The British Warship Condor Believed to Have Sunk.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 24.-The steamer Moana has arrived from Sydney, via Brisbane and Honolulu, and with her arrival the hope for the safety of the missing warship Condor with 130 souls on board was lessened, for the Australian liner brought no news of the Condor. The Moana left Honolulu on the same day as the Alameda, which arrived at San Francisco on Tuesday, and brings no later advices from the

IRISH LEAGUE WAS SCORED

Debate Brought on by John Redmond.

Chief Secretary Wyndham Said the Agitation Was the Work of Bullies.

Lord Dufferin's Condition Is Very Serious-Foreign Ministers Get Into Innermost Hall of Chinese Forbidden City.

London, Jan. 24.-The debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne was resumed in the House of Commons yesterday by John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, who moved an amendment raising the whole question of Irish grievances. He declared that instead of remedying admitted wrongs, the government had fallen back of the old methods of coercion. The Irish people would yet teach Mr. Wyndham (the chief secretary for Ireland) to repent his rash refusal to grant the reasonable demands of Ireland in regard to the compulsory sale and purchase of land. where crime was less frequent than in Ireland, yet, the coercion act had including members of the House of Commons, had been unjustifiably imprisoned and trial by jury had been his best endeavors with all parties abolished. The whole intellect of Ire-concerned to avert such strike or lockland was against the government, and in such circumstances resistance to the government was a duty, and rebellion became merely a question of expediency. The Irish would never be tution of the Ontario Medical Council well affected until they were masters along the lines advocated by Dr. Sangof their own country. John P. Hayden (Irish Nationalist) seconded the amendment. Replying to Mr. Redmond, Mr. Wyndham declared that no govern-ment expected to settle the Irish question, but only hoped to do a little toward improving it. He said that the land act of 1881 was too drastic a speaker, repeated many of the oppomeasure, having produced a little war which had ruled many people. The that the labor bureau was not useful, pin. The present agitation, Mr. the committee did not give the oppo-Wyndham declared, was the work of sition a fair chance in investigating a few determined persons, and no man who was not a cur would hesitate to take such steps as were open to him to suppress this wretched form of bullying the government. He was determined, he said, while dealing justly with Ireland, to fight for liberty and the protection of property. GOT IN AT LAST. A Pekin dispatch says: The ministers of the foreign powers here have attained the goal, which has been their aim since intercourse between China and the powers began. They have been received as representatives of sovereigns equal in rank to the Chinese Emperor. The audiences yester-day between the emperor and the ministers were held in the innermost large hall of the Forbidden City. The Dow-ager Empress was concealed by a screen, according to the stories of the attendants, and remained invisible. The audience chamber was furnished ornately, in contrast to the dingy rooms which served for these audiences under the old regime. The secretaries translated the addresses of the ministers. The replies to these addresses were delivered by Prince Ching. The emperor was silent throughout the audiences and remained stolid and impassive. Formerly the emperor replied to the ministers in Manchu, and the prince interpreted what he said. Today the emperor appeared as an automaton. The ministers of the foreign powers entered the Forbidden City at the main gate, leaving their military es-cort outside. At the second gate they entered yellow chairs, like those furnished for the princess and secretaries. They walked through the inner courts of the Forbidden City, and their cortege retired from the city by the east

Bill Introduced to Amend the Ottawa Medical Act-Measure for Settling

Labor Disputes.

Toronto, Jan. 24.-In the legislature yesterday, Mr. Preston (South Brant) There was no country in the world introduced a measure entitled, "A conciliation and arbitration act." It provides that on the request of the mayor been resurrected after a decade, and or other head of a municipality where had been ruthlessly applied. THE DEBATE. Mr. Thompson (Center Simcoe) in resuming the debate on the budget, said that no man in the province had given such careful study to the finances of Ontario as the member of South Lanark (Col. Matheson), and he deprecated the jocular manner in which Graham had essayed to answer his speech. Mr. Thompson said the premier had laid himself open to charge of not telling the whole truth. by suppressing reference to Indian treaty, No. 3, under which the province would have to pay a large sum of money, the exact amount of which had not yet been ascertained. Mr. Thompson denied the statement that the Opposition had no policy, and rallied the premier on making a protectionist speech. Te charged that the reformatory at Penetang was to be removed to Oxford county, to punish Simcoe county for being Conservative, and to reward Oxford county for its Liberal allegiance. Mr. T. H. Preston (South Brant), who followed, said the critics of the opposition, were in the position of trying to make bricks without straw. The ghosts of the deficits and debts which the member for South Lanark had been wont to call forth to frighten the house and province had been finally laid by the report of the finance committee. The opposition were lamenting the depletion of our forest wealth, yet they opposed the appointment of a clerk of forestry to conserve that wealth. Referring to Mr. Whitney's charges, he said no member of the government would sanction or be a party to any manipulation of ballots, such as was said to have occurred in West Elgin and North Waterloo, and no amount of extravagant language would induce the people of this country to believe that any member of the present government had been guilty of acts which would make them proper subjects for the jails. Dr. Barr (Dufferin) charged mem bers on the government side of the house with trying to manufacture powder for the coming election. He predicted that before they got through the budget debate it would be made clear beyond a doubt that the sources of the province were being dissipated, and that by the extravagance of the present government we coming dangerously near to direct tax-

WHY SCHEEPERS WAS SHOT LAST SATURDAY.

Seven Murders to His Credit-Mr. Balfour's

Evasive Answer Interpreted.

London, Jan. 23.-The war secretary, Mr. Brodrick, was asked by William Redmond (Irish Nationalist), in the House of Commons today, why Commandant Scheepers, who was captured by Gen. French in October last, was executed last Saturday at Graaff-Reinet, Cape Colony. The secretary replied that Scheepers was shot because he had been convicted of various offenses against the usages of war, including seven cold-blooded murders of which is over two miles wide at that natives, and the flogging of a white man. Mr. Brodrick added that the fact that Commandant Scheepers was a Deposit Railroad is suspended, the prisoner of war carried no exemption tracks being covered with ice and prisoner of war carried no exemption from trial for murder or other violations of the rules of war.

Mr. Balfour partially parried an interesting question put by Mr. Mc-Laren (Liberal), as to whether any proposals in behalf of the leaders of the Boers, with the view of bringing about a settlement of the war, had been received by the government since the negotiations between Gen. Kitchener and Gen. Botha. "No proposal of that kind," said Mr. Balfour, "has reached us on the part of anyone able to speak for the leaders of the Boer forces.' The evasive reply of the government leader was taken to be a confirmation of the report that the proposals had been received from the Boer delegates in Europe, but had been rejected. NOT INCLINED TO FIGHT.

Pretoria, Jan. 23 .- The northern part of the Transvaal is now almost clear of Boers. The only commando there is that of Beyers, which is in the Waterburg district. They do not appear to be inclined to fight, but are wandering around aimlessly in search of food, which they have been doing for weeks. Food is becoming scarce in the Waerburg and Zoutpansberg districts. The Kaffir population make it impossible for the Boers to move without the British being informed. Meanwhile the Kaffirs are an important source of the British food supplies. Mealies in large quantities, purchased from them, are brought in every month.

PROGRESSIVE PROGRAMME

Presented in Premier Ross' Budget Speech.

How Ontario's Revenue of Over $113.000.000 Has Been Expended.

In Development of the Country's Resources, Improving Transportation, Caring for the Suffering, Building Railways, Refunds and Subsidies for the Benefit of the People.

Premier Ross' third budget speech, which was delivered on Wednesday, was comparatively brief, but it contained a succinct survey of the progress of the province during the three decades of Liberal administration, a glance at the direction in which the revenues, amounting to $113,000,-000, had been expended, and how, after country, no doubt, the Canadian Pasuch a successful administration, the government stood before the people tion applause). with a more progressive programme than ever. The financial administration had been most careful, and on the charge of waste of Ontario's patrimony, Mr. Ross pointed out that more than the $27,000,000 collected from woods and forests had been expended on capital account, while many more millions had been returned directly to the people in refunds and subsidies.

In the course of his address, the prémier showed that our mining development almost warranted the appointment of a minister for the mines department alone. He announced the completion of an arrangement with the Canadian Northern Railway for the transportation of settlers at one cent per mile, and of their effects at half the regular rates. He referred to the government's programme of building the Temiskaming Railway, of erecting the new science building, and to the progress made in road improvement, and in the establishment of a beet sugar industry.

The Speech.

Hon. Mr. Ross, on rising to move the house into committee of supply, was received with loud cheers from his called upon to make a statement of the finances of the province, to show how the government has disposed of the moneys placed at our disposal last session, and how we propose to find money to carry on the business of the province for the current year, and also to submit a statement of the amount of money which in our opinion is ne-cessary for the public service. It has been, within the last half-century at all events, the policy of the govern-ments of all countries to aid in the development of the natural resources of the countries which they respectively represent, to foster the industries which occupy the attention of their citizens, and generally to promote trade and commerce, and by that means add to the wealth and power of the nations. For many, many years, the policy adopted by Great Britain to this end was an open-door policy; in fact, it is the policy of Great Britain at the present moment to a great extent. That is the policy, to let British commerce take care of itself, excepting in so far as it may be necessary to protect it by her navy; to allow her industries to flourish according to the principle of demand and supply.'

It was on this continent largely, Mr. Ross went on to say, that the idea of fostering trade by a direct interventions of the government grew up, and perhaps it was on this continent that it had as strong a hold as it had anywhere in the world. The protectionist example of the United States had been followed by Germany, France, Italy, Russia, and latterly the commonwealth of Australia. The purpose was in every case to develop the natural resources of the country. Part of the plan was to aid railways, and in this cific Railway would never have been built had it not been aided. (Opposi-

FOSTERING TRADE.

As in other countries, we in Canada and in Ontario had given bounties for the development of certain industries, notably on recent occasions, the iron and steel and the sugar beet industries. The object of his argument, he said, was to show that in modern times the government had something more to do than merely discharge administrative functions. They had to foster manufacturing and commerce, and, if possible, devise ways and means by which the material wealth of the people might be promoted.

A RECORD OF PROGRESS. The premier then asked the house to briefly consider the position in which the Liberal Government found themconsider the position in which selves on taking office in 1871. In that year the revenue of Ontario was $2,-659,746—a small amount to begin house keeping with. Leaving out the abnormal income from crown lands in that year (1871) there remained scarcely two quarter millions to set out upon the task of so directing public energies as to push Ontario to the front. If they had not secured proper sources of in-crease the result would have been stagnation instead of progress. It was evident that an increase from crown lands could not be expected, it being a cardinal principle, to be followed as closely as circumstances allowed, that the land should go to the settler, if not actually free, then at the lowest possible figure consistent with due regard to public interests.

LIQUOR LICENSE REVENUE. The next source of revenue was the liquor licenses, the amount derived therefrom in 1871 being $58,558. This was admitted the world over to be legimate subject for the attack of the finance minister, and in England nearly 40 per cent of the entire revenue was derived from the liquor trade. The fees on licenses were increased from year to year, until in 1901 they yielded $376,372, including $60,891 from breweries and distilleries. He had heard no complaints regarding this tax, although he had heard it said that taking control of the trade in 1876 the government had robbed the municipalities of a very fruitful source of in-He had examined into the question, and found that since 1876 the revenue from liquor licenses totaled $11,517,021, of which the municipalities had got $6,166,848 and the government $5,440,172. The municipalities in this regard were thus in a better condition than before, and the law provided that municipal-ities not satisfied with their revenue from licenses might increase the fees to a very considerable extent. Since 1871 the revenue from this source paid about one-third of the cost of public institutions maintenance, one-third the cost of education, and a little more than one-half of the cost of adminis-Catarrah of REVENUE FROM WOODS AND

Having put themselves in a comfortable position so far as revenue went, he would ask the house to consider if the revenue had been wisely applied. In 1871 there were only two or three railways in Ontario, of very limited extent—about 1,300 miles in all. Now there were 6,812 miles of railway in the province. Of these they had aided 2,219 miles. New Ontario, in 1881, had only 12 miles of railway, against 1,804 today, of which the gov-ernment had aided 607. They had given total aid to railways of $10,058,942;

and the municipalities had aided rail-ways to the extent of $12,296,164. The enterprise of the government had stimulated local enterprise. They had built colonization and mining roads, of which 5,559 miles had been built since 1871, the expenditure totalling $3,-

The usual symptoms are a and forests as capital. There had thus been expended on those various items on capital account $27,834,991, while they had spent on capital account. (Ministerial applause.) That was a complete answer to the objection that they were wasting the capital of the province in using the receipts from woods and forests as they had been used. The wealth of the forest had been simply transmuted into public utilities, buildings, lockups, bridges, hospitals, etc., in which form they contributed to the happiness of the people.

The receipts from bonuses from the various sales showed that during John Sandfield Macdonald's administration 635 square miles were sold, averaging $260 a square mile. During the 30 years of Liberal administration 5,152 square miles had been sold, averaging $1,324, while on Sept. 17 last 399 square miles were sold at an average of $1,835 per square mile. The total realized from bonuses since 1871 had been $6,823,127.

In the Province of Quebec, between 1873 and 1890, 6,235 square miles of timber land had been sold at an average of $62 per square mile.

SAWLOG MANUFACTURE. The policy of compelling the manufacture of logs in the Province of Ontario resulted very satisfactorily. (Opposition cries of "hear, hear.")

His honorable friend (Mr. Whitney) claimed much credit as the introducer of that measure, but the facts were against him. The earliest suggestion stores and not being a patent medion Mr. Whitney's part as to such a measure was in his Victoria Hall speech, and Sir William Meredith had suggested it in 1888 or 1889, he was not sure which, but there was a much earlier statement on the subject by a Liberal member of the house, namely, Mr. William Christie, now inspector of asylums, who, as far back as 1868, had moved the appointment of a select committee to consider the advisability of asking the Dominion Government to impose a duty on sawlogs, shingle bolts and staves manufactured in the province and exported from the Dominion. That was the earliest record of the house as to this question.

Without waiting to argue the patertention of the house to the results of the government's measure of 1890. New mills had been erected on the east shore of the Georgian Bay and in the northern country at a cost of $849,000, employing 1,218 men and cutting annually 212,250,000 feet board measure. Old mills had to be refitted at a cost of $181,500, employing 1,105 hands and having an annual cut of 1,475,000 feet. In all there had been an investment of $1,030,900 on saw-milling properties, employing 2,323 hands, formerly finding employment in the United States, and cutting 359,750,000 feet board measure

A reserve had also been set apart in various sections amounting to something over 2,500,000 acres of forest land. THE CASUAL REVENUE.

Continuing, he said that in 1871 the casual revenue of the province totaled $23,567, and last year the income under this head amounted to $180,812. Law stamps since confederation had vielded $2,378,492; charter fees, a source which had not existed at all then, $428,115. The increase of revenue from the adjustment of charter fees since 1871 had yielded $359,640. Fees, on private bills, from insurance companies, etc., game licenses, etc., yielded a total TAX ON WEALTH.

From succession duties they had derived since 1892 $1,839,602, and last year collected $366,581, and where was the man who had complained against them? Ninety per cent of that amount came from wealth which passed to alien hands, and only 10 per cent from wealth going to blood relatives. If Col. Matheson's motion in 1896 had carried it would have cut down those duties by nearly one-half. The policy of the Liberal party was by sound and legitimate methods to add to the revenue of the country, so that the country may be developed. They derived

They could fairly congratulate themselves upon this progress. Nothing made a nation stronger than the increase of its own population, who would do more to develop the wealth of the country than any people they could bring from foreign lands, at least until they were thoroughly nationalized. Mr. Ross referred at some length to the growth of Northern Ontario, where villages of 30 years ago were now large towns, such as Gravenhurst, Brace bridge, Huntsville, Parry Sound, North Bay, Sturgeon Falls, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie with a population of 7,169, Port Arthur, Fort William and Rat Portage. In a short time these districts would rival the older Ontario in enterprise and wealth.

CARING FOR THE SUFFERING. By their forethought and wise husbanding of our recources the govern-ment had been able to care for the suffering in our population. In 1871 we had two asylums; now we had eight, on which we had spent $4,407,-546. There were three penal institu-tions, on which $1,307,880 were spent; sity for these charges upon the revenue. If there was one duty which lay nearer to government than another it was to care for suffering humanity.

A GREAT SHOWING. Since confederation the government had spent nearly half the revenue of the province on administration of jusinsurance, after a careful investiga-tion, had found that the tax on a maintenance of asylums and hospitals, and education. On administration of justice there had been paid $10,-796,784; on asylums, $19,426,273; on hospitals, $3,692,361, and on education, $19,640,246, a total of $53,555,666; of that the Sandfield Macdonald Government had spent $2,781,845, and the Liberal Government $50,773,821.

In order to maintain civil government in a high degree of efficiency $6,515,968 had been expended; for legislation, $4,332,722; for elections, $725, 418; on the northern boundary dispute, [Continued on page 7.]

CEREMONY

Masonic Temple Dedicated to Craft Uses.

Dedication and Inaugural Ball Both Great Successes.

Over One Hundred Couples Enjoyed the Pleasures of the Dance Till an Early Hour.

The Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of London and its vicinity, with the thoroughness which marks all their undertakings, made of the dedication of their new quarters in the Masonic Temple, and the inaugural ball which followed the ceremony, two of the most successful functions ever held in connection with the fraternity in Western Ontario. They have every reason to congratulate themselves on the manner in which were carried out all the arrangements for the ceremonies and festivities which marked the formal occupancy by the local members of the craft's beautiful new home. which replaces the lodge rooms destroyed by fire on the morning of Friday, Feb. 23, 1900.

THE DEDICATION. The consecration and dedication of the Blue Room took place in the afternoon. THE INAUGURAL BALL. The inaugural ball proved all that it was expected to be by those who had looked forward to it so anxiously.

Over a hundred couples demonstrated THE LONDON SCHOOL OF ART AND Design, 493 Richmond street. Teachers, J. R. Peel and David Wilkie, late of South Kensington, England. The work of the school includes mechanical drawing, industrial design, oil and water the slightest inconvenience from The room was artistically decorated with banners and varicolored bunting, the latter being draped from all sides of the room and converging to the center. The scene presented as the merry devotees of the dance traversed the floor was indeed a gay and bright one. Music was furnished by Cortese's orchestra of ten pieces. The Brunswick Club, the Travelers' Club, and several private tenants generousplaced their rooms at the disposal the ball committee, and they were utilized as card rooms, cloak rooms, etc. Supper was served in the north end of the main hall, on the third floor, it being cut off from the balance of the hall by large flags. THE COMMITTEE. Taken as a whole, the affair was one on which local Masons may well pride themselves. The Resignation of Dr. Balfour -A Cause for Regret.

Dr. Balfour, the medical superintendent of Victoria Hospital, has sent in his resignation to the trustees. This for much regret. Dr. Balbeen medical superintendent of the Hospital for about fourteen years, and during that time has acthat institution as could have been

It is especially to be regretted at the present time, because the new Hospital is in a formative state. The changes necessary between the old and the new are not completed, and no ducing the very best article, and behand is so well qualified as his to work

That Victoria Hospital has been unfairly attacked, and unnecessary dam- producing country. age done to it, the public are aware. The incessant nagging to which it has been subjected has had some effect upon the minds of the unthinking; and doubtless this fact has had some weight in determining the course taken by the medical superintendent.

It has been a subject of remark for some years that Dr. Balfour should remain as superintendent when he could earn more money in the practice of his profession; and it is not to be wondered at that he prefers to resign that financially is of no of much responsibility and anxiety. The responsibility and anxiety of the position are quite enough without the added annoyances of the past months. He faced and saw the failure of every charge against the management of the Hospital, and had he chosen to remain it would, we believe, have been but a short time until those now his enemies would have become his friends.

The work accomplished by Dr. Balfour need not be recited. All will remember the condition of affairs when under the control of the Council; but under Dr. Balfour he can defy his act. His financial management has London, and with the city itself.

what was, fourteen years ago, with is more marked than in the progress made by the medical men of London.

quickly accomplished in the years past all that the money at his disposal enabled him to accomplish, is the best man to see such changes made as the new Hospital requires. He would be the right man in the right place, but as he prefers to resign, we fear it will be difficult to fill his place.

What should be done for the future furnishes food for serious reflection. The Hospital is a large and very important institution. It is among the best in Canada. The injury done to it we hope will soon pass away. In connection with it is the well-established Medical School of the Western University. There are those in our midst, who would lay destructive hands on that splendid institution, which, from small beginnings, has grown till it has one hundred students on its roll, numbering among them South African medical men of London is due the fact that the Medical School in connection with the Western University is one of the best in Canada; and by the people of London especially, but by all of Western Ontario as well, are the benefits resulting from these two facts re-

Regretting, therefore, the resignation of Dr. Balfour, on the ground that we must substitute an uncertainty for a certainty, we hope the best course will be adopted, both in the interest of the Hospital and of the Medical School. When Dr. Balfour commences the practice of his profession in London, he will be a welcome addition to the upper ranks of that profession, which in the last few years has made such substantial progress in this city.

It is stated in Montreal that a member of the committee purporting to have signed the requisition presented to Dr. Lachapelle, to run as mayor against Mr. Prefentaine, M.P., was in his grave seven months before the document was drawn up. Canada is first in the sale of cheese in the British markets, the motherland buying from us three times as much as she purchases from the neighboring States. We have beaten the Yankees, because the preponderating proportion of our people have been scrupulously honest in the making and marketing of the commodity, whereas the United States people made "filled" cheese, and palmed off on the at first unsuspecting British public an article from the milk and making of which was removed the natural butter fat, and a cheap inferior substitute inserted. The moral is that only by proing careful to prevent impositions of all kinds can Canada continue to hold her proud pre-eminence as a cheese-

Canada is still away behind as a supplier of butter for the British public, though she has made a big stride forward in the past five years. Denmark is first, supplying 43 per cent of the British imports, and receiving the highest price. Australia is second and Siberia third. With more care in making and marketing, there is no reason why our sales should not greatly increase in the near future, and the price advance to something like that cheerfully given for the Danish product. It is worthy trying for.

Our railways will probably jog along with coal, until electricity can be profitably turned to account. Nor are oil fuel experiments confined to the railways. The British Government has decided to make more extensive trials of oil as a power producer than have yet taken place. The admiralty has been influenced to do so by the results obtained in the Russian battleship Rostilav. There the black smoke, which forms one of the greatest drawbacks to the use of liquid fuel, has been got rid of. The ship's radius of action has been increased by 50 per cent, a most important gain in fighting efficiency, whilst the number of stokers required to work her was just one-half that needed whilst coal was used. In addition, the vessel's fuel supply was replenished in two hours, whereas it is a good day's work to fill a battleheroes. > The Bombay Gazette announces that Scotchmen in India are up in arms at the commander-in-chief approving of the adoption of the kilt for the pipers of the native army; and declare it will only make the long and lanky Sepoys look ridiculous. "Shades of Mc-Callum More, Montrose and Appin!" adds the Gazette, "if these famous chiefs could only know the use clan tartans are being put to they would surely turn in their graves." The pipers of the Bengal regiments will wear the Graham tartan, those of the Punjab regiments the Campbell, and those of the Madras regiments the Stewart. There seems to be good reason for the protest, as the Highland regiments have always considered themselves entitled to the distinction of the picturesque costume that has been theirs for centuries, and in which they have fought with so much valor. There seems to be a lack of thought in the new devices of the British army chiefs that may do much to break down the esprit de corps of the old regiments.

Sir W. C. McDonald Puts Forth Commendable Plans.

IMPROVEMENT

Courses of Instruction and Training counties, the number of distilleries is in Domestic Economy—School Gardens.

> Having respect to the well-known sayings, "Seeing is believing" and "We learn by doing," the plan which Sir William C. Macdonald offers as one described to sirable to carry out is presented in four parts—three under the division of nature study and the fourth under the domestic economy household science.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF RURAL SCHOOLS.

Part I. of the plan is intended to give object lessons of improvements in education from the consolidation of five, six or more small rural schools into central graded school, with a school garden and a manual training room as part of its equipment. It is proposed to offer financial assistance to one locality in Ontario and one locality in each of the Provinces of Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, to induce the people to undertake and carry on object lessons of improvements in duty as a man and a citizen. His name education, with school gardens and manual training, all under the control of the regularly constituted educational authorities.

In our educational progress not much has been done for the girls and boys in rural schools compared with what has been given to and made possible for the children in towns and cities. The difficulties which have hindered progress are said to have been: Want of money, the fact that the time-table was already too full, and the fact that teachers are not properly qualified to ake up better methods. In some disricts the area for the rural school is so small that the lack of funds and the isolation of school authorities cause them to let educational matters drift into weakness and inefficiency. If in some district an object lesson could be given of the consolidation of five, six, or more weak rural schools into one well-appointed and well-sustained central school, that might lead to general improvement. In some of the United States the consolidation of rural schools has already been carried out to a considerable extent with very great gain in the quality of the education given in the locality, and in most cases with no increase of cost to the ratepayers. It has not been difficult in Canada to arrange routes for the collecting of milk or cream to one and White works in the city; then central place; it would not be more lifficult to arrange for the collection of children on various routes to one central school; and certainly the children of a neighborhood are best worth the care, thought and spending of any-thing in the locality.

A TRAVELING INSTRUCTOR. Part II. of the plan is for the purpose of giving object lessons of the value of chool gardens and nature studies, a individual rural schools, as a part of general education, to be begun by means of a traveling instructor, who would visit and spend one-half day with over two-thirds of the physicians per week with the children and teachof London favoring what it has asked er at each school of a group, for a term of three years, or until a considerable is not far distant when its requests number of suitably trained and qualified teachers would be available to will be granted, and both the Free carry on such work themselves at ru-Press and Mr. Beck will deny that they ever took the ground they are now tak-

It is proposed to offer financial assistance to one group of ten or fewer schools in one locality in Ontario, and to one group in each of the Provinces of Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, to enable the people to provide school gardens, and to undertake and carry on object lessons and experiments with improve ments in education, all under the control of the regularly constituted educational authorities.

that day was as far wrong as an act A group of ten or fewer rural schools could be. All the elections ever held some locality should be chosen in could not make it right. He had failwhich to give an object lesson or ed to get a seconder; was opposed by lustration of this better education. If competent traveling instructor were Mr. McCormick, the chairman, and engaged to spend half a day of every Messrs. Gilmour, Purdom, and Rumweek at each of these schools, he would ball, and is still opposed by them. He be able to train teachers and children was opposed by the Medical School, into methods of nature study. The traveling instructor would be a speboth faculty and students, and is still cialist in nature study and opposed by them. He was opposed by knowledge, as well as a good teacher in all right-thinking men, and is still opthe subjects which have been common in the schools in the past. It would posed by them, and if his election as certainly be of great benefit to the mayor helps to break his fall, let him children at any rural school if a school hug it while he may, and not forget garden containing plots for every child above the age of 8 or 9 years could that cheers will change to hisses when be provided. Those plots would be used (like slates of larger size) to put 'things' on, to be rubbed off when The employment of children in facthey had served their educational purtories has greatly increased in Illinois The gardens could be used, as they are at a few schools in England, during the past ten years. This is not and as they are at many schools on the continent of Europe, for the training of children to habits of close observation, of thoughtfulness and of carefulness. If one may mention a method which would seem to include the best, it would be that of tracing results back to their causes until that Agreement Between Canada and United habit of mind is formed in the children. When a child does anything with its own hands, such as planting a seed, pulling up a plant, making examination of the changes which have Washington, Jan. 23.-Assistant Secretaken place during its growth, making tary of the Treasury Spalding, acting on the suggestion of the state department, has directed that official flags in future a drawing of it, mounting it and putting its name on it, he receives impres sions by the sense of touch, he sees, he hears the noise of the movements he makes, and he smells the soil and the part of the plant with which he is dealing. Those impressions are definite and lasting; they add to the sum of sensuous knowledge; they prepare for the perception of logical knowledge, in a common sense way. For instance, if a child should plant ten grains of wheat in a row, ten grains of Indian corn in another row, ten sets of potatoes in another row, and ten seeds in another row; if he should pull up one each of these plants every week and find out for himself, under the guidance of a competent teacher, what had taken place in the meantime; if, further, he should make drawings of the plants, and a written statement of the progress of growth, as he was able to observe it, from week to week, such a course, occupying only half a day per week, would certainly give a boy or girl a great amount of exceedingly useful information, and also habits of investigation, observation, comparison and thoughtfulness, which are im-

SPECIAL COURSES OF INSTRUC-TION.

Part 3 of the plan has for its object to assist in providing short courses of instruction and training for teachers for rural schools, who desire to qualify themselves in these new subjects and methods of education. It is proposed to offer to the Province of Ontario at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, a gift of a building, including a nature study plant-growing house, and such equipment as may be required, in addition to what is there at present, for the accommodation of teachers while taking short courses in nature study for rural schools. To make possible such additions and changes in rural schools as have been indicated, and to let them be capable of anything like general adoption and extension, there is need for further preparation of the No doubt teachers in Canada would be willing to qualify themselves for this better sort of work, if an opportunity were provided. It seems desirable and practicable to give such teachers the opportunity which they At several places in England in 1901, short courses of instruction and training in methods were provided for periods of only three weeks, with the expectation of doing a good deal towards qualifying teachers to carry on their work in a better way. In Canada, it might be possible to arrange for course of training for thirty teachers at one place, each course to last for two or three months. During this course the teachers would carry on nature study work as they expected the children to do it at the school afterwards. A plant-growing house for nature study work would not be so costly for construction and maintenance that it would be a very difficult accommodation to have, for the win-

For the first year, it is proposed to make, (1) an allowance at the rate of five cents per mile for the actual distance from the teacher's school to the Ontario Agricultural College, to help in meeting the traveling expenses, and (2) an allowance of $25 to help in meting the expenses of lodging, to every approved teacher who has taken a full course satisfactorily. HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE Part 4 of the plan is intended to assist in providing courses of instruction and training in domestic economy of household science for young men from country homes, in order that they may have opportunities for acquiring practical and advanced education not less suitable and helpful to them, than the present courses at the Ontario Agricultural College are beneficial to young men, who take them with earnestness and cheerfulness. It proposed to offer to the Province of Ontario at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, (1) a building to accommodate not less than 100 female students and teacher students, daughters of farmers and others, and (2) class rooms, kitchen laboratories and other equipment necessary for courses of instruction and training in domestic economy household science. Suitable courses (long and short) which would include instruction and training in dairying, poultry-keeping, bee-keeping, fruit-growing and gener al gardening, with particular attention the cultivation of vegetables and flowers, would be highly valuable to the young women who are able to take them, and through their influence would be of far-reaching benefit to the rural schools, and the rural population generally.

country. Such in outline is the plan which Sir William C. Macdonald offers to assist in putting into effect as mentioned letter of even date. Besides the benefits which have been alluded to, there would doubtless be others no less important to the pupils, the teachers and the schools. The knowledge gained by observation, experiment and experience would indicate that changes or modifications of the plan might be made with most advantage to the peo-

Used by the Wealthy as Well as by Those in Humbler Circumstances for the Banishment of Rheumatism.

The most devoted and earnest friends of Paine's Celery Compound are the men and women who possess ample means for the employment of the best medical skill.

Paine's Celery Compound has been used and tested by our best people for the cure of theumatism, and in every case it has been victorious over the disease. It has saved thousands of pain-racked, disabled and crippled rheumatics for whom physicians could do no more than order a change of climate or bid them bathe in some mineral spring. Mrs. F. McMann, Thorold, Ont., writes about her husband's cure as follows: "I think it my duty to let you know what Paine's Celery Compound has done for my husband. For two years he suffered very much from rheumatism in the back, and became so bad that he could not bend, stoop or sit in a chair at the table, and I was obliged to take his meals to him while he lay bed. He was treated by various physicians, but received no benefit until he used Paine's Celery Compound The first bottle gave him relief, and after he had used six bottles he was quite free from the rheumatism. He says he feels like a new man now."

Divisional court. Before Falconbridge, C.J.; Street, J.; Britton, J. Rose vs. Croden.—N. W. Rowell, for plaintiff, appealed from order of Ferguson, J., at the trial, dismissing motion by plaintiff for an order to amend the statement of claim by adding to the Labor Gazette, sends the follow-the fifth paragraph the words, "and ing report for the month of December: the defendant acted contrary to the Dominion election act, 1900, and is inlebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $1,000." The claim, as indorsed upon the writ of summons, was as follows: $600 for penalties under the Dominion election act, 1900, from the defendant, being moneys forfeited by the defenant by reason of willful misfeasance, act, or omission on his part in violation of said act, and also refusing and neglecting to perform obligations and formalities required of him by said The plaintiff also claims $600 damages from the defendant for wrongfully depriving plaintiff of the right to vote at the election held on the 7th day of November, 1900, for a arrives. member to serve in the House of Commons of Canada for the electoral district of the city of London. The writ was issued on the 30th of January, 1901. The statement of claim (delivered 12th of March, 1901) set out that the defendant acted as a deputy returning officer at the election mentioned; that the plaintiff was entitled to vote at the polling place where the defendant was in charge; (5) that the defendant falsely and maliciously refused to allow the plaintiff to vote; and the plaintiff claimed $1,000 and costs of action. The motion for leave to amend was not made until the 31st of December, 1901, just a week before the trial, and was referred to the trial judge, who heard it on the 7th of January, and dismissed it upon the ground that the plaintiff should not be allowed to amend so as to sue for a statutory penalty, after he had elected, by his statement of claim, and by examining for discovery, to proceed at common law. The plaintiff contended that an amendment should be allowed at any time, and that there was no authority for treating this action in a different way from any other action; that the failure to refer to the statute was by inadvertence; and that the action was actually for the statutory penalties, as shown by the indorsement on the writ. G. C. Gibbons, K.C., for defendant, contra. Reserved. Morphy vs. Colwell.-W. H. Blake. for the primary debtor and claimant in a garnishee plaint in the first division court in the county of Middlesex appealed from an order of the judge presiding in that court in favor of the primary creditor as against the claim of the claimant upon an assignment to him of the moneys garnisheed, made by the primary debtor. The appellants contended (1) that the assignment was not attacked until the claimant was brought before the court, which was after the expiry of the 60 days allowed by the assignments act; (2) that the claimant being a creditor, his security could not be attacked by another creditor without a judgment, and (3) that the claimant was never properly brought before the court. MISS GERTRUDE COGHLAN. Wednesday's Hamilton Herald, in commenting on "Vanity Fair," tomorrow's afternoon and evening attrac-tion at the New Grand, said: "Clever as Miss Coghlan is, she has no reason to feel ashamed of the company surrounding her, as it embraces several artists of a high order. In the impersonation of Rawdon Crawley, Charles Bertram, better known in Haunilton as 'Lockie' Du Moulin, tall 'Lockie' DuMoulin, tall and hand-some, presents a commanding appearance, and shared the honors with Miss Coghlan so far as curtain calls were concerned. There is sufficient incident in 'Vanity Fair' to make it interesting, and the scenery and costuming in connection with the production are all that could be desired.

Death of an Artiste Who Appeared Recently in This City.

Mme. her brilliant career and its pitiful end-"I notice that Camilla Urso, one of the most artistic violinists the world has ever seen, has passed over to the great beyond. We may never see her like again. Strange how that woman lived for art's sake and little she recovered from that art.

"If I remember correctly she was born at Nantes in sunny France in 1842, and made her first appearance in public at the age of six. What a stormy career has been hers since that time! Salvator Urso, her father, made his little daughter the observed of all observers, made her the rage of Europe and the pet of kings. She died in the New York Hospital.

"Urso startled all Europe. She startled even the sober old professors at the Paris Conservatory of Music, and they are hard to startle. She went further. She worked ten hours a day that same conservatory and she thought it but a trifle. Then came the glittering offer of $10,000 a year to come to America and entrance us. She was hardly ten years old. She was placed in the class of violin players with Joachim and has since been compared Winnipeg, Jan. 23.—A Carberry (Manitoba) special says that Dr. J. M. Eaton, provincial medical health inspector, returned there last night from Winnipegosis and reported that district honeycombed with smallpox. The dispatch continued: "It is impossible to speak definitely as to the exact number of cases, but the total will reach the neighborhood of 200 at Win-nipegosis, Pine Creek Indian Reserve and Duck Bay. The contagion is rampant among the half-breeds and fishermen. Winnipegosis appears to be the center of the infection, and has been placed in strict quarantine." At the office of the Indian commissioner, where inquiries were made concerning the above report, a somewhat different story is learned. Mr. Lash stated that the department was cognizant of smallpox only within the Pine Creek reserve, and according to yesterday's reports there were only three cases in the reserve. Dr. Harrington is attending to these cases, and he is to be sent to the other reserves to vaccinate all the Indians and to see that smallpox does not gain a foothold. There is one and Dr. Steep is attending to it.

1837. The Smart Set. "The Flash of an Emerald," by Ethel Watts Mumford, the novelette with which the February number of The Smart Set opens, is a notable contribution to literature. It contains in exquisite balance, realism, adventure and romance. The characters, most modern of the modern, are distinctive and drawn with charming art. The love interest that permeates the plot is at once novel and absorbing, while the scenes varying from France to America, from an admirably workedout background to action the most dramatic. In its entirely, as in details, the story is one that must win the praise of critic and public alike. Edgar Fawcett contributes an important story, dealing with phases of American life abroad, of which no author has a more intimate knowledge. 'A Drama in a Dining-Room," by Edgar Saltus, relates with characteristic brilliancy the story of a Paris sensation. Alfred Henry Lewis writes "She Stoops to Conquer," an article where history is disguised by brisk dialogue "When We and clever description. Are Married" is a romantic love story as ingenious as dainty, a delightful witness to Justus Miles Forman's genius in fiction. A fantastic tale of a unique social situation is related by Edward S. Van Zile. The tragi-comedy in the love affairs of a Japanese is daintily and tenderly told by Onoto Watanna, and J. R. Crawford gives a bit of inimitable satire, entitled "Polly Powwows." There are poems by Bliss Carman, Gelett Burgess, Clinton Scolard, Frank Dempster Sherman, Julien Gordon, Josephine Dodge Daskam, Charlotte Becker, and others, together with humor by Tom Masson, Edwin L. Sabin, Roy Farrell Greene, and many more. All in all, the February Smart Set

Summers in His Dire Anger Spared the Family Organ.

Albert Summers, of Westminster, was sentenced to six months in Central prison this morning by Judge Edward Elliott, after pleading guilty to wanton destruction of his wife's who were disappointed New Year's furniture. The evidence was to the effect that Summers was subject to drinking spells, during which it was his favorite practice to break furniture and other things. He had agreed to spare the cabinet organ, but on the last occasion he was only dissuaded from wrecking his anger upon it by the charms of music. He made his wife sing "Only a Rosebud in Her Hair," and then he proceeded to sing "Nellie Gray" to his spouse's accom-paniment. CAPTURED

After Having Laid Out Many Burgers.

Made a Gallant Fight, But Were Beaten by Overwhelming Numbers.

Ladybrand, Orange River Colony, Jan. 23.-Col. Seath sent a patrol of 200 men from Mequaling's Nek, Sunday night, in the direction of Belmontsberg, 20 miles north of Ladybrand. At dawn on Monday the patrol captured 100 horses and three armed and four

Later, a small detachment, with some natives, was sent to cut forage sown by the Boers on a farm at Lindequesrust. Two wagons were taken along. The escort consisted of 25 Yeomanry and one officer, the main patrol going in another direction, thinking that the country was clear of Boers. As the detachment were passing through the hills they suddenly encountered 150 burghers, who, springing from their hiding place, headed them. The Yeomanry made a gallant fight, killing six wounding four. Owing to the overwhelming number of Boers, 18 turned to camp. The British casualties were one man killed and seven wound-

BOERS NOT SEEKING PEACE. London, Jan. 23.-The Times correspondent telegraphing from Vienna states that the Fremdenblatt, which sometimes has a semi-official character, opines from Chamberlain's speech that the English Government is ready in theory to listen to peace overtures from the Boers, although it would be difficult to open negotiations. The Boer hope for inde-pendence, says the Fremdenblatt, is mere infatuation, which will be succeeded by fanaticism and despair.

NEARLY CLEAR OF BOERS. Pretoria, Jan. 23 .- The northern part of the Transvaal is now almost clear Mr. Sleeman made a very vigorous of Boers. The only commando there is that of Beyers, which is in the Waterburg district. They do not appear to be inclined to fight, but are wandering around aimlessly in search of food, Food is becoming scarce in the Waterburg and Zoutpansberg districts. The Kaffir population makes it impossible for the Boers to move without the British being informed. Meanwhile the Kaffirs are an important source of the British food supplies. Mealies in BRITISH CAPTURE GRAIN. A Ladybrand dispatch says: Ternant's column encountered a large Boer force under Commandant Rautenbach near Witney on Monday. The Boers had a large amount of grain, a quantity of stock and 80 wagons. The British captured a lot of the grain, which was burned. The burghers offered only a slight resistance. They removed three of their wounded. Later they were reinforced by 150 men from the north. The Koos commando has also been reinforced, and now numbers 250 men. They have twelve wagons, containing families. Yesterday 1,100 Boers moved eastward towards the Brandwater Basin, A number of Boer refugees have arrived here from Flicksburg.

RHODES AS PREMIER. London, Jan. 23.-According to the Daily Mail's Cape Town correspondent the arrival of Cecil Rhodes, who is en route there from England, is eagerly awaited. The correspondent says that he is certain to receive a call to the head of affairs in the near future. The progressives regard him as the only man who can rescue the colony from the difficulties that will surely result from the war, while the moderate Dutch will follow him rather than any other progressive. If, as he believed the Cape Parliament assembles within about two months, Mr. Rhodes will be almost compelled to accept the premiership. LOBBY RUMOR. It is rumored in the lobbies of the House of Commons that a Boer delegate from Acting President Schalk Burger, last June saw Lord Rosebery, and submitted peace proposals to him. Lord Rosebery acquainted Lord Salisbury, the premier, with this fact, but, according to the rumor, the cabinet declined to consider the matter, on the end with the unconditional surrender

MISS HOBHOUSE FOILED. The attempt of Miss Hobhouse to sue Lord Milner, Lord Kitchener or other officers concerned in refusing to allow her to stay in South Africa have failed, owing to interference on the part of the authorities. Finally Miss Hobhouse asked Mr. Brodrick the war secretary, whether he would take the responsibility and allow her to sue him. Mr. Brodrick declined this proposition. Miss Hobhouse was the first person to agitate regarding the condition of the concentration camps She went to South Africa again recently, but was not allowed to land

THE ASSESSORS

Appointment of Commissioner Grant's Assistants Not Yet Made.

The appointment of assessors, which lies in the mayor's hands, has not yet been made. Assessment Commissioner Grant is desirous of having three assessors, instead of two, appointed this year, so that he might look after the work of the office more than he has been able to in the past. Mr. Peter Toll and Mr. C. W. Andrus were last year's assessors, and it remains to be seen whether the mayor will leave the staff as it is. There exists an opinion that his worship will find a position in this office for Mr. Alf. McCoubrey,

PREVENTION THE BEST CURE

The best time to cure disease is before you contract it, but instead of habitually living in such a manner as to promote health, many are drowning the nerve centers with waste matter, resulting from the eating and drinking of unwholesome and unnatural articles of diet. Nothing will more admirably reinforce and strengthen the resistance of the body against the various forms of disease (now so regretably prevalent than strict attention to the diet. The ordinary cereal foods, hastily prepared by indifferent cooks, often form tough, indigestible lumps which lie in the stomach for hours. After a short time putrefaction begins, giving rise to biliousness, headache, and often to symptoms of acute poisoning. Dr. Arnott says: "It gives me pleasure to state that I have visited the Battle Creek Sanitarium Manufactory of Health Foods, and observed the care and cleanliness with which they were prepared. I can safely say that their various products are as represented and worthy of the confidence of the public. Their Granose Biscuit is the best general food cure that I know of for constipation, and their Granola is very valuable for persons of weak digestion, who cannot use the ordinary porridges. otototocotototot CHAPTER VII. It must have become pretty evident by his time that Mark Warden was sailing under false colors—that he had set out on the voyage of life in rather buccaneer fashion. He could not but own it, even fashion. He could not but own it, even to himself, distinctly and consciously. And yet—what was he to do? Everything had some how or other seemed so plain and easy to him while he was at Cambridge. There, he had not been able, living as an unmarried man with other unmarried men, absorbed in the work of the place, with only himself to think of, to feel that he was not as others were. Marie had become a sort of dream to him; and so he had felt, whenever he thought about the matter at all, that he must have become a sort of dream to Marie. Had he been an idle man, with nothing to do but write love letters, things might have worn a different aspect to him. But when a strong man's heart is in his work, and when the heart is in his work, and when that work is purely selfish, he is seldom able to realize what concerns others. But now, once more in Denethorp, relieved from the iron of hard work, and in the midst of all the associations of three years ago, the image of Marie took a far more substantial form, and became anything but a dream. Once more, what was he to do?

was he to do?

He might resign his fellowship, declare his marriage, and take a curacy and pupils. "Of course," the reader will say; "what else?" But then he would have thrown away the hopes, the labor, the success of years; he would condemn himsulf to an obscure and uncongenial life success of years; he would condemn himself to an obscure and uncongenial life for the rest of his days; it would be far worse than committing suicide. No-anything but that, he thought. And let not the reader be too sure, if he is not guided by some nobler principle than Mark Warden, that he, under similar circumstances, would not think in a similar way. And so, before he slept, he entered into a sort of compromise with himself. The marriage had been secret for three years—let it be secret for four; and then—who knows what might hapand then—who knows what might hap-pen? It is not only weak-minded men who, when pushed into a moral diffi-culty, cast their burden upon the should-ers of Fortune.

Nevertheless it was in a frame of mind made up of doubt and of that sort of self-justification which is the surest on rising, faced the fresh, honest breath of the morning, laden with the old-fashioned flowers of long ago. From the window of his room he saw his sisthe window of his room he saw his sister, with uncovered head, sleeves tucked up, and shoes down at heel, mysteriously engaged with a clothesline which extended from one brick wall of the garden to the other; and the sight did not please him, for it suggested to him the vision of a future Mrs. Brown. Then he descended into the parlor, still strongly flavored with the effects of last evening. It was by no means early, but there were no signs of breakfast; indeed in that house nothing seemed to be done at any particular time or in any particular manner. Presently, however, his father came in; and then, somehow or other, breakfast and Lorry made their appearance together.

"Well, Mark," said the Doctor, "what are you up to today? I wanted to have seen something of you; but there's always something or another. I really must go and see that child of Wilkins. must go and see that child of Wilkins. I ought to have gone yesterday—only something put it out of my head; and—hang it! my boots weren't cleaned this morning. But never mind—they'll do for once in a way. But that reminds me—I promised to go and see what's-his-name on Sunday. Well, well, I daresay it was nothing nerticular." nothing particular. Oh, never mind me. I shall just stroll out somewhere."

about somewhere."

Laura looked knowingly at her brother; for though not a confidante of his great secret, she had not been blind to his great flirtation. "I think I can fancy where you'll stroll to," she said.
"And, Lorry," continued the Doctor, if Summers calls about that bill again, you know, tell him I haven't forgotten

Eczema itch

The Most Exasperating of All Skin Diseases-The Most Difficult to Cure-Dr. Chase's Ointment Proven To Be an Effective

Eczema's itch is torture, the skin seems on fire with the burning, stinging humor; and at times it becomes almost unbearable, and in desperation could tear the skin to pieces. You dare not exercise for fear of aggravating the itching; neither can you sleep, for no sooner does the body become warm than the trouble begins, and instead of restful, refreshing sleep. it is scratch, scratch, scratch all night iong. There is scarcely a moment's respite from this maddening malady at any time. Of course you have tried nearly all the washes, salves, lotions and medicated soaps, but like thousands of others have been disappointed and disgusted.

Ann McDonald, Kingsville, Ont., states: "For about three years I was a dreadful sufferer from eczema. At times the patches of raw, flaming sesh would extend from my waist to neck, and from the knees to enkles. The intense itching almost drove me crazy, and though I tried all the local physicians, they could not even relieve the suffering. The flesh would crack open, and I don't believe envone suffered more than I did. "I was told of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but did not believe that it would help me. After the fifth application of this preparation I began to feel the benefit of its soothing, healing effects, and now attribute a cure to the persistent use of this wonderful remedy. It is truly worth its weight in gold, and I never tire of recommending it to other sufferers."

You may be skeptical regarding the ability of Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure you. Most people are, after trying in vain to get relief from a host of remedies, but Dr. Chase's Ointment will not disappoint you. You will be surprised over the marvelous control it has over all itching, burning inflammation of the skin, and the wonderful healing powers which it possesses It takes time to thoroughly cure eczema, but Dr. Chase's Ointment will do it. You will find relief after a few cations, and gradually and naturally the cure will follow. Besides being a positive cure for eczema, Dr. Chase's Ointment comes useful in a hundred ways in every home for every form of skin irritation and eruption, chapped skin and chilblains. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co.,

Then Lorry in a few minutes was car-

Then Lorry in a few minutes was car-Then Lorry in a rew minutes was carried off by the red-armed maid, and Mark was left to follow his own devices. His sister proved a true prophetess. As, indeed, he was only bound in duty to do, he took himself slowly and uncomiortably to Market street. The distance was not far, but he was a long time in traversing it. For pow these his tance was not far, but he was a long time in traversing it; for now that his meeting with Marie was imminent and inevitable, his anxiety about it, and about the nature of the relation that must somehow or other be established between him and her, for the present almost tempted him to fly from the situation altogether. He almost began to doubt whether he, the precociously wise, had not been guilty of a great piece of folly for once in his life.

Chance also aided his feeble attempts to procrastinate—attempts of which, to do nim justice, he was half ashamed. It was by no means a pleasant thing for do him justice, he was half ashamed. It was by no means a pleasant thing for him to feel that he, Mark Warden, wrangler, fellow, et cetera, was afraid to meet Marie, who was Marie, and nothing more. He would have sufficiently despised any other man who feared to meet a woman, and that woman his own wife. But for himself he welcomed the chance that aided him, nevertheless. At a smart trot along the High street came a light trap, driven by his traveling companion or yesterday. Hugh Lester also saw Warden, and pulled up.

"You're the very man I want to see, Warden," he said, "What do you think? I'm going to stand for Denethorp."

"Indeed? But I heard something about it last night. I wish you a triumphant return, with all my heart."

"Thanks, old fellow. But you must do something more than that. You've become a great man here, you know."

"I am sure I did not know it."

"I don't know what people don't think you've heen doing. There seems.

"I am sure I did not know it."

"I don't know what people don't think you've been doing. There seems a sort of impression that you've been made Archbishop of Canterbury. I've been having a little talk with White, you know. I wish you'd come and see him, if you wouldn't mind."

"But what could I do?"

"Oh lots of things. You see this is

"Oh, lots of things. You see, this is how things are, or something like it. You have heard, I suppose, that they want to turn us out?"

turn us out?"

"But they won't, of course."

"Not if we can help it. But from what White says, they seem to have got all the brains on their side, and most of the money. Are you a good hand at talking—at spouting, I mean?"

"I never made a speech in my life."

"Never mind that. The fact is, White has been asking me about you, and I told him you could do everything. So just come and see him, there's a good fellow. I shall be tremendously obliged."

"I should be delighted to be of any use, of course—if I thought I could be of any."

any."
"Of course you can. You'll come and see White, then?" see Wh.
"Now?"

"Now?"

"If you could. Can you?"

Warden smiled to himself. This was indeed a triumph in its way. So he was to be pitted against the new-comer—to provide brains for his party! It was faute de mieux, of course; but a man, when he feels really flattered, does not think of that. He had had a welcome back worth having, after all. "It is always so," he thought to himself; "a man is always best appreciated outside his own home." But then Marie-he ought not to be an hour longer in the place without at least trying to see her.
"I have a call to make," he said, "but that will keep, if you and White really want me."

"Jump up, then—I'll drive you, and we can talk as we go along. By the way, I have to go a little out of my way first—you won't mind? I have to clek up a young lady who is staying with us, and who came in to make a sist, and whom I'm to drive back to harl's Dene. You know something of her perhaps?—Miss Raymond, of New Court, work how?" you know."
"Indeed? My father used to know Mrs.

"No doubt. She's a capital girl, I mean her to canvass for me furiously; and as you're to do the same I must introduce you. I wish I had an elder brother. Warden—catching votes won't be such good fun as catching trout, I fancy. However, I'm in for it now—so Lester for ever!" he said, with a laugh, and a touch to the horses that made them start off sharply. "I shall be as excited about it as my good aunt herself before it's all over. Gently, Bay—that child may be a voter's—so there's my first piece of bribery." he said, as he threw a coin to a small child that had apparently taken care to wait before crossing the street until its passage doubt. She's a capital girl. I had apparently taken care to wait before crossing the street until its passage lay directly under the horses' heels. "And now, here we are."

They had turned into Market street, and, to Mark's surprise, had stopped at the very bootmaker's shop to which he himself had been bound when he was overtaken by Lester, Surely it was not likely that Miss Raymond would buy her shoes in Denethorp, much less in Market street. He devoutly hoped that none of the Lefort family might be looking out of the window, for he naturally wished to make his visit in his own way. Lester sent his groom with a message for Miss Raymond that he was at the for Miss Raymond that he was at the door; and presently down came Ernest to say that she would be ready immedi-

And so the messenger, without having delivered his message, and without any awe of Hugh, made a charge at the side of the trap at which he old acquaintance was sitting.

"Why Ernest!" said the latter, with forced geniality, "where do you drop from? and how are they all?"

"Oh, all right. Oh, I was to say the lady will be down directly."

"And who are you, my man?" asked Lester.

"And who are you, my man?" asked Lester.

"Oh, I'm Ernest."

"And who's Ernest?"

"Don't you know? Ernest Lefort."

"You know the Leforts, Warden?"

"Yes—that is—oh, yes, I know them.
Wait a minute, Ernest, I'll just run up for a second, Lester, if you don't mind."

"All right. By the way, would they mind my going up too? It would be rather a joke—I'll tell you why afterwards. I know one of them myself."

Now it would be doing Mark Warden supreme injustice to suppose for a moment that he was in the least really ashamed of his humble friends in the presence of his grand acquaintance. His real desire to make his visit alone was of course founded on other reasons.
But still to guide the heir of Earl's Dene to the bootmaker's second floor was rather a downfall, after having been paraded in the streets of Denethorp as his familiar companion, and he felt it a

WESTERNERS WON.

Winnipeg, Jan. 24.—One of the finest games of hockey seen here in years was played last night, and settled the fate of the Stanley cup for another year. The Victorias again proved that they had every right to hold the title of champions by defeating the Wellingtons, of Toronto, by a score of 5 to 3. The Wellingtons put up a lovely game, but were on the defensive nearly the whole time. Their second goal was scored by a man who was lingering off-side within five yards of Victorias' goal. A Victoria touched it, however, and put him on side, and he slammed it in. Morrison again shone out as a particular star, saving his team from what would have been a very bad beating. His game is marvelous. McKay and another Wellington collided with each other when they tried to stop Flett, but the only disastrous results were to themselves. McKay got a body check shortly after, which made him weak. About the middle of the second half he was injured in some manner, and a spare man put on. While the people sympathized with the visitors, they were mightily pleased to see the cup was in such capable hands as those of the Victorias. The score about indicates the play. CHRIING. WOODSTOCK DEFAULTED.

A match in the primary competition for the Western Ontario tankard was set for yesterday at the Simcoe street rink between Woodstock and the Forest City club. Woodstock defaulted. HIS OPINION.

She-I know some couples that quarreled at first, but got along pretty well later on. He-Oh, yes! Some people take matrimony like rheumatism-they get so they don't complain much.

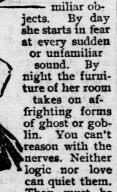

POSSIBLY SHE DID. "How do you like my new waist?" "Very pretty, indeed," he answered; "but I see a wrinkle in it that I will press out if you will let me."

NOT SO SUDDEN, "Amelia," faltered the young man, "I "Oh, Herbert!" she said, clasping her hands together. "What a long, long time it has taken you to say so!"

They must be nourished and then the outcry of the nerves will cease as naturally as a hungry child ceases to cry when fed. For nervous women there is no better tonic and nervine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the diseases which produce pervousness in women, irregularity, debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces re-

"When I began taking your medicine I was not able to stand on my feet ten minutes at a time," writes Mrs. Hattie Borradaile, of 113 Spring Street, Nashville, Tenn. "Had falling of uterus, and kidney and liver disease, and was so weak and nervous I could not keep still. Would take nervous spells and almost die at times. I had several different doctors attending, but they could not do me any good. The last one I had said I would never get up again. Told him that I was taking your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and he said, 'Might just as well take that much water each day.' But I thought I would give the medicine a fair trial. Before I had finished the first two bottles I was able to get outside the house and walk around the yard. I kept on taking the medicines and they cured me."

$76,631, and it had been well worth the money-(cheers); on consolidation of statutes, $230,665, and for Scott act enforcement, $45,445, a total of $11,906,901 This was a position upon which they could not only congratulate themselves, but might expect congratula-tions from honorable gentlemen oppo-site. Of a revenue of about $113,000,000 which had gone through their hands, nearly $6,000,000 had gone back directly to the municipalities and over $1,-500,000 in loans to municipalities for drainage, and yet they started the year with a million and a half of cash in hand.

Quebec had a debt of over $22,000,000, Nova Scotia of $2,713,302, New Bruns-wick $2,751,000, and British Columbia over $5,000,000. Last year's receipts in Ontario had exceeded the estimates by $640,511. NEW EXPENDITURES.

Continuing, he said that they had kept well within the bounds of the estimates. Then there were some extraordinary expenditures which had to be met: $19,655 for the London Infirmary, $52,341 for Cobourg Asylum, $26,838 for the Agricultural College, $10,328 for London Normal School and $20,000 on account of the royal reception. There were some increases in this year's estimates in some departments and de-creases in others. In this connection he said, the government would need $7,000 or $8,000 additional for the Agricultural College to purchase a site for the buildings to be erected by the handsome gift of $125,000 from Sir William Macdonald. A vote of $100,000 for the new science building at Toronto University would be an expenditure of $85,000 or $86,000 for the general elec-

MINING DEVELOPMENT. Continuing, Mr. Ross cited the establishment of the bureau of mines as an important step. They had been advised to appoint a minister of mines, and they could perhaps do no more popular thing in certain quarters. He was not prepared to say there would not be abundant work for a minister of mines, for the wealth of our northern districts was fabulous. In 1895 there was not a pound of iron ore raise or smelted in Ontario. In 1896 the first blast furnace was established; in 1900 90,302 tons and in 1901 300,000 tons of iron ore were smelted in the three blast furnaces of this provinces. We might yet rival Northern Michigan, Spain, Belgium, or Germany in our mining development.

The Bureau of Mines had done much to attract outside capital and prospec-tors to the mineral wealth of the provinces. There was a prospect for great copper development, particularly near Sault Ste. Marie, and since last session a railway had been built most of the way from Bruce Mines to Rock Lake, 12 miles. The nickel industry now gave employment to 1,500 men, and new works at Victoria Mines had cost $800,000, and employed 400 men.

PRE-EMINENT IN AGRICULTURE. Continuing, the premier referred to the expenditure for agricultural purposes, and said that in this industry the province had made advances which had given it profound pre-eminence in comparison with other countries. He made particular mention in this instance of the Farmers' Institutes, and the opposition criticism which greeted the first proposal to establish them. Now it was freely admitted that 1:40.

greeted the first proposal to establish them. Now it was freely admitted that they had been of great benefit, and were continuing to do splendid work. The premier then referred to some projected measures. "We proposed, last year," he said, "to build a rallway from North Bay to Temiskaming, and here that this government keep their pledges. (Government applause.) It

I might remind the doubting Thomases was said last year that it would not be built, that we were flying a kite. Well, it is going to be built, all being well. (Renewed government applause.) We promised the house that we would make arrangements with railways subsidized for special rates for settlers and settlers' effects. We have completed arrangements with the Canadian North-ern Railway for the transportation of settlers from Port Arthur to any part of that district for one cent a mile, and for half-freight rates for their ef-(Government applause.) fects. think it is only a proper thing that a railway subsidized for opening up a country should give special facilities for the settlement of the country it opens up. (Renewed government ap-

They had also, he said, passed legislation with regard to the development of the beet-sugar industry, and had the strongest assurances of success in that regard. A factory at Berlin was practically assured; the buildings of directors of the London Missionary the one at Wallaceburg were almost Society. They anticipate by the end of March an accumulated deficit of and another at Galt, and there were others proposed elsewhere.

It was also the policy of the government to see that the raw materials of the country were manufactured as far as possible in the country. "The time for exporting sawlegs has gone," he said; "the time for exporting square timber ought to be gone, and the sooner it is the better." (Government applause.) He would like to see Ontario's timber going out in as advanced a stage of manufacture as possible. He would like to see Ontario's wheat going to England not as grain, but as flour. Manufacture meant the employ-ment of capital and labor, and that meant more settlers of the best kind for the province.

CONFIDENT LIBERALISM. "I have endeavored," Mr. Ross said in conclusion, "to give a retrospect of our financial position, and where we have found ourselves. I have endeavored to show that at every stage of the progress of the grand march of Liberalism in this country there was no dropping of the head, no want of confidence, no failure to grapple with whatever problem arose. The government which I have the honor to lead have endeavored to follow in the footsteps of their predecessors. Our motto is to 'build up Ontario,' not simply industries, the manufactures, not simply in settling the waste places but to build it up educationally, agriculturally and in every other respect. Our motto is to keep Ontario in the first rank of the various provinces of the Dominion, and to so apply the public moneys intrusted to us that there may be prosperity, as far as we can promote it, from the home of the humblest artisan to the manor house of the wealthiest citizen of this land. (Applause.) That where labor toils for its bare existence it may get its natural reward, and where the larger combinations of capital take large risks, reasonable security may be given for their success. There can be no ultimate success unless there is a general diffusion of wealth, unless there is the heartiest co-operation on the part of the legislature with those who are endeavoring to promote what-ever industries come to their hands." and prolonged ministerial cheers.)

financial critic of the opposition, replied, and set himself to prove that the province was in debt $5,000,000 above its available assets. He was followed by Mr. Graham in a brief but exceedingly vigorous address.

Motion to That Effect Before London Presbytery.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland Retires From Ministry After 36 Years of Useful Labor.

The Presbytery of London met in Knox Church, Dutton, this week, Rev. Dr. Johnston, the moderator, presiding. It is possible that all future meetings of the presbytery will be held in London, owing to it being the most central point, A notice of motion to that effect was made by W. H. Geddes, of Wardsville.

The resignation of Rev. Dr. Sutherland, pastor of Fingal, was accepted, to take place after Feb. 1, and his application to be placed on the aged and infirm fund confirmed. A suitable minute will also be prepared to be placed on the records. A retiring allowance will also be made to Dr. Sutherland by Fingal congregation, over which he has presided for 36 years. Several members of the church appeared before the presbytery and expressed regret because the tie was being had any other charge.

Mr. Drummond presented a call from Aylmer and Springfield to Rev. J. W. Rae, of Toronto Junction. The call was practically a unanimous one, being signed by 68 members and adherents of Aylmer and 50 from Springfield. The gittend practically a unanimous one, being signed by 68 members and adherents of Aylmer, and 50 from Springfield. The stipend is $800, and Mr. Drummond asked the presbytery to supplement this by $100 from the augmentation fund. The call was sustained, on motion of Rev. J. Currie, seconded by Rev. J. McGillivray, and ordered to be forwarded to the Toronto Presbytery. It was also strongly recommended that the augmentation committee grant the petition of the congregation. Provisional arrangements were made for the induction at Springfield, the moderator to preside, Rev. Mr. Kippen to preach, Rev. Dr. McCrae to address the people, and Rev. J. W. Clark the minister.

The demission of Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Newbury, was considered. Nine delegates were present to oppose the resignation being accepted. The delegates were from Newbury, and they spoke in high terms of Mr. Wilson's labors among them. Three parties from Wardsville were heard, and they were in sympathy with the statement expressed by those from Newbury. The resignation, however, was accepted, to take effect Feb. 16. Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Glencoe, convener of the committee on church life and work, presented the report, which in the main was gratifying. The report stated that there was a growing interest in Bible study, while the church attendance was increasing, and the people were more eager to hear the Word.

The report of deputations to augmentation charges was presented and adopted.

Dr. McCrae urged congregations in arters to the control of the contro

Dr. McCrae urged congregations in arrears to the century fund to remit as soon as possible.

The call from English Settlement and Vanneck to Rev. A. T. Craw, of the Presbytery of Peterboro, was sustained, and provisional arrangements were made for his induction.

DEATH OF ST. MARYS PIONEER. Edward Long, town treasurer of St. Marys, who died several days ago, was born in the quiet old cathedral city, Gloucester, England. Coming to this country when a mere child, at the age of 14, he was manager of a general store in Mount Vernon for Mr. Steele. He gave this up to enter into partnership with his employer in St. Marys. Steele & Long kept a general store at the corner now occupied by Dymond & Mitchell's furniture establishment. On the retirement of Mr. Steele, Mr. Long carried on the business himself; eventually giving it up about 1900-1. Probably no one took a more active part in the business, civic and social life of St. Marys than he. The children who survive are Mrs. E. W. Harding, St. Marys; Mrs. T. A. Mara, London; Miss Long, at home; Jas. E. Long, of Revelstoke, B. C., and F. W. L. Long, formerly of the

A LOCAL BUDGET. Engineer and Ratepayers Agree as to Bridge Project.

> Settlement of the Question Deferred-Pavement Difficulty Up Again-Other Matters.

The members of the board of works met last night and dealt with a number of matters of which only a few were finally settled. The Wellington street bridge proposal came up by way of a letter upon the subject written by the city engineer, whose opinion concerning it was far from being in its favor. His views coincided with those held by Messrs. G. M. Anderson, A. Meek and Jno. Magee, a deputation that opposed the construction of the bridge. But as the 80 petitioners for it were not represented at the meeting, the question was laid over.

Engineer Graydon submitted a state-ment as to the condition of different block pavements throughout the city, and was instructed to recommend a pavement to replace them. His list of streets upon which cement walks should be constructed was sent on to the council with a recommendation that they be advertised under the in-itiative. The engineers' report regard-ing the King street pavement was laid over, and his plans for alterations at the city hall were received, and the council will be asked to call for tenders for the work. OLD PEOPLE'S HOME.

The inmates of the Aged People's Home were entertained in a pleasant manner at the home last night by the missionary department of the First Methodist Church Epworth League.

These little entertainments are bright spots in the lives of the old folks, to whom the world has not much to offer in the way of pleasure. They are deeply grateful for any diversions that serve to make their declining days less monotonous, and their gratitude is ample reward for the young people who are thoughtful enough to remember them.

The programme presented last night was as follows: Solo, Mr. Kennedy; quartet, the Misses Wilson; solo, Miss Lang; solo, Miss Gunn; reading, Miss Boyd; solo, Mr. E. Moule; solo, Miss Cameron; reading, Miss Higman.

Minnie Sage at Last Seeks Release From Her Husband.

The following paragraph, taken from the Detroit Today's report of the proceedings in the pro-confesso divorce court in that city, shows the unhappy ending of a matrimonial partnership, said to have been begun in this city:

"Minnie Sage took Herbert Sage as a husband in 1892, at London, Canada. As soon as the honeymoon was over, Herbert took to drink. Finally the wife had to support herself, and with the money she earned, keep up the home. At times the husband would

IT IS A LIVER PILL.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmethese there is none superior to Parme-leo's Vegetable Pills. Their operation, though gentle, is effective, and the most

FUNERAL POSTPONED BY SNOW BLOCKADE.

Two Attempts to Proceed With the Remains Failed-A Record Storm.

Hamilton, Jan. 24.-Green Bros., undertakers, had an unpleasant experience on Wednesday. They started cut in the morning with their hearse to attend a funeral 18 miles out on the mountain near Caistor, but when they got as far as Bartonville, found it impossible to go any further, and they returned to the city.

The body was sent on the train to Vinemount, in hopes that they could engage farmers' sleighs to go out to Caistor, but the roads were drifted full, and they had to return to the city again with the remains, and place them in the mortuary vault until Monday, when interment will take place.

A RECORD STORM. Toronto, Jan. 24.—The oldest in habitants, who have been sighing for the disappearance of the old-fashioned winter, must have been satisfied with the snowstorm which began on Tuesday night and lasted until late Wednesday afternoon. For a time Toronto was an isolated city, the huge banks of snow completely blocking railway traffic. Very few or the old-time snow. storms have equaled the one of Wednesday, the record of great snowfalls being as follows:

Feb. 5, 1863—16 inches. Jan. 19, 1864—10 inches. Jan. 27, 1867—15 inches. March 21, 1867-15 inches. March 27, 1870-16 inches. March 28; 1876-16.2 inches. Jan. 24, 1886-13.8 inches. Dec. 3, 1890-11 inches. Dec. 5 and 6, 1898—16 inches. Jan. 22, 1902—14.5 inches.

It will be seen that with the exception of the great storm of 1898 the snowfall of Wednesday has not been equaled in twenty years. The storm was predicted by the observatory officials in their bulletin of Monday morning. Its violence in Canada was confined principally to the region be-tween Hamilton and the Island of An-ticosti. The snowfall was very heavy in that part of the country, but several counties and districts in Ontario escaped entirely.

with the money she earned, keep up the home. At times the husband would come home crazed with drink, and after beating his wife cruelly, he would finish by dragging her around by the hair. Even after all this, Minnie told of how she tried to get her husband work, in an endeavor to help him to lead a better life. The last straw came one day when she saw him enter a salcon, and followed to plead with him. He turned and struck her. Three years ago the firm she worked for falled, and the woman came to this city for employment, and since then, she stated, she has supported herself in Detroit. The case was entered on the docket as 'heard and submitted.'"
