

DR. CRIPPEN PAID THE PENALTY HANGED AT 9:02 THIS MORNING

Did Not Make Any Confession According to Officials.

WAS ASSISTED TO SCAFFOLD

DR. CRIPPEN.
Who Was Hanged in London (England) This Morning.

[Associated Press.]
London, Nov. 23.—Dr. Harvey Hawley Crippen was hanged at Pentonville prison at 9:02 o'clock this morning for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore. He broke down, and did not utter a word to the help of attendants, who supported him, he would have been unable to walk to the scaffold.

The hanging was in the prison where the prisoner had been confined since his return to this country, following his arrest in Canada. The condemned man, who, throughout his trial, and even until Home Secretary Churchill had refused a petition for his reprieve, had maintained an imperturbable calmness, presented a pitiable appearance as he was literally led through the short corridor from his cell to the scaffold.

Terrible Anguish.
His mental anguish had been too great to be concealed by outward bravado, and it was a broken man who the warders were obliged to assist up the steps to the drop, which, once reached, the shrinking figure all but collapsed.

The announcement of the execution from the prison was accompanied by the official statement that Dr. Crippen made no statement or confession whatsoever before being hanged.

Restless Night.
The first report that Crippen had met his fate calmly was contradicted by persons who were present in the prison during the morning hours. The doomed man passed a restless night, and appeared haggard and worn when awakened from his fitful slumber. He seemed to lose all fortitude as the end approached. A breakfast was brought in, but it was untouched.

His face was colorless as he was escorted bareheaded to the gallows. The gruesome work was soon done, and could barely be seen from the street in front. There was a strong police guard on hand, which kept the crowd from approaching closely to the buildings.

The Black Cap.
The black cap was quickly drawn. Continued on Page Eight.

FRESH AIR DUCTS FOR POLICE COURT

Medical Health Officer Proposes Remodelling to the Commissioners.

Dr. Hutchinson, M. H. O., has sent his recommendation to the police commissioners, suggesting means whereby the ventilation of the police station could be greatly improved.

He advocates special ducts in the courtroom itself, whereby fresh air, warmed by passing over heated pipes, can be forced into this room. Special attention, he claims, should be paid to the inclosure used by the public. The corridor from the cells to the court is also very badly ventilated, and Dr. Hutchinson is of the opinion that a galvanized ventilator shaft would prevent draughts, and furnish plenty of fresh air, and from each there should be a ventilator.

The corridors, passageways and cells should be painted.

HELP FOR EMERY STREET

City Engineer Intends To Do Something to It at Once.

Head Engineer Van Cleave will have some improvements made to Emery street at once.

For some time this matter has been before the board of works, being the subject of some interesting debates. Some of the aldermen have claimed that the only way to improve the street was to put down a permanent pavement, or a curb and gutter.

However, it is in bad condition, and pending the settlement of the local improvement question, something will have to be done.

ENGINES SMASHED IN YARD CRASH

Shunting Locomotive Sideswiped by Ontario Limited.

FOUL OF THE MAIN LINE

Slight Accident in Grand Trunk Yards This Morning, But Nobody Injured.

Engineer Thomas W. Stanfield, who resides at 105 Maitland street, was slightly hurt as the result of a collision on the Grand Trunk near Maitland street crossing about 9:05 this morning. The Ontario Express sideswiped a yard engine, throwing the latter off the track. Both engines were considerably damaged, and will be out of commission for some time.

The yard engine, in charge of Engineer Stanfield, Fireman Arnold, and Yard Foreman Ryan, was engaged in shunting. It was on the switch and was moving to take the main line to the Grand Trunk crossing. Ryan stepped off the front to set the first switch, while Switchman Evans went ahead to turn those east of the crossing. He had just done this when he saw the Ontario Limited, with Engineer William Dean, Fireman W. Nolan and Conductor W. Bailey in charge, coming from the west. Evans gave Ryan the sign to stop, and the latter immediately stepped on the track, and signalled the engine of the express.

Both engines applied the brakes, but it was impossible to prevent an accident as the yard engine was foul of the main line. The big engine of the express jammed the smaller locomotive behind the cylinder head, ripping it off. It was thrown a considerable distance and the engine was hurled from the track. Stanfield was thrown from his seat, striking his back against the edge of the tender. He was bruised but not seriously hurt, being able to walk home. Arnold was not hurt, nor was any person on the passenger train. The big engine was smashed a little in front, the cylinder head being broken and the cowcatcher twisted.

"It was not much of an accident, but it might have been serious," said a railroad man. "Had the Ontario Express met the yard engine broadside, there would have been a bad mis-upt. Had the yard engine sideswiped some of the coaches it would have been bad, too."

"It might have been much worse," commented Assistant Superintendent Bowker. "The damage is not great, and Stanfield is not badly hurt. I am at a loss to understand how an accident like that can happen."

HIGHER PAY FOR PROVINCIAL POLICE

Many Changes Will Be Made in Regulations and Staff.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Certain important changes in the administration of the Ontario provincial police have been decided upon by Superintendent J. E. Rogers, as a result of the experience of the work of the force for the past year.

Heretofore, under the regulations, all reports, accounts and other communications from the individual officers have come directly to the head office. Under the proposed change greater power will be vested in the divisional superintendents, each of whom will be held responsible for the internal economy and details of his division. In future all officers will forward their weekly reports, expense accounts, and departmental communications to their divisional superintendents, who will forward them to headquarters, as formerly.

Three divisional inspectors. The territory covered by the provincial police has been allotted to three divisions: west, north and south, respectively, in charge of Inspector Maurice Emmons, at Kenora; Inspector George Caldwell, at Sarnia; and Inspector W. H. Mahon, at Niagara Falls. Each division has approximately fifteen stations.

Increases in the salaries paid to officers have also been decided upon. The minimum has been increased from $750 per annum to $800, the maximum has gone up from $1,000 to $1,100. Under the new schedule, after a year of satisfactory work, a constable's pay may be raised to $850; after two years to $900; and after five years to $1,100.

Hyman Hall Euchre.

The weekly euchre game at Hyman Hall will be held this evening. Larger crowds than usual are attending these affairs, and it is expected that tonight there will be a very large number present. Valuable prizes will be offered for competition. All are welcome.

ASQUITH'S HOUSE STORMED BY MILITANT SUFFRAGISTS

Premier, Chief Secretary for Ireland and Others Assaulted—A Wild Night Followed the Disorders of Yesterday.

[Associated Press.]

London, Nov. 23.—The rioting of the suffragettes, which began with an assault on Premier Asquith yesterday, continued throughout the night. Driven from one district, as many of the women as escaped arrest, would gather at another point and renew the battle.

Advancing under cover of the fog at 2:30 o'clock this morning a militant band circumented the police and stormed the Asquith residence in Downing street. They hurled stones at the house, breaking glass in all of the lower windows.

Earlier in the night, the women smashed the windows in the homes of Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary; Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies; and Winston Churchill, the home secretary.

Augustine Birrell, the veteran chief secretary for Ireland, was the victim of the most vicious of serious assaults. As a result of injuries from blows and kicks, the aged statesman is today confined to his bed and under the care of physicians. He has been compelled to cancel all immediate private and official engagements.

Mr. Birrell was making his way on foot through St. James' Park to the Athenaeum Club, when he was set upon by the women and soundly beaten. Policemen rescued him, and helped him to a motor car, in which he was taken home.

One hundred and fifty-five women and two men, who took part in yesterday's riots, were arraigned in the Bow street police court today. At the direction of Home Secretary Churchill those charged merely with obstruction were discharged. The others, against whom complaints of assault and the willful damage of property have been made, returned to jail to be held for trial later.

Most of the women prisoners appeared in court carrying bags containing a change of clothing, hopeful of the glory of martyrdom in jail. Some brought their knitting, and playing their needles busily during the proceedings, greatly amused the spectators.

Among those held was Mrs. Haverfield, daughter of Lord Abinger, who, according to the testimony introduced, had promised to bring a revolver with her on the occasion of the next suffragette demonstration.

London, Nov. 23.—The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow, when the court announced that a decision in all cases will be given.

This evening the suffragettes made another attempt to force their way into the House of Commons, but were repulsed, and a number of them arrested.

LORD LANSDOWNE IS FLAYED BY THE NATIONALIST LEADERS

London, Nov. 23.—The manifesto which is signed by John E. Redmond and T. P. O'Connor, is a violent arraignment of the House of Lords, as the only obstacle to home rule. It describes Lansdowne as "an Anglo-Irish landlord whose family name is written deep in that coffin ship, the Lansdowne Hospital ward, and in thousands of unmarked graves, where perished the people ousted from the Lansdowne property in the days of the famine."

"At the door of the House of Lords," continues the manifesto, "lies mainly the guilt for all those laws for an increase in landlord power and for the rejection of all measures for relief whereby the great famine and the great exodus were the plain and direct consequence and to every Irishman of this generation appeal the voice of a million of our people who died of hunger and of the millions driven to exile to denounce the iniquitous body to which they owed their boundless suffering."

"True to its iniquitous history the House of Lords alone today stands athwart the path of Irish victory. Its fall is the rise of Ireland. If this election is won, the battle for home rule is won."

The manifesto proceeds to quote several declarations of Premier Asquith and Chancellor Lloyd George, committing the Liberal party to the policy of home rule. Referring to "the dollar bogey," it says, "No American dollar for the cause of Irish freedom; millions of American dollars for the cause of the British Empire. Such is the policy of the Tory party."

Could Not Rest at Night. Back Was So Weak.

Weak, lame and aching backs are the primary cause of kidney trouble. When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning from the kidneys that everything is not right with them.

Heed the warning: cure the weak, lame, aching back and dispose of any chances of further trouble.

If you don't do this, serious complications are very apt to arise and the first thing you know you will be troubled with Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's Disease, the three most deadly forms of Kidney Trouble.

On the first sign of anything wrong Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go to the seat of the trouble and strengthen the kidneys, thereby strengthening the back.

Mrs. John Puigh, Parkdale, Man., writes: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and find nothing to beat them. I could not rest at night my back was so weak. I tried everything, but could not get anything to do me any good until I was told by a friend to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I tried them and I am not the same weak woman I was before. I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. M. L. Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

HOLLAND TO BECOME PART OF GERMANY

Dutchman Says Federation With Kaiser's Kingdom Is Inevitable.

QUEEN WILHELMINA

Lives So Much Apart That Her Personality Would Hardly Affect Question.

London, Nov. 21. — The Daily Express publishes an article which the editor assures his readers is from the pen of a "British gentleman of world-wide reputation," and which deals with the question of the annexation of Holland by Germany. The writer gives the views of a Dutchman of reputed wealth, prominent in business circles and an owner of property. He is also, the writer asserts, associated with several learned societies, and, like many of his compatriots, has travelled a great deal and reads and speaks several English, German and French. He has always appeared to me somewhat biased in his partiality for England and the English. He takes no active part in politics, so his opinions are those of a looker-on, not influenced by party bias.

"When staying with this gentleman in Amsterdam recently," says the writer in the Daily Express article, "I put to him the question whether or not he placed any credence on the statement sometimes made in England that the German's ambitions is to annex his country. In reply to my inquiry he said: 'Had you asked me that question a few years ago I should have said that it may be one of Germany's ambitions, but the possibility of its fulfillment are so remote that it is not worth considering.' Today I can give no such answer. Of course, no one advocates such a change in the writer or the Dutchman's opinion, but it is a problem now frequently talked over by the rich and poor alike, who weigh up the pros and cons and form opinions as to how it would suit their individual interests."

"I have heard that there are German emissaries in this country endeavoring to promote a desire on our part for annexation. I have never recognized one, however, and I should think that Germany's point of view that would be unnecessary. The development of events during the next few years will show its necessity or otherwise. Certainly Holland will never become part of Germany by force of arms. If it happen at all, it will only be because a large proportion of my countrymen think it necessary owing to England's changed attitude."

Change Time Has Brought.
"If anyone had hinted at such a change five or six years ago, he would have been laughed at. 'Oh, England will never allow it!' That was a complete answer and unanswerable, and so we never worried, but sleep quietly. Now we ask: 'Could England prevent it? Would she even risk a fall by attempting to interfere with Germany?' We read in the newspapers that Germany's naval programme is weakening, and that in a few years you will regain your proportionate strength. I, who are next to the papers, recognize the bluff. It astonishes us that any sane man can believe that Germany, having got so far, is now going to throw away her chances of surprising you. Essen and Emden are close to our borders, so perhaps we know better than you do what is going on in Krupp's works. All this makes us think your former naval supremacy is rapidly disappearing."

"There are other matters. Formerly we regarded England as the leading manufacturer of the world; today, from the experience of our own eyes, no one in this country can help believing that Germany has taken your place. Bridges, engines, electrical and other machinery, all that come here are from Germany, and the requirements we buy for our own colonies are from the same source. In engineering, why not also in ships of war, which, after all, are only a form of engineering? You have a party in England which wants to decrease your navy. Germany has a similar party. The difference is, the friends of the little navy get their way in England; in Germany they only talk."

Make Terms With Germany.
"As England is falling us, we must make what terms we can with Germany. Perhaps the question of naval power is more realized here than in England, no one forgets that once, about the middle of the seventeenth century, we were as great a power as England, and more prosperous than any other country. With the decline of our navy, our power and our prosperity declined. Recently the Emperor William advised us to strengthen our coast defences. A vote for a large sum for that purpose is now being discussed in our parliament. His advice was amusing. If Germany acquires Holland she will at once have to make coast defences, and the more forts she finds the better for her. On the other hand, such forts could never be used seriously against Germany. Her armies could march over our borders and take them without the least trouble, and besides, this is the amusing part, our supplies of ammunition would have to be obtained from Krupp. The Emperor would have another advantage. Our increase of armament would mean a large order for his works, namely, Krupp's, and the profit would be used toward building naval armament for his own country. Practically all armaments in our country are purchased from his firm."

"But surely the loyalty of the Dutch to the house of Orange," I said, "is something, and surely your countrymen would fight for independence as they did in the past?"
"That is a subject which is not understood in England," was the reply. "You have all read Motley, and realize the great deeds of William the Silent and his successors in the seventeenth century, but you forget that at home with William III. The present house are not even their descendants."

Royal Influence.
"A young man inspires national sentiment, and so it was with us a few years ago. Ask anyone now, and you will find that such sentiment has nearly disappeared. The queen is doubtless excellent, but she leads a life so apart from her subjects and enters so little into their lives that her personality would hardly affect the question. Annexation is a nasty word, and, if used, no doubt would breed patriots, but it would be called another name. A great deal would be talked about preserving our integrity, and also about obtaining the protection of the great German Empire. It would be suggested that our trade would derive enormous advantages, etc. All this would sound better, but the result would be the same. Besides, you must remember that such a change would not be made in cold blood; it would be made at a moment when temporary friction with England or great trade depression or other causes made it favorable. Your Boer war would have provided an excellent opportunity, but England had not then allowed the German navy in the North Sea to equal hers."

"How could it be suggested that the trade of your country would benefit?" I asked.
"Anyone going from Holland into Germany," he replied, "cannot but remark on the wonderful prosperity that is to be seen directly the frontier is crossed—say, at Goch or Venlo. On our side it is a dreary waste, on theirs, busy manufacturing towns, rapidly increasing. It would be asserted that prosperity would spread into our country. Again, as you know, many Dutchmen hope to see the Zuider Zee drained; this is a question of capital. It would be hinted that Germany could at once provide it. Further arguments would be that Amsterdam would become the great centre of art, that her stock exchange would soon be more important than now, and that her old position as the chief banking city of the world would be regained."

Cannot Stand Alone.
"Again, a large proportion of our wealth is invested in our colonies. What redress can a small country have if the great powers fail to protect our colonial interests? A Germany would undertake to preserve our right, and so cause our trade to rapidly increase. Mind, I do not say active part in politics, so his opinions are those of a looker-on, not influenced by party bias."

"All this is very interesting," I said, "but do you seriously, for one moment, imagine that England would allow Germany, her most feared rival, to come within six hours of her coast, and to make her so safe?"

"Frankly," my friend replied, "I cannot imagine that she would willingly allow it, but unless the policy of your country alters, it will be an accomplished fact, without even asking your consent, and you will have no one but yourselves to blame."

FOX HUNTING NOT IN ANY BAD CASE

Pessimists' Alarm Is Groundless in Light of Facts and Figures as Gathered.

London, Nov. 22.—With the opening of the season at hand alarmists again are trying to frighten the public by saying that fox hunting has had its day. They argue that the sport cannot long outlive the slow but certain changes that are taking place in the conditions of land tenure. The fox is said to be steadily deteriorating in the sport, they contend; an increasing artificiality in the method of furnishing material for hunting—referring, of course, to the system of hand rearing and turning down imported foxes; a serious growth of claims upon the financial resources of almost every hunt, and a threatening lack of sympathy with huntsmen on the part of the smaller farmers.

Though hunting is far from being what it was 50 or 60 years ago, it is certainly in no bad case. By the time that fox hunting has had its day, they argue that the sport cannot long outlive the slow but certain changes that are taking place in the conditions of land tenure. The fox is said to be steadily deteriorating in the sport, they contend; an increasing artificiality in the method of furnishing material for hunting—referring, of course, to the system of hand rearing and turning down imported foxes; a serious growth of claims upon the financial resources of almost every hunt, and a threatening lack of sympathy with huntsmen on the part of the smaller farmers.

Latest reports show that there are 456 packs of foxhounds in the United Kingdom. England and Wales claim 364, of which 173 are foxhounds, 88 harriers, 16 staghounds, 11 draghounds, 53 beagles and 18 pointers. Scotland has 11 foxhounds and one harrier, two otter and three beagle packs. Ireland lays claims to 25 foxhound packs, 40 harriers, 4 stag and 6 beagle packs. In total, the packs which hunt the fox and stag or deer number some 9,000 couples of hounds, while of harriers and beagles there are some 3,000 couples.

NECKLACE STOLEN IN EXPRESS TRAIN

An Army Officer Victim to the Extent of $15,000 of Clever Thieves.

London, Nov. 22.—A jewel case containing a pearl necklace valued and insured at $15,000 mysteriously disappeared from the Stranraer boat express to London Saturday.

When the train arrived at Euston one of the passengers, an officer in the army, reported that he had been

Dropsy—Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

L. TURLEY CURD, Wilmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

Scotland Yard was informed of the loss by the railway police, and a large reward has been offered for the return of the bag with the missing jewelry. At Euston station the authorities cannot explain the robbery in any way, unless a clever thief disguised as a ticket collector or a porter, managed for a moment to enter the compartment.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 23.

THE RADIAL RAILWAY PROPOSALS.

The ratepayers may be asked to adopt a policy of electrical radial railway development. Two proposals are before the council. The promoters of the London and Northwestern Railway ask the city to guarantee their bonds to the extent of $150,000 as an aid to the construction of a road from Sarnia to London, via Forest and Arkona. The promoters of the North Midland Company ask for aid on a similar plan to the extent of $200,000 for a road from Stratford into London, via Lucan and St. Marys. A third line is talked of from Ingersoll to London, but so far no application in its behalf has been made.

It will be admitted that each of these lines would be a great advantage to London, and widen the circle of its citizenship for commercial purposes. The merchants would be the first to feel the benefit, because the new roads would bring thousands of purchasers to London.

The first duty of the mayor and council is to ascertain the facts necessary to form a correct judgment, and to submit these facts to the people. Regarding each of the lines, they should ascertain the number of miles proposed to be built, the route, the cost, the intended equipment and operation, the financial strength of those behind the scheme, the likelihood of its being carried to a successful finish, and the ability to operate it if built.

The wisdom of a guarantee on the part of the city of a proportion of the bond issue of a radial electric railway is after all one of proportion. What risk are the guarantors likely to take? What benefit is the city likely to receive? In the early days, when London was less than 10,000 population, it built the London and Port Stanley Railway, and incurred a liability of over a million dollars. Later it gave $100,000 of bonus outright to the London, Huron and Bruce. Times have changed. London is already a great steam railway centre, and more railways are projected. Other steam railway centres like London are also radial electric railway centres, and it is found that the latter help, and do not hurt, the steam railways. They promote local traffic and bring the people in a wide area closer together.

There is one very important difference between the building of the Port Stanley Railway and the bonus to the Huron and Bruce by the city, and what the city is asked to do to secure the electric railways. In the case of the Port Stanley, the city became proprietor, and in the case of the Huron and Bruce it made a cash payment as a gift. In the present application, it is asked only to guarantee a certain proportion of the bonds. If the enterprises are justifiable, there should be no loss to the city. If the proposals are examined on behalf of the city by competent men, this can be ascertained beforehand with reasonable certainty. The guarantee by the city would enable the promoters to sell the bonds for a better price, and to build the road at the lowest cost consistent with the best workmanship. This would reduce the risk to the lowest point. The city, of course, would have the right to demand guarantees that the money raised by the bonds would be put into actual construction, and that the work would be economically done. There should be the strictest safeguards in this respect. In any event the loss could not be total. If disaster overtook the road the city would receive its share of the lessened value.

The council and the Board of Trade should get all the facts, strike a sum they think justified in each case, and submit the question to the people, with the facts necessary to decide. If it paid London to make a gift of $100,000 to get the London, Huron and Bruce, would it pay to risk a guarantee of $150,000 of first mortgage bonds to secure a line from Sarnia through Forest to London, or to risk a guarantee of $200,000 of first mortgage bonds to secure a line from Stratford through St. Marys to London?

There are rumors that important interests are behind these enterprises, and if the rumors are true, the risk of the city would be minimized, and a high-class service assured. The projects may be in a nature of a great opportunity for London. Meantime, let the citizens have all the information available.

NOT VERY AGGRESSIVE.

We are told that this is to be a fighting session at Ottawa. The debate on the address is a skirmish preliminary to the main engagement. There was much feinting and manoeuvring on Monday by the Opposition leader, but his plan of battle was not disclosed. Mr. Borden glided over several highly controversial subjects, but at a pace which suggested that he knew he was on thin ice. He complained of "the vague and contradictory deliverances" of the Prime Minister in the west, but he was vagueness personified in his references to western demands. He admitted that the western people wished a reduction of the duties on agricultural implements. "If the duty is not necessary," was his comment, "it should be reduced or removed." All parties can subscribe to very cautious generalities, but does Mr. Borden himself think the duty is necessary? Does the Government know the facts, and what policy has it to offer? Does Mr. Borden know the facts, and what policy has he to offer? May be asked just as pertinently. One of his supporters has given notice of a motion calling for the reduction of the tariff on implements to 10 per cent. If the motion is pressed, Mr. Borden will not be able to talk around the question as he did on Monday.

As to reciprocity Mr. Borden was equally nebulous. He asked if it were advisable, in view of Canada's prosperity, to alter existing conditions, but he gave no answer to his own question. He declared that before negotiations were resumed the Canadian people should know that duties would be likely to be reduced and whether there was to be reciprocity. This is equivalent to saying that the Canadian negotiators should throw their cards on the table, face upwards, before playing the game. Equally fatuous was his suggestion that "if a treaty were made there was a danger that it would be pushed through the House because upon its fate would largely depend the fate of the Administration." The Government would be in honor bound to recommend to parliament a treaty of its own framing. It would be constitutionally obliged to stake its own existence on the acceptance or rejection of the treaty by parliament. Parliament later on would have to reckon with the country. These things are matters of course. Mr. Borden knows they are. Why then does he talk nonsense? Equally lacking in definiteness were Mr. Borden's remarks on the naval problem. He said the Opposition stood where it was a year ago. Eighteen months ago it stood with the Government for a Canadian navy. It has shifted its ground, but why recall the discreditable fact? The Government's policy Mr. Borden described as dangerous, expensive and practically useless. Yet his chief Ontario organ, the Toronto News, assails the Government because its project is not expensive enough. The News wants two Dreadnoughts added to the proposed Canadian navy, which costs too much without them according to the leader of the Opposition. Eighteen months ago the Opposition urged that the construction of the fleet be begun immediately. Now it professes to be anxious for an appeal to the people.

If this is to be a fighting session Mr. Borden has not begun well. A fighting leader should not be afraid of a frontal attack. Mere lying in ambush, and flanking operations, are not the tactics that show courage or conviction in a political party.

The Canadian tariff question has again become a difficult one for the politicians, but it will be as difficult for the Opposition as for the Government.

The marvellous assurance which carried Crippen through the ordeal of the courtroom failed him at the gallows. It is to be hoped it was conscience more than the approach of death that caused his nerve to fail him.

As usual, Mr. Lloyd George hits the bullseye and rings the bell. While the Unionists are crying against American dollars, he reminds them that needy and marriageable aristocrats find American dollars very useful. "A palpable hit!"

A young Montreal millionaire has accepted a Unionist nomination in Lancashire. A Canadian imbued with the real Canadian spirit could not consistently carry the banner of the party of privilege and class domination. But it is a short-cut to British "society."

The militant suffragettes have given their cause another setback. In view of the Premier's pledge to give facilities in the next parliament for the adoption of a suffrage bill, their conduct is inexplicable. It will rejoice every enemy of woman suffrage, and dishearten its true friends.

The suffragettes show no mercy. They laid violent hands on the gentle and genial Augustine Birrell, at an unfeminine hour this morning. As a result, he is laid up for repairs, and the election oratory may not be seasoned by his wit and humor—unless, indeed, he can still "Birrell" from his sick-room.

The Hamilton papers lose no opportunity of sneering at the Western University. They cannot forgive London the possession of so important an institution. Railing at Toronto in everything else, they support Toronto's claim to an educational monopoly, not that they envy Toronto less, but that they envy London more.

The Duke of Sutherland has instructed the C. P. R. to divide 10,000 acres into ready-made farms for the eldest sons of his tenants. It is creditable to the duke's head and heart if he purposes giving the young men an opportunity to own their farms. If he intends to reproduce the British tenant system in this country, his plan will be viewed by Canadians in a different light. The memory of the Sutherland clearances has not died away.

GETTING AT THE TRUTH.
[Chicago News.]
"Have you written all the invitations to my party, mamma?" queried little Eva.
"Yes, dear," answered her mother.
"They are all written and mailed."
"And how soon will the acceptations and deceptions begin to come in?"

QUEER.
[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
"I understand that D'Auber showed you all his pictures the other day."
"Yes, I saw them all."
"They say his best pictures are very good."
"He didn't show me those."

HAD TO.
[Puck.]
Uncle Eben—Looks like me as if that express train's goin' faster than usual today.
Uncle Ezra—Course it is. Squire Hoskins sent a special delivery letter to his son in New York this morning, and this was the train it was going out on.

PATRONIZING.
[Washington Star.]
"Yes," said the somewhat severe lady, "my ancestors came over in the Mayflower."
"From what I have heard," replied Mrs. Cummins, "accounting for the Mayflower didn't compare with those of a modern liner; but, of course, the rates were lower."

INHERITED.
[Cleveland Leader.]
"Does the De Payers' new baby show his aristocratic origin?"
"He sure does. He tries to put his teeth in his eye—thinks it's a monocle."

ONE WAY OF KILLING THEM.

[Answers.]
He had besought the pharmaceutical chemist to give him something with which he might kill moths, and the pharmaceutical chemist had supplied him with camphor balls, but the next day he was back again, holding some of the fragments of the balls in his hand.
"Are you the same young man who sold them things to me yesterday?" he asked.
"I am," replied the pharmaceutical chemist, composedly. "What's wrong with them?"
"Phew! wrong with them?" repeated the irate purchaser. "The idea of selling them things to kill moths or anything else! See here! If you can show me the man that can hit a moth with a single ball as sure as I can hit a nail with a hammer, I'll give you a hundred dollars and a testimonial in the form of a missus broke."

THE RULING PASSION.
[Pittsburgh Courier.]
Banker to new tutor—Always bear in mind that in my children I am entrusting to you my most precious possessions, and give them your best. And what is your lowest price?

FASHIONABLE.
[Life.]
"How is your life this fall?"
"Just able to hobble around."

YES, WE'VE NOTICED THEM.
[Caledonia Banner.]
Did you ever notice the late comers? In every church, at performance in opera house or elsewhere, yes, even at social functions, there are the late comers—people who come in just as things are nicely started, and distract attention while they are being seated, besides spoiling the particular number on which they interrupt the proceedings?

THE CHILD AND THE LIGHT.

[Sir Oliver.]
If a child for a time dislikes going to sleep in the dark, or wishes its door ajar—yield to it. The dread will soon pass. If not artificially fostered or made much of. A child ought not to have to confess in words to his fear—that only tends to make it more real and lasting. He will grow out of it. And, after all, this feeling of helplessness in an unknown and mysterious universe is very natural. The universe is big and mysterious and most alarming. Custom gradually makes its ordinarily friendly aspects familiar, while its more portentous and threatening aspects are found to be exceptional; but there, behind the scenes, and it is just the exceptional and portentous of which we are instinctively afraid.

DO IT EARLY.
[Chicago Record-Herald.]
Remember that if you get your Christmas shopping done early you will have a better chance than you would otherwise to gain enjoyment in just looking around.

THE PENALTIES OF GREATNESS.

[Toronto Press.]
The penalties of genius have often been paid by the genius' wife. There is, for example, the Countess Tolstoy. There was, in times past, Xanthippe; and if Xanthippe was a woman, she had doubtless some excuse for her eccentricities of Socrates, who insisted upon going barefoot during an Athenian winter. How the idiosyncrasies of Lord Lytton, Lord Byron and Carlyle reacted upon their family life may be judged from their biographies.

THE VETO THE STICKLER.

[Ottawa Press.]
The House of Lords is actually reforming itself, but internal reform will not end the crisis. Social progress in Britain is impossible until the veto of the Upper House is eliminated.

A CURE FOR "NERVES."

[Manchester Guardian.]
Father Bernard Vaughan, speaking at Preston last night, said he found that those who did nothing generally required the rest cure. When a lady told him the other day that she wanted a rest cure he told her to do her own washing and she would not need it. If they had a trial more than they could bear, let them seek some fever ward or slum garret, some poor child in distress, some poor widow without a roof over her head, and let them seek, and they would not only seek but would conquer more finely than Napoleon or Caesar conquered, for they would conquer not others but themselves.

NORTHCLIFFE'S EVIL INFLUENCE.

[Ottawa Free Press.]
Mr. Balfour talks heretics of "a revolution financed by American gold." What is to be said of a party financed by brewers and moneylenders, and controlled by a press that is nothing if not "American" in its methods? The man who runs the thinking machine for the Tory party sees blood-red danger in the collection of a few thousands of dollars in Canada and a United States on behalf of the home rule cause, is the man who introduced that American product "yellow journalism" into the old country, and bought from New York at a heavy price American newspapermen of the sensational type to exploit the new methods. And now this Americanized press has completely captured the political party of the "docks," is doing its thinking and supplying it with cheap and nasty catch phrases as a substitute for principles. Assuredly the great Conservative party has fallen upon evil days. "A revolution financed by American gold" sounds somewhat ominous, but it is not half as bad as a political dictatorship financed by the unscrupulous press inspired by disciples of Tammany.

LAND TAX SALE WAS VERY SMALL

Few Parcels Offered and the Prices Generally Low.

City Treasurer Bell conducted a tax sale in the city hall this morning, and the sum of $706.59 was realized on the property. Few parcels were put up, and the prices were small.

The most important transaction was the purchase of 66 feet on Becher street by Mr. Duke Steel for $620.15. This land has been gathering taxes for some years, and while it was quite valuable, the owner decided to allow them to accumulate until there was sufficient to secure a tax title. Up to this time there has been a dispute as to the validity of the title. At the sale today, Mr. Steel paid in the amount of back taxes, amounting to $620.15, and was given a clear right to the land.

Mr. R. A. Bayly purchased two parcels on Adelaide street, paying $12.26. Mr. Henry Macklin bought three small pieces on Duchess avenue, Maitland street, and Oak street, paying $21.10 for them. They were small parcels. Andrew Elliott bought a lot on the Hamilton road for $26.63, while Henry Strangeman purchased a small strip next to his property on South street for $18.95.

FOUND MINERALS.

Perth, Nov. 22.—A valuable discovery of molybdenum, a valuable mineral used in the dyeing of silks and in chemical works, has been reported from Bagot Township. Mr. J. J. Church, while partridge shooting, discovered the deposit on James Warren's farm, six miles from Renfrew, and secured an option on the mineral rights.

SPRAGGE VS. TORONTO SYNOD.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The supreme court today judgment was reserved in the case of Spragge vs. the Synod of Toronto, an action over the construction of the will of the late Joseph Spragge in 1866, regarding a lot left to the church.

MIDDLESEX REGIMENT RAISED FOR INDIA

Historical Society Hears Paper on Story of the One Hundredth Regiment.

The London and Middlesex Historical Society met in the law offices of McKillop & Murphy last night. The president of the society, Mr. A. W. Fraser, read two excellent papers of deep historic interest, being the "Personal Reminiscences of Harry Salter and Robert Allan, of the One Hundredth Royal Canadian Regiment of 1858." This regiment was created by order of the Imperial Government, and Capt. Bruce, of London Township, was commissioned with its organization. The regiment left Montreal in November, landing first at the Isle of Wight. Mr. Allan's paper described in interesting detail the experience of the soldiers in drill at Aldershot, and afterwards in their ten years of service in England, Gibraltar and Malta, for the regiment, although raised purposely for the Indian mutiny, was not in time to take an active part.

Mr. Chauncey G. Jarvis read a strong and carefully-prepared paper on the life of William Pitt the Younger. A communication was read from the American Historical Society, which meets in Indianapolis, Dec. 27-30, asking that a report of the work of the local society, and if possible delegates, be sent to the convention. The president was empowered to authorize any members who may wish to attend at their own expense to go as regular delegates.

The question of securing a new room for future meetings of the society was left with the committee for further consideration. The members appeared in favor of meeting in one of the rooms of

If he does not reside in Canada he is not authorized, and this ceremony is null. The marriage is therefore void.

CITIZENS PROTESTING OVER THE CROSSINGS

Board of Works Say They Have Not Enough Men to Do Work.

The crossings of the city are in a disgraceful condition, particularly those downtown. The attention of the board of works has been called to the matter, but they are handicapped by a lack of men. If the department would string a few lines of hose, and wash off part of the mud and slime it would be a great improvement. The staff will have to be increased, and the crossings, at least, kept clear.
"What do I think of the streets?" asked a businessman today. "They are simply awful. I never saw anything like them in my life. They are worse than the 14th concession of London Township, and that road was said to be the worst ever discovered. The crossings, at least, could be kept clean. It is awful."
The board of works will meet on Thursday night, and it is probable that more men will be put to work cleaning up the down-town section.

Owing to the chalking of pavements by suffragists, and the painting of other advertisements with stencil plates, Croydon, England Borough Council has resolved on a new bylaw to punish such offenders with a fine not exceeding $25.
Committed for trial at Bristol on charge of housebreaking, Harry Chapman, aged 21, asked the magistrates to discharge him and he would swear to find the real thief within fourteen days and hand him over to justice.

What more appropriate, acceptable and enduring gift than a watch?

Waltham has been the watch favorite of social as well as of business and industrial life for nearly three-quarters of a century.

WALTHAM

has beauty to commend it, usefulness, reliability and integrity to make first impressions permanent. It is a watch that flatters the recipient and keeps the donor in constant and grateful recollection.

CANADA WANTS NO POLITICAL UNION

J. W. Edwards, M. P., Talks on Trade Relations in Boston.

Boston, Nov. 22.—The prevailing opinion in Canada, according to Dr. J. W. Edwards, M. P., of Ottawa, who addressed the Canadian Club at a "Peace" banquet Tuesday night, is that any step toward negotiating closer trade relations between this country and the United States should be preceded by a lowering of the tariff wall on this side to the level of that on the Canadian side of the line. He said that no tariff treaty which promised to lead to political union would be accepted by Canada. He spoke as follows:

"Canada's trade is principally with the United States and the Netherlands. While the United States buys from Canada 57 per cent more than 10 years ago, the Netherlands buys 112 per cent more. The United Kingdom takes over half of Canada's exports, while the United States takes barely 37 per cent. On the other hand, 60 per cent of Canada's imports come from the United States and less than 25 per cent from the United Kingdom. The fact that 8,000,000 of Canadians buy from this country more than twice as much as the 95,000,000 of Americans buy from Canada has led my countrymen to discard the idea so prevalent that the United States is Canada's natural market."

Regarding the possibility of the annexation of Canada to the United States, Dr. Edwards said:

"Canadian opinion is strongly against any attempt to frame a treaty which opens up by implication suggests political union."

"I believe the best thinking men of the United States want to see the integrity of the British Empire maintained. Not only is the integrity of that empire essential to the realization of our hopes of universal peace, but it is of inestimable value to the United States and Canada in their common desire to keep North America a white man's country. The remarkable development of Japan suggests a possible menace to these two countries when China's millions are once thoroughly aroused from their centuries of sleep. The disintegration of the British Empire would not only set back the world a hundred years and darken the prospect of universal peace, but would place the white man's burden with ever increasing weight on the shoulders of Uncle Sam. The integrity of the British Empire is the world's best guarantee of peace."

WILL NOT ELECTRIFY.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Railway officials state that the electrification of Montreal terminals is not likely owing to the high expense which would be involved in comparison with the amount of traffic.

WILL GIVE LAND.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—The Duke of Sutherland has instructed the land department of the C. P. R. to divide 10,000 acres of land in the west into ready-made farms on which he proposes to settle the eldest sons of his English tenants.

GERMANS PLAN TO EXPROPRIATE LAND Agrarian Elements Demand a Measure For Germanization of Prussian Districts.

Berlin, Nov. 22.—Drastic enforcement of the law permitting the expropriation of land belonging to Poles, in East Prussia, is urged by the imperial chancellor and the conservative leaders, and the probability is that the policy will be put into effect in the near future. Recent investigations into conditions in the Polish districts of Prussia have disclosed the fact that in spite of the Government's efforts to force Germanization, the influx of German settlers has been by no means as large as had been expected.

The Poles, united by a strong sentiment of nationality decline to sell their land voluntarily. In recent months they have even succeeded in adding large areas of farm land to their possessions.

The failure of previous attempts at German colonization is leading the conservative element of the Agrarians to raise an urgent demand that the Government apply the measures of forcible expropriation provided by law.

MOVING PICTURE MEN HIT BACK AT ALDERMEN

Throw Pictures of Ones Who Raised Their Fee on Screens in the Theatres.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The city council here decided some time ago to raise the license fee for moving picture theatres from $25 to $300 a year in spite of the howl set up by the proprietors of these establishments. Now, to get back at the aldermen, the proprietors are bringing about this increase, which goes into force Jan. 1, the proprietors of the "nickel shows" have decided to throw the names of the aldermen in question on the screen at every show, with a request to the patrons of the theatres not to vote for these aldermen at the coming election.

"We will leave it to the public as to whether we have a square deal," say the theatre men.

MAN'S THUMB CRUSHED AND HE FELL TO DEATH

Frederick South Fainted When Beam Dropped on His Hand.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Frederick South met death in a peculiar manner today, while working on a building in the course of erection at the plant of the Canada Cycle Company, in West Toronto.

South, with some other men, was helping to lift a heavy beam into place when the beam fell on his thumb. South fainted from the pain and fell to the floor. He did not regain consciousness, and Dr. G. W. Clendenen was called. South died in a few minutes without regaining consciousness. On examination it was found that there was a fracture of the skull at the base, which was the cause of his death; that his thumb was broken, and that there was a wound on the nose.

South was a man of about fifty years of age, and was a widower.

For every hundred dollars in premiums received here there was paid to policyholders $49.19, leaving $50.81 to be carried for reserve expense and profits.

CHOLERA PATIENT BETTER.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Dr. Montanari, director-general of public health, who returned this morning from Grosse Isle, where he went to look into the case of cholera from the Royal George, states that the patient is convalescent. "I have not been able as yet," he added, "to fully trace the origin of the disease in this particular case, but while the examination of specimens establishes that it is cholera, it is of a mild type."

FATALLY INJURED.

Strathville, Nov. 21.—Luke McDonough, aged 26, while working on a pile-driver on the C. P. R. high level bridge between the two cities, got his head in the way of the descending hammer, weighing 2,200 pounds, and was crushed to pulp. His widowed mother and family live at Lacombe, Alberta.

WHO OWNS THIS?

Montreal, Nov. 22.—A man found wandering in London, England, with his mind a blank, had in his possession a postoffice box No. 100, made by Rubenstein Bros. Montreal. The Rubenstein make the keys for the postoffice department, but the key in question was not made for the Montreal postoffice, as there is no such number as 100 here. It must be, therefore, for some other city or town if a man from Canada carrying such a key is known to be in London, the London police would be glad to know who he is, as the key is the only clue to his identity.

DYSPEPSIA Can Be Cured.

This disease is the all prevailing malady of civilized life, and one which oftenest baffles all ordinary treatment. It gives rise to a great variety of distressing symptoms, such as distress after eating, rising and souring of food, wind in the stomach, heartburn, etc.

Nearly everything that enters a weak dyspeptic stomach acts as an irritant; hence the great difficulty of effecting a cure.

The long train of distressing symptoms, which render life a burden to the victim of dyspepsia, may be promptly cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters.

B.B.B. regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, stimulates secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, purifies the blood, and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. Herman Dickens, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia, and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became cured, and I can now eat anything without it hurting me. I will highly recommend it to all who are troubled with stomach trouble."

UNDER POVERTY OAK

Count Tolstol asked to Be Buried Beside Famous Tree.

[Associated Press Dispatch.]

Tula, Russia, Nov. 22.—Throughout the night and during the early hours of today special trains arrived at Zaseika, the railway station near Yasnaya Polyana estate, bearing delegations to the funeral of Count Leo Tolstol. Students from Moscow occupied twenty-three coaches.

Following Tolstol's written request his grave had been made under "poverty" in the spot "where a poor man would be buried a green rocking-horse."

This reference was to an episode in the early life of Tolstol and his brother, who, as children, were consigned to the earth a hobby horse in the belief that when it was disinterred a reign of happiness would be inaugurated.

The novelist often referred to the disposition of his body, and in directions left specified explicitly that the ceremony incident thereto should be "of the simplest, without the rites of the Orthodox Church."

They recommended a thorough and searching investigation by the authorities, and the hand axe found near the body was covered with blood and hair.

Bill Tebo, brother of the man under arrest on suspicion, identified the axe as his own.

He was surprised at how the sores healed. "I took your New Nyal's Compound for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicine the trouble would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itching of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Nyal's Compound for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish."

FOUR KILLED

Falling Walls Bury Tailor Shop and All in It at Cleveland.

(Associated Press.)

Cleveland, Nov. 22.—The wife of Simon Frutkin, a tailor, his two small children and a servant, were crushed to death by the collapse of a new concrete mercantile building at Loraine avenue and West Thirtieth street tonight. An explosion of unknown origin is believed to have caused the disaster.

A baby, the youngest of the Frutkin children, was saved by the strength of a bureau under which it had rolled, which supported a weight of many tons until the rescuers and the little one, cowering and unharmed.

Frutkin himself was badly injured. His two apprentices and a woman and child escaped at the first warning sound.

Frutkin's little shop stood next to the big concrete building. He was at work in the front room, while Mrs. Frutkin, with the children, was asleep in the bedroom on the rear floor.

With a tremendous crash the huge wall that overhung their fragile frame building, heaved and then settled to the earth, burying the tailor's home and his shop beneath it.

A. C. MACDONNELL IS NOW A WHIP

Conservatives Held a Caucus and a Shake-Up Was Announced.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—There has been a general shake-up among the Conservative whip here, and a brand new set was announced this morning at the close of the first Conservative caucus. Claude Macdonnell, of Toronto, is one of the new whips.

It will be remembered that at the close of the last session all the Conservative whips sent in their resignation to Mr. Borden, with a suggestion that he choose new ones and arrange for a complete reorganization. George Taylor, for 25 years chief Conservative whip, resigned, and Geo. H. Perley was appointed to his place. Mr. Taylor being made honorary chief whip. This morning the new appointments are announced. W. J. Roche, of Marquette, is assistant chief whip on the floor of the House, and the other whips appointed are:

W. S. Middleboro, North Grey. Samuel Sharpe, North Ontario. A. C. Macdonnell, South Toronto. Arthur S. Goodeve, Kootenay. John Stanfield, Colchester.

Mr. Borden stated that there was no fault to find with the retiring whips; on the contrary, the party owed much to them, but that the new blood would be a good thing.

Special committees were formed to watch government legislation, private and public bills, and a general reorganization committee under Ames, of Montreal, was also formed. The representatives of the departmental committees. They were the customary cheers for the leader when the caucus broke up.

GOING TO OTTAWA A THOUSAND STRONG

Western Grain Growers Will Urge a Lower Tariff—Appointment on 18th of December

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—A representative of the Western Grain Growers' Association is in the city making arrangements with reference to the coming here next month of the large deputation to urge a low tariff.

It is claimed that there will be a thousand in attendance—about six hundred from the west and the rest from the eastern provinces. They have secured an appointment by Dec. 16, and steps are being taken to have an adjournment of the House in order that the representatives will be made not only to the Government, but to members of both sides. If this is done the Commons chamber and galleries will be used for the purpose.

WANT FILMS CENSORED

W. C. T. U. Will Petition Government To Inspect.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 423 Park avenue, the president, Mrs. Hubert Asplund, presiding. After the minutes had been read and accepted, the president reminded those present that it had been previously resolved to allow the treasurer at each meeting a few minutes during which to receive the fees of the members present, and this most decidedly convenient arrangement was taken advantage of by several.

It was resolved to co-operate with the missionary and mothers' societies, etc. In a petition to the Government asking that films of the moving picture shows be inspected by some competent person before permitting them to be exhibited. It is so that young children are not permitted to attend such places unless under the guardianship of their parents or someone duly appointed by them.

It was also decided that a means be taken to make the literature supplied at the railway stations by the W. C. T. U. a little more up to date and pleasing. The members of the union are therefore requested to send their Tidings and other papers, while still fresh and new, to the W. C. T. U. rooms.

Mrs. (Dr.) Rea gave an interesting Bible reading, after which there was some talk of the desirability of forming a Young People's Society in conjunction with the union. Nothing definite was done in this matter.

BERGER REPLIES TO ARCHBISHOP

Says Roman Catholic Church in 1800 Years Has Failed to Solve Labor Question.

(Associated Press.)

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22.—Victor L. Berger, congressman-elect on the Socialist ticket from Milwaukee, in answering the attack made on Socialism by the Rev. J. J. Glennon, says that the archbishop's religion is the cause of labor conditions.

"Archbishop Glennon intimates that socialism is the philosophy of the devil," said the Socialist delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention. "That is very unfair and does not show much learning. I might say with as much justice that the archbishop's religion is the cause of the whiskey bottle. That, of course, would be unfair. We cannot discuss the great social problem of the day in that manner."

Archbishop Glennon claims that the Roman Catholic Church will solve the labor question. That church had more than 1,800 years to do so, but has not done it. I may add that the conditions of the working men in civilized countries is nowhere so wretched as in the Roman Catholic countries, namely: Ireland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Mexico and the South American republics.

"It is in these countries that labor is down to its lowest ebb. In France, Belgium and Austria conditions were improved after the terrific fights with the Roman Catholic Church. And yet Archbishop Glennon says the Roman Catholic Church will solve the labor question."

EXPECT TO LAND ANOTHER "ANGEL"

Man With "Real Money" Has Volunteered to Finance Pro. Hockey Team.

(G. N. W. Dispatch.)

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—It is likely, despite the withdrawal of the Shamrocks, that there will be six clubs in the National Hockey Association. A Montreal man volunteered to take over the Shamrock franchise and to operate a professional team if allowed to recruit from the Shamrock, Cobalt, and Halliburton ranks. He says that he will import all the men necessary, and that his team will be capable of giving the Ottawa, Wanderer, or Renfrew seven to a good hard run. The man behind the new team has money and he promised to be on hand at next Saturday's meeting.

Just now there does not seem anything to it, but Ottawa, Wanderers, and Renfrew—Quebec will be only fairly strong, and the Canadians will find it impossible to scrape up a winning team from the French players.

WILL DEPORT HIM.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Two years' imprisonment and deportation to England was what Special Constable O. P. Bent received this morning in the police court for theft. Bent, for the third time, has been in the employ of the C. P. R. at Windsor street station, acting in the capacity of special constable. A short time ago several grips disappeared from the station and suspicion fell on Bent, who was finally arrested and found guilty of the charge.

COMMISSIONER POCOCK NOT AFTER MAYORALTY

Intends to Devote All His Energies to the Niagara Power Problem.

"If Mayor Beattie has no opposition for a second term, except from myself, he need not worry," declared Chairman Pocock, of the water commission, still in the city. "I would not accept it with acclamation at this time. I was elected to the water commission and to remain with that board until the Niagara power question is settled. I am deeply interested in the scheme and nothing is going to interfere with me until I have done all in my power to make it a success. I am confident that I will be a great success, and I am willing to do my part in bringing it about. I could have been elected mayor, but the board at its first session, but I was not looking for preferment. I am not a candidate for the mayoralty."

INGERSOLL WILL HAVE FINE SHOW

Entries for Poultry Exhibition Are Very Numerous This Year.

(Special to The Advertiser.) Ingersoll, Nov. 22.—The many admirers and personal friends of J. W. Bengough, the clever cartoonist and writer, who died last week, are to be put through a serious illness he is unable to fill his engagement in St. Paul's Church here tonight.

The large number of entries already received by the secretary indicate that the annual poultry exhibition will be much more successful than any previous exhibition of the kind held here. It will open in the town hall next Tuesday, and continue during the three following days.

Cornelius Cosson appeared before Magistrate Peterson yesterday afternoon to answer to a charge of assault, committed at the home of Wm. Murray, on Inkerman street, Sunday afternoon. The defendant's guilt was clearly established, a fine of $20 and costs was imposed. The defendant is to be placed on the Indian list, and he declared his intention to seek another hearing place and to behave better in future.

A bowling match took place in the local alleys on Monday night between the Salford Stars and Warden's Ales. The result was a victory for the local team with a score of 2,001 to 1,987.

About a carload of local theatrogoers paid their respects to "The White Squid" in Woodstock Opera House.

Through the leniency of Superintendent Warfield, Ed Foster was allowed to go on paying the costs of the case against him for placing a dangerous obstruction on the electric railway. He changed his plea of not guilty to guilty. County Crown Attorney Ball, of Woodstock, appeared for the prosecution, and he directed attention to the serious possibilities of such an offence, which is punishable by a term in prison.

Miss Nellie Spry, of London, is visiting friends here for a few days.

Mrs. T. G. Winterton is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chown, in Clinton, for a few days.

The lies and ralls are now being laid on the new spur line to the pork factory along the south side of Victoria street. The contractor train will probably reach the terminus this afternoon.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

St. Thomas, Nov. 22.—The attention of the Lord's Day Alliance here has been drawn to an alleged violation of the Lord's Day act by the builder of the new organ in Knox Presbyterian Church. Two men and the caretaker of the church are said to have worked all Saturday night and up to 6 o'clock Sunday morning to get the organ ready for the dedication ceremony on Sunday morning. There is much curiosity as to the course the alliance will take in the case.

"ANYTHING TO BEAT LAURIER"

Hon. Geo. E. Foster Accused of Sending Characteristic Message Before Quebec Elections.

MR. MONK TALKS FIGHT

Dared a Fellow Member of the House To Go Into the Lobby With Him—A Lively Session.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—There was a lively scene when the House opened today, and the Speaker drew the attention of the members to a remark he had noted in Hansard in which Mr. F. D. Monk was accused of lying by Mr. Gauvreau, M. P. for Temiscouata. The Speaker thought the accusation had been made during a heated debate, and that Mr. Gauvreau would admit that he should not have used the remark.

Mr. Gauvreau said he was willing to withdraw the remark if it was unpatriotic.

Thereupon Mr. Monk rose in his seat and said that he had not noted the remark at the time. He objected, he said, to the way in which Mr. Gauvreau wished to withdraw his accusation. If Mr. Gauvreau would care to step outside and repeat the remark he had the chance now.

As soon as he had said this Mr. Monk rose and walked out.

Mr. Gauvreau did not take up the gauntlet and soon afterwards Mr. Monk returned.

Another feature of the debate was the statement by Hon. L. P. Brodeur, minister of marine, that before the war the navy had been a patriotic policy, but the Conservatives had deserted it because it would be to their advantage to do so.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie, resuming the debate on the address, stated his attention chiefly to Mr. Foster's speech. He pointed out that the member for North Toronto had omitted any reference to the question of a navy or to the question of the navy.

concerning conservation until after the election.

An Amendment.

Mr. Monk then moved as an amendment the address:

"That this House regrets that the speech from the throne gives no indication whatever of the Government to consult the people on its naval policy or on the general question of the contribution of Canada to imperial armaments."

Mr. Monk stated in conclusion that the arguments which had been advanced by the opponents of the Government's naval policy were such as could be advanced before English-speaking citizens.

After the speaker had put the motion, E. W. T. in reading a telegram from the notary of Windsor Mills, which, according to a statement made by Mr. Monk last night, had said in the by-election contest that the Canadian navy might be used to "pound England." Mr. Tobin had noticed the statement in the Montreal Gazette and denied it, adding that he could prove that he had never made such a remark.

Mr. Brodeur Speaks.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur, who spoke next, regretted that the naval policy enunciated in 1909, and which had been approved by both parties, had not been adhered to by the Opposition. It was, he said, a patriotic policy, but the Conservatives had deserted it because it would be to their advantage to do so.

Mr. Monk here interrupted to ask Mr. Brodeur if he remembered what Mr. Bourassa had said at the nomination.

Mr. Brodeur, replying, said he considered he had had the best of the encounter with Mr. Bourassa.

Many interruptions followed, and the Speaker of the House finally called for order.

Appeals to Prejudice.

Mr. Brodeur read extracts from speeches appearing in Le Devoir, which were attributed to Mr. Blondin, in which an appeal was made to prejudice on the ground that the men who remembered the forefathers of the French-Canadians were sought to have the latter fight for them.

Mr. Blondin arose in his place and denied making the speech.

The Minister of Marine continued to read, amid Liberal cheers.

"It's false," cried Mr. Blondin, "absolutely false. I deny every word of it."

The uproar continued, cheer followed by counter-cheer, until the speaker could not be heard.

Ten silence was restored Mr. Brodeur accused Mr. Foster of sending a telegram to a Montreal paper containing the sentiment, "Anything to beat Laurier."

Repeating the telegram, cried the member for North Toronto.

"I haven't a copy, but I can get one in a minute," Mr. Brodeur replied.

Mr. Brodeur finished reading the article, but the House adjourned within a few minutes and the Foster incident was closed for the time being.

SUPPER AND CONCERT AT WESLEY HALL

First Methodist Church Holds Its Annual Entertainment.

The First Methodist Church held its annual supper and concert in Wesley Hall last evening. The affair was a great success, and the ladies of the church, who are directly responsible for the success of the affair, have been committed this year to an expenditure of $25,000,000, an expenditure, which, with the passing away of the German Empire, men would have found it difficult to justify to their constituents. The doctrine of true imperialism, so far as the dominions of the empire were concerned, was a doctrine initiated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1897 and consistently carried out since. Every Liberal was proud to follow the prime minister in that respect, and he believed that every Conservative in the bottom of his heart would be equally glad to follow him in that respect, but he could not get beyond differences. The result in Drummond-Arthabaska, Mr. Guthrie regarded the necessity for a reconsideration of the tariff, but as he recognized it became less affirmative. He denied the Premier's assertion that the British preference was the cardinal principle of our tariff, and contended that the welfare of our industrial life was the cardinal principle. This was Sir John Macdonald's viewpoint.

Speaking of the recent election in the province of Quebec, he said that a large number of the members of the Commons took the ground that the people should have been consulted.

The Premier had chosen what he considered the safest constituency, and he went down and chose his own candidate himself. The candidate began organizing before they (the Conservatives) knew that the constituency was going to be won by Mr. Laurier.

The whole organization had taken place the constituency was opened, and a convention was held, to attend which each delegate got $4.

"Not less than $50,000 was spent by the Government on the election," said Mr. Monk, "and if there were any temperance men on the Government side they would be shocked to hear that there was enough money put into the constituency to float both the Niobe and the Rainbow. The Opposition," he went on to say, "had no money to even print the pamphlets which Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated they had printed. He had not heard of the pamphlet."

CATHCART STREET ROW FIGURE IN ELECTIONS

Ald. Richter Intends to Run Again and May Make It an Issue.

The row in the city council over the improvements on Cathcart street will likely form an important feature of the coming municipal campaign.

The statement of Ald. Richter, in which he criticised the methods of the council, is creating a great deal of comment, and his scathing arraignment is having an appreciable effect on the public.

It was one of the main topics of conversation on the streets that he was known among his friends that he was anxious to get out of municipal life. However, the action of the council in sending the whole question over to the incoming council has determined him to run again. It is more than likely that he will give the citizens an explanation of his position on the question.

With Ald. Richter in the field, it will mean that the whole present aldermanic board will go to the people.

Other candidates are appearing, and it will probably be quite a field that will face the electors in Jan. 2.

Ex-Ald. Neil Cooper, ex-Ald. C. G. Moorhead, W. A. Wilson and W. H. Ward are definitely in the field.

A number of others are being interviewed, and may consent to run.

COAL IS GOING UP AS FOOD COMES DOWN

Local Users of Chestnut Will Soon Be Paying 25c or 50c More Per Ton.

Widespread are rumors of the reduction in meat prices, but chestnut coal is going to advance. This is a certainty, and before long consumers in London will be paying from 25 to 50 cents per ton more than for the past four or five years.

The price was raised at the mines on Nov. 16, 25 cents per ton, and this morning local coal dealers were notified that a further increase of 25 cents would go into effect about the 1st of December.

This will not affect the prices of other grades, as the reason for the advance is due to the large demand for chestnut, which is used in ranges and baseburners. The demand has been getting greater for several years, especially during the fall and winter months, and this has caused a shortage.

The breaker, which converts the coal into different sizes, makes only 19 per cent chestnut of the total product, or about 23 per cent based on prepared or domestic sizes. The mines have been doing their best to satisfy the trade, but have found it impossible.

To overcome these abnormal conditions they requested dealers to persuade customers to substitute stove coal for nut, or mix the sizes; but this did not have the impelled as a last resort to advance the rate, to partially cover the cost of breaking down the larger sizes in order to turn out more nut. In the process of breaking up the extra amount of the larger sizes a great deal of waste is experienced, and as the demand increases a further advance is necessary.

With the local dealers it is just a question of adding 25 or 50 cents to the figure, as they must have a margin to make a profit.

THAT SALARY BUGABOO.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—As was somewhat to have been expected, the $5,000 salary list is not being received by all the hockey players with unbounded enthusiasm. A team could not go through a season with anything like an assurance of never being short-handed because of the unavoidable absence of some of its men by reason of accident, sickness, and so forth, with less than ten men on the players' pay-roll. That would mean an average "indemnity" of $500. Of course, that sum is not to be sneered at, for even in these growing times it is not to be picked up either inside or outside every hockey rink. Still a thousand would be better, and several of the Ottawa players are said to be of the opinion that they are worth it. There is nothing like holding a good opinion of one's worth, unless it is getting other people to accept your opinion.

PLENTY OF HAY BUT FEW BUYERS

Prices Much Lower Than Yesterday, But Little Demand.

WHEAT IS STILL AT 90c

The Prices of Butter, Eggs and Poultry Remain Unchanged.

The demand for hay was very dull this morning, and in consequence the price of article of fodder was a drop on the market. About half of the 10 loads were sold by 1 o'clock, but the other half were still lying on the square at noon, and although the price is much lower than yesterday, it looked as if some of the farmers would have to take the hay back home. The reason for the slow demand is not quite clear. Yesterday the buyers were exceptionally good, and indications were that it would continue all this week, but few buyers were seen today. The majority of loads sold at $12.50 per ton, with a few going at $12, and still some at $11.50.

The supply of oats was very small, about six loads in all. The price is the same as yesterday, with most of the loads selling around $10.00 per bushel. The price is ranging between $1 and $1.05 per cwt.

About six loads of wheat were in, and all sold at 90 cents per bushel. The quality was extra good.

Three loads of straw were brought in and sold, the price ranging from $5 to 6 per ton.

Butter, eggs and poultry figures are unchanged.
