WIDOW GETS $1000

Insanity Entitled Member of I.O.F. to Disability Benefit. Ottawa, June 18.—(Special)—The widow of Angus MacCaig of Ottawa wins her case against the Independent Order of Foresters and gets $1,000 and the right to take action for a second $1,000 for insurance on her husband's life. MacCaig was a member in good standing with $2,000 insurance, when he became insane. Then his dues became unpaid and he was suspended. Application was made for disability benefits and they were refused on the grounds that such application could only be considered when the member was in good standing. Judge Clute today held that since these benefits were due MacCaig, when he became insane, he should then have received $1,000 without paying any further dues and it did not matter whether the benefits were claimed at once or later.

JOHN MARTIN DROWNED IN THE HARBOR THIS MORNING

He Was a Member of the Crew of the Pilot Boat David Lynch and Was in a Small Boat Which Capsized—His Body Recovered and Taken to Partridge Island.

A sad fatality marked the arrival of the pilot boat David Lynch in the harbor this morning when one of the crew, John Martin, was drowned near the Beacon Bar. The body was recovered and taken to Partridge Island where it awaits inspection by Coroner Berryman. Martin had been away on the pilot boat about a week and on entering the harbor this morning he left the vessel in a small boat near Partridge Island for the purpose of visiting his family and also to get water and attend to several other duties. On leaving the vessel he hoisted sail in the small boat and was seen to get underway for Reed's Point. A few minutes later cry was raised on the pilot boat that Martin's craft had capsized and one of the pilots, William Murray, immediately put off in a row boat to the rescue. Mr. Murray says he saw what he thought was Martin floating near the capsize boat and rowed toward it as quickly as possible but on reaching the spot could see nothing but one of the empty water kegs. Though he rowed all around he could find no trace of the missing man and his efforts to find the capsize boat proved fruitless. Finally coming to the conclusion that Martin was drowned he towed the boat to Partridge Island and on righting it there the body was found attached to the sheet rope of the sail. Apparently Martin had the sheet rope twisted about his arm when the boat capsized. The men on the pilot boat are at a loss to explain how the accident happened unless it was that Martin had attempted to step forward and lost his balance and thus overturned the boat. The body was taken ashore at the island and the pilot boat came up to Pettigill wharf and word was sent to Coroner Berryman. It had not been the intention of the pilot boat to come to the wharf but only to get the news and additional supplies when she would again have sailed out the bay. In consequence of the accident, however, the boat was brought up to the wharf where she lies with her flag at half-mast. Martin was 35 years of age and is highly spoken of by all who knew him. He was for many years employed with Leonard Bros., wholesale fish dealers and last winter worked at longshore work. He joined the crew of the David Lynch on May 2nd. His home was at 210 Prince William street and he leaves a widow and three small children. The body of John Martin who was drowned this morning between Partridge Island and the Beacon Bar, was brought to Reed's Point this afternoon and conveyed to Fitzpatrick's undertaking rooms.

Mr. Weddall was then introduced on his return to the conference from the Nova Scotia and made an able address. The following report was read by J. Hunter White: "That the assessment on the ministers be raised to 4 per cent and on the churches of the three conferences from $5,300 to $6,500 to raise the deficit into the surplus." The resolution was passed. Adjourned until ten o'clock.

HE COULD RUN SOME

Man Arrested by John Collins for Begging Was a Lively Sprinter. A dark horse to the sprinting line was unearthed last evening at the Union Station, when a stranger captured by I. C. R. Policeman Collins, escaped from the big blue coat and electrified a crowd of people by making record breaking time almost the entire length of the train shed and out to Mill street. The man was reported to the officer as begging on the Boston train, which was made up on the track just outside of the shed. Collins went aboard the train and took the man into custody. He had hardly stepped off the car platform with his prisoner, when with a quick jerk, the man shook his grip upon his arm and dashed up the shed at a warm pace. So quick did it happen that he passed by all hands without effort being made to apprehend him, and when last seen was going toward the north end, taking the middle of the street. It is believed that this person is the same man who was put off the outgoing suburban train at Westfield on Thursday evening, for begging from the passengers. On that occasion he told of having a broken leg and showed a "swollen" knee. His little spirit of last evening would indicate that his recovery was rapid indeed. The train handle report more "bums" on trains this season than for some time, but say this fellow was the king pin of them all.

GOLD MEDALS FOR WRIGHTS

Ohio Aviators Honored by Their State, Their City and Their Nation. Dayton, O., June 18.—The nation, the state and the city in which they live today paid tribute to Wilbur and Orville Wright, the aviators. Standing on a platform not far from their unpretentious little aeroplane factory, and almost within sight of a field where they first struggled with the problem of aerial navigation, General James Allen, chief signal officer of the army, assigned by Secretary of War Dickinson for the purpose, presented to the Wright Bros the gold medals awarded by act of congress. At the same time were given them a diamond studded medal bearing the official seal of the State of Ohio and another from Dayton, their home city. After the presentation ceremonies the crowds witnessed a parade of floats depicting the development of locomotion in America. This was headed by an Indian runner, and after the various stages from the ox cart to the automobile had been shown was concluded by an aeroplane, with the suggestion that the next route for speeding would be among the clouds.

WESTERN AUTO RACES FOR VANDERBILT CUP

The first of them was run today in fine weather and with a large field of starters. Crown Point, Ind., June 18.—The first of the "Western Vanderbilt" automobile races was run today in perfect June weather and under a track as smooth as time. The race was started by Fred W. Wagner, who officiated in a similar capacity in all the Vanderbilt's run on Long Island. Ass. Paine, of Minneapolis, acted as referee. Leaving the grandstand the machines flashed away over a straight stretch of 14 miles where a sharp turn brought them into one of the principal streets of Crown Point for a start of 7 miles. At the end of this they turned to the northwest for an irregular four mile run to Cedar Lake. On this leg there are three sharp corners and three easy ones, including the picturesque "S." At the end of Cedar Lake there begins a straight away of 6.7 miles. The road is rolling but the grade is gradually descending the way to Lowell. At Lowell after passing under a viaduct the road takes a sharp turn to the east. Half a mile out it turns sharply around a cemetery and then is straight away for three miles. Turning north again there is a straight stretch of 7.1 miles which brings the cars past the grand stand. The First Regiment, of Chicago, arrived last night and marched through the town to the grand stand where they pitched their shelter tents. So large was the throng of visitors that every available sleeping space last night was soon occupied and the late comers were forced to walk about until it was time to go out to the course. Many women spent the night in the tonnage of their cars or hastily improvised camps. The grand stand began to fill early and at six o'clock dashes of color could be seen where women had already taken their places. At the hour of start the stand was filled to its capacity and throughout the countryside there were hastily erected seats at promising locations taken up by hundreds of onlookers. Adolph Magnus, Florence Packard and Harriet Barnes, all of Chicago, were injured early today by the overturning of their auto, in which they were speeding to the motor race. The car, in which

SOCIETY WOMEN USE TEETH ON EACH OTHER

Function Which Mrs. Howard Gould Attended Was Enlivened by Biting and Thumping Encounters by Members of the "Swell Set"—Many Bore Marks of the Fray.

New York, June 18.—The procession of servants and employes of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gould to the witness stand continued today. Since the first day early in the week, when the plaintiff lost control of her feelings and wept during a services recital of unpleasant incidents Mrs. Gould has kept herself well in hand, merely expressing her disapproval of the testimony by a determined shake of her head or an incredulous smile. After a dull day yesterday for the excitement-loving spectators, who crowded the courtroom, when most of the time was occupied by the singing reading of depositions of absent witnesses by the lawyers, the sensation came just before the close of the day's proceedings by the appearance of Herbert Schmidt, the Gouk's footman from October 1904 to May 1905. Schmidt told the story on the witness stand of a gathering of several well known women, at which Mrs. Gould was present, in the apartment of Mrs. George Underwood Kirkpatrick, when, according to Schmidt the hostess' arm was bitten, another woman received a black eye and he found Mrs. Gould in the cellar of the house weeping. Mr. Nicol, the defendant's counsel, said today that there was a possibility that he would reach the client during the day and call Mr. Gould to testify in his own behalf. Mr. Shearn the plaintiff's counsel, promised a severe cross examination of Mr. Gould, if this happens.

A SHEFFIELD MAN IS FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR

Frederick Day Passed Away Suddenly at His Home Last Evening—Heart Failure the Cause—Fire at St. Marys. Fredericton, N. B., June 18.—(Special)—Frederick Day, of Sheffield was found dead at his home at that place last evening. He and his brother kept house together and the latter had been absent from home for several days. Last evening a relative notified that the house was in darkness, went in to investigate and was shocked to find Frederick's body lying upon the floor. He had been dead for some hours and it is supposed heart failure was the cause. Deceased was forty-five and unmarried. He leaves five brothers, Mr. Temple Day, of Marysville, Dr. Day, of St. John, Albert, of Sheffield, Frank of the steamer Hampshire and Captain Day, of the steamer May Queen. The McFarlane-Neil Mill Company's factory at St. Marys was damaged by fire this morning. An employee named Bailey visited the basement about nine o'clock and appears to have dropped a lighted match on the floor. Some time afterwards smoke was seen issuing from the basement and the St. Marys Fire Department was called out. Upon examination it was found that the flames had ignited a quantity of turpentine and varnish and at one time the flames looked serious. The fire was a good water system, however, and the firemen, by hard work, were able to keep the flames confined to the basement. The loss is estimated at $500 and is covered by insurance.

AMUSING ASSAULT CASE IN THE POLICE COURT THIS MORNING—AUTOMOBILIST REPORTED FOR OVERSPEEDING IS DISMISSED

In the police court this morning Denis Sullivan whom it was reported had been taken to the hospital after being injured on a technical point by the sheriff, protested vigorously that he was not intoxicated last night on North Market street. Evidently he was piqued at being in the toils again with a term in the penitentiary confronting him and also realizing that his explanation from his mouthpiece went for naught. Acting Detective Lucas testified that Sullivan was intoxicated. Sullivan in a statement asserted that as he was strolling down North Market street he was accosted by Lucas and placed under arrest. He claimed that the officer arrested him on the charge of lurching and that Patrolman McCollum struck his head negatively when he (Sullivan) inquired if he was intoxicated. A fine of $5 or two months was imposed and after Patrolman Tom Perry had reviewed his testimony with reference to Sullivan wounding him with the pocket knife on the 10th inst., the accused was released. The evidence of Dr. G. A. B. Kelly will conclude the preliminary examination. Percy Hanson pleaded not guilty to running his touring car faster than twelve miles an hour on Wednesday night. Patrolman McCollum testified that when the motorist passed him on Mill street in the corner of North street the speed was not less than twenty miles an hour in his estimation. He is estimated at $500 and is covered by insurance.

PRINCESS ZARA
BY ROSS BECKMAN.

I hesitated. The opportunity was an alluring one in a way, for it would render the entire organization like an open book to me. But more than all else was the communion of interest that would thus be created between this pitiless woman and me. Still, there were other things to be considered. The danger I would thus incur might render impotent the entire fabric that I had constructed with so much care, and truth to tell I could not bring myself to the point of utilizing a woman's confidence in order ultimately to betray her and her friends.

"I cannot take the oath, princess," I said calmly.

"Think! think!" she exclaimed.

"I have thought," I said.

"Sit down again, Mr. Dubravnik. There is no danger as long as you remain here. I wish to tell you something that must you know why I am a nihilist, then, perhaps, you may be of a different opinion."

I obeyed her and she resumed her position on the couch, but her entire manner had undergone another change. The complexion of her face which she had assumed a retrospective expression and when she next addressed me had in them a dreamy, almost away light, as though she were living in the past while she recalled the strange tale that thrilled me as nothing else ever had, or ever has done.

"I have heard," she began, "that you yourself have seen some of the horrors of Siberia, but I doubt if you do not even believe that you are a Russian, and to be perfectly frank I do not believe that your name is Dubravnik. I remember the name of this interview—that you are not what you seem to be, and that you are connected with the Government police; that you are more than a passive enemy of nihilism—that you are, in short, an active one. If I am right there exists all the more reason why I must appeal to your manhood, your honor, your sense of justice, to your bravery and chivalry. Who are you, Mr. Dubravnik?"

"I am Daniel Derrington, an American, in the service of the czar."

"And therefore connected with the police?"

"No. The police do not know me, save as you know me; not even the terrible Third Section."

She scarcely noticed my confession so absorbed was she by the mere thought of the story she was about to relate.

Her eyes were turned toward the window, her hands clasped tightly together in her lap, her chin raised, and she seemed to be looking into the past as one might look on a picture hanging against the wall, observing every detail of it minutely, and yet conscious only of the whole.

"Fancy yourself a Russian of noble birth, an officer in the army, a favored member of the nobles, almost unlimited wealth and happy beyond the dreams of heaven," she said, dreamily. "Search your memory for the picture of a beautiful girl—was she only a girl, not yet twenty, when she began—and make this one of whom I speak think more beautiful than the picture you delineate. She was your sister. She is your sister. You are her brother in the story I am about to tell you. You are fatherless and motherless; you are all that is left of your family—once famous, and seemingly destined through you to become so again. You are a favorite with the czar, and your sister is the pet of the royal family. Your influence at court is unlimited. You are on the summit of the wave of favor and popularity. Have you drawn the picture?"

"I endeavor to do so, princess."

"You said you—she had a French name—reside in the same palace where your fathers lived before you. Your sister is the idol of your heart. You worship her with such devotion that it becomes a maxim quoted by mothers to their sons, and she is worthy of it all. Ah, sir, follow me with care, for the story will touch you, I believe, as nothing else could do."

Zara led the couch and crossed to the window, where she stood staring through it for a long period of time, so silent, so still, so like a statue in her attitude, that I beheld her with something like awe, while I trembled with eagerness for her to speak again. I must admit that the story she had begun to relate had thus far made no impression upon me, and that it was only the voice of the woman I loved and the changing expressions of its tone, and her beautiful countenance, which attracted me then. She was so wholly lovely in every attribute of her being and now, absorbed as she was by

Fashion Hint for Times Readers

LINEN BLOUSE IN NEW COLLARLESS STYLE.

Few of the high-class blouses this year are built with collars, and in many cases the necks are cut out quite decidedly in wedge or square shape. Women need not hesitate to put a substantial sum into a waist of this style, for with a little lace insertion the neck may be long up to a high stock if the fashion changes—as it inevitably will by early fall. This little blouse of sheer handkerchief linen is trimmed in panel effect, with narrow insertions of very heavy crested lace. Irish medallions inserted in V effect across the front add richness, and a tiny edge of beige Irish at the throat gives a dainty finish.

RETURNED TO WORK IN A WEEK

Mr. P. M. Shannon Cured of Catarrh by One Single Treatment of "Father Morrissey's No. 26."

Dalhousie, N.B., Nov. 23, 1908.

FATHER MORRISSEY MEDICINE CO., LTD.

For three years I had suffered from Catarrh in the head until March, 1908, when I had to leave my work, then in single mills, after trying a different course of treatment, but to no avail. One single treatment of Father Morrissey's prescription cured me and, for the most part, they were together, as lightning conductors of every thing that pulsed through her being and mine. When our lips were not in contact, our eyes were; they were gazing into the most depths of each other's soul, reading and understanding all that was actually expressed, charmed and fascinated by the beautiful panoramic scenes which filled in love-phantoms past our prophetic vision.

"My love! my love!" she murmured over and over again, as if it were all could utter, and as if with the use of that expression all things were said and done; and I replied as inevitably and comprehensively as I could.

It sounds insane even in the telling of it, but meaningless phrases and abrupt expressions may, at certain moments in our lives, express everything.

MILL OWNER TOLD OF THE SHEAR BOOMS

St. John River Inquiry Commenced Its Sessions Yesterday—St. Francis Man Tells of Logs High and Dry Below Grand Falls.

Van Buren, Me., June 17—The international commission appointed to investigate the St. John river met this morning at the Hammond Hotel. Chairman Barnhill called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock. Attorney Fellows, the American counsel, filed a copy of the treaty of 1842, also maps defining the boundary of the St. John river.

The first witness called was Elias E. Jones, of St. Francis (Me.), owner of a mill at the mouth of the St. Francis. He stated there were thirteen mills along the St. John river from St. Francis to Grand Falls, owned by different parties, including the Small, doing local business. He stated that 800,000 feet were stranded along the shores of the St. John river above Fort Kent to Van Buren, 22,800,000 from Van Buren to Fredericton, and that he had never seen any better.

At the afternoon session Mr. Jones was cross-examined by A. J. Gregory, one of the Canadian counsel. He said that there is a shear boom opposite his mill, placed there by a contractor for the Madawaska Log Driving Company.

Parker L. Harrison, Carleton (Me.), civil engineer, was called as the next witness. He made a survey of the St. John river from the Suspension bridge at Grand Falls (N. B.) to the mouth of the St. John River in 1902. He identified a map of the survey made by him at that time and this map was presented by Attorney Van Buren to the commission and was admitted as evidence.

Mr. Jones was then recalled. He said that after the divided bodies had come together a week ago, starting at St. Francis and going as far as Fredericton; that the logs had been maintained at the Fredericton session as stranded along the river were not in the water but high and dry on the shores and on islands below Grand Falls, some being as high as six feet above the high water mark. At the Fredericton session the logs were identified and the Kil Rapids for want of help cut to drive them there, being left by twenty men and boys.

The next witness called was Neal McLean, of St. Francis (Me.), a member of the Madawaska Log Driving Company. He stated that he had been employed by the American side. He believed 130,000,000 feet in all was out above St. Francis, of which one-fourth had been cut out by the saws.

At this point the commission adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

NORTHUMBERLAND LIBERALS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL MEETING

John P. Burchill, M. P. P., Outlines His Politics—W. S. Loggie Scores County for the Way Elections Are Run—Some Hot Shot for Premier Hazen.

Chatham, N. B., June 17—The Liberals of Northumberland met in annual session at Newcastle this afternoon at a representative and enthusiastic gathering. Hon. J. P. Burchill presided and in the course of his address referred to his position in local politics. W. S. Loggie, M. P., was also in attendance. Eleven out of the fourteen parishes were represented, as follows: Ludlow, J. S. Posa, C. P. Duffy, Blackville, B. Donald, Derby, A. Bryerton, J. W. Vanderbeck, T. W. Crocker, Nelson, J. P. Burchill, M. P. P., Hardwick, Daniel Lewis, Alnwick, John A. Morrison, Harry King, North and South Lake, John D. Goodfellow, J. Sutherland, Major J. R. Lawlor, Newcastle, P. Hennessy, M. Bannon, T. H. Whalen, S. W. Miles, Chatham, W. F. Cassidy, Adams, C. Bernard, P. J. McIntyre, S. K. Smith.

Hon. Mr. Burchill, as president, gave an opening address. He spoke of the need for keeping in touch with organization between elections and referred with respect to the absence of W. C. Wipaway, the county secretary, owing to illness. There was cause for congratulation in the result of the last federal election and in the standing of the party at present. To his own surprise he found himself in a public position, having been nominated and elected by the Liberals of Northumberland to represent them in the local legislature. It was true that many Liberals supported Mr. Hazen in the last election, for if not he would never have been in power. He did not understand that the Liberals had elected him either to oppose or support the government and he would pursue the same course in the future, always remembering that he represented the Liberals and was responsible to them.

P. Hennessy, treasurer, reported receipts of $33.25 and expenditure $29.20. The reports from the parish associations showed them to be in a satisfactory condition.

Mr. Loggie suggested that the constitution be changed so as to have separate organizations for each poll, to report to the county association, owing to the large size of some of the parishes.

The revision and printing of the by-laws and constitution was left with a committee consisting of Messrs. Burchill, W. S. Loggie, M. P., W. C. Winslow, W. F. Cassidy and T. W. Crocker.

P. J. McIntyre spoke against the county organization interesting itself in provincial politics. He was answered somewhat warmly by A. Adams who said Messrs. Hennessy and A. Donalds urged the early completion of the Indian town branch through to Blackville. Officers were re-elected as follows: Hon. J. P. Burchill, M. P. P., president; W. C. Winslow, secretary; P. Hennessy, treasurer.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL HAD BUSY DAY YESTERDAY

They Discussed Peace, but the Foreign Delegates Were Not in Favor of Asking the Government to Accept Arbitration Swedish Delegate Objects to School Children Dancing

Toronto, June 17—Delegates to the International Council of Women started their work bright and early this morning and they kept it up late. At 8:30 Chief Inspector J. L. Hughes marshalled those who were ready at university buildings and took them round to see the city schools, even arranging a "chemical" fire for their benefit so that they might witness fire drill under something approaching realistic conditions. At one of the schools a number of little girls went through "Spanish Folk" dance before the visitors. All were delighted except Froken Gad, of Denmark. She regarded it as very objectionable putting her ideas into girls' heads and saving too much of theatrical. Visits were paid also to the Infants' Home, Hospital for incurables, St. Joseph's Convent, and Convent of the Sacred Heart. In the evening Mayor Oliver and Mrs. Oliver welcomed the delegates at a reception held in city hall.

While these visits were being paid the committee on peace and arbitration was hard at work in university building. One of the matters under discussion was the sending of a petition to the governments assembled at the third Hague conference asking that they agree to submit to arbitration all questions not decided by diplomatic conference.

While all the delegates are in favor of international peace, there were few who spoke out in meeting as to the advisability of circulating these petitions at a time when great nations are steadily increasing their armaments.

A delegate from Italy questioned as to whether such petitions might not discourage the young men of the country from defending their native land in case of war.

Delegates from Austria and Germany also feared that the petitions might be mistakenly looked upon as disloyal. This view, however, was not endorsed, and indeed those presenting it were themselves advocates of peace.

Mrs. Anna B. Eckstein, of Boston, a lady who had the honor of addressing the second Hague Conference, is busily distributing petition forms to representatives of every country and these will finally be sent, with their signatures, to the Hague.

The executive, too, had a couple of long and arduous sessions clearing way for the first meeting of the council, which takes place tomorrow morning. A large number of tentative resolutions were submitted by the various national councils to be considered and decision arrived at as to whether they should be sent on to the council or not.

A letter was read of the executive meeting from Mrs. Bowen, of Connecticut, sister of Ahmed Riza, president of the new Turkish parliament, saying that she was hopeful of forming a national council for women of Turkey before long and the executive elected Madame Silla Haman, an honorary vice-president, with power to carry Mrs. Bowen's desire into effect. In the course of her interesting letter Mrs. Bowen said: "The broad foundation of the Golden Rule attracts numbers of our women and even if they cannot adopt all the proposals of the council they will co-operate on that basis."

From Finland Bernones Gripenburg wrote saying that women were preparing to found a council for that strife-riven country, while from the modernized successor of ancient Egypt the same news came. Mrs. Helen Hopkins, council's correspondent in that country, said in her report that the movement was gaining power among the native women.

Invitations for holding quinquennial council for 1914 were received from France, Norway, Australia and Italy, and these will be considered in due course by the council.

The following ladies were elected life patrons of the council: Mrs. Marie Ekman, Sweden; Proven Lavonius, daughter of the late governor of Finland, Stockholm; Mrs. Henry Bovey, chairman of Montreal council; Pauline Helen Lange, Germany.

NINE BUILDINGS WERE WIPED OUT

Fire Yesterday at Echo Lake Did Much Damage—Forest Fires in Presque Isle District Break Out Again—Hard Battle to Save Red Bank.

Presque Isle, Me., June 17—Members of the recent forest fire which devastated great areas of forest land in this vicinity were fanned into new life today by a southerly gale with much resultant damage. Near Echo Lake, five buildings here, nine sets of buildings were levelled by the relentless sweep of the flames. At Fort Fairfield, in the southern part of this town, sparks from a stump fire caused the burning of a potato warehouse.

Among the looters of property by the Echo Lake fire were John Shroyer, Joseph Lee, Melville Rickard, Charles Henderson and W. English. Very little insurance was carried on any of the burned structures which were mostly farm buildings and the loss to the owners is nearly total, probably amounting in all to $20,000.

The forest fire hereabouts were subdued by heavy showers a few days ago, and no apprehension of further damage was felt until this morning when the south wind assumed the velocity of a real gale, stirring up the smouldering remnants of the old fire, and sending sparks among the trees near the Echo Lake settlement. In a very short time after the danger was discovered the flames had advanced upon the village, destroying structure after structure in the outskirts. It was not until a path had been swept through the settlement clear to the shore of the lake that the blaze was stopped.

The fire at Fort Fairfield Junction started from a stump in the vicinity. The damage there was not heavy.

Newcastle, N. B., June 17—(Special)—Fire started up this afternoon at 1 o'clock back of Enley Mullin's Red Bank, the wind blowing on the houses and the whole village was in danger for some time. Every available man turned out to fight the fire. William Bryerton went up with all his men from the Northwest Doon, and Chief Fire Warden Doyle was summoned from Newcastle. The men kept the flames in check until the wind turned and now, at 9 o'clock the danger is averted. No buildings were burned, although many were in great peril.

CANNOT RAISE ALFALFA

It was announced in the press last week that an effort would be made in this province this season to raise alfalfa on New Brunswick soil. This is a broad-leaved plant with a very large yield, and of great value as a cattle food. It is worth noting that in the year New Brunswick tries the experiment the state of Maine gives it up, after six years of careful effort at its experiment station at Orono, and also on a farm near Houlton. The experience of Maine will interest farmers in these provinces. The Bangor Commercial tells the story as follows:—

"The officers of our experiment station at Orono, not discouraged by want of success in other northern states, has maintained its tests with the plant for the past six years, seed having been obtained from the national department of agriculture. Not only were experiments made in its culture at Orono, but also on the farm of John Watson in Houlton. Even some of our Bangor farmers became interested in its culture, and a few years ago we visited the farm of Warren A. Bragg on the Finson road for the purpose of seeing the plant. Mr. Bragg was so much interested in the plant he introduced several barrels of soil inoculated with the bacteria of the root-nodules of alfalfa, to put upon the land where the seed was planted—as this was regarded as necessary to its success.

Long experience with the plant by careful men has proved that such a method of culture cannot be depended upon. A soil strong in lime is the best suited to alfalfa. In giving results of the many hundreds of trials with alfalfa in Maine, experiments at our station at Orono show that the field trials at Houlton gave the best results. Notes made in September, 1906, show that the field on Mr. Watson's farm was in good shape, and there was a very uniform stand that had been cut twice with an estimated yield of one and one-fourth tons in the two cuttings. At that date it stood from 12 to 14 inches high and seemed to be in excellent shape for going into the winter, with the exception that here and there through the piece were occasional plants affected with the leaf spot, which is one of the diseases that cause it to die out. The alfalfa went through the winter of 1907 in good shape and in the year 1907 three cuttings were made, and the fall of 1907 the piece was still looking in very good shape. The leaf spot of alfalfa had not gained, any on the field and the plants were, for the most part, free from disease. There was in the winter of 1907-8 an unusual amount of ice, with the result that the alfalfa was entirely smothered out and in the spring of 1908 there were only a few plants alive on the field. Recent statements made by Dr. Woods, director of the experiment station at Orono, show that while no real success has been made with the plant in Maine, it yet may prove that some one will find a method of growing it applicable to our conditions. The station, however, will discontinue its experiments with alfalfa."

The Commercial says that these persistent trials in Maine were due to the fact that alfalfa has revolutionized the farming practices of the south and west. If Maine failed to produce a successful crop the chances in New Brunswick would seem to be poor.

AT VAN BUREN

The Bangor Commercial, referring to the business before the international commission now in session at Van Buren, Maine, remarks that "The matter of the use to be made of the waters of the St. John river, under the limitations of the Webster-Ashburton treaty, as well as under present industrial conditions, by both nations interested, may prove to be a more complicated and serious affair than was at first thought; provided the suppositions in the case to be investigated by the present commission are found to be based upon fact."

The old man sat by the chimney side: His face was wrinkled and wan; And he leaned both hands on his stout oak cane. As if all work were done.

His coat was of good old-fashioned gray; The pockets were deep and wide, Where his "spice" and his steel tobacco box Lay snugly side by side.

The old man liked to sit by the fire, To hear the "spice" and his steel tobacco box Lay snugly side by side.

What saw he in the embers there? All pictures of other years; And now and then they winked and smiled, But oftener started tears.

His good wife sat on the other side, In high-backed, flag-staff chair; I see "neath the pile of her muslin cap The sheen of her silvery hair; There's a happy look on her aged face, As she looks on him, for she is glad to see him, And Nellie takes up the stitches dropped, For granddaddy's eyes are dim.

Their children come and read the news To pass the time, each day; They stare the bloom in the old man's heart To hear of the world away!

A destructive fire took place on Thursday night at Jemesville, a village between Iona and McKinnon's Harbor, in Cape Breton. About midnight, shortly after the passing of the last freight, one of the barns of Jas. Campbell caught fire, presumably from a spark from the engine of the freight train. In spite of the strongest efforts, not only destroyed the first building, but spread to another barn which it likewise destroyed, and to Mr. Campbell's dwelling house, which was only saved by the greatest exertion on the part of those present. All the farming implements and crop in the buildings were destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $2,000, with no insurance.

These horses were shipped direct from Prince Edward Island and made a fine showing.

The Dominion dredge which was laid up all winter at Baddeck has been towed to Cheticamp to dredge out the harbor.

Dr. George LaForest of Montreal, who recently acquired a large interest in J. H. Brown's mining property at East Bay, arrived in North Sydney, C. B. and went to East Bay. He will remain in and camp for several days on business in connection with the property, the development of which has already been commenced.

The King Helena and steamer Marion, left North Sydney almost together on Wednesday, the Marion about three lengths ahead. When off International Pier the Helena closed in on the Marion, striking her a glancing blow on the port side, causing both boats to list badly and causing quite a flutter of excitement for a few seconds until the Marion which had the right of way reversed her engines and went astern, thereby preventing what might have been a serious accident.

SACRED HEART CLOSING

WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Many Visitors Present at the Exercises in Memramcook Convent Yesterday

Memramcook, N. B., June 17.—The closing exercises of the Convent of the Sacred Heart were held this evening, many visitors from St. John, Moncton, Halifax, Sydney, Dorchester and surrounding places being present.

Rev. A. Roy, pastor priest, of Memramcook parish, presided. Fathers LeCavallier, Labrecque, and LeClerc, of St. John, Moncton, P. P., Dr. E. L. Gaudet, also professors from the university were present. The following programme was carried out in a manner most creditable to the young ladies who participated and very complimentary to the Sisters of Charity, under whose efficient jurisdiction the convent is conducted:

Overture, Misses C. Gaudet, S. Parke. Recitation, Misses M. L. Caples, M. A. Leger, M. S. Leger, M. A. Leger, M. S. Leger. Tableau—Principal characters: Rosalie, Troyan, Queen, Miss P. Ellis, four maidens of honor, Misses P. Perle, A. Mc Kay, V. G. Comier, M. McFarland, Mother Grunt, a Miss G. Tarriss, Fairy Queen, Miss L. Caples.

Between the acts, a duet by Misses A. Leger and Leneque. Recitation, Miss M. Melanson. Duets, Misses E. Bergeron and A. Leneque.

The operetta, The Troleau Queen, held the closest attention of the audience, in different characters were charmingly interpreted. The solo parts were given with remarkable exactness of execution, for talent so young and the choruses were particularly effective.

Miss Ellis as the Troleau Queen was dignified itself; Miss Gertrude Terrio as the Gypsy, was fully equal to her difficult role. The accompaniments were ably and skilfully rendered by Misses Corbett, Babcock and Carberry.

At the conclusion the young ladies were addressed in French by Rev. Father Roy and in English by Rev. Father Roy, who were enthusiastic in their praise of the excellence of the evening's performance. In this they but voiced the sentiments of the large and enthusiastic audience.

Prizes—Gold medal for the greatest progress in music, presented to Sadie Perle, New York; books, to Evangeline Belliveau for Catechism; fairy chorus in costume and settings were gorgeous. Miss Louise Caples, the fairy queen, excelled. The St. John young ladies to arrive home tomorrow tonight are Misses Josie Coughlan, Louise Caples, Marion McFarland.

Mrs. R. A. Slipp left North Sydney on Wednesday for Halifax where she will spend a short time visiting friends, after which she goes to her old home in St. John, where she will remain until August, leaving about the first week for Seattle to attend the big exposition. During the nine years Mrs. Slipp has conducted the Hotel Albert in North Sydney she made a host of friends.

A brief fistie combat in front of the Opera House on Union street last night attracted a large number of spectators. The participants were a man named Jeffries and another named Jackson. Both, however, were white. Johnson struck Jeffries, who refused to continue, and both expiring Policeman Ward approaching proved to be sprinters.

In the circuit court this morning the case of John Jackson vs. the City of St. John was heard. Dr. A. W. MacKae represented the plaintiff, and Recorder Skinner acted for the city. This is an action for damages through the runaway of a team of horses attached to a water-carrying cart, the bolting animal and wagon colliding with Mr. Jackson's vehicle and the impact throwing them to the ground. Thomas Marshall, the driver of the water wagon was examined this morning. He has driven the same team for ten years.

The arrest of a man for drunkenness at the Union station on Wednesday evening is pointed to by the I. C. R. police as an instance of the great need of a lockup at the depot. The arrest took place at a time when there was a number of trains on both C. P. R. and I. C. R. ready to depart and the station was full of passengers, both I. C. R. officers had to take the prisoner to central station and deprived depot of police for some little time, and that the busiest.

GOOD WORDS FOR EVERY DAY CLUB

Moncton Transcript Praises the Energetic Local Organization.

The Moncton Transcript has some good words to say for the Every Day Club of this city. It follows:

The energetic Every Day Club of St. John deserves a lot of credit for the way in which it is promoting athletic sport in that city. A meet held in St. John recently under the auspices of that club proved a great success, and now the organization has decided to hold a series of evening sports on July twelfth, beginning at seven o'clock. The events will be a five mile run, 100 yards and 220 yards dash and high and broad jump for seniors and three mile run for competitors under eighteen years of age.

It is confidently expected that Stubbs will be reinstated long before this meet, and able to enter the five mile run. The growing interest in sport encourages the club to have mile races. There will be three more meets this year, next last.

BIG RUSH FOR SEATS

Indications are That St. John Dramatic Club's Productions in the Opera House Will Be Largely Attended

A full rehearsal of the St. John Dramatic Club, which will produce that clever comedy entitled, "Miss Hersey from Jersey" in the Opera House, June 24th and 25th, will be held in the York Assembly rooms at 8 o'clock this evening.

The exchange of tickets at the Opera House box office opened this morning and the demand indicates that there will be the largest audiences present at all performances which have ever witnessed one of the club's productions. Those who desire to attend this show should secure their tickets immediately if they wish to get good seats. Tickets may be purchased from the members of the club and exchanged at the box office for seats.

SUES THE STANDARD

Miss Leonard of Peters Street Has Retained J. A. Barry to Bring an Action for Libel

Miss Leonard, living on Peters street, is bringing suit against the "Standard" through her solicitor, J. A. Barry, for libel. The damages claimed are said to be large.

Miss Leonard is a nurse and her professional reputation is alleged to have been seriously injured by an article appearing in the Standard, 26th April last and intimating, it is said, that Miss Leonard is a sufferer from tuberculosis. The plaintiff in the suit has been nursing for some time past an aunt suffering from the disease and this is thought to have given rise to the story. The preliminary steps in the case were taken yesterday with the issuing of the writ for damages.
