lotion Endorsing His Appointment Broke Up Meeting

Listen to Words of Commendation for the Old Leader.

The convention of the New Brunswick Liberal Association opened this morning in Berryman's hall. The hall was crowded with delegates from every section of the province and until just before the close of this morning's session apparent unanimity prevailed.
But a motion from an admirer of Mr.
Blair that a resolution should be passed endorsing his appointment to the railway commission, caused at the end way commission, caused at the end some little confusion. The motion was never carried, those present showing their hestility to it by getting up and leaving before the adjournment was Senator King, in calling the meeting to order, said that in the present convention he expected to have one of the finest gatherings of Liberals ever held in the province. The meetings of the convention were open to the press as the Liberals had nothing to conceal.

A committee was then appointed to secure a list of the names of the delegates and their addresses. When the committee had completed its work, Senator King made a few remarks as committee had completed its work, Senator King made a few remarks as to the object of the convention. The main object of the convention, he said, was to revive the Liberal organization in New Brunswick, as a preparatory step to the coming general election. He therefore considered that the convention should be conducted on Liberal principles and that every one present should have his say. While he was sure that there were no dissensions in the Liberal ranks, he did not think that the convention would go so far as to

Mr. Emmerson, the new minister, was the called upon to address the gathering, and upon rising received the acclaim of his followers. He said it was gratifying to him to meet on such an occasion so many prominent Liberals. About four weeks ago he was confrontwith a prohiber in his appointment. about four weeks ago he was controlled with a problem in his appointment to a cabinet position. While he felt that he was deficient in qualifications for the position, he believed nevertheters. The Russian ships withdrew to

He told them in confidence what he wanted them to do; they should send back to the new parliament no fewer than thirteen representatives. This number he had always regarded as lucky, and certainly in the coming juncture it could not be unlucky. To accomplish this the liberals must proceed on the co-eperative plan and so ensure victory.

The election of officers was then proceeded with. Upon motion Senator King was re-elected to the position of president and C. J. Milligan to that of secretary. The other officers are: Richard O'Brien, first vice president; F. B. Carvell, second vice-president; Dr. G. Godet, third vice-president; Geo. Mc-

A committee was then appointed to recommend names for the executive, of which one is to be from each county.
The committee appointed to draft a policy are: Richard O'Brien, O, Turgeon, of Restigouche county, and F. B. Carvell, of Carleton county. The committee to draw a resolution the Liberal ranks, he did not think that the convention would go so far as to dictate to outside counties. He weged that the delegates of the convention should, upon its conclusion, at once put themselves into communication with their respective county presidents and proceed without delay with county organization. He suggested that two committees be appointed, one to draft a resolution endorsing the government policy, and the other to draft a resolution endorsing the appointing of Mr.

At the time of the disaster to Broadwood's column at Sanna's Post, the Canadian contingent, then in camp at Bloemfontein, was sent out some twenty or twenty-five miles toward the scene of the disaster. The manner in which Mr. Tebb's asin sociation proposed to deal with the danger is by the institution of a public mortuary, where bodies can remain until the fact of death is put beyond the possibility of doubt.

Another practical remedy suggested against the peril is a more general acceptance of the principle of the open coffin and the shallow grave. But there is a great deal of prejudice to overcome
