BUDGET ST. JOHN NEWS.

Prominent Official Suspended as Result of Alleged Shortage in Accounts

THE COLLINS CASE

Sheriff Lynds Reported as Prepared to Resign Rather Than Hang Prisoner.

St. John, Nov. 3.—Alleged irregularities have caused within the last two or three days considerable excitement at City Hall. There is an alleged shortage amounting to about $15,000 and for this sum Chamberlain F. Sandall is responsible. As a result of the alleged discovery, Mr. Sandall has been suspended and Alderman Bullock, chairman of the treasury board, is acting as Chamberlain for the present. Sandall claims everything is all right and the shortage is due to a mistake in bookkeeping.

The St. John Times says: That many of the people of Hopewell Cape will not permit Thomas F. Collins to be hanged there if there is any way to prevent it, is practically assured by statements which came today from Albert county.

There is little doubt in the community that Collins is guilty, but there has been and is now, in some quarters, a strong feeling of repugnance against the hanging taking place.

Sheriff Lynds, of Albert county, is it is understood, prepared to resign rather than cut the rope which will usher the unfortunate sailor into eternity.

The most recent and also the most interesting development of the fight, against capital punishment in Collins' case came to light this morning.

Collins has been examined by physicians with a view to the establishment of a case of insanity in his behalf.

Dr. Murray, of Albert, was the physician who made the first examination and his report was to the effect that while the prisoner's mind is weak, he (Murray) would not undertake to say professionally that Collins' condition was such as to relieve him from full responsibility for his actions.

This examination was made on Thursday afternoon, at the request of Sheriff Lynds.

Dr. Murray and the sheriff visited Collins in his cell and the doctor made a complete examination. He then prepared a statement of opinion as outlined.

It is stated that this opinion was not entirely satisfactory to Sheriff Lynds, who intimated that he would have a further examination made by a specialist.

Dr. Murray agreed in this and advised that Dr. Anglin, of the Provincial Hospital for Nervous Diseases, be sent for.

Sheriff Lynds, however, thought different and sent for Dr. Marvin, Dr. Randall and Dr. John T. Lewis, all of Hillsboro.

Dr. Lewis in presenting his report to Sheriff Lynds said that while Collins seemed peculiar, there was nothing in his actions to warrant the opinion of insanity, and the doctor's certificate was to that effect. Dr. Lewis also says that as far as he is aware, Sheriff Lynds acted on his own initiative in having the examination made.

Meanwhile there is another side to the story. Many Hopewell Cape people, among them J. Anton Tingley and Charles Ayer, feel that the law should be allowed to take its course. They claim that there is no general request for a commutation of the sentence, and that some of those who signed the petition were coerced into doing so.

This Dorothy N. is getting all the freight she can handle these days. One day last week she took 200 barrels of flour up river at one trip. On another trip she took a full carload of piping for D. Sullivan & Sons of Redbank. The pipes are to convey water for over a mile to their new hotel, which is being liberally patronized.

PAPER MILL SHUT DOWN.

Rather Than Grant Increase of Wages—Two Rival Labor Unions Concerned

ONE UNDERBIDS.

Places of Strikers Will be Taken by Members of Other Organization.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 3.—At 8 o'clock Sunday morning the employees of the Great Northern Paper Company at their mills at Millinocket, East Millinocket and Madison, were finishing work for the weekly 24 hour shut-down they were indefinitely by reason of demands made by the machine tenders, through J. T. Carey of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, for an increase of 25 cents a day, which the company cannot grant.

It appears that there are two warring labor organizations in the Great Northern mills. The larger is known as the "Fitzgerald's" the International Brotherhood of Paper, Pulp and Sulphite Workers, and the smaller as Carey's. Fitzgerald's organization has about 1,200 members and Carey's 150. According to notice issued at the Great Northern mills Sunday morning from President Schenck, the Great Northern has contracted with Fitzgerald's organization for all skilled and unskilled labor necessary to fill the places of the 150 strikers.

The new men are on the way from Appleton, Wis.

The Great Northern pays machine tenders $4 for an eight hour day. On July 1st, when they were getting $3.75, they made a demand of 50 cents and the company met them with an increase of 25 cents. Recently they have become insistent again for the remaining 25 cents, and from the tone of its notice the company is firm in absolute declining to consider it.

Victory Dog Bites Girl in the Face—Orange Parade—Rev. Mr. Thomas in Demand.

Moncton, Nov. 3.—By pushing his hand through a pane of glass in his father's home this afternoon the six year old son of Geo. Walker severed the main artery in his wrist, and it was feared by his parents that he would bleed to death before medical aid could be summoned. Although weakened somewhat by the loss of blood no serious results are anticipated.

A vicious dog inflicted serious injury to the five year old daughter of Camille Boudreau yesterday by biting her in the face. The child was bitten on the cheek, which was badly lacerated, and will be scarred for life. The cheek was torn from the eye down, and the child had one tooth broken off by the brute. The animal was shot by its owner.

Rev. H. E. Thomas, pastor of Wesley Memorial church, who was to succeed the late Rev. Dr. Dobson in the pastorate of the First Methodist church of Charlottetown in June next, is likely to go to the Island church at once in consequence of Dr. Dobson's death. The Island church will ask the Moncton church to release Mr. Thomas in order that he may enter upon his work there at once. A deputation from the Charlottetown church is expected here Thursday to confer with the Wesley Memorial board in reference to the matter.

The local Orange lodges held a church parade this morning, attending divine service at the Central Methodist, Rev. Jas. Strothard preaching. About one hundred and fifty Orangemen took part in the parade.

Father Philip Herbert, of Cape Royal, who has been chosen to take the position as assistant to Father Savage, entered on his duties yesterday.

Dr. Richardson, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the West End Baptist Church yesterday morning, and his discourse was very much appreciated by a large congregation.

At the evening service communion was held, but on account of the disagreeable weather it was decided to leave the special music over until next Sunday when there could be more in attendance.

GRAND DIVISION S. OF TEMPERANCE

Held Sixtieth Annual Meeting Last Week in St. John, With Good Attendance

380 NEW MEMBERS.

P. E. I. Prohibition Act Endorsed, And Hopeful View Taken of The Temperance Question.

The sixtieth annual session of the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance of New Brunswick was held in St. John on the 29th and 30th ult.

Rev. Chas. Flemington, G. W. P., reported a deeper interest in temperance everywhere. Our government was taking a great interest in the question of legislative control of the drink traffic. The P. E. I. act is generally conceded to be sound, strong and effective prohibitory measure and it is attracting the attention of friends and foes alike. It is true attempts are being made to show that this law does not really prohibit, but in the light of acknowledged facts, it is impossible to doubt the beneficial effects of the act as it now stands. Suffice it to say that in the city of Charlottetown, with a population of 12,000, there are only six policemen, where formerly there were 13, and but three of these were on duty at one time. The stipendiary magistrate testifies that there is positively no crime in the city, and some idea of the effect of the law throughout the Island may be gathered from the fact that shortly after prohibition came into force there was not a single prisoner in jail in the province. The N. B. government, urged by the temperance federation to grant prohibition, had appointed a commission to investigate the workings of the P. E. I. Act. There would soon be a struggle in Westmorland Co. on the question of repealing the Scott Act.

Rev. C. W. Hamilton, grand scribe, said that during the year 13 deaths had taken place among the members of the order. He had received 35 division reports for the quarter ending June 30th, and 30 for the quarter ending 30th September. During the last six months 385 members had been initiated; 13 admitted by card, and 9 reinstated; 78 had withdrawn 110 were suspended, and 5 expelled for violation of pledge. This made a net gain of 210. The gain for the previous six months was 170, making a total for the year of 380.

Chas. S. Hamilton, District Worthy Patriarch, of St. John County, reported an increase of 67 during half year. Six divisions are in working order, and a Band of Loyal Crusaders is also at work. A company of Cadets of Temperance has been formed in West St. John.

A. E. Pearson, G. W. S. of Young People's Work, reported a fair amount of work done and suggested more attention to juvenile work by the lecturers engaged in general work.

Clarence T. Hicks reported for Westmorland and Albert counties. H. H. Stuart reported from Kent—Northumberland District Division. Four Kent county divisions reported 286 members for quarter ending Sept. 30th; and Northumberland had 82 members. Two other active divisions in Kent and three or four in Northumberland had not reported for that quarter.

The following officers were chosen:—G. W. P.—Rev. C. Flemington, Point de Bute, (re-elected). G. W. A.—Thos. Allingham, Gagetown. C. S.—Rev. C. Hamilton, Sackville. C. T.—J. Stark, St. John. G. Chap.—Rev. J. W. Kirby, Gagetown. C. S. Y. P. W.—Miss G. L.

GREAT RAILWAY STRIKE POSTPONED.

British Railway Union Votes Almost Unanimously For General Strike.

BUT AWAITS CONFERENCE

With the Government today, Union Executive is Given a Free Hand.

London, Nov. 3.—At a great meeting of railroad men held tonight in Albert Hall and attended by deputations from all parts of the United Kingdom Richard Bell, M. P., general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants and leader of the strike movement, announced the result of the ballot taken among members of the society on the question of a strike. Mr. Bell said the society had 97,631 members at the end of September, and that many men had joined recently but were not included in the ballot. He announced that 88,134 papers had been returned, of which 76,925 were in favor of striking, while 8,773 were opposed to so doing. The remainder of the ballots were spoiled, but a majority of these were in favor of striking.

Continuing Mr. Bell declared that the executive committee of the society was well satisfied with this result, but it had resolved that no further reference should be made to the situation pending the interview November 6 between Mr. Lloyd-George, president of the Board of Trade, and representatives of the society.

The meeting passed a resolution heartily pledging its support to any action from the executive committee might deem necessary.

STEEL MAGNATE

LAI'D TO REST.

Many Took Part in the Last Sad Rites in Honor of Late Henry Graham.

New Glasgow, N. S., Nov. 2.—Seldom if ever, has such a concourse of people been seen in New Glasgow as walked with the body of the late Henry Graham to his resting place in Riverside cemetery today. The funeral service was held in the home, and was conducted by Rev. Messrs. Forbes and Rogers, of New Glasgow, assisted by Rev. Mr. McQuay, of Halifax.

Many employees of the Nova Scotia Steel Works walked in the lead of the procession, accompanied by R. E. Harris and George Stairs, of the board of directors. A carriage followed bearing floral emblems, tokens of esteem from mourning friends from all over the province. The pall-bearers were lifelong friends and fellow workers, in church or state, of the deceased. They were Thomas Gantley, G. Forest McKay, R. E. Chambers, A. C. Thompson, J. Howard Cavanagh and James C. McGregor. Following the mourning relatives came the delegates attending the maritime convention of the Y. M. C. A., then followed citizens and representatives of province, town and county. In the number were Premier Murray, of Halifax; A. Johnson, M. P., and Alex. Dick, of Sydney; A. C. Ross, M. P., of North Sydney, and E. M. McDonald, M. P., of Pictou. Thoughtful merchants had the blinds of their stores drawn while the cortege wended its way to the burial ground.

CONDEMNED CORRUPTION

Montreal, Nov. 3.—Political corruption of all kinds, in Dominion, provincial and municipal circles, received a scathing condemnation from Rev. Dr. Barclay, chaplain of the Canadian Artillery, at St. Paul's church, when preaching to the 2nd regiment Canadian artillery at their annual church service this afternoon. Dr. Barclay pointed out the many forms in which there were abundant evidences of official chicanery in all sorts of ways, from the exploiting of timber limits for personal gain, to the distribution of patronage, and demanded how it was that the public conscience was so lethargic and whether there were not enough decent, honest men in Canada to rise up and put a stop to such a system, which was so disgraceful, instead of exalting the Canadian nation.

Freeborn, Waterford. G. Con.—M. G. Steeves, Moncton.

G. Ser.—D. C. Fisher, St. John. Next semi-annual meeting will be in Sackville in May; and next annual in St. John.

$10.00 was voted each district division for proposition purposes. The sessions were well attended.

And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. For sale by THOS. J. The Chatham, N. B. Schooner, Beaver, bound for New York with cargo of laths, arrived at Vineyard Haven, Mass., on Thursday, partly full of water, and with pumps constantly working. The Beaver encountered a heavy northwest gale near Pollock Rip last Wednesday and was compelled to anchor. After being anchored two hours, her starboard chain parted and the vessel was got under way to proceed over Nantucket Shoal; but when near Stonehorse Shoal she mistimed and went ashore. She pounded heavily, but after remaining ashore about thirty minutes, worked over the shoal and floated, leaking, and proceeded for Vineyard Haven.

Thibideau, who was a companion of Higgins, the St. John boy murderer, now serving a life sentence in penitentiary at Dorchester, in the latter's daring attempt to escape some months ago, was recently forestalled in another effort to gain freedom. On searching Thibideau a few days ago, the guards in the prison found on him, a skeleton key, which would unlock any door in his gallery. Thibideau, who is serving a seventeen year term for theft was given a year extra at the time he and Higgins made their daring attempts to escape through the third story window of the penitentiary, as the result of this latest effort is now wearing an iron boot.

The bridging of the Restigouche river by a passenger structure, to enable the people of both provinces, at this point, to communicate by team, was fully considered at Matapedia Thursday, by a strong committee in which Quebec's and New Brunswick's interests were fully represented. Among those present were James Reid, M. P., Charles Marcell, M. P.; Hon. C. H. LaBilloy, John Hall Kelly, M. P. P., Engineers Wetmore, Amiot and Vallee, Councillors Arseneau, McBeath and Taylor, Mayor Stiles and others. Three sites were examined and the three engineers will make a report to Hon. Wm. BILOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION. For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Signed by between eight hundred and a thousand residents of Albert county, the petition asking that the death sentence on Thos. F. Collins be commuted to life imprisonment, was recently forwarded to Secretary of State at Ottawa. In jail at Hopewell Cape, Collins with only a few days to live, if the sentence is not commuted, remains hopeful without apparently realizing his nearness to death. He has on several occasions had conferences with Rev. Mr. Winden, Baptist pastor at Hopewell Cape, and Rev. B. H. Thomas, Maritime prison chaplain at Dorchester, has also visited him on two occasions.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease. In Germany—a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I can surely cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer long without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

MANY WILL BE HELPED BY IT.

To relieve the worst forms of Rheumatism take a teaspoonful of the following mixture after each meal and at bedtime:
Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargos, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

These harmless ingredients can be obtained from our home druggists, and are easily mixed by shaking them well in a bottle. Relief is generally felt from the first few doses.

This prescription, states a well-known authority in a Cleveland morning paper, forces the clogged-up, inactive kidneys to filter and strain from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, which causes Rheumatism.

As Rheumatism is not only the most painful and torturous disease, but dangerous to life, this simple recipe will no doubt be greatly valued by many sufferers here at home, who should at once prepare the mixture to get this relief.

It is said that a person who would take this prescription regularly, a dose or two daily, or even a few times a week, would never have serious kidney or urinary disorders or Rheumatism.

Put this out and preserve it. Good Rheumatism prescriptions which really relieve are scarce, indeed, and when you need it, you want it badly. Our druggists here say they will either supply these ingredients or make the mixture ready to take, if any of our readers so prefer.

WEDDED AND PARTED.

Boston, Nov. 4.—That fear of exposure of the dual life he was leading caused the suicide of Dr. Albert Cushman Day, the young staff physician of the City Hospital, who shot himself through the heart in the woods at West Roxbury Friday, two days after his clandestine marriage to Miss Estelle Maud Callahan, a nurse at the Relief Hospital, was made certain by the discovery that there was a former wife of the young doctor who was about to bring proceedings against him, following the announcement of his recent wedding.

It was learned today that Dr. Day was married on March 16, 1904, at Brockton by a justice of the peace, Assistant City Clerk Packard, to Miss Martina Thompson, aged sixteen, a daughter of William A. Thompson, the Thompson family then living in West Roxbury, where Dr. Day made his home. The marriage was kept secret, as Dr. Day stated he wished to complete his medical course of study and hospital work before having his marriage made known to his family.

Mrs. Day and her three-year-old daughter Olive, have been living in Brockton, while the young lady's father, who is connected with a Boston business firm, lives at Norfolk Downs. In addition to this earlier marriage Dr. Day later became engaged to marry Miss Helen Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Morse, of Haverhill, but Miss Morse recently broke off the alliance after an interview in which the young doctor told her he had planned to marry another girl.

ANOTHER LYNCHING.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5.—A despatch from Helen, Miss., says: The body of Charles German, a negro, who, it is charged, criminally assaulted the young daughter of a white farmer was found hanging to a tree about five miles from here, his body riddled with bullets.

TOO POOR

TO BE CONFIRMED.

An extraordinary story of caste prejudice and narrowness is reported at Berlin, Germany. The other day there was a confirmation service at the old garrison church which is largely attended by the aristocratic or so-called "Junker" classes, and the candidates for confirmation were twelve lads who could write "Von" before their names, and one other boy, who was only "buergelich," the son of a doorkeeper in the Ministry of Justice, named Ahleit. There was a crowded congregation, and the pastor filled his address with reflections on the duty of the higher classes, and how they were best to exercise their privileges.

For the thirteenth candidate there was never a word. Two by two the aristocratic candidates knelt before the altar and received the pastor's blessing. Young Ahleit was ignored and remained unblest, and left the church unconformed. After the service, when Ahleit's father asked the pastor for an explanation, he was informed that his action was in consequence of orders from "high authority." Little Ahleit rushed home in tears, asked the servant for three marks and disappeared. He has not been heard of since.

He thinks of the supper last evening. He bought her after the play, And sighs with regret. He can't forget It means free lunch to-day.

Stanfield's Underwear

A Talk by the Maker to the Wearer
(Chapter 2)

In its natural state, wool consists of long, curly, silky fibres, dotted with tiny prongs or branches. These prongs, when wet, interlock with the long strands and pull together, to protect the sheep from rain and dampness.

When wool is woven, the same thing would happen, were it not for the Stanfield process, which makes the prongs on each strand of wool lie down until the knitting is finished.

Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear is made absolutely unshrinkable by this special process, invented and perfected by the Stanfields. It is the only method of treating wool, which renders it unshrinkable and uninjured.

One way of getting rid of the prongs, is to burn them off by plunging the wool into a tank containing lime. As the prongs are a part of the wool, naturally the lime will "eat" the wool as well as the prongs. This is why some imported, and some Canadian-made "Unshrinkable," Underwear won't wear. It has been treated with lime in the effort to make it unshrinkable.

The illustrations above, show wool under the microscope both before and after going through the Stanfield process. They show that all the prongs that make it shrink are made harmless, BEFORE the Underwear is woven. And as there is no "shrink" in the wool, there can be no "shrink" in the Underwear.

Every garment, bearing the Stanfield label, is sold with our standard guarantee of "Money Back If It Shrinks."

All sizes from 22 to 70 chest measure. The label tells the weight—RED label for light—BLUE label for medium—BLACK label for heavy weight.

A TROUT STORY.

Most travellers carry medals for telling fish stories, but here is one which is a little off the common run. We were camping in the north, says a man of the road, and one evening after our supper of black bass and bacon we lay under the pine trees smoking and telling fish stories in which it was always the "bigger bass" that got away. The guide listened with the gravity of a man who knew all about fish stories, and finally he knocked the ashes from his pipe and told us a fish story. "Once long ago," he said, "there was a terrible big trout up in Smith's pool. Every fellow who fished in the pool had hooked him one time or other, but he always got away, bit off the snood or something. I tried to catch him myself a dozen times. One day I was sitting by the pool, when splash, a young robin fluttered out of a nest on a limb above the pool into the water below. In a minute there was a rush, a gleam of yellow, and the old trout had thrown himself clean out of the water, and had swallowed the robin whole. What did I do? Well, I climbed that tree in short order. Got another one of those young robins, baited my hook with it, and threw it in just as lightly as I could. In a minute there was another rush, another gleam of yellow, and again the old trout jumped clear out of the water as he swallowed the robin, and in a minute I had him hooked. It was lucky I wasn't fishing with any of this new-fangled rigging these boys use, and that I wasn't bothered with a reel to look after, or I would have lost him sure. As it was, it took me a devil of a time to get him out. Good to eat! Great Scott! We didn't try to eat him. He was so full of hooks we sold him for old iron, you know." That ended our fish stories for that night.

Dr. W. L. Munro, of Providence, R. I., came out on Thursday from a three weeks' hunting trip to the headwaters of Nepisiquit. He shot a moose with the enormous antler spread of 68 1-4 inches, breaking all records for New Brunswick. The doctor took his trophy to Fredericton with him and is naturally proud of it. He shot the animal ten days ago after it had been called up by his guide, Chas. Cremir, of Scotch Lake. The best previous record for a moose head taken in this province was 67 1-2 inches. E. C. Russell, the English sportsman, who has been hunting at Cremir's camp, shot a moose with an antler spread of 61 inches.

Does not seem more effective to breathe in a remedy to cure disease of the breathing organs than to take the remedy into the stomach. It cures because the air rendered strongly antiseptic is carried over the diseased surface with every breath, giving prolonged and constant treatment. It is invaluable to mothers with small children.

Those of a consumptive tendency find immediate relief from coughs or inflamed conditions of the throat.

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN TORTURED

BY BLINDING HEADACHES.
Who Could Be Well, and Happy, and Free of Pain.

Headaches simply mean poisoned blood. The human body is constantly decaying and being renewed. Dead matter is absorbed by the blood, and should be taken from the blood by the kidneys, bowels and skin and passed out of the system. If one of these organs does not act properly, the blood becomes impure—if two fail, death is certain.

When there are constant headaches, it is always found that the bowels are irregular, the kidneys weak, or the skin sluggish, pale or sallow. The cause of these troubles is the blood, and the host of "headache powders" is useless. They relieve for the moment, but they clog the system and do harm. They never reach the seat of the trouble, they cannot purify the blood.

"Fruit-a-lives" completely cure headaches. They stimulate the liver and make the bowels move regularly. They regulate the kidneys. They induce healthy skin action. Thus, all the waste matter—body poisons—are taken out of the blood and there is nothing to cause headaches. "Fruit-a-lives" are the only remedy that really cures.

"Fruit-a-lives" are fresh fruit juices—in which the medicinal action is greatly increased by the special way in which they are combined. 50c a box; 6 for $2.50. At all druggists' or sent on receipt of price.

EXCELLENT MOVE FOR CANADA'S BENEFIT.

Salvation Army Immigration Department Charter Ten Ships for 1907.

The Salvation Army has just closed a very successful year of immigration work, having brought out seventeen thousand settlers to Canada, but seeing that this amount was very far short of the demand for farm help and laborers of various kinds, they have decided to bring out this year, at least twenty-five thousand for agricultural and other purposes.

Small parties will arrive on all regular boats of the Allan, Dominion and C. P. R. lines from the middle of November up to February, followed by ten chartered steamers carrying fifteen hundred each, and special conducted parties on all regular boats up to the last of April.

Staff-Captain Jennings who represents the work for the maritime provinces, is anxious, that all who need help should be supplied while the immigrants are landing at Halifax and St. John, as it is very difficult to get them to come down this way after the boats land at Quebec.

Last year a number of applications were not filled owing to the fact that some farmers delayed the matter until late in the season; those who will need laborers this winter or in the coming spring, should apply now, stating the date men will be required. This would prevent them having to wait a long time or being disappointed altogether.

Application forms can be secured at any time by applying to STAFF CAPTAIN JENNINGS, Box 477, Halifax, N. S.

Wedding Bells.

STAVERT—MOASE.

The residence of Rev. L. A. McLean, 14 Richmond street, St. John, was the scene of a very pretty but quiet wedding on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 30, at 4.30 p. m., when Robert A. Stavert, of Wilmet Valley (P. E. I.), was united in marriage to Miss Lucy Alma Moase, of Kensington (P. E. I.). The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Hensley Stavert, of Harcourt, cousin of the groom.

The bride was given away by her father, Robert T. Moase, of Kensington. The young couple were unattended. The bride was becomingly dressed in white. Her traveling suit was a stylish light brown with hat to match. The young couple left on Thursday for their future home in Wilmet Valley.

"What," asked the very young man, "is the real struggle of mankind?"

"The real struggle of two-thirds of mankind," replied the home-grown philosopher, "is to get a square meal, and then wonder where the next one is coming from."

GREAT LOSS TO I. C. R.

Campbellton Freight Sheds Burned on Friday Morning.—Loss Was $30,000.

Campbellton, Nov. 1.—A most disastrous fire broke out shortly after midnight this morning in the freight shed owned by the I. C. R., and in a very few minutes $30,000 worth of property had gone up in smoke. Nothing is left this morning but a heap of smoking ruins. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that a burning cigar or a fire cracker may have been responsible. The fire started in the centre of the freight shed and in five minutes' time the whole shed was in flames. The oil in the shed contributed to the rapid spread of the fire. The hose cart arrived about fifteen minutes after the fire was discovered and rendered valuable assistance in preventing the flames from spreading. The yard was filled with cars and the yardmaster had a very difficult task to save the cars. As it was three were badly damaged. On account of the holiday no freight was delivered and as a consequence the shed was full of goods. There are very few merchants in town, who have not lost something.

The new paper, The Morning Graphic, which was to make its initial bow to the public to-morrow, lost a type setting machine valued at $1,300, also some $300 worth of heading type. The paper will now be compelled to postpone its first issue for another week.

Two valuable pianos owned by Graham & Sullivan were also destroyed. The loss of the freight shed will make a bad mix-up at the station for a few weeks. Immediate steps will be taken to rebuild. It is possible that the new shed will be built at the junction of Andrew street, to connect with the International Railway.

GAIN IN REVENUE.

London, Nov. 4.—Herbert H. Asquith, chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget speech of April 18th, declared that the government would require from all employers full statements of the salaries paid every employee. This statement seemed at the first comparatively unimportant and it called forth little comment, but up to the present time it has increased the revenues from sources hitherto untouched by approximately $50,000,000 a year.

TO CURTAIL EXPENSES.

New York, Nov. 4.—Prominent railroad men gathered here the other day to discuss the curtailment of expenses on their respective roads. The general opinion expressed was that there would be a material reduction in the outlay for the operation of railroads and in the purchase of railway supplies.

HAS TO GIVE UP DAUGHTER.

Florence, Nov. 4.—Signora and Signora Toselli, the latter being the ex Crown Princess of Saxony, have left here in an automobile for Bologna, where the Princess Monica Pia will be handed over to Lawyer Mattaroli, who will convey her to Dresden. Signora Toselli is said to be inconsolable at the loss of her daughter. She has wept bitterly. It is now declared that the King of Saxony, while continuing the pension to Signora Toselli, reserved the right to refuse to permit Princess Monica to spend one month a year with her mother.

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain extending from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)
"In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures tumors. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation."
Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)
"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine.
"Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation."
"I soon after read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor is entirely gone. I have again been examined by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; a Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.
Mrs. Pinkham invites all ailing women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Union Advocate which is now published by the Advocate Publishing Company, comes this week under new management and largely under new control.

There will be no change in the policy of the paper, the editorial direction remaining the same as before. The only difference will be that henceforth, we shall have a better news service, and will thus be able to make our journal more interesting and attractive.

We look for still greater appreciation and support than we have hitherto received; and we shall always endeavor to give our readers a good clean, instructive and interesting newspaper worth many times the subscription price.

THE FEDERAL.

There were three bye-elections for the federal parliament on the 29th ult. The Liberals held North Wellington, and the Conservatives retained control of East Northumberland. The only change was in London, where the Liberals, who held the seat last session, ran no candidate, leaving the contest between the Conservatives and the recently organized Canadian Labor party. Conservative candidate won, his vote standing at 3,209, while the Labor man received 2,173, or 40 per cent. of the whole. The Liberals generally abstained from voting.

BOURASSA CHECKED.

Of the four bye-elections for the Quebec legislative assembly held on the 4th inst., the government won three, and the fourth seat went to an independent Liberal. The chief centre of interest was Beloeil, where Henri Bourassa, the renowned champion of what he and his supporters call Nationalism, opposed Hon. Adelard Turgeon, minister of Lands and Forests, who had resigned his seat because of Bourassa's charges of corruption, and had challenged the latter to run against him. Bourassa was defeated by over 700 majority, and Nationalism has received a severe check, from which it will take some time to recover.

TO RELIEVE THE MONEY STRINGENCY.

Charles M. Fowler Recommends a System of Credit Currency.

New York, Nov. 3.—Permanent relief from the present monetary stringency can only be had through a system of credit currency adequate to meet the requirements of trade and redeemable in gold coin, according to the opinion expressed today by representative Chas. M. Fowler, of New Jersey, chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee, which will, at the coming congress endeavor to have a law pushed providing for credit currency issued by the banks. Mr. Fowler has advocated Credit Currency as a means of preventing tight money for many years. Many features of the credit currency system were more than favorably viewed by many members of the American Bankers Association at the Convention, in Atlantic City last September, said Mr. Fowler today. Mr. Fowler continued his statement by saying: "The cause of the currency stringency is that there is scattered broadcast throughout the country, about $1,300,000,000 of the reserve money of the U. S., most of which, under a proper condition would be in the banks, serving as reserve. Temporary relief will be through the forced use of current credit in the form of clearing house certificates, cashiers' checks and due bills of business houses and manufacturers, during the next 90 days. The permanent cure must come through a system of credit, currency expanding and contracting with the ordinary demands of the smaller trade, precisely as checks and drafts do in the broader field of commerce.

A WARNING TO MOTHERS.

There are unscrupulous dealers who for the sake of trifling gain, are willing to sacrifice the health—perhaps the lives—of their ones. This is proved by the fact that there are a number of imitations of Baby's Own Tablets offered. The mother can easily test her child by seeing that the full name of Baby's Own Tablets and the four-leaf clover with child's head on each leaf, is found on the outside wrapper around every box. Do not take anything else as you may endanger your child's life. If you cannot get the genuine Tablets from your dealer send 25 cents to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., B. F. Boyle, Ont., and get a box by mail post paid.

Weak and Worn Out Through Over-work and Long Hours.

The farmer's life is always a hard one, but if he has any suffering it is almost unbearable. The hours are long and the work so hard that none but the strongest can stand it. An illustration of the effect of hard work on the system is given by Mrs. H. of the Bruce peninsula. She says:—"I have lived nearly all my life in the Bruce peninsula. I am a farmer and have always had my share of hard work and like a good many other men I thought there was nothing to it. But about a year and a half ago I began to get gradually down hill. I would tire at the least exertion; my appetite failed me; I had a severe pain in my side and back, and I was getting thinner. At last I was suffering from pernicious anaemia; that I was almost bloodless, I doctored for six months, but instead of improving, I grew so weak that I could hardly move about. I was almost a skeleton. A friend from Stokes Bay told me of the great benefit she had derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and advised me to try them. My suspicions were at once removed, and I bought from their use, so I decided to give them a trial. After using the pills about a month, I began to gain in strength and from that on I improved rapidly. New blood seemed to be formed, my appetite improved, the pain left my heart and side and I gained in weight. After using about a dozen boxes of the pills I was again enjoying the best of health. I have nothing to regret but that I did not begin sooner. My eyes cured—after medical treatment had failed—I really believed they saved my life." Good food is the secret of health. Keep the blood pure and such diseases as anaemia, chlorosis, leucoderma, skin eruptions, indigestion, eczema and the secret life of women will not exist. The most perfect blood tonic and nerve restorer in the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, $2.00 per box. Send for boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

JESUS LEADER OF WORKINGMEN

Interesting Sermon by Rev. Mr.
Dockrell of Moncton,
1st Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Monceton Times.)

Rev. Mr. Dockrell, pastor of the 1st Baptist Church, in his sermon last evening spoke on three things. First, Jesus as the equalizer; second, Christ the liberator of man; third, new culture of man. Mr. Dockrell found his text in John 5, 28: "My father worketh hitherto and I work."

God is the Master Worker of the universe, the great Architect and the Inventor, said the preacher. God is the great friend of work. Jesus was a worker, and he has come to show the man is beginning to realize this. Only last year at the Labor Union meeting in New York city the men rose and gave three cheers for Jesus Christ.

In closing his sermon Mr. Dockrell spoke of the church as the means for the redemption of the individual, the soul and the improver of his condition.

At the close of the service communion was held and a large number of the members were in attendance.

With Edged Tools

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN

Copyright, 1904, by HARPER & BROTHERS

He could not have done it better in his keenest day. Guy Oscar was

"Ah—Mr. Oscar—how do you do?"

seated in the huge, roomy carriage before he had realized what had happened to him.

"Your man will look after your traps.
I suppose?" said Sir John, hospitably drawing the fur rug from the opposite seat.

"Yes," replied Guy; "although he is not my man. He is Jack's man Joseph."

"Ah, of course! Excellent servant
too. Jack told me he had left him with you."

Sir John leaned out of the window and asked the footman whether he knew his colleague Joseph, and upon receiving an answer in the affirmative he gave orders, acting as Guy's mouthpiece, that the luggage was to be carried to Russell square. While these orders were being executed the two men sat waiting in the carriage, and Sir John lost no time.

"I am glad," he said, "to have this opportunity of thanking you for all your kindness to my son in this wild expedition of yours."

"Yes," replied Oscar, with a transparent reserve which rather puzzled Sir John.

"You must excuse me," said the old gentleman, sitting rather stiffly, "if I appear to take a somewhat limited interest in this great simlacine discovery, of which there has been considerable talk in some circles. The limit to my interest is drawn by a lamentable ignorance. I am afraid the business details are rather unintelligible to me.
My son has endeavored, somewhat curiously perhaps, to explain the matter to me, but I have never mastered the —er—commercial technicalities. However, I understand that you have made quite a mint of money, which is the chief consideration—nowadays."

He drew the rug more closely round his knees and looked out of the window, deeply interested in a dispute between two cabmen.

"Yes—we have been very successful,"
said Oscar. "How is your son now?
When I last saw him he was in a very bad way. Indeed, I hardly expected to see him again."

Sir John was still interested in the dispute which was not yet settled.

"He is well, thank you. You know that he is going to be married."

"He told me that he was engaged," replied Oscar, "but I did not know that anything definite was fixed."

"The most definite thing of all is fixed—the date. It is tomorrow."

"Tomorrow?"

"Yes. You have not much time to prepare your wedding garments."

"Oh," replied Oscar, with a laugh,
"I have not been bidden."

"I expect the invitation is awaiting you at your house. No doubt my son will want you to be present—the would both like you to be there no doubt. But come with me now; we will call and see Jack. I know where to find him. In fact, I have an appointment with him at a quarter to 5."

It may seem strange that Guy Oscar should not have asked the name of his friend's prospective bride, but Sir John was ready for that. He gave his companion no time. Whenever he opened his lips Sir John turned Oscar's thoughts aside.

What he had told him was strictly true. He had an appointment with Jack—an appointment of his own making.

"Yes," he said, in pursuance of his policy of choking questions, "he is wonderfully well, as you will see for yourself."

Oscar submitted silently to this high handed arrangement. He had not known Sir John well. Indeed, all his intercourse with him has been noted in these pages. He was rather surprised to find him so talkative and so very friendly. But Guy Oscar was not a very deep person. He was sublimely indifferent to the long drawn motive. He presumed that Sir John made friends of his son's friends, and in his straightforward acceptance of facts he was perfectly well aware that by his timely rescue he had saved Jack Meredith from the hands of the tribes. The presumption was that Sir John knew of this, and it was only natural that he should be somewhat exceptionally gracious to the man who had saved his son's life.

It would seem that Sir John divined these thoughts, for he presently spoke of them.

"Owing to an unfortunate difference of opinion with my son we have not been very communicative lately," he said, with that deliberation which he knew how to assume when he desired to be heard without interruption.

"I am therefore almost entirely ignorant of your African affairs, but I imagine Jack owes more to your pluck and promptness than has yet transpired. I gathered as much from one or two conversations I had with Miss Gordon when she was in England. I am one of Miss Gordon's many admirers."

"And I am another," said Oscar frankly.

"Ah! Then you are happy enough to be the object of a reciprocal feeling which for myself I could scarcely expect. She spoke of you in no measured language. I gathered from her that if you had not acted with great promptitude the—er—happy event of tomorrow could not have taken place."

The old man paused, and Guy Oscar, who looked somewhat distressed and distinctly uncomfortable, could find no graceful way of changing the conversation.

"In a word," went on Sir John in a very severe tone, "I owe you a great debt. You saved my boy's life."

"Yes, but you see," argued Oscar, sitting his tongue at last, "out there things like that don't count for so much."

"Oh, don't they?" There was the suggestion of a smile beneath Sir John's grim eyebrows.

"No," returned Oscar, rather lamely.
"It is a sort of thing that happens every day out there."

Sir John turned suddenly, and with the courtliness that was ever his indulgence in a rare exhibition of feeling.
He laid his hand on Guy Oscar's stalwart knee.

"My dear Oscar," he said, and when he chose he could render his voice very soft and affectionate, "none of those arguments apply to me because I am not out there. I like you for trying to make little of your exploit. Such conduct is worthy of you, worthy of a gentleman; but you cannot disguise the fact that Jack owes his life to you and I owe you the same, which, between you and me I may mention, is more valuable to me than my own. I want you to remember always that I am your debtor, and if—if circumstances should ever seem to indicate that the debt I have for you is anything but friendly and kind, do me the honor of dismissing those indications. You understand?"

"Yes," replied Oscar untruthfully.

"Here we are at Lady Cantourne's," continued Sir John, "where, as it happens, I expect to meet Jack. Her lady-ship is naturally interested in the affair of tomorrow, and has kindly undertaken to keep us up to date in our behavior. You will come in with me?"

Oscar remembered afterward that he was rather puzzled, that there was perhaps in his simple mind the faintest tinge of suspicion. At the moment, however, there was no time to do anything but follow. The man had already rung the bell and Lady Cantourne's butler was holding the door open. There was something in his attitude vaguely suggestive of expectation. He never took his eyes from Sir John Meredith's face, as if on the alert for an unspoken order.

Guy Oscar followed his companion into the hall, and the very scent of the house—for each house speaks to more senses than one—made his heart leap in his broad breast. It seemed as if Millicent's presence was in the very air. This was more than he could have hoped. He had not intended to call this afternoon, although the visit was only to have been postponed for twenty-four hours.

Sir John Meredith's face was a marvel to see. It was quite steady. He was upright and alert, with all the integrity of his mind up in arms. There was a light in his eyes, a gleam of light from other days not yet burned out.

He laid aside his gold headed cane and threw back his shoulders.

"Is Mr. Meredith upstairs?" he said to the butler.

"Yes, sir," the butler answered.

The man moved toward the stairs.

"You need not come!" said Sir John,
holding up his hand.

The butler stood aside and Sir John led the way up to the drawing room.

At the door he paused for a moment.
Guy Oscar was at his heels. Then he opened the door rather slowly and motioned gracefully with his left hand to Oscar to pass in before him.

Oscar stopped forward. When he had crossed the threshold Sir John

CHAPTER XXIII.

GUY OSCAR stood for a moment on the threshold. He heard the door closed behind him, and he took two steps farther forward.

Jack Meredith and Millicent were at the fireplace. There was a heap of disordered paper and string upon the table, and a few wedding presents standing in the midst of their packing.

Millicent's pretty face was quite white. She looked from Meredith to Oscar with a sudden horror in her eyes. For the first time in her life she was at a loss, quite taken aback.

"Oh-h!" she whispered, and that was all.

The silence that followed was tense, as if something in the atmosphere was about to snap, and in the midst of it the wheels of Sir John's retreating carriage came to the ears of the three persons in the drawing room.

It was only for a moment, but in that moment the two men saw clearly it was as if the veil from the girl's mind had fallen—leaving her thoughts confessed, bare before them. In the same instant they both saw—they both sped back in thought to their first meeting, to the hundred links of the chain that brought them to the present moment—they knew; and Millicent felt that they knew.

"Are you going to be married tomorrow?" asked Guy Oscar deliberately.

He never was a man to whom a successful appeal for the slightest mitigation of justice could have been made.
His dealings had ever been with men,
from whom he had exacted as scrupulous an honor as he had given. He did not know that women are different—that honor is not their strong point.

Millicent did not answer. She looked to Meredith to answer for her, but Meredith was looking at Oscar, and in his lazy eyes there glowed the singular affection and admiration which he had bestowed long time before on this simple gentleman—his married inferior.

"Are you going to be married tomorrow?" repeated Oscar, standing quite still, with a calmness that frightened her.

"Yes," she answered, rather feebly.

She knew that she could explain it all. She could have explained it to either of them separately, but to both together, somehow it was difficult.

Her mind was filled with clamorous arguments and explanations and plausible excuses, but she did not know which to select first. None of them seemed quite equal to this occasion.

These men required something deeper and stronger and simpler than she had to offer them.

Moreover, she was paralyzed by a feeling that was quite new to her—a horrid feeling that something had gone from her. She had lost her strongest, her single arm—her beauty. This seemed to have fallen from her. It seemed to count for nothing at this time. This is a time that comes as surely as death will come in the life of every beautiful woman—a time wherein she suddenly realizes how trivial a thing her beauty is; how limited, how useless, how ineffectual!

Millicent Chyne made a little appealing movement toward Meredith, who reluctantly stepped back. It was the magic of the love that filled his heart for Oscar. Had she wronged any man in the world but Guy Oscar, that little movement, full of love and tenderness and sweet coquetry, might have saved her. But it was Oscar's heart that she had broken; for broken they both knew it to be, and Jack Meredith stepped back from her touch as from pollution. His superficial, imagined love for her had been killed at a single blow. Her beauty was no more to him at that moment than the beauty of a picture.

"Oh, Jack!" she gasped; and had there been another woman in the room that woman would have known that Millicent loved him with the love that comes once only. But men are not very acute in such matters; they get either led wrong or not at all.

"It is all a mistake," she said breathlessly, looking from one to the other.

"A most awkward mistake," suggested Meredith, with a cruel smile that made her wince.

"Mr. Oscar must have mistaken me altogether," the girl went on, volubly addressing herself to Meredith; she wanted nothing from Oscar. "I may have been silly, perhaps, or merely ignorant and blind. How was I to know that he meant what he said?"

"How, indeed?" agreed Meredith, with a grave bow.

"Besides, he has no business to come here bringing false accusations against me. He has no right—it is cruel and ungentlemanly. He cannot prove anything; he cannot say that I ever distinctly gave him to understand—er—anything—that I ever promised to be engaged or anything like that."

She turned upon Oscar, whose demeanor was stolid, almost dense. He looked very large and somewhat difficult to move.

"He has not attempted to do so yet," suggested Jack suavely, looking at his friend.

"I do not see that it is quite a question of proofs," said Oscar quietly in a voice that did not sound like his at
all. "We are not in a court of justice, where ladies like to settle these questions now. If we were I could challenge you to produce my letters.
There is no doubt of my meaning in them."

"There are also my poor contributions to your collection," chimed in Jack Meredith. "A comparison must have been interesting to you, by the same mail presumably, under the same postmark."

"I made no comparison," the girl cried defiantly; "there was no question of comparison."

She was so shamelessly, and it hurt Meredith more than it hurt Guy Oscar, for whom the sting was intended.

"Comparison or no comparison," said Jack Meredith quickly, with the keenness of a good fencer who has been touched, "there can be no doubt of the fact that you were engaged to us both at the same time. You told us both to go out and make a fortune wherewith to buy your affections. One can only presume that the highest bidder—the owner of the largest fortune—was to be the happy man. Unfortunately, we became partners, and—such was the power of your fascination—we made the fortune, but we share and share alike in that. We are equal, so far as the price is concerned. The situation is interesting and rather amusing. It is your turn to move. We await your further instructions in considerable suspense."

She stared at him with bloodless lips.
She did not seem to understand what he was saying. At last she spoke, ignoring Guy Oscar's presence altogether.

"Considering that we are to be married tomorrow, I do not think that you should speak to me like that," she said, with a strange, concentrated expression.

"Pardon me, we are not going to be married tomorrow."

Her brilliant teeth closed on her lower lip with a snap, and she stood looking at him, breathing so hard that the sound was almost a sob.

"What do you mean?" she whispered hoarsely.

He raised his shoulders in polite surprise at her dullness of comprehension.

"In the unfortunate circumstances in which you are placed," he explained, "it seems to me that the least one can do is to offer every assistance in one's power. Please consider me hors de concours. In a word—I scratch."

She gasped like a swimmer swimming for life. She was fighting for that which some deem dearer than life—namely, her love. For it is not only the good women who love, though these understand it best and see further into it.

"Then you can never have cared for me," she cried. "All that you have told me"—and her eyes flashed triumphantly across Oscar—"all that you have promised and vowed was utterly false if you turn against me at the first word of a man who was carried away by his own vanity into thinking things that he had no business to think."

If Guy Oscar was no great adept at wordy warfare, he was at all events strong in his reception of punishment.
He stood upright and quiescent, betraying by neither sign nor movement that her words could hurt him.

"I beg to suggest again," said Jack composedly, "that Oscar has not yet brought any accusations against you.
You have brought them all yourself."

"You are both cruel and cowardly," she exclaimed, suddenly descending to vituperation. "Two to one. Two men—gentlemen—against one defenseless girl. Of course I am not able to argue with you. Of course you can get the best of me. It is so easy to be sarcastic."

"I do not imagine," retorted Jack,
"that anything that we can say or do will have much permanent power of hurting you. For the last two years you have been engaged in an—intrigue such as a thin skinned or sensitive person would hardly of her own free will undertake. You may be able to explain it to yourself—no doubt you are—but to our more limited comprehensions it must remain inexplicable.
We can only judge from appearances."

"And, of course, appearances go against me. They always do against a woman," she cried rather brokenly.

"You would have been wise to have taken that peculiarity into consideration sooner," replied Jack Meredith coldly.

"I admit that I am puzzled. I cannot quite get at your motive. Presumably it is one of those sweet feminine inconsistencies which are so charming in books."

There was a little pause. Jack Meredith waited politely to hear if she had anything further to say. His clean cut face was quite pallid. The suppressed anger in his eyes was perhaps more difficult to meet than open fury. The man who never forgets himself before a woman is likely to be an absolute master of women.

"I think," he added, "that there is nothing more to be said."

There was a dead silence. Millicent Chyne glanced toward Guy Oscar. He could have saved her yet by a simple lie. Had he been an impossibly magnanimous man, such as one meets in books only, he could have explained that the mistake was all his, that she was quite right, that his own vanity had blinded him into a great and unwarranted presumption. But, unfortunately, he was only a human being, a man who was ready to give as full a measure as he was exacted. The unfortunate mistake to which he clung was that the same sense of justice, the same code of honor, must serve for men and women alike. So Millicent Chyne looked in vain for that indulgence which is so inconsistently offered to women, merely because they are women, the indulgence which is sometimes given and sometimes withheld, according to the softness of the masculine heart and the beauty of the suppliant feminine form. Guy Oscar was quite sure of his own impressions.
This girl had allowed him to begin loving her, had encouraged him to go on, had led him to believe that his love was returned. And in his simple ignorance of the world he did not see why these matters should be locked up in his own breast from a mistaken sense of chivalry to be accorded where no chivalry was due.

"No," he answered. "There is nothing more to be said."

HIS BRILLIANT CAREER

SIR MORTIMER DURAND'S RETIREMENT FROM WASHINGTON.

British Ambassador On Different Footing to the Representative of Any Other Foreign Power At the American Capital—Why He Retires—A Triumph At Kabul—The Best Man In Persia.

News of Sir Mortimer Durand's approaching retirement as British Ambassador at Washington has been received with sincere expressions of regret in all parts of the United States. The genuine liking he has inspired in those whom he has met officially or socially is reinforced by the respect with which he is regarded by the public. To say that he is the most popular of the Diplomatic Corps at Washington is only to say what might be expected in a British Ambassador, who is naturally on a different footing to the representative of any other foreign power at the American capital.

A Difficult Position. This peculiar relation is well understood by "Ex-Attache," writing in the Chicago Tribune, when he says:

"Considering the peculiar relations that exist between the United States and Great Britain and the extraordinary complexity of the questions that are continually cropping up between the two nations, the post of British Ambassador at Washington may well be regarded as the most important office in the diplomatic service of King Edward. Its incumbent is required to fulfill the duties of his mission in such a manner as to promote harmony and good-will with the Government and people to whom he is accredited, without, however, sacrificing any of the interests confided to his care; to execute the instructions received from his chief, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in London, and to satisfy those British colonies which by reason of their proximity to the United States are bound to become from time to time involved in controversies with the latter. This is never an easy matter. For sometimes the interests of the colonies clash with those of the Mother Country, while at other times the colonies put forward pretensions and claims upon the United States which the Imperial Government in England does not feel disposed to endorse. Indeed, the British Ambassador at Washington is always exposed to the danger of being held up to obloquy in England's North American or West Indian dependencies for having neglected to champion with sufficient vigor issues which it has been impossible to reconcile with the views of the Foreign Office. One of the most thorny problems, in fact, confronting the Administration in London is the question whether popular sentiment in the colonies shall be contented at the expense of American good-will or whether the importance of retaining the latter shall be regarded as superior to all other considerations. It is this that renders the post of English Ambassador at Washington so difficult a one to fill. It is only men of altogether exceptional qualities that can be selected for the office."

Why He Retires.

He goes on to declare that Sir Mortimer Durand has admirably filled this difficult position. The writer does not discuss the reason for the retirement, evidently finding sufficient cause for the step in the two score years that Sir Mortimer has spent in diplomatic service. It is reported, nevertheless, that the Ambassador at Washington was not in accord with the British Foreign Office in the matter of the Newfoundland modus vivendi, and that his resignation marks his disapproval of the policy of his chiefs. If this rumor is without foundation it might be denied from London. If not, it is certain that the truth of the story will not be formally set forth for many years, that being the time that must elapse before confidential Government documents regarding international matters may be used for purposes of publication. By this rule the British Government ensures that any wounds caused by a controversy will have healed before the matter is once more forced on the attention of those whom it concerned.

A Triumph At Kabul.

Sir Mortimer Durand has been at Washington for three years, he having succeeded Sir Michael Herbert, who had shortly before followed the venerable Pauncefote. Durand was the choice of Lord Dufferin, who, as Viceroy in India, had come in close contact with him, and had, indeed, publicly testified to his regard for the delicate Kabul mission had been so satisfactorily negotiated. The Viceroy's tribute chiefly concerned those diplomatic qualities that the young envoy displayed, but a stronger recommendation to the general public was his courage under fire, which amounted to heroism, and earned for him the distinction of mention in despatches, an incident almost without precedent among Ambassadors.

Good Work At Washington.

He was, indeed, the first full-fledged Ambassador from England to be appointed to Washington, his predecessors in office having been chosen by the first rank upon appointment. During his incumbency there have been no great events to threaten the good feeling between the countries, and consequently there has been no call upon those higher qualities with which Sir Mortimer Durand is endowed. When it is said that he has so discharged his duties as to strengthen the cordial relations now existing, high praise is given—perhaps the highest that he would care to receive. His fine reputation makes the choice of a successor increasingly difficult, for a better man could hardly be chosen.

PLAIN TALK FROM THE DOCTOR

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder troubles, stated that to the following prescription is due a great deal of his success:

One ounce fluid extract dandelion;

One ounce compound salutarin;

Four ounces compound syrup sarsaparilla.

Mix and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, drinking plenty of water.

This mixture will, he says, positively cure any diseases arising from weak, clogged or inactive kidneys, and will assist these organs to cleanse the blood of the poisonous waste matter and acids, which if allowed to remain, cause lumbago, lame back, rheumatism and sciatica, and at the same time will restore the kidneys to healthy normal action. The ingredients, which are purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can be procured from any good druggist and mixed at home at very little cost.

This advice will undoubtedly be much appreciated by many readers.

Williamdale East, May 9th. I cannot refrain from writing you the benefits I have received from GIN PILLS. Before I had taken GIN PILLS I suffered dreadfully with my back, and had suffered for twenty years. I have tried almost everything but got no relief until I got "GIN PILLS."

MRS. WILLIAM F. RIPLEY. Mrs. Ripley had serious Kidney Trouble. And the sick kidneys were making her back ache—were giving her those spitting headaches—were sapping her strength—and dragging her down. GIN PILLS really saved her life. GIN PILLS cured her kidneys. She has been well ever since. GIN PILLS are a grand medicine for women.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST.

Homestead Regulations.

Any enumerated section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situated. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1). At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2). A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3). If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of the homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4). The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line, exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5). A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.
