Arms Parley Ends As Era of World Peace Looms

TREATIES ARE SIGNED BY 9 GREAT POWERS

Harding Delivers Farewell Address to Disarmament Conference Delegates.

LASTED TWELVE WEEKS

U. S. President Lauds Work of Nations' Representatives To End War.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The historic-making conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions came to its end today with the signing of treaties and a farewell address by President Harding.

With its work characterized by Mr. Harding as "the first deliberate and effective expression of great powers in the consciousness of peace and of war's utter futility," the great conference went into its niche of history to await the judgments and developments of the future.

In the great assembly hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution, where all its open sessions have been held, the delegates of the nine nations assembled, marched in turn to a space at the great green table and affixed their signatures to treaties and agreements, which are all parts of the structure built to lift from a war-worn world the burdens of excessive naval armaments; to promote the peace of the Pacific; to give a new bill of rights to China, and to remove from the East, particularly, the effects of war.

Each delegation affixed signatures as plenipotentiaries pledging the honor of their respective nations to the good faith of the settlements agreed upon, the great audience expressed its approval of the work in loud and prolonged applause.

At the conclusion of the ceremony of signing, President Harding delivered his address, formally closing the conference as he formally had opened it a little more than twelve weeks ago.

The conference adjourned sine die at 11:15 o'clock.

Sir R. Borden Emphasizes Educative Influence

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(Canadian Press).—The greatest accomplishment of the Washington limitation of arms conference has been its "educative" influence, in the opinion of Sir Robert Borden, the Canadian delegate.

Sir Robert, in commenting on the results of the conference, said that the practical results attained are "notable," but that even had "these concrete results been still greater," he would have regarded them as "less vital significance" than the "educative influence" such a conference is bound to exercise upon the participating nations.

The text of Sir Robert's statement follows, in part:

Achievements.

"The circumstance that I have represented at this conference a country whose boundary line for nearly 4,000 miles runs with that of the United States, perhaps, may justify a word from me as to what has been accomplished.

"For more than a century that boundary line has been unguarded, whether on the great inland lakes or upon the invisible frontier.

BANQUET WILL MARK OPENING OF MOTOR SHOW

Frank White, M. P., Will Officiate at Formal Opening of Exhibition.

PREDICT GREAT SUCCESS

London's annual motor show will be formally opened to the public Monday night at 7 o'clock by Frank White, M.P. Immediately prior to the opening, to mark the occasion, a banquet for those in charge of the show and guests will be held in the French room of the Tecumseh.

From the time that the show is opened at 7 o'clock Monday night until 11 o'clock Saturday night next, according to present indications, throngs will continuously fill the Armories, making the attendance the greatest that has yet been recorded at any motor show here. Great success was achieved by the executive last year, and they have applied themselves to the task again this year for many weeks past of putting the show on a higher basis than ever before.

The interior of the Armories has been skillfully and artistically decorated and affords an attractive background to the many exhibits displayed.

Musical features, changing each day, will be presented throughout the week.

The principal speakers at the banquet, which will officially open the show, will be: Frank White, M.P.; Hugh Stevenson, M.L.A.; Mayor Wilson; E. S. Little; Wilfrid Hodgins; President of the London Automobile Dealers' Association; Bert Kane, 1st vice-president of the Automotive Dealers; W. W. Ferguson, 2nd vice-president; Frank McLachlin, secretary; S. H. Rowed, past president of the Automotive Dealers' Association of Ontario.

BOTH CANDIDATES HOPE TO WIN AT KINGSTON

Kingston, Feb. 6.—A heavy fall of soft snow, with indications that it may turn to rain, makes this a far from ideal day for the provincial election to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Brig.-Gen. A. E. Ross, M.P.-elect. But the workers for both parties, including many women, were out early in full force, and the probability is that a good portion of the possible 15,000 votes will be polled before the balloting ceases at 6 o'clock. The friends of W. F. Nickle, the Conservative candidate, and of R. F. Elliott, the Liberal standard-bearer, both profess to be confident. The Liberals have held two public meetings, while the Conservatives have contented themselves with a thorough canvass of the city.

EXPERTS THINK WATER SUPPLY GOOD FOR YEARS

Findings of Ohio Well Digging Company Assure City Adequate Supply.

DISPELS SCARCITY CRY

Manager Buchanan Declares Provision Now Made For Population of 100,000.

London is assured of an adequate supply of fresh water for years to come. Silencing for ever and a day the cries of the calamity howlers, who as recently as Saturday last "deplained" the fact that London was nearing the end of its well-water resources, came the report from the Ohio well-diggers that at least two of their locations will prove capable of supplying good water in appreciable quantities for many years.

Coming to London on Friday last from their headquarters in Massillon, Ohio, officials of the Ohio Well Digging Company, whose experts have been probing in the London area since August last for a possible underground river, were prepared to submit their report in detail to the public utilities authorities.

While both the commissioners and the experts were bound by their agreement not to make public the extent or findings of their operations, it has been freely acknowledged by both that of the several locations that have been tested in and around London, two have been selected as the most promising, and the feeling is general among the commissioners and the well experts themselves that these wells alone will provide all the water required in the life of any citizen today.

Enough for 100,000.

Manager Buchanan of the commission explained Monday that with these two wells measuring up to present expectations water available for a city of 100,000 will be possible.

He explains that the experts have changed their plans within the past few days. In order that no mistake be made additional tests will be undertaken in the vicinity of the two locations in question. While this will extend the work another month or so, it will insure success before the actual well-drilling is commenced and incidentally safeguard against the remote possibility of spending several thousand dollars with no result.

This encouraging report from the well diggers obviates quite probably for all time to come the necessity for Londoners to go to either Lake Huron or Lake Erie for their water, as has been suggested.

Will Yield Best Results.

While the latter scheme may appear the more satisfactory on the surface, the commissioners explain that from the point of view of expense alone the well-digging activities will yield the best results.

It is pointed out by Manager Buchanan that the interest alone upon the five or six million dollars that must be spent to bring water from Lake Erie, without requesting expenditures, would not be more than what it will cost for the entire well-digging operations.

The river water scheme is rejected as equally unsatisfactory.

ABANDONS HOPE OF OBTAINING ALBERTA SEAT

Hon. Charles Stewart Compelled To Conclude Negotiations.

H. WOOD RESPONSIBLE

[Special to London Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of interior, has been reluctantly compelled to abandon negotiations looking toward the securing of a seat in his own province of Alberta. Pressure brought to bear by H. W. Wood, has it is believed, been largely responsible for the breaking off of negotiations with regard to East Edmonton, and in view of the desire to have Mr. Stewart in the House when Parliament assembles in March, it is deemed unwise to continue negotiations further.

The following wire was sent to Hon. C. R. Mitchell at Edmonton: "In view of local developments, you had probably better announce that I have been delaying making an announcement concerning various constituencies offered, pending results in own province, but expect to make definite statement in a few days."

Mr. Stewart, it is expected, will run either in British Columbia or Quebec province. Preferably he would like to run in the latter, because it borders on his own. In Quebec D. A. LaFortune has informed the minister that he would be honored to vacate the county of Jacques Cartier. Should this be chosen, Mr. LaFortune would likely go to the Senate to fill the vacancy now existing through the death of Senator Boyer recently. Argentinus County is vacant since the death of Peter McGibbon and is also available for Mr. Stewart if required.

GANDHI SENDS READING COMPROMISE OFFER

London, Feb. 6.—M. K. Gandhi, the non-co-operationist leader of India, has sent a manifesto to Lord Reading, the viceroy, saying he is prepared to abandon his aggressive policy under certain conditions, says a Bombay dispatch today to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Gandhi sent his manifesto from Talsi, district of Surat, says the dispatch, and offered to give up his aggressive plans if his followers who are imprisoned or under trial for non-violent activities are released, and if the press is released from administrative control with the restoration of fines and forfeitures.

Gandhi added that if this was done the whole situation will be considered atresh.

City May Establish Ice Plant On Property Near Thames Park

THINK MOTIVE FOR SLAYING WAS REVENGE

Police of Los Angeles Investigate Film Director's Death.

MABEL NORMAND SPEAKS

Declares She Is Willing To Publish Contents of Missing Letter.

Los Angeles, Feb. 6.—Jealousy, police and private detectives reported today, has directed search for a prominent young New York man, formerly engaged to one of the beautiful stars of filmland, in connection with the shooting last Wednesday night of William Desmond Taylor.

The officers said that the actor had admitted ownership of the automobile seen near the Taylor house on the night of the murder.

While these matters were developing, tales came to the police of the alleged possession by Taylor of women's silken lingerie, one piece of which, a pink nightgown, was reported missing from his apartment since his body was found. One witness was said to have stated, but not to the police, that the particular robe bore the embroidered initials of a motion picture actress.

Would Publish Letters.

Close upon the heels of these declarations came the report that the police were searching for a drug peddler, who they were hinted, had sought through Taylor to make delivery of drugs to an actress who found it difficult to make her purchases direct. The initials of the actress connected with this phase of the case were said to be the same as those on the nightgown reported missing from the Taylor apartment.

The whereabouts of letters which Miss Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, said she had written to Taylor, and which, she said, were missing from his apartments, continued to be a matter of suspicion today. Miss Normand said she would be willing to publish anything they contained.

The search through Taylor's belongings today brought forth messages and notes from many film actresses, including Blanche Sweet and Gloria Swanson.

Funeral Tuesday.

Revenge, prompted by jealousy, remained apparently the most probable motive for the alleged crime, investigators of the various departments generally agreed. Taylor's body, dressed in the uniform of a British officer, which he wore in the world war, was viewed today by many friends and others at an undertaking establishment, where it will lie until the funeral services on Tuesday at St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral. Many flowers were sent there, to await transfer, after the body was closed, to the cemetery vault, where the body will be held until the arrival of the director's daughter, Ethel Daisy Taylor, who has been in school at Mammoth, N. Y.

Members of the British Overseas Club will attend the funeral in a body and a squad of former Canadian soldiers will fire a salute over the casket.

George Wong, the proprietor, entered just as the thief was removing the money. He ran back to the kitchen, grabbed a revolver, and came out just as the young man was disappearing through the front door. He fired two shots at the fleeing man, who turned and ran down a side street. Police were notified and are searching for the robber, who is described as about 25 years old, short and of slight build.

BOARD TO INSPECT NEW COLLEGIATE

Trustees Will Make Visit and Pass Judgment On Building.

Under the direction of School Trustee A. E. Silverwood, No. 3 committee of the Board of Education conducts a thorough inspection of the new collegiate institute Monday afternoon.

This action was decided upon at the last general meeting of the trustees prompted by the charges of certain irregularities in connection with the construction of that building.

Trustee Silverwood announced Monday morning that he had "certain information" acquired by himself in an unofficial inspection, that he would place at the disposal of the committee.

Should the latter then feel so disposed, he explains, they are free to act upon the suggestion of the board at its last session and bring in an uninitiated contractor or architect from outside the city to pass judgment upon the building.

Trustee Silverwood says also that "a good many changes have been made in the building lately," and hopes that the committee will soon be enabled to take the school over officially from the contractors. He adds that it should develop that certain irregularities in construction do exist there must be an understanding that such shall be remedied.

ARCHBISHOP OF MILAN CHOSEN BY CONCLAVE

New Pontiff Accepts Election and Bestows First Benediction.

RETIRE TO VATICAN

Multitude Before St. Peter's Cheers When Announcement Is Made.

London, Feb. 6.—Cardinal Ratti was elected pope by receiving 38 votes in the conclave of the sacred college, says a Central News dispatch from Rome this afternoon.

Rome, Feb. 6.—Cardinal Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, was proclaimed elected pope in succession to the late Benedict XV, this morning. He has taken the name of Pius XI.

A large crowd waited in front of St. Peter's for the wisps of smoke which would tell of the election of a new pope or the failure of the sacred college to reach a decision. A large crowd waited in front of St. Peter's for the wisps of smoke which would tell of the election of a new pope or the failure of the sacred college to reach a decision. A large crowd waited in front of St. Peter's for the wisps of smoke which would tell of the election of a new pope or the failure of the sacred college to reach a decision.

Accepts Election.

Then the purple canopies over the thrones of the cardinals were let down, one by one, until only that over the new pontiff remained. This was done to show that the whole Sacred College rendered obedience to the new head of the church. Dean Vannutelli, thereupon asked the new incumbent what name he chose to take during his pontificate and upon his reply "Pius XI" Mr. Sincero, secretary of the conclave, verified his election to the papal chair.

The new pope was then escorted to the anteroom within the Sistine Chapel where he discarded his cardinal's robes, assisted by the conclavists and the papal vestments, which had been held in readiness since the opening of the conclave were placed upon him. These included the white cassock, white sash, white stockings, red slippers, a red and gold mozzetta, and finally the stole of red, worked with gold.

The pontiff, fully vested in the papal garb and accompanied by his cardinals, thereupon returned to the throne he had occupied in the Sistine Chapel.

Bestows First Benediction.

Meanwhile the dean of the cardinal deacons, Bisletti, followed by several cardinals, repaired to the central balcony of St. Peter's, from which the election of scores of popes have been officially proclaimed to the world, and solemnly announced to the great crowd awaiting expectantly below: "I announce to your great joy the election of the pontiff."

This confirmed to the throng in St. Peter's Square, the election, which had been indicated by the thin stream of white smoke which came from the metal stovepipe projecting from the roof of the Sistine Chapel when the voting papers of the final ballot were burned.

Meanwhile Pope Pius XI, after waiting for some time in the Clementine Hall, had left for St. Peter's accompanied by the member of the Sacred College. Arriving at the balcony at the entrance inside the cathedral he raised his hand and bestowed upon the multitude his first public benediction. Then he returned to the Vatican, where, although reigning, the popes have remained virtual prisoners until their deaths.

It was a striking scene as Pope Pius made his first appearance at the front of St. Peter's. As his holiness gave the benediction the troops assembled there while the crowd acclaimed the new pontiff.

Cardinal Archille Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, was for several years Papal Nuncio in Poland, where his dis-

MAYOR OPENS LONDON'S NEW HYDRO STATION

J. Cameron Wilson Performs Official Ceremony at Cabell Street Depot.

BUILT BY LOCAL STAFF

Provides 25,000 Additional Horsepower to Existing Electric Supply.

Marking the turning of the corner to even greater electrical achievements in London the new hydro-electric sub-station, Cabell street and Kitchener avenue, was formally opened Saturday afternoon when J. Cameron Wilson, mayor of London, and Jared Vining, chairman of the public utilities commission, closed the switches that diverted into electrical energy 25,000 horsepower designed to adequately supply London's wants for years to come.

Chippewa, as the new East London station has been appropriately named, will be the controlling center for the entire city and has been declared by unquestionable electrical authorities to be the finest example of modern installation and skilled workmanship on the continent. The local commission takes unusual pride in the fact that all work has been accomplished by the local staff and special commendation is directed at J. W. Peart.

Meeting at the central station, Horton street at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, the public utilities commissioners, accompanied by E. V. Buchanan, general manager, A. O. Hunt, assistant general manager, Engineer J. W. Peart, Oliver Ellwood, secretary, W. J. Jackson and R. W. Swayze inspected that plant, expressing every satisfaction with conditions and laying special emphasis upon the cleanliness and general orderliness of the department.

Officials Banquet.
Second only in importance in the events of the day was the gathering for dinner in the evening of the various heads of the utilities department, i.e. commissioners and other officials connected with the city's waterworks and electrical branches when the 1921 reports were submitted and received with unstinted enthusiasm.

In his characteristic "after-dinner" manner Jared Vining, the popular choice of the commission as chairman in 1921 presided, and the success of the evening's entertainment was due in no small measure to his efforts, despite the fact that toward the close of the proceedings he "called" the press representatives to voice their sentiments on the bigger issues of the day.

Owing to the unfortunate illness of E. B. Graham, park superintendent, Arthur Carty was selected to read the annual report of the activities and expenditures of that branch of the work, chairman Vining finding occasion to comment upon the invaluable services of Superintendent Graham. "There is no more efficient official of the city than Mr. Graham," declared Commissioner Vining.

Mel Brock Attends.
Returning, he did from Ridley College, St. Catharines, to deliver his report, Mel Brock reviewed his work as director of playgrounds during the summer of 1921, and incidentally lauded the personnel of the utilities staff.

Introduced by Chairman Vining as one of the "landmarks" of the waterworks department, O. E. Ellwood, secretary, presented the annual report of his department.

"If Mr. Ellwood were not here," commented Commissioner Vining, "we should hardly know that we were actually meeting."

Secretary Ellwood's report, summarized as follows: Electrical department total receipts, $989,677.93; waterworks department total receipts, $253,893.33; parks department sundry receipts to city treasurer, $5,138.11; playground department receipts to city treasurer, $3,621.04, making a total of $1,253,330.41.

A summary of the debentures is as follows: Electrical departments, checks issued, $2,569 for $1,094,826.50; waterworks department, checks issued, $95 for $356,795.18; parks department, checks issued, $74 for $37,548.24; playgrounds department, checks issued, $34 for $26,806.88, making a total of $1,515,986.89.

A. O. Hunt, Manager Buchanan's "right hand man," as he was appropriately termed by the chairman, submitted a very satisfactory report on new business.

Equally encouraging was the report rendered on the stock resources by John Middlebrook.

THREE CASES IN WEEKLY COURT

Three cases were heard before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith at the weekly high court at the courthouse, Saturday morning.

Re Isabel Violet McAlpine, an infant: An order was made permitting payment to be made of the interest accrued on moneys in court for maintenance. J. C. Elliott, K.C., for the plaintiff and F. C. Betts for the official guardian.

Re Beatty and Horton: An order was made under the vendor and purchaser act, with reference to the local master at London to inquire and report on all questions of title on lands to be sold in Exeter. F. W. Gladman for vendor.

Re Henrietta Allsworth estate: A motion asking advice to administration of estate, the question being whether certain creditors should be paid in full as being secured, there being not sufficient assets to pay all creditors in full. Judgment reserved. A. B. Davidson, St. Thomas, for the administrator, and E. Saunders and Mr. McLaughlin, St. Thomas, for other parties.

connected with the London Advertiser as circulation manager.

The "man behind the gun," the man who directs the wiring through the year, W. J. Jackson, delivered a very satisfactory report, emphasizing the slogan of his department, "service to the public is our aim and service as cost."

As the chairman remarked, the various departments are so dovetailed into each other it is difficult to determine just who is the "man behind the gun," but if C. W. Alfred, in charge of the line department, fall off a sixty-foot pole "there would certainly be some delay." Mr. Alfred's report was likewise excellent and satisfactory.

According to Commissioner Vining, it is S. J. Dawson's duty to see that events proceed smoothly as scheduled at the main station and the sub-stations. Needless to say his reports on the operating departments measured up to expectations.

20 Years With Waterworks.
Springbank is where London first received their fresh water supply and there are many citizens today who yet believe that such is the only source. The man chiefly responsible for this is R. McCormick, another "landmark" with London's waterworks department. Submitting a remarkably satisfactory report, Mr. McCormick pointed out that he was proud to record 20 years continuous service with the city.

Chairman Vining replied that the commissioners were equally proud that Mr. McCormick was connected for so many years with the city and hoped that 20 years hence would still see him in harness.

"The commission and the city is indeed fortunate," said the chairman, in having as engineer J. W. Peart, an employee with splendid ability, high attainments in his profession coupled with a splendid overseas record." As to be anticipated Mr. Peart's report was highly satisfactory.

"What Mr. Alfred is in the electrical department," commented Commissioner Vining, "is Tom Hodgkinson in the waterworks department." The latter described as another "landmark" in the city's service delivered a report that was unequalled by any.

"But whenever Mr. Buchanan has anything to be done in the building line, even if it's decorating a table," Mr. Vining, "he calls in R. W. Swayze." The latter's report was received with like enthusiasm.

Pays Tribute to Buchanan.
Introducing Manager E. V. Buchanan, Commissioner Vining commented "Manager Buchanan has done his work in a competent and satisfactory manner. He has been his work appreciated before it will hurt him to hear it again. The more fact that such a harmonious attitude prevails between himself and the various employees is but a great tribute to himself."

Before delivering his report Manager Buchanan took the opportunity of introducing his "right hand man," "city manager," "Jimmie" Bell. The latter acknowledged the "challenge" and while refraining from offering compromising comment surveyed the gathering in a manner to denote that he was willing to take on all comers.

Manager Buchanan dwelt briefly upon the gratifying reports that had been submitted and spoke of greater expectations for the future augmented by the new station in East London—the commissioners as well as the staff and challenged comparison of the latter with that of any private corporation.

That the mayors who sat with the commissioners from time to time merely basked in the glory of the latter was the belief of Mayor Cameron Wilson. They had little to do with the efficiency of that department, he thought.

The mayor pointed out that while he had already been termed as "crazy on co-operation" he believed that such accounted in no small measure for the success of the local hydro department. He lauded the efforts of the latter branch of the city's service and expressed the hope that in the future the other bodies would co-operate with them in a similar undertaking.

Mayor Wilson voiced the opinion that Londoners should be congratulated that they had such a body as the hydro department, a form of public ownership that was being enacted as only public ownership should be, with profit.

MANY MOURN AS DR. CAMPBELL IS LAID AT REST

Funeral of Late Grand Sire of I. O. O. F. Was Solemn and Impressive.

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTES

One of the largest and most impressive funerals that has taken place in London for many years was that of Dr. C. T. Campbell at St. Paul's Cathedral Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Campbell in his lifetime held many of the greater municipal offices of the city, was well known in fraternal circles, had been active as a worker and office-bearer in charitable and other organizations, and as a result hundreds of friends of the physician were present at the ceremonies.

The obsequies were under the auspices of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, and some four to five hundred members of the organization marched in the funeral procession, to pay their last respects to the man who had been, prior to his death, the oldest living grand sire of all Oddfellows, and the first Canadian to hold the office.

Many Officers Present.
Practically all of the Grand Lodge of Ontario officers were present, in addition to a number of representatives of the Sovereign Grand Lodge. Members of the subordinate lodges, who numbered some 400, while 75 Patriarchs Militant represented the cantons.

At 2:15 o'clock a private service was conducted at the Campbell residence by the Rev. D. Bright of St. Paul's. From there the funeral cortege proceeded to the church. Along the route of the procession, on Queen's avenue and Dundas street to the doors of the church, the cortege passed down a lane of the lodge members.

Three Carriages of Flowers.
Preceding the procession were three carriages bearing hundreds of floral tributes. Then, in advance, marched the ministers, the honorary pallbearers, the Patriarchs Militant, the city council and representatives of other civic bodies. Dr. Campbell was mayor of London in 1905, and at one time was chairman of the board of education.

The assembly officers and the officers of the Rebekah Chapters, representatives of the subordinate lodges, and the Grand Lodge officers completed the formation of the procession ahead of the coffin. An escort of Patriarchs Militant, with swords reversed, walked beside the cortege, and then came the active pallbearers.

At the doors of the cathedral the march halted, and the body was borne to the vestibule and into the church under an arch of swords held by the Patriarchs Militant.

Services in the Cathedral.
Services in the cathedral were conducted by Rev. Mr. Waller, principal of Huron College, and he was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Bright. FINDS PROBLEMS ROOTED IN HOME

Rev. William Beattie Speaks On "Making Canadian Homes."

"A fierce light is beating upon the modern home. Scientific students of social problems state that nearly all our woes flow from defective homes. Our thorns and thistles are rooted in the family."

With this question from Charles Edward Jefferson, of New York, Rev. William Beattie of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, launched into his sermon to mothers. The third of a series on the making of a Canadian home.

"If our tragedies are largely created by fathers and mothers who are unequal to their task, then there has surely arisen a great necessity for the expansion of our special teaching regarding our elementary laws of homemaking," stated the pastor.

"Through the ignorance of the laws of hygiene some invalid mothers pass on ailments to their children and know not why. The best use of foods, and goods, and God's own medicine, fresh air and sunshine, should be more diligently taught to the future motherhood of Canada."

"They should be taught to observe where their greatest influence lies; namely, not in the occasional and extraordinary effort but in the normal and habitual home life. The unconscious influence of what the mother does is what counts. What the mother does will reach down into the brood and slum, where all other human agencies are deaf, dumb and paralyzed; a mother's love can pursue and recall from the very gates of hell," concluded Rev. Beattie.

Gordon Knapp sang "Mother O Mine" in a special musical program. Miss Helen Holt, Miss Viola Williams, George Garow and Ed Crawford sang "Bar Mother's Way." The anthem was "Evening and Morn."

TOTTERS UNDER BURDEN OF DEBT

Bulgaria Groaning Under Load Which Will Take Several Generations To Liquidate.

SOPIA, Feb. 5.—Bulgaria is tottering under a burden of debt and indemnities which its financiers say will take several generations to liquidate. Under the peace treaty, the smallest of the belligerent nations is required to pay the Allies 2,225,000,000 francs ($450,000,000).

Converted into Bulgarian francs (levas) at the current rate of exchange, this amounts to the staggering total of 67,000,000,000 levass. If to this sum is added the country's external and internal debt of 40,000,000,000 levass, a total of 107,000,000,000 levass is reached. (Nominally a Bulgarian leva would be worth 19 cents.)

Nobody knows, even the Bulgarians themselves, how this colossal sum can be paid without wrecking the country and exhausting its resources. Under the Neuilly agreement, the Bulgarians were to pay their first installment of the $450,000,000 indemnity in 1919, but up to the present they have lapsed in three installments.

Bulgarian government officials say they can make the state solvent and pay all its obligations if the powers will waive the indemnity payments for a reasonable length of time. They insist they can make little progress so long as the reparations commission holds the indemnity demand over their heads like Damocles' sword.

The country's total outstanding paper money amounts to 3,250,000 levass, only one-third of which is covered by gold reserve.

An encouraging feature in Bulgaria's otherwise apparently hopeless financial and economic situation is the steady increase in her exports, which for 1921 were in the proportion of 2 to 2½ to her imports.

With the object of stimulating exports and imports the government is planning the establishment of an international bank, composed in part of foreign capital, with branches or representatives throughout the world. An effort will be made to interest American bankers in the institution.

INGERSOLL PATENT CASE RESERVED

Much Technical Evidence Produced in Action Over Hearse.

Judgment was reserved by Chief Justice R. M. Meredith in the action brought by O. J. Mitchell of Ingersoll against A. B. Greer & Son of this city for the alleged infringement of a patent on a convertible hearse. The case, which commenced Friday afternoon, was concluded shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

The evidence submitted by both sides on Saturday was of a highly technical nature, expert witnesses from Toronto and Ottawa explaining the features of a dozen different patents on hearse bodies. In all, 31 exhibits were brought into court.

Took Legal Advice.
John Greer, for the defence, stated that the Greer firm had started to manufacture a similar type of article to that of Mr. Mitchell's in September of last year. He had gone to Toronto for advice in the matter, and had been told by two patent attorneys that he was not infringing on any patent or patents, and was advised to go ahead and manufacture his own article.

A. B. Greer gave evidence of a similar nature. James E. Mabey of Toronto, patent attorney, was star witness for the defence, and gave expert testimony in their favor.

Maurice A. Caron and Harold C. Shipman, patent attorneys of Ottawa, were called in reply to Mr. Mabey's testimony, the judge asking many questions.

To Consider Case.
"I'll consider this case," remarked Chief Justice Meredith, when arguments for the plaintiff by Arthur Ellis of Ottawa, and for the defence by T. G. Meredith, K.C., were heard. Court was then adjourned till Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

BANQUET WILL RECALL WAR IN SOUTH AFRICAVeterans of Campaign Against Boers to Celebrate Cronje's Surrender.

KEEP PAARDEBERG DAY

Wreaths Will Be Placed On Soldiers' Monument in Victoria Park.

Arrangements are being made for a local celebration on Feb. 13, the 22nd anniversary of the famous Paardeberg Day, when "B" Company, composed of members of London and Western Ontario regiments, attached to the Special Service Regiment, Royal Canadian Regiment, did such noble work in overcoming the Boers in South Africa. The plan is to place flowers on the monument in Victoria Park, erected to the memory of those who fell in the Boer war, and were the first to do honor for Canada in a foreign land.

Charles R. Scott of this city is arranging all matters pertaining to the memorial in conjunction with Col. Hill, D.S.O., of Royal Canadian Regiment, Wolseley Barracks.

Will Hold Banquet. Arrangements are also under way for a celebratory banquet on Monday, Feb. 27, to commemorate the surrender of Cronje, the famous Boer general, who withstood the combined attack of three divisions of the British army for ten days. It is the desire of Col. Hill, D.S.O., I.C.R., to have all who served with the regiment, hand in their names as soon as possible, so that invitations can be sent out and arrangements made for the banquet.

Gen. Wm. Otter and Gen. Henry Burdall have been invited to attend. Gen. Otter was commanding officer of the regiment and Gen. Burdall was in command of "B" Company on the march from Bloemfontein to Pretoria.

Major Lawless, attached to Military District No. 1, Wolseley Barracks, was also in command of "B" Company for a short period.

The following extract is taken from the history of the Royal Canadian Regiment:

"The battalion particularly distinguished itself in the seven days' fighting which led to the surrender of General Cronje at Paardeberg on Feb. 27, the 22nd anniversary of the battle of Majuba, where the British had unfortunately been defeated by the Boers in 1881. The brigade formed part of the division, under Lieut.-General Sir H. Colville, as part of the main army, which marched east through the Orange Free State. One company was south of Modder River, the remainder of the division was on the north side, with the Gordon Highlanders on their left and the King's Shropshire Light Infantry on their right again. The Boers had taken up a position along both sides of the river."

"Orders were given for the regiment and the Gordons to advance on the enemy's trenches, about 700 yards away, and rush them, at 2 o'clock in the morning."

"However the crunching of stones under the feet of the men warned the enemy of their approach when they were about 60 yards from the trenches, and a tremendous fusillade was opened, which simply swept the whole line of the British advance. The men immediately threw themselves flat on the ground and opened fire at the flash of the enemy's rifles, while the remainder, with a party of Engineers, heroically dug a trench a few yards in the rear of the fighting line."

"Into this the men fell back just as daybreak. Somehow the word to retire was given, probably started by the Boers, and as the progress of the trench construction on the left had been slow, the troops retired on their former positions. However, two of the companies still hung on, and at about 8 a.m., Gen. Cronje and his force surrendered unconditionally."

"The regiment was congratulated by the commander-in-chief, Lord Roberts, and a telegram of congratulation was received from Her Majesty Queen Victoria and Lord Wolseley, the commander-in-chief of the British army, who was also honorary colonel of the regiment."

"The honor of transporting the Boer prisoners across the pontoon bridge over the Modder River fell to "B" Company."

WILL INCREASE
ROOM AT CHURCH

Greater Accommodation Is Planned at Dundas Center Methodist.

Work will commence April 1 in Dundas Centre Church towards more adequate provision for the numerous week-day organizations of the church. When the church was first built, provision was made for the basement to be extended at a later date. With this completed, space will be provided for a dining hall to accommodate 250 persons, with a kitchen in connection, equipped with all modern conveniences. There will be a boys' club room, 25 feet by 40 feet, and a clubroom for girls, 25 feet by 35 feet, as well as a rest room and other conveniences. The growing condition of the organization, Tuxis, Trail Ranger, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, makes this accommodation a necessity. It is estimated that the cost of the extension will amount to about $7,000, while a steam-heating plant which is to be installed at a later date will cost about $7,500.

The committee appointed to supervise the improvement comprises Messrs. Henry Pocock, G. E. German, A. N. Udy, and W. Hea-

23 CELESTIALS FINED AFTER SUNDAY RAID

Tom King, Keeper of Clarence Street Gaming House, Assessed $25.

OPIUM PIPES FOUND

Monday may possibly be looked upon as "wash day" in all well regulated laundries, but it will be necessary in most laundries to work far into the night, as 23 wash-board wallopers spent most of the morning in police court as the result of a police raid on 351 Clarence street Sunday night at 9 o'clock.

Albert Judd, counsel for the Chinamen, appeared for some snappy work on the part of the court, asking his worship to kindly remember that it was wash day. The magistrate obliged, when Tom King pleaded guilty to being the keeper of a gaming house, fined that gentleman $25 and the 22 frequenters $2 each.

"How about this opium charge," asked the court.

"I'm appearing for two gentlemen," said E. W. Scatterd. "I don't know their names, but I know they are not guilty. However, after all the evidence was in, Mr. Bartlett fined Pong Gne $50 and one."

P. C. Langford and Inspector Lucas told of raiding the house on Clarence street. The evidence read like a movie plot. There was a wooden door upstairs leading into a second attic that did not boast a handle. Inspector Lucas however, broke it down and found that there was a spring lock on the inside attached to a copper wire, which ran through the wall into the outer room.

The inspector said he found an opium bed in the outer room, with pillows and quilts on the floor. A bed of opium could not be removed giving access to the other room, where two complete opium sets were found, with enough opium to manufacture many, many dreams of a rosy hue.

The inspector declared that it was a pretty fair arrangement, as it had taken an hour to discover all the "secrets" of the place, which had been raided a year ago.

Little square patches of paper, upon which opium is generally placed, were found on the floor, and when the place was entered it was full of opium fumes.

Pipes Are Discovered.

Constable Langford told of discovering the pipes and opium in a corner in the second attic. He had to walk across the beams to get to it, and he said, and the chief insisted on having Lem Wong for an interpreter. As soon as Mr. Wong arrived, Pong showed that he had a wonderful grasp on the English language, and was able to answer the questions without much trouble. He said Tom King and Fung Chow had bought the place for a Chinese grocery, three weeks ago. They knew nothing about the pipes or opium, he declared.

Mr. Bartlett thought that they knew a whole lot about it, and made the fine the maximum of $50 or three months in jail.

Citizen Pays Fine of $200 When Sergeant Hears Bottle Clink

The clink of a small bottle of whiskey on a pile of coal in the cellar of a poolroom, and the fact that he was seen emerging from said coal bin, cost a citizen $200 and costs in police court this morning.

Sergeant Wm. McCullough said he noticed a suspicious bulge in the neighborhood of the gentleman's hip as he passed him on the corner of King and Richmond streets last Wednesday afternoon. He and Inspector Lucas followed the young man and his companions into the building and the "man with the bulge" darted for the cellar door. The officers followed, heard the clink, and saw the man emerge from the coal-bin.

The accused admitted having a couple of drinks earlier in the afternoon with a friend. He had procured a bottle from the dispensary, as he had a bad cold.

The magistrate did not think he had any business in giving away his "medicine," and wondered if the accused was liable under the act for being so generous.

"There is no ruling on it," stated Albert Judd, counsel for defence. "Well, there should be," replied the court. "It is a fraudulent thing, that this other man should get the benefit of the order."

The defendant denied dropping the bottle and declared that he had never been near the coal-bin. However, the court refused to believe his story and tacked on the fine.

TRUSTEES PLAN PROGRAM FOR COUNTY RALLY

Heads of Rural School Districts To Hold Convention Here.

TEACHERS WILL ATTEND

The program which has been arranged for the Middlesex trustees' convention to be held in the Normal school on February 10 and 11, promises to be widespread in its interest, many prominent speakers having been secured for the occasion.

The rural trustee movement began about two years ago. For many years there had been a Provincial Trustee Association, which met at Toronto in connection with the Ontario Educational Association. In the spring of 1920 this convention obtained a grant from the department of education to carry on propaganda work. The Middlesex associations were organized the following summer, with centers at Glencoe, Strathroy, Parkhill and London.

There is a movement now to form a county organization. Such an organization could help to forward educational work in the county materially. One of the first matters to be taken up by such an organization would be a survey of the county into continuation school districts. There will probably be a resolution along this line sent to the provincial association.

The Middlesex convention has been arranged for the week-end, in order that the teachers may be present, co-operation between teachers and trustees being constantly kept in view by this organization.

The trustees are showing a good deal of interest in the forthcoming visit to the city schools. Continuation schools are being started all over the county in temporary buildings. This will mean a large building program in the near future.

The program for the convention is as follows:

Friday, Feb. 10—

1:30 p.m. Meet at the court house to form party to visit schools, city board of education to be hosts.

Evening Session—Normal school, 8:00 p.m. F. G. Wade presiding; Address—Prof. Sherwood Fox, Western University.

Address—J. W. Freeborn, M.P.P.; Music in the Schools—Miss Skillington, Toronto.

Address—W. M. Morris, Provincial Secretary Trustees' Association.

Saturday, February 11, Normal School:

Morning Session—P. J. Thompson presiding; present status of Continuation Schools, discussion led by Chas. Macfie, Appin.

Consolidated Schools—P. J. McLaren, department of the district, "Why we are opposed to consolidation," discussion led by Ira Downer, Strathroy.

County business.

Afternoon Session, H. D. Johnson presiding, "Torch-bearing," short talks by teachers; "What we are learning from our agricultural classes," R. A. Farnham, department of agriculture; discussion led by Miss Maude Collins and P. Lockwood.

Ethel Robson, Denfield, secretary. Presidents of Middlesex Trustees' Associations are: F. G. Wade, East Middlesex; Ira Downer, Strathroy; W. A. McTavish, Parkhill; and Rev. D. Robertson, Glencoe.

PREPARE BIBLE
COURSE FOR USE IN CITY SCHOOLS

London Teachers' Institute Committee Formulate Religious Memory Course.

NO PRIZES TO BE AWARDED

Prepared by a representative committee of the teachers' institute, a Bible memory course for use in the London public schools has been completed, copies of which will be at the disposal of the teachers this week.

At the London Teachers' Institute gathering in October, after a discussion of the subject, "Religious Education in the Schools," it was decided that a memory course should be prepared for the public schools.

At a later date the London Board of Education gave its approval to the decision reached by the Teachers' Institute. The executive committee of the institute then met and appointed a committee to prepare a course of Bible memory passages and verses. This committee, after much thoughtful consideration, prepared the course, and is now being sent to the teachers by the inspectors with the request that the memory work be taken up as nearly as possible as directed.

The following suggestions and directions are made to principals and teachers:

(1) Six memory passages are given for each grade. An additional list of passages is divided into junior (grades I-IV) and senior (grades V-VIII) divisions from which the teachers may select further passages.

(2) The course also contains 101 selected single verses divided into junior for grades I-IV and senior for grades V-VIII. In addition to the memorization of six passages each year each pupil should memorize about twelve of the individual verses.

(3) Teachers of grades lower than grade III, should notify teachers of higher grades of the choice of single texts and passages which they have taken, so that the same selections may not be chosen in succeeding years.

(4) Any teacher is at liberty to take passages or verses from courses for grades below his or her grade.

(5) In all the memory work the pupil should be able to quote the source of the verse or passage by verse and book.

(6) Beginning with grade IV, it is suggested that the names of the books of the Bible should be memorized, in order that the pupil may be able to find a passage or verse in any book.

(7) In many instances story passages of the Bible have necessarily been omitted from the memory course. It is expected that teachers will continue to take the more important stories of the Bible in story form.

The committee preparing the memory course were unanimous in the decision that no prizes should be given for the memorization of scripture. At a later date certificates or diplomas may be given. In the meantime, teachers should keep a record of the work done, and at the end of each school year each pupil should be given a statement signed by the teacher, of the work he or she has memorized and repeated successfully.

ROTARIANS HEAR
PROF. A. G. DORLAND

Interesting Address On "British Empire" Given At Luncheon.

Professor A. G. Dorland, of the Western University, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club Monday, his subject being, "The British Empire." The speaker likened the British Empire to a League of Nations within itself, because in it were people of every religion and color, who lived within its borders growth and development for their individual needs.

With this commonwealth of nations united together under one ag and represented on the international League of Nations the certainty of the development of things international could be looked forward to.

The term "British Empire" was often misunderstood. It was not a military organization for military aggression, but for the development of all its members along the highest possible lines.

The meaning of the British Empire was that of political liberty, as was shown in the instance of South Africa.

Wilfred Hodgins, president of the automobile association, addressed the members for a short time on the motor show, now being held in the city. Mr. Hodgins had just come from the Armouries and said that it was the biggest and best show that had ever been held in Western Ontario. Referring to the industry, the speaker said that it had started out the year 1922 with having the biggest month in its history in this city. It was only necessary today to produce the quality in goods and business could be secured.

WINDSOR HOTELS
ARE RAIDED

Windsor, Feb. 6.—Three raids carried out by provincial police late Saturday netted a large quantity of beer and whiskey. The places raided were the Driving Park Hotel, Ouellette avenue; Dominion House, Sandwich, and a garage at the rear of the home of W. H. Duffey, 412 Chatham street west.

TO HELP COPE WITH A RUSH of business on the local division of the Grand Trunk Wabash Railway, two extra locomotives of the huge 2,000 class have been sent to this city. A third engine is en route to the local division from the shops at Decatur.

W. E. SAUNDERS will be the speaker at the regular weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Parkview Hotel Monday at noon. Mr. Saunders will speak on bird life.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS will still be half-holidays for the employees at the city hall, as the result of a decision of No. 4 committee of the city council. The matter has been under discussion for some time, as several of the aldermen believed that the offices should remain open on Saturday and close Wednesday afternoon.

BECAUSE OF THE snowy sidewalks and the treacherous walking on some of the streets owing to hidden ice, street cars were operated on all city lines Sunday from 1 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Seeks Heirs of Blanche
Pois Berdell

W. C. COX, Chicago, has written City Clerk Baker, seeking news of the heirs of the late Blanche Pois Berdell, who died recently, leaving an estate. Blanche Berdell came to Canada about 1861 and is believed to have later gone to Buffalo and then New York.

Mr. Cox cites some of the details of the life of the deceased and statements which she made about her family.

"Her father's marrying that woman broke her mother's heart," one of the statements is taken to mean that the family figures in a divorce case. The writer believed that the father "was a lumberjack on some river."

Hydro To Try For Amicable Settlement With London Street Railway.

While nothing of a definite nature has as yet transpired relative to the outstanding account of $350 for electrical current sold the London Street Railway Company, the local hydro department reiterates its determination that every effort be made to induce that corporation to pay the bill in question without rendering it necessary to resort to such drastic action as shutting off the power.

It is not considered improbable at this moment that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Toronto, will be consulted by the local department should the company again refuse point blank to meet what has been claimed as its just obligation.

There is today practically enough work provided for by by-laws to keep the city works department going for a year. And over half of the total by-laws, involving about two-thirds of the total expenditure, have been put through on the two-thirds vote of the council, a policy condemned by the mayor on enouncing his new policy.

Works by-laws now authorized total 142, involving work which, it is estimated, will cost $758,670.

Forty-three Pavement By-laws. New pavements are provided in 43 of these by-laws, the total cost of which will be $551,570. Thirty-five of these by-laws were passed on a two-thirds' vote of the council, six were asked for by petition, and two were initiated by the council on Serving the People.

CONSOLIDATION of certain departments is likely to be announced from Ottawa. There is the air board, navy, Northwest Mounted Police and the regular militia, with four separate administrative staffs and following.

There might be some hesitation on the part of a minister going ahead and making one management answer for all these organizations, as there are always plenty of men to give plenty of reasons why anything should not be done.

The ratepayers voted for greater simplicity, less overlapping and a cutting down of overhead at Ottawa.

It is a safe estimate that with the consolidation of such a plan the Dominion could well save some millions of dollars a year.

MANY RUMORS continue to crop up regarding appointments that are being considered in various quarters. It takes only a glance to show how appointments have been made in the past few years.

As far as appointments were considered, the Union government was never in power at Ottawa. It is notorious that those who were placed on the payroll of the country at that time were Conservatives.

Since then patronage may have been dead at Ottawa, but it was very much alive every place else.

That is why there are so many appointments in connection with the war that are filled by Conservatives.
It is well to draw attention also to the fact that some of these lists can be thinned out. The war has been over for some years, and the work performed could be handled quite as well in a more economical way.

IF PATRONAGE had been abandoned at Ottawa, and merit and years of service used as the basis of promotion, how is it that Liberals in the service have had practically no chance at promotion in the service in this district?

There have been appointments made without the necessary examinations—in fact, there are so many cases where promotion by examination and service have been utterly ignored that the supposed method has become more or less of a joke
among many of the men in the service.

Poor Work.

CITIZENS LIVING on streets
where unsatisfactory paving has been done ask London court of revision for a reduction in the cost charged to their property.

This action is taken on the same ground as a person who buys goods and finds them not as represented and then takes them back, asking for a reduction. In that case any reduction could be taken out of the profits of the merchant.

In the case of the city, however,
if there is a reduction made in work done by the city, it must be made up by other ratepayers, and it would be hard to convince them of the justice of any such course.

When a private company carries on work such as paving it is possible to have a guarantee, deposited that the work will last as long as the debentures issued to cover it. Even so, there are frequent cases in pencils all over Ontario where pavements have turned out to be real gold bricks, and yet it has been impossible to collect a cent in way of unearned guarantees.

As a matter of fact, there is not a very satisfactory way known of getting redress for a poor road. It is unfair to ask the ratepayers to accept and pay for it; it is unfair to ask them to pay more for having the work improved, and it is also unfair to ask other citizens to contribute for a road that is no concern of theirs.

The whole responsibility for such a situation goes back to the time of construction. There is no great secret in laying pavement. There are certain well-known principles to be followed, and if they are insisted upon results will come, and they will be satisfactory.

A Generous Bequest.

DR. MEEK was one of Canada's best physicians and surgeons.
He was one of the professors at the Medical School for many years. Not only did he do a great deal of good going in and out among the citizens of London and Western Ontario, but he fitted others to go out and do the same. His work did not end in Western Ontario. He was known over all Canada as one whose special knowledge and skill had improved the practice of his profession and introduced new ideas.

By his will it is clear that he desires the good work he began to continue after his death, that his work shall live on. All his estate, after the death of Mrs. Meek, that is, whatever he accumulated by the practice of his profession or in any other way, goes to the Western University Medical School. Half of the proceeds of the sale of his residence is to be used in teaching obstetrics, and the remainder of the estate goes to establish and maintain a pathological laboratory, to be known as the "Hamilton King Meek Memorial Laboratory."

Not only was Dr. Meek's great talents devoted during his whole life to doing good, but by the bequest mentioned that good is projected into the future, and will be accumulating all the future years. The students he taught will enlarge and continue his work while living. His active life benefited the present generation. His generous bequest will benefit future generations.

It is evidence, too, that Londoners are beginning to realize the permanent good of the Western University. The late J. B. SMALLMAN's large bequest, then HUME CROFTON's practical gift, and now DR. MEEK's bequest of his whole considerable estate to the Western University will do great good, and put heart into those who have the work in hand.
Other gifts and bequests in time will follow.

Winter Carnival.

IN OTTAWA they have a winter carnival. It is one way of capitalizing on the zero mark.

Half the folks there are sliding down a mile-long toboggan apparatus on skis, while the press agents of the hospitals and undertakers stand along the side waiting to show their wares.

Then a lot more of the residents stand at a square in front of the village inn looking at a monument made of ice. Local wise men are supposed to look at the Dr. Quack weather almanac and see when the monument is going to bend at the unhappy and topple over.

Ottawa also gathers up a few stray outsiders just now hear the voice of the country thundering at them to get down there and offer their services to the payroll of the nation.

The high freight rates do not keep them home.
By the time the session gets under way Ottawa will once more be quite a town.

The Youngsters Lead.

A STARTLING feature of the suddenly-arrived wireless telephone is that the majority of its followers are boys in knee pants.

Go into a store selling wireless outfits, and you'll find six boys to every adult among the customers.

The youngsters caught the idea in a flash, and are "going to it."

Meantime, the grown-ups are snoring away, with no definite idea what this "wireless business" is all about.
Adult Canada will shortly be a mossback, if it doesn't waken. The youngsters are experimenting with wireless wizardry while the rest of us ride in stage coaches.

LITTLE 'TISERS

The Galt Reporter, referring to some scheme, says: "The prospectus reads well." Quite unusual, isn't it?

So far the Washington conference has been getting on so well that we don't know whether we'll be gassed, shrapnelled or harpooned in the next war.

Last week Canada had a national fish day. No doubt to celebrate the fact that although we have the finest fisheries in the world we are about the smallest fish eaters.

Papers, regardless of politics, approve of P. C. LARKIN as Canadian high commissioner to London. A man who has made a good, clean success of his own business is a safe bet for that London office.

It is now reckoned that the garment workers' strike in New York cost both sides $14,000,000. When it gets firmly into the heads and systems of both sides that they are both going to lose money there will be few strikes.

The Washington conference has shown that it is possible for the nations of the world to get together and talk openly of things that were formerly intrusted to dark rooms and secret codes. It also shows

British diplomats leading, with the Japanese second.

When MARGOT ASQUITH tried to turn her bits of British near-scandal into U. S. funds by a lecture in New York, some of the crowd asked for their money back. And a number of Britishers have been inclined to ask for their reputations back since MARGOT cut loose.

The Kitchener Telegraph points out that it is not always possible for a municipality to start relief work on a day's notice. There is always a lot of engineering and financing to be done first. A city that dashes ahead at half-cock can readily get into a heap of trouble.

There are no Canadians in the office of the Canadian high commissioner in London. And right there should be some 100 per cent Canadians who can tell people the truth about this country. Often a country or a firm is known most by the people who represent it.

Toronto has been referred to in many terms by many men, but here's a real new one, fashioned, shaped and delivered by the Financial Post:
"When the Toronto newspapers learn to put a proper value on the things that count and stop catering to the shallow-minded mob, the chief cause of the city's present unpopularity will have been overcome."

Thomas Baldwin, 94-year-old Long Island hermit, is found dead in his shack. He died in rags, though he had 25 good suits hanging about the walls. Thomas probably got great satisfaction contemplating the 25 suits and knowing that he would never want for good clothes. If he had read Poor Richard's Almanac, by Ben Franklin, he'd have seen this: "Wealth is not his that has it, but his that enjoys it." Misers usually forget that money is only a means to an end.

Members of the Dominion house from Eastern Canada have been at Ottawa several times recently, protesting against the east being snubbed in regard to the management of the Intercolonial. From the view of the man from the east there is quite a case to be put up for retaining the management of the I. C.
R., and keeping it separate from the National Railway. Unfortunately for the east, the positive need of the public purse of Canada is the outstanding principle that must determine the management of the National lines.

Is the ex-kaiser planning to marry again? His choice is said to be the widow of a German colonel killed during the war. She was such an intimate friend of the Hohenzollerns in the old days that she was given charge of the empress's jewels on the eve of the flight to Holland. The rumor about this Hohenzollern's possible remarriage says that he is lonely. Sounds logical. Few people would care to exchange places with him and be alone with his thoughts.

Dollar Day demonstrated that there is business to be secured for those who go out and get it. The people today read the ads in the daily papers the same as they do the news columns. In many homes it is necessary that the purchaser for the house, with a reduced earning, shall make every dollar do the utmost in purchasing. The most natural thing to do under such circumstances is to consult the announcements the stores make in the plan their publicity with a certain amount of regard for the person who wants to buy, but is forced to be more than usually keen in purchasing.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 117—COLOR GRADATIONS.

In yesterday's article you saw that the red-haired person is not so fiery-tempered and impulsive as most people seem to think. Previous articles also have discussed the various indications of dark and light hair and dark and light eyes.

No one gets down to the detailed scale of measurement.

The exceptionally irritable, impatient,
restive, fiery type is not the redhead,
but the albino, with hair that is such a light yellow that it is virtually white,
and eyes that are virtually colorless.
But remember that if you find this kind of hair with eyes that are a decided blue or brown, you haven't the true albino. Always measure first by the eyes, then make allowances for the hair and the complexion.

Next comes the flaxen-haired type,
with very light blue eyes and a shell-pink skin. Light blue eyes denote more "fire" than grey eyes. After this on the scale is golden hair and a fair skin, provided it is associated with grey or blue eyes. Then comes red or auburn hair, with grey or blue eyes, a fair skin,
and, most likely, with freckles.

Green eyes, though lighter, rank with dark blue eyes, and when running true to type, are found with light brown hair and a medium skin. With dark brown or black hair go hazel or light brown eyes and a creamy skin. Then come eyes and hair of dark brown, with a decided though not extreme brunette skin.

The other extreme is reached (with Caucasians) with black hair, black eyes and olive skin.

In appearance, an advanced stage of disease is suggested.

A lack of alkaline elements in the blood will often show up in the form of a broad and anemic tongue. The presence of an acid is shown by a red and dry tongue.

In long continued fevers, or in prostration, there is a marked diminution of the secretions—and this includes the salivary glands—thus preventing the normal moisture of the tongue.

The shape is also often indicative of conditions of the body. An irristomach and bowels may be observed in cases showing an elongated and somewhat pointed tongue. In impaired action of the digestive tract,

the tongue may be broad and thick,
showing evidences of atony.

In chronic diseases, when a fis-sured tongue is present, it may show an inflammatory condition of the kidney. In acute diseases, a fissured tongue may be indicative of kidney disease or nerve center irritation.

"Horse" Sense
Applied to Humans

Farmers know that if they feed their horses entirely on oats, the horses would founder, go lame and soon be useless. This is because oats make too concentrated a food,—do not contain enough waste to keep the organs active and healthy. They must also feed roughage, such as bran and hay.

Concentrated, refined cereals and coarse, waste-containing cereals, act
in a similar way on human beings.
That is why refined cereals fail to provide all the necessary elements for good health.

Roman Meal, the cereal combining three whole grains, is a perfectly balanced human food. It provides the nutrition, as well as the roughage so vital in aiding digestion and preventing constipation. It makes delicious porridge. Try it. 30

CHILDREN'S COUGHS QUICKLY RELIEVED

It is hard for a mother to keep the children from taking cold; they will run out of doors not properly wrapped, or have too much clothing on and get over-heated and cool off too suddenly, they get their feet wet, kick off the clothes at night; the mother cannot watch them all the time, so what is she going to do? Mothers should never neglect the children's coughs or colds, but on the first sign should procure a bottle of

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

It is pleasant and nice to take, and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time and thus prevents bronchitis, pneumonia, or perhaps consumption getting a foothold on their system.

Mrs. E. Smith, 283 Victoria Avenue, North Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have three children who have had very bad colds, due to change of climate. I have tried different remedies, but I seem to get the best results from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I have no difficulty in giving it to them as they like it. I always have at least one bottle in the house."

Price, 35c and 60c a bottle, at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Millburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn grey, streaked and faded hair beautiful, make it luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or grey. Making the Sage and Sulphur tea, steep at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, grey, faded hair is not stylish, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all grey hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

CHATHAM SELLS ITS DEBENTURES TO OWN CITIZENS

City Saved $8,000 Last Year by Home Disposition of Bonds.

NEW ISSUES COMING

Already Queries Being Received by Treasurer From People of Chatham.

(Special to London Advertiser.) CHATHAM, Feb. 5.—That the city of Chatham saved a half million on the sale of city debentures locally last year, effecting the saving of a probable discount of $8,000, was the gratifying statement of City Treasurer T. E. Cottier, in a report which will be submitted to the meeting of the city council on Monday evening.

That Chatham city debentures are popular in the city is also evidenced in the report, which states that local debenture sales during the period from March 1, 1918, to December 31, 1921, amounted to $607,175. Of this amount $471,306 worth was sold at 6 per cent interest, the balance, $135,869, being sold at 5 per cent.

Many Sold Locally. During the year ending December 31, 1921, debentures to the extent of $176,000 were purchased locally, these debentures bearing 6 per cent interest. A new issue of debentures amounting to $37,500, bearing 5 per cent interest, and for the periods of from one to ten years, will be placed on the local market shortly. "I have already local purchasers willing to buy all this issue, in fact it is by this time oversold," stated Mr. Cottier to the committee.

Mr. Cottier stated that local improvement debentures totalling $110,000 will be ready for sale early in May, and already several local people have spoken for a block of this set. Mr. Cottier was of opinion that the debentures might then be sold at a slightly lower rate of interest, as the general market conditions point to a lower rate of interest in the near future.

McElliott; auditors, J. E. Shannena and R. A. McElliott.

The most important question apart from finances which came up for discussion was the matter of providing better accommodation for livestock, as at the present time stock brought to the show here is not protected from the weather, and the new board of directors will deal with this most important question. The dates for this year's annual fall show will be Sept. 29 and 30.

THREE HELD FOR RODNEY ROBBERY

Police Round Up St. Thomas Men Saturday Afternoon.

[Special to London Advertiser.] ST. THOMAS, Feb. 5.—Charged with breaking and entering the general store of Mistle Brothers of Rodney, and robbing a safe of several hundred dollars on the night of Jan. 10, Barney McGregor, Earl Bishop and William Meredith, all of this city, were arrested Saturday shortly after noon by Inspector Putnam of the provincial police department. Provincial Constable Ivan Barr and Detective Joseph McCulley of the local force.

Warrants for their arrest were issued by Magistrate Hunt of the County of Elgin, Saturday morning, and within a few hours the three men were rounded up. It is believed that a fourth man, for whom the police are searching, was also implicated in the robbery.

McGregor denies all knowledge of the crime. As an alibi, he claims that he was arrested on the night of the robbery for stealing a ham from the King in this city. Bishop had just been liberated from the county jail, where he had served a term for violating the O. T. A. when he was arrested.

Provincial Constable Barr was put on the case the morning following the robbery. The three men will be arraigned in the county police court Monday morning.

[Special to London Advertiser.] TILBURY, Feb. 5.—All arrangements have been made for the opening of the big Kent-Essex Winter Fair, that will be held in the Gove Motor Building, Feb. 7, 8, 9 and 10. This event will be the first exhibition under the management of the association, and the hustling board of directors is leaving no stones unturned to make it surpass the records of all previous winter fairs held in Western Ontario.

The prize list is most attractive, and poultry, stock and seed men say it reflects great credit on the new association. In addition to the regular prizes, which are substantial ones, there is a long list of choice specials, including seven silver cups and nine medals. Wednesday evening, Feb. 8, the first annual banquet of the association will be held in the Foster Hotel. After a chicken supper there will be a program of music and addresses by well known experts in the poultry, livestock and seed industry.

The provincial government has sent a carload of exhibits, including flocks of turkeys, suitable for export, eggs, candling processes, etc. The Tilbury Brick and Tile Company has already installed an attractive exhibit of building material in different types, and a display of drain tile.

BRITISH SOCCER.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Interest in the English cup situation, which is now the main pre-occupation of soccer fans, was reflected in several of the football league battles on Saturday. Thus, the meeting between Manchester and Tottenham, the match between whom was in the nature of a cup tie rehearsal, resulted in a keen game. The Spurs, who did most of the attacking, were undoubtedly the cleverer forward line, but spoiled much of their good work by keeping the ball too close. The City showed their excellence in defence, especially in the work of halves, with Wosnam the outstanding figure.

Special significance also attached to the West Bromwich-Bradford City teams, which may also cross swords later for the cup. The Duke of York was one of the 30,000 spectators at Highbury, where Arsenal extracted two valuable points from Newcastle.

A poor attendance, 4,000, attended the game at Selhurst, where the soundness of the Spurs' defence was the main factor in the defeat of Crystal Palace, which was also in some measure due to the inclement weather.

Interest in the second league henceforth centers in what club will take second place, where the soundness of Notts Forest is practically beyond question after the drubbing they administered to the Wednesday on Saturday.

Results of league soccer games played in the old country are as follows:

English League—First Division, Arsenal 2, Newcastle United 1. Birmingham 0, Liverpool 2. Blackburn Rovers 3, Burnley 2. Bolton Wanderers 3, Sheffield United 1. Cardiff City 3, Preston North End 0. Manchester City 2, Tottenham Hotspurs 3. Oldham Athletic 0, Chelsea 2. Sunderland 1, Aston Villa 4. West Bromwich Albion 1, Bradford City 1.

KITCHENER JUNIORS TO PLAY AYR INTERMEDIATES

KITCHENER, Feb. 5.—The Kitchener junior team has been idle for a week now, and it has not indicated when and where they will play next. WOODSTOCK-KIDS LOOK FOR BIG CROWD TUESDAY

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 5.—The Junior O. H. A. second game here Tuesday night between the locals and Paris is the sole topic among the fans. The Green Shirts can always be depended on for a good stiff battle, and despite the fact that the fans think Woodstock has just about as good a team as when Bill Carson, Harry King and company fought it out with U. T. S. for the championship three years ago, they are not underestimating Paris.

The sale of seats opened Saturday with a rush, and the crowd largest arena in Ontario will be crowded to the doors to see the Red and Whites continue on their way to the championship. The members of the team are all in good shape, and all the talk is an even break in the luck and good fast ice, and they promise a victory. Friday night, when Ingersoll forced the group champions into overtime, three subs were used the greater part of the time.

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

A touching tale of killing by kindness was heard over at the week-end market Saturday morning. A London young woman read some weeks ago how Aunt Maria had discovered old-fashioned popcorn on the cob. Backward time turned in its flight, so far as memory was concerned, and the young woman saw herself once more a little girl in a big farm kitchen, popping corn over a crackling wood fire. The very next Saturday she hid herself to market, and possessed herself of a dozen cobs of corn to pop. On the way home she dispossessed herself of all but four, to make small boys of her acquaintance happy.

She just got into her own room and removed her hat and coat when she was called down to the telephone. Thrusting the little parcel of popcorn cobs into an infrequently-used drawer, she forgot all about it until Friday night, though suspicious rustlings had caused her to wonder in dark night watches for some weeks previous.

She opened that seldom-used drawer, and, if she had been a temperamental person, she would have shrieked. A ridiculously-plump and weary-looking mouse waddled rather than scurried from cover, and attempted to crawl on its side to the safety. A paper was lifted, and Mrs. Mouse ambled into view. Made-moiselle wasn't catching mice with her own lily-white hands, even if she has good control of her nerves.

Ate Cobs To Boot.
Investigation revealed the fact that the greedy mouse had chewed up all the popcorn from four cobs, and eaten three of the cobs to boot. Perhaps the fall was too much for the pulchritudinous couple. In any case, a pathetic pair of grey corpses was discovered Saturday morning on the floor beside the mouse.

Unconsciously the young woman rustled them into the dust pan, and hustled them into the furnace without even waiting to discover if they had died of spontaneous combustion. She did, however, get out of the cellar in a hurry, becoming seized with the idea the sides of the furnace might be blown out. And she solemnly declared she heard, all the way up to the second floor, a series of distinct pops.

A February day, with snow sitting down, and sleighbells adding to the gaiety of the market square, seemed scarcely an opportune time to press the sale of awnings. But, the forerunner and indefatigable auctioneer was on deck, the usual crowd around, endeavoring to impress all the sundry that now is the time when far-sighted house husbands and long-headed housekeepers seriously consider ways and means of protecting windows and verandas against the too radiant rays of the summer sun.

A couple of operaphones (that's what the vendor called them), played merrily away, side by side on a box, each a different tune.

"Sold six of these already this morning for $15 each," the dealer announced triumphantly.

Poultry was satisfactory in quantity to the ultimate consumer, if not the sellers, and "chickens" were going all the way from $1.40 to $2.50 a-piece.

Pigs' Heads, 75 Cents.
Pigs' heads were the glaucous trade mark of the corner in the outdoor pavilion, where certain farm dealers always sell pork.

"Growsome, aren't they?" said Aunt Maria, who had been told the price was 75 cents a-piece.

"Well, I don't know," answered the woman in charge of the exhibit. "Some people say the pigs' heads look as if they were smiling." Which goes to show that most things in life depend on the point of view.

A woman purchased a bag of potatoes for $1.70, and was given the assurance that they could not be excelled in the "spud" line. Three minutes later she could have had a bag given just as enviable publicity for the sum of $1.65.

Butter was 40 to 45 cents, plenty of it, eggs, 50 to 55 cents, dozens upon dozens of them.

Lettuce sold for eight cents a bunch, Adishes for five cents, and little green onions for seven cents.

Wait Till Pits Open.
Carrots, turnips, salify, and onions were sold for about the same as a week ago. Parsnips evidently hadn't made their debut to any extent "We'll have plenty when the pits are opened," Aunt Maria was told.

Oh, yes, there were cabbages still, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five cents each, for the "regular brand," and three for a quarter, the farmer was asking for the only Savoy discovered, the kind with the curly green leaves.

"It's a fine day," everybody said cheerily, just as they did the week before, when the sunshine was brilliant and the talk was of spring. This week-end, they said it was "seasonable weather."

WITH BRIDES
ROBINSON—POLLOCK.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pollock, Victoria street, Kincardine, at 11 o'clock on Wednesday, Feb. 1, when their second daughter, Laurena Angelina, was united in marriage to Mr. Andrew E. Robinson. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in her white dress of embroidered canton crepe with veil and orange blossoms, and carrying Ophelia roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. N. Clarry, Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Miss Gertrude Parr of London, and during the signing of the register Miss Gladys Pollock sang "All Joy Be Thine." The groom's gift to the bride was a lovely pair of diamond earrings. After a dainty wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left on a trip to Toronto and Belleville.

McCOUBREY—McCALLUM.
Knox Church, Winnipeg, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Monday, Jan. 30, when Florence Alberta McCollum, eldest daughter of Mrs. Florence McCollum of Belmont, was married to Alexander Addison McCoubrey of Winnipeg, Rev. Dr. R. C. Laidlaw officiating. The attendants were Miss Kathleen McCollum, sister of the bride, and Mr. William Watt of Winnipeg. Mr. and Mrs. McCoubrey left on a honeymoon, which will be spent enjoying the winter carnivals at Banff and Revelstoke. For traveling the bride wore a gown of brown canton crepe, with hat to match, and a coat of Hudson seal with heavy trimmings, the gift of the groom.

Happy Couple Have Golden Wedding.
A happy event took place on Wednesday, Feb. 1, when Mr. and Mrs. James Cairns of Camlachie celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding. The entire family, except their son James of Pasadena, California, was present, including Miss Ella of Camlachie, Mrs. Clare Marriott and family of Camlachie, and Mrs. J. H. Anderson and family of the second line, Sarnia.

In the afternoon and evening a reception was held, and many friends called to congratulate the happy couple. Many lovely presents were received, among these, two chairs from the family, and several gold pieces.

MRS. ARTHUR BROOKS DIES.
WOODSTOCK, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Arthur Brooks died Saturday morning. Death had come to her as she slept, for when members of the family went to call her the discovery of her death was made. She was in her usual health on retiring the night previous. Mrs. Brooks was born in Moosehouse, England, 42 years ago, and has resided here for 16 years. She is survived by her husband and three daughters.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.
WHAT SEEDS LEARNED
(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

"Where does your book say for you to grow?" asked Mother Nature of the dandelion seeds.

NANCY, Nick and Buskins sat very still while Mother Nature gave the little seeds their lesson. They were in the magical country of Thistle-down Land where all the flying seeds go to learn where and how to grow.

"Now, where does your book say for you to grow?" asked Mother Nature of the dandelion seeds.

"On the hill opposite the factory," answered the seeds with one voice.

"Why?"

"Because the people who work there have no flowers, and they can look out of the window and see us and be glad."

"That's right," said Mother Nature kindly, "but there are not enough of you here. You'll have to take all your younger brothers and sisters with you so that the whole hill will be bright and yellow next spring. Mr. Rubadub will give each of you a nice coat of yellow paint and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow will send down gentle showers to keep you clean. Hold your heads

A Spring Novelty

BY MARIAN HALE.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Rambling about in the shops which are already showing spring things I find a marked tendency toward clever little cape costumes of silk. Simple they are, and usually quite void of trimming, depending upon smartness of cut for their charm.

Occasionally one sees a saucy flashily lined cape serving no further purpose than that of ornament, hung at the back of a blouse.

The Robbins garment shown is of canton crepe, with cape lined in white crepe de chine. The cape is cut with an irregular hem line and a loose crush collar which ends in long slashes. The latter can be tied at the front or worn thrown across the shoulders.

Skirts—like the skirts of last summer—are inclined to be full, and like this one, many of them wear wide tucks toward the bottom.

ENTERTAINED PUPILS.
Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Cochrane of Camlachie entertained the pupils of the village business college Wednesday evening in honor of their niece, Miss Mary Miller. A jolly time was enjoyed, and a dainty supper was served by the hostess.

ANOTHER ICING RECIPE.
Dear Miss Grey,—Just a few lines to help Mrs. Hoople with her soft brown sugar frosting. Boil a cup of sugar and five tablespoons of cream or milk until it forms a very soft, shapeless mass when dropped in cold water. Then stir until thick enough to spread. The success of the icing lies in the boiling. Do not boil too long, or the icing will be too hard. One soon learns the knack after a few experiments.

ROXY.
Thank you, Roxy, for sending in your recipe for Mrs. Hoople.

Many Are Aiding Mothers' Club

Splendid Co-Operation Received in Planning Educational Conference—2,000 Invitations Sent.

A striking instance of the co-operation which the London Union Mothers' Club has met on all sides in arranging for the educational campaign of the end of February, has been the offer of Mr. Frank McCormick of the use of the dining-room at the company's "White Factory" for banquet or any other entertainment desired for the convention delegates.

It is possible a tour of the factory will be included among visits to points of interest in London for the visitors from all parts of Western Ontario.

Announcements of the convention and its plans have been sent out to 57 papers, and these are to be followed up by the mailing of some 2,000 invitations with programs, which are now being printed.

The convention speakers include Professor S. B. McCready, president of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Clubs, Rev. D. C. MacGregor, Dr. A. E. Marty, first woman school inspector in Ontario, Dr. John Dearness, principal of the Normal School, Principal W. H. T. Mooney of the collegiate, Dean Fox of the Western University, Dr. H. W. Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

POLLY AND PAUL AND PARIS

CHAPTER XIV.—"The Really Smart Things"

By Zoe Beckley

"WELL, upon my word, so here you are! Naughty man, to run off the ship with your precious bride the way you did, without seeing whether my luggage was attended to or not! But I forgive you. What have you been doing?"

Violet's prattle grated on Polly's nerves, but she set a grim little chin against letting Miss Rand spoil her morning. If only Paul wouldn't act as if he were glad to see her. "We've been looking at the Madeleine and the Flower Market and the Boulevard des Italiens and the lovely Opera, and the shop windows and this wonderful cafe—" began Polly.

"Oh, you dear rubes! Sight-seeing, upon my word! I suppose you'll do a couple of picture galleries and Notre Dame before dejeuner?"

"We might," smiled Polly with exaggerated brightness.

"But I'm sure Paul wants to see something of the 'ohic monde,' the really smart things! The Rue de la Paix, for instance. Come on, let me show you some things. You don't want to go poking round among the tourists with your nose in a guide-book?"

Polly hoped her husband would decline, but with his dear boyish smile he rose eagerly, semaphoring the waiter for the bill.

"Just the thing! You want to see the show, don't you, Pollykins? Come on, Violet, trot out your Worths and your Paquins and your Cartiers. Let's do the thing up right!"

As they ducked through the teaming traffic of the Place de l'Opera, Paul in the middle grasping in true Canadian fashion an elbow of each girl, Polly felt that all the stares were for Paul and the dashing woman at his left.

After all, Paul's thoughts were for her, his love was hers, he was her husband! A flash of the superiority every married woman feels uplifted by the spirit of a lithe. She revealed once more in the scenes about her.

How the women clung to the arms of their men, smiling up into their faces, coquetting, quite frankly (it seemed to Polly), as if to charm them was the only thing worth while in life. Was it the woman or the clothes that counted most in the bewitchery, Polly wondered?

She glanced at Paul, who was in turn looking at a lovely slender woman with distinguished clothes and a rich chinchilla scarf, just passing them. Her dark eyes caught his responsively—just a swift flash, like color half seen, under lace. What charm they had, these women with their beautiful clothes. Polly shivered, feeling chill and colorless.

Ray Turns To Quality in Films!

May McAvoy. Her latest is "Through a Glass Window."

Constance Binney. Her latest is "The Sleep Walker."

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Charles Ray hereafter will make only two pictures a year. He is going in more for quality and less for quantity.

Beginning about two years ago, Ray enjoyed a meteoric rise in popular favor. His best pictures were made under the direction of Jerome Storm.

Then Ray undertook to do without a director, being responsible himself for the supervision of his pictures.

Many, this writer among them, thought that Ray's self-directed pictures suffered in comparison with those directed by Storm and others.

Ray now has three completed pictures not yet exhibited, and has started the last one under his old contract. Ray is one of those actors who have been unable to submerge their own individuality in the character of their pictures. A Ray picture is a Ray picture, just as a Bill Hart picture is a Bill Hart picture.

Hart realized the monotony of his roles before Ray. He left pictures for a period, and now plans to make a lengthy feature in which he will appear in costume.

Making two pictures a year will give Ray the opportunity to do something really big. He has great talent in his sort of role. It has brought him popularity, but not greatness. The latter may now be his—if he will allow a capable director to supervise his pictures and devote his entire attention to acting.

CHAPTER XVI.

TOM SANDERS, working on afternoon tower at Jackpot Number Three, the lean, tanned drifter in charge of operations, was wise with an unvarying knowledge the newcomer could not fathom. For eight hours at a stretch he stood on the platform and watched a greasy cable go slipping into the earth.

This spelt romance to Jed Burns, superintendent of operations, though he would never have admitted it. He was sitting and through his fingers when Dave came. To Bob Hart, present as Crawford's personal representative, he expressed an opinion.

"Right soon now or never. Sand tastes, feels, looks and smells like oil. But you can't ever be sure. An oil prospect is like a woman. She will or she won't, you never can tell which. Then, if she does, she's liable to change her mind."

Dave sniffed the pleasing, pungent odor of the crude oil sands. His friend had told him that Crawford's oil flowed very soon in paying quantities he was a ruined man.

After his shift was over, he rode to town with Bob.

"Got to look for an engineer for the night tower," Hart explained as he drew up in front of the Gusher Saloon.

The place hummed with the turbulent life that drifts to every wild frontier on the boom. Faro dealers from the Klondike, poker dealers from Nong, roulette croupiers from Leadville, were all here to reap the rich harvest to be made from investors, field workers and operators.

Bob found his man at a faro table. While the cards were being shuffled, he engaged him to come out next evening to the Jackpot properties.

While Dave was standing close to the wall he caught sight of Steve Russell.

The cowpuncher looked up and waved his hand.

Bob joined them. After a moment's conversation, Russell drew them to a corner.

"Say, you heard the news, Bob?" "I can tell you that better after I know what it is," returned Hart with a grin.

"The stage was held up at Cottonwood Bend this morning and robbed of $17,000. The driver was killed."

"Whose money was it?" "Brad Steelman's pay roll and a shipment of gold for the bank."

"Any idea who did it?" "That's what I want to tell you. Two men were in the job. They're whippersnappers that Em Crawford was one."

"Crawford! Some of Steelman's fine work in that rumor. I'll bet. That's plumb foolish talk. What evidence does he claim?" demanded Hart.

"Em deposited ten thousand with the First National to pay off a note he owed the bank. Rode into town right straight to the bank two hours after the stage got in. Then, too, seems one of the hold-ups called the other one Crawford."

"A plant," said Dave promptly. "They claim the second man was Dave here."

"Hmp! What time d'you say this hold-up took place?" "Must 'a' been about eleven."

"Lets Dave out. He was fifteen miles away, and we can prove it by at least six witnesses."

"Good. I reckon Em can put in an alibi, too."

"I'll bet he can," Hart promised with conviction.

"Where is Crawford now?" asked Dave. "He hasn't been arrested, has he?"

"Not yet. But he's been watched."

"We'd better go to his house and talk with him," suggested Hart. "Maybe he can give as good an alibi as you, Dave."

"You and I will go straight there," decided Sanders.

Joyce opened the door to the knock of the young men. At sight of them her face lit.

"Oh, I'm so glad you've come!" she cried, tears in her voice. She caught her hands together in a convulsive little gesture.

Her father was sitting in a big chair, one leg thrown carelessly over the arm. He was smoking a cigar composedly.

"Come in, boys," he called. "Reckon you've heard that I'm a stage rustler and a murderer."

"Just now," said Bob. "They didn't set you?" "Not yet. Sit down, and I'll tell it to you."

He had gone out to see a homesteader about doing some work for him. On the way he had met Johnson and Purdy, near the Bend, just before he had turned up a draw leading to the place in the hills owned by the man whom he wanted to see.

Two hours had been spent riding to the little valley where the nester had built his corral, and his log house, and when Crawford arrived neither he nor his wife was at home.

He returned to the road, without having met a soul since he had left it, and from there jogged on back to town. On the way he had fired twice at a rattlesnake.

"You never reached the Bend, then, at all?" said Dave. "No, but I can't prove I didn't."

The old cattleman looked at the end of his cigar thoughtfully. "No, I can't prove I went out to Dick Grein's place in that three-four hours not accounted for."

"Anyhow, you can show where you got the ten thousand dollars you paid the bank," said Bob hopefully.

A moment of silence; then Crawford spoke. "No, son, I can't tell that, either."

Faint and breathless with suspense, Joyce looked at her father with dilated eyes. "Why not?" "Because the money was loaned me on those conditions."

"But—but—don't you see, Dad? If you don't tell that—" "They'll think I'm guilty. Well, I reckon they have to think it. Joy!"

The old man looked straight into the brown ones of the girl. "I've been in this county boy and man for most fifty years. Anyone that's willin' to think me a cold-blooded murderer at this date, why, he's welcome to hold any opinion he please. I don't give a damn what he thinks."

"The best explanation I can give, Joy, is to find out who held up the stage and killed Tim Harrigan. It's the only one that will satisfy my friends."

Someone was rapping on the front door imperatively. The girl opened it, to let into the hall a man in greasy overalls.

"Where's Mr. Crawford?" he demanded excitedly.

"Here. In the sitting-room. What's wrong?"

"Wrong! Not a thing!" He talked as he followed Joyce to the door of the room. "Except that Number Three's come in the biggest gusher ever I see. She's knocked the whole superstructure galley-west."

Emerson Crawford leaped to his feet, for once visibly excited.

"What?" he demanded. "What's that?"

"Just like I say. The oil's a-sputting out like a fire!"

"WHERE'S MR. CRAWFORD?" HE DEMANDED EXCITEDLY.

In up a hundred feet like a fan. Before morning the sump holes will be full and she'll be runnin' all over the prairie."

"Burns sent you?" "Yep. Says for you to get men and teams and scrapers and gunny-sacks and heavy timbers out there right away. Many as you can send."

Crawford turned to Bob, his face aglow. "Yore job, Bob. Spread the news. Rustle up everybody you can get. Arrange with the railroad grade contractor to let us have all his men, teams, and scrapers till we get her hogtied and harnessed. Big wages and we'll feed the whole outfit free. Hire anybody you can find. Buy a couple hundred shovels and send 'em out to Number Three. Get Robinson to move his tent-restaurant out there."

Hart nodded. "What about this job at the Bend?" he asked in a low voice.

"Dave and I'll attend to that. You hump on the Jackpot job. Sons, we're rich, all three of us. Point is to keep from losin' that crude on the prairie."

Jackpot Number Three had come in with a roar that shook the earth for half a mile. Deep below the surface there was a hiss and a crackle, the shock of rending strata giving way to the pressure of the oil pool. Rocks, clay, and sand were hurled into the air, to come down in a shower that bombarded everything within a radius of several hundred yards.

With the first faint streaks of day men came galloping across the desert to the Jackpot. They came at first on horseback, singly, and later by twos and threes. A buckboard appeared in the horizon, the driver leaning forward as he urged on his team.

There was an immediate stampede to make locations in the territory adjacent. The wildcatter flourished. Companies were formed in ten minutes and the stock subscribed for in half an hour.

From the bootblack at the hotel to the banker, everybody wanted stock in every company drilling within a reasonable distance of Jackpot Number Three.

Meanwhile the oil boiled up in the lake and flowed over its edges in streams. As soon as the second reservoir was ready the tarry stuff was siphoned into it from the original sump hole. By the time this was full a third pool was finished, and into it the overflow was diverted. But in spite of the great effort made to save the product of the gusher, the sands absorbed many thousands of dollars' worth of petroleum.

This end of the work was under the direction of Bob Hart. For ten days he did not take off his clothes. When he slept it was in cat naps, an hour snatched now and again from the fight with the rising tide of wealth that threatened to engulf his owners.

He was unshaven, unbarbed, his clothes slimy with tar and grease.

At the other end Jed Burns commanded. One after another he tried all the devices he had known to succeed in capping or checking offshoots. The flow was so continuous and powerful that none of these were effective.

BOOKS

EDITED BY CABR.

IF WINTER COMES. By A. E. M. Hutchinson. McClelland, Toronto.

This is decidedly one of the best English novels of the month, by which we do not mean the best seller. It is much more earnest and appealing than any of the author's three preceding works. "The Happy Warrior," "Once Aboard the Lugger," and "The Clean Heart."

The story is the life of a sensitive young man with an abnormal and fatal capacity for seeing everybody else's point of view. He married a woman with no capacity for seeing anybody's point of view except her own, which was of microscopic dimensions, and in the resultant strife he was almost crushed into the abyssal depths of defeat, degradation and death.

At the last minute he was saved by love of a woman who was capable of understanding him.

Mr. Hutchinson has an extremely dexterous way of telling his story, sometimes direct and sometimes by means of a glibly solicited friend of the parties. His style is breezy and his dialogue exceptionally full of life and character. He resembles most closely that other recent writer, Mr. Stacy Jurek, but his people are finer and his whole narrative on a higher plane.

THE REGION OF RELATIVITY. By Viscount Haldane. Macmillan, Toronto.

A monumental work, the product of several years during which the author has been debarré from his customary participation in life, this volume deals with Knowledge and the relativity of reality of the character of Knowledge.

To Lord Haldane's mind, the principle to which Einstein, and following him the world at large, have given the name of relativity, cannot be taken as isolated, and must have its counterpart in the other domains of nature and of knowledge.

The treatment of this thesis is metaphysical, but the author's enormous range of information enables him to give it a constantly practical application.

BOOKS AND IDEALS; An Anthology. Edmund Kemper Broadus. Gundy, Toronto.

This is a pocketbook in the highest sense of the word, in that it is in the first place pocketable and in the second place made up of just the kind of reading that a bookish man wants to have in his pocket.

Professor Broadus explains that he intended it for those young persons, just released from the fixed courses of the educational institutions, and given the puzzled by their freedom amid the vast mass of printed matter on the library shelves.

The selections are chosen with a view to making the reader feel that Bacon, Addison, Milton, Carlyle, are friends who are calibrating rather than tasks to be worked over.

CLAIMS IDEALS IN GOVERNMENT OF CITY NEEDED

Rev. G. A. Leichter in Adelaide Street Church Preaches On "City Hall."

RAPS BREAKING OF LAW

Declares Passing of Bottle to Close Contract Reprehensible Act.

Taking as his text, Rev. xxi, 27, Rev. G. A. Leichter preached to a very crowded congregation at Adelaide Street Baptist Church Sunday night on the subject, "The City Hall."

His text: "There shall in no wise enter into it anything that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or worketh a lie, but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life," furnished the material for a strong, convincing discourse.

"You may see little relationship between this subject and the text. To you it may seem a wide stretch of imagination to compass this peculiar association, but at the heart of the matter there is a deep-seated relationship."

This text is the announcement of a city government. It is the stated policy that is to obtain in all the city relationships. It is the type of idealism that shall energize the life of the most magnificent city, touching the knowledge of the human race.

"This city's government is anxious that her heart be chaste, her hands be clean, her soul spotless, and her activity be of a type so high and holy, as shall preclude and exclude anything that defileth, worketh abomination, or maketh a lie. This is the expression of a government."

Typifies Civic Life. "The city hall is to all intents and purposes conceived as the city government, therefore after this manner of reasoning, the city government, the expression of the city government, or the expression of the city's type of life."

"It is possible that a city's government may conduct the affairs of a city so that they will be above the slightest sinister suspicion and we are to be congratulated on the approach to that type of government in this city, in spite of a recent report on gasoline consumption."

"It is no easy task to direct the policies of a city and care for every demand of the people. And men who are thus engaged will be more or less under jealous fire."

"I have not yet been able to fully understand why, when a few months since some reference was made from this pulpit to a bit of a social gathering held in a public building in this city, all eyes were turned toward the city hall, unless it was upon the basis of some antiquated policy. For certainly no honorable gentleman, into whose hands had been committed the trust of city government by his brethren, who believed in his integrity, sobriety, and uprightness, would so belie his trust and cast reproach upon the confidence of his friends as to take into the very seat of city government, those things destined to unsettle law and destroy order. And if today there are things transpiring even there, contrary to law, those engaged therein are just as guilty, and therefore just as reprehensible as the man in the alley who has no relationship to the city government except as a liability."

Raps Law Breaking. "A law breaker is a law breaker."

Rev. Denny Bright Preaches at St. Paul's on Dominion of Sin

At the evening service in St. Paul's Cathedral, Rev. Denny Bright, preaching from the text, contained in the 19th Psalm, "Keep thy servant also from presumptuous sins lest they get dominion over me." He outlined a vivid picture of the ladder on which mortals are unconsciously standing, the top rung of which is secret or unknown sin, and the bottom rung of which reaches into the nethermost hell. "Man is born to trouble," the Rev. Bright began, "but most of us are optimists. Our thoughts travel upwards as a sort of Jacob's ladder, and we always think there is plenty of room at the top."

Beginning with secret or unknown sin, men unconsciously begin their descent. Just as foul fungus grows inside a wine cask and only reveals itself when the cask is broken, so a sin fastens itself on the character of a man, and though not evident in his ordinary appearance, it will reveal itself sooner or later. Evil deceives man as to its true character. Conscience is slow to apprehend the presence of sin, because it is unconsciously unwilling to be taught.

When secret sin has weakened man's power of resistance, it will be difficult for open or presumptuous sins to gain a foothold. As long as men are seized with strong desire and have but weak and flabby wills with which to battle against them, so long will there be sin in the world. The world is full of dry sticks with which to kindle a great conflagration of sin. If we consider the amusements of our own day, we find they have as a base either lust or gain. In the dance halls, the races, in the majority of modern amusement institutions, material is to be found to set a great fire of sin raging throughout the world. The downward path starts always with a trifling with conscience. Conscience must become deadened and the result is complete abandonment to sin. Step by step, first the rung of secret sin, downward to the rung of presumptuous sin, and finally to the rung of dominion sin, that which gains complete control of the character and deadens the conscience, man reaches the nethermost hell, from which there can be no escape except by the grace of God and His forgiveness.

In closing, the speaker said, "We must analyze our pleasures, and our work. The first injunction of our conscience must be obeyed. Trifling with it can have but one result. Instead of looking down and confessing ourselves that we are so far from the bottom, we should look always up and realize how far we are from the top."

if in defiance of the law he passed around a bottle of Tom and Jerry to close a contract or if he shoots it out of a window can in the alley, there is no sliding scale of guilt to be applied in consideration of the position a man may hold. Black is black and white is white and anything between the two extremes is neither one nor the other.

"There shall in no wise enter into it anything that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination or maketh a lie."

"That policy would settle forever any controversy concerning a dance to open an educational institution. That policy could settle Sunday skating, or anything of any nature that raised a question in the minds of the city dwellers."

"That would make a good city in the highest sense of the terms. Every right-thinking man of the land would want to find a home in such a city. At night, a city with a King of Kings in the spotless purity of his holy life."

Ideal Attainable. "Is such a city possible? Not only is it possible, but it is certain. Upon the process by which it is attained, we may not agree, but by the testimony of reliable record that sort of a city is coming."

"The heavenly city hall has issued this proclamation and posted it upon the public square of every individual, it is inescapable. Its enforcement is absolute. The law has gone forth, and has not known recall; it you must face."

"The directory of the city of God knows only the names of the redeemed. Is your name on the record?"

TO START PAVING KITCHENER ROAD

KITCHENER, Feb. 5.—The announcement made here today by N. Asmusen, M.L.A. for North Waterloo, that the department of highways intends proceeding with paving the Preston-Kitchener road as soon as the spring sets in, will be received with gratification throughout Western Ontario, as the road for the past two years has been the bane of motorists.

Mr. Asmusen stated today that tenders will be advertised at once for grading from the Freeport Bridge to Preston, and also for grading the Kitchener to Stratford road in four sections of six miles each. The department will also ask for tenders for the grading of the first and second sections from Guelph to Kitchener, six and five miles respectively.

Mr. Asmusen said that the concrete pavement from Kitchener to Preston will be rushed as soon as the weather permits, and will be completed this year. The concrete pavement between Freeport and Preston will be completed next year, and when finished will give Waterloo County a continuous stretch of concrete road from one boundary to the other.

ASSIST NEEDY FAMILIES. KITCHENER, Feb. 5.—Kitchener's Red Cross branch is still active, and the results of this activity were revealed at the regular week-end meeting of the executive. During the present unemployment situation, the local red cross workers have been busy assisting local needy families during sickness. Most of the work has been done in the case of new babies. It was the general consensus of the meeting that in the event of a flu epidemic some time out here the branch should be prepared for the emergency.

TAKES 'WOMAN' AS SUBJECT OF SUNDAY SERMON

Rev. A. E. M. Thomson Delivers Interesting Discourse at Centennial Methodist.

LAUDS WOMANHOOD

Declares If Home Life Is Destroyed Canada Will Become Degenerate.

"Many men have asked: What is woman? And many other men have given answer, woman is a second and improved edition of man. Woman is the highest, holiest, most precious gift of God to man." With these words did Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, addressing a large audience at the evening service at Centennial Methodist Church Sunday, open the sermon, "God's Woman of the Hour."

"Wherever woman is held in honor," continued the speaker, "the gods are pleased. Where she is dishonored, holy acts are void and fruitless."

In speaking of the rights of woman, he said: "It has been said that women's rights and men's rights are separate and irreconcilable. This is not true. Both as persons fill out the whole life of humanity."

The speaker referred to the attitude of Shakespeare and Scott toward woman, stating that in all of the latter's plays there was scarcely one strictly heroic figure.

"The other hand his plays were filled with heroic and strong women. Every catastrophe, he said, that occurs in his dramas comes as the result of folly or falseness of man, and wherever there is redemption it comes from the hand and heart of woman."

Mr. Thomson said that the buckling on of the armor by the lady love was not a mere caprice of romance, but to teach us that the soul's armor is never well set unless it is braced by a woman's hand, and that if set loosely, we will fail.

Honors Bachelor Women. He then stressed God's woman of the hour, as a home-maker. He said that he had no fault to find with the bachelor woman who was so splendidly making her way in life, and was not a home-maker. While she could not find the man who was her ideal in life, "I pay honor to the woman who is battling with life in this way and gaining victory in it."

Mr. Thomson suggested prohibition of re-marriage for divorcees, as a cure for the divorce evil of the present day.

"Woman should be a citizen. She should take her place in the great scheme of human life," continued the speaker, and bear her full share of responsibility there. Woman has a greater right to make laws than man, owing to her interest in her family, owing to unfair laws applying to woman and owing to the double standard. As a citizen she should have her part in the educational work of the country and should be on our boards of education."

Christ a Woman's Man. Mr. Thomson exemplified woman as the one efficient means of cleaning up the movies. He stated that he had no objection to the moving picture machine used properly but only when it was used to depict murder, riot, theft, immorality, to throw discredit on the home and marriage, to honor the thing that was suggestive and impure. He strongly urged woman, who had it in her power, to purge the movie of these elements. He deplored the conditions in public dance halls declaring that they were disgraceful, and not a home-maker but a difficult though necessary task for woman. The pastor complimented woman organizations on their progress in stamping out the cigarette evil particularly among minors.

In conclusion he said that woman should be Christian. Christ was a woman's man. He was in him for more than man. He was in debt to woman, but wonderfully he had paid the debt, for wherever Christianity had been taught, woman's status had been raised, until on an equality with man.

A woman's choir of 50 voices, under the direction of Bert Weir, rendered, with fine technique, several fitting selections and to further enhance the musical part of the service the Elgar Ladies' Quartet was especially engaged. The latter more than fulfilled expectations in the renditions of a number of difficult pieces.

FR. FORRISTAL RAPS HABITUAL TALE BEARERS

Denunciatory Sermon Delivered by Priest at St. Peter's Cathedral.

ANALYZES EVIL SPEECH

Terms Scandal Mongers 'King of Mischief Makers.'

The "tale-bearer," the "mud-thrower," the habitual "back-biter" were roundly scored by Father Forristal, the speaker at the different masses at St. Peter's Cathedral, Sunday.

It was the Feast of the Purification and the candles used in the church during the year, as well as those distributed among the members of the congregation, were blessed at high mass. Father Pocock sang the mass.

Father Forristal spoke on the Gospel of the day, St. Matthew xlii, verses 24 to 26, in which Jesus spoke of the cockle in which he compared heaven to the field sowed with good seed and in which the owner's enemies sowed cockle. He bade his servant let the cockle be, fearing that if they tried to gather it they would root up the wheat. He told them to wait until the harvest, when the cockle would be gathered to be burned and the wheat into his barn.

"The Gospel, said the speaker, gives a picture of the world as we find it today. There are good and bad, wheat and cockle. Not that God created man to be bad, but through the action of his enemies, man had left God's way." The efforts of Satan in this direction were touched upon. He works directly but mostly through instruments in the world. More often he uses men themselves, and in this regard one of his most persistent ways is the evil speech.

"Man alone of God's creatures possesses this gift," said Father Forristal, "yet perhaps no other organ is so successful in corrupting man and driving his soul from God." The speaker quoted St. James as having said that "a man who sins not with his tongue is perfect."

The speaker then proceeded with an analysis of the different manners of evil speech. That which ridiculed a friend he first touched on. Being done in the presence of the friend, it had the one virtue of courage. More evil, however, was that in which the words were uttered behind the friend's back. It robbed him of his reputation.

"You must rob me of my health or my wealth," said the speaker, "and I may get either back, but not my good name." Detraction and calumny were given as the two manners of speech for robbing a man of his good name. Detraction he described as the unjust exposure of a fault that really existed. Calumny, as a fault wrongly attributed. One has a basis of truth, the other is a lie.

King of Mischief Makers. "Who is a greater mischief maker than the tale-bearer?" asked Father Forristal, in touching more fully on the sins of calumny and detraction. He told of the workings of the tale-bearer, how he or she went to one and gathered a few morsels and then back to circulate the reply received. The work of those whom he termed the "king of mischief makers" was a sin and the degree of the sin was dependent on the harm done. It depended on who said it, to whom it was said, about whom it was said and who heard it.

If remarks were addressed to a person of influence or power, or it reached the ears of such a person, the injury was the greater than if the person were of lesser station in life. The speaker said that it would be found that many Catholics were not sinners in this regard, inasmuch as they knew that they must make reparation for any injury done by a retraction, but he told his hearers that while there were many Catholics who shuddered at the thought of committing a mortal sin, they were slow to attribute unjust motives.

Result of Thoughtlessness. "Uncharitable speaking" is the term he applied to this and said that

Results of the efforts made to secure a large attendance at the Hyatt avenue Methodist church, old boy's reunion came completely up to expectations. The church was filled at both morning and evening services. Rev. Dr. W. S. Falls, of the Methodist Book Room, Toronto, preached most eloquently both morning and evening. The choir was augmented by those who had formerly been members of the church and solos by some of the "old boys" were greatly appreciated. At the morning service, testimonials were rendered during a short period devoted to "old boy" fellowship.

The appeal for contributions toward paying off the church debt met with a most generous response. Only $400 is yet to be realized, $1,000 of the $1,400 objective being subscribed at the services.

Rev. William Hiles Shows How Christ Went a Little Farther

"He Went a Little Farther" was the subject of the sermon preached Sunday morning by Rev. William H. Hiles at the Robinson Memorial Methodist Church. Mr. Hiles suggested the phrase might well serve as a fitting motto for the life of Jesus. "He was always surprising men by the way in which he was in advance of them all. In his living and in his loving and in his forgiving and in his dying, he is the leader. And the demand on men who bear his name is that they follow him. Discipleship then means that we will go a little farther into the shadows of than we would if we were not Christ's men. We will have fellowship with him in his suffering. We will feel the weight of the world's suffering and woe as though it were our own. We cannot detach ourselves and be Christians." No shadow of himself and no man died to himself.

"But it is not enough to feel the world's woe. Impression must be followed by expression. To feel the sorrows and needs of men is the call to heal the wounds and supply the needs. To have we fed the hungry, clothed the needy, visited the sick and imprisoned? But the needs of men are not all of the body. There are hungry souls, and souls naked and sick and imprisoned. We live in a humanitarian age when we are all ready to do something where physical relief is required, but what are we doing to give perishing men the bread of life and free them from the chains of sin? How can we as individuals or as a church answer?"

"But we must go also with him farther in joy. If Jesus was a man of sorrows, he was also a man of joy. He found his delight in doing his Father's will. He has no need of pity. 'Weep not for me,' he said to the daughters of Jerusalem. In the very presence of the awful cross, he spoke of 'my peace,' 'my joy.' He has enough to give to others. The paradox of the Christian life is expressed by Paul, in the words, 'sorrowful yet always rejoicing.' Livingstone said after spending years of hardship in Africa: 'I never made a sacrifice.' We find our fullest joy in serving Christ by forgetting self and abandoning ourselves to the service of God. Thus the real Christian goes with Jesus Christ farther in suffering, farther in service, and farther in joy."

It was frequently found that they were those who were loud in their praise of their neighbor that in the end they might expose his imperfections. Many will say that their remarks were not serious, and not intended to do any harm. They were only the result of thoughtlessness. The test, said the speaker, was to ask them how they would like it. If they took it when they heard that one of their neighbors had been talking about them. "You cannot convince them that it was only thoughtlessness and that no harm was meant."

"If we go with this constant mud-slinging," said Father Forristal, "some of it is bound to stick. We cannot continue to attack and talk about our neighbor without doing some harm."

"The virtue of charity is distinctly Christian," said Father Forristal, pointing to the fact that Christ when reviled did not revile, yet today man was found demanding an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, rewarding insult with injury. The speaker quoted Christ's message to his disciples, "Love one another, by this all men will know you are my disciples." "If an angel from heaven dropped among us, could he distinguish us by our love for our neighbor, especially if he heard us talk?" asked Father Forristal.

Concluding the speaker pointed out that it is the duty of all to repair any injury caused to the good name of their neighbor. Habitual back-biting, calumny and detraction were the causes of many sins. He urged all to make a minute examination of their conduct toward their neighbor and if they were sinning in this regard to immediately correct their fault.

ROB DAIRY BUT FEW FEET FROM POLICE STATION

Early Morning St. Thomas Marauders Commit Theft of Butter and Cheese.

GET FIVE CASES OF EACH

Use Both Sleigh and Auto in Making Off with Goods.

[Special To London Advertiser.]
ST. THOMAS, Feb. 5.—Although it is located but a few steps from the city hall, headquarters for the local police department, thieves broke into the building occupied by the Western Dairy Company early Sunday morning and made a getaway with five cases of butter and five large cheese.
The marauders crept under the loading platform in front of the building, and then gained admittance into the building by forcing their way through the floor.
The stolen goods were evidently passed through a window and into a shed at the rear of the building.
Leading from the shed were marks of an automobile.

Early Morning the Time.
The robbery occurred some time in the early morning, according to the police. It is believed that the thieves drove first to the scene with a cutter, as marks of the runners were discovered near the loading platform.
The booty was evidently too bulky for the limited capacity of the cutter, and so an auto was secured. As far as it is known no other goods were disturbed.

SARNIA, Feb. 5.—Liberals of the West Lambton provincial riding are planning to hold their convention in the city hall here next Saturday afternoon, and it is expected that a record number of the party supporters will be in attendance. The purpose of the meeting is for the election of delegates to the Ontario Liberal convention in Toronto. Following the Liberals' defeat of F. F. Pardee in the recent Dominion election, West Lambton Liberals are now reorganizing their party and making every effort to return a provincial candidate at the next provincial election. Plans are under way for holding a series of Liberal meetings throughout the riding, and a number of young Liberals' clubs will shortly be formed in West Lambton district.

Want Schools Inspected.

Sarnia Board of Education members have decided to make application to provincial officials to be included in the list of schools that are medically inspected, and an official from the department of education is expected in the near future to commence a tour of inspection. At the present time the board has under consideration the opening of a dental clinic following a report made public by Miss Helen Barrie, the school nurse.

New Plant Likely.

Following the week's membership drive campaign for chamber of commerce members, the Sarnia organization now boasts of 415 members, and the officers expect by Monday noon
this number will be augmented to 450.
With the end of the membership campaign near it was announced Sunday by chamber officials that a new factory is in view, and Sarnia may shortly boast of a farm tractor plant employing 150 men.

To Raise $18,000.

to wipe out certain obligations outstanding against the General Hospital, and to repeal the curfew bylaw, given at the last meeting, and it is expected that these measures will be presented for adoption on Monday night. No other business of unusual importance is slated for disposal.

HEARTBURN A SEVERE CASE

Many people are troubled with heartburn who really do not realize just what it is.

In cases of this trouble there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite. It is generally caused by great acidity of the stomach, and whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and becomes extremely sour, causing heartburn. In such cases vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter.

The one way to get rid of heartburn is to keep your liver active by using

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS,

and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles such as constipation, jaundice, water brash, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, foul breath, etc.
Miss Agnes Cutting, Shallow Lake,
Ont., writes: "I have had heartburn for a long time. There were gnawing and burning pains in my stomach, and then when I vomited there was a sour and bitter taste. I used two vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of my heartburn. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine."

STILL LOOKING FOR A SEAT FOR HON. C. STEWART

Dates For Two By-elections
May Be Set This Week.

OPPOSITION LEADER

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(By Canadian Press.)—There is every likelihood that the present week will see dates set for the two remaining ministerial by-elections. With a seat provided for Hon. J. H. King, minister of public works, there is every reason to believe that the by-election in East Kootenay will be brought on with the least possible delay. Even though the writ is issued immediately it will be practically impossible for Dr. King, if elected, to take his seat at the opening of the Parliament on March 8. The law provides that a space of between 30 and 35 days must elapse between the date of the writ and the holding of an election. After the election a couple of more days may elapse before the ballot boxes are all collected and the returns compiled, so it is unlikely that the minister of public works will take his seat when the house convenes.

Still Doubt of Location.

In the case of Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, there is still some doubt as to where he will stand for election. It is the desire of the government that he represent an Alberta constituency and there is still hope that he will be accommodated in the western province. If it is impossible to find a seat for him in Alberta, he will probably run in Quebec.

It seems likely that the question of who will lead the Opposition in the Commons will be decided this week, when a conference of representatives of three parties on seating in the chamber takes place.
It is considered likely that Right
Hon. A. Meighen will be Opposition leader, but this has yet to be decided.

Government To Be Busy.

With only a month before the opening of the government will probably have its hands full preparing for the session. Lengthy cabinet meetings are now being held. Though it seems unlikely that the sessional program will be ambitious, a number of important matters must inevitably come up for discussion. In addition to preparations for the session some judicial vacancies are to be filled, and a successor appointed to Sir George Perley, who has returned to submit his resignation as high commissioner in England.
It is probable that Sir Robert Borden, who has represented Canada at the disarmament conference, will return to the capital within the next few days.

OFFERS $100 FOR SLANDER PROOF

servative party in Ontario, has offered to donate to any charitable object the sum of $100 for evidence that will enable him to prosecute any person guilty of circulating slanders in and about Kemptville regarding his personal and public affairs.
Mr. Ferguson, in a statement which he has issued, says that "for the past couple of years certain persons have sought to discredit me personally and politically by maliciously circulating false statements regarding me and my public affairs."
In this connection he mentions the assertion that he is possessed of immense wealth as the result of his public service as a minister of the crown, that he ran away from the sessions of the timber commission,
and that he made a lot of money
by purchasing a block of land from the government in the vicinity of North Bay, and selling it to American tourists.
All these statements Mr. Ferguson brands as calumnies.

MRS. STILLMAN IS AGAIN REFUSED

ceeded yesterday in blocking, at least temporarily, another effort made by Mrs. Anne U. Stillman to obtain additional expense money and the appointment of a commission to take testimony at Montreal in the Stillman divorce case.
Motions to these ends were held pending for a week by Supreme Court Justice Morschauer, who upheld the objection of Mr. Stillman's counsel that the affidavits supporting the application were based on hearsay, and therefore were insufficient.

Erve Middleton, also of this city, who is under arrest for receiving stolen property from Leland Stover, who was arrested Friday night
charged with robbing Lindsay's gar-

The three men were arraigned on their respective charges before Magistrate Maxwell of the local police court Saturday morning. Middleton and Tinlin were remanded until Tuesday of this week, and Stover will appear again Thursday.

Middleton admitted receiving the

he did not know they were stolen.
Stover protested his innocence. It is reported that under cross-examination, Tinlin admitted getting four tires from Middleton's cellar.

Francis Conway, at whose home on Curtis street four of the tires were found, is out of the city at present but will be brought back as a witness. He is reported to have bought the tires without knowledge that they had been stolen.

gation on the site of the present

event of the local Presbyterians not deciding to erect a new church, the gift is to be for a public library in proval to the proposition of building a combination techni-

FAIL TO RESPOND TO FUND APPEAL

Subscriptions To St. Thomas Horticultural Society Are Small.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 5.—Officials of the St. Thomas Horticultural Society who have been in charge of an intensive campaign for members and funds during the past week are disappointed at the results of the week's work.

The objective of the campaign was far from being reached Saturday night. Only $1,050 in special subscriptions had been received up to that time, while membership fees brought the amount up to a possible $1,500.

Behind Last Year.

In the campaign of last year $3,400
was raised, but it is feared that unless the citizens come to the aid of the society more generously than they have during the past few days,
not more than $2,000 will be raised,
and the activities of the society in creating a more beautiful St. Thomas will be curtailed accordingly.

The campaign, however, will be continued for a few days, and the officials are hopeful that a more generous response will be received.

CHILD'S PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

DRESDEN, Feb. 5.—Dorren, the

here, met with a painful accident yesterday. While waiting for the mail she, with another little playmate, pulled the large desk over, and was pinned under. Her arm was broken and her ribs injured. Dr.
McDonald is attending her.

TO SAVE EUROPE AIM OF GENOA'S BIG GATHERING

First Concerted Effort To This End Since the War Ended.

BASIS OF EQUALITY

Former Enemy Nations To Be Received in Attempt To Mend Financial Status.

BY J. W. T. MASON.

Expert on International Relations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The summing-up of the Genoa conference is the first move since the war to bring friends and enemies together in a concerted effort to save Europe.

The Genoa conference as originally planned called for invitations to Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Russia to send delegates to meet the allies' representatives on a basis of equality.

If this arrangement is carried out, Genoa, birthplace of Christopher Columbus, who discovered a new world, will mark the birthplace of a new Europe.

There can be no recovery for Europe while divergent policies prevail among the trans-Atlantic nations.

The statesmen across the ocean are just discovering that fact.

All of them, however, are not yet convinced of its truth, and for that reason the Genoa conference is being threatened with failure before it begins.

France Blocks Path.

France is blocking the way to peace at Genoa. Peace was not really signed at Versailles, according to the belief in France. Only an extended armistice was forced on the Germans, who were waiting their time to resume the war.

Therefore, France wants no questions discussed at Genoa which in any way will strengthen Germany economically or financially. France believes as soon as the Germans get their strength back they will begin a war of revenge.

France also insists that the Russians be allowed to attend the Genoa meeting only as inferiors and on sufferance. France demands that the Russians pay their foreign debts before being admitted to any equality with other nations.

High Hopes Fade.

With France in this obstinate mood, the high hopes that the Genoa gathering would start Europe on the path of accelerated recovery are fading.

The nations of Europe which want the Genoa conference to be held for the purpose of co-operation all around declare that France instead of Germany is preparing for a new war in order to get permanent possession of the Rhine.

They also say France cannot legitimately demand that Russia's foreign debts be paid until France pays her own. France owes more money to foreign nations on which she is paying no interest whatever than Russia.

The Genoa conference may end in failure; but it will have marked a beginning. The original program of the Genoa conference eventually will have to be taken up by another conference. There is no other way of saving Europe as a whole.

Four Problems On Slate.

At Genoa or at a subsequent conference the following problems will have to be faced, for until they are solved, chaos in Europe will continue:

ONE—Revision of the indemnity demands on Germany so that the German people will have an incentive to reform their currency and resume their normal economic life by being allowed to keep some of the profits of their labor.

TWO—Stimulation of Russian trade so that Europe can increase its food supplies from Russia and sell its manufactures to Russia in return.

THREE—Stabilization of exchange so that future prices can be reasonably estimated, by making an end to government borrowings and increasing taxation to meet government expenses.

FOUR—Reduction of land armaments, so that the nations can get their minds away from thoughts of war and can concentrate on peaceful development.

FORD WILL OPEN LINCOLN PLANT

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 5.—The big whistle at the Lincoln Motor Co.'s plant here will blow loud and shrill tomorrow morning.

In answer to its voice, long silent, 600 men, now idle, will go back to work.

But they will not go back as Leland employees—they will go as Ford employees, at Ford standard wages, working in a new Ford unit.

For, shortly before noon yesterday, Edsel Ford, acting for the Ford Motor Co., purchased the Lincoln Motor Co., at a receiver's sale held on the front steps of the plant.

He bought it for $5,000,000.

The deed to the property will be delivered to the Ford Co. early in the week.

MILLER SHOTS SELF TO ESCAPE SUFFERING

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 5.—Suffering from a protracted and probably fatal disease, John Inglis, a well-known miller at Inglisfalls, two miles south of Owen Sound, secured a shotgun, and placing the muzzle just below his heart, pulled the trigger.

The late John Inglis was a member of one of the pioneer families of this district, and was always highly respected. He was about 68 years old. A widow and family survive. Coroner Dr. A. B. Rutherford was called, and decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

Police Now Declare Delorme Was Slain in House Cellar

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—Public interest in the Raoul Delorme murder case, the most sensational crime Montreal has known for half a century, was sustained and intensified today by the police announcement that the dead youth was murdered in the cellar of some house, presumably in the city or its environs. This dramatic announcement, of which not a whisper had been heard since the murder was discovered, is based on the fact that the police, in making a search of the dead man's clothes, found ashes adhering to them. The case has long since ceased to be one of local importance. Intense activity is being displayed by the provincial authorities, and yesterday Premier Taschereau arrived in Montreal, where for the greater part of the morning he was in secret conference with D. D. Lorrain, chief of the provincial police. Later today, it is expected, Father Delorme, brother of the murdered youth, will see the premier, and, according to the local and provincial police, sensational developments will occur Monday.

CIVIC EMPLOYEES 110 LIVES LOST IN STRIKE IN BERLIN JAPANESE WRECK

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—Tramway service and the gas, water and electricity supply in Berlin were completely paralyzed when the municipal employees struck this morning. Even hospitals are without water and light. The strike of railroad men has extended to all of Baden, where the workers went out last night. Nothing has come of the negotiations, begun yesterday for settling the railway strike, which has now been in progress since Wednesday midnight. The victims were for the most part farmers, workmen and railway employees who were engaged in clearing snow from the railway tracks.
