

MOST BITTER DEBATE FOLLOWS WAKE OF MILITIA ESTIMATES

The Inconsistency and Weakness of the King Government Amply Characterized by Meighen.

CAPT. POWER LED INSURGENTS

Who Assailed Government's Flank by Not Reducing Estimates More Than $400,000.

Ottawa, May 9.—The King Government's surrender to the anti-defence men within its ranks, represented by a motion of the Minister of Militia, for a reduction of $400,000 in the vote for annual drill, produced the most bitter debate that the Commons has seen this year. The opposition, who see in the Government's action a humiliating blow at the Militia, decried to the Government by an insurgent Quebec wing and by the Progressives, fought the proposal all day with an organized ability and a sincerity that kept House and galleries crowded until the early hours of the morning.

Mr. Meighen, who spoke shortly before midnight, made a speech of great brilliance. His apt characterizations of the Government's inconsistency and weakness bringing down the house time and time again. "This is not Government by conviction," he declared. "It is Government by listening. Honorable Gentlemen come to this House and say 'This is our policy, but if you don't like it we'll give you something else.' I say to the House that this is not democracy. It is not responsible Government. It is the Government of irresponsibility, of cowardice, of disregard for principle or conviction."

The Opposition Leader rebuked Mr. Graham from the fact that he had done it. It was not the fault of his heart or of his intelligence, but the fault of his lack of courage. He had not had the stomach to stand in caucus and fight against the rebels in his party. He preferred office to what his mind told him was for the good of his country.

Insurgents Active

While the Conservatives drove into the ministry's centre for reducing estimates, the insurgents under Captain Power, assailed its flank for not reducing them more. Captain Power, who refused to accept the Minister's proposals as a concession, moved an amendment which he moved a week ago, and which would cut a million instead of four hundred thousand dollars from annual drill, small group of Quebec Liberals swung over to the Government.

Mr. Power's amendment being negatived accordingly.

MOTHER AND PAL HELD FOR SON'S MURDER

Body of Ernest Edwards Found in Clump of Bushes Back of Home.

Peterboro, Ont., May 9.—Abraham Filion and Mrs. William Edwards are being held in the county jail here charged with the murder of Ernest Edwards. This is today's latest development in the series of incidents that began on Wednesday, April 12 by the finding of the lifeless body of Ernest Edwards in the backyard of the premises which the family was occupying on the ninth line of Dunsmuir, by John Williamson, of Newwood.

Succeeding episodes were the several sittings of the inquest under Mr. T. N. (Coroner) Greer. The first published statement of Mrs. Edwards, mother of the deceased, was of a suspicion that her son might have taken strychnine although she could ascribe no reason for such an act, and also her announcement that a bottle containing a quantity of the poison that had been kept in a trunk in her son's room was missing.

The coroner's jury will continue its hearing on Thursday night, chief interest attaching to the expected report of the analysis of the contents of Edward's stomach.

WEST INDIES FIND READY MARKET HERE

Preferential Tariff Has Increased Trade Between the Two Countries.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 9.—The Canadian Pacific steamship Montserrat sailed for Montreal today with 6,000 tons of sugar, the largest cargo of sugar ever shipped from this island. To date Canada has purchased over 75 per cent. of the recent sugar crop of Jamaica.

About a year ago Canada extended to Jamaica a customs preference, similar to that granted to other portions of the British West Indies some years ago. On sugar imports from Jamaica, the Canadian customs preference is now equivalent to about 50 per cent. ad valorem. During the first nine months of the operation of the Canadian preference imports of Jamaica coffee and cocoa trebled, grape fruit quadrupled, spices, hides and skins doubled, with vegetable oils increased fourteen fold, and raw sugar went up 4,000,000 pounds. These gains were made in a depressed year.

ANOTHER WAR IS PROBABLE SAY AVIATOR

Count De Lesseps Thinks Germans and Russians Might Get Too Thick.

ARMISTICE, HE SAYS, PREMATURE

Germans Should Have Been Humbled on the Field of Battle.

Toronto, May 9.—Both Sir William Mackenzie and his son-in-law, Count Jacques De Lesseps, the distinguished French aviator, reached the city today from Montreal. "I will be staying some months," the count said "if there is not another war."

"You don't seriously expect another war?" the Count was asked.

"If the Germans get thicker with the Russians, and if the Allies don't stick together and keep on making concessions, that will be simply making towards a new war," Count De Lesseps replied.

The Count said that the armistice had been premature. It had been a serious mistake that Germany had not been humbled on the field of battle. "France does not want another war but she is prepared," he said. "France is firmly decided that she will enforce the peace and indemnity terms this time."

Genoa Conference Mistake

Both Sir William and the Count were of the opinion that the Genoa conference was a mistake. There should have been no negotiations with the Soviet Government. "Conditions are distinctly better in England and on the continent," Sir William said. "Money from the Government should be used to buy up the first mortgage of the railways. Their ultimate cost, he declared, is not going to come in 15 to 20 years. Speaking from his experience and the conditions of the present time, Sir William said that he would make the Government roads finance themselves. "Don't go to the Parliament to meet the deficit," he said.

"How would I finance them? By selling securities." All the governments had to do was to finance them by a first and refunding bond mortgage that would take care of all the maturities of all the other securities. "They would drop to day can be obtained now," he said. "Each of the subsequent issues when passed by the legislature would become automatically guaranteed by the government of Canada."

He used similar tactics in the case of Eugene Bisson, when he obtained $500 worth of liquor on February 6, and obtained $50 by threats and false pretenses from Pierre Outmet, a street car conductor, by handcuffing one of the latter's children, a boy of 13, and by kidnapping a reporter in Quebec.

FLOOD WATERS ENDANGERING WHEAT LANDS

Thousands of Acres in Manitoba Inundated by Waters of Assiniboine River.

FLOOD SIX MILES WIDE AT ST. EUSTACHE

Farm Houses Surrounded and Families Driven to the Upper Storeys.

Winnipeg, Man., May 9.—Seventy-five thousand acres of Manitoba's finest wheat land is threatened by flood waters of the Assiniboine River between this city and Portage La Prairie, and already thousands of acres have been inundated. Farmers are busy trying to protect their land with protecting dykes. At Poplar Point, about 20 miles west of this city, where the river is fifteen feet above normal, the low lands are flooded for an area of fifty square miles, four feet deep. Farm houses are surrounded with families living in the upper storeys and 2,000 acres are under water. This area will be a total crop failure, it is said.

In this district, Sir James Alkenson, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, is directing the operations of fifty men who are fighting the flood waters. Sir James has a farm located in the district.

The flood is six miles wide and three feet deep at St. Eustache, where both sides of the river have given away. Thousand of dollars damage already has been done to the Portage La Prairie highway, and the road is impassable at many points. Reports early this afternoon indicate the river has not risen since six o'clock this morning, although during the night its level was increased four and one-half inches. It is declared there is no danger of the river overflowing its bank in the Winnipeg district.

STARTLING EVIDENCE IN HUSTON ENQUIRY

Probing Into Charges Made by Major Lewis in Ontario's Assembly.

Toronto, May 9.—Under cross-examination for 2 1/2 hours in the witness box at the Commission of Enquiry regarding the Attorney General's investigation into the death of Captain Orville Huston, at Fort Frances, on December 19, last, Major A. C. Lewis, M. L. A. for Northwest Toronto, today witnessed his assertions made in the Ontario Legislature recently, that the Attorney General and his department of the province who, at the time, was Major General Elliott, since resigned on account of ill-health, the witness adhered to this opinion despite the fact that the coroner had reported that it was a case of suicide.

Major Lewis admitted that his charges against the Attorney General and his Department were based on the reports of newspaper correspondents, and that he had not considered the reports of the Department before making these charges in the House. A new and rather startling development in the reading from one of Inspector Jeffrey's reports of his theory that Captain Orville Huston meant to kill B. W. Backus and would have done so could he have found him.

WIFE TO COMBAT BANKER'S CHARGES

To Produce Witnesses to Prove She Did Not Misconduct Herself.

JURY UNABLE TO PLACE RESPONSIBILITY

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 9.—The final hearing of testimony in the suit of James A. Stillman, New York banker, to divorce Mrs. Anne U. Stillman and disown baby Guy Stillman will open here tomorrow before Referee Daniel J. Gleason. The defense expects to call four or five witnesses to combat the banker's charges that Mrs. Stillman miscondacted herself with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, alleged by Mr. Stillman to be the father of little Guy.

When these witnesses have testified the defense will rest. Both sides will present their written submissions and the case will go to Referee Gleason and Supreme Court Justice Morchauer for decision.

Since Mr. Stillman did not deny his wife's counter charges that he had miscondacted himself with three women, it is understood the attorneys no longer consider a divorce decree as a possible result of the case. The main issue is the paternity of Guy Stillman.

CONCILIATION BOARD RECEIVES POINTERS

President Baxter, U. M. W., Makes Important Suggestions to Board.

Sydney, N. S., May 9.—That some less cumbersome method of adjusting local disputes than that at present employed, might lead to steadier employment in the coal industry of Cape Breton, was the suggestion thrown out by District President Robert Baxter, of the United Mine Workers, at the Scott Conciliation Board session in New Waterford this afternoon. Mr. Baxter pointed out that, owing to the great number of mine ratings and different conditions in different localities, it is next to impossible to make a schedule covering every rating, and consequently after a new contract is signed by the U. M. W. and the coal companies, local difficulties arise and sporadic strikes and loss of time frequently occur before these can be adjusted. He suggested that the board incorporate in its findings a recommendation as to some speedy method of settling such disputes as they arise. Chairman D'Arcy Scott approved the idea and promised to give the matter consideration.

Delegates Doubtful as to What Effect It May Have on Future of Conference.

RUSSIANS SAY IT WILL BE CONCILIATORY

Dealing With Two Economic Systems in Vogue in Russia and Capitalistic Countries.

Genoa, May 9.—The Economic Conference passed an uneasy day speculating on the affect the Russian reply would have on the future of the Conference. The Russians were busy engaged tonight in completing their reply, which it is expected will be presented tomorrow.

M. Chicherin was in Genoa for only a short time; then he and the principal members of the Russian delegation gathered at Santa Margherita and began putting the finishing touches on the reply, which it is believed will be highly conciliatory and will open the way for a continuation of the negotiations.

The differences between Premier Lloyd George and M. Barthou have apparently been softened somewhat and there are many indications that the Belgians are less intractable in their attitude and may be persuaded to approve the memorandum of the Russian proposals on condition it be made clear that Belgian property in Russia must be restored to the former owners if possible and cannot in any case be transferred to others.

Lloyd George passed almost the entire day in conference with Sir Laming Worthington Evans, Sir P. Lloyd George and other advisers. The row between the Prime Minister and the Northcliffe press over statements published in London has simmered down but the conference atmosphere is more pacific, although extremely foggy.

The German delegation and many neutral delegates joined in the efforts of Signor Schanzer, the Italian Foreign Minister, to have the Russian temper their response in such a way as to bring about a meeting of the gathering, a contingency which seems far less likely tonight than 24 hours earlier. There is less electricity in the air as the general feeling of confidence that the Russians will modify their response so as to make it impossible for France and Belgium to bolt without further negotiations.

Reply Conciliatory

The Reuter correspondent here informed by the Russian delegation that the Russian reply to the Allied memorandum is conciliatory, and goes to the utmost lengths in the matter of concessions. It deals with the principles of the two economic systems in vogue in Russia and capitalistic countries and suggests that matters of detail should be settled by a special commission.

The reply proposes the exclusion of the political features introduced in the memorandum, and the hope is expressed that this will present no difficulty, as the Russians have tried to build a bridge between the two social and economic systems. The Russian delegates, the reply adds, are animated by the utmost desire to prevent rupture of the negotiations and by the wish to arrive at a common understanding, so far as possible, and leave it to evolution and common sense to bring about a rapprochement in the course of time.

With respect to clause seven, the Russians hold that the world will have to accustom itself to the fact of the existence in Europe of a state whose life is based, essentially, on a system of State property. In Russia, they argue, two conceptions of life exist—individualistic and collectivist—and these social and economic tendencies have both their own sphere. This goes to prove that the dual system can exist in international relations, also, and still leave plenty of room for private enterprise.

KING ALBERT HOST TO BRITAIN'S KING

Belgium's Struggles to Recover From War's Devastation Referred to at Banquet

Brussels, May 9.—King Albert tonight gave a banquet in the Palais to King George and Queen Mary. In toasting his Royal visitors, King Albert said Belgium still was suffering from the destruction and the economic troubles caused here by the war. The efforts she had made up to the present, towards reconstruction had been with her own resources, but now her finances were exhausted. The King added that Belgian needs, at the same time, reparations, peace, work and security, a complex necessity which had determined the policy Belgium had resolved to pursue in full agreement with her Allies.

Replying, King George said if there was one thing certain in the uncertain epoch which the world was passing, it was that the difficulties of Belgium would rapidly be surmounted, thanks to the wisdom of Belgian statesmen and the indomitable vitality of the Belgian people. He stated that in her progress towards the great future ahead of her, Belgium always would have the sympathies of the British Empire which fought beside her in the world war.

INTERESTED IN HUMAN BEINGS AS SEEN IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Thinks Cretan Real Dapper Fellow But Would Look Better If He Kept His Hat Off—Gives Few Sidelights on Discussion of Railway Question as Viewed from the Gallery.

By AGNES B. JOYNER
Another Session—Dressed up in my very best clothes and went again today. It was the railway question to-day. As nearly as I could come to it, the government took the side of the C. N. R., and the opposition, the U. P. R. Crow's Nest Pass figured in the talk very strongly. Something is going to happen to Crow's Nest Pass in July the sixth. I could not decide whether it had better happen or had better not happen. The two parties not agreeing, most of the time they do not agree. How very seldom "parties" do agree!

Mr. Meighen thinks at any rate that it cannot happen right unless it is left to a Commission. What he says has been handling the affair for seven or eight years, and knows more about what should be done than any stranger could know.

The Minister of Militia had a word to say upon the subject. He said that to begin with, such big questions as a country's railways should not be a matter of party politics. It was much too broad to be confined to parties at all. But he wished them to remember that since that Commission was formed another one had been handling the affair for seven or eight years, and knows more about what should be done than any stranger could know.

A new R. R. having sprang up, it would hardly be right, I imagine, to allow the old Commission to decide affairs relating to railways without keeping an eye on it as to the C. N. R. people asked time to "study the matter." But you would think, wouldn't you, that knowing as they must have known all the year that Parliament was going to be sitting just about now, and that something was going to happen to Crow's Nest Pass, and somebody would of course be making the dickens of a time about it, that they would have come with the necessary information at their finger tips. They do seem to waste a lot of time. They sure do. But of course, perhaps the matter is too deep for a Plagger to see through all at once. I must be careful not to talk too much about things I know nothing about. There are enough people doing that.

The leader of the Progressive Party arose after kind of reluctantly taking off his hat. It is Progressive to keep your hat on in company, anyone who is interested in the latest styles. Plaggers are always interested in the latest styles. And, oh, he has the sweetest brown, glossy hair! Why it would be Progressive to keep one's hat on because he looks so much better with it off. Still, it is perfectly all right for him to set new styles if he wants to. Isn't that what the party promises to do? Guess I shall be a Progressive party if the styles suit me. But you know I am worrying about how he keeps his hat from falling on his head. He goes to sleep at night. Hope he is not so reckless as to try to sleep with it off. I am sure my sister would say that he would get cold in his head. I think I know a thing or two about him to wear at night. It's ever so much better than a felt hat with a scratchy brim all around. At our next sewing circle (you see how well we dance) I am going to make him two or three. I can get the pattern from Grandma. Blue would go nicely with that brown hair, I think, and cunning blue ribbons tied round his neck.

But that is not the part of Mr. Crower's speech that I was going to dwell upon; still, if I mix things up a little I am only living up to Plagger's traditional purpose. The part of his speech which interested me, was something he said about the C. P. R. and that because we saw as well as sections of our country where a few parents were entirely surrounded by C. P. R. land which did not pay taxes, their own taxes, and that they were not allowed to maintain schools under those circumstances to educate their children.

Oh! oh! That must be a mistake! Surely the Canadian government makes rich corporations pay taxes as well as poor individuals! Oh, my Plagger could reason better than that! Why shouldn't the C. P. R. pay taxes upon its vast lands? Is it in hard circumstances? Poor individuals are often in hard circumstances. Whether or not they can pay taxes for that reason. Pay up or lose your farm! And so, Mr. C. P. R., you want to win on when the Plaggers sit in Parliament you will have to pay up or lose your farm.

Well, at any rate Mr. Progressive party said that they had failed to pay their taxes and then he sat down and pay on his hat again.

Oh, dear! I wish I could follow every word they say because it is necessary if I am going to be a Progressive party some day. And it is very likely I shall. I have always been interested in millinery. But I got interested in studying the character of those men. (Yes, laugh if you want to.) Human beings interest me. Whether they may happen to decide to be, thank heaven! I can always be a human being! Even if I should happen to be a C. P. R. owner some day, I think I can be a human being. Of course, you never can tell, I suppose.

But at any rate such ideas as these will keep bobbing into my head as the men talk. There, that man talks because he is an overgrown school boy and likes to have his way regardless. He has been chosen as we used to be in school, on one side of a debate. To win his point is the thing. The more difficult and unreasonably it is the harder he must work. If he has to prove that black is white—well, he has to do more talking than the man who just has to prove that black is not white. When another man gets up and I find myself thinking (I still insist that a Plagger thinks) so, party is big enough to him in that man's soul. He talks for his country. He understands its needs. That is the kind of a member of Parliament that I am going to be, if I do not decide to be a male actress or a philanthropist, the government party or something.

Mr. Minister of Militia is one of the men who strike me as being big. He uses his tongue to a purpose. Mr. Meighen is also a big man. But Mr. Meighen has failed for even the moment in doing his work, is killing him. My sister says so. My sister would suggest that he take things easy. "Early to bed at night (fancy a Parliament sitting going to bed early at night), to be out under the stars, and a fish brook in a quiet wood for his week-ends. And a rest in bed for about three months (light restraint if necessary, as they talk in hospitals) after the Parliament sitting is done. Then, he would be himself again. One reason, I guess why I cannot follow the different speakers word for word, is because it is so difficult to unguile what Mr. Meighen is saying from the words of the man who is supposed to have the floor. Still, a little practice will help me a lot.

Mr. Premier never does interrupt a speaker, but then, of course, it is right that a Premier should set an example in good manners. I am not worrying about their manners, though. I never take my small brooch or to hear them talk. If I do, I can give him a nice lecture when I get home on the way not to do things.

Mr. oh, well, I guess I won't say who, particularly interests me. He shows in every move and word, generations of education back of him. Generations of close contact with everything that is finest and best in the world. No wonder he is so valuable a member of parliament. But you know, I forgot what he was saying several times, in dreaming about how fine it would be if every son and daughter in Canada could have the opportunities which he has had. Then we would have a country worth talking about. And I am hoping (it is all right for a Plagger to have hopes, is it not?) that some day—not just now, of course; everything cannot be done at one time. But I am hoping that when things get settled down, our country will make some arrangement to give every boy and girl a chance to make a big, broad minded human being. Let every boy and girl have a chance to develop, as my teacher used to say. My, but wouldn't our old Canada make the world open its eyes!

Mercy! Where am I? I should be talking about the debating this afternoon. Well, most of the debating went over my head. I did learn, however, that big issues like a country's railways are the toys of party politics; that the C. P. R. forgot to get settled down, but of course, it has a lot of things to remember. I suppose, that that is all I really learned. They have such a habit, or it seems so to one unaccustomed to the like, of talking round and round themselves, that it all reminded me (though I know it is very undignified and may be the god of the politicians forgive me) of little dogs chasing their tails.

I went back in the evening to hear something new.

Evening—Ditto. So I left and called Jimmie up and said I would go to Annie's with him. To her dance. He said: "Good for you. There are still hopes that we shall save you from the lunatic asylum." But I shall make people take me seriously yet, or—well, we'll just see!

Edith Kelly Loses; Asks Maintenance

She Offers Bill to Former Husband, F. J. Gould, for $160,000 for Food, Clothing, Etc.

New York, May 9.—The Appellate Division yesterday handed down an unanimous opinion reversing an order of Justice Guy which granted Edith Kelly Gould $5,000 an allowance for food, clothing and other necessities against Frank J. Gould. Justice Page wrote the opinion, which holds that Mrs. Gould is not entitled to seek relief in the courts of this State, and that to reopen her divorce suit against him in France, the decision here is binding.

"Whatever question the plaintiff (Mrs. Gould) might raise as to the jurisdiction of the courts of France to grant a decree of divorce," Justice Page wrote, "there can be no question of the jurisdiction of the courts of this country to punish an American citizen who violates its penal laws while present within its territory; and the facts upon which that adjudication was made stand admitted herein. There could, therefore, if the judgment were reversed, and the parties sent to trial, but one result—the plaintiff's complaint would be dismissed."

Almost coincident with the handing down of the Appellate Division's decision to trial, but one result—the plaintiff's complaint would be dismissed.

BRITISH DOMINIONS LACKING INTEREST

London, May 9.—Rt. Hon. Lord Lee, First Lord of the Admiralty, who was one of the British delegates to the recent Washington conference, when addressing the Colonial Institute in London today on the subject of the Washington Conference, expressed regret at the lack of interest shown in the British Dominions on the question of navy construction. Lord Lee expressed the view that the most important result of the Washington Conference was the complete change in the attitude of the nations. At Washington, treaties were concluded in terms of peace rather than of war. He laid emphasis on the closeness of what he termed the instinctive and inevitable co-operation of the United States and British delegations.

arrest by Paris police of Mrs. Gould and one Cassius. Mrs. Gould returned to the United States in April, 1920, and began suit for divorce, contending that the Paris decree had gone against her through error.

C. P. S. STEAMERS ARE SUPREME ON THE PACIFIC

Empress of Russia Beats Out U. S. Liner in Race from Yokohama — Notables Aboard.

Special to The Standard.
Vancouver, B. C., May 8.—That the supremacy of the North Pacific is still held by the vessels of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Services was demonstrated with the arrival this morning of the "Empress of Russia." The "Empress of Russia" and the "Bay State," A. U. S. Shipping Board vessel, left Yokohama within two minutes of each other. By midnight the first day the American ship was hulled down, and the Empress steamed into Vancouver today fully twenty-four hours ahead of the rival liner.

The "Empress" brought fourteen carloads of silk which was immediately rushed to New York. She arrived at 8 o'clock this morning and had to pass since the precious cargo was on its way east by special Canadian Pacific train.

Among the notable passengers on the "Empress of Russia" were Baroness de Gaffier, of Belgium; E. G. Lowder, Commissioner of Customs at Shanghai; J. Fowles, prominent Toronto silk merchant; H. H. Stair, of Detroit, author of "Birds of Passage," and her daughter; L. O. Yu, Chinese consul at Ottawa, and Col. Dopping Heppenstall, of California. Foreign companies which have established branch factories in Japan are seriously considering withdrawing from the country owing to high taxes and labor troubles, declares P. C. Fenwick, of London, a manufacturer of antimony, who arrived in Vancouver this morning on the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Empress of Russia" en route home to England after a round-the-world tour. "The Japanese have levied enormous sums in tax against all these foreign-owned factories," said Mr. Fenwick, after his arrival on the "Empress of Russia." On top of this, Japanese labor has refused to take lower wages, and in some cases has taken higher wages are now in progress. "Living costs in Japan are as high today as they were during the worst period of the war, and the government is preventing the entry of foreign-made goods by higher duties," he declared. The imports of Japanese goods have for some months been exceeding the exports. Foreign goods have been selling in that market at prices considerably below those charged for the home product. This has led to a general revision of the tariff upward instead of a move to cut prices of domestic products, he declares.

"Foreign factories have, of course, been buying raw materials where they could get them for the least money," continued Mr. Fenwick. "For instance, American copper could be sold in Japan for about half the price of the domestic article. The price of iron government raised the duty about 60 per cent. in an effort to force the use of the domestic article. It is treatment such as this, combined with high taxation, and demands for higher wages that have decided a number of foreign concerns to close down their Japanese plants. Mr. Fenwick stated that such as this, combined with the fact that the Japanese are in the midst of his tour when Mr. Fenwick left Japan. The enthusiasm with which he has received passes through the country, Mr. Fenwick declared. Everywhere he has taken the country by storm. "The Prince has also rather shocked the conservative Japanese on two or three occasions, I think," said Mr. Fenwick. "On one occasion, when coming down a narrow car track while on a trip in the mountains, the Prince insisted on manning the shafts of a rickshaw when Admiral Sir L. Halsey was seated. Half way down a wheel came off, throwing the Prince out and up. He rushed forward to rescue him. The Prince said: 'Get a snapshot of this, I want to send it home.' One of the Japanese courtiers were greatly shocked at the idea of the heir-apparent hauling one of his future subjects in a rickshaw."

GERMAN POLICY FOR MORE TIME SAYS GESSLER

Should France Now Proceed Against Germany She Will Have To Go It Alone.

Hamburg, May 9.—Germany adopted a policy in fulfilling her reparations obligations to gain time and make her enemies realize that these obligations are unfulfillable and that aim has been attained, said Dr. O. Gessler, minister of finance, in an address today to the local branch of the democratic party.

He added that should France now proceed alone against Germany, Great Britain and the other Allies would not prevent her, but they would refuse her all support, especially moral support. He contended that the Government has saved the unity of the Reich on the Bismarckian principle of "politica in recognoscendo" in contentions and frustrating them."

HOLY SEE ADDRESSES NOTE TO CONFERENCE

Desires That Religious Interests be Safeguarded in Plans for Russia.

Genoa, May 9.—Monsignor Piazzi of the Papal Secretary of State's office, has handed the following communication to M. Barthou, head of the French delegation:

"The Holy See desires that religious interests, which are the basis of all true civilization, be safeguarded in Russia. Consequently, the Holy See asks that in the agreement which will be made by the Powers represented at Genoa, there shall be inserted in some manner, but most explicitly, the following two clauses:

1. That the religious interests of all nations shall be respected in the settlement of the Russian question.

2. That the religious interests of the Russian people shall be safeguarded in the settlement of the Russian question."

Annual Meeting of Seamen's Institute

Reports Submitted Show Many Sailors Looked After During Past Year—Officers Elected

The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Seamen's Institute was held yesterday afternoon, and reports indicating the successful and helpful work being carried out by the various branches of the Institute during the past year were received from the different districts.

The president, H. C. Schofield reported on the purchase of the Davidson building, and advised that under the present conditions, the rental, which was sufficient to pay the interest on the mortgage, should be continued. He also reported that the institute had been fortunate in receiving a number of donations.

The treasurer, H. J. Evans, reported current receipts of $7,000.00, and a balance of $1,200.00. Mrs. Watt, secretary of the Ladies' Guild reported that eleven hundred comfort bags had been supplied to the needy, and that the membership was increasing.

A hearty vote of thanks moved by Capt. A. J. Mulcahy, and seconded by J. N. Rogers, was extended to the ladies for their valuable support. Manager Walter Brindle reported that during the year there had been many visitors. Men from the navy had been entertained and great cheer extended to the ladies who made arrangements and to the City Coroner's men who were staying in the building.

On October 24, a group of shipwrecked sailors stayed at the Institute for a couple of days. On November 13, three men were staying in the building and by the 15th twenty beds were filled and the end of the month found other men sleeping on the floor.

During Christmas and New Year's week there were over fifty men here, and the Institute was supplied with good Christmas and New Year's dinners. The annual Christmas treat and distribution of hot bags was most successful.

In readiness for this annual event the Ladies' Guild had cut, sewn and filled eleven hundred comfort bags, and some fifty others came in ready filled from the W.C.T.U., at Fredericton, Moncton and Sackville, and from the I.O.O.F., at Chatham and Sackville and the "Daughters' Circle" of the King's Daughters of this city. Each bag contained the following articles: Pair of socks, handkerchief, bar of chocolate, package of cigarettes, package of toilet paper, apple, orange, reading material, writing material and a portion of scripture.

Navy League Annual Meeting

Reports Presented Show Great Amount of Good Work Accomplished During Past Year

The assistance rendered unemployed and disabled seamen arranged in the past by the local branch of the Navy League, were cited by the President of the League, R. M. Armstrong, at the local branch's annual meeting yesterday, as an ample justification of its existence.

Reports of a highly satisfactory nature indicating much good accomplished during the year were submitted by the president and secretary, and the treasurer's report showed a sound financial state of the St. John branch. In his report, President Armstrong, pointed out the importance of the work of entertaining the new officers and men of the Canadian Navy during their visit to the city, and of the relations extended to the men of the H. M. S. Victoria and Cambrian, and of the dinner tendered the officers and men of the "Memora Head," as a tribute to their gallant service.

He also expressed the gratitude of the league towards the women of the Dominion who had co-operated with the league throughout the year, and who had contributed money and gifts. He reported the visit paid by Commander Lewis and Capt. G. S. Laidlaw from the Dominion departments, and noted the great good the league had accomplished in co-operating with the Seamen's Institute in caring for the unemployed and destitute seamen who had come to the port throughout the year. He said there was scarcely a night from the opening of the winter to the close that every bed in the Seamen's Mission was not occupied by such men, and that at times the men were crowded into the hall and the floor of the building as well.

The measure of assistance the league had been able to extend in these cases was ample justification for its existence. He also reported of the aid extended to the Canadian Spanish legionnaires, and of the help rendered by the league to the purchasing of the Davidson building for the Seamen's Institute.

C. H. Allan, the league's secretary, reported a large and increasing membership due to the energetic work of W. A. Smith. The league's price of $50 for the best work written by school children on "Why should Canada support the Navy," was won by Margaret Hamilton of 95 Spring street, and an additional $25 was given by Mrs. W. J. B. Myler, One St. John boy, J. M. Hingham, through the efforts of the league had been placed in the Naval Service. An appeal to provincial chapters of the I. O. O. F. for Christmas presents met with a generous response.

The membership of the league was given as 19 life members, 248 annual, 223 associates, and a number of juniors. Thanks were due, he said, to the I. O. O. F., and the Seamen's Mission. The treasurer reported receipts totaling $12,951.25 and expenditures of $9,664.27, leaving a cash balance of $3,287.00.

A letter of regret at inability to attend the meeting was received from Mrs. Flanagan, Provincial Regent of the I. O. O. F., and J. B. Jackson, Dominion secretary, who stated that the St. John branch's request that the British Board of Trade take recognition of the gallantry of the Irish crew of the "Memora Head" was to be taken up by the Norwegian government, who had a special fund for rewarding those who were responsible for saving the lives of their seamen in peril.

LLOYD GEORGE TEMP'IS FOLKS OF MOSCOW

British Premier Would Lend Soviet Government $100,000,000 If They Accept Proposals

London, May 9.—Premier Lloyd George wants to loan Russia some $100,000,000 in return for Russia's unqualified acceptance of the "memorandum" or "ultimatum" presented to the Russian delegation at Genoa. That it made sense through an obviously inspired article appearing in the Premier's newspaper organ, written by a member of the staff taken to Genoa for this purpose, if necessary, and is further substantiated by information obtained in London.

The writer, whose words may be accepted as those of the Premier, argues that Great Britain would lend the money loaned to Russia because ultimately it would be returned in the form of goods, that the increasing dependence of Europe on American grain is a real danger and that Russia's friendship would be a great asset in dealing with the Far East question, which is so important to Great Britain.

One underlying reason, however, believed to be a certainly by American commercial and political observers in London, is that Lloyd George fears American commercial penetration. These fears are based to some extent on the activities of the American Relief Administration in Russia. British officials were sceptical when the relief workers went in, but later were won around to the idea that it was purely for humanitarian reasons, but they never have been convinced that J. P. Goodrich's recent tour there was for commercial and political objectives, notwithstanding the frequent denials.

But Lloyd George could not enter into such an agreement with Russia now, because Great Britain has agreed not to make separate deals with any country at Genoa, and second, because he would get so much cooperation in his cabinet that it would be necessary to throw out the proposition there first, and lastly, because the proposition would raise a storm in Parliament, where the cry is for a reduction in expenditures.

His opponents in Commons would only have to hold up the spectre of what Russia already owes Great Britain to gain their point. The idea is, it might be recalled, that a trade agreement between Great Britain and Russia never has worked to much benefit of either country.

It is believed here that Genoa falls through immediately, and that it would be everyone to get a foothold in Russia and that it will start with oil. The English press prominently displays the word "oil" in its headlines. President Harding and Secretary Hughes are preparing a stiff protest to Great Britain against the reported deal, which would give the American group obtained monopolistic oil concessions and that it will be sent if the Washington Government is convinced the deal has actually been made.

If Ambassador Harvey has been instructed to make a special investigation, as reported from Washington, he would not be expected to return apparently in his cabinet, but it is a private rather than a governmental matter. It is mentioned that the Anglo-Portuguese Oil Company, in which the Government is interested, has been able to come to an amicable agreement with the Standard Oil Company in the Near East on a fifty-fifty basis.

NOTHING TO WONDER AT.—Indianapolis News.

WIDESPREAD BUILDING BOOM PUTS NATION'S IDLE TO WORK

Cities Report Relief Bodies No Longer Needed—Drive for Legion Men Successful

Washington, May 9.—Many cities throughout the United States have reported to President Harding's conference on unemployment that their employment campaign is at an end, because the need for it no longer exists. Industrial cities are brightening throughout the middle west and eastern sections of the country, while the far west has had comparatively "good times."

The Department of Commerce announced today that a building boom appears to be under way all over the country to relieve the home and office shortage. Chicago issued permits for $15,000,000 of building in March, as compared with $7,000,000 for the corresponding month of 1921. Building permits for 10 Illinois cities also show a 100 per cent gain.

In Houghton, Mich., 1000 more men are working than in November, 1921, and of $50,000 raised to relieve the unemployed but $20,000 had to be used. Wilmington, Del., reports additional employment for 600 men in the next 10 days.

The American Legion employment bureau in Baltimore has more help wanted calls than registrations, which shows that the drive for jobs for veterans there has been successful. W. W. Baskley, Mayor of Housatonic, Va., writes: "It gives me pleasure to say that we have very little, if any, unemployed in our city today; conditions have improved greatly the last few weeks."

From the Milwaukee Committee on Unemployment comes this statement: "The Milwaukee situation is so very favorable that our local committee has decided to wind up its efforts. Youkers, N. Y.; Pittsburgh and Allentown, Pa.; and Youngstown, O., report similarly."

DYSPEPTICS QUIT STOMACH DRUGGING

A physician says that in most cases of stomach trouble there is really no disease of the stomach at all, but just too much acid. Excessive acid prevents normal digestion, causes sour stomach, fermentation of food, and this upsets the liver and intestines and causes nervousness, weakness, indigestion, and sleeplessness. Simply take a teaspoonful of four tablets of ordinary bicarbonate of soda in a glass of hot water after meals to neutralize the excessive acidity and you will be all right. It works fine. You can see what you want and sleep all night—no more waking the floor at three and four o'clock in the morning and suffering from extreme weakness and nervousness all the next day. Bicarbonate of soda is for sale by all druggists in powder or tablet form. Try this plan for three weeks.

NO HOPES OF RECOVERY IN WORLD WITHOUT U. S. AID

Sir George Paish Declares Europe Needs Products of United States and Credit to Purchase What That Country Can Supply, Yet Tariff Barriers Are Being Raised Preventing Relief.

By SIR GEORGE PAISH.
Genoa, May 9.—The American problem is one of great difficulty, but unless a solution can be found, the world's recovery must be abandoned. America is able to supply Europe with the greater part of the money and needs for restoration, and unless this is done she herself will be unable to sell the vast quantity of food and raw and manufactured material which she is capable of producing. Indeed, she will be unable to sell even the reduced quantity she is now producing.

As for Europe, her recovery is impossible unless America supplies the money—that is to say, the credit, and by means of credit the product Europe needs to borrow from her. Since the war began Europe has bought from America upward of $4,000,000,000 worth of produce over and above the quantity she was able to pay for by sales of America of her own goods. Of this amount about $2,000,000,000 worth of produce was purchased on credit by Entente Governments during and shortly after the war. The great fall in prices now has greatly reduced the value of the securities on which the Entente Governments are now being repaid.

Whether the conference would have been able to arrive at a solution even if America had been represented is another matter. If the questions of reparations and military disarmament were still excluded with America present it is more than doubtful if a settlement could have been concluded. Until a practical agreement is reached on these matters and Europe is willing to do it all that can reasonably be expected of her nothing America can do will preserve Europe from disaster. Nevertheless the presence of America at the conference and a statement from her common sense point of view about the world situation would materially have assisted matters. At any rate it would have prevented France from attempting to impose the small practical results of the conference and the increasing danger this involves upon America's abatement, whereas the responsibility really lies in her own attitude of refusing to permit reparations and disarmament to be discussed.

While the Genoa conference has not attained results hoped for when the agenda was drawn up, it does not leave matters as they were before the delegates assembled. There was an honest attempt by the Government of Italy to propose a remedy to find a complete remedy for the disastrous position in which war and peace have placed the world. It is now up to those who are present at the conference to devise and apply further remedies which the situation demands.

Without credit Europe cannot become even self-supporting. The problem of continuing to buy what she needs from America would be difficult for Europe even if the war had merely involved the loss of her American investments and income therefrom. But this is only a small part of the problem. Europe's own productive capacity has been most seriously curtailed by the death and injury of so many young men, as well as by the physical damage she has sustained. At the same time she is no longer receiving the vast quantities of food and raw materials which Russia used to send.

Indeed, Russia now wants to buy food from America, first, as much as she did before the war; second, enough to make good her diminished production until she can restore it; third, sufficient to effect the lack of normal supplies of food and material of Russia for an indefinite period; fourth, the food manufacturers of Russia want this presently in order to escape the famine and again become productive. And as if Providence intentionally desired to impress the world with the folly of war under modern conditions of life she is compelling both America and Europe to face still another difficulty. America then to sell to Europe, and to buy from Europe, has placed a high tariff on just those things Europe can sell back to America to pay her in part, at any rate, for the immense exports of food and other products.

Moreover, in view of Europe's need to sell back what it can, America is raising the tariff barriers still higher. Thus we have the situation that Europe, which needs to buy from America as never before in order to avoid starvation and for reconstruction purposes, is already heavily in debt to America that obtaining the necessary additional American credits will raise great difficulty, yet with the absence of such credits Europe cannot pay because of her reduced powers of production and America's unwillingness to accept payment in kind.

One might imagine from the report of the Financial Commission that no urgent American problem existed, whereas next to that of preserving the Russian people from immediate starvation it is the most urgent of all questions that need to be discussed.

Whether the conference would have been able to arrive at a solution even if America had been represented is another matter. If the questions of reparations and military disarmament were still excluded with America present it is more than doubtful if a settlement could have been concluded. Until a practical agreement is reached on these matters and Europe is willing to do it all that can reasonably be expected of her nothing America can do will preserve Europe from disaster. ## All Contending Parties Asent To Joint Conference Belittles Power Of Bolsheviki Fighting Battalion

Strike Situation in New Hampshire Assumes More Favorable Outlook.

Manchester, N. H., May 9.—The state labor commission has now received replies from every mill corporation and strike committee in the textile strike zone assenting to joint conferences having to do with the settlement of the trouble. The only dissenters have been the Amoskeag, Stark and Nashua companies. Today favorable answers were received from the contending parties in Newmarket and Suncook.

Commissioner Charles Bendheim of the federal board of conciliation contacted with the Department of Agriculture arrived here today. He declared he did not see any change in the situation from that of his first visit some weeks ago. He stated that the purpose of his visit today was to get an insight into the present state of the strike.

Commissioner Bendheim declares that he will endeavor to get into touch with treasurer F. O. Dunfee of the Amoskeag company. He interviewed Vice-President James Starr and other officials of the company.

Sweden Recovers From Ills Brought On By World War

Stockholm, April 29.—(By Mail.)—Sweden's complete future recovery from a series of painful operations for post-war life is forecast in the official economic report of the Swedish Foreign Office Commerce Department just made public. Its principal note of optimism is the Swedish exchange, after a year and a half of deflation and international liquidation still under way, the Swedish krona is virtually at par.

The danger demands that America now display her great power for good in her own manner to its fullest extent and take upon herself that leadership of mankind which will bring about a higher plane of international friendship. The world problems can be overcome, not by the Europeanization of America, but by the Americanization of the world.

What America has accomplished in her own country in giving freedom and equality to all citizens, whether home or foreign born, setting up a vast area in which there are no tariff barriers, creating an atmosphere in which every one is encouraged to put forth his best efforts, in recognizing that what is good for the individual is good for all, and in not only refraining from any desire to oppress and hurt the people of other nations, but in endeavoring to assist them when in trouble and difficulty, needs now to be accomplished for the whole of mankind. The time has come. Will the American people respond?

RESTRICTIONS THROWN ABOUT BROADCASTING

Sir Henry Norman Gives Details of Proposed Method of Regulating Wireless.

London, May 9.—Great Britain is entering on an experiment. Unlike the United States, wireless broadcasting is almost unknown here at present, but F. G. Kellaway, the Postmaster-General, in a speech in the House of Commons on Thursday night opened up wide possibilities in this direction.

Sir Henry Norman, president of the wireless sub-committee of imperial communications committee, whose aid Mr. Kellaway invoked in this matter, kindly gave the representative of The Christian Science Monitor details of the proposed methods for regulating this new branch of the industry.

Asked what restrictions were proposed, Sir Henry said there were very few. "No advertisements may be broadcast," he said, "and the dissemination of news cannot be undertaken without the approval and co-operation of the news agencies and newspapers. Otherwise almost anything can be sent out—concerts, speeches, educational or otherwise, and sermons. A block of news might be allotted to broadcasting companies for distribution among themselves at their own discretion."

BORIS BAKHMETEFF ANSWERS SENATORS

Through Diplomatic Channels Repudiates Charges of Misappropriations.

Washington, May 9.—Through diplomatic channels Boris Bakhmeteff, secretary of the Provisional Government of Russia, has defended himself against aspersions on his personal and official character made on the floor of the Senate. He presented to the Senate a detailed statement of his position, the amount of money lent by the United States to the provisional government of Russia, and the use to which the money has been put.

The accredited Herds reports put out by the Bureau of Animal Industry, in cooperation with the States, show that Vermont was in fourth place in this regard on April 1, with 1,601 horses, Wisconsin was first with 1,851, Minnesota second with 1,429, and Pennsylvania third with 1,069.

to decrease. Of these more than 65,000 were recovering government aid. The report emphasizes that although large cuts in wage scales have been made, real wages—that is wages compared with cost of living—are still below pre-war standards and must be lowered further. This is held to be likely in view of the cuts in the United States and England.

PRESIDENT EXPLAINS REFUSAL TO SEE "CRUSADING CHILDREN"

White House Pronouncement Says No Programme of Picketing or Parading Will Ever Influence Executive Action.

Washington, May 8.—"No program of picketing or parading ever will influence executive action" was the formula selected by President Harding today, in response to a request for an official expression regarding his refusal last week to receive the "crusading children" who came to Washington to seek liberation of the political prisoners still confined in federal penitentiaries.

Mr. Harding has been the object of some bitter criticism since the "crusaders" arrived in Washington and failed to obtain personal access to the President. Some of the criticism aimed at him, particularly in local radical quarters, was of a vituperative and even provocative character. There was general anxiety to ascertain whether Mr. Harding was covering under it or would stand by his guns. The opportunity was provided today and he held his ground.

MARY GRATIFIED TO CANADA'S I. O. O. E.'S

In Letter Expresses Her Pleasure Over Chapters' Wedding Gift.

Toronto, May 9.—Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, has written Miss Arnold, president of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, thanking the society for its wedding gift. Writing on April 28 last from Chesham House, Mayfair, her Royal Highness says: "I wish to convey to you and to members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire my warmest thanks for your generous wedding gift to be used for any purpose I may desire. It is indeed wonderful that all parts of the empire should be thinking of me in my happiness and I only wish I could have had the opportunity of telling everyone personally how deeply touched I am by your kindness. I also wish to thank you very much indeed for the beautiful illuminated address and for the good wishes it contains."

their President. But when they trooped into Washington with bands and banners and propagandist signs and took up picketing stations around the White House the President decided they were not entitled to see him in the guise of "child crusaders." They were looked upon as innocent, helpless tools of higher-ups who were using them for transparent political purposes. That is why their ambition to gain the presence of the President was foiled.

Occasion was taken at the White House to make it plain to the country and all the world that such methods of "putting things across" in presidential quarters are doomed to hopeless failure. They will in future, it was declared, impel the Chief Executive to "lean over backwards" in his determination to steer a middle course.
