For as the pair dashed out after Sir Hilton the door through which they passed closed with a dull, jarring thud, which seemed to bring down another flower-pot in the conservatory; but this was not heard by Lady Lisle, who entered the drawing-room excitedly, closely followed by Lady Tilborough and the doctor, all looking pallid and all-aghast in the yellow light of the candles mingled with the pale grey dawn stealing in.

BETTER ROADS TO THE PARK

The crowds which visit Rockwood Park increase rather than diminish with the advance of summer. Without the park

the Saturday half-holiday would be of little good to the numbers of hard working citizens who welcome such a breathing place as the park affords. The efforts to improve one of St. John's most attractive features are much appreciated as is shown by the large patronage.

Suggestions have been made, however, that the approaches to the park could be made more accessible. It is pointed out that the road leading up to what is known as Garden Drive, from the foot of

Wright street, where the I. C. R. tracks cross Gilbert's lane, could be improved so that the distance to the park from the cars would be much shorter and more easily traversable. It has been suggested that the jail squad should be put at work on the road.

IN OLD JAPAN

The following stanzas from the Prelude in Arnold Noyes's new book of verses, "The Flower of Old Japan" (The Macmillan Company), strike, says the New York Evening

Post, the true keynote to the entire volume in their blending of happy humor and happy sentiment and fancy.

THE FLOWER.

You that have known the wonder zone

Of islands far away,

You that have heard the dinky bird

And roamed in rich Cathay,

You that have sailed the unknown seas

To woods of Amalfaid trees

Where crazy dragons play,

Oh, stir or woman, boy or man,

You've plucked the Flower of Old Japan!

Do you remember the blue stream:

The bridge of pale bamboo:

The path that seemed so twisted dream

Where everything came true:

The purple cherry trees that flung

With jutting eaves below the boughs:

The mandarin in blue,

With tiny, smiling, tilted toes:

And curious curved muschaches!

Do you remember all the tales

That Tassulas told,

When first we plucked the purple vase

In quest of buried gold?

Do you remember how he said

"That if you fell and hurt your head

Our hearts must still be held,

And we must never mind our pain

But rise up and go on again!"

Do you remember? Yes, I know

The hills that haunt us now,

He left us, not so long ago,

Caroling to know that he should be

Under the comfortable sky

Dear Robert Louis Stevenson!

And there he knew that he should find

"The hills that haunt us now"

Beyond the reef, the trees,

His heart remembered how,

And friends he loved and left to roam

Far from the pleasant hearth of home,

Should touch his dreaming brow,

Where fishes by and birds have fin,

And children teach the mandarin.

Ah, let us follow, follow far,

Beyond the purple seas:

Beyond the reef, the trees,

That roll before the fearless child

In his ancient mystic, "I can,"

Onward and onward, if we can,

To Old Japan—to Old Japan.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

HE SHOWED IT.

The other looked at him critically.

"Your excuse is satisfactory," he said.

THE DISTINCTION.

"That's strange. I got home at two,

"You think you walked further, but you didn't see me walk."

METHODISTS AND REVIVALS

Bishop Vincent Protests Against Sensational Methods

Bishop Fowler Agrees That There is Too Much Sensationalism in the Churches Today, but Believes in Sobriety Conducted Revivals.

In a speech at Coffeyville, Kansas, this week, Bishop John H. Vincent of the Methodist Episcopal Church attacked the evangelistic system of revivals now used in most of the churches of his denomination. He said that revivals produce only temporary good and that on account of the sensational methods used in so many of them the bad effect more than offsets the good.

(New York Evening Post.)

Clergymen of this city generally, and those of the Methodist Episcopal Church in particular, were discussing today the address delivered yesterday at Coffeyville, Kan., by Bishop John Vincent of the Methodist Church, which he is said to have criticized the evangelistic system of "revivals" employed extensively in his own denomination, declaring that he believed sensational methods have produced more than temporary good.

Ministers seemed to be practically united in the opinion that Bishop Vincent's quoted opinion should not be taken absolutely literally. In other words, they held that while there had been undoubtedly too much sensationalism in recent evangelistic movements, this did not by any means show that the movements had been unwise or unfruitful. What the clergymen desired was less sensationalism and more sober, earnest work—an appeal to "men's intellects, to their logical senses," to quote the words of Bishop Charles Henry Fowler, also of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"I know Bishop Vincent quite well," he said this morning. "He is known in the Church for opinions such as were expressed in his address at Coffeyville. But his opinions do not represent the entire Methodist Church, although there is much reason in what he says. There is too much sensationalism in the Church at present, and there has been in the past. We should like to get rid of it, but I do not think revivals are harmful. In my experience they have done a vast deal of good. Take the Welsh revivals of several years ago, for instance. There was much headstrong, unadvisable enthusiasm, but when it was all over it was found that it had benefited the whole country—benefited it as it had never been benefited before."

"It is true that sensationalism applied to religion is neither wise nor practical, but experience has proved that many a man has been saved through standing up in church and giving testimony about his sins. He has helped at the same time, perhaps, some other poor sinner to gain courage to repent. In a majority of cases men do get the true religious feeling, but not always. They are often so excited that the seeds that were sown in shallow soil were choked by weeds, but those planted in fertile ground grew up, fruitful, sixty-fold and an hundred-fold. That is all one can say about them. It depends, largely, on what all is said and done, on the individual case."

"Bishop Vincent does not represent any particular part of the church. He merely expresses his own views. As I have said, they are worthy consideration, but they should not be taken too literally. Such projects as the London slums, which Philadelphia clergymen propose to have on his church to draw worshippers, will not be truly successful. Men will come for the theatrical, not for the religious. It may be said that they will absorb the religion without knowing it, but I doubt it. The way to appeal to a man's religious sense is to approach him with the true feeling of religion in a religious manner, to appeal to his intellect in a logical way, at man takes to religion because he believes it will do him good. You must convince him of that. The Saviour said the clergy were to be His witnesses on earth. If they are to be His witnesses they must have something to say. That is what the church is for—to give testimony. If it has nothing to say it had better keep quiet. By all means let us have evangelism of the right sort."

"I once conducted an evangelistic revival in Chicago, and a thousand people were converted. But we did not use any methods approaching sensationalism. We only sang hymns, had simple prayers, and I preached ordinary sermons. That is the kind of evangelism that counts, but in the hands of the young men. We old fellows are superannuated. It takes a young man to appeal to the young. We elders may mean well, but there is something lacking, and the bar of age lies between us and perfect understanding. So I think the evangelism lies with the younger clergy."

Similar views were held by the Rev. Dr. H. P. Lyman-Whitton, of Ridgefield, N. J., who is connected with the Evangelistic committee of Greater New York. Dr. Lyman-Whitton has taken part in evangelistic movements in many parts of the world, in England and Canada and Europe, as well as in this country.

"I think I see what Bishop Vincent means," he said. "He is quite right, too. We don't want this sensationalism that is apt to creep into the church. It is likely to crop up anywhere at any time, in the country or in the city. It is one and the same everywhere. But it does no real good. The best way to appeal to men's religious feeling is by sane, quiet speaking. I have found that the best way, myself. I am not an exciting preacher, but I have found it possible to sway an audience of negroes who, as you know, are very excitable and emotional, by simply talking in an ordinary manner. I have never known it to fail."

"Some men are emotional to a point dangerously close to hysteria. It doesn't do any good to work them up. After a time they will forget all about their high resolves and lapse back into the old state. If a conversion is to be permanent it must be sane and methodical. All the world over I have found that to be the case. The audience in the London slums is the same as that I address at an East Side meeting. Human nature is monotonously like everywhere. We wish to eradicate all sensationalism from the church. We wish to appeal to men's reasons. We wish to keep the hysterical side of mankind in abeyance. The fervid side must be appealed to, but not necessarily out of proportion. By all means bar out sensationalism, but do not confound it with true evangelism. Evangelism, capably conducted, has done the world tremendous good."

ORINOCO WRECKED

West Indian Liner on Sable Island, N. S.—May Be Total Loss.

Halifax, July 27.—(Special)—Reports from Cape Sable today state that the West India steamer Orinoco, ashore on Seal Island, has been wrecked. She is full of water and the tide flows in and out. No assistance has been sent from Halifax, but an agent of the Pickford & Black line has gone down to look into the position of affairs.

When Chief Officer Bethel left the Orinoco Saturday for Grand Harbour, six miles distant, she was beginning to list to port, but was lying easy with four feet of water in No. 2 hatch, six feet in the fore-peak and her engines disabled.

The place where she struck is on the west side of Seal Islands, and one mile and a half from the Devil's Lumb. She struck at noon Friday during a dense fog. The Orinoco, Capt. Bale, left St. John Thursday evening for Halifax, and was brought from the West Indies for Halifax, and with cargo loaded here for the West Indies.

From St. John, John Sealy, J. D. Carmichael, H. P. Robertson, A. Cushing & Co., F. E. Williams, J. Roderick & Schofield Paper Co., F. S. Crosby, C. E. Colwell, T. H. Estabrooks, Manuel Gomez, L. J. Crosby, James Fender & Co., J. C. Croix Soap Co., Welcome Soap Co., G. & G. Flewelling, St. John Mercantile Co., Maritime Mail Co., T. S. Simms & Co., T. Rankin & Sons, C. H. Peters & Son, Page Wire Fence Co., and Northrup & Co., had goods aboard for various points.

PREACHED HIS FIRST SERMON YESTERDAY

Rev. Charles W. Squires, M. A., B. D., the new pastor of Carmarthen street Methodist church, preached his first sermon to the congregation yesterday. Rev. Mr. Squires is a man of about middle age, of pleasing exterior and energetic style of speaking. There were good congregations both morning and evening yesterday and he made a very favorable impression on his hearers. In his evening address he drew attention to the bearing of no antagonism between true science and true religion. He also said that the only solution for the problem of the liquor traffic lies not in human legislation but in the introduction of the spirit of Christ into the hearts of men.

The subject of the evening discourse was God's command to Moses at the Red Sea, "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward." Rev. Mr. Squires' sermon was an earnest plea throughout for advanced work along the lines of Christian endeavor and fellowship and a protest against the idea of failure in the case of Christ. He said that Hezel had written a book in which he sought to prove that the whole progress of the world was away from Christ and His ideals.

While the preacher conceded that in some particulars the world may have drifted away from Christ still, he said, in everything essential Christ was a greater force than ever. Theology has changed and become sweetened from the old ideals. Yet truth is truth and should be accepted and held to, no matter where it comes from. The man who says there is antagonism between science and religion is doing a bad service to both. The preacher urged his hearers to go forward towards a higher conception of duty in regard to the liquor traffic. He contended that more souls are lost through this particular form of iniquity than all others combined and the cure, he said, lies not in human legislation but in the introduction of the spirit of Christ into the hearts of the people at large.

AT THE NICKEL

It seems as if each succeeding programme of motion pictures and illustrated song at the Nickel is better than its predecessor, and the bill advertised today is by no means an exception to this rule. Possibly the most striking feature of the programme to be commenced at noon today is the great fire-fighting scene, "The Man With the Ladder and the Hose," when Mr. Austin will sing in costume with appropriate stage settings, whilst stirring scenes at big fires in American cities, as well as "Giant's Turn-outs" will be recited off on the big white scene.

Again the Nickel leads the way with brand new pictures in every particular, motion photographs that are today being shown in the largest vaudeville houses of the Keith circuit, and out-and-out picture theatres. These are "First Choice" films—first in point of recent issue, first in quality of reproduction, first in subject matter and genuine interest. They are: "Curious a Jealous Wife, Jones' Patent Motor, Humors of a River Picnic, The Pillmaker's Mistake, and a Sailor's Love Story." This programme covers a wide range of interest; the decidedly humorous, the dramatic, side-lights on domestic life, burlesque and travel views.

TRIED TO RIVAL SIAMESE TWINS

New York Hospital Doctors Suspended for Attempting to Make Two Puppies Grow Together.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Because they tried to make two puppies grow together, Dr. G. B. Lawson and Frederick A. Johnson, of the house staff of Kings County Hospital, and Drs. Arthur A. Brown and Lester D. Lang, of the house staff of the Bradford Street Hospital, were reprimanded and suspended from duty yesterday. The order was issued by Robert W. Hebbard, the commissioner of public charities. Drs. Lawson and Brown are suspended for two months and Johnson and Lang for one month. The order reads: "The experiment was surreptitiously made without the knowledge of the superintendent or other administrative officer of the hospital. It took place in a public institution devoted to the care of the sick and not under any circumstances intended for experiments of this nature. It is important that the public hospital system of the city should deserve and maintain unimpaired a reputation for humanity of the highest order, and anything that detracts therefrom must not be lightly disregarded."

In justice to the accused it is but right to say that the experiment was not made from mere curiosity, but from what was at least thought to be a scientific interest in the matter. Similar experiments are said to be frequently made in the medical schools from which these young physicians came. Anesthesia was used during the operation and in the final disposition of the dogs. But it is hardly conceivable that such an experiment could take place without suffering.

"I am further informed by reliable authority that the doctors in question have been faithful to their duties at the hospitals and have been kind and considerate at all times to the patients under their care, which must be considered as greatly in their favor."

USE OF CONCRETE FOR DOORS AND SHINGLES

Concrete as a substitute for timber in building is making rapid and gratifying progress. The material is being put to new uses from day to day. The latest advance noted is a patented concrete door of which it is said:

"The body of the door is made of finely woven wire mesh, suited in size and strength to the purpose for which the door is to be used. Over this the concrete is poured, and the door when moulded and dried can be smoothed off like wood. The doors can be stained any color.

"The door is not on the market yet, and it will doubtless be a long time before it or any other similar door will be in sufficient supply to meet the demand for it.

"These shingles are only a little heavier than slate, and not much more expensive than those of the best wood. They are practically indestructible, and in the end much cheaper than shingles of any other material. They may be made in a variety of designs, are reinforced with metal skeletons, which terminate in being put to new uses from day to day. The shingles become more durable with exposure to the weather.

"These samples serve to indicate the vast variety of uses this wonderful material may be put to in addition to the other and heavier uses with which all are familiar.

"The situation is added evidence of the ability of mother earth to respond to every demand made upon her to supply the needs of a substantial and progressive civilization. Every new source of supply are found a substitute for the old, and the progress of our age is marked by the beneficence ever since she has had human children in her care, and there seems to be little danger of exhausting her goodness or her wealth—fire, flood and frost."

It is reported that Rev. W. G. Gaynor, of St. John the Baptist church, who formerly directed the interests of the New Freeman, will soon again assume charge of the paper.

There is a growing sentiment that temperance is surest and best promoted by the use of Pabst Blue Ribbon, which contains less than 3 1/2% of alcohol. The use of Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer satisfies the natural desire for a mild stimulant without creating a habit for strong drink. In countries where the most beer is consumed, temperance is rarest.

The Beer of Quality is so rich in the food values of Pabst Eight-Day Malt, and in the tonic properties of the choicest hops, that it is a genuine health-builder.

The system frequently requires a mild stimulant, which is supplied by the small percentage of alcohol which produces no injurious effects. The extractives of malt and hops aid the digestion and soothe the nerves, making Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the ideal temperance drink.

MARATHONS WIN FROM PORTLANDS

To Tune of 6-0—Bankers Put Up Mighty Ball; N. B. Credit Balance 17, N. S. but 6.

A goodly number saw the Marathons take the Portland Y. M. A.'s into camp Saturday on the Victoria grounds to the tune of 6 to 0. The game throughout was a good one. Both teams played good ball. The marion and greys' ability to find Howard, however, gave them their victory. The following tell the story:

Table with columns: Name, A.B.R.H.P.O.A.E. for Marathons and Portland Y.M.A. teams.

THE REAL GAME.

The heavens flew as the two teams of bank clerks went on to the diamond on the Victoria grounds on Saturday, and a cold-hearted crowd in the grand stand laughed when the game, for it was a game, got under way.

There were players representing the Bank of New Brunswick and other fellows whose allegiance was to the Bank of Nova Scotia. The gladiators started at each other shortly after four o'clock, following the game of base ball between the Marathons and Portland Y. M. A. teams that the "money changers" of the Bank of N. B. were the victors everybody agreed, even the players themselves.

After a conference, however, it was decided that 17 to 6 would be the official score, and this was announced to the fans who were delighted, as some foolish one had said that the last count when the score stood in the vicinity of 16 to 78.

There were no errors—that is, in the part of the umpire, Jerry Stubbs. The stick work was of the big league standard; the game was played in an unceremonious manner, excepting when the ball unceremoniously struck the ball.

Finding that he had done so, however, he went towards first at a 16 second clip. Some delay, however, had been caused, staying the progress of the ball, as the cover and inside had a parting of the ways, causing confusion as to which was which. Then the left fielder got the one and right fielder the other and after comparison the proper part was dispatched to first, who, believing that it was not a ball, they were playing on him, let it pass, so batter was safe and kept on sprinting till the plate was reached some few minutes later.

The next man up gave a good exhibition of stick that is to say club swinging after which he went to first. The third up got the tip that second baseman had the high jump record and poked him one that should have been easy with a step ladder and he and his preceding colleague looped the loop. The other batters were the result of generosity on the part of the Scotians which should have been appreciated, in fact had the letter felt so disposed they could have what the Brunswickers out. This was reciprocated by the latter who to be business like charged something like 50 per cent. Then both teams cut out sentiment and the battle waged fiercely and for six innings history was made for the ball world with the result as follows, which is strictly official:

CHINOOK WINS DUNN-ROTHWELL CUP

The Chinook won the Dunn Rothwell Cup Saturday afternoon in the series of salmon boat races held by the Westfield Outing Association. Her time over the No. 2 course was one hour and five minutes. As was expected, the Mona came in a close second, being only two minutes and five seconds behind, with the Thistle finishing six minutes and thirty seconds later.

A great deal of interest was aroused over the race, and a large number of spectators had assembled all along the river to witness it. There was a westerly wind, and when the signal gun was fired at 5.30 ten boats had been lined up for the contest. The Glenwood was, however, too keen and crossed the line before the gun was discharged.

To the first buoy on the No. 2 course the boats were running free. From there to the second buoy it was a beat to windward, and from the second to the third buoy and thence to the wharf, the boats had a beam wind.

The Chinook, the winner of the cup, was designed by G. H. Dugan, of Sydney (N. S.), and built by Robert Brayley, of the Strait Shore. Naturally her owners, Mr. Church Bros., are very proud of their craft and her racing qualities, which enabled her to capture the trophy offered by Messrs. Dunn and Rothwell and compete for so many of the finest salmon boats on the river.

After the salmon boat race, the prize won in the cruise race, held from the Cedar to Westfield, drew a large crowd. The R. K. Y. C. motor boat race which was to have been held at Millidgeville Saturday afternoon did not take place as the boats were not ready to start.

THE TURF

On Grose Point Track. Detroit, Mich., July 27—W. W. Cox, the New England reinman, won two races at Grose Point today. First Cleo S. then Alton. Cleo S. was favored in the 2.10 pace, while Cox's horse, Thorway, sold for $5 in 8.1. Cox's S. led in the stretch the first time, but Thorway came away young and made the lead.

Next time, Alton Wilson made the pace and again Thorway made a bid in the stretch. Naturally her owners, Mr. Church Bros., are very proud of their craft and her racing qualities, which enabled her to capture the trophy offered by Messrs. Dunn and Rothwell and compete for so many of the finest salmon boats on the river.

HOT WEATHER CAUSES AN EXODUS FROM WASHINGTON

Spread of the Vacation Habit Makes American Capitol Look Like a "Deserted Village."—President and All His Ministers Are Out of Town.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—The spread of the vacation habit and the growing psychological necessity which every American seems to be experiencing as an government business in the capital, makes a transformed city of Washington in summer and suggests the thought that summer arrangements for the administration like that in India, would be a better solution of the problem of how to run the government in the hot season and enjoy the life at the same time. In India the capital is transferred in toto to the cool hills at the hot season to the mountains and an government business in the capital, makes a transformed city of Washington in summer and suggests the thought that summer arrangements for the administration like that in India, would be a better solution of the problem of how to run the government in the hot season and enjoy the life at the same time.

The reports of the activity of Secretary Cortelyou in political work to bring himself forward as a candidate for the presidency are evidently the work of his enemies, or at best of his "fool friends." Mr. Cortelyou has risen from a clerkship and he has done it by such ability, hard work and good sense that no one familiar with his career would believe it possible that he is now, as has been reported, "using the machinery of the post office and treasury departments to further his presidential ambition." The absurdity of the statement is patent. The machinery of those departments is carefully watched by a host of people besides Mr. Cortelyou. If he were to use it as such publicity in a week that Mr. Cortelyou would be forced to cut short his public career. There is nothing Machiavellian about Mr. Cortelyou. The methods by which he has risen from a stenographer, at less than a thousand a year, to a position where men like Edkins and Overstreet can seriously consider him for the presidency, have nothing esoteric in them. He began with a large fund of common sense, a marked ability for hard work and little talk and great capacity for development. These taken in connection with a fine appearance, good manners and perhaps luck, did the rest. He has succeeded wherever he has been placed by standing steadily to the work in hand. High places have not made his hand too tight and personal ambition, fashionable and factory have not been sufficient to interfere with his work. It is incompatible with what the public knows of his character that he should be neglecting the day's work to pull political wires, and more especially to do it in such a stupid, bungling way that he would be sure to strangle his career in the attempt.

There is nothing in Washington and howling in the rain with the fashions of the younger set in Walling. The three personal aides to the president and a dozen or so young officers who grace every social function with their dazzling presence, are to be ordered away to distant army posts to waste their charms on the desert air of their frontier. Among these "sons of distinguished fathers" are Capt. Fitzhugh Lee, who is an especial favorite with the navy set, over the sending of the fleet to the Pacific, and many a young officer who would gladly go to battle and death in his country's service, is almost sure to lay over an order to go to Yellowstone Park or other remote army posts during a social season at the capital.

Harry B. LeRoy, will sing Somebody's Waiting for You. Those who want to spend a half hour pleasantly should not fail to visit the Happy Half Hour. Its good, beautiful, pure fresh air, and the wonderful clearness and steadiness of the pictures are remarked by everyone.

SAD DEATH OF MONCTON BOY

Edward Williams Dove to a Watery Grave in Humphrey's Pond.

Moncton, N. B., July 25.—With the remark to his companions "Watch me dive," Edward Williams, aged fifteen, of this city, went to his death in the mill pond at Humphrey's Mill yesterday afternoon. Young Williams with some companions had been swimming in the pond during the afternoon and were on their way home to Moncton when they met more boys en route to the pond to swim.

Williams and his chums were persuaded to return and Williams was the first to get in. He went out on some logs and while his companions stood on shore he called to them to watch him dive. With this remark he plunged into about eight feet of water. When he resurfaced it was at once seen he was beyond his depth and in distress. Being unable to swim, he went down again and the second time he came to the surface his struggles were very feeble. The third time he went down he was never seen again.

None of the boys were able to swim but Williams' brother climbed out on the logs and made every effort to aid his drowning brother. It was with difficulty that he was pulled ashore by his young companions.

The alarm was given and men who to the scene were able in a short time to bring Edward Williams' lifeless body to the surface. Deceased was one of a family of four. Their mother is a washerwoman living in Pearl street and the father is working near Campbellton. The deceased had been employed in the Dominion Textile Company's mill here but was having a half holiday Saturday.

Humphrey's pond has been the spot for quite a number of boys swimming and playing on logs and this is the third or fourth drowning there within the last few years.

THE HAPPY HALF HOUR. At the Happy Half Hour the bill for the first three days of this week is an exceptionally good one. How Bridget's Lover Escaped, and a Disturbed Dinner, are both comic, and it is safe to say that nothing but laughter will reign while they are being shown. A Wild Boar Hunt is a wonderful piece of animated photography, and shows the start from the castle, a wild boar family in the forest, the unleashing of the dogs, the chase, the "kill" and the presentation of the "honour."

The Clown Doctor is a combination of comedy and pathos, showing the interior of a vaudeville theatre, the clown performing, a child taken sick and rushed from the theatre to his home, the doctor called, the child refuses his medicine, and cries for "Boo-Boo," the clown, who is sent for. He arrives immediately and announces that he will be her nurse. All these pictures are the famous French films. Le Domino Rouge, assisted by Looseness of The Bowels.

It is very seldom during the summer months that most people are not troubled with "looseness of the bowels." Sometimes it only goes that far, but generally it develops into Diarrhoea, Dysentery or Summer Complaint and has a tendency to weaken the whole system. When the bowels get loosened up in this way and you wish to check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation, there is only one remedy to use, and that one is Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. This remedy is not an experiment as it has been used in thousands of families during the past sixty-two years.

When you ask for Dr. Fowler's Extract you get it, as many unprincipled druggists will try to palm off a cheap substitute on you. Miss M. Hopkins, Roseview, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and found it all it is recommended to be. We would not be without a bottle of it in the house." Manufactured by The Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 35c.

There was a very large crowd at the Victoria roller rink on Saturday evening and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. Tonight is ladies' night and there will be a band in attendance.

His Lordship Coadjutor Bishop Richardson held confirmation services in the churches of Trinity, St. Peter and St. James of the parish of Westfield. Rev. Mr. Bellis, rector, yesterday, before large congregations.

The Bible class of Carleton Methodist church held their annual tea and sale at Miss Beatty's home, Duke street, west end, Saturday evening. There was a large attendance and the event proved a decided success.

Several correspondents have sent unsigned communications to this paper, dealing with the attitude of the Medical Society toward Dr. H. L. Spangler. The matter has been withdrawn from the court, a newspaper controversy would serve no good purpose.

Walter H. Belding, who is home on his holidays, sang a solo in St. John (Stone) church at the morning service yesterday, and in St. David's church, west end, on Sunday evening. Mr. Belding leads a small choir in Toronto, and is also a member of the famous Mendelssohn choir of that city.

A complaint is made that city workmen have left a pile of earth in the gutter at the foot of Victoria street. The material was taken from an excavation to lay a water pipe. The gutter is completely blocked up and a rain storm the sidewalk is overflowed with water, while the appearance of the material is unsightly on the street.

A musical and literary entertainment under the direction of Walter H. Belding in aid of the Every Day Club, will be given on Tuesday evening, August 6th, in the schoolroom of St. David's church. The programme will be of exceptional interest. The total receipts will go to the playground fund. The names of those who will take part will be announced in a day or two.

FIREMEN WILL ASK FOR $1,000 GRANT
Their Request Will Come Before Treasury Board Tonight

The regular monthly meeting of the safety board will be held tonight at eight o'clock. It is expected that an application from the firemen for a grant toward the purchase of a new fire engine will be dealt with. It is understood that a grant of $1,000 is asked for. As there is to be no exhibition of the fire engine, there will be no objection to the request.

POLICE COURT
In the police court this morning the case of William V. Hatfield vs. the White Candy Company was given a hearing. Mr. Hatfield who lives on Union street next to the candy factory complained that the White Candy Company stored a number of barrels to remain on the sidewalk a longer time than necessary.

The evidence of Mr. Hatfield was taken in which he claimed that the barrels having been allowed to remain on the sidewalk injured the value of his property. Those of the White Candy Company pleaded extenuating circumstances. The case was stood over until next week. Homer D. Forbes appeared for Mr. Hatfield and H. Austin for the White Candy Company.

Walter Nairn for being drunk on Mill street, Saturday night, was fined $8 or 30 days in jail. Nairn's wife appeared after the court session was ended and asked that Nairn be released as their daughter was ill and her husband intended to go to work on the cold storage building on Main street, at noon. The magistrate said if Mrs. Nairn would find out where her husband purchased the liquor, he might be able to do something, but there was altogether too much drinking and illegal liquor selling about York Point. Some dealers, he said, made a practice of having "square faces" ready to hand out for Sunday use. If he could find out who they were he would soon put a stop to it.

Mrs. Nairn was allowed to call on her husband in the jail to see if she could find out where the liquor was purchased.

PASSENGERS COMPLAIN
Some passengers on the Star Line steamer Majestic, this morning, complain of the action of the engineer of the boat. The doorway to the engine room is said to have been liberally coated with coal oil as was a chain placed across. The belief was expressed that the object in doing so was to prevent people from standing about the door. The passengers stated that one friend of the engineer's was warned by that official as he approached the door but others were left to their fate; all were indignant.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29—The jury in the case of Louis Glass, vice president of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company charged with bribing Supervisor Boxton was unable to reach an agreement and was discharged yesterday. The jury was out many hours.

BILLY CURRAN IS IN TROUBLE

St. John Man, Who Sold Liquor in Dominion C. B., Believed to Have Left the Country.

A Dominion, C. B. correspondent of the Sydney Post under date of July 24 writes as follows:

"Today a large portion of the town turned out to witness the destruction of some six or seven hundred dollars' worth of liquor. There was a great variety of the fluid. It ranged from the starchy 'three star' down to the common beer; in fact it went a little lower than ordinary beer. There were about three or four dozen bottles of a concoction known as 'The Trade as 'Indian Tonic.' The exact ingredients of this latter beverage have not been made public. Some people state that the preparation is a trade secret. However, it has the desired effect and is most successful in making 'the glad come quick.' Whether it was so intended by the manufacturer or not one is in a position to state. The dump was the spot selected for the destruction, and Constable Edwards of Sydney, was the person chosen by the court as the executioner. He came from Sydney this afternoon and at once proceeded to carry out the order of the magistrate authoring the smashing. Several persons had requisitioned for the two jars of port wine, but were unsuccessful in their attempt to secure a supply. The goods taken from Curran's place were spilled first. The stock of Mr. Hall was then taken up. The constable had an axe of the vintage of 1843 and it soon played havoc with the liquid that makes glad the heart of man. There were very few people present who were sorry as the result of the demolition just now is decidedly in favor of temperance. The novelty of the thing, too, created a lot of interest.

"The cry of the place tonight was 'Booze booze everywhere, but not a drop to drink.' One or two old tipplers were on hand with tears in their eyes, but did not manage to save anything from the wreck. On Lingin bar there was a great smell of molasses, and any person who could not manage to get a 'wee drop' in reality could, if they possessed a vivid imagination, derive much benefit from the smell of the halcyon breezes that blow. The excitement was all over about five o'clock when the town lapsed back into its ordinary staid condition."

The Post also says that Curran has left the country.

The Curran referred to is Wm. Curran of St. John well known here as a baseballist and boxer.
