Sweden May Be Forced into War On Side of Allies

New York, Sept. 14.—The Tribune today publishes the following dispatch from Woodstock, N.Y.: "That Sweden may be forced into the war on the side of the Allies as a result of the United States government's exposure of the complexity of the Swedish foreign office in Germany spy machinations, is the opinion of Edwin Bjorkman, writer and translator of Scandinavian literature, just returned from Stockholm at home here. Mr. Bjorkman sees trouble ahead for Sweden, of which he is a native, including a revolution, completely overthrowing the bureaucracy, which has ruled the country for hundreds of years, and forcing the abdication of King Gustav, a cousin of the Kaiser."

LEADING SQUAD IN CHARGE WHEN HE WAS KILLED

German Sniper Shot Sergeant Ernest Luck — Word Comes in Letter Details of the circumstances under which Sergeant Ernest Luck of this city met his death have been received in a letter from Lance-Corporal Frank L. Addison by his brother, Private A. B. Addison of the 9th Field Ambulance. Sergeant Luck was leading his squad in a charge in one of the recent battles when he was killed by a bullet from the hand of a German sniper. Lance-Corporal Addison, who was at his side at the time, speaks in highly laudatory terms of the courage and other soldierly qualities of his comrade. Before enlisting, Sergeant Luck was employed as a bookkeeper with T. S. Simms & Co., Ltd., and was held in high esteem in the office and by many friends throughout the city.

AMERICAN RED CROSS TO HELP IN RELIEF OF FRENCH PEOPLE

Paris, Sept. 14.—Following a series of conferences between representatives of the French government and American Red Cross officials the government has been officially notified through General Petain that the Red Cross organization is willing to supply funds amounting to $50,000,000 for relief work among the French civilian population during the coming winter. The French, it is understood, will work out a general plan of relief, which in their opinion will be best adapted to keeping up the morale of the civilian population and then turn it over to the Red Cross which will carry it out and finance it.

REPORTED BID BY BORDEN FOR VOTES

Montreal, Sept. 14.—At a meeting of the Equal Suffrage League here last night to criticize the war-time franchise bill, Mrs. Weir, a prominent local suffragist, said she had heard a rumor that the Borden government had told the soldiers in France that if the present government was returned to power, all the soldiers would be given free passage and six months' leave of absence.

FIGHTING UNION MEMBERS TO BE KEPT IN GOOD STANDING

Rochester, Sept. 14.—By a vote that looked four of being unanimous, accredited representatives of the International National Union of North America, in convention here have voted to continue in good standing members who in the past, present or future should serve in the armies or navies of any of the allies or engage in any pursuit to aid the allies. The four negative votes were based on the idea that the action should be submitted to the full membership of the union. The objectors said that they favored the action in principle.

REVOLTING CRUELTY TO PRISONERS

Reports Brought By British From German Camps "WEEKS OF HELL" Ill Fed, Abused, Over-worked—Wounded Men Prodded With Bayonets and Several Were Stabbed by Guards New York, Sept. 14.—A special cable to the World from London, dated Sept. 13, says: "The revolting cruelty to which British prisoners are subjected in German military camps was described by repatriated soldiers who arrived in London today. Private George Eiseley, of a Welsh regiment, who was captured in September, 1914, said: "Although wounded, we were kept without food or water for days, and when one of us begged for something to drink, the nurse brought him a glass of water and threw it in his face. Later we were removed to a hospital at Schwetzn, where we were well treated, and later to the Gustrup internment camp, where we were treated like dogs. "Although we were badly wounded, on our arrival at Gustrup we were kept standing in the snow without boots from 11 a.m. until 10 o'clock at night. Several of us nearly died of starvation. When we complained we were either prodded with bayonets or the "English blockade" was given as a reason for the shortage of food. The bedding was covered with vermin, and we slept on straw on the floor. "After weeks of this hell we were sent to work to build a canal. All the wounded men with arms and legs were taken, and if a man slacked off he received the butt end of a rifle. One day we saw several wounded men stabbed by their guards, and one man who refused to work was taken away and we never saw him again."

CORN PRICES IN CHICAGO RALLY

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Corn prices rallied today after an early decline. The initial weakness was due to prevailing warmth and sunshine, but was later offset by a forecast of cool cloudy weather unfavorable to the proper development of the crop. Every day of adverse weather at present was regarded as increasing the chance of severe damage to farmers appeared to be sending wheat to Minneapolis more liberally than has recently been the case. On the other hand, latest estimates of the spring crop in the Dakotas and Minnesota put the total at six million bushels less than was suggested by the government September report.

ATTACKED BY FIVE; BRITISH AIRPLANE FELL IN NO MAN'S LAND

Germans, Robbing Dead Aviators, Driven Off by Plucky Belgian Soldiers Havre, Sept. 14.—A tragic aerial combat took place on the afternoon of Sept. 9 above the Belgian trenches along the railway from Neuport to Dixmude. A British airplane, which had been surrounded by five German machines, fell east of Bassevelpe in No Man's Land with 100 yards separating the lines. The Germans opened a hot gun fire on the British machine, but several men from a Belgian regiment determined to lend aid, crawled out in the broad daylight to the aircraft. Both the aviators were found dead. The Belgians brought in one of the bodies and returned after the other a few hours later. They saw the Germans robbing the dead man, but the Germans fled on the approach of the Belgians. The rapid fire guns resumed their shelling of the spot where the machine lay, but the Belgians nevertheless succeeded in bringing back to their trenches the body of the other Britisher.

New Ministry In French Government Will Have Charge of Missions Abroad—Painleve's Troubles in Forming Cabinet—Unified Socialists Criticized

Paris, Sept. 14.—The new French cabinet contains a new ministry at first called the ministry of propaganda, but later changed to ministry of missions abroad. Owing to the absence of Franklin Bouillon, the new post is not filled, with the other ministry designations in the official journal. The new ministry consists of fifteen titular ministers, and two, Louis Loucheur and Albert Clavelle, who do not belong to parliament. The eleven under secretaries are members of the chamber of deputies. Sixteen of the new cabinet members have been ministers or under secretaries in previous cabinets, and three are representatives of the political groups represented do not include the unified Socialist-Republican group, while the Socialist-Republican group, while the Radical left three, the Republican Union of the Senate two, the Republicans of the left one, and the Radical Republican Union, seven members. Seven members of the Ribot ministry retain places in the new cabinet. The most noted exceptions are the Ribot ministry to go are Rene Viviani and Albert Thomas. Cabinet Making The Ribot ministry failed late Sunday night, when M. Thomas withdrew and Professor Paul Painleve followed him, being unwilling to remain in a cabinet where the unified Socialists were not represented. Professor Painleve's first combination, met the same fate late on Tuesday night, when the unified Socialists also refused to co-operate with him, because Alexander Ribot resigned as minister. As President Poincaré insisted on Professor Painleve continuing his effort to form a ministry, he resolved on Wednesday not to give the Socialists representation. At the last moment a new obstacle arose, when some thirty members belonging to the socialist radical group which numbers 170, being the largest in the chamber of deputies, after a meeting, sent a delegation to Professor Painleve to inform him that they opposed the creation of a ministry of state, and to claim the ministry of the interior or justice for the president of the group, Louis Renault, instead of the ministry of state, which had been offered to him. Eliminating Foreign Affairs, Alexandre Ribot; Justice, Raoul Peris; Interior, Jules Steeg; Marine, Charles Chautour; Munitions, Louis Loucheur; Finance, Louis L. Klotz; Colonies, Rene Bernard; Transport, Albert Clavelle; Education, Daniel Vincent; Labor, Andre Renaud; Commerce, Etienne Clementel; Agriculture, Fernand David; Pensions, Maurice Long; Missions abroad, Franklin Bouillon. Ministers of state, as members of the war council are: Louis Barthou, Leon Bourgeois, Paul Doumer and Jean Dupuy. Under Secretaries Under secretary for medical services, Justin Godart; aviation, Jacques L. Dumesnil; general administration, M. Mourier; military, justice and pensions, Pierre Masson; minister of state, interior, Victor Perlat; finance, Paul Bourery; commerce, Paul Morel; merchant marine, prefects, M. REPORT OF SINKING OF THE MINNEHAHA IS NOT CONFIRMED

Furness-Withy Liner Grampian Range Traveled by U-Boat For Thirty-Six Hours and Then Sent Down New York, Sept. 14.—Representatives of the International Mercantile Marine Company declared today that the company had no information from about that would confirm the report of the sinking of the Minneha. Baltimore, Sept. 14.—Word of the sinking of the British liner Grampian Range by a German submarine a few weeks ago in the Atlantic was brought to port today by the captain of a vessel who talked with a member of the crew of the freighter after he had reached England. The Grampian Range was trailed by a raider for thirty-six hours, before the German commander thought the time opportune to send her to the bottom. The Grampian Range was one of the newer vessels of the Furness Withy line. London, Sept. 14.—The American ship Wilmore was sunk by a German submarine on Sept. 12, according to an announcement made today by the admiralty. All the crew were saved.

REBELLION AT EIDUS BELIEF PETROGRAD'S RELIEF

Korniloff's Surrender Near; Desertions From Ranks of Supporters; Re-construction of Kerensky Cabinet Convinced that General Korniloff's rebellion is definitely at an end, although the general himself has not formally surrendered, the leaders at Petrograd are setting about the reconstruction of the government. Formation of a new cabinet is said to be well along toward completion. Meanwhile the Russian army at the front, particularly in the northern sector, is displaying a fighting spirit, and according to the official statement is retaining some of the ground recently abandoned to the Germans in the Riga district. Surrender to Alexieff. Petrograd, Sept. 13.—General Korniloff has communicated to the government his intention to surrender on the arrival of General Alexieff, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, at Mober, at which place he is due this evening. Some Appointments. Petrograd, Sept. 13.—Generals Ruzay and Dragomiroff have been appointed respectively commander-in-chief on the northern and southwestern fronts. Colonel Vershovsky, former commander of the Moscow military district, has been appointed acting minister of war. General Topolovskiy has been named commander of the military district of Petrograd, and M. Paltchinskii, former assistant minister of trade, has been given the post of military governor-general of Petrograd. Steadily Improves. Petrograd, Sept. 13.—M. Sockie, private secretary to Premier Kerensky, told the Associated Press today that "the situation shows steady improvement." Continuing, he said: "General Korniloff has not surrendered, but he is quite prepared to do so and is in a position of complete powerlessness. We have just received an offer of surrender from twelve companies of Korniloff troops, who say they have been deceived, and General Kaledine, who with his Don Cossacks began a menacing movement against the government, has been checked. We expect that he soon will be taken."

GERMAN WHISTLES TO KEEP UP THE WIND

London, Sept. 14.—(via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—Reuter's has received the following statement, which is the substance of an opinion expressed quite recently by a German naval officer of high standing on the submarine campaign: He said that the calculations of the German high command were that Britain could not carry on the war after October of this year, owing to the enormous loss of vessels. Regarding the effect of the intervention of the United States he expressed the greatest contempt for America, saying that she had no "militarism," and adding that had England and Germany joined hands they could have dominated the world. He laughed at the idea of America doing anything of naval or military value in the war.

ENTENTE CONFERENCE IN PARIS POSTPONED

Washington, Sept. 14.—(Montreal Gazette)—The projected Entente military conference, which was scheduled to be held in Paris this month, has been postponed until October. Advances to this effect reached Washington yesterday through diplomatic channels. The cause assigned for the delay is that the approach of winter lessens the necessity for holding the conference at the present time, and that a postponement will furnish a larger opportunity for the war offices of the Entente powers to assemble data and consider plans for minor operations to be conducted during the winter, and for big drives to be undertaken next spring.

WALL STREET NOON REPORT

New York, Sept. 14.—(Wall street noon)—Technical conditions were favorable for a rise, the market gave indications of being speculatively sold out. The liquidating movement in investment shares and popular specialties having been checked, operations for the long account were conducted aggressively, and early gains were extended. The turn for the better in the Russian situation, which caused a rise in rubles to sixteen cents, compared with the recent low level of eleven and a half, and indications of outside buying were the primary stimulating influences. Bonds were firm.

"Onward With God!" Cries Kaiser While Hungry Austria Clamors For Peace

Will Russia or Austria be the first to collapse under the hammering of the enemy legions without and the discord of quarreling forces within? Some editors even think the reply to this question will decide the war. While Russia staggers under the loss of Riga, the demoralization of her armies, and the desperate confusion of her internal affairs, Austria recoils before Italy's inexorable offensive and her hungry people clamor for an early peace.

If Germany can force Russia into a separate peace, she opens for herself a vast reservoir of desperately needed supplies, doubles the number of men available for her Western battle-lines, and increases tremendously the difficulty of the task to which America is pledged. On the other hand, if Italy brings Austria to her knees, Germany is cut off from Turkey and Bulgaria, her Pan-Germanic dream is shattered and peace with victory is brought immeasurably nearer for the United States and her Allies.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for September 15th, shows these two uppermost phases of the war in all its lights. Other articles that will be sure to interest the public in this number of "The Digest" are:

"The Digest" Breaks Down Antiquated Barriers

It is only by learning to understand one another that men or nations can achieve a real peace. All wars, national, social, or personal, spring from lack of comprehension. The man or woman who strives to see things as they look to the other side—is, in his or her small way, helping to hasten the coming day when all resort to violence may be as obsolete as the dodo. The leading pioneer in this direction among current periodicals is THE LITERARY DIGEST, published not exclusively for the rich man or the poor man, not for the militarist or the pacifist nor for the idealist or the practical plodder, not for the alien or the native-born, but for all of these alike. It strives to present all view-points upon the great questions of our time without bias. It quotes from all periodicals freely and impartially. Read it and learn to understand your fellow man.

LOCAL FOOD CONTROL

The meeting held in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon to form a central committee to aid in the food-control movement showed clearly that the citizens are ready to respond to any appeal in relation to needed war measures.

ENGLISH EXAMPLES

Mr. John Caburn, associate editor of the Municipal Journal of England, contributes to the September number of the Canadian Municipal Journal an interesting article on British Municipalities in War Service.

Much has been done since Mr. Caburn wrote this article, along the lines of food distribution and price control, for the British food controller is not held in check by a government tied up latter, but he is out for fair play and a square deal to the consumer.

THE CHILDREN'S HOME

There is no condition in the Children's Home in Elliott Row which in the opinion of the medical health officer of the city should call for any severe criticism of the Home as such, or any attack upon the board of management.

make it necessary to keep the other children away from school. One other child in the Home he advises should be kept from school under treatment for a few days. The management of the home has been admittedly admirable, and it would be most unjust and unfortunate if ill-founded assertions conveyed to the public the impression that there was something radically wrong about an institution which ought to have the sympathy and helpful support of every citizen.

GERMANY'S CASE HOPELESS

A German journalist, who has left Germany, asserts that the coming winter will bring deterioration in the German military situation, in regard to munitions, the mental state of the people, and most of all in the quality of the reserves of men for the army.

A high Austrian official is quoted as saying that Austria cannot stand another winter of war as great numbers of her people would starve. However, the Austrians are still fighting with great vigor and their armies at least show no sign of immediate collapse.

The food-controller is a most worthy gentleman, no doubt, but the price of bread in St. John is likely to be increased in the immediate future. What's the matter with Hanna?

SPOKESMAN OF THE DYNASTS

Since at the very outset the premier of France has shown Michailis to be a liar and a Russian minister shows he is a falsifier, it becomes evident that Michailis is the sort of chancellor the Kaiser and the crown prince have been looking for all these years.

A rising young artist was showing a lady through his studio. "This picture," he said, stopping before one of his early efforts, "is one I painted to keep the wolf from the door."

"Indeed?" replied the woman. "Then why don't you hang it on the knob where the wolf can see it?"

There is a certain Brooklyn man who takes a great interest in his household. So the other day, just before he left his office, he telephoned to his wife to ask whether she wanted him to bring anything home.

"Yes," said the wife. "I wish you would stop and get some tea. And you might as well, while you're about it, get a set of china, and a new hat."

A story is going the rounds concerning an inquiry in London into the best method of checking extravagance in restaurants and hotels, says Pearson's Weekly.

Among the witnesses before the committee was a certain stolid-looking waiter. The particular article of food under discussion at the moment happened to be margarine, and one of the members asked incidentally:

"How do you call it in the restaurant business—'margarine' or 'marjolene'?"

"Neither, sir," blandly replied the waiter; "we call it butter!"

A policeman, with more than usual avoirdupois and expanse of shoe leather, had just passed a little terrace, with a bit of garden in front, when a small boy ran after him.

"Hallo, kiddie," said the boy of the law, genially, "what can I do for you?"

"Mother sent me out," answered the youngster, "to ask you if you would mind walking up and down our path for a minute or two. It's just been gravelled, and we ain't got a roller."—Good Jests.

SOME COAL OPERATIVES ARE MAKING PROTEST

Washington, Sept. 13.—Representatives of the coal operators of Tennessee and Kentucky have placed before the Fuel Administration and Federal Trade Commission a statement to the effect that it might be impossible to continue the operation of many of the mines in the sections unless an increase over the prices for bituminous coal by President Wilson was granted.

The president's prices for these sections ranged from $1.80 to $2.40 at the mouth of the plate and the operators held that from $8 to $8.50 must be paid to keep them in the business.

From other sections, and all will be given consideration.

Inquest into Williams' Death Was Resumed

Evidence Given Last Evening Was Largely Hearsay—Will Resume Inquiry Next Thursday

Only two new witnesses testified last night when the hearing before Dr. F. L. Kenney, coroner, into the death of Harry L. Williams, was resumed. Both these gave hearsay testimony to the effect that Miss Lillian Lingley was in Mr. Williams' store between 10 and 11 o'clock on the night of the murder.

It is reported that the police have information which leads in an entirely different direction than that which was withheld for the time being. To be resumed next week.

The coroner adjourned court until Thursday next when, he hopes, the hearing will be completed.

Miss Florence K. Morrissy, 174 Metcalf street, a clerk in R. G. & F. W. Dykeman's store, took the stand and said that since the murder she had been talking about the affair. Asked if any person told her of being in Williams' store on the night of the murder, she replied in the negative.

Asked if Miss Lingley had also told him this herself, he said that a day or two later he met her in Charlotte street and asked her about it. She denied that she was in the store that night, but said she was in there between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning of that day.

Nothing Further. William J. McGuire, a clerk in T. J. Durick's drug store, was recalled, but he could add nothing to his former evidence. Besides Hawkhurst he saw no one go into the store or come out after 11 o'clock.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Haley-Kenny. Chatham, Sept. 13—A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the cathedral, when Miss Tina Kenny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kenny, became the bride of Frank Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Haley. Nuptial mass was performed by Rev. Mgr. O'Keefe. The bride looked very charming in a tailored suit of blue and wore an old rose hat. Miss Irene Kenny, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and was prettily gowned in blue serge with pink hat. E. Wallace Haley supported the groom. Immediately after the ceremony the happy young pair motored to Newcastle and left on the Ocean Limited for Halifax and other Nova Scotia points. On their return they will reside in Chatham.

The exceptionally large number of costly presents testified to the popularity of the pair, who received the best wishes of a host of friends in their new life.

Evans-Wilson. Lorneville, Sept. 13—At the home of the bride's parents this afternoon Miss Margaret G. Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson, was united in marriage to Walter L. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Evans. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Alice F. Wilson, and the groom was supported by his brother, Harvey Evans. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Langlois in the presence of a large company of guests and friends. The bride received many useful and valuable presents. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will make their home in Lorneville.

Boutillier-Gidney. A pretty but quiet wedding was celebrated at Winanda Lodge, Smith's Cove, at 11 o'clock, Sept. 13, 1917, when Frances Curly Gidney, daughter of A. M. Gidney, collector of customs, Digby, was united in marriage to Alfred Thomas Boutillier, of the firm of Boutillier & Co., Centreville, Digby county. Only the immediate families and friends of the contracting parties were present. The bride wore a traveling suit of dark blue silk with hat to match. After the ceremony a luncheon the wedding party motored to Clementsport and took the train there for Halifax. Mr. and Mrs. Boutillier will be at home to their friends at their residence, Centreville, on September 14.

Young-Cadwalader. In the Methodist church, Fredericton, on Wednesday evening, Miss Miriam Cadwalader, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Edward Cadwalader, was united in marriage to John A. Young, of Perth, Scotland, Inspector of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Toronto. For some time the groom was the manager of the bank in Fredericton. The bride is a graduate of the U. N. B., and for some years has been a valued member of the teaching staff of the Fredericton schools. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George M. Young. Mr. and Mrs. Young left for St. John on a honeymoon. They will take up their residence in Toronto.

Knapp-Beale. On Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beale, Sackville, their eldest daughter, Miss Alice Gertrude, was united in marriage to Frank Knapp, son of Mrs. C. W. Knapp, of Sackville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Knapp left for Halifax and other points in Nova Scotia and they will spend the week touring the province. They will reside in Sackville.

RECENT DEATHS

Miss Lottie Bleakney. Petticoat, Sept. 13—After a brief illness Miss Lottie Bleakney, aged nineteen years, passed peacefully away at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bleakney, on Sunday, Sept. 9. Beside her parents she is survived by one brother, Guy, at home, and three sisters—Miss Bessie and Alva, of Sussex, and Mrs. Harry V. Copp, St. John; also a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. S. Grieg, assisted by Rev. M. Addison and Rev. A. Perry, Sussex, at 10 o'clock in the afternoon. The beautiful floral offerings testified to the love and esteem of many friends. The hearse was preceded by the girls of the advanced department of the school dressed in white.

Alex. MacGregor. Halifax, Sept. 13—Alex. MacGregor, who had a sudden attack of illness at Pier 3 today and was removed, unconscious to the hospital, died late this afternoon. Mr. MacGregor, who leaves very many friends in Halifax and other parts of Canada, was about 55 years of age and a native of Pictou, Scotland. For some years he was commodore of the D. A. B. steamship fleet in service between Boston and Yarmouth, and after retiring therefrom, became a representative of Lloyd's. It was in the course of his duties as such that he was suddenly and unexpectedly stricken ill. For some time he has resided in Halifax. Mr. MacGregor was unmarried.

Boys' Work Plans

At the fall meeting of the New Brunswick Provisional Advisory committee for co-operation in boys' work held yesterday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A., Rev. P. R. Hayward was elected new president to fill the vacancy caused by the departure of Rev. Gilbert Earle for work in the West Indies. A committee consisting of Revs. P. R. Hayward, R. T. McKim and E. A. Westmorland, and Messrs. Robert Reid and A. M. Gregg was appointed in connection with the running of the annual boys' work conference to be held in Fredericton next month. Plans were made for the Boys' Parliament to be held in Ottawa the last week of December. This is something new in boys' work and a boy will be elected from each of the twenty-one conferences being held all over Canada.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL. A meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was held in the Oddfellows hall last evening and was largely attended. Edward McGinnis, the president, was in the chair. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Resolved that we, the St. John Trades and Labor Council, in session this 13th day of September, have discussed and unanimously adopted the following resolution: 'We do not approve and condemn the action and utterance of the commissioner of public safety with regard to the meeting in the Longshoremen's hall, which was addressed by J. C. Waters, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, and other local labor men,' and be it further resolved that this resolution be entered in the minutes of our meeting and a copy sent to the public press."

The question of the appointment of a moving picture censor, to succeed the late M. J. Nugent, was also discussed and Fred Hyatt, ex-secretary of the council, was unanimously recommended for the position. J. L. Sargus and John M. Kemp were unanimously elected delegates at the Trades and Labor Congress which will convene in Ottawa beginning Monday, September 17. Mr. Kemp will be accompanied by Miss Valerie Kemp. E. E. SOUKHOMLINOFF THE ARCH TRAITOR?

Russian General Whose Trial Has Been Begun

FORMER WAR MINISTER

Protests Innocence of Self and Wife; Latter Had Disappeared; Said to Be Co-between; Man of Marked Ability

Vladimir A. Soukhomlinoff, no longer a general, for he was publicly degraded, is now on trial for high treason in Russia. The former minister of war protests his innocence, but enough evidence has already appeared to draw him to the eyes of loyal Russians. He protests also that he believes in the innocence of his wife, who has been publicly accused of being his co-between in his dealings with Germany. She disappeared immediately upon his arrest, and may be now in Germany or Austria, where she will be treated with all the consideration due a lady of high rank and a first-class spy. Soukhomlinoff is a member of an old Russian family of nobility. It is not suggested that there is German blood in his veins. The theory advanced for his alleged treason is that he was bought. Yet even this theory does not wholly satisfy. A man in his position could have made millions in "honest" graft. A writer in the Boston Transcript, James Walter Smith, suggests it would be interesting now to learn who financed the publication of this work, for at the very time that Soukhomlinoff was being lauded as the savior of his land he may have been deep in the pocket of the Russian armistice, and perhaps was holding up supplies from the armies of the Grand Duke Nicholas and Brusiloff. Was Mr. Knap a spy for a foreign power, or did he write his book for the purpose of creating a sort of camouflage to conceal the operations of Soukhomlinoff?

A Busy Traitor. There is some evidence that the latter end was in view for throughout the book the former minister is spoken of as a man who had to fight countless enemies. He is represented as a bluff soldier, who was impatient with the delays of the chancelleries, intolerant of mere routine, and one who set the interest of the army above everything else. "He rises at seven o'clock," says Mr. Knap, "and at once goes into his study to look over correspondence. At nine o'clock he dresses, drinks a glass of milk, and if there is no urgent work, goes out for a half-hour's walk. From ten to one and from two to three he is busy with reports, audiences, sittings in the Imperial Duma, in the Imperial Council, the cabinet and with work in his own study. His free time, from three to 7:30, Vladimir Alexandrovitch consecrates to the perusal of the written reports sent to him from various departments, the details of which he examines minutely and carefully. At eight o'clock he dines, and from half-past eight to nine or ten he looks through the reports which he daily submits to His Imperial Majesty."

Had the Czar's Ear. If this account is accurate it must have been at some unearthly hour of the night that he got in his ticks for the Kaiser. At any rate, his tremendous activities in the daytime might well tend to convince the Kaiser that he was an indefatigable worker. The truth seems to be that Soukhomlinoff got very close to the Czar, and that he kept others from getting near. Any protest about the shortage of ammunition could not reach the Czar without going through the War Office channel. The Grand Duke Nicholas, by virtue of his rank and relationship to Nicholas Romanoff, might get the imperial ear, and it may be that he did so with the unfortunate result of being removed from supreme command in the army. It would be easy for Soukhomlinoff to blame the results of his own treachery upon the supposed incompetence of generals in the field. If he was in the employ of Germany the Kaiser had certainly the most valuable man in Russia for his purpose.

HE MADE A BAD BULL Red is No Color For a Blinder; so This Farmer Learned

Montgomery, N.Y., Sept. 14.—George Cole, a well known Orange county farmer, did not believe red to be a particularly obnoxious color to a bull.

At 9:05 a.m. a new bull Mr. Cole had purchased was delivered to his farm.

At 9:15 a.m. he decided to slip a rope through a ring in the bull's nose, and to facilitate the operation decided to tie a red cloth over the bull's eyes.

At 9:15 a.m. farm hands in a neighboring field picked Mr. Cole up. Four ribs and his nose were broken.

Special value for one week, $3.98 to $7.50. Regular $5.50 to $10.00.

Boys' Raincoats, $2.98.

MILITARY AMBULANCE AND THE TRAFFIC LAW

Violations in West End Reported—Sergeant Was Under Hurry

As a result of what Policeman Goddard termed reckless speeding along Union street, west end, about eight o'clock last Tuesday in the new military ambulance, Sergeant Guy Burrell was in the police court this morning before Magistrate Ritchie on a charge of exceeding the speed limit and going on the wrong side of the road, disregarding the policeman's warning.

Burrell explained that he was on an emergency call and Captain Thomas had told him to drive as fast as possible. He said that he had thought the military ambulance had the right of way over any other vehicle.

His Honor said that he might be allowed the right of way, but still not allowed to break the law.

Sergeant Burrell said that he was under military orders to get from the St. James street hospital to the 62nd headquarters, west side, as quickly as possible. Captain Thomas, who gave the order, testified as to sending the car over. He told Sergeant Burrell to hurry as quickly as possible the prisoner for speeding, but struck a fine for going on the wrong side of the road and for not stopping when told by the policeman.

The fines were, however, allowed to stand, on consideration of the fact that there was great emergency and that Sergeant Burrell was under military orders.

BREAD MAY BE HIGHER HERE

That is Reportek Outlook, as Prominent Local Baker Sees it

Instead of expecting a reduction in the price of bread as a result of the activities of the Dominion food controller, the people of St. John may face the prospect of higher prices next month. This was the statement made this morning by one of the principal bakers of the city.

At present, the bakers are selling the standard two-pound loaf of plain bread and the one-and-a-half-pound loaf of "fancy" bread for eleven cents, and the retailers are charging twelve and thirteen cents. In order to sell the bread at this price, the baker says, they must be able to buy their flour at not more than $11 a barrel. For a considerable period the market price of flour, this man said, has been higher than this and they have been selling the bread at less than cost, if the cost were figured on the current market price of flour. He says they have been able to do this only because of the fact that all the local bakers had contracted in advance for large quantities of flour while prices were lower.

Most of the bakers, he says, now find their stocks running low and they are facing the prospect of having to pay higher prices for their future supplies. The best prospect that the food controller's efforts hold out is for a price of from $11.50 to $12 a barrel, in car-load lots. If the bakers pay that price, they say, they must either raise the price of the loaf or lose money.

It has been pointed out that the cost of wrapping the bread in waxed paper coats the baker with the equivalent of seven cents for each barrel of flour used and that the present price might be maintained by eliminating this expense. The sanitary package is in such high favor with the public, however, that the bakers would hesitate to make this change, believing that the consumer considers the wrapping worth paying for.

A recent announcement by H. C. Hoover, food administrator for the United States, forms the basis of an interesting comparison. Mr. Hoover says of sixteen ounces selling at six cents, a reduction of twenty per cent. from the present prices in the United States. If this standardized loaf of which he speaks corresponds in quality to the bread sold in two-pound loaves in St. John, the present price in St. John is declared about as low as the price which Mr. Hoover suggests as an ideal.

The St. John prices compare even more favorably with those charged in Montreal, where ten cents is charged, retail, for a one-pound loaf of fancy bread or a one-and-a-half-pound loaf of plain bread.

But, when comparisons of bread prices are made, one fact which stands out so prominently is that it cannot be overlooked is the price for which bread is sold in Great Britain, where the consumer pays eighteen cents for a four-pound loaf. The United States flour is shipped across the ocean, at high war-time freight rates, converted into flour made less than half sold to the consumer for which it sells on this side of the water, a situation which would appear to be worthy of the attention of the food controller.

WILL OF ENGINEER OF TORPEDGED SHIP PROBATED HERE

Chief of S. S. Moresby Left Some $4,000 to His Sister, Mrs. Allan of Woodstock

The first seaman's will admitted to probate as such in St. John in many years, without the usually required proof of witnesses, is that of Albert L. Prince, chief engineer of the S. S. Moresby. This will has been admitted to probate by Judge H. O. McInerney, on the application of F. B. Carvell, K.C., M.P., and W. A. Ewing, K.C., acting for Mrs. Flora Prince, widow of Robert G. Allan of Woodstock, N.B. Mrs. Allan is a sister of the late Mr. Prince.

The S. S. Moresby was on a voyage from Hong Kong to Dunkirk and was torpedoed about three days out of Port Sald. The will was written on board, on November 14. Advice from the Board of Trade, London, gave information that Mr. Prince had not survived, which handwriting was duly proved by witnesses who knew Mr. Prince's writing well. His entire estate amounts to about $4,000 and is left to his sister, Mrs. Allan, to whom administration with the will annexed was granted.

JOY RIDE CASE IS GONE INTO AGAIN

The case of four joy-riders on the Loch Lomond road on Wednesday was taken up in the police court today. Of the four, McLeod was let off on account of information he gave against William Bishop, who was charged with supplying liquor to them. Ainsworth and Haynes gave testimony this morning which made their case look comparatively clear, with the exception of a charge of drinking liquor in public, to which all four pleaded guilty. Ainsworth admitted giving McLeod $6 for two bottles of whisky, which McLeod bought for him. Neither Higgins nor Ainsworth had any control of the car, which was run together by Colman. Mrs. MacDonald testified that Ainsworth and Haynes were both respectable workmen. They were munition makers.

His Honor said that there were a great many complaints about the Loch Lomond road and he would give the evidence a very careful study and announce his decision later. The case was postponed until Monday evening at 5.30.

The case of a young girl accused of stealing money and various articles from Mrs. F. H. Neve, Rodney street, west was postponed until Monday. J. A. Barry is appearing for the defense.

ADVERTISING; A FEW FACTS AND AN OFFER

(The Daily Telegraph.) National advertising, which reaches the newspapers principally through the principal advertising agencies, goes largely to those newspapers the extent of whose circulation is known to the large advertisers and advertising agencies.

During the five days ending with September 8, (and omitting the day when no papers were published) the national advertising published by the Standard, The Telegraph and The Times, was as follows:

By measuring in some cut rate local advertising the Standard contrives to produce figures which give it a larger measurement of advertising space on two days of this week than The Telegraph alone had. As a matter of fact, by the same system of measurement, and by publishing from day to day still more cut rate advertising for window-dressing purposes, it would be a simple matter to demonstrate on paper at least that the Standard carries twice as much advertising as The Telegraph, but it would not be legitimate full rate advertising, and the demonstration would be merely an exercise in dishonesty.

It is to be remembered, too, that The Telegraph's rate for national advertising is fifty per cent. higher than that of the Standard. And although The Telegraph receives this higher rate, its national advertising, as has been said, exceeded that of the Standard during the five publication days of last week by no less than 488 inches, while The Times, whose national rate is now twenty-five percent higher than the Standard, carried 409 more inches of national advertising than the Standard did.

Taking advertising of every class, the total carried by The Telegraph and The Times during the five days in question was 7,676 inches, as compared with 4,292 inches carried by the Standard, a pleasing excess of 4,384 inches. This surplus, it will be noted, is in itself considerably in excess of all of the advertising, cut rate and otherwise, published by the Standard during those five days.

Of course, the point chiefly to be considered by advertisers is what they are receiving for their money. There is only one way in which they may know accurately what they are paying for, and that is to ascertain through a recognized authority like the Audit Bureau of Circulations—the merits of which the Standard freely admits—what is the circulation—extent, character and distribution—of any newspaper they patronize.

Within a few days there is due in St. John a traveling auditor of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. He is coming here to make the annual audit of The Telegraph and The Evening Times circulations. He will examine all vouchers, cheques, bank accounts, invoices, freight bills, receipts, correspondence, and such other records as are necessary in determining how much news print paper these newspapers purchased during the last twelve months and how they disposed of it, thus tracing by a most exhaustive system of examination the amount of paper which was used in net paid circulation, number of paid subscriptions, the street sales and deliveries. He will determine thus accurately the real circulation of these newspapers, its distribution, its character, and every important fact in connection with it. His report, when released, will be sent to every advertiser and advertising agency which is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. A simple statement of this case should make it clear to enterprising and unprejudiced advertisers that the Audit Bureau of Circulations' examination and audit, if applied to the Standard, Limited, would determine with accuracy the truth or untruth of its claims and would show, beyond dispute, what it really is worth as an advertising medium. In order to facilitate this meritorious experiment, and to clear the air which the Standard has sought to befog by false and unwise assertions, The Telegraph and The Evening Times will offer, and do hereby offer, to pay the initial cost of a complete audit of the Standard's circulation by the Audit Board of Circulations, the same to be a complete, free and untrammeled audit, on the understanding that the Standard shall publish the A. B. C. report thus made, upon its completion, in full.

What says the Standard, Limited? The figures showing the actual number of inches of national advertising published last week by The Telegraph, Evening Times, and the Standard, show how dishonest and unwise has been the Standard's effort to deceive its advertising patrons with respect to matters which are vital.

Must Complete Term of Service

Orders at local military headquarters have been received as follows from the adjutant-general at Ottawa: "We beg to inform you through direction that arrangements have been made for the wardens of penitentiaries and the keepers of prisons, reformatories and other institutions in the district in which the institution is located prior to the release of any soldier. On receipt of this notification the general or the officers commanding the district should take necessary steps to have the men taken over by the military authorities in order that he might complete his term of service (provided he has not in the meantime been discharged) or be prosecuted as a deserter as the case may be."

This is an order that all military authorities will receive with genuine satisfaction. It was issued yesterday by a well qualified military officer that such an order as the foregoing should have been in force soon after the war began and deserters were sent to jail. Previously a deserter would be tried in the civil court while he was still a soldier. Found guilty, he was sent to prison for a term. His term expiring, he would leave the prison and revert to private life, instead of reporting to the military authorities, as he was still under their service. Now, according to the orders, all wardens and heads of prisons and jails will be forced to notify the proper military authorities previous to discharging the prisoners if he is in jail for desertion. This will prevent him slipping his duty and reverting to private life without first finishing his service from a military standpoint.

The following order was also received: "We have the honor by direction to state that furlough may be granted to all soldiers of the Jewish High Feast at New Years and the Day of Atonement commencing at 4 o'clock p. m. on the 19th inst. until the forenoon of the 19th inst. and also from noon of the 20th inst. to the forenoon of the 21st inst. Only bona fide cases are to be considered."

Warned This Captain That the Kidneys Were Responsible for His Pains and Aches—Freed of Pain and Suffering by a Well-known Medicine. Hereford, Que., Sept. 14.—Captain Peabody is well known all through this section for his recovery from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has aroused great interest in this great medicine.

The Captain had been suffering for a long time, and could never get any treatment to afford lasting relief until he began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Captain A. Peabody, Hereford, Que., writes: "For years I suffered from indigestion, rheumatism and neuralgia. Lightninglike pains would shoot all through my body, and I also had severe pains over my left kidney and through the hips. I doctored for years and tried all kinds of remedies, but the only result was money spent without relief. At last I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac of his Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. One box made such a change that I sent for five more. Before I had finished them the pains in my kidneys and hips had disappeared, and I was clear of those aches, shooting pangs through the body. I still take these Pills occasionally to keep my bowels regular, and would not be without them, as I have them to thank for my cure."

AMENDMENTS TO STUMPAGE RATES

Increases Announced in The Royal Gazette Revenue To Be Greater Spruce Stumpage Will Be $2.50 Per Thousand Instead of $1.50, and Other Increases Will Be Proportionate

Fredricton, Sept. 13.—An extra of the Royal Gazette today contains the amended timber regulations and stumpage rates. The government has increased the stumpage rate one dollar per thousand, making spruce stumpage two dollars and a half per thousand instead of a dollar and a half.

Increases on other kinds of lumber are proportionate. After hearing these representations the government does not wish to make any radical change in the stumpage rates with conditions as they exist today, and so the decision was reached to make the increase one dollar. The rate upon the Blue Bell tract is, however, $3.00 per thousand for spruce as against $1.50 to which the rate was reduced by order-in-council by the old government just before the election.

The stumpage rate in New Brunswick was only seventy-five cents per thousand, nearly thirty years ago. Hon. Mr. Blair increased it to $1.00 per thousand, and there was a further increase later to $1.25 per thousand. In 1918 the rate was made $1.50, but since then the price of lumber has increased enormously. Carefully Considered. Premier Foster and his government realize that New Brunswick must have more revenue, and they have given the subject consideration from every viewpoint. The increase in stumpage will meet the needs of the province and the disposition to meet the operators fairly must be commended.

The cut in 1917-18 may not be so large under all the circumstances as in previous years, but what the province will lose in revenue it will gain in standing and growing timber available to yield stumpage in the future. Operators say the prospects at present are bright, but they will be small, but if it equals that of former years the revenues should increase more than $300,000.

New rates of stumpage are announced in the following section: The stumpage payable on all logs, other than those cut in upon crown lands under license, shall be as follows: For spruce, pine and hickmatack saw logs per thousand superficial feet, $2.00; hardwood timber up to an average of fourteen inches square, per ton, $1.10; other lumber above fourteen inches square per inch per ton 0.10; hardwood logs per thousand superficial feet, $1.35; pine timber up to fourteen inches square per ton 0.50; hickmatack timber per ton, $1.00; spruce timber per ton, $1.00; cedar logs, including bark, $2.00; railway ties eight feet length each 0.12; hemlock logs per thousand superficial feet, $2.00; white birch logs per thousand superficial feet, $2.00; poplar logs per thousand superficial feet, $2.00; and for all other descriptions of lumber not specified above, fifteen per cent of the market value thereof at the mill, place of shipment or place of consumption in the province. Permits issued by the authority of the minister of lands and mines to enable loggers to cut under license on crown lands or tickets will enable the same rate of stumpage as stated above, with the addition of two-and-a-half cents per thousand, being the cost of supervision. The distinction made before in regard to lumber cut on the St. John and its tributaries and streams draining into the Bay of Fundy and lumber cut elsewhere on the crown lands of the province has been removed. The Blue Bell Tract. The amended regulation regarding stumpage on the Blue Bell Tract in the county of Victoria are as follows: For spruce, pine or hickmatack saw logs per thousand superficial feet, $3.00; hardwood timber up to an average of fourteen inches square per ton $2.00; hardwood logs per thousand superficial feet $2.00; pine timber up to fourteen inches square per inch per ton 0.50; hickmatack timber per ton, $1.00; spruce timber per ton, $1.00; cedar logs, including bark, $2.50; white birch for spool wood per cord, $1.25; white birch logs for spool wood per thousand superficial feet, $2.00; fir logs per thousand superficial feet, $2.50; poplar logs per thousand superficial feet, $2.50; and all other descriptions of lumber not specified above, fifteen per cent of the market value thereof at the mill, place of shipment or place of consumption in the province.

PLAN TO ENLIST WOMEN IN FOOD CONSERVATION

Washington, Sept. 14.—Plans for enlisting the women and the homes of the nation in the cause of food conservation are being mapped out here. The food administration is conducting with organizers from a score of states to discuss a nation-wide campaign, soon to be launched. This campaign aims to reach every household and obtain its co-operation. Already the food administration has received more than one million signed pledges from the heads of families promising to conserve necessary food supplies.

Swedish Diplomat In Mexico Also a Good Friend To Germany

Relations Revealed in Letter From German Minister to Imperial Chancellor Suggesting Reward For Neutral's Services—Published by Washington

Washington, Sept. 13.—Another chapter to the story of German intrigue in neutral countries and among neutral diplomats was revealed tonight by Secretary of State Lansing in the form of a letter to the imperial chancellor from the notorious Von Eckhardt, the German minister at Mexico City to whom the intercepted Zimmerman note was addressed. It discloses that Folke Cronholm, then Swedish charge in Mexico, was depended on by the German diplomat to furnish information from the "hostile camp" and to transmit communications to Berlin, and that Von Eckhardt wanted him rewarded by a secret award from the Kaiser of the "Order of the Crown of the second class."

This letter was written on March 8, 1916, and apparently has been in the possession of the American government for a long time. It was made public without comment, shedding light upon the methods of another Swedish diplomatic representative in this hemisphere at a time when the United States and her Allies are awaiting with interest Sweden's explanation to Argentina of the conduct of her minister at Buenos Aires, who transmitted the German "snail" without leaving a trace of despatches.

Baron Akerhielm, Swedish charge here, said tonight in response to a query, that Cronholm was dismissed from the diplomatic service last January. He would not discuss the cause, but there was no intimation that it was in any way connected with Cronholm's relations with the Germans. Baron Akerhielm called at the state department during the day to inform Secretary of State Lansing that he had received from his government the statement already given to the public at Stockholm, explaining that Sweden had forwarded despatches from the German minister at Buenos Aires to Berlin in German code without knowledge of their contents. He did not have a copy of the statement. It is assumed that the Stockholm foreign office will not address any communication to the American government on the subject.

"I should be particularly grateful if I could be furnished with telegraphic news of the bestowal of the decoration which I strongly recommend in view of the circumstances detailed above," "VON ECKHARDT." Will Mexico Act? No representations either to Sweden or to Mexico, it is understood, will be made by the United States in connection with the conduct of the Swedish representative in Mexico, but it is regarded as not improbable that the Mexican government may make it the occasion for action that would show its earnestness in the matter of neutrality. A Notorious Crook. Von Eckhardt's part in the latest chapter has been no surprise. This government has known of his activities long before the discovery of the evidence given by the Zimmerman note, and since then his activities in propaganda have been watched carefully. That he was heading a big organization that had for its object not only propaganda but espionage, has been suspected, and those suspicions have been conveyed to the Mexican foreign office in the hope that it might take steps that would check any violation of neutrality.

London, Sept. 13.—The British official communication issued tonight says: Last night after hours of heavy bombardment, the enemy raided our positions east of Dullecourt. He succeeded in effecting an entry in our trenches, but was driven out after sharp fighting leaving a number of dead and prisoners in our hands. We carried out a successful raid during the night in the neighborhood of Oppy. "Early this morning the enemy opened a heavy bombardment on a front of more than a mile north and northeast of anghermark and attacked in considerable strength. After fierce fighting the attack was repulsed with severe enemy losses. "Despite bad visibility, some artillery work was carried out by our airplanes yesterday. Photographs were taken and a bombing of enemy airbases, ammunition dumps and railway stations continued day and night. Three enemy machines were driven down out of control. Two of our machines are missing.

The reason women write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved. This is a praiseworthy thing to do and such women should be highly commended.

J. H. FRINK HEADS COMMITTEE FOR FOOD CONTROL

Local Organization Completed Yesterday—Plans for Conservation Work Discussed

The local food control committee got away to a good start at its organization meeting yesterday afternoon. Dr. H. Frink, a former mayor, was elected chairman; F. B. Ellis, vice-chairman, and R. E. Armstrong, secretary. Mayor Hayes opened the meeting and called upon R. E. Armstrong, a member of the advisory board, who explained that the object of the meeting was to form a general committee to work along the lines suggested by the food control department for a food control campaign. He outlined the good work that had been done by the Women's Institute and the Housewives' League. He thought that the new Brunswick National Service League had an organization which might help in the work.

L. P. D. Tilley, M. P. P., said that so far as the National Service Board was concerned, he did not believe in any committee that would override that organization. Mr. Armstrong said that the food controller was anxious to take advantage of existing organizations, but that a strong committee of business men and ladies could go for advice, should be appointed. This committee might secure quarters in the high school and could do work in addition to that now being performed by the ladies. Mrs. Knubing was in favor of a central committee to coordinate the work of the various organizations in the city to different parts of the work.

Mr. Armstrong wanted to know what the work and jurisdiction of the committee would be. In reply, Fessler Foster said that the committee in addition to distributing food control educational literature, would look after advertising and appoint an advertising committee, and anything that would come up would be passed along by the central committee to other different organizations who would handle it.

Mr. Tilley suggested a committee of five who might report any complaint about the food to the food controller at Ottawa, and then the food controller could send a man to investigate conditions. Mr. Armstrong pointed out that Mr. Tilley had a wrong idea of the work. The first duty of the food controller, he said, was not to regulate the prices but to conserve the food supply so that the men overseas might be helped. The central committee had been provided for an increased production committee, which was to look after price control. The whole province was to be organized and it was the purpose of the committee to co-operate with the food controller in whatever plans he might outline. The committee, he continued, would not be expected to enforce the regulations regarding the food control. That authority has not yet been delegated to any person, but any regulations made so far could be enforced by the police.

At this stage of the meeting, Mr. Ellis, the newly elected vice-chairman, took the chair, in the absence of Dr. Frink, who was in addition to the officers, an executive composed of the heads of the various patriotic associations was appointed. The distribution of posters, cards and other literature was left in the hands of the Housewives' League. Mr. Tilley said that he had some time ago suggested the name of Dr. Keirstead as a suitable man to look after food control affairs in the province, and Mr. Armstrong intimated that the services of Dr. Keirstead might yet be used. Mr. Armstrong thanked those present for their attendance and said that the matter of food control was largely in the hands of the women, as they had the most to do with food.

THREATENED THE GERMAN MINISTER

Buenos Aires, Sept. 13.—Count Von Luxburg, the German minister, whose passports were sent to the German legation yesterday by the Argentine government, because his objectionable messages to Berlin through the Swedish foreign office, has rendered him persona non grata, dodged threatening crowds which were awaiting him on his arrival at Buenos Aires from the interior today. Count Von Luxburg was persuaded by the police to leave the train at San Martin, twelve miles outside, when news of the crowds that had gathered at the Buenos Aires railway terminal reached them. The chief of police was on hand with his automobile at San Martin, together with a large guard of secret service men and the count was conveyed to his home in the chief's car.

"And these are my friends, the Argentines," he exclaimed to employees of the legation who met him. "What has happened?" he asked. "I know absolutely nothing. What has transpired?" The count, however, although shown the Washington messages of last Sunday exposing his suggestion that Argentine ships be sunk "without leaving a trace" and his aspersion upon the acting

Killed By His Auto

The Sussex Record takes the following from a Springfield (Mass.) paper: Irving W. Taylor, of 420 Eastern avenue, Springfield (Mass.), was pinned beneath his automobile and crushed to death and Thomas Bancroft, of Woodbine avenue, was severely bruised when the steering gear went wrong not far east of Leicester about 3.30 p. m. Sept. 2, although the road on which the machine was traveling west is smooth and straight at this point, the disabled steering apparatus robbed Taylor of all control of the car and it shot across the road to the car tracks, hit a pole and turned turtle. Bancroft was thrown clear of the car, but Taylor was unable to get free and the machine had to be lifted from his body. His skull was fractured and he received other injuries which caused his death.

Bancroft made his way to the home of Deputy Sheriff George R. Rainor, of Spencer, and told of the accident. The body of Taylor was taken to Worcester Hospital, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Frederick H. Baker. The accident occurred about half way between Spencer and Leicester. Taylor and Bancroft had gone with two friends earlier in the day to Worcester, where the two friends are to work for a Worcester ice company.

Taylor and Bancroft were on the return trip. The latter received treatment at the hospital. Taylor was returned to the city. Taylor was 38 years old, married, and had been a resident of this city for about four years. He was born in New Brunswick, Canada. Besides his wife, who was Miss Kilpatrick, of Penobscot (N. B.), he leaves three small boys, and two sisters, Mrs. B. W. Boiesley, of New Haven (Conn.), and Mrs. Alston Godard, of Penobscot (N. B.). He was employed by the Springfield Ice Company as a driver. Arrangements will be made to bring his body to his home in Springfield for burial.

SAYS AMERICANS WILL GO RIGHT THROUGH THE GERMAN LINE IN WEST

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 14.—Seven United States army officers, promoted to be majors or lieutenant-colonels, returned this week on a French steamship from the American training camp in France to take commands in the national army and teach the new men the modern methods of warfare. "We will go right through that German line," said a lieutenant-colonel in answer to a question as to the condition of the troops in the American expeditionary force. The morale of the American troops was "wonderful," the officer declared, and every man, from the youngest recruit up to the veteran who had seen service in the Philippines and Mexico, was anxious for the day to arrive when they could take their places on the front. "It will be no child's play, though," he continued. "I was for a time with a French regiment through which more than 30,000 men have passed since the war began. It is simply a business of the army working in unity, and a mistake means disaster. We will break that German line, however, just as soon as we get a sufficient number of men, and once we are started we will go right through it."

The lieutenant-colonel, who declined to allow his name to be used, said that he had been under actual fire on the French and British front for more than six weeks, and that he had even ventured out into "No Man's Land" under conditions of darkness in company with French officers.

Proclamation to be Issued if Plans Can be Completed in Time—Work of Tribunals

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The proclamation calling on the men of the first class under the military service act will be issued, according to present plans, about October 1, although the date may be postponed a little if it is found that the preliminary arrangements cannot be completed in time. The local exemption tribunals are all to be appointed by September 25. The selection board meets in Ottawa on the 25th to appoint the second member of each tribunal, the first member having already been named by the local judges. The twenty-four Liberal and Conservative members of the selection board are now receiving nominations for appointment in each constituency, and when the board meets it will probably be a comparatively simple matter to agree on a list equally divided between Liberals and Conservatives. In cases where no agreement is reached without delay the minister of justice, acting within his prerogative of justice, acting within his appoint the men.

It is understood that the pay of members of the local exemption tribunals will be $5 per day. All applications for exemption must be in writing and the ground for exemption must be likewise submitted in writing. This will simplify proceedings if further appeals from the decisions of the local tribunals are taken, since all the evidence will be in documentary form. It is expected that the exemption tribunals will be at work about the middle of next month. In most districts it is hoped that they will have concluded their work by the end of October.

After that will come the actual calling of the unexempted men to the colors. And then will come also the government's real difficulties in enforcing the act. No one has yet been able to forecast with authority just what action the government will take to secure obedience to the final call in districts where "passive resistance" is resorted to and large bodies of men have to be handled for disobedience to the law.

Shortage Discovers. Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 13.—A shortage, stated to be about $5,000, was discovered in the accounts of the city license department this week by the outside auditors, who are at present making an audit and survey of the city's books. The matter was reported to the mayor who had W. J. B. Hyatt, chief clerk of the department, suspended until an investigation is made.

THE CENTENARY OF AMERICAN POETRY

"American poetry may be said to have begun in 1817 with the September number of the North American Review, which contained Thantopis and the inscription for the Entrance of a Wood." If that is so, American poetry has rounded out its first century, writes contributor to the New York Sun. The bold statement, occurring in a biographical sketch of William Cullen Bryant, slashes the Gordian knot of chronology to loose a mighty fact: the lines written by a dreamy youth of seventeen were the first printed in America which breathed Miltonian grandeur, having vastness of thought as well as beauty of expression. Doctor Bryant named his young son after a medical man of eminence, William Cullen. The prodigious size of the boy's head gave the father great concern. To reduce it he had two of his medical students take the lad and immerse him each morning in a spring. The doctor seems to have been satisfied with the result. It is difficult to see how the process could have shrunk the youthful skull. But maybe the clear cold water imparted some of its crystalline quality to the intellect within. A pity that some other poets have not so cooled their fervent brows! It was an age of liberal living and high thinking without the liberal-mindedness, the tolerance, the humor we later developed. A touch of prigishness flavors the anecdote which tells how Doctor

Bryant found the manuscript of Thantopis after his son had left the home in Cumington, Mass., to study law. "There are some lines that our Cullen has been writing," he told a lady. She read them, and "raising her eyes to the face of Doctor Bryant, burst into tears—a tribute to the genius of his son in which he was not ashamed to join." These bleak New Englanders! The Vision of Death was not published until six years after it was written. Richard Henry Dana, receiving the poem as editor of the North American Review, would not believe his senses. His associates seem to have concurred in an opinion that the author of anything so excellent could not be an American. Some one told Dana that the writer was a member of the Massachusetts senate. He journeyed from Cambridge to Boston and inquired at the state house for Senator Bryant. "A tall, middle-aged man, with a businesslike look, was pointed out to him." This was probably Doctor Bryant, who was a senator. It was most certainly not the author of Thantopis. Dana didn't even bother to seek an introduction. Six months after Thantopis the same magazine printed "To a Waterfowl," written some years earlier, when Bryant was nineteen. There was no doubt then that America had a true poet at last. She had had none before, only single poems such as "The Captive Parrot," and popular pieces like "Hail, Columbia." Some of our "old favorites" were being written or were soon to be written by Bryant's contemporaries. A young clerk in Mr. Astor's office had not yet penned the lines on Marco Bonaris for schoolboys to declaim. The Old Oaken Bucket was freshly current. Home, Sweet Home

That Germany has thus far in the war realized nine-tenths of her pan-German ideals, and that if peace was declared now, she would virtually have won, and the war would be a draw, was the emphatic statement of Venerable Archdeacon Cody of St. Paul's church, in an address yesterday afternoon to the Rotary Club members at luncheon in the Caris-Rite Hotel. He had little faith in an internal revolution in Germany resulting in a peace being signed, unless that revolution was brought about by a severe military reverse, when he believed the frightfulness taught the troops would be turned on the rulers. Archdeacon Cody made an earnest appeal for Canadians to forget the past, to eschew party politics and to organize for a proper carrying on of the war. Archdeacon Cody endeavored to war. Deducing the Independent Socialist vote from that of the parties opposed to the peace resolution, and adding it with the Polish vote, as both should be, with the majority against the Junkers and their National Liberal Allies, figures are reached showing that in the Reichstag the annexation and indemnity party are really represented by 62 members and 1,000,000 voters, while in the opposing camps are 390 Reichstag members and 10,000,000 electors.

answer the question, "Shall the war end in a draw or a decision?" and he told of the early pan-American ideals of the country which became prominent with the ascendancy of the present Kaiser to the throne. With the exception of the United States, all of the Allies went into the war under the fallacy that it would be short. He urged Canada to get away from that idea, and not to further underestimate the power of the enemy. Danger of Premature Peace. "We might win the war and get what might seem to be a peace, but for the enemy to gather himself together to do worse in the future," said the speaker. He recalled Aquilino's summing up of the things necessary to win the war: a stock of patience, unlimited reservoir of endurance and the ability to see things in their true perspective. "The supreme objective of the Germans is to lay a stable foundation for their system called pan-Germanism, and unless pan-Germanism is made an impossibility economically, politically and militarily, there will be no guarantee of peace for the future of the world." He also sounded a warning against war-weariness. Strength of Germany. Even if the Germans were driven out of France and Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine was handed back to France, Germany, if peace was declared, would stand in the midst of Europe stronger than she was before. Pan-Germanism, he said, was to make Denmark, Holland, Belgium and the German portion of Switzerland a part of the Empire, and, in fact, there would be no limit to what she would seize, and the most dangerous part of the programme is her policy of "Deutschland über Alles." The three outstanding features of the German policy of twenty-five years ago were the gaining of colonies, the development of German naval power and the tendency to drive toward the East for the expansion of German influence. A Menacing Outlook. In 1911, Archdeacon Cody said, the policy was to make Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, German Switzerland, and the northeastern part of France part of the Empire, the taking over of Russian Poland, and the absorption economically of the Austro-Hungarian Empire; the absolute subordination of the Balkan countries, the seizure of Turkey and ultimately Egypt and Persia. Summing up, he said the pan-German ideals were roads to Gdansk, Riga, Salskiki and the Persian Gulf. The Russian breakdown has quered the whole thing from the standpoint of the allies, and Germany has realized nine-tenths of her pan-German ideals. He hoped that Russia would prevent the enemy from taking Archangel, for the capture of that would mean Russia might as well make a separate peace. If Germany can maintain economic control over Austria-Hungary, Turkey and the Balkans, she has practically won the price of the war, said the speaker. Must Avoid a Draw. Archdeacon Cody said he yet believed that the British navy and obstinacy would result in the German dream being smashed. The allies cannot allow the war to end in a draw, for that would mean another war ten years hence, for the Germans are already talking of the next time. He believed Austria-Hungary to be the crux of the situation, for if that country is dealt with properly a Slav State will be formed for all those peoples of that race in that part of Europe. If that is not done Germany will completely swallow that country. He paid a tribute to the United States, for he said she had entered the war at a critical time. "It is not too late for us in Canada to organize all of our resources as though we were still in for a long war, that we may bear our full part in what we trust will be the war that will end war," he declared.

For lack of a better incentive, feeling this time is being worked up against the United States, and various associations are issuing appeals to the German people to make the loan a great success, so as to provide the best answer to President Wilson. The Berlin Merchants' Association, for example, sent out a document far and wide in which the people were begged to demonstrate that Germany was financially unconquerable. This, it declares, can be done by every patriotic German, especially at a time when the president of the United States, in the densest ignorance of German conditions, and giving further proof of that hostility to the Germans which was formerly so badly concealed, makes an error which attempts to sow discord in Germany between the government and the people. The Lokai Anzeiger states that the president of the Reichstag is considering calling together that body for the purpose of an imposing demonstration against the Wilson policy, as outlined in the reply to the Pope. Such a demonstration, however, as the Hamburg periodical 'ortrupp' says, might possibly be imposing in the wrong direction. It points out that the July peace resolution was supported by 212 deputies in the Reichstag, representing 6,986,201 voters, while there voted against it 126 deputies, representing 3,915,104 electors. In the opposition vote were included Independent Socialists, representing nearly a million voters. They voted as they did, not on account of any liking for the conservatives, but because the resolution did not go far enough. To Apply Closure Today To Pass Franchise Bill

Dr. Neeley Repeats Statement That Sir Clifford Sifton Upheld Laurier's Attitude and Invited Former Minister to Take Action

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The reading of the war-time elections act was not moved when the house met this afternoon, because the reprint bill had not been distributed. Other business was taken up and third reading will be moved later in the day in order that notice of closure may be given before the house adjourns tonight. The house went into committee to consider amendments to the dry docks act which provides for an increased measure of government assistance to companies who propose to construct dry docks. The subsidy provided for an increase in the subsidy on first class dry docks to four and a half per cent. of the works, to increase the width of dry docks from 110 to 125 feet, and the depth of water on the sills from 37 to 38 feet. The change in the size of first class dry docks, Hon. J. D. Reid explained, was made at the request of the British admiralty.

Colonel John Currie. General Sir Sam Hughes rose to a question of privilege. He drew attention to some remarks made in the house last night by D. D. MacKenzie, South Cape Breton, regarding Colonel John Currie, of East Simcoe. Mr. MacKenzie had declared that Colonel Currie had been found up to his neck in a dugout when he should have been leading his men. The story did not concern Colonel John Currie at all. General Hughes at this point was called to order. He then referred to the statement made by Mr. MacKenzie to the effect that he, General Hughes, had declined to give promotion to Colonel Currie because he was not entitled to it. General Hughes stated that he had recommended Colonel Currie for a brigadier-generalship, but that owing to the rumors which were going around he had decided to hold the recommendation up until he had proven those rumors groundless. The recommendation had then gone through. So far as having given him honor for his splendid services at St. Julien, General Hughes declared that was something he had nothing to do with.

Dr. Neeley on Sir Clifford. Dr. Neeley, of Humboldt, also rose to a question of privilege. On Saturday last he had made a statement at Chatham about a more or less prominent public man who was once in his house. On looking at the Toronto Star he found that Sir Clifford Sifton had as politely as possible given his statement the lie and indirectly contradicted it. The statement which Dr. Neeley had made was that on June 8 last, Sir Clifford Sifton had called him into his office and had pronounced himself as against putting into effect a description in Canada at the present time. In his denial of Dr. Neeley's statement, Sir Clifford in the Toronto Star represented himself as having told Dr. Neeley that the description in Liberals could not follow Sir Wilfrid Laurier and must repudiate his stand and support the government. "I made my statement," said Dr. Neeley, "outside of this house as a public man, so that I should not have the protection of parliament. My statement is supported by the member for Norfolk, the member for Quebec West and the members for Richmond and Wolfe (Messrs. Charlton, Power and Tobin). Instead of advising me to organize the conspirators again Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he told me to get them together and see if there was not some common ground on which they could support the stand of Sir Wilfrid.

Dr. Neeley went on to say that Mr. Power had declared under his own name that Sir Clifford had asked him to give an interview to the editor of the Manitoba Free Press. Dr. Neeley explained that he made his statements because of the fact that he (Sir Clifford Sifton) had through the medium of the paper he owned in Winnipeg, for weeks back been making representations. Dr. Neeley here was called to order and told to confine himself to the question of privilege. He continued by saying that there was a remarkable admission in the denial of his statement made by Sir Clifford Sifton. Sir Clifford had declared that in common with many he recognized the difficulty and the desirability of getting the recruits by the voluntary system if possible. "So out of the mouth of my detractor," concluded Dr. Neeley, "my own truthfulness is proven. 'Cries of 'Oh, Oh,' from Conservative members.

New War Loan. Sir Thomas White said that he had no statement to make about the new war loan at present. The loan would probably be floated in the month of November. Mr. Carvell asked if the government proposed to put potatoes on the free list. Sir Thomas White said this was a tariff matter. If any action was taken it would be announced by the government in due course. Mr. Carvell suggested that potatoes as well as wheat could be put on the free list by order-in-council. The house then went into committee of supply on the customs estimates.

Dr. Bell. W. F. Cockshutt, with the consent of the house, availed himself of the opportunity to refer to the unveiling of a monument to Dr. Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, which will take place at Brantford on Oct. 24, in the presence of his excellency the governor-general. He extended an invitation to Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier to be present on the occasion. Mr. Cockshutt reminded the house that Dr. Graham Bell spent the earlier part of his life in the city of Brantford and that it was on the occasion of a visit to Brantford in 1874 that he invented the

Canadian Prisoners From Germany

Toronto, Sept. 13.—A special cable by Douglas Robertson, to the Toronto Telegram, from London, says: A dramatic episode occurred when four officers and thirty-four non-commissioned men reported to Canadian headquarters in London yesterday and were greeted by their comrades and shook hands with General Tupper after their long captivity in Germany. This was the first big batch of Canadians exchanged from Switzerland under the terms of the new agreement. The health of the men is generally good. The erstwhile prisoners are scarcely by contain their joy at being back on British soil.

Five Recruits Added To Lists

Majority For Filed Ambulance—News of the Soldiers—St. John Officers Receive Promotions

Recruiting has taken on new life in the city. On Wednesday eight men were secured and yesterday the good work was kept up and five more recruits signed on. Four were secured at the local station and one on the island for No. 9 Siege battery. The men secured in Prince William street were C. A. Kennedy, St. John, No. 8 Field Ambulance; S. Another recruit was signed up for the Army Service Corps, but he did not wish to have his name published just yet.

James Burgess, of Cape Breton, joined the gunners of No. 9 on Partridge Island, thus bringing yesterday's total up to five. Relative to the Conscript Act. It was said yesterday that about 3,000 men will be in training in the maritime provinces this coming winter. This will be about the number required for the first draft under the Conscript Act from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and P. E. Island. New Brunswick's share is calculated to be about a little less than half of this 3,000.

Recovering. James H. Carvell, 20 Water street, West St. John, received word yesterday from Ottawa, that Pte. Burpee W. Carvell, recently reported wounded, is now reported to be progressing well.

Sackville Boy Gassed by Hana. Chatham Soldier Missing; Others Reported. Chatham Gazette: Many casualties among local soldier boys are being steadily reported. Among those of which word was received yesterday was Harry Jack, brother of E. S. Jack of the J. D. Creighton Co., who was wounded in the shoulder and knee and is now in hospital in England.

Philip Bremer has received word that his son, H. A. Bremer, who enlisted with the 182nd battalion, and went over to France with a draft for the 98th, has been missing since August 15, and much anxiety is felt for him.

Roy Lobban, son of the late Joseph Lobban, who died as a result of burns received in the shell factory fire, is also reported wounded.

Casualties. Ottawa, Sept. 13.—Tonight's casualty list of thirty names is the lightest one issued from the record office of the militia department in a year. It contains the names of twelve soldiers, who have been killed in action, five who have died of wounds, two died, five presumed to have died, and the balance wounded or ill. Maritime names follow:

DJEMAL PASHA OUSTED?

His Cruelty in Palestine Said to Have Cost Him His Government.

London, Sept. 14.—News has reached London that the Turkish government has withdrawn Djemal Pasha, the most hated official in Asia Minor, from his post of governor of Palestine, owing to the intense feeling which his methods aroused among the population under his control, but it is believed some effort will be made by the Turkish administrators to improve conditions in Palestine.

The growing hostility of the civilian population recently proved a heavy military handicap owing to the undercurrent of sympathy with the Sheriff of Mecca, whose increasing prestige among the Arab element throughout Asia Minor is causing the Turks most serious concern.

Struck By Speeders

Frank Jones, while going down Waterloo street last night only escaped serious injury by his presence of mind. Just as he turned the corner at Union street, he noticed two cars coming racing towards him. He immediately ran his car into the gutter and partly upon the sidewalk, but did not even then escape being hit, as one of the cars struck his rear fender and bent it down hard against the fire. Mr. Jones chased the car and got the number.

LAST WEEK SAW LOWEST U-BOAT RECORD

But London Writer Says Menace Not Yet Met Views of Times Man

Wonders Why, if Germans Are Turning Out as Many Submarines as They Say, the Standard of Destruction Has Fallen

London, Sept. 14.—(Montreal Gazette cable)—Commenting on the more favorable submarine weekly returns, the Times naval correspondent writes:—

"The number of large ships sunk, when corrected, was eleven, the lowest yet recorded since the return was issued. The previous lowest in any one week was fourteen, while the highest, in April, was forty. But these official tables do not reveal the tonnage. The actual significance of the figures, therefore, remains obscure. For the five weeks of April the percentage of ships which escaped to those attacked was 36.4; in June 30.9; and in August, 31.8. Each month, therefore, about one-third of those attacked escaped.

It is when a comparison is made between the number of ships which escaped and the number moving in the danger zone that a considerable diminution is noted. The April percentage of escapes to targets was 0.50, in June 0.48, and in August 0.50. It thus appears as if the percentage of ships when compared with targets has fallen one half, so also has the percentage of escapes.

"The question arises: If the Germans are turning out submarines in greater numbers, as they say they are, why is the standard of destruction set up in the earlier days of the campaign not reached at the present time? It is not because there is any change in the weather conditions between April and August. Several explanations have been suggested, among them the diminished efficiency of the new type of U-boats.

"While the value of the tables issued weekly is lessened by the lack of sufficient data, it is scarcely worth while to speculate on this point. There is indication at present to give any grounds for confident anticipation that the submarine menace is in a fair way of being dealt with effectively."

The meeting in 1918 will be held at Belleville, Ont. This year's convention was declared to have been the most successful and enjoyable in the history of the sovereign grand priory.

UPRISING NOW IN MONTEVIDEO AGAINST INTRIGUING GERMANS

Montevideo, Sept. 14.—A great anti-German demonstration was held here yesterday, and Argentina was cheered for the expulsion of the German minister, Count Von Luxburg. There were numerous clashes between the mobs and the police. Strong guards have been placed around the German legation and consulate, as well as the German business houses to prevent destruction similar to that at Buenos Aires.

STRONG PROTEST AGAINST THE HIGH COST OF FOOD

Dearer Here Than Overseas, Says Speaker in Montreal—The Government Criticized

(Montreal Herald) A public meeting was held in Nault's Hall last night to protest against the high cost of living.

D. Gallery was the chief speaker as well as chairman. He said it was time for Montreal to protest as other places had against the enormous profits being charged the people by dealers.

"Potatoes which could be obtained in country places for eighty-five cents a bag were sold here for $3 and $3.50. "Are we Canadians to be handed over body and bones to a bunch of blood-sucking dealers and obbers? He favored having the inspector appointed by the consumers. All war conditions were being exploited for the benefit of the government. He did not approve of government appointed inspectors. He has been there and knew how these things were handled by politicians and it was not for the benefit of the consumers. Canadian food products were sent by rail to the seaboard, across the sea, paying big freight and by rail to their destination on the other side, yet these products were sold in foreign countries for lower prices than they were in Canada. He instanced Canadian bacon which was sold in England for thirty-two cents a pound, while here the price was forty-eight cents.

He gave many other instances of excessive prices to show how the dealers ground the faces of the poor. A mother with children could not afford to keep herself properly fed and give her babies proper nourishment with the present prices of food. The result was the appalling fact that 617 babies had died in Montreal in three weeks.

He said no politics were to be discussed, but he said an attempt was being made to throw dust in their eyes by back up Sir Joseph Flavelle. The government had a whitewash department which must do the government's job to earn their pay.

"Flavelle said, 'I am more honest than thou,' and he was knighted at your expense, God save the mark. I cite Flavelle as a sample of the Borden government. Every mouthful of bacon and meat you take is putting money into the pockets of Flavelle and his crowd. The government is a slave to dishonest capitalists which helped them in the elections of 1911 and made the dirtiest of campaigns for the benefit of the interests who were now robbing the people.

Speeches denouncing food speculators were made by ex-Ald. Savageau, who was joint chairman, J. L. Landry and two women in the audience. James Kenny blamed cold storage for the food situation and thought an organized committee should be appointed to prepare a monster petition to the government.

The meeting finally adjourned until Monday night in the same hall.

BREAD AT COST THEIR WAR CONTRIBUTION

New York Bakers' Association Pledges to Sell

New York, Sept. 15.—The New York Master Bakers' Association in convention here resolved to sell bread at cost during the war. The association went on record, also, as opposing the members of the trade who would bargain with the government for the last cent of profit, deferring their patriotism until their pockets were filled. This, it was said, is to be the bakers' contribution to the war-time service of the country.

The New York State Master Bakers' Association includes in its membership more than 1,000 retail bakers, of whom 1,000 are doing business in this city. The large manufacturing bakers are not members of the organization. Members of the association said that it remained to be determined just what weight could be given at cost. The action of the association will be far-reaching, it is predicted, because if the association cuts the price of bread or increases the weight of the loaf competition may cause others to follow their example.

Five Recruits Added To Lists

165th a Forestry Unit

The conversion of the 165th battalion, at the wish of its members, into a forestry unit has left a surplus of officers and many of them have gone into other units in England and France.

Word was received yesterday that Arthur Cyr and Joseph Legere, two well known lieutenants in the battalion, had been transferred to the Royal Flying Corps and were now training in England.

Promotions That Major Alex MacMillan had been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel was another piece of interesting information received yesterday. Major MacMillan has recently won a D.S.O. for services rendered and this further recognition of his good work will be learned of with pleasure by his numerous friends in the city.

Another promotion is that of Lieutenant W. A. Landry, son of the late Sir Pierre Landry, to the rank of flying officer.

In order to get overseas Captain J. S. Davis has reverted to the rank of lieutenant and has gone to France from England.

Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel Mulrhead, well known Nova Scotia officer, has been given command of a Nova Scotia battalion at the front.

Harold Vall Mr. and Mrs. C. Vall, of Sydney, formerly of this city, is advised recently that their son, Harold, is in a hospital in France suffering from gas poisoning.

Mrs. Vall received a letter from her chaplain of the brigade to which Gunner Vall belongs. In the letter he states that Gunner Vall's eyes were affected and no serious results were expected.

Is Doing Well Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cowan, Cedar street, has received a letter from their son, Private Ralph E. Cowan, who was admitted to the Royal Hospital in England, on August 20, suffering from gunshot wounds. In his letter he says that he is doing well and is receiving the best of care.

To Valorists Corporal C. F. Garnett and Private W. Gow, of the 280th Battalion left last night for Valcartier to join their unit. (See page 18.)

GOOD MEALS AT LOW COST FOR OUR SOLDIERS

Details of Economic But Attractive System Which is Working Out Satisfactorily in England

London, Sept. 1 (correspondence)—The cost of feeding Canadian troops in England is nowadays two pence per head less than the cost of feeding imperial troops.

This interesting assertion was recently made by the Canadian Associated Press, with the further assertion that the Canadian soldier in a training area in England has the advantage over his brother of the Imperials in securing a greater variety of food prepared according to his own tastes. The Canadian army in England means the saving of a huge sum yearly for the taxpayer of the Dominion.

Through the courtesy of Brigadier-General McInnes, quartermaster-general, I have been enabled to get some particulars of the manner in which the Canadian soldier is rationed in England. The feeding of the soldier in England is a complicated business—so complicated in fact that the ordinary civilian, whose knowledge of catering is confined to what is placed before him on the domestic dinner table, or what he pays for in the restaurant, would be unable to follow it in its details.

To put the matter briefly: There is "long ration," which is served to Canadian troops in Canada and in France, the principle of which is that food commodities are supplied in bulk on a standard scale to each company. There is also the "modified system," which is in force among the Imperials in England, where each soldier gets a portion of his allowance in actual rations and the remainder in cash to spend as he chooses. Both these systems, it is asserted, are wasteful; the men do not frequently get the food they prefer, and the food is often squandered.

There is also the "varied ration," which means that each Canadian soldier in a (Canadian) training area in England receives his food prepared according to a dietary sheet, the dietary sheet being issued by one central authority, which insists on strict adherence to it. This system ensures that the soldier receives variety in his rations, and it also means that the men are prepared on the most economical basis possible.

Dietary sheet is a term which has rather a forbidding ring. Call it "menu," though, which is just as truthful and which sounds more attractive. Here is the menu for three days, for every Canadian camp in England: Monday, August 27th—Breakfast: Rolled oats, mutton stew, bread, butter, coffee. Dinner: Canadian pot roast, turnips, potatoes, Jack Law dumplings, bread. Supper: Pork and beans, jam, bread, butter, tea.

Tuesday, August 28th—Breakfast: Rolled oats, beef, olives, bread, butter, cocoa. Dinner: Pea soup, beef steaks, blue peas, potatoes, bread. Supper: Scotch cheese, currant fritters, bread, butter, coffee. Wednesday, August 29th—Dinner: Beef and kidney pudding, vegetable marrow, potatoes, jam roly-poly. Supper: Alberta stew, blancmange and jam, bread, butter, tea.

These dietary sheets are distributed to the areas well in advance of the actual day they are to be used. At the bottom of the sheet are printed recipes for the making of every dish mentioned. The sheets are prepared by Major E. G. Ross, chief inspector of Canadian catering, who, in working them out so many weeks in advance, has to keep an eye on what kindly fruits of the earth will be forthcoming in due season. A special endeavor is made to provide Canadian dishes. Look through a file of these dietary sheets and one finds cropping up such items as sweet corn, hot cakes, maple syrup, pork and beans, raisin pie. All these dietary sheets are approved by the medical authorities as to the food values of the articles contained therein.

A double check in regard to their food value is ensured by the diet being finally approved by an expert attached to the supply and transport department. The navy and army canteen committee also certify that the commodities required will be available at the time for which the diet sheet is intended.

MacMillan Disappointed On His Return

People Looked Unhealthy When He Reached Sydney

Contrast With the Arctic

Hotel Fare in Civilization Not so Good to Him as Rations Served in the North - Traces of Old Time Explorations Found

When Dr. Donald B. MacMillan reached Sydney recently after four years in the Arctic regions, his first feeling was one of disappointment and this he freely admitted.

People Looked Unhealthy. "People looked so unhealthy to me," MacMillan confessed, "that I wondered if they were ill. The women's faces were so pale I couldn't understand it. Up where I came from everybody was rugged and strong and brown. There was no disease at all. When I got back where such things as sickness existed my first conscious thought was that the white race must be deteriorating."

Unlike his two loyal companions, J. C. Small of Proviostown, who was the cook of the MacMillan expedition, and Capt. Comer, MacMillan was in no great discomfort when Capt. Bob Bartlett ranged up to Etah in the Neptune in search of the explorers.

"If I had only a little milk and sugar for my tea and some bread I could have managed to subsist very comfortably for a long time," MacMillan said. "We were by no means in a bad predicament within the gate, at a time when our country looks to foreign nations to send their surplus manhood for the cultivation of the soil in the Dominion's National unity is the bedrock of progress in this country. By national unity is meant a uniformity of thought or outlook or of temperament, but that unity in diversity that seeks to cultivate and strengthen the national spirit and which aims at developing in every man who lives in this Dominion a sense of civic responsibility, of national pride, and of loyalty to Canadian ideals. There can be no future for Canada save through the assimilation of the various races that have found a home and freedom in the New World. National unity involves keeping faith with the foreign immigrant. Canada in these days of peril and uncertainty has need of all her citizens."

Explorer MacMillan has a real taste for Arctic rations. He alone of the three men who the rescue ship bore away to a civilized meal. The milk and sugar for his tea were all that he required to make him happy, and when he had his first opportunity in forty-eight months to select anything that would taste as good to him as his Arctic walrus and seal meat. The other men, through another winter of discussing edibles all through the latter half of the trip and had made their choices in advance. Mr. Small hungers for watermelon and Capt. Comer for custard pie.

"At that first hotel meal in Sydney," said Mr. MacMillan, "they gave me three knives and three forks, and it wasn't five minutes before I had them whole treatment of cutlery on my plate at once. I didn't know what to do with it. We hadn't had an overplus of knives for years in the Arctic for a long time."

MacMillan and his party were marooned in the Arctic seven months after the great war broke out before they had any intimation that there was fighting down in civilization. The first news that reached them was that the Eskimo dog team that crossed the great waste spaces and sought them at Upernivik in what the explorers know as South Greenland indeed. Scant information that what appears to be the casual student of the map as a very northerly part of Germany was fighting England and France and Russia, without any reason why. The first of March, 1915, the guns roared in southern Europe and a continent was devastated. The first news of the European conflict had reached there was so much to digest that they contented themselves with reading that there was a war without trying to find out much about it.

"One gets singularly indifferent to things that rock continents, away up there in the north with only Eskimos for companions. It wasn't until we were nearly ready to go back to civilization that we really tried to discover what had happened in our absence."

MacMillan and his party had a singularly healthy trip, and according to the explorer's testimony far better weather than when MacMillan was with Peary on his trip to the pole. The MacMillan party established its winter quarters at Etah, and had a comfortable wooden house with a double thickness of wall. Molstrare, which is the chief menace in that region, bothered them very little. Most of it condensed on the roof and in the spring was chipped out in pieces four inches thick. The coldest weather the MacMillan party experienced was fifty-four degrees below zero, whereas Peary frequently had it sixty degrees below, and moreover the MacMillan outfit was better equipped to face the perils of northern exploration.

The three big scientific achievements of the MacMillan expedition, aside from the discovery of the fact that Crocker-Land was a mirage, have already been recorded. They were the finding of two complete sets of knot's eggs, the slaying of a six-legged musk ox and the slaying of a three-tusked walrus.

Only twice before have knot's eggs been discovered. A set was found in Siberia in 1907 and Peary found two complete sets on his way to the pole in 1908.

Scientific Station. Dr. Ekblaw, the geologist of the MacMillan party, and Dr. Harrison J. Hunt of Bangor established a sub-scientific station at North Star bay and remained there for several months diligently searching for knot's eggs, while their leader ranged even farther north into polar fastnesses. Their search was a difficult one, for the bird so closely resembles the color of the ground where the nest is built that it is almost impossible to detect its presence, and patience was finally rewarded and two complete sets of eggs acquired.

Both the six-legged musk ox and the three-tusked walrus were shot by Eskimos with the MacMillan party, and both were as great curiosities to the Eskimos as to the white men.

The three-tusked walrus, indeed, is the second one found within the memory of man. The only other recorded instance is in 1820, nearly a century ago, when the explorer, Parry, came across one in his northern travels.

MacMillan himself fared the fastest and farthest of any of his party, Small and Capt. Comer remained the greater part of the time at the winter quarters at Etah, while MacMillan with three Eskimos as companions traveled hundreds of miles over ice and snow, going for weeks at a time without a glimpse of a single white face.

The most adventurous of these trips was taken in search of polar bear, and the intrepid hunters were better rewarded than is usually the case. In fact, they had rather an overdose of adventure, for not only did they get their fill of hunting, but MacMillan scopped up a bear on the front of his sledge, running into him full tilt, and on another occasion tumbled into a pit in a lively mix-up of bear, dog team and explorer.

After so many years in the trackless snow fields of the polar regions MacMillan hardly knows what to do with himself in the haunts of civilization.

He and his men prepared themselves for their excursion into metropolitan circles by studying up on styles in the magazines that came to them up in their polar camp, but even so they were conscious of a feeling of surprise and annoyance when they arrived in Sydney and found people sacrificing so much comfort in the pursuit of fashion.

"I could not help thinking the Eskimo way was a sensible way," said MacMillan.

Both MacMillan and Small are so bronzed by the Arctic winds and tanned by exposure that they look as if they belonged to another race.

MacMillan himself is keen to be back in the Arctic.

CLOCK 286 YEARS OLD

Made in Plymouth, England, in 1628 and Active Until 1914

(Duluth Herald.)

Unimportant, to be sure, but exceedingly stirring to the imagination is the fact that a Kansas City man who died recently was the owner of a clock that had been keeping time for nearly three centuries—the exact period given is 286 years. The timepiece was made in 1628 in Plymouth, England, and its usefulness continued until 1914—though there is nothing to indicate that it stopped on account of the war.

But what a record of eventful moments has been ticked off by this old timepiece! The Pilgrims' colonies were not yet complete when its maker first set the pendulum to swinging and adjusted the weights and strings to suit its needs. Manhattan Island had been settled only five years, and to many—perhaps even to the clockmaker—the very existence of such a continent as this was half-doubted hearsay.

But his production ticked on and ticked on while Cromwell rose to power and passed from place; it ticked the last moments of ten of England's sovereigns; through the time of the Great Plague in London in 1664 it kept its steady record, and perhaps its parts moved the freer in 1679 upon the passage of the habeas corpus act.
