2350

VOLUME XLV.

CATHOLIC TRUTH SOCIETY

THIRD ANNUAL CONVENTION A GREAT SUCCESS

Official Report of the Third Annual Convention of the Catho-lic Truth Society of Canada held in Ottawa, September 25-28, 1923. under the Patronage and Presence of His Grace the Archbishop of Ottawa

THE PROPAGATION OF THE FAITH

MR. JAMES MCGLADE, B. A., LL. B.

Three Centuries of Missions-just a word before I proceed. The task I assume tonight is not an easy one. To deal with my subject in a com-prehensive way would require more study than I have been able to give it, and more time than you and I can devote to it tonight. Permit me to say, then, that my address must necessarily be but an outline skimming along the edges of the work of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda and the Foreign Missions during the past three centur-

Before I speak of the last three centuries of missionary endeavor in the Catholic Church, may I be permitted to refer briefly to the missionary effort of the Catholic Church during the first three centuries of her existence. I deem it well to recall to your minds that the I deem it most glorious part of the history of the Catholic Church is that of her beginning. Christ, Himself, the God-man, had suffered the ignominious death of the Cross for man's redemption, and following that awful event, we find that all of the apostles except St. John died martyrs' deaths that the Church and the faith—the Catholic Faith that is yours and mine—should live. Twenty-nine of the first thirty Popes of the Church shed their life's blood that the faith might live, and as nearly as it can be estimated, one in every three of the first Christians of the first three centuries gave up their lives in holy martyrdom, rather than give up the faith that is yours and mine as a free gift from on High without, in the first instance, any merit on our

With that thought in mind, how ought we to cling to the gift of faith that is ours—how ought we to tremble when we consider how little we have ever done, are doing, or can do to measure up to the standard of Faith that was required of the early Christian.

It is not my purpose to make further reference to the history of the Catholic Church from the third to the sixteenth century except to say that her history is an open book. Part human in her organization she has had her faults—unholy men high in her offices have brought shame to her brow as Judas be-trayed his Master, but through it all she has gone on faithful to the Divine Mission entrusted to her, and to quote the words of the Great

She has marched at the head of hundred years, and has had har-nessed to her chariot as horses to a their efforts to win the first inhabitriumphal car, all the intelligent and material forces of the world. Her art, the art of the world, her genius, the genius of the world; her greatness, grandeur, glory, majesty, almost if not absolutely, all the world in these respects has had to boast of. And this wondrous Church is today after eighteen hundred years of existence, as young and as fruitful, and as active and as vigorous as she was on the day when the Pentecostal fires were first on the earth.'

The end of the sixteenth century found the Church just recovering from the effect of the Reformation. Countries to which she had sent the light of faith had been torn from her communion, and in these countries the faith had been prescribed and her priests and religious so to speak, hunted as wild animals. When I speak of this terrible period in the history of the Catholic Church, it is not in anger or in bitterness, nor in a spirit of animosity—I simply refer to an histornucleus of what in the year 1622 was called into form by Pope Gregory the XV., and has since been known as the Sacred Congregation deserved for the Propagation of the Faith.

Propagation of the Faith has been that are to be found within the charged with the care of the Church Catholic Church. In addition to in non-Catholic countries, and the orders of the religious, assistin non-Catholic countries, and the direction of missions to the people of the world to whom the message of the crucified Christ is yet to be

The Sacred Congregation simultaneously, therefore, immediately arranged for the sending of missionary priests both to countries that had been lost to the church through the Reformation and to the of Japan, China, Africa, the Southern seas, and likewise to the then new country of America. Prior to the completion of the organization of the Sacred Congregation in its present form, the Cardinals who were chosen by Gregory XIII. had succeeded in re-uniting to the communion of the Church some of the churches of the Eastern Rites, notably the Ruthen-

In order that the missionaries whom the congregation sent out might be fully equipped for the work they were to perform, Pope Urban VIII. established the College which bears his name, where the students for the priesthood who were to undertake the work of missions not only in non-Catholic countries but in countries to be entirely evangelized were taught the language of whatever people among whom they were to labor.

To the sacred, Congregation of Propaganda therefore, is the Cath-olic Church and the Christian world indebted for the missionary effort of indebted for the missionary effort of the past three centuries. In the countries of the East, China, Japan, India, Africa, and the southern seas, missions, under the care of religious orders, notably the Fran-ciscans, Dominicans, Carthusians, and Jesuits and many others, have been carried on continuously during the past three centuries and will continue so long as there is need, and that, it would seem, will be for centuries yet to come. With all the centuries yet to come. With all the courage, all the zeal, all the fervor and all the piety that characterized the first apostles, these holy men have gone forward-amid persecutions and disappointments—facing privations of every kind and death in its most dreadful forms—these men and women, too, of God. sacrificing all that this world holds dear and consecrating themselves to the and consecrating themselves to the service of the Master, have gone forth bearing the message of the Child of Bethlehem and the Cruci-fied Christ in their effort to win souls to God.

Three centuries ago this beautiful city in which we are gathered tonight was but a part of the great Canadian Forest, and even under the direction of the Congregation of Propaganda, holy missiongation of Propaganda, noty mission-aries were carrying the glad tidings of the Gospel to the wild and bar-barous tribes of Indians that then inhabited this country. It has been said, and truly said, that the soil of Canada, as the soil of the American continent, has been consecrated to God by the blood of the early missionary martyrs. We had the Recollets, the Jesuits, the Sulpi-cians, and later, that noble band of Oblates of Mary Immaculate, whose tants of the American continent to the Christian faith. does not point with pride to the records of the Catholic priests in their efforts to save the souls of the Indian natives? How well they succeeded, I need not relate. The privations they suffered, the tortures they endured, the martyrdoms they won, bear tribute not only to the divinity of the Catholic Church but likewise, to the fidelity of the Catholic Church to the mission that Christ gave her to "go into the whole world and preach the Gospel to every creation of the Sacred Congregation without referring for a moment to the fact that for three centuries, or down to 1908, it was charged by Holy See with the carrying on of the tries, of which during that period, Canada was one. There is not a diocese in Canada today that even yet is not indebted to the Sacred leaf fact.

olic Church is a religion of Christian love and charity, wherein her children are taught to love God above all things, and to love their neighbor as themselves for the love of the so in the Archdiocese of Kingston where, had it not been for the good and holy priests of Irish bith We meet the new conditions in good and holy priests of Irish birth which the Church found herself who have been sent to us during the following the Reformation. Pope past century, God alone knows what Gregory the XIII. formed the had become of the faith of the Catholic people. To those holy men, some of whom are present here tonight, I want to pay a well deserved tribute of a grateful whole world and preach the Gospel to every creature "—and again "Going therefore, teach all nations"—and still again, He said, "The harvest indeed is great, but the laborers are few, pray to the said, "The laborers are few, pray to the said the success of missions."

Bishops of the world to see that in every parish of every diocese there every parish of every parish of every diocese there is established a society that will have for its aim and object, the same aim and object which has been so successfully fostered by the harvest indeed is great, but the laborers are few, pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that He send laborers into His harvest." Following these Divine Commands. Following these Divine Commands. the Sacred Congregation for the religious orders of men and women

ance has come from other kinds of societies that have been founded from time to time among the laity of the Church in all parts of the world. Of this last type of society, the one which admittedly has met with the most success has been the society for the Propagation of the Faith, with headquarters at Lyons and Paris. This society sprung into existence in the year 1822, and owes its origin, according to its annals, to a request made by Bishop Dubourg of New Orleans, who passed through Lyons on his return from Rome in the year 1815. This good prelate was filled with such a degree of anxiety for the welfare of his diocese, in which everything was then to be organized, that he appealed to a pious woman, who had formerly been in New Orleans and was then resident in Lyons, that the should take you collections she should take up collections among her friends and forward them to him for his diocese. the same time a young Sulpician, a student at the Seminary in St. Sulpice, wrote to his sister, a Miss Garicot, who was also living in the City of Lyons, giving a sad account to her of the extreme poverty of the House of Foreign Missions. It is obvious, therefore, that at that time, in one city, two pious women were working for the same course which was operating in entirely different parts of the world. In the year 1822, these pious women received a visit from the Vicar General of the diocese of New Orleans, and history relates that as a result of his visit the society was formed which is now known as The

The aim and object of the society s simply to solicit from the faithful, prayers and alms for the support of missionaries who are chosen, trained and sent forth on their mission by the usual authorities of the Church.

Society for the Propagation of the

During its one hundred years of existence, it is said, in addition to the prayers of its members, the Society for the Propagation of the Faith has collected and distributed to dioceses that may be termed "missionary diocese" and to the various missions a sum aggregating one hundred millions of dollars, and the whole expense of the society during that hundred years has been less than five million of dollars. The Society for the Propagation of the Faith while collecting funds for this work from all parts of the world had all parts of the world had in the countries or missions to which or among which its moneys are divided. The division has been made in an absolutely equitable manner, and according only to the respective needs of the various missions to which money is forwarded. As the society is world-wide, so also has it society is world-wide, so also has it is which the episcopal dignity imposed on a bishop. all parts of the world has made no which money is forwarded. As the society is world-wide, so also has it interested itself, likewise, in all the imposed on a bishop.

None in the vast gathering fol-missionaries whom it has assisted, of the new bish not only from vicars apostolic, bishops and archbishops, but like wise on various occasions Supreme Pontiffs themselves have seen fit to commend the wonderful work that has been done by this society in the aid it has been able to render to foreign missionaries. So great, indeed, has been its success, that His Holiness, Pius XI. on the three hundredth anniversary of the society issued his wonderful Mctu Proprio, in which he spoke so eloquently of past achievements and forecast its glorious future. His Holiness transferred the headquarters of the society from Lyons to Rome, and placed it under the immediate and direct control of the Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda and provided for the selection of its council by himself. Henceforth, in accordance with the decree of His Holiness, this society will work in conjunction with the Sacred Congregation, its special work in the future being, as it has been in the past, to solicit the prayers and alms of the faithful on behalf of the foreign missions. In the very letter of His Holiness Pius XI. to which I have just referred, may be recalled that "ever mindful of the duty of the Church to fulfil the command of Our Saviour, the Holy See has thus united the Sacred Congrega-tion with the Society for the Propagation of the Faith in order that the work of the foreign missions henceforth be carried on, if possible, with greater zeal, greater fervour, greater piety and greater efficiency than has heretofore been

The Holy Father has required the

CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR

BISHOP RHEAUME CONSECRATED

LONDON, CANADA, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1923

GREAT GATHERING WITNESS IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Ottawa Evening Journal, Oct. 18 The consecration of His Lordship The consecration of His Lordship Bishop Louis Rheaume, O. M. I., Th. D., of Haileybury, by His Grace Archbishop Joseph Medard Emard, of the Metropolitan Province of Ottawa, at the Basilica this forenoon, was one of the most beautiful ceremonies ever witnessed within the precincts of the historic edifice. elevation of His Lordship to the dignity of the episcopacy was sur-rounded by all the liturgical pomp, colorful ceremonial and impressive splendor with which the Roman Catholic Church invests its great

A RARE SPECTACLE Seated in front of the main altar, aglow with quivering candles, Archibishop Emard, the consecrator, who was attended by Their Lordships Bishops D. J. Scollard, of Sault Ste. Marie, and J. E. Limoges, of Mont-Laurier, and numerous dignitaries of the Church and the candidate for the consistency ware the expession. the episcopacy, were the cynosure for all eyes. The ceremony, which began at nine o'clock when the began at nine o'clock when the head of the processional entered the sanctuary from the Arch-bishop's Palace, was not concluded until 11.30. The symbolism of the whole ritual, which has remained unchanged down the ages, the con-secrating Archbishop and assistants robed in resplendent vestments of red and gold, the members of the hierarchy and diocesan chapters in their purple robes, and the sur-pliced priests, all lent a colorful note to the function. A bright October sun glinting through the narrow, stained windows of the Basilica shed a mellow light on the sanctuary. The whole scene was as pictureful as a rare tapestry of the middle ages suddenly become animated.

BASILICA CROWDED The Basilica was filled to capacity. The gathering was a notable one and included leading representatives of the hierarchy, prominent church men of lesser rank, hundreds of members of the secular and regular clergy of many dioceses, and many leading Catholic laymen. The interior of the Basilica was effectively decorated. The papal colors set in miniature shields and canners hung all around the Church.

The sermons were delivered in

During the hundred years of its existence, it has received commendation after commendation, not only from the poor members of the family and relatives

AGED FATHER PRESENT

They included Bishop Rheaume's aged, white-haired father, Mr. Jeremie Rheaume, of Montreal, and his three brothers and sisters. It was undoubtedly the proudest moment in the life of Mr. Rheaume, as he saw his son raised to a position of eminence and dignity in the Church. Mr. Rheaume, who is eighty-one years of age, occupied a seat of honor in the front of the church near the Communion rail.

ceremony of consecration divided into four parts, the prelude, onsecration, investiture and conclusion, was performed at two altars, the main altar where the consecrator conducted most of the ritual and officiated at Pontifical High Mass, and a side altar within the sanctuary where the new bishop robed himself for the ceremony and read the whole office of the Mass up to the Offertory.

The candidate for the episcopacy was led to the main altar by the assistants to the consecrator. After answering affirmatively consecrator's question as to whether he held an apostolic mandate, the bishop left his seat, approached the altar and recited the oath of fidelity to the Holy See. This part of the ceremony was followed by the can-didate's examination on the doctrine of the Church, particularly the mystery of the Incarnation, in all of which he professed an unwavering belief.

There followed the placing of the Saints.

SOLEMN MOMENT The most solemn moment of the ceremony was the consecration when the consecrator gave the candidate solemn warning of the awful responsibilities of a bishop. Arch-bishop Emard then vested plenary episcopal powers in Bishop Rheaume by the imposition of the hands, callng down upon him the plenitude of the Holy Ghost, The new bishop afterwards lay face downwards at the foot of the altar, while the choir sang the Litanies of the even his life if necessary.

Gospel over the shoulders of the new bishop. The consecrator afterwards anointed the candidate with task faced Bishop Rheaume. He would have to build up new edifices deposited in the form of a cross on the candidate's tonsured head. After the singing of a psalm, the palms of the bishop's hands were The consecration was followed by the investiture. The bishop's epis-copal ring being blessed, was placed on the fourth finger of the right hand. The crozier was then blessed and placed in the bishop's hand.

Deeply inspiring was the kiss of Deeply inspiring was the kiss of peace which the consecrating Archbishop, followed by the assisting Bishops, administered to the new bishop. After the recitation of furher liturgical prayers, the new bishop, wearing the mitre, approached the consecrating Archbishop and made an offering of the two lighted tapers, two small loaves of bread and two miniature barrels of wine, the whole significant of the support of the clergy. The Mass is then proceeded with, and the consecrator after receiving Communion also administers Communion to the candidate.

The ceremony was concluded with the blessing of the Bishop's episcopal gloves, the chanting of the Te Deum, and the occupation of the consecrator's chair by the newly consecrated Bishop, vested in full robes of office and the symbols of his rank.

OFFICIATING HIERARCHY AND CLERGY Consecrator, Right Rev. J. M. Emard, Archbishop of Ottawa; Co-consecrators, Right Rev. D. J. Emard, Archbishop of Ottawa; Coconsecrators, Right Rev. D. J.
Scollard, Bishop of Sault Ste.
Marie; Right Rev. J. Eugene
Limoges, Bishop of Mont Laurier;
Assistant Priest, Mgr. L. N. Campeau, P. A. V. G.; Assistant
Deacons, Rev. Canon R. T. Lapointe,
Rev. F. X. Marcotte, O. M. I.,
Rector of the University; Deacon of the Mass, Rev. Leon Rinet. of the Mass, Rev. Leon Binet, O. M. I.; Sub-deacon of the Mass, O. M. I.; Sub-deacon of the Mass, Rev. Jos. Herbert; Not2ry, Mgr. J. Lebeau, C. S.; Assistants of the Bishop-elect, Rev. Rodrigue Villeneuve, O. M. I.; Rev. Philemon Bourassa, O. M. I.; Assistants of the Assistants, Rev. J. Gauvin and P. A. Mouttet; First Master of Ceremonies, Rev. Rene Martin; Second Master of Corresponders Second Master of Ceremonies, Rev Clement Gagnon; Clerk of the Cross, Rev. Joseph Pelchat; Master of Ceremonies, Rev. L. L. Binet; Thurifer, Rev. Emile Latendresse; Clerk of the Cross, Rev. Hector Legros; Clerk of the Mitre, Rev. Josephat Gauvreau; Clerk of the Book, Rev. Leodas Leroux; Clerk of the Bugia, Rev. Emile Vezina; Clerk of the Crosier, Rev. Albert Grenier; Clerk of the Mitre of the Bishop-elect, Rev. Achille Gratton; Clerk of the Crozier of the Bishop-elect, Rev. Leonidas Clement; Acolytes, Rev. Real de Varennes and Emile Methot; Clerks to carry the Pontifical Vestments, Eloi Laframhoise. Arthur, Godbout Laframboise, Arthur Godbout, Edgar Breton, Charles Levesque, Albert Scantland, Charles Glaude.

The splendor of the ceremony of the consecration of a priest as head of a diocese ranks with the grandest that man could be called upon to witness, stated Rev. Canon Walter E. Cavanagh, parish priest of Almonte, who preached the sermon in English. The beautiful ceremonies which one reads about in the works on events in ancient times were but shadows compared with the scenes witnessed in the Basilica this morning. A bishop's calling was a most sacred one and the favor bestowed upon him was greater than that accorded to Moses or to Simon. The Holy Church on this occasion saw fit to accord higher rank to one of her priests with all her usual splendor and ceremony. A priest of God must stand for the Divine Truth and he must preach and teach by word and example, this high standard of Christian life. A beautiful example of a great soul and a great pastor was seen in the predecessor of Bishop Rheaume, the late Bishop Latulipe. In the face of great difficulties, many of which were being overcome, the sad but beautiful career of the Bishop of Haileybury

Canon Cavanagh expressed the ope that the new Bishop of Haileybury would possess the same Christian spirit to meet whatever trial God wished to send to him. works be in benediction," concluded the speaker.

THE FRENCH SERMON

His Lordship Bishop R. M. ouleau, of Valleyfield, who Rouleau, of Valleyfield, who delivered the French sermon, spoke of the greatness of a bishop's mission. The bishop owed himself to all the souls in his flock. It was his duty to minister alike to the just and the criminal, and to disarm the hostility of his enemies. His duty it was to distribute at all times the bread of Christian charity. While martyrdom for the faith was rarely called for now, a bishop must be prepared to sacrifice

Bishop Rheaume was going to a field of labor where zealous priests and missionaries who placed the greatest hope n him awaited his would have to build up new edifices over the ruins of last year's disaster in the north country. He had proved himself a man of great ability and the task would not daunt him. In the great north country, His Lordship would con-tinue in the newly settled districts the apostolic labors undertaken by his predecessors in the shadow of centuries old forests.

GOV. WALTON IS WILLING TO RESIGN IF KLAN IS CURBED IN STATE

Oklahoma City, Oct. 10.-After nine months as chief executive of the State, Governor J. C. Walton Walton stands ready to abdicate in order to bring to a close his war on the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma, if the Legislature, at its forthcoming special session, will enact an anti-Klan law which he will submit to the law-makers.

Governor Walton has issued the following statement, addressed to the people of Oklahoma: "When this bill becomes law it will rid the State of the Klan and I will resign the office of Governor immediately thereupon. In this way the people will be protected from the Klan and peace and harmony can be restored to the State.

Briefly the Governor's bill prohibits the use of the mask by secret organizations in Oklahoma and provides that all such orders shall file complete membership lists with the regularly appointed civil author-

If his proposition is not accepted, Governor Walton declares he will decide further how "we must pro-ceed to protect ourselves from this organization of masked marauders, who have practical control of the judicial and police powers in the principal cities of the State.

BISHOP WHO REACHED JAPAN ON EVE OF QUAKE WRITES OF DISASTER

Faith has received a letter from Bishop Berlioz of Hakodate, who had just returned to Japan after spending a year in the United States soliciting the charity of the faith- take up this magnificent work.

Arriving in Yokohama on August Arriving in Yokonama on August the Holy Virgin in Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have consecration of Mgr. Lopez de Rego.
S. J., recently appointed Vicar-Apostolic of the Caroline, Marianne and Marshall Islands. The ceremony, probably the last one to take that the government of Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have stolen some of the most precious diamonds and jewels, including the sanctuary lamps, according to advices received here, which declare that the government of Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have stolen some of the most precious advices received here, which declare that the government of Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have stolen some of the most precious advices received here, which declare that the government of Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have stolen some of the most precious advices received here, which declare that the government of Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have stolen some of the most precious and jewels, including the sanctuary lamps, according to advice received here, which declare that the government of Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have stolen some of the most precious and jewels, including the sanctuary lamps, according to advice received here, which declare that the government of Palestine has been invaded by robbers who have stolen some of the most precious and precious and precious and precious advices received here, which declare the precious advices received here, which declare the precious advices received here. before its semi-destruction, was performed on August 26 by the his priests, Father de Noailles. To

'Father de Noailles was living in Yokohama for a number of years acting there as procurator of our mission. He occupied a three story brick building in the lower part of the city which has been entirely wiped out. In that building were the books of the Diocese of Hako-date and also its supplies which Father de Noailles used to forward regularly every month to each one has been destroyed and Father de May God and the charitable American Catholics have mercy on us.

POLAND'S FAITH IN GOD REWARDED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 15 .-Poland, throughout her years of persecution, never lost faith in God, according to General Joseph Haller, commander of the Polish forces against the Bolsheviki, in answering a toast at a reception given in his honor at the Polish legation here. General Haller stopped several days in Washington en route to San Francisco, where he will attend the American Legion convention this week.

"With God for the country" is the watchword of the Polish people, said General Haller. He predicted a brilliant future for the country which he said seemed now assured of peace and happiness and rewarded for its unfaltering faith.

Besides the Minister, Dr. Wroblewski, and his wife, the entite Polish staff was present at the reception, including Prince Albert this important post. The Conference is composed of representative ence is composed of representative welfare Radziwill, a scion of one of the most aristocratic families of Europe and a prominent representative of the Catholic ideas in this country. The Polish colony in Washington, numbering about sixty, was headed by Dr. Stanislaus de Torosiewicz, professor of St. Paul's College at the Catholic University and Dr. Leo Behrendt, also a member of the faculty at the Catholic University.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sept. alcoholic society known as "The Golden Cross," which is a union of all Catholic abstainers, has held-its mational convention in Strasbourg.
Mgr. Ruch, Bishop of Strasbourg, celebrated Mass at the opening of the Congress. Cardinal Mercier sent a message of encouragement from Belgium.

Cologne, Oct. 3 .- Munich newspapers report that Lieut. General Baron Alois von Reichlin von Mel-dagg, who commanded the 13th Bavarian Landwehr Infantry in the World War has joined the Francis-can Order with a view to becoming a priest. He follows the example of the Prince of Lowenstein a decade ago. General von Reichlin decade ago. General vis sixty-eight years old.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.-Twenty San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Twenty Chinese young men, representing the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Paulist Church, were seated at the quarterly archediocesan conference of the Holy Name Union which met here in Knights of Columbus Hall. St. Mary's is situated in the heart of San Francisco's Chinatown district, the largest Chinese quarter in the United States.

Paris, Oct. 6.—The See of Gap, which was established in 1828 after having been abolished ever since the French Revolution, has just cele-brated the centennial of this reestablishment with splendid cere-monies. A statue of Saint Arnoux, patron of the diocese was erected. The crypt containing the tombs of the bishops has been restored and decorated. Mgr. Caillor, bishop of Grenoble and Mgr. Champavier, Bishop of Marseilles pontificated. The present bishop of Gap is Mgr. de Llobet.

New York, Oct. 13.-Fordham University in its extension courses has entered a new field-that of a course of instruction for Scoutmasters. A number of priests and laymen, for years interested in the boy-problem, feel that the solution can be found in the formation of New York, Oct. 8.—Monsignor reri, national director of the lociety for the Propagation of the laith has received a letter from Bishop Berlioz of Hakodate, who Catholic Troops of Scouts, are Catholic men, who would be willing to London, Oct. 11.—The Church of the Holy Virgin in Palestine has place in the Cathedral of Tokyo has been aroused to drastic action before its semi-destruction, was against sacrilegious thieves. The looted edifice is situated on a site said to be that of the tomb of the Papal Delegate to Japan, Mgr. Giardini, assisted by Archbishop Rev. P. F. M., of Tokyo and Archbishop Doering, S. J., of Hiroshima.

Bishop Berlioz then left for Hakodate his episcopal see, where he arrived on August 31, the next day he heard of the destruction of Yokohama and the death of one of his priests. Father de Nosilles.

Cincinnati, Oct. 18.—More than

Cincinnati, Oct. 18.-More than 300 teaching nuns representing many different orders together with a number of secular teachers have registered in the educational and professional courses at St. Xaxier college. This is an increase of more than a hundred over last year's class. The staff includes several of the Jesuit professors of St. Xavier college together with a number of Sisters, the latter conducting the courses. The plan which is offered to local and out of town students is to afford teachers in elementary schools opportunity to secure college degrees and normal and teaching certificates. The extension course has State approval.

New York, Oct. 16.-Twelve of the famous actors of the Passion Play of Oberammergau, headed by Lang, are to arrive in the United States this month, according to Ludwig Nissen, well known German-American merchant who has arrived from abroad, and whose trip to Europe was chiefly in connection with the visit of the Obermmergau actors. ions will tour the United States and sell their famous wood carvings for the benefit of the starving people of Germany. German societies in the Bronx are looking forward with great interest to the arrival of the group.

New York, Oct 16.—The Rev. Robert F. Keegan, Secretary for Charities to the Archbishop of New York, has been elected President of the New York City Conference of Charities and Correction for the coming year. The election of Father court-room, noting Nora's absence with as heavy a heart as that which was borne by 'those who so fondly loved her, and reading in the faces of the clergyman and his fair companion a touching grief and anxiety, he shrunk from meeting them, for he felt, to express his own words: "that he should only make a fool o' himsel' with his blubbering." And now that he was unable to help his-beloved young master, to speak a word of hope to the tender speak a word of hope to the tender hearts he would have comforted, he felt alone like hiding himself, and telling his grief to dumb affection-ate Shaun. Father Meagher fain would have found Tighe a Vohr, feeling that the latter's shrewdness and wit would be effectual in dis-covering Nors: but Tighe had too covering Nora; but Tighe had too securely hidden himself, and the anxious clergyman, and his equally anxious companion, turned their faces dejectedly homeward.

Toward the evening of that day Tighe suddenly encountered Captain Dennier, in the dress of a civilian, and just issuing from the coffee-room of the "Blennerhasset

"Why, Tighe, my faithful fellow, how are you?" and the shapely hand of the aristocratic gentleman seized Tighe's brown, hard palm in a cordial clasp. "I have just returned from Dublin," the captain continued, "and I intend to remain a few days-I am stopping here,"glancing at the hotel.

Tighe's eyes were wandering with a surprised look over the civilian Captain Dennier understood Never mind being so surprised out it," laughed the gentleman, but tell me how you have been getting on.

"Sorry enough," answered Tighe;
"Major Claptail"—from the first Tighe had ludicrously twisted the name, much to the amusement of the military subordinates—"hasn't the regard for Shaun that yer honor had; but how an' iver, it'll do-mebbe there's worse places than

I have no doubt of it," said

Dennier, laughing.
Tighe looked as if he would like to say something, but lacked the courage; he glanced into the gentleman's face, then down to the ground, then on all sides of him, with a puzzled, somewhat confused air, and all the time he worked his hands in a bashful, awkward way.

The captain seemed to divine his desire, for after watching him a moment, he said: "Can I do anything for you, Tighe?"
Tighe a Vohr's face brightened.
"You can that, Captain Dennier—forgive me for givin' you seem the forgive me for givin' you yer title shtill, but it comes readiest to me tongue: if you'll get permission from the governor o' the jail for me to see the prisoner, Mr. O'Dondid not answer ne young ma for a moment; then, passing his hand over his face as if he would thus brush away some painful thought, he said: "You are deeply interested in this poor pris-

The tone in which the last remark was made, the expression in the dark eyes of the speaker, convinced Tighe of what he had for some time suspected—that the young ex-officer was well-nigh as deeply interested in the poor prisoner as was Tighe himself.

I am, yer honor, an' it'll make me heart as loight as a feather to see him once more!" "Come with me," said the gentle-come with the, said the gentle-man, "and I shall see what I can do for you." He turned abruptly, and walked with a rapid pace in the direction of the jail. Tighe followed, waiting, when they had arrived at the prison, in one of the outer rooms, while Dennier was closeted with the governor. In a comparatively short time the order the grave for Tighe a Volve to be comparatively short time the order than the same to me though the parents might be the vilent in came for Tighe a Vohr to be con-

"The poor, pale prisoner started up with wild delight when he beheld his visitor. "Tighe, my faithful, faithful Tighe a Vohr!" Emotion with wild delight when he beheld his visitor. "Tighe, my faithful, faithful Tighe a Vohr!" Emotion would let him say no more, and the affectionate Tighe was as deeply affected. "Morty, I suppose, has sent you," Carroll said, when he recovered his voice; "he promised to leave no stone unturned in his efforts to get me word of Nora—he efforts to I suppose, as he could not come himself to me, he has managed to gain admission for you."

Is it Morty Carther you mane?"

that you too should believe these infamous slanders of the poor fellow! He has proved himself my more than friend, not alone in planning my escape the other night, but in taking care of my reputation with those who should think better things of me!" and then, not deeming that the former pledge of secreey which Carter had extracted from him was binding in this instance, he detailed the whole of his interview with Carter, even to the recounting of the contents of the paper which he had given to the miscreant.

"Och, masther dear, you are shattemint that's enough to hang the poor craythur—supposin', now, that was done late this afthernoon, in view o' that thrial that'll be goin' on tomorrow, could the informer make use o' that paper tonight, or would he be loikely to kape it till the mornin'?"

A peculiar smile played upon Captain Dennier's features. "I think I can read your riddle, "Some informer ham in Mith Marth a shattemint that's enough to hang the poor craythur—supposin', now, that was done late this afthernoon, in view o' that paper tonight, or would he be loikely to Kape it till the mornin'?"

A peculiar smile played upon Captain Dennier's features. "I think I can read your riddle, when you speak; and you think if the paper does not leave the informer's possession until the miscreant.

"Och, masther dear, you are lost!" and Tighe, in his agony, was on his knees at Carroll's feet; "that paper'll be used agin you on the paper does not leave the informer's possession until the morning you shall be able perhaps to get it."
"Faith yer honor has the clarest benefit for quissin' o' any gintleman

-he has sworn it to me; and when I remember his distress when he detailed to me those wretched reports, I am more than convinced. No! waxing warmer in his defense,—"it is horribly false—I shall not believe a word of it!"
"Sworn to you."

"Sworn to you," repeated Tighe;
"sure that ould thraitor no more moinds the takin' o'a false oath than I'd moind callin' Shaun to me! the look.

"Ah!" he said, smiling, "I am a man again you see, Tighe, and not an officer—having resigned her Majesty's service, I am no longer Captain Dennier."

Tighe a Vohr's eyes and mouth opened in astonishment.

"Never mind heing so surprised the said of the said of the said of the said. "I'll listen to nothing," interrupted Carroll; "you shall not say one word against him in my presence!"

Och, wirra asthru! but what'll come o' us all?" and Tighe wrung

I can't," answered Tighe sadly, shaking his head.

The prisoner's wildest alarm was immediately aroused. "Tighe"—placing his hand heavily on Tighe a vohr's shoulder —"I beg of you—I command you — to tell me of Nora! she is dead?" he almost screamed, as Tighe, still refusing to speak, continued to shake his head. "Tell me," he pleaded; "I shall go mad if you do not speak!"

Tighe could not longer resist that frenzied entreaty, and he blurted out: "Rick o' the Hills came an' claimed her as his daughter, an'

she has gone to live wid him. The tidings seemed to paralyse the poor prisoner—for a moment he the poor prisoner—for a moment he could not speak; and Tighe slightly shrubk before the wild, burning gaze of his large bright eyes. "Rick-of the Hills Nora's father, and she has gone to live with him," he repeated slowly at last. "Oh, God!" He held his clasped hands before his face, as if he would shut out the sight of his beautiful, peerless affianced being the daily oghue, I'll prays yer honor, that yer sowl may be in Heaven afore yer fate are cowld!"

shut out the sight of his beautiful, peerless affianced being the daily companion of such a man.

"Dan't take on so masther

A new light shone in Carroll's ing the latter's two hands, "see Nora for me, and tell her that if she would break my heart, if she would see the grave close upon me before even the scaffold can also in its victime to she would be the same to me though her parents might be the vilest in God's creation; tell her that my love is for herself, and that it is as

A BOLD VENTURE

Outside the prison wall Tighe paused for a moment to deliberate :

been here, jist as I thought he would, playin' his double game upon you! Tell me, masther, dear, what he said to you."

"Now, Tighe, this is too bad—that you too should believe these infamous slanders of the poor, unsuspectin' prisoner an' to win from him in writin' a shatatemint that's enough to hang infamous slanders of the poor, unsuspectin' prisoner an' to win from him in writin' a shatatemint that's enough to hang infamous slanders of the poor gaythyr—suppose in that an informer—a man who was been here, jist as I thought he playin' a double part, purtindin' to be the frind o' the governmint,—was to go into the poor, unsuspectin' prisoner an' to win from him in writin' a shatatemint that's enough to have a playin' a double part, purtindin' to should be into the prisoner an' the playin' a double part, purtindin' to playin' a double part, purtindin

the thrial—you're gone—you're gone !" The blubbering of which the poor fellow seemed to be so much afraid on other occasions now for I know I can thrust yer honor."

earnesty began.
"Hush!" commanded Carroll,
"and stop this instantly; you are letting your heart run away with your head. I tell you, Tighe, Morty is as true to my interests as you are business after hours, and especially as it is a matter that can be attended to as well in the morning."

"Thank yer honor—I'm grateful intoirely, an' me loife-long prayer'll be that you may prospher in love an' war!" What is it you propose doing?"

asked Dennier.
"Plaze don't ax me, yer honor, for I haven't it well settled yet it's only a thought, but I'll thry what's in it."

"Well, Tighe, you have my best wishes for its success!" and Dennier turned away, his mind suddenly reverting to the story which Tighe had told of how his exit from the jail yard had been effected on the his hands in fruitless agony.

"Come, Tighe," said his master soothingly, "stop this folly and tell me about Nora."

"Here with a light withing a light of the attempted release of the prisoner, and for the first time the truth of the matter flashed upon him. "Ah!" he said to himself, "that was all a preconcerted plan of this faithful fellow, and I doubt not, as he succeeded in that, so will he succeed in the carrying out of this 'thought,' as he calls it. Well, Carroll O'Donoghue has a truer follower than it is the good fortune of most men to find."

Tighe, not even pausing to call for Shaun, who had been confined, very unwillingly, the greater part of the day in the barracks, hastened to the abode of Corny O'Toole. He had absented himself from the little man for some days, fearing that the latter might have received an indignant answer to his latter. indignant answer to his letter to Mrs. Carmody, for since the old woman had announced her intention of taking it to Father Meagher, correspondent Mrs. Carmody, for since the old woman had announced her intention of taking it to Father Meagher, Tighe a Vohr well knew that his reverence would be good-natured enough to write a reply which would give entire satisfaction to his server host season. It is not had cred to her hostess. "I never knew she was living at Braymore. We ceased to correspond years ago," and she had gone on to tell how she and Rose Fitzgerald had been class-mates and close friends at the convent in would give entire satisfaction to his enough to write a reply which would give entire satisfaction to his would give entire satisfaction to his date. Then Mrs. Norman had heart she is in the givin' up of you."

"Giving up of me!" dashing his hands from his face, and speaking in a terrified tone—"why should she give me up?"

"Don't you undherstand it, masther dear? she' has such foine, noble falin's that she wouldn't have you marry her now whin she's his daughter."

"Don't you undherstand it, masther dear? she' has with foine, noble falin's that she wouldn't have you do not marryin' agin; an'thin she was vexed that you'd put the loike o' what you did in writin' whin you knowed she hadn't larnin' enough the way to Hazelmere. The man who words? why, man aloive! where's per brains? don't you see it's the praste that writes that? sure she'd be ashamed to let his riverince know that she'd be thinkin' o' marryin' agin; an' thin she was vexed that you'd put the loike o' what you did in writin' whin you knowed she hadn't larnin' enough. to rade it. No, Corny; it's go to her you should, an' tell her wid yer eyes, a new expression came into his face, as if he had made some sudden discovery. "Tighe," he said, seizing the latter's two hands, "see ing the latter's two hands, that if own captivatin' tongue the falin's one o' these days we'll have a tarin' weddin' down there in Dhromma cohol, wid Father Meagher to do the jinin' o' the couple—eh, Corny?" and a vigorous slap between Corny's shoulders gave evidence of

The little man brightened; once more hope filled his heart, and his

"Never fear me, Tighe—I'll do

"Is it Morty Carther you mane?" replied Tighe, contemptuously,— that ould thraitor to get lave for "that ould thraitor to get lave for me to visit yer cell! faith, it's chokin' me, an' not wid butther aythur, he'd rather be doin' this minit!" Captain Dennier, as the gentleman aythur, he'd rather be doin' this was still to Tighe, had already returned to the hotel, and on learning of the latter's desire to see him, ordered that he should be immediately admitted to him. "You saw the prisoner?" questioned the gentleman, wondering a length he was fully dressed, the correct Menning to the little man departed on some errand. Tighe proceeded to make sundry changes in his toilet, donning some of Corny's garments, and in his direction of the he hurried in the direction of the whispering ceased the little man departed on some errand. Tighe proceeded to make sundry changes in his toilet, donning some of Corny's garments, and in his direction of the he hurried in the direction of the whispering ceased the little man departed on some errand.

Tighe proceeded to make sundry changes in his toilet, donning some of Corny's garments, and in his direction of the he hurried in the direction of the whispering ceased the little man departed on some errand.

Tighe proceeded to make sundry changes in his toilet, donning some of Corny's garments, and in his direction of the well-worn material gave way and left rents which it taxed his ingenuity to conceal. When at liength he was fully dressed, the corn material gave way and left rents which it taxed his ingenuity to conceal. When at liength he was fully dressed, the corn material gave way and left rents which it taxed his ingenuity to conceal. When at liength he was fully dressed, the

CARROLL O'DONOGHUE

CHRISTINE FABER

Authoross of "A Mother's Sacrifice," etc.

CHAPTER XLV.—CONTINUED

For the first time in his life Tighe a Vohr, during these two days of the trial, had avoided being seen by the priest and Clare. Watching them from an obscure corner of the court-room, noting Nora's absence with as heavy a heart as that which was borne by those who so fondly escape the other night, that you, at least, were his friend!"

Tighe's face twisted itself into a most comical expression, and his lips emitted a half-suppressed whistle, meant to be expressive of his amazement at the revelation which had burst suddenly and clearly upon him. "Oh! that's it." he said, lengthening each word,—"so that ould knave has been here, jist as I thought he would, playin' his double game upon you! Tell me, masther, dear, what he said to you."

It little what could be the purport of this evidently hurried visit.

"I did, an' I'm viry thankful to yer honor for the great favor you done me; but I've a quistion to ax, knee-breeches, only cut oddly out of the style of that garment, while a great settlemint o' me falin's."

"Well, Tighe, what is it?"

"Supposin' now, Captain Dennier, that an informer—a man who was been here, jist as I thought he would, playin' his double game upon you! Tell me, masther, dear, which he presented was such this evidently hurried visit.

"I did, an' I'm viry thankful to yer honor for the great favor you done me; but I've a quistion to ax, there-breeches, only cut oddly out of the style of that garment, while their extreme width about the upper part of the body gave a most comical rotundity to Tighe's slender "Supposin' now, Captain Dennier, that an informer—a man who was been here, jist as I thought he upon you! Tell me, masther, dear, while their extreme width about the part yet a quistion to ax, there-bree so, only cut oddly out of the style of that garment, while their extreme wide have been here in the seconical rotundity to Tighe's slender "Supposin' now, Captain Dennier, the first of the below the wearer's waist. One of Corny's slouched, low-crowned hats covered Tighe's brown curls, and being pulled forward, somewhat concealed his face. The little man on his return expressed his admiration of the change which had been effected, and he proceeded to give Tighe a little package, which the latter immediately opened, saying: "Now, Corny, while I'm busy wid this, do you write what we were spakin' av."

Mr. O'Toole sat down to his table, covered as usual with literary appurtenances, and Tighe proceeded deftly to dye his face and hands Both tasks were completed about the same time, and the little man, with his usual dramatic gesture, read this latest production of his imagined wonderful genius. Tighe expressed his satisfaction, and after a brief delay while Mr. O'Toole was busy with his toilet, only to the extent, however, of polishing his face with soap and water, and brushing his hair, the two went forth together.

You know where he stops? questioned Corny. "Yes; didn't Mr. Hoolahan say the addhress to me the day all the perlace was afther me, whin the wimen in the kitchen dhressed me loike one o' thimsel's

'And if he's not in?" said Corny again."
"Thin we'll wait, if we wait till mornin' for him.'

Mr. O'Toole went in alone to the house in which Morty Carter lodged. and was met by the information that Mr. Carter had not been in all day. He repaired without to report to Tighe.

TO BE CONTINUED

TEMPERED WITH MERCY

Mrs. Norman hastened along the path that led from the railway station to the watering place of Bray more; and though it was said that one of the finest views of the sur-rounding coast was to be had from the slight eminence on which the station stood, the lady passed hastily along the path without a glance seaward. Once or twice she stayed her steps for a few seconds.

"Oh, poor, poor Rose! Her only child! A widow and childless!" she murmured, as she had done several times since at the breakfast table that morning she had read of the tragic death of Henry Crawford,

"I must go to Rose at once!" rs. Norman had cried to her to Corny was verified, for Tighe was not well within the room when the little man, with most woebegone face and distressing air, drew forth Father Meagher's missive written in behalf of Mrs. Mollie Carmody and he read it for Tighe dear!" said Tighe, dashing away the big tears which filled his eyes; "I'm sure her love for you is none the liss, an' it's tramplin' on her heart she is in the givin' up o' in it to be cast down be thim few you."

sive written in behair of Mrs. Monie and, when the pair were on their honeymoon; and though she grieved that all that alls you? Why thin, Corny O'Toole, is it you that's in it to be cast down be thim few apart from the difference of religion, the pair were ideally

Mrs. Norman had to inquire the way to Hazelmere. The man who her the required directions

"It was a terrible accident." He pointed to a high cliff on the other side of the town. "The young man was walking there alone when he fell. The late storms must have been accountable for the fall of a portion of the cliff. He fell with it. May God rest his soul!" The man raised his cap reverently, and Mrs. Norman took her way towards. Mrs. Norman took her way towards the pretty villa to which she had been directed. A maid with red and swollen eyelids admitted her and led her to the darkened draw

"Perhaps Lady Crawford is unable to see anyone," Mrs. Norman said. "Tell her, please, that Mary Blake is here, willing to stay or leave, as she desires."

"Oh, she will see you," the girl replied. "She is wonderful, wonderful. She has not cried a tear—not one tear." The ready tears fell down the speaker's cheeks as she my part."

Then followed whispered directions from Tighe a Vohr, to which Corny nodded assent, and when the whispering ceased the little man departed on some errand.

It was only a few minutes till the door opened and a tall fair woman came in. Her clinging black garments accentuated the pallor of her face, but she came forward calmly with steady voice and outstretched

Amazing Complexion Improvement by the Use of Clasmic Clay!! Have You Tried It?

THE use of Clay by professional beauty specialists and by wo-men who pride themselves on flaw-less complexions, has become an irresistible vogue. Most women in all walks of life now use Boncilla— the original Clasmic Clay—as their first aid to complexion beauty.

What is this Clasmic Clay? What is this Clasmic Clay?

Boncilla Beautifier—as the original Clasmie Clay is named—is specially imported bluegrey clay of remarkable purity and smoothness, compounded with rare East India Balsams. You gently smear it over the face with the finger tips. As it dries, the wonderful reluvenating work is taking place—you feel a gentle, persistent drawing—meanwhile its liquid balsams are being absorbed by the pores, bathing them with a refreshing, invigorating stimulus, cleansing them of every impurity—reviviying sluggish circulation and building up sagging facial muscles.

Boncilla will give you a skin of loveliness and charm

Its results are immediate—apparent from the very first application—for whereas soaps and the usual cosmetics only touch the sur-face, Boncilla goes down to the source of complexion troubles. Leading Beauty Specialists the world over use and endorse Boncilla as the most rest-ful facial treatment ever produced and suitable to the most delicate skin.

you have not experienced the amazing applexion improvement afforded by Bonda-we will be pleased to send you, a be to-day. This generous trial tube conserved to the send you have been a senough Boneilla Clasmic Clay for two three facial packs—more than enough show you what remarkable complexion unty Boneilla can accomplish for you, is introductory tube is not for sale, but will send it to you direct on receipt of coupon below.

COUPON ..

Canadian Boncilla Laboratories, Ltd., 590 King Street West, Toronto, Ont. Please send FREE Trial Tube of Boncilla to

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amaz ingly brilliant, soft white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil It was only a few minutes till the lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise — no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, T. T. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Safety and Profit for Savings interest allowed on your savings in amounts of $200 or more placed for two years or longer on our term plan.

of on savings subject to 4 withdrawal by cheque.

Capital Trust Corporation

DR. REBECCA HARKINS DR. MARIE H. HARKINS

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIANS Method of Diagnosis and Treatmen

The St. George LONDON, ONT.
Wellington St. Phone 1560 PHONE 7308

DR. LE ROY V. HILES Foot Specialist 202 DUNDAS STREET

HOURS: 9 to 19 a.m. daily. Tuesday, Thurs. and Sat. DR. R. R. FONGER, D. C. Ph. C.

Chiropractic Physician 1691/2 Dundas St. (Over Peters') LONDON, ONT.

Hours: 10 to 12; 1.30 to 4.30; 6 to 8 PHONE 2836J ARCHITECTS

Randolph 7387 I. M. COWAN Architect

Churches, Schools Colleges a Specialty TORONTO

WATT & BLACKWELL Members Ontario Association
ARCHITECTS

Sixth Floor, Bank of Toronto Chambers

LONDON ONT. W. G. MURRAY

ARCHITECT Churches and Schools a Specialty DOMINION SAVINGS BUILDING LONDON, ONT. TELEPHONE 1557 - W

JOHN M. MOORE & CO. ARCHITECTS

489 RICHMOND STREET LONDON, ONT.

Members Ontario Association of Architects J. C. Pennington John R. Boyde John W. Leighton

BARTLET BLDG. WINDSOR, ONT London Diocesan Architects Specialists in Ecclesiastical and Educational Buildings

Benjamin Blonde

General Contractor CHURCHES nd Educational Institutions a Specialty Estimates furnished on request CHATHAM, ONT.

TAIT-BROWN OPTICAL CO. Physical Eye Specialists 48 JAMES ST. N, HAMILTON PHONE REGENT 1414

BRANCH BROWN OPTICAL CO.

LONDON OPTICAL CO

Have Your Eyes Examined ominion Savings Building Richmond St. Phone 6180

YOUR EYES The responsibility is ours; The comfort and satisfaction your Expert F. STEELE Promp

HAVE US EXAMINE

210 Dundas St. OPTICIAN LONDON

F. E. LUKE

OPTOMETRIST AND OPTICIAN 167 YONGE ST. TORONTO Eyes Examined and Glass Eyes Fitted

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS

MURPHY, GUNN & MURPHY BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES Solicitors for The Home Bank of Canada Solicitors for the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation

Suite 53, Bank of Toronto Chambers LONDON, CANADA Phone 179 Telephone 7224. Home Bank Chambers

J. M. DONAHUE, B.A. BARRISTER, SOLICITOR and NOTARY PUBLIC

121 Dundas St. LONDON, ONTARIO FOY, KNOX & MONAHAN

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc. Cable Address : "Foy Telephones { Main 481 Main 462

CORNER BAY AND RICHMOND STREETS
TORONTO DAY, FERGUSON & CO.

Offices : Continental Life Buildt

James E. Day
John M. Ferguson
Joseph P. Waish
TORONTO, CANADA

LUNNEY & LANNAN BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES Harry W. Lunney, K.C., B.A., B.C.L. Alphonsus Lannan, bl. B.

CALGARY, ALBERTA JOHN H. McELDERRY

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR

NOTARY PUBLIC UNION BANK BUILDING GUELPH, ONTARIO Residence Park 1395. Cable Address 'Leedon.'

" Hillcrest 1097 Park 4524W Main 1583 Lee, O'Donoghue & Harkins Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Eta W. T. J. Lee, B.C.L. J. G. O'Donoghue, K.C. Hugh Harkins R. C. O'Donoghue Offices 241-242 Confederation Life Chambers S. W. Corner Queen and Victoria 346 TORONTO, CANADA

DENTAL MICHAEL J. MULVIHILL L. D. S., D. D. S. 25 PEMBROKE STREET W. PEMBROKE, ONT.

OPEN EVENINGS DR. J. M. SEDGEWICK DENTIST 425 Richmond St., Near Dundas

LONDON, ONT. OPEN EVENINGS DR. VINCENT KELLY DENTAL SURGEON Clinic Building, 241-243 Queen's Ave. LONDON, ONT.

Phone 1400 Res. Phone 5193

PHONE 529W Westlake PHOTOGRAPHER Opposite the Armouries

R. I. WATSON Government and Industrial BONDS

Phone 1537W 213 Dom. Savings Bldg. LONDON, ONT. BEDDOME, BROWN

INSURANC 392 RICHMOND ST. LONDON. CANADA MONEY TO LOAN

You Wish to "Say it With" Where Do You Go When

The West Floral Co. 249 Dundas St. London, Ont.

visitor at a country house thirty miles away.

"I felt I must come to you, Rose.

"I felt I must come to you, Rose. Oh, why does God send such overwhelming trials!" she said.
"Not overwhelming, Mary—oh, no. It is a trial,"—the low voice shook slightly—"but it is tempered with mercy. By and by I shall thank God for it. Just now—"
Again the voice broke, and the speaker paused for a moment.
"I can sheak to you. Mary, as to

"I can speak to you, Mary, as to no one else," Lady Crawford con-tinued. "You remember how happy I was in the early days of my mar-ried life. Yet soon that happiness was clouded. Let me tell you all.

wooing. I had no very near relatives to warn me against marrying one not of our faith. My confessor, a gentle old man, did indeed impress on me the risks I ran in wedding a Protestant; but Father Burke, I said to my conscience, was old-fashioned and rather narrow-minded. I had no doubt, no doubt whatever, but that one day Walter would become a Catholic. So do-people deceive themselves."

Was he, Sir Walter, bigoted?" Mrs. Norman asked, as Lady Crawford stopped speaking.

The shadow of a smile touched Rose Crawford's pale face ere she

"Bigoted! No; my husband had no religious beliefs. He gave the required pledges at our marriage and kept them to the letter only. At first, as I have said, we were happy, beyond anything I had dreamt of, and during our honeymoon Walter was ready to accompany me to Mass and Benediction. He was fond of music and very much in love. Then Harry was much in love. Then Henry was surely."

"Yes. Oh, Walter kept to the "Yes. Oh, Walter kept to the letter of the contract. He never hindered my boy or me from going to Mass or the Sacraments. But"—the speaker's voice grew more intense—'he did worse. He laughed and mocked good-humoredly at religion in the child's hearing. And Henry idolized his father. He saw him honored and respected by all, fair and just in his business dealings, and kind and charitable to the poor and sad. Then Walter was a clever and learned man, and long before Henry was out of his teens the two were good comrades. I—I—you know I was never bright at school, Mary, and I think I grew duller as years went on. At any rate, both my husband and son used to smile at my inability to understand their scientific or philosophical talk. Henry ceased going to confession; then he gave up Mass. By the time he was twenty-one he grow the person the world are not confession; then he gave up Mass. By the time he was twenty-one he form the world are not confession; then he gave up Mass. By the time he was twenty-one he form the world are not confession; then he gave up Mass. By the time he was twenty-one he form the world are not confession; then he gave up Mass. By the time he was twenty-one he form the world are not confession; then he gave up Mass. By the time he was twenty-one he form the world are not confession; then he gave up Mass.

geon. She was a beautiful girl, highly educated and only contemptuous of religion. Poor girl! she had been brought up in a bad atmosphere. The date of the marriage was fixed, and I left my house and settled here. It seemed wisest to me that the young couple should to me that the young couple should start life by themselves, and I settled here. Just before the day appointed for the marriage, Sylvia's father died, and the marriage was postponed. There was a second postponement owing to Sylvia's illness. A third date was fixed, and Henry came to spend a day and pight with me prior to his wedding night with me prior to his wedding day. After dinner he went out for a walk and fell."

Mrs. Norman shuddered.

"Thank God he was not killed outright! Oh, thank God! He was not he was not lived for twenty-four hours, and he asked for a priest, and was reconciled to God. They—people—wonder why I do not weep. Oh, it isn't that I do not feel Henry's loss! I do! I do! But the gain is so much

You must come and see."

The two women passed to the death chamber. As they knelt by the bed on which Henry Crawford lay, a girl, tall and slender, and beautiful even in her grief, hastily left the room. Later Lady Crawford spoke of her.

"Sylvia came in time for the end. Poor child! She is distracted with grief, and she is bitter and rebellious. But the mood will pass. Perhaps—some day—she will pray Perhaps—some day—she will pray for him."

It was quite five years later that Mrs. Norman observed among the

By Carmelus Avila

The month of the Holy Rosary is upon us, accenting a devotion dear to every devout Catholic. As the to every devout Catholic. As the hand of the Great Artist paints the foliage with golden tints, with here and there touches of crimson and russet brown, making the month the most beautiful of the year, we see the appropriateness of naming October the month of the Queen of the Holy Rosary. It would seem as if all nature were expressing the fulfillment of the prophecy made to the humble Lily of Israel: "He that is mighty hath magnified me."

In a conversation I once had with a distinguished clergyman of the Presbyterian Church, he said:

speak.

"I was young and romantic when I first met my busband, and I was gratified by the attention paid me by a man who, young as he was, was already of much account among his felloweitiger.

with a distinguished clergyman of the Presbyterian Church, he said:
"One of the secrets of the tremendous power the Catholic Church exerts in the world, is in the exalted place she has given the Virgin Mother. This was already of much account among his fellow-citizens. I suppose his appearance and his strong will influenced me as well as his impetuous enced me as well as his impetuous role.

Mother. Inis one thing, I believe, has done more to exalt true womanhood through the centuries than any other living institution." The utterance was made in a tone of deep seriousness. The daughter of that clergyman is now a Catholic and a religious.

It is a fact well-known that many non-Catholics envy the Catholic be-cause of the comfort and strength he receives in his devotion to Our Blessed Lady. I remember with what feeling and impressiveness Archbishop Spalding, one day in the long ago, called my attention to this celebrated passage in the writings of John Ruskin: of John Ruskin:

"After careful examination, neither as adversary nor as friend of the influences of Catholicism, I am persuaded that reverence for the Madonna has been one of its noblest and most vital graces, and has never been otherwise than productive of holiness of life and purity of char-acter. There has, probably, not been an innocent home throughout Europe during the period of Christianity in which the imagined presence of the Madonna has not given sanctity in the duties and comfort to the trials of men and women. Every brightest and loftiest achieve-"And baptized by a priest, irely."
"Yes. Oh, Walter kept to the such an utterance, coming from

of the Dominican Sisters of the Perpetual Rosary. They have crushed the serpent of heresy and have caused praises in Mary's honor to pour forth from the lips of those outside the fold. If one were to gather all the poetry and prose that have been written by non-Catholics, in recent times, they would make a good sized volume. And not the least in the collection would be Edgar Allen Poe's beautiful sonnet to Our Lady. This softening of prejudice we like to think is due to the prayers of these devoted clients of Mary in the cloister who make the perpetual offering of the Rosary in the distinguishing feature of their "And, therefore, as she lived in the crushed the surpose of the services of the distinguishing feature of their "And, therefore, as she lived in the crushed the surpose of the services of the services of the distinguishing feature of their "And, therefore, as she lived in the crushed the surpose of the services of the s do! I do! But the gain is so much more! He died happily, with the crucifix in his hand, and his voice joining in the prayers for the dying. Once he tried to say something about his former life. I could not catch the words. On his dead face there is a smile of perfect peace. You must come and see."

The true words peaced to the good taste, into a beautiful wreath and placed them at the shring of and placed them at the shrine of Our Lady of the Rosary. I spent over an hour poring over the pages of the precious little volume. It

"There, Mary. Lady Crawford forced her visitor into a chair, "You must not cry so, Mary! Oh, there is no need for tears. None, Mary! Look at me."

Lady Crawford seated herself beside Mrs. Norman, and the latter stilled her sobs after a few minutes, and mentioned that she had been a visitor at a country, hone thirty.

MY ROSARY

MY ROSARY

MY ROSARY

MY ROSARY

Comming of this prejudice is a direct answer to prayer?

I can never forget how deeply moved I have been in my visit s to Lourdes, to see non-Catholics kneeling in the Rosary chapel with a Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were suited that the black veil in a snewer to prayer?

I can never forget how deeply moved I have been in my visit s to Lourdes, to see non-Catholics kneeling in the Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were forget how deeply moved I have been in my visit s to Lourdes, to see non-Catholics kneeling in the Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were forget how deeply moved I have been in my visit s to Lourdes, to see non-Catholics kneeling in the Rosary chapel with a Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were forget how deeply moved I have been in my visit s to Lourdes, to see non-Catholics kneeling in the Rosary chapel with a Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were forget how deeply moved I have been in my visit s to Lourdes, to see non-Catholics kneeling in the Rosary chapel with a Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were forget how deeply moved I have been in my visit s to Lourdes, to see non-Catholics kneeling in the Rosary chapel with a Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were such as a contract of the contra Lourdes, to see non-Cathol.cs kneeling in the Rosary chapel with a Rosary in their hands, practicing the beautiful devotion, as they were taught how to do by some Catholic friend. Many of them were sorely afflicted in hody, and many more of friend. Many of them were sorely afflicted in body, and many more of them were afflicted in soul. I want them were afflicted in soul. I want to believe that the sincerity of their motives made their offering of the Rosary acceptable to her whom, in the litany, we salute as Health of the. Sick and Comforter of the Afflicted. The scene lingers with me like some lovely painting of the Madonna—most touching and wonderful. Dear, blessed old shrine of Lourdes, as I write I seem to hear the continued echo of the Aves coming to me from your Rosary Chapel.

The popular song, "My Rosary," will never die out nor lose its fascination. That song has caused the Rosary to become dear to many non-Catholics. While in Rome I have known non-Catholics to buy costly rosaries—and not as gifts for Catholic friends.

non-Catholics. While in Rome I have known non-Catholics to buy costly rosaries—and not as gifts for Catholic friends, but for their own keeping—and I have seen them hold those rosaries reverently in their hands for Christ's Vicar to bless them. It is no uncommon to the property of the bless them. It is no uncommon thing in these days to see the words of the song, "My Rosary," hang on the walls of the living rooms in Madame Modjeska, that devoted daughter of the Church, and one of the greatest Shakespearian actresses that ever appeared on the American stage, was once asked how she succeeded in converting the whole Barrymore family to the Catholic faith. She put her hand in her pocket and brought forth her Rosary beads as an answer. I don't think I exaggerate when I say that our Blessed Lady never had a more devout client among the laity than the mother of Ethel Barrymore. She died a devout and fervent Catholic. The instrument which God used to bring about this conversion was a great Catholic actress who made a a great Catholic actress who made a daily practice of saying the Rosary. I remember her cold form, as I saw it in death, with the Rosary twined about the hands that in life had often "told them over, one by one," and "kissed the cross" in fervent devotion—the great and supprh devotion—the great and superb Madame Modjeska.

During a long sojourn with those devoted sons of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, the Carmelite Fathers, for whom I cherish the profoundest respect, I devoted many hours a day to the reading of the sermons of Cardinal Newman. What impressed me most in these sermons was his reference, time and again to the Virgin Mother-pouring out to her from the depths of his soul the homage of a devoted heart. The beautiful soul of the great Cardinal shines out with surpassing radiance upon the references in his sermons to the glories of the Virgin

The story is related of him that, The story is related of him that, when traveling in Sicily, shortly before he wrote the immortal hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," he took refuge, one day, from a blinding storm in the recesses of a large church and found himself before a shrine of the Virgin. A solitary taper glimmered before the statue and seemed to make more explaint the cal talk. Henry ceased going to confession; then he gave up Mass. By the time he was twenty-one he was an avowed atheist. Three years later my husband died. I don't think he ever understood what I suffered. Perhaps his nature was somewhat hard. When he died, Henry inherited his possession, excepting the sum of money which yielded me a modest income."

"You lived with your son?"

"You lived with your son?"

"Tor two years. He became in the untold blessing these good nuns hidden away from the world, are bringing down and seemed to make more awful the gloom around. A tropical storm with vivid flashes of lightning and intermittent thunder raged outside. But a wilder storm raged in his soul; he was tortured by doubts and fears, those fearful wrestlings of a human spirit turning upon a bed of pain, terribly in earnest about its salvation and beseeching heaven to rend the veil. He who "You lived with your son?"
"For two years. He became engaged to Sylvia Greenwood, the only daughter of an eminent surgeon. She was a beautiful girl, "She was a beautiful girl,"

Queen of the Holy Rosary has intervened for the maintenance of faith and the increase of piety in every parish. I have sometimes thought that the dying out of the attacks of ful face, carved in the richest white that the dying out of the attacks of ful face, carved in the richest white Blessed Virgin, is due to the prayers of the Dominican Sisters of the Perpetual Rosary. They have crushed the serpent of heresy and have caused praises in Mary's honor to pour forth from the lips of those outside the fold.

the distinguishing feature of their religious life.

Some days ago, while brousing among the books in the fascinating old library of Niagara University, I came upon a little book, tucked away in the corner of one of the shelves which, on opening, I found to be a compilation of many poems out of the sight of man, fittingly did she die in the garden's shade and amid the sweet flowers in which she had lived. Her departure made no noise in the world. The Church went about her common duties, preaching, converting suffering; there were persecutions, there was fleeing from place to place, there were martyrs, there were triumphs; at length the news spread that the Mother of God was filled my soul with peculiar pleasure to read the praises of our Blessed Mother, bespoken by one who, though not of our faith, yet cherished a high appreciation of the devotion. at Jerusalem? Reports varied, but her tomb could not be pointed out, when we consider the ingrained prejudice which Protestantism planted and developed in the human breast toward the Blessed Virgin, how can we doubt that the over-

This quotation from one of the Cardinal's sermors is eloquent in its convincing evidence of the influence which the prisonal holiness and stainless purity of the Blessed Virgin exercised over him.

In the liturgy of Mother Church I have never found a prayer to our Blessed Lady more tender or more appealing than this prayer of Cardinal Newman.

dinal Newman:

"O Mary! in thee is fulfilled the purpose of the Most High. Thy face and form, dear Mother, are

THE CALL OF THE GRAVE

November 2 has for centuries stood close to the affections of every stood close to the affections of every really Catholic heart. No member of the faith whose years are above those of childhood, but uses the hours of this blessed day for prayer in behalf of the dead. The show of love to departed relatives and friends which the day elicits does credit to the dignity of the human heart. In the midst of a world all heart. In the midst of a world all too cold with selfishness and all too active in the pursuit of perishing wealth and pleasure, it is refreshing to witness the scene of prayer that November 2 brings to pass for millions of Catholics. must be showered upon these Christians who cast their thought and supplications upon those sleeping in

For the living the day preaches a powerful sermon. Engrossed, as we are, in the performance of our many duties, even the best of us are apt to forget that all paths of life lead but to the grave. It is seldom that the crepe hangs before the average home, seldom that the hearse takes away the remains of a departed one. But in a most dramatic and impressive way, in a way that must have been taught humanity by God Himself, the Catholic Church on All Souls' Day brings before the thoughtful the toll of the family dead. Is there any wonder that the sight moves us to prayer and to reflection on our own future? Better, perhaps, than on Ash Wednesday, better because of the human appeal, All Souls' Day sends home the fact that we are but

That God allows the living to be-friend the dead by their prayers, sacrifices and mortifications, is, as Scripture states, a wholesome thought. That the Catholic Church is almost alone in proclaiming this doctrine of Heaven, is an honor that we should properly value. The spectacle is impressive of thousands of Bishops and priests with the Holy Father at their head, of millions of devout worshippers gathering on the day of universal sorrow and prayer for the dead at the foot of the modern cross, which is the Catholic altar, and there petitioning the God of mercy to loosen the shackles of Purgatory and release souls to the region of light, refreshment and peace. But it remains to stress the Catholic thought that every individual should, as an indi-vidual, make his own this devotion vidual, make his own this devotion to the souls in Purgatory. It is a practise that should receive emphasis on All Souls' Day, but one that should honor every day of the year. Our friends have gone down into the grave; one day we shall join them. Meanwhile, we are in the enviable position of being able to assist them. In this assistance to assist them. In this assistance we act as members of Christ's Church and also as individual friends. Here above all else is our chance to do our individual "bit."—The Tablet

All by love, nothing by constraint.

St. Francis de Sales.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

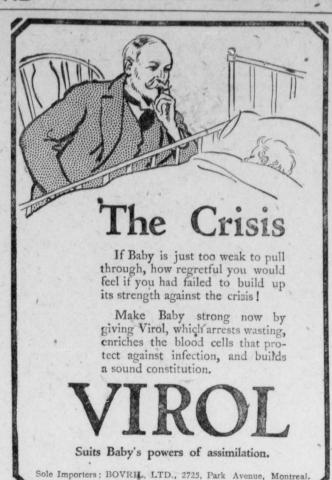

Restored to Health By Taking "Fruit-a-tives"

Made of Fruit Juices and Tonics

The most convincing proof of the true worth of "Fruit-a-tives" as a medicine for women is found in the letters written by them to "Fruit-a-tives". For instance:

"I suffered with all the symptoms of female trouble, pains low down in the back and sides, constipation and constant headache. A doctor advised an operation. I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and this fruit medicine completely relieved me of all my misery".

Mrs. M. J. GORSE, Vancouver, B.C. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Increase Your Income

The convenient, guaranteed plan of investment offered by The Canada Trust Company yields a profitable rate of interest combined with unquestioned security.

Interest is paid to you twice each year at the $5\frac{1}{2}$ % per annum upon \$100. or more for any term of one, two, three, four or five years.

Security - For every sum of money you invest in a Guaranteed Mortgage Certificate, The Canada Trust Company guarantees to set aside a like amount of securities authorized by the Government as proper investments for trust funds.

The cash value of those securities is, at all times, equal to the amount invested by the public in the Guaranteed Mortgage Certificate Department.

Surplus Security -$1,700,000 - the total of the Company's Paid-up Capital and Reserve Fund — is pledged as a guarantee for the payment of principal and interest when due.

Arrangements for securing an increased income for you will take but a few moments of your time.

TANADA TRUST COMPANY "Faithful, Permanent and Impartial"

Four Branches in London Richmond St. opposite Post Office Market Square Dundas St. opposite Rectory St.

Corner Elmwood and Wortley

T. G. Meredith, K. C.

Hume Cronyn, General Manager

Over 2,000 Satisfied Users

The ROBB Coal Carburetor Saves One-Fifth of Your Fuel!

MORE HEAT LESS ASHES LESS ATTENTION

It works equally well on Anthracite-Coke-Welsh or Alberta Coals or Bituminous Coal.

For Use in Private Homes Stores, Warehouses, Schools Factories

(Hot Air, Hot Water or Steam)

MONTREAL R. W. ROBB, 285 Beaver Hall Hill AMHERST, N. S.

TORONTO, ONT T. C. GRIFFITHS CO. 165 King St. E. LONDON, ONT. YEATES MACHINERY CO. 260 Burwell St.

87 YONGE ST., TORONTO PHONE MAIN 4030

Hennessey

CUT FLOWERS

Casavant Freres CHURCH LIMITEE Organ Builders

ST. HYACINTHE

Stained Glass Memorial Windows

We make a specialty of Catholic Church Windows. B. Leonard 5351 John St. Quebec. Que

EDUCATIONAL

St. Jerome's College Founded 1864 KITCHENER, ONT.

REV. W. A. BENINGER, C. R., President

Central Commercial College

725 ST. CATHERINE W. MONTREAL QUEBEC

The ideal course in Pitman's Shorthand "Touch" Typewriting for ambitious students Phone Up 7363

P. O'NEILL

UPHOLSTERING

OF ALL KINDS Chesterfields Made to Order CHAS. M. QUICK Richmond St. London, Ont. Opposite St. Peter's Parish Hall

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

John Ferguson & Sons 180 KING ST.

The Leading Undertakers & Embalmers Open Night and Day Telephone—House 373. Factory 543

E. C. Killingsworth FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Open Day and Night 389 Burwell St. Phone 3971

CLINGER

ondon's Rubber Man TIRES and VULCANIZING We repair anything in Rubber. Galoshes and Rubber Boots a specialty.

G. M. MURRAY LONDON

Expert Radiator and Auto Sheet Metal Worker BRAZING OF ALL KINDS PHONES - NIGHTS 5448. DAY 2327

James R. Haslett Sanitary and Heating

Engineer Agent for Fess Oil Burners 521 Richmond St. London, Ont.

Phone St. Louis 2557

N. HOUSE Butcher

And Provision Merchant

We Specialize in Western Beef Ontario Lambs FISH AND POULTRY 12 St. Viateur Street, West MONTREAL, QUE.

The Catholic Record

date Editor—H. F. Mackintosh, ger—Robert M. Burns.

ess business letters to the Manage filed Advertising 15 cents per ance must accompany the CATHOLIC RECORD BOX addr I send 10 cents to prepay exper awa, Ont., single copies may be pur rom J. W. O'Brien, 141 Nicholas St.

In Sydney, N. S., single copies may purchased at Murphy's Bookstore.

LONDON, SATURDAY, OCT. 27, 1928

LAWS THAT BRING LAW INTO CONTEMPT

In a casual, humorous reference Dickens declared that the wisdom of our ancestors was embodied in a certain proverb. All proverbs and proverbial sayings do embody the wisdom or experience of our ancestors; and their truth is either obvious or a matter of daily verification by experience; otherwise the proverb would die a natural death.

There is a proverb that one is forced to think over these days: 'An Englishman's house is his castle." Perhaps there are some Irishmen left who grudge to think we have anything to learn from England or Englishmen; or who, with good grace, would even consider the matter. Yet England and Englishmen with a thousand years of liberty must have something of value to teach the world, Ireland included. "An Englishman's house is his castle" is one of those proverbial sayings pregnant with significance. It asserts the liberty of the individual against even the majesty of the king. It asserts the equality of the humble householder with the lord of the castle. Without arrogance but with conscious pride in rights the fathers won, it draws the line that the powers of Government, even the King's majesty, must respect. It is an epitome of the charters of liberty and the bills of rights that in a more virile age the subjects wrung from their king. It represents a state of mind that is immune to the pagan-and neo-pagan-disease of State-worship.

We live in an age which boasts of its liberty; yet perhaps in no period of known history was the sphere of liberty, civil, political, European people had to submit or of a great city. There is a wave of were alarmed years ago; and those personal, so much invaded, so retricted by meddlesome, fussy legislation as our own. Very good but narrow and intolerant people by dint of agitation so play on the poltroonery and selfishness of politicians, and on the credulity and ignorance of a section of the electorate, that personal freedom and personal responsibility are almost left out of consideration altogether. And yet freedom and responsibility are the father and mother of character development. Without freedom and responsibility, personal and national, character, personal and national, will be weak, servile, sullen and rebellious, or undeveloped.

These are considerations that the unco guid and their unthinking followers do not take into account. There is an abuse or perhaps only something distasteful to a certain type of mind; the unreflecting zealot, unread in the lessons of history, at once exclaims: "there should be a law against it !" And this class of people have cluttered up the statute books of this continent with all sorts of fool laws. The proverbial Philadelphia lawyer can not even keep track of them. Many are ignored, many forgotten, many openly violated, and their opinion and public conscience.

there were undoubted abuses. A above a brute. He incited people sane process of elimination of these to commit crimes to make money abuses was in operation. The ex- out of public weakness. That any tremists, however, promised the law, government or body of men were once enacted. And those who to stand on the statutes of the an antidote. have room only for one idea, one Dominion of Canada is a disgrace more prohibition, more officers to make something, is different." enforce it, more drastic penalties. And this when the disparity between the penalty for offences of law is already a scandal and a stumbling block for those who are, or should be, acquiring their education in respect for all law.

All the while lawlessness grows. accustomed to see laws contemned and broken without compunction. To the charge that prohibition is Therefore if you abolish prohibition you should for the same reason abol- that such a state of affairs should ish laws against theft and murder and arson. This is a fallacy that misleads none but the most hopelessly infatuated. Theft and murder and arson are crimes. No one may commit them without shame; and if such there be they cannot escape the condemnation of public opinion, of the public conscience. They brand themselves as criminals and their example deters rather than attracts. Nowhere in the civilized world will public opinion and public conscience condone these unquestioned crimes. But when the law makes a crime of what no sane person in the Christian world regards as a crime in itself we should expect just what we have-an alarming increase of lawlessness. It is an axiom amongst educators that the school which has the fewest laws and rules of conduct, the fewest penalties for infractions. is the school where discipline has the greatest influence in shaping that the school that has the least teaching is that in which the pupils are best taught. Effective parental control and good home education of resourcefulness that they must severe punishments.

In the school and in the home responsibility must be cultivated in the sphere of reasonable freedom of action. So it becomes clear that, properly understood, students of history, of government and of sociolwhich is governed the least.

Indeed it was only a very few bidden") regulations.

liberty-destroying restrictions imposed on the people of America.

smoke or work or play to excess. become material." But to take such matters out of put them into the category of laws, and eventually all law, into one of Dickens' characters that the law is a hass."

UPLIFTING BY THE JUDAS

ISCARIOT METHOD Some time ago an inspector of the Inland Revenue Department subpleted it turned out to be a still suitable for making whiskey. Then the revenue officer laid a charge against the tinsmith of being illegally in possession of a still. He admitted that the informant got half of any fine up to $200.

Mr. Brunton, who tried the case. is evidently a man as well as a magistrate. His comments are worth preserving:

"The kind of language I'd like violation is condoned by public to use in connection with this case is hardly suitable for a police court. With regard to the liquor traffic This man is only a few degrees disciples of the zealots and in time had been doing this deliberately and Irish feud was the cause of the him with a settled theology which man's good nature, and in a recent | the action of the Church in raising worse than their masters. The was found out he should have been Irish confronted with an appalling in- people insidiously going to the Lloyd George shed some interesting that, Christ built her on a rock. crease of lawlessness, scream for man's house to encourage him to light.

said : "You stand here convicted of one much graver import to society and of the most contemptible offences that for breaches of the prohibition a man could be convicted of—the I have the most profound contempt for a man who would do the work you did—you are a man of little intelligence and almost profound ignorance—it is the department and system that's to blame as much as you did-you are a man of little A generation is growing up intelligence and almost profound system that's to blame as much as you. I hope the publicity given to a failure, the one-ideal extremist this in this country, and in this welshman, when the cheers of city, will help to wipe out this state.

Therefore if you abolish prohibition of affairs. It's simply described. exist in a civilized country.'

Concluding, he said he hoped the best interests of justice would be served by the publicity given, and would mark the case "suspended sentence.'

respect for law and its administra-

It is this sort of thing that suggested the reflections in the precedfairness be said that neither the Ontario Temperance Act nor the Ontario Government is at all involved. It is a matter of federal he legislation and administration. It is none the less intolerable.

Similar charges have been seriously made against the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act. They have been denied. We find, nevertheless, that decent public nevertheless, that decent public settlement of the Irish question; opinion regards many of the no man did more to end the feud character and conduct. There is a methods of the O. T. A. espionage very real sense in which it is true and enforcement as contemptible, degrading and unworthy a free and self-respecting people.

When the state of religion is such that its diffident ministers seek to honor and conscience and a sense of substitute for even decadent relig-

LLOYD GEORGE

Two or three things of special interest we noted concerning the ogyareright in their well-known and triumphal tour of Lloyd George apparently paradoxical dictum that through this continent. When this that country is best governed best known man in the public life of the world was in Montreal he said:

"I have noticed that Montreal is years ago when our superior lips a city of very beautiful churches. that last year there was one divorce curled in contempt and derision of When I came here twenty-four years the servile subject of the German ago your population, I think, was country. In 1916 there was one Emperor who tamely submitted to about a quarter of a million. Since divorce for every 9.3 marriages. endless "Verboten" ("It is for- then you have prospered and I am The figures are alarming in their As a matter of cold fact neither have not forgotten God. It is the few people. Most of those who the Germans nor any other only sure foundation for the future could be alarmed about the matter would submit to the meddlesome, materialism sweeping over the who don't care a rap whether the world. Europe is in the grip of a grim struggle between hope and on not caring. It is wrong to eat or drink or despair, and in that struggle it has

Now we do not want to be the sphere of personal freedom and suspected of falling into the all too common error of attributing to the criminal offences is to bring such pronouncements of famous men undue and undeserved authority. disrepute; to justify the verdict of As, for instance, when Edison, justly famous for his mechanical inventions, is quoted on matters spiritual as though his success as an electrician should give great weight to his views on God and religion. That sort of thing is absurd. But from Lloyd George's address in mitted to a Toronto tinsmith the Montreal may well suggest to thinkdrawings of an article which he ing men and women subjects for desired to have made. When com- serious reflection. His eminence in world affairs may serve as a spur to such reflection.

An incident in the famous statesman's departure from New York is may admit that it is lawful. thus reported:

As he entered the platform gate,

"I am a born Irishman," he shouted, "and I want to tell you that I regard you as the world's greatest man. The ex-premier's hat was in his and. He bowed low, murmured

'I thank you," and hurried on. This Irish lawyer may have been "

Former Governor Martin H. Addressing Oliver, the magistrate Glynn went to New York to be weak and fallen state towards the tax-payers are complaining because to Albany in the ex-Premier's private betrayal of his fellow-man. You a Catholic of Irish descent) who in- desire to change from a wife of to the "saxpence" and kindred Brasen- rose Colledge in Oxenare a modern Judas Iscariot. While troduced the distinguished visitor to the people of his home town-Albany, the State capital.

said I fought the cause of the com-

I have always fought the cause of the people from whom I sprang.

"He has also told you of the settlement of the age-old feud between the great races, England and Ireland, who stood side by side in other fights and who should never have wared never have waged war on each other.

"But he has not told you the great part he played in it. Magistrate Brunton's action and great part he played in it.
"Governor Glynn and I, in a dingy room in London, the office of the prime minister, had most unusual conferences. He told me, the very frankly, how the Irish people viewed the feud of centuries, and what they desired in the way of ing article. It must, however, in liberty; how the American people felt on the subject; and I told him, equally frankly, what I believed to be the purpose of Great Britain.

"At the end of those interviews he took my views to the Irish leaders and he brought their hopes and aspirations, clarified, to me Out of this exchange sprang the new Ireland, the Irish Free State.

The people of Albany—Gover-Glynn's fellow-townsmen fellow-townsmennor should feel highly honored, because no man did more to bring about a which had existed for seven hundred years, than your distin-guished fellow-citizen, Martin H. Glynn. And I am glad to be in your city to bear testimony to you of the great help he brought me

It is well that credit should be children are not found where the transfer their powers and duties to given where credit is due. But only this can check and master parents are so poverty-stricken in the State religion is in a bad way. notwithstanding his becoming mod-When the sur-charged State stoops esty Irish men and women the world resort to multitudinous restrictions, to such methods as the above—and a over know that it was Lloyd another. spying on their children, and thousand and one others known to George and the Calition which he everybody who cares to know-the headed and held together that made jurisdiction of the State is a poor that great and statesmanlike settlement of the old old feudwith its still bitter memories for some-possible and actual.

POLYGAMY BY ANY OTHER NAME

By THE OBSERVER

Polygamy by any other name would smell as rotten. The Census Bureau of the United States states for every 7.6 marriages in that glad that in your prosperity you character, but they will alarm very family is preserved or not will go

Marriage has been steadily de graded ever since it was taken out of the hands of the Catholic Church; ever since it was put on the footing of a mere civil contract, like any other worldly agreement that a man and a woman might make in a business matter. There is no force in heresy to withstand the progressive disintegration and degradation of Christian marriage. There are. of course, still a great number of non-Catholics who do not think lightly of marriage and the family life. There are, to the shame of we believe that the passage quoted Catholics be it said, non-Catholics who teach Catholics by their good example; though such teaching should not be needed. There are non-Catholics who have a high conception of the dignity of marriage, and who would never think of a divorce, even though in theory they | Irishman as the butt of the world's | specially remarkable for loftiness of

But the figures of the census is usually directed against his elaboration." prove that the numbers of such non-supposed parsimoniousness. We a man carrying a brief case dodged through the police lines.

Catholics must be growing quickly say supposed, for a little consideration will show that while proverties and greatly less. The reason tion will show that while proverties the proventies of the provent less and greatly less. The reason for that is plain enough: An evil bially careful the average Scot is of "The Works of Sir Thomas More, attempt analysis of the outward which appeals to man's passions cannot be fought without an adequate system of theology; a system and a science which takes a stand in an essential matter, and says, however, none relishes a joke upon of the Hande and Starre, the yere of the history of the Golden age. To the history of the Golden age. To the history of the Hande and Starre, the yere of the history of the Golden age. To the history of the Golden age. To the history of the Hande and Starre, the yere of the history of the Hande and Starre, the yere of the history of the Golden age. a bit too enthusiastic in his appreci- that, man will press on to the satis- any real point at all it may usually in black letter, is priced at £65. The ation of England's ex-Premier; but faction of his passions. If it is necesation of England's extremer; but faction of his passions. If it is necesit is pleasanter reading than the sary to change all his views, he large faction of his passions. If it is necesit is pleasanter reading than the sary to change all his views, he large faction of his passions. If it is necessary to change all good cannot but cause all good cannot be cannot b boorishness and balderdash of some will do that. If it is necessary to Weekly Scotsman in this connection, that of one of the sanest minds, the whether our present position with millennium if total prohibition will permit an act of that kind Irish republicans. Let it serve as manufacture a philosophy of his Scots as a people have become so loftiest characters, and the noblest all its appended advantages, is comown and to call his vices virtues, he used to the "saxpence" story that wits that England can boast of. parable with that of those giants, Doubtless the great act of states- will do that too. That is where it they never hear it without smiling. His higher fame as a Christian with hand and brain left us indelible

New-Yorker's enthusiasm. admits of no change. Only the false prophets of the millennium, properly punished, but to have And on how this was brought about Catholic Church can do that. To do

> Heresy cannot do that; cannot greeted by the British statesman as satisfaction of his passions. Espe- it costs five dollars a day to fire the of Alchemy," "composed by the an old friend and accompanied him cially can this not be done by relig- one o'clock gun at Edinburgh thrice-famous and learned Fryer, from the very thing that is happen- son of the heather. ing to it today; that is, disintegration and destruction.

> > Once in a while we hear some more stringent to restrict divorce; change in the civil law is a mere expedient to meet sentiment for the special interest for Catholics since moment; passion and wilfulness it necessarily contains many items will resume their triumphant march. dating back to the first ages of Law is no safeguard against such an evil as divorce, because it can be changed, and because those who may make it do not rely for its justification on a principle which they believe to be eternal and immutable.

Therefore even if laws were passed tomorrow abolishing the legal right to divorce, such laws would not endure. Human passion would soon demand that they be repealed, and the right to legal polygamy be restored.

Nothing but theology, accepted in a spirit of faith, and leading to sound conceptions of what the family is, what God intended it to do, and how that divine purpose is defeated by man's device for breaking up marriage and homes,man's desire to transfer his fickle affections from one woman to

NOTES AND COMMENTS for yourself.

'little ones of Christ.'

ANOTHER EXAMPLE of Catholic missionary constancy is afforded by the death within the past two months of Father Constance logue, "and his movement is confi- those perishing branches which for Chounavel, who for seventy-one years, without a break, had labored several of the prologues be among the natives of Ceylon. He reaches his highest level as was the oldest priest in the entire a poet. He shows a strong and both the old and the new world. world, having been born at Socourt, true love for external nature, in the Vosges, in 1825, and ordained at a time when such a devotion was by the Founder of the Oblate Order, not specially fashionable; he disin 1852. Within two months of his plays an easy candour in reference some consolation to know that those ordination he sailed for India, by to the opinions of those likely to way of the Cape, the voyage occupy- criticise him; he proves that he can ing five months. He died at his at will change his style for the sake and noble work. post in the island which had so of effect; and in accordance with long been the scene of his mission- his theme can be impassioned, reflecary labors.

Scot seems to have displaced the ous moneth tyme of June'-is tion will show that while prover- attacts attention is the first edition neither stingy or tight-fisted where Knight, Sometime Lord Chauncellor forms which remain to us as crystaleither his reason or his feelings are of England, written by him in the appealed to. With his own keen, if Englysh tonge," and "Imprinted at undemonstrative sense of humor, London in Fleet streete at the sygne be traced back to Scottish origin. name of Blessed Thomas More has consideration, at a time became to civilization. Of course, if a man manship which settled the Anglo- is necessary to meet him and check But there is a limit to even a Scots- martyr has found its due setting by impression of their genius, dead instance his demur seems justified. him to her altars.

THE FOLLOWING paragraph has had widespread currency in Ameriious bodies which began by making | Castle "-a circumstance which if | Roger Bachon, sometimes fellow of whom he had got tired to some stories. But it happens that the forde,"-" original vellum, very fine other woman. The Catholic Church | boot is on the other leg this time. of England had she been willing to resolved to save a few pounds of This may be had for £105. The could have saved herself endless of the gun, and it was the people of through which the family is created, least apologies are due the maligned > rare books. This catalogue has competent authority. printing in which Catholics had so large a share-were indeed the discoverers and pathfinders. A few excerpts may be of general interest.

THE INITIAL item is a copy of the Thomas a' Kempis "Imitation of measured up the world." Certainly after the be said to have brought comfort to not require than any other book ever written. since first issued from the press 450 years ago, would, if tabulated, run at least four figures. This first edition is priced by the vendors at £600, or close on $3,000.

A SECOND item of great Catholic interest, though not a religious present chaotic financial conditions Famous Poete Virgill out of Latine in Germany is afforded by the Verses into Scottish Metir," by thence bearing postage to the This is the famous Bishop who beextent of 150,000 marks each. The friended Queen Mary Stewart par value of the mark is about against the machinations of the while she yet lived to clear her name from the foul aspersions cast upon THE HOLY Father has sent his it by her enemies. As a man of special blessing to Padre Daniele letters he has the merit of being the da Samarate, a Capuchin of the first classical translator in the lan-Lombard province, who is dying of guage and he seems to have set his pray, we have lisped those beautileprosy contracted in the course of own example by working at pas- ful words "Thy Kingdom Come;" his ministrations to the lepers of sages of Ovid, of which no specimen Maranhao, Brazil. Father Daniele now exists. He must have done the has been a missionary there for whole translation of Virgil, protwenty-five years, and, like Father logues and all, together with that Damien, turned his back upon of the supplementary book of everything that men ordinarily hold Maphaus Vegius, within the short light and the consolations of copy of the first edition is priced at dent, steadfast, and regular. In tive, or devout. The hymn to the Creator prefixed to the tenth book-WITHIN THE past few years the descriptive of summer and the 'joywitticisms. The joke at his expense aim and sustained excellence of

A THIRD book which naturally

THE ONLY other item which the exigencies of space permit us at hold up the advance of man in his can papers: "Edinburgh.-Scottish this time to mention as a first edition of Roger Bacon's "Mirror car. It was the ex-Governor (who is an improper concession to man's true, would tend to give fresh life Martin Colledge : and afterwards of could have saved herself the loss It was the British War Office that London, by Richard Olive, 1597. copy, extremely rare," printed at make such a concession; and she powder by lessening the detonation place of Roger Bacon, friar and scientist, is secure amongst the trouble in other countries had she Edinburgh who raised a storm of most learned men of all ages. A not been so much in earnest about protest against this parsimonious mere enumeration of his discoveries preserving the family and marriage policy. So that in this instance at would fill pages. Suffice it here to say that if the so-called modern discoveries which were anticipated by him were tabulated it would be LOVERS OF old books would be in- seen how great is the debt which terested in a handsomely illustrated modern scholars owe to him. And, suggestion that the laws be made catalogue of old English literature as stated, he was a priest and a covering the Tudor and Stuart friar and as humble and devout as and that may be done; but, as a periods, arranged chronologically, he was learned. His conclusions bulwark against the ever surging just issued by Pickering and Chatto, may not always have found acceptpassions of the human body, a the well-known London dealers in ance, but he always referred to

CATHOLIC TRUTH SOCIETY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE their part, as far as it is possible in assisting in the Propagation of the Faith. It is only fair to say that the faithful in all parts of extremely rare first edition of the world have at all times Thomas a Kennis "Imitation of measured up to the obligations which the Holy Father from time to Christ," printed by Gunther Zainer, time may have imposed upon them. in 1471. It is described by the book- The giving of alms in aid of the sellers as the "most famous book in missionaries, it must not be thought is the chief neccessity of the missionary. In the last analysis, if Bible itself the Imitation may truly God so willed, missionaries would any assistance more hearts, and raised more minds material kind, but so far as it is to contemplation of heavenly things given to us to know, God's plan is that the Church in mission with which it has been The editions it has passed through charged should in some way place some responsibility not alone upon the missionaries to whom the divine vocation is extended, but likewise on those who can only render assist ance by way of prayers and almsgiving. that we can take in the Propagation of the Faith. Following the Divine Injunction, we can offer our poor interest, though not a religious prayers that the Lord may send work, is the translation of "The labourers into His harvest; we can A concrete demonstration of the XIII. Bukes of Eneados of the offer our alms that the missionaries of the Church may be enabled to go and preach the Gospel to every creature. We can encourage, as receipt this week of letters from Gavin Douglas, Bishop of Dunkeld. far as it lies in our power to encourage, the work of the Foreign Missions in our midst, and in doing this, and in doing other things which shall be outlined for us by twenty-three cents. Figure it out pestilent "Reformers," and sought our priests and bishops, we can take some part in the great plan which has been ordained by the Master. Himself, for the Propagation of the Faith among the peoples of the world.

Since we have been taught to conclusion then, is it not fitting that I should express for you the hope that God's Kingdom may indeed trous races to whom the light of the to those who are deprived of the space of eighteen months. This Faith, who have not, like us, the divine assistance against sin that the Church offers to her people. May it come also for those countries in the East which are being moved "Douglas writes in heroic couplets," says the editor of the catacenturies have been detached by schism from the trunk of Catho unity, and finally, may it come from

> And then, when that glorious day shall have dawned in the world, that day of spiritual birth for some, and resurrection for others, it will be who have followed the directions of the Holy Pontiff have taken their part as best they could in this grand

FRIDAY AFTERNOON GOTHIC ARCHITECTURE

MR. R. H. MILLSON, M. R. A. I. C.

In presenting a study of Gothic Architecture the author felt that in the short space of time available it is more fitting to approach the sub-ject on the basis of the relation of wonderful development Gothicism to the system of life prevailing during the period of devel-opment and decline, rather than to lized history.

Consideration of the subject from this angle is moreover of especial interest to Catholics, for it is truly the achievements which were rooted and developed during the Gothic who, with souls working in harmony stone but animate through the cen-

To those to whom the present and recent horrors of modern life appear the fore-runner of another dark age it is well to remember that the dawn of Medieval Christian Civilization and progress came abruptly in the midst of a tempest of destruc-tion. From the foundation of the monastery of Cluny in 909 may be traced the great spiritual stimulus which for two centuries prepared the way for the great era which followed. In the wake of the Bene-dictines of Cluny came the other great monastic orders and eventu-ally the foundation of the trade guilds which came as a natural development operating to the advan-tage of both the craftsman and his

Then were the Arts born again, and Architecture, opening like a flower in the benign warmth of HolyChurch,progressed through the Carolingian Renaissance, through the school of Tuscany, Lombardy and Normandy until finally with logical and orderly precision was developed the wonderful aesthetic quality in buildings and the lesser arts which is expressed as Gothic.
The enormous number of abbeys, cathedrals and parish churches erected during the three cen-turies when Gothic Art was in its most glorious development remains as a record of the noble part played by the monks who built them and of the people who used them; as lasting and intimate memorials of the place which religion and the Church must have bed memorials of the place which religion and the Church must have had in relation to the people. Then, surely, the Church was the chief power in community and State, the personal interest of every member of society.

When by the end of the eleventh century the Benedictines of Cluny had made the Art they had recrease.

had made the Art they had recreated a thing of luxury, when simplicity and economy gave place to elaboration and opulence, the time was ripe for monasticism to revert to the sterner type founded by St. Benedict in the sixth century, and (as again in a later century) to re-establish itself on a sturdier if less ornate foundation. Thus the twelfth century opened with the foundation of the order of Citeaux by St. Robert of Molesme and a return to the Benedictinism of St. Benedict himself. The effect on Architecture was immediate and fundamental. Hitherto accepted principles of structural statics gave newly discovered physical laws, and under the influence of the Cistercians the Franks brought to bear on the resulting problems that acute intellect and creative ingenuity which are characteristics of

By them Architecture was remodelled, and within the limits of a century the structural elements of potential Gothic were being discovered and developed until at last under Lanfranc, these were assembled and made ready for that quickening touch which was to transform them into coherency and above all to mould into them that essential Gothic quality which Ralph Adams Cram so ably analysed under the three heads of Cohesion, Economy and Character. Let us then remember that Gothic Art is the reflection of the substance of medievalism, of scholastic and sacramental philosophy of Catholic theology and of communal organiz-ation. Many of the modern attempts to build in this style have led to results which can only be described as atrocious burlesques. The land is full of misconceptions and mishandlings of Gothic, partly through ignorance, but principally because Gothic Art was the develof man through his hands, and today most of our craftsmen and the people who direct them rather encourage the leaving of the soul on the doorstep during working

the French to the present day.

We as Catholics must take our meed of blame for we have built much Architecture which is utterly to our discredit. Behind us we have the greatest architectural history of all time, should we not study it and show the way to a just and honest expression of ourselves and honest expression of ourselves of the greatness of Holy Mother Church.
Surely the time has arrived when the Catholic Church in this country should seek an artistic expression which would do less injustice to her religious culture.

To longer endure the trifling of ignorant minds and hands in the shaping of her material temple is to conceal the divinity of her mes-

It is an obligation that the Church owes to herself to express her tradi-tions and stability in building of character and real worth instead of those which will analyze only in terms of ugliness and insincerity.

The Art of the Catholic Church

should be second to none. Our fore-runners developed and maintained it on such a plane. Can we with truth say that we have kept faith

FRIDAY EVENING A PRESENT DAY PROBLEM MICHAEL WILLIAMS, LITT. D.

How to reach the more intelligent

How to reach the more intelligent minds of the non-Catholic public with Catholic ideas and principles was the subject of the address given by Michael Williams, Litt. D., of The Calvert Associates at the Russell Theatre, Friday evening, the occasion being the last session of the Catholic ideas and principles was the subject of the address given by Michael Williams, Litt. D., of The Calvert Associates at the Russell Theatre, Friday evening, the occasion being the last session of the catholic public proposed new review of The Calvert Associates will serve as a useful instrument in this necessary cooperation.

The friendliness that has pure good nature for its foundation will The Third Annual Convention of the Catholic Truth Society of Canada.

"A Present Day Problem" was the title of Mr. Williams' address. In substance he spoke as follows "The particular problem that has to be faced by Catholic publicists is connected with the fact that there is no constant medium of communication between Catholic thinkers and writers and the general non-Catholic public. The official Catholic press, while performing an irreplaceable function in the instruction and enlightenment of Catholic tion and enlightenment of Catholic readers, does not and apparently cannot reach the secular mind in any direct or positive fashion. Indirectly, of course, the influence of the Catholic press on the secular public mind can be traced, but not in any degree commensurate with the importance of Catholic Truth. This is particularly unfortunate at a time like the present when there growing desire on the part of fairminded non-Catholics to consider the claims of Catholicity, particu-larly as the principles of Catholicity, apply to the solution of the many pressing social problems of our times.

The speaker then proceeded to describe an effort which is being made to solve this problem through The Calvert Associates, an organization mostly composed of laymen and laywomen, and also of non-Catholics, which was formed some months ago and is now spreading throughout the United States and Canada, also numbering many members in England, Ireland, France, Italy, and other countries.

"The Calvert Associates derives its name from Lord Calvert, the English Catholic layman who founded the Colony of Maryland, where first the principle of religious liberty and toleration was set up as part of the fundamental law of the land and carried into actual effect. The Association has for its object the publication of a weekly literary and social review of the highest achievable distinction and literary interest. It will deal with social and economic subjects and all important developments in art, science, philosophy, music, drama, and contemporary affairs from the vantage ground of Catholic principles. Many leading Catholic writers such as Sir Bertram Windle, Dr. James J. Welsh, Hilpire Pollog Dr. James J. Walsh, Hilaire Belloc, Dr. Frederick Joseph Kinsman, Theodore Maynard, Prof. Carlton, J. H. Haves, G. K. Chesterton, Abbe Ernest Dimnet, Rev. C. C. Martin-dale, and many others in the United States, Canada, and European countries, have already signified their interest in the new project and have agreed to take part in the editorial conduct of the review, or to become contributors. The new review will not enter the field of ecclesiastical affairs. It will be in ecclesiastical animis. It will be in no sense an official organ of the Catholic Church, although many members of the American Hier-archy, and also Archbishop McNeil of Toronto, are hearty supporters and well-wishers of the enterprise.

In many liberal and radical journals circulating among the most influential people—teachers, writers, public leaders—are to be found brilliant expositions of theory ies of life, art, and government that often are most fallacious or demoralizing. Well printed, and, for the most part, well written, they make strong appeal to intelli-gent readers. They are conducted by people who are sincere in the views that they express and are actuated by a genuine missionary spirit in their promulgation. They preach a doctrine and philosophy of life which are at most vital points opposed to Christian doctrine and Christian philosophy. Their influ-ence upon the thought of the world is out of all proportion to the relatively small circulation that they

It is the intention of The Calvert Associates that its new review shall make equally strong appeal to the same class of readers, as well as to principles to bear upon the task of solving the problems that threaten the city and district of Montreal. our civilization today. There is a world-wide organized movement to destroy Christianity. There should be—there must be—a Christian movement to save the world. The whole situation is a challenge to intelligent, educated Catholics.

The plan of The Calvert Associates has already advanced so far that it is hoped the new review will begin publication on or near the first of the year. The problems facing Canadian Catholics are, in many ways, so akin to those confronting American Catholics the it fronting American Catholics that it support. The fullest cooperation possible should be achieved between Catholics on both sides of the boun-dary line in a common effort to bring the conserving and creative values of Catholic principles to the attention of intelligent public leaders. The speaker believed that the proposed new review of The Calvert Associates will serve as a useful instrument in this necession.

good nature for its foundation will make for the possessor a welcome in any society.

SKETCH OF LIFE OF BISHOP RHEAUME

Ottawa Evening Journal, Oct. 18

At University of Ottawa, where he held the rectorship from 1915 to 1921, and labored eighteen years, His Lordship Bishop Louis Rheaume, O. M. I., Th. D., of Haileybury, who was formally consecrated to the episcopacy here today, achieved among his colleagues the reputation of being a very capable professor, a shrewd administrator, and indefatigable worker, and withal, essentially a man of duty. Bishop essentially a man of duty. Bishop Rheaume's rectorship of the uni-versity was characterized by a sage, progressive and b siness-like administration. It is said the administration. It is said the administrative capacity he revealed in that post, along with other qualifications, was an important factor in his appointment to the See of Haileybury, vacant since the death of Bishop Lovis Ariest Letalism of Bishop Louis Anicet Latulipe, which occurred at Cobalt on Dec. 14, 1922.

head of the diocese of Haileybury by His Holiness, Pope Pius XI. on June 8 last. The papal bulls containing formal notice of appointment were received at Ottawa on August 28. His Lordship took possession of his diocese on Sept. 11.

When Bishop Rheaume enters upon his duties and takes up residence at New Liskeard, the temporary seat of the diocese, it will be not only as the inheritor of the pastoral charge laid down by Bishop Latulipe at his death, but also as the exponent of the high traditions of the members of his order, the Oblate Missionary Fathers. They were pioneers in mission work in the "North Country." Not only did they spread the word of God but also contributed notably in making known to the outside world the potentialities of that section of Canada. They blazed the trail that opened up what are today important

Great tasks confront Bishop Rheaume in the north. The disastrous fire of October, 1922, wiped out all the diocesan institutions at Haileybury and destroyed many parish churches. They will have to be replaced. In the discharge of his pastoral duties Bishop Rheaume will have to cover an immense area. Territorially, the diocese of Haileybury is the largest in Canada. It embraces approximately 68,000 square miles of territory, which is an area larger than the Maritime Provinces and the Kingdom of Bel-

Bishop Rheaume was born Levis, Que., November 21, 1873, the son of Jeremie Rheaume, manufacturer and founder, and Philo-mene Nadeau. His father's people had long been settled in the Quebec district, while his mother came originally from La Riviere du Loup En Bas. The Rheaumes are anything but newcomers on Canadian soil. The little colony of New France, founded by Samuel de Champlain in 1608 was still in a nascent state when Rene Rheaume left his native heath of Charles-bourg, Department of Charente Inferieure, in the historic diocese of Larochelle, and sailed for Quebec in 1642. He took up farming in New France and was the founder of a family which has since ramified in remarkable proportions.

As a boy, the Bishop of Hailey-bury attended the primary schools of his home town. He was but nine years of age when his parents removed to Montreel where Phenomen removed to Montreal where Rheaume, Senior, established himself in the foundry business. Young Rheaume continued his education in Montreal, showing among other things an exceptional aptitude for the assimilation of the most complex mathematical problems. He leaned to civil engineering and surveying as a career, and opportunity came his way to get "initiated" in the practical sides of these professions, particularly that of surveying. His experience in survey work was one of the most interesting phases of his whole career. For a period of five years he worked as an assistant to surveyors of national reputation, such as Hon. Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, and in the discharge of his duties he actually "covered" the greater portion of

The survey some times called for street re-alignments in the business districts and such work as chaining" could only be carried on in the very early hours of the morning when the streets were free of pedestrians and vehicular traffic. Meticulous care had to be observed in making the surveys, as the slightest incorrect deviation was fraught with possibilities of was fraught with possibilities of costly litigation between the city and property owners. Faded and dust-covered records relating to the earliest surveys on the Island of is believed the proposed review will be of great interest to Canadian readers and will be worthy of their support. The fullest cooperation Rheaume showed competence that earned him the encomiums of his chiefs.

Just as a bright future was being predicted for him, the young apprentice surveyor was gripped with the feeling that his true vocation and life work lay in a different direction. Young Rheaume decided to study for the priesthood. He was then twenty years old. It to study for the priesthood. He was then twenty years old. It required resoluteness to take up the study of the classics at a period in life when others were graduating from college, but the young man did not falter. He entered the Sacred Heart Juniorate, Ottawa, in the fall of 1893, continuing his studies at University of Ottawa until the completion of his arts course in 1898. Bishop Rheaume scholastic successes were notable. It is of interest to record here that one of Bishop Rheaume's professors at University of Ottawa was Father M. F. Fallon, the present Bishop of London, Ont. Bishop Fallon was professor of English and English literature at the university in those days.

The next step in Bishop Rheaume's career was his entry into the Order of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. The period of his novitiate, August 15, 1898, to August 15, 1899, was passed at the house of the order at Lachine, Que. Proceeding to Rome in the autumn of 1899, the young cleric entered the Gregorian University, and after a five year course including that of Doctor Theology. He pronounced his per-petual vows and was ordained to the priesthood in the Eternal City on April 2, 190; by Monseigneur

Returning to Canada in July, 905, then Father Rheaume was appointed to the professorial staff of the University of Ottawa. Bishop Rheaume has remained attached to the University ever since right up to the time of his appointment to he See of Haileybury. In the various posts he has occupied at the university, whether as professor, director of the Grand Seminary, or as rector. Bishop Rheaume's eighteen years' tenure at the university have been years of earnest. fruitful endeavor in the cause of education. In every post he has acquitted himself with distinct honor to himself and his alma mater, and the University of Ottawa osesin his departure a man who took rank with the leading educationists of the country.

From 1905 to 1913 Bishop Rheaume filled the chair of higher mathematics at the university. had the mathematical mind and. what is more, possessed the happy faculty of imparting his knowledge to the students in a clear and prac-tical manner. When he arrived in he was equipped with a methodical mental outline of the hour's programme that was to be unfolded to the students. Bishop Rheaume was rated the most capaole professor of mathematics the university ever had.

Bishop Rheaume was appointed Director of the Ottawa Grand Seminary in 1913, and continued in that capacity until April, 1915, when he succeeded the late Father Henri Gervais, O. M. I., as Rector of the University, being the ninth in ine of appointment to that office. Rector Rheaume held office until April, 1921, and it is stated that the exceptional administrative capacity he revealed in his tenure of that post during the critical period of the War when most Canadian eduinstitutions experienced financial embarrassments, was not foreign to his appointment as Bishop of Haileybury. The Univer-sity progressed along sane lines under his administration. As rector he insisted on the maintenance of the bilingual arts courses at a time when suggestions were being made for the abandonment of the English course. He initiated and carried through the building of the Sisters home and the college laundry plant at a cost of approximately $75,000. His business ability was also evidenced in the foresight he showed in nducing his colleagues at the University Senate to acquire at a reasonable figure valuable real estate contiguous to the University property. The University pro-gressed financially under his regime; obligations incurred following the disastrous fire which wiped out the main University buildings in December, 1903, being substantially reduced. The sustained interest he displayed in the moral, intellectual and physical well-being of the stu-dents was another characteristic trait not only of his rectorship but also of his whole career at the University

Retiring from the rectorship in April, 1921, Bishop Rheaume was re-appointed Director of the Grand Seminary where he was also pro-fessor of Moral Theology, Canon Law and Liturgy, holding these posts until the end of the scholastic term in 1922-23.

Among his colleagues at the university with whom he had been associated for the past eighteen years. Bishop Rheaume leaves behind the reputation of an educationist who was an indefatigable worker and a man of duty, esteemed alike by professors and students.

CATHOLIC YOUTHS PAY HONOR TO POPE

Fifteen hundred young men, belonging to groups of the Catholic Youth of the Ardennes, recently went by special train to Verdun from where, after hearing Mass in the cathedral, they went to visit the battlefield of Douaumont. After visiting the Trench of the Bayonets towards Rome. And from this memorable field of battle let us salute with veneration him who yesterday stroye to arrest the horcourse in 1898. Bishop kneaume proved such a bright pupil that he was offered the opportunity of making two years' studies in one, but he declined, preferring to follow the regular class graduation. He always led his class and his class and his of the Prince of Peace."

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY OF CANADA

Edmonton, Alberta, Sept. 12th, 1923. Right Rev. Mgr. Thos. O'Donnell, President Catholic Church Ex-

It is a privilege and a real pleasure for me to state that the Catholic Church Extension Society of Canada is a great and important factor in the development of our western missions. Speaking for my own of studies, was graduated with diocese, I may say that since coming to Edmonton, less than three years ago, I have been called upon to build thirty-five churches and chapels, in an endeavour to serve the widely-scattered population of Central Alberta. Church Exten-Central Alberta. Church Extension, through its donations of $500 in each case, has made nineteen of these possible. Without this aid given through your worthy society, they could not have been erected. In addition to this, Extension has given me generous aid towards the fund for the education of young men to the holy priesthood; has supplied our missionaries with Mass Intentions; and through its devoted Ladies' Auxiliaries of Toronto and Montreal has furnished a number of necessary for divine service this work, I can safely say that not one dollar has been superfluously expended, and without this aid untold good would still be left undone Most certainly, therefore, the Canadian Church Extension Society has been directly responsible for the preservation of the Faith of many Catholic families in the scattered districts of this vast country. For the future, however, if the society is to fully and successfully cope with the great needs of our missions, it must receive more generous and more continued support from those whom God has blessed with worldly goods. In this diocese alone, more than twenty chapels are still urgently needed, if little Catholic groups in villages and country districts are to keep the heritage of their Catholic faith. This year alone I shall need $7,000 to help pay my seminary bills. The number of candidates offering to give their service for the western missions is happily increasing. Every worker we can secure will be needed. The salvation of souls is at stake; we, therefore, cannot let even one vocation go. To whom in Canada can we turn for help. To only one society—your God-sent Church Extension.

I therefore hope and pray that Divine Providence will inspire generous-hearted Catholics of Eastern Canada to come to your aid that you, in turn, may help the needy missions of this country and thus garner souls for the kingdom of God. It is safe to say—and this is proved by statistics showing the number of ought-to-be Catholics who are married outside the Church -that 20% of our people in scattered districts have been lost to the Church. Can we allow this to continue? This must not be. Yet, the leakage can only be prevented by the multiplication of small chapels and of missionary priests. All this requires money.

Though our faithful people do what they can to support their churches and give their mite to the seminary fund, yet the needs are so many and so pressing that we can-not, for years to come, hope to be self-supporting. Let the East help us during these years of trial and of struggle, and I believe the day will come when the Church of the West will not only supply its own needs, but repay, in overflowing measure, the assistance given her in time of

You ask me to give my opinion of the work Extension has done for the the work Extension has done for the Church in this country. Let me say that it is a heaven-sent boon to the missionary bishops of the West. The real value of the work it is doing in the harvesting of souls for Christ will be known only in the great hereafter.

Wishing your Society every blessing, I am, with sentiments of deep Yours very devotedly in Christ, HENRY J. O'LEARY, Archbishop of Edmonton.

Onations may be addressed to:
REV. T. O'DONNELL, President
Catholic Church Extension Society 67 Bond St., Toronto. Contributions through this office should be addressed:
EXTENSION,

CATHOLIC RECORD OFFICE, London, Ont. DONATIONS Previously acknowledged $6,621 47 Reader, Wauchope, Sask M. Hayes, Stratford.....

1 00 MASS INTENTIONS Port Huron .. 5 00 2 00 5 00 1 00

BURSES

FOR EDUCATION OF P FOR CHINESE MISSIONS

What is a Burse ? A Burse or Free Scholarship is the amount of $5,000, the annual interest of which will perpetually support a student, till he becomes a Priest and Missionary in China. The sum itself is securely invested, and only the annual interest is spent for the training and edu-cation of a candidate for the priest hood. When one student has reached his goal, another takes his place, and thus all who are contrib-uting towards the Burse Fund will be helping to make Missionary Priests long after they have been laid to rest. Imagine how much good can be done by one priest and missionary! Let everyone, there-fore, according to his means contribute to such a meritorious work end your contributions to Father Fraser care of the CATHOLIC RECORD.

QUEEN OF APOSTLES BURSE Previously acknowledged $2,835 88 C. W. L. Mite Box, St. Columban (Mrs. P. H.

Columban McGrath). Reader, Wauchope, Sask Windsor friend..... 2 00 Reader, C. B 10 00 ST. ANTHONY'S BURSE

Previously acknowledged $1,604 95 IMMACULATE CONCEPTION BURSE Previously acknowledged $2,864 98 COMFORTER OF THE AFFLICTED BURSE Previously acknowledged $411 00 ST. JOSEPH, PATRON OF CHINA BURSE Previously acknowledged $3,057 83 C. Ricard, North Bay

BLESSED SACRAMENT BURSE Previously acknowledged $475 05 ST. FRANCIS XAVIER BURSE

Previously acknowledged $383 30 HOLY NAME OF JESUS BURSE Previously acknowledged $305 00 HOLY SOULS BURSE Previously acknowledged $1,678 89

LITTLE FLOWER BURSE

Previously acknowledged $1,098 89 B. W., Bay Bulls..... SACRED HEART LEAGUE BURSE Previously acknowledged $2,833 95 In memory of father and mother, Bay Bulls .

M. Hayes, Stratford

NEW ISSUE

Province of Ontario

Twenty - five year 5% Gold Bonds

Due 15th October, 1948 Denominations $500 & $1000

Price: 98 and interest ylo ding 5.14%

Orders may be telephoned or telegraphed to any of our offices at our expense. Securities will be delivered free of all delivery charges

A-E-AMES & CO ICTORIA.B.C. CHICAGO

Members Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges.

HUNTERS ASSURED SUCCESS

It means much to prospective hunters, whether travelling in a party or alone, to be put in direct touch with the best location for their particular choice of game and with outfitters and guides at the going-in point, with whom satisfacory arrangements can be made beforehand. A hunting trip cannot be other than successful under these conditions. The Canadian Pacific Railway offers this service to anyone who contemplates a hunting trip anywhere, either in Ontario. Quebec, New Brunswick, or in the Rockies for mountain game. Any of its Agents will gladly secure this information, or an inquiry addressed to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, will be given immediate and careful attention. Folder 'Open Seasons for Hunting in Canada, 1923,' will be also forwarded.

Courtesy is good and costs nothing.

The Ontario Loan & Debenture Co. Safety for Savings

1 00

SINCE 1870 this Company with its large share Capital has carried on business in this City, taking deposits and issuing debentures, this money being invested only in the best and safest securities in Canada. Careful conservative management has prevailed throughout this long period, with the result that Surplus security for Depositors and Debenture Holders $4,285,701

First Morigages on Revenue Producing Canadian Real Estate and Government and Municipal Bonds

> Your Savings Account Is Invited

Interest at $3\frac{1}{2}\%$ paid or compounded half-yearly Debentures-Coupon or Accumulative-Interest 51/2 % Full particulars on application

DIRECTORS:

A. M. Smart, President
W. M. Gartshore, John M. Dillon, J. G. Richter, Arthur T. Little Manager-T. H. Main

The Untario Loan & Debenture Co. Offices: Dundas St., Corner Market Lane

LONDON, ONTARIO

A. B. SHUBERT, Limited, 213-215 Pacific Ave., Dept. 140 Winnipeg, Canada. Without obligation send me your "2 books in 1," "THE ART OF TRAPPING," the Big "SHUBERT" SUPPLY CATALOG and free sample of "SHUBERT SURE, CATCH" animal bait. Name. (PLEASE PRINT NAME) Post Office. Electoral District

FIVE MINUTE SERMON

BY THE REV. F. P. HICKEY, O. S. TWENTY-THIRD SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

THE HOLY VIATICUM "Come lay Thy hand upon her, and she shall be safe." (Matt. ix. 18.)

There is one thing that should be the constant theme of our prayers: the one thing above all to be desired. A good life must be crowned by a holy death. And we have confi-dence in this, that our Blessed Lord will graciously hear our prayers.
"Thou hast given him his heart's desire; and has not withholden from him the will of his lips" (Ps. xx. 2)

We have such a perfect model before us in this day's gospel in the ruler, who besought our Blessed Lord to come to his daughter, who was at the point of death. His faith, his earnest entreaty is postured before us three times are pictured before us three times over, as SS. Matthew, Mark, and Luke each give us an account of this miracle that was granted to the father's desire and prayer. Our Saviour was so touched that at once, to allay the father's fears, He said, "Fear not, only believe, and she shall be safe. And Jesus rising up, followed him with His disciples." A delay occurred through the woman that touched the hem of Christ's garment, and our Lord speaking to her. The father's fears redoubled, and friends hastened to meet him, saving: "Thy daughter is dead." saying: "Thy daughter is dead; why dost thou trouble the Master any further? But Jesus . sith, Fear not, only believe" his child being raised to life and restored to him. We have something more precious prayer, our anxiety about the state of our souls, whether dangerous, dying, or dead? Do we fall at our Lord's feet, praying Him to come into our house should pray thus, and be as anxious as that father was. No, the preparation for a holy death is not made when we come to die. It is during life that we should prepare for the end. If we have little or no desire, no fervent longing for Holy Communion during life, we shall not have it when we come to die. Each Communion should be a preparation our aim. for the last one. And oh, how much depends on our Blessed Lord coming to us then! For so great a favor, is it not well worth to pray for it day after day? Each time we

How the saints longed for that safeguard when death approached! St: Benedict had himself borne to the church, and, supported in the arms of his brethren, standing non-Zionists since they are given no the church, and, supported in the arms of his brethren, standing before the altar after receiving His Master and his true King Christ, he gave up his soul to God. A fitting end for such a blessed life. And St. Thomas Aguinas, when the Holy Thomas Aquinas, when the Holy Viaticum was brought to him, authority of the movement. though dying, raised himself and knelt and prayed aloud, "I firmly believe that Jesus Christ, true God and true Man, is present in this most Holy Sacrament. I receive Thee, the price of my soul's ransom, I receive Thee, the Viaticum of my soul's pilleriment. The Congress was the scene of frequent and violent disagreements. More than once opposing delegates threatened to come to blows and several speakers were howled down soul's pilgrimage. Thou, O Christ, art the King of glory, Thou art the everlasting Son of the Father."
And so needful and precious is it meeting mention the "terror" disto our souls to receive the Holy Viaticum that St. Mary Magdalen died.

If hitherto we have been careless and negligent in this respect—seldom thinking and praying for a holy death, and piously longing that our Lord in His sweet mercy may come to us at the end, let us begin at once, heartily, fervently to make it our daily application. Our divine Lord longs to save us, but He does expect to be asked, to be implored, to be desired and yearned for. Let us pray like that father in the gospel, and say like David, "O God, I have declared to Thee my life. Thou hast set my tears in Thy sight. In what day soever I shafl call upon Thee, behold, I know that Thou art my God. In God I have hoped my God. In God I have hoped . . because Thou hast delivered my soul from death; that I may please in the sight of God, in the light of the living." (Ps. lv. 9. 13). Prepare in life, pray in life, for at our last illness, through misery, pain, and weakness, there may be little zest for prayer. The faithful Lord will remember all the supplications and holy desires and He will come to us, with Peter and James come to us, with Peter and James and John, as the gospel says, typifyour soul shall be safe. The words with which the priest administers Holy Viaticum show us the danger with which the priest administers Holy Viaticum show us the danger of that hour, and how, indeed, we need an almighty guardian. The priest holding the Blessed Sacrament, which is given to us as the food of the wayfarer, for our soul's journey to the other world, says, "Receive, brother, the Viaticum of the Body of our Lord Jesus Christ, Who may guard thee from the malignant enemy and lead thee to life everlasting."

Thus our dear Redeemer comes to our soul that it may be safe and Holy Viaticum show us the danger of that hour, and how, indeed, we need an almighty guardian. The priest holding the Blessed Sacrament, which is given to us as the first of the wayfarer, for our soul's may live. Yes, this life may pass away, but our soul's life is just beginning—the eternal blessed life, to which our Lord will lead it. That blessed life which we shall pass in beholding, glorifying, loving our good God, our Saviour for ever and for ever.

ZIONIST CONGRESS

WHAT PALESTINE CENSUS SHOWS Although there was great enthusiasm in the Zionist camp when England obtained the Palestine mandate after the well-known Balfour statement, there have been many disappointments since that time. Statistics given out at the Carlsbad saying: "Thy daughter is dead; why dost thou trouble the Master any further? But Jesus ... suith, Fear not, only believe" (Mark v. 35). That father's faith and earnestness were rewarded by his child being raised to life and whom only 88 704, were Jews whom only 83,794 were Jews. During 1922 Jewish immigration to We have something more precious to us than that young maiden was the bar there are the precious that the immigration quota of to her father. Does it not shame us to her father. Does it not shame us to remember his love for her, and Government, has not been reached. his faith in Christ our Lord, con- For 1923, it was indicated, immigratrasted with our apathy about our tion has been proceeding even more souls? Where is our daily earnest slowly than during 1922. Since the famous Balfour declaration, Zionist immigration to Palestine has totalled 20,000 persons. Increase of Jewish-owned property in Palestine If we were ill, you will say, we At the end of 1920 the land owned by Jews in Palestine was only 22,500 hectares in extent, while very encouraging, however. As Dr. Chaim Weizmann, the leader of Zionism, said at the Carlsbad Congress: "If we don't do more, we shall need sixty years more to reach Debate at the Congress at Carlsbad centered around an attempt to bring about an agreement with resolutions adopted by American Zionists in Baltimore several months resolutions adopted by American Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by Dr. Eucharist our most earnest prayer and desire should be, that He will come to us at the end, and then our soul "shall be safe."

Tesolutions adopted by American Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by Dr. Weizmann. These resolutions called for cooperation with non Zionist Jewish organizations. There was passionate opposition to the American Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by American Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by American Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by Tr. Weizmann. These resolutions adopted by American Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by Dr. Weizmann. These resolutions called for cooperation with non Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by Dr. Weizmann. These resolutions called for cooperation with non Zionist passionate opposition to the American Zionists in Baltimore several months ago at a meeting attended by Dr. Weizmann. These resolutions called for cooperation with non Zionist passionate passio passionate opposition to the American proposals, although eventually a compromise was effected. It is doubtful, however, if the compro-played by the Socialist opposition known as Poale Zion. Also the Viaticum that St. Mary Magdalen was transported by a miracle from her hermitage to receive It ere she died.

VIOLENT DISAGREEMENTS MARK CONFERENCE

known as Poale Zion. Also the orthodox religious minority of the Congress, were subjected to terrific attacks when they igeted to terrific attacks when they are not the st. Lawrence, on the banks of the St. Lawrence, are not the st. Lawrence, on the st. Lawrence, are not t social, clerical, and reactionary."

From time to time adherents of the various factions attacked each other with shouts and insults. Con-

will be no Jewish Palestine."
At this accusation the uproar became so great that the spea could not continue his remarks.

Little gratitude to the British only for the Arabs, but not for us. Mayors appointed by the govern-ment are exclusively Arabs. Jewish change her policy as out.

Sir Arthur Balfour, declared that such an occurrence would be "the most terrific pogrom ever expersioned by our people." At the same time, he pointed out that while there was no reason for while there was no reason for auch action by Engants.

Soul, at expectation and protest and give example. What the Indians needed was the leadership of one of their own, and here it was where least it was to be expected, not in the wise counsellor or strong and the same time.

tion.
"We also are hampered by the indifference of the Jewish multitude," he said.

BRUSH YOUR TEETH ON BOTH SIDES

Care and cleanliness of the teeth is absolutely essential, therefore secure a perfect tooth brush marked "Nobility." Each brush is guaranteed to last at least six months and is manufac-tured of the finest bristles possible to secure. No matter how severe you use the "Nobility" Tooth Brush it will not injure the teeth in any way. Not one case of pyorrhea has ever been reported when the "Nobility" Tooth Brush is used.

Ask for the "Nobility" Tooth Ask for the "Nobility" Tooth Brush which are guaranteed at all drug stores.

INDIAN MAIDEN HONORED

Auriesville, N. Y., Sept. 15.— Thousands of pilgrims from New York and many surrounding States gathered here last Sunday for the Indian maiden whose heroic virtues have made her a center of constantly increasing devotion at Auriesville.

The Right Rev. Edmund F. Gibbons, Bishop of Albany, who has been entrusted with the task of been entrusted with the task of beginning active work on the process for the beatification of this "Lily of the Mohawks," presided at the unveiling exercises. Four Masses were said to accommodate the great throng of pilgrims, the fade."

"You forget," he said to one critic, "that Our Lady was an Immaculate Virgin; sin never having had dominion over her the beauty of her youth could never fade."

THE UNVEILING

in which Kateri is represented in one of the paintings done by Chaucetierre, drew back the veil and revealed the statue, which is the gift of Miss Frances Lucey, of Troy. Zionist newspapers reporting the meeting mention the "terror" dischieftain, looking in vision toward Canada, the northern land of her

In part, his address was as

"Is it not an extroardinary thing fusion reached its climax when Rabbi Sobbersohn, of Canada, rebuked the opposition party, saying:
"No distortions will help you; as long as you eat 'trefe' (impurely) in 'Erez Israel' (home of Israel) there will be no Jawish Palestine."

to unveil a statue of an Indian giff who was born here in 1656, two hundred and sixty-seven years ago, who lived at Caughnawaga, near Fonda, and on the hills above that town from her tenth to her twentieth year, and who spent the last four years of her life at the Indian Settlement on the east bank of the St. Lawrence, known then as Laprairie, of which the 250th anni-

"That was an extraordinary act of self-exile when, in company of her brother-in-law and a companion, employees in the government service are rare."

Dr. Weizmann exerted all his influence in defense of the policy of the British Government in Palestine. It is not true, he said, that the leaders of the Zonist movement have fritted away the principles of pot of twenty-three tribes.

"I am sending you a treasure," wrote the man who had baptized her Guard it well."

"A treasure it was beyond all

ZIONIST CONGRESS

BY DIA Frederick Funder

Vienna, September 3.—Results of the Thirteenth International Zionist Congress, recently held at Carlsbad, confirm the predictions made two years ago that the weakness in the Zionist movement lies in the fact that it is only to a very small extent religious and to a very great extent political. Many Christians have been fearful that Zionism might become a real danger to the Holy Land and to the liberty of the Holy Places, but this danger seems to movement becomes more and more apparent as time goes on.

WHAT PALESIINE CENSUS SHOWS

Time. It is not true, he said, that the leaders of the Zionist movement have fritted away the principles of Zionism out of a spirit of compliance toward England. He compliance to the financial support for Jewish colonization schefnes in Palestine is not forthcoming on the proper scale. As an illustration, he said, while he had raised $250,000 in the School in the fifty years was few endered with the advent of Kateri. Faithful as the Indians every dear the Christian reservation of Laprairie, now Caughnawaga, on the St. Lawrence, they became ferrown the oposibility that England might bound, at everyone's service and with the contral the first the leaders of the Zionism out of a s anticipating such action by Eug-land, the insignificant results achieved by the Zionist organization so far has a bearing on the quesof character, rising as a star in splender above them all.

REVERED BY HER PEOPLE

"The belief in Catherine's virtue led her people to imitate to such an excess that the missionaries had to check them. They were elated with a divine elation to think that one of themselves had so overcome the vicious tendencies of nature as to prove they all could do it. There was the harvest of the missionaries after fifty years' sowing in patient labor, tears and blood. And this harvest has never failed. Over there in that Reservation of Caughnawaga of nearly 3,000 Indians the Faith has never failed.

"How proud we are, though not of their blood, to pay our tribute to this 'flower of the Mohawks.'"

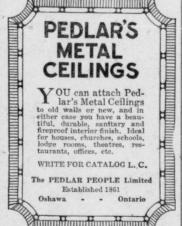

A NOBLE TRIBUTE TO BLESSED VIRGIN

Michelangelo, whose frescoes in the Sistine chapel are the wonder of the world, was eminent as a Thousands of pilgrims from New York and many surrounding States gathered here last Sunday for the unveiling of the monument to Katefi Tekakwitha, the saintly Indian maiden whose here is simily on her knees.

The critics of the time objected to the youthful appearance of the Mother, but he defended it on the ground that it afforded an additional proof of her pure and spot-less character.

Michaelangelo has inscribed his name on the girdle of the Virgin; it is said to be the only work on which he ever did so.

When one has arrived so far in The unveiling of the statue took place in the early afternoon. Two New York girls, attired in the robes

Why Have Skin Trouble Cuticura Will Prevent It

In the treatment of all skin troubles the freely with Cuticura Soap and hot water, dry gently, and apply Cuticura Ointment to the affected parts. Do not fail to include the exquisitely scented Cuticura Talcum n your toilet preparations.

oap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c throughout the Dominion. Canadian Dep Lymans, Limited, 344 St. Paul St., W., Montre Cuticura Soap shaves without m

Every stewpan needs Borril

Strike the Right Note

in piano

worth— Buy

The Sherlock-Manning Piano Company LONDON - CANADA

"Canada's Biggest Piano Value'

SHERLOCK-MANNING

vide for 400,000 widows and thousand homes at orphans for 20 $4,000 each. vears.

Or to furnish an education to children.

No Canadian Life At least fifty per Insurance Company cent. of all estates has ever failed with the loss of a dollar at death, consist to any policy-holder. of Life Insurance.

More money is being paid out to living

Policy-holders, than to beneficiaries of the deceased.

Canadian Life Insurance Companies have built up Trust Funds amounting to over $700,000,000. These are carefully invested in stable enterprises which develop the country and make it a better place in which to live.

Can any other business show such an increase in fifty years? In buying an Insurance Policy in an all-Canadian Company, you invest in one of the greatest of Canadiar The London Life is an all-Canadian Company with most modern policies and most liberal treatment to policyholders. Ask our agent for figures and results. London Life

Insurance Company Policies "Good as Gold" HEAD OFFICES - LONDON, CANADA Agencies in All Principal Cities

HOMEWORK

of Absorbine Jr., to an ounce of water, makes a Mouth Wash that will free the teeth of injurious germs. Used morning and night, it will arrest Pyorrhea and Sinus—and change white, spongy, bleeding gums into firm, pink, healthy gums.

AbsorbineJ

Only a few drops, remember—so the bottl will last a long, long time. $1.25—at mos W. F. YOUNG INC.

Lyman Building - -

Favorite Songs

Eight Double-Disc Oinch Phonograph Records

layornes you remember as to be a last the music that lads that touch every heart. Just the music that should be in EVERY HOME. Eight full size double face records—16 wonderful old time song

SEND NO MONEY Try these record own home for I

CANADIAN MUSIC LOVERS' ASSN.,
69 Broadway, Lachine, P.Q.
Please send me for 10 days' trial, your collection of 16 Old Time Favorite Songs on eight double face ten-inch records, guaranteed equal to any records made. I will pay the postuma only $3.98 plus postage on arrival. I resum the right to return them at any time within 10 days and you will refund the money. Oct. 27

Hotel Wolverine DETROIT

Newest and Most Modern 500 Rooms 500 Baths Rates $2.50 Up

Get Your Name Voters' List

> In the interest of good civic administration don't take it for granted that you are on the list because you were on last year.

Phone 7000 City Clerk For Full Particulars

CHATS WITH YOUNG MEN

IF I WERE A BOSS

If I were a boss I would like to say: You did a good job here yester-

I'd look for a man, or a girl, or boy, Whose heart would leap with a thrill of joy At a word of praise, and I'd pass it out Where the crowd could hear as I walked about.

If I were the boss I would like to The fellow whose work is the proper

And I'd go to him and I'd pat his back And I'd say: "That was perfectly splendid, Jack!"

Now a bit of praise isn't much to But it's dear to the hearts of all of worth,

And a kindly word when the work is fair Is welcomed and wanted every-

If I were a boss, I am sure I should Say a kindly word whenever could;

For the man who has given his best Wants a little more than his weekly

He likes to know, with the setting That his boss is pleased with the work he's done.

-EDGAR A. GUEST SILENCE

They who can be silent when they tempted to say something cutting or reproving possess a strong sword of defence against things to which others yield in a way that means their defeat. It is a great thing to have such perfect control of the tongue that one will not allow it to lead one into talking when one should keep still. A very serene old man once told me that he felt that he had kept a great deal of anger out of the world simply by not "answering back." He ex-plained this by adding:

You see, if you never answer back an angry person his wrath will die out lots quicker than if you answer back in his own kind. Keeping still yourself is one of the best ways in the world to keep mad from getting madder and madder.

Nothing is more useless than in trying to argue with an angry per-son. Serene silence on our part will surely lessen the angry words

"GO ON"

When the great French astronomer Arago was a young man, and was working in a bookbindery, he became so discouraged and despondent about his future that he was about ready to give up and quit his job, when he saw something printed on the paper used in binding the book before the cover was put on. This aroused his curiosity, and this was what he read: "Go on, sir, go on! The difficulties you meet will resolve themselves as you advance.

petual spur to his ambition through his whole career. Arago resolved then and there that he would never became one of the world's great astronomers, and he made good.

The great majority of people in the failure army would probably have succeeded if they had only kept on, had only pushed ahead, if they had not become discouraged and given up, if they had not lost and doing the best you can, will do. Tais is what makes success possible. -The Casket.

HEARING DAILY MASS

From early morning until night men rush to and fro intent on the acquisition of earthly treasure. the cold and heat, in the rain and sunshine, there is ever the unending stream of life ebbing and flowing in the city streets. Comparatively few of the thousands ever think of the time when this busy activity must cease forever, when the silver cord of life will break asunder and man slip quietly away from the scene of his earthly strife.

In the hurry and flurry of ambitious cares, comparatively few find time to turn aside from the glittering pavement to seek in some consecrated temple the consolation and refreshment that the tired soul craves. So easily it may be obtained that often men forget about it. And yet, in the early morning hour there is One waiting, listening for the footsteps, "wearing away the stops of His house." What better panacea for the ills of individuals and nations than the Treasure contained in the Adorable gradually spread throughout the diminish man's reverence for the Sacrifice offered daily on our altars? Time and again the Sovereign Pontiffs have directed the attention of the faithful to this inexhaustible Source of blessings, urging them to partake as often as possible of this Fount of all good.

Fortugal and Latin America, Pope the faithful to this inexhaustible sendict XV., a few years ago, granted the priests of the entire world permission to say three lievers, who question the immortality of the soul and the resurrection of the body.

Many circumstances conspire to rob us of this treasure of hearing Mass daily. There are those, however, who find it possible to set aside at least a few days of the week, apart from the days of obligation, on which to refresh and rejuvenate the parched and dusty fault of the souls of the so

Past the door where the Saviour waits patiently rushed the heedless waits patiently rushed the heedless throng. "They pass and repass," says Canon Sheehan in one of his beautiful books: "Thy creatures, made by Thy hand, and yet to return to Thee! They are bent on business, on pleasure, on sin. To them Thou are afar off, a dread chimera on Sinai or Calvary! They do not realize that Thou art here, within sound of their voice and reach of And whenever to me a good thing sound of their voice and reach of their hand. Verily Thou art a I'd ask to be told the toiler's name, Hidden God, and the world does not him and I'd not his local Thou!"

The Holy Mass is a Sacrifice, the greatest of all sacrifices. For a little inconvenience, it offers treasures so vast that it is impossible to enumerate them all. There is no more sure pledge of felicity here and hereafter than devotion to this who live;
And there's never a man on this good old earth
But is glad to be told that he's been and neresiter than devotion to this great Mystery of the Altar wherein God stoops to man and man lifts himself up to God.—The Pilot.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

THE SOULS IN PURGATORY Help, Lord, the souls which Thou hast made, The souls to Thee so dear, In prison for the debt unpaid Of sins committed here.

These holy souls, they suffer on, Resign'd in heart and will, Until Thy high behest is done. And justice has its fill.

For daily falls, for pardon'd crime, They joy to undergo
The shadow of Thy cross subfime, The remnant of Thy woe.

Help, Lord, the souls which Thou hast made, The souls to Thee so dear, In prison for the debt unpaid Of sins committed here.

Oh, by their patience of delay, Their hope amid their pain, Their sacred zeal to burn away Disfigurement and stain; Oh, by their fire of love, not less In keenness than the flame; Oh, by their very helplessness, Oh, by Thy own great Name; Good Jesu, help! sweet Jesu, aid The souls to Thee most dear, In prison for the debt unpaid

-CARDINAL NEWMAN ALL SAINTS AND ALL SOULS Autumn has come into the land again and with it the Feasts of All Saints and All Souls.

Of sins committed here.

All Saints is a feast of the highest rank, and giving place to no other feast. It was instituted to honor all the saints, known or unknown, and the saints, known or unknown, and according to Urban IV., to supply any deficiencies in the faithfuls' celebration of saints' feasts during the year. In the early days the Christians were accustomed to solemnize the anniversary of a martyr's death at the place of the martyrdom. In the fourth century, neighboring diocese began to interchange feasts, to transfer relics, to divide them, and to join in a common feast. However, in time the number of martyrs became so great, divide them, and the mon feast. However, in time the number of martyrs became so great, that a separate day could not be assigned to each. But the Church assigned to each. But the Church lives of their former progenitors resuming in them a new life. Such the colly transmigration of souls the only transmigration of souls to the only transmigration. These words kept ringing in his ears and made such an indelible image assigned to each. But the Church feeling that every martyr should be pression upon the young mathematician's mind that he was spurred to tician's mind that he was spurred to for all. At first this day was that can be verified, such is the tecost. In the eighth century, Pope Gregory III. fixed the anniversary of All Saints for November 15, 1992 the result of the Saints for November 15, 1992 the Result of the Saints for November 15, 1992 the Result of the Saints for November 15, 1992 the Result of the Saints for November 15, 1992 the Result of the Saints for November 15, 1992 the Result of the Saints for November 15, 1992 the Result of the Result of

On All Saints the Church opens to our view the gates of heaven, in order to show us the great number of her children who there enjoy the and given up, if they had not lost their grip on themselves. It is astonishing what keeping on when you can see no light ahead, refusing to give up, sticking and hanging order to show us the great number of her children who there enjoy the rich, the poor, and so great is their number that they cannot be counted. To us the day brings a consoling thought: After the trials and vicissitudes of life we, too may shore their joy and having carried out excitation. Care must be taken, however, to avoid scandal by announcing the facts in the case in the local press. No scandal is given if the parishioners are aware that the cremation is > with great solemnity the feast of All Saints, she bids us to remember the souls of the departed languishing in ecclesiastical fashion; nor is he day dates back to the tenth century. Already in the sixth century, how-ever, it was customary in Benedic-tine Monasteries to hold a commemoration of the deceased members at prived Whitsuntide. In Spain there was others. such a day on Saturday before Sexagesima or before Pentecost. In Germany there existed a honored custom of praying for the dead on October 1st. This was accepted and sanctioned by the Charles and sanctioned by the Charles and sanctioned by the cremated after having been warned St. Odilo of Cluny, in the eleventh century, ordered the com-memoration of all the faithful de-parted to be held annually in the monasteries of his congregations. Thence it spread among other congregations of the Benedictines and among the Carthusians. Of the dioceses, Liege was the first to adopt it is the content of the content of

Following the custom in Spain, dead, goes counter to the ancient traditional usage of the Church, faculties to allow the celebra-tion of one Requiem Mass, which may be either a Low Mass or Missa Cantanta, for the souls of the faithful departed, on Sunday.

When the Church exhorts us to remember our dead, she tells us at the same time how that remem-brance may be of profit to their souls. She places upon our lips her indulgenced prayers, and gives us the privilege of applying their satisfac-tory merits to the departed. She grants to all the inestimable favor of remembering those who have gone before at God's altar, and she has, one might say, in virtue of her God-given power, extended to the faithful a kind of jurisdiction over Purgatory, and made it their privilege to exercise a certain influence with the merciful God for the poor suffering souls.

With characteristic charity and tender regard for her children, she follows them beyond the grave and never ceases to pray for them until they have come to the very presence of God. There is none of her prayers which has a more familiar sound than "Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord, and may perpetual light shine upon them."—The Echo.

TAKE CARE OF BABY

The life of a baby depends more or less on the sanitary care taken by the mother. Many an infant has had disastrous results from using a poor and unsanitary rubber nipple.

Millions of "Nobility" Nipples have been sold and not one unsatisfactory case has resulted. It is a clear transparent nipple of excel-lent rubber, thoroughly antiseptic and will stand sterilization to the highest degree without collapsing. Buy the "Nobility" Nipple, the best for the baby. Sold at all drug stores. THE HISTORY OF CREMATION

Bertrand L. Conway, C. S. P., in Catholic World

The decree of the Holy Office, May 16, 1886, which forbade cre-mation to Catholics, declared that the modern defenders of cremation were "either men of doubtful-faith, or men who belonged to the Masonic sect." There is ample warrant for this charge. Reviews like the Rivista della Massoneria (June 1, 1871,) the Monde Maconnique (September, 1876,) and La Chaine d'Union (1878)—all French and Italian organs of Freemasonry -strongly advocated cremation. The Freemason Ghisleri, in the Almanacco dei Liberi Muratori for 1881, says: "Catholics have good reason to oppose cremation; this purification of the dead by means of fire would shake to its foundations Catholic predominance, based on the terror with which it has sur-rounded death." Another Free-mason, Gorini, in his La Purificaof All Saints for November 1st.

Later Gregory VI. extended the celebration to the entire world.

Office issued a second decree, depriving of Christian burial any Catholic who of his own free will too, may share their joy and happi- being carried out against the will of ness in heaven.

After the Church has celebrated is not allowed to accompany the souls of the departed languishing in Purgatory. The observance of the over the ashes "as if the body were present." The burial of the ashes in a consecrated grave is allowed, because the deceased cannot be prived of this right by the fault of

> On July 27, 1892, the Holy Office issued a third decree, which for-bade the last sacraments to Catholics, even if not Masons, who insisted upon having their bodies of the condemnation. It also for-bade priests to say Mass publicly — private Masses are allowed—for the > repose of the souls of such persons.

> These three decrees of the Holy Office make clear the reasons of the Church's ban upon cremation.

The Popularity

has been earned on merit only. One trial will convince you.

GORDON MILLS

Louis Sandy HABIT MATER ALS

Religious Communities Black, White, and Coloured Serges and Cloths, Veilings Cashmeres, Etc.

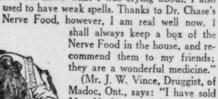

LOUIS SANDY

STAFFORD, ENGLAND PHONE No. 104

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes:-

'Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about, I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's they are a wonderful medicine.' (Mr. J. W. Vince, Druggist, of Madoc, Ont., says: "I have sold Mrs. Hocking your Nerve Food, and the medicine has done her much good.")

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

50 Cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto

Trade Mark Copyrighted, Design Registered and Pate

The skate that skaters everywhere are becoming enthusiastic over. The new hockey skate that bids fair to attain even greater popularity than the famous Starr Regal Featherweight skates.

The blade of the MERCURY is made of chrome nickel steel-guaranteed Starr process hand tempered.

Notice the flanges on the toe and heel plates. These extend all round the plates, thus securing light weight with greater strength. The whole skate is heavily nickeled on copper, hand finished, and highly polished all over.

The Mercury Hockey Skate combi nes all the features of the perfect skate, and is fully covered by the Starr unconditional guarantee. low price of $5.50 a pair makes this a highly desirable skate for either hockey or pleasure

Write for Catalogue

The STARR M'FG CO. LIMITED Dartmouth - - Nova Scotia

Toronto Branch 122 Wellington St., West

HALLAM MAIL ORDER CORPORATION, Limite 452 HALLAM BUILDING, TORONTO, CANADA.

"Passed Our Expectations" some houses they were building thits had been thoroughly tried their employees. After these outfits had been the their following report was made by the purchasers: If you are looking for a heating outfit that is made to last, that will provide all the heat you need and which will give you genuine service, insist on the Pease Economy. Our Engineering Department is ready to plan the system most suitable for your needs and your enquiry will be welcomed.

FREE to wives and mothers of Drunkards a trial treatment of the Wonderful Egyptian cure, SAMARIA PRESCRIPTION for Drunkenness, which science has proved is a disease and not a habit—has to be treated as such. Prohibition Legislation can't cure the unfortunates. SAMARIA can be given in Tea, Coffee or any liquid food. Send stamp for trial treatment.

SAMARIA REMEDY CO. 142 MUTUAL: STREET, TORONTO

WHY WE SHOULD BATHE INTERNALLY A Permanent Relief for Constipation

By R. W. Beal UCH has been said and volumes have been written de essential thing of all, that of giving scribing at length the many their bodies their proper care. kinds of baths civilized man has indulged in from time to time. Every minutes of time devoted to systempossible resource of the human mind atic internal bathing can make you new methods of bathing, but strange efficiency indefinitely? Granting that as it may seem, the most important such a simple procedure as this as well as the most beneficial of all will do what is claimed for it, is better the "internal Path" the baths, the "Internal Bath," has been it not worth while to learn more maintaining of health. If you were to ask a dozen people of them would be correct. To avoid any misconception as to what poisonous excretions of the body, constitutes an internal bath, let it and health would be the inevitable be said that a hot water enema is no more an internal bath than a bill of fare is a dinner. If it were possible and agreeable to take the great mass of thinking people to witness, an average post-mortem, the sights they would see and the things they would learn declining fears, practise internal would prove of such lasting benefit, bathing and begin today. and impress them so profoundly, that further argument in favor of internal bathing would be unnecessary to convince them. Unfortunately, however, it is not possible to do this, profitable as such an would doubtless prove be. There is, then, only one other way to get-this information into their hands, and that is by acquainting them with such knowledge as will enable them to appreciate the value of this longsought-for health-producing neces

Few people realize what a very little thing is necessary sometimes to improve their physical condition. Also they have almost no conception of how a little carelessness, indifference or neglect can be the fundamental cause of the most virulent disease. For instance, that universal disorder from which almost all humanity is suffering, known as "constipation," "auto-intoxication," auto-infection," and a multitude of other terms, is not only curable, but preventable, through the consistent ractice of internal bathing.

How many people realize that normal functioning of the bowels and a clean intestinal tract make it impossible to become sick? "Man of today is only fifty per cent, efficient." Reduced to simple English this means that most men are trying to do a man's portion of work on half a man's power. This applies That it is impossible to continue to do this indefinitely must be have served its purpose. app>rent to all. Nature never will want to do now is intended the delicate human organ ism to be operated on a hundred per cent overload. A machine could and your writing for this book will not stand this and not break down, give you that information. Do not and the body certainly cannot do put off doing this, send for the more than a machine. There is entirely too much unnecessary and in your mind. avoidable sickness in the world. "Procrasting little time, and in these strenuous be healthy. It is unnatural to be days people have time to do every-sick. Why be unnatural, when it thing else necessary for the attain- is such a simple thing to be well?

PEASE FOUNDRY COMPANY

Attention Mr. Reid

Telephone Main 7000

ONTARIO

TORONTO

Would you believe that five or ten has been brought into play to fashion healthy and maintain your physical given little thought. The reason about that which will accomplish for this is probably due to the fact this end? Internal Bathing will do that few people seem to realize the this, and it will do it for people of tremendous part that internal bathall ages and in all conditions of ing plays in the acquiring and health and disease.

People don't seem to realize, If you were to ask a dozen people to define an internal bath, you would have as many different definitions, and the probability is that no one of them would be correct. To avoid absorption into the blood of the result

If you would keep your blood pure, your heart normal, your eyes clear, your complexion clean, your head keen, your blood pressure normal, your nerves relaxed, and be able to enjoy the vigor of youth in your

Now that your attention has been called to the importance of internal bathing, it may be that a number of questions will suggest themselves to your mind. You will probably want to know WHAT an Internal Bath is, WHY people should take them, and the WAY to take them.

These and countless questions re answered in a booklet enare answered in a booklet entitled "THE WHAT, THE WHY AND THE WAY OF INTERNAL BATHING," written by Doctor Charles Tyrrell, the inventor of the 'J. B. L. Cascade," whose life-long study and research along this line make him the pre-eminent authority on this subject. Not only did internal bathing save and pro-long Dr. Tyrrell's own life, but the lives of multitudes of individuals have been equally spared and prolonged. No other book has ever been written containing such a vast amount of practical information to business man, the worker and the housewife. All that is necessary to secure this book is to write to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 452 Tyr-rell Bidg., 163 College St., Toronto, and mention having read this article in The CATHOLIC RECORD and same will be immediately mailed to you free of all cost or obligation.

Perhaps you realize now, more than ever, the truth of statements, and if the reading of this article will result in a proper appreciation on your part of the value of internal bathing, will want to do now is to avail yourself of the opportunity for learning more about book now, while the matter is fresh

'Procrastination is the thief of How many people can you mane, time." A thief is one who steals including yourself, who are physically vigorous, healthy and strong? tion to cheat you out of your opportunity to get this valuable A thief is one who steals The number is appallingly small. opportunity to get this valuable It is not a complex matter to information, which is free for the keep in condition, but it takes a asking. If you would be natural,

BOY LEADERSHIP

"AS THE TWIG IS BENT"

problem of compelling interest. The average boy spends but one thousand hours a year in school out of a possible four thousand hours when he is awake. How are the other three thousand hours occupied? Is it consistent to support highly qualified school staffs to train his mental faculties during a period of mental faculties during a period of calibre to help these lads to achieve calibre to help these lads to achieve mental faculties during a period of five and one-half hours daily, and to allow him, during eight hours, every day after four o'clock, and all

Education is not merely the process of providing the individual with the means of earning a livelihood, though such an education is essential. The true and ideal education—that which brings out the best, and qualities which may tages that secondary schools and colleges afford, yet develops the powerful tendencies that lie within The movies, and the daily press, the current magazines, the places of public amusement, seem to form a combination that draw only too well but not wisely, on the imagination and the emotions of child life. To offset these influences is the task confronting those responsible for the upbringing of children. Counter attractions, deeper interests, entertainment with a variety of phases that will draw every type of boy,—these constitute the fare that the growing body, soul and mind, need in order to develop into one hundred per cent. men.

The need for supervision over recreation is obvious. In no instance is it of more importance than with the under-privileged boys who constitute sixty per cent. of the boy population. The children of the wealthy have every desire and whim satisfied; those from fairly well-to-do homes can at least afford to pay their way, and secure the benefits of companionship with others of their age. But there is the large class of boys from homes where for the hours when he is not in school, at meals or in bed—some eight or ten hours daily—to see that he develops mentally, morally, spiritually and physically in an atmosphere of refinement, and amid aurroundings that forter enthusiasm.

About of Cluny, towards the end of the tenth century to establish in his Order a general commemoration of all the faithful departed, it was soon adopted by the whole Western atmosphere of refinement, and amid surroundings that forter enthusiasm. atmosphere of rennement, and amid surroundings that foster enthusiasm for the better things of life; to direct his youthful energies in wholesome channels; this is a task that cannot be left to the haphazard and how to deal with problem boys. The constructive indicates in the propose in how shall be particularly entitled to be nor is it to be supplanted by the

that a boy ought to be at home, and not upon the streets at night. It is also true that we have to deal with things as they are in this world and not as we think they ought to be. The truth of the matter is that the majority of boys, and especially the under-privileged boys, are on the streets, when they should be at home, and even in bed. The only real effort that is being made to offset this perilous condition is the work done by such organizations as work done by such organizations as the Boys' Club Federation, Boys' Work Board and Boy Scouts Associ-ation. The community work of the Knights of Columbus, Kiwanians and Rotarians in some centres, are and Rotarians in some centres, are the factors that are working to raise the standard of boy life. Clubs of this nature strive mightily to develop along lines that make for develop along lines that are working to raise outline of the course will be sent on application to C. J. Atkinson, Boys' Club Federation, 3087 Grand Central revenues and plans. A printed outline of the course will be sent on application to C. J. Atkinson, Boys' Club Federation, 3087 Grand Central revenues and plans. good citizenship, noble manhood and a well-rounded life. It follows that the management of such activities must be in the hands of men who have the essentials of character, personality and education, supplemented by a training along definite lines to fit them for the ennobling profession of Boy Leadership.

We have reached a period in social life where none but trained leaders may have jurisdiction over the recreation of our Boys. This raises the question: Who can handle this work? Where can men be found who are by temperament, training and experience, fitted to direct the activities of lads in the growing stages? Therefore, the crux of the matter lies in the statement: Properly trained leaders are necessary before any phase of hous? sary before any phase of boys' work can be taken up. The course of training offered to young men for such leadership is now on a par can be taken up. The course of training offered to young men for such leadership is now on a par with training for teaching, for law, medicine, or for any other profes-

THE NEW PROFESSION sion. Where are those young men to be found? And how will the matter be made so attractive from a financial standpoint that any who have an inclination towards it will usly consider it as a life work Brother Barnabas, F. S. C.

The proper guidance of boys outside of school hours is a question of paramount importance today. It is a vital need—a tremendous task—a Brother Barnabas, F. S. C.

Will fraternal and philanthropic organizations, municipal and social bodies place such a value upon the welfare of the youth of their respective communities that they

to allow him, during eight hours, every day after four o'clock, and all day Saturday, to drift in uncharted channels for his pleasure and recreation?

Education is not merely the channels for the adeptit as a life work. Every provision has been made for the adeptit as a life work. Every provision has been made for the adeptit as a life work. quate training of young men for law, medicine and teaching. The universities now offer courses in commerce and journalism, with the result that these fields are more than well supplied. But the necesthe fully developed man; the bringing out of all one's possibilities.

Such an education has all the advantages that secondary schools education is identical with character training—the training that develops will power, that teaches to distinguish between the training that develops will power that teaches to distinguish between the training that develops will power that teaches to distinguish between the training that the training training—the training that develops will power, that teaches to distinguish between right and wrong, and that furnishes the key to the best means to choose the right and to refrain from wrong. Such character training is a greater factor in the right system of education than teaching to recite poetry, translate Latin or solve equations. The movies and the daily press the made of conditions for boys under sixteen and there was concerted to Jerusalem to resume his office. Tuesday, October 30.—Saint Marcellus, the Centurion, Martyr, was thrown into prison because while a captain in the legion of initiative, executive ability, vitality, mental alertness, scholar-ship, resourcefulness, who have ship, resourcefulness, who have made a systematic study of social conditions and psychological facts. No field offers to a young man today such opportunities for service of the highest type—to the youth of vision, of imagination, of ideals, the possibilities are greates the all of the prossibilities are greates the all of the proper limits of the proper limits of the proper limits and the proper limits of the proper limits of the proper limits and the proper limits of the proper limits o possibilities are greater than along any of the much-travelled professional roads. It now lies with the was imprisoned and after being authorities to put this profession on cruelly tortured, was beheaded in a par with those of long standing, and on a basis of adequate remuneration. When young men feel that their expenditure of time and money upon a course in Leadership will be rewarded by the opportunity to serve in a community where there is definite work to be done, there will be no dearth of candi-

because of poverty, lack of parental lt is intensive and practical. The control, or other unfortunate students participate in actual work circumstances, are deprived of the and demonstrations as well as benefits and privileges their age receive instruction from more than demands. To provide for every lad suitable and attractive occupation and boys' work experts. The course direction of caretakers of buildings, The constructive influence in boys' work are discussed under such themes as: The Boys' Reading, work are discussed under such themse have the such themes as: The Boys' Reading, the such that a such themes as: The Boys' Reading, the such that a such themes as: The Boys' Reading, the such that a such themes as: The Boys' Reading, the such that a such that a such that a such that a boy ought to be at home, and not upon the streets at night. It is also true that we have to deal with the such that a such that programs as well as showing them the importance of using their own originality and initiative. For those who have already shown an interest in work for boys and possibly taken some part in it this course is a wonderful revelation of

There isn't a boy but wants to grow Manly and true at heart And every lad would like to know The secret we impart. He doesn't desire to slack or shirk— Oh, haven't you heard him plead?

He'll follow a man to play or work
If only the man will lead. Where are the men to lead today, Sparing an hour or two, Teaching the boy the game to play Just as a man would do? Village and slums are calling-come Here are the boys indeed,

Who can tell what they might If only the man would lead? Motor and golf and winter sports Fill up the time a lot,

But wouldn't you like to feel you'd taught

Where are the men to lend a hand Echo it far and wide, Men who will rise in every land

Bridging the great divide. Nation and flag and tongue unite Joining each class and creed Here are the boys who would do

But where are the men to lead?

WEEKLY CALENDAR

Sunday, October 28.—Sts. Simon and Jude. Simon was a simple Galilean called by Our Lord to be one of the pillars of His Church. one of the pillars of His Church. Armed with great zeal he went forth to the combat against unbelief and sin and made conquest of many souls. St. Jude was a brother of St. James the Less. He preached first in Mesopotamia and later he and St. Simon met in Persia where they won their crown together.

neighboring well and praying over it told them to pour it into the lamps. It was changed into oil. The Saint was falsely accused by three enemies and withdrew secretother social and recreational associlations is deplorable. This fact was brought home to organizations which undertook to study the prob-

Wednesday, October 31. - St Quintin, Martyr, was descended from a Roman senatorial family full of zeal for the faith, he made his way into Gaul attended by $1. Lucian of Beauva. Quintin estab-lished himself at Amiens where he

Thursday, November 1. — All Saints. The Church pays day by day, a special veneration to some one of the holy men and women who have helped to establish it by their blood, develop it by their labors, or edify it by their virtues. But, in addition to those whom the Church honors by special designa-tion, or has inscribed on her calendar, how many martyrs are there whose names are not recorded. How many humble virgins and holy penitents. How many just and holy anchorites or young children snatched away in their innocence. How many Christians who have died in grace, whose merits are known only to God and who are themselves known only in Heaven! These remember us in their intergessions and we should not forget cessions and we should not forget Friday, November 2 .- All Souls. When Our Lord inspired St. Odilo, Abbot of Cluny, towards the end treated with mercy adeparture from this world.

Saturday, November 3.—St. Hubert, Bishop, in his early youth was passionately devoted to hunting. Moved by divine grace he renounced the world and was ordained by St. Lambert, Bishop of Maestricht. When the latter was murdered in 681, St. Hubert was chosen to succeed him. He preached the Gospel in the remote places of Ardenne and God blessed him with the gift of mirrales. He died May the gift of miracles. He died May

TRAVEL "THE NATIONAL WAY"

The Canadian National Railways. fact that the territory traversed is unsurpassed in scenic interest and grandeur, the Rocky Mountains are fashioned enough to believe that easiest gradients of any transcon-tinental railway in America and at the same time Canada's highest "It is religion which offers effectin full view from passing trains.
"The Continental Limited," one of the finest long distance trains in the world, is operated every day between Montreal and Vancouver, with close connections from Toronto. In the interval of the connections from Toronto. its journey of nearly three thousand miles across Canada it traversed six of the provinces of the Dominion, and directly or through its connective without religious training. The This train is made up of all-steel Character cannot be developed in modern equipment and affords the the best sense without belief in, traveller the opportunity of making faith in, God.
the trip in a splendid tourist sleep"That is why as President of a

ANIMAL PASTE BAITS

OF INTEREST TO TRAPPERS OF FUR BEARING ANIMALS

A great and new discovery, in the form of animal Paste baits, for attracting fur bearing animals, has been perfected, by A. B. Shubert, Limited, Raw Fur Dealers, of Winnipeg.

These new Paste baits, are the result of many months of careful study and experiments, and are reputed to be a vast improvement over the existing form of Liquid baits. Paste baits will not spoil or evaporate, under any conditions. They are not affected or disturbed by snow, rain, frost or sleet, and together.

Monday, October 29.—St. Narcissus, Bishop, was consecrated Bishop of Jerusalem about the year 180. One Holy Saturday when there was no oil in the lamps for the Paschal feast, the Saint told the faithful to draw water from the faithful to draw water from the reighboring well and praying over are put up in handy metal tubes, eliminating the danger of spilling, or breaking, therefore, handy as well as economical to use. A greater fur catch will inevitably result from the steady use of these new Paste baits. All those inter-ested in trapping, will be well advised to fully investigate this latest contribution to the time honored Art of Trapping.

As a means of introducing the new Paste baits, A. B. Shubert, Limited, offers to send a Free Sample of the new animal Paste bart, to any reader of the CATHOLIC RECORD, who is interested in trapping. All that is necessary is to send your name and address to the above mentioned firm and a fair sized sample will be sent you, absolutely Thousands of dollars are lost each year, to trappers throughout the Dominion of Canada, through their ignorance or lack of accurate infor-mation on the proper method of preparing skins of fur bearing animals for market. With a view of reducing this "waste" and "loss" to Canadian Trappers, to a minimum, A. B. Shubert, Limited, go to a considerable expense, in editing "The Art of Trapping," which they will also send free of charge to any of our readers who will write for it. "The Art of Trapping" constitutes a wonderfully accurate and complete trappers guide, giving clear descriptions, interesting pictures and tracks of the many Canadian fur-bearers. It tells you how, when, and where to trap; correct baits to use; proper sizes of traps; methods to adopt in skinning and handling your pelts so that you will get the " most money, together with the trapping laws of every Province. Undoubtedly here is a book of great value to all persons interested in the trapping of fur-bearing animals, and A. B. Shubert, Limited, are to be heartily commended on this, their latest contribution to the welfare of trap-pers and fur shippers.

The firm of A. B. Shubert, Limited, require no introduction to our readrequire no introduction to our readers, having been established for over forty years, during which time they have built up an enviable reputation as one of the most responsible Raw Fur Institutions on the American Continent.

London, Out.

FOR SALE

MEDICAL and surgical practice for sale in good Catholic community. Catholic hospital Ap licants should have good surgical training Continent.

Sales of the continent of the continen

EDUCATION FAULTY WITHOUT RELIGION

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 8.-The neces sity of religion in education was stressed by President David Kinley of the University of Illinois in an address before Catholic students of that institution, to whom he declared himself in favor of giving academic credits for courses religious education offered various religious Foundations at the University "There is no complete education without religious training," said President Kinley. Character can-not be developed in the best sense without belief in, faith in, God."

"We live in an age when the importance of education in the The Canadian National Railways, secular sciences is clearly recog-Canada's all - Canadian trans-con-nized. But that training will tinental route is the new way across always remain incomplete and the Continent. In addition to the deficient unless it is supplemented crossed at the lowest altitude and strong moral character is most

"It is religion which offers effectpeaks, including Mount Robson, are ive sanctions for the doing of good tions reaches all centres in Western most imporant phase of education Canada and on the Pacific Coast. is the development of character. the best sense without belief in, the trip in a splendid tourist sleeping car at a minimum of cost, or if taste dictates the more sumptuous standard sleeping cars or compartment-library observation car may be enjoyed. The dining car service is unexcelled. "The National Way" is the new way. Post yourself on its advantages when contemplating your next trip. For reservations and "That is why as President of a State University I favored the plan offered by the various religious Foundations about the campus. It is by this arrangement that you Catholic students are now able to pursue courses in the Catholic religion and to receive credit for the full information, apply to any Canadian National Ticket Agent, or R. E. Ruse, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, London.

same from the University. I want you to be not only well trained in the knowledge of your Catholic faith, but I want you to practice it. faith, but I want you to practice it faith, but I want you to practice it faithfully while you are students at Illinois. By so doing you will not only be better students at Illinois, better citizens of our commonwealth, but better men and women in course some?"

in every sense."

In closing, President Kinley paid a glowing tribute to the work of the Reverend Dr. John A. O'Brien, Chaplain of the Catholic students at the University, saying:

"I cannot tell you how much the friendship of Doctor O'Brien has meant to me personally. The magnificent spirit of harmony and good will which exists between Catholics and Protestants on the campus is traceable in a large measure to the splendid influence of Doctor O'Brien. It is my conviction that no single man on the campus exerts a finer influence on student life at Illinois than your chaplain, Doctor O'Brien."

Petrie -In Toronto, on Sept. 29. at her late residence, 271 Sackville St., Mary O'Boyle, beloved wife of Alexander Petrie. May her soul rest in peace.

GALLAGHER. - In Caradoc, Ont., on August 16, 1923, Mrs. Catherine Gallagher, aged nincty years. May her soul rest in peace.

Gibbons.—At LaSalette, on Oct. 10th, 1928, Joseph Gibbons, aged seventy-one years. May his soul rest in peace.

The relatives desire to thank the many friends who sent Mass cards. Hoban.—At his late residence 158
Bellwoods Avenue, Toronto, Oscar
Hoban, grandson of Mr. Wm. D.
Hoban, 62 - Cork Street West,
Guelph, Ont., aged fourteen years.
May his soul rest in peace. May his soul rest in peace.

The human mind is so constituted that it rebels against harshness, but becomes tractable under gentle treatment.-St. Francis de Sales.

How easily we act towards our fellow-men as if we were charged by God to investigate their conduct. -St. Francis de Sales.

TEACHERS WANTED

A MIDDLE aged Catholic housekeeper wanted by man and wife in small country village; one who would appreciate a good home in return for small wages. Address Box 434, Catholat Record, London, Ont. 2350-2 AGENTS WANTED

CHURCH BAZAARS
CHURCH Bazars and sales: Write for literature on our rubber oods; aprons and special ties. Save trouble in making up articles. Good profit, B. & E. Mfg. U.O., Dept. 37, London London, Out.

ASPIRIN

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not get-ting the genuine Bayer product proved safe by millions and prescribed by phys cians over twenty-three years for

Headache Lumbago Rheumatism Colds Toothache Neuralgia Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

TRAPPERS — HUNTERS

all sportsmen's equipment, by buying direct from Hallam by mail—Write for illustrated Catalog — 28 pages sportsmen's supplies—28 pages furs —ITS FREE.

35E HALLAM BLDG.

VELVETEX — ▼ELVETEX — VELVETEX — VELVETEX —

Don't Throw Your Old Carpets Away "VELVETEX" RUGS

Cana a Rug Company Estab. 1909 Velvetex Bldg. 96-98 Carling St., London, Ont. 437 We Pay Express Both Ways on All Orders - VELVETEX - VELVETEX - VELVETEX - VELVETEX

WANTED WANTED

OOK for priest's house, in city parish; other eipkept. Good salary. References required.
ddress Box 431, CATHOLIC RECORD, London, 2348-6

ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL! PASSAIC, N. J.

YoUNG ladies who wish to become Trained Nurses have an excellent opportunity by applying to St. Mary's Hospital Training School, Passaic, New Jorsey. Requirements— ne year High school or equivalent. 238-16 AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS to seil Dr. Bovels Tollet SoapTollet Articles—Home Remedies. Men or women can do this work and earn from $25 to $75 per week. Whole or spare time. Territories allowed. For further particulars apply to Bovel Manufacturing Co., Dept. 55, Toronto
Ont. 2237-tf

TRAINING SCHOOLFOR NURSES MOUNT St. Mary's Hospital Training School for Nurses, registered and app oved by its Regents at Albany offers exceptional advantages to young women who wish to enter the Nursing Profesion. Eight hour duty. Several vacancies are offered at present to applicants having one year High school. Address Sister Superior, Mount St. Mary's Hospital, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

AGENTS WANTED

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

Gems of Composition and Criticism

By Dr. Orestes A. Brownson

HIS new book contains a well-chose selection of essays from Dr. Brownson's pen which show his charming style and his sound interpretation of literature. Should be in every important library in America. A few of the subjects are: "American Lite:

265 pp. Bound in Cloth $1.50 Postpaid The Catholic Record

Of London, Ontario

GLASS Co

ALL SOULS ENVELOPES AND ENCLOSURES CATECHISMS Revised Butler's old edition First Communicant's-By Rev. F. Kelly

Deharbe's Catechia BIBLE HISTORY ORDER NOW MISSION SUPPLIES A SPECIALTY

J. J. M. LANDY 16 DUNDAS ST. WEST Adel. 0166 TORONTO, ONT.

TAYLOR-FORBES

Steam and Hot Water Boilers Will Burn Any Kind of Coal Perfectly

The Taylor-Forbes low pressure steam and hot water boilers will produce the highest possible maximum of results in heating from any kind of coal, coke or

The "Sovereign" Hot Water Boiler, widely in use throughout Canada, will give highly satisfactory results with free burning anthracite, Alberta coal, coke, or with any successful oil burning devise.

The "Western Junior" and "Canadian" Steam Low Pressure Steam and Hot Water Boilers will be found equally efficient with hard or soft coal, wood or oil.

In changing from one fuel to another it is only necessary to at first give some extra attention to damper control until the operator becomes familiar with its character, and a satisfactory low rate of combustion is attained. The ordinary simple rules of furnace management need not be varied.

Consult us regarding your heating problems. The technical qualifications of our staff of Heating Engineers have been proven by experience in actual practice

COMPANY

MONTREAL QUEBEC ST. JOHN, N. B. HALIFAX WINNIPEG REGINA CALGARY VANCOUVER

LONDON RESIDENT AGENT-T. M. HAYES, 991 Wellington St. CANADIAN FAIRBANKS-MORSE COMPANY General Agents for Windsor and Border Cities