ABUNDANT GOLD IN SASKATCHEWAN

Assays Show as High as $30,000 Worth to the Ton of Free Milling Gold Bearing Quartz—A Large Area—Prince Albert People Off to the District.

Prince Albert, June 28.—Free milling gold-bearing quartz assaying $30,000 per ton, has created a sensation in the city. The quartz was brought in from Lac la Ronge mineral field by Prospector Munro, whom the Hamelin Clemon's syndicate had grub staked. Mr. Hatton, of Regina, who has been north defining the field as extending from Lac la Ronge across the Churchill as far north as Cree Lake. The discovery has caused a sensation and already many people are coming into the city. H. H. Rowatt, of the Department of the Interior, arrived here this morning and after viewing the samples, said, "It is the richest ore, to the best of my knowledge, that has ever been discovered. I have examined samples taken from the Klondike, Alaska, British Columbia and Gowganda fields, and never before saw a richer or more defined quartz. It is the richest discovery I have ever known, and a carload of ore is enough for any man."

Mr. Rowatt for many years has been connected with the department of the Interior, and has charge over the minerals. He is reported as an authority and his statement has greatly excited the people of this city. He places the value of a carload at half a million dollars. He says the quartz has every appearance of being taken from a true fissure vein, which is shown to be about eight inches in width.

The quartz exhibited shows the gold in sheets, about one sixteenth of an inch in thickness. It is claimed to be almost pure, and local men who are interested in minerals express themselves as being established with the discovery. Gold was first discovered in the Lac la Ronge district about one year ago. On May 9 this year, samples were brought in and assayed by J. O. Sullivan, provincial assayer of British Columbia, at $5,178.80 per ton. A week later he assayed samples from the same district at $5,880.25 to the ton. In writing Mr. Clemons and Mr. Hamelin he congratulated them on the find stating that the samples were ideal free milling. Among the party who made the find were Robt. Munro and J. C. Stone, both of this city.

B. L. Clemon, one of the owners of the gold prospects, left last Monday to stake out the properties. W. J. Mahoney and H. B. Totten, who has resigned his position as manager of the Northern-Crown Bank, left with a party a few nights ago. Dr. J. A. Moran and William Clark are making preparations to leave on Friday, and several other parties have already gone. William McInnis of the Government Geological survey, left on Tuesday, and several provincial authorities are in the city inquiring into the discovery. The board of trade have taken up the chase, and will send a party out at once.

Lac la Ronge is located about 200 miles north of Prince Albert. At present there is a wagon road to the Montreal Lake, and from there the parties are taken to the gold district in canoes. The provincial government have at once taken up the question of improving the road, and it is understood that operations will begin at once. Messrs. McLeod and Hamelin are outfitting the parties, and arranging for the provision of wagon and canoe accommodation.

The gold district is said to cover an area of forty miles. The country is rocky and wooded. It is in the Laurentian range and lies directly between the Alaska gold fields and Cobalt fields. It is understood Mr. Hamelin has been offered $50,000 for his claim, but has refused the offer. R. J. Mackenzie of Winnipeg, one of the C.N.R. officials, was in the city Friday night in his private car sizing up the situation. He interviewed Mr. Hamelin and has already sent a survey party to the field. It is intimated that a route will be surveyed from the gold prospects to the Cowan timber limits where it will connect with the branch of the C.N.R. now under construction from this city to that point.

Excellent samples of copper ore have also been found. Mr. Rowatt in speaking of the copper said, "It is even better than the samples assayed from the 'Guggenheim' mines, the richest copper mines in the world. Mr. Hamelin stated that there was an immense mountain of copper ore."

STATISTICS OF FARM

Saskatchewan have been made in the regions south of the main line of the C.P.R. and in western and northern districts. In Alberta they have been made south of the C.P.R. and in the eastern ranges of the townships north of the railway.

The drought of summer and autumn was less severe in last year than in 1907, but it had the effect of again reducing the number of farm animals in the older provinces. In the whole of Canada the horses exceeded the number of last year by 14,324, whilst milk cows are less by 68,440, other horned cattle by 254,067. Sheep by 128,414, and swine by 457,349. The largest falling off in the east occurred in Quebec and Ontario. In Quebec milk cows are less by 26,317, other horned cattle by 45,705, sheep by 30,650 and swine by 31,294. In Ontario horses are less by 39,016, milk cows by 144,665, sheep by 88,686 and swine by 381,918. In Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta the number of horses is more this year than a year ago by 32,278, milk cows by 4,731, and sheep by 22,844. Other horned cattle than milk cows decreased in these provinces during the year by 34,482, and swine by 6,121.

DECREASE OF STOCK IN ONTARIO AND QUEBEC—OVER A MILLION MORE ACRES IN WHEAT THIS YEAR THAN LAST.

Ottawa, June 24.—The census and statistics office has issued a report on crops and live stock of Canada as reported at date of June 15.

Wheat has a reported area of 7,750,400 acres, which is 1,140,000 acres more than last year. In the Maritime provinces and Quebec there is little change, but in Ontario the area is less by 106,600 acres, of which 88,300 acres is fall wheat.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta show an area of 6,878,000 acres, being 1,264,000 acres more than last year. Condition of fall wheat on June 15 was 82.15 and of spring wheat 92.15 per cent. of standard for a full crop. The area of oats in the Dominion is 3,302,600 acres, which is 1,361,000 acres more than last year, and its condition is reported as 92.2 per cent. Barley, the cereal crop next in importance, has a total area of 1,964,900 acres, or 419,200 acres more than last year and its condition is 91.49 per cent.

Mixed grains with 592,000 acres and hay and clover with 8,210,900 acres are practically the same extent as last year. The former has a reported condition of 91.71, and the latter of 90.36 per cent.

At the end of June 1906, there were 122,398 farms in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and at the end of 1908, home-steads entered less all cancellations, increased the number to 130,243, or by 10,853,780 acres. In Manitoba the net increase of the two and one-half years was 4,898. In Saskatchewan, 41,482, and in Alberta, 23,020, but these figures do not take account of farm lands purchased from railway companies and other corporations in the same period. Large increases in

OPPOSED TO CZAR'S VISIT

Committee of Protest in England Working Against a Welcome to Czar of Russia—En Route to Sweden.

London, June 25.—Opposition to welcoming the czar is gathering force in the chief democratic countries of Europe. The most determined agitation is growing up in England where a committee of protest was organized by members of parliament, Liberals, labor leaders and Socialist members of the Independent Labor Party. A pamphlet will be published shortly, arraigning the czar's administration, and a great meeting of protest will be held in Hyde Park under the auspices of the trade unions, while the czar is the guest of the King at Cowes.

The Humanitarian league has adopted resolutions asking the government not to give official sanction to the czar's visit "in view of the abominable cruelties practiced on political and other prisoners in Russia."

Similar resolutions will be adopted by the united committee on the protection of rights of subjugated nations and also by the society of Friends of Russian Freedom.

The venerable Robert Spence Watson, honorary treasurer of this society has already published a vigorous protest against the visit. Notice of the agitation has been communicated officially to the king. The communication to His Majesty begs him to represent to the czar at Cowe next month how repugnant to British moral and spiritual sentiments are the cruelties and executions perpetrated in Russia.

The opposition to the visit is endorsed by Rev. R. J. Campbell, of the city temple, who publicly declared yesterday that the atrocities in Russia had been fully authenticated.

He severely criticized Premier Asquith for "speaking a considerable time to the Russian political guests now in London without uttering a single word that gave the slightest intimation that there are millions of British citizens who regard the present government of Russia as an outrage on humanity."

The hostile attitude of the Italian democracy obliged the czar to cancel his proposed visit to King Victor Emmanuel. Only a few years ago the czar was idolized in France, but the societies engaged in the present agitation are informed that protests against the coming of the czar are heard on all sides in the republic. The French Society of Friends of the Russian people with its committee of noted authors and political men of women, such as Anatole France, F. C. Pressens, Jean Jures and Mme. Menard-Dorian, is publishing a powerful pamphlet containing a scathing condemnation of the czar's policy of summary executions. This document is being circulated in Sherbourg and other French ports.

St. Petersburg, June 25.—Emperor

COPY GOOD MODELS. ARE A FRIEND TO THE FISHERMAN

While the woman in moderate circumstances often follows slavishly the mandates of her dressmaker, the woman of wealth is fortunate in being able to choose masterpieces, creations with those so charming or unusual and touches so smart that it is utterly impossible to copy them without taking the original to pieces as a child does a toy to "find out how it is made."

One must, however, always be certain of what is and what is not being copied. It is not sufficient to copy the gown's make, and as much attention must be paid to the details as to the general design and the materials of which it is composed.

The Brigands. The word "brigand" is derived from a portion of the armor worn by such English and foreign, mercenary, called the "brigandine." This consisted of a apron of leather plated over, scale fashion, with thin pieces of steel.

Get Out of Doors. Trudeau's classic experiment points us in the right direction. After inoculating a number of rabbits with tubercle bacilli he continued a number of them indoors and turned the others outdoors. The latter all recovered, while the former all died. This experiment shows that a rabbit living upon its natural food and under a natural environment is proof against tuberculosis. There is abundant reason to believe that this equally true of man. In other words, tuberculosis is not a necessary evil of human life, but is a natural consequence of European habits and departure from natural conditions.

GROWING THE AZALEA. A FAMOUS SWORDSMAN

Varieties of this beautiful plant found in Many Countries. The early azaleas, cultivated in England, came from the mountains of Europe and this country, originated from the Mediterranean Azalea pontica, the North American and the Chinese and Japanese azaleas. These have been much intercrossed, and the respective types are now completely so mixed that it is difficult to identify them under their respective species.

Our native azalea, with its wealth of bloom, varying in tint from white to bluish pink, rose, red and scarlet, is a suggestive both in shape and color, and also in fragrance of the honey-suckle, under which name, with the prefix wild, it is commonly known.

While the wild azaleas are not as strongly brilliant as the ones the florists offer us, they possess a fragrance and delicacy that we find entirely lacking in the cultivated ones.

Some of the Japanese azaleas have been cultivated to a great extent, and some of these varieties at the present time excel all others in size of the individual flowers, which are in some instances of a very fragrant.

Peculiar Marriage Rites. Northern India and the island of Banquet can certainly claim to have the most peculiar marriage rites of any country. In the former a cow and a calf are invariably required at the marriage. The animal is driven into a narrow running stream, the priests and the betrothed couple also standing in the water.

WOMEN OF NOTE. Mrs. T. P. O'Connor's visit to this country is in the interest of Irish duties.

Goldfields Opened Up. The Cassiar goldfields of British Columbia will shortly be rendered accessible by the Grand Trunk Pacific and the new line will also render an easy means of access of the Oxonia goldfields; this latter proposition being a relief one, but having to be abandoned, the Cassiar goldfields are being opened up in the Bulkley and Nechako valleys.

A Need for Tobacco. Lord Deas, a Scotch judge, was once leaving a case when the smell of tobacco permeated the room, and, being in opposition to the rules, search was made to find the offender, but he was not found. Finally the ushers said it must come from the retiring room of the lawyers. This his lordship scorned, saying: "No such thing. Dae ye mean to tell me the gentlemen of the bar smoke common Limerick tobacco?"

Hooking the "Crook." A new kind of self-defense is quite common in France among ladies. It is simply the practiced use of crook hand umbrella or walking stick. A young lady who was an adept arrested a pickpocket who had seized her bag purse and sent him sprawling at full length on his face on the road, having neatly tripped him up by crooking the right ankle of the human "crook" with her umbrella. Again, when he rose to his feet and sprang at the lady she snatched his neck by the crook of the umbrella and laid him on his face again. Again she dug him by gripping his left ankle and picked up the stolen bag with her umbrella crook. And by this time the police arrived.—Bernard Parsons in Fy's Magazine.

A Blunt Prince. William F. Doty, the American consul at Tabriz, told in a recent letter a story about a Persian prince who was traveling in Persia, and in Tabriz they invited this prince to dinner. He came splendidly attired in gold and white, but he was tattered. He seemed disappointed. When the dinner was served he sneered and said: "I am pleased to see that the Englishmen are now taking a leaf out of the Persian's book."

LATE SERGT. MAJOR MORGANS. AMERICAN CHAMPION. Welsh Veteran Who Died Recently Was One of the Foremost Fencers of the World and in 1888 Carried Off the American Championship in Swords, Foils and Bayonets.

The announcement of the sudden death of Sergeant-Major Morgans at the age of 62, was a great surprise to his numerous friends in Ottawa and throughout Canada. Sergeant-Major Morgans was one of the best known military men in Canada. He was one of the foremost swordsmen of the world and in 1888 won the fencing championship of America with sword, foils and bayonets.

He was born in North Wales in 1822 and in 1872 enlisted in the Scotch Fusiliers, now known as the Scotch Guards. His first station was at Chelsea Barracks, London, Eng. He was rapidly promoted and in 1881 was gazetted sergeant-major. He remained in the Scotch Guards until 1874, and on his return was appointed gymnastic instructor to his battalion.

He then held various positions in the large list of applicants for the position, which he held for 20 years. He has given exhibitions of his skill in fencing with sword, foils and bayonets in all parts of America and for many years was admitted to be the most skillful swordsman on this continent.

He was the holder of scores of championship cups, medals and trophies. The sergeant-major was for a time ordered to His Excellency the Governor-General at Ottawa, where he was attached to the Dominion police department, but a short while ago he accepted a position on the staff of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

AN INDIAN MURDERER. Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

His Fearful Punishment by a Primitive Mexican Tribe. Speaking of primitive law among the Mexicans brings to mind a curious case that was told me some years ago in the state of Oaxaca by an old Zapotecan chief who had become a convert to Christianity.

The chief said that a long while ago an American botanist was traveling through the mountains of Oaxaca studying the rare and beautiful flora of that region. He had with him a mule from another part of the country.

He carried several odd pieces sewed in the lining of his jacket. The mule became aware of this fact, and one day when the botanist got down on his knees to drink at a little spring the mule cut his head off with a machete, took the gold pieces and fled to the higher sierras.

Not long after the body was found by some Zapotecan Indians who had seen the botanist in former days studying the flowers and plants near their village. They knew that he was a harmless and good man because he loved flowers. All Mexican Indians love flowers. So they took the body to the chief and told him what they had seen and found. "What?" he said. "Shall the kind stranger with the white face who loved flowers and sought not our goods nor insulted our women come to such a dog's death among us and not be avenged?"

He then dispatched four swift Indian runners in different directions with orders not to return without the murderer. After a week's time they returned bearing the walefactor bound in their midst. A council of old men was called, and the murderer was executed. The rest of the mule was proved, as he still had with him the strange pieces of gold.

Then the old chief gave the sentence. It was speedily performed. They led the trembling murderer to the center of the little plaza. There four green stakes were driven in the ground. The murderer was stripped naked and stretched by the wrists and feet in the air among the four stakes, to which he was lashed by the arms and legs. A great heap of hunked lime under the wretched man's body, and when the heap touched his breast it sent the scalding steam of the burning lime had cooked all the flesh from the bones. Then they took the bones and threw them into a hole on the mountain side.

And so was the stain of the murdered man's blood covered, and vengeance was wrought by the Indians in behalf of "the white stranger who was good and loved flowers."

Hampton Court Ghosts. Specters That Haunt the Historic Old English Palace. The discovery at Hampton Court palace of some arches bridging a long forgotten moat reminds a correspondent of several other curious discoveries made in this royal palace. One concerns Mistress Sibell Penn, who was Edward VI's nurse and died in the palace in 1562. She was buried in Hampton church, and a monument was erected, which was irreversibly destroyed when the old church was pulled down in 1829. Soon after this strange poles, as of a woman working a spinning wheel, were heard in the southwest wing of the palace.

Search was made; an ancient chamber was discovered, in which was an antique spinning wheel, and the old oak planks were worn away where the treadle struck the floor. After this Mrs. Penn's ghost is said to have disturbed many occupants of the palace; she walked in the night, and in 1866, when her tall, gaunt figure nearly frightened a young soldier to death.

Another discovery arose through the experiences of a lady of little who lived on the west side of the fountain court in 1870. She was conscious of the presence in her rooms of two invisible beings, and, disturbed by mysterious sounds, she complained to the lord chamberlain, but he declined to interfere on the ground that there were no funds at his disposal for any such work and that moreover, his jurisdiction did not extend to the spirit world. However, on Nov. 2, 1871, some workmen excavating in the cloister of the fountain court found two perfect skeletons of full grown men opposite the lady's door. They were given Christian burial in Hampton church, and the strange noises from that time ceased.

Now the only ghost seen in the palace is that of Jane Seymour, queen of Henry VIII, who, according to certain veracious residents, still occasionally walks lighted tapers in hand, through Silver Stick gallery—London Chronicle.

Compressed Haversack Rations. A Tonawanda (N. Y.) firm recently completed a sample order of 8,000 packages of compressed haversack rations for the use of the United States army. The rations are packed in a water tight box 2 1/2 inches long, 2 1/2 inches wide and 1 1/2 inches thick. The articles contained are: Salt, 10 ounces; powder, 02 ounces; sugar, 24 ounces; and coffee, 1 1/2 ounces, sufficient for one soldier for a day. The coffee is compressed under twelve tons pressure and is reduced one-third in bulk. The salt is prepared under five tons pressure, and the pepper is placed in a capsule inserted in a water-tight holder. Each article is wrapped in waterproof paper.—New York Tribune.

He brought in the name of a new subscriber, Isaiah West. Mr. Anthony, the publisher, wrote down the name. Then he turned to the boy: "How do you spell Isaiah, Henry?" he asked. "I-s-a-h-a, said Henry. "You'll do," said Mr. Anthony, with a chuckle. He told the story to a skeptic neighbor. "But how did you know how to spell it, Henry?" asked the neighbor. "I saw him write it down," said Henry.—Argonaut.

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

Functions such that each suffers when the other is deranged. Complicated cases can only be cured by combined treatment such as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver filters poisons from the blood. The kidneys also filter poisons from the blood. When the liver becomes sluggish and clogged in its action, it gives too much work by over-stretching the kidneys have to help out with this work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all this work to do. And this is exactly what causes nine-tenths of the cases of kidney diseases.

The beginning is biliousness, indigestion and constipation and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangements and finally kidney disease in some of its dreadfully painful and fatal forms.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are sold in English to give some examples in composition by writing a few personal such as are contained in the columns of newspapers.

Buying Notes.

The railway problem no doubt is a difficult one to handle and it is hard to please everybody. Majorities should rule whenever at all reasonable. It appears from the reports coming from different parts of the province that the government is using its influence regarding the location of railways not so much in the interests of the people, but for the purpose, as one paper puts it, of buying votes.

Discussing the C.N.R. branch line the Oxbow Herald says:

"Because Carlyle has remained loyal to the Liberal party appears to be the reason that the branch line of the Canadian Northern railway from Maryfield should deviate from the original route surveyed and approved of by the company. A nice state of affairs this for any government, Liberal or Conservative, to countenance, and whereby the province has to guarantee bonds amounting to many thousands of dollars more than if the original route had been adhered to. The time has come for plain speaking, and the actions of John D. Stewart, the Liberal member for Cannington, not only in this matter, but also in others affecting the constituency, has been sufficiently vacillating as to gain him as much unenviable notoriety as old King Herod. How can the Scott government claim that it is standing out for everything that is best in the interests of the majority, when this instance clearly shows they do not consider the wish of the majority? Hitherto a strong supporter of J. D. Stewart and the Liberal government, the Moose Mountain Star speaks in strong terms against the road passing through Carlyle, and claims and proves that the eastern portions of Cannington constituency are in dire need of railway facilities. And in spite of this, J. D. still 'roars' for the peaceful town of Carlyle. If a vote were taken on this question in the constituency, Cannington's representative in the provincial house would find that his opinion is shared only by a few, whose favor he is trying to retain at any price."

The G.T.P. Loan.

Some of the Liberal newspapers are trying to make out that the Conservatives in parliament were opposed to the loan of $10,000,000 to the G.T.P. However, such can easily be proved not to be the case. They were agreed that the road was a necessity and that its immediate completion was in the best interests of the farmers of the west.

What the Conservatives did want, however, was that the loan should be made as a business proposition. They took exception to the security offered. This security is about equal to a fourth mortgage. The Conservatives maintained that it would be good business to get better security. Another feature to which they took exception was the use which the G.T.P. was to make of the money. If the whole $10,000,000 was to be used in construction work and would facilitate the construction of the road there would not have been so much exception taken. But of the $10,000,000 only $3,000,000 was to be expended on new construction. The balance was to be used by the G.T.P. in paying back a loan which had been advanced by the Grand Trunk.

The Conservatives did not oppose the loan but the question of the security to be taken and the use which was to be made of the money were criticized.

Editorial Notes.

With the protest dropped in Milestone Hon. J. A. Calder surely missed an opportunity of being white-washed.

The C.N.R. has now over 3,000 miles of track in operation. For the eleven months ending May 31st, the gross earnings were $8,663,960. Bill and Dan are certainly doing well at the expense of Canada.

If the coal strike is not settled soon we would warn the miners and mine owners that members of the Saskatchewan government may be tempted to write another letter.

No man should be tried by his accuser. That seems to be an axiom of British justice. Yet we have a case in Quebec where the Chief Justice started the machinery in motion which sent Jules Fournier, editor of La Nationaliste to jail for three months for contempt of court. Fournier is his paper had criticized the decisions of the court of which Chief Justice Langelier is the head.

Press Comment.

(Carrot River Journal)

Considerable talk has been indulged in lately regarding the formation of Rural Municipalities in the district. The Act is now in force and since our masters at Regina are resolved to shift the burden of building our roads, bridges and small culverts from Regina to the settler's back directly, we had better take the medicine our votes prepared for us and make the most of it. The men who always knew that a province deprived of its lands, timber and mineral wealth would have to augment its revenue by directly taxing the residents.

When the provincial bargain was made Walter Scott claimed and has since claimed that we received a liberal grant from the Dominion for all necessary purposes. We are only four years out and yet during the last session Mr. Scott in the house at Regina flatly told the members that the public works would have to be content with one-fifth the usual grant because there was not sufficient revenue. First he sent an acre tax, then the formation of rural municipalities and the farmer then may undertake to tax himself to provide roads and bridges not only for his own use but as we are only thinly populated he must of necessity build for the speculator and for those who will come in at some future date. Rural municipalities are all very well in old Ontario where the land is all taken up and cultivated. But a farmer here may be two four or six miles out beyond the better settled districts. This man will have to build roads for those who come in later. We all know that this is a vicious work, and the province should bear the burden. Mr. Scott now tells us that the province is too poor. Why not have discovered this four years ago when he went back upon his own principles and gave up our lands and timber for a small money grant. We claim to have the wealthiest natural resources of any province yet we read of Ontario, after one hundred years, still refusing twenty million dollars for a small tract of her mineral land. Yes, we will have to form our rural municipalities or go without roads, bridges and small culverts. We are told we voted for this settlement of our future and no doubt we did, but the Hon. Walter Scott and those associated with him in accepting and fighting for the autonomy settlement will go down in the history of the province with the name of "Esau" written large upon their record.

In a future issue of the Journal we intend referring to this matter again. The people are being told why there is to be no road work in this district this year. The blame is being put upon the electors' shoulders by interested parties. The electors should not have chosen Mr. Johnston. We desire to tell the people that no money of any consequence is being spent anywhere in the province on roads, etc., because the government simply hasn't got it.

And once our new municipalities are formed the rule will be that the government won't have it. So we may as well get busy and form them and begin at once to look after our own roads. This will have one result at any rate and that will be that the provincial government candidates will in future, not be able to bribe the electors nor threaten them by promises of roads, bridges and culverts.

CANADA'S EXHIBIT

An Impressive Display From Canada at the Seattle Exposition—The Resources and Industries Well Arranged.

Seattle, June 25.—The Lady of the Snows, is shown to be a misnomer when applied to Canada by the bountifulness of her land as illustrated in the Canadian building at the Alaska-Yukon Pacific exposition. "Lady Bountiful" is apparently much more appropriate, judging from what is to be seen in the building.

Although in one of the smaller buildings the commissioners have so arranged the exhibits and the data relating to them that the visitor cannot help but be impressed with the fact that Canada occupies an important place in the world of commerce, and supplies much of the necessities of life.

Three large cases in the centre of the building show what the country produces in mineral wealth; exhibits of nickel, asbestos, tin, corundum and copper and lead are to be seen. Tablets inform the sightseer that 6 per cent. of the world's supply of nickel and 90 per cent. of the supply of asbestos is produced in Canada. There are tablets relating to every exhibit in the building.

At the farther end of the building from the entrance is a large panorama depicting the scenes characteristic of the country, from a farm scene to forestry and mining. In the foreground are numerous wild animals, conveying an idea of the sport that is to be had and also of the value of the fur trade for which the Dominion has been noted since the days of the pioneer trappers.

Along the sides of the building are booths showing Canada's products and activities. In one of these is a mountain and river scene, with living beavers in the foreground. This exhibit lends color to the impression that every living thing in Canada is busy, and recalls the phrase, "busy as a beaver." In the same booth is the display of wood pulp and the processes through which it must go before being turned into newspaper material.

Relating to Canada are the exhibits of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific railways. As their lines tap mostly Canadian territory, naturally they display products and photographs of scenes in that country. The Grand Trunk has a neat little building near the Dominion building, and the Canadian Pacific has half of one side of the agricultural building. The wood work is of native mahogany and bird's eye maple, which makes a very attractive front.

Monday, June 14, opened British Columbia week, with many visitors from the northern city. The entire week will probably be recorded as the banner week in point of attendance since the opening.

Probably the first exclamation of every visitor to the world's fair has been of astonishment at the beauty and grandeur of the natural scenery. "Most beautiful" has this exclamation rightly been called, and with the completeness of its exhibits it will remain in exposition history for years as one of the leaders. Winnipeg will have to work hard to rival the world's fair in Seattle.

Canada is to play an important part at the exposition at the close of the live stock show here in September. Blooded stock from many Canadian ranches will be on exhibition, and associations of Canada have put up prizes of medals, cups and cash.

ANOTHER HOLD-UP

C.P.R. Train Held Up by Bandits Near Kamloops—No Booty Was Secured—Police in Search.

On Tuesday of last week the C.P.R. Westbound train No. 97 was held up in the mountains. The train stopped at Pemberton siding to pick up some repairs and one of the robbers is supposed to have boarded the train at that point with all his tools. Shortly after leaving he crawled down over the tender and accosted the engineer, Crawford, "You run the train until you come to a fire along side of the track," was the robber's command, and it was obeyed. When the train stopped the two other men came to the assistance of the first, all wearing masks and very heavily armed.

The fireman was ordered down out of the cab as was also Engineer Crawford. The fireman started to uncouple the engine but was stopped by one of the robbers. "You don't need to do that, we don't do things like Bill Miner, we can hold up the train as she stands." With that the robbers started to work. Coming to the express car, they found it sealed for the train No. 97 does not carry an express messenger and everything is sent through in sealed packets.

Heading Engineer Crawford a few sticks of dynamite they demanded that he blow up the car. Knowing that the car was empty the engineer protested, whereupon the robbers battered in the door only to find the car empty, as the engineer stated. The mail car next was visited and mail clerk Allan had the honor of escorting the robbers through the car. Nothing valuable was found and the robbers ran back to the engine and told the engineer that everything was all right and to go ahead.

Brakeman Ashton ran ahead to investigate, but he was driven back by the robbers who fired at him three times. There was considerable fighting throughout, but this was more for the purpose of frightening the members of the crew. The robbers left no clue, but it is hardly thought they can escape. Four saddle horses were stolen from the stable of the Pioneer Poultry ranch on Monday night and it is thought they were taken by the robbers to aid their escape.

Three detectives, B. C. police and a posse of R.N.W.M.P. are searching for the culprits.

WHY GOVERNMENT IS WOMEN'S BUSINESS

Rev. Dr. Anna Shaw, who spoke in Massey Hall, Toronto, recently, was announced as the greatest living woman orator. She might not be quite that, and yet be an excellent speaker, as indeed, proved to be the case. She has a very clear and easy voice, not so full and impressive in quality as Mrs. Annie Besant's, but flexible and well modulated. She has a good deal of humor and lacks none of the oratoric arts of antithesis, climax, cumulative effect or adroit surprises. Dr. Shaw remembered having spoken frequently before in Toronto, one winter having done so 20 times. She recalled being entertained by Dr. Stowe, Dr. Stowe-Gullen's mother, and one of the great women of her time.

It was usual to take a text, she said, and she would follow the custom by taking Psalm XXIX. 11. She read, both the old and the correct translations, and said they could take which they preferred. She liked the revised version. The old version reads: "The Lord gave the word, and great was the multitude that published it."

"The Lord giveth the word, and the multitude of women who publish the tidings are a great host." is the revision. Certainly 7,000,000 of women publishing tidings of a great good to the people are a great host, she remarked, having recalled the fact that the Women's Council represented that number.

"To open up an avenue of sympathetic communication for women working on different lines of effort, called together by the greatest womanly movement ever had or will have, Susan B. Anthony (applause) was the origin of the Women's Council."

To the average mind there was no special reason for them being called together, but they were brought by a stronger power than that of governments or armies—the power and force of an idea.

"I am nothing else but my idea," she asserted in a fine passage, marking the freedom and toleration exercised by the women forming the group. With different aims and purposes they were all able to come together, not to impose their thoughts on each other, but to render help to each other where possible.

not do. Men told them what God meant them to do, but the only way to settle that was to leave God and women, as we leave God and men, to work out their own problems between themselves.

The idealistic was the only practical person. No man was broader or larger than the ideals that inspired him. As people approached their ideals those grew and expanded and as they followed them they grew even nobler.

"What I aspired to and was not, comforts me," she quoted from Browning, asserting that ideals were the greatest power in the human race.

"It is better to be able to stand for a principle than not to stand, but it is better to go ahead," was one of her well turned points that drew applause.

A New York paper recently said that the world has got along very well so far without women, and if they went back home the world would continue to get along very well. In a vein of delicate sarcasm she indicated the belief of women that they had had a great deal to do with the getting along of the world, and indeed some of them found the world quite a load on their backs.

"The first social unit was not man. The first social unit was the mother and child," she declared, and from this were built up the more complex units of the family, the community, and so forth.

"Oh, how we love the old home. And we would not build another one like it for anything. It is beautiful to sing about or write poetry about, but not to live in," was the beginning of a humorous passage, in which she mocked the male sex for their jibes at women's discontent.

"Men are never content with the old things, and we are their daughters. But nothing worse can be said of women than that we are discontented. Thank God some of us are discontented!" She followed with a noble appeal for the help of the cause which would provide that little children should at least be as well born as the beasts of the field; that those who lived should live under conditions which should guarantee their integrity of character and purity of personal ideals. How could women be content with all the conditions that existed, dragging their children down?

"The things that concern us are things about which we have a right to be concerned," she said.

"So long as society comes into the home and lays its hand upon the wo-

GENERAL NEWS

Halifax, N.S., June 25.—Ninety employees in the mechanical department of the I.C.R., Richmond, received notice from the head office of the I.C.R. yesterday that their services would be dispensed with after July 7. The object seems to be to transfer the work of the Halifax shop to Moncton.

Montreal, June 25.—China's first general to Canada arrived in Montreal tonight on his way to Ottawa, in the person of Kung Hsin Chao, who with his suite has come to Canada via London to look after the commercial relations between Canada and the celestial empire. This is the first time that China has entered upon consular relations with the Dominion of Canada. Mr. Kung was received at Montreal by a large delegation of the colony here.

The Oxbow Herald says: "A gruesome find was made by Charles Oxbow on Tuesday. He was digging the excavation for the foundation for Dr. Tripp's house, and one of the scrapers struck something hard which proved to be the skull of a human being. Two thigh bones and a few smaller ones were also discovered. The only reason that can be assigned for their being found is that they are the remains of an Indian or an old settler who was probably travelling the plains long years ago. The remains found are in a good state of preservation, which makes it appear strange that other large bones of the body were not there."

PUSHING LINE.

Wainwright, Sask., June 26.—Two track-laying gangs start today to push the line, over the remaining forty-eight miles to Edmonton. Previously one gang had been laying four miles per day. Dan Dempsey, the foreman, says he will be into Edmonton on July 7. There will be a celebration when the G.T.P. locomotive makes the 194 miles from Winnipeg to Edmonton. Lifting and ballasting gangs are close behind the tracklayers so that the track will be ready for regular service early this fall.

Duncan Anderson of the federal department of agriculture, has been out on the line for the past two weeks spying out the land. It is the intention of the Dominion government to establish two experimental farms, one in northern Saskatchewan and one in northern Alberta, similar to the one now at Rothbar, Sask. Mr. Anderson is much pleased with the country and is taking long drives over the land to study it closely.

COLONY OF HOLLANDERS.

Calgary, Alta., June 26.—A company is being organized here to form a colony of Hollanders, and its mode of procedure is unique.

A tract of land will be purchased in the Bow River valley and each Hollander will be settled on a quarter section after having had their fares paid out from Holland. Each family will be supplied with horses, cattle, implements, buildings, and all other requisites of an ideal farm.

For ten years the head of each family will be employed by the company at current wages, while the produce of the farm will be sold for the benefit of the company. Each settler will be required to cultivate 140 acres of his quarter section and the remaining 20 acres he may devote to his own use, and in this way it is anticipated he will be able to save his entire wages. At the expiration of the ten years the settler has the option of purchasing the farm and buildings at their valuation.

The Hollanders are expert lace, linen, cheese and butter makers, and it is expected a number of these industries will start up in connection with the colony.

CANADIAN BOARD NECESSARY.

London, June 26.—Frank W. Morse in outspoken declaration against the Grand Trunk Pacific administrative centralization in London seems to have given the flip to the movement for a Canadian board, which will probably be a feature for discussion at the next trunk meeting. The Times today gives first place in its financial supplement to a three column article on the case of a Trunk Canadian board, and says if the revitalized and vastly extended system is to hold its own at competitive points, it is necessary to meet the larger emergencies, and a Canadian board must be appointed without delay. Railway men and great financiers, without exception, the Times declares, scoff at the idea that so vast a concern can be effectively controlled from London. The Canadian Pacific railway may ultimately be transferred from Montreal to Winnipeg to avoid delay says the Times. Similarly the Grand Trunk executive must be located in the real centre of gravity of the system which is certainly not London. The Canadians, the Times says, will not invest in the stock of a railway administered by an English directorate for their own benefit. The Trunk shareholders should insist on their sovereignty being delegated to a Canadian board with full administrative control.

C.P.R. PARK AT OXBOW.

In contradiction of the general opinion that the C.P.R. management is occupied solely in the sordid task of squeezing the limit of immediate profit out of the people, comes the tale of their activity and generosity in the work of establishing a summer resort on the banks of the Souris at Oxbow. There in the shelter of the surrounding hills, nature runs riot; the beautiful river winds and twists through a dense growth of verdure, and under the shadow of the great oaks and elms, and on either side stretch grassy slopes—a picnic ground par excellence. There the C.P.R. officials have joined with the enthusiastic citizens of the town to lay out a park that will be sought by pleasure parties from all directions. An immense dam is being constructed, which will raise the water level to a depth providing a beautiful boating stretch of fifteen miles or more. Athletic grounds and race track, picnic grounds and camping quarters are being laid out, and all will be in readiness for the public early in July. As all who know Oxbow are aware, the event of events in that town is the 12th of July celebration, and the park would be formally opened mid the swirl of orange banners, the gay music of the fife and drum, and the spell of Irish oratory. A visit to this beauty spot on inauguration day will be well worth while. To those whose political hopes have been long deferred, there will come fresh enthusiasm from the festivities of the day, while those whose cup of happiness is easterly filled, may wander off through the forest depths, where the hum of the throng is lost in the splash of the waterfall and the sweet song of the wild bird mocks the demagogue's rant.—Estevan Mercury.

Bandits Surrounded.

Ashcroft, B.C., June 29.—One, and probably two of the robbers who held up the Canadian Pacific train a week ago at Ducks, near Kamloops, are surrounded, at a point five miles east of Ashcroft. When a boat on which the robbers were coming down the Thompson river last night reached Ashcroft, there were two men aboard. One of these was killed in an encounter with a constable and the other made his escape, after fatally wounding the officer who died a short time after. When the boat was seen earlier in the day, it contained three men. Evidently, one disembarked above Ashcroft. This morning when the chase for the second man from the boat was taken up he was followed for four miles to a point where he was apparently joined by a third man. The two have since been tracked to an old mining tunnel at Red Gulch, and there they will probably make their last stand. Both are probably well armed. They were tracked by bloodhounds in charge of Draper of Spokane.

The dead robber is a stranger, never having been seen in this district before. He wore a hat bought from a Spokane clothing house. In the boat was a valise full of dynamite, indicating that the men intended to hold up and blow up another train. When the men landed at Ashcroft, Constable Decker went out to arrest them. One of the men covered him with a pistol, saying, "We are here and now arrest us." A brief parley followed, and both shot at the same time. The constable was struck with a bullet wound through his neck. The constable was shot above the left thigh. Seeing his companion dead the other bandit picked up a heavy shot gun and blew off the top of the constable's head. Two other men were arrested later. One was suspected, having claimed to know the dead robber. The bandits were fully armed. Clara Bowes told the police that she saw the third robber put ashore about two miles east of Ashcroft, and the police suspect that another hold-up was on foot.

Ground Your Pasture Fences

At this time of the year when electrical storms are apt to come almost any time the thoughtful farmer is forced to study out the problem of stock protection. Stock, especially horses, are too valuable to risk in a pasture fenced with wire which is not grounded. This is done in exactly the same way that telephone lines are supplied with lightning rods. When the fence is being built a wire should be placed on every fifth post at least, but for all the cost it would be better and safer to place one on every post. The electricity passes along the wire on the fence until it comes to the rod and is conducted into the ground. It can easily be seen that the more ground wires you have the less liable your stock is to damage. In case of a storm the stock is usually driven until they come in contact with the fence where they stand with their heads over the wire. In case your fence is not grounded and the lightning strikes the fence it comes to the stock and if they are bunched up so that one touches the other then the whole bunch is killed. If it meets a single beast then your loss is less. Wood being a poor conductor the posts do not carry the electricity to the earth so readily as the wire. Now by grounding your fence there is much less danger to your stock and the more posts there is grounded the less liable they are to damage. But, then, says the farmer, how are we to fix up a fence already erected. The simplest thing in the world. First secure your wire and cut it up into strips the required length and then go to your wagon and take the end rod out of the tail-board and you are ready to run the rod down beside the post as far as to make a small hole. Insert the wire and connect it up to the wires of your fence and you have it. In fact any old pieces of waste wire will fill the bill and the labor is very small compared to the safety you secure. We would advise all farmers to ground their wire fences.

MUST PAY ALIMONY

Mrs. Howard Gould Secures Sweeping Victory—Husband Must Pay Her $36,000 a Year—Was Not Excessive in Her Drinking.

New York, June 26.—Mrs. Howard Gould won a sweeping victory in her separation suit against her millionaire husband today when Justice Victor J. Dowling from the bench granted her a legal separation, and alimony at the rate of $36,000 a year, practically $100 a day.

In giving his decision, Justice Dowling gave Mrs. Gould a clean bill so far as intoxication is concerned. He said that no proof of excessive drinking had been introduced by Howard Gould's attorneys. The court intimated that Mrs. Gould had been under all circumstances indiscreet with her meetings with Dustin Farnum, the actor, even though there were business relations between them. That Farnum had left Mrs. Gould's room in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, in Philadelphia early one morning, the justice would not find.

The decision of the court was that Howard Gould's abandonment so far as was concerned the proof offered was not only without justification in any degree, but without provocation. The only question which puzzled the justice was the amount of alimony. He declared that the case was without precedent so far as he knew, the husband's admitted income being in excess of $750,000 a year. The fact that Mrs. Gould had acquired $57,000 worth of jewelry at her husband's expense since the actual separation was taken into consideration by Justice Dowling.

WOMEN AS JURORS.

Down in Pennsylvania the women are agitating for the right to serve on juries; and though the men as a rule do not want them to win this privilege, it is a noteworthy fact that few men ever want to do jury work themselves. It is not because the women threaten to do them out of a desirable job that the men are denouncing the proposal, but because they believe the women to be constitutionally and temperamentally unqualified to discharge this service. As usual there are some apostates to the sex who side with the men; and there are a few men who side with the majority of the women, thus tempering the tone of what would otherwise be a "sex war," to use the felicitous phrase of a Toronto suffragette.

Jamieson Echoes.

The beautiful rains of Sunday night has brightened things up nicely, especially the farmers' faces.

The Jamieson baseball team will shortly journey to Balgonie to give battle to the ball tossers of that berg.

We were all glad to see the Rev. Mr. Pohlman back occupying his old pulp last Sunday. There was a large audience gathered at 3 p.m. for the service.

Within thirty days the electors of the municipality-to-be, comprising townships in ranges 17 and 18 and extending from the village of Kronau on the south to the Qu'Appelle valley on the north, will vote on the advisability of immediately forming a municipality. OFF FOR THE POLE.

Walter Wellman and the members of his Arctic expedition are now on their way from Paris, France to Tromsø, Norway, from which point will be made for the North Pole within the next few weeks. The mammoth balloon, in which the Arctic voyage is to be made, is already at Tromsø. Several weeks will be required in putting together the frame and adjusting the mechanical parts.

French scientists are greatly interested in the Wellman undertaking. Practically all the parts of the mammoth balloon in which the voyage is to be undertaken, were made in the French capital. All the preliminaries have been followed with keen interest here especially by the Society of Aerial Navigation.

Expert opinion differs as to the feasibility of reaching the North Pole by balloon. Glancing at the precedents for some standard by which to measure the Wellman project, one turns naturally to Andre's ill-fated balloon trip. After some two years of elaborate preparation the start was made on July 11, 1897 from Dane's Island, Spitzbergen, with three men on board and provisions for several months. A strong steady wind from the south was blowing—what the party had been waiting impatiently for since the summer of the previous year. The balloon sailed away to the northward and finally out of sight. Four days later a carrier pigeon alighted on the rigging of a sailing vessel near Spitzbergen, bearing the only word that has ever been received from the daring adventurers.

After the Asylum.

The Battlefords joint committee, consisting of E. W. Drew, R. R. Earle, J. Nicoll and W. W. Smith of Battleford, and Messrs. Fox, Grises, Klahn and Norton, of North Battleford, met in the latter town on Saturday afternoon to discuss matters pertaining to the securing of a provincial asylum for this district. E. W. Drew was elected chairman, J. W. Norton, vice chairman, and E. A. Fox, secretary of the committee. Mr. Fox who acted on a similar committee, which was successful in securing the Alberta asylum for Ponoka, outlined the requirements of such an institution, which are, briefly, commanding position, beauty and healthfulness of environment, plenty of trees and water. As considerable farming operations are conducted in connection with an insane asylum, 1,000 acres of land are usually required.

As the committee were confident that nowhere else in the province could all the requirements be met as in this district, it was decided that Hon. Walter Scott be invited to visit the district with a view to studying its peculiar fitness for the purpose in question. Messrs. Earle and Fox were accordingly chosen to visit Regina this week for the purpose of presenting the request to the premier.—Battleford Press.

between neatness and dispatch in a fire drill and nerve and discipline in a fire. The women's jury is without the sense of responsibility that weigh upon the men. When the verdicts of the two juries coincide it is manifest that the women are right, and that justice can be done without the assistance of the ladies. When they disagree, it would surely be unwise to assume that the irresponsible jury has come nearer the mark than the responsible body, on whose findings a life may depend.

One of the court stenographers of Pittsburg is a woman, and she says that women differ from men in neatness and temperance, and are more likely to be prejudiced on the one hand, or swayed by intuition or emotion on the other. "Judging by my many years of court experience," she said, "I do not think women would make as desirable jurors as men." However, as there are women lawyers and women criminals, the case for women jurors and judges may be considered a reasonable one. But as all women are not qualified to be lawyers or criminals, neither are all of them qualified to be jurors and judges. Neither are all men, it is true. The question is one of selection. How are the proper women to be drawn on the juries? If the ladies would only show us how to get the right men on the juries now, they would be doing a great public service. As it is we have to sort over a bunch of chaff to find a dozen grains of wheat. Would it simplify our problem to have another ton of rubbish and a handful of grain dumped down on the jury list? Perhaps the International council of women will supply the answer.—Mail and Empire.

Now hushed is all the forestland, Serene with holy rest the glades Where kingdoms of wan flowers expand, And little brooks seek dewy shades, Where the rich verdure hides its wealth Against the creeping shadows' stealth And in the heavens, splendor-dressed, In crimson tints, with gold ornate, Gorgeous in pompous purple state, A cloud comes wandering from the west, Ladened with mystic plunder-freight, Stolen from magicians of the skies, And spends its treasures lavishly In wantonness of revelry, And flaunts its glaring purple guise And o'er the wondering heaven strews And bids the sombre earth behold, Its magic smokes of violent hues, That flare, and burst to lurid gold.

Floated me from the radiant skies Soft violet airs that round me stray, Chased with lost forms and vanished eyes, Rich with loved faces gone away, Oh, sorrow is abroad, and oh, Hath found some potent witchery That, hid in evening's pomp and grace, Revives again with subtle art The withered memories of the heart, And holds me here, in wilderness place, Dallying with hands long drawn apart. But fleet, ye faces, from my gaze! Oh, fleet, ye phantoms, to your skies, I would forget dead love and eyes; I would forget bright perished days, Fleet with your gold and violet blooms, And all remembrance of delight! 'Oh, I would weep in soothing glooms, And languish here, alone with night.'

At the synod of the diocese of Saskatchewan, held in Prince Albert recently, Ven. Archdeacon McKay, in charge of the Indian work in the diocese, said he wished to correct the impression that Indians were dying out. In reality he said, the Indians were increasing. He quoted government statistics for the past ten years showing an increase of ten thousand. The only decrease in evidence was among the prairie bands that had to change from good open air in good leather tents and from fresh buffalo meat to cheap cotton tents on a reserve where insufficient rations were doled out to them.

In due time the Indians would disappear, but they would disappear as did the Saxons, Danes and Normans in England. One-third of the Indians in the west belonged to the Anglican church, due to the church opening the first mission at the Pas in 1840.

The W. A. of the Church of England at Pilot Butte will hold a picnic and bazaar at Pilot Butte on July 12th. There will be all kinds of sports.

That the famous Regina plains do not always attract is evident by the sale which was completed on Monday last when, Mr. Thos. C. Allan disposed of the west half of 17-18-14, about one and one-half miles southwest of Qu'Appelle to Mr. Morris of Regina. Although this farm is what might be termed a "bluff" farm, yet as the result of work put on it by Mr. Allan in the past two or three years there is considerably over 120 acres of open land on the property, and a considerable amount more will be cleared during the coming season. We understand that Mr. Morris, although not intending to take up residence this season on the land, meditates carrying on both wheat raising and stock farming. It is also his intention to endeavor in a measure to supply the Regina market with eggs, butter and farm produce. The sale included a number of horses and also machinery and involves a sum between $7,000 and $8,000. We are glad indeed to welcome Mr. Morris to the Qu'Appelle district and we trust that every prosperity may be the result of his enterprise. The deal was negotiated through the firm of Nay & James, Regina.—Qu'Appelle Progress.
