Old Controversy is Revived
Over the Demands of the Admiralty.

TENSION ACUTE

Earl Beatty Among Those Who Insist on Claims
Being Granted.

(By Canadian Press.)
London, July 28.—The old controversy centering about the demand of the admiralty for a separate air force for the navy has been revived in the last few days and rumors are afloat that certain members of the admiralty board, including Earl Beatty, first sea lord, will resign unless their claims were granted.
There was acute tension in the matter during the early part of the present session of parliament when Mr. Bonar Law, then premier, announced that the question would be referred to the committee on imperial defence whose decision, it was understood, the admiralty had agreed to accept.
This committee has now made its report and although it has not been published it is believed to be adverse to the aims of the admiralty and that it proposes to relieve the navy of its obligations which will admit certain naval officers to the air ministry.
In the meantime some political gossip insists that the resignations will occur if the admiralty's claim is unsatisfied and others say that the government's decision will be accepted.

FRANCO-BELGIAN
VIEWS DIFFER

Opinion is That Britain Will Send Own Reply to Germany.

London, July 28.—The opinion that Great Britain eventually will be obliged to send its own reply to Germany without co-operation from France and Belgium is strengthened by the latest reports from Paris.
It is reported here that there is considerable divergence in the French and Belgian views, and that for one thing particularly Belgium looks with less favor than France upon the putative British proposal of the appointment of an international commission to investigate Germany's ability to pay.
The Belgian reply to Great Britain is expected to be delayed a day or two longer than the French, which it is anticipated, will be delivered in London today or Sunday.

WRONGLY IMPRISONED.

Maine Man Served 20 Years on Murder Charge.

Thomaston, Maine, July 28.—A free man again after twenty years' confinement for a crime which the governor and his council are now convinced he did not commit, Henry Lambert this week stepped out through the guard room door of the state prison here to begin life anew.
Lambert was convicted of the murder of J. Wesley Allen, his wife and fifteen-year-old daughter, Alice, at Shirley, on May 12, 1901. Evidence of foul play found among the ruins of Allen's burned farmhouse led to the arrest and subsequent conviction of Lambert after a sensational trial.
A blue sealed pardon, which expressed the belief of Governor Baxter and the executive council that Lambert was not guilty of the crime, gave him his freedom.

Wong Can't Find
Who Clipped
His Coupons

Washington, July 28.—Wong Ko Fong, of Shanghai, dealer in dyestuffs and chemicals, who has been trying to find out who clipped the coupons of $100,000 worth of Liberty bonds which were returned to him by the alien property custodian after being lost, lost his fight in the District Supreme Court for the recovery of the coupons, which he values at $13,000.
Justice Bailey, on a plea by the government that Fong had no standing because of the failure of China to extend reciprocal rights to Americans in like circumstances, dismissed Fong's complaint.

Canadian Doctor Left Massachusetts Girl His Life

Marblehead, Mass., July 27.—According to reports the District Circuit Court will decide whether the $50,000 life insurance left to Miss Mary E. Chadwick of this town by Dr. Edward S. Crump of Chatham, Ont., is to be received by the young woman. A restraining order prohibiting payment of the money to Miss Chadwick has been obtained by the doctor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Crump of Chatham. It is alleged that undue influence was exerted on Dr. Crump in his last illness.
Miss Chadwick, who resides with her mother, Mrs. Curtis Chadwick, Marblehead, became acquainted with Dr. Crump while she was a nurse in the Good Samaritan Hospital in Boston. Her engagement to Dr. Crump was announced in Marblehead long before the doctor was stricken and preparations for progress for the marriage in January, but the date was changed to Christmas.

ADMITS PERJURY,
GIRL TO PRISON

Boasted She Had Put Her Mother Behind Bars 2 Years Ago.

Quebec, July 28.—Confessing that she had perjured herself and had raised her mother to be sentenced to six months' imprisonment on her evidence in the Court of Sessions, brought a sentence of three years in the penitentiary for a young girl, who was also severely lectured by Judge Choquette, who expressed surprise at such an occurrence. Two years ago an elderly woman was arrested by the police following a charge laid by a fourteen-year-old girl that her mother had lied her into an immoral life. On the strength of the evidence of the daughter, the court imposed six months' imprisonment on the mother. The time was served and the mother returned to her home. A few days ago the young girl boasted that she had sent her mother behind the bars, and an investigation having been made, the girl was arrested.

The romance culminated through an introduction of the two by King George II. of Greece, it is said.
Miss MacLachlin, with other refugees, was driven from the American college conducted by her uncle, Dr. Alexander MacLachlin, in Smyrna, during the uprisings there.

Cigar Makers in New England On Strike

Boston, July 28.—A strike affecting more than 4,000 members of the Cigar Makers Union in Northern New England went into effect last night according to the announcements of officers of local No. 9. The union has asked for restoration of the wages which were paid previous to the reduction in May, 1922.
The old scale was $24 per 1,000 hand made cigars and $15 per 1,000 for those made in molds, an increase of $3 per 1,000 in the higher grade and $1.75 for the lower grade work.
Several independent manufacturers employing about six hundred men have granted the increases. One large company has just started to pay in the new scale.

COAST GUARD
TURNS DOWN
$70,000 BRIBE

Skipper Offers $2 a Case If He Would Turn Back.

HAD 35,000 CASES

Other Officers Tempted, But Refused to Go Back on Oaths.

New York, July 28.—Captain Christopher Benham of the Townsend's Inlet Coast Guard Station, twenty-four miles north of Cape May, N. J., reported that the skipper of the French run runner Mulhouse at anchor twelve miles off shore, had visited him and offered him $2 a case if he would "turn his back" and permit the bootleggers to land 85,000 cases of liquor on the lonely stretch of sand. The visitor assured him that he would be made a millionaire in less than a year if he would "get in the game." Captain Benham said he replied that he would rather be poor all his life than violate his oath as an officer.
Captain Benham said that a few days ago he had boarded the Mulhouse and had asked to see the ship's manifest. The skipper produced a blank piece of paper, saying that he would not divulge the nature of the cargo. Captain Benham said he learned from members of the crew that the ship contained 85,000 cases of assorted liquors. He was inclined to accept this statement, as the Mulhouse was so heavily loaded that she was awash amidships, he added.
Captain Benham related how other coast guard men had been approached by representatives of a run running syndicate with lucrative offers for their co-operation.
"I thank God that the coast guard men are true to their oath of allegiance," he said. "If they are as poor as church mice. Having $20,000 in bills stuck under your nose is some temptation, but not enough to break the law."

Purse Snatcher Badly
Beaten By 400 People

New York, July 28.—Harry Gordon, known to the police as "the snatcher," was badly beaten by a crowd of nearly 400 people at the Central station of the Interborough Subway yesterday when he snatched a purse from Mrs. Della O'Keefe, 60, who was rescued from the angry mob by a patrolman and special agents of the Interborough. Her clothes were torn almost off and he was badly bruised up. Police say he has a record of 10 convictions for purse snatching.

TWO COPS SAVED
N. Y. Policemen Picked up
After 2 Days in Open Boat.

Atlantic City, July 28.—Afloat three nights and two days in a bank skiff that was carried fifty miles at sea from Sandy Hook, John B. Collins and John H. Hillman, police sergeants of New York City, were rescued by Captain William H. Reilly and his men off this coast on Thursday and taken to New York where they are in a hospital.
Captain Reilly upon his return here from New York said he had sighted the small boat drifting unguided. He examined it through the glasses and distinguished two forms stretched in the bottom. He found Collins and Hillman, both barely conscious, and took them aboard.

U. S. TESTS OUT
TINIEST PLANE

Is Collapsible and Can Be Stowed Away in a Submarine.

Washington, July 28.—The U. S. Navy yesterday tested out the smallest seaplane in the world, designed by Aeronautical Engineers for use from submarines at Anacosta yesterday. The plane weighs approximately 1,000 pounds including its sixty horse-power engine and can be knocked down into small units, stowed away on a submarine and then assembled again ready for flight within a few minutes.
The type tested at the naval station at Anacosta yesterday is of wood and wire and within a month machines of that build will be delivered to the Maritime Hospital in Europe for similar use, it is being made of metal.
When assembled the plane could be put in an ordinary living room, for it is only 18 feet between wing tips.

ONLY 1 PER CENT.
OF LIQUOR PURE

Federal Chemist Analyzes 80,000
Raid Samples—Deadly Stuff.

Washington, July 28.—Only one per cent. of the 80,000 samples of liquor offered illegally and analyzed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the prohibition unit has proved to be genuine, declares a statement issued by the bureau yesterday.
The samples analyzed were seized in raids in Buffalo, Chicago, Columbia, St. Paul, Minneapolis, New York, San Francisco and Philadelphia.
There are four sources of supply for bootleg liquor, prohibition officials say. They are moonshine whiskey, red-labeled denaturants, and fake labels and illegally withdrawn liquor from bonded warehouses.
"While moonshine may not directly cause death, Dr. Doran says the toxins are cumulative and remain permanently in the system, frequently producing a condition of stupor which resembles drunkenness, but without the exhilarating effect for which the liquor is taken, and resulting in death if indulged in for a protracted period. Fusel oil, aldehydes and furfural are found in moonshine," he said.
The redistribution of denatured alcohol and the dilution, favoring the coloring of the product, Dr. Doran called the most dangerous poison, as it is almost impossible to detect the poisonous denaturants, and fake labels and containers only add to the menace. The results of drinking this stuff, he said, range from instant death to total blindness, nephritis and cystitis.
"Death has been caused by as little as three ounces," he said. "The fact is impossible to detect wood alcohol except by a thorough chemical analysis performed by a skilled chemist in a well equipped laboratory."
"Smuggled goods and liquor illegally withdrawn from bonded warehouses constitute the other sources of supply. A large part of this is doctored and stretched many times and sold in fake containers. Proof of this is shown in the quality of liquor seized from rum-running fleets off the Atlantic coast recently."

JUNKMAN ON DEFENCE IN
$200,000 SUIT

Valuable Works of Art Alleged to Have Been Damaged

DECISION RESERVED

Plaintiff Claims He was Forced Into Signing an Agreement.

New York, July 28.—Decision was reserved by Justice Richard P. Lydon, in Equity Term of the Supreme Court, after he heard arguments in the case of J. Purves Carter, art expert and restorer, against Eli Joseph, who then became interested in art. Carter is suing the former dealer in scrap iron for $200,000 damages, and alleges that valuable works of art gathered in Europe and entrusted to Mr. Joseph were placed by the latter in an improvised art gallery in the town home of James Speyer, banker, where they became damaged.
Arguments were on motion to continue a temporary injunction restraining Mr. Joseph from disposing of art works claimed by Mr. Carter was under that agreement. Mr. Carter was to pay Mr. Joseph to sell Mr. Carter's share of a $3,000,000 art collection assembled by Mr. Joseph and covered by $2,000,000 insurance.
Mr. Carter alleges that it was "fraud and duress" that he was forced to sign the agreement under which Mr. Joseph was authorized to sell part of the Carter group of art works unless Mr. Joseph returned from Mr. Carter a refund of $400,000 alleged to have been advanced by Mr. Joseph for the work of restoring old masters.
Mr. Joseph is at present in Europe. Mr. Carter is on his way to Paris, according to his counsel, and he is not expected to return here until September. Mr. Justice Lydon learned that the principals in the case were both in Europe he said.
"We are to bring the whole crowd back from Europe before the trial begins."

STILL TALKS OF A REVOLUTION

Magnus Johnson, New Senator From Minnesota, Reiterates Statement.

St. Paul, July 28.—Magnus Johnson, recently elected U. S. senator from Minnesota, on the Farmer-Labor ticket, yesterday reiterated his statement to the Associated Press that "even an armed revolution" is among the possibilities the U. S. faces unless present conditions are changed.
"I intend to emphasize," Mr. Johnson said, "that this country should not consider itself immune from armed revolutions, although naturally all other means would be exhausted before the people of the U. S. would resort to arms. 'I am not a Red nor an I. W. W., but there is no use disguising the fact that serious unrest is manifest throughout the country."

Russian Tells of Conversation in Toronto Boarding House.

JULY MENTIONED

Informant Says Description Agrees With One of Alleged Plotters.

(Canadian Press.)

Clarkson, Ont., July 28.—The Canadian Press has been authoritatively informed as follows—
In December last a certain Russian, a roomer at a Nelson street, Toronto, boarding house, heard on several occasions Russians talking between two and three in the morning in the room adjoining, which was occupied by a Russian known as "Frank."
From time to time, according to this informant, Frank would leave for mysterious absences and return with large sums of money, as much sometimes $1,000. For thirteen years Frank had never been known to work. Before and after Christmas last the Russian who gives the information overheard a discussion in Frank's room regarding a plan to rob a bank. They did not mention the place, but they were sure that the gang meant the most suitable time because then the wood would be thick in leaves and there would be about two weeks and then when the first case was over they "could skidoo farther away out of Canada."
This Russian talked several times to his sons about what he heard, but they just laughed at him. He went away from Toronto two weeks before the robbery in Toronto last Tuesday, and feeling assured that the gang meant business he telephoned to his sons to ask whether anything had happened.
The description of one man who took part in the Toronto hold-up on Tuesday, "the feet nine inches, red face, brown hair, with peak cap" according to this informant fits "Frank."
At their meetings in the Nelson street rooming house Frank always cautioned the others of the gang to "shoot the money carriers on the spot." Plans were discussed for securing provisions such as bacon, bread, tobacco and matches for two weeks in the bush.
Toronto police are now investigating the disclosures made by the Russian.
Two Suspects Taken.
Buffalo, July 28.—Two men supposed to have been implicated in the Toronto bank messenger robbery case were arrested yesterday. They were traveling in a car which showed signs of a gun battle, two bullet holes being discovered in the sides and several bullets on the floor. They admitted having been in Toronto and had a bill of sale of another car in their possession.

WOMAN'S PLIGHT

Ordered His Office to Furnish Bail, But Offer Was Not Needed.

Detroit, Mich., July 28.—As his yacht drifted about Grand Traverse Bay, Henry Ford looked up from a belated copy of a Detroit newspaper, with tears in his eyes. He sat staring into space for a moment then rose and went to the wireless room. Frank Gorka had bought an automobile with the money his wife was saving for a home, and had threatened to leave her and their three children.
"Tell my wife in Dearborn," Mr. Ford instructed the radio operator, "to supply bail in any amount and let that woman out of jail."
Ford's representatives rushed to the prosecuting attorney's office to do Mr. Ford's bidding, but they found that Mrs. Gorka had been freed on Saturday under a $10,000 bond supplied by friends.

Back Towards Horse

Cincinnati, July 28.—The pendulum is swinging back again toward the trusty old horse, according to reports made to delegates attending the 30th annual convention here yesterday of the International Union of Journeyman Horsemen. It was reported that numerous industrial concerns are again adopting the horse for short hauls, on the ground that the older method was less expensive.
Lynn, Mass., July 28.—Because he had failed five times to pass the state test as automobile driver, while his wife had succeeded in obtaining a driving license, Peter Lipsky yesterday attempted to commit suicide rather than attempt a sixth unsuccessful examination. Washington, July 27.—Declaring that President Harding's administration has been a reactionary one, Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, predicted here today that should "reactionaries" be nominated for the Presidency next year by both major parties, a third party movement may result. The conditions which insured the election of Magnus S. Johnson to the Senate from Minnesota, he said, existed generally throughout the country, including the east. HIAWATHA IN INDIAN LAND

Longfellow's Work to be Produced in the Home of the Ojibways.

When Longfellow's "Hiawatha" is produced in the Ojibway language by the Indians of the nearby Garden River Reserve at Sault Ste. Marie on August 7 and 8, during Discovery Week, it will be given right in the heart of the Hiawatha country. It was on the site of the present City of Sault Ste. Marie that the ancient Ojibway village of Pawling, the home of Hiawatha, stood. It is thus that the Canadian Government's "Handbook of the Indians of Canada" spells it, though Longfellow applies the name to the rapid itself. That Kwasiid threw the huge stone, "where it still is seen in summer." Then follow the lines: "Once as down that foaming river, Down the rapids of Pawling, Perch to catch the sturgeon, the rapids, famous 800 years ago as a place to catch the attigama, the white-fish, still famous for that. Let Superior is the Gitche Gunne of the poem. Forth upon the Gitche Gunne, On the shining Big-Saw Water With his fishing line of cedar, Of the twisted bark of cedar, Perch to catch the sturgeon, Ohma, Mische-Nahma, King of Fishes, In his birth canoe exulting All alone went Hiawatha. Mische-Nahma is still to be caught in Lake Superior, for only last summer Frank Lapointe, one of the best known fishermen of the section, brought to the Sault a sturgeon weighing 810 pounds. The fish was eight feet long, with a girth of four feet. Three hundred years ago, in 1622, when Etienne Brule and his companion, Grenelle, the first white men to see Lake Superior, visited the village of Pawling. It was the sacred shrine of the Ojibways, the earliest known inhabitants of the region, at that time perhaps the most populous Indian nation north of Mexico, a nation which roamed as lords over a territory 1,000 miles wide, extending from north and east of Lake Huron to the Turtle Mountains, in Manitoba. An Ojibway who had been to the rapids at Pawling had made a holy pilgrimage, just as the Mohometan who has been to Mecca. The rapids were looked on by the Ojibways as the most sacred spot known to their race, for there, their traditions said, their ancestors were created, there the Manitou blessed the people and from there their nation dispersed round about Lake Superior. The site where the play will be produced, Bellevue Park, within the limits of the city, is itself a beautiful spot on the border of the St. Mary's river, about two miles below the rapids. The location is a natural amphitheater. The stage will be set out in the water and the audience will gather on Prince's Island. The play, which was proposed twenty-nine years ago by George Kahosa, one of the most important of the Ojibway chiefs, will show the infancy of Hiawatha, his childhood, his wooing of Minnehaha, the wedding feast and the arrival of the first white men. It is in this last feature that the chief variation from the poem will come. In the play the first white men will be Brule and Grenelle, though in the poem they are not identified. At this meeting the Indians will give native songs and dances, and the French visitors will respond with some of the old chansons that were brought to this continent 300 years ago. The Indians who will take part in the production are descendants of the tribe whom Brule and Grenelle found at Pawling, and, in fact, it was only in 1805 that the Indian village on Whitefish Island, in the St. Mary's Rapids, in the city limits, was abandoned, the Indians moving to Garden River, where a reserve of 29,000 acres had been established. Miss Wabunosa will take the part of Minnehaha. The young girl's family have been leaders in the tribe for generations. Her brother, Albert, is one of the directors of the play, in which he is "Pauk-Ke-Wis. Making a little speech at a luncheon of the Canadian Sault Rotary Club, he said that he felt that the presentation of "Hiawatha" by the tribe had made better men of them. Hiawatha will be assumed by a young Ojibway named Zach, twenty-one years old, who comes of a very old Indian family. Shawano, an Ojibway, about forty years old, presents the character of Sagoyewew, the story teller. Shawano is a great athlete, and it is of record that no white man has yet been able to put him out of canoe in tilting contests. Kwasiid, the strong man, who aids Hiawatha to clear the river of rocks and trees in the poem, will be represented by an Ojibway named Mukwa (the bear), who is quite a good actor. The part of Chibiabwa, the sweet singer, will be taken by Tatababundung, the best tenor singer of the Ojibways. The lyric singing of old Indian songs will be one of the features of the play. And the people from the margin Watched him floating, rising, sinking, Till the birch canoe seemed lifted High into the sea of splendor, Till it sank into the vapors Like the new moon slowly, slowly Sinking in the purple distance. Thus departed Hiawatha, Hiawatha in the home-land, Of the northwest wind Keewaydin, In the purple mist of evening, To the kingdom of Pomenah. To the land of the Hereafter.

FEAR CAMP MAY CLOSE EARLY FOR LACK OF FUNDS

Public support of the Lady Byng Day Camp at Seaside Park has not been as generous as was hoped for and unless the sum of $200 is contributed by friends of the children there is danger that the camp may have to close before the end of August. Each child has made splendid gains at the camp and from now on the improvement will be more marked. All of the children, some twenty-five to thirty in number, were seriously undernourished when they were entered on the camp roll and now with the good food, the rest periods and the healthy outdoor life in the open air they are looking twice as robust and have each one gained considerably in weight. The benefit of routine has been noticed not only in improved health, but in conduct and cleanliness also. If the camp is to close too soon for lack of funds the children will be deprived of the most beneficial days of the whole period, the days when they might have made the largest gains.

NEW LIGHTING ATTRACTS MANY

People thronged Union and Prince Edward streets last night to see the new hydro lights which were turned on yesterday for the first time. The ornamental lighting system was declared a credit to the city and expressions of satisfaction were heard on every side. A handsome lantern type light on the end of a wrought iron horizontal gives a pleasing effect and the one thousand candlepower lamps throw a powerful light. With the old street lighting system still in operation the two streets last night were very bright.

S. M. Chittick and H. Ricketts of Cranston avenue were honored by being the first householders in St. John to have the hydro light in their homes. Last evening their homes were brightly illuminated and it was expected that other residents of Cranston avenue would be connected up today.

A BRITISH HELICOPTER.

(Montreal Gazette.) The reports from England and France of the increasing success of the experiments being made with helicopters gain added interest from the fact that the British Air Ministry is offering prizes to a total value of £20,000 for the most successful completion of tests applicable to helicopters or equivalent types of flying machines. Particulars of the conditions of the tests, as set forth in the report for May 1921 of the London technical journal Engineering, include the statement that "no part of the machine shall be in respect of the Brennan helicopter now under construction for the Air Ministry."

Each machine competing for the Air Ministry's prizes will be required to carry a pilot, fuel for one hour's flight, and 100 lb. of military load, and then loaded the machine must make a vertical flight from the ground to a height of 2,000 ft., afterwards descending and landing without damage; two wind conditions are specified for this test, one in which the ground wind exceeds 5 m.p.h. and the other in which the ground wind exceeds 10 m.p.h., but does not exceed 20 m.p.h. In another test, the machine will be required to rise from the ground and remain in the air at 2,000 ft. for half an hour over a certain prescribed ground area, the ground wind being 20 m.p.h.; the subsequent landing must be made without damage. The conditions of the test are similar except that, in this case, the machine must fly over a prescribed closed circuit not less than twenty miles in length and at an average speed of 60 m.p.h. or over, while in a fourth test the machine must be maneuvered in the air into a position over a given point on the ground and must descend from a height of not less than 200 ft. with the engine off, and descend from within 100 ft. of the given point. A prize of £5,000 will be awarded in connection with the first-mentioned test and additional sums of £15,000, £20,000 and £10,000 respectively will be awarded in respect of the other three tests.

Given a helicopter capable of rising at all, it is only a matter of time when rich prizes, as those offered by the British Air Ministry and similar departments of other governments vitally concerned in the advance of aerial science, will produce a machine capable of rising to, remaining stationary at, and descending from any height desired. This development will mark a new epoch in aviation, in that it will not only tend to lengthen and extend as safe as any means of locomotion on the earth's surface, but will also permit flying machines to arise from or alight on a space but little larger than their own wing area, thus dispensing with the necessity of maintaining extensive flying fields especially for the purpose.

The prospect for an early perfecting of the helicopter, taken in conjunction with Barbot's feat of crossing the English Channel in his Aviette, equipped with a fifteen horsepower motor which a man could lift with one hand, brings within the range of possibility a day when "planettes," "coptettes," or whatever affectionate diminutive may be applied to them, will be as common as "divers" are today, and the owner and his family will hop off from their own backyard for a weekend outing which will take them half way across a continent. A fanciful prediction, maybe, but no more so than it would forecast that today in four states of the American Union there would be a motor vehicle to each five and a fraction of the population, or virtually one to each family.

Rock Pile Used to Improve Husbands

Boston, July 28.—The stone quarry at Deer Island has been reopened for the purpose of providing employment for prisoners convicted of the offense of non-support of their wives and families.

Institutions Commissioner David I. Johnson said that the new plan is a great success, as after a few days at the rock pile the non-supporters usually file written guarantees to share with the prisoners' families. In the last few weeks twenty-one men who have elected to serve time rather than share their pay envelopes have reported after a few days of hammer swinging, according to the commissioner.

NORTHWARD.
(Kemper Hammond Broadus, in Canadian Bookman.)
The musk darkness creeps
About the shack
Where a man sits
Thinking
Of an old gray town
And old gray wells
And the cling of ivy on cool gray stone
Outside the shack
Pines stand black against the moon
And about their bases the tangled upturned roots of dead trees
Claw at the creeping darkness
While he dreams of summer gardens
And the vivid stones of an old gray town

II.
He plants a crop or two.
Sometimes the frost comes,
Sometimes the hail,
Sometimes he harvests well.
He is old and bent,
And his little sons are young.
The beauty of the seasons comes and goes
Through eternal change
Into eternal summer.
And summer for him is but a time of growth,
And his sons grow tall and go their
And careful husbanding of hay.
Then he dies
And his sons grow tall and go their ways.

WHEN PLANES GET STRANDED ON MUD FLATS

The latest thing in aviation circles is the "rescue sled" shown above. Many planes get disabled in tests and are compelled to land on mud flats near the Naval Air Station, San Diego, Calif. So this sled, which draws but eight inches of water, carries six men and travels 30 miles an hour, was devised. It tows the planes.

CATERING TO U. S. MILLIONS

French Hotel Keepers Have Conference—Large Sum Spent by Tourists.

Sixty thousand American travelers, of whom about four-fifths may be reckoned as tourists, land in France every month from May to September. About half of them are direct to France, disembarking at Cherbourg or Harve. Others land at Antwerp and look over Belgium on their way to Paris. Still others reach France after stopping over in England or Italy. One way or another it may be calculated that 300,000 Americans see France during the summer months. It is estimated that every one of these travelers spends in Europe an average of $500. This gives a total of $150,000,000. Most Americans visiting Europe make their longest stay in France. French statisticians reckon that a third of the money spent by every American visiting Europe finds its way into French pockets. This evidently is a clientele worth developing, and a conference of hotel and restaurant keepers in France has been considering in what respects they can offer better service to the visitors.

French Hotel System Slow.

Why is the improvement in hygiene and comfort in many French hotels so slow? Why are there still in the provinces so many hotels where the sanitary system dates from around the time of Louis Philippe, and where visitors can draw arguments for the charge that a spirit of careless negligence for modern conveniences reigns in France? These were the first questions posed at the conference, and one of the answers given was unexpected. Partly the slowness of improvement in these respects is due to the failure of the propaganda which steadily is being carried on to take effect on standard hotelkeepers. But largely it is due to the peculiarity of the French taxing system. Hotels in France are divided into three classes—those ranked as hotels de luxe, which pay a tax of 10 per cent; those which pay 8 per cent, and those which pay 1 1/2 per cent. For obvious reasons this classification is a delicate matter and the system gives rise to constant dispute between the authorities and the hotelkeepers. But it has the further result of actually restraining the two lower classes of hotels from making improvements, due to the fear that if they do so they may be ranked higher and liable to an additional tax. Hotelkeepers protest, reasonably enough, that cleanliness is not luxury and that the fact that one puts in bathrooms and running water in his bedrooms does not at all imply that he is catering for a rich clientele. The French taxing authorities, however, seem to be slow in grasping the idea that water and cleanliness ought not to be taxed.

Subject of Cookery.

But it is concluded that the average French hotelkeeper may not equal the British or the Swiss in comfort and hygiene, at least, it was argued, there is a department of his business where his traditional superiority ought to outweigh other defects. He has always to his credit the asset of the French chef.

"You can't have good cooking without good cooks, and good cooks are becoming more and more hard to find," was the disconcerting statement of a leading hotelkeeper of central France. According to him, cooking, like all other artistic professions, is suffering from a shortage of recruits. The profession of a chef is a career with a future. It is one of the rare professions in which a worker can make a fortune. But nowadays the more or less necessary conditions of apprenticeship are abolished, and so France is full of potentially good cooks who have missed their vocations. The Blois conference broadcast a call for recruits to "this essentially French profession with which is bound up the fate of a desirable art—the art of good living."

Why in many French hotels does the foreign visitor, when it comes to paying his bill, get the impression that he is being robbed? This was another question raised at the conference, and it was conceded that there are hotelkeepers who vary their prices according to the appearance of their client, the quantity of his baggage, or the horsepower of his automobile.

But the more general reason assigned was that the visitor is not sufficiently advised in advance not so much of the actual tariff, but of the various extras and taxes. The addition of 10 per cent, to the bill, which has replaced most everywhere, the old system of individual tipping, is accepted by the foreign visitor without difficulty.

Where he begins to make faces is when he finds that there are taxes that he never expected, that all kinds of extras seem out of reasonable proportion to the straight price of his room, and that one way and another his bill is perhaps a third more than he had reckoned it ought to be.

How is this to be avoided? Easily enough if hotel keepers will carry into effect the recommendation of the conference which is thus paraphrased by a French journalist who attended: "My good friends, the hotel keepers, display your prices, display your taxes, avoid in every way possible disagreeable surprises for your visitors when they pay their bills. You will gain by it morally and financially."

ARE PREPARING TO QUIT STRIKE AREA

Sydney, N. S., July 27.—Although no ranking officer in the district will admit having received orders to evacuate Cape Breton, preparations are proceeding daily for the early departure from the island of the military forces called here about a month ago.

This afternoon the garrison at Reservoir was withdrawn to Sydney and detachments from various other places are being called in. Very few provincial policemen are to be seen in the district and it is evident that a considerable number of them has been mustered out of the service.

FORM GOES WHEN SUMMONSES COME

Toronto, July 27.—Racing sheet vendors know the worst. Last night summonses were served on a round dozen, charges being laid under the provincial act prohibiting the sale of betting information. In addition several summonses have been served charging news dealers and employers of newsboys with contributing to infantile delinquency. Newsboys will not for the present be charged but any of the older boys who persist in disobeying the law will be dealt with accordingly. The cases will be heard before Judge Denton on Monday morning. Further prosecutions are momentarily expected. Simultaneously with this swoop, Racing Form, even in its abbreviated and attenuated form is not visible today on street corners.

SAYS HE KNOWS NOTHING OF BOOKS

Sydney, July 27.—J. B. McLachlan, deposed secretary, District 26, United Mine Workers of America, told friends here today that he had no knowledge of the whereabouts of the books and documents reported missing from the United Mine Workers' headquarters.

WHEN SHALL WE THREE MEET.

Al Tolson, black-face comedian, does a little straight comedy with the picturesque gargoyles atop Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris.

He said that when he relinquished office he took nothing away except a few personal belongings and some notations made from the books themselves. In other quarters it is rumored that the "missing books" are intact and in safekeeping and that they will probably in the near future be produced in court. Whale oil is fast going out of demand.

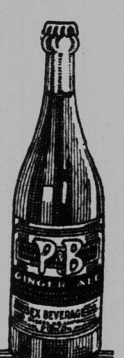

SHERIFF PREVENTS MOB GETTING MEN

St. Joseph, Mich., July 27.—A mob of several hundred men, bent upon obtaining two negroes held on charges of attacking a white woman at Benton Harbor Sunday night, menaced the county jail here today and were prevented from storming the structure only by a show of bravery on the part of the sheriff, who established a "dead line" which the mob was afraid to cross.

Young Traveler Crossing Ocean

Georges Delrue, Aged 21-2 Years, Sailing on Minnedosa—Going to St. John's

Montreal, July 29.—Master Georges Delrue who as a passenger on the Minnedosa is rather in a class by himself as a youthful traveler, Georges having attained the age of two and one-half years, Master Delrue is travelling on his own, so to speak, having entrusted himself to the care of the officials of the corporation both on land and sea, and his youthful age makes him the probable record holder for unattended travel. Georges is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Delrue, of St. John's, Que., where the father is an official in the Franco-American Dyers Company. When the parents came to Canada to settle, the child was left in the care of the grandparents at Tourcoing, Nord, situated near the Belgian border. Having been permanently located, the father made arrangements for the passage of his son from his native town to the new home. Accordingly, necessary arrangements were completed, and Master Georges is now on the Atlantic, and enjoying all the privileges obtainable on board of the Minnedosa.

TO SHUT REFINERIES TILL SURPLUS LESS

Chicago, July 27.—Action to close every refinery in the mid-continent field for the month of August, as a step toward the reduction of the present surplus of gasoline and crude oil, was approved today by a group of leading oil men of the southwest, representing the Western Petroleum Refiners' Association and the American Oilmen's Association, officers of the latter organization declared. The action was proposed jointly by J. S. Cowden, head of the Cowden interests, and E. W. Marland, of the Marland Oil Co.

MEN RUSH FOR SHAMPOOS AS A COOLING PROCESS

London, July 18.—(By Mail)—The underground stations were visited by hundreds, and the temperature there was 20 degrees to 25 degrees less than above ground. Men selling mechanical fans at the "Made in Germany" did a roaring trade, reads an article in "The London Daily Times," describing the recent heat wave there. Barbers were kept busy by men seeking cooling shampoos and lotions and an enterprising haberdashier exhibited an "oil comb" hat at 5s. 6d. for coolness and comfort.

The white top hat came into its own and was worn by many men from Sir Gerald de Marrier to J. H. Taylor in a golf match at Broomhouse. Men in white suits were fairly common in the city streets.

The Southern Railway (South-western Section) is displaying conspicuous notices at stations that drinking water may be obtained free of charge in the refreshment rooms or from the attendant of any restaurant car train. Where there is no restaurant car on a long distance run water may be obtained during the stop at the principal stations.

Bad Luck Dogged Steps of Seaman

Attempt to Reach New York by Land Met With Complete Failure.

Montreal, July 28.—"How canst thou in this pickle?" asked one of Shakespeare's characters. Applying this question to himself, Henry Pickles, now recuperating in Montreal, is inclined to think it must be on account of his name. Else why should an inoffensive well-intentioned young man be so persistently pursued by ill-fortune?

In common parlance, Henry, who is a sailor, hailing originally from Yorkville, has been hoodwinked the last few weeks, so much so that, looking out from the shelter of the Sailors' Institute at the harbor of Montreal, and all that therein lies he wonders whether it will be wise to again venture out of port.

As has been said, Mr. Pickles is an ancient-sporting young man with a lush and gentleness looking out from his blue, long-lashed eyes. But there is something on his conscience, and for five weeks ago he defied the law of the United States, and from that time his steps have been hounded by trouble.

Henry and a friend of his, being patriotic Brits, are wise of always serving on British ships, but four or five weeks ago no British ship in the harbor of Montreal could make use of their services. Sailors are not apt to have much money in reserve, so on consulting together the two friends decided to try their luck in the port of New York. That meant, of course, crossing the border, not an easy thing to achieve these days. Henry and his friend came to the conclusion it was best to travel light, to strive to appear like two young men merely out for a pleasant country stroll. It would never do to attempt to go through the danger zone bearing the marks of travel. So they each carried a spare collar and tie.

They crossed the border, they saw a town in the distance, and changed their collars and ties. There was a Y.M.C.A. on the main street and they hastened to this haven. They were greeted by the officer in charge, were questioned to a not alarming extent and were shown into a pleasant room. And then, oh, embarrassment and bitter disappointment, they found they were locked in for ten long weary hours. And when they were finally let out it was to walk into the arms of two stern immigration officials. They were escorted back to the border and told to "beat it." Which they did.

Coal Fell On Head.

Travel-worn, repentant, Henry arrived back in Montreal. Still no British ship wanted him in his stated capacity of chief cook, so he signed on a Norwegian vessel bound for Antwerp. So did four other sailors hailing from the British Isles. The ship swung into midstream. But the men found conditions in the ship were not as they had been led to expect. Theruppon Henry's four friends went on strike, but Henry, when told to go down into the lower regions of the ship and shovel coal, thought discretion the better part of valor and obeyed. But poor reward, he chose an inappropriate spot in which to stand and after the very first shovel several pounds of coal descended on his defenceless head and laid him low. When Quebec was reached the four striking mariners left the ship suddenly and secretly, and Henry made his escape via the hospital.

Two or three weeks and Henry recovered and returned to Montreal. Three days ago he signed on as chief cook with the Margaret Coughlan, a Vancouver timber-carrying boat. The ship was unloading timber at the time he went on, Henry remembered afterwards, and he entered the ship's cabin to get his instructions; he issued forth again onto the deck. He did not see the arm of the derrick descending with a piece of B. C. fir, nor did he see Henry in time to warn him, and so the movement of the piece of timber and the unfortunate sailor exactly coincided, collision was unavoidable. Mr. Pickles, who is temporarily lame, takes his misfortune philosophically; he hopes for better luck next time.

HOME REPUDIATES STAMBOULISKY AS ENEMY OF PEOPLE

Town Where He Was Born Wants Its Name Changed

(Canadian Press) Sofia, Bulgaria, July 27.—The little village of Slavovitsa, where Premier Stamboulsky was born and where his star set after the battle between regular troops and the "yellow guard" on June 9, is weary of the notoriety which attaches to its name because of the Stamboulsky incident, and wants it changed. It has petitioned the Ministry of the Interior to change its designation to Borisovo, in honor of the king.

Slavovitsa is especially resentful because Stamboulsky, within a month or two of the tragedy in which his life ended, ordered the seizure of a considerable part of its communal land and distributed it among exiles, to induce them to settle down and take up agriculture. An echo of this seizure was heard when Stamboulsky was attacked by villagers, including people from Slavovitsa. One of the remarks directed at Stamboulsky in that time was: "You have devoured our land; now our land will devour you."

JUGGLING WITH COLORS.

Remarkable Advance in Science Reported From France.

Paris, July 28.—A remarkable advance has been made in the science of color by a Frenchman, whose name has not yet been divulged. The discovery—which is said to be of equal importance to the cinema and photography—deals with filtering light to both neutralize and produce colors. Eleven filters have already been produced. The materials and objects on which the color filter reacts are painted or designed in advance. One filter, for instance, makes a dress appear entirely black. A second filter will bring out in the design alternate lozenges of black and purple. The third might bring out yellow spots and a green lozenge.

No technical explanation of the discovery has yet been made except that it deals entirely with a profound knowledge of the solar spectrum. It is entirely physical and concerns a selection of colors which harmonize with each other. "The principle of complementary colors is dispelled, and combinations of colors which no artist can copy are produced." It is stated.

RAISING OF INDIA'S FLAG CAUSES GREAT ENTHUSIASM

Emblem Hoisted on Town Hall at Jubilee on Four Days; Many Held.

Nagpur, India, June 20.—(Associated Press Mail)—Demonstrations held in connection with the display of the Indian national flag continue daily in Nagpur, and have spread to other cities in India. Arrests in Nagpur for flag agitation now total 360. As a rule the prisoners are given brief prison sentences.

At Jubilee the national flag has been hoisted over the Town Hall on four separate days, with resulting arrests by the police on each occasion. The initial hoisting of the flag was preceded by a street procession in which about 8,000 people, including many women, took part.

One of the men then climbed the flagpole and fastened the flag, encouraged by loud cheering from the people below. The crowd which witnessed the scene is estimated at 20,000.

GREEK ZEALOTS AROUSED BY MODERN WOMEN'S ATTIRE

Athens, July 8 (A. P. By Mail)—Fashionable women in Athens and foreign dress, are being terrorized by the violent activities of a local organization which terms itself "The Zealots of Christ."

The members of this association have taken a vow to compel modesty in women's dress by force. Women wearing low necked gowns or going about with bare arms are often roughly handled, and the exposed parts of their persons are smeared with tar. In several cases recently the male escorts of women thus attacked have given the roughs some very severe beatings, but nevertheless the systematic campaign of molestation goes on.

ROMANCE ENDS IN COURT. New Rochelle, July 28.—Arraigned before Judge John Thiel in the City Court, Alice Sedens, 26, the Belgian nurse who refused to betray her fiancé in connection with the theft of jewelry from the home of former Congressman Lucius Littauer at Premont Point, was paroled with the understanding she return to her home in Belgium within a week.

William O'Donnell, 28, the girl's fiancé who pawned the stolen goods in a New York pawnshop, was fined $80. The girl paid the fine out of $270 she had saved. O'Donnell, member of the A. E. F., met the girl in September, 1918, when he was taken wounded to a Flanders hospital, where she then was a nurse. She became infatuated with him and followed him here after the armistice and intended to marry him next month. Protesting, she did not wish to return to Belgium, the girl pathetically cried she wanted to stay here with O'Donnell, whom she wedded last month. This ended this romance conceived in a hospital near Flanders Fields.

Klan, Kamelia Curbed in State By Court Order

Injunction Based on Affidavit That Orders Altered Charter Papers.

Albany, July 28.—Activities of the Ku-Klux Klan and its women's auxiliary, Kamelia, have been halted in New York State, at least so far as any corporate acts are concerned, by a temporary injunction issued by Supreme Court Justice Hinman of Albany, restraining both organizations from functioning. The writ is accompanied by an order to the organizations to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent, which will be argued here today before Supreme Court Justice Staley.

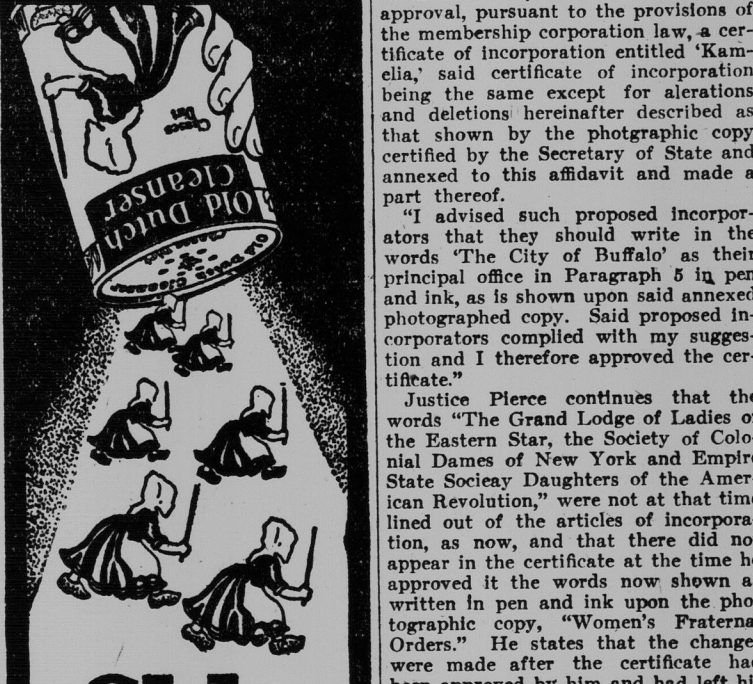

The injunction was obtained after a flying trip by Deputy Attorney-General Griffin by automobile to Justice Hinman's summer home, at Warner's Lake. Say Papers Were Altered.

The state's case is based upon an affidavit from Supreme Court Justice George E. Pierce of Buffalo, who approved the incorporation papers of both organizations, to the effect that the papers were altered between the time he approved them and when they were filed in the Secretary of State's office.

If a permanent injunction is obtained, it is declared the organizations will be open to prosecution by the District Attorney of any county where they have been operating as violating the Walker law, passed at the last session and intended to compel the Klan to unmask.

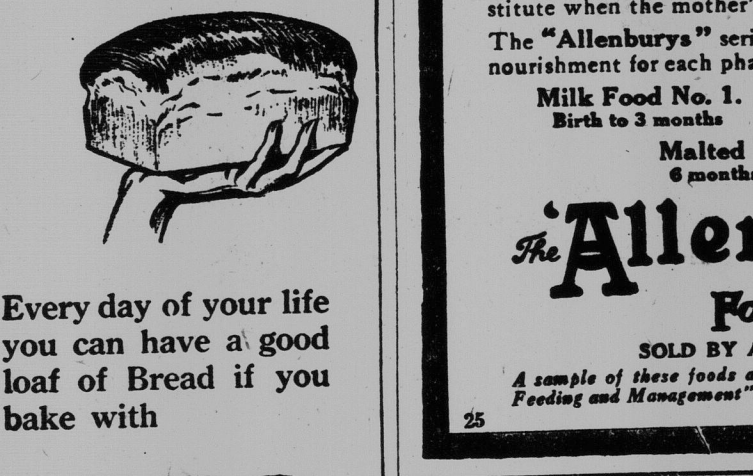

Justice Pierce's Affidavit. Justice Pierce's affidavit was similar to the case of both the Klan and Kamelia. In connection with the letter he says:—

C. Bryant of Buffalo, N. Y., and one E. D. Smith, who were introduced to me with a group of other persons unknown to me. They presented to me for my signature a copy of the charter of the Ku-Klux Klan, which I signed and returned to them. They presented to me for my signature a copy of the charter of the Kamelia, which I signed and returned to them. They presented to me for my signature a copy of the charter of the Ku-Klux Klan, which I signed and returned to them. They presented to me for my signature a copy of the charter of the Kamelia, which I signed and returned to them.

A Drive to Lorneville on a Bright Afternoon Shows Much to Charm.

A drive to Lorneville on a bright afternoon is one occasion that is fraught with glorious possibilities of view and pretty little incidents. The highway of gravel is slowly becoming a good firm road. Variety of scenery is the great charm of this route, with the broad sea at the left and richly wooded land to the right as one passes from the city along Manawagonish Road. Here a fresh breeze fans one's cheeks and long stretches of green fields and marshland separate the farms. One stands out to greet the passer-by or are hidden by greenery and large trees. Not long ago one had recourse to this route on a very hot day, the advantages of being near the sea were never more appreciated.

OUTING FOR ORPHANS.

The Misses Frost, matrons of the British street Protestant Orphan's Home, are giving their charges an outing at Seaside Park today, after 3 o'clock, through the kindness of the president of the board, D. C. Clark, and the members of the board. The pavilion used by the Lady Byng Day Camp will be appropriated by the young visitors, after the hour named, and all are contemplating a most enjoyable afternoon. Yesterday at the camp, Miss Florence Warwick, who has been such a helper in the Booster Club of the Y. W. C. A. during the last winter, was a ready assistant at the camp, helping Mrs. Campbell and particularly Miss Mary Eason, R.N., with the romping time for the children.

W. A. OUTING.

About twenty members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Church enjoyed an outing yesterday afternoon at Seaside Park. Although the weather was not all that might be desired it did not interfere materially with the plans for the day. A programme of games and sports was run off and a general good time had. The party left the city about three o'clock in the afternoon and returned last evening after enjoying supper at the Park. This is the second of a series of outings which the members of the auxiliary have arranged. Mrs. Samuel Willis is the president.

MOTORS
And Their Care

Practical Suggestions for Insuring the Longevity of the Car.

The Storage Battery.
One of the most harmful influences to guard against in summer is overheating. This condition is always due to one or more of the following causes: Neglect to keep the battery filled with pure distilled water is one of the greatest evils, as well as the most common, and will shorten its life quicker than anything else. Evaporation of water in the solution is continuous. If the level of the water is permitted to reach the point below the tops of the plates the upper portion is left exposed and dries. If only one-half of the surface of the plate is covered by the solution, a normal charging rate is equivalent to twice the amount of current which should go through the covered portion. This causes rapid overheating and damage not seen at the time, but which results in considerable expense later. The temperature in the battery should not be allowed to exceed 110 degrees Fahrenheit.

Foot Stunts of Some Motorists.
Allowing the clutch to engage suddenly. Failing to heed the squeak that calls for oil. Failing to disengage the clutch before shifting gears. Pushing in the starting button when the engine is running. Driving fast and attempting to stop suddenly on a wet pavement. Trying to start the engine with the switch turned off or without "gas" in the tank. Shifting from third to second or first gear when the car is running at a high speed. Opening the throttle quickly, without giving the engine a chance to pick up gradually. Neglecting to familiarize themselves with the use of the hand lever brake, thus being prepared for emergencies.

To Clean Radiator Thoroughly.
Drain the radiator. Dissolve one pound of washing soda in five gallons of water. Strain the mixture through a cloth and pour into the radiator; then run the engine for five minutes. Unscrew the plug from the bottom of the radiator and drain thoroughly. If there should be a petcock instead of a plug unscrew the entire petcock, so that the sediment may run freely. Then flush the system with fresh water and run the engine while doing so. Be sure that all the solution is washed from the radiator and engine water jackets.

should be protected from the gasses when running the engine. This is easily accomplished by running a metal pipe from the end of the exhaust out through a hole in the wall of the garage, thereby carrying the dangerous exhaust fumes out into the open air.

Wobbly Front Wheels.
The "shimmying" of front wheels is due to the housing of the steering gears working loose from its support to the frame of the car. In this case, a careful inspection should be made of the entire mechanism and all parts of support, and contact should be tightened.

Battery Intelligence.
A storage battery is an electro-chemical combination and very sensitive to influences which would not affect any of the mechanical parts of the car. Certain conditions will produce results which may pit it out of commission at any time during its life.

For Squeaky Wheels.
Occasionally wheels cause squeaking due to the hubs becoming loose or the spokes drying out. A few drops of kerosene oil allowed to work into the spoke joints will usually eliminate the noise.

Tire Preparedness.
When starting away on a long tour, the car should be well tired. Place the best tires on the rear wheels, and carry the oldest as spares. Have some extra tubes along, as well as patches and a blowout patch for the casing.

Letting in the clutch too quickly, spinning the back wheels in mudholes, taking corners at high speed, and locking the brakes means a short life for

White lead or other material containing oil should never be used to stop a leak in a gasoline connection.

Defective gaskets, which permit air leaks or the partial obstruction of the inlet passages, will cause misfiring.

A cylinder that grates and scrapes at every stroke of the piston is overheated from the stoppage of the oil supplies.

There is a constant loss of power when the clutch is allowed to slip.

When any wires about the car become oil soaked, they should be replaced with new ones.

Small leaks in a float can be easily detected by dipping the float in boiling water.

Lined oil mixed with a small amount of graphite makes an excellent lubricant for door hinges.

GEM THIEF WAS NONCHALANT
Stored Out of New York Store With $10,000 Worth of Rings.

New York, July 28.—The police are attempting to locate a man who walked quietly out of Saks and Company's department store yesterday with between $10,000 and $15,000 worth of diamonds and platinum rings, which he took from a showcase.

The theft is said to be one of the cleverest of the kind for some time in New York.

The man, the detectives were told, walked into the jewelry department of the store and engaged a clerk in conversation at the showcase where the rings were kept. The clerk went to wait on another customer and the thief reached around the corner of the showcase and pocketed an entire tray of rings. The loss was not observed until the clerk came back, when the thief had strolled out of the store.

of Pensions for the cost of ex-servicemen in mental hospitals, says an item in "The London Daily News."
H. Motum said the Newcastle committee were of opinion that the cost of maintenance should be borne by the ministry and not transferred to the Board of Guardians. There was strong feeling in Newcastle against ex-servicemen becoming practically paupers.

The guardians had declined to accept responsibility for such men and there was a deadlock in the matter locally. The chairman said that he preferred that no resolution be moved in the matter and that it should be referred back to the executive with power to act. Soldiers' organizations and the guardians would make effective representations.

French Dislike Rush For Divorces There

Americans Are Criticised For Evading Their Own Laws to Seek Escape in Paris.

Paris, July 28.—Inquiries among American lawyers in Paris indicate that getting divorces here has become a fashion among the number of them granted. One-third the judges, being Catholics, disapprove of divorce upon religious grounds; another third is described as regarding with disfavor applications of foreigners for divorce, and the remaining third of the bench look upon the matter with indifference.

Sentiment in legal circles of Paris is developing strongly against the French courts being utilized for the convenience of Americans who are unwilling to resort to their own courts, preferring to establish legal domicile in France to claim the rights that accrue to them under French law.

The divorce granted to Irene Castle Treman, the dancer, from her husband, Captain Robert E. Treman of Ithaca, N. Y., appears to have been arranged by mutual consent on the ground that she refused to observe the marital relations, and upon her application.

Such a method is usual in French procedure, which allows divorces by reciprocal consent, unlike American law. Under French practice it is recognized to be entirely correct for the husband and the wife to determine upon a divorce when the only solution of their domestic difficulty appears to them to be a dissolution of their marriage.

In such cases the judge gives the applicants a certain period of time within which to reconcile their differences. If when that period elapses, they remain unconciliated, the decree is granted if other conditions are fulfilled.

War Office Turns Down $1,000,000 Check

American check proffered by a delegation of citizens of Chicago recently.

Washington, July 28.—The War Department calmly refused to take a million-dollar check proffered by a delegation of citizens of Chicago recently. More than a score of prominent Chicagoans, accompanied by Senator McKinley, called on the chief of engineers of the War Department, General Lansing H. Beach, to discuss with him the question of an adequate flow of water from Lake Michigan to meet the needs of the Chicago sanitary district.

The proposition of the delegation is that certain "compensating works" be built in the St. Claire and Niagara rivers, the effect of which would be to maintain the lakes at their proper levels. The sanitary district of Chicago is willing to pay for construction and maintenance.

The delegation put the million-dollar check before General Beach as an evidence it meant business. Beach said he had no authority to take it. The delegation will go to New England to take the matter up with Secretary of War Weeks.

A certain professor believes he can produce a fuel from weeds that will run an ordinary gas engine.

STUDEBAKER
Studebaker Light-Six
$1395
STUDEBAKER'S vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.
Resources, consisting of $85,000,000 of actual net assets and $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer a six-cylinder car, at less than $1500, that is emphatically superior in design, construction and performance to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.
By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middlemen's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.
Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect engine balance secured through machining the Light-Six crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. This requires 61 precision operations. No other car in Canada selling for less than $3500 follows this practice.
It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records. Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.
The Studebaker Light-Six was designed by Studebaker engineers and is manufactured complete in Studebaker's own plants which are notable in design, size and equipment for efficient and economical manufacture.
Studebaker factories, in cost and size, are the second largest of the world's automobile plants. They employ 20,000 people.
A more vivid idea of the magnitude of these plant facilities will be gained by the huge investments involved in single manufacturing departments. For instance, the Light-Six forge plant cost $4,000,000, which alone is more than the total assets of many automobile companies. Light-Six machine shops cost $7,000,000; the stamping plant, $4,000,000; power plants, $2,500,000. The new foundries will cost over $2,000,000.
Studebaker is the second strongest financially of the automobile manufacturers of the world.
These facts show why it is possible for Studebaker to produce the Light-Six—a truly remarkable car—and sell it for less than $1500.
No prospective buyer of an automobile should decide on anything until he has seen and driven the Light-Six. It is an achievement based on Studebaker's 71 years of manufacturing experience.

WHAT'S TO DO WITH CITY HALL

No Increased Accommodation This Year Believed Likely.

Jarvis Building Project Has Not Advanced, Nor Has That of Additional Storey

The matter of increased accommodation at City Hall is still very much in the air and from present indications it would seem as though nothing along that line would be provided during the present year at least.

Mayor Fisher when asked what had been done toward the acquisition of the Jarvis building to provide more room for the various departments and give offices for all the commissioners at City Hall, said matters were at a standstill for a time waiting further word from the owners of the building. He had written the Royal Trust Co. some weeks ago pointing out that the building was not as desirable a one for civic purposes as at first thought nor as readily adapted as an addition to City Hall and that this would have some bearing on the price to be paid, but he had not received an answer to this communication as yet.

The present City Hall building has been in use by the city for nearly fifty years, having been erected soon after the great fire of 1877. At that time it was quite large enough to house the city departments and for many years several of them had to seek accommodation outside, and those in the building were cramped for room.

Many suggestions have been made to remedy this condition of affairs. The erection of a modern municipal building, housing the courts, jails, registry office and civic and municipal officials has been proposed and since the burning of the old Court House this project has been given much consideration but up to the present the only action taken along these lines has been the appointment of a committee to outline a sketch of such a building and call for competitive plans. For this work a sum of $5,000 was voted by the Municipal Council last year.

There was a suggestion that an additional storey be placed on the ferry building and the engineering plan moved there, leaving the top floor of City Hall available for a council chamber and the hall. The committee dropped for the present as there was some question of the foundation carrying any additional weight.

It was also proposed that an additional storey be added to City Hall but there was objection to this the architectural beauty of the structure. Tenders are now being invited for a new roof and it would seem as though the idea had also gone by the board.

The most crowded department in the building is that of the chamberlain and the council chamber and ante-room are being used every day by members of the staff, who have to move when a meeting of the council is to be held. Since the installation of the elevator it has been repeatedly suggested that the council chamber be moved to the top of the building and the whole floor given over to the chamberlain.

As Hiram Sees It

"The fast time Premier Veniot comes town," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter, "I'm gonto ask him fer a job. I ain't lookin' fer no special favor—but jist fer a chance to serve the people."

"That's what they all say," observed the reporter. "You never heard any applicant for a position say anything else. For examples of real public spirit go to the Premier's anteroom and stick around."

"I ain't lookin' fer no pay," said Hiram. "That lets me out. What I want is a license to run a motor truck on the Robbsey road—the heaviest truck kin find. I jist want to mosey up an' down that road—keepin' right up to the side on my own side—and let them there smart guys run into me. I jist want to meet some o' them fellers that takes a curve at forty, mile an hour, an' strip 'em so's they'll remember me fer years after they git home."

"You bloodthirsty villain," said the reporter.

"No, sir," said Hiram, "I ain't. Do you mind when we was in the old spellin' class we used to hev to spell phlebotomy? An' the teacher told us jist give me a couple o' weeks to practise—an' keep that there Medical Society off my back—and you'll see more cures than that faith cure feller has been makin' in Noo York—By Hen!"

PRESSES FOR CAMP SITES

Auto Association Secretary Writes the Common Council

Says Free Camp Place in the City Would Do Good—Many Visitors.

American and Upper Canadian automobiles continue to pour into the city and province in increasing numbers. The office of the secretary of the New Brunswick Automobile Association has many callers and one had only to look into the streets to see many of the visiting cars. A traffic policeman told a Times reporter that he counted eight American cars on one afternoon this week parked in King street just below Charlotte.

The need for a camp site for automobiles is felt by many of the motorists who are in the immediate vicinity of the city being more clearly manifested every day, it was said by Charlton Berrie, secretary of the New Brunswick Automobile Association, and he expressed the hope that the City Council would take action in this matter at once.

The following letter was sent by him to the Common Council under date of July 18:

"In further reference to camping sites which have been such a success in other places as an attraction for tourists, enclosed find manuscript which is self-explanatory.

"One evening recently the writer was driving to Musquash and saw eight camping parties between Musquash and Spruce Lake and in the vicinity of Spruce Lake there were seven more.

"On Friday last fourteen auto parties were interviewed and eleven of them were carrying camping equipment.

"Several miles out of the city there are a few camping sites on by private individuals and the reports that the tourists give are very favorable indeed.

"There is no doubt that a free camp-site in the city of St. John under the control of the city would be a splendid advertisement for the city the same as it has been in other places."

Mr. Berrie pointed out that an increase in the class of tourist meant additional money spent and from statements which had been made to him by auto touring parties he was convinced that the average amount expended at each camping place would be about $20. If 1,000 cars passed through in a season it would mean that $20,000 had been spent with the merchants of the city.

These sites were in some instances maintained by the municipality wholly, in others there was a nominal charge when water and sanitary conveniences had been installed, but in all cases they had proved a decided success.

THOUGHT SERGT. WAS FIREMAN

Police Court Tale of a Boy Who Would Throw Stones.

A case of aggravated defiance of law and order was recited in the police court this morning when a juvenile was charged with throwing stones in Garden street and down into City road. The report was made by Sergeant Sullivan against a sixteen year old boy. The sergeant said that as he passed City road about nine o'clock in the morning a stone fell in front of him. He saw the boy standing in Garden street and held up his hand for him to stop throwing stones. The boy had surveyed him and continued to throw.

While the sergeant was trying to stop him he had thrown seven or eight stones. Women and children and several old men had been passing at the time and the stones had constituted a great danger to them. One of the men had told him that he had been forced to move away from the corner because of the stone throwing.

The sergeant said he had told one of the men of the fire station in City road to send a call into police headquarters for a plainclothesman to come and see if he could catch the lad. Detective Bidcombe had appeared upon the scene but the lad had recognized him and taken to his heels.

When asked what he had to say for himself the boy said that he thought Sergeant Sullivan was a fireman. He offered no excuse of defense. Magistrate Henderson imposed a fine of $4.

APPRECIATION OF WRITINGS OF REV. GEO. SCOTT

Rev. George Scott has received the following appreciation of his recent book, Ballads of Disarmament, from Rev. Clarence MacKinnon, Principal of Fine Hall College, Halifax:—

Presbyterian College, Halifax, N.S., July 23, 1923.

Dear Mr. Scott—Your little book of poems has come to hand and I cannot tell you how pleased I am with them. I opened it just to glance at them but before I had the book closed I had read all of them. I doubt if we have in Canada a nature poet that has so refined and delicate an art as you possess. Perhaps the bits that caught me most on first reading were: "God's Way," "Autumn Came and Whispered," "Moonlight on the Snow," "Cleverly done," "Perfect Days" especially "October," and "The Hoop," "Summer Song" and, of course, "The Ser," but on another reading I have no doubt I would pick a dozen more. There is not much variety in the merit. They are all good.

I envy the poet's soul and the poet's eyes. Of all mortal gifts these are the greatest.

Accept my congratulations and best wishes and thanks.

I remain,
Yours very truly,
CLARENCE MACKINNON.
