in Europe, Says the National City Bank of New York.

The outcome of the latest phase of the European situation, as embodied by French occupation of the Ruhr will depend, in the opinion of the National City Bank of New York, upon the degree of moderation with which France presses her claims.

Anything May Happen. "If France overrates Germany's ability to pay the results will be disastrous to both," says the bank.

The situation is one of great strain and is everywhere recognized as involving the gravest possibilities in the way of further disorder.

Domestic Trade Good. In reviewing the domestic situation the bank says in part: "The trend of business in the first month of 1923 has been very satisfactory."

There is no slackening of industry, and all domestic conditions give promise for a good year.

Building construction now promises to go ahead of last year. Road building will continue about the same on a larger scale.

Textile industries are active under the pressure created by an upward tendency of prices.

Advances in raw materials. "The prices of grains have been unfavorably affected by the strained situation in Europe."

DEATH LAID TO SUICIDE OR SLIP Chicago University Freshman Dies After Father Shifts His Heart in Operation.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—A letter in a woman's handwriting was the only clue to the mystery surrounding the death of John Minahan, twenty-one years old, a University of Chicago freshman, who was found dead seated in a chair and leaning over a shotgun in his room at the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house.

Fraternity brothers, many of whom were sleeping in the house, insisted that the shooting was accidental. Minahan, they said, had arisen early to clear his shotgun in preparation for a hunting trip to New Mexico.

Hyde Park police, however, expressed the belief that the student had shot himself because of dependency over his health. No one in the house heard the two shots that ended his life.

GIVES UP SECOND OFFENCE CHARGES Sydney, N. S., Feb. 7.—(By Canadian Press)—Because, he alleges, the authorities release offenders as fast as they can be put in jail, Temperance Inspector Amos Martin has informed the Sydney City Council that he has abandoned the laying of second offence charges under the Nova Scotia Temperance Act.

Summons before the council to explain his attitude, he gave three reasons for his decision: 1. That second offence convictions are hard to obtain.

2. That such charges provoke more determined perjury than in first offences in the effort to escape. 3. That when convicted it is impossible to keep the offenders in jail as their lawyers invariably formulate some plea for leniency on compassionate grounds with which to go before the Governor-in-Council who orders their release.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE OF BANKERS

Montreal, Feb. 7.—Ten prominent bankers of the U. S. and Canada concluded a series of meetings here yesterday which may go down in history as the "Montreal conference." Discussion was carried on in an entirely amicable way, but it was felt that occasions might arise in banking affairs that might make international relations less unanimous than they are at present.

HOW IS BUSINESS?

(New York Tribune, Monday) Cottons—Primary market less active; finished goods in brisk demand; more price advances; production large.

Why Not You?

George Lawton was 29 (in 1902) when he took a 20-pay-life policy for $5,000.

The annual premium was $162.50, or a possible total cost of $3,250.00.

If he had been a participating policy.

The distribution of profits every five years so reduced his premiums that his actual payments only totalled $2,701.40.

So that he had $5,000 protection for 20 years at an average cost of $135.

If he surrendered his policy today its value is $474.60 more than its cost.

He is now in the prime of life. If he leaves his paid-up policy, it will be his to receive dividends as long as he lives.

And he will still have $5,000 to bequeath to his family.

HAS SOLD OUT GROcery STORES

Kansas City Man Tells of the Methods That Have Brought Him Success.

William Bailey, owner of the Gem Cash Grocery, in Kansas City and for the last thirty years a successful merchant, has sold out his business to a group of investors.

"During the last three decades," says Bailey, "I have owned and operated about a dozen small grocery stores, and have in addition to the profit made in the sale of these stores, a considerable sum of money which I have invested in real estate."

"I have advertised no more for my stores, but simply let go of each of them as soon as I could, and have received a price I could not afford to refuse."

"Perhaps you've noticed that there is always a cash buyer waiting to take over the retail business, in any line, which appears to be unusually successful. And when you have a buyer, let his eagerness bring him to the point of offering about twice my investment."

"It is not so difficult for a grocer, or any other line of business, to make a profit, and everything which is left to the owner is a profit. It is not so difficult for a grocer, or any other line of business, to make a profit, and everything which is left to the owner is a profit."

Boston, Feb. 7.—Tony Julian, of Brockton, last night was awarded the decision over Johnny Dundee, of New York, junior lightweight, after five rounds of fighting. Dundee's title was not at stake as Julian weighed 137 to his 133.

Why Big Matches Are Barred.

(New York Times)

Chairman Muldoon of the New York State Athletic Commission has made some interesting statements during the last week relative to heavyweight championship bouts in this state. He began by barring Dempsey-Willard and Dempsey-Willis matches on the ground that they would be attended by over-commercialization, unrestrained financial demands and statements of excessive publicity. These attributes would not be peculiar to a Dempsey-Willard or Dempsey-Willis bout, so Chairman Muldoon yesterday took the next logical step and barred all heavyweight bouts in New York State.

This action on the part of the head of the state boxing body is not only unique in itself, but it also brings about a unique situation. Here is the heavyweight champion of the world, who has been idle for almost two years, anxious to enter the ring in defense of his title, with a half dozen rivals seeking the chance to face him and a public which would like to see such a contest, all being brought up sharply against a ban laid down by the man whose chief interest is to promote the sport of boxing. But the interesting position Chairman Muldoon has taken in the matter is no more interesting than are his reasons for taking it.

He says in one breath that a Dempsey-Willis bout would attract 100,000 persons to the arena, in which it was held in the next he turns his hat against it because the newspapers would be "filled with brazen headlines and endless rot for weeks in advance of such a bout." It is hard to reconcile these two statements. Certainly Chairman Muldoon would not charge the newspapers with being responsible for the interest which has been manifested in heavyweight boxing matches since the time when the principals fought with bare knuckles.

Dore Chairman Muldoon believes that there would be less interest in a Dempsey-Willis match if the two men fought for $25,000 instead of $50,000? If so, how would he explain the almost world-wide interest which attended the Corbett-Sullivan bout, the first of the heavyweight contest held under the present rules, in which those two great heavyweights battled twenty-one rounds for a purse of $25,000. If Chairman Muldoon believes that it is the purse and not the contest in which the public is interested, how would he account for the crowds which were wont to follow John L. Sullivan along the street and practically fight their way into the building where he was going to fight? Naturally, no crowds of 10,000 persons ever saw Sullivan fight. These great gatherings are a product of our own day. Why should Mr. Muldoon, or anyone else for that matter, take exception to the fact that there are thousands of persons who would gladly pay whatever price was asked to see Jack Dempsey defend his title? The spectators would come at their own risk. Carpentier only lasted four rounds against the champion, but there is no record of anyone's having demanded his money back.

The heavy situation is this—we have a champion anxious to defend his title; we have several challengers anxious to fight him; we have several promoters capable of handling and willing to stage the bout; we have a keen public interest in such a match and tens of thousands willing to pay the price to see it. Why should Mr. Muldoon join the chorus of those Americans, who, in numerous fields, are raising the modern U. S. refrain of "Forbidden?"

Football.

Scottish League.
Glasgow, Feb. 7.—(Canadian Press.) Results of matches in the Scottish League Association football games yesterday were:—
Third Lanark, 2; Rangers, 2.
St. Mirren, 4; Dundee, 0.

SKATING.

Schoolboy Meet.

A revised standing for the competing boys in the schoolboy meet under the auspices of the Y. M. C. I. shows that Grenville McCavour, Albert school, scored 130 points and not 110 points as announced first. William McKenzie scored 120 points and moves into second place over W. Miller, Lorne school. Miller stands third with 100 points. The corrected standing gives the Alexandra school first place with 210 points.

Only Victorious Canadian.

New York, Feb. 7.—Harry Hennings, Toronto, was the only Canadian boxer to win a bout last night at the opening of the international inter-city boxing tournament held by the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. at Madison Square Garden. He won by a knockout in the first round of the 160-pound class semi-final.

Decision Against Dundee.

Boston, Feb. 7.—Tony Julian, of Brookline last night was awarded the decision over Johnny Dundee, of New York, United States junior lightweight champion, after ten rounds of fighting.

HOCKEY.

Fine Work of Willie Logan

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 6.—William Logan, of St. John, N. B., won the sixteen-year-old class in the National championships meet held at Endicott, Saturday and Monday. The speedy youngster won all three events, the 220, 440 and half-mile, outclassing the field in each event.

The performance of little Billy Logan was remarkable for a boy of his age and his victories were won over the classiest boy skaters of the country. His time for Sunday's 220 yards was 22 seconds, but one and one-fifth of a second behind the time made in this event by the eighteen-year-old boys. But of even more consequence was his time for the 440. He made this in 42.5 seconds, one-fifth of a second under the time made by the eighteen-year-old boys and only three and two-fifths slower than Moore won the senior race in. He covered the half mile in 2 minutes 9.5 seconds. In every race Logan got an early lead and maintained it for the entire distance. Attempts were made by the Pittsfield and Saranac Lake skaters, who finished second and third, to pass the St. John youngster but he was too speedy for them. H. Coombs, of Pitt-field, Mass., finished second in total points with sixty, against Logan's ninety. Daniel Vannortwick, of Saranac Lake, was third with thirty and Howard Meeker, of Endicott, fourth with ten.
