Written for the Jubilee Service.

A JUBILEE HYMN.

BY REV. S. T. RAND, D. D.

God of all grace, we humbly bow to Thee, With harp and voice to sound our Jubilee;

Anew to dedicate to Thy great name, These walls, Thy care, preserved through flood and flame.

Planned by our fathers, trusted to our care, Their trials, toils, and triumphs may we share;

Despite all failures, feebleness and fears, O God of goodness, every morning new, Still may Thy grace "distil like early dew."

Direct our way, still may we follow on, As Thou shalt lead, until our work is done.

For all the past we bless Thee here to-day, For further, larger grace we plead, we pray;

Accept our offerings, dissipate our fears, And grant abounding grace for coming years.

Edward Payson Roe.

"I cannot understand Roe's literary success," once exclaimed a gentleman, and when the remark was repeated to the author, Mr Roe frankly and good-humoredly acknowledged that he did not understand it either. Yet his writings seem to have touched a chord in the public heart, and no writer of today, in America, has had an ample income from his books. It cannot be said that he ever rose to the height of literary greatness, yet he was phenomenally popular. His "Barriers Burned Away" brought him instant success and $25,000. He knew that his half a million of readers wanted, and he gave them precisely what they wanted. They were "good, intelligent, honest people," this audience of his, "not given to deep thinking and full of firm faith in axiomatic morals."

He was glad to amuse as well as to instruct and help people, and his writings, if not works of art, are what he intended they should be—"books which tender peace and resignation to many lives." They are always full of dramatic action, have plenty of incident, while the identity of his characters is well preserved.

It is said of his characters that they are commonplace, and it is undoubtedly true; yet are not the great majority of us equally as commonplace? Howells, Tolstoi, and other writers as well, have almost simultaneously discovered this humiliating fact. Even brilliant Amelie Rives, the youngest of our literati, and presumably the least experienced in human nature, has taken her cue from the rest and has given us in "Quicker or the Dead,"—for which by the way, Lippincott gave her $1,000—a nauseatingly commonplace picture of the nervous, hysterical woman whom, unfortunately, some of us can number among our acquaintances. Brilliant originality in literature has a discouragingly small audience.

Mr Roe's writings were always thoughtful, and never left an unpleasant taste in the mouth as Miss Rive's last story does. They are novels with an avowed purpose; a moral purity pervades them; they are, in short, sugar-coated sermons which his readers swallowed eagerly, only to discover later, in the semi-conscious toning-up of their moral nature, their bitter tonic effect.

It is not every author that puts himself into more than his first book, but Mr Roe's strong personality pervades every one he wrote. It is said by those who knew him well that "Mr Roe the man was the exact counterpart of Mr Roe the author. He was no less sincere, genial, and agreeable than his books." To do good, to help others, seemed to be his highest ambition; indeed, he was a happy and curious mixture of preacher, teacher, and author.

He was an athletically-built man, of medium height, with a grave, pleasant face lit up by kindly gray eyes; his dark hair was always brushed back from his high forehead, and his beard and mustache were long and black, "this manner that of a man who had spent the greater part of his life in the atmosphere of home."

Mr Roe was born at Newburgh on the Hudson in 1838. Graduating from Williams College and Auburn Theological Seminary, he entered the Presbyterian ministry, and during part of the war was chaplain of the second New York Volunteers. Afterward Mr Lincoln appointed him chaplain at Fortress Monroe. In 1874 he removed to Cornwall, where he lived until he died; his family making the fourth generation of Roes to be identified with this beautiful, picturesque spot.

Directly under the shadow of Storm King, sometimes less romantically called "Butter Hill," stands Mr Roe's pleasant, old-fashioned home, surrounded by his fruit and flowers gardens. It was built by one of his ancestors, and with its breezy hill running its entire length, dividing it in the centre, it is as comfortable as those old-time structures are apt to be. There are no pretentious furnishings, books and pictures being its chief ornaments.

"On the top floor Mr Roe had his workshop—a long, narrow, carpeted room, under the slanting roof, well-ventilated, filled with lacy lounges and chairs, common book-shelves, a large writing desk, and a cabinet containing Hudson river birds." Mr Roe's last hobby; being the collecting of these birds and study of their songs. He prepared and stuffed the birds himself, and was endeavoring to make an exact list of the time at which each began to sing at early dawn.

Aside from his novels, Mr Roe was an authority on the culture of small-fruits and flowers. His writings upon these possess a scientific value. He brought his strawberries to a rare state of perfection; they have a singularly sweet and delicate flavor.

Mr Roe was particularly an hospitable man, and during his life scarcely a day passed that he had not visitors or occupants for his spare rooms. He was also a hard worker; of late it was a common occurrence for him to work for twenty-four hours. Such mental and physical strain was undoubtedly the remote cause of his death, the immediate one being angina pectoris.

His will leaves everything to his wife, who, by the way, it is said, is the heroine in "Nature's Serial Story." This story is said to be, also, a great favorite with its author. Although it is well known that business entanglements with his brother, not long ago, financially ruined Mr Roe, yet at the time of his death he had cleared off every indebtedness and was firmly on his feet again.

In the October Lippincott's we shall have an autobiographical sketch of Roe, which is one of his last writings and secured by them only a few days before his death. It is entitled "A Native Author called Roe." The derivation of the title is rather curious. It seems that the late Matthew Arnold remarked, in one of his critical papers on America, that "the literary impulse of the country seems to be largely nurtured by the writings of a native author called Roe." Mr Roe modestly adopted the title. Mr Roe rated his stories at their true literary value, and used to jesting say that when he had made himself rich he would apply himself to writing literature; but, as is often the case, death frustrated such plans, if he had really made them, and his pen is laid aside long, long before his many friends and readers had hoped.—A. W. EMERY, in Portland Transcript.

Only Sister.

The mother died peacefully, knowing that she left the little ones in good and careful hands, for though but a girl herself, "Sister" was as trustworthy as any woman twice her age, and she more than took the place of the poor, ailing mother. She tried to be wise and gentle with the turbulent children, and the hours filled with pleasure and bright dreams of lovers by other girls, were only too short for this one to keep the small garments repaired and the house neat for father.

So gradually the year slipped by, and Sister's fresh, young cheeks showed signs of care, and the faithful heart was oppressed by many growing responsibilities. But no one noticed that youth and beauty were fleeing from her with the carrying of the burden, and to the younger members of the family she was "only Sister," the one whose place must never be vacant, who must never be too tired to need this or that. The father, too, grew accustomed to being looked after by his eldest child, and though always kind, he failed to understand that the shoulders were too young for the load they carried, and so time went on.

Sister had no lovers. The pretty airs and graces that set so well on other girls seemed too trivial and idle to this busy, grave young woman, and the world, too, forgot that "Sister" was not forty.

She was not unhappy, you understand. No, her life was too busy for that, and those dependent on her filled her heart too completely for it to languer for others, and, after all, it is duty well done that keeps the sky blue above us.

By-and-by the children grew up, and began to make homes for them selves. The boys went away, feeling like birds uncaged, and with wives and babies to be all in all to them, forgot Sister. The girls went with many tears and much clinging to the work-bowed figure, but the new loves weaned them, too, from home memories. At last the old father and Sister were left alone; but he, too, was going fast to another home, and it was still Sister's hands that made smooth the way. It was on her breast that the gray head lay as he murmured, "You have been a good child, daughter," before he died, and her tears that fell first on the quiet face.

After the funeral the brothers and sisters seemed to take it for granted that the old maid sister would remain in the echoing old house, and went contentedly back to their cheerful well-filled homes.

Now, for the first time, Sister realized what loneliness was, and felt the void that all feel whose work is finished before death gives the well-earned rest. To occupy herself she attended to her simple wants unaided and on the days when some of them remembered her, was very, very happy. But she drooped and pined for the children, and after a while she fell ill. Not very ill, not enough to alarm her, but only weak and ailing as her mother had been long ago. It is the close of one of the early autumn days, she found herself unable to eat the simple lunch before her, so crept away early to her lowly bed.

Lying awake, too sad to sleep, she somehow came to her the memory of many a waking night beside the child-gate were swept away and the patient gaze were swung away and the patient heart broke. She had loved them so, tended them so well! Never had she slept so soundly that a fretful voice failed to rouse her, and now not one was near to hear her call a last goodbye. They had forgotten her.

They found her next morning lying dead beside the old trunk-bed in the deserted nursery. One yearning arm was thrown over a little pillow where no head rested then, and they wept, understanding at last through the loving attitude what her life had been. Still one can not weep forever, and they dried their eyes again.

After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician at once ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Simpson, Rogers Prairie, Texas.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking several bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who know me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., AUG. 31, 1888.

The Convention.

Saturday morning last dawned fair and beautiful, and our village appeared to the very best advantage. Remarks of a flattering nature to the place were heard on all sides from the multitude of strangers who had come up to this great Baptist Mecca of the eastern provinces. The Convention opened for business in the recently beautifully improved Assembly Hall of Acadia College at 10 a. m., Prof. R. V. Jones, Ph. D., President of Convention, in the chair. The hymn, "All hail the power of Jesus' name," was sung; the 145th Psalm was then read; Rev. Dr. McKenzie, of the Baptist Mission Rooms, Boston, was next called upon to offer the introductory prayer, which was a masterful and soul stirring invocation. Business for which the Convention had met was at once proceeded with, the delegates from the various churches and associations were called upon to respond to their names as they were called by the Secretary. Visiting brethren, who during the sessions of Convention were invited to seats in the Convention, were, Rev. W. S. McKenzie, D. D., Rev. Mr. Hanna, Rev. J. F. Avery, Rev. W. Newcomb, Rev. Mr. Johnston, Rev. Alfred Chipman, Prof. Dr. Schurman and Elder of the United States; Rev. A. A. Cameron, Rev. J. H. Best, of Manitoba; Prof. Burwash, of Mount Allison College; Rev. H. Morrow, of Toroy, Burmah. After the appointment of a committee on nominations had reported, the report on obituaries was presented by its chairman, Rev. S. R. C. Black, of Kentville. From this report it appeared that two ordained ministers and two licentiates belonging to the Convention had died during the year, Rev. Samuel Burt, of New Brunswick, aged 69; Rev. Henry Eagler, of Nova Scotia, aged 75; and brethren F. M. Kelly, M. A., and Randall Illey, licentiates. The committee on nominations here reported that H. C. Creed, Esq., of Fredericton, had been nominated to the presidency of the Convention, Revs. J. C. Morse and J. C. Spurr were nominated vice-presidents, Rev. Prof. Keirstead, M. A., secretary, and C. W. Roseco, treasurer. The vice-president, Rev. J. J. Skinner, was called to the chair, and Dr. Jones delivered his address as the retiring president. In the name of the governors of Acadia College he cordially welcomed the delegates from the churches, the former graduates of the college, the alumni, and since it had transpired that many of those who had left their bachelors in arts were now no longer bachelors, he welcomed most cordially the fair ones who had succeeded in bringing about this remarkable but pleasing change. In his own inimitable manner the Dr proceeded to portray the policy of the denomination particularly with reference to her child—the child of many prayers, the child in which her deepest hopes were centered, about which she would throw her protecting arms of love—Acadia University. She was to the Maritime Baptists their "own Minerva on her own Acropolis." The money question was touched in a skillful and thrilling manner, the perennial throb of benevolence in the great heart of the body was the needed consummation. This would be reached only when the fundamental principles of God had obtained firm grip on the Baptist conscience—the principles of God loving man, of man loving man, of man loving God because God first loved, of man longing to be ennobled and to be an ennobling influence because he and his fellow man and God loved each other. This masterful address, of which a few thoughts have been given above, was worthy of the man and worthy of the important occasion that drew it forth. The new president was here introduced, and made a few appropriate remarks as he took the chair. The other nominations were confirmed, and the rules of order read. Session closed with prayer. Saturday afternoon session opened with prayer by Rev. I. Wallace. After stirring addresses from several of the visitors, the financial agent's report was read by Rev. G. E. Day, D. D. By this report the Convention learned that there had been contributed by the Nova Scotia churches through Convention fund $4165.22 to home missions, $9060.55 to foreign missions, $1002.09 to the Education Board, $383.96 to ministerial relief and Aid Society, $390.70 to ministerial education; and that the Women's Mission Aid Societies of Nova Scotia had contributed $2204.50; that the New Brunswick churches has thus contributed—to home missions, $1789.50, to foreign missions $906, missions, aid and relief, $181.55, ministerial education, $181.75; W. M. Aid societies had contributed $1280.44. The P. E. Island churches had thus contributed, to home missions, $353.50; foreign missions $224.70; education, $173.94; mission aid, $34.77; ministerial education, $34.85; W. M. Aid societies had contributed $296.30; making a total for Nova Scotia of $12,099.20; for New Brunswick, $5,889.83; for P. E. Island, $1,117.10; and making a grand total of $20,359.87 as the contribution of the churches of the three provinces toward the Convention fund. The report of the finance committee was next presented by its chairman, B. H. Eaton, Esq., and the session closed with prayer. Shortly after the opening of the evening session it was resolved by Convention that a cablegram be sent to Rev. W. Churchill and wife, missionaries in India, conveying heartfelt sympathy and love to them in their deep sorrow, occasioned by the recent death of their child. The Home Mission Board was called upon to submit its report. Through the chairman of the committee, Rev. A. Coboon, this committee reported that during the past year 68 missionary pastors and student missionaries had together performed 1721 weeks of labor. During this time they had preached 5,012 sermons, attended 3,415 other meetings, made 14,557 religious visits, distributed 15,662 pages of tracts, besides much other work that could not be tabulated. Bequests during the year had been received which amounted in full to $7,275.97. After the reading of the report several very interesting impromptu addresses were delivered by members of the Convention. Of the speakers, Rev. Rouleau, French missionary, attracted much attention by stating that 5 Catholics had been recently converted on his field of labor; and Rev. S. T. Rand, D. D., D. C. L., thrilled the audience by his fiery eloquence, as he strove to impress the thought that the power of God alone can regenerate a human soul whether it be called by the name of "English," "French," "Indian," or "Hindu." This exceedingly interesting session closed with prayer at 11 p. m. SUNDAY. The services of the day centred naturally in the Convention sermon in College Hall at 3 p. m. by Rev. S. B. Kempton. His text was found in Psalm 118 at the 7th and 8th verses. The chief interest of the sermon was its intense practicalness. Other preachers in the College and other places were, Rev. J. H. Best and Rev. E. Whitman in the college; Rev. Hanna and Rev. A. A. Cameron in the Baptist church; Rev. B. Lockhart in Presbyterian church; Rev. C. R. B. Dodge and Rev. L. M. Weeks in Methodist church; Rev. J. A. Ford in Windsor; Rev. W. B. Bradshaw in Gaspereau; Rev. M. B. Shaw in Canning. On Monday morning the Convention listened with deep interest to a description of Baptist work being done, and how more Baptist work could be done and it was impressively necessary should be done in the great and almost limitless northwestern end of the Dominion. A collection was taken on the spot in aid of the work amounting to the neat sum of $105. The report on the state of the denomination was next presented by Rev. C. Goodspeed, M. A., and the following interesting facts were made public. Eight men had been ordained during the year. Six churches had been organized. Four houses of worship had been dedicated. Besides business of minor importance transacted during the morning and afternoon sessions of Monday, the Convention scheme in the main, to which the Convention had in previous years committed itself, was reaffirmed; and a general agency was appointed, through whose hands all money contributed by the churches to Convention fund was to pass to the treasurers of the different Boards. At 5 p. m. Rev. W. J. Stewart presented the report of the Foreign Mission Board, in which reference was made to the scandalous conduct of a former missionary. On Monday evening the utmost capacity of Assembly Hall was filled by the audience which had assembled to listen to a programme on Missions. The meeting was opened by the choir singing the hymn beginning, "From Greenland's icy mountains"; prayer was offered by Rev. Johnstone, of New Hampshire. The first speaker was Rev. Dr. McKenzie. The vast audience was electrified by his thought, clothed in exquisite language, which centred around the idea conveyed in a literal rendering of our Saviour's words,—"Go ye into all the world. . . . Lo I am with you as ye go"; and that Christianity impels men to work for souls, not for the soul's sake but for Christ's sake. Rev. H. Morrow, returned missionary from Burmah, was the next speaker, and in the course of his interesting address, illustrated by a fine map of the world, made a terrific indictment of the tobacco habit. John March, Esq., treasurer of F. M. Board, followed with an admirable speech urging upon the Convention its duty and privilege in view of the pressing demands on the Board at present. The following is a statement of figures presented by Mr. March. The F. M. Board had received from Con. Fund during the year $3408.48, from special sources $537.23, from mission bands and Sunday-schools $671.23, from Women's Baptist Mission Union $3,500, by legacies $445.08, making a total of $11,231.49. Just at this stage a statement was made by Rev. J. W. Bancroft that by will the late N. H. Dobson, Esq., of North Sydney, C. B., had bequeathed $1,000 to the F. M. Board and that the money was on deposit and could be drawn at any time. The estimates of expenditure for the coming year were placed at $13,000. In spite of his being compelled to bring down so large an estimate, the closing remarks of Mr. March were full of hope and undaunted courage. At a subsequent meeting of the Convention the report of the H. M. Board, submitted at a former session, was adopted clause by clause with a few amendments, and these of a trifling character. It was also resolved by Convention that Rev. A. Coboon be requested to accept the position of joint agent of the H. M. and Educational Boards, doing the work of a Home Mission superintendent. During the sessions on Tuesday a strong temperance resolution was discussed and adopted by Convention. It was resolved to accept the invitation of the Fredericton church to meet with them next year. A resolution of sympathy and fraternal greeting was passed to be forwarded to Rev. I. E. Bill, D. D., who had been detained by illness from meeting with his brethren. The report on Education was presented by Dr. T. A. Higgins and adopted, in which touching allusion was made to the past fifty years' history of the College. The report was full of cheering and hopeful prophecy for the next fifty years of Acadia's history. Prof. Tufts has resigned the Principality of the Academy. I. B. Oaks, Esq., has been appointed Principal. Kindly reference was made to the Seminary at St. Martins, and to its brilliant Principal, Rev. B. F. Simpson. A tribute of gratitude was paid to the founders and friends of the Institution on the Hill. The College Treasurer reported a total disbursement of $10,000. It was stated that the Jubilee offering had already yielded in cash $11,296.43 and that in pledges &c., about $20,000 had been raised. As the hour for adjournment drew near, resolutions were passed recognizing the courtesy of railroad and steamboat officials in the Provinces, and of thanks to the College authorities, and members of Wolfville Baptist church, and other residents of the village, who had seemed to vie with one another in making all visitors happy. After prayer the Convention adjourned to meet next August at Fredericton, N. B. Acadia's Jubilee. On Tuesday evening the opening exercises in connection with the celebration of the Jubilee of the College took place, under the auspices of the Associated Alumni. Cards of invitation had been issued and a very large number responded. It is doubtful if the history of the institution furnishes a single gathering more representative or enthusiastic than this one. On entering the front door of the College the ladies were ushered into rooms on the left while the gentlemen were ordered to the right to have their hats, overcoats, canes, etc., cared for. This took a considerable time. After which Pres. Sawyer, Dr. Hall, Pres. Associated Alumni, and other prominent friends of the institution, arranged in line in one of the class rooms, welcomed all to the reception with a cordial grasp of the hand. Passing into another welcome from Mr. Sawyer and other ladies. By the time the audience room is reached every one feels that no pains have been spared to make this a most enjoyable and memorable occasion, but few expected to find this hall so beautifully decorated. A very handsome arch is over the platform above which appears in large letters the following: "Hitherto the Lord hath helped us." Below the arch is a large banner bearing this: Acadia's Jubilee. 1838. A great profusion of beauty appears on every side and the display of plants and flowers is something really wonderful. Altogether the decorations are most elaborate yet very tastefully arranged. A detailed account of which would require more time than we have at our disposal. One very noticeable feature of the occasion was the social manner in which the Professors of the College moved about doing their utmost to make all feel at home. After half an hour had been spent in hand-shaking and the renewing of old acquaintances, Dr. Hall, Pres. of Alumni, took the chair and called to order, when the following programme was taken up:— Part 1. Violin Solo. . . . . Mr. Barnett Jubilee Poem. . . . . Miss Bishop Jubilee Song. . . . . College Choir (Arthur Wentworth Eaton.) Jubilee Ode. . . . . Rev. O. C. S. Wallace (Read by Miss Wallace.) The music, poem and ode were all of a very high character and reflected the greatest credit on those who took part. The best evidence we have of their appreciation was the excellent order that was maintained by the immense audience, while the different pieces were being rendered. A recess of ten minutes was given, and then the second part of the programme was taken up. A very nice vocal solo was given by Mr. Burgoyne. After which came one of the most pleasing incidents of the evening. The chairman asked Pres. Sawyer to step to the platform. At this stage in the proceedings, J. Parsons, Esq., stepped to the front of

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., AUG. 31, 1888

Local and Provincial.

LATE STRAWBERRIES.—The latest strawberries we have seen this season were presented us by Mr Reginald Gillmore a few days ago. We return thanks.

DR CRAWLEY.—A fine life-size crayon drawing of Dr Crawley has been on exhibition at Rockwell & Co's. this week. The artist is Mr Lewis Rice on whom it reflects a great deal of credit.

KNIGHTED.—Hon. J. S. D. Thompson, Minister of Justice, has been created a knight of the grand cross of the order of St Michael and St George in consideration of his services in connection with the fisheries commission.

THE COLLEGE GROUNDS.—The College grounds have been enclosed with a n. at fence, which greatly improves the appearance. All that is wanted now is some ornamental trees to make the grounds look very pretty.

CROWDED.—Wolfville has been filled to overflowing this week. Notwithstanding the fact that the college buildings were placed at the disposal of the visitors to the convention, there has been hardly sufficient accommodation for all.

Oats and Feed; Lime, $1.50 per sack, at Prat's.

EXCURSION.—Evangeline Division, of Lower Horton, is to have an excursion to Parraboro on Saturday from Horton Landing. The steamer Acadia has been engaged for the occasion and an enjoyable day will no doubt be spent.

PICNIC.—Acadia Lodge, I. O. G. T., friends having their picnic on Tuesday next at Black River Falls.—The annual picnic of the Wolfville Presbyterian Sabbath-school takes place on Wednesday of next week at Long Island.

A big stock of Stone Butter Crocks at B. G. Bishop's.

IMPROVEMENT.—Mr Dickson is moving this week into the residence lately occupied by Mrs McKee, now the property of Mr O. D. Harris. The house and surrounding have been repaired and considerably improved. The dwelling has been newly painted and a neat fence placed in front.

NEW HOUSE.—We understand that our respected townsmen, Mr S. R. Sleep, intends erecting a new dwelling in the spring to take the place of the one he now occupies. As Mr Sleep does not generally do things by halves we have no doubt but that the structure will be an ornament to our town.

JUST IN.—Roofing Paint, Carriage Paints, leads, glass, &c. &c., for sale low at B. G. Bishop's.

RUNAWAY.—A horse attached to a carriage containing two ladies ran away on Tuesday afternoon and caused quite a stir. The horse became frightened in turning the corner of Chapel and Main Sts. Both ladies were thrown from the carriage and the horse dashed up Main St. Near the People's Bank it took the sidewalk when the carriage became wedged between the fence and a post and the horse got clear without injuring the carriage. The ladies were fortunately not seriously injured.

SHIPPING.—On Monday the steamer Acadia towed the schooner Galena, Morris master, to Port Williams, where she will be loaded with lumber by S. P. Benjamin for Buenos Ayers. The Galena is a large three-masted schooner.—The schooner Mankle, Gould master, arrived from Boston on Sunday and after discharging cargo for this place proceeded on Monday to Port Williams to load lumber for Boston.—The schooner Sar, Blake master, arrived on Tuesday from Joggins with the first cargo of coal this season.

FOR SALE.—A new milch cow, 3 years old. Apply to G. W. Amory, Wolfville.

EFFECTIVE.—A prominent millman on the Gaspereau says it is a sad case as the editor of the ACADIAN that has caused the Government to pass the measure prohibiting the throwing of saw-dust, &c., into the rivers of the Province. We presume he is right. Our endeavor has ever been to watch over the interest of our readers, and when we see our fisheries being sacrificed to save a few dollars to the mill man, we consider it our duty to call the attention of those in authority to the matter and thus prevent our people being robbed of a valuable branch of industry. We are glad to know that our efforts have not been in vain.

Local and Provincial.

THE OPENING.—The Academy and Seminary open next Thursday.

Ice Cream Soda, cool and refreshing, at Prat's.

CROWDED OUT.—Several interesting communications have been crowded out this week to make room for Convention reports. Our correspondents will please bear with us patiently.

5 cases Gem Jars just in at B. G. Bishop's Very low.

THE JUBILEE.—We regret exceedingly that our space will not permit us to publish the balance of the report of the Jubilee exercises this week. Next week we will conclude it and publish the address to Dr Sawyer in full.

NOW IN STOCK.—Twenty half-barrel of those fat Scatarie Herring. E. C. BISHOP.

Canning Items.

On Wednesday, 22d inst, the ladies of the auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church held a public meeting, which, though the night was very unfavorable, was both in point of entertainment and audience quite successful. The main feature of the exercises was an address by Miss L. Silver, recording secretary of the Nova Scotia branch of the Society, which was instructive and interesting, showing very clearly that this society holds a place of no little importance among the Christianizing agencies of the church and that both in the foreign and home fields its labors are approved of God. More than this her address was well calculated to enthuse the indifferent of both sexes. Mrs Ainley, the president of the auxiliary, read a report containing a brief history of its career and showing that steady advancement has been made during the two years of its existence. Miss Bessie Lockwood read with good effect an article on the Christian's duty towards the heathen. Some members of the Mission Band took part in the proceedings. The pastor presided. The ladies were cheered by the presence of Mr and Mrs Josiah Wood and Mr and Mrs E. Cogswell, of Sackville, who were the guests of F. W. Borden Esq, M. P. The proceeds were satisfactory.

It is pleasing to see the work on the evaporating establishment of Messrs Kerr & Sons progressing rapidly and it is hoped that this enterprising firm who are contributing to the growth of this place will prosper.

There is a prospect of this section of the country being made more lively by the operations of the contractors on the Cornwallis Railway very shortly; and though for personal reasons some have felt that they had ground for complaint (and who will say their complaint was altogether groundless?) it is also hoped that this greater enterprise will be crowned with success.

The old ship-yard must not be overlooked, to which has been brought back some of its old-time interest by Captain Potter, who is building a schooner for the West Indies trade and expects, we believe, to have her off the stocks early in October. We appreciate his doing his work here.

While there are these indications of material progress, our inhabitants will do well to give attention to the morals of this community, for none can be oblivious to the fact that there is no department in which there is more room for improvement than this. Let them see to it that, while they are interested in what is expected to increase our population and the trade, the seat of life and the foundation of permanent prosperity is not diseased or undermined.

B. G. Bishop sells Greenhead lime at $1.50 per sack.

Mr C. W. Bishop wishes to inform the people of Wolfville and vicinity that he is prepared to do painting, paper-hanging, and kalsomining in a first class manner for all who may favor him with their orders.

A PRETTY STORE.—We notice a great improvement in the Wolfville Book-store. The manager, Mr F. P. Rockwell, has had the interior thoroughly renovated and re-fitted, and the result is as pretty a store as can be found in the Province. Under the hands of our artist, Mr Blankhorn, the walls and ceilings have been tastefully tinted and ornamented, giving a very pleasing appearance. A complete new stock of books, stationery and fancy goods is very tastefully arranged. Taken altogether, the store is a credit to the town and we are glad to speak a good word and we are glad to speak a good word for it. Evidently Mr Rockwell is striving to please the public as well as to minister to its wants, and we bespeak for him a liberal patronage.

BERWICK TIMES.

NEWS, NOTES, JOTTINGS, ETCETERA.

Rev. D. O. Parker is our representative in Berwick, and is prepared to take orders for job printing and advertising. We are constantly adding to our plant, and will give prompt attention to all work. Get our prices.

Owing to the storm the organization of a W. C. T. U. in Berwick has been postponed for a few days.

CHRIST CHURCH (Anglican).—Divine service next Sunday at 3 p. m. All seats free. REV. M. C. WADE, Incumbent.

The frame of Mr F. Clarke's house is now going up. It will be finished in the Queen Ann style with a French roof.

Mr Parker has a fine show of furniture in his new warehouses. He represents this paper in Berwick and takes subscriptions for it and orders for advertisements and job printing.

BAPTIST APPOINTMENTS.—Preaching at Berwick at 11 a. m. At Somerset at 4 p. m. Prayer meetings on Sabbath and Thursday evenings at Berwick. All strangers provided with seats, E. O. READ, Pastor.

While the farmers of Berwick are making a success of the small fruit industry, some of the women are quite largely engaged in raising canary birds, for the local and Halifax markets. In this enterprise Mrs J. Rockwell takes the lead having this summer raised about fifty birds.

The way to make friends and secure patronage. If the published reports of invited guests to sit with the delegrate in the Baptist Convention this week are correct then the visiting pastor of a church in N. H. and the son of one of the venerated fathers of the Baptists in N. S. and the brother of one of the original builders and professors of Acadia College did not receive so much as the passing compliment of an invitation to a seat. "Money makes the mare go."

MR EDITOR.—In your article on the Camp Meeting there is an oversight, of course unintentional, of the work done by Rev. Mr Prince, who at that time was stationed on the Berwick circuit. The Rev. gentleman had been connected with efforts of that kind in New Brunswick and deeply impressed with their value as a means of grace entered zealously into the promotion of the one which has just closed its 17th session. He yet lives to rejoice in its success. Yours respectfully, F. H. W. PICKLES.

A few words about Rev. Mr Hanna, who preached in the Baptist church, Wolfville, last Sabbath morning. In the Jubilee Volume of Madison University, Hamilton, N. Y., published in 1872, we find in the sketches of the Alumni—"Thomas A T Hanna; born August 6th, 1842, near Giant's Causeway, north of Ireland; entered Grammar School, Oct, 1868; graduated from College in '64; and from Theological Seminary in '66, ordained pastor Central Baptist Church, Williamsburg, N. Y., Sept, 1886; married Miss Emily F Judson, at Philadelphia, Pa, June 14th, 1870." From the same book we learn that his brother-in-law, Dr Edward Judson, born at Maulmain, Burman, December 27, 1844, was his classmate.

The third annual convention of the King's Co Sabbath-School Association will be held in the Methodist church at Berwick on Tuesday, Sept 4th, at 10 a. m. Following will be the programme: Morning session, 10 to 12:30—Devotional exercises—Report of nominating committee—Election of officers—Report of the visiting committee. Afternoon, 2 to 5—Statistical report—Our Mission Work, address on above by Rev D Freeman—The Relation of the Sabbath-school to the Church, paper by W J Burgess—How to Conduct a Sabbath-school, address by Dr Woodworth. Evening, 7 to 9—Paper on Sabbath-school work, by Miss Fitch, of Wolfville. Every Sabbath school is entitled to send two delegates besides the superintendent. All pastors and Sabbath-school workers are invited to take part in the Convention. Sabbath school reports to be sent in this week to the Secretary. W. DAWSON.

The revised edition of the Jubilee programme is to go to B. G. Bishop's and see those beautiful American lamps just in. Daily to arrive, beautiful toilet-ware, crates of crockery, glass and earthenware, &c., &c. These goods offered very low.

Dandruff, Baldness, Thin or Grev Hair.

Everyone knows how disagreeable it looks to see Dandruff falling from the head to the shoulders of either lady or gentleman. The best way to get rid of the affliction is by the application of Simon's Lintiment, say three times a week, just before retiring at night, first washing the head thoroughly with warm water and castile soap. It will cost you but 25 cents to give it a trial, and who but could take pride in a fine glossy head of hair without any appearance of Dandruff. Mr E. Renault, agent of Crown Lands, St Thomas, Quebec, writes: "I have used Simon's Lintiment as a hair invigorator and can certify to its wonderful effect for the growth of hair and cleansing of the scalp. I feel assured it will in nearly every case prevent the hair from coming out."

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY. The Latest Edition has 119,000 Words, and near 1000 Engravings.—3000 more Words and near 1500 more Engravings than found in any other American Dictionary. It also contains a Biographical Dictionary, giving brief facts concerning nearly 10,000 Noted Persons. To these features we have JUST ADDED, (1888) A NEW PRONOUNCING Gazetteer of the World, containing over 2500 Titles, briefly describing the Countries, Cities, Towns, and Natural Features of every part of the Globe. WEBSTER IS THE STANDARD Authority with the U. S. Supreme Court and in the Gov's Printing Office, and is recommended by the State Sup'rs of Schools in 36 States, and by the leading College Presidents of the United States and Canada. The London Times says: It is the best Dictionary of the language. The Quarterly Review, London, says: It is the best practical Dictionary extant. The California Englishman says: It is the most perfect work of the kind. The Toronto Globe, Canada, says: Its place is in the very highest rank. The New York Tribune says: It is recognized as the most useful existing "word-book" of the English language all over the world. It is an invaluable companion in every school, and at every Fire-side. Specimen pages and testimonials sent promptly on application. A. S. HOARE & CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

Sir Walter Scott told an amusing story how he managed to secure a place near the top of his class in the High School of Edinburgh, his usual position being near the foot.

"It Makes Me Tired"

To read all these advertisements of medicines upon medicines--when they enumerate with such particularity and minuteness of detail, all the diseases mankinds, womankind, and even "baby-kind," are heir to.

A Prophecy of the Present.

In tearing down an old building at McKeesport, Pa., some of the workmen discovered in the chimney a pint flask of whiskey and a tin box, containing a prophecy written in 1838.

Ancient Problems.

Among the problems with which I pressed the ancients to perplex themselves was one which bears in an instructive manner on the doctrine of limits.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
