Carnegie Writes Up the Wages Question in the Contemporary Review.

Deadly Hailstones.

VIENNA, Aug. 30 .- Hailstones have done great damage throughout Austria. At Kowino, Poland, three children were killed by hailstones.

Pleuro-Pneumonia in Canada,

London, Aug. 30.—The report which has pneumonia in the herds on the Model Farm | cipally. at Nappan, near Amherst, N. S., is creating acrid comment on this side of the water against the Canadian Government, owing mainly to the repeated protests of the latter that the disease did not exist in Canadian cattle in any portion of the Dominion.

Fell 400 Feet!

GASTEIN, Austria, Aug. 30 .- Two youths named Divisch and Peiffer lost their way while ascending Ort Alp on Monday, and in the darkness fell over a precipice 400 feet high. Divisch fell to the bottom and was killed. Peiffer caught hold of a birch tree which projected about 50 feet from the top of the precipice and with his waist belt bound himself fast. He hung suspended from the tree from 7 o'clock Monday till noon on Tuesday, when he was discovered by mountaineers and res-

Carnegle on Wages.

London, Aug. 30 .- Andrew Carnegie has an article in the September Contemporary Review concerning labor in America. He says that a workman can live for less in America if he chooses than in Great Britain. provided he will live as frugally. Consequently Mr. Carnegie thinks the argument that wages must be higher in America is fallacious. A pound judiciously expended in America on the necessaries of life would afford the workingman's family more comforts than the same amount spent here. The American workingman's position was like that of the old Scotchwoman, who, when asked if she could live on a certain amount replied that she could live on half of it, "but could spend double."

Attempt to Wreck a G. T. R. Train. PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 30 .- A deliberate attempt was made to wreck a Grand Trunk train this morning near Fish Point in this city. An eleven-inch shell was found on the track just before the Montreal express arrived. Where the shell came from is a mystery unless from a fort in the harbor. It is believed to be loaded.

Cable Flashes. A dispatch from Johannesburg says that the Transvaal is anxious to secure control of the Delagoa Bay Railroad and that it has sent £500,000 to London with which to buy the bonds which Portugal will issue. Mr. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, is the guest of Mr. Andrew Carnegie at Claney Castle. A dispatch from Rome says that the report that Mgr. Satolli will return to Rome at the end of the year is confirmed. The dispatch adds that after the return of the Papal delegate from the United States the Vatican will publish the result of his mission, which will show, as already frequently stated, that the Pope is entirely satisfied with the work of Mgr. Satolli, and that his Holiness considers that the church questions in the United States are

Thursday's Bank of England returns made another record. The reserve is over £31,250,000. The proportion of cash to liabilities is 701 per cent. The coin and bullion increased £289,000, of which £182,-000 came from abroad. The stock markets were active today and strong. The public are buying and general confidence has increased. Trade, however, revives very slowly. The British Admiralty has received a cablegram from Bonny, West Africa, Iting that a boat belonging to H. M. S. Alecto, containing a scouting party, had been fired upon by natives, who attacked the boat from the bank of the Bonny River. One of the scouting party was killed and two were seriously wounded.

The remains of the Earl of Abemarle, son-in-law of Sir Allan Napier McNabb, will be interred at Ouidenham, Norfolk, on Friday.

One death from cholera occurred at Amsterdam on Thursday. One case is reported in Rotterdam, two in Spykenisse and two in Maastricht.

The Vienna Fremendblatt says the Czar's physicians regard his condition as far from serious. His illness is the result of repeated attacks of influenza. The international peace congress at Antwerp passed resolutions Thursday in favor of a permanent arbitration treaty among the European powers. A Spanish royal decree issued Thursday abrogates the customs arrangement of June, 1891, by which special rates on certain imports into Porto Rico and Cuba were accorded to the United States. The Czar and Czarina, with the Czare-witch and their two youngest children, have started for the forest of Bielovesh. Prof. Zaccharin, the Czar's medical attendant, accompanied the party.

Extensive Bush Fires Along the Grand River.

The Situation in Kent Becoming Serious -Swamp on Fire at Hensall,

BRANTFORD, Aug. 30 .- Mr. J. Robertson, of the Massey-Harris Company, walked from Brantford to Collingwood and back. He followed the course of the Grand River as far as possible. He reports extensive bush fires in the townships of Melancthon and Amaranth, extending over some 40 miles of territory, and that ten farm houses have been destroyed in that section. IN KENT AND ESSEX.

WINDSOR, Aug. 30.—Bush fires are raging all along the line of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad. In Romney township, Kent county, things are getting very serious, and a number of farmers are moving their effects.

AT HENSALL. HENSALL, Aug. 30.—The Hayswamp here is on fire, but Hensall is not endangered by the fire at present. Considerable damage has been done to timber in the swamp. The farmers in this vicinity have managed reached here of an attack of pleuro- to confine the fire to the swamp prin-

> IN MICHIGAN. NEGAUNEE, Mich., Aug. 30 .- Great damage has resulted from forest fires in the Trout Creek district during the past few days and the fires are still raging. The Diamond Match Company has lost fully 90,000,000 feet of lumber, and the Nester estate timber consumed is about 20,000,000

The loss to homesteaders and others is also very great.

ACCIDENTS TO AERONAUTS. Prof, Hogan and His Assistant Have a

Rough Experience. SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 30 .- Prof. Hogan Oa-at-ka Beach yesterday afternoon. When the balloon was nearly full someone 1896. yelled "Let go." The balloon shot up, and Hogan's assistant, who had not time to get outside of the balloon, fell out when the balloon cleared the trees, taking the parachute with him. He fell about 60 feet through limbs of trees into the stand, but was not seriously injured. Hogan sailed away without a parachute to descend, and when the balloon finally came down he was dragged over stumps, sand and marsh half a mile. Hogan is in worse shape than his helper, but both are ready to tackle the balloon again in a few days.

REDUCED TO ASHES.

Collingwood, Ont., Aug. 30 .- A fire broke out in the stables of the Dominion Hotel. Forty tons of hay were destroyed and about $2,000 damage done to the buildings and contents. Insured. Origin of fire unknown. Mrs. Cameron fell and fractured one of her limbs during the excitement. It is only a few years since the hotel was burned to the ground.

POLITICAL NOTES.

EAST ELGIN PATRONS. The East Elgin Patrons of Industry held a meeting in the town hall, Aylmer, on Wednesday, and passed the following resolution: "That a convention be held in the town hall, Aylmer, on Monday, Sept. 24, for the purpose of selecting a candidate to represent East Elgin in the House of Commons, and that the labor element of St. Thomas be represented by eight delegates; Aylmer, three; Port Stanley, one; Vienna, one, with proper credentials."

Lieut.-Col. Lindsay, of the Twenty-fifth Battalion, denies having stated to a friend in London that he expected to be gazetted on Saturday as lieutenant-colonel of the Seventh, of London, as stated in the Free Press .- [St. Thomas Times. Rev. Mr. Wye's Case.

A Windsor dispatch says: It is reported that Rev. G. W. Wye will not leave Amherttburg to go to London in obedience to the summons of Bishop Baldwin to appear before him on Sept. 12 and have passed on him the finding of thecommission appointed last April to hear evidence in the charge preferred against Wye, alleging that his usefulness in the parish appears to be gone. Mr. Wye intends to ignore the summons and will appeal to the House of Bishops. The notice of the appeal has been sent to Bishop Baldwin, as the Metropolitan of Canada is in Europe. It will be some months before the case can be brought before the House of Bishops. In the meantime Mr. Wye intends to hold his place as rector of the Amherstburg parish. Mr. Wye's counsel is also preparing papers in a civil action to recover his back salary, which now amounts to nearly $2,000. He claims that the triers were prejudiced against Mr. Wye and that the verdict was decidedly unjust.

Ex-Registrar McDougall's Funeral. BERLIN, Ont., Aug. 30 .- The funeral of the late D. McDougall, ex-registrar of Waterloo, took place this afternoon, and was attended by a great concourse of people from all parts of the county and Province. The county judge, sheriff, local registrar and other county officials attended in a body. The clergy, bankers, lawyers and doctors and members of Parliament in the county also attended. The funeral was the largest ever seen in the county.

Hay, Onions, Hops. New York, N. Y., Aug. 30 .- Exhaustive crop reports regarding the condition and probable yield of hay, hops and onions published in the American Agriculturist Weekly, to be issued Saturday, indicate a shortage in both hay and onions. The entire hay crop is approximately 60,250,000 tons, against 65,000,000 tons last season.

The farm families number 4,767,179 of which 65.32 per cent own their own farms and 34.8 per cent hire, while of owning families 28.22 per cent have incumbrances on their farms and 71.78 per cent have none. Scotch Miners Ballot on Strike

Interesting Testimony Before the United States Labor Commission.

LONDON, Aug. 30 .- The result of the ballot taken among Scotch coal miners on questions involved in the present strike was announced today. Twenty-five thousand four hundred and seventeen miners were in favor of the proposal of the Miners' Federation to accept 6 pence reductions, with guaranteed wages on that basis for two years, and 20,942 were in favor of Wednesday evening, is getting along fairly insisting upon a shilling advance. The mine owners declare the balleting does not by any means put an end to the strike, as gambling, which has lately been on the even a minimum rate of wages for two years. The owners assert that this cannot be done, as most of their annual contracts have been canceled by their custom-

BEFORE THE LABOR COMMISSION. CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 30 .- Charles Stewart Wade, in the legal employ of the Rock Island Railway Company, but at the time of the strike a reporter for a Chicago morning newspaper, testified before the labor commission today. He said he carefully examined switches which had been tampered with and declared from a previous knowledge of railroading that none but railroad employes could have so manipulated the complicated system. He saw cars overturned and witnessed acts of violence. The police often stood idly by without interfering, showing sympathy with the strikers. W. F. Guyon, a reporter for the United Press during the strike, told what he saw of the destruction of railroad property. He did not think railroad employes were engaged in this work. He claimed to have been asked by either Debs or Howard to help them apprehend rioters. He had often heard the two heads of the A. R. U.

counsel against strikes. Vice-President Geo. W. Howard of the A. R. U. was recalled in regard to the meeting at Blue Island at which it was alleged by witnesses yesterday that he used abusive language in regard to Geo. M. Fullman and counseled violence. Howard admitted that he applied an obscene epithet to Mr. Pullman, but said the epithet was one in common use among railroad men. He also testified that he said he thought Pullman such a mean man mean by this to counsel violence. He The Ottawa Journal says Justice simply wanted to show his contempt for Fournier of the Superior Court, who is at the man's methods. As quoted by himself, esign to make room for Mr. Angers is said crowd on that occasion to beware of railroad sleuths who tried to break up lodges by arraying the Catholics in them against the Protestants, and he hoped if anybody caught any of these sleuths at their work round end of a rolling pin." BRITAIN VS. AMERICA AGAIN. DARTMOUTH, Aug. 31 .- There were throngs here from all over England today to see the Vigilant's first duel with the biggest of British cutters, Mr. Clarke's Satanita The contest was for prizes of $250 and $150? under the auspices of the Royal Dart Yacht Club. The course was 40 miles. The Satanita got the best of the start. but the Yankee soon overtook her. The wind was too light for the Satanita, which is a heavy wind yacht. The Vigilant kept increasing her lead, and it was plain that she would win by a big margin.

THE WHEEL. RACING IN PARIS. PARIS, Aug. 31.—The Nancy prize for 3,000 meters was won at the Buffalo Velodrome last evening by Harris. Banker was second. Zimmerman, the American champion, tried to beat Tyler's record for a mile with flying start, but failed. His time was 2:05 4-5. Forman won the 15 kilomater race as Zimmerman refused to ride. The American champion said the timekeeper was doing his work dishonestly, and that no fair awards could be expected until he was dismissed. Eventually Zimmerman came out and tried a mile against time. He did it in 2:08 2-5. BASEBALL. The Orient and Valkyrie baseball clubs will face each other on Tecumseh Park tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. The Orients are playing good ball now, and as there are only two games to play and the Valkyries have to win both to tie for the pennant, they will no doubt put on a strong team.

A Sure Remedy for Neuralgia. Neuralgia is one of the most common and distressing complaints incidental to this climate. It is not confined to any particular season, for whilst most general in the winter season, yet many suffer its excruciating agony in the heat of summer. In late years this form of disease has become better known, and consequently the means of re-lief have greatly increased in numbers, as well as in efficacy. Among the most powerful and penetrating combinations placed within the reach of the public for the relief of neuralgia we can mention no remedy equal to or more certain than Polson's Nerviline. Its power over pain is something wonderful, and we advise a trial for neuralgia or any other painful complaints. THEY WILL NOT RESIGN.

The Officers of the Seventh Battalion-A Rumor to That Affect Denied. A rumor has been current that owing to the appointment of an outsider as commanded of the Seventh Battalion the officers were going to resign in a body. A reporter called on several of them today and endeavored to learn something of the real state of affairs, and the attitude towards Col. Lindsay. "Under military regulations," said an officer, "we are compelled to say nothing in the matter, but I can assure you that I have heard nothing about the officers resigning in a body. It would be foolish on their part, as it is nothing less than mutiny and would make us liable to arrest and imprisonment."

"What is the feeling towards the new commander ?" was asked. "That I am not prepared to say," said the officer, "but as far as I am concerned I am not particular who is in command. It should not make a particle of difference. Soldiers should be soldiers, and work in harmony under their colonel, whoever he may be. Major Beattie is the favorite among the battalion, but it is pretty well understood that he will not accept it. Major George Hayes is next in command, and a very popular officer he is. But I hear that he could not accept the position for certain reasons. The appointment lies with the general, and there is no use in raising objections. No matter who gets command, we should have the best battalion in the Canadian militia. We have only one corps in the city, and with such men as are in the ranks we should be on top."

HE BEAT HIS WIFE.

An Incorrigible in Court - Draymen in Trouble-Stone Throwing. The police magistrate had an hour's work this morning, which was above the average. Ira Halliday, a middle aged man, with a Inxuriant crop of Brannigan whiskers, appeared in the cage for the 30th or 40th time in a dezen years. He was drunk and was having a jolly good time by beating his poor wife on the head with a tin cup. That is Halliday's favorite sport.

"This man seems incorrigible," mused the magistrate. "If he works all day he will drink all night. Words are wasted on him. "I have a big family and it is hard to keep them," pleaded Halliday.

"Does getting drunk help you to keep them ?" asked the police magistrate. "Here is winter coming on and you haven't a dollar. I will remand you for a week."
William Lyons and Henry Williamson, draymen, had a sparring match at the dray stand, which, according to a witness, lasted three seconds. Lyons and Williamson protested that they were only fooling and were the best of friends. "They won't let us leave our wagons to have a drink, said Lyons in an injured tone, "so we must have a little fun." "If you call that fighting," said Bart Slade, another drayman, called to give evidence, "it is a disgrace to the city. Neither one has the pluck to fight." And the crowd laughed. Slade admitted he heard one call the other a liar. There were a few passes-splitting the wind, Slade istrate. "You will have to give me a week to pay it," said Williamson. "Times are hard; I haven't made $2 this week, and I have eight children to keep."

Slade and Hamilton Hartson, three more draymen, were charged with leaving their wagons and going on the G. T. R. platform. are others who don't pay taxes like I do, and why aren't they summoned?" asked Slade. "I am 50 years old, and this is the first time I've been here," said Hertson. "I'm over 60." put in Slade, "I've never been here either." McKenzie also claimed it was his first visit. The men were allowed to go on suspended sentence. They protested that some drays were run by two men, one of whom went on the platform and canvassed. Mrs. Sarah Wvatt, Pipe Line road, complained that she was struck in the eye with stone thrown by Keith, the son of H. N. T. Colquhoun. LAURIER AT PORT ARTHUR.

That Town and Its Twin Sister, Fort William, Extends a Hearty Welcome to the Chieftain.

FORT WILLIAM, Aug. 31 .- After a 24hours' railway journey over the rugged but picturesque north shore, Hon. Mr. Laurier and party arrived at Port Arthur splendid reception by the people of the twin towns on Thunder Bay. It was a holiday in both places, and the citizens the distinguished leader of the Liberal Laurier was made the recipient of many ments served. The evening will be de- ated. Bouquets of flowers were handed on Monday evening. The affair, judging along the line to greet him and to bid by the enthusiasm displayed, promises to him Godspeed on his journey to the great west. At Chapleau, which is a progressive little place, the product of the Can-adian Pacific Railway, a band of music and a crowd of people were on the station platform when the train arrived. Mr. Laurier briefly addressed the people, and afterwards had the pleasure of personally meeting many of them. At Nepigon, M. J. McCurdy, merchant, or that place, boarded the train, with the best wishes of the people of the place and a basketful of speckled trout, regular beauties, from the far-famed waters of the Nepigon River. A procession with the Fort William Brass Band at the head was formed. It moved through the town to the Algoma Hotel, where Vice-President Matthews, on behalf of the Port Arthur Liberals. presented Mr. Laurier with an appreciative address. Then a half-dozen steamboats laden with people set out for a run to Fort William, the Kaministiqua River, and back again. The outing was delightful. After that Mr. Laurier held a reception in the parlor of the Northern Hotel, at which he had an opportunity of meeting with many of the residents of Port Arthur. As the guests of the Liberals of the district, he and his friends dined at the Kaministiqua Hotel. The meeting was held in the Fort William Rink, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens and hung with appropriate mottoes. Over 2,000 people packed themselves into the structure, and cheered vociferously the elequent and patriotic utterances of the leader and his lieutenants. The chair was occupied by Mr. Conmee. During the evening Vice-President Matthews presented Mr. Laurier with an address from the Liberal Association of Fort William. Mr. Laurier will attend a picnic at Murrillo today, and then set out for Rat Portage, where a demonstration will be held in his honor on Saturday.

A VERY DRY MONTH. And September Will Probably Bring a

Copious Rainfall. In connection with the long continued August drought Hugh V. Payne, of the Toronto observatory, has this to say: 'This month we have only had .36 inches of rain, but this is not unprecedented, because in 1874 the total rainfall for August was only .38, and in 1876 only a few drops of rain fell during the whole month. In 1889 the total rainfall for August was .42. These," continued Mr. Payne, "are the dryest spells recorded in fifty years. The drought of 1874 was tollowed in September by a rainfall of 11 inches, the dry August of 1876 by a rainfall in September of 24 inches, and the 1889 dry spell by a September rainfall of 2 inches. "We are likely," said Mr. Payne, "to have 2 or 21 inches of rain next month. It will he found by those who have kept a record that no rain has fallen here until today since the night of August 1. While there have been occasional rains in Northern Ontario this month, the southern part of the Province has been completely dry. They have been a little better off in the extreme southwest of the Province." CARAVELLA'S COMPLAINT

Against His Neighbors-Doings of the Board of Works. The Board of Works met in the City Hall last night, and, among other business, considered a letter from Mr. B. Caravella, a Dundas street shoemaker, protesting strongly against the action of Hoskin & Malloch, machinists. Mr. Caravella owns the property adjoining the firm's premises, and states that they had persisted in having wagons and other articles in front of his store. Three actions in the Police Court ensued. and on the third Messrs. Hoskin & Malloch were fined $4. They had given notice of appeal at the December sessions, and know if there was no redress. The letter was filed, pending the result of the suit. The roof of the main building in the fair grounds is again needing repairs, and Jos. SHELBURNE, Aug. 27 .- When Mrs. Reany's letter appeared in a local paper here some time ago, giving a history of her long illness and final cure of kidney disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, many readers thought her was only temporary. All such have been most successfully contradicted, as a curiosity consists in how the fly got into letter lately received here from Mrs. Reany etates that she has all along been gaining in general health, since her kidneys were restored to a sound state, and cathartic pills, put up in cheap wood or that for many years she has not enjoyed such good health and spirits. Five years ago he became very deaf, and since then, though he has tried various kinds of treatment, his hearing has been practically goue. The other day he was working with a swarm of bees, and many of them, getting under the net which covered his face, stung him severely on the ears. The next day his deafness left him, and now he cannot only hear with his old power, but his hearing is much more acute than formerly. The physician who had charge of the case is unable to account for the change except by attributing it to the sting of the bees.

THE HAUNTED SCHOOL.

Its Teacher Has Gone to Toronto.

Variations Detected in the Mysterious Noises-A Brave Act Performed by the Lady,

TORONTO, Aug. 30. - Miss Annie R. Mc-Kechnie, the lady who, until a few days ago, was teacher at the now famous 'haunted school house" in Grey county, is at present staying in Toronto, having definitely resigned her position as teacher and her resignation having been accepted by the trustees. In an interview with a Globe reporter she entirely corroborated the article upon the occurrences which appeared on the 27th of this month; every detail, she said, was correct. Miss Mc-Kechnie is by no means the sort of young lady that would appear likely to be either the subject of any hypnotic influence, as has been alleged, or herself to be the wielder of such a power in so irresponsible and erratic a manner. She is a bright, handsome and intelligent girl, and her clear-cut features and decided expression indicate a determined and thoroughly sane mind. The change from the neighborhood of the school, where she was regarded with constant suspicion and was the object of considerable active hostility, has had a beneficial effect upon her health; but she still shows signs of the terrific strain which has been put upon her nerves. That she is a girl of great pluck and strength of mind is shown by the fact that on the neighbors circulating a story that every evening at 9 o'clock the apparition of a lady dressed in white was seen to pass from the new school house to the old one, she waited at the door of the old school house absolutely alone one evening until 9:30 o'clock. Needless to say the apparition did not appear. There was no one within half a mile. VARIATIONS OF THE NOISES.

Some interesting details were given by Miss McKechnie of the nature of the noises which were heard. On the second day the barking sound which was mentioned was very pronounced; it seemed to come from four children in particular, two boys and two girls, and at one time it seemed as if the four were actually fighting; four distinct barks would be heard, one gruff, quite high, and two midway, and these seemed to contend with each other; the atmosphere got close and heavy, and set them all coughing. For a long time the sound followed these four children, and was especially loud when they sat with their backs to the wainscoting; when they were sent out it frequently would cease. Miss McKechnie stood up for the children, and this was declared to be a reason for thinking her responsible for the noises, though the train of reasoning is not very clear. One very singular circumstance mentioned by Miss McKechnie was that when the sound seemed to be coming from the children their chests would heave and their throats move, though their lips would be perfectly quiet. The children did not seem aware of this, and to them the noise seemed to come from the nearest piece of wood, such as a desk. When the children were reciting the multiplication table the noise would 25 years ago, and has been since that time for the most part engaged in shipbuilding. In conjunction with Henry Parry he built shout as loud as they, and when they dropped from a shout to a whisper the sound would drop, too. A girl sang, and the sound accompanied her. An odd circumstance was that the noise was never so loud when Public School Inspector Campbell was in the room; moreover, it would seem to avoid him, and go from one corner to another as he followed it. The sound would often vary, and on the second day after moving back into the school from the temporary quarters it was of a whistling nature; Miss McKechnie counted 66 distinct whistles is one hour. IS IT A PERIPATETIC GHOST? It is to be hoped that Miss McKechnie can be induced to teach at least one lesson in the new school house; so far the sound has been confined to the old building, and it will be of the greatest interest to ascertain whether the noises would occur on her going to the new building; there are not a few who would be much surprised if the sounds were to prove not confined to the one building.

In connection with the explanation of the "phantom photograph" given by Mr. Fraser, Mr. G. F. Chapman, of Mount Forest, the proprietor of the photograph gallery from which the pictures come, writes as follows: "If the image appeared through a hole in the camera it would have done so with previous groups; and then again it seems strange this image appears at this peculiar time. I have taken other photos of the building, inside and outside, and no image appeared."

They wandered up to First avenue, which at Seventy-third street is known as the Bohemian Broadway. They amused themselves for a time chasing Bohemians. Glaser, a Polish cigarmaker with a cork eg, was going home with a bundle under his arm. He heard the shots and tried to get out of the way, but his cork leg would not help him. Gilroy's fourth bullet hit his good leg. He fell. The street was crowded. The cry of "murder" was raised. Several men seized Gilroy, and some philanthropiss hit him on the head with a bottle of catsup. The bottle broke and Gilroy succumbed, mistaking the catsup for blood. Both of the injured men were taken to the Presbyterian Hospital. Gilroy was arrested. All of his companions escaped .- [New York Sun.

DR. GARDINER RESIGNS

His Membership of the Local Board of Health.

The Latter Rescinds Its Own Resolution -The Mayor's Objection to a Deputation-Not Enough Aldermen On It.

A special meeting of the Board of Health was ealled last night under peculiar circumstances. At the last meeting it was moved by Dr. English, seconded by Mayor Essery, that the chairman (Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald), Dr. Gardiner and Dr. Hutchinson, M.H.O., be a deputation to attend the annual meeting of the American Health Association in Montreal next menth. Since then the mayor got up a petition, signed by six members, objecting to the deputation and calling a special meeting in reference thereto. Accordingly there were present last night Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, Ald. Wm. Heaman, ex-Ald. Skinner, Ald. Scarrow, Dr. English, Ald. Parnell, Ald. O'Meara, Ald. Coo, the mayor, and Dr. Hutchinson, medical health officer.

The mayor started off by moving that the previous resolution be rescinded and the deputation not appointed. The mayor acknowledged that he did so because some of the aldermen had kicked against the personnel of the deputation. It had been said that the aldermen didn't count in this matter, but he (the mayor) wished it understood that the aldermen were just as much experts on the subjects to be discussed, as these other men (the doctors). Aldermen came and went, but doctors were there all the time. The mayor also pleaded economy. A letter was then read from Dr. Gardiner, as follows: "I am informed that a meeting has been called to reconsider the advisability of sending a deputation to the American Health Association at Montreal.

"I had the honor of being named on that deputation, and I accepted the trust, believing that the knowledge there gained would be of material advantage to the city at large, and also with the hope that as I had been on the board for many years and had never been away from the city at the expense of the city, the board by sending me had intended to recognize my past services in the city's interest. I was mistaken, it seems, and after the action taken by the majority of the board in calling a meeting to reconsider the advisability of sending said deputation. I do not feel at liberty in being present at the meeting and will stay away, but if it is decided by the board that in the interest of the city the deputation do not go I will consider it a desire on the part of the board that I be not a member of it, and will immediately send in my resignation to the City Council.

"J. H. GARDINER, M.D." The letter was received in silence. Then Ald. O'Meara seconded the mayor's motion disallowing the deputation, and it was caried, Dr. English voting nay. Dr. English previously stated that the best sanitarians on the continent would attend the convention, and great benefits would be secured by personal attendance which could be obtained in no other manner.

The board then drifted into general business. Ald. O'Meara complained of the rank odors from the sewers, and the medical health officer contended that they had been regularly flushed. Ald. Coo remarked that some of them "stank like fury." The chairman said the sewer opposite the convent on Dundas street might be flushed one day and it would be as bad the next. A general flushing will probably be

HOW WIRE IS MADE. ical Process

A Very Interesting and Unique Mechan-The rod is received by the wire drawer in the form of a coil, the rod being of varying section and the coil of a weight depending upon the purpose for which it is intended. One end of the rod is pointed and somewhat reduced by machinery. The coil is then given a bath in mild acid to remove all oxidation, afterward washed in lime water to give a drawing surface, and is finally dried in a proper oven. When ready for drawing, the pointed rod is inserted in one of the holes of a drawing plate. This plate is generally of steel, but some factories use cast iron. The drawing holes are conical and the rod is inserted from the larger end. On the other side of the plate the pointed end is seized by power pincers and pulled until enough has been drawn through to allow of its being passed around and fastened to a drum or reel which is driven by power. Of course, the rod is reduced in area and much elongated, and this without any perceptible loss of metal. While passing through the plate it is kept lubricated with what is called wiredrawers' soap or grease. After being drawn through the hole it is put through a series of smaller ones until it has been brought down to a requisite size. But the compression and disturbance of the structure of the rod consequently upon these reductions has hardened it so much that at certain stages it is necessary to stop the process and soften the metal by annealing. After this it is again washed in acid, etc., and the drawing is resumed. Iron and the harder grades of steel require five or six ennealings, while heir and the six annealings while being reduced to the finer gauges of wire. But the manufacture of soft steel and the details of rolling it into rods have been so perfected that soft steel rods can now be drawn into fence wire without any cleaning or annealing. After the final drawing the wire is finished in various ways, depending upon the purposes for which it is intended. No matter of what metal the wire may be composed, the same general system of drawing is used, varying more or less according to the metal. Including gold, silver, platinum, copper, etc., the commercial sizes of wire run from 1-4 inch to 1-700 inch in diameter. - Cas-

-The Mayor of Chicago has received a letter from Charles Stouter, Colombo, Ceylon, which contains the suggestion of a model method for disposing of the sewage question of that city. Mr. Stouter describes his plan thus:

"At the junction of the main sewer and the river I propose the construction of an inclosure and the rearing in it of crocodiles and alligators to serve as scavengers-a service which from the fact of their being omnivorous, I am convinced they are eminently qualified to render."

He describes the nature of the inclosure which he recommends, and concludes:

"In the course I suggest the sewage which is now waste material or worse, a source of serious danger, would be converted into the means of subsistence of a class of reptiles yielding a most valuable hide, for which for a variety of purposes, yield a splendid revenue. ING.

Our United States contemporaries are very much concerned over the well-defined report that W. K. Vanderbilt, one of the richest men of the world, and his wife have fallen out, and are living apart, if not making arrangements for procuring a divorce. The hubbub which has arisen comes to those who are rich. If the Vanderbilts were only moderately wealthy. and had to work for their living, like the large majority of us, their family dirty linen would either be washed in private or little heard of beyond the neighboring fence corners. The penurious market gardener, whose hard earned savings gave the Vanderbilts their first lift towards a ffluence, could have quarreled with his frau hundred times a day, and could have sent her home to her mother on the occasion of every family disagreement, and the New Yorkers of three quarters of a century ago would have heard nothing of it. But the elder Vanderbils had more sense than to take any step which would retard his progress towards amassing the fortune on which he had set his heart. Perhaps if the present generation of Vanderbilts had been compelled to work as hard as old Cornelius was forced to toil, they would have found it easy to patch up their differences. There is nothing that more promotes human trouble or magnifies domestic differences than idleness in the household.

William K. Vanderbilt had a start of a different sort. In 1878 he married the woman with whom it is now asserted he is hopelessly at loggerheads. She was a southern beauty, of what is known as "blue blood," but of very limited fortune. He was the son of the richest man in New York, and the prospective heir to at least $60,000,000, which came to him on the death of his father a few years since and which has since been greatly added to. The young couple began housekeeping in the palatial residence at Fifth avenue and $3,000,000. It is on the corner above the Vanderbilt twin brown stone mansions. built by William H. A few years later he built the marble summer home at Newport, which cost $1,000,000 and which he gave not enough. The Vanderbilts have a night, a vote of confidence in Mr. Davin | yacht that cost several hundred thousand dollars and many thousands of dollars annually for maintenance, and they uphold establishments in Paris, in Scotland and

> If the reports now circulated are correct, all these riches have not brought either contentment or domestic happiness to this man and his wife. Perhaps it was scarcely hoped that they would have that effect. is everything. Men imagine that if they can get their sons to wed a rich girl and settle down, happiness will come as a matter of course. Women there are who desire, as the one thing needful, that their daughter shall marry a rich man. He may have the deserved reputation of a rake. He may have dissolute habits, and be | ing been a resident of that city for over 50 altogether unworthy of the respect, not to say love, of a good girl. It sufficeth some women that he has plenty of money. They hope that their daughter will have influence enough to reform him and keep him straight. This is an altogether fallacious view. In too many cases do all parties to the contract live to regret the mesalliance. If the reported Vanderbilt family rupture tends to make parents place less value on length of purse and more on character, less on ostentations displays of wealth and more on genuine affection, it will not be without some good effect.

THE BATTLE GOES ON.

Hon. W. L. Wilson, the Democratic senator who led the United States House of Representatives in its attack on protection, has been unanimously renominated Among the speakers expected are: Sir by his constituents in West Virginia. The Richard Cartwright, M.P., Hon. David Democracy, he affirmed, would have fulfilled its pledge to the electors in full but for the overwhelming influence of the trusts and combines-particularly the sugar trust, which, by the way, has not enjoyed as great advantages at the expense | hours and 7 minutes, which established the of the people as has the Canadian sugar combine. There is, Mr. Wilson affirms, a brighter side to the picture. Here it is: "With all its manifold failures, its final retention of many protective duties, its objectionable sugar schedule, and its excessive duties on cottons and woolens and metals, the new bill carries in it very substantial relief to the people, and must be accepted as substantial beginning of thorough and progressive tariff reform. It means cheaper clothing, cheaper tools. cheaper pottery, and many other necessaries for the people. It means freer and larger commerce with those nations that buy our farm products, and consequent larger and better markets for our farmers. It means a transfer of some of the burdens of government from what goes out for the daily purchase of the necessaries of life to that which comes in over and above the amount needed for such purchases. If we denounce some of its duties and rates, it is because what may be much lower than the duties and rates of the McKinley bill are vet enormities in a Democratic bill. But as the President well said, we have gained a vantage ground from which we shall continue to shell the camp of monopoly. The day of mad protection is over in this country; McKinleyism will disappear as a the demand will, I think, be unlimited and | dark and hideous blight from our statute books. VERITIES.

... "Along the banks of the Athabasca River, in the muskegs," says Mr. Robertson, inspector of steamboats in the Hudson Bay region of the Northwest, "a kind of coal tar lies on the surface in large deposits. At places it can be procured in a perfectly clear state. Black, liquid and strong smelling, the people boil it down and use it for tarring their boats. When boiled it solidifies like ordinary coal tar." There must be petroleum deposits in that region. France is crippled with soldierkeeping, bureaucracy, red cape, is the confession of Max O'Rell. Col. Ingersoll, the free thinker, denies hat he justifies the suicide. That is well. The colonel has enough sins to answer for without adding indorsation of self-murder to the number.

Hong Kong, Aug. 31 .- A terrible fire has occurred on the Canton River. A to his wife. But that extravagance was flower boat caught fire and the flames spread rapidly until hundreds of those caught were destroyed and at least 1,000 natives perished in the flames. The flower boats were moored stern to stern in rows and large numbers of natives lived upon them, The spread of the conflagration from one boat to another was so rapid that the unfortunate Chinese had no time to cut them off, and a strong wind materially helped to increase the fierce fires.

Many hundreds of persons on board the flower boats leaped overboard and were drowned, while several hundred others remained on board the doomed craft and perished in the flames.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 31 .- It is estimated by Joseph Gruenhut, statistician of the health department, that three-fourths of the working people who were out of employment a year ago are now earning wages. He bases his estimate on the reports made by the factory inspectors. About 100,000 persons were out of work last summer, and 75,000 of them are now employed.

In their room were found mould plates, plaster of paris, metal, a melting pot and some counterfeit American silver dollars and quarter-dollars. Neither dollars nor quarters were good imitations. ELECTRICAL MUSCLE MAKING. Some recent scientific researches, which the Electrical World says can doubtless be trusted, show that the weight of muscles of animals was increased 40 per cent by a proper periodic application of an electric current, the growth being a true development of the muscle. According to this it will now be possible to increase to order size of any desired muscle without tiresome gymnastic exercises, by simply lying in a soft chair and having the current applied. This, we suggest, might be done at night by anautomaticapparatus, thus saving time. Persons who are improperly developed may now be balanced or "trued up"; muscles shrunken by age may now be made plump again. Calves, which nature or exercise has failed to develop sufficiently, will now no longer be a drawback to wearing knee breeches or the short bloomers of the female bicyclist. The question naturally suggests itself. What will happen if this process of developing muscles electrically is continued still longer? If some way is then found to develop the bones, the manufacture of giants by electrical means will be an easy matter.

A writer says in London Truth: "All the children of the King or Denmark cycle. I heard that the Czarowitch owes the great improvement which has taken place in his health to cycling. Some years ago he was very delicate and thought to have a weak heart and a nervous system rather out of gear. The symptoms which gave uneasiness have disappeared."

"Everybody is discussing the power of Zimmerman, this 'Flying Yankse,' whom the goddess of fortune has endowed with wings from the cradle," says Velocipede Illustree. "Some speak of special training, others of a skillful massage and secret tricks. A pointer comes to us from Puy de Dome. The invincible Zim simply has invisible propellers in the place of ball bearings which enable him to play with his competitors. If you do not believe it

Charlie White, of the London Bicycle Club, won a valuable silver tea service by securing first prize in the one mile 2:40 class at the Brantford meet yesterday. He rode the final heat in 2:31. FOOTBALL.

LONDON OLUB OFFICERS. The adjourned meeting of the Lendon Rugby football team was held at the Tecumseh House last night, when a most enthusiastic crowd of gentlemanly fellows were in attendance, including: Welferstan Thomas, Geo. N. Sayer, Dr. Jento, H. Pope, J. E. Jeffery, J. C. Lockhart, Doc Graydon, Geo. Sippi, Bert Harding, F. Reid, F. Beltz, R. Lind, H. R. Lyon, A. Executive Committee-H. L. Milligan, W. Thomas, Geo. Macbeth, F. Beltz, A. Sippi, R. Lind. The colors of the club will be chosen by the executive. Several members from Stratford desire to become members of the club, and the secretary was authorized to state that they will be admitted and have the same privileges as members living in the city. Practice will begin at once, and members will be out in full strength to put themselves in trim for the contests which will commence about Oct. 1. London has this year a splendid team, and all are in hopes of winning the trophy for the intermediate championship for 1894.

LAWN TENNIS. GREAT GAME AT NIAGARA. NIAGARA, Ont., Aug. 30 .- The greatest tennis ever seen in Canada was witnessed here today. Matthews, Canadian champion, put up a very fine game in the first set against Malcolm Chase and beat him-6-4. But Chase won the next two sets-

6-2, 6-1. In the morning Chase beat Avery, of Detroit, 7-5, 6-0; Foote, of Yale, beat Griffin, 6-3, 6-1. Chase and Foote play in the finals tomorrow, and the winner meets F. Ward, of Rochester, in the cup round on Saturday. In the ladies' singles, Miss Osborne, Canadian 'ady champion beat Miss Newman, of Detroit, 6-1, 7-5. Mrs. Whitehead defeated Miss Maule, 6-4, 6-2. In the novice singles C. Whitbeck, of Rochester, beat Chisholm, of Toronto, 6-4, 6-4. McMaster, of Toronto, defeated B. Whitbeck, Rochester, 6-2, 6-2. The two winners play in the finals to-morrow. The handicap was well advanced. In the men's doubles Wilson and Meadows, of Buffalo, beat the Pope brothers, of Yale. Chase and Foote, beat Meldrum and Anderson, of Toionto. Matthews and Avery beat Rapelyea and

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered. won by Dolce (California), the favorite. The 2:35 pace had to be postponed after Billy C had taken two heats. AT AMHERSTBURG.

AMBERSTRUEG, Ont., Aug. 30.—The third lay's meeting of the Amberstburg Driving Park Association was one of the largest meetings ever held here. United States Landowners.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 .-- The census office today made public the principal results of the investigation of farm and home proprietorship which was made in all of the states and territories. This is the first investigation of the kind ever conducted for this or any other country. Of the 12,690,152 families in the whole country, 47.80 per cent own their own farms and homes, and 52.20 per cent hire, and of the families owning their farms and homes 27.97 per cent have incumbrances thereon, and 72.03 no incumbrances, Among 100 families on the average 52 hire their farms and homes, 35 own free of incumbrance and 13 own subject to incumbrances.

Regarding the onion yield the report says it will be the smallest in many years and the quality inferior; average yield only 172 bushels per acre against 243 last last year. Total crop under 1,775,000 bushels, or about 32 per cent less than the past two years.

The redseming features of the hep situation, says the report, is the fact that the supply of old hops, Sept. 1, is much less than for several seasons. The average yield per acre is less than last year, but this is offset by the excellent condition of MONTREAL, Montreal, Aug. 30.—There were about 500 head of butchers' cattle, 150 calves, 1,200 muthead of butchers cattle, for earlies, 1,200 materior critters, 60 store hogs, and 40 young pigs offered at the East End abattoir today. Butchers were out in considerable numbers, but sales were slow, and prices were unsatisfactory to the drovers, still tending downwards. The best lot on the market, 21 head, and 23c per lb to be shipped to Great factory to the drovers, still tending downwards. The best lot on the market, 21 head, sold at 3%c per lb, to be shipped to Great Britain. The best butchers' cattle sold at about 3%c per lb; pretty good stock at from 3c to 3%c per lb; common dry cows and half fatted steers, from 2%c to 2%c, and the leaner beast at from 1%c to 2c per lb. A lot of six young cattle, yearlings and 2-year-olds, were sold for $84, or an average of $14 each, being considerably less than 2c per lb, and they were by no means the worst conditioned cattle on the market. Calves were more plentiful and slightly lower in price, ranging from $2 50 to $9 each. Shippers are paying from 3%c to 3%c per lb for good large sheep, and the others are sold at from $2 to $3 50 each. Good lambs sell in lots at $2.75 each and the others at from $1 50 to $2.25 each. Fat hogs are more plentiful and lower in price, or from 5%c to 5%c per lb. There is an active demand for store hogs at prices ranging from $7 to $11 each. Young pigs bring from $1 to $3 each.

-A meeting of the trustees of the hospital fund was held in the mayor's office this morning, Messrs. W. S. Colvert, warden; R. R. Bland, the mayor, and Treasurer Pope being present. The fund amounts to nearly $20,000 and arose in 1872, when the institution known as the London Savings Bank wound up its affairs and donated $15,690 to the city and country jointly. The money was allotted to the maintenance of patients in the hospital, and has since been devoted to that purpose. Part of the fund-$6,500 -formerly in city of London debentureshas matured, and the meeting was held to arrange for a reinvestment of the amount. It was left with the treasurer to ascertain what can be done.

The Water Going Down. The long-continued drought is now commencing to have a very serious effect on the reservoir at Springbank. At the commissioners' meeting on Tuesday a report by Chief Engineer Findlay stated that there were eleven feet in the pond. Since then the water has been gradually going down, until now the ten foot mark is barely covered. The river is so low that it has been necessary to shut the hydraulic machinery down. The steam pumps are running continuously.

"I knew your knock, Dr. Rane, and came o the door myself. Step into the parlor. 1 Fant to speak to you."

The doctor did not want to go in by any neans, and felt caught. He said he had no me to stay; had merely called, in passing, to ask how she was.

Well, I'm better this evening; the swimming in the head is less. You just come in, low. I won't keep you two minutes. Shut the door, girl, after Dr. Rane.'

This was to a smart housemaid, who had followed her mistress down the wide, handsome passage. Dr. Rane perforce stepped in, very unwillingly. He felt instinctively convinced that Mrs. Gass had heard of the calamity at the Hall and wished to question him, To avoid this he would have gone a mile any other way.

"I want to get at the truth about Edmund North, doctor. One of the maids from the Hall called in just now and said he had been frightened into a fit through some letter: and that you were fetched to him." "Well, that is true," said the doctor, ac cepting the situation.

"My patience!" ejaculated Mrs. Gass.
"What was writ in the letter? She said it was one of them anonymous things."

"So it was."
"Was it writ to himself?"

"No. To Mr. North."
"Well, now,"—dropping her voice—"was it about that young woman he got acquainted with? You know."

And Dr. No, no; nothing of that sort." And Dr. ne, as the shortest way of ending the er, gave her the details. There was not much in the letter," he said, in confidential tones. "No harm would have come of it but for Edmund North's rightful access of passion. If he dies, mind," he doctor added this in a dreamy tone, ing out as if looking into the future-"if ies, it will not be the letter that has ed him, but his own want of self con-

Gass would fain have kept him but he told her the sick man Ketler iting for him. This man was one of orth workmen, who had been terribly red in the arm; Dr. Rane hoped to save arm and life.

That receipt for the rhubarb jam Mrs. umberland promised; is it ever coming? asked Mrs. Gass as Dr. Rane was quitting the room.

Turning back, he put his hat on the table and took out his pocket book. Mrs. Cumberland had sent it at last. He selected the paper from amongst several others and handed it to her.

"I forgot to leave it when I was here this morning, Mrs. Gass. My mother gave it me

Between them they dropped the receipt. Both stooped for it, and their heads came together. There was a slight laugh; in the midst of which the pocket book fell on the carpet. Some papers fluttered out of it, which the doctor picked up and replaced. 'Have you got them all, doctor? How is the young lady's cold?'

"What young lady's?" he questioned.
"Miss Adair's."

I did not know she had one 'Ah, them love w girls with their bright faces never show their ailments; and she is lovely, if ever one was lovely in this terrestrial world. Good night to you, doctor; you're in a mortal hurry."

He strode to the street door and it closed sharply after him. Mrs. Gass looked out of her parlor and saw the same smart maid hastening along the passage; a little too late.

"Drat it, wench! is that the way you let gentlefolk show themselves out?-scuttering to the door when they've got clean away from it. D'you call that manners?"

CHAPTER II.

The day promised to be as warm as the preceding one. The night and morning mists were gone; the sun shone het and bright. Summer seemed to have come in before its time.

Two white gothic villas stood side by side just within the neck of Da lory Ham, a few yards of garden and some clustering shrubs between them. They were built alike. The side windows, facing each other over this strip of ground, were large projecting bay windows, and belonged to the dining These houses were originally erected for two maiden sisters. A large and beautiful garden lay at the back, surround. ing the two villas, only a slender wire fence, that a child might have stepped over, dividing it. Entering the Ham from the direction of Dallory, these houses stood on the left; in the first of them lived Mrs. Cumberland, the mother of Oliver Rane. She had been married twice; hence the difference in name. The second house was occupied by Dr. Rane himself. They lay back with a strip of grass before them, the entrance doors being level with the ground. Let us go into the doctor's: turning the handle of the door without ceremony, as Dr. Rane's more familiar patients are wont to do. The hall is small, narrowing off at the upper end to a passage, and lighted with stained glass. On the left of the entrance is the consulting room, not much larger than a closet; beyond it is the dining room, a spacious apartment, with its bay window, already spoken of, looking to the other house. Opposite the dining room across the passage is the white flagged kitchen; and the drawing room lies in front, on the right of the entrance. Not being furnished it is chiefly kept shut up. A back door opens to the garden.

Oliver Rane sat in his consulting room the Whitborough Journal, damp from the press, in his hand. It was just twelve o'clock and he had to go out, but the news-paper was attracting him. By seven o'clock that morning he had been at the Hall, and lear that there was no material change in the patient lying there; he had then gone on, early though it was, to see the man, Ketler The journal gave the details of Mr. North's seizure with tolerable accuracy, and concuded its account in these words: "We have reason to know that a clue has been obtained to the anonymous writer." "A clue to the writer!" repeated Dr. Rane, his eyes appearing glued to the words. I wonder if it's true?—No, no; it is not likely," came the quiet, contemptuous decision. "How should any clue—"

He stopped suddenly; rose from his chair, and stood erect and motionless, as if some thought had struck him. A fine man; almost as good looking at a casual glance as another who was stepping in upon him.
The front door had opened, and this one was lightly tapped at. Dr. Rane paused before he answered it, and a fierce look of inquiry, as if he did not care to be inter-rupted, shot from his eyes.

"Come in."

A tall, slender, and very handsome man, younger than Dr. Rane, opened the door slowly. There was a peculiar refinement in his proud fair features; a dreamy look in his dark blue eyes. An attractive face at all times and seasons, whose owner it was im-possible to mistake for anything but an upight, well bred gentleman. It was Arthur Bohun; Captain Bohun, as he was very generally called. He was the only son of Mrs. North by her former marriage with Major Bohun, and of course stop-son to Mr.

"Any admittance, doctor?" "Always admittance to you," answered the dector, who could be affable or not, as suited his mood, "Why don't you come

He came in with his pleasant smile; a smile that hid the natural pride of the face. Oliver Rane put down the newspaper. "Well, is there any change in Edmund

North?"
"The very slightest in the world, the doctors think; and for the better," replied Captain Bohun. "Dick told me. I have not been in myself since early morning. I cannot bear to look on extrems suffering." A ghost of a smile flitted across Dr. Rane's features at the avowal. He could understand a woman disliking to look on suffering, but not a man. And the one before him had been a soldier! Captain Bohun sas down on an uncom fortable wooden stool as he spoke, gently throwing back his light summer overcoat. He imparted the idea of never being put out over any earthly thing. The movement displayed his cool white waistcoat, across which fell a dainty gold chain with its transparent sapphire seal of rare and costly

"You have begun the summer early!" re marked the doctor, glancing at Captain Bohun's attire.

A Man Made Happy .- GENTLEMEN, -For five years I have been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only seemed a drag to me. When I would go to sleep I would have horrible dreams. and my life became very miserable, as there was no rest either day or night. But with the use of only two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this una well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the wonderful curative qualities possessed by this medicine, that are specially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything, and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGE-TABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim for it.

A PEANUT FACTORY.

How the Succulent Nuts Are Made Ready

for Commerce. When the peanuts arrive at the factory they are rough and earth-stained, and of all sizes and qualities, jumbled together. The bags are first taken up by iron arms projecting from an endless chain, to the fifth story of the factory. Here they are weighed and emptied into large bins. From these bins they fall to the next story, into large cylinders, fourteen feet long, which revolve rapidly, and by friction the nuts are cleansed from the earth which clings to them, and polished, so that they come out white and glistening.

From this story the nuts fall through shoots to the third and most interesting floor. Imagine rows of long, narrow tables, each divided lengthwise into three sections by thin, inch-high strips of wood. These strips also surround the edge of the table. Each of these sections is floored with a strip of heavy white canvas, which moves incessantly from the mouth of a shoot to an opening leading down below at the further end of the table. These slewlymoving canvas bands, about a foot wide, are called the "picking-aprons." Upon the outer aprons of each table, dribbles down from the shoot a slender stream of peanuts, and on each side of the table, so close together as scarcely to have "elbow room," stand rows of negro girls and women, picking out the inferior peanuts as they pass, and throwing them into the central section. So fast do their hands move at this work that one cannot see what they are doing till they cast a handful of nuts into the central division. By the time a nut has passed the sharp eyes and quick hands of eight or ten pickers, one may be quite certain that it is a firstclass article, fit for the final plunge down two stories, into a bag which shall presently be marked with a brand which will command for it the highest market price.

The peanuts from the central aprons fall only to the second story, where they undergo yet another picking over, on similar tables, the best of these forming the second grade. The third grade of peanuts, or what remains after the second picking, is then turned into a machine which crushes the shells and separates them from the kernels. These are sold to manufacturers of candy, while the shells are ground up and used for horse bedding. So no part of this little fruit, vegetable or nut, whichever it may turn out to be, is finally wasted, but all serve some useful purpose. -Blue and Gray.

Sandow A Hypnotic Subject:

A circumstantial account was given in a New York newspaper of a private seance in that city last week, in which a professor of hypnotism operated with complete success on the strong man. It should be mentioned that the operator and the subject are intimate personal friends, and that they, therefore, thoroughly understand each other. The details of the experiment are much the same as those with which the public is familiar in reports of hypnotic seances. At a word from the doctor the giant went into a profound hypnotic sleep. When in this state his arms and legs were paralyzed so that he could not move them when bidden to do so. Although a man of peace, he became a soldier under hypnotic suggestion and assumed a military position. He next was turned into a prize-fighter, notwithstanding happy state has all been changed and I am! his repugnance to the fistic art. Salt was given him to eat, and when told that it was sugar he asked for more of it. He could not lift a small dumbbell weighing two pounds when it was suggested that it was too heavy for his strength.

> The Camera's Power. Hardly a day passes but new and important photographs are made. New stars have revealed worlds that have ever been obscured from man, worlds rolling and shining, but hitherto utterly obscured in the mist of incomprehensible space. It is difficult to realize how far these worlds are from us. One of the most popular lecturers on astronomy is Sir Robert Ball, who uses simple and graphic illustrations to give his hearers ideas of magnitude and distance. For instance, he says that going at the rate of the electric telegraph-i.e., 186,000 miles a second-it would take 78 years to telegraph a message to the most distant telescopic stars. But the camera has revealed stars far more distant than these, some of which, if a message had been sent in the year A. D. 1that is to say, 1890 years ago-the messages would only just have reached some of them, and be still on the way to others, going at the rate of 186,000 miles a second. -New York World.

-The firemen had a run last night, but their services were not needed. About 8:30 an alarm was sent in from box 31, corner of Bathurt and Waterloo streets. A box of waste and other combustible material had caught fire on the Grand Trunk property near the coal shoots adjoining the north side of Bathurst street. The flames were extinguished before the brigade arrived. Loss trifling.

-Secretary Browne of the London exhibition has engaged the W. M. S. Band for Tuesday, Sept. 18. This will be a grand opportunity for the citizens to accompany our excellent band to the Forest City and attend the fair, as we understand special train service and low rates will be arranged for. Visitors to the fair on the above date may rely on being treated to a choice programme of music, as our band will certainly prove itself one of the attractions of the day .- [Waterloo Chronicle. -Pride of the East Circle, No. 55, Companions of the Forest, held another enjoyable social in the horticultural building of Queen's Park last night. The Robin Hood Drill Corps has since Capt. John Brown assumed charge made a vast improvement in the execution of fancy movements and more than astonished the spectators. An entirely new set of moves was carried out in clockwork manner. The evening was concluded with a dance. Mrs. Gibling, Mrs. Head, Mrs. Butler and Miss Drewe comprised the committee in charge of the affair.

Promenade Band Concert.

Something in the line of a garden party indoors was held at the Westminster Rink last evening. Forest Home Circle, Companions of the Forest, of South London, was the lodge under whose auspices and for whose benefit the entertainment was held. The rink was tastefully decorated with festoons of Chinese lanterns, bunting and evergreens, while tables were scattered around at which ice cream and other delicacies could be had. Booths were also erected, at which flowers and cake were dispensed. The band played choice music during the evening, and at the close the drill corps of Conclave No. 2, A. O. F., Knights of Sherwood Forest, went through their intricate movements with admirable correctness, for which they received hearty rounds of applause. The Companions of Forest Home Circle earned a nice sum by their venture. The management was ex-

Will you please answer in your valuable paper at what age are minors allowed to be in and play in pool rooms, and to whom are we to apply to prosecute in case of children under the age playing to bring proof to the extent of law? Yours, etc., FRED LOFTUS.

Port Stanley, Aug. 30, 1894. [Note.-The keeper of a licensed billiard, pool or bagatelle room admitting a minor under the age of 16 years thereto, and allowing him to remain without the consent of his parent or guardian, is subject to a fine of not exceeding $10 for first offense and not exceeding $20 for second offense, to be imposed on summary conviction by a justice of the peace. Anyone may be the prosecutor. There is no special officer appointed for the purpose of enforcing the act. Cap. 204 Revised Statutes of Ontario. The village constable should act on the facts being brought to his notice .-EDITOR ADVERTISER.

THE DUTY ON SALT.

Canada Will Have to Pay Eight Cents

a Hundred. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30 .- Secretary Carlisle has issued a circular to all collectors of customs calling attention to paragraph 608 of the new tariff act, which admits salt free of duty, but provides that the coverings in which it is imported shall pay the same rate of duty as if imported separately; and further "that if salt is imported from any country which imposes a duty upon salt exported from the United States, then there shall be levied, paid and collected upon such salt the rate of duty existing prior to the passage of this act.'

That is 8 cents per 100 pounds. The principal countries imposing a salt duty are: Canada, Austria. Argentine, Brazil, France, Germany, Mexico, Russia, Australian provinces and Spain.

The Sealey Case.

TORONTO, Aug. 30 .- The statement that the Provincial authorities have decided to take no further steps in regard to the case of Charles Sealey, of Vienna, whose death by arsenical poisoning, is untrue. Provincial Constable J. G. Clayton has been working industriously on the case, and the result of his investigations, together with the evidence and finding of the coroner's jury, and the report of the analysis made by Prof. Harrison, of London, have been received at the Attorney-General's department. Mr. John Cartthe papers have been received at the for 25c per pair, wright, Deputy Attorney General, says department, and he would undertake their perusal tomorrow. The jury returned a verdict attributing death to arsenical poisoning, but it was not charged in the verdict that any particular person was guilty. Any action taken by the department would be in the form of a notification
