ceived here to the effect that the King of Denmark has refused to sanction the new constitution of Iceland. This action of the King, it is expected, will lead to further large immigration of Icelanders to Canada. Joe Talks.

LONDON, Jan. 31,-Joseph Chamberlain, leader of the Liberal-Unionists, in a speech at Birmingham this evening, declared his entire antagonism to the new Radicalism, which he said had abandoned the old Radical principles and become a policy of disintegration at home and disruption abroad.

He should be proud in the future, he said, to call himself a Unionist, a title which was far wider and nobler than that of either Conservative or Liberal, as it included both. He contended that there was a growing need of a great national patriotic party which would not barter its conscience for votes or betray the country's interests in order to maintain itself in office.

Helping Themselves.

MADRID, Jan. 31 .- Over 300 Socialist peasants at Alanais, Seville, have invaded the State lands and divided them into lots for tilling. The gendarmes are unable to drive them off and are waiting reinforce-Welcoming Victoria's Son.

COBOURG, Germany, Jan. 31 .- This city presents a holiday appearance to-day, the occasion being the state entry into the city of the Duke of Saxe-Cobourg and Gotta (the Duke of Edinburgh), who recently, upon the death of his uncle, became a ruling German prince. Business is generally suspended and many of the houses are decorated with flags.

Less Light and More Charity. London, Jan. 31.—The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says: "Emperor William recently remarked that the money spent on illuminations might better be applied to charity. "The hint became known too late to have an effect on his Majesty's birthday, although the absence of illuminations from the town hall was due to his suggestion. The money to have been used in illumination was given to the poor." Eight Hours Works Well.

London, Jan. 31 .- The great democratic advance which John Burns and a few supporters in the House have induced the Government to make, by the introduction of an eight hours day into the national arsenal, had not been taken without an experimental preliminary test. Experiments were made at Woolwich and Enfield, with the view of ascertaining the effect of an eight hours day both upon the quantity and the quality of the work. The results were so satisfactory that the Government resolved at once to concede the point, and the eight hours day will therefore be introduced not only in the places named, but also at Waltham and Birmingham. About 1,500 men will be affected in these four Government factories; and as it is impossible to give this boon to the military establishments and to refuse it to the nava!, the next step will be to extend the same rule to the dockyards. The day will be shortened by allowing the men to break. fast before beginning the day's work. As J. A. Begin, notary, and the third floor by the Government has now placed itself at the the Foresters' hall. The fire was dishead of the eight-hour movement in the most practical of all ways, the moral effect of its example will soon he felt in every private establishment throughout the kingdom. Municipalities will be dragged into the movement also, opinion will be stimulated throughout the country, and legisla. stores. Loss about $80,000. tion will be speedily brought within the domain of practical politics. A Disappointed Crowd. President Carnot will to-day consider the papers in the case of Vaillant and the application made by friends of the condemned man for a commutation of his sentence. He will confer with M. Laboir, Vaillant's counsel, before he gives a decision in the case.

What Are They Good For?

London, Jan. 31.—In a letter on the subject of the obstruction of reform in the House of Lords, Sir Wilfrid Lawson says it is one of the most amazing things to be found in history that the people of this country should have been apparently contented from generation to generation to be ruled by "a trade union of landlords, associated with a few bishops, bankers and brewers." At present Mr. Gladstone proposes, but Lord Salisbury disposes, with the aid of the "most absolutely unconstitutional body at present in existence." "The House of Lords," says Sir Wilfrid, "has no mandate from heaven above, the earth beneath, or any place under the earth." He asks why the Gladstonean Parliament cannot do what the long Parliament did and vote for the abolition of the House of Lords. But he points out that there are other methods of attaining the same result. The House of Commons has in its hands the power of the purse. He fears, however, that the people will allow this "Penelone Web" business to go on for some time, one house undoing ling. what is done in the other. "This," he says. "is rather a sickening prospect, and one which, if realized, will tend to bring our present parliamentary system into increasing disrepute."

Between Yankee and Rebel Vessels at Rio Janeiro.

An Affair That May Lead to Serious Complications.

Uncle Sam Has Now an Elephant On His Hands.

LONDON, Jan. 30 .- Startling news has been received from Rio de Janeiro. Admiral Da Gama, it appears, has been smarting with humiliation and anger ever since the American admiral called him on board and practically ordered him to surrender to Peixoto. The unpleasantness of Saturday, when Da Gama refused to order his ships to cease firing in dangerous proximity to American merchantmen was the result of this feeling.

The elaborate demonstration made by the American squadron yesterday when the ship Amy was escorted to the piers in the teeth of Da Gama's guns added fuel to the admiral's resentment, and the knowing ones here were prepared for something start-

A dispatch to Baring Bros. says that at 10 o'clock this morning the insurgents repeated their offensive tactics of Saturday, and in the complications which followed Da Gama with incredible audacity opened fire on one of the American warships.

This was the signal for a burst of firing from the American cannon and in less time almost than it takes to tell the Brazilian warships were reduced to submission.

Da Gama surrendered to Admiral Benham directly afterwards. The adherents of Peixoto in Rio are delirious with joy at Da Gama's defeat, and by many the rebellion is regarded as at an

Admiral De Gama is reported as saying: "I must yield to this foreign fleet of superior force. I will resign and give my Louisiana Lottery Company for $25,000 sword to the American admiral."

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON. WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.-The important news contained in Admiral Benham's dis patch to Secretary Herbert is to the following effect: It seems that Admiral Benham lost patience with the insurgent forces for their careless firing in the harbor of Ris. The German naval officers applaud Benham. The English officers naturally are in opposition, while not denying that Benham's position is lawful. London, Jan. 31.—The Standard says the only question now is how far the Wash ington Government will approve and support Rear Admiral Benham's action. If the United States no longer abstain from interference between the two factions, it says Great Britain and other interested countries will doubtless follow suit.

OWN PART OF LAKE ERIE.

Resurrection of an Old Deed from President Adams.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31. - The Western Reserve Historical Society is in possession of a certified copy of the original deed of the entire western reserve made in the year 1800.

The document was given the society a day or two ago by Julius Lamback, an expert accountant, in whose possession it has secretly been for several years. The deed is from President John Adams to the State of Connecticut for the benefit of the Connecticut Land Company, Its northern land boundary is the center of Lake Erie. The land company later sold shore lots only to the water's edge. Mr. Lamback claims that the land under the lake is, therefore, still the property of the heirs of the Connecticut Land Company-or, at all events, not the property of the commissioners of shore lot. If this is, so, the Lake Shore and Cleveland and Pittsburg roads do not own the land they have made in the lake, nor will the city own the land it intends to make at Eric street. Many have in the past denied the existence of this deed.

TAXING TELEGRAPH POLES.

Petersburg, Va., Levies on the Postal Telegraph Company.

PETERSBURG, Va., Jan. 31. - The city council recently adopted an ordinance imposing a tax of $15 upon each of the poles of the telegraph companies during business in Petersburg. The Western Union Telegraph Company has few of its poles on the streets of the city, most of them being on private property. The Postal Telegraph-Cable Company has about 150 poles on the streets subject to taxation and has not paid the tax. A few days ago the company was fined $10 and costs by the mayor for failing to pay the tax on a pole on the corner of two of the principal streets of this city. To-day Mayor Coilier issued an execution against the company which was placed in the hands os High Constable Harvell to be served. He levied on the property of the company to satisfied the judgment.

HER LIFE FOR HER MOTHER'S.

Mollie Bangs Herselt so That Mrs. Roath Could Get the Insurance. Louisville, Jan. 31 .- It transpired yesterday that Mollie Roash, the milliner who hanged herself in this city Saturday night, committed suicide to save her old mother from starving. The two were entirely alone in the world and they were supported by the girl's labor. Mollie often spoke of her fear that her mother would suffer should the daughter die first, and last year took out a $2,000 policy in the Knights and Ladies of Honor. Her wages were small at the best, and when she was thrown out of employment by the hard times last December they were soon in debt. She was discouraged. Saturday afternoon she was missed, and early on Sunday morning was found dead in an empty room. The premiums on the policy were kept paid up, and Mrs. Roath will have enough to live on the remainder of her life. Mollie was 30 years old, and bore an excellent reputation. She had confided to a friend that if she could not get work she would kill herself so that her mother could get the insurance money.

FELL DEAD WHEN HE HEARD IT.

His Daughter in Law Told Him His Son Had Diffirmmatory Rheumatism. Passaic, N. Y., Jan. 31. - Henry Coleman. of 336 Gregory avenue, went to call upon his son, Charles E. Coleman, at No. 24 Lincoln street, last night in response to a message that the young man was indisposed. As he entered the house he met his daughter-in-law. "What is the matter with Charley?" he inquired anxiously.

"Don't be frightened, father," she answered. "He has a bad attack of inflammatory rheumatism-worse than he had before.

Without speaking, Mr. Coleman threw up his hands and fell dead. His physician has been treating him for heart trouble for some time. He says the cause of death was heart disease, undoubtedly aggravated by sudden excitement.

A REVEREND RUGUE.

Engineered Gigantic Pension Swindles

-27 Charges. CHATTANOOGA, Jan. 31.—Rev. C. W. Lewis, colored, with many aliases has been arrested by Special Pension Examiner Fitzpatrick, and the most gigantic frauds ever known in the south have been unearthed, which will lead to the arrest of probably 100 negroes implicated with Lewis in swindling the Government. Lewis himself drew a large pension and on evidence of his own manufacture secured pensions for others. He appeared as a witness in numbers of cases and forged the names of notaries. Water Wasted.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER: In yesterday's issue you state the hy-draulic pumps were working full capacity and even then the water fell a foot in the reservoir during the cold snap. That extra water was not consumed, but wasted. I refer you to clauses 10, 24 and 25 of the commissioners' rate book, showing the penalty. What, then, is the use of an inspector for an impossible work under the present system? You will find the true cure (the meter) shown in the last issue of Fire and Water, page 33, and indorsed by the high authority of Peter Milne, the editor, on page 35 of same issue. Yours truly, John. London, Jan. 30, 1894. JOHN M. PARSONS.

[Note.-The sity referred to is Pawtucket. The chief engineer of the waterworks there claims that by preventing the water running to waste they pump only 5,000,000 gallons a day; if they did not have the meter system they would need 12,000,000 gallons a day. - EDITOR ADVER-

Soup and Coffee vs. Beer. CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The managers of a North Side coffee house have hit on a very unique plan for fighting the alcoholic evil among the factory employes of the neighborhood. It is thought the hot drinks will take the place of the usual noonday pail of beer.

The Caw's Pen. The well-known goods of the Caw Pen and Ink Company, of 104 Broadway, New York, have become so popular from their large use by all who have any writing to do in every department of business and in all walks of life, as well as from the numberless unstinted indorsements of men prominent in the leading professions, that any detailed description would be superfluous. Fountain Pens, for many years used almost exclusively by reporters and traveling men, have within a comparatively short period become almost indispensable to the business men and to those whose avocations are of a literary character in any way. This is be-cause these pens have of late been made so simple, clean and thoroughly effective that one can now, with the least care, depend upon always having and conveniently carry-ing upon the person a pen in good working condition, without danger of soiling the clothes or fingers therewith, the ink carried in the holder, and readily replen-ished, being sufficient to do a large amount of work. In consequence, al-so, of this largely increased use, and of the improvements introduced in the manufacture, the prices of this class of pens have been very greatly reduced. In Caw's "Dashaway" Fountain Pen, a regular firstquality gold pen of any standard shape or size may be used. In this respect it differs from all other fountain pens. Another dif-ference is in its "double feed," one on each catch a couple of opal smugglers, who he side of the gold pen, which insures a more had occasion to believe, would attempt to uniform and reliable delivery of ink than bring their precious stones into the United can be obtained from a single feed. President Cleveland uses one of these pens, and stationed his men at all points, not overhas furnished the company with a handsome testimonial. In Caw's Stylographic Pens the inventor seems to have obtained the acme of perfection and simplicity. The Stylographic Pen carries ink in the holder the same as the Fountain Pen, and by many it is preferred to the ordinary split pen. With both of these pens any good writing or copying ink may be used, but the ink manufactured by the Caw Pen and Ink Company has as high reputation as the pens, and has had a very large sale in the stationery trade for many years. It is a good black when first used, and in its manufacture an especial point is made to produce an ink that will not fade or mold, produce an ink that will not fade or mold, and will not gum or corrode the pen. Why should there be any dilly-dallying over the matter-any looking to Washington at this stage? If our rulers had called Parliament together early in January, and had begun to reduce our tariff, for the benefit of Canadians, they would have vastly strengthened the hands of the tariff reformers in the United States Congress. Canadians need and demand tax reduction at Ottawa, no matter what United States Congressmen do, and there should be no humiliation about the task.

-A resolution in favor of birching bad boys instead of sending them to prison has been sent to the British Home Secretary, signed by a number of magistrates. The proposition is to birch boys under sixteen for all offenses at the discretion of the magistrate. The judicious use of the birch, it is believed, would not only have a more salutary effect, but would save the boys from acquiring the prison taint, losing their dread of the prison, and sinking deeper into crime. So long as youths are liable to be confined in prison with hardened criminals, it does seem better to see that when they first offend against the law, they are soundly whipped. REPUDIATION REPUDIATED. e more Sir John Thompson's remarkthle public utterance at Antigonish, N.S., is explained, denied and reaffirmed, as the ircumstances, call for the more evident oes it become that the Conservative leader his foot in it. He is in the habit of ying the accuracy of his reported public utterances, but he waits for so long a period pre he summonses courage to do so that his denials are subject to suspicion. It took him several weeks to deny what he was reported by the newspapers to have said to the Halifax Board of Trade with regard to the fast Atlantic mail service. His latest denial is even more belated. It is a repudiation of the Halifax Herald's account of his speech at Antigonish as long ago as Dec. 7! The obnoxious passage, which caused so much discussion and far from favorable comment in Ontario and the West appeared in the Halifax Conservative journal named as follows:

"Extracting all the plunder he could from Mercier, Tarte became Laurier's standard-bearer in Richelieu, and was victorious by the aid of McGreevy and Connolly. Tarte proclaimed himself as the great patriot that was going to rectify the wrongs of his fellow-countrymen in the Northwest, and now comes Joseph Martin. the originator of all the trouble, the man who has set race against race and creed against creed. He is cordially congratuated on his election by Mr. Tarte's chief. | scientific inquiry to these important ques. | make somewhat surious reading.

sides of the clothes. I don't wear yellow on one side and black on the other. Mr. Laurier is perfectly welcome to his black Tarte and Yellow Martin." (Laughter and applause.)

Last week Sir John Thompson handed out to the Conservative correspondents at Ottawa a denial of the first portion of this remarkable deliverance, leaving it to be inferred that the virulent personal attack that followed was correct. He said: "I spoke at Antigonish of the Richelieu election as having eventually turned to the discredit of the Opposition, because the public were aware that we had lost it mainly because of the prosecution of Messrs. Connolly and McGreevy. I then went on to refer to Tarte in another connection altogether and to his prominence in the ranks of the Opposition. I was quite aware that Tarte was not concerned in the Richelieu election."

The only press representative at Antigonish, he further explained, was a gentleman that did not write shorthand and who had afterwards confessed that he had written his report from memory. Sir John is reported to have concluded in these words: "The readers of the World will therefore see that Mr. Laurier has the falsehood to himself so far as I am concerned." This is a reference to Hon. Wilfrid Laurier's effective frejoinder and denial of the statements reported as having been made by the Conservative leader.

It turns out, however, that the seven week's delayed denial of Sir John Thompson is as ill-founded as were his original allegations, for making which he was taken to task by Mr. Laurier, and rightly so. The Halifax Chronicle now tells us that Sir John Thompson's repudiated Antigonish declarations were listened to and reported by its reporter, as well as by the reporter of the Herald, and that these two reporters, "without any collusion or comparing of notes, gave practically the same version of Sir John's reference to Tarte and Martin," and it fairly concludes that this "may be regarded as substantial evidence that the report which Sir John Thompson now seeks to repudiate, after allowing it to go uncorrected for seven weeks, was a fair and correct report of what he said."

Our contemporary is inclined to believe that the repudiation of the speech at this late date, after the "yellow Martin" episode has raised a hornet's nest about the head of the Government in this Province and in Manitoba, is born of political exigencies. It does betoken a lamentable lack of tact on the part of the Conservative leader to have been compelled to take backwater in this awkward fashion. The late Conservative leader never allowed himself to get into so tight a box, and when he did land in trouble he never acted clumsily in getting out of it. He knew better than to persist. ently blame the reporters for his short-

ALCOHOLICS AND MEDICAL PRACTICE.

The Free Press of yesterday made somewhat spiteful attack on Dr. H. Arnott, one of the best known and most successful physicians of Western Ontario, because he has seen fit to denounce in fitting terms the anonymous attacks made through the columns of our contemporary against the work and motives of the W. C. T. U. workers. Our contemporary within a short time has published two or three letters of a stamp such as we believe no self-respecting man in this city would be willing to sign his name to.

The doctor is branded as "querulous," "officious," "fond of a little flattery," and his vindication is characterized as a "maundering trick of rhetoric," "stale in controversy," etc. He is very capable of taking care of himself, and will no doubt do so, but there are other questions raised of considerable public importance in regard to the habitual prescription and use of alcoholics for medicinal purposes. Dr. Arnott, it is well known, has discarded in his practice the old-time custom of prescribing alcoholics to his patients. The Free Press intimates that were he "better skilled by education and experience" he would act differently. It wants him to explain "on what pathological grounds he would deny a glass of porter to a feeble mother for her to save the life of her offspsing," and intimates that the medical journals of the country would not agree with his views. Our contemporary seems to be about as much behind the times in its medical theories as on economic questions. Its ideas in regard to each are those of a former generation and not at all up to the stand ard of to-day's progress. As a matter of fact the leading and best known physicians and scientific men of to-day, both in England and America, are in accord with Dr. Arnott's views, and not with the old time custom of imparting "strength and vitality" by aid of alcoholics of any kind. Ordinary intelligent readers of to-day well know that the results of the past few years of scientific investigations have brought the conviction very generally that alcohol in any of its forms, either in porter, beer, wine, whisky or brandy, had better be left alone, whether for food or physic, and that their use, even in moderation, is more trequently attended with serious harm than benefit.

Perhaps the best living authority on the effects of alcohol and other similar stimulants on the human system is Sir Benjamin Ward Richardson, M.D., F.R.S., of Engtain, Mr. Laurier. (Laughter.) 'Stealing tions, and as a result he has come to the their clothes, indeed,' exclaimed the Premier. 'I like to see the color on both sides of the clothes. I deeped to the clothes are the cloth alcoholic liquors alone in their practice. 1 they want to use alcohol at all let them de so as a drug, in its almost pure state, a other drugs are used, and not in such of its compounds as are found in either fermented or distilled liquors, Here is his clear-cut

"Alcohol has no place in a healthy system, but is an irritant poison producing diseased condition of the body."

Again he says: "To escape the evils arising from the use of alcohol there is only one perfect course namely, to abstain altogether. No fear need be entertained of any physical or mental harm from such abstinence. man or woman who abstains is healthy and safe; a man or woman who indulges at all is unsafe; a man or woman who relies on alcohol is lost."

Dr. Arnott, then, and the growing num bers of his class, are in good company in denying, "on pathological grounds," porter, or wine, or brandy to "a feeble mother." knowing very well that they contain noth. ing to impart strength or food to herself or her offspring.

The late Sir William Gull, M.D., was one it is wonderful. of the leading physicians in England up to It is preserving, purifying and beautifying to the time of his death, two or three years the skin and complexion. ago. In some respects he was considered the most eminent medical authority living. His practice was largely among the nobility and the wealthiest and most intel_ ligent classes. His experience taught him to warn all such against even the moderate Women full of pains, aches use of alcoholics, not merely because it might lead to inebriety, but because such use was of itself a serious injury. Here

"A very large number of people in society are dying day by day, poisoned by alcoholic drinks without knowing it, without being supposed to be poisoned by them. I hardly know any more powerful source of disease than alcoholic drinks. I do not think it is known, but I know alcohol to be a most destructive poison. I may say from my experience it is the most destructive agent that we are aware of in this country.

He further said:

"It is one of the commonest things in our society for people to be injured by drink without being drunkards. The injury goes on so quietly that it is very difficult to observe its access or its prog-

Sir Henry Thompson, M.D., F.R.S. another of the foremost of the English physicians of to-day, gives little encouragement to those people who go on using fermented liquor-ale, beer, porter or wine, "to build them up." Here is his

"I have no hesitation in attributing a very large proportion of some of the most painful and dangerous maladies which come under my notice, as well as those which every medical man has to treat, to the ordinary and daily use of fermented drinks, taken in the quantity which is conventionally deemed moderate.'

The late Sir Andrew Clark, physician in ordinary to the Queen, the physician and friend of Gladstone up to the day of his death, the consulting physician to Sir John Macdonald and Sir John Abbott, was also defective "on pathological grounds," according to the high scientific standard of our esteemed contemporary. He, too, avoided alcoholic treatment, both in health and disease. His testimony, not long be fore his death, was that of the thousands in the great London General Hospital, fully 80 per cent. of those diseased owed their disease to the use of alcoholics and more than half of all these were using it in moderation. Here is his clear testi-

"Good health will, in my opinion, always be injured by even small doses of alcohol. Alcohol, even in small doses, will take the bloom off and injure the perfection and loveliness of health, both mental and

He further said:

"Alcohol is poison. So is strychnine, so s arsenic, so is opium. It ranks with these agents. Health is always in some way or other injured by it; benefited by it -never."

Then, Dr. Norman Kerr, now a leading authority among medical and scientific men, and not "a tee-total fanatic," gives similar decided evidence. He says:

"All intoxicating drinks are poisonous. The lighter beers and the finest fermented wines are as truly, though not as strongly, intoxicating as are the coarsest and cheapest spirituous drinks."

Dr. Bucke, the well known and respected medical superintendent of the asylum in this city, is also a man of large experience and observation, and has given a good deal of special study to this important question. In an elaborate lecture before the professors and students of McGill University, Montreal, he said:

"In the matter of diet, and more especially in that of drink, the inhabitants of civilized countries, guided by medical science, have of late years, made vast strides towards a more rational and healthy life; thus it is now demonstrated that alcohol is always injurious wher taken as an habitual article of consumption."

We might largely multiply evidences from equally high authority from both sides of the Atlantic of the fact that modern scientific investigation goes to show that in health and in sickness total abstinence is best; that the most skillful and advanced men are now almost entirely abandoning its use under any circumstances; that alcoholics are not even the stimulants they were once considered to be, and that outside of any dangers of leading to intemperance the man of skill and judgment can commend far safer and better remedies to his natients. The probabilities are that in another dozen years as few doctors will be found resorting to alcoholics in their treatment as are now found resorting to the oldtime popular custom of bleeding. Even today the antiquated notions of a would-be land. He has devoted years of careful critic of a skillful and reliable physician

The third quarterly meeting of Middlesex District Council, Royal Templars, met in Somerset Hall, Tuesday afternoon. There was a fair attendance of delegates and visitors, among the latter being Rev. On motion it was resolved to limit this session till 5:30 p.m. A credential committee was appointed, and the minutes of the previous meeting held in Nilestown last October were read

He extended a cordial invitation to the brethren and sisters to visit Oxford district council at Woodstock on Thursday.

THE COMMITTEES: The credential committee reported the names of regular delegates from subordinate councils. Reports were received from Nilestown, Komoka and London South. The nominating committee reported the

A BANNER.
The report of the banner committee was read and discussed clause by clause. The substance of the report as adopted was that a handsome banner, a design of which was exhibited, should be offered for competition in the district, each council contributing $4 toward the cost of the banner, being permitted to compete for the banner, which is expected to cost about $30. The banner is to be awarded to the subordinate council making the largest gains as indicated by the per capita tax to the Grand Council, it is to be the permanent property of the council winning it three times consecutively.

A fifteen minute recess was granted to allow the sessional committees to prepare their reports.

Frenzied by drink, the men indulged first in profane language and insults, but later came to blows among themselves, and as a final result knives and revolvers were brought into action. Women screamed and fainted, but the men fought on. Lew Jones, Charles Ross and Sam Powell were killed, Jones and Powell having been shot, while Ross was stabbed through the heart with a butcher knife. Walker Jones and Bill Jones were both seriously, if not fatally, wounded, the latter having ter than others and enjoy life more, with been slashed fourteen times. IN LABOR'S REALM.

Meeting of the Middlesex District | The Voluntary Principle in Matters of Arbitration, > Hard Blow at Labor by the Courts-A Host of Idle Printers.

London, Jan. 30.—The report of the Royal Labor Commission, which is about to be presented to Parliament, is in favor of maintaining the principles of self-help and non-interference by the State. It recommends the voluntary principle in matters of arbitration and conciliation, and opposes intrusting special tribunals with legal powers to enforce decisions. It says that trade disputes should be left as far as possible to voluntary modes of settlement, and suggests that no extension of the present powers of incorporation be allowed to trades unions, as these powers will enable workingmen to combine under agreements, legally enforceable, on matters connected with their common industrial interests. The commission is against the universal eight-hour day, and advises that the regulation of the working hours of adults be left to voluntary arrangement. A small minority of the commission, led by Mr. Tom Mann, proposes to fix the eighthour day by act of Parliament. The Parliamentary Labor party will not relish the report, and the Socialists will howl when they ascertain its tendency.

HARD HIT AT LABOR. OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 30 .- Judge Dundy, of the United States Court, has published an order reducing wages in every department of the Union Pacific Railroad. The new schedule is the most elaborate one ever prepared. The cut amounts to about 10 per cent. The court acquires jurisdiction in the matter because the road is in the hands of receivers appointed by the court. The significance of the order is increased by the fact that the employes have been enjoined by the court from striking.

THE IDLE TYPOS IN DETROIT. DETROIT, Jan. 30 .- The meeting of the Detroit Typographical Union on Sunday to take action for the relief of the unemployed members was not fruitful in results. The committee on the subject reported about 100 out of work, but the union wanted more light before taking more steps for their relief, and laid the report upon the table. The plan of relief for 1895 was also repealed, and the amendment to reduce the salaries of the officers lost.

THE MOTHERLESS CHILDREN. (From Kate Field's Washington.)

Mrs. Richard Clarke, wife of the co gressmen from Mobile, Ala., is one of the few women brave enough to scatter witty things in the waste of five-minute official calls. At the house of Mrs. Hale, of Maine, the church service was mentioned.

"There's one portion of the litany," said Mrs. Clarke, "that always used to bother me. It's where we pray especially for the 'widowed and fatherless,' I never could see why they needed praying for so much, as I thought motherless children deserved pity much more; but I've just found out why the motherless aren't mentioned, It's because there are so few of them, as the first thing a man does when he is bereft of his wife is to look around for a new mother for his children."

In the laugh that followed Mrs. Clarko clinched her argument on the litany with: "I think I ought to know, for didn't I

THE well-known fact that women live longer than men is illustrated as follows by an English journal: The excess of females the platform were Mr. Littlejohn, the of all ages over males of all ages in England and Wales is only about 31 per cent (in round figures, 15,000,000 minus 50,000 to 14,000,000 plus 50,000). But when we begin to compare women over 60 with men over 60 the female majority becomes much greater, and when we pass 85 the old men are nowhere. The female nonogenarians nearly double the male; there are .854 women over 95 to only 354 men, and 104 whom acquitted themselves splendidly. gammers to 42 gaffers who own to a cen-

WEEKLY REVIEW.
London, Wednesday, Jan. 31.

This week has been a duli one on this market, and with few exceptions we note few changes in the price and less in the situation.

The general price paid for wheat was 97c to 98c for red, and 98c to $101 for white. The bulk of white sales were made at $1. The demand was steady and the deliveries moderately good.

Oats ruled steady at the beginning of the week at $1 to $1 02; the demand good and supply moderate. Later on the supply increased, and prices became easier, and at to-day's and Tuesday's session the price raid was 97c to 98c, a decline of 2c to 4c per 100 lbs.

Very few peas came forward. The price paid was from 87c to 90c; the demand was good. Corn was scerce also, selling at 90c to 95c

Richmond, Missouri, on Monday, Jan. 22.

Mr. Powell had reached the advanced age of 76 years, and was up to the time of his last fillness engaged as a carriage and wagon manufacturer in Richmond, where he had carried on a successful business for a number of years. Deceased was a native of Nenagh, Tipperary, Ireland, from which country he came to Canada in 1826. a number of years. Deceased was a native of Nenagh, Tipperary, Ireland, from which country he came to Canada in 1826, settling with his parents in Hamilton. There he was brought up and educated, and on New Year's Day, 1844, married Miss Matilda McArdie, of that place. In 1864, Mr. Powell moved to Leavenworth, Kan., and thence to Richmond in 1869, where he resided continuously up to the time of his death. He leaves ten children, and three brothers and one sister to mourn Transitions in London Conference.

There will be seven changes of pastorate in the London Methodist Conference next June. Already six of the congregations interested have extended invitations to those whom they wish to have direct their spiritual affairs. The one not yet decided is the Colborne Street Church in this city. The only other change here will be that of the Centennial Church, which has accorded an invitation to Rev. R. D. Hamilton, now at Port Stanley. The Central Church people, St. Thomas, want Rev. C. T. Scott, of Dutton, while Ridgetown Methodism is unanimous for Rev. Joseph Philp, of London. Rev. Wm. McDonagh, of Exeter, will likely go to Kingsville, where one of the handsomest and best equipped edifices in the conference has just been opened. Rev. H. W. Lock, of Alvinston has been invited to Exeter, and Rev. Wm. Buchanan, of Norwood, Bay of Quinte Conference, to Essex Center. Rev. E. B. Lanceley, of Ridgetown, has been asked to go to Brussels in the Guelph Conference.

Death of Mrs. Elizabeth Mortimore. The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Tucket Mortimore, which took place this morning at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. A. B. Powell, removes one of London's oldest citizens. She had attained the ripe age of 81 years. Her illness had lasted some two months. She came to London about 23 years ago from Chudleigh, Devonshire, Eng., to spend the balance of her days with her family in this city. She leaves a numerous family who will always cherish a loving memory of a kind and affectionate mother. It was her privilege to spend her declining years in the midst of her children, who are: Mrs. A. B. Powell, Mrs. John Green, Mrs. Geo. W. Hayes, Mrs. George and T. T. Mortimore, and Mrs. T. S. Minton, of Toronto. She was a constant member of the English Church, having attended St. Paul's Cathedral. The funeral will be private and will take place on Friday.

Turning the Tables. The young men connected with the Epworth League of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church made a novel and venturesome experiment recently. They undertook to entertain the ladies, and were entirely successful. Wesley Hall was never before the scene of a more unique event, and never before was a social even-ing more enjoyable. The programme pro-vided was entirely carried out by the masculine element. It opened with two papers—"Witty and Pretty Women" and "Good and Great Women." The latter was the product of Rev. S. McVitty, while the first was written by a gentleman whom, it is said, knows all about the subject, but whose modesty, relative to its authorship, is as great as his knowledge. Dr. Williams gave some interesting and valuable hints upon exercise and health in their application to womanhood. Songs were sung by Messrs. Walter Gurd and T. H. Norman Refreshment were provided and served by the entertainers. Miss E. Trebilcock moved a vote of thanks on behalf of the large assemblage of women present, which, seconded by Miss Millie Dawson, was unanimously carried. The ladies seemed to enjoy the new state of affairs as much as did the gentlemen.

Such was the wording of a neatlyprinted card which the young man whose name is appended presented to a number of leading citizens. "Mum's" the word with him His idea is to make out that he is dumb, and thus appeal to the sympathies of those from whom he solicited subscriptions. He has been working the fake for some time, but, owing to frequent visitations at city saloons, he has not yet secured sufficient money to commence peddling operations.

Magistrate Parke fined him $2. Matilda Meader first became known to the police of this city in December last. But in the short space of time intervening, aside from spending 30 days in jail, she has been before the magistrate on several different occasions. She was accused of being drunk and vagrant, and was remanded for judgment. Mrs. Meader comes from Detroit.

"Travelers were few and far between in those days, and this made the trail easy to follow. The first man, never knowing how far or how near the other was behind him, and hoping now and again that he might have baffled him, would rest for a while. The second man, knowing always just how far the first one was before him, never paused, and thus each day the man who was spurred by Hate drew nearer to the man who was spurred by Fear.

"At this town the answer to the nevervarying question would be: "At 7 o'clock last evening, M'sieur."

"Seven-ah, eighteen hours. Give me something to eat, quick, while the horses are being put to.'

'At the next the calculation would be sixteen hours. Passing a lonely chalet, monsieur puts his head out of the window: "How long since a carriage passed this way with a tall, fair man inside

'Such a one passed early this morning, M'sieur.' Thanks. Drive on. A hundred francs spiece if you are through the pass before

'And what for dead horses, M'sieur?'

"Twice the value when living."
"One day the man who was ridden by Fear looked up and saw before him the open door of a cathedral, and passing in knelt down and prayed. He prayed long and for men when they are in sore fervently, for men, when they are in sore straits, clutch eagerly at the straws of faith.

H: prayed that he might be forgiven his sin, and more important still, that he might be pardoned the consequences of his sin, and be delivered from his adversary—and a few chairs from him, facing him, knelt his enemy, praying also.

"But the second man's prayer, being a thanksgiving merely, was short, so that when the first man raised his eyes he saw the face of his enemy gazing at him across the chair tops with a mocking smile upon it. "He made no attempt to rise, but remained kneeling, fascinated by the look of joy that shone out of the other man's eyes. And the other man moved the high-backed chairs one by one, and came towards him softly. Then, just as the man who had been wronged, stood beside the man who had wronged him, full of gladness that his opportunity had come, there burst from the cathedral tower a sudden clash of bells, and the man whose opportunity had come broke his heart and fell back dead with that mocking smile of his still playing round his

"And so he lay there. "Then the man who had done the wrong rose up and passed out praising God.
"What became of the body of the other man is not known. It was the body of a stranger who had died suddenly in the cathedral. There was none to identify it, none to claim it. "Years passed away, and the survivor in the tragedy become a worthy and useful citizen and a noted man of science.

"In his laboratory were many objects necessary to him in his researches, and prominent among them stood in a certain corner a human skeleton. It was a very old and much mended skeleton, and one day the long expected end arrived, and it tumbled to pieces. "Thus it became necessary to purchase

"The man of science visited a dealer he well knew; a little parchment-faced old man who kept a dingy shop where nothing was ever sold, within the shadow of the towers of Notre Dame.

The little parchment-faced old man had just the very thing that monsieur wanteda singularly fine and well-proportioned study.' It should be sent round and set up in monsieur's laboratory that very after-

"The dealer was as good as his word.
When monsieur entered his laboratory that evening, the thing was in its place. "Monsieur seated himself in his high-backed chair, and tried to collect his thoughts. But Monsieur's thoughts were unruly, and inclined to wander, and to wander always in one direction. "Monsieur opened a large volume and began to read. He read of a man who had wronged another and fled from him, the other man following. Finding himself reading this, he closed the book angrily, and went and stood by the window and looked out. He saw before him the sun-pierced nave of a great cathedral, and on the stones lay a dead man with a mocking smile upon

"Cursing himself for a fool, he turned away with a laugh. But his laugh was short-lived, for it seemed to him that something else in the room was laughing also. Struck suddenly still, with his feet glued to the ground, he stood listening awhile, then sought with starting eyes the corner from where the sound had seemed to come. But the white thing standing there was only grinning.

"Monsieur wiped the damp sweat from nis head and hands and stole out.

"For a couple of days he did not enter the room again. On the third, telling him that his fears were those of a hysterical girl, he opened the door and went in. To shame himself, he took his lamp in his hand, and crossing over to the far corner where the skeleton stood, examined it. A set of bones bought for a hundred francs. Was he a child, to be scared by such a bogy !

"He held the lamp up in front of the thing's grinning head. The flame of the lamp flickered as though a faint breath had passed over it.

The man explained this to himself by saying that the walls of the house were old and cracked, and that the wind might creep in anywhere. He repeated this explanation to himself as he recrossed the room, walking backwards with his eyes fixed on the thing. When he reached his desk, he sat down and gripped the arms of his chair till his fingers turned white.

"He tried to work, but the empty sockets in that grinning head seemed to be drawing him towards them. He rose and battled with his inclination to fly screaming from the room. Glancing fearfully about him, his eye fell upon a high screen, standing be-fore the door. He dragged it forward and placed it between himself and the thing, so that he could not see it-nor it see him. Then he sat down again to his work. For a while he forced himself to look at the book in front of him, but at last, unable to control himself any longer. he suffered his eyes to follow their own bent.

"It may have been an hallucination. He may have accidentally placed the screen so as to favor such an illusion. But what he saw was the bony hand coming round the screen, and, with a cry, he fell to the floor in a

"The people of the house came running in. and, lifting him up, carried him out and laid him upon his bed. As soon as he recovered his first question was, where had they found the thing-where was it when they entered the room? And when they told him that they had seen it standing where it always stood, and had gone down into the room to look again, because of his frenzied entreaties, and returned trying to hide their smiles, he listened to their talk A STORMY EVENING hide their smiles, he listened to their talk about overwork and the necessity for change and rest, and said they might do with him as they would.

"So for many months the laboratory door change and rest, and said they might do with him as they would.

remained locked. Then there came a chill autumn evening when the man of science opened it again, and closed it behind him.

"He lighted his lamp and gathered his instruments and books around him and sat down before them in his high-backed chair, And the old terror returned to him.

But this time he meant to conquer himself. His nerves were stronger now, and his brain clearer; he would fight his unreasonable fear. He crossed to the door and locked himself in, and flung the key to the other end of the room, where it fell among jars and bottles with an echoing clatter.

"Later on, his old housekeeper, going her final round, tapped at his door and wished him good night, as was her custom. She received no response, at first, and growing nervous, tapped louder and called again; and at length an answering 'good night'

came back to her.
"She thought little about it at the time, but afterwards she remembered that the voice that had replied to her had been strangely grating and mechanical. Trying to describe it, she likened it to such a voice as she would imagine coming from a statue.

"Next morning his door remained still locked. It was no unusual thing for him to work all night, and fare into the next day, so no one thought to be surprised. When, however, evening came, and yet he did not appear, his servants gathered outside the room and whispered, remembering what had happened once before.

"They listened, but could hear no sound. They shook the door and called to him, then beat with their fists upon the panels. But still no sound came from the room. "Becoming alarmed, they decided to burst open the door, and after many blows it gave way and flew back and they crowded

"He sat bolt upright in his high-backed chair. They thought at first that he had died in his sleep. But when they drew nearer and the light fell upon him they saw the livid marks of bony fingers round his throat; and in the eyes there was a terror such as is not often seen in human eyes.

Brown was the first to break the silence that followed. He asked me if I had any brandy on board. He said he felt he should ike a nip of brandy before going to bed. That is one of the charms of Jepson's stories; they always make you feel you want a little brandy.

CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, Asthma, Oatarrh and Lung Troubles. There is a plant which grows only in the hills of British India, known to the natives as the "Tree of Life," because of the unrivalled vitalizing powers of an elixir extracted from its roots, bark, fruit and leaves. The process of extracting this elixir was discovered by Mrs. Besant, shortly after her arrival in India in 1862, and she has furnished it to sufferers ever since without one failure to permanently cure, excepting in Consumption in its last stages, and in such cases it prolonged life for many years. It has also a powerful influence in chronic cases of Constination, Indigestion, Liver Complaints and Female Troubles. Full particulars sent free. Address Mrs. Martha Besant, Toronto, Canada.—

LORD AND LADY ABERDEEN

Heartily Welcomed at Quebec-Drawn Through the Streets by a Team of Three Hundred Enthusiastic Snowshoers. QUEBEC, Jan. 30 .- Lord and Lady

Aberdeen, with their children, arrived at the C. P. R. depot at 11:30 a.m. The train was delayed five hours on account of the storm. After meeting a hearty reception at the station the vice-regal party took their places in a sleigh, which was drawn up the steep hills and through the streets by 300 stalwart snowshoers amid the enthusiastic cheering of the thousands gathered to witness the reception. His Excellency, notwithstanding the fierce storm prevailing, continually waved his fur cap while Lady Aberdeen smilingly bowed. The children stood up on the seats and were greatly interested in the arches and scenes along the route.

The vice-regal party were driven to the Chateau Frontenac, on the steps of which his Excellency addressed the snowshoers declaring that what he had just seen surpassed every expectation he had entertained of the Quebec winter carnival. He thanked them again for the marks of high appreciation shown them so spontaneously in the historic city.

The Highland bagpipers of the Union Liberal Snowshoe Club, with the drum and bugle band, played all along the line of

For the past year or two there has been considerable agitation among certain residents of South London over the drainage question. Nor is everything in a satisactory condition as yet. In Toronto last week a case was brought up at Osgoode Hall resulting from this question. It was brought by Mr. Levi Lewis, who asked that an injunction be granted to restrain Messrs. Alexander and Puddicombe from using Bruce street drain to carry of sewage from their residences. The drain runs into a gulley on Mr. Lewis' property, and the ground for the action is that it has created a great deal of sickness in his household. When brought in the Toronto courts the case was postponed to allow of further evidence being secured, and this Lily White Water White Oil is a reliable oil for family use. Ask your dealer for it. They must keep it to hold their trade. Over 100 dealers sell it in the city No extra price; same price as ordinary oil.

The troupe includes some good voices and the Grand will be a place to spend a pleasant evening all week. To-night and Saturday afternoon Balfe's charming opera "The Bohemian Girl" with its exquisite melodies will be given with the company's full strength. The popular "Chimes of Normandy" is billed for this afternoon. "Said Pasha" will be repeated Thursday night, "Girofle-Girofla" Friday night, and the last production Saturday night will be "The Princess of Trebizonde."

Fancy Skating. The attendance at the Princess Rink last night was the largest this season. Carnivals were left in the shade, and this was accounted for by the fact that an exhibition of fancy skating was to be given by the peerless J. D. Bruce. Bruce is a Canadian. young in years and his home and birthplace is Galt. He has been traveling throughout Ontario during the winter giving exhibitions at all the principal cities and towns, in all of which he received flattering notices through the press. At his performances here Bruce exceeded the expectations of the large crowd which had assembled. The programme consisted of some very difficult feats, including the execution of figure eights (single and double), rolls and vines, in the accomplishment of each of which he was heartily applauded. The ease and grace with which Bruce executed his difficult gyrations was simply surprising. In acrobatic work he also gave some front and back hand-springs in a manner which won hearty rounds of applause. He may be re-engaged to give another exhibition at a future date, after which he will leave for Minneapolis.

Jolly Diners. That was a spirited and merry party of men that gathered about four lengthy tables in the Knights of Pythias hall last evening on the occasion of the railroad teamsters' first annual supper. George W. Kent, the popular caterer, had excelled himself, and the choice refreshments were greatly enjoyed. The banqueting hall was nicely decorated, and upon the walls were a number of appropriate mottoes-"We Messrs. James Houston and A. Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

"I Have Had Rheumatism for years, and Nerviline is the only remedy that has done me any good." So writes Thomas McGlashan, North Pelham, July 24, 1890, and his testimony is supported by thousands of others who have experienced the wonderfully penetrating and pain subduing power of Nerviline—the great nerve pain cure. Nerviline is just as good to take as to rub on, and is the best family remedy in the world. Nerviline is sold by dealers everywhere.
