BUT SALVADOR WINS AGAIN*Two More Severe Engagements in Central American War—Salvadoreans Like Japs.

San Salvador, July 18.—Notwithstanding President Cabrera's agreement with the President of Mexico to cease fighting pending peace negotiations in Central America, two sharp engagements have occurred in Salvador, just across the Guatemalan border. One was at Patanar and the other at Metapana. The Salvadoreans were victorious in both engagements.

Within two hours after Cabrera agreed to suspend hostilities his troops attacked the Salvadorean army at Patanar, only to be defeated by the latter Monday morning. The fighting at Metapana occurred Monday afternoon. Both Patanar and Metapana are objective points in the march to Santa Ana, the summer capital of Salvador. Neither in the history of any country has there been such a patriotic spirit shown as in Salvador at the present time. Rich and poor are served alike as shown in the engagement yesterday. In one of the engagements, Adelberto Guirio, son of the millionaire, Agel Guirio, lost his life. He was a graduate of West Point, and when the war broke out enlisted with thousands of his countrymen. He was about 30 years old, and worth a half million dollars in his own right. This is not the only case of rich men enlisting. There are members of almost every rich family in Salvador now at the front.

Acadajuta, Salvador, July 18.—The steamer Empire, owned and operated by revolutionists in Guatemala, arrived here from Corinto yesterday. It was formally turned over to the Salvadorean Government. The latter will arm the vessel and use it as a gunboat in west coast operations.

NEW YORK FACES
GIGANTIC STRIKE*Union Threatens to Call 100,000 Men in Building Trades.

New York, July 18.—According to the World an ultimatum embodying a threat to order a general strike among more than 50,000 members of the building trades was delivered yesterday by the Associated Building Trades to employers in this city.

On receipt of the ultimatum the Master Plumbers' Association which is the employers' organization, called a conference in Terrace Garden. The association states that 800 strikebreakers have been secured and are now on their way to New York.

The situation developed yesterday from a strike among 1,500 plumbers, members of local No. 2, which began about two weeks ago.

The strikers' places were filled by members of a union affiliated with the United National Association of Journeymen Plumbers. This union is known as local No. 480. The Associated Building Trades, which controls plasterers, bricklayers, plumbers and other allied trades, notified the employers yesterday that members of local No. 480, who are filling the places of strikers must be discharged from work on buildings affected by the strike now prevailing. The notification further states that unless this is done the Associated Building Trades will call out its members. Union men said yesterday that a general strike order might affect 100,000 workmen, and that building operations throughout the city would come to a halt.

Beit's Will Provides For Big University

Pretoria, July 18.—It is stated here that the estate of Alfred Beit, who died in London Sunday, will be vested in the trustees of the estate of Cecil Rhodes and applied to similar purposes as the Rhodes estate. Special provision is made for the endowment on a prodigious scale of a university, a technical college, and a secondary school in the Suesenwald estate, between Pacas, the Hot-Tempered.

Washington, July 18.—It is rumored that Senator Jose Rosa Pacas, the Salvadorean minister of the interior, who was appointed by President Escalon to come to the United States and present Salvador's side of the Central American dispute, may be named by the United States to represent it at the conference to be held on the U. S. cruiser Marblehead. This rumor has caused much comment in diplomatic circles because of the notoriety Senator Pacas attained by his conduct after the announcement of the unfavorable award in the case of the Salvadorean Commercial Company against Salvador. In that case the American company sought to recover from Salvador $500,000 for damages it suffered as the result of the seizure by the Government of harbor improvements the corporation had made at one of the Salvadorean ports. After long dispute the case was submitted to arbitration in Washington with Senator Pacas representing Salvador, Chief Justice Henry Strong as the neutral member of the commission and Don M. Dickinson as the American representative. The members of the commission met for weeks at the Arlington Hotel in this city and when the award was announced, Mr. Pacas bitterly charged the two other members of the commission with treating him and his government with "the grossest unfairness." Sir Henry Strong personally repented the attack on his action and a scene followed. Senator Pacas storming about the hotel in a great rage.

Salvador protested the decision of the arbitrators, in violation of the cardinal principles of arbitration and delayed the payment of the award of $523,173 for a long time. The state department was compelled to make representations to Salvador repeatedly. Finally the attorneys for the company despaired of ever collecting the full amount of the award agreed to compromise in 1903 and the case is said to have been settled for about $300,000.

John Roberts, 18 years of age, pleaded guilty before Squire Chittick this morning to a charge of stealing a stove and an iron pump from John Begg, a farmer, of con. 5, Westminster Township. He was committed to be brought before the county judge, the magistrate having no power to impose the punishment in such a case.

Roberts has a record which will not be at all in his favor when he is up for sentence. He has been sent to Mimico Industrial School on two different occasions, and in March last, while doing time there, he escaped from the institution in his night-clothes. Barefooted, he went fifteen miles before he succeeded in getting clothing and shoes. However, a little thing like that did not bother Johnny, especially when it meant freedom to him.

Roberts managed to elude the police until a few days ago, when he was trapped by County Constable John D. McCall and his 17-year-old son.

Roberts is said to be wanted in Ingersoll on a charge of stealing, committed since he escaped from Mimico. The prisoner is wiry and cunning, and is not being given any opportunity to make a hurried flight from that abomination of the wrongdoer—Castle Carter.

BIG EXCURSION DAY
Grand Trunk Carried 8,000 to Falls from Hamilton and Brantford.

The Grand Trunk did a great excursion business on the seventeenth district today, although only a small portion of it was from London.

The annual excursion of London Council, No. 75, of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends, was held to Sarnia, and about 800 patronized it. The special left at 6:30, and made a good run to the Tunnel Town, where many of the excursionists took the boat for Detroit.

Today the annual picnic of the grocers of Hamilton and Brantford was held at Niagara Falls, and as usual, it proved to be one of the biggest of the season. So far as Hamilton is concerned, all of the natives appear to look on the grocers' outing as one that cannot be missed. No less than seven special trains were required to carry the crowd, which is supposed to number at least 5,000 persons.

Brantford did not send as many to the Falls, although it did well, all things considered. Three special trains were run from there, and as each was heavily loaded, it was estimated that the crowd would be 3,000 strong.

David Glass, Ex-M. P., Dead;
Former Mayor of London*Prominent in Public Life Here in Early Days—Led Bolt-ers in Commons.

Hon. David Glass, at one time one of the best known public men in Canada, is dead, at his home in Spokane, Wash. A message received by Mr. Samuel Glass, of this city, last night, announced the passing of his brother. He was 76 years of age.

The deceased had been an invalid for the past two years, as the result of a paralytic stroke, and his death was not entirely unexpected. Interment will take place in Spokane, and it is understood that the widow, with the two surviving children, Mr. Chester Glass and Miss Eva Glass, will return to London shortly to reside.

Mrs. Glass is a sister of Lady Carling, wife of Sir John Carling, Mrs. Wm. McDonough, of Dufferin avenue, and Mrs. Worthington, of Toronto.

Mr. Samuel Glass is the only surviving brother.

The late David Glass had a remarkable career. He was a lawyer, and practiced in this city for many years. He was elected mayor of London in 1858, and again in 1865 and 1866.

In 1872 he was elected a supporter of the John A. Macdonald government, representing East Middlesex, but the government shortly afterward was defeated by Alexander Mackenzie, in 1873. Mr. Glass then continued to practice as a barrister in this city, and some time later he left for the Canadian west, taking up his residence in Winnipeg.

There he acted as city solicitor for a number of years. He also came into prominence as a public man there, and was elected a member of the Manitoba Legislature, later becoming speaker of the House.

Some years ago he removed to Spokane, where he entered into business, in which his success was marked.

Interesting Life Story.
Probably the life story of few public men in Canada, past or present, teems with greater interest than that of David Glass. He was the son of the late Samuel Glass, a baker, who also kept a flour store on Talbot street in the days gone by. He studied law in the office of J. H. Flock, K. C., and he proved himself an apt student. He always had a penchant for being before the public, and he developed into a very fine speaker. He sat as alderman of London for some years before he was elected mayor in 1858. With him at the time he was an alderman was Sir John Carling, who is perhaps the only surviving brother.

FLANGE BREAKS;
7 CARS DITCHED*Heavy Freight Train Piled Over Embankment Near Varney, Ontario.

Durham, Ont., July 18.—At Varney, three miles south of here, last evening while a freight train of seventeen cars was en route from Palmerston to this place with coal and clay for the National Portland Cement Company's works, a flange on the wheel of a large coal hopper broke, and this car and seven others left the track, and went over the embankment, distributing their contents in all directions. Three other flats also left the track, but were not much damaged, and after unloading were easily replaced in position.

The engine and the first three cars and the caboose with the last three cars were damaged in any manner and stuck to the rails.

The report of Mr. J. Connor, the Toronto bridge expert, as to the condition of the bridges on the line of the L. and P. S. R. was received in full by Mayor Judd today.

It gives the expert's opinion on the safety especially of the bridges over Kettle and Mill creeks, and it is not in any way different in this regard to the report published in the Advertiser on July 1.

In brief, Mr. Connor points out that while the bridges are not in some respects up to the specifications in point of strength, they are capable of carrying the loads which they were built to carry any reasonable load so long as the brakes are not applied while trains are moving over the bridge.

GOOD FOR THE AMIRAfghanistan's Ruler Comes Out Strongly for Education.

Lahore, Punjab, British India, July 18.—The Amir of Afghanistan has issued a notable pronouncement on the subject of education in his domains. He says education is retrogressing, but the fault does not rest with the teachers, but with the Government officials, who discourage education, dreading its leveling tendencies. The amir warns the high-born officials that they must either change their attitude in this connection or be changed. Henceforth, he says, education will be the sole path to state service.

KING CAN'T COME;
EMPIRE TOO BIG*Would Have to Visit All, an Impossible Task.*GRATEFUL FOR THE INVITATION*His Majesty Recalls His Trip Through the Dominion as the Prince of Wales.

Ottawa, July 18.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra are not to visit Canada. The text of His Majesty's answer appears in an extra of The Canada Gazette issued yesterday and is as follows:

Downing Street, July 7.
"My Lord.—As requested in Your Lordship's dispatch of May 25, I have submitted to His Majesty the joint address to the King from the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, expressing their loyalty and devotion to His Majesty the King and Her Majesty the Queen will be graciously pleased to visit the Dominion.

"His Majesty has been pleased to receive the address very graciously. "I need scarcely remind Your Lordship of two circumstances which must not be overlooked in consideration of these proposals. In the first place, the current business of the empire, which is continuous and incessant, imposes a heavy tax on the time and strength of its sovereign, and it is well known that the absence of His Majesty from this country for any length of time is difficult, if not impossible, except under very definite limitations and restrictions, even when considerations of health and need for comparative rest render it expedient.

"In the second place, it must be remembered that there are practically no limits, within the habitable globe, to the distances which must be traveled to reach all parts of the British Empire, and that it would be difficult for the King to visit one important part of his dominions and decline to visit another.

"It was, no doubt, these two facts which influenced her late Majesty Queen Victoria, with wise foresight, to determine that her son should, in his youth, visit various colonies and possessions of the empire, of which he was one day to become ruler; and accordingly His Majesty, while Prince of Wales, paid a visit to Canada, to which reference is made in this address.

"Following the same counsels, the present Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family have been untiring in visiting even the most distant parts of the empire and have always been received as representatives of His Majesty with utmost tenderness and loyalty.

"I am commanded by His Majesty to make mention of these considerations, because he would wish his loyal subjects in Canada, and especially the Senate and House of Commons, to understand that he is deeply touched and gratified by the terms of their address and by the desire expressed that, with Her Majesty the Queen, he should visit the Dominion.

"His Majesty retains a vivid recollection, even after the lapse of many years, of his former visit, of the enthusiasm and interest of the country and of the everywhere greeted him. He is well aware that it would be difficult to recognize the features of Canada he then learned to know in the great Dominion, whose rapid growth in all that contributes to the development and prosperity of a nation has been so astonishing, and no greater triumph could be offered to the head of any empire than to be himself witness of a progress so remarkable.

"In the face, however, of many and strong inducements which prompt him to gratify the loyal wishes of his Canadian subjects, I am to say that the King feels unable at present to entertain the idea of a journey to Canada.

Whether the difficulties suggested in an early portion of this dispatch, could be overcome, it is premature to discuss now. But His Majesty desires that Your Lordship should make it known to all that he is prevented by necessities of his position, and not by any lack of appreciation of loyalty and devotion of the people of Canada to his throne and person.

"I have the honor to be your obedient servant, ELGIN."

MASONIC GRAND
MASTER'S ADDRESS*Opening Session of Canadian Lodge at Toronto.*ORGANIZATION IS FLOURISHING*Increase of 2,000 During Last Year Reported and Financial Showing Is Excellent.

Toronto, July 18.—Masonic Grand Master W. B. Bro. J. H. Burritt, K. C., in his address today referred to the honor of the position he occupied and as one which was the highest in the gift of an organization that had no superior among human societies. Concerning the craft he said: "The general state of the craft in the jurisdiction is healthy. Our net membership has increased by about 2,000, making our total membership over 37,000. Our income to May 31 last, was $34,377, as against $32,001 for last year, a net increase of $2,376. This is most gratifying as the jubilee year was the largest in history.

Concerning the accumulation of unpaid dues, he urged every master to make this one of the important matters of the year, not by forcing payment under suspension, but to satisfy the selves of a member's ability to pay a where this was doubtful the teaching of Masonry should be exercised to the relief of the brother.

San Francisco Grateful.

The grand master read the correspondence between the grand master of California and himself and the acknowledgment of $1,000 from the Grand Lodge of Canada to the afflicted brethren and a check for $25 as a special contribution from Civil Service Lodge, Ottawa. Grand Master Flint, of California describing the efforts of the San Francisco Masons says the Masonic Temple at Oakland was converted into a relief station, and 20,000 meals served to the destitute whether they were Masons or not. The lower floors were used as sleeping apartments for women and the upper floors for the men. Eighteen wagons were kept busy taking provisions to the fire-stricken city.

During the year warrants were issued as follows: Tottenham 467, Peel 468, Caledon 468, Algoma 469, South St. Marie, Victoria 470, Victoria Harbor and King Edward Seventh 471, at Chippewa.

There was, he said, a disposition among the lodges to increase the fee, and this was a step in the right direction. But in the bylaws sent for his approval he has refused to give the right of lodges to deprive brethren of their vote in annual meetings who are not year in arrears.

During the year 216 dispensations of all sorts were granted and three cornerstones laid. Five lodges of instruction had also been held.

Up to July 1, $38,389 had been collected for the semi-centennial fund, leaving $69,000 yet to be raised.

The report of the grand secretary, Hugh Murray, of Hamilton, shows that during the year $4,694 was received from certificates, $16,758 from dues, $210 from fees, and $3,820 interest on debentures in Hamilton, Brockville, Brantford, St. Thomas, and cash in the bank. The financial situation is a gratifying one.

As to Rulings.
Regarding rulings, which have been many, the grand master has set his face against the grouping of candidates for initiation. They must be taken separately in the first up to the charge, separately in the second up to and inclusive to the obligation, and the explanation of the same in the third up to the raising. It is also laid down that no candidate can be accepted who has not been a resident for one year in the Mason district in which he makes application. If he moves to another district he may be initiated there at any time, having first secured the sanction of the lodge by way of certificate and the approval of the grand master.

LADY CURZON ILLWife of the Ex-Indian Viceroy Indisposed at Walmer Castle.

London, July 18.—The condition of Lady Curzon of Kedleston, who has been ill or some days, is about the same today. Her illness, while severe, apparently is not dangerous. She has been in bed for ten days. Lady Curzon appears to have never quite recovered from her serious illness at Walmer Castle, Kent, in 1904, and the recent hot weather brought on a pronounced attack of general debility.

TERROR SPREADS IN THE TRANSVAAL

Johannesburg in Fear of Kaffir Uprising.

MALTREAT MEN AND WOMEN

The Peril is Growing and Whites Are Purchasing Firearms in Large Numbers.

Johannesburg, July 17.—Increasing lawlessness among the Kaffirs has thrown Johannesburg into a state of panic. The city is practically an armed camp, dwelling-houses have been barricaded, and gunsmiths are selling enormous quantities of rifles, revolvers, and ammunition.

This state of alarm, which, through the inaction of the authorities, is steadily growing worse, is directly traceable to the efforts of the missionaries and representatives of the Ethiopian Church, who are penetrating into every corner of the country preaching the sinister doctrine of "Africa for the Africans."

The eruption of lawlessness in Johannesburg proper is traceable to the crushing blows inflicted on the rebels in Natal. Whether due to a spirit of retaliation or an alleged universal conspiracy engineered by Dinuzulu, the fact remains that within a month 20 Europeans have been held up by native ruffians after nightfall.

Six white women, who ventured out alone after nightfall, were brutally maltreated by Kaffirs. Other victims include a Wesleyan minister and his wife, two postmen who were delivering letters, and a policeman on his beat, who was suddenly attacked by several armed natives.

Two of the victims of these outrages died from their injuries, and several others are in a serious condition.

Attacks on white men and women have been especially prevalent in the southern suburbs of Johannesburg. Locks and bolts were never used in Johannesburg before the war. Today every door is protected by two or three heavy locks, often supplemented by iron bars and chains.

Many old residents who appreciate the gravity of the native unrest are even laying in stocks of provisions in case they should be besieged. The men in Johannesburg, almost without exception, have purchased firearms. In some instances they have sent to Cape Town for rifles.

Kaffir servants have become openly insolent and insubordinate. A "boy" in the employ of a well-known mining engineer was dismissed recently for impudence when he told his master that "the white people would soon be driven into the sea."

The police have arrested 13 natives possessing valuables stolen from victims held up after nightfall.

Outraged reports are received from all parts of the colony. The missionaries of the Ethiopian Church in South Africa, emboldened by the apathy of the authorities, are openly advocating the forcible restitution of the Kaffirs "rights." Hundreds of natives are joining the Ethiopian Church, which is really a political instead of a religious body.

The usual fatuity of the authorities and the crown officials has driven 700 members of the Baden-Powell Constabulary to resign, owing to the harsh measures of retrenchment recently put in operation while the colony is in imminent risk of a bloody conflict.

It is generally known that the natives have other sources of news from the outside world than through the local newspapers and the gossip of the whites. The Ethiopian Church has agents in Europe and America, and the pro-Zulu feeling manifested by one or two persons in England is undoubtedly known here.

This feeling is undoubtedly distorted and exaggerated among the natives, who believe that they will receive emphatic support in Great Britain if they attempt to assert their "rights."

If the House of Commons does anything to weaken the authority of the white man, South Africa must face a situation of horror unparalleled since the Indian mutiny.

Keir Hardie may light a fire which will destroy thousands of his countrymen before it is extinguished.

ALMOST IN DEATH CHAIR

Murderer Secures Stay When Within Hour of Execution.

New York, July 18.—John Johnson, who killed his wife in Yonkers more than a year ago, has established a new death-cheating record in Sing Sing prison. He would have been dead two months ago had not Albert T. Patrick suggested to him that he was entitled to a stay because counsel, appointed by the court, had failed to visit him between the date of trial and that set for the execution of the death sentence. On these grounds Governor Higgins granted him a stay which expired at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Johnson was worried. He had been with a priest Sunday and yesterday afternoon. After 5 o'clock the warden would lead him to the execution chamber and turn on the fatal current at any time. The warden went to see him but did not read the death warrant.

Pills for Piles.

A profligate cause of Piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature, which is always followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of Piles, Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid can be relied upon to cure—to stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Suppurating Piles.

A guarantee goes with each package containing a month's treatment. It can be obtained for $1.00 at drug stores, or The Wilson-Fyle Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

NEW SAVONAROLA STIRS LONDON

Father Bernard Vaughan's Denunciation of Smart Society Is Scathing.

London, July 17.—Smart society today is the concentrated essence of selfishness; as unclean and unwholesome as any condemned carcass canned in Chicago.

Father Bernard Vaughan, who addressed these scathing words to a fashionable church, as cabined the other day, is one of the most fearless, outspoken, and eloquent preachers in the Roman Catholic Church in England. He is a great student of books, but a still greater student of humanity, and of life as humanity lives it in all its phases.

Every year in the depth of winter he spends several weeks in the east end, living by himself in a small garret, cooking his own meals over a tiny fire, visiting and working among the poorest of London's millions. It is the experience he thus gains of the misery and wretchedness which exists at the bottom of the social scale which fills him with burning indignation against the greed, luxury, dissipation and frivolity of many of those at the top who are maintained there by conditions which necessarily impose dire and abject poverty on hundreds of thousands of their fellow-creatures. And when he gets among people of this class he tells them plainly what he thinks of them.

He preaches without notes. His straight-talking words come hot from the heart. "There are people in the west end," he said in the sermon I have quoted from above "who are nothing real about them but their sins. You women do not pretend to do your duties as wives and mothers, but you do look after your babies. The card table and its stakes are your highest ambition, and when the good cards roll into your hands, then some poor dress-maker or tailor may get a chance of having something paid on account before he or she goes into bankruptcy."

"When we read of smart society," he continued, in measured, telling phrases, "we see so set and when we know it there need be no hesitation in saying that if I lived were to revisit the earth today I would have the entire to the smartest London society set. He would be so well groomed, so well turned out, with a larger so well looked."

"He would be the ideal host to cultivate. He would do you so well and you would be sure to meet the right people. What a good time you would have at his house party in the country. What a pleasant night. Society is just as grossly material today as it was when I was in the swim."

Fearlessness is in the blood of Father Vaughan, by the traditions of his family. His great-grandfather, generations ago, the Vaughans lost their ancestral estates at Ross, in Hertfordshire, but they have all ways the same courage and courage and lofty bearing that characterize the race.

His father was Col. T. Vaughan, who served with distinction in the Crimea, and five of his seven brothers took holy orders. One of them became the cardinal of the see of London, and the other four were bishops.

The father and his sons, the high and intellectual forehead, the thin and mobile lips and the clear and ringing voice, added to his singularly striking personality.

As the Corpus Christi procession went round the square outside the church, chanting the psalm, one of the great lanterns, which are placed on long poles and carried by the men in the procession, fell crashing among the priests. The priest, thinking a bomb had been thrown at the king, who was one of the bearers of the canopy, dropped the miter and insignia in panic and tried to force the way back through the crowd and the ranks of soldiers accompanying the procession. King Carlos, however, serenely proceeded, with the Duke of Oporto and high dignitaries, without the least concern, and was then killed by the assassin's bullet.

The Queen and Princess Louise of Orleans, who were in the royal tribune, attempted in vain to restrain their wild flight, assuring them by words and gestures that only a lantern had fallen.

The procession, which is one of great pomp and solemnity, was, of course, utterly disorganized, and while all news regarding the fiasco was suppressed, the people who had assembled in hundreds to witness it heartily hooted and hissed the priest after the return of the procession to the church.

DYNAMITING ACCIDENT. Hamilton, July 17.—While exploding a charge of dynamite in a gravel pit this morning, John Teeple was struck by a heavy piece of gravel, which fell from a height of forty feet. He may be fatally injured. Teeple's son was killed in the same spot a year ago by gravel falling on him.

CHARGES IRREGULARITIES. Toronto, July 17.—Mr. Justice Macbe today granted a writ of habeas corpus in favor of Charles Woo, a celestial resident of Port William, who was convicted on June 30 in the local court for aggravated assault with a butcher's steel. W. J. Tremar, Woo's counsel, claimed the conduct of the prosecution had been characterized by very grave irregularities.

HERE'S A FRENCH
SHERLOCK HOLMES

Gendarme Captures Burglars
Through Marks of Teeth on Apple.

Paris, July 18.—A clever capture of burglars worthy of Sherlock Holmes has been effected by a gendarme at Elixes, in the Department of the Marne. The gendarme searched the house which had been robbed for traces of the burglars, and found a basket, containing apples, which he examined, one by one. One of the apples showed marks of teeth, evidently unusually hard and deformed. Next day the gendarme met two suspicious-looking tramps on the road, and asking them where they were going, offered each of them an apple. Before they had taken more than a bite, however, the gendarme snatched the apples from them, and to his delight found that one of the apples showed marks of teeth exactly corresponding to those of the apple he had found in the house which had been raided. The men were arrested and confessed that they were the perpetrators of the burglary.

M. Alphonse Bazaine, son of the marshal of the Second Empire, who was court-martialed for having capitulated at Metz, and was sentenced to death, is now taking steps for the clearing of his father's character. The marshal's son is an officer of the Spanish army and at birth had as sponsors Queen Isabella and King Alfonso XII. M. Alphonse Bazaine has come to the attention of the court at Nimes important documents which, it is said, will be great factors in the effort toward what is termed the rehabilitation of the marshal.

Miss Renn, described as a dramatic artist, and Miss Kellerman, an American, are engaged in a lawsuit at the Paris civil tribunal, which is declared to be picturesque. Anyhow, it interests many, and the result is awaited with a good deal of eagerness, especially by the American women who seem to be badly treated by the dramatic artist.

A few years ago Miss Renn was admired by a wealthy American, who allowed her $1,000 a month. One day he sailed for New York, and soon after landing wrote to Miss Renn, informing her that he was about to marry, and that, for the sake of old times and old friendship he would make her a present of $5,000. The gift appeared inadequate to the dramatic artist, who resolved to go to New York to see her former admirer face to face and to demand from him a larger sum of money than that mentioned in his letter of farewell.

Not knowing English, Miss Renn engaged Miss Emerson to accompany her to New York as secretary, companion, and interpreter. Miss Emerson was to receive 10 per cent commission for her services should her friend obtain more than $10,000. Both embarked at Havre, and before the vessel entered New York the legal representative of the dramatic artist's former admirer came on board from a steamer. She refused to negotiate, and the lawyer offered Miss Emerson $10,000 if she would induce her companion to accept the sum which was proposed. Renn was to treat with the lawyer, and received from him a draft on a Paris bank for $5,000.

Miss Renn and her companion then returned to France. Once at home the dramatic artist reached out for the draft. Miss Emerson, the latter claimed over $5,000 as remuneration for services, expenses of traveling, costs of translations of letters, and so on. Miss Renn turned a deaf ear to all demands, and treated the claims as exorbitant. There was nothing left but to go to law and Miss Emerson put her case in the hands of a solicitor.

The first hearing of the case has come off at the civil tribunal of Paris, and the defendant's counsel, who is that as Miss Emerson was not French, and not in possession of property here, she should be called upon to pay into court as much as known as "une caution ad judicium solvi," a sum of $500.

The court reduced this to $250. When the application of Miss Emerson's lawyer, who pointed out the precariousness of his client's position. The further hearing of the case was then adjourned until the middle of July.

CRUISER NOVAK RAISED

Oza's Fast Warship Put Into Good Shape by the Japs.

Tokio, July 17.—The Japanese have refitted the Russian cruiser Novak, which they sank near Krosnakovsk Island of Saghalien, in August, 1904. The Novak was one of Russia's fastest cruisers, and had been bottled up with the fleet in Port Arthur harbor. When the fleet dashed out and was dispersed by Togo's squadron, the Novak escaped, and fled hundreds of miles to the north. It was located by a couple of Japanese cruisers, however, and one of these engaged it in a sensational naval duel, in which both were damaged.

Novak was forced to beach herself, and was then rifled by Japanese gun fire. Much regret was expressed at her sad fate by the generous people of Japan, who admired the gallantry displayed by her captain throughout the siege of Port Arthur, which was in striking contrast to the pusillanimous course of the fleet as a whole. The unexpected raising of the vessel will cause great joy in Japan.

A woman not only has her own way, but she generously lets the man in the case have her way, too.

Some men are trying to beat the races whose real talent lies in beating the corpse.

THE KINAN MURDER

Gibson, Former Counsel for Dead Woman, Held by Police.

New York, N. Y., July 17.—Burton W. Gibson, formerly counsel for Mrs. Alice Kinan, who was mysteriously murdered on the night of June 8, in the old homestead in the Bronx, occupied by her mother, Mrs. L. M. Stenton, and herself, was tonight committed to the Tombs by order of Chief Judge McDonald, in default of $25,000 bail.

This action followed the close of the coroner's inquest tonight, when the jury brought in a verdict that Mrs. Kinan was murdered by a person or persons unknown, and recommended that Gibson be held for examination by the grand jury.

Gibson himself occupied the stand during the greater part of today's session. Questioned about his business relations with Mrs. Stenton and her daughter, he at first declined to answer on the ground that the matters referred to were confidential between lawyer and client.

THE LAMBS FLEECE

De Wolf Hopper, Digby Bell, Joe Weber Do Stunts for 'Squire.

Philadelphia, July 18.—It was a bunch of disguised lambs that drew up in front of the Hotel Walton tonight in DeWolf Hopper's automobile.

They had been made to baa-baa and then they had been shown while on their journey hither, and they were mad clear.

In the party, besides Hopper, were Joe Weber, Digby Bell, Charles T. K. Miller and E. E. Pidgeon. Hopper began the story thus:

"We had heard over on Broadway that there was to be a scrap of some kind over here tonight, and we just decided to take a run over. Things went all right until we reached the place. A pair of constables stepped in front."

"We had a message about you up the road," they declared. "Take us to your auto over to Squire Timkins or Silkins' or some kind of Kins' office."

"The squire struck Bell," interposed Weber, "and Digby did his stunt in style. By this time we were up and gratulating ourselves, and the squire leaned over and again shook us all by the hand."

"I have a hope I would some day meet some of you gentlemen personally," he said, "and it is really a great pleasure for me. I shall not detain you any longer as soon as you settle the $9.75 each the law imposes upon you."

"It was beginning to rain outside, but we never noticed it until later. We were watching the tears in one another's eyes."

GIRL SWIMMER BREAKS RECORD

Annette Kellerman Beats Best Previous Time for Long Distance on Danube.

Vienna, July 18.—That athletic young Australian, Annette Kellerman, who aroused so much enthusiasm in Europe last year by her swimming feats, is once more in the limelight. She has just captured the Austrian record for a long distance swim on the Danube. Miss Kellerman not only did the distance of 27 kilometers, or 23 miles, in three hours, eleven minutes and twenty seconds, but she completely outdistanced Austria's champion swimmer, Mrs. Isaacson. This is the first open competition Miss Kellerman has taken part in this year. Her success augurs well for her coming attempt to win the great race through Paris in the Seine, and the swimming of the English Channel at the Straits of Dover.

This young woman with the German ancestry, but born under the Union Jack of old England, is to visit the United States in June of next year. When she arrives there, unless other arrangements are made, she will issue a challenge to all swimmers of America for a race or series. The title of lady champion swimmer of the world is dear to her, and she wishes to earn it thoroughly and honestly. Miss Kellerman can swim as well in the ocean as in the waters of river and lake, so that in the United States she will be willing to enter into any conditions.

Under the guidance of her father, Fred Kellerman, the young swimmer has been giving some exhibitions at "Venice in Vienna," a miniature edition of Coney Island. She is leaving now for Dover to get into trim for the channel swim. This she tried three times last year, but never quite succeeded.

The Vienna newspapers have been filled with accounts of her creation of the new Austrian record. The start was made at Tulln, a town 23 miles up the Danube. Delegates from all the Austrian swimming clubs accompanied the swimmers in boats. Miss Kellerman's pilot boat was manned by members of the Vienna Swimming Club. Soon after the start this boat was carried into the shoal rapids, where it grounded. Miss Kellerman, following the lead and before warnings reached her, was also carried into the rapids. She had a stiff struggle for ten minutes, but managed to escape without injury. Swimming strongly with a soft side stroke, Miss Kellerman rapidly gained on Mrs. Isaacson, the Austrian woman champion, and amid tremendous cheering from the crowds on the banks and bridges, passed her within half an hour. At Greifenstein, ten miles from Vienna, Mrs. Isaacson was completely beaten, and her boat being quite out of sight.

Approaching the state bridge at the entrance to Vienna, Miss Kellerman rested on her back for a few minutes, and then began her last sprint. Thousands lined the quays and the bridges. At Handel's quay, the fearless swimmer was joined by two male members of the Vienna Swimming Club. They helped to pilot her among the swarm of

How Good Food may turn to Poison

DECAY is not digestion, you know, even when it takes place in the stomach. Food decayed in the body after being eaten is as dangerous to health as food decayed before being eaten.

Food nourishes or poisons, just according to how long it remains in the bowels undigested. Cascarets are the simplest and surest safeguard against Delayed Digestion yet discovered.

Sold in a thin Enamel Box, half as thick as your watch, which fits into the vest pocket or lady's purse as if it grew there.

In this round-edged Enamel box are found six small Candy Tablets. One of these toothsome tablets works wonders for digestion.

Soon as placed in the mouth it starts the Saliva flowing, which at once gets to work dissolving it.

The Saliva becomes blended with the Candy Cascaret tablet, and from the moment they start going down your throat together they start working together.

Now, what do they work at? Bowel-work, of course.—Digestion.

Some folks think Digestion takes place in the Stomach only. But that's a great mistake! Most of the Digestion occurs in the thirty feet of Intestines that connect with the Stomach.

Now, these Intestines are 30 feet long, for a purpose. They are lined with a set of little mouths, that squeeze Digestive Juices into the Food eaten.

The Digestive Juices thus mix with the food, just as Saliva mixes with Cascaret tablets, dissolving and changing that food into nourishment, as it passes along the channel.

The Intestines are also lined with millions of little suction pumps, that draw the Nutrient from Food, as it passes them in going through.

This Nutrient is then carried into the Blood, and spread over the Body as Brain, Bone and Brawn.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18.

NEW ZEALAND'S PROGRESS.

Sir Joseph Ward, the Premier of New Zealand, is in the United States, and has been interviewed as to conditions in the island colony, that experimental plot in socio-economics. He professed to be satisfied with the results, which is not unnatural, seeing that he is political legate of Richard Seddon, who guided New Zealand into the path she is now treading. He claimed that New Zealand had the largest per capita wealth in the world; the cheapest public utilities, and probably the most efficient; lower railway passenger fares than elsewhere, and more economical railway management, and the lowest rate of taxation. "Whenever we find any public utility earning more than 3 1/2 per cent we reduce the charges to the public."

New Zealand is giving rise to an extensive literature, and most of the evidence is in her favor. There is no disputing the statement that the country has made marvelous progress, and is today in an apparently flourishing condition, although here and there a critic pretends to find the germs of future trouble. A writer in the New York Independent, Florence Finch Kelly, who has returned from an extended trip through the colony, says she did not see, in city, town or country, a single person who did not have enough to eat and to wear, plenty of work at good pay, and the will to do it. There were no beggars, no tramps, no unemployed, and no big fortunes. Fifteen years ago, she says, the country was in a very bad way. There were big landed estates and absentee owners, and most of the wealth produced went overseas. People were deserting the country in shiploads. The Liberal Government began a policy of reconstruction by bursting the big landed estates. The Government redeemed over 700,000 acres by compulsory purchase where necessary and leased the land in small holdings to actual settlers. It also loaned money to settlers as low as 4 1/2 per cent. Thousands of men drifting along on the perilous edge of day labor became prosperous farmers.

To maintain something like an equal distribution of land, no person may hold more than 5,000 acres, and there is a graduated scale of taxation. There is no property tax and no tax on improvements—an approximation to single-tax ideas. The value of the land, less the value of all improvements, is the basis of assessment. The rate of taxation increases when the unimproved value reaches $25,000. To encourage small owners, there is an exemption of $2,500 on all holdings where the unimproved value does not exceed $7,500. The result is that only one-fifth of the farmers of New Zealand pay a land tax. The object is to make it easy for the poor and difficult for the rich to increase their possessions. Incomes from land are not taxed, but incomes from other sources, above $1,500 a year, are taxed progressively, and the receipts under this head have increased 174 per cent in ten years.

New Zealand is less than half the area of Ontario, and its population is under one million. While land is plentiful and may be obtained on the present easy terms, there will be little distress. The problems which vex older countries may appear when the land is fully occupied, and a large industrial population has been created. At any rate, the frank paternalism of the state, expressed in the ownership of railways, the checks on accumulation of property, compulsory arbitration, old age pensions, and state insurance, will be more severely tested as time goes on.

THE MORAL OF THE DREYFUS CASE.

The vindication of Dreyfus is the text of many homilies on the certainty of the triumph of truth. "Truth crushed to earth will rise again," the poet says, and the happy ending of the Dreyfus case is pointed to as the inevitable working out of the moral law. This is not necessarily true. Sinners may live and flourish to the end of their days, unwhipped of justice, so far as this world is concerned, and people go down to their graves under a weight of undeserved obloquy, of which their memories may never be cleared. It is possible that Dreyfus might have perished on Devil's Island, with an indelible stain on his name, but for the accident of Col. Picquart's promotion to the head of the intelligence department of the French army. Col. Picquart, unlike so many around him, was a man of magnificent moral courage. Incidents came under his notice which awakened his suspicion that evidence against Dreyfus had been fabricated to conceal the real culprits. His superior counseled him to be silent for the "honor of the army," but his conscience compelled him to cry out. He was sent out of the country, and later imprisoned and degraded, but he had kindled the flame of justice in the hearts of others, and the cause of Dreyfus was safe. It is scarcely possible to conceive anything more tragic and inhuman than the fate of Dreyfus—a slow torture and a living death—had the truth not come to light. Yet the truth might have been suppressed; Dreyfus might have died in infamy, and his enemies lived in honor. The balance would have had to be redressed in another world. The fact that so much injustice goes unpunished in this world is one of the arguments for the existence of a life beyond it, which appeals to the reason of humanity. In the largest sense it is true, nevertheless, that truth will prevail on this earth. It may not always prevail to save the victims of injustice in particular cases, but it is a standard to which the human family must more and more conform. Mankind is getting clearer glimpses of it as the centuries roll by. The law of moral progress, which is steadily banishing error, superstition, cruelty and injustice, was illustrated in the Dreyfus case, not necessarily by the triumph of justice, but by the moral grandeur of a few men, who showed to what godlike heights human nature may rise. This is the earnest of that far-off divine event to which the whole creature moves.

THE BRITISH SUFFRAGETTES.

Some of the "suffragettes," as the feminine advocates of equal rights for men and women are called in Great Britain, are discrediting their cause by resorting to violence and hysterical demonstrations. But the women of England have genuine grievances, which justify the agitation which a few have carried to excess. Writing in a British review, Lady Agnes Grove, who disclaims all sympathy with anti-masculine and hysteria, points out that her sex is suffering from many legal disabilities. The laws in regard to their property and personal and other rights are absurdly chaotic and irrational. The laws of contract are unfair to married women; the criminal laws and the corporation laws are full of discrimination against them, and the same is true of the laws relating to inheritance, lunacy, slander and libel. Even in the matter of court procedure and litigation they are placed at a disadvantage. And matters are getting worse instead of better. The late government, she says, passed four acts which resulted in four or five disfranchisements and disqualifications for women. These related to local government and education, spheres in which women had done excellent work, according to all impartial witnesses.

There is a bill before Parliament which is designed to enable electors to place women on education boards and secure their unselfish services in other vital matters of local administration and relief, such as the housing of the poor, the inspection and regulation of public lodging-houses, the management of the female wings of lunatic asylums, the enforcement of child labor laws, the supervision of industrial schools, the prevention and punishment of cruelty to minors, the supervision of baby farms and homes for women, of police court cells and waiting-rooms for women, and so on. To this may be added all that pertains to public health, sanitation and beautification of cities and towns.

Here is work which certainly falls within woman's sphere. It will be seen that the women of Great Britain have not as many rights in regard to public service as the women of Canada.

Our Conservative contemporaries have ceased denouncing normal schools as "teacher factories."

The terms which the proposed cutlery company asks involve the city in little risk. The ratepayers should have no hesitation in voting for the bylaw.

Dr. Reaume described Mr. Bastedo as "one of the ablest officials in the parliament building." Meanwhile the official who knifed him holds his job.

Rev. D. C. Hossack has resigned as a Government representative on the Toronto General Hospital Board. Isn't this the political clergyman who chased the previous government for a job with a salary attached?

The Washington Government has sent Secretary Root to the approaching conference of American republics to blandish the Spanish-American countries and endeavor to make them a happy family under the aegis of the Monroe doctrine. Guatemala, Honduras and Salvador are showing what a delightful easy task has been set for him.

The King has declined Canada's invitation, mainly on the ground that he could not refuse to visit other portions of the Empire if he accepted it. This is a reasonable excuse, and will be accepted without demur. His majesty must be saddened by reflecting on the tons of illuminated addresses he might have had.

TWIN.

[Harper's Weekly.]
"Mamma, what are twins?" asked little Bobby.
"Oh, I know," chimed in Dorothy. "Twins is two babies just the same age; three is triplets; four is quadruplets and five is centipede."

CITY OF LONDON CHURCHES.

[Sunday Strand.]
Within the narrow limits of the city of London, with its mere handful of residents—only sufficient to people a small provincial town—there are still many churches that you might find in a different part of the world. Within the Rural Deanery of the East City there are today no fewer than ten churches, each of which ministers to a population of less than 200. The aggregate number of parishioners is 1,473, while the churches have accommodation for 2,750, thus providing almost two seats for every possible worshiper, including the infants in arms.

HE WANTED HER TO SEE IT.

[Philadelphia Ledger.]
"Till take that," said the man, indicating a silver-mounted handglass, "and I want you to engrave on it, 'From J. B. to Phyllis.'"
"Very well," replied the salesman, "we'll put it on the back here—"
"Oh, no; put it around the edge on the front. I want her to see it."

A CHRISTENING ROBE.

[Mabel Earle, in Smart Set.]
Who knows what hopes she sewed within the seam.
Linking the folds she fashioned, snow on snow,
With the white patience of a voiceless dream.
Hid in her heart, a hundred years ago?

Who knows what prayers she brooded in the flowers
Flung on the fair white linen, throat to hem,
The banishes of holy, silent hours
Twined in the tracery of leaf and stem?
Who knows if she looked down from Paradise,
When alien hands her little son had dressed
In the wee robe she wrought—and hid her eyes
To see him smiling on a stranger's breast?

A LIMITED BELIEF.

[Dublin Times.]
The famous Father Tim Healy was once traveling in a railway carriage with a sour-looking individual who, in a somewhat aggressive way, insisted on proclaiming himself an Agnostic. The priest merely nodded his head and then seemed absorbed in his book. His companion, however, was bent upon having an argument and proceeded to set forth his opinions at great length.

Finally, Father Healy looked up. "You, sir, as an Agnostic, believe in nothing," he asked.
"I only believe what I can understand," replied the other.
"It comes to the same thing," said Father Tim, blandly, and resumed his book without further interruption.

THE VOICE OF THE PRAIRIE.

[Toronto Star.]
Dr. Harris states that the Canadian prairies develop the voice, on the ground, no doubt, that the prairie has no holler louder to call the cows home.

[E. C. W., in Westminster Gazette.]
When I am dead, if men can say I died upon the top of the world, With all his faults of word and deed Mankind did have some little need Of what he gets—then in my grave No greater honor shall I crave.

If they can say—if they but can—"He did his best, he played the man. His ways were straight; his soul was clean. His fallings not unkind nor mean. He loved his fellow-men, and tried To help them"—I'll be satisfied.

But when I'm gone, if even one Can weep because my life is done, And feel the world is something bare Because I am no longer there; Call me a knave, my life mispent—No matter. I shall be content.

COURSE OF A MAD DOG.

[London Tribune.]
A West of England paper recently published the following report of the career of a mad dog:

"The infuriated animal was soon earling up High street at full speed, and we regret to state that it severely bit the mayor's son and several other dogs which happened to be in the vicinity."

TIMELY TRUTH.

[Canadian Churchman.]

CANADIANS IN UNITED STATES

[Political Science Quarterly.]

Of the English Canadians 88 per cent are divided equally between the North Atlantic and the North Central States, 10 per cent are in the west, 2 per cent in the south. The North Atlantic section will include a large number of "Blue Noses" (Nova Scotians and Brunswickers), though, as Mark Twain hints with his "wise old Nova Scotia owl" in "A Tramp Abroad," many a Nova Scotian miner is to be found in the mining camps of the west. Of the French-Canadians, 77 per cent live along the Atlantic, nearly three-fourths of these being found in seven cities: Manchester, N. H., Fall River, Holyoke, Lowell, New Bedford, Worcester and Lawrence, Mass. Upward of 80 per cent are in the North Central regions, less than 3 per cent in the west, and less than 1 per cent in the south. The small percentage of Canadians in the southern States (2 per cent of the "English," 1 per cent of the French), hardly does justice to the cordiality between Southerners and Canadians, which is dated from the time of the civil war.

Most of the English-speaking Canadians "cross the line" unmarried, and after establishing themselves take wives from their new acquaintances. The majority of the French-Canadians migrate after marrying or marry one of their own race in the United States. This is evident from the fact that three-fourths of the 812,500 children, one of whose parents is a Canadian have "English" Canadian parents. Grouping all Canadians of the present generation together, 48.1 per cent have married in the United States. This is a large proportion compared with other nationalities. For example, only 36 per cent of the English marry in the United States, 36 per cent of the French and 32 per cent of the Scotch. The Canadians, in the great majority of instances when they do not marry native Americans, marry people of British extraction.

In 1901, as many as 90.8 per cent of the "English" Canadians had become naturalized and 84 per cent of the French-Canadians. A student of the French-Canadians in New England, writing in 1898, comes to the conclusion that the French-Canadians in New England are gradually losing their identity and coalescing with other nationalities, especially the Irish. The birth rate among them is lower than in Quebec; child mortality, especially up to 5 years, remains high; immigration has greatly declined, and solicited immigration has ceased altogether.

In the United States the gain was 27, making a total of 269.

ALL CLAIMS WITHDRAWN

Dispute Between Ontario and Nipissing Mining Company Settled.

Toronto, July 17.—The trouble over the titles of the property held by the Nipissing Mining Company at Cobalt has been finally settled. This company, which a short time ago was capitalized at $12,000,000, had the title to some of the most valuable portions of its property attached on the ground that the original discoverers had made fraudulent affidavits of discovery under somewhat similar circumstances as in the recent case of Attorney-General V. Hargraves.

The following statement regarding the matter was made this afternoon by Attorney-General Foy: "The Nipissing Mining Company having satisfied the Government by evidence under oath, taken in the suit, that they were bona fide purchasers for value without notice of any defects in the title, and having paid $250,000 to the vendors, and having taken out a certificate under the lands titles act, the Government has withdrawn all claims against the company, so far as the matters at present in dispute are concerned."

WANTED TO SUICIDE.

Kingston, July 17.—Shortly after midnight two men discovered a young woman named Mrs. Rankin about to jump off Cataract Bridge, near Tete de Pont Barracks. They took charge of her and summoned the police. At the station the girl went into fits and had to be removed to the general hospital. She was formerly a professional nurse and, it is said, married a man who drinks freely and abuses her. On Sunday night he threw her out of doors, it is alleged.

WELLMAN AT DANES' ISLAND

Digermulen, Lofoden Isles, Norway, July 17.—The steamer Frithjof, having on board the Wellman-Chicago Record-Herald Arctic expedition, reached Danes Island, Spitzbergen July 9, and found the shore of Virgo Bay, already dotted with structures, including machine shops ready for work and the material in readiness to begin the construction of the giant balloon house. All the twenty-four members of the expedition are well.

Secret
Is OutFormula of Mi-o-na Made Public
—A Cure for Stomach Troubles

Our leading druggists are very anxious to have Mi-o-na, a remedy which they sell as a cure for stomach troubles, tested rigidly in every case of heartburn, acute dyspepsia, wind on the stomach, loss of appetite, annoying dreams, sleeplessness, general weakness and debility, or where the digestive organs do not act as they should.

Mi-o-na is composed of bismuth subgallate, by all odds the very best medicine known for intestinal diseases. It combines with the free sulphur compounds in the back, forming a black substance which is passed off from the body without harm. It also has a soothing effect upon the nerve endings in the stomach.

With this is a combined cerium orotate, a standard remedy in the treatment of all irritations of the stomach and digestive organs. Sodium bicarbonate is then added to overcome the excessive acidity usually present in stomach troubles, and nutriment for its general tonic and nerve-strengthening powers.

This combination of reliable remedies makes Mi-o-na a positive cure for all stomach troubles, and, perhaps the only one that can be sold under a guarantee that it costs nothing unless it cures.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets is sold for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist, which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

OLD LONDON MOST COSMOPOLITAN

Interesting Letter from the British Metropolis.

VISIT OF GERMAN EDITORS

Teuton Journalists Given Good Reception—Women Writers Condemn Slang.

London, July 16.—Once again "Glorious June" asserts its sway over London society and its doings. Garden parties, receptions, balls, dinners, theater parties and river parties are the order of the day. Never has there been more glorious weather for Asolo, just at this moment of the year. The season is at its height. Piccadilly, Belgrave and Mayfair are a sight to behold between the hours of 4 and 8 p.m., when the whole of the gay world seems moving to and fro from function to function. Never were frocks and frills more delightful to contemplate. "Alfy-Lilly-Lilly" is the type of woman who is the fashion. She is a woman in the fragile textures, and in a sharp breeze one sees a carriage flash past, with its dainty occupant, who appears to be semi-detached from the hat, which takes the most exquisite curves and bends as the wind plays havoc with hat-pins and "pin-curls" (as those little bunches of false hair are called).

In the Hands of the Germans.

London is in the hands of the Germans at the present. The representatives of the German press have been feted and fasted by every species of corporation in the community, and yesterday were "lunched" at the Mansion House, where the one lady editor, Madame Braun, was the observed of all observers. Mr. James Bryce proposed the health of "Our German Guests," and in a happy speech alluded to the fact that the English and German peoples had never, since the division of the world, been so friendly as they are at present. He had often fought side by side as comrades and had worked together in many fields of science for the benefit of mankind. The secretary for Ireland paid a fine tribute to one of the most noted of German editors, Dr. Barth, whom he described as having the most perfect qualities of a journalist, "perfect uprightness and independence. The true journalist should always say the thing he thought, and say it without fear." One rather wondered how this applied to the German editors who live in constant fear of arrest for lese majeste!

There is an exhibition of German pictures at Prince's Skating Club, and an amusing incident was told the writer by a lady who had been present at the dinner which inaugurated the exhibition, when German artists, with tears in their eyes, raved at length about the Pacific blood which art engendered between countries and all the time British guests present were exclaiming under their breath at the hideousness of the German pictures which covered the walls of the gallery where the exhibition was held. There is a strong party in England, just now, trying by every possible effort to cement the friendship between the Austrians and Germany. Among them may be found those who fight against the alien bill, which one learns gives great offense to Emperor William, who takes good care to expel from his own domains those whom he does not approve of.

A Cosmopolitan Capital.

London is rapidly becoming as cosmopolitan as Paris. There is one Japanese theatrical troupe playing in the metropolis. Three French companies and Yvette Guilbert have had possession of our theaters. German opera and German theatrical company, and Russian players are found in other theaters. Spanish and Austrian dancers hold the boards at music halls. The whole trend of life in London is growing more and more like that of the great cities of the continent. The theater spent last Saturday evening the Austrians exhibited at Earl's Court, where the exhibit of every sort of fabric and artistic creation from Vienna and the Austrian provinces, is to be found. One could not begin to make a thorough investigation of the various stalls of beautiful glass, china and leather articles, or examine the wonderful cases of marvelous costumes, hats, feathers, and costly trifles for which Austria is famous. One thing struck one at once. The furniture exhibited in especially decorated rooms was entirely different in finish and design than that one sees in English exhibitions. The finish of the woodwork was most remarkable, and a certain curious solidity and stiffness, as compared with French furniture, was evident. The metal work, designed for electric lights, was often beautiful, but while now and then there was a tendency to ornate design, the quality and finish of the metal was really admirable. Glass, from Bohemia, was exhibited in enormous quantities; some of it exquisite in color and design; most of it, too, loaded with gilt. The crowd was so enormous, a typical Saturday night crowd—and it was extremely difficult to push one's way from point to point. Earl's Court is now the rendezvous for the fashionable, as well as the ordinary being, but as usual there is a contrivance for separating the "sheep" from the "goats" and the "Welcome Club" is railed off from the Quadrant, the lawn strewn with comfortable chairs.

THAW SUED BY ANOTHER WOMAN

For $20,000 on a Charge of Assault Four Years Ago.

New York, July 17.—Assistant District Attorney Garvan, who is building up the case against Harry Thaw, was informed yesterday of a proceeding brought against Thaw some years ago and which will undoubtedly be used by the prosecution at the murder trial.

This proceeding was a suit brought by a woman named Ethel Thomas for $20,000 for assault.

An interesting fact concerning this suit was that the lawyer of record was Albert Hummel, who drew up the affidavit which Evelyn Nesbit made against Thaw after she had left him in Paris and returned to this country.

One of the charges said to have been made by Miss Nesbit in that affidavit, of which a record can be produced, is that Thaw assaulted her.

The facts concerning the suit brought against Thaw by Miss Thomas were given to the press yesterday by Joseph A. Shay, a lawyer of 305 Broadway. This suit is still pending, and Hummel still stands on the records as the lawyer for the plaintiff.

According to the affidavit of the plaintiff, the assault occurred on Jan. 3, 1902. She asserted that she had been acquainted with Thaw for some time prior to that, that she met him on that day in answer to a letter, and that he took her to his apartments. These apartments were at 304 Fifth avenue.

Two more women who can tell something about the principals in the Thaw-White tragedy were before Mr. Garvan yesterday. They were Rose Marston and Marion Stokes. Miss Marston is at present playing in an outdoor presentation of "As You Like It."

She has only recently become an actress. Before that she was an artist's model. She met Evelyn Nesbit while the latter was posing and they became friends, both visiting the same artist.

Marion Stokes, who is also an actress, was questioned for some time by Mr. Garvan yesterday. Miss Stokes corroborated the story that she had had an appointment to meet White the night he was killed. The appointment was for 11:30 o'clock. He was to meet her at the garden.

The eyes of the girl for whose sake murder has been done are hazel. They are large and long, and have that clear, liquid softness that only Murillo ever succeeded in painting. They are unusual eyes in that they have the length and shape of what we call oriental eyes, but they have none of the languor and stupidity of the average "eyes of the harem." Evelyn Thaw's eyes are bright and sparkling, alight—not with intelligence or thought (that pretty head is sadly lacking in these useful attributes), but with the fires of youth and mental vigor. Long lashes fringe these bright eyes, and exquisitely arched dark brows give character to the fair forehead, with the dark hair growing low around the piquant little face.

She has the full, voluptuous mouth of the unthinking pleasure lover, the mouth that temperamental artists give to sirens. It has the beauty of outline, but there is no firmness or strength in its amorous curves.

Edward, unknown, more popularly known in Buffalo as the "Hummel Freight Car," says that last July while he was managing the Academy Cafe at Irving Place and Fourteenth street, in New York city, Stanford White offered him $500 if he would "do up" Harry Thaw. Durnest was at the time a character in boxing circles at one time, and even now he attracts attention when he appears upon the street. He confesses to weighing 420 pounds on the hoof.

ALIMONY AND THE WOMAN

Chicago Judge Says She Always Deserves It.

Chicago, July 17.—After separating forty couples in three weeks through the application of law, Judge Willard McEwen, of the circuit court, sums up his impression of the divorce industry thus:

"The age of 20 is a pivotal time in married life. The age of 40 is another time when divorces are likely. In the 40 divorce cases heard but two were church marriages. Conclusion: Church weddings produce but 5 per cent of the divorces. Twenty women, or but 50 per cent, were church members. But 8 men out of the 40 principals in the divorce court, or but 20 per cent were church attendants. Conclusion: Eighty per cent of the men church members keep out of divorce courts. The majority of principals were the neighborhood of 20 or 40 years of age."

"There should be a law enacted to prevent the marriage of a woman twice divorced or a man twice divorced. Persons twice divorced have manifested their unfitness for matrimonial experience. Two failures should count them out. There should be some stringent laws to prevent the remarriage of persons afflicted with certain ailments."

"Lack of companionship is by far the greatest cause of divorce. Alimony should be granted the wife, whether guilty or guiltless, in practically every case. A woman who has lived with a man a number of years is entitled to a pension. In all cases the man should be made to support his children."

DEATH OF MARGARET KILROY.

Windsor, July 17.—Miss Margaret Claire Kilroy is dead at her home here. She was a sister of Joseph Kilroy, of Windsor. Her other brother, Rev. Dr. Kilroy, died at Stratford about two years ago. Miss Kilroy was prominently identified with work in connection with St. Alphonsus Church, was known far and wide for her benevolence, and was one of the organizers of the Essex County Historical Society.

GIRLS SEEK JOB TRAINING LIONESS

Advertisement Results in 108 Applicants for Position at Dreamland.

New York, July 17.—Wanted—A brave young woman of attractive personality and physique, to present a trained lion, salary to begin $100 per week; former experience unnecessary. Inquire Bostock's Arena, Dreamland, Coney Island, Saturday, 11 o'clock a.m.

"Oh, my! Is it a real lion?" asked one pale-faced young woman out of several hundred who applied in answer to the above advertisement, which appeared in Friday's World. Yesterday there was a crowd of lovely femininity at Coney Island, each young woman determined to get the position, if possible. The lioness was the famous beast, Saltana, who has killed one or two keepers in her early years. The Countess "X," who used to train her, has gone to Europe.

Out of the crowd of applicants as many as 108 had never before worked at any paid salary. 38 were actresses, 10 were female detectives, 3 were stenographers and 3 were newspaper women. One young woman said that she had hunted lions in the Transvaal with her father and brother, and that she was not afraid of anything in the world.

Many of the girls thought the advertisement was some sort of a joke and backed out entirely when they found that they were wanted to tame a real, live lion, with teeth.

"Have you permission of your nearest relative or legal guardian to undertake the work?" Are you afraid of animals? Are you willing to go into the lion cage alone?" were some of the questions.

Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, of No. 100 East Fifty-fourth street, said that she thought the lion cage was toothless and that it was kept under the influence of drugs, but when she found the contrary was the fact she did not flinch.

Miss Little Olson, of No. 39 West Twenty-fifth street, said she had hunted lions in Africa. Miss Fanny Deane, of No. 1921 Madison avenue, thought that if she was doomed to die by a lion's teeth she would die that way, and if not she would not. So she did not fear to try it.

Miss Annie Belasco, of No. 2 West Ninety-eighth street, said she would like the place in order to keep her two children in school. She was a trained nurse and thought that a lion could not be worse than some patients. When Miss Minnie Churchill, of No. 129 West Ninetieth street, was questioned as to her willingness to take the place, she said she had some white mice and rabbits.

Mr. Bostock set next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock as the date of the courage test, when each woman will have to go into the lion cage alone, and the one exhibiting the least fear will get the position as trainer.

THE RESOURCES OF B. C.

The Provincial Assayer to Make a Careful Investigation.

Victoria, July 16.—Provincial Assayer Carmichael has been instructed to devote a large portion of the present season to the examination of our building material resources. It is the best thing that the clay deposits have been the subject of an extended official report, and his conclusions will be awaited with great interest. He will examine all known deposits in the Province, take samples from each, and give, when the report is published, complete chemical analysis of contents.

This city is also deeply interested in the news that an extended examination will be made of the west coast of Vancouver Island. A complete report will be made on mineral prospects and the progress of mining. It will supplement the report of the various mining recorders and give expert opinion on the occurrence of different minerals, and the chances for the continuity of the deposits.

Mr. Carmichael will also take a trip to Kamloops and investigate the deposits of asphaltum reported to be in existence in Highland River valley.

POET BUILDING HIS OWN TOMB.

Nearing his 80th year, Frederick Mistral, the Provencal poet, is still young in mind, happily far removed yet from the sixth age of Shakespeare. Nevertheless he is preparing his tomb.

It will be put up in the cemetery at Mollane near his house. It is to be a copy of the well known "Pavillon de la Reine Jeanne" at Baux. The care taken by the Provencal poet to make it beautiful will be remembered for generations among the neighboring peasantry.

"It is, after all, the tomb that is the house we live longest in; we must have it beautiful." Mistral said the other day when somebody twitted him about his hobby. And he does the work himself with no mean skill, refusing all aid.

London Evening Standard.

"Those who have had time to read the evidence will be struck with the almost complete unanimity of the medical witnesses on the harmful effects produced by boric acid and its compounds," says Nature. "To the unjudicious observer Dr. Wiley's report settles the matter once and for all."

A TRULY IDEAL WIFE

HER HUSBAND'S BEST HELPER

Vigorous Health is the Great Source of Power to Laugh and Encourage—All Women Should Seek It.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this century, in a recent article, has said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration, and the greatest helpmate of my life."

Mrs. Bessie Ansley

To be such a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, to inspire him to make the most of himself, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, that shadows appear under her eyes, that she has backache, headache, bearing-down pains, nervousness, irregularities of the blues, she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Following we publish by request a letter from a young wife:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with indigestion, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."—Mrs. Bessie Ansley, 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ansley it will do for every sick and ailing woman.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

OLD LONDON MOST COSMOPOLITAN

Interesting Letter from the British Metropolis.

VISIT OF GERMAN EDITORS

Teuton Journalists Given Good Reception—Women Writers Condemn Slang.

London, July 16.—Once again "Glorious June" has been away over London society and its doings. Garden parties, receptions, balls, dinners, theater parties and river parties are the order of the day. Never has there been more glorious weather for Asot, and just at this moment the whole of the season is at its height. Piccadilly, Belgrave and Mayfair are a sight to behold between the hours of 4 and 8 p.m., when the whole of the gay world seems moving to and fro from function to function. Never were frocks and frills more delightful to contemplate. The "Aly-Paly-Lillian" type of woman reveals in the simple and in the dress a sharp breeze one sees a carriage flash past, with its dainty occupant in a veritable whirl of chiffon, gauze, tulle, and a "swirl" of ostrich feathers, which appear to be semi-detached from the hat, which takes the most extraordinary curves and bends as the wind plays havoc with hat-pins and "pinicurs" (as those little bunches of false hair are called).

"In the Hands of the Germans." London is in the hands of the Germans at the present. The representatives of the German press have been feted and fasted by every species of corporation in the community, and yesterday were "lunched" at the Mansion House, where the one lady editor, Madame Braun, was the observed of all observers. Mr. James Bryce pronounced the health of "Our German Guests," and in a happy speech alluded to the fact that the English and German peoples had never, since the division in the old Teutonic stock, fought against each other, but they had often fought side by side as comrades and had worked together in many fields of science for the benefit of mankind. The secretary for Ireland paid a fine tribute to one of the most noted of German editors, Dr. Barth, whom he described as having the most perfect qualities of a journalist, "perfect uprightness and independence. The true journalist should always say the thing he thought, and say it without fear." One rather wondered how this applied to the German editors who live in constant fear of arrest for lese majeste!

There is an exhibition of German pictures at Prince's Skating Rink, and an amusing incident was told the writer by a lady who had been present at the dinner which inaugurated the exhibition, when German artists, with tears in their eyes, raved at length about the Pacific bond which art engendered between countries, and all the time British guests were exclaiming under their breath at the hideousness of the German pictures which covered the walls of the gallery where the exhibition was held. There is a strong party in England, just now, trying by every possible effort to cement the friendship between the Austrians and Germany. Among them may be found those who fight against the alien bill, which one learns gives great offense to Emperor William, who takes good care to expel from his own domains those whom he does not approve of.

A Cosmopolitan Capital.

London is rapidly becoming as cosmopolitan as Paris. There is one Japanese theatrical troupe playing in the metropolis. Three French companies and Yvette Guilbert have had possession of our theaters. German, Austrian, and Russian players are found in other theaters. Spanish and Austrian dancers hold the boards at music halls. The whole trend of life in London is growing more and more like that of the great cities of the continent. The writer spent last Saturday evening at the Austrian exhibition at Earl's Court, where the exhibit of every sort of fabric and artistic creation from Vienna and the Austrian provinces, is to be found. One could not begin to make a thorough investigation of the various stalls of beautiful glass, china and leather articles, or examine the wonderful cases of marvelous costumes, hats, feathers, and costly trifles for which Austria is famous. One thing struck one at once. The furniture exhibited in especially decorated rooms was entirely different in finish and design than that one sees in English exhibitions. The style of the woodwork was most remarkable, as well as a certain curious solidity and stiffness, as compared with French furniture was evident. The metal work, designed for electric lights, was often beautiful, but while now and then there was a tendency to ornate design, the quality and finish of the metal was really admirable. Glass, from Bohemia, was exhibited in enormous quantities; some of it exquisite in color and design; most of it, too, loaded with gilt. The crowd was so enormous, a typical Saturday night crowd—and it was extremely difficult to push one's way from point to point. Earl's Court is now the rendezvous for the fashionable as well as the ordinary being, but as usual there is a contrivance for separating the "sheep" from the "goats" and the "Welcome Club" is rallied off from the Quadrant, the lawn strewn with comfortable chairs.

JUMPING WITH NERVE PAIN.

That's how you feel with neuralgia. But why lie awake at night, grumble or complain, get busy with a bottle of Nervine. It does act like magic, seeks out the pain and destroys it. Harmless and certain, instant in effect, nothing is so popular as Nervine for aches and pains of all kinds. Try it for lumbago, test it in rheumatism, prove it in neuralgia, pleurisy or colds. You'll soon acknowledge that Polson's Nervine beats them all. Sold everywhere in large 25-cent bottles.

for the members where dinner is served under an open marquee which borders on the lawn. Here the really "select" support themselves and listen to a most excellent band or orchestra which plays in the pavilion in the center. A first-rate restaurant flanks one side, where, for 7s. 6d., those who are not members of the club can enjoy open-air and a really good meal at the same time. The night shades deepen the effect. It is really exquisite. The myriad of electric bulbs outline all the buildings and pavilions, and the gaily-dressed mingle with the most humble. Many are the frank courtships which are in progress among those lads and lassies who imagine themselves "lost in the crowd." The great Vienna orchestra plays in another court, and here are the genuine music lovers, sitting, listening in rapt attention to the strains of perhaps one of the best orchestras in the world. Inspiring music, which suggests "Strauss" at his best, is provided, and is strangely in keeping with the surroundings. Not far off from the great Pavilions, a "raucous flight." Both men and girls mount a platform, seize the handles of a small cross bar, and are swung across a space of about 20 yards, above strong nets stretched below them to prevent accidents. The switch-back and water-chute are also in full swing. Shrieks of laughter and sometimes of fear are heard as the endless parties of men and women fly down the steep slope of either one. The enormous wheel turns ever slowly with its living freight, until they reach an elevation where they have a most superb view of London. There is a sharp breeze one sees a carriage flash past, with its dainty occupant in a veritable whirl of chiffon, gauze, tulle, and a "swirl" of ostrich feathers, which appear to be semi-detached from the hat, which takes the most extraordinary curves and bends as the wind plays havoc with hat-pins and "pinicurs" (as those little bunches of false hair are called).

The women writers gave their annual dinner at the Criterion restaurant on Monday, where a vast concourse of women sat down to the many tables ranged down the length of the great room. It was an interesting gathering of the women who provide us with our daily gossip, and one might well assert, our daily novel, so many are the books turned out by the industrious literary bee. Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Wharton, two well-known novelists, were there, both middle-aged, stoutish and with a certain air of being like a being suddenly transported from a far-off sphere, with dreamy eyes and a delicate woman face; Mrs. Thurston, the observed of all observers, in a model costume of paquins, flame-colored chiffon skirt, white bodice with a girle of the flamed velvet, and a sort of fachu of the flamed velvet. Mrs. Thurston, who is an interesting personality to observe, this most successful of authoresses, whose last book is said to have netted her £9,000. Ivory-tinted complexion, buxom figure, dark flashing eyes, and black hair, arranged in a decidedly daring fashion, with one thick lock worn low down over the eyebrow, she is distinctly noticeable even among so great a crowd of notables. Mrs. Alec Tweedie, the traveler and writer, was at one end of the table at which the writer sat, and Miss Violet Hunt, who writes risqué novels, was at the other, clad in the most extraordinary vivid shade of blue, as dark as Mrs. Thurston's, and in flowing gown. Dr. Arabella Kenney was another striking figure, as unlike one's idea of a lady doctor as it is possible to conceive. Mrs. Thomas Hardy and Mrs. Meredith were two of the guests. There were endless "titled" ladies among both members and guests, and one of the most conspicuous of these was Lady Glover, whose article in the Fortnightly on the suffragist question has attracted much attention. Lady Collin Campbell, who looked very ill, and I noticed walked with the aid of a cane, was the center of an animated group. Lady Bell, who presided as chairman, made me quite telling speech, when she pleaded for more discrimination in the use of words among women writers, and lamented that our young people at the present day were unable to express themselves, and said that their vocabulary seemed to be comprised in "hot," "rotten" and "rotter," "waster," "a good one" and "the best." They also spoke of "sitters" for sitting rooms, "bedders" for bedrooms, and "progers" for programmes.

FISHER'S FIERCE FIGHT

Calches 80-Pound Muscallonge, Which Nearly Drowns Him.

Milwaukee, July 17.—Col. J. H. Steber, of Pittsburgh, passed through the city Saturday on his way home with a trophy of his vacation trip to Northern Wisconsin, in the shape of the largest muscallonge ever caught in the north-west. The fish, which was in the baggage car, weighs 80 pounds and one ounce. The master was caught at Tomahawk and his taking nearly cost the Pittsburgher his life. The fish hustled his birchbark canoe all over the lake, hustled him on to a snag, stove a hole in the frail craft and then darted for the shore.

DEATH OF MARGARET KILROY.

Windsor, July 17.—Miss Margaret Claire Kilroy is dead at her home here. She was a sister of Joseph Kilroy, of Windsor. Her other brother, Rev. Dr. Kilroy, died at Stratford about two years ago. Miss Kilroy was prominently identified with work in connection with St. Alphonsus Church, was known far and wide for her benevolence, and was one of the organizers of the Essex County Historical Society.

THAW SUED BY ANOTHER WOMAN

For $20,000 on a Charge of Assault Four Years Ago.

New York, July 17.—Assistant District Attorney Garvan, who is building up the case against Harry Thaw, was informed yesterday of a proceeding brought against him by a woman, and which will undoubtedly be used by the prosecution at the murder trial. This proceeding was a suit brought by a woman named Ethel Thomas for $20,000 for assault.

An interesting fact concerning this suit was that the lawyer of record was Abe Hummel, who drew up the affidavit which Evelyn Nesbit made against Thaw after she had left him in Paris and returned to this country. One of the charges said to have been made by Miss Nesbit in that affidavit, of which a record can be produced, is that Thaw assaulted her.

The facts concerning the suit brought against Thaw by Miss Thomas were given to Mr. Garvan yesterday by Joseph A. Shaw, a lawyer of 396 Broadway. This suit is still pending, and Hummel still stands on the records as the lawyer for the plaintiff.

According to the affidavit of the plaintiff, the assault occurred on Jan. 8, 1902. She asserted that she had been acquainted with Thaw for some time prior to that, that she met him on that day in answer to a letter, and that he took her to his apartments. These apartments were at 304 Fifth avenue. They were in the name of Wm. Bedford, Thaw's valet, who has since died.

On the way there, Miss Thomas alleged, Thaw bought a whip, and when he got her in his room he beat her with this whip. She escaped from him and went immediately to a lawyer's office, exhibiting the marks made by the whip.

Two more women who can tell something about the principals in the Thaw-White tragedy were before Mr. Garvan yesterday. They were Rose Marston and Marion Stokes. Miss Marston is at present playing in an outdoor play, "The White Tragedy," at the Lyceum Theatre. She is a friend of Evelyn Nesbit while the latter was posing and they became friends, both of them being friends of the late Marston Stokes, who is also an actress, and was a friend of White, was questioned for some time by Mr. Garvan yesterday. Miss Stokes corroborated the story that she had had an appointment to meet White the night he was killed. The appointment was for 11:30 o'clock. He was to meet her at the garden.

The eyes of the girl for whose sake murder has been done are hazel. They are large and long, and have that clear, liquid softness that only Murillo ever succeeded in painting. They are unusual eyes in that they have the length and shape of what we call oriental eyes, but they have none of the languor and stupidity of the average "eyes of the Orient." Evelyn Thaw's eyes are bright and sparkling, alight with intelligence or thought (that pretty head is sadly lacking in these useful attributes), but with the fires of youth and merriment. Long lashes fringe these bright eyes, and exquisitely arched dark brows give character to the fair forehead, with the dark hair growing low around the piquant little face.

She has the full, voluptuous mouth of the unthinking pleasure lover, the mouth that temperamental artists give to sirens. It has the beauty of outline, but there is no firmness or strength in its amorous curves.

Edward Dunkhorst, more popularly known in Buffalo as the "Mama Freight Car," says that last July while he was managing the Academy Cafe at Irving Place and Fourteenth street, in New York city, Stanford White offered him $25,000 to marry his daughter, Harry Thaw. Dunkhorst, as the "Mama Freight Car," says that last July while he was managing the Academy Cafe at Irving Place and Fourteenth street, in New York city, Stanford White offered him $25,000 to marry his daughter, Harry Thaw. Dunkhorst, as the "Mama Freight Car," says that last July while he was managing the Academy Cafe at Irving Place and Fourteenth street, in New York city, Stanford White offered him $25,000 to marry his daughter, Harry Thaw.

ALIMONY AND THE WOMAN

Chicago Judge Says She Always Deserves It.

Chicago, July 17.—After separating forty couples in three weeks through the application of law, Judge Willard McEwen, of the circuit court, sums up his impression of the divorce industry thus: "The age of 20 is a pivotal time in married life. The age of 40 is another time when divorces are likely. In the 40 divorce cases heard but two were church marriages. Conclusion: Church weddings produce but 5 per cent of the divorces. Twenty women, or but 50 per cent, were church members. But 8 men out of the 40 principals in the divorce court, or but 20 per cent were church attendants. Conclusion: Eighty per cent of the men church members keep out of divorce courts. The majority of principals were in the neighborhood of 20 or 40 years of age. "There should be a law enacted to prevent the marriage of a woman twice divorced or a man twice divorced. Persons twice divorced have manifested their unfitness for matrimonial experience. Two failures should count them out. There should be most stringent laws to prevent the remarriage of persons afflicted with certain ailments."

GIRLS SEEK JOB TRAINING LIONESS

Advertisement Results in 108 Applicants for Position at Dreamland.

New York, July 17.—Wanted—A brave young woman of attractive personality and physique, to present a lioness, salary to begin $100 per week; former experience unnecessary. Inquire Bostock's Arena, Dreamland, Coney Island, Saturday, 11 o'clock a.m. "Oh, my! Is it a real lion?" asked one pale-faced young woman out of several hundred who applied to the above advertisement, which appeared in Friday's World. Yesterday there was a crowd of lovely femininity at Coney Island, each young woman determined to get the position, if possible. The lioness was the famous beast Salana, who has killed one or two keepers in her early years. The Countess "X," who used to train her, has gone to Europe.

Out of the crowd of applicants as trainers 108 had never before worked at any paid salary, 38 were actresses, 10 were female detectives, which appeared in Friday's World. Yesterday there was a crowd of lovely femininity at Coney Island, each young woman determined to get the position, if possible. The lioness was the famous beast Salana, who has killed one or two keepers in her early years. The Countess "X," who used to train her, has gone to Europe.

Many of the girls thought the advertisement was some sort of a joke and backed out entirely when they found that they were wanted to tame a real, live lion, with teeth.

"Have you permission of your nearest relative or legal guardian to undertake the work? Are you afraid of animals? Are you willing to go into the lion cage alone?" were some of the questions.

Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, of No. 100 East Fifty-fourth street, said that she thought the lion was harmless and that it was kept under the influence of drugs, but when she found the contrary was the fact she did not flinch. Miss Little Olson, of No. 29 West Twenty-fifth street, said she had hunted lions in Africa. Miss Fannie Douglas, of No. 1821 Madison avenue, thought that if she was doomed to die by a lion's teeth she would die that way, and if not she would not. So she did not fear to try it.

Mrs. Annie Belasco, of No. 2 West Ninety-eighth street, said she wanted the place in order to keep her two children in school. She was a trained nurse and thought that a lion could not be worse than some patients. When Miss Minnie Churchill, of No. 129 West Ninetieth street, was questioned as to her experience with animals, she said she had some white mice and rabbits.

Mr. Bostock set next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock as the date of the courage test, when each woman will have to go into the lion cage alone, and the one exhibiting the least fear will get the position as trainer.

THE RESOURCES OF B. C.

The Provincial Assayer to Make a Careful Investigation.

Victoria, July 16.—Provincial Assayer Carmichael has been instructed to devote a large portion of the present season to the examination of our building material resources. It is the first time that fire clay deposits have been the subject of an extended official report, and his conclusions will be awaited with great interest. He will examine all known deposits in the Province, take samples from each, and give, when the report is published, a complete chemical analysis of contents.

This city is also deeply interested in the news that an extended examination will be made of the west coast of Vancouver Island. A complete report will be made on mineral prospects and the progress of mining, and a summary of the report of the various mining recorders and give expert opinion on the occurrence of different minerals, and the chances for the continuity of the deposits.

Mr. Carmichael will also take a trip to Kamloops to investigate the deposits of gypsum reported to be in existence in Highland River Valley.

POET BUILDING HIS OWN TOMB.

Nearing his 80th year, Frederic Mistral, the Provencal poet, is still young in mind, happily far removed yet from the sixth age of Shakespeare. Nevertheless he is preparing his tomb.

It will be built up in the cemetery at Malthane near his house. It is to be a copy of the well known "Pavillon de la Reine Jeanne" at Baux. The care taken by the Provencal poet to make it beautiful will be remembered for generations among the neighboring peasantry.

"It is, after all, the tomb that is the house we live longest in; we must have it beautiful." Mistral said the other day when somebody twitted him about his hobby. And he does the work himself with no mean skill, refusing all aid. London Evening Standard.

A TRULY IDEAL WIFE

HER HUSBAND'S BEST HELPER

Vigorous Health Is the Great Source of Power to Inspire and Encourage—All Women Should Seek It.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this century, in a recent article, has said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration, and the greatest helpmate of my life."

Mrs. Bessie Ansley

To be such a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, to inspire him to make the most of himself, should be a woman's constant study. If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, irregularities of the blues, she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Following we publish by request a letter from a young wife:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, feverish weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."—Mrs. Bessie Ansley, 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ansley it will do for every sick and suffering woman.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Strange that not one triple play has been made in either of the big leagues up to date.

McGraw says he'll sure take the National League pennant again. This trip west the Giants are doing much better.

Mr. Jack O'Brien and Mr. Sam Berger had an interesting six-round go at Philadelphia recently, with honors about even. Their next will be a 20-round bout with careful preliminary training, and when the shifty O'Brien gets through with him, Mr. Berger's friends won't know him.

The Toronto Telegram figures out Cornwall to win the lacrosse championship. As dopts those hogtown sheets are fierce. Cornwall has about as much chance as Tecumseh or Toronto. There are only three to it: Capitals, Monarchs and Shamrocks. Those Irishmen are not by any means down and out.

A Toronto fan has a long rail against the criticism of the ball team and says they are gentlemen to a man. And that on the top of the thuggery exhibition at Montreal of Messrs. Flynn and Thoney.

In all 45 teams are entered and all but one, Dr. James, of the Heather Club, Bramford, put in an appearance. THE OAR.

DOING WELL AT PRACTICE.

Toronto, July 17.—The Argonaut Rowing Club have had a junior eight in hard training, night and morning, for about ten days, and the boys are showing splendid condition under this strenuous work. They have been over the Henley distance a mile and 550 yards in remarkable time, and have even made a good showing on the inland course, which is longer and harder—a mile and a half.
If the crew shows up well at St. Catharines on August 4, they will probably go to Worcester, Mass., the following Saturday. The crew is made up as follows: "Whit" Aiken stroke, Robertson No. 2, Lewis No. 6, Breckels No. 5, McLaughlin No. 4, Smith No. 3, "Spiker" Grantham No. 2, Fred Tom bow, Balméd coxswain.

In the "Stickdown," 7 shots at 1,000 yards, an unsquadred competition, open to all comers, with a total of £55 in prize money, Hayhurst scored 21, Mortimer 31 and Skeddon 32.
After Sergeant Stuart, of the 43rd, Ottawa, had scored five straight bullets in the Wingrove competition, he was interrupted by a range officer, who took possession of the Ross rifle he was using and held a lengthy consultation with another officer as to the Canadian's right to use this arm, although it had been previously decided that it would be allowed. The incident evidently interfered with Stuart's firing, for in the next two shots he scored a magpie and an inner.
The R. A. Secretary Lieut.-Col. Broome, speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, expressed great regret at the action of the range officer, as he had given instructions that the use of the Ross rifle would be allowed.

BABY'S HOSPITAL AFIRE

But They Were Sick Dollies and Every
One of Them Escaped.

New York, July 17.—"The doll hospital" burning.
This word was flashed about the tenement section of East Fifty-ninth street yesterday, causing the children to troop out of the big tenements like bees out of a hive, for Sylvester's doll hospital has cared for every sick dolly in the neighborhood for years.
With the children came their mothers, who when they were young had taken their dolls to "Dr." Sylvester. Within five minutes there was a crush of women and children in front of the doll hospital, from the windows of which smoke was coming in little puffs.
The firemen rushed into the doll hospital, prepared to carry out the little china and wax cripples, but when they got inside they found the fire was next door in a heap of rubbish and coal tar stored in a basement under the hospital.
"Oh, ain't it dreadful," chorused girls of all ages as they saw the smoke coming out of the hospital windows.
"Think of all the dollies that are burning to death!"
As soon as the children learned that the fire was next door at No. 229 they lost further interest in it beyond fearing that smoke might injure the dollies.
"Dr." Sylvester, the chief surgeon of the hospital, came out and assured his patrons that the fire had been in the rubbish and not in the dollies.
The firemen left in order that they might go inside and visit their little friends.
The fire did little damage, but because of the smoke three firemen, Captain John Donovan and Fireman Tom McCann, of Engine Company No. 8, and Lieutenant John Finnell, of Truck No. 16, were overcome. Later they went back to work and within a few minutes the fire was out.

BABIES CAME AND WENT STRANGELYSensational Developments Expected Hourly in Toronto
Infant Case.

Toronto, July 18.—"Mrs. Carey may be Mrs. Foster, and Mrs. Foster may be Mrs. Carey," was the enigmatic remark of Government Inspector Greer yesterday afternoon.
A visit to the village of Wychwood showed that the latter remark was the correct one.
Mrs. Foster is Mrs. Carey.
When Mrs. Alice Foster, alias Mrs. Robert Carey, comes up in the police court on a charge of vagrancy she will be again remanded.
"Our case will not be ready yet for a few days," said Inspector Greer.
When these few days are up the startling developments in connection with the murder of infants are expected.
Three-quarters of a mile from the terminus of the Bathurst car, up the hill, overlooking the city, is Alcinia Avenue, and a couple of hundred yards from the corner is the home of Robert Carey and his wife, who, when arrested one week ago, gave her name as Alice Foster.
The neighborhood is on the tip-toe of interest in the progress of the investigation, for rumors of baby farms and child-murder have been rife for months.
The generally accepted story of the couple was well told by Mrs. Eldridge, a next-door neighbor.
She was at the rear of her house busy at two tubs of clothes when the reporter called.
"The detectives have been round here several times about Mrs. Carey. They have lived here since a year ago last August. Then they had a room in the city, and Robert Carey came and built a shack on the lot next to us."
"Mrs. Carey reported she and her husband came from Australia in the spring of 1904 to London, Eng., to see her sister. Then after staying a few weeks, they came out to Toronto."
"She tells several stories about two babies, twins, I reckon, that she had when she came out. She told me that they were born on the way out, and died soon after she landed. Others she tells that they were born in England. Anyway, they died before she came up here."
"There soon began to be talk about the babies that came."
"She had a girl of 4, that's Grace, then in February of last year she went away a few days and came back with a baby. She said it was her own. It died on Aug. 17 of last year, and was buried the same afternoon."
"Last February there was another baby with sore eyes. Then one was born towards the end of March. That's the little one they took away after she was arrested."
"The husband works a good deal, and is a quiet man usually. Last spring we had them up before Mr. Henderson, the justice of the peace, for making remarks about me that riled us, and they don't have anything to do with her now. Grace used to play with my Fred and the other children in our yard."
"Dr. Warren, who was called in at the time the child died in August last, said that he could base no suspicions of ill-treatment on its condition as he found it."
"There was a rumor in the neighborhood that the police had dug up the yard to find traces of crime."
"The 'digging' turned out to be the nucleus of a well that Carey had begun."
"The police are keeping him under close surveillance and are busy investigating what became of the two children when Mrs. Carey claims died after she came out from England."

NO EXTENSION FOR HOTELMEN

Those Cut Off Must Go First
August, Say the Commissioners.

These are strenuous days for certain hotelkeepers of London.
On August 1, about two weeks hence, six licenses will end and six places will close their doors.
It is said that the commissioners have refused to consider the request of prominent hotelmen that a three months' extension be granted the men who have been cut off.
"Under the new law, there is a penalty of a term in jail and a fine of $100, for commissioners who fail to carry out the law," said one of the local hotelmen. "We have nothing to do but allow the licenses to lapse the first of August in the cases of the men who were notified some time ago."
It is understood that Mr. Brammer Harrison, of the Boswell House, will get out also by the first of August.
The Carling Brewing and Malting Company have placed a receiver in the Ontario House, which was run by John Westman, and that this house will also change hands shortly.

'MY WHOLE FAMILY IN JAIL'

Deluded Woman Sure Her Children
Were in Castle Carter.

"My whole family are in the jail here, and I want to get them out right away."
That was the opening salutation given by an elderly woman this morning to Governor Carter as he sat in his office at the county jail. His visitor did not give her name, but she was very positive that what she said was true. She had on the best of authority, and she was not going to let the matter drop until she had her children once more at home.
The governor attempted to convince her that she was laboring under a delusion, but failed. The woman said she could not be put off that way, and she was going to see what could be done. In fact, if it was necessary, she was prepared to pay any sum necessary for the release of the children.
It transpired that the visitor was the wife of a gardener living close to the city, and that for some time past her mind had been affected.

RUSS TURMOIL ON THE INCREASE

Political Barometer Shows a Big Storm at Hand.

COUP D'ETAT AGAINST DUMA

Parliament's Bold Call for Revolution
May Cause Government to Adopt Strenuous Measures.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—The political barometer is again falling. The confusion, which seems to have taken possession of the upper spheres since the efforts to form a coalition ministry failed, coupled with the alarming reports from the interior and the attitude of Parliament, make almost anything possible. There has been a marked renewal of apprehension that the crisis may end in a coup d'etat against Parliament. The assassinations of Vice-Admiral Choukine and Gen. Kozlov, the discovery that behind the murder of the general was a big plot to kill not only Gen. Kozlov, but Prince Potiatin, and other courtiers, and the general atmosphere of assassination, which has terrorized not only the local authorities, but even the police, together with the destruction of property by the peasantry in half a dozen provinces during the last few days, have again strengthened the small part of the court which believes in resorting to "extreme measures."

The adoption by the Lower House, of Parliament of an address to the country will, it is feared, place in the hands of the reactionists the needed lever to move his majesty. M. Petrjitski, wainly warned the Lower House yesterday of the seriousness of the proposed step, but the majority of the Constitutional Democrats, of which party he is a prominent member, seem to be convinced that they must hold the peasants at all hazards. The members of the extreme left seemed to enter a fight, preaching open revolution from the rostrum. The Novos Vremya, which often reflects the views of the Government, says today that the adoption by the Lower House of an address to the country would go beyond the jurisdiction of Parliament, and virtually constitute an appeal from the Government to the people. The paper adds that its adoption would mean the crossing the rubicon, abandon its professed policy of trying to restrain the country and instead of pacifying it deliberately, pour oil on the flames.

Dispatches from the interior continue to tell without intermission of the burning of manor houses, robberies, murders, collisions between peasants and rural guards, and the hurried dispatch of troops here and there. The center of the peasants' uprising is Voronezh Province, where the peasants are reported to be in the process of the destruction of property, do not discriminate between friends and enemies, as evidenced by the complete devastation of the estate of M. Kokoshnik, one of the most prominent Constitutional Democrats in the Lower House. Today's reports describe the situation in that province as hopeless, from the standpoint of the landlords. The situation is almost as bad in Poltava and Smolensk Provinces. In Tambov Province eighty peasants are reported to have been killed or wounded by dragoons.

WATT AWHILE.
Owing to the difficulty the Provincial Secretary's department has experienced in procuring numbers for the front of motors, police magistrates are being asked by the Government to use discretion in dealing with charges preferred against motorists.

WORK DELAYED.
Contractor Ben Hole, of the Forest City Paving Company, has left on a business trip to Calgary, and before leaving he failed to sign the contract for the York street brick pavement.

As a result, work on the street will be delayed until power of attorney for someone here to sign the contract has been received.

TAKEN TO THE MERCER.
Jennie Ormiston and Myrtle Grille were taken from the county jail this morning to the Mercer Reformatory, where they are to do time for vagrancy. They were in charge of Mrs. Johnston, bailiff of the Mercer, who also had in her charge a mulatto from Chatham, known as "Big Martha."

The latter has been in custody here on three or four occasions, and is now going to the reformatory for the fourth time.

LONDONER'S ESCAPE.
The Toronto News has the following regarding a former Londoner: An automobile driven by Mr. John A. Carrick, assistant manager of the Queen City Hotel, Pittsburgh, collided with a street car at the corner of College and University avenue yesterday afternoon, and had a narrow escape for itself and its occupants. Mr. Carrick and two friends, the latter being a doctor, were slowly passing the corner, when the automobile came towards it. It was apparently the intention of the driver to turn the corner and go along College street westward, but his car ran on into the street car, smashing its headlight and twisting the left front wheel. The street car was brought instantly to a standstill, but had it been going at any speed a serious accident would have happened.

WANTED TO BALK WIDOW
Ottawa Laborer Attempted to Jump Into the River.
Ottawa, July 18.—Godfrey Parisien, a laborer in Booth's mill, last night attempted to leap from the suspension bridge near Bridge street. Domestic trouble is said to be the cause of his action. Parisien was seized by a comrade, Alfred Mantha, handed over to the police, and lodged in the cells. Mr. Recorder Goyette remanded him until the 25th inst. After being in the police station for five minutes last night he deliberately jumped headfirst into the wall, and when picked up a few seconds later by Chief Genest was unconscious. The chief brought him too and removed him to the jail.

Parisien explained to the police that he was insured in St. Joseph's Society for $1,000, but that he did not want his "widow" to get any of it. Hence his idea that the body would not be found. It is a rule in the society that to prove death the remains must be produced as evidence of actual disease.

M. P.'S WILL STRIVE TO WIPE OUT WAR

Inter-Parliamentary Union to Back Up Second Hague Conference.

London, July 18.—Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of Missouri, is busy with preparations for the conference of the Interparliamentary Union. A meeting of the American delegation will be held on July 28, immediately preceding the inauguration session of the Interparliamentary conference, for the purpose of definitely arranging on a program. Mr. Bartholdt, who is president of the United States delegation, said: "The most important matter to be considered by the conference is the report of the commission, appointed at the Brussels session last August, to consider my motion for the establishment of an international congress with at least advising powers, and perhaps with a slight degree of actual authority. The commission was composed of some of Europe's most eminent statesmen. Its president is Sir Philip Stanhope, who was recently elevated to the peerage by the new Government of Great Britain on account of his distinguished services to his country and to the world. Mr. Stanhope, under his new title, Lord Wensdale, will preside over this memorable session of the union."

The French member of the commission is Baron d'Estournelles, who has been a member of the Upper House of the French Parliament. He is organizing an international civil federation, containing the leading men from every department of life in every nation. This organization has a branch in 21 nations and it will soon be established in every nation, ready to bring its powerful support to the plans approved by the Interparliamentary Union.

"The Hungarian member of the commission is Count Albert Apponyi, a member of the Hungarian cabinet. The Norwegian member is H. Horst, a member of the Norwegian parliament.

The Belgian member is Senator Henri La Fontaine, the Italian member is Marquis Pandoletti.

The report of this commission is unanimous for converting the forthcoming Hague Conference, called at its request, into a permanent body, assembling automatically and periodically, and for re-organizing the Interparliamentary Union, so that it can more effectively co-operate with that body in developing a system of international law to take the place of war.

"This is a grand plan. It will be presented to the second Hague Conference with the entire influence of the Interparliamentary Union behind it."

WILL NEVER STAND TRIAL
Reported Thaw Is To Be Sent to Criminal Insane Asylum.

New York, July 18.—The World today says:
"Harry Thaw will never be placed on trial for the murder of Stanford White. An application will be made for the appointment of a commission to inquire into his sanity. There is no doubt but that he will be declared insane and sent to the hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan."

This authoritative statement was made last night, immediately after the conclusion of a conference at the Hotel Lorraine by one who had been present.

At this conference were Mrs. Wm. Thaw, Miss L. DeLafayette, her personal counsel, Wm. K. Olcott, of Black, Olcott, Gruber and Bonnyne, young Thaw's former counsel, Josiah Thaw, George L. Carnegie, son and son-in-law of Mrs. Wm. Thaw. Mrs. Evelyn Bennett Thaw was present, but took no part in the conference.

Kaiser Plans Big Fair
Berlin to Have Big Exposition Six Years Hence.

Berlin, July 18.—The Government has decided to invite the nations of the world to participate in a great international exposition to be held here in 1912. It is proposed that the exhibition shall surpass all world's fairs, not excepting the marvelous exhibitions for which Paris is famous, or the two great American fairs at Chicago and St. Louis.

German promoters feel confident that the record of progress in arts and sciences will enable the exhibition to be truly magnificent and of unprecedented proportions.

Plans for the fair are to be made with typical German thoroughness. The Emperor desires it to be truly representative of the modern might and greatness of the German empire.

Berlin expects within the next six years to have attained the proud eminence of being the continent's first capital in point of population and commercial and political importance, and will make most lavish arrangements for entertaining foreigners.

While scratching his nose with the end of a loaded revolver, a man in Paris accidentally pulled the trigger and blew off the tip of his nose.

CHASTISED LOVER STABS FATHER

Humiliated Before His Sweetheart He Mortally Wounds Parent.

New York, July 18.—During a quarrel between Conrad Schirmer and his 19-year-old son, Conrad, Jr., at the home of the son's sweetheart, Miss Clara Lazarus, in East One Hundred and Fourth street, today, the youth stabbed his father with a piece of broken glass, inflicting probably a mortal wound.

The elder Schirmer several weeks ago ordered his son to cease paying attentions to Miss Lazarus, but the youth had become engaged to her, and his mother pleaded his cause. The father then consented that the boy should marry the girl when he was 21, but declared that Conrad must stop staying out so late nights while calling on his sweetheart. The boy disobeyed and when he went to Miss Lazarus' home last night he returned very late. His father went there in search of him and attempted to chastise him in the presence of his fiancée. The boy resisted and in the struggle that ensued the father broke through the glass panel of a door.

Miss Lazarus attempted to interfere and Conrad seized a piece of broken glass and plunged it into his father's side, inflicting a dangerous wound. The wounded man was removed to a hospital, but refused to make a charge against his son, declaring that he had gone too far. Conrad was arrested.

FIVE MEN DROWNED
Small Rowboat Dashed Against Rock
With Fatal Results.

Vancouver, July 18.—A terrible drowning accident occurred on Spillimachee River, 40 miles from Golden, last night, when five men out of a boatload of ten were drowned. The Rocky Mountain stream is very high at this time of the year, but the men who were all working in a lumber camp, were secure in their opinion that they could safely navigate it in order to get back to their camp for supper. They might have tried a better crossing higher up. Their confidence resulted in the death of five. The names were: James Tomlinson, foreman of the C. E. Lumber Company; E. Sanstrom, A. Kinsmore, Stephen Norris, and another logger supposed to be a foreigner.

TITANIC PEN TASK
Two Hundred Start Copying Names of
1,800,000 Policyholders.

Albany, N. Y., July 7.—Upwards of 200 men and women today began the giant task of copying the names of 1,800,000 policyholders of the New York State Mutual Life Insurance Company, in the interest of the international policyholders' committee, which proposes to place a ticket in the field to be voted for at the annual election of these companies next fall. The New York Life's list contains about 1,200,000 and the Mutual Life makes up the remainder.

All of the copying will be done by hand and those in charge estimate that the work will be completed in nine days, allowing 200,000 names for a day's work. The list contains names from practically every part of the world. New York State leading with about 113,000 and the Canadian Islands bringing up the rear with a representation of five policyholders. The work will be rushed with all possible speed as the committee intends to send circulars and a copy of its ticket to every policyholder, however remote.

APPEAL DISMISSED.
London, July 18.—In the case of Fred Harsha versus the United States, the judicial committee of the privy council today dismissed the appeal from the decision of the high court of Ontario, refusing to grant a habeas corpus.

In the neighborhood of his home in Mississippi John Sharp Williams is always called "John Sharp." This is because the family of the congressman's mother were the Sharps—the great people of that section.

A $500 BLAZE IN EARLY MORNING

Fire Does Damage at Tune &
Sons Premises—The Good
Work of Firemen.

At 1:30 this morning Acting Police Sergeant McDonald discovered a fire in the premises of J. Tune & Son on York street, near Richmond. He sent in the alarm at once, and the firemen responded promptly.

The Chief Clerk ordered that only the chemical engine be used, and the use of this piece of apparatus proved sufficient. In a short time the blaze was overcome, with a loss of about $500, which is covered by insurance. A gas stove in the bottling-room is blamed for the fire.

"You can't speak too highly of the fire brigade," Mr. Tune said to The Advertiser. "Had it not been for the promptness of the firemen, I believe the fire would have proven a very serious one. The fire brigades of London can't be beaten."

LONDON GIRL COMPLAINT

Charges Farmer Near Exeter With Attempted Indecent Assault.

An Exeter dispatch says: "While she was spending her holidays at his home two weeks ago, David Richards, a farmer, residing near Exeter, is alleged to have attempted an indecent assault upon the daughter of a London man.

"The girl is 16 years of age, and she states that while she was in the house alone with the farmer, his wife having gone to milk the cows, he seized her and attempted to assault her. She struggled and screamed. Her clothing was badly torn.

"On Monday the girl's brother had a warrant issued for his arrest, and it was executed on the same day, and Richards was lodged in jail. He was afterwards bailed in the sum of $1,500.
"He was brought before Magistrate Hay this morning, when the case was given a preliminary hearing and adjournd."

The police here know nothing whatever of the case.

JOHN D. BUYS PEARLS

Paris Jeweler Says He Bought Four Necklaces.

Paris, July 18.—A jeweler here has coolly taken possession of John D.
Rockefeller and used him as an advertisement.

The surprising merchant has had published as important news that "an American millionaire residing tranquilly not far from Paris, escaped the watchfulness of the New York newspaper men and undetected by them made a brief visit to this city.

He is the American millionaire ordered the jeweler to bring to his hotel specimens of pearl collars and the delighted jeweler took to him "the richest collars, worth a king's ransom."

The millionaire picked up the most costly collar, examined it pearl by pearl, then asked laconically:

"How much?"

"One hundred thousand dollars," the jeweler whispered. Then, lest the price seem too high, he began to explain:

"You see, sir, these are necklaces of 'olden' time, the American answered.
"I do not bargain. I asked the price only because I want to draw a check for four necklaces like this."

The entertaining piece of news concludes by stating that at this climax the jeweler, who was nearly prostrated by his mingled emotions.

Very many persons now go to the jeweler's shop to learn what taste a Rockefeller has in pearl necklaces.

The French newspapers almost unanimously agree that the cabled story is untrue, and that the jeweler, John D.
Rockefeller, when he returns, will officially declare the report is a lie, "inspired by the envy of enemies who try by every means to worry an old gentleman who has beaten all America at the American sport of making billions."

PLAGUE OF LOCUSTS

Scientist Predicts That Millions of Them
Will Visit America.

St. Louis, Mo., July 18.—Within a few weeks the farmers of the west will see their fields devastated by millions of locusts is the prediction made by Professor Willis Marshall, of St. Louis, formerly professor of mathematics in Morris College, and now a locust expert in school, and a scientist of some distinction in the Northwest. According to Professor Marshall, locusts never devastate the on schedule time, and the winds which will sweep over the cornfields of Iowa and Nebraska and the wheatfields of Minnesota and South Dakota during August and September, will bring with them from the Northwest millions and millions of locusts.

Professor Marshall also says that the locusts of this species is due this summer, a coincidence that happens but once in 20 years. "I have reports," says Professor Marshall, "from scientists in the far Northwest, who tell me that there are swarms of locusts in Washington and Montana, and that they are moving toward the great agricultural regions of the Middle West. Some of them will be of the Rocky Mountain locust species, which are not as destructive as the seventeen-year and the thirteen-year variety.

The locust line of march can be determined, says the professor, "I should advise the farmers to dig trenches into which the insects can fall and be drowned. The rivers will be of great assistance to the farmers, as countless millions of the insects will fall into streams, although but little can be done to destroy the winged horde having the migratory instinct."

Professor Marshall declares the seventeen-year locust never devastated the fields but what swarms of birds followed them. Myriads of birds will also be seen in the Northwest and the houses are filled with locusts.

The fact that there are no flies worth mentioning is ominous of a locust plague.
It is well to note that the flies are not a pest to mankind in the west. Few of them are seen following the sweating herds in the fields, and the houses are most free from them. Professor Marshall declares that locusts do not come when the air is filled with common house flies, as the flies destroy the locust eggs.

"EVERY PROSPECT PLEASES"

Rev. Dr. Rawel's Second Lecture—
"New Zealand of Today."

Rev. Dr. Rawel gave his second illustrated lecture in Adelaide Street Baptist Church last night before a delighted audience that asked the seating accommodation of the auditorium to its utmost, quite a number of those present being obliged to stand. The lecturer's subject, "New Zealand of Today," was illustrated by many beautiful stereoscopic views of the cities, public buildings, rivers, lakes, mountains, geysers, forests, flowers and other notable features of this island "where every prospect pleases." Pictures were also shown of the various tribes of natives, their dwellings and their handwork.

Mr. Rawel, in a concise and entertaining style, outlined the marked features of New Zealand's progress and prosperity, its industries and the popular provisions of its Government. Among the latter are its free school system and free railway transportation for pupils; its old-age pensions, and its postal savings banks. Thrift is especially encouraged in New Zealand, and it is calculated that the wealth of the island averages £5,000 for every man, woman and child. Mr. Rawel and his clever children won hearty applause from the audience. They will probably leave London tomorrow, and will say goodby to their friends at tonight's prayer meeting in Adelaide Street Church.
