An Operation Proves to be Entirely CHANGE ON Successful.

Rome, July 8, 3.45 a.m.-Pope Led is now sleeping, but his head lies uneasy on the pillow. The alleviation brought about by yesterday's operation of moving the fluid from his pleura was followed later in the evening by a restless period, and fresh doses of chloral, digitalis and caffeine had to be administered. Under their influence the Pontiff fell into a slumber, which, however, was not very peaceful on account of the difficulty the patient has in breathing. Seeing Dr. Lapponi always at his bedside, the Pope just before falling asleep said kindly to him, "Now it is your turn to-night. You must sleep." Throughout the Vatican absolute calm prevails to-night, the excitement of yesterday having to a great extent died out with the revival of hope after the announcement that yesterday's operation was attended with success. easy on the pillow. ### A BULLET WAS HIS REMEDY. When Scorned by the Girl Whom He Loved.

Fleischmanns, N.Y., July 7.-Scorned by the girl he sought in marriage, Jacob Haas, a wealthy young New Yorker, committed suicide here last night. His weapon was an old army revolver; and the bullet passed through his heart. Haas was the youngest son of Simon Haas, a wealthy importer of German linens, whose office and salesrooms are at No. 273 Church atreet.

Last night he told her the story of his love, as he had repeatedly told her before, but the girl's answer was the same. It was a refusal, coupled with a request that his persistent and oftensive attentions cease.

Haas left the girl with a promise which he fulfilled to the letter.

"If you will not be my wife," he said, "I only wish to die. You will not be annoyed by me again. I shall kill myself to-night."

"It will be useless to discuss the situation with me," was all that Mr. Kahn could draw from young Haas. "Your daughter has refused me and I die to-night."

Early this morning the suicide's body was found, face down, on the roadside. He had been dead for hours.

Washington, July 8.—Twenty-three persons were killed and nine persons injured in a head-on collision in the Virginia midland division of the Southern Railway at Rockfish, Va., about 3 o'clock last evening. Passenger train No. 35, leaving Washington at 11.15 a. m. for Atlanta, Ga., dashed into to a local freight, No. 68, both engines, to a local freight, No. 68, both engines, baggage, express and second-class passenger coach of No. 35 being wrecked. The coach was occupied chiefly by colored people. The freight train was in charge of Conductor Brubeck and Engineer Hale, and at the time of the accident was on the return trip from Lynchburg to Charlotteville. Rockfish Station is midway between these two points, and the track is a single one. Engineer Hale had orders to get out of the way of the passenger train, but for some reason failed to take a siding. The trains came together with a horrible crash, and a fearful scene of panic ensued. The engineer of the freight escaped without injury, but the engineer and baggagemaster of the express are among the dead. It is estimated here that there were in all probability 120 passengers on the train. bability 120 passengers on the train. It is now said to be almost certain that of those killed nineteen were colored persons, as the second-class coach which was telescoped was occupied almost exclusively by them. Later advices from the scene of the wreck are that the freight train, which was on the main track, had been there for six minutes longer than the orders directed when the collision occurred.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8. .

THE PRICE OF BREAD

It must-and does-strike the average Chatham householder that the method of raising the price of bread.

If the exigencies of business demanded an increase, it would surely have been wiser to have placed the price a cent per two-pound loaf higher. By the present action, however, of reducing the 2-lb. loaf to 11-2 lbs., the price is virtually raised over quarter of the original price.

Owing to the fact that the price of flour has not risen, this action by the bakers is very liable to tempt outside competition. A number of citizens have complained of the raise to The Planet, but they generally overlook the fact that the wages paid have been increased, which is to be commended, and the price of fuel has gone up, which apparently could not be be avoided

PUT A STOP TO IT

It is really surprising-but very gratifying-to find the large number of citizens who are prepared to vigorously "back-up" any effectual movement made to banish the use of vulgar, profane and obscene language upon our public streets.

The Planet would earnestly urge the Police Commissioners to get together at once-to call a special meeting, if necessary-and pass some strong and stringent resolutions dealing with the nuisance. Such action would materially aid the police and constables in forthwith inaugurating a stern and effectual campaign. It is unfortunately true that these disgusting exhibitions are not always perpetrated by what are sometimes called "the lower classes" - and the hands of the police should be strengthened to deal with all offenders. Our Canadian law is-and we are proud of the fact-no respecter of

The deluge of instances which have been communicated to The Planet since the matter was first mentioned where ladies have been forced to overhear these disgraceful street outbreaks, would amaze the authorities. Public sentiment is strong, and public sentiment should be further developed by pulpit, platform and press.

Meanwhile let the Police Commis-

CANADIAN PRIZE FIGHTING

On Monday the reverend editor of the Globe assumed his most unctuous role and proceeded to wax righteously indignant over the "disgrace and insult to Canada" resultant upon Fort Erie being made the scene of a brutal prize-fight and "the rendezvous for the baser sort of Buffalo sports, and the thugs and toughs of other American cities."

The reverend Globe is quite right in its condemnation, quite justified in its shocked attitude-but The Planet never had particular admiration for these eleventh-hour deathbed repentances.

For many weeks-and months-a large section of the Canadian press, zealously led by the vigorous Hamilton Spectator, has been conducting a campaign against the toleration of characterized Fort Erie in defiance publicity, the attention of the Attorney General of Ontario has been matter and action upon his part so-

Now that the brutal exhibition is over and the harvest of ill-gains garnered, the reverend Globe takes action. 1 4 1 1 10 12 12

It is never too late to do right but it would be interesting to know why the reverend Globe kept silence till the "indecent brutality" was safely over, why the Attorney General ignored all appeals to stop it and where all the money that the Yankee "thugs and toughs" spent to secure the attraction was placed. Unfortunately the people of Ontario have learned to distrust the Government ministers and officials of this Province-and even to doubt the motives of the unctuous Globe.

Binder Twine Test

J. L. Haycock, exM. L. A. and now employed as government inspector of binder twine, visited the M. J. Wilson Cordage Company last week and made a careful test of the twine being manufactured by this company. It will be gratifying to the firm's many customers to state that in point of length, tensil strength, and uniformity of size, the twine was found to exceed the government requirements, and running in all cases nearly five per cent. over standard length.

It is said that owing to the large prospective crop this season binder twine will be a scarce commodity and it is well known that the large deal-ers in the United States are seeking twine at higher prices.

Can't you see what an awful position you've put me in? I shall never dare face the boys again unless you explain to all of them, and, of course, you can't do that. "Yes, so our captain told the colonel, or so they say, but the colonel replied:
'It may be that he's no stomach for fighting, but he knows how to care for the stomachs of men who do fight, so he's to be regimental commissary and feed the regiment as well as he's fed his company. In war bellies count for as much as bullets.'

"There's something to that," said
Brainard, "and I'm glad Hamilton's

"Don't!" said Cloyne, putting an arm about Brainard and looking down into the little chap's face with sad, tender,

"Because—oh, hang the mysteries of this tormenting world—because he's got a ten day leave of absence. He'll be a fool if he doesn't go to New York, get into an officer's uniform, then hur ry out to Summerton, call on-oh, the girls—and"

"You knew-about her-and them?"

said I. "Haven't I eyes?" he replied. eyes were wet. "But give me paper and pen and ink and envelope—quick—and I'll try a flanking movement."

I wrote my cousin May a long letter, telling her of Hamilton's luck and also of its cause and intimating that should Hamilton's father ever lose his money Phil would be abundantly qualified to become head cook in a restaurant. This might have been an insult to the personnel of the army's entire commis-sary force, which contained thousands of superb fighters, though none of them was expected to fight, but I knew May wouldn't construe it in that way. Then I told of Brainard's successful dispatch carrying, which he had Until further notice, HAROLD

I had scarcely reached the fort when a sound somewhat resembling the rumble of a distant railway train caused me to look over my shoulder, and I saw half a mile behind me the entire regiment approaching at the gallop.

"I see here a divided duty," I quoted to myself from "Othello," but I did not hesitate. Whatever the danger to the post and the nation, both had hundreds of champions in the regiment; Brainard had but one, so I rode into the fort and did not leave until I had found the postmaster and placed my letter in his

It Must Come.

As inevitable as the changing seasons of the year is the change which comes to every woman. And just as one anticipates the changes of other seasons it is wise to anticipate this change of season and pre-pare for it. In this way the discomforts and disasters suffered by many women at the period of change can be avoided or overcome.

the period or change can be overcome.

Dr. Pierce's Favarite Prescription, a medicine for every season of woman's life, will entirely meet the needs of women at this period of change. It cures the physical lils and relieves the mental anxiety and depression usually associated with this critical period. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. in the village. To return to camp for my saber, carbine and pistol would leave me 10 or 15 minutes behind my comrades, and "a stern chase is a long one." I had no weapon with me but the sheathknife I always carried in my boot, for it was a tool of all work hatchet, carving knife, root digger and half a dozen other things. It would at least serve for self defense in a hand to hand fight, and fights of this character were almost unknown to us, thanks to the enemy's objection to getting within close reach of us. At the worst I would have the honor and pleasure of being "present for duty" should the affair prove serious.

My horse was as good as the best, so I soon passed through the village and galloped along the Richmond road, for the hoof prints in the dust showed that the regiment had taken that route. Unarmed though I was, my sense of exhilaration was intense. Over this same road had passed in other days the patriot soldiers of two wars, even great Washington himself. I—my regiment—was no longer at an out of the way outpost that had been held a year only be told that it was not worth holding. We were now really in the enemy's country and with a possibility of seeing service of sufficient importance to be mentioned in the newspapers.

In fact, my head got so far into the clouds that I neglected to keep my eyes on the road, which is the worst blunder of which a trooper can be guilty. When I did chance to glance downward, it was to discern that only a few horsemen had preceded me. It did not take me long to learn that the few did not belong to the enemy, for on the moist ground beside a small stream that crossed the road I saw the prints of horseshoes and their nail heads. The enemy's troop horses were unshod, as a rule. I rode some minutes longer and was suddenly stopped by a familiar voice shouting

"Come in here, ye little dhivil!"

To Be Continued.

Keep your Stomach Healthy.

THE OLD TIMERS

deme Contemporaries of the Late Sir Oliver Mewat—Was Their Day Better Than the Present?

The old order changes, giving place to new, says The Toronto World. Only a few years ago there were to be found on the bench and in the Governments of Canada and the pro-Governments of Canada and the pro-vinces, men who had been active and prominent before confederation, and even before the union. One of Sir Oliver' Mowat's contemporaries on the bench, William Henry Draper, was Chief Justice of Ontario until November, 1877. He was a famous lawyer sixty years ago; got his Queen's Counsel title in 1842, and was so gently persuasive with juries was so gently persuasive with juries that he won the sobriquet of "Sweet William." He was member for Toronto in the Legislature of Upper Canada in 1836; served as an aidede-camp to the Governor during the robullion, and heaven Salvister Care rebellion, and became Solicitor-General in 1837. After the union he figured as the chief adviser of Governor Metcalfe while he was vainly contending against responsible Government.

Another old-timer was Chief Justice Hagarty, whose tall figure was well-known to frequenters of the courts a few years ago. During the conflict between Metcalfe and his advisers he was a gay young Tory lawyer, and he composed a parody on the "True, Old English Gentleman," in honor of Metcalfe, who was nick-named "Old Square Toes." They were composed impromptu at a public dinner, while the fight was in progress. A couple of verses are given.

One verse the songster has forgot—he has another claim;
One brave old square-toed gentleman, he of the stainless name;
For Indian laurels grace his brow, Jamaica loves him, too,
And Canada will fight for him 'gainst all the Baldwin crew—
The fine old square-toed gentleman, ail of the present time.

So let our loyal shouts go forth, let traitors hear and quadi.
And British hearts will beat for joy on every hill and vale;
And though the Baldwin clan may howl, though loud th' hyaenas roar, We'll raily round old square-toes, and give him one cheer more,
The fine old square-toed gentleman, all af the present time.

Not many years ago the Premier Not many years ago the Premier of Canada, and his right and left men, Tupper and Tilley, were all old-time men who had taken an active part in the politics of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick before the union. One of them, Sir Charles Tupper, was Premier as late as 1896, and is still a hale and hearty man. Until recently our dominating ideas were those of pre-confederation statesmen. In Ontario Sandfield Macdonald, one of the heads of the old donald, one of the heads of the old Canadian Governments, was Premier of Ontario after Confederation, and was succeeded, after a short interval was succeeded, after a short interval by Oliver Mowat, whose official life began in the Brown-Dorion Government of 1858. Though Canada was a small country in those days, and though there was a good deal that was petty and tricky in its politics, it brought forth some strong men. We are hardly yet able to adopt a condescending tone toward Macdonald, Tilley and Tupper, Brown and Dorion. Holton and Mowat: there is and, Tilley and Tupper, Brown and Dorion, Holton and Mowat; there is indeed almost a temptation to fall into the opposite mood, and say "The former times were better than these." But it may be that we have not yet got the right perspective.

From Viscount Welseley. The following letter from Lord Wolseley is in response to an invita-tion to attend the Toronto Home Comers' Festival:

Hampton Court Palace, Middlesex, "June 6th, 1903

"Sir,—I have the honor to acknowledge your kind and most flattering letter of the 12th of May last, and to thank the Toronto Board of Trade for their very hospitable and tempting invitation. I wish I could accept it, for apart from the pleasure it would have given wish I could accept it, for apart from the pleasure it would have given me to have been present at your coming 'Old Home Gathering,' I long to visit Canada. It is a country in which I spent 'my happiest years, and to whose history and to whose and to whose history and to whose people I always feel drawn to close

"But, alas, I could not leave home this year; I am hard at work upon two volumes of memoirs, which I want to have ready soon for publica-tion and until I have seem them through the press I must not quit

"Again thanking you and the Board of Trade of Toronto for their extremely kind thought of me, I have the honor to be, your obedient several." Wolseley."

Coal From Japan.

Coal From Japan.

The Frank disaster and the labor troubles at Fernie and on Vancouver Island have had an extraordinary result. The Canadian Pacific recently placed an order for 10,000 tons of coal in Japan. Shipments were to be continued until the beginning of the present month. This coal was required principally for the company's Pacific streamers, and for the required principally for the com-pany's Pacific steamers, and for the railway to Revelstoke, from which point easterly coal from Canmore and other points is used. It was un-derstood that, in the event of the labor and other troubles contin-uing, more Japanese coal would be bought. Apprehension is expressed by the Provincial press lest the singular spectacle be seen of a Province so rich in coal importing that article

A Commercial Traveler's Yarn.

Early in the spring, when the weather was in its most changeable state, a Toronto firm sent out a commercial traveler. He wrote in to the firm on Monday night: "Raining all day. Impossible to get around, and no business." Tuesday he wrote in: "Cold, driving sleet to-day. Miscrable weather, and nothing doing." On Wednesday he wrote: "Heavy snowstorm. Everything blocked up, and no use trying to get around."

Then he got a wire from the firm: "Come on home. We can get our weather reports cheaper from the Observatory." A Commercial Traveler's Yarn

Yet it is a fact worth recording that Mrs. Pinkham is constantly receiving letters from women of high social position, saying as a last resort and without any faith, they tried Lydia E. Mrs. Ida Roser, grand-niece of the late U. S. President James K. Polk, relates her happy experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I have been married for nearly two years, and so far have not been blessed with a child. I have, however, suffered with a complication of female troubles and painful menstruation, until very recently.

"The value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was called to my attention by an intimate friend, whose life had simply been a torture with inflammation and ulceration, and a few bottles of your Compound cured her; she can hardly believe it herself to-day, she enjoys such blessed health. I took four bottles of your Compound and consider myself cured. I am once more in fine health and spirits; my domestic and official duties all seem easy now, for I feel so strong I can do three times what I used to do. ### THE BAND MATTER

J. G. Kerr, acting for H. C. Philp replevied a clarionet which Mr. Philp claims to own and which the Quartermaster of the 21th Regiment locked up when he locked up the band instruments. H. C. Philp claims that the clarionet is his own private property. He purchased the instrument from Whaley, Royce & Co., Toronto, and has produced the invoice. Judge Bell granted the order to replevin the instrument. Mr Kerr says that he has still another instrument to replevin. It is the slide trombone of Reginald Degge, and unless it is handed over at once he will take legal measures to secure it. The Quartermaster claims that the clarionet in question was purchased by Archie Lamont in Paris and is an expensive instrument, Paris and is an expensive instrument, and never saw Toronto. The Philp clarionet has the Whaley Royce trade mark on it.

Colonel Rankin was out of the city and, as no one appeared to have a key, the sheriff broke into the drill shed. He was accompanied by Mr. Philp, but the clarionet could not be found. Some books, one horn, a music stand and some music belonging to Mr. Philp were secured, but the clarionet could not be found. Major Scholfield and Quartermaster Cornell arrived shortafter the Sheriff and Mr. Philp. Speaking the atternoon, Bandmaster Harry C. Philp said,—'I have replevined nothing except my own personal property, and I cannot understand the disappearance of the clarionet. It was there when Mr. Maisonville got his clarionet. I believe Major Scholfield is acting fairly, and I told him that if anything was wrong

I believe Major Scholfield is acting fairly, and I told him that if anything was wrong with the horns returned or if anything was short I would see that everything was short I would see that everything was made right. I have only tried to do what was fair and I can't understand the disappearance of the clarionet. I haven't consulted my solicitor yet, so cannot say what further steps will be taken."

NO ANNOUNCEMENT ON RAIL-WAY POLICY.

Iron and Steel Bounties For the Manufacture of Bars and Billets-

Chignecton Marine Railway Relief Opposed-Grant Towards a Canadian Cable News Service.

Ottawa, July 8.-The question of assistance to the iron and steel industry monopolized attention at the Ministerial caucus last evening, and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway project Grand Trunk Pacific Railway project zonsequently went over until Thursday, when another meeting will be peld. The postponement of the Ministerial announcement on the latter question robbed the caucus of a good deal of its interest. The Prime Minister was at the meeting and received an ovation from his enthusiastic followers. He only stayed sufficiently long, however, to state that there would be no railway policy announced that day, but a number of other matters would be brought forward. Then he left to fulfill another engagement, It devolved upon Messrs. Fielding and Paterson to ascertain the sentiment of the gathering with respect to helping the iron and steel industry. From what these gentlemen said it is not apparently proposed to impose duties, but if the Canadian iron masters are prepared to go into the manufacture of steel bars and billets and large-sized steel plates, which at present are not manufactured in Canada, bounties may be granted.

Mr. Fielding brought up the proposition to repay the bondholders in the Chignecto Marine Transport Railway company the sum of $500,000 in consideration of the money which they have sunk in the enterprise. The bondholders claim to have invested $4,000,000, which will be a total loss unless the Government come to their relief. According to Mr. Fielding, the Government have made no promise to the bondholders, but the latter have signified that they would be willing to accept $500,000. Several members denounced the proposition, and the likelihood is that it will be laid over and no action taken.

Mr. Fielding told the caucus that the Government were prepared to contribute $15,000 towards an independent news cable service from England, providing the promoters will put up an equal amount. He also informed the Government's supporters, what they already knew through the public prints, that it had been decided to grant a bounty of $15 a ton on lead smelted in Canada from native ore. consequently went over until Thurs-

CONTROL OF STREETS.

Fight at Ottawa For Municipal Rights-Rural Mail Delivery.

Ottawa, July 8.—The House of commons devoted the greater part of yesterday to the consideration of the question of municipal rights in connection with the operation of electric railways. After spending some time in concurrence upon the estimates in concurrence upon the estimates that have been passed, the House again went into committee upon Mr. Blair's railway commission bill. The Minister of Railways offered an imendment to section 184, which deals with highway crossings, exempting from the restrictions imposed by the clause companies which are already in existence. This gave rise to an animated debate, in which Mr. E. F. Clarke and other members of the Opposition protested against the Minister's proposal as prejudicial to the interests of the municipalities, inasmuch as it deprived them of the eight of control of their streets. Mr. Blair withdrew his amendment and substituting another, which protected ailway companies in the rights already conferred by special act, giving as a reason for the position he assumed the experience of the Montreal Terminal Railway Company. Incidentally Mr. Blair protested his inability to see things as Toronto saw them, and made some-ironical references to the claims advanced by Mr. Clarke on behalf of the city of Toronto. Mr. Arch. Campbell in this connection intimated that the municipalities surrounding Toronto had agreed upon an amendment to the Toronto & Hamil-

Arch. Campbell in this connection intimated that the municipalities surrounding Toronto had agreed upon an amendment to the Toronto & Hamilion Railway Company's bill, which will be moved this evening when the bill romes up for consideration. In Committee of Supply Sir Wm. Mulock announced that the statements published, regarding the satisfactory results of the rural mail delivery experiments in the United S ates were not regarded as reliable, and that he was not prepared to accept them as a satisfactory basis upon which to commit himself to the experiment in Canada. At the same time, he was in sympathy with the proposal and would be delighted to have the honor of inaugurating it during his term of office as PostmasterGeneral.
For the first hour and a half this afternoon the House was in concurrence on the main estimates that have been passed. A few were allowed to

GENIUS AND THE TAVERN.

Association Between Authors and House That Entertain—Famous Men Made Them Celebrated in Days of Yere.

Houses of entertainment have always provided the haunts, and occasionally the homes, of men prominent in literature and the arts; and it, as a rule, innkeepers themselves and their families have been undistinguished save by association with their guests, there are some notable exceptions, says The London Standard. Chaucer's host of the Tabard was a man of affairs and became a member of the flouse of Commons; and in our own day Irish Nationalism has reintroduced the publican Parliamentarian. In James I.'s time, just as now, the King's Waterman kept a tavern, for John Taylor, the Water Poet, a man of considerable literary gifts though of little culture, was landlord of the Poet's Head, in Phoenix Alley, Long-acre and published many of his effusions from the house. Mat Prior, poet and Ambassador, at one time helped his uncle in the bar of the Rhenish Wine. House, Channel Row, the Earl of Dorset and the Dean of Westminster being among the frequenters.

Dr. Johnson said of Prior that "in his private relaxation he revived the tavern" and this harsh judgment pointed to the orgies at the house in Long-acre kept by Bessie Cox, the Chloe of his amorous songs. It was also in Long-acre at his father's public house, that Thomas Stothard, R. A., was born. A more famous artist, Sir Thomas Lawrence, P.R.A., was also a son of the tavern, and at the Black Bear, Devizes, used to be shown as an infant prodagy, either reciting verses or drawing portraits. George Morland spent most of his time at inns such as the Cabin, Freshwater, the Mother Black Cap. Pleasing Passage, and the White Lion, Paddington, where he kept a regular establishment. Hogarth exhibits the interior of the old Hummums in the "Modern Midnight Conversation," and the exterior of the Adam and Queensborough, to Covent Garden.

Romney had a studio at the Holy Bush, Hampstead, and Kneller ways provided the haunts, and oc-casionally the homes, of men prom-inent in literature and the arts; and Romney had a studio at the Holy Bush, Hampstead, and Kneller painted the portraits of the Kit-Kat Club at the Fountain Tavern, Fountain Court, Strand, where Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, as a child, was entered as honorary member, and made a toast. Perhaps the on-Ay barmaid to attain literary immorality was "Sweet Molly Mogg, of the Rose," whose praises were jointly sung by Pope, Swift, and Gay, in a once-popular ballad, and whose death, fifty years afterwards, was chronicled in the Gentleman's Magazine.

chronicled in the Gentleman's Magazine.

The tavern club dates from the Elizabethan era. The Boar's Head only disappeared in 1831. At the Marmaid in Cheapside, Shakespeare, Ben Johnson and their comrades held the famous combats of wine and wit; but these convivial encounters are more closely associated with the Apollo Club held at the Devil in Fleet Street. This house retained its vogue until well on in the eighteenth century. Colley Cibber was credited with composing his official odes here. The Half Moon, in the Half-Moonpassage, Aldersgate, was a favorite resort of the dramatists Congreve and Wycherley. Of one of their colleagues, Dr. Doran gives a charming picture at the Mitre. St. James' Market, of Farquhar listening to a reading of Beaumont and Fletcher's "Scornful Lady," by "the beautiful and clever girl who became the delight of the English stage as Mistress Anne Oldfield." She was niece to Mrs. Voss, who kept the tavern. Another Restoration poet, Nat Lee, tress Anne Oldfield." She was niece to Mrs. Voss, who kept the tavern. Another Restoration poet, Nat Lee, died at the Bear and Hounds, Butcher Row, Strand, in circumstances not unlike those which carried off Dr. Porson a century later after a fit at Cole's Coffee House, Cornhill. The Bear-at-the-Bridge-foot was a fashionable tavern used by the gallants of Charles II.'s court. It stood at the Southwark end of London Bridge.

The ubiquitous Pepys was, of course, familiar with the place, as indeed he was with every other of the kind at that time extant. Among them he mentions the Three Cranes, with the best room in the house "a narrow doghole"; the Rose, where he went on Christmas eve, and drank burnt wine; the Casalle, where the garrulous Sir Ellis Layton informs him respecting the new Admiralty Judge; the Dog, where he hears of the death of the King of Sweden; the Dolphin, where his share of the jollification after the victory of 1665 amounted to 34s; the Swan, during the crisis of the fire, "and there drank and so home"; the Three Tuns, on May 9, when a murder had been committed, and at the same house on the 16th to dine with the Lord Mayor; the Triumph, after church to meet the Portuguese ladies of the Queen's suite, "and I see they have learned to kiss." The very last entry in the dairy runs whus: "Thence to the World's End, a drinking-house by the Park, and there merry, and so home." A curious connecting link between the Restoration and the Victorian age is Pepys, at the Cock in Fleet Street, regaling Mrs. Knipp and Mrs. Pierce "with wine and a lobster; and sang, and was mighty merry." and Tennyson in the same house makeing—

DEATH TO NEGROES.

Bitter Race War at Evansville, in Indiana

Evansville, Ind., July 7.-Race prejudice between blacks and whites brought on a reign of terror here Sunday. All night and all day yesterday armed mobs threatened the lives of citizens. Gun stores were broken open and weapons and ammunition were seized by blacks and whites; two thousand whites broke into the county jail to hunt for a black victim, the wall being forced with a battering ram; negro dives were ransacked and shot to pieces in the search for the blacks, and an armed company of drilled blacks marched through the streets, threatening the lives of all whites. The Governor has ordered out troops to quell the disturbance, but they have not arrived. At daylight yesterday 300 armed white men started for the powder magazine near the city to secure explosives with which they declare they will blow up the entire negro colony of Baptist Town, a suburb of the city. The trouble has been brewing for months and came to a crisis on Friday, when Lee Brown, a negro, shot and killed Patrolman Massey, who was trying to arrest him while bent on the murder of a man with whom he had quarrelled. Threats of vengeance were followed by the surrounding of the jail. The negro was secretly removed from the city yesterday to Vincennes. Patrolman Massey died in terrible agony, and the crowd became menacing.

Patrolman Massey died in terrible agony, and the crowd became menacing.

A company of armed negroes aroused by the race troubles marched through the streets shouting, "Down with the whites!" and threatening death to all if the negro was lynched. This started a rush for the gun stores by the whites. Three were broken open and 400 rifles and revolvers, with ammunition, were seized. One negro woman is known to be dead and a boy named Logan was shot and seriously wounded by a negro.

The mob, shooting, went through the streets inhabited by negroes, and confusion prevailed. Houses are being searched for dead and wounded Armed companies of negroes had disappeared. All blacks fled the streets, and, failing to find victims, the resort of Bud Fruit was visited and shot to pieces. Whether any were killed there is not yet known. The officials were powerless. The negroes, after the first armed display of resistance, scattered and have not made a stand since. They are flying in terror. Thousands of shots were fired during the night. The riot began growing still worse at 4 o'clock this morning. The Governor has been appealed to a second time.

Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testim will prove this. Mrs. Deitz writes : "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got werse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Bloed Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life.

Flea for Better conditions Among Cas ada's Lumbermen—The Work Aircady Done—Lumber Camp Schools.

How many have actually seen the How many have actually seen the inside of a lumber camp at night? Imagine a log shanty, 100 feet long, and wide in proportion; bunks three deep all around, enough for from one to two hundred men. Wet socks, mitts, overalls, shirts are hung; up to dry so thick you can hardly see the bunks on the other side. Some of the men are trying to mend torn clothing, which must be worn next day, some are trying to read in the dim, flickering light, some want to wite, some are talking, some are sin in and as all have to grind their axes for next day, two grinday. imagine a traveling preacher trying to get a hearing here. He cannot even see above twenty of his audience at a time. Suppose there is no preacher, what chance have the men for rest or recreation? Think what a boon to them would be a special rest and recreation camp. They would be able to live more as civilized human beings should. Then when the occasional preacher came along they would be able to hear him in comfort. And what applies to lumber camps applies to mining and railway construction camps also.

It was to provide just such camps that the Canadian Reading Camp Association started operations about that the Canadian Reading Camp Association started operations about three years ago.

First the association started in one or two lumber camps in New Ontario, and at its own expense built shanties, supplying them with tables and bookshelves, and stocked these well with books, games, writing materials and newspapers. These papers were all up-to-date, so that the lumbermen could keep themselves posted in the news of the day. It was declared at first that the daily papers could not be got, but the association argued, the wagons have to go to the railway station regularly for the supplies, why should they not bring the daily papers, too? A strong leather bag was provided to hold them, and the daily papers in the camps was soon a matter of course. The books, a circulating library of fifty volumes, were provided by the Provincial Government. The men in charge of these readings camps are men of education, general ability by the Provincial Government. The men in charge of these reading camps are men of education, general ability and thorough Christian character. Protestant or Catholic, it matters not which, so long as their character is above reproach. Part of their expenses is paid by the association, and part they earn in the woods at work with the rest of the gang. At first when the big lumber companies were approached and asked to contribute the building they refused, saying there was nothing in it for them. But shortly they changed their minds, and now in every case the company gladly puts up the camp at its own expense.

Then it is important that men should be encouraged to spend their Sundays and other spare time in better ways than huddled in cramped quarters, drinking, gambling, telling or listening to the low jest, song or story. Sundays and rainy days in camp, when men are off work are story. Sundays and rainy days in camp, when men are off work, are the longest in the year. Men suffer more from ennui, from mental and spiritual languor, than from overwork on other days. They are then ready to jump at any suggestion, no matter how vulgar, that promises even temporary relief from such bondage. Their moral diseases, that are the result of this lack of social and religious restraint, are of a are the result of this lack of social and religious restraint, are of a much more serious character.

As a matter of fact employers often fear to give their men too much spare time, not from mercenary motives, but lest the time should be abused and employed in gambling, drinking and worse evils. Experience proves that to increase the hours of freedom without insuring that these hours are to be well employed is to drag men downward, and that this is true of the rich as well as the poor.

It was with this in view that new department of this Association new started—the Camp School. Here any man or boy can, while doing his work all winter in the woods, have the same advantages of evening the same advantages of evening classes as those living in the city.

These reading camps are really extensions of the public library system to meet the needs of isolated places. The separate building is, therefore, necessary if the books are to be within the reach of all, and yet properly taken care of.

When you consider that from fifteen to twenty per cent of the men in lumber camps cannot recognize their to twenty per cent. of the men in lumber camps cannot recognize their own name on a letter, and that there are 50,000 or more men in the camps of Ontario alone you begin to real-ize the size of the educational problem.

It is these problems which Mr. Alfred Fitzpatrick, of Nairn Centre, has laid himself out to solve. He put up the test camps before mentioned and was the means of getting the Provincial Government to take the matter up.

"Cost?" to be sure it will cost something, every good thing does.

"Cost?" to be sure it will cost something, every good thing does, but, as Mr. Fitzpatrick (who, by the way, is an ordained Presbyterian minister) points out, "it will cost the country less to provide bathrooms, laundries and reading camps than the revenue that would be derived from the additional number of good citizens. An enlightened and healthy citizenship is a better asset than ignorant and filthy slaves. Camp schools are cheaper than soldiers, paupers, drunkards and criminals." inals.

famous characters of modern fiction are associated. These characters are Martin Chuzzlewit and Colonel Mulberry Sellers, the former created by Charles Dickens and the latter by Mark Twain.

Marion City was founded by Colonel William Muldrow in 1840, being located on the Mississippi river about midway between Hannibal, Mo., and Quincy, Ill. Although widely boomed, after the manner of many boom cities of that period, as the coming metropolis of the Mississippi valley, it never got beyond the sippi valley, it never got beyond the paper stage and collapsed just prior to the visit of the great English novelist to the United States in

It will be recalled that Dickens found that on that occasion many things about the Republic which of-fended his English sense of proprie-ty. Among them was Marion City. When he returned to his native land he proceeded to lampoon the Yan-kees in a most caustic manner. he proceeded to lampoon the Yan-kees in a most caustic manner, and as one of the vehicles in which to turn loose his satire he wrote "Mar-tin Chuzzlewit."

This imaginary Eden was in reality Marion City. On their way west Martin and Mark fell in with one General Choke, who introduced them to the agent of the boom town. He showed them a beautiful map of the wonderful young town, with its market place, public buildings and busy streets, and they invested. found:

As they proceeded further on their tracks and came more and more toward their journey's end the monotonous degolation of the sceee increased to that degree that for any redeeming feature it presented to their eyes they might have entered, in the body, on the grind domains of glant despair—a flat morans, with failen timber; a marsh, on which the good growth of the earth seemed to have been wrecked and cast away.

At last they stopped, At Eden too. The waters of the deluge might have left it only the week before so choked with silme and matted growth was the hideous swamp which fore that name.

There being no depth of water close in shore, they landed from the vessel's bont, with all their goods beside them. There were a few log houses visible among the drak trees—the best a cow shed or a rude stable—but for the wharfs, the market place, the public buildings—"Here comes an Edener," said Mark, and come one did.

They told the man the nature of their purchase and inquired where it lay. Close to his own dwelling, he said; so close that the had used it for a storehouse for some corn. He then gave them to understand as an additional scrap of local chit-chat, that he had buried the last proprietor with his own hands.

This dismal picture of Eden was This dismal picture of Eden was doubtless an exaggeration of the real Marion City, but it is served Dickens' purpose of illustrating a peculiar phase of United States life that did not please his fancy.

Thirty years after Charles Dickens wrote his description of the place Mark Twain, collaborating with Charles Dudley Warner, wrote "The Gilded Age," in which is told the story of Colonel Mulberry Sellers, who in 'real life was Colonel William Muldrow. Having lived within a who in real life was Colonel William Muldrow. Having lived within a few miles of the departed Marion City and being familiar with its history and that of Colonel Muldrow, it was not strange that Clemens should have selected it as one of the striking events of a "golden age." Here it was that Colonel Mulberry Sellers, Mark Twain's creation of the most exaggerated type of the visionary man, proposed to build a great metropolis of the west which under the name of Napoleon was to canquer the commercial world.

In its essential features the story of Colonel Mulberry Sellers' Napoleon was not materially different from that of the Eden in which Martin Chuzzlewit invested, and both are fairly representative of the experiences in actual life of Colonel Muldrow and his boom town of Marion City, the memory of which is now revived after a period of sixty years by the transfer of the plot of wild land upon which it was proposed to build it.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in proper working order, and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Plerce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvellous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. ### SOLDIERS SHOOT RIOTERS.

To Save Sixteen Negro Prisoners at Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., July 8.—Six shot dead and twenty-five injured, four fatally, is the outcome of the race riots that have caused a reign of terror in this city during the past four days. On Monday the Evansville Company of Indiana 'National Guard, assisted by 200 special deputy Sheriffs, sworn in during the day, while guarding the county jail, in which were sixteen negro prisoners, poured a deadly volley of buckshot and bullets into a crowd of several thousand people, led by a hundred armed rioters, who were pressing them back amid jeers and threats, accompanied by stones and missiles. When the smoke cleared away thirty-one wounded and dead bodies lay on the pavements. There is a contention as to who fired first, the soldiers or the rioters. That the troops were fired on is proved by the fact that of the fallen four were members of the company. Their wounds were slight.

Following are the dead and fatally wounded. The dead—Fili Ward Schiffpany of Indiana 'National Guard, as-

At 9 o'clock at night the mob gradually became more excited, its manifestations of uneasiness more frequent, and at 10 o'clock it was seen that nothing could prevent an assault on the jail. At 10.30 the rioters pressed slowly forward, and innocent onlookers followed. Slowly they forced the militiamen back toward the jail, until an alley between Division street and the stone building was reached. The leaders, with a bicycle in their front as a shield to the bayonets of the soldiers, stoned the jail entrance. Captain Pectoral and stop your coughts.
