HUNDREDS DROWNED IN THURSDAY'S STORM

Barges Crowded With Workmen Went Down at Sea Off the Florida Coast-- Steamer Jennie Brings Terrible News to Key West--Men Clinging to Floating Lumber.

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 20--The Austrian steamer Jennie, Captain Dudnich, bound from Gulfport for Genoa has called at this port to land 40 workmen picked up at sea near the Bahamas coast, 100 miles from Key West. The men were part of a force of 100 workmen belonging to Barge No. 4 engaged on east coast extension work. Most of the others were either killed or drowned in the storm early Thursday. Nine other barges crowded with workmen engaged in extension work were at sea with Barge No. 4. There is no news of them and it is feared all were lost.

FREDERICKTON NEWS

FREDERICKTON, Oct. 20--(Special)--The water is rapidly falling and it is doubtful if all the logs below Grand Falls can be floated this fall. There was a light shower of rain here this morning. In the market here this morning chickens sold for sixty cents, eggs for twenty-four, butter for twenty-four and potatoes one dollar per barrel.

MISS HEWITT REAPPOINTED

At a meeting of the hospital commissioners last evening Miss Lida R. Hewitt was appointed superintendent of nurses in place of Miss Duff, whose resignation takes effect on the 25th. Miss Hewitt is at present in Boston and will arrive here next week to take up her duties. She is very well known in St. John having been superintendent at the hospital previous to Miss Duff taking charge. She resigned from the institution here to accept a position in Massachusetts General Hospital and is considered very competent.

GREAT CELEBRATION BY SALVATION ARMY IN ST. JOHN NEXT WEEK

Commissioner Coombs will arrive on Friday, 26th inst., from Toronto to be present at the 20th anniversary to be held in this city. Extensive preparations have been made for the celebration, and it is anticipated that it will be a good success. A reception for the delegates will be held on Friday evening, and Mayor Sears will deliver an address of welcome on behalf of the citizens. A large number of visitors are expected, as the congress has arranged with the I. C. R. for an excursion to be run from Sydney along the main line to this city. The Glace Bay band will come on the excursion, and it will be a great help towards the success of the anniversary, as the musicians are accomplished and all made great names for themselves in the old country. On Saturday the commissioner will hold councils for the officers, and in the evening a council will be held for the officers and soldiers in the Charlotte street barracks.

ST. JOHN FAMILY IN CHILEAN EARTHQUAKE

Osber W. Heffer, son of Richard Heffer, of the west end, who resides in Santiago de Chile, in a number of letters to his mother tells of most terrible earthquake that visited that section of the country. He refers to the fact that there are many earthquakes in that section but never such a one as was experienced on August 16th. last. He writes on the day following the earthquake as follows: "It was just one minute of 8 o'clock and we were about finishing dinner when there commenced a most terrible earthquake. Naturally with the idea of San Francisco before one it was apt to create a certain nervousness, although this was had enough to create a nervousness of its own. The first shock lasted four minutes and standing on the ground appeared as though one were in a small boat on a stormy sea. The second shock was only 20 seconds, but it was more severe than the first. From that time until morning there was a continuous movement of the earth and now every few minutes there is felt a slight shock. The prevalent idea being that we will have more. The children were about retiring for the night, but it did not take many seconds to get them into the middle of the patio, where there was comparatively little danger, as the patio is big and the house one story. To add to the general discomfort it was raining torrentially, so altogether, aside from the danger, it was disagreeable. He refers to the fact that few in Santiago slept that night. From one o'clock until three, there were over 30 shocks and considerable damage was done to property. Mr. Heffer's home was damaged to the extent of about $200. Many people were killed by falling walls and hundreds were injured more or less severely. The squares and open spaces were filled with people who feared to go to bed. It is hoped to have the pressure on again before tomorrow.

"PROF. WHITE" FIGURES AS THE RESPONDENT IN A DIVORCE CASE

St. John people will remember Prof. White, violinist, formerly of this city, and a native of Moncton. He was for a time a member of Harrison's orchestra and also a violin teacher. Some years ago he was in Boston, and is the "Le Blanc" mentioned in the following extracts from the Boston Post and Journal. The Journal prints an excellent picture of the professor, and also of Mrs. Buffinton. (Boston Post, Wednesday) "Alluding that his wife had become too intimate with another man and that she had not acted as a wife should, Ernie E. Buffinton, the well-known real estate agent of Roxbury, appeared in the divorce court late yesterday afternoon and related some of his domestic troubles to Judge White. "With face slightly flushed through embarrassment, yet cool in manner, Mr. Buffinton testified: 'My wife and I lived at the Warrenhurst in Roxbury from November, 1904 until April, 1906. While there we became acquainted with Mr. Le Blanc, who was a violinist and good entertainer. That was in the winter of 1905. "He replied that it was the first time he had ever been asked to leave a man's house. As he made no move to go, I told him to get out or I would put him out.' "At this point the judge asked: 'Did he go?' " 'Well, he went,' replied the witness. "Continuing, Mr. Buffinton said that on one night he returned at a late hour and found the door locked. After waiting a long time his wife appeared. Her face was flushed, her hair was tossed and as she opened the door she said that the lock had stuck. Entering the suite he found Mr. Le Blanc. His hair was disheveled and the room was much disarranged. At this point Mr. Buffinton said: 'I shook my fist in the face and told him I had gotten about enough of this business and told him to get out.' "He said that his wife would meet Le Blanc nearly every night in the week and that getting tired of it, he left her in Copeland street, and his wife remained at the Warrenhurst until the lease ran out. Then she moved to 40 Moveland street. "After that, according to Mr. Buffinton, Le Blanc went with Mrs. Buffinton and one night on Cliff street, Roxbury, the witness saw Le Blanc with his arm around Mrs. Buffinton. "Buffinton will be recalled this morning, Mrs. Lucy Buffinton, wife of Mr. Buffinton has gained quite a reputation as a concert artist. She has filed a cross libel and will contest the divorce. "Declaring that the poems he wrote in letters that were found among Mrs. Buffinton's possessions were for a Spanish libretto and that he had a purely 'imaginary' person in mind, Jerome John Moses Le Blanc, music teacher, and correspondent in the cross libel suit of Ernest E. Buffinton against his wife, Lucy, also a musician, was the chief witness yesterday. (Continued on page 3.)

VIOLENT BREAK IN WALL STREET; BRITISH FINANCIER'S BLUNT TALK

NEW YORK, Oct. 20--Wall Street--Liquidation was renewed on a large scale with the opening of the stock market today and prices broke violently in all directions. Speculative activities were the largest feature, but some running up to a point were committed in the market. Among the most notable were Northern Pacific, Anaconda, Smelting, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, St. Paul, and National Lead. The market closed at 4 1/2, against 4 1/4 yesterday. Banking circles showed notable satisfaction at the fact that the Bank of England had raised the rate of discount to 5 per cent. A British financier, discussing the situation and the United States can hardly expect London to finance the whole world, and we are now confident that our six per cent. rate will be a safe and permanent protection against further trouble in our stock of gold. There is no thought at present of a seven per cent. rate, and even eight will be adopted to protect us against abnormal depletion of gold reserves. Therefore, at the United States continues to require gold for the movement of the crops or other needs, we feel that the United States should be prepared to meet the situation. Secretary Shaw once before raised the rate from 4 to 5 per cent. and we in London cannot say why he should set it at 6 per cent. if he should set it at 5 per cent. it would be a good thing. (Continued on page 3.)

PRICE PAID IS $416,000

Capt. Partington Secures Cushing Pulp M. I. at That Price. Lively Bidding. Captain Partington of Glasgow, England, who was a former heavy shareholder in the Cushing Pulp Company, became the owner of the property at noon today for the sum of $416,000. Owing to the promise of $200,000. The property was sold through the various courts of the country there was considerable interest taken in the sale and when Auctioneer Lantam took the stand on St. John's stock market at Clubb's Bar at noon today there was a large attendance, particularly of the legal men, many of whom have been kept busy with the affairs of the company for years past. After a description of the property and terms of sale, etc., had been read the auctioneer asked for a bid to start with. The first bid was immediately made by Attorney-General Pugsley, acting for the Cushing, of $200,000. The next bid was offered by $225,000 and Dr. Pugsley jumped it to $300,000. Mr. McAvity then made it $325,000 and Dr. Pugsley responded with an offer of $400,000. A. H. Hainington, who was acting for Capt. Partington then entered the lists with a bid of $405,000 and after a few smaller bids Mr. Hainington secured the property for $416,000. Two shares of Bank of New Brunswick stock were sold to J. C. McIntosh & Co. for $270 each.

TWO WOMEN GET SIX MONTHS JAIL

They Were Inmates of a Sheffield Street House--Gin Caused Trouble. At the police court this morning Annie Jonah, charged with keeping a disorderly house on Sheffield street, pleaded guilty to the offence of keeping a disorderly house without a fine. Herbert Woods and Eva Morrell, better known as "Circus Eva," admitted having been inmates of the house on Sheffield street. The women were given six months without a fine, and Woods was remanded. The house was raided last evening between ten and eleven o'clock by Officers McNamee and Hughes, who were attracted by the noise of a disturbance within. Annie Jonah and a man named Wilson, of Carlton, escaped from the house, but shortly before three o'clock this morning the Jonah woman was found on Water street by Officer McNamee. George Albert, Fred Dickson, Wm. Burns, and John Bizzard (all colored), were brought before the magistrate on a charge of fighting at the corner of Duke and Wentworth streets early Thursday morning. Bizzard was allowed to go, and the others were remanded till Monday. The trouble arose over a "square-face" of gin. Manfred Kimball was charged with furnishing gin to Mark Road. The case was temporarily set aside. James Cameron, who gave his name as Campbell, a ticket-of-leave man, was fined for breaking and entering at Glace Bay, N. S. Michael Morris was remanded on a charge of drunkenness.

JOHN O'NEILL LOSES A LEG

Was Run Over By a Freight Train This Morning. A very serious accident occurred this morning in the I. C. R. yard, when John O'Neill, of 22 City Road, had his ankle run over by one of the wheels of a heavy freight. The bone has been jammed so badly that Dr. Malcolm, superintendent of the hospital, has decided to amputate the leg below the knee. Mr. O'Neill, who is an unmarried man, and about 35 years of age, was going to work this morning at seven o'clock. While coming from his residence on City Road it was his custom to take a shot at across the track of the I. C. R. to the depot, where he was employed as a man's helper. He was getting under one of the cars this morning and while so doing the truck started suddenly and caught his foot. James Buckley, who happened to be nearby, rushed to his fellow workman's assistance, and after getting the train stopped dragged the injured man from under the wheels. His foot was hanging and he was suffering great agony. The ambulance was summoned and Mr. O'Neill was taken to the hospital. Enquiry at the hospital this afternoon elicited the information that the injured man was wearing quite comfortably, and it was deemed necessary to amputate the leg.

WAGES INCREASED

MONTREAL, Oct. 20 (Special)--The Canadian Pacific Railway have for some days been meeting a committee of machinists and yesterday they agreed upon a ten per cent increase in wages. NEW YORK BANK STATEMENT. New York bank statement for Saturday, Oct. 20th, 1906. Reserves on all deposits, dec. $4,322,400. Reserves other than U. S. dec. $7,784,475. Loans, inc. $18,770,770. Specie, dec. $2,132,220. Legal tender, dec. $1,328,800. Deposits, inc. $125,569. Bank statement unfavorable, especially in loans. Box 4 was rung in at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon for a slight breeze in a house occupied by John B. Oulip on Coburg street. It was extinguished by the chemical engine. Miss Grace Wyman, of Yarmouth, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Alfred Wells, King street east.

ARRESTED IN MONCTON

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 20--(Special)--Thomas McLean, aged thirty, a consumptive looking man, is under arrest here on a charge of theft, alleged to have been committed at Sydney several weeks ago. Chief Constable had a description of the prisoner since Oct. 1st, with instructions to arrest him. McLean arrived in town yesterday and was occupied by the chief, who was in search of him. It appears that McLean, who is a P. E. Island man, is charged with stealing clothing from a Sydney concern. An officer is expected from Sydney today for the prisoner. Rev. D. McLeod arrived from Fredericton today.

THE LOST INSPECTORS

No word has yet been received from the dredge inspectors who went to Boston a week ago, and considerable anxiety is being expressed as to what can be the cause of their not reporting. Both the Mayor and Alderman McCollin, chairman of the board of works, were asked this morning as to what could be the reason for this ominous silence, but they could offer no enlightenment. Chief of Police Power, of Liverpool, N. S., arrived in the city today and took the Mayor and Alderman McCollin, chairman of the board of works, to the scene of the accident, where he is resting easily. His condition is not believed to be serious. Rev. Geo. W. White, Mrs. White and daughter of Sheffield are at present guests of Mrs. L. B. Osborne, Red Head.

WORKMAN INJURED

Edith Salay, a young Asseniac, was quite badly injured today by a falling chimney at Stephenson's machine shop on Nelson street, and was taken to the hospital. Salay was at work on the roof of the building, which was damaged recently by fire, when a forty-foot chimney, supported to have been weakened by the jar of the engine, suddenly collapsed, carrying beams and roofing with it. Salay fell to the floor on a pile of scattered bricks, sustaining injuries to his head and several bruises about the body. The ambulance was summoned and Salay was taken to the hospital, where he is resting easily. His condition is not believed to be serious.

HEALTH CONDITIONS AND THE RECORDS OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH

The city's health conditions compare very favorably with this time a year ago. The death list up to the present time is less than to the same date last year, and extra precautions have been taken in the prevention of infectious and contagious diseases. During the recent typhoid epidemic, for instance, the examination of milk from suspected places, proved a decided benefit to the community, and, as a result of constant vigilance on the part of the officials considerable improvement in plumbing and sanitary conditions is reported. Cases of infectious disease, with the exception of typhoid, have been taken to the epidemic hospital, and the plastering of houses containing cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever, has been carried on as usual. For small-pox the board controls a special hospital, wherein three cases were treated within the past year, by a doctor and nurse, also controlled by the board. Secretary Burns says that, as an experiment the Board of Health would like to disinfect all houses in which there have been infectious or contagious diseases, and asked the municipality for a grant for materials. While this was not actually refused, it is noticeable that the grant of $4,800 for the city and county was reduced to $4,000. Mr. Burns also stated that conditions would be much improved if the city would look after the collection of garbage, which has power to carry out. As matters stand at present in this particular the board has to compel individuals to remove it. From January 1 to October 1 of this year, 599 deaths have been reported, as against 570 during the same period last year. March of last year was the heaviest month, the number of deaths having been 91, where but 92 occurred during the same month this year. When asked regarding the amount of infectious and contagious disease for the year, Mr. Burns said he was not prepared to give even a rough estimate.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

HIRAM AND THE COUNCIL. Mr. Hiram Hornbeam came to the new reporter today with a package of coupons for the Times voting contest. "Which is your favorite?" queried the new reporter. "I'm votin'," said Hiram, "for the city council. I callate they're the best of 'em. But how'n' anybody I know in this town." "You mean," suggested the new reporter, "that the amount should be divided among them as a Christmas gift?" "No, sirree!" promptly responded the man from Hornbeam Settlement. "Not that at all--but give it to 'em to see what they'll do with it." "It's a safe guess that they'll spend it," said the new reporter. "But how'n' returned Hiram. "That's the pint. I want to see what new schemes they'd work." "But two hundred dollars is such a trifle," said the new reporter. "The waterworks will cost half a million; the Ladlow a hundred thousand, and the new dredge fifty or sixty thousand. To ask men who deal in hundreds of thousands to come down to a petty matter of two hundred seems to me like making game of them. They won't consider it." "How much 'll that country market job cost?" queried Hiram. "It is too soon to form an estimate. It is a year or two and I'll tell you. That job was only started last spring. It's young yet." "Yes--I s'pose," admitted Hiram. "But I've seen bull blocks built in less time. An' you think they'dn't care about anything so small as two hundred dollars." "Quite sure," said the new reporter. "You would only irritate them." "Then I won't do it," said Hiram.

THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL

BY BARONESS ORCZY.

(Continued.) His face in the silvery light of the moon, looked positively ghastly with terror. His eyes were wide open and almost gleaming, and his whole body was trembling as with ague, while a pitiless wail escaped his bloodless lips. The rope which had originally been wound round his shoulders and arms had evidently given away, for it lay in a tangled heap about his body, but he seemed quite unconscious of this, for he had not made the slightest attempt to move from the place where Dezas had originally put him; like a terrified chicken which looks upon a line of white chalk drawn on a table, as on a string which paralyzes its movements. "Bring the cowardly brute here," commanded Chauvelin. He certainly felt exceedingly vicious and since he had no reasonable grounds for venting his ill-humor on the soldiers who had but too punctually obeyed his orders, he felt that the son of the despised race would prove an excellent butt. With true French contempt of the Jew, which has survived the lapse of centuries even to this day, he would not go too near him, but said with biting sarcasm, as the wretched old man was brought in full light of the moon by the two soldiers, "I suppose now, that being a Jew, you have a good memory for bargains?" "Answer!" he again commanded, as the Jew with trembling lips seemed too frightened to speak. "Yes your Honor," stammered the poor wretch. "You remember, then, the one you and I made together in Calais, when you undertook to overtake Reuben Goldstein, his nag and my friend the tall stranger?" "B... but... your Honor..." "There is no but," I said to you remember?" "Y... y... yes, your Honor!" "What was the bargain? The unfortunate man looked round at the great cliffs, the moon above, the stolid faces of the soldiers, and even at the poor prostitute who had been made to kneel before him, but said nothing. "Will you speak?" thundered Chauvelin, menacingly. He did try, poor wretch, but obviously he could not. There was no doubt, however, that he knew what to expect from the stern men before him. "Your Honor..." he ventured imploringly. "Since your terror seems to have paralyzed your tongue," said Chauvelin sarcastically, "I must needs refresh your memory. It was agreed between us, that if we overtook my friend the tall stranger, before he reached this place, you were to have ten pieces of gold from the Jew's trembling lips. "But," added Chauvelin, with slow emphasis, "if you deceived me in your promise, you were to have a sound beating, one that would teach you not to tell lies." "I did not, your Honor! I swear it by Abraham..." "And by all the other patriarchs, I know. Unfortunately, they are still in Hades, I believe, according to your creed, cannot help you much in your present trouble. Now, you did not fulfil your share of the bargain, but I am ready to fulfil mine. Here," he added, turning to the soldiers, "the buckle-end of your two belts to this confounded Jew." As the soldiers obediently unbuckled their heavy leather belts, the Jew set a howl that surely would have been enough to bring all the patriarchs out of Hades and elsewhere, to defend their descendant from the brutality of the Jew's official. "I think I can rely on you, citizen soldiers," laughed Chauvelin, maliciously, "to give this old liar the best and soundest beating he has ever experienced. But don't kill him," he added drily. "We will obey, citizen," replied the soldiers as imperturbably as ever. He did not wait to see his orders carried out; he knew that he could trust these soldiers—who were still smarting under his rebuke—not to mince matters, when given a free hand to belabour a third party. "When that lumbering coward has had his punishment," he said to Dezas, "the men can guide us as far as the cart, and one of them can drive us in it back to Calais. The Jew and the woman can look after each other," he added roughly, "until we can send somebody for them in the morning. They can't run away very far, in their present condition, and we cannot be troubled with them just now." Chauvelin had not given up all hope. He knew, he knew, were spared on by the hope of the reward. That enigmatic and audacious Scarlet Pimpernel alone and with thirty men at his heels, could not reasonably be expected to escape a second time. But he felt less sure now; the Englishman's audacity had baffled him once, while the wooden-headed stupidity of the soldiers, and the interference of a woman had turned his hand, which held all the trumpets, into a losing one. If Marguerite had not taken up his time, if the soldiers had had a grain of intelligence, if... it was a long "if" and Chauvelin stood for a moment quite still, and enrolled thirty odd men in one long, overwhelming anathema. Nature, poetic, silent, balmy, the bright moon, the calm, silvery sea spoke of beauty and of rest, and Chauvelin cursed nature, cursed man and woman, and above all, he cursed all long-legged, meddlesome British enigmas with one gigantic curse. The howls of the Jew behind him, underrating his punishment sent a shiver through his heart, overburdened as was with revenged malice. He smiled. It eased his mind to think that some human being at least, was like himself, not all together at peace with mankind. He turned and took a last look at the lonely bit of coast, where stood the wooden hut, now bathed in moonlight, the scene of the greatest discomfiture ever experienced by a leading member of the Committee of Public Safety. Against a rock, on a hard bed of stones, lay the unconscious figure of Marguerite Blakeney, while some few paces further on, the unfortunate Jew was receiving on his bare back the blows of two stout leather belts, wielded by the stolid arms of two sturdy soldiers of the Republic. The howls of Benjamin Rosenbaum were fit to make the dead rise from their graves. They must have awakened all the gulls from sleep, and made them look down with great interest at the doings of the lords of the creation. "That will do," commanded Chauvelin, as the Jew's moans became more feeble, and the poor wretch seemed to have fainted away, "we don't want to kill him." Obediently the soldiers buckled on their belts, one of them viciously kicking the Jew to one side. "Leave him there," said Chauvelin, "and lead the way now quickly to the cart. I'll follow." He walked up to where Marguerite lay, and looked down into her face. She had evidently recovered consciousness, and was making feeble efforts to raise herself. Her large, blue eyes were looking at the moonlit scene round her with a scared and terrified look; they rested with a mixture of horror and pity on the Jew, whose luckless fate and wild howls had been the first signs that struck her, with her returning senses; then she caught sight of Chauvelin, in his neat, dark clothes, which seemed hardly crumpled after the stirring events of the last few hours. He was smiling sarcastically, and his pale eyes peered down at her with a look of intense malice. With mock gallantry, he stooped and raised her limp hand to his lips, which sent a thrill of indescribable loathing through Marguerite's weary frame. "I much regret, fair lady," he said in his most suave tones, "that circumstances over which I have no control, compel me to leave you here for the moment. But I go away, secure in the knowledge that I do not leave you unprotected. Our friend Benjamin here, though a trifle the worse for wear at the present moment, will prove a gallant defender of your fair person, I have no doubt. At dawn I will send an escort for you; until then, I feel sure that you will find him devoted, though perhaps a trifle slow." Marguerite only had the strength to turn her head away. Her heart was broken with cruel anguish. One awful thought had returned to her mind, which together with gathering consciousness: "What had become of Percy?—What of Armand?" She knew nothing of what had happened after she heard the cheerful song, "God save the King," which she believed to be the signal of death. "I, myself," concluded Chauvelin, "must now very reluctantly leave you. Au revoir, fair lady. We meet, I hope, soon in London. Shall I see you at the Prince of Wales' garden party?—No!—Ah, well, au revoir!—Remember me, I pray, to Sir Percival Blakeney." And, with a last ironical smile and bow, he once more kissed her hand, and disappeared down the footpath in the wake of the soldiers, and followed by the imperturbable Dezas. (To be continued.)

DREADFUL LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY BY STORM

Hundreds Swept Away by Tidal Wave—Tempest Sweeps San Salvador—Cyclone Deals Out Death in Cuba

Miami, Fla., Oct. 19.—The steamer St. Lucie, Captain Bravo, has sunk off the Florida coast. One of the excursion steamers arrived in port tonight, bringing sixty wounded, who were taken to the hospital, and it is said there are twenty-eight dead bodies which will be brought up tomorrow. It is believed now that a portion of the Florida Fish and Produce Company's fleet was destroyed. Manager Adams went out one of their boats this morning to look for the men and boats, and on their return they reported no signs of the fleet. The fishing nets were found strewn upon the shore. Captain Bravo says that he anchored on the lee side of Elliott's Key, 25 miles south of Miami, yesterday morning, and that soon after a tidal wave engulfed the island. He says there were 250 residents on the island, all of whom were lost. The St. Lucie was crushed by the same wave and of the 100 persons on board, 23 were killed. Captain Bravo was seriously injured. A large number of 100 people is said to have been torn away from their moorings at Elliott Key and afterwards picked up near the Bahamas, fifty of her passengers being reported drowned. San Salvador, Oct. 19.—A tempest has raged incessantly for ten days throughout the republic, flooding the rich valleys, principally that of Matanzas and resulting in great loss of life and the destruction of cattle and crops. The Salvadorean man of war Izalco, was driven out. The topography of various departments has been changed, buildings have fallen, burying their tenants, and the iron bridges over the principal rivers have been carried away. Up to Wednesday 15,000,000 tons of water had fallen. The aqueducts and electric light plants at Sonsonate and Salvador have suffered heavy loss. Today the storm is abating. The railways, telegraph and commerce are paralyzed, but traffic is being restored in some towns of the republic. The water mains at some places have disappeared. The rivers are lurching down the bodies of persons drowned in the storm and the carcasses of cattle and the signs of these tend to increase the terror of the people. The losses are incalculable. The governments have issued orders that assistance be given victims of the storm. Guatemala and Honduras also have suffered severely. It is said the losses there will amount to many million dollars. Havana, Oct. 19.—The cyclone which began yesterday afternoon has developed its full fury on Thursday morning. The greatest damage occurred on the harbor and along the docks. A number of smaller craft and lighter boats were sunk and some houses were blown down. The total number of deaths was twenty, all Cubans of the poorer class. There are a number of sailors among the dead. Several scores of longshoremen and sailors were injured. The torrential downpour of rain completely stopped the street car service, and the wind and rain made it next to impossible to get about the streets. Trees in the parks and along the dead avenues were blown down in large numbers. The cyclone was confined to the provinces of Havana and Pinar Del Rio. Matanzas escaped. All telegraphic communication was annihilated. Today the wind moderated greatly and the city is fast resuming its normal appearance. It is estimated that the damage in Havana province will reach fully $2,000,000. One hundred and fifty tobacco barns in the Alajuela district have been destroyed. The recently planted tobacco crop also has been seriously injured. Enormous damage is reported from the Guira section, the centre of the banana and plantain growing districts. These crops are said to have been practically destroyed. Many small farmers have lost their lives, and are in great distress.

Armour's Solid Extract of Beef

(NOTED IN CANADA) The full flavor and tonic properties of prime roast beef condensed. Other Extracts may sell cheaper, but they lack the strong Beefy quality found in Armour's, because they contain such a high percentage of Salt and Water. Always buy Armour's Solid Extract, and thus be sure that you are getting the natural Beef Juice in all its purity. It is all Beef—being the essence of prime Beef concentrated by a special process, which frees it from water and fat. ARMOUR LIMITED Toronto CANADIAN FACTORY—17 FRONT STREET EAST

COULD SCARCELY WALK. REV. DR. CRAPSEY'S APPEAL NOW BEFORE COURT OF REVIEW

New York, Oct. 19.—Decision was reserved on a motion to dismiss the appeal of Rev. Dr. A. S. Crapsey, rector of St. Andrew's church, of Buffalo, who had been suspended from his office by the Bishop of Buffalo, when the appeal came up today for a hearing before the Episcopal court of review for the second district, which met at the diocesan house, Lafayette Place. It was agreed to withhold decision until the case should be heard in full. The members of the court are: Bishop Scarborough, of New Jersey; Rev. W. R. Huntington, of this city; Rev. Dr. A. B. Baker, Rev. Dr. John B. Moore, Chas. Andrews, Frederick Adams and James Par. The last three named being lay members. It is found at the Rochester trial that Dr. Crapsey had denied the virgin birth of Jesus and impugned the doctrine of the Episcopal church. He was suspended. John Lord O'Brien of Buffalo, noted as a church advocate, and Edward M. Shepard and Representative J. B. Perkins, of Rochester, represented Dr. Crapsey. The day was taken up with arguments which will be continued tomorrow. During the arguments Mr. O'Brien protested against admitting as evidence a statement of Dr. Crapsey's included in a brief by Mr. Perkins and touching upon the propriety of certain doctrines of the Episcopal church in which the court had really no jurisdiction. However, it was finally decided to admit all the evidence.

SAYS EXHIBITION FIRE AT TORONTO WAS INCENDIARY

Toronto, Oct. 19.—Parks Commissioner Chambers firmly believes the fire at the exhibition grounds was of incendiary origin. "After an incipient fire a few days ago, which succeeded in extinguishing, I received an anonymous letter saying we had put out the blaze very cleverly but would not succeed in doing it the next time. I also want to say that the watchman saw me at my house shortly after 10 o'clock last night. He had just made his rounds and that fire had been burning as long as he had passed. He is a faithful watchman and has been there for some years." Mr. Chambers' opinion regarding the cause of the fire coincides with that of the fire chief and exhibition authorities. Dr. Orr says the original cost of the grand stand was $108,000; transportation building, also totally destroyed, $120,000, and stables, $18,000. The insurance on the stand is $54,000; transportation building, $40,000, and stables, $6,000. Dr. Orr says no time should be lost in making good damage done by fire but advocates a better grand stand than the one destroyed. Montreal, Oct. 19.—Sir William Macdonald, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, whose benefactions to McGill already amount to more than $3,000,000, is going to endow another chair at the university. At a provincial convention of school teachers, it was tonight announced that Sir William had provided for a chair devoted to the art of educating.

The Pure Food Movement is very strong in Canada today. In no article of diet is purity so important as in flour, for flour is the basis of more than half your food. It is your duty, therefore, to see to it that the flour you use is pure. "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made by a process which insures absolute purity. From the time the wheat enters the mill until the flour reaches the cook it is untouched by human hands. The grain itself is thoroughly cleaned before grinding, whilst the flour is sifted, time after time, through the finest silk cloth, in order to remove the smallest impurities. These processes render "FIVE ROSES" an easy and satisfactory flour to use, and insure better results on Baking Day than can be obtained with any ordinary brands. ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT. ACTRESS DIES IN OTTAWA HOSPITAL

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Miss Nannie B. Jordan, a promising young actress, died at the Water street hospital. She came to Ottawa with the Ginghambread Man Company on September 10th and took the part of one of the baker's boys of the chorus. She was taken ill during the week and had to be removed to the hospital. Miss Jordan, whose stage name was Miss Howe, underwent three operations but medical aid, while giving relief, failed to effect a cure. Her mother came here from her home in Nashville (Tenn.), and a few days ago her brother also arrived. The deceased was but twenty-two years of age and was of a bright and jovial disposition. The body was taken to Nashville (Tenn.). Rev. E. J. McCully, of New Ireland, has returned from a trip to Boston. Miss Helen Lockhart, of the Mount Allison Ladies' College, has been spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lockhart.

THE LUDLOW

On account of the Ludlow again grounding on Navy Island bar early yesterday morning, a number of passengers from the west side, who were on the boat, missed the Boston train. They were not sparing in their remarks at being hung up in a helpless condition in mid-stream. A similar fate, it is said, befell those in the city who desired to proceed to points along the New Brunswick Southwestern. The suggestion was made yesterday that, as there is no indication of improving the conditions on the bar, the Ludlow should take a small boat in tow, which could be used to land passengers in such an emergency. Mrs. Harold Wright, of Winnipeg, accompanied by her young son, has been visiting her parents at Medford (N. S.), the wedding to take place in St. Stephen on Wednesday, Oct. 31. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McCully, of St. Stephen, announce the engagement of their daughter, Eva Alexandra, to Robert Lee Palmer, of Medford (N. S.), the wedding to take place in St. Stephen on Wednesday, Oct. 31.

PROF. WHITE FIGURES AS THE RESPONDENT

terday before Judge White in the divorce court. Le Blanc seemed ill at ease on the witness stand, and at times became aggressive in his replies to opposing counsel. But he denied all allegations of Mrs. Buffinton, reiterating that the relations between himself and Mrs. Buffinton were strictly those of teacher and pupil.

WROTE TO BUFFINTON. A letter was read by Attorney Dagggett to Le Blanc to which he had done "all he could to avoid trouble," but that he would not persist in following him he would take measures to protect himself.

"You wrote that letter?" asked Lawyer Dagggett, for Buffinton.

"Yes," Le Blanc replied, "I was chased me with three or four men. I thought they were burglars. I ran a little way."

"You were escorting Mrs. Buffinton home at the time, were you not?"

"Yes."

LAUGHTER IN COURT ROOM. At these questions and answers the crowded court room burst into a hearty laughter, which was with difficulty quelled by officers.

Lawyer Swasey, in his argument for Mrs. Buffinton, called the only "suspicious circumstances" were when Le Blanc lighted a fire and dried Mrs. Buffinton's clothing after a storm, at Le Blanc's home, and where Mrs. Le Blanc had testified she saw Mrs. Buffinton sitting in the musician's lap with her arms around Le Blanc's neck.

"Nothing in the room in that, that I can see," said the lawyer, amid laughter, "among these professional people, whose souls are in the game."

Attorney Dagggett, in closing, declared that Mrs. Buffinton had been guilty of a "reckless disregard for the truth. He described her as a "vicious woman" and one who was thoroughly infatuated with Le Blanc and he with her.

DAGGETT SCORES COUPLE. "We have Mrs. Buffinton slipping down the stairs to let Le Blanc into the room when he had forbidden to do so, and we have Mrs. Le Blanc telling of going into the parlor of her home, where her husband and Mrs. Buffinton had been hours in the dark. When she opened the door there was a great noise, as though some one had jumped up suddenly and the table was knocked over. Now these people may have possessed sensitive temperaments not like other people's. But was it necessary to knock over the table in the room in that way?"

"Mr. Le Blanc said he wrote this letter for an opera. He knows whom it was written to, and he is being used for divorce by her husband, remained calm and self-possessed, while her husband's lawyer summed up the evidence and concluded with a scathing denunciation of Mrs. Buffinton and Le Blanc, characterizing them as perjurers, in the divorce case yesterday."

Judge White took the case under advisement.

While the wife of the correspondent, Jerome Le Blanc, sobbed like a child, Mrs. Buffinton, who is being sued for divorce by her husband, remained calm and self-possessed, while her husband's lawyer summed up the evidence and concluded with a scathing denunciation of Mrs. Buffinton and Le Blanc, characterizing them as perjurers, in the divorce case yesterday.

WHERE THE TROUBLE BEGINS: Convince men that it is just as immoral to cheat the neighbors they do not see and know as to cheat the one who lives next door, and you will have taken a long step in the direction of purer politics.

One of the most striking of recent articles on this subject appears in Collier's Weekly. It is the first of three articles by William Allen White on the civic life of the United States, and he traces the political dishonesty straight to its source in the moral obliquity of the average man.

The farmer who works a few desultory hours on the road in front of his farm, and avows that he has performed his obligation to the state as prescribed by law, does not see clearly that he has stolen money from the state, has made off with unremoved man's despatch, and has lied into the bargain.

Those who in years past have read with pleasure the occasional poems written by Mr. H. L. Spencer, whose Ingie Nook sketches appear from time to time in this paper, will appreciate the sonnets which are printed in today's issue.

There is still no word of Peary, the intrepid explorer who is seeking the north pole. It is now feared that both he and the whalers who were expected to bring news from him are caught in the ice and must wait there for the next Arctic summer.

McKELVEY-In this city, on October 17, Jennie E. McKelvey, only daughter of John McKelvey, leaving their mother and three brothers to mourn their sad loss.

IS THE PEARY PARTY FAST, IN ICE FIELDS

May Be No Word This Year--The Whalers Who Were Expected to Bear Message are Not In Yet Themselves.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19--The middle of October having been reached, the time limit set for receiving news from the Peary Arctic expedition, hope practically is abandoned of hearing this year from the band of explorers who sailed from this port fifteen months ago.

WHALEERS FAIL TO REPORT.

The whalers have failed to come into port and this is taken as a certain indication that unusual weather conditions prevail in the Arctic, and that the entire fleet has been caught in the ice in the sudden closing of a remarkably short summer period.

The hope that the expedition is safe must satisfy all who are interested in the expedition until some message comes from the white wastes into which the explorers penetrated in July, 1905, expecting to return in the spring of this year.

Commander Perry

year with the news that they had discovered the pole.

If Peary himself decided to spend a second winter in the Arctic Circle, it was expected that news would come from the expedition through the whalers when they sailed into Dundee, Scotland, at the end of their cruise this fall.

Upon this assumption, the well wishers of the expedition have their hopes of success, and, unless there has been a tragedy, no great alarm is felt for the safety of the expedition.

ANXIETY CAUSED BY DYNAMITE.

Some anxiety was expressed at the outset on account of the large quantity of dynamite carried by the Roosevelt, more than 10,000 pounds, to be used in mining a passage through the ice.

The fear was that the jar of collision with the ice might blow up the ship, but the last reports were that the Roosevelt had found an open winter in the Arctic waters, and the expedition undoubtedly was able to unload and store the dynamite before actually entering the ice fields.

ANOTHER EXPLORER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19--The Norwegian sloop Gjos, with which Captain Donald Amundsen traversed the north-west passage, arrived here tonight. Captain Amundsen, who arrived here several days ago overland, met the Gjos outside the Golden Gate and brought her into this harbor.

Commander Perry's Vessel.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON STREET CAR LINE

A rather serious accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the corner of Main street and Douglas avenue, when Miss Muriel McIntyre and the two sons of Edward Sunderland, while driving in a pony cart, were run into by an electric car.

Yesterday afternoon Miss McIntyre, who is a music teacher, was driven over to Carleton by the two boys, who are but twelve and fourteen years of age, and after giving some lessons Miss McIntyre, with the two boys, returned to the city. When at the corner of Main street and Douglas avenue they attempted to cross the track, but car No. 44, run by Motorman McCallum, collided with them. The boys escaped with a few bruises, but Miss McIntyre was dragged by the car, and had her left arm broken just above the elbow. Dr. McIntyre, who rendered the surgical aid, stated that it was a very bad break.

Captain McIntyre says that from what he can learn the motorman was not to blame, but the boys allege that there was no bell sounded and that they were not aware of the presence of an electric car until it was too late.

THE BODIES RECOVERED

The bodies of the two young men, John Roodan and William Goodell, who were drowned in Mill Lake Thursday evening were recovered yesterday between twelve and one o'clock. Both funerals will be held today. The body of young Roodan will be interred in the Catholic cemetery at St. George, this morning, and that of William Goodell will be buried this afternoon in the Rural cemetery at St. George.

It was thought at first that the young man had heard a shot across the lake, and while rowing back one of them had fallen off the stern of the boat and capsized it. It now appears that the young man saw some game and fired the shot. It is supposed that in acting hastily the boat was upset, and that they, believing that the shore was close by, attempted to swim to it in the dark and were drowned.

Yesterday Chamberlain Sandell paid out $3,304.36, two weeks wages to city employees.

After this week the country market will open at 7.30 and close at 5 o'clock for the winter.

Miss Margaret Campbell, of Carleton, left for Cambridge (Mass.) yesterday, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brayley.

Arthur Roberts, Bridgewater (N. S.), is visiting his sister, Mrs. T. L. Coughlin, in this city.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Jennie E. Brown Mrs. Jennie E. Brown, wife of Fred W. Brown, of 478 Main street, died yesterday morning after a long illness. Mrs. William J. Farel, of this city, is a sister. Interment will take place in Boston.

Charles E. Morton L. R. Morton, who is spending a few days in the city, having been in Toronto during the past summer, has received the sad news that his brother, Charles E. Morton, of Milton (N.S.), died suddenly on Wednesday night.

The late Mr. Morton was a prominent merchant and syndicate manager in Milton. Of his sons one is principal of Digby Academy, another of the academy in Halifax, a third in the finance department at Ottawa, a fourth a dentist in the States, and the fifth manager of a bank in Vancouver, but formerly at Sussex (N. B.). There are three daughters--Mrs. Churchill Locke, Le-Lovely; Mrs. Henry Tucker, of Milton; Mrs. Waterman of Bridgewater, and Mrs. Adam Wilson, of North Cambridge.

Mrs. J. W. Stairs Halifax, N. S., Oct. 19--(Special)--The death occurred this afternoon of Mrs. Stairs, widow of Hon. J. W. Stairs, who died eight months ago. Mrs. Stairs' funeral will take place on Sunday, the eighteenth, at her birth. There were thirteen children, one of whom was the late John F. Stairs.

Mrs. Gilbert T. Chapman Moncton, Oct. 19--(Special)--An aged and well known resident of Coville, Albert county, Mrs. Chapman, widow of Gilbert T. Chapman, passed away at the home of her son, Blair T. Chapman, last evening in the seventieth year of her age. Her surviving children are Blair E., Mrs. Albert W. Wilcox, Coverdale; Wm. Hagen and Clifford E., Dorchester; Mrs. Margaret T. Steves, Hillsboro; Mrs. W. J. Howard, Albert. She was a sister of Wm. Cochrane, Mrs. Wm. Hickman, and Mrs. Alfred Bishop, Dorchester.

Neil Carter Halifax, N. S., Oct. 19--Neil Carter, a brickman at Dominion No. 2 banking station of the Dominion Coal Company, was instantly killed late this afternoon. His duties were to run engines down to the steam shovel to get fuel. An engine on another track was being run down to the car on which the water tank was placed, and had a platform projecting four feet behind. Carter slipped and, missing the coupling, was crushed to death, his back being broken and also his neck. The deceased was nineteen years of age, and belonged to St. Peter's. He had worked here one week.

Henry Estabrooks Sackville, N. B., Oct. 19--Henry Estabrooks, a farmer of Mount View, about five miles from here, committed suicide at 4 o'clock this afternoon by hanging himself in an unoccupied house. He had been in poor health for the past year, having been paralyzed on one side of the body. He was about sixty years old, and leaves a wife and several sons and daughters. The suicide took place in the house in which deceased was born.

A THANKFUL MOTHER "I thank you with all my heart for what Baby's Own Tablets have done for my little girl," Mrs. Antoinette Boniface, Que. "When I began giving her the Tablets she seemed to be pining away, but after using less than a box she was rapidly gaining and she is now a fine, fat, healthy little one, and I write you this as the acknowledgment of a mother who will never forget what Baby's Own Tablets have done for her child." Let them like this must bring hope and comfort to all mothers who have feeble or sickly children. Baby's Own Tablets will cure all the minor ailments and can be given just as safely to a new born baby as to a well grown child. If you cannot get these Tablets from your dealer write The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and get them at 25c a box.

EDWARD PRIDDLE MISSING Edward Priddle, mate of the schooner Free Trade, and a resident of Acadia street, North End, is supposed to have been drowned in Boston harbor last Wednesday night. It is the opinion of the police that he was foully dealt with, and Boston detectives are now seeking to solve the mystery.

On the evening in question, Mr. Priddle turned into the street, and the following morning his clothes were discovered, but he could not be found. The presumption is that he was robbed by river pirates and thrown overboard.

The schooner Free Trade was to sail in a day or two for Windsor (N. S.), in command of Mate Priddle, as Captain Hayward Priddle, a brother of the missing man, was to go by train to New York to take charge of another vessel. Captain Priddle and the cook, John Priddle, together with Mate Priddle, comprised the entire crew of the Free Trade.

Mrs. Priddle, wife of the missing man, is ill at her home in Acadia street. On inquiry last evening, a reporter was informed that no further news had been received.

Mr. Priddle's mother is Mrs. James Brennan, of Union street, and Mrs. John Buckley, of Brittain street, and Mrs. Samuel Lilley, of Newfoundland, are sisters. His relatives are anxiously awaiting the return of news of his death.

WITH THE FARMERS AND LIVE STOCK MEN

STRONG CHARGES AGAINST MILLERS

(Toronto Mail and Enquirer). It was made clear to the Grain Commission, which resumed its sittings in the Board of Trade Building last week that the practice of adulterating millfeed is quite general among Ontario millers. Out bulle, screenings, containing full seeds and other matter of a refuse character have been mixed with shorts and bran and sold to the farmers as mixed chop-stuff.

It was stated that owing to the poor quality of the millfeed sold it cost any farmer six or seven cents per bushel to raise hogs, which is a figure where profit has reached the vanishing point. It was a day set apart for the hearing of the grievances of farmers. The hearing of the grievances of farmers. The hearing of the grievances of farmers.

FOUL SEEDS PREVALENT. G. A. Putnam, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, stated he had sent out circular letters to the farmers in Ontario in respect to grading of grain and the introduction of weeds through the buying of refuse grain from elevators. In the replies received it was shown that much grain is being fed on farms, American corn being the chief product, although refuse wheat from elevators, and the waste material from breweries, etc., are being used. In this way weeds are being introduced to the detriment of the country.

Mr. Clark showed samples of shorts, bran and mixed chop from certain Ontario mills, which were badly adulterated with ground oats, hulls and screenings. In some cases the millers had placed them in 80 per cent ton and then mixed them and sold them as 100 per cent value in oat hulls. This mixed feed contains many noxious weeds, such as feline grass, wild oats and wild mustard. Owing to this adulteration Mr. Clark said many farmers were obliged to give up hog raising, as they found they could not raise the animals for less than six or seven cents per pound. In some cases the millfeed was so badly adulterated that hogs would not grow. He also said that he believed this practice was general in Ontario. He also said the farmers were not cleaning their grain owing to the scarcity of labor. He also thought that the law regarding adulteration should be enforced in the case of millers.

THIS FARMER HAS A WELL PAYING COW

The Holstein breeders are proud of the records at the fair of many of their cows, and the following letter from Fred C. Clark, of Victoria, P. E. I., will add more to their credit. Fred and management, as well as breeding, have a great part in a cow's productiveness. The World holds that a great many of our ordinary cows could be made to pay much larger returns than they do if more care and thought were expended on them. But if the $7000000 can be made, why not set the best? A few years of careful testing and selection will do the work. Mr. Clark says that he "begs" nothing from previous week. Regular samples of milk were taken from six or eight cows, mixed and tested by our creamery man, from whose figures the amount was ascertained. As correct an account as then charged her at the following figures: 100 lbs. of milk, $1.00; butter, $1.00; and pasture and green feed, $2 for season, make a total cost of $40.55. Her monthly income has been as follows: March, 1904, April, 1,231, May, 1,170, June, 1,092, July, 1,208, August, 1,170, September, 1,003, October, 1,221, November, 791, December

SHEEP FARMING IN NOVA SCOTIA PAYS

(Toronto World). The society for the encouragement of sheep raising in Nova Scotia has compiled some pertinent facts which The P. E. I. Agriculturist hopes will benefit the local farmers. The society gave the result of a year's work of a couple of flocks of Nova Scotia sheep, to show that the making of wool is a profitable business. The society is particularly anxious to show that the making of wool is a profitable business. The society is particularly anxious to show that the making of wool is a profitable business.

WASTE PRODUCTS OF FARM TO BE CONVERTED INTO FUEL

(Coal Trade Journal). It may seem a faraway cry, but there are several prominent coal men at Chicago who are taking quite seriously the experiments made by the department of agriculture and others, by which corn stalks, corn cobs, potatoes and various other more or less starchy substances are converted into alcohol at remarkably small cost. Not long ago the highest possible attainments for the denatured alcohol, the manufacture of which will be encouraged by the recently enacted legislation, was supposed to be to displace gasoline and other high grade products of petroleum, used in operating automobiles and providing other special forms of power. But these Chicago coal men are looking a little farther ahead than that and are investigating the possibility that the domain of old King Coal may also be invaded and partially overcome by this new and unexpected rival.

ALCOHOL AT LOW COST

There have been published recently many opinions respecting this new fuel, some of which ridiculed the possibility that it could even rival its nearest neighbor, gasoline. But the experiments that are being made by the department of agriculture and others, are demonstrating the possibility of making alcohol at very low cost. Moonshine whiskey has sold in the south as low as 20 cents a gallon, and the production of the denatured alcohol probably costs no more than the superstitious manufacture of distilled spirits by primitive contrivances. One bushel of corn, it is asserted, will make five gallons of whiskey, and in the large distilleries the actual labor cost for some time has had to send my five brothers and sisters away to a home. "We wanted my papa back to help us."

WASTE PRODUCTS OF THE FARM

In the manufacture of denatured alcohol the cost of material is in some instances absolutely nothing, being the waste products of the farm. In a report issued a few days ago by the department of agriculture, the results of recent experiments of making alcohol from corn cobs and from corn stalks at Hopeton, Ill., were given. It is a fact that the waste products of the farm, such as corn cobs, stalks, and other refuse, can be converted into alcohol at a very low cost. This is a fact that the waste products of the farm, such as corn cobs, stalks, and other refuse, can be converted into alcohol at a very low cost.

WILL GOALS BE DISAPPOINTED?

That there will be a livelier interest in the subject after the denatured alcohol bill takes effect Jan. 1, seems certain. Powerful financial interests are already said to have secured options on many of the western distilleries, with a view of transforming them into fuel producers, as soon as the law permits. But the production of the denatured alcohol, it is thought, will not be confined to large distilling plants. The region of the greatest activity will be the distinctive agricultural districts, where fuel is relatively expensive, and where there is a superabundance of waste products. There are coal men who are inclined to the view that in the strictly agricultural regions, no farther, coal may sooner or later be displaced to a considerable degree.

COTTAGE PUDDING

This is one of the oldest and best liked of all puddings, easily cooked and very satisfying. One pint of flour and two cups of baking powder; one cup of sugar and one cup of milk; two ounces of butter creamed with the sugar; one egg stiffly beaten. Flavor with the grated rind of one lemon. Add the flour last. Bake in a cake pan in a hot oven and serve at once with a thin wine sauce.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES

A good pudding can redeem a poor dinner. What housewife does not have occasional bad luck with her cooking, or who is not obliged to serve warm-over dishes? These are the nights to make a good pudding which will make up for all the deficiencies which preceded it, and send people away from the table with the satisfaction and a good taste. If the satisfaction and a good taste. If the satisfaction and a good taste. If the satisfaction and a good taste.

BREAD AND BUTTER PUDDING

Beat five eggs to a froth and then stir in a pint of milk in which a pinch of salt has been added. Have ready a number of buttered slices of bread, and dip them in the well-beaten egg and milk mixture, and sprinkle on a little sugar and spice; then put on more slices of the buttered bread, and repeat the process until the dish is filled. Then pour over the custard made as first and bake for an hour. To vary this recipe, use sliced apples and a little more spice instead of the raisins and currants.

GINGER PUDDING

Stir a tablespoonful of butter into half a cup of sugar. Beat two eggs and stir in the sugar and butter. Add a cup of molasses, a cup of warm milk and one tablespoon of ginger. Bake in a hot oven until well browned. Serve with cream or a wet sauce.

DAIRY PUDDING

Take six eggs and beat the yolks and

Girl Who Freed Father from Jail, Before His Picture

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—"Papa's coming home for Christmas, and we'll invite Governor Higgins to come down from Albany and see our Christmas tree, and we'll have baby Helen and the rest of the children taken out of the home and we'll all be together again," cried little Jennie O'Rourke today when she and her mother started for their last visit to Sing Sing prison, where they will visit the girl's father, John H. O'Rourke, who through her plea to Governor Higgins, has obtained the promise of his release in time to have Christmas dinner with his family.

O'Rourke was convicted four years ago by the authorities of Dutchess county of having set fire to a barn in which he had two horses, the prosecution charging that he did so in order to get the insurance on the horses. His wife and daughter say he never did it, but he was sentenced to eight years in the Sing Sing prison on purely circumstantial evidence. Jennie, in telling the story of how she obtained the commutation of her father's sentence, said today: "When we were first sent away we tried to get along, but mamma had to work so hard that after struggling along for some time we had to send my five brothers and sisters away to a home. "We wanted my papa back to help us."

TREE PLANTING IN MONCTON

F. W. Sumner Offers Prizes—Where is Capt. Edget?—The East Good Enough. MONCTON, Oct. 17.—Fred W. Sumner has made a proposal to the board of school trustees with a view to encouraging tree growing about the school grounds. In all he offers some fifty dollars as for the best and the purchase of trees. He offers prizes to three scholars, having the best result in planting and caring for individual trees. The school board has decided to take up the proposition, and a committee has been appointed to carry it into effect.

The Well-Dressed Woman

ELDERLY LADIES WEAR WHITE--ANNE RITTENHOUSE

AM I too old to wear white? This is the question but to me over and over. Then the writer goes on to say that she is 40 years old, or maybe 50. She adds that she likes white better than any other color, but her daughters think her too old to wear it.

It is to be assumed that such a question does not come from a city woman or one who goes into the whirl of modern life. It comes from those who do not live in the great cities and have not the constant pressure of dressmakers to wear clothes that "grow younger" and "younger" every day. In fashionable sets, women of all ages dress alike. There is no difference between the mother and daughter.

But out of the inner centres of dress, fashion and great shops there is a large and important class that simply do not have the advantages of the best and newest of everything in fashion at their disposal for merely the trouble of walking down the streets and looking in at any of the shops. Too many of those who advise on matters of dress do not always remember this.

But there is no denying that there has been a revolution in dress for elderly women; probably one might better say a revival. Women of the olden days did not wear the somber clothes of the chimney corners because they were past forty. They led things with a high hand and let the fashions. True, there is a suspicion that they dress entirely too much for their age, and this gossip has also been started about those of the present generation.

Taken in moderation, however—the gay clothes, not the gossip—the revolution is a very good one. There is no reason whatever for a young woman of forty to don somber clothes. There is no reason for her to wear clothes that differ in any respect of color or style or fabric from those any 18-year-old girl wears. She must make them becoming. That is the only injunction. That she should feel herself compelled to wear black because of some old tradition that had its root in nonsense, is not to be considered.

And, as for white—well, that is the very color really elderly ladies are now wearing.

When a woman gets too old for pink, blue and majenta, she adopts white and grey for her own.

This age is not any where near forty. It comes in anywhere near fifty-eight or sixty.

It is very probable that the women who have always lived where tradition or custom ruled otherwise would have an uneasy time deciding to drop the somber clothes and adopting gayer ones; yet they should do it. It is only a question of a little time when women everywhere will get used to the verdict that black is necessary for mourning and for nothing else.

Wear it if you will—but let it be because you must be economical or that you want one black gown because it is becoming. Don't say that you do not intend to follow the fashions of those giddy butterflies who want to appear young. Don't contend that the ways of the city are not your ways. Don't do an old-fashioned, out of date thing simply because a group of women in your town do it. Follow the world and not a local set. You will find that if you are right that set will follow you.

It is fatal to try to be older than you are. It is such foolish doctrine. Don't dress in a way to make you appear ridiculous; but do not avoid any thing that is pretty and becoming. It is for this reason that elderly women are wearing white. They do not want to be muffled up in black as if they were at a funeral. It makes them feel somber. It seems to put them out of the way of the pleasures of life. They want to have a touch with the bright side as they have a perfect right to have. And so white has become the dress of old age and the decade approaching it. It has been a long time since any but the very old have worn little bonnets with strings. The abolition of this at first seemed impossible but the world has accepted it and now takes it as a matter of course. Women of sixty wear hats as easily as they once wore bonnets. And they wear white hats too.

For the summer they wear every manner of white fabric, Paris muslin sheer lincens dimity, stiff linen in coat suits for the street, accoridian plaited frocks of soft silks for the house. They have long coats of white cloth of pongee or silk for driving. Their hats are small, of course, of light weight fabrics such as horse hair, fancy braids, folded malines, wrapped to fit the head and snugly closely against it. These are trimmed with short white feathers, not floating but closely confined to the hat and bunches of white roses with a few green leaves.

Loops of white velvet ribbon are also worn and small buckles of brilliants. Some elderly women arrange most becoming streamers of white tulle, tied at the side with long ends. It is always well to avoid any approach to a separate waist and skirt, even though white, for the effect is not good on any who have lost that buoyancy of figure that a division at the waist requires. They should wear frocks entire of the same material. Neither should they wear belts of colors or of black with white gowns. This, too, draws attention to the lack of roundness at the waist. White belts are best. They should be folded silk or of stitched linen if the waist is small. Soft kid also makes a very good girdle for the wash frocks.

A great number of really old ladies have made it the fashion in their set to wear white evening gowns. These are lovely. They are worn to their own tables and always in the afternoon at their homes when there are callers. Usually these are of silk. They are made simply so as to avoid any semblance of being very much dressed up. Women who rarely leave the house and who expect many friends to drop in have these in semi-wrappers fashion, in a flowing garment or a long sacque with full skirt. A bow of lavender ribbon in a knot of lace is fastened at the neck and the edges of the sacque are finished with a frill of lace. The sleeves are long, with lace ruffles that fall over the hand.

Even if a woman has little chance to wear this—if her life is arranged on simpler lines, it is well to have one such frock for the special occasion when she does need it. She can find so many odd pieces at the silk sales. Brocades in soft silk which are not fashionable just now are selling at reasonable prices, and make up into charming gowns of this description.

Of all the things that an elderly lady should not wear—and which she once did—is the white wash sacque over a black skirt. She may use this style of dress for her own room, but nowhere else. There are also very dainty flowered soft silks at small prices that make up into pretty frocks for the winter months. These are in gray, with tiny pink rose buds—and pink is the color of age. More so now than lavender. It must be a mere touch on a woman over sixty.

Tiny loops of it put into the lace cap which a woman does not don until she has passed seventy, are very attractive.

For Winter she can not wear white on the streets. For that occasion the elderly woman must have black—but by elderly is meant 65 years at least. She wears grey often and it is a very good choice. There are certain soft tones of this color that, kept to themselves and untouched by any other trimming are very wise indeed on a woman of an advanced age. Such a tone in cloth made into a long coat suit and skirt that touches, trimmed only with stitching or a few stitched bias bands, will serve several seasons. With this she wears a blouse of grey soft silk. This is better than a white one.

The hat should be of a grey horse hair—the heavy kind that is worn in Winter, followed down to fit the contour of the head, quite flat in front, and trimmed with white roses and frosted leaves. A flat Abington bow in back of grey tulle should have streamers that tie in front or at the side.

She can wear with this a flat box of grey tulle in pleating dotted with grey velvet ribbon loops. Ostrich feathers are of course more effective with a feather muff to match but the price is also more.

As for women under fifty there is no exact style of dress. It is the sheerest absurdity at this particular generation of the Twentieth Century to go into sackcloth and ashes. They make themselves older than they should be and gain nothing by it. It is odd how many women will not hesitate to adopt ugly and artificial means to make them look younger and will throw up the hands in horror when told to dress young. They seem to think the former a legitimate method and the latter one that might get them laughed at.

They will wear false hair, put powder and even rouge on their lips and face, dye the hair a dull auburn to hide the grey hair which they think betokens age too clearly—then say they must not wear any thing but black because they are over forty. Artifice conceals nothing and they look far more haggard than they would if they had let themselves alone and dressed more becomingly.

Grey hair is not even considered a badge of age any longer. Too many women have it now at twenty-five. The American is a grey haired race—its women as well as its men—and the only thing to do is to make the best thing of it. To dye it is objectionable in every way.

It does not mean that you must stop wearing colors. If it did half the loveliest women in society would be in somber clothes. No one pays any attention to it among the people who really count for style. Every color is worn with but red. Lingerie hats are worn atop of it with great colored bows and the frilliest of colored frocks are worn beneath it.

A woman of forty may now wear any style or color she wishes because custom allows it. It is for her that most of the lovely fashions are brought out. She can wear the novelties that her young daughter cannot touch. It is for her the greatest designers do their best. What would the world of fashion do if all women would go into black as soon as they reached forty?

Wear black occasionally to give a touch to your other frocks—but have all the rest of your gowns in the best styles and fabrics.

White linen parasol, trimmed with bow knots of Val. Insertion on every other panel.

- Reading from right to left the gowns are: First, separate skirt in two tones of brown plaid, with brown silk blouse trimmed with plaitings.
- Second, Embroidered pink linen, blouse made with wide revers. Belt of pink suede.
- Third, Simple frock of gray crash trimmed with stitched bands of gray linen.
- Fourth, Old fashioned gown of deep violet rajah silk, with yoke of heavy white lace.
- Fifth, Little girl's frock of white mull embroidery, made with Dutch neck. Sash of Dresden ribbon.

Proper Medicine for the Blood

Drives Away That Tired Feeling; Makes You Feel Brisk.

To every one is sure to come that tired, exhausted feeling.

When the blood is weak, thin and debilitated, circulation is slow, and in consequence the system is congested with poisons and wastes that should be driven out.

The sensible person acts on the teachings of experience and cleanses his system with a course of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandarins and Butternut.

No medicine can be more certain to quickly cure. Convenient to take, just one pill at bedtime; safe, because entirely vegetable; unailing, because proved by thousands that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are you in a few days.

From Chibouque, N. S., comes the following from W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings under my eyes. I really felt as if the charm of life had left me and when spring arrived I was in the 'ditch'—a road of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and got five boxes at once.

Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home.

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenance and securing of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

BANK OF N. S. PAYS HIGH PRICE

Gives $2840 per Foot for a Site in City of Winnipeg.

(Winnipeg Free Press)

One of the most important real estate deals of the season, and one which establishes a new frontage value for the city, was closed on Saturday. It was the purchase by the Bank of Nova Scotia, of the property on the southwest corner of Portage avenue and Garry street, for which $28,000 was paid.

For some time the Bank of Nova Scotia has been quietly negotiating for a new site which would better accommodate their increased business. They had several properties in view, but the choice finally narrowed down to the one on the corner west of the Free Press building.

C. W. Brown bought this property from Hon. William Hespeler a little over a year and a half ago, and has netted a comfortable advance on the deal.

H. C. Macleod, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, arrived in the city on Saturday and closed the deal. He has also given orders for the preparation of the plans for the new building, the construction of which will probably be begun this fall.

The Bank of Nova Scotia has a reputation for having some of the finest bank buildings in the country, and the interior of their Toronto offices are considered the finest of the sort in the Queen City. They take special pride in their buildings, and Mr. Macleod stated that was their intention to try to keep the Winnipeg office fully up to standard. The architect have been given a figure of $200,000 to do the work up to, but this will be exceeded if necessary. The material of which it will be built is not yet decided upon, but granite has been suggested. This will be decided later. The building will be luxuriously fitted, and will be devoted exclusively to banking. Mr. Macleod left last evening for the east, going by way of Chicago.

In connection with the proposed change by the Bank of Nova Scotia, another and equally important change in banking circles is rumored. It is reported that the Bank of Montreal is looking for quarters nearer to Winnipeg's moneyed centre, and that they are negotiating for the purchase of two properties on the northeast corner of Main street and Lombard street, now occupied by Robinson & Black and the Bank of Nova Scotia. This would bring them in the heart of the banking district, and within easy reach of the Grain Exchange building on Lombard street. No confirmation could be secured last evening.

ONTARIO BANK OFFICIALS IN COURT

Toronto, Oct. 19.—There was no sign of recognition between President Cockburn and ex-manager Charles McGill, when they stood together in the police court this morning. The proceedings were formal but the corridors and the room itself were filled with people anxious for a glimpse of McGill.

The charges were read over and E. B. Johnston, for McGill, said that he would prefer not to plead or elect as he had not gone over the case. The magistrate acceded an adjourned the case for a week. McGill, neat and every looking turned from the rail at which he stood and gazed about at his bondsmen. Only one of them, Fairweather, was missing and after a little while he arrived, when his bonds were renewed and McGill hurriedly left the court.

Mr. Arnold, the Cockburn pleader "not guilty" to the charge of willfully signing a fraudulent statement to the government. "We are ready for trial," said Mr. Arnold. The witness, however, wanted a week and remand was given.

It was stated this morning by business men in close touch with the directors of the Ontario Bank would be sued to indemnify the shareholders against loss.

Rev. A. J. Prosser has received a call from a church in Indian Head (Sask.) He said last evening he has not yet decided whether he would accept the call, but in all probability will go west, either this fall or early in the spring.

Misses Berke and Gladys Hegan have gone on a visit to New York.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE HARBOR

The sub-committee of the Board of Trade has had several meetings during the last three months at which different steamer captains, schooner captains, pilots and others have given their opinions about better aids to navigation, so that the entrance of the St. John harbor and entrance to the Bay of Fundy will be made secure and safe for vessels.

This committee is about to prepare a report to the government in which they will consider the closing up of the western channel, the straightening of the eastern channel down to the land, additional light and buoys as entrance to bay and harbor, the cutting off the point of the harbor bar, etc. As the committee does not wish to make this report until the public has had a chance to give their opinions about these matters, it has decided to hold an open session on Monday, October 22.

At this open session the public are invited to come and give their opinions upon the questions mentioned above. The Transportation Commission in its report unanimously favored the closing of the western channel, the deepening and widening of the main channel, and generally providing that the dominion government provide thorough and efficient aids to navigation at St. John. It seems wise to the committee that the dominion government have a chance to express an opinion on these questions before the committee makes its final report.

The meeting will be held at eight o'clock on Monday evening.

WEDDINGS

DAWE-MAHANY.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Mahany, of 20 Josephine ave., Somerville Highlands, Mass., when Wm. B. Dawe, of Malden, Mass., was married to Miss Edna Violet Mahany. The house was elegantly decorated by Howard & Co., of Broadway, with spruce, ferns, white roses, carnations, chrysanthemums and potted palms.

The bride was dressed in ivory white messaline over white tulle, the veil carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Elsie M. Mahany, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Bertha H. Chase, of 24 Rogers avenue, and Miss Jennie B. Birney, of Greenfield, Mass. They wore blue silk tulle over blue silk.

The groomsmen were LeRoy M. Karnin, of Cambridge, W. W. Mahany and A. Barstow were ushers.

About 150 guests attended, including Miss Edwara E. Bragg, of St. John, N. B., and several relatives from New York. The wedding march was rendered by Dr. J. Albert Jeffrey, of the New England Conservatory of Music, of which place the bride was a student for over three years.

Wm. Valentine's orchestra of seven pieces furnished music during the evening. N. J. Hardy, of Arlington, looked after the catering.

The bridegroom received very handsome gold bracelets with diamond settings. The groomsmen and ushers received gold stick pins and cuff links. The bridesmaids received about one hundred presents, including a piano from her parents. The happy couple left on the night train for Niagara Falls, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will reside at 188 Main street, Malden, until spring, when they will move to their own home at 19 Crocker street, Somerville, Mass.

The bride is a former St. John girl, where she resided with her parents at 404 Union street.

POISONED AT SILVER WEDDING

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 19.—Hector and Mrs. Foster, old and highly respected residents of Oneida township, Ontario, were celebrating their silver wedding lately.

Ninety guests were invited. Chickens dressed with gelatine and boiled in large copper pots were served, and not long afterwards eighty-five guests were ill. Those who had partaken of the dressing were ill, and the other five who had not, escaped.

At first it was thought to be an epidemic of typhoid fever until the doctors diagnosed it as ptomaine poisoning. Mrs. Ferguson died shortly afterwards as the result of eating the dressing, while Rev. Mr. Ferguson, her husband, is critically ill. Mrs. Foster, mother of Hector, is also dead. Hector Foster, his wife and two children are critically ill, but all other guests are recovering.

Foster D. Hoffman, 92 Summer street, was the holder of the ticket that won the $10 door prize given by the Victoria Athletic Club at the carnival Thursday night.
