DEFINITE PLANS ARE MATURING

Committees Appointed to Further the Project of the Young Men's Ass'n.

Proposed Constitution is to be Drafted and Plans for the Building to be Secured.

The advisory committee of the Young Men's Association met in the vestry of Park street Methodist church last evening with the following members present, D. McLachlan, James Eckersley, of St. Andrews; T. M. Tennent, Baptist; Fred. Thompson, J. W. Humphrey, Victoria Avenue Methodist; F. D. Laurie, H. W. Anderson, First Presbyterian; and W. H. Westman, Park street Methodist. The chairman, Dr. R. V. Bray, was late and D. McLachlan was appointed chairman pro tem. Fred. Thompson was appointed to act as secretary.

W. H. Westman, on behalf of Mr. Laurie and himself, reported meeting the Ministerial Association, the result of which was published in Monday's Planet.

After much discussion it was decided that a committee be appointed to draft a constitution as near as possible to the wants of the Association. Mr. Anderson moved, seconded by Mr. Humphrey, that the committee be composed of H. W. Westman, J. S. Lane, F. D. Laurie and James Eckersley. The motion carried.

James Eckersley, who had been appointed with Dr. Bray and H. McAuley to a committee to look up rooms for the committee to meet in, reported that he had understood it was rooms to be temporarily used by the Association.

This point was discussed whether or not temporary rooms for that purpose would be engaged.

Mr. Eckersley thought that the Association should be begun at once by renting a room and fitting them up. The material used in so doing could be used in the new building when completed.

Mr. Laurie differed from Mr. Eckersley, saying that could look too much like an old half-way measure and the boys would say, "Oh, that's all it's going to amount to."

"That isn't what we want," declared Mr. Laurie, "we want to keep the big proposition before their eyes and have the great end in view."

The matter was fully threshed out and on motion of Messrs. Tennent and Westman, it was decided to look one or two rooms to be secured for the use of the Association for organization purposes.—Carried.

D. McLachlan and secretary Fred. Thompson were appointed to look after the legal end of the matter. H. W. Anderson, J. W. Humphrey, James Gray and W. H. Westman were appointed to a committee, to get rough sketches and estimates of the cost of the proposed building for the Association.

The meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks, the subject of meeting to be announced in the paper.

FOUND THE MAN

Police Officer Dezella, of this city, and Detective Shannon, of Port Huron, arrested Frank Yates, alias Robert Reilly, alias Robert Ryan, out in Raleigh Township last evening. Yates was wanted on the charge of rape. Through Windsor parties it was learned that Yates was near Chatham but he couldn't be located. Detective Shannon has been here several times, but without success. Yesterday he again arrived in the city and in company with Officer Dezella set out to look for the man. The officers of the law had no idea where he was, but they decided to take a trip through Raleigh Township. After driving nearly all afternoon Yates was finally located about 6:30 at Colin Roe's. He had been working for Jack Smith, hewing corn and was boarding at Roe's. Yates consented to be extradited and Shannon took him to Port Huron last night, leaving on the 9:10 express for Detroit. Officer Dezella says that they drove nearly 40 miles yesterday afternoon.

STRIKE RENEWED

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 30.—The strike at the seven collieries of Cox & Bros. & Co., the four mines of G. B. Markle & Co., and the Silver Brook operation of J. Wintz & Co., was officially renewed to-day, on an order issued by District Secretary Gallagher, of the United Mine Workers, upon instructions from President Mitchell.

The strikers at those mines were not permitted to return to work in a body. The Coxes insisted that their employees must make personal application for their former positions, and G. B. Markle & Co., required that each man, before going back to work must promise to abide by the decision of the arbitration commission.

The mine workers allege the object of these requirements is discrimination against men who were prominent in the strike.

A. Pardee & Co.'s collieries, where the men have been asked not to interfere with non-union hands, are not included in the strike order. The men voted on Saturday not to resume work until the agreement is withdrawn.

MACAULAY CLUB

The Macaulay Club will meet tomorrow evening, November 1, in the A. O. U. W. hall, over the Free Library. The program is a good one, and, no doubt, the meeting will be well attended. The debate will be very interesting. The program:—
Debate—Resolved that "The Cloud" is a greater poem than "The Brook."
The affirmative will be taken by Mr. Beeston, while Mr. Taylor will argue negatively.

DOWN IN THE COAL MINES

The Arbitrators Begin Their Tour of the Anthracite Region.

Don Overalls, Lamps, Etc., and Spend Hours Watching the Men Work.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 30.—The real work of the arbitration commission appointed by President Roosevelt to adjust the differences existing between the coal operators and their employees began to-day. Briefly stated, the day's work will consist of a general inspection of the inside and outside workings of coal mines and the homes and surroundings of the workmen. All of the region lying north of here to Forest City, a stretch of 22 miles, will be gone over. This will take up the entire day. Tomorrow and Saturday the mining region from here south to Wilkesbarre will be looked over. The commission is making this tour so that the members may gain a better idea of mining in order to more intelligently understand the testimony which will be given by experts for each side of the controversy. No testimony will be taken during the inspection trips. The commission party consists of 14 persons. The entire party, which also includes four general mining superintendents and a number of newspaper correspondents, left the Delaware and Hudson Railroad station for Forest City this morning in a special train of Pullman cars, the expense of which is being borne by the commissioners.

AT FOREST CITY.

Forest City, Pa., Oct. 30.—The commission arrived here at 11 o'clock. A small crowd, among them some mine workers, were at the station to see them. The party was driven in carriages to the Number 2 shaft of the Millside Coal & Iron Co. which is operated by the Erie Railroad Co. The depth of the mine is 410 feet. This operation is said to be one of the best in the upper region, and was selected by the operators for inspection. The mine workers' representative will also select a colliery for scrutiny by the commissioners. The party left the carriages, some distance from the shaft, and were taken to the engine room at the shaft in the mine. The shaft is 410 feet deep. The party carried lanterns in their hands, while the others had them fastened to the caps. There were about 500 men and boys at work in the mine when the party was lowered into the workings.

About an hour before the commissioners arrived at the shaft a Hungarian was killed by a fall of reef in the one the commissioners inspected. He was pinned down under the fall and his lamp set fire to his clothing. He was roasted to death.

During the two hours spent underground by the commissioners, a thorough inspection was made. The commissioners were taken about a mile from the foot of the shaft and which adjoins No. 2 shaft. The arbitrators were greatly interested in the blasting of coal by the miners. The workmen were asked many questions by different members of the commission as to their age, character of work, rate of wages, etc. After the party came to the surface an inspection of the outside buildings was made.

A BIG DAY'S WORK.

Scranton, Oct. 30.—(Midnight)—The anthracite coal commissioners to-day made a tour of the extreme upper coal field and saw every step taken in the production of coal from the time it is blasted from the ground up to the point where it is sent to market ready for use. The arbitrators returned, grimy from coal dust and tired after eight hours of observation and investigation. The commissioners displayed the greatest interest in every feature of coal mining, although they had to endure many discomforts, make their way through places in the mines, almost crawl along some of the gangways in the workings and pass through clouds of dust in the breakers. On the run up the Lackawanna Valley the commissioners had a good view of the several mining towns situated along the Delaware and Hudson Railway.

Stephen Corbett took a night's lodging at the police station last night. He said he had just come from Detroit. This is the man who was with some difficulty, taken back into the House of Refuge after he had left it. He is again a wanderer.

MANY GAMES ARE PRACTISED

Divers Methods of the Willy Sharper to Separate Men From Their Cash.

Ab. Merrill Says That Kent and Chatham People are Above the Average Intelligence.

They were discussing frauds and sharpeners, when one of the party passed the remark that he could not understand how people of today, especially the farmers, could allow themselves to be taken in by some of the simple little games practised by sharpeners going around through the country.

"Well," said Ab. Merrill, who had been mostly listening up to this point, "If you ever lived up around Brantford, you would think the farmers found there were sharpeners themselves, there, any kind of a game warden and everybody bites—from the simplest game of selling bibles to the deepest devised scheme."

Ab., at one time, lived at Brantford and is well acquainted with the place and the people in and around it. He says that some of the people there are the easiest marks imaginable.

"Why, when I was there," he continued, "some stranger came along, selling bibles—a dollar down and another dollar when delivered and everybody bought them. Of course they all got soaked."

"Another fellow commenced canvassing for orders for hulled oats. He had a sample of his oats along with him and he had the farmers actually believing that they could grow oats with no hulls. Everybody bought the oats at a high price and sowed them, and of course the oats did not come up at all. Then some one tumbled and saw through the game, but by this time the man was miles away with a good lot of their money in his pocket."

"The worst game I think I ever saw was worked in the same place—Brantford. A man and a woman stopped off at the house of a wealthy farmer one day and asked if they could get board for a few days offering to pay a good price for it. This was readily granted. Later in the day the stranger explained to the farmer that he and the young lady had run away to get married and asked if the wedding ceremony could be conducted in his house. This request was granted as readily as the first and the stranger went for a clergyman and brought back a man who, of course, was also a fraud and an accomplice. The mock wedding was performed and the farmer was a witness. This was all right, so the obliging farmer signed his name to what he thought was the wedding document. It turned out afterwards, however, that he had unconsciously signed a note in favor of the unknown stranger for $500. The note was discounted at the bank almost immediately and the stranger was heard of the unknown trio."

"These are a few samples of the brightness of the Brantford people and by comparison I think you will find that the farmers and residents around Chatham have a splendid amount of intelligence."

It turned out afterwards, however, that he had unconsciously signed a note in favor of the unknown stranger for $500. The "Arch-Support of a "Dorothy Dodd"

SAVE THE FATIGUE

When your foot is tired from long walking or standing, you rest it mostly by holding it in your hand and compressing it firmly around and beneath the instep. That is exactly what the "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe does for you all the time. It is like a soft hand firmly grasping the 'waist' of the foot and supporting the arch. You will never realize how much of your daily fatigue can be relieved until you try a "Dorothy Dodd." A "Dorothy Dodd" retains its arched shape and sets closely up to the foot after it has been worn for months. No other shoe is made like it. Other shoes bend at every step you take. Thus the foot becomes tired. Is it worth while when the remedy is so simple.

DANGEROUS FOES

London, Oct. 30.—Sir Horace Rumbold, formerly British Ambassador at Vienna, in an article in the November National Review, reviews the Anglo-German hostility displayed during the Boer war. He declares it to be his firm belief that the Germans continue to be potentially England's most unrelenting and dangerous foes. The pro-Boer movement was only an indication of the long existing and deeply-rooted antipathy to Great Britain.

DEADLOCK IN THE CABINET

Over Filling of the Tarte Vacancy—Brodeur not so Sure.

Prefontaine Putting up a Vigorous Bid, but it is Opposed by the Tarteites.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—No announcement was forthcoming this morning as to the new Minister of Public Works. Premier Laurier was at his office, but had nothing to say.

It is now stated that considerable difficulty is being experienced in reconciling the Montreal forces, and the outcome is uncertain. Mr. Prefontaine is reported as positively refusing the Speakership, and a rumor is prevalent that Mr. Brodeur refuses the Public Works, but this is not believed by many.

As it stands now there is more uncertainty than ever, although last night the feeling was that the matter was settled.

There was a meeting of the Cabinet this afternoon, at which all the members but Mr. Fitzpatrick were present. It was announced that the business disposed of was purely routine. No appointment of a Minister to succeed Mr. Tarte has yet been made, but it was said that the Premier consulted his colleagues on the question at to-day's council. It may be some time before the announcement is made, as it is said Mr. Prefontaine is putting up a vigorous bid for the honor, and is being strenuously opposed by the Tarte wing of the Quebec delegation in the House.

THE CAMPAIGN

A. D. Westman, president of the City Temperance Association, reports that the party are fast rounding into shape for the coming fight. The organization in the city is almost entirely completed and the workers have every confidence that they will win the contest. They are now arranging for a series of special meetings, which will be continued shortly, probably in a couple of weeks.

The offices, which have been opened in the Atkinson Block, will be used jointly by the city and the county associations, and anyone who wishes to help the cause along will be warmly welcomed by the secretaries, who may be found at this office.

"A number of people have asked me lately how this measure that we are fighting for compares with the Scott Act," said Mr. Westman this morning. "The two measures are not to be compared. In the Scott Act there was no Government measure to compel its enforcement, but this time there is, and if we win out in the campaign we will have the Government behind our backs to enforce the law. I feel sure that the temperance party will come out victorious in this campaign."

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31.

A CORRECTION.

In its issue of October 27th The Planet, in quoting editorially from the Hamilton Spectator upon the course of the Toronto Globe in reference to the stern and strong comments of Judge Street in connection with the South Oxford election trial, said, "The Globe, not only did not comment on the case, but suppressed what the judge said in the report of the trial published in its columns." The Planet has since learned that the latter statement was an erroneous one and we regret having misrepresented our Toronto contemporary. To do the Liberal organ justice it has generally been very fair and impartial in its reports in its news columns, and its course in that respect has earned for it the confidence and respect of both political friends and opponents. The Planet only regrets to see that the Globe did not follow up its news report with any such vigorous and public-spirited editorial denunciation of the disgraceful acts of corruption practiced by the members of the Ross Government, as the findings of Mr. Justice Street, would amply justify.

THE SLANDER TONGUE.

A young married woman in Havelock, Ont., — a mere girl — swallowed poison and died because the village gossip was whispering malicious slanders against her. This is a recorded case. But think of the myriads of victims of the slanderous tongue who though they do not seek refuge in suicide, live crippled lives and suffer in secret. We forget at the moment what torture Dante invented for the slander-mongers in his Inferno, but it should be something more excruciating than the punishment for most other sins. — Hamilton Herald.

Yes, indeed, aptly adds the London News. Slander is the curse of society, and gossip are the purveyors of slander. Many women who find about churches and sewing circles, ready to faint if they heard a word a little off color, will bear to shreds the character of a man or woman for the edification of soulless hearers, and actually make themselves believe that they are God-fearing, honorable women! Cigarettes are somewhat of a curse, and whiskey is more or less in the same class, but it would be well worth while to abandon the campaign against one or both and direct the powers for good toward the suppression of the character wrecking gossip. The Havelock woman was indeed very silly to take notice of what the scandal-mongers said of her, but those who spoke ill of her will yet have to answer for their levity to the Great Judge. This young woman may not have been murdered, but her death comes dangerously near to murder.

JOHN BULL TO THE RESCUE.

Major-General Young, of the United States Army, who, with Major-General Corbin, of the same service is in London, on the way home, after having attended the autumn manoeuvres of the German army, has requested Mr. Brodrick, and Earl Roberts to permit twelve British non-commissioned officers to visit the United States for the purpose of teaching the Yankee soldiers the British system of gymnastics. The request has been granted, and Gen. Young purposes sending a dozen United States non-commissioned officers to England to be instructed in the same subject.

This transaction shows in a most striking manner the characteristic good nature and generosity of John Bull. It seems extremely Quixotic for one nation to assist in bringing to the highest possible point of perfection the army of another nation with which the first may, some day, be at war. Following the underlying principle to its logical conclusion, we would have great Britain sending her most expert arkillersmen to train United States soldiers. Royal Engineers would be sent to instruct those of the United States service how to make the fortifications of the republic impregnable. British submarine experts would train Yankee sailors in their special department, and British military secrets, regarding explosives, etc., would be generously imparted to the war departed of the United States.

There is no indication that Gen. Young proposes to make any return, in kind, for the services of the British military gymnasts. True, he states that he "feels sure that an interchange of experiences in this branch of military training will be of mutual benefit." But just how Great Britain is to get her share of the benefit is not clear. For Gen. Young is candid enough to admit that the British system of military gymnastics is far superior to that practiced in the United States army. He says: "The gymnastic exhibition we saw at Aldershot beat anything in that line in our country. The men who took part in it were non-commissioned officers qualifying as gymnastic instructors." Yet, although General Young acknowledges that British non-coms, who have not yet qualified as gymnastic instructors, beat anything in his country, (including, of course the qualified instructors of the United States service), the British are to gain from their Yankee pupils a knowledge equally as valuable as that which he is so anxious they shall impart! That this is utterly ridiculous, it is not necessary to point out. Gen. Young would have shown much better grace had he "held his tongue" on the subject.

CHAMBERLAIN AND THE COLONIES.

The Citizen has on several occasions commented on the anomalous conditions under which British colonial secretaries are expected to do their work of looking after the interests of the King's overseas dominions. As a rule they are not selected for their personal knowledge of the countries whose intermarriage and international affairs are in their hands, but on the contrary few, if any, of the appointees know much about even the larger colonies or have ever visited them. Mr. Chamberlain himself has been on this side of the Atlantic several times but we believe that only on one occasion did he take advantage of a visit to the United States to extend his trip into Canada and that was to see Niagara Falls. Of course it is rather a large contract for a colonial secretary to personally visit all the extensive countries under his jurisdiction, and probably out of the question, but it is equally impossible that such an important official should be able to intelligently and efficiently discharge the duties involving upon him when almost completely uninformed regarding local conditions except through the medium of official correspondence.

Since the South African war the colonies—it is about time another name was coined for them—have attained a new importance in the eyes of the British people and British parliamentarians, and among other evidence of a awakening interest it is announced that the present energetic colonial secretary will make a tour of tour of inspection of the larger countries under his jurisdiction. It is a good idea and Mr. Chamberlain is just the man to inaugurate the practice. He enjoys the confidence and esteem of the overseas peoples of the empire and has earned it as no other incumbent of the office has done. We believe the reception he will be accorded, certainly in Canada and Australia, will be of the most enthusiastic character; and that the success of his tour will make it a precedent for future holders of the office. We may look forward with confidence to the day when a colonial secretary who has never seen the colonies will be as rare a bird as the secretary of war who has never seen the army—Ottawa Citizen.

WHAT A SWORD-DID VIEW.

A Winnipeg paper says that Mr. Borden's tour was "a saber cut in water." As Mr. Borden got through before frost set in, what the paper means is, perhaps, that he cut no ice.

AN OFF-COLOR WINDOW.

The W. C. T. U. has rendered itself absolutely ridiculous. It has condemned a memorial window in honor of the late Frances E. Willard because the stained glass happened to be wine color. This is the cream of absurdity, and the W. C. T. U. has simply furnished its enemies with an opportunity to laugh loud and long. Such an action is not womanish, not even girlish, but simply childish.

MORGAN'S WINNINGS.

Hamilton Spectator.
This has been a fairly good year for J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., and when the American Thanksgiving occurs, on the last Thursday in November, he and his partners may well be devoutly grateful for the few blessings they have received. In the past ten months the Morgan company has managed to clean up $42,190,000 out of a few little business enterprises. The International Harvester company, with a capital of $65,000,000, was financed by the Morgan company, for which Pierpont and his partners only received a trifling fee of $2,000,000. As Hamilton is largely a beneficiary from the consolidation of the harvesting and farm manufacturing companies in the United States, we feel like congratulating Mr. Morgan on his streak of good luck. He has made his share of the $42,190,000 though by the company this year, Mr. Morgan is a director, trustee or officer in companies that control $4,802,280,527, out of which his yearly income will figure up high in the millions. Mr. Morgan has not begun yet to divide up with libraries and such like, for, unlike his friend Carnegie, he is not ashamed to die a billionaire.

Truth will give up her treasures to you when you give up your prejudices to her.

DRESSED HOGS

O'Keefe & Draw, produce dealers, report that the market in dressed hogs is moving very freely. Several large shipments have been made by local dealers during the past few days and future prospects are exceedingly bright. The price at present paid for dressed hogs is from $8.25 to $8.50 per cwt.

"One thing you should draw attention to," said Mr. O'Keefe to The Planet, "is the way that some shippers, in spite of the fact that the county is quarantined for live hogs, are shipping live hogs. This should not be done, as it is a very dangerous business when the hog cholera is so bad. It is far different with dressed hogs. There is also a heavy fine imposed for shippers sending live hogs out of the county before the quarantine is lifted."

WON HIS BET

A funny man—one who is always playing jokes—entered R. J. Lunn's barber shop yesterday while the latter was shaving a customer and offered to pay the barber double the price of a hair cut if he would shave the customer on one side of his face only. Robert, who is somewhat of a humorist himself, took the bet and the funny man sat down to watch the result and to enjoy a good laugh on the customer in the chair.
When the latter arose to don his collar and necktie, however, the funny man looked surprised.
"I thought you took my bet," he exclaimed to the barber.
"Well I did," said Bob as he approached the speaker, hand outstretched and palm upwards. "I shaved the outside of his face."
The joker hurriedly paid the bet and departed amid the jeers and laughter of the waiting customers.

MOON FEAST

The Oriental Order of Humility, I. O. O. F., held a very large and enthusiastic meeting last evening. It was decided to hold a moon feast on the 19th of next month, for which complete preparations were made. The Oddfellows band, which has been lately organized with 26 pieces, will appear in public for the first time and will head a procession down King street before the feast.

Thirty-five candidates from all over the country will be initiated at this meeting. It is also expected that some of the supreme officers of this branch of Oddfellowship will be present and address the meeting. Among the supreme officers are three Oddfellows from Chatham, O. L. Lewis, Wm. Porter and T. Smith. Mr. Lewis is the supreme head of the Order in Ontario.

STRUCK OIL

The excitement over the discovery of oil on the 14th concession, Raleigh, near Jenner's side road is growing every day. Toledo speculators are leasing land right and left. John McNorton has made a bargain with the speculators. If they get gas he is to get $100 cash, have his house lighted and heated free and enjoy a percentage of the profits. If oil is discovered he gets a fifth of all profits. At Apthorpe the oil has always been apparent. There has been a coating of oil on the water in the well which is used for drinking purposes ever since the well was put down. The country side has gone wild since the flowing oil well was struck this week on the Seamen property and the surrounding farmers are either leasing their farms at fabulous prices to prospectors or else are preparing to put down wells themselves.

ILLINOIS FARMER'S SUICIDE.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—After brooding for fifteen years over the accidental shooting of a friend, Henry Sweet, a farmer living in Bloom township, near East Glenwood, killed himself with the same shotgun that had ended the friend's life. The accident for which farmer apparently decided to suicide occurred while Sweet and his friend were on a hunting trip. No blame whatever was attached to Sweet. The suicide leaves a wife and five children.

London, Oct. 30.—The Beer delegate, Wessels, met with an accident last Sunday during the thanksgiving services at St. Paul's for the recovery of King Edward. It was not thought at first that he had been hurt, but it was discovered afterwards that two ribs had been broken, and he is now confined to his bed. He is improving, however, and it is thought will be about again in a few days.

NATURAL GAS AT PARKHILL.

Parkhill, Oct. 30.—About eight weeks ago, while water was being drilled for oil on the farm of Sylvester Atmore, about five miles from Parkhill, a vein of gas was struck at a depth of 210 feet. The flow of gas continues as strong as when first struck. Mr. Atmore has had the well wired that two rigs had been broken, and he is now confined to his bed. He is improving, however, and it is thought will be about again in a few days.

Tom, the young son of Thomas Finlay, Wellington street, with a very nasty accident yesterday. The little fellow was sitting in his high chair when he fell to the floor, cutting his nose and lip on a tin can.

The wound was a very painful one and required several stitches. Dr. J. W. Rutherford was the attending surgeon.

The Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute will meet this afternoon, when a debate will be held. The subject is "Resolved that Prohibition would benefit the country." Percy Chinnick and Chas. Stevens will conduct the affirmative, and Chas. Donovan and G. Parks will appear for the negative. A dry argument is by no means expected.

Lost in wonder and praise for the manner in which efforts of this clean home journal are appreciated by the world at large, Robert Broad, an old subscriber from the west, called at this office last Monday and reports that clippings from the Growler appear in all the leading papers on the Pacific slope. Nothing succeeds like success.—The Growler.

The "Little Smith," the barge which it is expected will be chartered to make Chatham a port of call, came into port yesterday and is being loaded with a mixed cargo for the north.

There was too much waiting for her this time and Wm. Gray & Sons and the Chatham Mfg. Co. could not send their shipments. This speaks well for our chances as a port of call when we have more than the boat can stand.

A PROTEST.

Editor Planet:

Allow me space in your valuable paper to condemn in the strongest possible manner the action of the board of works as regards the work they are doing in filling up the spaces between the crossings on Victoria avenue with broken brick that will eventually become mud to be filled up again. Why not at once make a permanent job by paving it. It will cost much less in the long run, and the ratepayers will have something to show for their money. For goodness sake stop sinking the public money in sink holes and what is done do it in a permanent manner or not at all.

I have been sold out on account of bad year. I have nothing left. If I had any money I would give it up so that the creditors could divide it between themselves.

WHEN WE WERE TWENTY-ONE.

"Gentlemen,—What is your verdict on Esmond's play? Most admirable new, pure, fresh and invigorating with a thorough Thackeray tone in it that takes our thoughts back to 'Cromwell' and 'Pendennis' and another 'Harry Esmond.' This second act is the very best that any dramatist, old or young, has put forth in many a day. Better than any act in any play by Robertson. Better than the whole of 'Trilby' put together. And that, gentlemen, is the verdict of you all. Without one dissenting voice, unanimous! This is what I felt on Monday night was the impression of the whole audience. Meanwhile, let me congratulate New York on a veritable success of art. Bravo! bravo! Every cheer was deserved."

This is what Clement Scott, the famous London critic, wrote of "When we were 21," for the New York Herald. This great comedy will be presented in this city on Monday evening, Nov. 3, by a magnificent company under the direction of William Morris and John Hall.

UNCLE TOM'S REMINISCENCES

By Cora Lawrence, Dresden.

London Free Press.

In a secluded spot, just outside of the town of Dresden, resting in his last long sleep, lies the "Uncle Tom" of Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The burial place, situated near the old institution, not far from the River Sydenham, is a private one, and is just across the road from the colored burying grounds. It is the resting-place of the man, the story of whose life, as he himself told it to Mrs. Stowe, did much to inspire her to write as she did, and formed the nucleus from which grew her story.

Around the grave the tall weeds surmounted and covered from view the grave which can only now be determined by the stones which stand at the head and foot. The small marble monument, facing the road, and standing about seven feet in height, reads thus:—

In memory of
The Rev.
Josiah Henson,
Died
May 5, 1883;
Born
June 15, 1789.
Aged 93 yrs. 10
Mo. & 5 days.

"There is a land of pure delight,
Where saints immortal reign,
Infinite day excludes the night,
And pleasures banish pain."

"I know that my Redeemer liveth."

"Uncle Tom was born on June 15, 1789, in the United States, in the county of Charles, Maryland. Here his father was a slave for Mr. Newman. Here also his mother was a slave belonging to Dr. Josiah McPherson, whose slaves were then hired to Mr. Newman. When a child Uncle Tom became quite a favorite of the doctor. He was named Josiah after him, while it seems that the doctor gave him the name of Henson after his uncle."

When Josiah was but a little lad his father was sold into Alabama. He never again saw or heard of his father. Josiah was sold from his mother, but in a short time was bought by Mr. Riley, who then owned his mother.

As a boy, Josiah Henson was strong and clever, so that he soon surpassed all his companions in ability to work rapidly and well. For this he was advanced to the position of superintendent of the products. Although he held command over the rest of the slaves, he was always considerate of the feelings of his weaker and less fortunate companions. To the colored women he was especially kind, often bringing to them by stealth the nourishing foods which they so much needed.

For several years, until he got into financial difficulties Mr. Riley entrusted Uncle Tom with the sales of his plantation products. But finding his property and slaves would have to be sold, he planned a scheme by which he would be able to keep his slaves, to the safe-keeping of his brother in Kentucky. He relied on Henson to fulfill the task, and he, with his comrades, one dark night, left the plantation for Kentucky. The journey was successfully accomplished. But how often throughout the journey did Uncle Tom falter! He doubted whether his duty lay as much in delivering the slaves up to a cruel master as in helping them to obtain their freedom. So easy it would have been for them to travel north into a land where freedom reigned, instead of downward to darkest slavery. After many a struggle with the two obligations, Josiah Henson safely conducted the slaves to their new master, thus keeping his promise to the old one.

After a time Henson went to see his former master, and told him he wished to purchase his freedom. They signed an agreement, and what money Henson had, he gave as part payment. Here he was tricked, for Riley, knowing he was unable to read, made the money required to purchase his freedom almost double the amount Henson believed he was to give. When he went back to Kentucky he learned the truth, and knowing how impossible it would be for him ever to raise the money, he became discouraged.

Some time after this he decided to steal his freedom, so with his wife and family of four he left behind forever the scenes of his trials. After walking most of the way and suffering great hardships through hunger and cold, they reached Buffalo, here fortunately a kind captain took them across the Niagara river, and on Oct. 28, 1830, they arrived in Canada, the land of freedom, henceforth to be bound no more by the shackles of slavery.

They then went into Down, a township in the county of Kent, Ont., and Uncle Tom helped many another poor slave to gain his freedom. From sympathizers in England and elsewhere he obtained money to help these slaves. A manual labor school was built. This school was a large frame building situated near the river Sydenham, just outside the town of Dresden. Two hundred acres of the land surrounding were bought up by the English company who controlled the school. Later Uncle Tom sold half of his farm of 200 acres to the company. It is on this farm that Uncle Tom lies buried.

In the Institute many colored people dwell, while others lived on small neighboring farms. Here boys and girls were instructed how to read and write. The boys were also taught to farm, while the girls became skilled in domestic duties. The students (they were not all children) would spend half of each day in the school room attending to their studies and the remaining part of the day at work in the fields or household. Thus their schooling was acquired without any financial loss to the company. Rev. Hiram Wilson, a white man, taught the pupils; Uncle Tom, with Elder Davis, also helped Mr. Wilson in placing spiritual truths before the poor colored people.

The Institute finally got badly into debt, and Uncle Tom was sent to England on his second visit to form plans for raising money. His first visit had been made before this to exhibit the products of the institution. During his third and last visit to England, Uncle Tom, with his wife, was summoned to visit the Queen at Windsor Castle. From the Queen he received a gift, a cabinet photo of herself in a gold frame.

Josiah Henson was a man of unusually striking appearance. He was of large frame and was five feet seven inches in height. In his later years he wore a long white beard. Since the age of nineteen he had not been able to hold his arms out at their proper length. He always carried them bent at the elbows. This deformity was the result of a quarrel he had with an overseer. He was once assaulted in a cowardly manner by the overseer, with three of his slaves. In the conflict Uncle Tom overpowered the negroes, and was about to fight the overseer when the man seized a fence rail and struck Uncle Tom's head. Uncle Tom threw up his arm, the heavy rail fell, his arm snapped in two, and he sank fainting to the ground. Then the overseer pounded him until both shoulder blades were broken. Since that time he was never again able to raise his hands as high as his head. Had he not had an iron constitution he would have died after such treatment.

Mrs. Stowe, in her book pictures the death of Uncle Tom after a life of cruel treatment. But the negro hero, whose life inspired Mrs. Stowe to write her pathetic story, really lived to die very peacefully at his house near Dresden, after an uncommonly long life of toil and sorrow. For years before his death he was accustomed to preach two or three times every Sunday. He died on a Saturday, and the Sunday before he had preached his usual three sermons. He was ill but four days. As he lay in bed the day before his death, he said to his family:—"To-day we will sing and pray, for to-morrow I will be going away." And it was thus they spent the day. Just at the hour of dawn, on the 5th of May, 1883, Uncle Tom passed quietly away. Around the bed his children were grouped, while Elder Davis, his fellow laborer, stood by his side. Perceiving all were gazing at him so earnestly, he said to his daughters:—"Girls, why do you look at me so strange; do you see any material change in me?" One of his daughters answered:—"Father, you are very sick." Slowly he replied:—"Well, girls, you never have been weaned, but now this morning I have got to wean my babes." Then as he was dying he looked around and said:—"I couldn't stay if I would, nor I wouldn't if I could. What can't be cured must be endured." These were his last parting words, as they had been the motto of his life.

There is any quantity of gold in the land but we enjoy it most when the other fellow digs for it.

The less money a man has the stronger is his belief in the unequal distribution of wealth.

WE are not public benefactors.
WE are not snatching people from the grave.

THE MINERS' IDOL

Pen Picture of President of United Mine Workers of America.

John Mitchell, lately 35, is a small, spare man, with black eyes steady as a white, smooth face, with his hair and mustache dark and sober men, gives him the appearance of a priest. The breaker boys and him and their elders approach him easily, but only on business, to which while they talk he listens coldly, giving answers that are soft, but short, cast in the form of advice or a direction, with the reason for it. He is never dictatorial, only patient and reasonable. He has no vanity, nor fear for his dignity. It is said he is brave. Once during a strike in Pana, Illinois, his men set out to attack some non-union men at work behind a stockade with guards who shot to kill. The strikers seized two of their employers, and putting them in front, made them lead the attack. Mitchell heard of it, and running to the scene rescued the "bosses." His men turned on him in wrath, but he explained, and led off the captives from the furious crowd.

"A little at a time," he says. "Anything is better than nothing. And the big thing is the main thing—honour. That is all a union has."

John A. Ewan, in The Globe, writes: "Involved in this fight," Mr. Mitchell wrote, "are questions mightier than any questions of dollars and cents. The present mine has had his day; he has been oppressed and ground down, but there is another generation coming up, a generation of little children prematurely doomed to the whirl of the mill and the noise and bloodshed of the breaker. It is for these little children we are fighting. We have not underestimated the strength of our opponents; we have not overestimated our own power of resistance. Accustomed all ways to live upon little, a little less is no unendurable hardship. It was with a quaking of hearts that we called for a strike; it was with a quaking of hearts that we asked for our last pay envelope, but in the grimy, bruised hand of the miner was the little white hand of a child, a child like the children of the rich, and in the heart of the miner was the soul-rooted determination to serve to the last crust of bread and fight out the long, dreary battle to win a life for the child and secure for it a place in the world in keeping with advancing civilization."

This is in reality an answer to those who point out that even if the miner gains the concessions he asks for, he would not be compensated in years for the five months of idleness that he has already put in. The temper of his manifestoes is well illustrated in this extract:—"In closing this statement I desire to say that we have entered and are conducting this struggle without malice and without bitterness; we believe that our antagonists are not in bad faith; we regard them not as enemies, but as opponents, and we strike in patience until they shall accede to our demands or submit to impartial arbitration the differences between us. We are striking not to show our strength, but the justice of our cause, and we desire only the privilege of presenting our case to a fair tribunal. We ask not for favour, but for justice, and we appeal our case to the solemn judgment of the American people."

Half a Million More Scotchmen. Details of the seventh decennial census of the population of Scotland were issued in blue-book form recently, together with the report made by the Registrar-General and Dr. Blair Cunyngame to the Secretary for Scotland. The statistical information is conveyed by means of a series of tables covering over four hundred pages.

In June last a preliminary report was issued giving the population of Scotland as 4,472,000. On a revision of the lists it has been settled that this fell short of the realities by 103 persons. The males numbered 2,178,755, the females 2,293,348. At the date of the previous taking of the census, the population was 4,925,647—the males, 1,942,717; the females, 2,982,930; thus giving a total increase of 446,456 persons, 231,038 being of the male sex, and 215,418 of the female. The rate of increase is, for the sexes combined, 11.09 per cent.; that for the males alone being 11.89 per cent. and for the females 10.34 per cent. This rate of increase, as shown in an appendix is greater by 3.32 per cent. than was the rate at last census, when it was 7.77 per cent.; the male rate of increase at that date being 7.96 per cent. The rate of increase at the present census is higher than any since 1851, when it was 13.04 per cent.

As is always the case, the increase of a population during any period is determined by two factors, the excess of births over deaths and the number of emigrants. From the reports of the Registrar-General it is shown that in Scotland during the intercensal period, 1891-1901, there were registered 1,270,498 births and 780,703 deaths, which leaves an excess of births over deaths of 489,795 persons. The real increase of the population as enumerated, however, is 446,456 persons—London News.

Jack Cade's House Sold. The other day there was sold at Heathfield a freehold farm on which still stands the remains of an old stone house that is said to once have been the house of the notorious Jack Cade. Whether or not Jack Cade ever lived there can never be accurately determined, but there can be no disputing the fact that he was killed in that neighborhood.

"Old Grog." The sailor's word "grog" got its origin from Admiral Vernon of the British navy, who was known as "Old Grog," because his favorite clothing was of grogram, a fabric of silk and mohair. The old sea dog punished his sailors for dereliction of duty by diluting their daily ration of liquor with much water.

NOVELTIES IN MOTOR COATS.
That alert dame is now fully launched on a career for the coming months that promises to be of extraordinary activity, as may be inferred from the various novelties here mentioned.

Entirely suggestive of winter is the coat of the lady in the motor carriage, being built in white hair seal, lined with checked flannel and showing capacious sleeves. The same model is made up in other furs and heavy cloths. The second coat sketched is of brown fur, leather lined, with leather buttons and cuffs lined with fur.
Just here it may be noted that many of the protective garments that must meet the exigencies of the weather are made of tweeds and other stuffs that have been waterproofed, which doubles their usefulness on many occasions.

The second cut shows the new long baquet fur coats, whose latest variation is in mole skin and squirrel.

Speckled and mixed combinations of color give a taking effect in cloths for tailor gowns, and zibeline cloths in tones of green and blue display in-regular broad stripes shading off to lighter or darker tints. A pretty effect is produced by a complete covering of long hairs covering the entire surface.
Specks, broken stripes and lines give variety to soft woolen fabrics, while small invisible checks and cheerful tartans enable the grave and the gay alike to gratify their tastes.

Skirts sweeping the ground are a noticeable feature and are shaped closely to the figure round the hips.

HANDSOME NEW FUR MODEL.
The middle of the back behind is fashioned into a series of flat plaits on some of the gowns and appear to lead up to a coming idea of much trimmed backs.

PICKLED PEARS.
Make a sirup for pickled pears, allowing six pounds of light brown sugar, one quart of good cider vinegar, five teaspoonfuls of ground cinnamon and two of cloves. Put the spice in small cheese-cloth bags. Peel the pears very carefully, leaving the stems on. Steam until nearly tender; then put them in the boiling sirup and let them cook three minutes. Skim out and put in two quart jars. Pour the sirup over them and screw the covers on.

GARISH FOR APPLE AND CELERY SALAD.
To garish a salad of apples and celery arrange unpeeled, thin, wedge shaped sections of the apple with the skin uppermost around the inside edge of the dish and decorate the middle with candied cherries and celery tops.

A MAN'S BLUSHES.

He Will Fly the Red Signal More Quickly Than a Woman.

"If there is any one thing that makes me want to get up and talk right out in meeting it is to hear it said of a man that 'he blushes like a woman,'" said the social philosopher to a representative of the New York Times.
"How women ever gained the reputation of having run up a corner in blushes is beyond my comprehension.
The report does her a grave injustice, for as a matter of fact she not only has no monopoly in blushes, but does not make use of the share that properly belongs to her. There are some women, of course, who blush if you even blink an eyelid in their direction, but as a general thing men blush much more readily and more violently than women.

"This is not a random statement that I am making for the purpose of hearing myself talk, but a sober deduction founded on careful observation. For years I have made it a point to study the sexes in moments of embarrassment, and the statistics I have jot-ted down prove that in nine cases out of ten the average man will fly the red signal of distress much more quickly than the average woman. This holds good in all sorts of situations.

"Crack a joke at a man's expense,
he blushes; ply him with awkward questions, he blushes; subject him to some humiliation or let some ludicrous accident befall him in public, and he straightway rivals the boiled lobster in hue. A woman may redden slightly under the same circumstances, but her blush is diluted and perfunctory compared with the brilliant, sunlit glow that suffuses the countenance of man.

"I don't attempt to explain the phenomenon—physiologists and moralists may do that if they can—but merely give the facts for what they are worth in the hope that the next time a story writer has a crop of blushes to dispose of he will ring a few changes on the old phrase that has done duty for generations and say of the heroine that she 'blushed like a man.'"

FIRE ALARM BOXES.

The System in New York and How It Is Operated.

Greater New York is thickly studded with fire alarm boxes. The directions on each box, which is painted red and is surmounted at night by a red light, are:

"Turn handle to right until door opens; then pull inside hook once and shut the door." The opening of the box rings a large bell in the door, which alarm is intended to notify any one in the neighborhood, especially the nearest policeman, that the box has been opened. The policeman must then make sure that this was not done out of mischief by some one who wanted to see the engines arrive or, as recently happened, by a raw maid servant who wanted to mail a letter. When the inside lever is pulled down and let go, it sets in motion a certain clockwork that ticks out the number of the box three times in succession at headquarters in Sixty-seventh street. Not only that,
but it makes a record upon a tape, showing the number of the box and the exact second at which the lever was pulled.

A clerk who sits night and day beside the headquarters instrument notes
the number and selects from a drawer a certain disk which when inserted in the proper apparatus causes the alarm to be rung in the station houses of the district in which that firebox is situated. The average time required to select this disk and send out the alarm is ten seconds. There are always two clerks and sometimes three in this department. Not a word is spoken. An outsider would hardly know that an alarm is going out. In order to prevent several alarms coming at the same time from people who see the same fire and run to different boxes no two neighboring boxes are on the same circuit.—Scribner's.

Who Told the Fib?

The bell rang, and the occupier of the apartment started to the window to see who the visitor might be. To his annoyance he saw a persistent creditor who had evidently called again for payment of his long outstanding account. The impetuous one instantly called to his youthful son and said:

"Tommy, go to the door at once. I don't want to see that man. Tell him I'm not at home."
"Oh, papa, I thought you never told fibs," remarked Tommy.
"I don't, my boy. It's you that's going to tell one. Now run off."

Fixing the Blame.

Mr. Snow was seen holding the weekly paper as far away as he could get it and working his head from side to side, with squinted eyes. "Soho! Your sight's begun to fail ye at last," said the visitor bluntly. "Well, 'tain't surprising at your age."

Mr. Snow glared. "My eyesight's all right," he roared. "The only trouble is my pesky arm isn't long enough!"

Fame.

"When I grow up," remarked Bobby Toughmuscles, "I am going to be the people's choice."
"Fuglist or president?" asked Tommy Sharpboy.

Every one should occasionally say "Whoa!" to himself. Because his friends do not say it does not indicate that he doesn't need it.

The King of Ranges— "BUCK'S HAPPY THOUGHT"

REASON IT OUT

Why is it that some one article in each line of manufacture has always the largest sale?
Is it because it's a poor article or a good one? Don't you think the reason of it is because it's better constructed than the others? That's what all people will think.

The "Happy Thought" Range

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.
A great many years ago doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send

SEVERE GALE

Two Vessels in Difficulty off Port Stanley—One Going to Pieces.

Port Stanley, Oct. 30.—A heavy south-west gale set in here early this morning, which caused so much sea that two coal-bladen vessels bound for this port could not make the harbor, and came to anchor. One of them, supposed to be the schooner Mineral State, at once set a flag of distress. No assistance could be rendered from the shore, and at eleven o'clock she either slipped her anchor or the chain broke, and she commenced drifting ashore. She is on the beach about a mile east of the harbor, and so far the crew are on board. An attempt will be made to rescue them as soon as the weather permits. The other vessel at the beach is supposed to be the Rounds, and so far she is making good headway. No distress signals are flying.

Later.—The schooner that went ashore here this morning proved to be the Mineral State, of Alpena, Mich. (Capt. William Zient), loaded with coal for the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway, Port Stanley. She began to leak at noon. The mate, George Hazelwood, came ashore on a hatch cover and with the life-preserver on, he managed to reach the beach, the foot of the high clay banks, where willing hands soon drew him to safety, and he is now no worse for his experience, but was very much exhausted when he reached the shore. The mizen mast fell at two o'clock and by four the main mast fell, and the vessel was going to pieces fast, when the tug, Gordon Brown, towed the life-boat down to the wreck and Coxswain Reginald Moore, with a volunteer crew, composed of sailors and citizens, as follows:—Thomas Hough, Frank Evidand, Henry Christie, Fred Pollock, William Hough and Alonzo Taylor, by careful management, soon had the crew, consisting of Captain William Zient, Fred Lecuyer, cook, and seamen Wm. Henderson, Lawrence Walker and Fred Doer, in the life boat, which was again picked up by the tug Gordon Brown and towed back to the harbor, all very much exhausted, but were soon made all right by willing hands.

The crew of the life boat and Capt. Brown of the tug Gordon Brown are worthy of the greatest praise for their part of the rescue in such a heavy sea. Capt. Brown then ran out to the schooner Rounds which is lying at anchor two miles out and reports her all right and riding out the storm in good shape, and will go and bring her in as soon as the sea runs down.

Port Dalhousie, Ont., Oct. 30.—A heavy south-westerly blow to-day caught several Port Dalhousie fishermen too far out in the lake to make this port in safety. The steam fishing tugs and part of the sailing fleet have arrived, but there remains out yet two sailing boats with two men in each boat, which cannot be seen from this shore. The canal tug Golden City has arrived, after being out side looking for them. The wind has hauled more westerly, which would drive them down the lake. The men who are in the fishing boats which have not been heard from are Frank Dougherty and brother, from St. Catharines, in one boat, and Peter Math and his grandson, John Bents, in the other one. One of the boats in the steam fishing tug is adrift in the lake loaded with fish, the tug having taken the men off her and brought them safely into port.

Later.—One of the missing fishing boats that was caught in the blow to-day containing Peter Math and grandson has been heard from. They landed below this port at the Eight Mile Creek, and it is thought that the other missing boat will yet turn up.

DRESDEN

October 31.—Mrs. Egbert Irish leaves this evening for an extended trip to Winnipeg where she will visit her two daughters, Mrs. Dines and Mrs. Cleveland; later on she will leave for California to visit her daughter, Mrs. Archie McGill. Her many friends wish her a pleasant voyage.

An excursion train was run from Stratford to Wingham and Dresden yesterday with the view of taking in the sugar factories. A large crowd stopped off at the former town, the remainder coming on here. The visitors expressed themselves as very pleased with our town and considered the sugar factory a magnificent building.

Miss Lou Harris, River Road, has accepted a position with Jno. Burnie & Co., grocers.

The report which was circulated here this week regarding the death of R. F. Howard in Chatham, recently injured at the sugar factory, has proved incorrect, much to the pleasure of his friends here.

ABSORBING PROBLEM

Of the Present Hour

The absorbing problem of to-day is, how to expend one's income so as to attain the best results; that is, get full value for one's money.

It may truthfully be said that this has been, is, and always will be an absorbing problem to those with limited means, but the fact remains that, with the price of living necessities constantly rising one must husband one's resources more carefully than ever before if he would live within his income. In saying that prices are rising, we except one article which has come to occupy a prominent place in the family medicine chest, and that is the specific for piles or hemorrhoids known as Pyramid Pile Cure; this remedy is still sold by druggists at the old price of fifty cents, and one dollar, and these prices will remain unchanged. Those to whom this preparation has brought relief and a cure after years of suffering do not need to be told of its merits; others are advised that it is the greatest boon ever discovered, to all those afflicted with any form of piles; it is in suppository form, is easily applied, reaches the seat of the complaint, and gives immediate relief and a lasting cure.

The reader may have tried salves, ointments and lotions without benefit, and feeling that his money has been wasted, resolves to suffer on rather than experiment farther. The reason for the failure of these treatments is, that they do not reach the seat of the trouble, and hence do not remove the cause, as does Pyramid Pile Cure. A little book describing piles, their cause and cure, is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and anyone may procure a copy by sending name and address to above firm. As showing the estimation in which this remedy is held by the public it may interest the reader to know that its sales now exceed those of all other pile remedies combined.
