to Lazarus that he had suffered in this world; he is now, and will be for all eternity, enjoying the happiness of Heaven. But of what avail, now was all the wealth of Dives, since he was buried in hell. Was there any in his presence, he asked, who would dread to be summoned into the presence of their Maker? If there were he appealed to them by all means to enter seriously into this subject. We all must die and return to dust. Now was the time to make our decision. If we wished to gain heaven, now was the time to make our choice. If we wished to save our souls, let us rally round the cross, and spend the remainder of our lives in such a way as to ensure an eternity of happines in Heaven. No matter how deeply steeped in sin we might be, we were still capable of virtue, of happiness, of heaven. One drop of the precious blood of Jesus C rist was more than sufficient to restore a soul to its pristine beauty. He earnestly exhorted all to come to their Easter duty, to come early. When we confess our sins they are blotted out. We should then take a resolution to spend the remainder of our days in the fear and love of God. Should we do so, we would have the happiness of hearing, on the last day, "Come, you blessed of my Father possess the Kingdom prepared for you".

The above is but a mere summary of this able and eloquent discourse, to which the immense congregation listened with breathless attention.

My Ange 's Errand; or, The Hourly

TRANSLATED FROM THE GERMAN BY S. N. D.

Guardian Spirit, Angel bright
Lent by God to guide and cheer me,
Closer draw those pinions white,
Deeper, lowlier, bend to hear me
While I proffer my request,
Holy uttered, holy expressed;
O my errand deign to flee—
Hear the Holy Mass for me.

All the day and all the night
He wenly hosts in worship bending,
Pu e and accepted in God's sight
The Clean Oblation is assending;
From earth's thousand alters rise O lors of sweet sacrifice;
Then o'er the world, dear Angel, flee,
Hear the Holy Mass for me.

At the Offertory bring
Each petition I would proffer
To the presence of the King;
With thy hallowed hands to offer, hat all I have, or small or great, i'e to His service consecrate, Waile, sweet Angel, thou wilt be Hearing Holy Mass for me.

At the Consecration pour
Strains of love and praise, unbidden,
And my Lord and God adore
'Neath the veils of mystery hidden;
Pray for all I hold most dear, Those I honor and revere; Pay for all who wound or sadden,

Who aggrieve me or who gladden, While, sweet Angel, thou wilt be Haring Holy Mass for me. At Communion, Angel blest, By thy love, that never tires, By thy love, that never tires,
Ering to me the Heavenly Guest,
Whom my longing heart desires;
Him to reverence, Him to praise
Through life's maze of nights and days;
Then doubly sweet thy heaven will be,
Hearing Holy Mass for me.

Till the End of the Year These Goods Must Sell at Bankrupt Prices.

These Goods Must Sell is always publicly regarded as a very important part of the Christian religion, as contained in the symbols of the Apostles, and still more clearly in the Gosples, and consequently as the basis of true orthodoxy; it would not be just to consider it as a fault; and one cannot admit that en lightened, conscientious and religious persons could wish to put difficulties in his way on that account. Were that so, publicity in different countries could render him the most hon-

and hope that this incident will prove of the East. While expressing in the present letter the views of many disinguished persons in and out of Rome, I beg to ask you at the same time if I may address certain theolo gical and canonical questions to the Holy Synod of Russia. I hope Your Excellency will be so good as to hon-or me with a reply, and I beg you to accept the expression of my distinguished consideration and respect. -Vinc Vannutelli. Rome, Jan. 16 1895. The writer has been informed that his letter will not receive an an swer. Meantime the distinguished young priest, who has no inclinations to risk the dangers of returning to Russia, is preparing an exhaustive defence, which, from what I know of his character and erudition, is likely to be excellent in every respect. At Christmas time Father Vannutelli re ceived a card from M Pobodonotseff. with these words written in his own hand: "Deum de Deo-Lumen de Lumine-gestat Puellae viscera, Deum verum-Genitum, non factum -Venite adoremus-Venite adoremus Dominum-Gloria in excelsis-Pax, Pax, Pax-Hominibus bona voluntatis!". The best possible wish is that the Procurator of the Holy Synod may give speedy realiza-tion to his own prayer.—Rome Cor. TRANSACTS every description of Fire tion to his own prayer. - Rome Cor.
