Offensive.

Canadian Press Despatch.
New Waterford, June 11.—William Davis, a striker was shot dead and another, Gilbert Watson, was shot in the stomach and seriously wounded, and a large number of miners and company police were more or less seriously injured in a fight which took place this morning for possession of the power plant, a power plant, situated about three miles from the center of the town. Several persons, including police are in the hospital and the police station crowded with injured.

The trouble began this morning when officials and company police took charge of the power station and got up steam preparatory to putting the plant in motion. About eleven o'clock a body of strikers led by United Mine Workers board member MacNeil marched to the powerhouse and after a pitched battle lasting 15 minutes succeeded in recapturing it. In the fight Watson was killed. Watson seriously wounded and scores injured. Two policemen were stoned, one sustaining a broken leg, the other, Michael O'Hanley, a broken back. There were about 40 police at the plant along with officials and maintenance men. Most of them were pretty badly mauled by the strikers who overpowered the little force which was trying to defend the station.

LEADERS IN CONTINUING PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
Dr. Ephraim Scott (left) of Montreal, veteran editor of the Presbyterian Witness, was today unanimously elected moderator of the general assembly of the continuing Presbyterian church. Dr. D. C. McQueen (right) of Edmonton, Alta., who was elected interim moderator Wednesday morning, conducted the devotional exercises this morning in St. Andrew's church, Toronto, prior to the opening of the continuing church assembly's initial business session.

PRESBYTERIANS ELECT DR. SCOTT AS MODERATOR

Continuing Assembly Reaffirms Its Right To Carry On Business.

CAUTION IS ADVISED

Eighty Members Will Constitute
The New Ruling Body.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 11.—Rev. Dr. Ephraim Scott of Montreal was this morning unanimously elected moderator of the general assembly of the continuing Presbyterian church at the initial session.

Prior to the election of Dr. Scott as moderator a devotional service was conducted in St. Andrew's church, the interim moderator, Rev. Dr. D. C. McQueen, preaching the sermon.

The church was crowded long before the opening at 10 a.m.

Dr. McQueen said the church should take a great survey not only of Canada, but of the world about it. This church has a new lease of life before it and should take heed of the need for the gospel and how it could best supply the need. There was a great opportunity for service ahead of the Presbyterian church.

He appealed for a great concentrated effort by the church such as was evidenced in France at the end of the Franco-Prussian war. "What France did surely this Presbyterian church can do," said Dr. McQueen.

Reaffirms Its Right.
Dr. Taylor moved that this gathering reaffirms its right to be the 51st assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada. This was carried unanimously.

Explaining that most of the commissioners "having deserted us," Dr. Taylor then moved that one elder from each congregation and all ordained ministers be invited to sit with equal authority or rights at the assembly with the present commissioners. Rev. W. S. Brown wanted it made sure that this action was legal and suggested that it be left until the afternoon and the regular commissioners carry on in the meantime. Dr. Taylor said there were many precedents for his resolution at the times of need in the church.

However, the moderator advised caution to be safe. Dr. Banks Nelson said the practice of the mother church was that the ministers and all elder from each congregation constituted the assembly and that therefore the motion was in order. The amendment carried, however, and for the moment only the 80 members, who were at College street meeting make up the continuing assembly.

Tribute To Dr. Scott.
The election of moderator was the next business. Dr. N. H. MacGillivray of Orillia nominated Dr. Ephraim Scott of Montreal. He said the continuing church was striking a Nelson, B. C., June 11.—A plea to the parish of the Kootenay diocese to show the greatest kindness towards the nonconcurring Presbyterians, to the extent of placing churches and halls at their disposal until they are able to build for themselves, featured the charge of Bishop Doull, to the diocesan synod, opening its session here today.

This co-operation, he suggested, would bear valuable fruit in the future.

CHURCH TO ISSUE CALL TO PRAYER

Dr. Chown Presides Over First Business Session of United Body.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 11.—At an early date not yet fixed a period of time will be set apart when all members of the United church of Canada will be asked to gather for prayer, praise and consecration. This was recommended today to the general council of the church by the joint union committee reporting through the chairman, Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon.

"The present union," said Dr. Pidgeon, "was born in evangelism and our first great effort should be towards a deepening of our spiritual life. The church has the delegates at an early session which, he hoped, would open the way for a still wider union of Canadian churches than that yesterday consummated."

The first business session of the first general council of the United church was presided over by Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist church.

The report of the union committee, as presented by Dr. Pidgeon, contained reports from sub-committees on law and legislation, on publicity and on finance.

Explains Law Report.
Mr. Rowell, explaining the law report, declared that the uniting church union without loss of their identity. "All three churches," he said, "live on in the United church. They have gone in maintaining their identity and it was so recognized by parliament. No church has died. This same inalienable right they have secured for the United church to unite with other churches with-

BUCHANAN OPPOSED TO REBATE

Head of Utilities Favors Double Service Charge in Suburbs.

MAY BE OVERRULED

Opposition To Reduction of Heavy Penalty a Surprise.

Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission is strongly opposed to rebating the double service charge of $2 every two months to water consumers outside the city limits.

At its last meeting, in response to a protest made by J. F. Thomson and Chas. Jolly, claiming to represent the London and Westminster township councils, Highland and Manor park residents, London trades and labor council, London Labor party and the city council the commission promised to consider the question of rebating the service charge for outside consumers to $1 on the bi-monthly bill, and referred the matter to the attention of the manager for a recommendation, hoping, it seemed at the time, that he would recommend that the service charge be cut in half, as requested.

Now, however, Mr. Buchanan declares his opposition to the reduction of the service charge, rather than equity, and intimates that if the commission desires, or has made up its mind, to make any rebating of the double charge, the change will be made on the commission's own responsibility, not upon any recommendation he may make.

A Serious Division.
"If the commission wants to place the outside consumer on the same basis as the consumer within the city limits, that of water at cost," observed Mr. Buchanan, "then it becomes a matter of policy, and in such event it, of course, could not be equitable to double the service charge for the consumers who are beyond the city limits."

In the meantime, however, the water rate recently set, $1 service charge and 15 cents net per 100 cubic feet of water used, stands as the equitable rate for the city consumers," pursued the manager, "and the principle established some years ago by the commission, that water consumers outside the city limits should pay double the city rates, also still stands."

"As the double service charge to outside consumers stands at present," concluded Mr. Buchanan, "it is at least relatively equitable."

Developments within the commission on the problem will be watched with interest, since, should Mr. Buchanan adhere to his stand and the commission decided to reduce the service charge to outside consumers, it will be the first occasion for years past that the commission has been even seriously divided among its members, aside from the commission over-riding the judgment and recommendation of its general manager.

SECURITY PACT ATTITUDE OF CANADA IS UPHELD

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 11.—The London Daily Express, Lord Beaverbrook's paper, in an editorial on Premier Mackenzie King's reply in the negative to the query put by J. S. Woods, a labor member for Centre Winnipeg, in the Canadian house of commons, as to whether Canada was a party to the security pact with France in regard to the Rhine boundaries, described Premier King's reply as a final and fateful pronouncement, the gravity of which can hardly be exaggerated.

CITY MAY NOW SPEND $174,000

Electrical and Waterworks Extensions Made Possible
This Year.

Official sanction has been received from the Ontario railway and municipal board by the public utilities commission for the issuing of $174,000 debentures.

Extensions and improvements of $75,000 to the electrical system and of $99,000 to the water works system, which have been planned by the local commission are thus made possible this year.

The railway board's approval will permit of immediate construction of a 12-inch water main on Grosvenor street, which is being installed chiefly to provide adequate fire protection for St. Joseph's hospital, as well as for the north end of the city.

The commission will be able also to proceed at once with the laying of underground electrical cables from the station No. 8 Richmond and Ann streets, thereby completing the ring main system as a prevention against scalding, which might have occurred had the service wires been placed on poles on the streets instead of in underground conduits.

For waterworks construction the commission first secured the approval of the local board of health, while the electrical constructions plans were first approved by the Ontario. The plans for both departments were then submitted to the city council, which passed bylaws approving of them.

Now comes the sanction of the railway board to the next twelve months' work in both the waterworks and electrical departments.

PORT STANLEY MAN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Louis McCaughey Badly Injured in Early Morning Accident.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, June 11.—Louis McCaughey, Port Stanley, is in hospital here suffering from a crushed ankle, which may cripple him for life, as the result of an accident on the St. Thomas-Port Stanley highway at an early hour this morning.

His car was struck head-on by one driven by Cyril Lipsey of St. Thomas. With Lipsey were Beecher Ward of London, Daniel Black and Frank May of St. Thomas, all of whom escaped without a scratch.

It is reported that McCaughey and Kenny were standing at the side of McCaughey's car when Lipsey drove in his car at a fast rate of speed and knocked McCaughey down, running over his ankle.

Bro. Usmar Is Guilty

Convicted of Placing Boy in Tub of Boiling Water.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, June 11.—J. T. Vieschow, in religious life known as Brother Usmar, connected with the orphanage at Humberston, Que., was found guilty of manslaughter by a French jury in the court of king's bench. Sentence will be pronounced at the end of the present term of that tribunal.

Brother Usmar had been standing trial for the fatal scalding at the orphanage, January 21 last, of eight-year-old Hector Galarneau, an inmate, who succumbed to burns received in a tub of boiling water in which he was placed by the accused, following his soiling of his clothes through intestinal trouble.

The explanation given by Brother Usmar was that the scalding occurred while he was getting the boy some clean clothes.

THREE LONDONERS GUILTY OF THEFT

Percy Gower, Charles Taylor and Leslie Wilcox Admit Stealing Candy.

Fleeing guilty before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court this morning to the theft of a quantity of merchandise from the D. S. Perrin Company last week, Percy Gower, Charles Taylor and Leslie Wilcox, employees of the Perrin Company, were remanded to jail to await sentence.

Through their counsel, J. G. Gillanders, the men elected summary trial. Mr. Gillanders asked for a remand following their plea, that representations in their behalf could be made during the week.

Alexander Wells and George Martin, charged last week with being receivers of the stolen goods in connection with the same theft case, pleaded not guilty in this morning's court. Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd was reluctant to offer evidence against the men, declaring he was unable to show the merchandise found in their possession was stolen.

Adjournment of the case was made by Mr. Graydon until Gower, Wilcox and Taylor appear for sentence. At that time, he said, facts of the case could be presented.

Martin was bailed for one week on his own bond of $500, and cash bail of $200 for Wells was renewed.

In searching for liquor in Wells' car a week ago, police discovered cases of candy. It was later learned the goods, valued at $92, were stolen from the D. S. Perrin Company.

Wells and Martin's arrest led to the apprehension of Gower, Taylor and Wilcox.

ALL WOMEN AND CHILDREN ARE SENT OUT OF QUEZZAN

Paris, June 11.—The seriousness of the drive of Abd-el-Krim's tribes against Quezzan into the western zone of French Morocco near the border of the Spanish zone, was indicated here today by official information that all women and children had been sent out of Quezzan.

Official despatches from French headquarters in Morocco denied, however, that a general evacuation of citizens had been ordered.

TO CHECK SPEED AND LOAD RULE

Officer Ordered On Duty At Dangerous Ridout Street Bridge.

OUNCE OF PREVENTION

Men of Engineer's Department
Are Still Making Observations.

Acting to increase the safety of the Ridout street vehicular bridge, Mayor Wenige today instructed Chief of Police Birrell to assign a special officer at the bridge to enforce the laws governing the speed of autos and the weight of loads. While City Engineer Neave's recommendation to this effect will likely be adopted at Monday's council meeting, the mayor felt that interim precautions are a necessity to curb the danger which the city engineer declares is daily heightening.

There is no doubt about the council sanctioning the placing of a special officer at the bridge, the mayor claimed, and he called his own action in demanding immediate supervision "an ounce of prevention."

Members of the engineer's department continued their observations of the bridge structure this morning. A checking of covered parts and examinations for deficiencies are being conducted in connection with the annual cleaning of the trusses below the flooring.

Neither the speed law nor the clause prohibiting the overloading of vehicles is being observed," Mr. Neave declared this morning. "The speed limit is supposed to be five miles an hour, but, to many, the sky is the limit. Only five tons is allowed in one load and yet the other day I saw a five-ton fire-truck cross the bridge loaded."

"Something may happen at any time unless these regulations are enforced."

FIVE FIRE ESCAPES MUST BE REBUILT

Others Ordered Repaired Following Inspection of City Buildings.

Inspection of fire escapes on London buildings, commenced yesterday by the fire department, resulted in orders being issued by Fire Chief John Aitken for the erection of new escapes for five downtown buildings. Five others, found to be unsafe, were ordered repaired immediately.

An inspection of every fire escape in the city will take place during the next two weeks, Chief Aitken said today. Firemen Sydney Poleford and Stephen Eddie will have charge.

The five fire escapes condemned yesterday were insecure, Chief Aitken declares. They were of old construction and would have collapsed under a heavy strain.

Examination of city fire escapes follows a six weeks' inspection of London buildings by members of the fire marshal's department several months ago.

Milkmaids To Queens All Like Fine Clothes

Her Majesty Queen Marie of Rumania writes of love, marriage, clothes, and work, in seven interesting and intimate articles appearing exclusively in the Advertiser, beginning tomorrow. She treats her subjects in a frank and fearless manner. Dealing with the subject "clothes" she says:

"In olden days certainly man's dress played almost as great a part as woman's, and there were periods when the beaux, just as important as the beauties, and when the young lord was just as particular about his attire as his lady. But civilization, progress, has done away with that. Anyhow a man no more considers that he need attract his lady's eye by lace, sedins and furbelows. But modern women must attract, and fine clothes appear to be one of her biggest assets."

SAFETY IN FOOD BUYING SOUGHT

Committee Calls For Bylaw Requiring Names of Vendors.

Passing of a bylaw by which all persons offering foodstuffs or other products for sale on the city market will be required to display their name and address prominently on the vehicles from which they make sales, will be requested at the next meeting of the city council. No. 2 committee recommended such action at its meeting last night, as a means of protecting citizens from buying inferior products and later being unable to discover the identity of the party with whom they did business. R. H. Sanders, city sanitary inspector, in his report to the board of health last Friday drew attention to the number of complaints he had received regarding meat and also poultry purchased on the market square.

"One woman bought four chickens on the market, two at a time, and all four chickens were found to be infected with tuberculosis," his report stated. "The last two she bought were in the worst condition I have ever seen. The purchaser asked me to go on the market with her to try to locate the man from whom she bought the chickens, but we were unsuccessful in finding him."

Action of the committee last night was the result of consequent recommendation of the board of health that every person who sells on the market be required to have his or her name and address on wagons, cars, etc., or on the goods offered for sale.

UNITED CHURCH ISSUES SUMMONS TO PRAYER

out loss of its identity. Almost as important as the union legislation itself is the recognition that these churches are living organisms and have the right to determine their own future.

The first division of the council came on a motion that a new set of rules of procedure be adopted provisionally without discussion. An amendment was proposed to change the rules be read and discussed, but was voted down by a large majority.

It was decided that the United Church should make application for admission to the Ecumenical Council, the Ecumenical Methodist council and the alliance of reformed churches.

The report of the joint church union committee, of which Rev. Dr. C. C. Pidgeon is chairman and Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore secretary, was read and discussed. This morning reviewed the history of the union movement from 1874, when the diocesan synod of Quebec of the Church of England and the Congregational union of Ontario and Quebec took steps to investigate the possibility of closer association, down to the events of the present year.

The committee on the position of the present denominational officers of the United church had been considered carefully and two more important recommendations were made:

1. Appoint Special Committee.

That a large and representative special committee be appointed to recommend to the first general council the method by which the various church departments should be carried on, the committee to consist of members of the boards affected. The departments include foreign and home missions, Sunday schools and young people's work, evangelism and social service, publications, colleges, education and finance.

That a commission be appointed representative of the whole church to consider the permanent organization of the United church and its general council, their boards and committees, their historical and legal basis of union and the legislation affecting the United church.

This commission is to report to an adjourned meeting of the first council or to the next council.

The final report of the sub-committee on law and legislation, submitted by W. C. Brown, K.C., as chairman, set out briefly the combined effect of federal and provincial legislation "relating to the churches" as:

1. To constitute the uniting churches as a body corporate with rights to acquire and hold all necessary property.

2. To vest in the United church all the denominational properties of the uniting churches, with provision for the appointment of a commission with power to divide the same in equitable shares of the denominational property of any of the churches to its nonconcurring congregations.

3. Colleges of the uniting churches stand in the same relation to the United church as they stood to their respective parent churches. The property of the churches is to be made such order in respect of the colleges as are deemed fair and equitable to secure adequate provision for the education and training of students to minister to nonconcurring congregations.

Financial Report.

The financial report of the union committee showed receipts from November 1, 1923, to May 31, 1925, of $125,101.14, of which the Methodist and Presbyterian churches each contributed $56,250 and the Congregational church $12,500. Legal expenses amounted to $3,485, and the law and legislation committee altogether spent $74,917, while the literature and information committee spent $46,791. There was a balance on hand May 31 of $2,645. Estimates pre-

The Christian Convocation

Epoch-Making Event Takes Place in Presence of 8,000 People—Significance of Important Step Interpreted.

By R. E. KNOWLES.
Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, June 10.—Other pens than mine will tell, have probably already told, the story of this momentous day in the history of the Christian world. All I can hope to do is to interpret, if I can, its high significance and briefly outline its salient features.

For momentous this day will surely be. Union, that mystic thing which all life depends on, well within everybody's ken, pervading as it does every kingdom where life is found. Nor has it been wanting in the history of the Christian church, for there have been plenty among the dismembered church families who have (never having renounced the family name) returned to the untrodden domain of the past, and taken up the past as though it were yesterday.

But never before have any great churches, of differing historical sources, of alien traditions, of varying names, of apparently diverging and ever-conflicting doctrines—never before have they sunk their distinctive differences, adjusted their opposing creeds, laid aside the vestures of dear and familiar names, surrendered their separate journals, scrapped their bureaucratic formalisms, and entered into a united life and a united effort, further the welfare of mankind and the interests of the Kingdom of God.

These things today were done by the Presbyterian church in Canada, the Methodist and the Congregational churches together. This epoch-making union, toward which the eyes of all Christendom are turned, was effected amid great pomp and circumstance this morning, in the presence of 8,000 people, in the vast arena of the arena here in Toronto.

Pomp and circumstance—but not of the traditional or metropolitan sort—far other was the case. The glory that shone around was not that of gorgeous ritual or glorious music, of imposing millinery, of ecclesiastical symbol, but rather in the deep and pervading joy, the reverent hope, the wistful outlook to great days beyond, the suppressed sorrow over all that has been renounced, swallowed up in the rich harvest of a nobler visibility of the church of God before the world, of a burning purpose to prove before men and angels that the sovereign things of the faith as it is in Jesus have hidden the theological trifles that have so long divided men into the twilight whence they came.

There was a sublime rotation of ministers in the great exercises of today. Denominational lines were impossible to discover. And the greetings that gladdened the exultant thousands came from every quarter of the globe. Displaced from the center of the world, the globe, far-off India, antipodean New Zealand, all contributed their voice of joy and blessing. With one accord, and usually in so many words, they acclaimed the United Church of Canada as the most truly forward-looking of all the Christian churches of the globe.

The eminent delegate from the United Free Church of Scotland boldly affirmed that Canada has led the world. His affirmation that in union churches do not die, that they rather therein enter a new life and larger life, was received with rapturous acclaim. The occasion was one of unmeasured inspiration and power, harbingers of a bright and blessed day in the moral and religious life of Canada.

SPEEDERS CONTRIBUTE $390 IN GLENCOE COURT

Fine Is Raised by Magistrate
When Drivers Ignore
Law.

Motivists who ignored speed laws in Glencoe and vicinity during the month of May contributed $390 in Glencoe police court, County Magistrate James Graydon, stated today.

"There seems to be more speeding this year than last," commented the magistrate, who was a visitor at the court house this morning.

"This speeding has got to be stopped and consequently I have raised the fine from $10 to $15 on all motorists going more than 35 miles an hour."

RISE FROM WINDSOR COSTS THREE TEN DOLLARS A PIECE

En route from Windsor to Sarnia, John Cahill and Peter Walsh, of Glencoe, who were charged with speeding, were fined $10 each by the magistrate.

"Too many people are trespassing on railway property these days," Magistrate Graydon remarked as he imposed the fine. "If you are going more than 35 miles an hour, you are trespassing on railway property these days."

sent April 21, it was stated, provided for further expenditure of $52,892, of which $48,450 was by the law and legislation department.

After an hour of devotion this morning Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, as chairman, took the chair for the business session. They had come, he said, to the supreme moment of union as they sat down to put into action the resolutions of the first council.

Yesterday they had been raised to the sublime heights of ecstatic feeling now they had come to a time when they needed much of the grace of God. By custom and practice they had attained to different methods of approach.

There was some objection to the adjourned meeting of the first council, they referred to church leaders back by their previous affiliations, and finally the minutes were referred back to the clerk for consultation with counsel in regard to their legal form.

Rev. Dr. F. W. G. Brown of Ottawa presented a draft of rules of procedure for the council. Dr. Chown suggested that they be adopted as prepared, and revised as experience justified.

The names of the eminent Montreal divines was put forward by Rev. Principal Fraser and seconded by Rev. Dr. Clay. No other name was suggested by the delegates.

Reference was made, not only to the long and valuable service Dr. Scott had rendered to the church as pastor and editor, but also to the large part he had taken in the struggle during the past twenty years.

Following his election Dr. Scott addressed the court on the present position of the church. After the election of a permanent clerk and the appointing of a business committee the Presbyterian church association, the missionary organization and other committees organized at the gathering in St. Andrew's church in 1915, presented their report, and the assembly adjourned for lunch to meet again this afternoon.

IGNOMINY OF PRISONERS' BOX Should Go, Mayor Claims

No longer will prisoners appearing in local police court suffer the stigma and ignominy of peering from behind a wooden inclosure, the prisoner's box, if the mayor has his way at a forthcoming meeting of the police commission. Mr. Mayor will personally fight with the formidable name of "police." He will suggest that "the department of public safety" is a name more applicable to modern times.

Persons who appear in the prisoner's box are in most cases ones who have not been found guilty. They are not prisoners in the true sense of the word until they are convicted, and they should not be kept in rigid custody, which stamps them with a stigma for all time, the mayor declares.

The prisoners' box at police station is an unnecessary precaution, the mayor states. Police constables are always stationed at the doors leading to the court, heavy bars prevent escape through the windows, and even the most dangerous criminal has small chance of gaining his freedom from the police station building.

In recent years, women prisoners brought to the court from cells below have been asked to sit on benches near the box. The same system could be worked out for the men, the mayor suggests. All persons who appear in court are not criminals and they should suffer no ignominy, he states.

BISHOP TO OFFICIATE AT McCALL FUNERAL

Late Senator Was Prominent in Huron Diocese Activities.

Rt. Rev. David Williams, D.D., C.L.L., lord bishop of Huron, will conduct the funeral services of the late Senator Alexander McCall at Simcoe tomorrow afternoon.

Senator McCall, who died yesterday at his home in Simcoe in his 86th year, was a lifelong member of Trinity Anglican church, and was one of the most generous benefactors of the Anglican church in the diocese of Huron.

Bishop Williams today paid eloquent tribute to the late senator for his many services on behalf of the church, which included a scholarship for Huron college and the establishment of a trust fund for the women's missionary auxiliary.

"Senator McCall," observed Bishop Williams, "was my personal friend. He was always prominent in church affairs, and in fact a those movements which made for the improvement of conditions in the community in which he resided."

The senator, who was ill at the time of the last annual meeting of Huron synod here a few weeks ago, was the recipient of a letter from the synod expressing regret and appreciation for his work on behalf of the Anglican church in this portion of the province.

LOCAL C. N. R. STATION TO BE REPAIRED, PAINTED

New lumber and many gallons of red paint were brought up to the ancient C. N. R. depot this morning by a gang of men from the bridge and building department, who will brighten up the old-time station for the summer.

Early this morning a portion of the station platform was torn up and new boards were put down. A scaffolding was erected on the station roof to give the painters a place to work.

DAY OF DAYS FOR 1,300 CHILDREN

Annual Separate School Picnic Gathers Big Crowd At Springbank.

Today the annual London separate school picnic is being held at Springbank park and 1,300 children and their teachers are taking advantage of a clear, cool day to enjoy themselves to their heart's content.

Special cars were provided by the London street railway to transport the battalion and a half of youngsters to the picnic grounds, where they were all safely deposited by 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Immediately upon arrival at the park the different schools embarked enthusiastically into their individual sports programs of races of all sorts, a softball game between the girls of St. Mary's school and the girls of Sacred Heart school. The winner of this latter game will match forces with the girls of St. Angela's college.

The mothers' clubs of the different schools co-operated in supplying the picnic baskets, while the separate school board arranged for a variety of refreshments. The ice cream for the crowd.

Harry Rananah, member of the school board, was chairman of the committee on arrangements for the picnic, which is being attended by the St. Angela's college girls, the St. Michael's, St. John's, St. Martin's and St. Joseph's schools.

City Klan To Aid Police Bare Fake Cross Pranks

Order's Connection With Last Night's Burning Denied
By Local Kleagle.

The Ku Klux Klan in London will take action to discover the persons responsible for the burning of a fiery cross near Blackfriars bridge last night. The burning was condemned by a Klan Kleagle this morning as a dangerous prank, and Klan members will assist officers of the law to put a stop to the practice.

The burning of a fiery cross near Richmond street north last Friday night was an unauthorized action of Klan members, the London Kleagle stated today. The action received some official recognition, however, as did the burning of other crosses at Woodstock, Ingersoll and Dorchester.

The first Klan riot with its intent against outside organizations, it is said, was a burning cross in London Friday night took place near the Mount St. Joseph's orphanage only through coincidence, officials of the Klan declare. They expressed sorrow that their intentions had been misinterpreted and declared they would not harm or scare children in the orphanage by sending word of the burning of a cross in the city last night. "We can't allow any Tom, Dick or Harry to play pranks like this, and we will do all in our power to see that the thing is stopped."

Dublin, June 11.—Canadian and United States doctors who recently attended the interstate post-graduate assembly at London have divided into parties and are visiting Dublin and Belfast.

Today they witnessed surgical operations and listened to lectures by prominent Irish doctors in hospital here. Later they visited a brewery which is said to be the largest in the world.

Tonight they will be given a reception by President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State and members of his cabinet.

LONDON TO HAVE TAX CONFERENCE

The local advisory committee of the institute consists of Col. W. J. Brown, Col. H. Brown, Leonard, D.S., W. C. Brown, C.A., Col. J. J. Murphy, C.E., E. S. Little and J. G. Richter.

The convention is receiving the full co-operation and support of the London chamber of commerce, and is largely from consideration of the interest taken in the past by members of the local chamber in the work of the institute that the convention was secured for London this year.

PROVINCE ORDERS CITY TO BUILD SYPHON SEWER

City Clerk Baker was notified today by the provincial board of health that a mistake was made in sending to the city a notice of approval of the Evergreen avenue siphon sewer when it was intended that a notice ordering its construction should have been forwarded.

This acknowledgment removes the perplexity and doubt which had surrounded the wording of the certificate, and there is now no further obstacle in the way of commencing the work.

CLASS 27.

In spite of the cold weather of yesterday a large number attended the picnic of Class 27 of the Dundas Center church, which was held at Springbank. One of the main features of the event was the baseball game played with much zeal. Owing to the excellent players on both sides the game was decided a close tie. Following the sports a delicious picnic supper was served. The event was greatly enjoyed by those present.

RAILROADS ALARMED BY AIR FREIGHT LINES

Competition arising out of the growing business done by motor truck, airship and the Panama canal was one of the important subjects discussed by the members of the Great Lakes regional advisory board which met at Toledo, Ohio, Tuesday, according to F. M. Rutter, divisional superintendent of the R. R. who represented the road at the sessions.

Mr. Rutter said today that the members were enthusiastic about the new business that was apparent for the summer season. Further co-operation, especially in the matter of the use of equipment, would be a necessary factor in profitable railway and steamship operation in the future.

The airship and the motor truck could load and unload rapidly. To meet the competition, it would be necessary for the railways to get most out of their cars. One point was that a freight car was tied up for several days with a shipment which occupied probably a day of travelling.

The lost time was in loading, unloading and switching. This would have to be remedied so that the $22,000,000,000 tied up in railway equipment in America could get the best of the investment.

It was decided that a steady flow of products spread over a long period would help to solve the situation. This applied to coal and coke products, which in the past had been shipped in large quantities over relatively short periods, causing congestion.

Following are the officers elected for the year: L. G. Macomber was re-elected president; K. A. Moore, assistant traffic manager, Detroit; Frank H. Barr, secretary, Cleveland. An executive committee was made up of F. M. Renshaw, Buffalo; John McNally, Detroit; E. C. Nettels, Battle Creek.

Representatives of the Pennsylvania, Norfolk and Western, Pere Marquette, Wabash, C. P. R., W. & L. E., New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Baltimore & Ohio, and D. & W. railways were present.

Cluff, for the defendants, pointed out differences in the two maps, and suggested that the map was alike in that it was a copy. The injunction will be continued to the trial, the plaintiff undertaking to speed the hearing.

Associated Press Despatch.
S. S. Ingertre, en route to Spitzbergen, June 11.—Lieut-Lutwolt Holm, commander of the naval fliers who are on their way to search for the missing Amundsen Polar expedition, has received wireless message from Oslo the Norwegian capital, stating that the Ingertre will proceed to Advent Bay instead of King's Bay. This is more than double the flying distance to Dunes Island from which Amundsen and his five companions hopped off on their flight to the Pole. The message says that the steamer: Farn, bearing part of Amundsen's base supplies will meet the fliers at Advent Bay. Captain Johannessen of the Ingertre, however, has not yet been notified of the change in plans, and the reason for it is unknown to those aboard this ship.

ANNUAL LOBO UNION PICNIC ATTENDED BY NEARLY 5,000

Chilly Weather Is Little Draw-back To Gathering at Poplar Hill.
12 SCHOOLS PARADE

Despite chilly weather the annual Lobo union school picnic held yesterday at the Lobo Memorial park, Poplar Hill, was marked by an attendance of between 4,000 and 5,000 people.

President P. Campbell and his brother, J. D. Campbell, chairman of the parade committee, led the parade to the flagpole, where the annual flag-raising ceremony, which each year marks the official opening of the day's program, was held. Twelve schools of the Lobo district participated in the parade, which was marshalled by C. E. Piper, drill sergeant, and paraded to music supplied by the Strathroy military band.

After the raising of the flag to half-mast and the observing of one minute's silence in memory of the late Col. Bart. Robson, prominent in the history of the Lobo picnic since it was first organized many years ago, and who passed away since last year's picnic, the flag was raised to full-mast by two school children, Leslie Carmichael, S.S. No. 3, Coldstream, and Margaret Wilson, S.S. No. 8, Lobo, and the National Anthem was sung. The flag was again placed at half-mast, where it hung for the remainder of the day.

30 Babies Entered.
Perhaps the feature of the whole day was the baby show and clinic, in which 30 babies were entered, making the largest entry-list since the baby show was organized by A. C. Ferguson for the first time three years ago. Dr. W. L. Denny, baby specialist, London, assisted by Mrs. A. Stapleton, Miss C. Fraser and Mrs. Gordon Weir, all of the child welfare association, London, acted as the judge and conducted the clinic. Speaking to the Advertiser, the judge commented very favorably upon the splendid physical and mental strength of the babies entered in the complete absence of disease.

The prizewinners, who were presented with suitable shields by Rev. N. A. Campbell, chairman of the baby show committee, were: S.S. No. 7, 14 months—Mary Dale, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dale, Ilderton; Leo Harris, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Harris, Poplar Hill; 1 to 7 months—Rhoda Walters, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Walters, Denfield; Rhoda Hocking, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hocking, R.R. No. 2, Ilderton.

First prize for the school making the best appearance and marching in the parade was won by McDougall's school, S.S. No. 8, the pupils of which, under their teacher, Miss Ruth Campbell, were attired in white as doctors and nurses, with a white apron, purple and orange, draped over their shoulders.

Bear Creek school, S.S. No. 7, under Miss Bloomfield as teacher, second place with effective costumes in white, orange and black. The third place went to Poplar Hill school, S.S. No. 10, which, under the supervision of teacher, Basil Wilson, was gotten up as sailors in blue and white, while fourth honors were won by Lobo school, S.S. No. 8, which, under the supervision of teacher, Lulu Clark, as teacher, at the head, represented the British Empire.

Softball Match.
For the special class for schools with less than 15 pupils enrolled, the prizes were won by McDougall's school, S.S. No. 2, Miss Branton, teacher, and Dewar's school, S.S. No. 5, Miss McEwen, teacher. Captain A. Wilson, Greenway, acted as judge of the parade, for which cash prizes, totalling $16, were distributed. Ilderton and Coldstream softball school girls' contest, which was a match that proved very interesting, though the final result was not quite certain.

Iderton—Gwen Telfer, 1b; Nellie Kennedy, 2b; Mabel Martin, 3b; Annie Shipley, 4b; Hilda Charlton, 5b; Jeanie Robson, rf; Irene Hudson, p; Reta Loft, 3b; Agnes Ross, cf; Clarence Charlton, manager.
Coldstream—Florence Campbell, ss; Leda Chapman, 1b; Lottie McVicar, p; Norma Stone, 2b; Irene Currie, 3b; Frances Caverhill, 4b; Iva "Babe" Chapman, cf; Gladys Robinson, rf; Gladys Tuckey, c; Ross McGugan, manager.

Umpire—John Levi, Fernhill.
Delaware Team Defeated.

Baseball players were proven false in the tilt in which Ilderton defeated Delaware by the score of 3 to 2. Southways were somewhat careless for walks, and particularly in cold weather, but the game developed into a twirling duel between H. Riddle for Ilderton and P. Brown for Delaware. Both pitchers showed splendid form, few hits being registered on the delivery of either man, while the fielding in the face of such a chilly breeze was little short of remarkable. Ilderton took the $40 first prize, while Delaware won the $20 second prize. The lineup of the two teams was as follows:
Iderton—A. Hudson, 3b; M. Charlton, cf; M. Grieves, rf; R. Charlton, 1b; J. Watson, ss; R. Robson, 2b; J. Scott, 1b; H. Robson, c; H. Hiddle, p.
Delaware—A. Ackland, 1b; M. Smith, ss; P. Fernier, c; P. Brown, p; V. Smith, 2b; B. Swales, 3b; C. Swales, cf; C. Meyers, 1b; H. Scott, rf.

The score by innings:
Iderton 001 100 001—3
Delaware 200 000 0—2
Umpire, Alex "Croger" Collins, Strathroy.

The Blue Bird dramatic club of Fernhill, under its president, Miss Jean Zavitz, held a tag day, during the afternoon, which resulted in the securing of a total of nearly $100 in aid of the Strathroy hospital.

Entertaining Program.
The day's doings were concluded by a very entertaining program at night, embracing the following numbers: Jack Bellamy, entertainer; London; J. Reid, singer and entertainer; Toronto; Jim Pax, comedian; Toronto; music by the Strathroy military band; James G. London, acted as chairman of the program.
J. C. Elliott, K.C., London, recently chosen as Liberal candidate for West Middlesex, was among those noticed at the picnic. Other Londoners glimpsed at the gathering were: Captain Tom Robson, county treasurer; Byron Dawson, governor of Middlesex county jail; Wm. Martin

Flag At Picnic At Half-Mast

In the midst of the merriment of thousands at the Lobo union school picnic yesterday, the Memorial park flag, hanging tribute to the memory of the late Col. Bart. Robson, who died last December at Poplar Hill.

The flag was first raised to half-mast and one minute of silence observed by all present, and then, after it had been raised to full-mast by two school children and the National Anthem had been sung, it was again lowered to half-mast, where it hung for the remainder of the day.

and Richard Fitzgerald. Mr. Elliott appeared to be enjoying himself immensely, sporting as he did badges as a member of the baby show and entertainment committees. It was rumored that Capt. Robson's pets came through to his assistance materially when Ilderton visited Delaware in the baseball game.

The members of the general committee in charge of the picnic were: N. P. Campbell, president; E. C. Frank, first vice-president; James Forbes, second vice-president; M. Sinclair, treasurer; A. S. Cutler, secretary. The special committee in charge of the baby show and clinic included: Rev. N. A. Campbell, chairman; Rev. J. B. Brown, Alfred Stone, Rev. W. Charlton, and A. C. Ferguson.

While weather conditions were by no means ideal there were those who braved the un-June like zephyrs bearing straw hats and white trousers, and they were decidedly in the majority, relied upon winter overcoats and felt hats. Several players struggled through the baseball match wearing sweaters. The enthusiasm of the sports and the hot coffee served by the ladies at the lunch counter, both contributed, however, toward keeping the crowd in good humor, in spite of the tricks of the playful thermometer.

Results of Races.

The results of the full program of school races, for which $75 in prizes were given, were as follows:

29 FIRST CARS STOP AT CAMP

First Week in June Gives Promise of Big Year At Wonderland.

Twenty-nine tourist automobiles were entertained by the public utilities commission at the Wonderland tourist camp from June 1 to June 8 inclusive.

Ninety-nine people travelled in the 29 cars, which hailed from nearly every state in the United States, while there was only one from Ontario and that from Toronto.

The receipts of the camp, at the rate of $1 per automobile per night, have been satisfactory to date and such as to meet the expenses of improvements made to the camp, as well as to its maintenance throughout the season.

Little or no protest has been made of the charge, while one party insisted that the charge should more properly be $1 per night per person travelling in the car.

It is interesting to note that more than half of the tourist cars carried more than two people. Two cars had six people, six had five people, five had four people, and five had three people.

The Wonderland register being kept by the commission, again this year, as last, supplies data for each party as to the date and time of arrival, name, license number of the car, number in the party, and place of home residence.

Rev. J. W. Hibbert, newly-appointed pastor of Wellington street Methodist church of Canada, has been made the recipient of numerous gifts, prior to his departure for this city from his present charge, Epworth Methodist church, Kingsville.

EVENING WRAPS ABSINTHE GREEN

Fashioned of Velvet With Motifs of Cubist Design Applied Upon It.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser

New York, June 10.—Some people still hesitate to call a spade a spade, but many who do not swim have no hesitancy in calling the costumes in which they frequent the sands, beach frocks instead of bathing suits. "Frock" is far more appropriate, for the non-bathing bathing suits differ but little from the regular dresses of the season except that the skirts are perhaps three inches shorter and are worn over bloomers.

In this day of mergers, no combination is surprising. The newest one, however is the combination car-ring and necklace. Instead of passing around the throat the necktie upon the neck of the car-ring, the car-ring of this costume accessory passes from one long dangling earring to the other under the chin of the wearer.

Five o'clock used to be the "sabbath hour," before the French government and prohibition turned a black look on the wine world product, but now the sabbath hour is after six p.m. For the latest evening wraps imported from Paris are of the peculiar absinthe green. Velvet is the material used, with motifs of cubist design in rose applied upon the velvet. The linings are of gold tissue. A new head dress is already making its appearance here. It is being worn by debutantes recently returned from London where the first courts recently were held. The bandeaux of metal leaves, each outlined in pearls which snap each side of the head, not across the brow. It is designed to hold court plumes on short hair. A goodly number who wear them never got to court.

WATFORD W. I.

Watford, June 10.—A special meeting of the Watford W. Miss Slicer spoke on two subjects, "Avenues of Work for Our Institutes" and "Saving Strength in the Household." Miss Bumbridge, formerly of Watford, also a graduate of the Macdonald institute, gave a few words of greeting. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the two ladies. There was community singing. Mrs. Ayre, from the Butterick fashion department, of Toronto, spoke to the institute ladies, making the point that the institute could raise some money. Mrs. Ayre's offer was accepted and the institute workers hoped to soon have enough money to install a drinking fountain in the public school.

HYDRO CONVINCES SENATOR NORRIS

Will Tell U. S. Senate Ontario
System Is Huge Success.

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, June 10.—United States Senator Norris, who has been in Ontario for some days studying the hydro-electric system of that province, in a letter to his office, here, indicates he has been deeply impressed with its workings.

He is more than ever convinced this publicly-owned system is a success, and, he declares in his letter, he is now armed with a mass of new data to lay before the senate next session to show that rates for light and power in Ontario are much below rates charged by private concerns in this country.

Senator Norris was in London last Saturday and held a conference with Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario hydro commission, and leading worker in the interest of hydro in Canada. While in the city, Senator Norris examined the system in effect here.

SHREDDED WHEAT CO. TO EXHIBIT IN STORES

Niagara Falls Concern To Give Demonstrations in City
Groceries.

The Canadian Shredded Wheat Company, Limited, of Niagara Falls, Ont., is giving, in several of London's grocery stores, a series of highly-interesting demonstrations of how the whole grains of wheat are shredded.

Many thousands of people eat shredded wheat biscuit for their breakfast each morning, but a comparatively few have actually seen the wonderful process of shredding the wheat.

An electric shredding machine specially devised for this purpose is used to demonstrate how the whole grains of wheat are drawn into filmy shreds. The wheat, which is all Ontario-grown, is first thoroughly cleaned and then steam-cooked in preparation for the shredding machines.

Approximately 100,000 people visit the beautiful sunlit factories of the Shredded Wheat Company at Niagara Falls each year, and, without exception, these visitors come away greatly impressed with the cleanliness which processes in the making of both shredded wheat biscuits and triscuits.

The public is cordially invited to see this unique demonstration, and the Shredded Wheat Company will announce in this paper the names and addresses of the stores where these demonstrations are being held.

Advice to All Girls About Earning Their Own Living.

Dear Miss Dix—I have just passed my eighteenth birthday, and am thinking of taking a course in stenography. My girl friend says I am too old to think of going into the business world, but I told her that it is never too late for more education. But I cannot decide what I had better do. Will you please give me your advice? A READER.

Answer:
Take your course in stenography by all means. As for your being too old to undertake a business course, why you are barely old enough. Stenography is not for babes, and one of the reasons that it is not a better paid profession is because so many girl-children who lack education, who do not even know how to spell, take it up. They can acquire the mechanical part, but they lack the knowledge and culture that would make them efficient office women.

At 18 you have only begun your education, and as long as you live you should be studying some particular subject. We never get too old to learn. Cato, you remember, took up the study of Greek at 80.

You are very wise to try to fit yourself to make your own living, and to take up the study of some definite profession. Perfect yourself in it, make yourself an expert, for the better you do a thing, the higher salary you can command. You will have to work just as hard for a low wage as you will for a high wage.

The world is full of women, poor and miserable and ill-paid milliners, seamstresses, and dressmakers, for they do no one specific thing well, and so they drift from job to job, and are always the first ones who are laid off when work slackens.

Do not be one of these. Make yourself a crackjack in your own particular line of endeavor.

It doesn't make any difference what this is. There is always a demand for high-grade office women, for expert saleswomen, for milliners and dressmakers who have magic in their finger-ends. The trade schools have proven again and again that they can more than quadruple a girl's wages by teaching her to be efficient. So put your heart and your back into your work, and make yourself an artist in your profession.

Every girl in the world should learn some trade or profession by which she can make herself self-supporting. She should do this even if her father is rich, and it is not necessary for her to earn her own bread and butter. Money has wings, and often the girl who has been brought up in luxury finds herself at middle age poverty-stricken. Then, if she knows how to make a living, her loss of money is merely an inconvenience, but if she knows no way by which to earn a dollar, it is a tragedy. If a man leaves his daughter money, she may lose it, but if she has within herself the ability to make money, she has something she cannot lose.

Furthermore, the knowledge that she can stand on her own feet gives a girl a peace that nothing else can. For at the bottom of all independence must be financial independence. DOROTHY DIX.

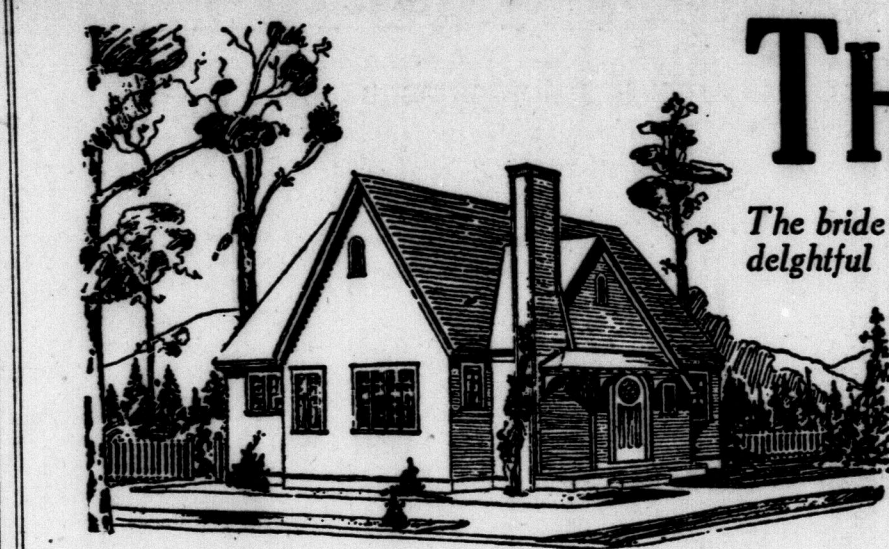

Dear Miss Dix—Do you think it is right to take rides from young fellows? I am 17 years of age, a kind of nice-looking blonde girl, and I earn $16 a week. Well, the other night I went out with a few girls. I don't know them very well, but they have more wonderful clothes than I have. When we were coming home from a dance about 1:30, two machines stopped and asked us to go for a ride. The girls I was with all agreed to go, but my sister wouldn't let me go, and made me go home. The next day the girls laughed at me, and now they go with those fellows steady.

Geo, I am getting sick and tired of it all, all work and no play, but before I try anything else I would like your advice. JUST ALONE.

Answer:
Well, here's my advice, dear little girl, and it is to let that kind of joy-riding alone. Keep away from it as you would from the pit of hell, for the young men who pick up girls they don't know on the street mean them no good, and the road they travel leads to destruction.

You are very young. You have seen little of the world, but you are old enough and have seen enough of life to know that there is always a price to pay for what we get. So figure out for yourself the price the girls must pay for those wild midnight rides with strange young men. Believe me, my child, it is a price that leaves them bankrupt in everything that makes life worth while for a woman.

You are envious of these other working girls who dress finer than you do, and who are running about with these men who take the automobiles and who take them joy-riding at night, and on wild drinking parties, and to sporty roadhouses. It seems very gay and alluring to you, but have you reflected that these men don't come honestly to see the girls at their homes, that they have no intention whatever of marrying them, that they are just playing with the girls, and when they get tired of them will

Special to The Advertiser.
Windsor, June 10.—Two armed men held up a jewelry store at Amherstburg early today and robbed J. F. Miller, the proprietor, of $3,000 worth of jewelry and more than $80 in cash.

The men awakened Miller about 2 a.m., and, holding a revolver to his head, forced him to open the safe.

Three Actors Given Hook In Tec-Clipper Two-Act Mutual Admiration Skit

WHILD AFTERNOON ENDS WITH BRACE OF SCALPS IN TEPEE OF INDIANS

PETE COMES BACK

Harris Returns To Win Last Game After Blowing in Opener.

The Tec's swept both games yesterday, taking the first from the Indians and the second from the Tec's. The last game was a three-inning contest, which gave the Tec's a three-inning lead in the inter-county series to date. A penetrating hit called for the crowd away, and they stayed to the bitter end, although the Londoners were out ahead 8-1 at the end of the second inning, and the game was missed being an entire farce. The Tec's had a time limit, and when London got a seven-run lead in the first two innings, the Tec's began to retaliate by sending his batter to the plate with instructions to strike out. Webb, who replaced Neitzke in the third inning, hit Klein, and threw the ball into the ground for a double, and in the fourth, when he started the same tactics, the Tec's were out ahead 8-1 at the end of the second inning, and the game was missed being an entire farce. Pledging the Candidates.

A movement that is making headway at present is that carried on by the temperance forces in seeking to secure signed pledges from voters to the effect that, regardless of party, they will pledge themselves to support temperance and prohibitory legislation and to vote for candidates at elections who will do the same. On the pledge card is the following clause under the heading of "Method": "The enactment and enforcement of every possible restriction on the liquor traffic; the nomination and election in every riding where possible of candidates for municipal, legislative or parliamentary positions who are known to be prohibitionists personally, and who will claim for themselves complete freedom from any party domination on all questions affecting prohibition."

It is in the latter part of this object that there will arise the question of whether the advocates of this method have placed theory as having greater weight than practical politics, for after all when any movement gets into the realm of political action it becomes a matter of party policy, or, in other words, plain politics.

The Conservative party is in power in Ontario. There is no use blinking the fact that it is strongly entrenched and well organized. When it comes to the selection of candidates for the next provincial election, will the Conservative party endorse the idea of allowing its candidates to pledge themselves to independent action on a matter that is part and parcel of government policy? Would the leaders of the party not reason it out this way: What we shall do in regard to temperance legislation will be a matter for the government to decide, and we are not going to have our mind made up for us in advance. It is not likely that a political leader would sanction candidates who said in advance that they were going to be independent part of the time and faithful supporters at other intervals.

Or, to make a case that is not so suppositious as might be thought: There are three political parties in Ontario—Conservatives, Liberals and Progressives. In a riding there might well be three candidates; it has happened before, and will happen again. Both the Progressive and the Liberal candidates proved to be satisfactory to the temperance forces, but the Conservative candidate refused to commit himself. What would happen? It is not oversteering the case to predict that the Conservative candidate would get the wet vote of his own party, and from the other he would get what support leaned in that direction; he would also receive the votes of others who were party men above all else. The Liberal and Progressive candidates would be left to split the dry vote between them, and the Conservative would be elected.

That is something that could very well take place. We are not seeking to discourage in any way the efforts of those who are trying to create an active temperance sentiment, but in justice to themselves and to the candidates they will seek to pledge, they should recognize that they are entering the field of practical politics, where party rule must still be reckoned with.

C. W. N. A. For London in 1926.

Members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association leave for Winnipeg to hold their annual convention on June 24, 25 and 26. These prosperous weekly publishers are a roving lot. One year they decide on Vancouver, the next on Halifax, and last year they capped the climax by a trip to Europe. This year it's Winnipeg. Why should they not follow the lead of the chief constables? They met in Winnipeg a week ago and decided to come to London for their 1926 convention. We pass this suggestion on to the weekly newspaper publishers. London is an ideal location for convention purposes, easy to reach, delightful to visit, and with a welcome that takes second place to none.

There will no doubt be other places sending invitations for the 1926 gathering of the publishers and editors of the weekly press of Canada, and they have a perfect right to do so. London is quite ready to enter the competition on the strength of its desirable location, facilities for convention gatherings, and the reputation of its citizens as ideal hosts.

So come along, you pen wielders of Canada. London wants you for your annual meeting in 1926.

Lambton County.

Sheriff Albert J. Johnston of Lambton has completed the publication of "Lambton County Names and Places," and the product is as unique as it will prove to be valuable. Not for some time have we seen so outstanding a contribution made to the recording of local history and placing it at the disposal of those who should know it. Mr. Johnston gives credit for the idea and the gathering of much of the data to the late Daniel Fraser McWatt, senior judge of the county.

The development of names is well illustrated in this paragraph: "Champlain saw Lake Huron for the first time in 1617 and he called the lake 'Mer Douce,' or sweet sea, referring to the waters not being salt. The old Indian name of Lake Huron was 'Karegnondli.' The name was given by the Hurons to the lake. The Iroquois name was 'Canatara'; later on some of the French maps called it Lake Orleans, and still later as Michigan or Huron, and afterward the maps differentiate lakes Michigan and Huron and show them as separate lakes."

Claim is made that possibly no county has given as many premiers or cabinet ministers, and names Hon. George Brown (1851-1857) and Hon. Alexander Mackenzie (1861-1867), and as cabinet ministers Hon. T. B. Pardee (1875-1889) and Hon. W. J. Hanna (1902-1918). It is worthy of note that several representatives of Lambton east and west had long terms of public service. Hon. George Goodhue was in the legislative council from 1842 to 1867, twenty-five years; Hon. J. F. Lister, in the west riding for federal honors, 1882-1898, sixteen years; F. F., now Senator, Pardee, 1905-1921, sixteen years; J. E. Armstrong in the east, 1904-1921, seventeen years, and Hon. T. B. Pardee in the west for provincial legislature, 1875-1889, fourteen years.

Mr. Johnston's book devotes much space to names and places. The casual reader might be inclined to ask why bother publishing this: "Widder—This was the name given to Pine Hill postoffice in 1856, after Mr. Widder. The postmaster was Utrick Chester. Widder Station—This was the first name of the postoffice where Theford now stands. The postoffice was opened in 1862 with Robert Rae as postmaster."

The answer is that around many of these little centers local history has been made, and with the coming of rural mail service a number of postoffices have ceased to exist. It is fitting that these records be written before they are forgotten.

Sheriff Johnston has performed a public service in carrying to completion the work started by the late Judge McWatt.

A Real News Item.

Cynics may question the wisdom of local news, but they are carried away with their own ability to fathom foreign affairs. There's always a demand for home news, records and reports of events that happen right close to the home hearth.

Thus, for example, the Hanover Post records that "Frederick Helmbecker and Christian Weis were fishing at a nearby lake on Thursday last and secured 17 pike, weighing 70 pounds. The catch was sufficient to make a meal for eleven families."

Now we'll stake our reputation on saying that's news, real, unadulterated news that would grace the columns of any paper lucky enough to get it. In the first place it is of special interest to Frederick and Christian, two fishermen bold enough to strike out for the resort of the big pike. Then it indicates system that weighs the fish with rare mathematical exactitude, and tells of a fine spirit of generosity that dealt out 17 fish to 11 families. That item is as full of news as those 11 families were of pike.

Recognizing Youth.

Tommy Gibbons, veteran of the prize-fighting business, was passed along in the list of has-beens when he met Tunney's right fist. Before the battle the fight follower shook his head and said, "Gibbons will win. He's got everything, he's a clean liver, clever, never drinks nor smokes. He is good for years yet."

But Tunney, who defeated him, had all these qualities—clean habits, careful training, cool-headed, and one thing more, youth. And the Ottawa Journal puts it truly when it says, "So the old story of a good young man and a good old man came once more: the story of Sullivan at New Orleans; of Corbett at Carson City; of Fitzsimmons at San Francisco, and of Jeffries at Reno. Age does wither and custom stale."

Try as we like, we can't get away from the fact that there is in nature a very real working out of the law of diminishing returns. Fake scientists may seek to sweep back the tide of time with monkey gland bribery, and the man of forty may see no reason why he can't clip off 100 yards in ten seconds as he did when he was twenty; but it can't be done.

It is the wise man who uses his youth, middle age and maturity for the pursuits to which these periods find him fitted. When he is through with one he passes to the next; it does not mean that he is decreasing—simply that he is developing.

Note and Comment.

Remember it isn't necessary to get in over your head to learn to swim. Some have a very good time with one toe on the bottom.

The danger of making one lucky piece of speculation lies in the fact that the person's apt to get the idea that he's a shrewd investor.

The Florentine (Ala.) Herald remarks that even if girls have a fondness for nifty clothes, it can't be claimed they are all wrapped up in them.

A local gardener thought he had a pretty fair joke when he put his head in the office door and said: "Tell your readers to plant their leeks next to the watermelons."

Strange, isn't it, how young men laugh at some of the things girls wear when they themselves are all lit up in balloon trousers and balloon-rimmed straw hats.

It might serve some good purpose if cars that were wrecked along our highways could be purchased by the Safety League and left where they landed in the ditch. There are drivers who need the warning.

Insurance man in an address said six or seven hours' sleep was enough for any person. He figured the less time the folks spent in bed the greater would be his opportunity for getting the names on the dotted line.

An expert witness in police court said a prisoner was not drunk, but suffering from "spastic paraplegia." We can imagine the progress of a thick-tongued individual who was trying to explain that himself to the magistrate.

Fickle Weather

Just yesterday the heat it grew and burned my carcass like a wreck, today I search for woolen socks and wind a quilt around my neck.

"Twas only but one day ago my jackass wilted in the sun, he passed away at tea, o'clock before his morning work was done. The brindle cow she fainted too before we reached the milking hour, and when we gave her smelling salts her milk at night was turnin' sour."

The speckled hen it wandered out its mouth propped wide to catch the breeze, the hired man struck his work at noon, he wobbled muchly at the knees.

At nights when I went to my bed I hung my raiment up to dry, for heat had pelted on my dome from out a red and cloudless sky. And when I settled down to snore and clumber on my heated cot, I could not rest my weary frame because it was so blinkin' hot. I cast aside the patchwork quilt and threw the covers on the floor, when I was done of sheddin' such 'twas hotter than it was before.

I walked unto the village street and met friends at the corner store, they urged that I should join with them and quaff a bowl of four by four. They feared I'd perish by the way, that I'd be busted by the heat, for I had sunburn on my neck, great blisters clustered on my feet.

Ah, what a fickle man is Probs, today I follow at his beck, I place wool socks upon my feet and wrap a quilt about my neck.

And when I went to rest last night I gathered blankets from the floor, and spread them gently on my ribs like what I used to do before.

The boys around the village pump don't raise their beer a-temptin' me, for now they sit around the stove and feast upon hot toast and tea. I snub the iceman as he calls, nor fear his pride it be much hurt, for now I'm tryin' to figure out just where I heaved my woolen shirt.—ARK.

THE HUMAN DUD.

While he was making his way about his platoon one dark night, a sergeant heard the roar of a "G.I. Can" overhead, and dove into a shell-hole. It was already occupied by a private, who was hit full in the wind by the noncom's head. A moment's silence—a long, deep breath, and then—

"I don't know," he answered; "but I carried a big sign."

"What was on the sign?" asked the man curiously, and almost collapsed as his son replied: "MY FATHER'S A DRUNKARD! I've got no shoes!"

Great City of the Dead!—in whose embrace slumber our dear ones, who have gone into the vast Unknown, and have been borne tenderly to their last resting place:

For them, in solaced prayer, we mourn. Within thy gates all sleep alike in peace! The taughty master and the humble slave; The prince, the pauper—and the silly knave.

When Death is Victor all distinctions cease, And one and all are equal in the grave, Great City of the Dead! Some day we too shall lie Within the holy ground of countless dead; May we live that of us be said: "Such is they had! They did not fear to die!"

Hydro Street Schoolboy Wins Wheel As First Prize In Dowler's Essay Contest

Wilfred Patterson Argues That City Life Beats Country Life.

ENTRIES NUMEROUS

Result of Popular Contest Is Announced by Judges.

From a large number of entries sent in by boys in London and Western Ontario, the essay written by Wilfred Patterson, 14-year-old schoolboy, of 23 Hydro street, has been chosen as the prize-winning composition on "Country Life vs. City Life." The contest was held by the R. H. & J. Dowler stores. The prize was a bright new bicycle.

The judges were Walter Gunn and Harry Muir. They had a difficult task on their hands to choose the best among the many splendid compositions submitted. Every one of the stories revealing the relative merits of rural and urban life was carefully read, and then the final analysis required a second reading of several to announce a winner.

Wilfred Patterson based his essay upon the physical, spiritual, mental and social advantages, which he claimed were in the city for those who wished to make use of them. He took up each question separately and stated the reasons for his conclusions. The essay is given in full here:

THE ADVANTAGES OF PRESENT-DAY CITY LIFE VS. COUNTRY LIFE TO A BOY

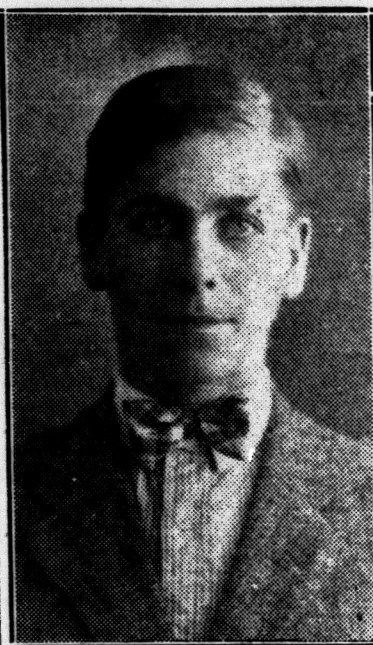

By Wilfred Patterson.
In dealing with the above subject it would be wise to take into consideration the outstanding necessities in the development of a boy's life. The trail tangers and Tuxis Boys say that a boy should receive a training which will develop him physically, spiritually, mentally and socially into a four-sided man.

"The first side for comparison is physical development. The boy must have courage to win the battle of life, and courage comes to a great extent from strength. The city boy has a great advantage, if he uses it; he learns to play a different kind of game to develop each part of the body. He learns how to swim so that if at any time he is called upon to save his own life or that of another in an accident on water, he is able. The city boy has the chance of becoming an all-round athlete through competition and a good sport through many details. The country boy has very few, if any, of these chances. He seldom has any time to play games and go swimming, as he has to work a great deal. When he does have time he has no physical instructor to teach him the best ways to get the most out of his muscles through less exertion."

Spiritual Development.
"The next side for comparison is spiritual development. In this case I would say that the advantages of city life has over the country boy are many. The city boy, through coming in contact with much more than the country boy, learns through experience to go along a straight road, lifting himself above that evil and therefore strengthening his character. The country boy, not coming in contact with the evils of the city, does not learn to combat them. The city boy joins numerous clubs upheld by the churches and the Y. M. C. A. In these clubs the biggest part of the program is set aside for the study and discussion of different chapters of the Bible. Each boy takes part in the discussion, and therefore learns how to address the public. The country boy can learn none of this unless he goes to Sunday school, which, owing to the weather, is impossible some months of the year."

"Another common advantage is the more efficient means of securing an education in the city. In this way, more than in any other, the city boy has the advantage. He has large, modern public schools to attend, with efficient and experienced teachers. When his public school career is ended there is a large collegiate ready for him. It is true that the country boy lives in the open and secures a great deal of knowledge about woods, birds and animals; but the city boy does also. He takes up nature study, which gives him a good knowledge of the country. The city boy sees more things in a day than a country boy sees in his life. He sees things which interest him, and therefore he strives to learn about them. This further increases his education, so that in any respect he is the country boy's equal and in many respects his superior along lines of education."

The Social Side.
"In my opinion I now come to the social part of a boy's life, which depends upon the number and kind of friends the boy has. If the boy goes around with toughs he will be a tough. If he keeps himself neat and clean, if he talks clean, and if he chums with decent companions, he will be looked upon with favor. In this place the old saying holds, 'Birds of a feather flock together.' Plainly speaking, the boy is judged through his friends. The city boy meets many more people than a country boy. These people are both of the lowest and highest class, so, to be socially successful, he has to spend much time and care in the choosing of his friends. The country boy, on the other hand, has not the opportunity nor the necessity of choosing his friends. As a rule he does not live where there are many boys of his own age. Therefore he often has to be contented by chumming with boys much older than himself, and this does not always prove satisfactory. The city boy has a great many boys to choose from, so he can find good friends if he desires to do so. In this way the city boy becomes a good judge of character, which enables him to choose the path which leads to success and leadership."

NEW GOITRE REMEDY

Great interest attaches to reports of a remarkable method for treating goitre recently demonstrated at the W. T. B. Laboratory, 3090 Minty Block, Battle Creek, Mich. It is used by the patient herself in her own home and it is said that the largest and most hideous goitres begin to recede almost in a day. They gradually get smaller until in three or four weeks they are often gone entirely. The treatment is perfectly safe for anyone to use and many believe it will prove the long sought specific for all goitres. A little issued by the laboratory explains method fully and will be mailed free for the asking to anyone interested.—Advt.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which even stomach sufferers are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetening of the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

WHEABLE ASKS REFORM OF ATTENDANCE WORK

Administrator Favors Reorganization, Not Abolition of School Office.

CUT SALARY

Declares Appointment of Trust Officer Would Not Be Sufficient.

Administrator G. A. Wheable, B.A., M.C., favors reorganization, not abolition, of the school attendance department.

The acceptance of the resignation of Marcus M. Sims today as chief attendance officer will mean some re-adjustment of the department as at present constituted. Answering a direct question, the administrator acquiesced in the suggestion that the attendance department could be re-organized and carried on by one officer efficiently at a salary of probably $2,700, with an automobile allowance of $250 in addition.

Such a reorganization would cut down the salary overhead, which has amounted to $4,000 per annum during the past three years, consisting of Mr. Sims' salary of $2,500 per annum and Miss Dallas F. Radcliffe, assistant attendance officer, at $1,500 per annum.

The school attendance act, in Mr. Wheable's opinion, makes it impossible to do away with the department entirely by means of the appointment of a trust officer. Mr. Sims' chief work consisted of making inquiries into requests for employment certificates and home permits under the terms of the attendance act, which work, the administrator thinks, could not be properly handled by the man of the "policeman" type.

Work Eliminated.

Now that the technical and commercial high school is so firmly organized on its own feet, Mr. Wheable believes that there is no great necessity for the attendance department to continue the co-ordinating work carried on by Mr. Sims by way of ascertaining from the different trades the approximate number of young men and women to fill the vacancies opening up and passing that information on to the technical school authorities.

Mr. Sims also acted as vocational guide to boys and girls, appealing for some advice as to the course to be taken up in the secondary schools and more particularly at the technical school.

The up-to-date organization under Principal H. B. Beal at the technical school is sufficient to handle both the co-ordinating and vocational guide phases of the department's work, thus freeing the department head for other work more strictly within the limits of school attendance questions.

Before an employment certificate is granted by the attendance department the chief officer must be satisfied that there is "financial need" in the home of the income to be assured through the employment of the child. The request for the certificate must also be accompanied by "a promise of employment" statement, signed by the employer, and the concern where the boy or girl as the case may be, intends securing employment. Home permits, similarly, are only granted in cases of real need, owing to the poverty of the mother of the family. All boys and girls to whom either home permits or employment certificates are issued must, of course, attend the school for half-days each week at the technical school.

Cure for Truants.

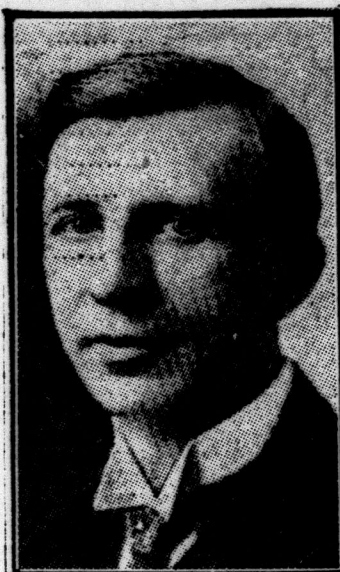

For pupils who are delinquent in their attendance at school the trust officer is the cure, a sort of policeman, as Mr. Wheable puts it, to enforce the law. The man who issues the permits and certificates must have a knowledge of human nature and must be sympathetic, though not let his sympathy run away with him. Mr. Wheable is enthusiastic in his comment of the work done by the public school principals in co-operating with the attendance department, referring to the "Please state why" cards and the chart system evolved by R. N. Welsh, principal of Talbot street school over a year ago and inaugurated in all of the public schools at the beginning of the school year last fall.

The "Please state why" cards are sent home with the pupils when they come back to school after being away. If the cards are not returned by the pupil immediately then the principals get in touch with the attendance department and a visit from the attendance officer is the result. Mr. Wheable last fall reported to the use of these cards at Ealing school. The results achieved were so satisfactory that V. K. Greer, M.A., chief of time administrator, asked that general use be made of the cards in all the schools.

Mr. Welsh's chart is placed on the door of each classroom in the school and on it the absentees are checked off morning and afternoon. The attendance officer can see at a glance those who are absent, and at the same time a beneficial spirit of rivalry is effected amongst the rooms as to perfect or approximately perfect attendance.

Had it not been for the co-operation given the department by the principals, according to Mr. Wheable the fine record of attendance achieved by the public schools during recent months would not have been possible. Mr. Wheable feels therefore that with continued co-operation on the part of the principals the dropping of the co-ordinating and vocational guide end of the work, the supplying of the officer with an automobile, one official could, in future, carry on the work of the department in a manner entirely satisfactory to the board of education and at the same time adequately discharge the functions of the department thereby assisting materially in the operation of the whole local school system.

SPRINGBANK SEES FAMILY REUNIONS

Carrothers and Elliott Clan Gatherings Bring Many From U. S. A.

Nearly two thousand persons braved the chilly weather at Springbank park yesterday to take part in four family reunions and other smaller outings on the playground's half holiday program. The Carrothers, Elliott, McDonald and Shoebottom families held their annual picnic, and a success, despite the low temperature.

More than 250 from Ontario and Michigan attended the third yearly gathering of the Carrothers family. One of the features of the day was the election of new officers as follows: Norman Porter, president; Ed. Sullivan, vice-president; C. Barnes, secretary; Lou Carrothers, treasurer.

The eleventh reunion of McDonalds brought many from the United States. For the 1925 event, Daniel Ross of Kintore, won a special prize for being the oldest man on the grounds while Mrs. Douglas McDonald won a similar ladies' prize. Stanley McDonald was chosen president for the ensuing year.

The defeat of the married women's ball team by their single sisters was one of the high spots of the nineteenth annual reunion of the Elliott family. Lena Ruddick captained the winners, with Mrs. Frank Hayes as the opposing captain. Officers named for 1926 are: R. Wilson, John Halpin, Gladys Wilson, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. Noble Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. D. Ward and Mrs. G. Robins. The fifth outing of the Shoebottom family attracted more than 200. An especially attractive sports program was held, with a softball game between two girl teams, captained by Leona and Verna Shoebottom, one of the features. William Shoebottom was chairman of the picnic committee.

J. A. White, 84-year-old president of the White & May department store, St. Marys was the guest of honor at an outing held by the store employees.

Courtesy, Custom Govern Flag Flying By Tourists

Ultra-Patriotism of Ontario Police Not Upheld by Statute Books.

ONE FLAG ALL RIGHT

Local Officials Refuse To Take Action When Old Glory Is Alone.

Courtesy and custom alone, not law govern flag flying rules for visiting American motorists. Although police have stopped American cars and ordered drivers to either provide their machines with Canada's colors or continue their journey through this country stripped of flags, there is no law in the dominion statute books which supports their action.

The incident of an American car being stopped by the chief of police at Walkerton yesterday prompted an exhaustive search in Canada and American law books. It is revealed that the national flag of any country is, strictly speaking, the only one to be flown, and by custom it is deemed an abuse of the national flag to hoist another above it.

But in no place in law books of Canada and the United States is international flag flying mentioned. Even the encyclopaedia and dictionaries fail to comment on practice and use. Nor has the book of etiquette yet included a chapter on the proper method of carrying flags by motorists.

And so the American eagle can proudly flutter in Canadian breeze alone. London police were right in their refusal to take action against motorists who passed through the city with Old Glory flying by itself. Courtesy and custom only would justify companionship of the Union Jack. Display of one flag alone in another's country is ostentation. It isn't done.

ASK HYDRO SHOP SALES CUT OFF

Builders' Exchange Also Requests Discontinuance of Wiring Services.

Members of No. 1 committee of the city council who attended last night's meeting at the city hall, received a university course in the theory, principles and practical operation of fire pumps, which should enable them to graduate with honors on the subject should an examination ever be held. As one alderman remarked "we ought to be able to go into the garage business now."

The occasion was the hearing of a deputation representing the Seagrave Company of Columbus, Ohio, and the net result was that the committee will recommend to the city council that the matter of the purchase of a new pump for the fire department be reopened in view of the additional information obtained. Mr. Stevenson, representing the company was on his feet an hour and twenty minutes before he had disposed of the varied questions which came his way.

Wrecked Truck Ready.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission and Fire Chief Aitken were both on hand and their queries carried the discussion at times into the realm of the technical. Nevertheless the committee was unanimous in declaring the time well spent.

Tom Terry was also present with the welcome news that the fire truck, wrecked in the recent collision at King and Talbot streets, was now in shape again and would shortly receive its final coat of paint and be back in commission.

The committee received a letter from the builders' exchange asking that consideration be given to a proposition to have the hydro shop discontinue wiring and the sale of electrical appliances. The latter pointed out that a number of other places had taken such action. The letter will be referred to the public utilities commission.

Recommend Bylaw.

Incidentally the committee also recommended that a bylaw be prepared authorizing the assessment department to assess the hydro shop on exactly the same basis as other retail business. Up to the present it is assessed on the land only.

Two money grants were recommended, one of $100, subject to funds to the city hall sports and social club, and one of $50 to the Windsor-Niagara highway association to assist in an organized effort being made to bring as much of the tourist traffic of the province through this city.

The committee went on record as being opposed to any change in the present accounting arrangements of the board of education, whereby the city treasurer is also treasurer of the board.

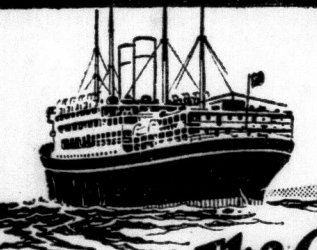

A Saddy's tender for the purchase of a house at 374 Thames street for $1,100 was accepted with a rider attached that he be allowed to succeed it notwithstanding anything in the bylaws.

Halifax, Nova Scotia.—"I am a mat-

Dublin, Ont.—"I was weak and irregular, with pains and headaches, and could not sleep nights. I learned about Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Com-

results from it and I feel a lot stronger kind of medicine I am taking. You

Minister of Interior Again
Asserts Right To Arctic Archipelago.

CLAIM TO POLE

By E. C. BUCHANAN,
Special To The Advertiser.
By Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, June 10.—Canada's claim to the northern archipelago was again asserted in the House of Commons
today by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior. Tabling a large map, Mr. Stewart said that the Canadian claim was to islands lying north of the Canadian mainland up to the north pole. The limits of Canada's claim, as indicated on the map, formed a great triangle with the mainland as the base and the north pole as the apex. The western boundary was a continuation of the boundary between Canada and Alaska; the eastern, took a line up Davis Straits between Canada and Greenland, and then followed longitude 60 west to the pole. Mr. Stewart roughly defined the territory claimed by Canada as lying north of Canada west of Greenland between 60 and 142.

The U. S. Claim.
W. G. McQuarrie (Conservative, Westminster) drew Mr. Stewart's attention to claims of the United

QUEBEC STREET DANCE POSTPONED TILL FRIDAY

The Quebec street dance scheduled for last night to celebrate the completion of the paving of Quebec street was postponed until Friday night because of the cold weather.
The dance was organized by the residents of Knollwood Park as a fitting conclusion to the building of the pavement, which has been sought for many years.
A large crowd had gathered for last night's dance, but it was decided to call off the affair when the weather failed to warm up.

Church Goes By Auction Block; Anti-Unionists Fail To Save It

Woodstock, June 10.—After forming the center of Methodism in the village of Embro for more than half a century, the Embro Methodist church was today sold at public auction, $1,800 being realized for the old building. The sale was the direct result of church union. The sale of the church property brought a total of nearly $3,000, including a large lot and several sheds. The purchase was made by the Embro school board, which will use the former church as the Embro continuation school.
Keen bidding by the anti-unionists of Embro marked the sale, and it was only when bids reached more than $1,725 that the nonconcurrents dropped out. They had planned to use the building as the continuing Presbyterian church.

Arctic Explorer Seeks Wash-

Lands.
Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, June 10.—Legal officers

Donald E. MacMillan, Arctic explorer,

Washington government might take in the event that controversy might arise in case of the discovery of any new land by his forthcoming expedi-

In advance of a complete study of the subject precipitated by the departmental officials that the Washington government is committed to a policy of supporting claims to such land only when physical discovery is followed by settlement or establishment of bases of supplies, or some other not to prove that the discovery is more than simply the raising of the flag over the territory involved.

This interpretation of United States policy suggests interesting possibilities in view of the Canadian claim to a vast stretch of unoccupied land, north of Canada's accepted geographical boundary, across some parts of which the MacMillan ex-

Thousands Look On As Stirring Scenes Mark Dedication of the United Church When 700,000 Join Hands To Worship

Three Sessions Held at Toronto On Birthday of New Church.

350 NAMES SIGNED

Speakers Representing Three Denominations Speak Before Vast Assembly.

MESSAGES POUR IN

Words of Encouragement
Come From All Parts of World.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 10.—Seven hundred thousand strong, Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists today marched into the United Church of Canada and demonstrated their unity in three sessions of devotion and addresses, each of them attended by between 7,000 and 8,000 persons.

"This has been the greatest day in the history of Canada, and in some respects, of the Christian world," said Rev. James Endicott, secretary for foreign missions of the Methodist church, in addressing the gathering this afternoon. The speakers were Dr. Endicott, Rev. Dr. D. L. Ritchie, principal of the Congregational college, at Montreal, and Rev. Dr. Clarence Mackinnon, ex-moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Greetings from religious bodies in all parts of the English-speaking world were presented tonight. Some of them were presented verbally by special delegates, and others were in the form of messages read to the gathering. From all sides best wishes for the success of the church as a religious factor and the hope that it would be a profound influence on Canadian life were expressed.

Complete Dedication.
The session in the arena in the morning saw the new church dedicated and constituted, a ceremony which was completed in the afternoon when the 350 delegates to the first general council filed onto the platform and affixed their signatures to the basis of union, which the heads of the denominations already had signed.

The chairman, during the afternoon, was Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, Presbyterian moderator, and it was agreed that until permanent officials are elected, the moderator, the Methodist general superintendent, Rev. Dr.
Chown, and the Congregational general chairman, Rev. Dr. Warriner, should preside over the sessions as they agree. Secretaries and clerks of the denominations also are to carry on.

on in the same way.
Tonight, a third huge crowd gathered to hear representatives of the overseas churches, with which the uniting denominations have had affiliations.

Gavel Presented.
At the afternoon session Rev. Dr.
R. P. McKay, Presbyterian foreign mission secretary, presented to the chairman a gavel made of pieces of wood from the foreign mission fields,
with a handle of Canadian maple.
The basis of union was signed on a table presented to the church by the publications board, and the delegates
signed with a pen presented by Mrs.
Carman, widow of Rev. Dr. Albert
Carman, for that purpose.

Dr. Endicott aroused great enthusiasm in his address when he referred to the leaders of the Presbyterian unitists, mentioning by name Rev.

All Churches May Carry Old Names Into the Union

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 10.—Congregations of the uniting congregations may retain their local names—such as Metropolitan Methodist church, Bloor street Presbyterian and Bond street Congregational—in the opinion of the legal committee, of which N. W. Rowell, K.C., is chairman, which will go to the council.

"Your committee," says the report, "is of the opinion that local churches have the right to retain their existing names if they desire to do so. Your committee expresses no opinion on the question of policy involved in the continued use of such local names."

Four London churches, representative of the three denominations which have formed the United church of Canada, have already changed their names. They are as follows: First Presbyterian to First Presbyterian, United church of Canada, London; Asklin street Methodist to Wesley United church of Canada; Southern Congregational to Pilgrim United church of Canada, and First Methodist to Metropolitan United church of Canada, London. Numerous other changes are pending.

Dr. Pidgeon and Rev. Dr. Gandier,
principal of Knox college,
"In the bitterest combat the church in Canada has ever known," he said,
"the leaders stood together and pressed forward." "That applause," he added a moment later, "should go across Canada."

Dr. Endicott believed the United church could not do better than follow the principle of Christian aspiration, of strong purpose, of vision and of unity. If unity were the great principle to bring them together, it also was the principle which would enable them to live in harmony.
There were tremendous difficulties in denominationalism, and whatever might have been necessary in the past, man now needed a peculiar type of mind if he prayed for divisions.
The call for unity transcended the narrowly denominationalism, but nationalism. If it were right for Knox to organize his church for the sake of Scotland, it could not be wrong for them today to organize the United church for the sake of Canada, but at the same time he wished to point out the danger of over-emphasis in nationalism.

Credits Transferred.
"Today we have transcended the creeds," continued Dr. Endicott. However good the old Westminster confession might have been, for instance, it was better today in the basis of union than ever before. They had not taken out a single thing which ought to be in. If they had to choose between the past and the future they always would choose the future. Their fathers were not a bit more important than their children.
"We have made a great beginning,
but no more," concluded the speaker.
"Let us see that the principles which brought us together shall keep and make this movement triumphant to the ends of the earth."

"Today we stand on the threshold of a new epoch in our Canadian life," declared Rev. Dr. Clarence Mackinnon of Halifax, former Presbyterian moderator, in addressing the assembly.
"Hitherto," he continued, "our religious institutions have been borrowed from other lands. Until now we have been formed and distinctly Canadian church. But now we stand on the verge of a new venture."

Frames New Home.
"The spirit of our denomination, without cutting adrift its old moorings, will unite with the new and for the past, but with a keen sense of responsibility for the future, has framed for itself a new ecclesiastical home, through which its young, energetic life will find more ready expression, retaining all that is most glorious in our common Christian heritage, but free, we trust, from those formalities and fetters that are the property of a bygone age."

"What a living institution this United church is going to be when there are harnessed together the strong and sturdy qualities of the Presbyterian and the fervid evangelism of the Methodist. Furnished with splendid qualities from each of its historic factors, the United church goes forth to its appointed task, not to make for herself a glorious name,
but to serve the life of our dominion."

Principal D. L. Ritchie declared that "today Canada gives leadership to divided Protestantism all the world over."

Must Keep Above World.
"The only way," he said, "by which a church can serve the world and so conquer it is by keeping its life and its wrestle into it on its own plane it will throw us every time. The Puritan with an easily be too much at home in the world and in these days when the idea of 'service' has become a cult it is well to remember it."

"They should grow Protestant saints, for Protestantism took religion out of the monastery and set it in the market place."

"The United church must be a comprehensive church. 'After all, as we have again learned, churches have little good to hope for from parliaments.'"

It must be a wise, progressive and courageous church which would
"meet different temperaments, cul-

DEATH SENTENCE REDUCED TO IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE
Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 10.—The death sentence imposed on William George Watkins, formerly of New Westminster, B. C., who was sentenced to be hanged at Montreal next Friday for the murder of F. Z. Beauvais, Verdun storekeeper, has been commuted to life imprisonment, it was announced today by the department of justice.

A petition was recently sent to the minister of justice containing approximately 5,000 signatures, asking that the death sentence be commuted on the ground that Watkins was not mentally responsible for his actions.

Toronto, June 10.—The pre-assembly congress of the continuing Presbyterian church of Canada concluded tonight with two large meetings in New St. Andrew's and Cooke's churches. Tomorrow morning the assembly starts.

The continuing Presbyterians today dropped the word "continuing" and referred to themselves as Presbyrefer also to their assembly starting tomorrow morning as the adjourned session of the Presbyterian general assembly as reconstituted by the continuing commissioners at 1 o'clock this morning, when the assembly as previously constituted passed out of existence. The meetings of the assembly will last until Saturday noon.

Women's missionary society of the Presbyterian church will also meet during the next three days at Knox church.

Missionaries Speak.
Tonight's sessions of the congress were devoted to the missionary enterprises of the Presbyterian church.
There was a challenge made of the statement of the unitists that 95 per cent of the foreign missionaries threwed for a time to raise a storm of protest, particularly after Dr.
Wilkie stated he had received a letter that he should not ask the foreign mission board and gentlemen when he had decided to remain with the Presbyterian church.

The indignation dwindled, however,
when Dr. Jonathan Goforth, a missionary from Honan, who is staying Presbyterian, stated that his treatment from the mission board had been courteous and gentlemanly.

Home Side, Too.
The missionary side was dealt with both from the home standpoint and the foreign, in the addresses on both chairs. Rev. Robert Johnston, of

Peters Wants To Be a Judge

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, June 10.—High Constable Geo. Peters will likely commence an agitation to secure amended legislation which would give a police officer power to impose a fine on a motorist whom he had stopped for speeding in a case where the offence is admitted, without having to go through the formalities of court procedure. The majority of motorists checked for speeding would prefer to settle on the spot, he contends.

was essentially a great instrument for missionary endeavor. In the spirit of world democracy, he said, the Presbyterian church would move forward with its message of faith.
Rev. Dr. Goforth said that although 95 per cent of the missionaries might be in the United church "God is not limited; we can raise up a fresh lot of missionaries."

He was afraid that during the turmoil in the church that God had not always been given first place. "If the right spirit filled all the members and leaders, I cannot conceive that there could be this wreckage. There is something wrong on the human side; it is not the Divine." He said Canadian Presbyterianism needed an ocean-to-ocean revival, and no special evangelist was required.

He thought the form of the confession of faith were 10,000 times nearer the truth than the former of the basis of union," said Dr. Goforth amid applause. "We don't have any reservation about the Presbyterian doctrine." He hoped every Presbyterian minister would teach the catechism to his flock, and deplored
the fact that Sunday school leaders were replacing the Bible in Sunday schools. "The disasters in the church have never come through the laity, but through the leaders," he contended.

To Divide Property.
It was announced that a telegram had been received from the federal government at Ottawa that the federal commission for the division of the property of the church would be appointed on June 12, instead of nine months hence, as provided in the church union act. The government made the change by order-in-council at the request of the Presbyterians.

Rev. A. J. McGillivray of Guelph was the principal speaker of the afternoon. He stated that 400 missionaries in Canada had signified their intention of remaining with the Presbyterian church. There would be more, he said, as ministers had until September to make up their minds.
The greatest need at present, he said, was the grace of patience. The church had been shattered, but not destroyed, and now was the time to rise and rebuild. Congregations, he continued, would have to be generous and patient with their ministers, and ministers must take a greater part in the work than they had done before.

COUNCIL IN ELGIN SEEKS LOWER TAX

Effort Being Made To Reduce Rate This Year by One Mill.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, June 10.—The Elgin county council is planning to reduce the tax rate from eight mills to seven mills this year, according to hints dropped by the councillors this afternoon. County Treasurer B. B. Gram reported that last year the county raised for all purposes $248,- 000, while this year he gave as a reasonable levy $221,892, which includes $75,000 as the county's share of good road expenditure. It is estimated that under the new arrangement of county roads the county will receive within $500 of the subsidy received last year, which will be nearly 44 per cent of the expenditure on county and county-provincial roads.

HEART TROUBLE SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk upstairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half way up, on account of my breath becoming so short."

"I commenced taking
MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS
and in no time I felt a great improvement, and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart."

H. & N. Pills are for sale at all drug and general stores; put up only
