Your Account Book and Your Bank Book

If your account book shows a profit, that profit should be recorded in your bank book as entries of deposits or else it is likely to dwindle away.

It is a good plan to use the two books together. Estimate your profits in one and then transfer them to the other where they will grow even greater by the systematic addition of interest. Open a Savings Account with us at our nearest branch.

DISTRICT AND GENERAL

Removing an electric light bulb
with wet hands resulted in electro-cution for Oscar Miller at Philadelphia.

For the year ending September 30
the prisoners in Middlesex county jail were fed at a per diem cost of 11.4 cents.

According to recent estimates, the war is responsible for the surplus women of Europe, of whom there are over eight millions.

Candles used in a birthday celebration on a farm near Ottumwa, Ia., set fire to the house and three children were burned to death.

Leamington district has so far escaped frost, and tobacco growers who were given a scare two or three times during the season have about harvested their crops safely.

Despite the fact that hazing has been prohibited in the University of Western Ontario, 65 freshmen were roughly handled. They were bound hand and foot, smeared with paint and molasses, and treated to liberal applications of sticky flypaper.

Duncan Leitch, one of the best known residents of Dunwich township, died suddenly at his home near Lutton from heart trouble. He was born in Dunwich township 62 years ago, and had farmed all his life and was known by cattle dealers all over the country.

Hurled over a fence and through the windshield of a parked automobile from the sulky in which he was riding while participating in a horse race at Delaware fair, A. McCallum, of Alisa Craig, suffered a badly lacerated throat and injuries to the head and body.

Mrs. S. A. Cruickshank, of Zone township, fifty years ago won first prize on a crock of butter, that being the first East Kent fair, and at the fair this year Mrs. Cruickshank, although over 84 years of age, carried off first prize for a crock of butter
made by herself.

The death occurred at her home in Toronto of Mrs. Annie L. Hertel, widow of the late Henry C. Hertel, at the age of 85 years. The deceased, who was in her usual good health, was reading when she suddenly collapsed and fell to the floor, death being instantaneous. She was a former well-known resident of Dutton.

Fire loss of $18,000 was caused by the destruction of three barns and two silos of A. M. McInroy, on the Nairn road, Lobo township. The fire broke out late in the afternoon
in the main building of the group,
said to be the largest in the township. The season's crops were burned. The loss was partly covered by insurance. Faulty wiring of a recently installed new lighting system
is advanced as a possible cause of the fire.

J. C. Brown, of Chatham, is recovering from injuries sustained when his car plunged into a ditch near Morphet. As Brown lay under his car he averted a horrible death from burning by turning a tap with his foot, shutting off the gasoline which was trickling from the gas tank and igniting on the heated muffler. After struggling for three hours he managed to crawl from under the car.
He suffered a broken arm and painful injuries to his body.

A convention, marking the first hundred years of Methodist missions
in Canada, will be held in Massey Hall, Toronto, from November 4th
to 7th next. It appears that in 1824, just a century ago, the Methodist circuits and districts in Canada were organized into a Conference, which proceeded at once to form a Missionary Society. The gifts of the first year, amounting, we are told, to $144,
made it possible to provide services
in destitute settlements and among the Indians. The first missionaries were sent to places no more remote
than the Niagara peninsula.

Masquerading as a youth on a harvest gang provided two weeks of thrill and adventure for seventeen-
year-old Violet Hamilton, of Sudbury, Ontario, who arrived in the West on a special harvest train on August 27,
went to work in the home of a farmer in Richardson district, but soon tired of the household task. Leaving the farmer's home she had her hair bobbed. At Newburn she had the bob made into a man's regular haircut, pawned her suit, purchased a man's second-hand suit of clothes
and hired out as a harvester to Ray Spencer, farmer, four miles from Weyburn. For two weeks she worked with the gang and drove a harvesting team without her sex being detected. She returned to Regina and registered at a hotel as Buddy Clement. Next she had not cleared the money to the hotel accommodation and applied for shelter at the police station where she made her identification known.

THE PRINCE OF WALES

Returning from a trip to the coast
and a visit to his ranch in Alberta,
Edward, "Prince of Wales," passed through Glencoe yesterday morning about five o'clock in the Royal train on the C.N.R., reaching Toronto about nine o'clock. After spending a day in that city the Prince will visit Ottawa and Montreal before leaving for England. The Prince spent Tuesday in Detroit where he was the guest of Henry Ford and visited the plant of the Ford Company at Highland Park. It was on October 23, 1919, that His Royal Highness made a brief visit to Glencoe and was given a rousing reception by local dignitaries and thousands of citizens of the community.

MORE HORSES KILLED

Duncan G. McEachren, North Glencoe, had a valuable team of horses, rising three and four years old, killed by an express train on the C.P.R. Monday night near 20 side road in Ekfrid. The horses broke out of the pasture field during the night and strayed on to the railway track. This is the second team of horses killed near the same spot
within the past few days. Hugh Munroe having lost a team the previous Monday night.

AT THE BOWLING GREENS

Games of much interest were recently played for the Charlton trophy, but no rink as yet has succeeded in wresting it from Messrs. Davidson and Hayter. On Friday evening James Poole and J. N. Currie lost by nine points and on Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. James Poole lost by eleven points.

ENORMOUS GROWTH OF HYDRO

From total revenues for 1913 of $2,617,439 to revenues in 1923 of $17, 219,444 is the record of tremendous growth in Provincial Hydro activities. In 1913 the Hydro served but 45 municipalities, whereas in 1923
there were 235, excluding those municipalities included in the Central Ontario, Nipissing and Essex County systems, which are not municipally owned. The number of customers has increased from 65,707 to 348,928
in the same period.

AT THE TENNIS COURTS

Miss Evelyn McLachlan and Miss Frances Moss won the ladies' doubles championship for the 1924 season. In the semifinal event Miss McLachlan and Miss Moss defeated
Lorna Luckham and Betty Grant,
and Miss Gillies and Mrs. R. M. Macpherson defeated Mrs. Arnold Al-dred and Miss Steele. In the final event three sets were played by Miss McLachlan and Miss Moss against Miss Gillies and Mrs. Macpherson, which resulted as follows:
6-2, 6-4, 6-0, the first and third sets being won by the former and the second set by the latter.

Principal McDonald and Ed. May-hew will play Chester Bechill and Wilfred Letbridge today in the men's finals.

TIMOTHY'S TEN REASONS

"Timothy Hay," the genial writer to the Wingham Advance-Times, at the close of his weekly epistle in a recent issue gives the following ten reasons why he will vote for the O.
T. A.

Rayson wan—"Tis in the interest
av clane pollyticks.

Rayson two—"Fer the sake av me
grandchilder.

Rayson tree—"To plaze the missus.
(This is a shtrong wan.)

Rayson four—"To make a lot av him brewers an' distillers go to wurruk loike the rest av us.

Rayson five—"To save the money
that wd be spent in liquor fer boots,
an' shoes, an' bread, an' butter an'
mate, an' coal, an' clothes fer the childer.

Rayson six—"Becaws if the O.T.A.
is sustained the Government has promised to make some much nayded amendments to it.

Rayson seven—"Becaws ye can't make a country droier by shartin'
out to make fit wetter. 'Tisn't ray-sonable.

Rayson eight—"Becaws in these days av shtrong competition in trade
that country will go ahead fasthest
that has a sober industrious people.

Rayson nine—"Becaws a lot av us
ould fellahs are larin' to git along furst rate widout our glass, an' it wd be a mistake to shart us up agin.

Rayson tin—"Becaws I loike to be on the winnin' side.

Several years of hard work have been put in trying to bury John Bar-leycorn, and still his bootleg sticks out.

POPULAR MELBOURNE FAIR

Makes New Record in Extent of Exhibits and Gate Receipts

Thanks to an energetic board of directors, coupled with a strong community interest, Melbourne's popular one-day fair was more of a success than ever this year. Thursday, the day of the fair, proved an ideal Indian Summer one that tempted the countryside for miles around and residents of the neighboring towns to take the drive and feast
their eyes on the excellent exhibits prepared for their inspection and to enjoy the other attractive features.
In consequence, the gate receipts
showed a material increase.

In the show ring there was an exhibition of horses that would have done credit to the Canadian National or Western fairs, the heavy draft and general purpose classes being especially fine. The same could be said of the cattle and sheep, of which there was a large showing.
Hogs and poultry exhibits were also good.

There was an attractive display of roots and vegetables, with some unusually good specimens. The indoor exhibits had an array of fruits and grains that would be hard to best,
while the culinary and dairy departments were most tempting. The departments especially devoted to the ladies had an exceedingly large collection of needlework and numerous articles that, while much of a bewilderment to the men folk, must have been particularly interesting to the feminine mind, as the section devoted to this part of the exhibition was constantly crowded with lady signateers who were both critical and complimentary in their inspection.
The race track afforded a capital afternoon's entertainment, with neck-and-neck finishes in the various speeding events. There were also interesting foot races and other sports for the young.

Music for the day was supplied by the excellent Muncie brass band and Piper Stuart of London. Scotch and Irish dancing were gracefully exemplified by Miss Irene Packer and Miss Evelyn Nichol, of London.

The day concluded with an enjoyable dance in the community hall in the evening.

Officers and directors of the society this year are as follows:—President, Roy McCracken; 1st vice-president, Thos. Hardy; 2nd vice-president, G. Hyndman; secretary-treasurer, Frank McLean; auditors, Hen-

3rd, Mac Wool, F. Fisher; 4th, Harriet Becher, H. Sinker.

Athletic Events

In the sports events the winners were:
Boys' 100-yard dash, 10 years and
under — Cameron Marshall, Jack Howe.

Boys' 100-yard dash, 15 years and under — K. Webster, A. Carruthers.

Girls' 50-yard dash, under 10 years
— R. E. Hathaway, Rachel Roney.

Girls' 50-yard dash, 15 years and under — Margaret Stevenson, Muriel Meek.

Some of the Prize Winners
Exhibits of utility horses, always a first quality show at Melbourne,
were even better than usual. Thos.
Kerr showed the finest span in the draught horses, with Cyrus McTaggart taking first for the best 1924
foal and four-year-old.

C. Carruthers, R. Alexander and Dan Johnson
also had prize winners in this class.
In the agricultural class J. A. Hill showed the finest span and A. Fle-cher the best single Percheron. N.
Carruthers, H. Meek and J. W. Patten being among the other winners of red ribbons.

Arch. Crawford and Graham Bros., B. C. Hoover and G.
McLean led in the general purpose animals. Light horses were not as plentiful as in former years, but winning animals were shown by W. H.
Shore, A. McMurchy, Dr. Woods and

M. McAlpine. The roadster class presented the largest number of entries, with M. McAlpine's saddle horse and A. Harkness' span perhaps the most popular, awarded winners in the line-up. C. Willey took the Canadian Racing Association's special prizes with his one-year-old and foal. P. Campbell's foal and C.
Carruthers' pony were the finest appearing showings in this class.

Allan McDougald's herd took the main event of the cattle exhibits,
the finest herd of breeders, with Thomas Hardy winning the U. F. O.
award for the best dual purpose
cow. O. Coombs, J. Scott, D. Johnson, D. L. McGugan, A. Willey and W. A. Coulthard were winners in the prizes for calves and yearlings.

Sheep awards as usual were in the hands of specialists, with D. A.
Campbell and A. McLean splitting
the honors in the long wools and Mc-Lean and Morley Stafford taking the awards in the medium wool sheep.
W. Brigham and Wm. McTaggart
winning individual prizes. J. A.
Hill's Berkshire hogs and Brodie Bros. Yorkshires won against all comers in these classes. T. Walker, J. and F. Drymond and B. Adams had the most consistently winning showings in the poultry, with J. B. Corneil, S. Carruthers, H. G. Whiting,
W. Andrews and E. V. Thorneroff
also among the leading exhibitors of prize-winning fowl.

In the fruit and vegetable classes
B. C. Hoover, C. Maier, H. G. Whiting and Wm. Gould were the principal winners. Geo. Marshall's Delaware and G. Adams' Doleys were considered the finest potato showings. The bread-making and butter-making contests were the most contested prizes on the list, with Mrs.
G. Lee, Mrs. W. Switzer and Mrs. N.
McLean producing the tastiest
loaves. Ann Johnson, Mrs. J. Small,
Mrs. C. Trott, Mrs. E. Beattie, Mrs.
W. Switzer, Mrs. D. Campbell, Mrs.
J. Hutton, Mrs. E. Andrews, Mrs. F.
McNeill and Florence Lucas all won laurels in the butter making.

Union and No. 3, Ekfrid, schools united their exhibits in the juvenile department to make an unusually fine layout of children's showings.
M. Meek, J. H. Perry, M. Stevenson and O. Johnson starred among the prize winners.

Kenzie, Esq., of Strathburn, as his clerk.

BRIDE-ELECT SHOWERED

An enjoyable shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Walker on Monday evening, when about sixty-five friends and neighbors and members of St. John's choir gathered to do honor to Miss Hilda Allen, whose marriage takes place in Chatham this week.

After a complimentary address by Rev. Wm. Williams, Miss Allen was presented with a beautiful case of "Old Colony" silver, the presentation
being made by Misses Mabel Wright, Lillian Henderson and Della Squire,
under a beautiful floral arch. Although taken by surprise Miss Allen made a suitable reply. A short programme of speeches and songs was given, and lunch was served by the hostess. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner.
After singing "For She a Jolly Good Fellow" all joined in wishing Miss Allen every success and happiness in her new life.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED; DATE OF ELECTION SET FOR OCTOBER 29

After Nine Months of Power feat When Conservatives ing Vote of

A despatch from London says:—Great Britain is embarked on the shortest and what promises to be one of the most hectic electoral campaigns in history.

Prime Minister MacDonald, beaten in the House of Commons on Wednesday night, motored to Buckingham Palace on Thursday and obtained the assent of King George, who had hurried back from Scotland, for dissolution of Parliament.

Accordingly that body was prorogued immediately after the Irish boundary bill had received the royal

Labor Government Meets De- and Liberals Unite in Pass- ing Vote of

The fact that the Premier remained with the King for an hour instead of the few minutes usual in the case of a formal ministerial resignation, lends weight to the rumor that the Throne objected strongly to authorizing an election on an issue which merely involved the conduct of the Attorney-General in dropping a seditious case.

Proceedings during the prorogation in the House of Commons were purely formal. But a great demonstration awaited Mr. MacDonald at the Labor party conference, which has been, by coincidence, meeting in London during the present political crisis.

The Prime Minister came to the building direct from the Palace. Here the Labor leader delivered a bitter speech, which indicates the unrestrained language which is likely to be used by all sides during the campaign.

"Murder had been plotted and planned, and it came off," he declared, in summing up the vote of censure which defeated the Government Wednesday night.

This was a Liberal motion demanding an investigation of the dropping of charges against James R. Campbell, Communist editor of the Workers' Weekly, who had been accused of inciting troops to mutiny. The Government has pledged its word that political considerations had nothing to do with the case, and so Labor regarded the demand for an inquiry as an insult to the integrity of its ministers.

The present composition of the House of Commons' membership is as follows:

Conservative 246, Labor 187, Liberal 156, Ulster Unionist 11, Co-operative 6, Independent 3, Independent Liberal 2, Nationalist 2, Sinn Féin 1; total 614.

The total membership of the House of Commons is 615, but there is a vacancy for the London University constituency.

British Labor Premier, Ramsay MacDonald, whose Cabinet has been defeated.

assent. It had been rushed through the House of Lords without amendment. So Great Britain's first Labor Government came to an end with a general election fixed for Oct. 29, instead of Nov. 8, as had been expected.

GRAND JURY FIND NO BILL AGAINST SQUIRES

Hold That Evidence is Insufficient to Warrant an Indictment.

A despatch from St. John's, Nfld., says:—A grand jury investigating charges against Sir Richard Squires, former Premier of Newfoundland, in connection with alleged irregularities in the course of his administration, returned no indictment on Thursday night. The grand jury held that evidence in support of charges of larceny and of receiving money in the testimony of Mrs. Jean Harcourt, formerly secretary to Squires, was insufficient to warrant finding a true bill.

The former Premier was placed under arrest last April on charges of larceny which were the immediate outgrowth of the report of Crown Commissioner Hollis Walker. The Walker report sustained charges that Squires, while Premier, received $22,000 from the funds of the Government liquor control department which was paid into his account at the Bank of Nova Scotia instead of into the public treasury. It was also charged in the report that $46,000 was paid into the same account by the British Empire Steel Corporation at a time when negotiations were proceeding between the company and the Government for renewal of the company's ore tax contract. Squires was found to be a consenting party to both transactions in the Walker report.

Evidence presented against Squires consisted largely of the testimony of Miss Jean Miller, secretary to Squires when he was Premier, and who has since been married. Sir Richard has maintained an absolute denial of the charges against him or complicity in the alleged irregularities.

World's Record Made on Vancouver Elevator

A despatch from Vancouver says:—What is said to be a world's record in grain elevator construction is the claim for the Spillers big 20,200,000-bushel capacity structure here. In 45½ days the workhouse and bins were completed.

Starting construction of a battery of 38 bins, each 25 feet in diameter and 90 feet high, on Sept. 22, they went up at an average of seven feet a day. Basement to cupola they were finished on Oct. 9. The total height of the structure, including cupola, is 115 feet.

The workhouse, with its battery of 150 bins, each of two-car capacity, was constructed in 29 days, rising to a height of 204 feet in that time.

Besieged by Cougar Two Nights in Larbeau Tent

A despatch from Nelson, B.C., says:—Sam Cavanagh, engaged in trail cutting on the Gaynor Creek, in the Larbeau, was besieged two nights in his tent by a big cougar, while without a gun. The big cat brushed the tent with his tail as it patrolled a beat around it, but made no attack. It also disregarded Cavanagh's efforts to scare it away. When it had worn its welcome threadbare it finally left.

SETTLEMENT OF LAST OF CANADA'S CLAIMS

German Indebtedness Question Being Undertaken by Under-Secretary of State.

A despatch from London says:—Although it is some months since the Dawes report was adopted and approved, among others by Canada's representatives, no one knows how much or when Canada will benefit under it. Thomas Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State, is now in London and one of the objects of his visit is to find out. It is a question of some immediate as well as of long-range importance to the Dominion, since it will affect her course with regard to $20,000,000 worth of sequestered German property still in Government possession.

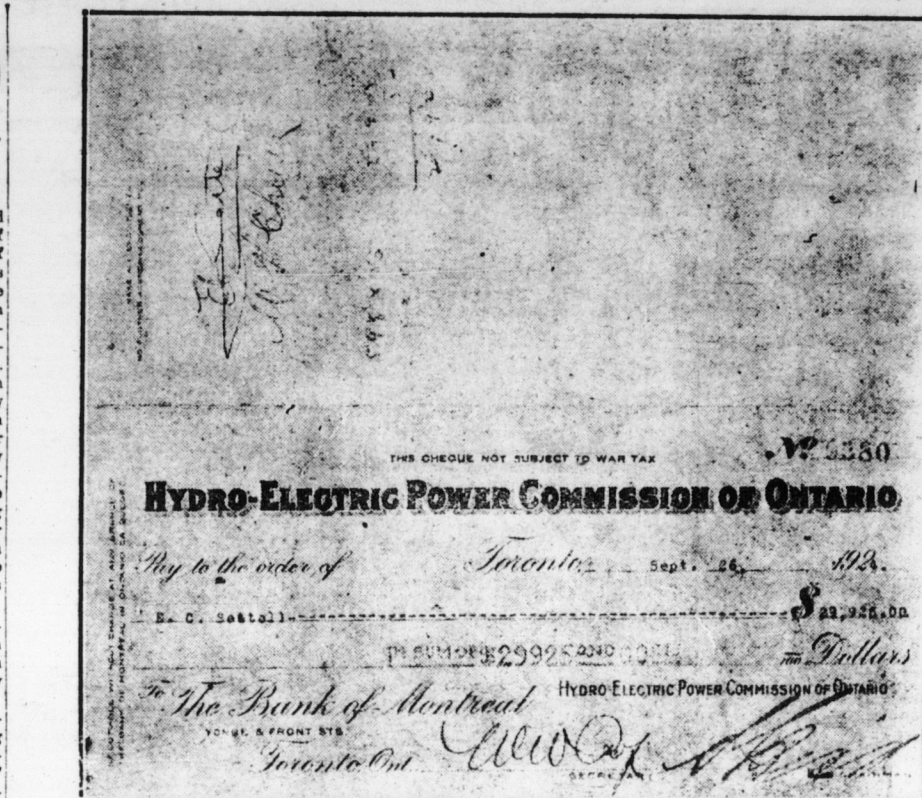

Mr. Mulvey's principal mission was to clear up what are known as enemy claims, that is, claims by Canadians against Germany and vice-versa, resulting from the dislocation of business relations during the war. The Canadian Government has had much trouble in getting a proper accounting of confiscated Canadian securities from the English public trustees in whose keeping they were. Vigorous representations have now had their effect and the result is the placing of $3,000,000 to Canada's account at the clearing office. It is hoped that in another six months it will have been possible to pay the last Canadian claim.

Daily Mail Service Ontario-Quebec Established by Air

A despatch from Ottawa says:—A daily mail service by aeroplane has been established between Haltonbury, Ont., Angliers, Que., and the Rouyn gold fields, according to an announcement in the October supplement to the Official Postal Guide. The service is being maintained by the Laurentide Air Service Limited, and senders of mail assume all risk. The requirements for this mail are: 1—"By aerial mail" must be written, prominently, on the address side. 2—"The usual Canadian postage must be affixed. 3—"A special aerial sticker sold by the company or its agents representing a charge of 25 cents must be placed on the reverse side of mail matter in payment of the special charge for transmission by air.

Exiled Royal Prince Lives in Poverty in London

Still another dethroned notability has found temporary refuge in England. In a combined bed-sitting room in the working class King's Cross district of London lives the exiled Prince Milo of Montenegro, nephew of the late King Nicholas and cousin of the Queen of Italy. He shares the cheap room with an exiled Montenegrin journalist, hoping to get the English people to help him. The journalist's daughter helps out their slender resources by working at dressmaking. According to "The Evening News," the prince made the statement that 30,000 of his countrymen have been exiled simply because they struggled to gain Montenegro's independence.

SCRAPS OF PAPER WHICH BROUGHT DOWNFALL OF CLARENCE SETTLETT

Above is the reproduction of the cheque for $29,935, on which Clarence Settle, secretary to Sir Adam Beck, and Sir Adam at least has acknowledged signing it, not being aware of the exact use to which it was going to be put. For this reason it is possible that no forgery or fraud charges will be prosecuted. But a letter, written to

GERMAN LOAN SURE UNDER DAWES PLAN

Details to be Laid Before Reparations Commission by Owen D. Young.

A despatch from London says:—Owen D. Young left London for Paris on Thursday after a conference with Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, and German Finance Minister Luther on the reparations loan which will be made to Germany under the Dawes plan.

Mr. Young carried with him the complete plans for and a prospectus of the loan, which he will lay before the Reparations Commission. If it is approved all the facts will be made public soon after.

Everything now has been settled with the exception of the final assent of some powers to the quotas assigned them. Italy in particular is understood to object to her quota, but Mr. Young is sanguine about the general agreement.

Tokio to Have Subway Despite Earthquake Perils

A despatch from Tokyo says:—Despite the unknown possibilities of damage and danger in earthquakes, Tokyo is to have a subway. It is expected construction work will commence by the end of the year.

Out of four original franchises, three have lapsed and the remaining franchise is the property of the Tokyo Underground Railway Co., which intends to have subway trains running within two years' time. This company was organized in 1918 with 10,000,000 yen capital, one-tenth paid in, and since that time has virtually completed the survey and geological investigations for ten miles of lines.

The company proposes to start with one line of one mile and a half, connecting Ueno and Asakusa, to be followed by an extension from Ueno to Shinjuku. The directors of the company expect to raise 4,000,000 yen by a call on shareholders. When the Ueno-Asakusa line is completed the property will be used as collateral for loans, the proceeds of which will be used, along with another payment from shareholders, to finance the construction of the Shinjuku line.

Canadian Exports of Wheat Double in September

A despatch from Ottawa says:—Flour exports from Canada in September were more than double those in the same month last year; wheat exports more than doubled; oats and rye showed considerable increases; barley showed a heavy decrease. Flour exports in September this year amounted to $5,798,510, as against $2,465,151 in the same month last year; wheat exports were $13,525,025, as compared with $5,863,468; exports of oats totalled $899,353, as compared with $691,592; rye amounted to $794,762, as compared with $561,885, and barley dropped to $548,955 from $1,304,721 in the same month last year.

There has been much construction activity on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway this summer. Steel has now been laid on the new extension from Grande Prairie to Wembley, a distance of 16.1 miles. There are two new towns on this extension. Steel has likewise been laid from Beryn to Brownvale, on the Central Canada extension, giving this territory also two new towns.

Dominion News in Brief

Halifax, N.S.—Gerald DaCosta, senior member of the firm of Gerald DaCosta, fruit and produce brokers, Covent Garden, London, England, has been visiting the Annapolis Valley and was much impressed with the region's fruit growing possibilities. As a result he has established connection with several of the leading apple shippers. An improvement in the already satisfactory trade between the Annapolis Valley and British markets is expected to result.

St. John, N.B.—It is stated that 100,000 head of live cattle have been shipped to England from this port since the cattle embargo was removed and 40,000 have already left this year. Large shipments are anticipated for the coming winter.

Montreal, Que.—The Canadian Export Paper Co. is looking forward to a new field opening in England as a market for Canadian newspaper. The result of a contract entered into by Price Bros. & Co. with the London Daily Express for the shipment of a large quantity of newspaper to England regularly. The amount covered in the agreement is understood to be in the neighborhood of 15,000 tons, which would cover a daily production of 50 tons for a whole year and run in the aggregate at present prices of over $1,000,000.

Toronto, Ont.—Reports of discoveries of iron ore north of Sault Ste. Marie have reached provincial assay offices, where they are regarded as of great potential value. The quest for iron has been going on for some time by means of diamond drilling operations. Samples which have been taken from the drills are said to have indicated the location of the ore, the content of which is as high as 65 per cent. hematite iron.

Winnipeg, Man.—The first shipping bill received at the offices of the Manitoba Wheat Pool was from a woman.

Vancouver, B.C.—Nine thousand crates of onions and ten thousand cases of apples left during the week for New Zealand. Every liner sailing from this port in months which has refrigerated space and bound for Antipodes has carried British Columbia onions. This has come about through the embargo in the Antipodes against the California product and it is understood that the Canadian product has been so favorably received that its market can now be said to be permanent.

Officials of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association have inspected to date 730 fields belonging to 391 farmers. The total acreage represented is 18,000 and the volume of grain 425,781 bushels. Only such crops as have been grown within the inspected area will be able to obtain a seed certificate.

The Khalifat at Measlah, head of the Ahmadiyya movement in Islam, is one of the striking figures at the conference on "Some living religions in the British Empire," which is in session in London. He employs thirteen secretaries.

Turks Are Reinforcing Mosul Villayet Troops

A despatch from London says:—The Turks are understood to be reinforcing their troops in the Mosul Villayet, in British mandated Turkey, and have not yet replied to two notes of protest which the British have addressed to them concerning troop movements there.

In diplomatic circles the situation is regarded with dismay, as British prestige in the East will suffer if the Turks refuse even to reply to British protests and attack British troops. On the other hand, the present Pacific Government does not wish to take strong measures.

Elfridg Drives Auto 124.90 Miles An Hour

A despatch from Paris says:—The English automobile driver, Elfridg, at the new autodrome at Monthory, Thursday, drove his car five kilometres (3.11 miles) in 1 minute 29.25 seconds.

Elfridg's average of 201 kilometres (124.90 miles) an hour is said never to have been approached before.

MEN OF MANY FAITHS GATHER IN LONDON

Some of the Delegates Left Temples for First Time to Take Journey.

Tribute to the impartiality of the British Empire toward the faiths of the peoples which have come under its sway was paid at the opening of one of the largest, and certainly one of the most spectacular, religious gatherings ever held, which was recently staged at the Imperial Institute in London.

This conference on "Some living religions within the empire" was promoted by Sir Denison Ross, director of the School of Oriental Studies. It has brought together Indians in richly embroidered robes and vivid turbans, men of eastern Asia in dark robes proclaiming their sects by their colored headgear, Oriental scholars with white beards flowing to their knees, English clergymen and a sprinkling of young women of the intelligentsia from Kensington and Golders Green.

Included in the British Empire, as pointed out at the opening meeting by Sir Francis Younghusband, the explorer, who has traveled into the fastnesses of the Himalaya and knows every aspect of Indian life, there are more Mahomedans than Christians and at least twice as many Hindus as Mahomedans. There are also many millions of Buddhists and of adherents of primitive religions of every grade. Among the less known religions of the empire which figure in the conference are Sikhism, Bahalism and Taoism, the last of which has an exponent from Peking.

Some of the holy men attending the conference have left their mosques and temples for the first time and traveled thousands of miles to hear other religions discussed by their exponents. All of the speakers from the platform among the 400 delegates are accorded equal status. No controversy, either religious or political, is injected, and there is no debate.

A message was sent to the King. Emperor from the conference stressing the fact that one of the fundamental principles which have guided England in her dealings with Eastern countries has been that of absolute impartiality toward all religions and creeds. Sir Francis Younghusband emphasized the need for the various sects of the British Empire to understand and co-operate with one another. "I am advocating religion as a bond of union, when all history shows that it has been a perpetual source of dissension," he said, "but in the hands of men who sternly discipline themselves religion may work unredeemed of good."

Natural Resources Bulletin.

The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Dept. of the Interior at Ottawa says:

The practically inexhaustible "marsh lands" which are found all along the Bay of Fundy, eastward from St. John, form one of the most valuable farming assets of the province. In appearance they resemble flat stretches of prairie meadows covered with rich grass and are not at all to be confused with bogs or swamps. These so-called marsh lands have been created by the extraordinary tides of the Bay of Fundy, and are wonderfully fertile. It is recorded that at Joliveau, county of Westmorland, thirty-five consecutive annual crops of hay of an average of two tons per acre have been harvested and the quality gives promise of remaining so indefinitely. The land, which used to be overflooded by the tide, was reclaimed by dikes built by the early French settlers, and now forms a natural meadow with a soil sometimes 80 feet deep. It yields heavy crops of hay year after year without any fertilizing and this inexhaustible supply of cheap hay from the marsh is of great advantage to the stock farmers. If at any time land needs reviving, the dike gates are opened for a while so that the tide can come in and deposit a fresh layer of soil. They are not, however, equally good for all crops, but are best for grasses and grains, to which they are almost entirely given up. The grasses, the usual upland English hay grasses, grow very tall, very dense, and of very superior quality, luxuriant but not rank. No attempt is made to take two crops a year, though some farmers allow their cattle to fatten on the rich aftergrowth. The only cultivation consists in an occasional plowing, on an average once in ten or fifteen years, when a single crop of oats is sown, after which the land is at once brought into grass again. There are upwards of forty thousand acres of these dikes and reclaimed marsh lands along the Bay of Fundy, east of St. John, most of which are in the counties of Albert and Westmorland.

Premier MacDonald's Defeat Perilous to Herriot

A despatch from Paris says:—Premier MacDonald's defeat and the prospect of a new election in Britain, coming as they do just at the moment when the experts' reparations plan is about to be put into effect, have brought neither pleasure nor added to the French Government. At best it must mean a delay in the settlement of many outstanding questions, and delay means even more serious insecurity for the French Government on the great matter of its financial position.

The Book He Never Read.

Lady Currie, well known to English letters under her pen name of Violet Fane, told Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott, one of her American friends, an amusing incident of her life in Constantinople when her husband, Lord Currie, was ambassador to the Sublime Porte. She was a rapid and omnivorous reader, and Lord Currie often trusted her to read and report on books with which otherwise he would have had to make personal acquaintance. Much precious time was thus saved for a busy diplomat, and the task was entirely congenial to his competent unofficial reader. One day he handed her a new biography of the Sultan, Abdul Hamid, just published in England. A short time afterwards he asked her whether it was interesting.

"Yes," she answered, "but—" and just then some visitors of distinction were announced and she did not finish the sentence. That evening husband and wife dined with the Sultan. Conversation was more formal than entertaining and indeed flattered to a depressing degree. Lord Currie had a happy inspiration.

"Sire," he said, "an interesting book has just appeared about yourself!"

Lady Currie made a frantic effort to reach his foot under the table, but without success.

"Ah," said the Sultan, "I should like to see that book!"

"You shall have my copy," the polite ambassador hastened to assure him. At their departure from the palace the Sultan's words in response to their leave-taking were a reminder: "I will send for the book in the morning."

When Lady Currie had her husband alone with her in the carriage she said to him between mirth and despair:

"The book you recommend to the Sultan opens with this sentence: 'A more loathsome toad than the Sultan Abdul Hamid I never saw!'"

When the Sultan's servant called next day he was informed with many messages of apology that the book could not be found. It was sent for, always vainly, several times afterwards; and the next time the ambassador had an audience the Sultan, clearly suspicious of something wrong, reproached him with duplicity. Lord Currie made no excuses he could, but he never produced the book, nor did Abdul, though he probably guessed he was not enthusiastically admired in Great Britain, ever learn there existed anywhere a mortal presuming enough to designate him a toad.

Broadcasting the Nightingale.

A bird friend in "London Town" sends us some notes of the most unique story in birddom. The nightingale holds the role of world's prima donna as songster. For generations the verdict has been unquestionably endorsed. "Lord what music hath Thou afforded the saints in heaven when Thou artest bad men such music on earth!" So writes that great nature student Isaac Walton, the quaint fisherman of the long, long ago. Picture a many multiplied Market St., rush hour, the London Strand, with its hurry and rumble. Amidst this noisy crowding, comes a rare, rippling music, strange shrill voices, notes in full compass, from the clear challenge of the initial flute, whit, whit, whit, to the whole throated bass, with its thrice repeated "gluck" of the soul-song in its acme of expression and completeness. The wonders of science had transmitted from a moon-lit Surrey wood many miles away, the song of the nightingale. Thousands of listeners in London and other large cities heard the song, caught up on a microphone and broadcasted to fascinated and enraptured hearers. Surely this was a wondrous thing. It is probably two or more centuries since the song of the wild nightingale was heard in London City. What next? Many years ago a famed naturalist, thoroughly conversant with bird language, had written down the notes of the nightingale, but there was none competent to interpret.

The nightingale sang in the thicket, and all England heard him over the radio.—Dr. F. W. D'Evelyn.

Light From Trees.

A French scientist has discovered a means of extracting and harnessing the electricity in trees. He connected a copper plate attached to a tree, and another plate buried in the earth, with a galvanometer, a delicate instrument which measures the strength of weak currents of electricity, and obtained a record of the current passing through the tree.

With three trees connected in the same way the power was increased, the experiment, with a like result, being continued until twenty trees were linked up in this fashion.

The scientist then placed two copper plates in the earth, about six feet apart, and with the current thus obtained lighted a small electric lamp. Whether the idea can be extended to be commercially worthwhile has yet to be determined.

Treating 'Em Rough.

Smith—"Well, I gave it to that fellow straight. I can tell you. He is twice as big as I am, too, but I told him exactly what I thought of his rascally conduct, and I called him all the names in the dictionary and a lot of others as well."

Jones—"And didn't he try to hit you?"

"No, he didn't; and when he tried to answer me back, I just hung up the telephone receiver and walked away."

Silence is golden, except when you are waiting for the prospect to say, "Go ahead."

Surnames and Their Origin

KEMPSON.

Variations—Kemp, Camp. Racial Origin—English. Source—An Occupation.

Here is a group of family names the origin of which could not be recognized without reference to some compilation of English words in use about the time the Norman overlords of England ceased to use French as their common tongue, and the Anglo-Saxon speech, after two centuries or more of depression and change, emerged and, under the influence of Norman pronunciation, formed the foundation of our modern English.

"Kemp" was a medieval English word for "soldier." "Walter le Kemp" was simply Walter the soldier, and "Hamo Kempson" was "Hamo the soldier's son." The form Camp is in most instances due simply to a natural change in pronunciation occurring regularly in many English words in certain parts of that country and reflected in the changed spelling.

We have instances of similar changes in the word "Derby." On this continent we pronounce it as spelled. In England they call it "Darby."

As often as not the reverse change in pronunciation has taken place in the course of centuries. Thus the name of that famous street in London, Pall Mall, is pronounced "pell mell." There is no telling how often since the word "kemp" was in common use, families bearing it as a surname have changed the pronunciation back and forth between "kemp" and "camp" through succeeding generations. But the changes in spelling have been more rare, as they always are.

DYER.

Variation—Lyster. Racial Origin—English. Source—An Occupation.

The family name of Dyer is quite recognizable by the modern English speaker as having developed from a word denoting an occupation. That is because in this case both the word denoting the occupation and the name have changed similarly from the original form, and have not, as in many cases, drifted apart. Nevertheless the original word would be unrecognizable to the average person to-day.

In the Middle Ages it was spelled "Deger" or "Dighster." But if you will soften that pronunciation of the "gh" to a barely audible buttural, as it was pronounced then, you'll find it very easy to slip it a bit further to a "y" sound. And that is precisely the manner in which common speech, over the period of several centuries which have elapsed since the formation of family names began, has softened it into "Dyer," together with the broadening of the short "i" or "e" into the modern English long "i."

"Lit" was another old English word which meant "dye." In a medieval manuscript there occurs the following passage: "We use no elaths that are litte of diverse colours" (We use no clothes that are dyed in diverse colors). The "lister" or "lister" was simply a dyer. Originally either of these words were used, but in the course of time the pronunciation of the latter has prevailed as coming more smoothly from the tongue. It has been preserved as a family name, but as an ordinary word it has passed out of use.

Make the Fair-Ground Work All the Year.

The average country fair-ground is the scene of nothing else, serving the public only during fair week. The rest of the year it is wholly idle and deserted and sometimes even unsightly. Yet the fair-ground is often a pretty natural park with trees and is generally very accessible to both town and country people. If natural scenery and play places are hard to find, as often is the case in prairie country, why not then make a recreation centre of the fair-ground?

This was the idea that came to the Fair Association of a county in Iowa. The grounds are within the city limits of West Union and on the main traveled road from country to town. There is a natural grove of oaks on the area and a bright creek meanders through it. No other body of water is near.

The Fair Association laid the matter of making a playground of the fair park before the public and found prompt willingness to co-operate, and open pocketbooks offered to carry out the plan. Playground equipment was bought and set up. Picnickers were invited to make free use of the grounds. Then last summer a swimming pool was added. It was accomplished in the simplest of ways. The creek runs along one side of the fair-grounds and makes a bend down the other side. Water was taken from the creek and carried through tiling to the swimming pool. From the lower end of the artificial pond the water flowed out into other tiling and back into the creek. This gave running water, making the bathing place pure and sanitary. The pool is 40 x 150 feet, with sloping bottom, and cost about $2,500.

Through the summer the pool was the most popular place in town, and summer evenings the fair-ground was the gathering place of town and country folks. The grass has been kept mowed and the place given generally the same care as a regular park.—F. L. C.

Very Shy.

"The bride was very shy—yes, she was shy about ten years when it came to giving her age!"

His Careless Ways.

"When you found you hadn't your fare did the conductor make you get off and walk?" asked the inquisitive man.

"Only get off," was the sad reply. "He didn't seem to care whether I walked or sat down."

Starfish to the number of thousands attacked a German swimmer who was attempting to cross the Frisian Sea. The creatures stung him so severely that he had to relinquish his attempt after many fruitless efforts to beat off his assailants.

Mothers Who Made History.

Probably the most famous of all "mothers" is Mother Hubbard, the old lady whose time seems to have been taken up in attending to the wants, wishes, and antics of her equally famous dog. Although this animal must have been very trying, Mother Hubbard never appears to have lost her temper for a moment, for the lengthy nursery rhyme ends with a charming couplet:—

The dame made a cursey, the dog made a bow,
The dame said "Your servant," the dog said "Bow-wow."

Which is usually what a dog does say!

Another famous "mother" is Mother Goose. Unlike Mother Hubbard, she was a real person, and under her name enormous numbers of children's literature has been published, of which she is responsible for only a small portion. Her daughter married Thomas Fleet, a famous American printer, and they had a little son. The grandmother used to make rhymes and sing them to this little fellow, and her son-in-law printed them as "Mother Goose's Nursery Rhymes."

Mother Carey is an English way of saying Mater Cara, and she is famous for her "chickens," which are the sea-birds known to sailors as stormy petrels, because they always seem to scream around ships during a storm. Mother Carey's geese are the great black petrels or fulmars seen in the Pacific, and the saying has arisen that when snow falls Mother Carey is plucking her geese.

Mother Shipton is another famous "mother." She lived in the reign of Henry VIII, and as everybody knows, is famous for her prophecies. In a vague way he foretold the age of aviation, steam, and petrol, as well as the death of Cardinal Wolsey.

SAVED BABY'S LIFE

Mrs. Alfred Tranchemontagne, St. Michel des Saints, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent medicine. They saved my baby's life and I can highly recommend them to all mothers." Mrs. Tranchemontagne's experience is that of thousands of other mothers who have tested the worth of Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a sure and safe medicine for little ones and never fail to regulate the bowels and stomach, thus relieving all the minor ills from which children suffer. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

When Smith's Mind Worked.

Smith was a freshman, older than most of his class. He was tall, lanky and slow. His mind, like his body, worked slowly, and the nervous professor in mathematics, after a long and careful explanation, was wont to say: "Well, Smith, if you will go over that explanation carefully and meditate on it, I think you will understand. Meditate, Smith, meditate."

So Smith became "Meditate" Smith to his fellow students. One evening a party of students gathered in the room of one of their number, and Smith was one of them. The meeting was for fun and perhaps mischief, and such a meeting was an infringement of rules.

When the jollity was at its height a warning came that the professor was coming to investigate. The room was cleared at once. Smith as usual was the last, and hearing steps approaching, he crawled under the bed, seeing no other way of escape. Here he sat doubled up like a jackknife awaiting the event with no little apprehension.

The professor entered, looked about him, saw that the room was empty, then turned to depart. As he closed the door, a light seemed to strike him; he re-entered the room and looked under the bed.

"Hey, Smith, what are you doing there?" he cried.

Smith turned his head with difficulty. "Meditating, professor."

The professor withdrew.

All He Wanted.

Through the doorway of the milliner's shop walked a smartly-dressed man who approached the manager, and said:

"I see you have a sign in your window saying: 'We will gladly remove any hat from the window.'"

"That is correct, sir," said the manager, with a beaming, expectant smile. "Very well," went on the visitor, "would you object to bringing out that large hat in the middle of the window? I mean the one with the purple ribbon and pink feathers."

"Not at all, sir, not at all," the manager assured him, and hastened to comply.

"Thank you so much," exclaimed the visitor, when the manager once more approached, hat in hand. "I don't think I could have borne walking past your shop for a single day more with that thing staring at me."

Wasn't Ambitious.

Irene was being shown off by her mother.

"We are very proud of our little girl," said her mother to the visitor. "We are going to send her to school in the autumn, where she will learn, oh, such a lot, and be a bright and intelligent child."

"But I don't want to be bright and intelligent," said Irene. "I want to be just like mummy!"

WORK WORN PEOPLE

Find Renewed Health by Improving Their Blood.

If you feel run down, it means that your blood is thin and watery, that your vitality is low. Your feet are easily chilled. You do not sleep well and you are tired when you rise in the morning. You find no pleasure in your meals and are listless and despondent at your work. You have no energy to enjoy yourself.

Thousands of men are run down by anxieties of work. Thousands of women are broken down by their household toil, with tired limbs and aching backs; thousands of girls are pale, listless and without attraction. It all means the same thing—thin and watery blood, vitality run down, anemia, poor appetite, palpitating heart, short breath.

Do not submit to this. Get new blood and with it new vitality. There is no difficulty in doing this. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up and enrich the blood, which brings with it new health and vitality. The man, woman or girl who takes Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is never run down. Their friends notice how energetic they are, what a fine appetite they have, and how much they enjoy life.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Finis.

Give me a day with its sun in the west
And see what it has to say;
Give me the year as it nareth its rest,
In the glow of an autumn day.
Give me a life, where the path is unrolled,
To the shore of God's limitless sea;
For the end is the test, and the tale
Be it told in grayness or silver or gold.
Is the tale of Eternity.

—Marian Alden.

Exercise your franchise next Thursday. Don't let it be said that Ontario citizenship is spineless.

"What is so rare as a well-behaved day in October" the poet might have written had he waited until autumn to become inspired.

The elusive mushroom is more elusive than ever this season, according to those who have been combining their seeking with the pleasurable exercise of tramping through pasture fields.

Patience may be a virtue but most of us would rather practice this virtue anywhere else than waiting chilled to the marrow for one of those long freights to coal up and get off the crossing.

The citizenship responsibility of the women will be put to the test as never before at the polls on October 23rd. Whether to exalt the humble homes of the people or the palaces of the distillers is largely up to the woman with the franchise to decide.

In the jails the cost of living is coming down. But who wants to go to jail? Last year, for the quarter from July 1st to September 30th, it cost an average of 11 1/2 cents to feed prisoners in the Elgin county jail. That was one of the lowest quarterly averages on record. This year, for the same period, the average cost per prisoner per day was 9 7/8 cents.

The fact that Blenheim, Leamington and other towns along the Talbot Provincial Highway are holding a meeting this week to co-operate in an effort to direct tourist traffic to that route from the more central Longwoods Highway bears out that the objections then raised were within reason when the Talbot road was designated a provincial highway in precedence over the much shorter Longwoods route. That the Longwoods road is the more popular of the two among tourists strengthens the opinion that the Department of Highways should spend every effort to make the Longwoods road a permanent highway throughout, leaving further improvement of the Talbot Highway in suspension as a scenic route until the more useful highway is completed.

"If the people of Ontario will sustain the O.T.A. it will be honestly enforced and its weaknesses strengthened."—Premier Ferguson.

THE PLEBISCITE

On October 23rd the electorate of the province will be asked to give expression to their views in regard to the regulation of the use of intoxicating liquors. All now admit that because of its character some kind of regulation is necessary. In former times it was regulated under the license system, when its sale was allowed in hotel bars. Because of abuses which prevailed under this system, the people became disgusted and voted the barroom out of existence, and so thorough was this disgust that even the most enthusiastic supporters of the business are not asking for the return of the bar system. For the past few years the use of liquor according to the Ontario Temperance Act has been confined to that prescribed for medicinal purposes. The same old law-breaking influences have been at work, however, and the law has been broken, and a certain amount of what is commonly called bootlegging has been going on, but liquor has been difficult to get for it has only been obtainable through underground methods. Government control will again make it easy to get as a beverage.

At the Dundas Star points out, the use of liquor to excess and it will always be used to excess so long as it is obtainable—has always been the cause of much crime, poverty and privation, and the history of this province and other places has proven that the easier it is to get it the greater is the number of such deplorable affairs. And the same lawless element which has been breaking the O.T.A. would continue to break the law under Government control, as is the case in other provinces where it is in force.

Under old conditions the sight of an intoxicated man staggering about the streets was a quite common occurrence, and was taken as a matter of course. Under the O.T.A. conditions have radically changed, and the sight of a drunken man in our streets is now an occurrence which happens so very seldom that it is an anomaly, and the big chances are that he lands in the lockup before he has gone very far. Many people have not seen an intoxicated man in years. The O.T.A. has assuredly done a fine work in cleaning up our streets, and in the reduction of drunkenness and poverty, and the province should be loath to go back to conditions which make the obtaining of liquor easy and respectable.

WHAT GOVT. CONTROL MEANS

(Pin this up as a Reminder)

Is it not the simple truth that a vote for Government control is: A vote to go into the liquor selling business? A vote to place fresh temptation in the way of tens of thousands of men who have sobered up under the O.T.A., in spite of all the allurements of the bootlegger?

A vote to force the sale of intoxicants in hundreds of municipalities that were dry under local option for years before Ontario adopted prohibition?

A vote to increase drinking, drunkenness, bootlegging and reckless driving?

Unimpeachable records show that the O.T.A. has reduced drunkenness by 70 per cent. in Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton, and that Government control during the last year has increased drunkenness by nearly 40 per cent. in Winnipeg, by 52 per cent. in Calgary, and by 111 per cent. in Edmonton. Equally reliable evidence shows that bootlegging has been multiplied by Government control in Winnipeg, and that system has increased reckless driving in Calgary by several hundred per cent. Citizens who know the facts about Government control and prohibition and who regard the public good will not vote for Government control.

Safeguard Ontario and you save the boy and girl.

MOSA COUNCIL

Government Control is People's Control

THE people of Ontario—not any narrow or isolated section of them—but the people of Ontario as a whole—have certain ideals of public and private life. British traditions have given us these.

These ideals are well understood.

Lawlessness, disrespect for law, lack of self-restraint, and excesses of all kind find no approbation in Ontario.

Government Control, in the present plebiscite, is simply a mandate by the people to the Government to proceed with legislation which, while dealing with and as far as possible eliminating excesses in drinking, will restore respect for law, and recognize the right of the citizen to regulate his private life in accordance with the principles of moderation and sanity.

Prohibition is a denial of such a mandate. It consists of an absolute order of "MUST NOT".

That it undermined private and public life—that it made lawlessness profitable—that it took revenues which should be used for the public good—that it created evils harder to subdue than those it pretended to abolish—was the verdict of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba within the last year. They had tried Prohibition for seven years and found that period quite long enough.

Of course, the verdict was not rendered without a fight. Just as here, the people were told of the wonders of prohibition. They were told how rich they had become, how sober they were, how crime had vanished, how low taxes were and how happy and prosperous everybody was. "Impartial" writers wrote articles in the newspapers, "unbiased" speakers made speeches.

But the people were not moved. They knew better.

Then they acted. Just as soon as the opportunity arose they voted for Government Control. The Prohibitionists tried to prevent the people from expressing their views. Everywhere they said that a vote was unnecessary and sought to avoid one. Just as here.

But the people prevailed. They decided that, through their Governments, they would take control themselves.

Vote for Government Control as follows:

1	Are you in favour of the continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act?
2	Are you in favour of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquor in sealed packages under Government control?

In Memoriam

MRS. EDWIN HOSIE (nee, Ella Jeffery)—in loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, who departed this life one year ago, October 15, 1923:

When evening shadows are falling
And we are sitting alone,
In our heart there comes a longing—
If you only could come home.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To a grave not far away
Where they laid our darling Ella.
One long, sad year ago today.
—Sadly missed by Mother, Father,
Sister and Brother.

TOWN AND VICINITY

Business men generally reported as decidedly improved lately.

A large number from Glencoe attended Melbourne Fair on Thursday.

The next sitting of the division
court in Glencoe will be held on November 4th.

With all the new drainage work going on in town, Glencoe at least should be "dry."

John Franklin Jelly, of Sumner-side, P.E.I., twin brother of W. T.
Jelly, of Glencoe, died suddenly at his old home Tuesday last week.

One of the old pioneers who has kept observation on the weather for many years says that the recent thunder storm is a sure indication of a fine, warm fall.

At a recent social gathering of the Gordon Mission Band, Miss Mary
Munroe was presented with a junior membership certificate of the Presbyterian Missionary Society.

William Hurley, second eldest son of Jake Hurley, of Cass City, Mich., formerly of Glencoe, was elected county clerk there by a majority of 600. There were six in the field.

John Calderwood has bought out
the butcher business of W. T. Jelly, and has taken possession of the same. Mr. and Mrs. Jelly are leaving for Prince Edward Island to visit for a few weeks at Mr. Jelly's former home.

Lenora Haggitt, daughter of Russell Haggitt, was the winner of a chair awarded in a contest for the most popular girl, which was conducted at the town hall during the past week or two by a medicine-vaudeville company.

Second crop raspberries are not uncommon this season. About the best sample yet seen is from the garden of Walter Hailstone at Strathburn, several branches taken from the bushes being heavily loaded with choice ripe fruit.

The Junior Daughters of the Empire are having a Halloween masquerade at the Memorial Hall on the evening of Wednesday, October 22.
Laughton's orchestra will furnish the music. Prizes will be awarded for best lady's and gent's costumes.

Isaac McCracken is making a decided improvement in his property
cornering Main and Symes streets.
A new blacksmith shop with cement floor has been constructed off the street near the centre of the lot, and a gasoline and oil station will be placed on the corner.

The C.G.T. group of the Methodist church have elected officers for the coming year as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Whitehall; president, Verna Stevenson; vice-president, Nualla Stuart; recording secretary, Elva Sutton; treasurer, Margaret Smith; pianist, Dollie Tres-tman.

Wm. Hillman and James Gilbert have returned from the West with five cars of cattle, making the round trip inside of two weeks. They attended the Stocker and Feeder Show
at Winnipeg and express themselves
as not satisfied with the benefit that the Eastern farmer receives from the show.

The Presbyterian W. M. S. held their annual thank-offering meeting
in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Miss McVicar, missionary on furlough
from India, gave an interesting address to a large congregation. Collection for this occasion was very gratifying to the ladies.

J. D. Brown is closing up his cabinet-making business here and purposes spending the winter on the Gulf coast in Texas. He will leave about the first of November and spend some time visiting friends in Detroit, Chicago and Kansas City.
Mr. Brown is a good citizen, whom Glencoe will regret to lose.

The W.M.S. of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. P.
E. Lumley on October 10th. There was a good program. Mrs. Whitehall took the topic. Mrs. Hugh Mc-Cutcheon was appointed superintendent of the Junior mission band, owing to the resignation of Mrs. Mc-Reeves, who has been superintendent for the past three years.

The Misses Blackburn entertained
a few friends on Saturday in honor of their mother's 93rd birthday.
Among those present were Mrs. Mc-Blackburn's son, H. S. Blackburn, Esq., Supreme Court Master, of London, and Mrs. Blackburn. Mrs.
Blackburn, sr., is quite active and hearty for one of her years, and there is good ground for the hopes expressed that she may enjoy many more birthday gatherings.

It is expected that the paving of the Provincial Highway between Tilbury and Chatham will be completed
this fall, after which there will remain only a small section west of Tilbury to be improved to make a permanent road through to Windsor.

Completion of this will make the Longwoods Provincial Highway the best as well as the shortest all-weather route between London and the border cities. Even in its present state this road is much preferred to the Talbot road by tourists on account of mileage saved.

Rev. Wm. Williams, rector of St.
John's church, delighted the members of the Presbyterian Guild on Monday evening with an address on "Our use of speech." Taken from Psalm 141: 3: "Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips." Violin solos by Fred Mc-Gill were much enjoyed. R. D. Mc-Donald, convener of the devotional committee, occupied the chair. The president, Joe Grant, then took charge of the business part of the meeting. Two captains were appointed to choose members for a contest to be based on attendance and membership, which will start next week and end in December. On Monday, October 20th, the literary committee will have charge.

Annett over the week-end.

GLENCOE COUNCIL

A regular meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening.
Members present—Reeve Allan Mc-Pherson, Councillors Parrott, McAl-
pine, Munroe and Irwin.

A number of accounts were passed for payment, including one of $303.61
due the county of Middlesex for oil
and calcium chloride.

A by-law was passed authorizing the reeve and treasurer to borrow up to $5,000 for current expenditure.

The assessor's roll for 1925 was accepted and the date of the court of revision was set for November 3.

Four years' imprisonment in Portsmouth Penitentiary, with twelve lashes each, to be administered during the period, was the sentence imposed by Magistrate Maxwell at St.
Thomas on Robert McGaw, aged 20 years, and Henry Marlatt, aged 21 years, on conviction of robbing and doing personal violence to Catharine and Samuel Palmer, aged brother and sister, of Vienna, Elgin county,
on the night of September 13.

Ontario Government has decided to reduce by 1 per cent. the rate of interest which is being paid upon deposits in the Provincial Savings Offices, now amounting, according to Provincial Treasurer Price's computation, to $21,000,000. Instead of 4 per cent. interest, therefore, the Government will hereafter pay but 3 per cent., the same rate as the banks
pay on savings.

MODEL CENTRE

The Heartbreakers held the first
of their winter meetings at the home of Cameron McTaggart on Friday evening, October 10. Nearly forty members were present. A short program was enjoyed and it was decided that three members be chosen each meeting to take charge of the program and sport for the following
one. Games and dancing made up the remainder of a pleasant evening.
The next meeting will be held at Chester Thornicroft's on Friday evening, October 31, at a Halloween masquerade. Those in charge are Glady's Graham, Margaret Eddie and Jean Thornicroft.

Miss Margaret Eddie is spending the week at Woodstock.

A number from here attended the Melbourne Fair last Thursday.

Billie Graham, who has been on the sicklist, is able to be around again.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

SHIELDS

Mrs. Bert Stewart, Mrs. Edna Ferguson and Earl Ferguson, of Detroit,
have returned home after spending a few days at A. D. Ferguson's.

Mrs. Wm. Young and daughter Jean, of Wilkesport, spent a few days with the former's parents, Mr.
and Mrs. John McVicar.

Mrs. Russell Forman is visiting at her home near Dutton.

Miss Isabel McAlpine, of Sarnia, spent the week-end at her home here.

Rev. T. L. Fowler will conduct service in S. S. No. 12 on Friday evening.

Miss McAlpine and Miss McLachlan attended the West Middlesex teachers' convention in Strathroy on Thursday and Friday.

Miss Black, of Melbourne, spent the week-end with friends in this vicinity.

Gas on Stomach May Cause Appendicitis

Constant gas causes inflammation
which may involve the appendix.
Simple glycerine, buckthorn bark,
etc., as mixed in Adlerika, helps any case gas on the stomach in TEN minutes. Most medicines act only on lower bowel but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes all gas and poisons. Excel-

Soils and Crops

Address communications to Agronomist, 73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto

STORING ROOTS FOR WINTER.

The crops grown specially for home consumption during winter and spring will now be sufficiently matured to require immediate attention. The hardy roots, such as parsnips, turnips, rutabagas, turnips and carrots are best left in the ground as long as the weather continues mild. Beets are best harvested when only of medium size.

Root crops already harvested, such as potatoes and onions, require some care at this time. We go over the potatoes thoroughly when the crop is lifted. The very small and the bruised tubers are not stored, of course. The perfect tubers are taken under cover and stored in boxes holding from one to two bushels each. Potatoes must be kept in the dark.

The few bushels of potatoes necessary for the winter and early spring supply of the average family are best stored in a cool but frost-proof cellar, excluding all light. If perfectly dry when put away they will keep in good condition for several months. Stored in boxes placed upon the earthen floor of our cellar they never fail to retain their solidity and quality to the end.

Onions which were harvested a few weeks ago we treat differently, as the slight dampness of the cellar, which just suits other vegetables, quickly causes the onions to grow.

They are therefore stored in the spare room of the attic which is unheated, and they rarely give any trouble until well into spring, the atmosphere of their winter quarters then becoming sufficiently warm to encourage growth. Previous to finally putting them away they are well dried under cover but where they are exposed to the air. In the course of two or three weeks, they are sufficiently hardened and dry to pack in baskets or crates and taken to the storage room. Although frozen at times they do not appear to be harmed.

In lifting beets we are careful not to bruise or cut the skin of the roots, as this leads to bleeding and loss of quality.

To keep beets in perfect condition for as long a time they must be packed so that air is excluded; otherwise they will become soft and worthless as food. They are best stored in an outshed or cool cellar packed in dry soil or fine weathered ashes. A thin layer of sand or soil is first spread on the floor or in a box, next a layer of roots, then a covering of soil, and so on until all the roots are packed away.

Carrots are cared for in the same manner. Where parsnips can stay in the ground to be lifted as required the flesh remains tender, juicy and sweet. Frost does not harm them, but except in comparatively mild localities, the crop should be lifted previous to ground freezing, storing part of them in an outshed in the same manner as we handled the beets.

Parsley is in demand the year round and during the winter months it is often difficult to procure. We overcome that difficulty by lifting and potting a few plants which are placed in a sunny kitchen window where they grow and thrive famously.

We lift the plants with as much soil adhering to the roots as possible, this being facilitated by thoroughly soaking the ground beforehand. After lifting, potting and watering, the plants are left in a partially shaded spot in the open for a few days ere bringing them indoors.

Cabbages are usually wintered in a pit, though I find they keep nicely, packed in a barrel in the outshed. In pitting cabbage, a heavy layer of straw is spread on the ground and the cabbage, which for this method of storing are pulled with stem and roots adhering, are placed in rows.

Suppose the first layer consists of three rows of cabbage, the next layer will be in two rows, and the last layer one row, thus bringing the heap to a peak. Pack them compactly together, stem and roots upwards, and cover all with dry straw six to nine inches thick. A trench is then taken out around the pit using the soil as a cover to the straw.

When storing the cabbage in a barrel the head is removed from the stem. The barrel is heavily lined with paper and we finish by covering it with a few old sacks.

Cocoa to drink of course should be outside the pot of gold.

Pop plenty of corn—make fairly soft molasses candy and pour it over the corn boiling hot. Stir thoroughly to be sure all is coated. Cracker Jack is always popular so you'll need a lot.

After supper give each a few squares of orange paper and scissors. Offer prizes (pumpkin faces filled with Hallowe'en candy) for the funniest pumpkin face cut out—the pleasantest—the cruest—etc.

As romantic Hallowe'en fortunes are inappropriate for children, try these. Arrange a parade to "the witch's cauldron" which should be in a hidden nook. Express delight that her absence enables you to have your fortune, and each take a paper slip from the kettle. Disappointment will follow as they are apparently blank, but on your proposing to destroy them, holding one near a flame, the fortune (which you have previously written in lemon juice) will stand out dark. You can think of endless prophecies—you will be very wealthy—look in the dictionary for it. You will travel far—find your destination inside the cellar door, etc. The "answers," cut from magazines or ads and pasted on cards, may be appropriate or inappropriate as you wish. For instance—the card answering wealth might picture a puppy-dog; the travel be Fairyland—Africa—or the grocery store.

On Hallowe'en.

On Hallowe'en, when colors swim beneath October's moon, while grim Ascestes troop with cavaliers, In mummy that shifts and sheers, In city blaze and hamlets dim.

Falstaffs carouse with maidens slim, While Puritans walk stiff and prim, And gayety dispels our tears— On Hallowe'en.

Within, the feasting tideways brim: Maids peer and pray that mirrors—limb A lover's face, 'mid doubts and fears. The hours fly and distant cheers Faint far across the night's low rim— On Hallowe'en.

—Thomas J. Murray.

Methods of Cooking Lamb and Mutton.

A pamphlet on the selection and cooking of lamb cuts, issued by the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture, will tend to make lamb more popular and add variety to the bill of fare of the average household. The points to be considered in buying lamb are set forth, the various cuts are illustrated and recipes for cooking are given in detail. Readers who desire to secure a copy should drop a card to the Publications Branch, Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa, asking for Pamphlet No. 9, New Series.

Silage is not a substitute for grain, but it is a hundred per cent. substitute for pasture when pasture is scarce.

You Can Gather Eggs for Christmas.

If your hens laid during December and January, they lay away one-sixth of their year—two months when eggs are high in price, too. They do not need to loaf, and will not if managed skillfully.

A happy and healthy hen is productive. So if you can keep your hens comfortable and properly fed—that's what makes them happy—you can count on getting some eggs to sell. A hen may know nothing about Santa Claus, but she will respond to the Christmas spirit.

In December and January you and I have our furnaces and base-burners going to keep us comfortable. A hen doesn't ask for any artificial heat, but she does hate drafts and wind. About all you need to do to make old biddy comfortable is to furnish her a place to live where wind and drafts do not bother her, give her a dry floor with plenty of litter, and you have attended to her comfort.

Proper feed is very simple and very important. The elements the hen has trouble to get in winter are animal protein and mineral matter. Animal food from meat scrap, green cut buns, fish scrap, or milk must be supplied in addition to the grain ration.

The meat or fish scrap can be fed at the rate of from 10 to 12 per cent. by weight in the mash. Less need be fed if you have skim milk, sour milk, or buttermilk, which the hen may drink or eat in wet mash.

A good commercial mineral compound from your dealer, fed at the rate of two or three per cent. in your mash, will do very well. Most of the mineral rations for hogs will do for poultry.

Oyster shell, shell flour, ground bone, granulated bone, ground phosphate rock, sulphur, and table salt are common and important mineral elements and easy to get, if you do not use a commercial mixture. Oyster shell you will want to keep before the hens all the time, regardless of what else you feed. It is important to feed mineral the year around, but in December and

January the hen cannot range for them under snow and ice. Also, you can help her store up a supply of the elements in her body so she will be ready for the spring rush.

About one per cent. of sulphur flour in the mash is essential, and so is salt. Either bone or rock phosphate will do, and if you have one the other is unnecessary.

Lights aren't necessary, but they are certainly effective. Two or three hours of extra daylight, either morning or evening, will show up in the egg basket in a week or ten days very noticeably. If you have no electricity, a good gasoline or even a coal-oil lantern or two will do. Your flock will come through the winter better too for not having to sit on the roosts through these long, hungry nights.

Your hens ought to lay in December. The early pullets should be well along in their late fall molt. The late pullets, of which most farms have too many, should be well matured. The older hens have had time enough to be well reared up. So with plenty of mineral, proper animal feed, a comfortable home, and lights, if you can furnish them, your hens are not doing their duty if they do not lay December eggs. You'll find it worth trying to "egg them along."

Hallow Eve.

As I was walking homeward in The middle of the street I saw a figure stiff and tall Draped in a winding sheet.

Nine cats were sitting on a fence And all of them were black; A witch upon a broomstick rode Across the moon and back.

I found the house door swinging wide, The candles flickered blue, The clock at midnight wrung its hands, The mirror cracked in two.

A shadow that was not my own And a cold hand on my sleeve And went before me up the stair— For that was Hallow Eve.

—Mina Irving.

'Tis the well-fed, not the starved, live stock that brings the income.

Good Things for the Hallowe'en Party

Raisin chocolates are made with one cupful of seeded raisins, one cupful of dates (pitted), one teaspoonful of grated orange rind, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half pound of dipping chocolate, and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Put raisins and dates through food-chopper. Add orange rind, cinnamon and vanilla. Mix well and form into balls. Melt chocolate in double boiler. Dip the balls into chocolate one at a time, using a wire chocolate dipper or a hatpin. Place on waxed paper to cool and harden.

Banana and peanut salad is easily prepared. Peel bananas, slice lengthwise and roll in chopped peanuts. Arrange slices on lettuce leaves on individual plates and serve with boiled salad dressing, to which has been added finely ground peanuts.

Savory sandwich filling is made with one cupful of cheese put through a meat-chopper, three-quarters of a cupful of finely chopped nuts, one sweet pepper or pimiento, finely chopped. Moisten with mayonnaise or thick boiled dressing and put between lightly buttered slices of graham or white bread.

Hard-boiled eggs mixed with equal parts of chopped ham or tongue and finely chopped pickle and the whole moistened with mayonnaise or Russian dressing, will make delightful sandwiches. Equal parts of hard-boiled egg and celery cut in pieces will also be worthy of a trial. Hard-boiled eggs, if used alone, should be well seasoned and moistened with butter.

Hermits require one-third cupful of butter, two eggs, one cupful of brown sugar, two and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of baking-powder, one-quarter teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, one cupful of seedless raisins, and one-half cupful of walnuts, chopped. Cream butter well, add sugar, sift remaining dry ingredients together. Add well-beaten eggs to butter and sugar; mix well, add dry ingredients, raisins and nuts. Chill, then roll out and cut in any desired shape. Bake in a moderate oven.

"Smiles" are cookies especially adapted for picnics or Hallowe'en. Use any good cookie recipe and make them fairly large, and of two kinds—lemon or vanilla flavored ones, and ginger-snaps or chocolate flavored ones, so as to have light and dark ones. Use white icing on the dark cookies and chocolate icing on the light cookies. Make icing rather stiff, and with it make little faces on the flat round cakes, a circle with a dot for eyes, two dots for nose, and a line for mouth—on the order of Jack o' Lanterns. A little practice will give ludicrous and varied results.

Chocolate cookies—One cupful of brown sugar, one-half cupful of melted butter, one-half cupful of milk, one egg, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of soda, two squares of chocolate (melted), one cupful of chopped nuts. Mix ingredients in the order given, roll out and cut as desired.

Molasses pop-corn balls—Mix one cupful of molasses and one cupful of brown sugar with half a cupful of water. Boil until a little dropped in cold water forms a hard mass. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter and boil until a bit dropped in cold water becomes brittle. Add half a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda, mix, then pour over freshly popped corn and mix thoroughly. Dip the hands in very cold water, shape the pop-corn into balls, then roll the balls in fresh pop-corn.

Home Education

"The Child's First School is the Family"—Proebel.

A Man's Ideas on Discipline—By Russell Coryell.

A smart spanking with the flat of the hand doesn't hurt a child very much. I mean to say that it isn't very painful from a physical standpoint—and it is so simple to administer, and such a relief to a nervous parent to be able to expel his overwrought feelings on the naughty child.

But what a pity it is that often the spanking does the child no good! If only one could have the satisfaction of relieving his feelings and at the same time benefiting the child. But alas, it seldom helps the child from a moral standpoint, but instead usually does him harm. It is an object lesson in violence and vindictiveness. A child soon learns to beat his companions when he is angry.

But if we were to abandon this good old custom of whipping, what then could we do with naughty children? The answer is rather difficult. In the first place, what constitutes naughtiness? Is it doing something that is bad for the child? Or is it doing something contrary to custom? Or is it simply doing something that annoys or pains him?

Let's be honest for once and admit that we want to punish children almost always because they have annoyed us, pestered us, made us nervous.

Take the first case: Suppose the child is doing something dangerous and likely to harm him. If it really is dangerous it ought not to be very hard to demonstrate this fact to the child. In case the child cannot be shown the danger then the only thing to do is to remove the danger, remove the child, or keep a watchful eye on him. If you are honest with yourself you must admit his food with his hands instead of his fork or his spoon. Well, these things in themselves are not wicked or wrong. The first makes extra work for Mother and the second is shocking to finicky old maids, but there is nothing wicked about them, is there? Nothing wicked until Mother has commanded the child never to do it again and the child promptly does it. The child has then committed the sin of sins; he has been disobedient. I won't attempt to justify a child in being disobedient in such a case. I could never convince you. Let us rather assume that disobedience is to be avoided.

Suppose, then, that if a mother doesn't want her child to disobey she would be wise not to issue any arbitrary commands. Don't tell Johnny never again to go into the coal bin on pain of punishment. That's the easiest way out of it. You might explain that you hope he won't go in again, and then suggest something more interesting to do.

Now we come to the third case: Suppose the child is making a nuisance of himself, "driving Mother distracted." This is, indeed, a difficult case to handle for the reason that we must now make Mother be reasonable—and of course a grown-up is much more difficult to reason with than a child.

Mother has a right to her peace and comfort. But so has Johnny. Then they must both learn to compromise and be reasonable.

Let us suppose that Mother is working in the kitchen. If Johnny is very fond of her and has been taught never to stray far away, it is altogether probable that Johnny will gravitate to the kitchen also. He will begin to play cards there. More than that, he will want to play cards just where it is most inconvenient for Mother; right under her feet. Mother will probably tell him with more emphasis than reasonableness to get out from under her feet. She may give his ears an inconsiderate kick to one side. Johnny will patiently get them again and return to his post under her feet. Mother will then pick him up more or less violently and carry him into another room, scold him with raised voice and return to the kitchen. Johnny will shortly return under her feet again.

If the little chaps didn't have this courageous persistence, they would soon have all personality squeezed out of them.

However, Mother must get dinner. Suppose she puts Johnny in the other room and shuts the door. She has a right to protect herself, and then she can work. Johnny, however, will probably shriek. He has found that to be the most effective way of getting what he wants. Until he was able to talk, crying was his only means of expression.

At this point there enters into the equation Mother's frazzled nerves. She simply can't stand his yelling, so she opens the door again and slaps him.

"What else can I do?" she asks desperately. The fact that she knows nothing better to do is hardly a reason for doing something wrong.

Suppose, instead, that Mother stops work just long enough to explain to Johnny that her work must be accomplished, and that it cannot be accomplished with him under her feet, and that therefore he must choose between playing in a corner of the kitchen where he won't disturb Mother, or she will have to put him in the other room and shut the door.

Some children will recognize the logic of such a situation at once; most children will, if they have been raised from the very beginning with reason and logic. Johnny, however, has not been so raised, and ten to one will not be reasonable.

Mother will have to put him in the other room. She will have to be firm with herself. She will have to steel herself against his walls—angry, furious walls, pleading, heartbroken walls, and walls in all keys. She may have to repeat the experience more than once. It may cost her considerable effort and courage, but in the end Johnny will see the logic of it, and then Mother's life will be a hundredfold easier—and so will Johnny's.

Egg and Meat Values of Hens.

An item of much importance from a business point of view and one that should be considered carefully in deciding what proportion of pullets and yearlings to carry through the winter, is depreciation in value.

Hens have a meat value which, under a given price situation, will vary chiefly with their weight and condition. These same hens also have value as potential egg producers.

If they have every indication of being high-record hens this value will be considerably above the meat value. As hens grow older this egg-laying value decreases and approaches the meat value. The value of some hens as egg producers may be even less than their meat value. Such hens can be kept in the flock only at a loss.

The decrease in egg-laying value is what is ordinarily meant by the term depreciation, although sometimes it is taken to include losses by death.

If pullets are worth two dollars each as egg producers and can be sold at the end of their first year for but $1.50 each, the depreciation has been fifty cents a head, or 25 per cent.

If at the end of the second year of laying they are worth only one dollar, the depreciation will have amounted to another 33.3 per cent. of the value at the beginning of the year.

On this basis a pullet would have to lay only enough more eggs than a yearling to pay the interest charge on a fifty-cent higher investment, in order to be a better buy than a yearling at the figures given. Most any pullet would be likely to do this.

On the other hand, if pullets cost three dollars each and yearlings one dollar and fifty cents, with the meat value still at one dollar, the eggs laid by the pullet would have to be worth at least a dollar more than those laid by a yearling in order to make pullets as good an investment as yearlings.

This is because pullets would be depreciating one dollar and fifty cents each as compared with fifty cents each for the yearling hens.

It is always wise to do a little calculating of this sort before deciding just how many pullets and hens to buy or sell.

Color of Egg Yolk Affected by Feed.

That the color of the yolk in eggs varies considerably with the kind of feeds that may be given to the hen has been known in a general way for some time. Recent experiments have demonstrated that feeds lacking in color, as white corn, produce when fed to laying hens yolks that lack color.

Feeds that possess color, such as yellow corn, wheat, green grass and yellow carrots have been found to produce an egg with considerably more color in the yolk than the feeds that lack color. An egg with a yolk of good color is more inviting to the consumer of fresh eggs than one lacking color.

Anything that will help the sale of this farm product should receive consideration on the part of the producer. The concrete floor is rat-proof, sanitary and permanent. If properly constructed, it is also dry and warm.

HAVE A COMMUNITY PARTY

Let this be a getting together of all the boys and girls in your neighborhood on October 31st. See that every one is invited. What if you don't know the boy and girl that have just moved in on the Jones farm; this is your chance to get acquainted. Be sociable; be awake; get together. Don't wait for some one else to start the ball rolling. Get busy and there will be some one willing to help in the good work.

Invitations can be written on rough yellow paper with a crude drawing of a pumpkin head in one corner. Let these invitations be different and they will attract attention. The wording can be something like this: "Hear ye! Hear ye! You are invited to a Ghost Party at the home of Johnny Smith, at eight o'clock on Hallowe'en. Wear proper ghost clothes which means a sheet and come masked. Bring some 'cats' and a lantern of some kind. If night is clear, we will have a 'big walk around'."

This "walk around" is a feature at many Hallowe'en parties. Each one is dressed as a ghost and carries a lantern. Then, in single file, they all follow a leader who takes them over a winding route, through lanes, over fences and along roads. It makes a very beautiful sight if there is a good long line, especially when the lanterns are fancy ones and fastened to the tops of long poles.

Have the place where the party is to be held decorated with pumpkin-head lanterns and corn stalks. Corn can be popped, stored, and all sorts of games can be played. Refreshments can consist of sandwiches, crackers, doughnuts, cake, candy, nuts, coleslaw and sweet cider.

THREE GOOD GAMES FOR HALLOWE'EN.

Ghost Story—Have a big circle including every one, lights low or extinguished, and a story-teller in the centre. Story must end by having the story-teller, and one or two others informed in advance, giving a terrific scream just as the climax is reached. The effect is electrical.

Clothesline Race—A number of dolls' clothes are collected beforehand and divided up into piles having equal numbers of clothes. A line is stretched the length of the room, the piles all the same distance away along the line. At a given signal each person in guard of a pile must hang them up, going back for each piece separately. The object is to see who can finish hanging up a pile first.

Laugh a Little—This game is a splendid one to produce a laugh when things begin to drag. The leader has a knotted handkerchief which he throws into the air and everybody must laugh heartily. When it hits the floor everybody must stop laughing instantly and look very sober. The leader now chooses some one who must whistle the tune selected, such as "Pack Up Your Troubles, Home Sweet Home, or Yes We Have No Bananas. If the whistler dares to smile a forfeit is required. The game continues until a number of forfeits are secured.

Keeping Farm Accounts.

A useful book of forms has been issued by the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture to enable the farmer who is unfamiliar with bookkeeping to keep track of his accounts in operating the farm and to make a balance sheet, showing profit or loss at the end of twelve months. The instructions contained in the book explain how the very simple entries are to be made. A charge of ten cents is made to cover cost of printing.

Dig Potatoes When Tops Die.

After digging, let potatoes cure for a few hours in the sun. This toughens the skin and prevents peeling. Bins for storing potatoes should have false slat floors, four or five inches above the cellar floor, and slat backs four inches or so from the cellar wall. When a trench or pit is used for storage, put flues through the top for ventilation. Keep storage places cool, dark and frost proof.

"I believe," said the Englishman at the radio, "I've got America. I hear a persistent chewing sound."

European farmers are gradually getting back to normal. This is indicated by the increase in number of cattle, sheep and swine in European countries, especially in Germany.

It is good policy to inaugurate a fall clean-up campaign about the farm home premises. This should be done before the ground freezes for winter. An orderly looking place gives the owner a feeling of pride.

Entomologists are recommending to farmers who grow corn in areas affected by the European corn borer that, in harvesting, they cut the stubbles low. By doing this, comparatively few of the borers are left in the field, the bulk of them being either placed in the silo or destroyed in feeding.

Excessive moisture in corn not only adds to the cost of getting it to market, but lowers the grade, and causes enormous loss to the railroad companies and the handlers of corn as a result of deterioration that takes place in the corn in transit and in storage. Much of this moisture in corn is due to the producing of large, late-maturing varieties.

BUILDING THE WORLD'S LARGEST PILE DRIVER

This is "Tarzan," the 1000 ton scow recently built and launched in Vancouver. Constructed by the Wallace Shipyard, Vancouver, "Tarzan" will carry the largest floating pile driver in the world to be used by the Sydney E. Junkins Company, B.C. Limited, for the handling of the huge 30 ton concrete piles which will go into the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new deep sea pier now in course of erection at Vancouver.

NEWBURY

Miss Minnie McLean was in London last week attending the wedding of her niece, Bessie Dobbyn, and W. Pearson.

Ed. J. Grant and family, of Belmont, spent the week-end with his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald (nee Annie E. Connelly), of Detroit, have been visiting her father, Elmer Connelly.

Rev. Mr. Woodland, of Rodney, preached a very fine sermon on "Our Father" at the preparatory service held in Knox church on Friday evening. Baby Mary Alena, daughter of Wm. Teifer, was baptised at this service.

Miss Jessie Fletcher left on Monday for Port Huron, where she will train as a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hansen, of Detroit, have been spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. King.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Milner, of Waukegan, spent the week-end at A. Holman's.

Wm. A. Connelly and daughter, Ann J., spent Saturday in St. Thomas.

Miss Mabel Chasely, of Wallaceburg, spent the week-end at R. H. Moore's.

Harvest home services were held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. in Christ church on Sunday and were well attended.

Rev. R. J. Murphy, B.A., rector, preached excellent sermons on the subject of thanksgiving and the choir gave special music. The church was beautifully and tastefully decorated with grain, fruits and flowers. Sunday next, October 19, is children's day and the children will bring offerings of fruit, which will be sent to the Deaconess' Home in Toronto for the poor children of the city.

Mrs. W. O. Kraft was in London on Monday attending the funeral of her late uncle, John Sheppard. Deceased was well known in this vicinity and much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Miss Mamie Bayne, of Exeter, was home Saturday.

There was no school Thursday or Friday as Misses McEachren and Ridley were in Strathroy attending the teachers' convention.

Mrs. Pringle, of St. Mary's, is visiting Mrs. David Brown.

Through the kindness of A. Holman, those interested in the world series baseball enjoyed the games over his radio. Excitement ran high at times and all sympathy seemed in favor of Washington, so the final result was most pleasing. A telegram was sent to Cleveland telling how fine the news was coming over the radio. Friday evening Mr. Holman received the following post card from James Hanna, a former manager of the bank here: "Manitowaning, Manitoulin Island, October 8.—Have been listening in to world series results broadcasted from Union Trust Co., Cleveland. Notice you have been doing the same. Heard your telegram read out Tuesday afternoon. Remember me to Bob Moore, Hughie McNaughton and others.—J. Hanna, manager."

R. Adair Bayne returned on Monday to Toronto University to resume his studies.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson and daughter Gertrude and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jackson and son Harold, of St. Thomas, spent Sunday at Matthew Armstrong's.

James H. Bayne, with his wife and daughter, Frances, motored from Detroit for the week-end. The two latter motored on to Brantford for a visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mann and two sons, of Detroit, called on friends in town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Scarborough and little son Bert, of Ilderton, spent a day recently at Matthew Armstrong's.

Misses Winnifred and Frances Archer, of Detroit, spent the week-end at their home here.

School Report

The following is the standing of the pupils of the Newbury public school. Those marked with an asterisk were absent for one or more examinations:

Senior Room

Sr. IV.—Jessie Bailey 77, *Verna Blain 55.

Jr. IV.—Earle Hurdle 67, Willie Campbell 60, Kathleen McKee 58, Glen Edwards 58, Lester Armstrong 50, Florence Stalker 46, *Howard Purley 40.

Sr. III.—Wilfred Wastel 50, Lorna Miller 74, Ona Jeffrey 72, George Hurdle 62, Lloyd McKee 53, *Eldon Darley absent.

Jr. III.—Margaret Armstrong 70, Margaret Miller 70, Lillian Kelley 67, *Leah Smith 59, Isobel Winters 58, Stanley Campbell 54, *Ruth Robinson 42.

Sr. II.—Bertha Wastel 83, Rita McNaughton 74, Garfield McNaughton 73, Harold McNaughton 62, *Rouina Haskell 60, Wesley Fennell 40, Glen Stocking absent.

Junior Room

Jr. II.—Pearl Haskell 92, Leo DeGraw 89, Allan Edwards 87, Gordon Wastley 87, Jane Bayley 83, George Smith 80, Jack Woods 74.

Sr. I.—Glenn McCready 93, Dorothy Welch 84, Rens Kelly 75, Clayton Randall 70, Leonard Armstrong 69, Verdun Edwards 64.

Jr. I.—Frank Bayley 91, Percy Miller 89, Edway Bayley 88, *Minnie Armstrong 83, Eyrle Woods 77.

Sr. Primer.—Karl Kraft 82, Isaac Haskell 78, Glen Campbell 68, Garth Dobbyn 66.

PRATT'S SIDING

The annual meeting of the Book Club was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. Teycraft with a good attendance. Mrs. John Teycraft, the president, was in the chair, and after the opening of the meeting the secretary, Mrs. L. Gardner, gave a splendid report of last year's work. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Richard Teycraft; vice-president, Mrs. C. Teifer; secretary, Mrs. Dunc. McCallum; treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Gould; librarians, Mrs. Joe Walker, Mrs. W. Farris, Miss Jennie Teycraft. A paper on "Making Friends" was given by Miss Annie Walker. At the conclusion of the meeting dainty refreshments were served. A social evening will be held at the home of Mrs. Joe Walker on November 12th.

Miss Susie Gardiner, of London Normal, spent the week-end at her home here.

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the outdoor laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it is excellent. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicines and be amongst those taken on a journey.
