Wabash Train Collides
with a Grand Trunk
Freight Near Vosburg

Nine Cars of Sugar and Sand Destroyed—Two Men Injured—
A Bad Wreck

About eight o'clock this morning quite a serious wreck occurred on the Grand Trunk near Vosburg, about two miles East of the city limits.

Grand Trunk freight train No. 40, in charge of Conductor Forbes, coming west, ran into a drove of cattle near Vosburg. The train was stopped in order to ascertain what damage had been done, and a Wabash freight, which was following too closely, piled into the rear of the preceding train, telescoping the caboose and splintering it to atoms. Very fortunately, the conductor and the rear brakeman of train No. 40 were not in the caboose, having gone forward to see what damage had been done to the cattle. Nine cars in the rear of this train, loaded with sugar and sand, were badly shattered, and either scattered over the adjoining track or rolled over into the ditch.

The greatest damage, however, was done to a car containing four race-horses en route from the Woodbine, Toronto, to Highland Park, Detroit. Their trainers, J. J. Slocum and W. Sram, were asleep when the crash came. Slocum was badly cut and bruised about the body. Sram escaped with a badly bruised head and cuts about the face.

The car made one complete revolution in the air and it is miraculous that the casualties were not greater. As it was, "Clear the Arena," owned by F. J. Kittelman, of Detroit, was killed outright; "Nugget" and "Mansueti," owned by Fred Fox, of Detroit, and "Rock Kane," also owned by Mr. Kittelman, were badly injured and taken to the nearest barn of Sam Holmes. In addition to these a valuable Angora goat, mascot to the stable, was killed. "Clear the Arena" was a valuable horse, having taken several prizes in Toronto.

The wrecking train was called from Windsor, and arriving on the scene, proceeded to build a track around the wreck. This was accomplished about eleven o'clock and the 8:37 east-bound and the 9:30 west-bound passenger trains were able to proceed. The work of restoring the track to its normal condition will be rapidly proceeded with and no further delays will result.

JUSTICE TO ALL

Former Conservative Candidate, Wm. Ball, Trusts Commissioners Will Freely Grant the Pleasance License

"I shall deeply regret it, both as a Conservative and a citizen, if the Commissioners decline to give Mr. Pleasance, of the Hotel Rankin, his license."

Such was the opinion of Mr. Wm. Ball, Victoria avenue, a former esteemed Conservative candidate in West Kent, expressed in a brief interview with The Planet this morning. "I cannot but hope," he continued, "in the light of Hon. Mr. Hanna's admirable letter and the well-established policy of the White-nor Government, together with the inaugural interview of Mr. Mayor Smith, the chairman, that the Commissioners will reconsider their decision to cancel it at the end of 90 days. Mr. Smith's inaugural is a good one and, in so far as our Commissioners live up to the non-political policy there laid down, they will win credit for themselves and prove a source of strength to their Government. To vent any partisan difference in the refusing of the Rankin House license would be a grievous mistake, a sad injustice and very poor politics. I earnestly hope our Commissioners will manfully and honestly reconsider the case and give Mr. Pleasance his license. Let us be just to all, serving the public interests in the fullest and highest sense."

BISHOP'S RETURN

Bishop Wilmore has returned from attending four conferences of the Union American Methodist Episcopal Church. He left Chatham on April 24th for West Philadelphia, where the first conference was held. Thence he went to Baltimore and later to New Haven, Conn., concluding with Camden, N. J., at which place the conference closed on May 30th.

The Bishop much enjoyed his trip and says the gatherings were very successful, spiritually, numerously and financially. Yesterday he occupied his own pulpit for the first time since his return and was greeted with large and interested congregations.

IN FOG OFF DUNGENESS

British Battleship Caesar Sinks a British Bark

The Afghanistan Bank in Two Minutes After the Collision, Carrying Down With Her 23 Men—Eleven of a Crew of 24 Picked Up—Two Other Collisions in the Fleet

London, June 5.—During a fog off Dungeness early Saturday morning the British battleship Caesar collided with the British bark Afghanistan. The Afghanistan sank two minutes after the collision. It is feared that twenty-three men on board the bark were drowned, as only eleven of her crew of thirty-four were picked up.

At the time of the accident, the channel fleet, steaming in two columns with the Caesar leading, the second column, suddenly entered a fog bank and was unable to give the signal to slow down.

Prior to the collision between the Caesar and the Afghanistan, the battleship Triumph collided with the battleship Edinburgh, and both will have to be docked. The Caesar was considerably damaged.

Another disaster was narrowly averted, as the battleship Hannibal shortly afterwards fouled another vessel and carried away her head-gear.

Toronto, June 5.—Headforemost in a large red boat, filled with water, little Alice Brown, aged one year and two months, drowned to death at the family residence, on Moscow avenue, near the Danforth road, in the Village of Chester, on Saturday morning. The little one was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, a humble circumstance. The mother was at the doctor's office about an injured eye of Annie, her eldest girl, aged about 10, who had changed of the baby when the accident occurred.

Blissville, June 5.—By the explosion of 15 pounds of dynamite, Saturday night five negro convicts at the County Jail at Ojus were blown to atoms.

Fort Arthur, June 5.—Wm. Long, employed on the waterfront as watchman, was killed here Saturday afternoon. The vessel was being hauled in to King's elevator wharf. He was standing by the wrench when the cable slipped, striking him on the head, killing him instantly. He belonged to Mid-dlesex.

Richard Steyvers, who was caught in the wash while loading the Wahoonah, will not likely recover. His lungs slipped, striking him on the head, killing him instantly. He belonged to Mid-dlesex.

One of the "Scout" Victims.

Kingston, June 5.—Yesterday afternoon the body of a man was found off the drydock and is likely one of the missing men of the steamer Scout, who were blown into the lake by the terrible explosion of the gas buoys on April 18. The two men missing were Capt. Guillard of Morrisburg and Coul-lard of Montreal.

A Double Drowning.

Ottawa, June 5.—Joseph Caron and Judd Dauson, aged 20 and 23 respectively, who resided at Woodruffe, a suburb of Ottawa, are believed to have been drowned in the Ottawa River near their homes on Thursday night. They went out in a boat but failed to return.

Smothered in Wheat.

Fort William, June 5.—H. Cliff was smothered beneath 6,000 bushels of wheat while assisting in loading the steamer Wahoonah Friday.

Death List of 800.

London, June 5.—According to a despatch to a local news agency from Durban, Natal, the death toll resulting from the hurricane which recently swept over Natal and the subsequent bursting of the reservoir at Pinetown was nearly 800 Hindoo laborers and 50 Europeans.

EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN.

Disaster Not as Bad as Indications Apparently Showed.

Tokio, June 5.—The Governor of Hiroshima Province telegraphed that the earthquake which took place on June 2 killed six people, wounded 70 and destroyed 33 houses in Hiroshima and Ujina. The reports from other affected districts are incomplete, but it is believed that the loss of life and the destruction of property has been comparatively small. The first shocks of the earthquake destroyed the telegraph system, which, besides making it impossible to communicate with the earthquake district, cut off Tokio from Western Japan and the rest of the world, which created an impression some great disaster had taken place.

Shea Arrested For Libel.

Chicago, June 5.—Cornelius P. Shea, president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of criminal libel preferred by Robert J. Thorne, assistant general manager of Montgomery, Ward & Co. He is said to have stated that he had been offered $10,000 by Mr. Thorne to call a strike against Sears, Roebuck & Co., which is a large house in the same line of business as Montgomery, Ward & Co.

Winnipeg Laborer Suicides.

Winnipeg, June 5.—Joseph Robert Wallace, aged 46, bricklayer, suicided Saturday night at his home on Springfield road by placing the muzzle of a loaded shotgun in his mouth and pulling the trigger with his toes. Wallace had plenty of money in the bank, and had been speaking cheerfully to his wife and niece just before the tragedy.

HECKLED FRANK OLIVER

Liberals Delight in Embarrassment of Cabinet Minister.

When He Couldn't Answer Questions Asked He Got Mad—Unique Answers to Pertinent Questions—E. W. Nesbitt, Who is Working for the Liberal Candidate in North Oxford, States the Issue Plainly.

Woodstock, June 5.—Anticipating a joint debate on the autonomy question a thousand people at least comfortably filled the Opera House Saturday night. They were disappointed. The challenge was hurled at R. B. Bennett, the Calgary orator. He was advertised to speak in London and no one wished him away from London more than Mr. Hyman. So the two Liberal headquarters were connected by phone and a challenge went forth to Mr. Bennett to stay in Woodstock and face Hon. Frank Oliver on the same platform. But the London Conservatives would not let him off and he was not here.

Mr. Oliver Loses His Temper.

The meeting was largely no-co-dection. Mr. Oliver was heckled till he lost his temper and told the Woodstock people he would not insult the Doukhobors by comparing their intelligence with the Woodstock product. Liberals in all parts of the house stood up and fired embarrassing questions at him. When he couldn't answer them he got mad. Some of his answers were unique. A gentleman defended himself from the charge of being a disappointed Tory by saying he never cast a Conservative vote in his life. Then at the last session in the front row read three questions from a paper. The audience demanded an answer. The platform resorted to strategy and promised to answer them in their place "in order not to destroy the continuity of the meeting." They weren't answered at all. There was plenty of argument and reading of clauses, and ordinances which few understood, but the simple questions, requiring simple answers, were posed for the statesman from Ottawa.

Liberals Delight in Minister's Undoing.

Never has Woodstock had such a meeting. Hard-headed Liberals sat and watched with delight the embarrassment of a Liberal Cabinet Minister. The interruptions were largely from old-time Provincial rights Liberals.

E. W. Nesbitt, who is working for the Liberal candidate, stated the issue in terms that admit of no doubt. "Don't forget that you are endorsing the action of the Government on the school question," he said. "This was honest to be sure. The whole cry of the Smith workers is that it is not necessary to be in full accord with the Government on the school question to support Smith. But Nesbitt says: 'It is not a vote for Smith, nor for the party, but for Laurier and the autonomy bill.' Mr. Nesbitt is admired for his honesty. From the first everybody has known his position; not so Mr. Smith.

The candidate was not present, having been in the country. Next to the honor of the visit from a Cabinet Minister, the public took the most notice of E. M. Macdonald of Pictou.

Meeting at Innerekip.

Woodstock, June 5.—W. F. Maclean, M. J. Macdonald, Schell, M. P., and J. G. Wallace, the Conservative candidate, addressed a meeting which completely filled the Innerekip public hall Saturday night. Mr. Schell represented the candidate of the Government, Geo. Smith.

MR. BORDEN AT LONDON.

Delivers Powerful Address, Showing Plainly That the Issue is Separate Schools—Mr. Sifton's Position.

London, June 5.—The greatest political meeting in the history of London was that held in the Princess Rink Saturday night. The building was filled to the top by nearly 7,000 people and the enthusiasm manifested was tremendous. R. L. Borden and R. B. Bennett, with the candidate, were the chief speakers. Dr. Sproule spoke briefly. Edmund Meredith, K. C., occupied the chair.

Mr. Borden dealt with the question from the standpoint of the west. He challenged contradiction of the statement that the west had never been consulted. The representatives of the west in the House of Commons on the Liberal side had not even been asked their opinion, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier had flagrantly broken his promise made in a letter to Premier Haultain and the Northwest Legislature, when he said that autonomy would be granted and that he would enter into negotiations with the Territorial Legislature to that end.

Mr. Borden made a powerful address. He showed plainly that the issue was separate schools. He declared that there was this restriction placed upon all the legislation of the new Province, that forever, and forever separate schools must remain. When Mr. Fielding talked of resigning, Sir Wilfrid became nervous and he said that if anyone else talked of resigning he would himself resign. And this had kept the boys quiet, because they said the King's Government must be carried on and we must swallow our convictions and our record of 1896. (Cheers.) The Government said section 86 of the British N. A. Act should apply, with certain amendments. Thus they were not standing upon the rock of the constitution, but they were undermining it. They re-enacted this temporary clause of the act of 1875, which provided that the people of the Northwest might tax themselves for the purpose of establishing schools, and that whatever the schools were established there was this provision, that the minority of the rate-payers there. Protestant or Roman Catholic, might establish separate schools.

Mr. Sifton had gone out, and he had come back again, because the man of whom he had spoken somewhat contemptuously made some amendments.

"But I contend, and intend to speak upon it in the House," said Mr. Borden, "that section 18, number two, upon which Mr. Sifton came back, is worse than section 15, number one, upon which he went out." (Loud applause.)

"Our motto, our battle cry is 'Hands off Provincial rights. Respect the rights of the people of Western Canada. Impose no unwarranted laws upon the people of the Provinces. Respect the constitution. Leave matters of a local character to be dealt with by the local Government.'"

HABEAS CORPUS.

Writ Applied for at Osgoode Hall for Messrs. Cain and Gihula—Judgment Is Reserved.

St. Thomas, June 5.—Messrs. Cain and Gihula were working as usual Saturday and nothing more than their formal arrest and the appeal to the court at Toronto on affidavit presented by their counsel, Robinson and Green, transpired.

Col. Sherwood manifested surprise that any opposition should be made and insisted on immediately escorting the parties to the border. The affidavits being sworn, however, Mr. Robinson handed him a notice of motion, returnable in Toronto Saturday, calling upon the colonel to show cause why the gentlemen should not be released. This is a block of further proceedings for the time being. As soon as he had handed the papers to the chief, Mr. Robinson caught the train for Toronto and Col. Sherwood telegraphed the department of Justice to the effect that the arrests were made, but the habeas corpus proceedings had begun.

Judgment Reserved.

Toronto, June 5.—The arguments for a writ of habeas corpus for Messrs. Cain and Gihula was argued Saturday afternoon before Justice Anglin by Barristers J. B. McKenzie and John A. Robinson. The judge reserved his decision until the original writ, affidavit and warrant that had been the cause of the arrest of the men were returned to the Attorney-General. After hearing argument the judge announced that he would be prepared to give his decision on Monday in all probability.

AN OLD BUILDING

Workmen commenced to-day to tear down the old Rutley House to make room for Mr. Glasford's new brick hotel. This building is about 40 years old and was built by Albert Jahnke, Sr., one of Chatham's oldest residents. Mr. Jahnke was around this morning watching the workmen tearing down the building.

LIBERAL TRIBUTE TO PREMIER WHITNEY.

The first session of the Ontario Legislature under the Premiership of Hon. J. P. Whitney has reached its close, and it will be impossible for any Liberal newspaper to deny that the new Premier has improved his reputation and credit with the country by the work that has been done. In Opposition he was given to the use of scolding words on all occasions, so that when he really had an opportunity to employ denunciation he was unable to be the least bit more emphatic than at other times. He was, therefore, not impressive as an Opposition leader, but always and rather monotonously hostile to everything, good, bad, indifferent. Even in his own party it was not uncommonly said that he reached the leadership through the accident of chance, and gave no promise of proving a success. There was even in his own party—much speculation as to where a suitable leader could be found to take the position which he was keeping warm until the right man arrived.

Now it is conceded that Premier Whitney will continue to lead the Conservatives in Ontario. In his own way he has made himself a considerable figure in politics. He is no more of an orator than before—he still scolds and denounces with a tumult of words. He has none of those qualities that gave Mowat, Macdonald and Laurier their popularity. He has approached the business of making himself popular in an altogether new way. He has handed out jolts and bumps to people who, in the popular view, needed a few jolts and bumps. His most notable performance was to walk into the room where the Railway Committee was sitting, and forbid it to do what the members proposed to do with the York Radial Railway bill. This was something new, either for a premier or the leader of a party. It was a domineering thing to do, with no precedent in Canadian politics—nor in British politics, since Oliver Cromwell was a party leader, and used to end Parliamentary deliberations to his own liking. But Mr. Whitney's domineering action and blunt words caught the popular fancy. He appears to have set out with the purpose of living up to the ideal of his campaign poet, who in the general elections sang of him as one who is "Bold enough to be honest, And honest enough to be bold."

Premier Whitney is "master of the administration," and he proposes to be frank, forcible and responsible for what is done by the Legislature and its committees. The experiment is comparatively new in politics, and while so far successful, time will be required to show whether his large following in the House and his colleagues in the Cabinet will altogether approve of it when the novelty of it has worn away. While he keeps on the right side of every question he has nothing to fear, but disputes sometimes arise as to which is the right side of the question. Mr. Whitney has exhibited good judgment and good courage since becoming Premier, and as good government is what all the people want — although they have different ideas concerning it—he has much improved his standing with the public. Some of the people did not expect much, and they have seen a great deal that they can find little fault with. But one-man rule has its weakness. Every influence will now be directed upon the premier, rather than upon the representatives of the constituencies. He will be beset on every hand. Can he go on saying "yes" or "no" to all proposals laid before him, counting securely upon the solid support of his following? He can for the present, but will it always answer with followers who themselves have a genius for politics, and other responsibilities than that which they owe to the party leader? But the people will be disposed to hope that the Premier can keep on as well as he has begun. Toronto Star, Liberal.

Managers Edd and McIntosh of the Grand Opera House, have secured an especially good attraction for next Tuesday evening, when Margaret Ralph, supported by a strong company, will appear as Katharine in Shakespeare's well known drama, "The Taming of the Shrew." The opportunities of Dresden theatre-goers to enjoy any Shakespearean productions are rare indeed, and when a company so well recommended as this one, visits our town, none who are interested should miss the chance. No doubt this production will be greeted with the bumper house it is deserving of.

CUBAN DIARRHOEA.

U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know what this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon, as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacobs, of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several doctors, but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him, as our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by All Drug-gists.

They Get the "Glassy Eyes."
A certain confectioner in New York, who caters chiefly to the little folk at the neighborhood, lately arranged his shop window with great care in preparation for a local festivity. The growing attraction of the whole was a large chocolate tiger with most realistic green eyes made of glass marbles which had cost the designer 5 cents apiece. In the tiger's mouth was a card bearing the inscription, "Nothing in this window over 5 cents a quarter pound."

A crowd of youngsters quickly assembled on the sidewalk, and present-ly, after much spelling over the placard, two of them invaded the shop and deposited a nickel upon the counter.

"Say, mister," began the smaller boy earnestly, "give me a quarter of a pound of tiger—the piece with the eyes on it."

F. M. BEDFORD,

Western Manager, Chatham

AN AMATEUR DETECTIVE.

His First and Last Experience in Tracing a Crime.

"I never attempted the Sherlock Holmes business but once," said Rytbe, and although I ran down the person I was after the results were not at all pleasant. One morning I missed a scarfpin, a single pearl, worth about $50. I valued it more for its associations than almost anything else I had. I decided to say nothing about it to my wife, because things of that sort always upset her. She suspects the servants and does not hesitate to let them see it. Advertising a reward brought no results. One morning nearly two years after the pin was lost I saw it in the window of a pawnshop not three blocks from my home. I knew the police captain of the precinct and induced him to send one of his ward men with me to the pawnshop. Matters were soon explained. I was able to prove my ownership of the pin. The pawnbroker consulted his books.

"That pin," he said, "was brought here by a woman who regularly pawns things here on commission. It is a business, the same as shopping on commission. Many persons, especially women, who find it necessary to raise a little money in a hurry, are afraid to go in person to the pawnshop.
"He gave me the name and address of the woman who pawned my pin, and I looked her up. 'I don't want to make any trouble for you,' I said, 'but that pin was stolen. Just take me to the person who gave it to you to pawn, and you'll not be the loser.'
"She complied willingly. She said she was sent for by a woman who had read her advertisement and was given the pin to pawn in the usual course of business. She got $20 for it, and after deducting her commission had paid the money over to her customer and given her the ticket. She went to the pawnshop nearest the house to save time. Not until we were at my own doorstep did I realize where the woman was taking me.

"Do you mean to say that you got the pin in this house?" I inquired.
"Certainly," she replied. "It was given to me by a tall woman with red hair. If she still lives here I should know her in a minute."
"That will do," I said. "Here is $5 for your trouble. I shall be obliged by your not mentioning this incident to anybody."

"The woman she had described was my wife. We had a bad quarrel of an hour. She had pawned the pin to get money for a rascallion of a brother, who had since fled to Canada. He stole the ticket from her and had evidently intended to sell it before he skipped. And the poor woman had been living in mental torture for months because she was afraid to tell me. That experience cured me of a hankering for the detective business."

A Few Palindromes.
"It is a fascinating occupation," said a philologist, "to search the language for palindromes. A palindrome is a word that reads the same backward as forward. Rotator, for instance, is a palindrome. Several hundreds of these strange words are tabulated, and new ones are continually turning up in the English tongue. If you can find one send it to the Palindromes society of New York."
"I can rattle off extempore a dozen or two palindromes. Thus:
"Bob, refer, bib, Anna, tot, bob, peep, clyc, tot, dad, madam, dead, pep, defed, sees, dewed, tat, did, shabs, eve, reviver, ewe, rotator, ros, pop, gig, gag, redder, level, noon, Otto, sexes."

Gambetta and Napoleon's Portrait.
When Gambetta, accompanied by Jules Favre, arrived in the hall of the Hotel de Ville, where he was officially to read the proclamation of the third French republic, the crowd which followed the two deputies caught sight of a fine portrait of Napoleon III. hanging on a wall. They promptly took it down and were about to smash it to pieces when Gambetta intervened. Turning the portrait to the wall, he said: "My friends, we have put up with the original for twenty years. Let us be content today to turn his face to the wall. It is all he deserves."

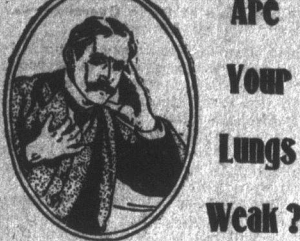

Why, Then?
"Did you finish your shopping today, my dear?" asks the model husband.
"Yes, I think so," answers the trusting wife.
"You think so?"
"Yes, I don't know, though. You see, I went to get my hat and there were so many and all of them so pretty that I got five of them."
"Five? Why did you do that?"
"I really—I must have lost my head."
"In that case, why get a hat at all?"

Rules For Writers.
Frederick W. Seward said that when he first started in at newspaper work Thurlow Weed said to him: "I will give you two rules to begin with. First, never write anything without some definite point and purpose; second, when you have written it, take your pen and go over it to see how many words and sentences you can strike out and how much you will thereby improve the article."

After the Honey-moon.
He—We must try to keep up appearances. I suppose you don't want our friends to know that our marriage has been a failure? She—Oh, no. I wouldn't care to have them see that their anticipations have been realized.

Much as worthy friends add to the happiness and value of life, we must in the main depend on ourselves, and every one is his own best friend or worst enemy.

"When I commenced taking your medicine, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chanceryville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pain in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicine. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

THE ARTS OF PEACE.

Home Industries to Be Begun For the Poor Women.

The Manchester Guardian of April 25 contained an interesting account of an attempt which is being made in Orange River Colony to teach certain home industries to members of Boer households impoverished by the war. The scheme is directed by Miss Hobhouse and supported by a committee in England. The first experiment has been made in the small town of Philippolis, where there are now fourteen girls learning the whole process of weaving wool into garments, carpets, etc., in the first place for home use, but afterwards, it is hoped, for sale.

As the writer points out, home industries have a better chance of success in a country like Orange River Colony, that is almost destitute of manufactures, than in an industrial country like our own. The girls, it is said, will be able to earn their own living, and to establish all the industries of Philippolis by the processes by which wool is converted from the raw material into the finished articles. It is proposed also to teach lace-making, for which there is said to be a good market, and to establish all the industries of Philippolis by the operation with co-operative credit for the purpose of buying machinery, tools, etc.

The girls have taken to the scheme with much enthusiasm. Some of them come to Philippolis from outlying farms a good distance away, and the work, whatever commercial success it may have, is a welcome relief to them from the enforced idleness which is often one of the most trying penalties of a life of poverty. The scheme at present is supported by only one hundred subscribers. It is hoped this number will be enlarged, and any who may wish to increase it should write to the treasurer, Miss Fretwell, 239 King's Road, Chelsea, London, S. W.
Countess Evelyn Astell, I send you this article (which appeared in The Speaker, April 25, 1905), and who for a long time has been collecting funds for the impoverished Boers, will also be most happy to give any details concerning Miss Hobhouse's admirable undertaking at Philippolis to those who may apply to her, or to receive any contributions.

ORIGIN OF PIKE'S PEAK.

Indian Legend of the Formation of This Famous Mountain.

The quaint Indian legend of the formation of Pike's peak is as follows: "At the beginning of all things the lesser spirits possessed the earth and dwelt near the banks of the great river. They had created a race of men to be their servants, but these men were far superior to the present inhabitants of the earth and made endless trouble for their creators. Therefore the lesser spirits resolved to destroy mankind and the earth itself, so they caused the great river to rise until it burst its banks and overwhelmed everything. They themselves took each a large portion of the best of the earth that they might create a new world and a quantity of maize, which had been their particular food, and returned to heaven. Arriving at the gate of heaven, which is at the end of the plains, where the sky and mountains meet, they were told that they could not bring such burdens of earth into heaven. Accordingly they dropped them all then and there. These falling masses made a great heap on the top of the world which extended far above the waters, and this is the origin of Pike's peak, which is thus shown to be directly under the gate of heaven. (It was formerly twice as high as now, but lost its summit, as is told in another legend.)
"The rock masses upon it and all about show that they have been dropped from the sky. The variety and extent of the mineral wealth in the region prove that the earth's choicest materials are deposited there. And still as the constellations move across the heavens and vanish above the mountain summits, we may see the spirits rise from the great river and pass to the gate of heaven. The falling stars are their falling burdens or the dropping grains of maize."

CULTIVATE FACT.
If You Do Not Possess It, Strive to Acquire It.
I want it recognized that fact should be taught continuously, seriously, thoroughly; that it should be placed in the forefront of education and take its natural first place side by side with the catechism, writes Frank Danby in Black and White.
A friend of mine recently suffering under a great bereavement was in the receipt of innumerable letters and telegrams from friends, acquaintances and the general public. Out of the 1,140 of such communications two only hit the tight note. Among pages of sentimental and religious commonplace, two messages alone touched the heart.
"He was a man I loved. I am with you in your grief," was one.
The other ran: "You have lost your best pal. He was mine too. God help us both!"
Both of them epitomized the senders' men with great hearts. But the acquisition of fact by some of the other sympathizers would have supplied its place.
Again, paying an afternoon visit recently, my hostess, wanting a book to which our conversation had referred, rang the bell. Within two minutes the servant appeared with tea, and the following colloquy occurred:
"Who told you to bring tea?"
"Please, ma'am, I thought that was what you rang for."
"Well, please don't think. I hired you to answer the bell. It wasn't the signal for a guessing competition. When I want you to do that I'll supply the kitchen with a copy of a newspaper."
I was not surprised to hear this lady changed her servants frequently.

In Darkest London.

In his book, "Child Slaves of Great Britain," Robert H. Sherard writes: "There are thousands of our poor children in London starving not on account of the poverty of the parents, but by reason of the ignorance and sloth of the mothers. They know nothing of cookery; they wish to know nothing. In every London slum you will find a fried fish shop or a cooked meat shop or a grocer who sells cheese and pickles and potted things. It is much easier and 'less worriting-like' to send the children out with coppers for a pennyworth of fish and chips or a bit of cheese and pickles than to cook anything for them."

Vocation and Avocation.

"Avocation" is one of those unfortunate words that are constantly being used in a wrong sense. Strictly speaking, it refers to something that calls a man away from the ordinary occupation of his daily life. If you earn your living by drafting conveyances and interpreting legal subtleties and also are often seen in leisure hours with a camera in your hand and have a dark room at home, then the law is your vocation and photography your avocation.—London Telegraph.

The Ptarmigan.

There are few birds whose plumage is so variable as the ptarmigan's. Three times in the year its plumage changes. It has separate coats for spring, autumn and winter. At the beginning of November it puts on the last costume of the season. Its spring brown and summer gray serve well to hide it among the scanty herbage of its haunts from the keen eye of the soaring falcon.

True Economy.

"So you have bought your wife another expensive ring. Isn't that a waste of money?"
"On the contrary, it is true economy, for she won't require half so many pairs of gloves as formerly."

There cannot be a greater rudeness than to interrupt another in the current of his discourse.—Locke.

No Waste of Heat In the "Bison" Hot Water Heater

The "Bison" has two drafts—a center draft to burn quickly, and a side draft to heat quickly.
The side draft carries the heat up a side flue passing up and down, and up again through a center flue, always in contact with water surfaces, trapping the heat and burning the gases. See illustration.
The draft is continuous, syphon-like in action, but always under easy control.
Not a particle of heat is lost—the sections get it all, the water heats quickly—the effect on the radiators is almost instantaneous.—The "Bison" has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

A View of Edward Blake.

The Hon. Edward Blake—presumably with the permission of Mr. John Redmond, who had allowed an hour to elapse without making a speech—led the resumed attack on the Commissioners. Mr. Blake is something of a Parliamentary mystery. He was a great politician in Canada, leader of the Liberal party, among other things. A learned man and an eloquent, he joined the Irishmen at St. Stephen's thirteen years ago amid a perfect salvo of flattering predictions of inevitable dissection.

Unhappily, his admirers have been disappointed. Mr. Blake has not moved. Why, a House cognizant of his great gifts often wonders. The only explanation is that Mr. Blake is too mild of manner and too moderate in language to become a successful Irish politician. He carries no rhetorical shilleah. As compensation, he can, and did yesterday, say some deliberately pointed things in Latin. This style, however, did not appeal to his Irish colleagues. In appearance Mr. Blake is the picture of cleverness. A finely-chiselled face is spanned by a pair of gold spectacles, and a mass of curly hair, tinged with grey, is brushed back from a broad forehead. If his member for Longford were asked what other great man he most closely resembles, he would probably answer, and with truth, William Makepeace Thackeray.

A stale and unprofitable debate ended with a division on an amendment moved by Mr. Blake to reduce by £100 the Civil Service vote. The motion was defeated by a majority of 74.—London Daily Mail.

Hospitality Abroad.

Hospitality has long been reckoned among the virtues of this nation; but how very virtuous Americans are in this respect is probably not realized even by them till they go to other countries and experience the hospitality offered there. Of course, the Englishman, being our own flesh and blood, is given to hospitality almost up to the American standard, although "come and lunch with me" is apt to be the extent of his invitation to a male American on the other side. The American in Paris knows that foreigners receive few invitations to breakfast or dinner from the Parisian. French people do a good deal of entertaining, but it is largely confined to the circle of their relatives, among whom a degree of devotion exists that Americans can hardly understand. In Italy a cup of afternoon tea marks the wildest flight of hospitality that the visiting American is often asked to consider. An amusing story is told of an Italian aristocrat—a very great man—inviting a German nobleman to come and drink coffee after dinner!

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mrs. Zythyr Couture, of Big Point, was the victim of a very painful accident on Saturday. Mrs. Couture went to the barn to look after a sick horse. As she was passing the stall the horse kicked her in the face, cutting a gash two inches long and an inch deep. There was no person at home but the children, and the suffering woman lay where she fell for some time. It was several hours before medical assistance could be obtained, the unfortunate woman suffering in the meantime untold agony. Dr. James Rutherford reports that she is doing nicely this morning.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Opening Meeting of the June Session Commenced at 2.30—Warden's Address.

Commissioners Wilson and Stewart were the only absentees when the County Council opened the June sessions this afternoon at 2.30.

Warden Vester in his inaugural address welcomed his colleagues. There was a large amount of business to be transacted and he suggested that the members get the work advanced as rapidly as possible. Among the matters to which he directed special attention were the school question, the auditors' report and the by-law regulating the payment of overdue taxes.

County Clerk Gossnell then read the minutes of the previous session, which were adopted.

The following communications were submitted and referred to the respective committees in charge:

From the Leamington High School Board, showing that ten Kent pupils attended, the total cost to the county being $76.06.

From the Lindsay High School Board, showing that one pupil attended, the cost being $6.70.

From Hon. C. S. Hyman, acknowledging receipt of petition for wharf near the mouth of the river.

The reports of Inspectors Colles and Park were received and referred to the Education committee.

Mr. Young, representing the work for the consumptive, asked for the endorsement of a bed in the hospital for patients suffering from the disease.

HALF-HOLIDAYS

A movement is at present on foot among the merchants of the city to declare a half holiday for their clerks once a week during July and August. EGG HATCHED DURING FIRE

Firemen Ryall Saves a Settling Hen From a Burning Barn

Serious Fire Last Evening at the Ursuline Academy—Loss About $400.

North Chatham was visited by quite a serious fire early this morning, when the barn at the rear of the Ursuline Academy was totally destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown, but incendiarism is suspected.

About twenty-five minutes after two o'clock this morning the alarm came into the Hall from box 16, corner of Head and Baldwin streets, and almost at the same time an alarm was telephoned from the convent. The firemen responded promptly and succeeded in extinguishing the flames with one line of hose after a few hours' hard work.

The fire was first noticed by Chas. Rodgers, a prominent character around town who had been granted permission from the ladies of the convent to sleep in the barn. He had just gone asleep on the lower floor when he was awakened to find the fire spreading over the hay just above his head. He at once gave the alarm to the caretaker, Jas. Chartland, and also aroused the people in the convent. The flames spread fast, however, and when the firemen arrived it was too late to save the doomed building, but the fire was prevented from spreading. The loss will be about $400 on the building and contents—a small amount of hay. The horses and cattle, fortunately, were not in the barn at the time, but out in pasture. There were a few chickens housed in the building and these were saved. Fireman Frank Ryall saved one hen which was set on 18 eggs almost hatched. One of the eggs hatched while Mr. Ryall was taking it out of the fire.

Alleged Bigamist.

Hamilton, June 5.—William Gray, 22-2 Fullerton avenue, foreman of the machine shop at the International Harvester Co., was arrested last night, charged with bigamy. Wife No. 1 is staying with friends at the corner of Main and Walnut street, and wife No. 2 is a Brantford woman.

The Law Ahead of Him.

Quebec, June 5.—Albert Edward Ayton, a young Englishman, about 22 years of age, was arrested on the charge of forgery and theft committed in England.

Bald Heads Escape.

There are advantages accruing even from bald heads. It is pointed out by a writer in a medical journal that bald men never suffer from consumption, and that a tendency to baldness is an assurance that the dreaded scourge will pass over him whose thatch grows thin.

At first glance it would seem absurd to argue that a man's hair is indicative of his immunity from disease, but the writer who advances this novel theory declares that in the five years during which he seriously added a record of his patients' hair or lack of it his case cards have failed to show a single instance of "bald" being entered upon the card of a consumptive.

He had under treatment more than seven hundred cases, and he makes the further statement that in a census of more than five thousand tuberculosis cases he failed to discover a single sufferer who was bald.

He makes no effort to explain his theory upon medical grounds, but simply offers the results of his observation for the benefit of the profession, and has invited his brother physicians to write him of any case of bald headed consumptive coming under their observation.

What Crowns Are Worth.

The lightest of European crowns is the state crown of Great Britain, which was made for Queen Victoria sixty-six years ago. Although it weighs only two pounds and seven ounces, its value is $1,500,000. One enormous sapphire came from the signet of Edward the Confessor. One of the rubies has a sad history. It was at one time in the possession of one of the great Kings of Granada, whom Pedro the Cruel invited to his palace and basely murdered through greed for this gem. In the Pope's treasure house are two crowns which are valued at $2,500,000. One of them was the gift of Napoleon to Pius VII. and contains the largest emerald in the world. The other, the gift of Queen Isabella of Spain to Pius IX., weighs three pounds and is worth $1,000,000.

The real dignity of a man is not in what he has, but what he is.

OUR MEMBER'S STRONG PLEA

Herbert S. Clements Again Takes up the Matter of River Dredging with Government.

Hopes he Will Not Have to Threaten Resignation—What Became of that Election Time Survey?

Herbert S. Clements, M. P., made another earnest and energetic appeal for the prompt commencement of the important and much needed work of dredging the river mouth in the House of Commons on Friday. He took occasion also to appeal to Dr. A. Gordon, M. P., Arch. Campbell, M. P., and the members for Essex to co-operate with him in his efforts to bring about this necessary work and incidentally asked for an explanation of the result of that election time "survey," from which there had been no results.

The matter came up while the House was considering a dredging contract at Port Credit and Hansard reports the member for West Kent as follows:

Mr. Clements. While we are on this dredging item, I would like to say that I noticed that there is no appropriation in the main estimates for dredging in the mouth of the River Thames. I desire to impress upon the Government the importance of this matter, and I trust that before the supplementary estimates come down the Government will take it into their serious consideration and see that there is a proper appropriation for the work. My hon. friend from West York (Mr. Campbell), my hon. friend from East Kent (Mr. Gordon), and the hon. members for Essex know the importance of this work. I have had several letters lately on this subject in one of which it is stated that:

The schooner "Spademan" is at the mouth of the river with a load of coal for the Canadian Flour Mills Company. The water is low on the bar this year. There is not over nine feet in the inches, and the "Spademan" draws ten feet. She will have to be lighted over.

I have had a number of such letters upon this work and I think that the importance of the work was drawn to the attention of the Government by my late opponent, who, I think, threatened to resign if the work was not done. I hope I will not be under the painful necessity of making a similar threat. I might also state that last year the Government spent a good deal of money in the River Thames making a survey with the intention of dredging the river to a depth of 15 feet. I should like the Government to carry this work out. I think it is an undertaking of very great importance. The City of Chatham is an important point and we have to rely greatly on the River Thames for shipping by boat. The mouth of the river is something that both Governments have taken care of for years, but it has now got into such a state that the Government must do something to give us relief.

Mr. Fielding. I will see that the attention of the Minister is called to the hon. gentleman's observations.

Alfonso's Visit to Paris Overshadowed by Affront.

Paris, June 5.—The news of the failure of the French mission to Morocco casts a cloud upon what was expected to be the most significant feature of King Alfonso's visit. The Sultan's action, taken before the arrival of the British and Spanish missions at Fez, is interpreted as an affront to the entire Anglo-French-Spanish policy.

Foreign Minister Delcasse's next move is not yet disclosed, but it is believed that he will not accept the proposition to hold an international conference on the subject, which is considered to be a covert plan for terminating the predominant position of France in Morocco by the establishment in predominance of powers having little interest in Morocco.

President Loubet to Retire. King Alfonso is probably the last sovereign President Loubet will be called upon to entertain in Paris. In addition to M. Loubet's public statement that he would not seek re-election, the indications show that the French President has visions of quiet domesticity when his term of office is over.

Lowther at Fez. Fez, Morocco, June 5.—Gerald A. Lowther, the British Minister at Morocco, arrived here Wednesday at the head of a special British mission, and was accorded an imposing reception, troops lining the route for a mile outside the city gates. The Sultan was to receive Mr. Lowther in audience June 3.

40 Union Bakers Strike.

Something snapped on Saturday, and result 40 men, representing the union journeymen engaged with the Bredin Bread Co., Model Bakery, and Toronto Bakery, are out on strike.

Alfonso's Last Day.

Paris, June 5.—The last day of King Alfonso's sojourn in Paris comprised an ampler program, including service at the Spanish church, a visit to the Museum of the Louvre, and the witnessing of the grand steeplechase at Auteuil, where 125,000 persons were present.

Reports came in this morning from the members of the Evangelistic Union who supplied services in Raleigh and Tilbury yesterday of good attendance and a revival spirit in every meeting conducted. WATER PIPE BURST

Considerable damage was done last night by the bursting of a water pipe in the offices of Dr. Hicks. Besides flooding Dr. Hicks' offices the water leaked through to the store of R. O. Knight underneath, wetting some of his stock. Despite inadequate equipment the police again showed their efficiency. Officer Tom Groves was passing and, hearing the sound of water dropping, he secured a bicycle and aroused Mr. Knight, Dr. Hicks and Mr. O'Mara, of the Waterworks Department, who succeeded in turning the water off. The interested parties are very grateful to Officer Groves for the energetic manner in which he averted greater damage and, in common with other citizens, they think the efficiency of the police force could be greatly increased by supplying them with bicycles, especially the officers on duty at night.

John Oliver, an old C. C. I. boy, will be married on the 14th of June to a daughter of a Presbyterian minister in Toronto. Oliver, of Chatham Township, and his brother, Ed., will attend the wedding.

THE EAU SERVICE

I don't think the people of Chatham will have any luck over the Eau service this summer," said Detective Archie Skirving to The Planet this morning. "The railroad have decided to put on four trains each day during the summer months, which is a better service than has ever been. The first train will probably leave Chatham between six and seven in the morning, as usual, the second one at eleven o'clock, and the third one at 2 p. m. and the fourth at six o'clock. Formerly this last train left at five o'clock, but this season the time has been changed to six to allow everyone an opportunity to go out.

"They are also trying to arrange band concerts twice a week. The band is in good hands, and it is expected the Eau will be more popular this year than ever."

THE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL.

Advice in Lecture Given to Household Economic Association.
 "When you build this ideal home of yours," said Mr. Vaux Chadwick recently, in an address to the Canadian Household Economic Association in Toronto, "buy more land and cheaper, rather than be cramped for space and have your rooms darkened by the nearness of the next dwelling."

In planning a house, the speaker thought, the start should be made at the dining-room, which should be sunny in the morning, to have an uplifting effect on the household throughout the day. It was a mistake to have a drawing-room in such a light color scheme that it could not be in daily use and so full of bric-a-brac that the man of the house was like a bull in a china shop in it; rather the living-room where there was plenty of sun in the afternoon, usable furniture, carpets which need not fear the sun, good pictures, and a fireplace—a fireplace with a real fire, no gas logs, lump of clay, or asbestos sheet.

In a small house it was better not to give too much space to hall and stairway. In the kitchen there must be space, air, and light; there must be serving pantry, closet for pots, a larder, a convenient coal bin, not too much woodwork, windows placed where there might be a good draft, when necessary, and a good light for the worker, and everything must be arranged to make labor as light and steps as few as possible. If the size of the house would allow, it was a good thing to have a sitting-room for the maid.

The cellar must be light and airy, and the furnace and coal be in a room by themselves.

The bedrooms should have ample means of ventilation, and at least one bedroom in the house should have a fireplace. It was a good idea to have the linen closet off the sewing-room, and shelves for this closet were advised.

Mr. Chadwick advocated the casement window, with hinged transom, to act as ventilator, and entirely disapproved of double windows. "It is better," he said, "to use two transoms, one in a year and dispense with the other." The verandah should be at the side of the house, rather than the front, for the sake of privacy. It was a pity, the speaker thought, for anyone to buy a house, one of many, put up in job lots by the speculator, when for the same price he might build one that would express the owner's individuality and have some character of its own. The speculator was not in business for his health.

Then followed advice as to wall covering and furnishing, the gist of which was that elaboration should be avoided, simplicity should prevail. Colors should be carefully studied. Yellow was cheerful, gay, reds and greens should only be used in a well-lighted room; tan and golden brown were best suited for a hall, as they would harmonize with all colors. The ever-manual of the stick designs was usually of atrocious design; better a simple affair like the woodwork of the room.

Valances and drapes at the window were to be avoided; light, cheap muslin and nets were pleasing, and heavy curtains should fall in straight lines. In furniture, good design and workmanship should be sought for, whether old or new, and the hideous imitations of hideous designs might well be passed by, shining with varnish fresh from the departmental store.

An Interesting Skull.
 Prof. Montgomery of the Toronto University has recently received a cast of the skull of the animal between man and the ape, remains of which were found by Dubois a few years ago in the island of Java. The skull shows a greater brain capacity and a higher intellectual conformation than the skull of either the Chimpanzee or the Gibbon, the highest of the existing apes. A thigh-bone and two molar teeth were also found by Dubois in the same rocks and within a short distance of the spot where the skull was discovered. The thigh-bone indicates that the animal walked in an erect position. The expert anatomists who examined the remains at Leyden, where Dr. Dubois had brought them by the authority of the Dutch Government, gave the opinion that they were those of a creature very little lower than man, and a step in advance of the Simian or ape animal. Several of them also expressed an opinion that the remains were those of Pithecanthropus, as proved by the collection of other fossils taken therefrom, they being similar to those occurring in the Pliocene of the Swath Hills of India. As to the capacity of the skull, this animal, which has been named Pithecanthropus erectus, was very close to the fossil man known as Spy number one found in Belgium. Prof. Haeuser of Paris, Sir William Flower, Haeuser and the late Prof. Marsh were among the eminent scientists who viewed the remains of this creature along with the other collections made by Dubois and exhibited to the congress of zoologists and paleontologists in Leyden.

A Dangerous Town.
 Barney Oldfield, the automobilist, was talking about a trip that he had once made through Manitoba.
 "The most dangerous town in Manitoba," he said, "is Brandon. Hargrave is near Brandon, and on the outskirts of Hargrave, in front of a little inn, I dismounted.
 "I found in the inn the landlord and another man. They sat side by side on a bench. They were both very old.
 "Excuse me, landlord, I said, but can you tell me how far it is to Brandon?"
 "The old man jumped up and hobbled behind the bar.
 "Brandy," he said, in a thin quaver. "Yes, indeed, sir, and very fine brandy it is."
 "He put a bottle and glass before me.
 "I asked you," I said more loudly, "how far it is to Brandon?"
 "The best brandy, of course, sir," he answered. "I don't keep nothing but the best."
 "To despair I turned from this deaf veteran to the other old man on the bench.
 "Look here," I said, "can you tell me how far it is to Brandon?"
 "The other old man, with a grateful look, rose and limped hastily up to the bar.
 "Thanks," he said, "I don't care if I do."—New Orleans States.

Pain Across the Kidneys For Three Years.

Suffered Great Agony.
 Could Not Stoop or Bend.

No disease is so quiet and stealthy in its approach as kidney disease. That is why it is so dangerous. It may become deep-seated before you realize the danger. It is therefore of great importance to recognize the early warning symptoms, because in its early stage kidney disease is easily curable. Pain or dull ache in the back is one of the first signs. So are bladder pains, bearing-down pains, smarting sensation when urinating, frequent or suppressed urination, and gravel or sediment in the urine, etc. You cannot be well if your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. In all ordinary cases of any derangement of the kidneys, a few doses of DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS will put the patient right; in old or chronic cases, the treatment should be persisted in.

 Mr. Michael A. McNamee, Woodbine, Marion Bridge, N.S., tells of his experience: "For the last three years I suffered great agony with pain across my kidneys, and was so bad that I could not stoop or bend. I consulted and had several doctors treat me, but I got none the better. On the advice of a friend I procured a box of that valuable life-giving remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, and to my surprise and benefit I immediately became better. In my opinion Doan's Kidney Pills are equal to any cure for any form of kidney disease."
 Price 50 cents per box, or $1 for $1.25. All dealers, or direct by mail.

Smiles Keep Affection.
 No matter what the novelist says against her, the smiling wife is an improvement on her stern browed sister, and the smiling mother is the one who gathers her babies most tenderly in her arms.

"She talked kind, but she looked cross," said a little boy of a new teacher as a reason for his refusal to go to school. And big people are affected much more than they realize by the expressions of the faces that they meet in the street.

"She was so pleasant," is the inscription on a moss mottled stone in a country churchyard. "She was so pleasant" is not a bad epitaph for any one when the book of life is finished.

Outmeal For Children.
 Lecturing in London on "The Food of the People," Dr. Robert Hutchinson declared oatmeal to be "one of the most excellent articles of diet, particularly for children." He pointed out that it is rich in fat, iron and phosphates, and, properly prepared, to his mind it was food presented in a most finished and digestible form. A great deal had been written against it of late, the lecturer said, but the writers were wholly and entirely wrong. If it had been so bad, the Scotch race would have long since died out.

Cleaning Pillows.
 The New England way of cleaning pillows at home is probably as good as any. Put the pillows out on the line during a hard rain. Fasten them securely by one end, using three or four clothespins to each pillow. Turn them end for end every three or four hours. Unless very dirty, one day's hard rain will clean the ticks. Let them dry on the line, turning as before. When dry and the feathers beaten up they are as good as new.

MISS BEULAH LOGAN.
 An American Girl Who Labors For the South Sea Islanders.

Miss Beulah Logan of Micronesia has without doubt lived one of the most interesting and noble lives of any American girl in the twentieth century. Miss Logan was born in San Francisco. When two weeks old she was taken by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Logan, who went as missionaries to the Caroline Islands. The natives of these islands are Malay and are classed in the lowest scale of civilization. Miss Logan and a younger brother remained with her parents here until she was twelve years old, enduring untold hardships and sufferings.

On her return to this country Miss Logan was educated in New York City and later graduated from Oberlin college. In 1896 she returned to the islands, feeling more confident to undertake the great life work which she had planned for herself.

The Logans were among the first white people to land on the Caroline Islands. Mr. Logan reduced the native language to writing. Today his grave is a sacred spot on one of the islands, and his memory is still held dear in the hearts of the people for whom he lived and among whom he died. The mother was soon to follow.

The young girl, left alone with a task before her which might well stagger the heart of a strong man, took up a work which we in civilized America can hardly realize.

In 1904, while Miss Logan was touring the islands, a storm came up, the boat was capsized, and all were thrown out. Miss Logan, although an expert swimmer, was injured by a blow from a spar, but was rescued by some natives. For nine months she lay without medical attention. When she became stronger she was taken to Australia, where, with good medical attention, she recovered sufficiently to travel to America. Realizing that she cannot yet endure the heat of the islands, Miss Logan is making a tour of the states under the auspices of the women's board of foreign missions of Chicago, thinking with her lectures to arouse an interest in "her people" and still be working for them, although not in their midst.—Detroit Tribune.

The Nervous Baby.

Nervous mothers make nervous babies. Suppose a child is fretful and nervous either by pain or after excitement of any kind. What does the average mother do? Rock, toss, shake, rattle, show a light—anything to keep the baby awake and excited. It is voted "cruel indifference" to "let a baby cry." It is true that sometimes the jumping and joggling operations will enable a child to throw off the wind that causes pain in the stomach—the result of improper digestion or overloading the stomach, says an exchange.

Aside from this it is hard to think of any emergency which requires the familiar joggling, joggling treatment so much in vogue. After you have made sure that there is no colic (colic is best relieved by teaspoonfuls of hot water) or that there is no tight garment or an irritated place where the clothing chafes the little body or no wicked pin it usually does no harm to let the baby cry. It is often a relief to overwrought feelings in the same way in which the mother, overwrought and wearied, feels better if she has her cry out. A healthy baby kept in a restful atmosphere will rarely cry.

The Scrim Laundry Bag.

No one can know the comfort that is to be found in the laundry bag until she tries one. As soon as a kerchief or a collar is soiled into the bag it goes, and when wash day comes there is no skurrying about for the soiled clothing. The best and the cheapest bag is the one that can itself be laundered. Take two lengths of linen scrim, whatever length the bag is to be, and sew them together at the bottom and almost to the top. Wind with white tape two embroidery hoops. Over these hoops hem the upper ends of the bag. Line the scrim with a washable color or with plain white. If ribbon is used for winding the hoops match it to the color of the lining and make four tiny bows to ornament the top. When the rings are separated the bag should open wide enough to take in a good sized garment. It is an easy matter to close the bag by hanging the rings over a hook. The bags lined with color are particularly pretty for the baby's clothing.

Are You Too Plump?
 How to become slender! Let the maid-inclined to embonpoint follow this advice, and her form should become as willowy as she could wish: Rise early and take a cold bath, rubbing vigorously afterward with a coarse towel or flesh brush. Take a cupful of water before breakfast. Take one small cup of tea at breakfast, some dry toast, boiled fish or a small omelet and a baked apple or a little fruit. At dinner, which should be at midday, take white fish or meat, dry toast or stale bread, vegetables or fruit (either fresh or stewed); for supper, toast, salad, fruit and six ounces of wine or water. Hot water with lemon juice in it is also good for supper. When you have followed all these rules and find yourself fairer in proportion than you may begin to contemplate smart clothes such as only the slender can wear.

Your Shoes.
 "Lax in their gaiters, lax in their gait" is an old saying which applies well to the modern shoe and its wearer. No shoes will keep in shape long unless it is put on a tree when out of use. These "trees" are very cheap, but most women look upon them as an extravagance. Another rule of the carefully shod woman is to rest her shoes for a day or so and always wear a different pair indoors. Low shoes are better for house wear, as they permit ventilation. Select a strong calfskin for a walking boot, keep it well oiled, and your pedestrian trips will be made in perfect comfort. Keep an old pair of shoes to wear under rubbers, as the perspiration which India rubber excites ruins good leather.—Chicago News.

He Will Cure You First Then You Pay Him

The physician, who has not sufficient confidence in his own ability to cure his patient first and receive his pay afterwards, is not the man to cure the man who is in search of honest treatment.

Dr. Goldberger has 14 diplomas and certificates from the various colleges and state boards of medical examiners, which should be sufficient guarantee as to his standing and ability. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you; it will be to your advantage to get the doctor's opinion of your case free of charge. He wants to hear from patients who have been unable to get cured, as he guarantees a positive cure for all chronic, nervous, blood and skin diseases, which he accepts for treatment. He not only cures the condition itself, but likewise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder and kidney troubles, blood poison, physical and nervous debility, lack of vitality, stomach trouble, etc. All medicines for patients are prepared in his own laboratory to meet the requirements of each individual case. He will send a booklet on the subject, which contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply, Dr. S. Goldberger, 306 Woodward Ave., Suite 511, Detroit, Michigan.

value he has given the patient, but he expects to prove his worth and show positive and satisfactory results before he asks for the fee. So, should he fail to make the cure, the patient loses nothing, while the doctor, when he cures the patient, has given him what is worth much more than money—he has given him his health back. Dr. Goldberger is the first specialist in the United States or Canada, who has had sufficient confidence in his ability to cure the afflicted that not a dollar need be paid until cured.

There is no guesswork, no experiment about his method. He is a known expert in his chosen specialty, and offers you the best, and only the best treatment. When your life or your health is at stake, inferior treatment (which leaves after-effects worse than the disease itself) is dangerous.

HE'S ONLY ONE OUT OF SCORES

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Made him a New Man.

Richard Quirk Doctored for a Dozen Years and Thought his Case Incurable—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Fortune Harbor, Nfld., June 5.—(Special).—Scores of people in this neighborhood are living proofs that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney ailments from Backache to Bright's Disease. Among the most remarkable cures is that of Mr. Richard Quirk, and he gives the story of it to the public as follows:

"I suffered for over twenty years from Lumbago and Kidney Disease, and at intervals was totally unable to work. After ten or twelve years of doctors' treatment, I had made up my mind that my complaint was incurable. Reading of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills tempted me to try them. I did so with little faith, but to my great surprise I had not taken more than half a box before I felt relief, and after the use of seven or eight boxes, I was fully cured and a new man."

"Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Lumbago and Kidney Disease, and the best of it is I have stayed cured."

Bell Co. Issues More Stock.
Montreal, Que., June 3.—The Bell Telephone Co. announces to its shareholders that they will have an opportunity of subscribing for an additional $1,000,000 of stock at 125. This will bring the capitalization up to $8,000,000. The growth of the company's business, which has been rapid, calls for much outlay of capital account, and it is only about a year ago that a motion was issued.

A MILLION DOLLARS SQUANDERED.

It is estimated this sum was wasted last year by people trying to find a cure for catarrh. Foolish for sufferers to experiment when it is so well known that "Catarrhzone" is the only remedy that cures permanently. Other treatments only relieve, but Catarrhzone cures and prevents the disease from ever returning. "I had Catarrh in its worst form," writes G. F. Padden, of Bayan, Que. "I was so bad that ordinary medicine didn't even relieve; but Catarrhzone cured perfectly." No chance of disappointment with Catarrhzone—it's certain as death to cure your Catarrh—just try it.

Didn't Have to Pay Rent.
This is said to be how William Walcott Aster gave the order for the fine offices built for the Fall Mail Gazette. Mr. Aster was signing checks one morning and was informed that one of them was for office rent. He laid down his pen and remarked: "Well, I must pay taxes and other expenses, but I need not pay rent. If it pays another man to erect a building and rent it to me, then it will pay me." Now, turning to his right hand man, "make arrangements for new offices. I don't want to hear anything more about it for a year." And so the offices were built.

ARE GOOD LOOKS VALUABLE?
If nature had her way every complexion would be clear and delightful. But many allow their blood to become weak, hence, pimples, sallow skin, dark circles under the eyes. To have a beautiful complexion use Ferruzzone regularly. It brings a rich, ruddy glow to the cheeks, nourishes the blood and thereby destroys blemishes and pimples. For beauty, health and good spirits use Ferruzzone. Your appearance will improve a hundred fold. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty chocolate-coated Ferruzzone tablets. Don't put off—get Ferruzzone to-day.

Drowned Off Steamer.
Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 3.—Chas. Bartlett, watchman on the steamer W. D. Rees, fell overboard, while washing the decks, off Devil's Island, Lake Superior. His home was in Deseronto, Ont.

TO CURE FEVER, CHILLS, AGUE.
We know of no remedy so reliable as Ferruzzone. Twenty drops taken in hot water three times daily not only stops the chills but destroys the disease completely. Ferruzzone has a direct action on ague and chills and removes their exciting causes. In stomach and bowel disorders Ferruzzone has held first place for nearly fifty years. It is powerful, swift to act, thorough and perfectly safe. Being pleasant to taste it is popular with everybody. Your druggist sells Ferruzzone in large 25c. bottles; satisfaction guaranteed.

Marble Statues.
Marble statues should never be washed with soap. Instead dissolve a large lump of Spanish whiting and a teaspoonful of washing soda in enough water to moisten the whiting and form a paste. Rub this into the marble with a flannel cloth and after an hour wash it off with warm water, dry well and polish.

Lifeguard Soap—disinfectant—is strongly recommended by the medical profession as a safeguard against infectious diseases.

The less experience a man has the more advice he gives.

We are advised by Mr. W. E. Rispin that Saturday excursion tickets to Detroit via Grand Trunk and Wabash railways, are now on sale, leaving Saturday and Sunday, good to return any time Monday, $1.00 return.

WHAT IS WORN.

Leads Dancer Jackets—Popularity of English Eyelet Embroidery.
Very handsome are the Lousier coats made of broadened silk and worn with lace skirts.

White mohair and veiling skirts simply made are smart to wear with white lingerie and silk blouses.

Silk and wool challis is with us again this summer in the softest and most attractive colors, and gay plaid gingham have red for the predominant influence.

Everything in the way of embroidery is snipped in little holes in imitation of

BLACK CHIP RAY.

English eyelet work. Lace and embroidery boleros are as much in favor as ever.

Among the new ribbons is a wide crease stain with deep purple violets scattered over it. Handsome buttons are important adjuncts of the spring costume.

The supple waist is a boon to the home dressmaker because it is so easily put together.

The backs of the new hats are built high on bandeaux and covered with masses of ribbon or flowers.

On many of the stunning millinery models shaded-ribbon which blends the colors of the straw and flowers in one is a prominent feature.

Little round crowns are seen on summer hats, and fresh and "dead" roses are impartially used on these creations.

The hat pictured is of fine black chip turned over in envelope fashion at the back and filled in with a large bow of light green velvet ribbon. Around the crown is a spray of pale tea roses and at one side a chain of deep red jacquinet roses.

JUDIO CHOLLET.

THE SUMMER WARDROBE.

Lace Trimmed Slips of Colored Silk.
Dainty little lace trimmed slips of colored silk are to be had in the shops to wear under this summer gowns.

The lawn or organdie slip elaborately adorned with lace and ribbon is even smarter and more expensive.

The laziest kind of little taffeta and Burlington silk wraps are made up in picturesque style, shirred, corded and plaited into becoming shapelessness.

The half length linen coat both in white and colors will be very much in evidence made in plain tailor fashion. Some of the new colored linen coats have collars, cuffs and belt of white linen and fasten with large pearl buttons.

Pongee coats in half and three-quarter lengths will be smart for motor wear.

Litacs of every imaginable shade are used on hats, and many charming effects are produced with the green variety.

A pretty lingerie waist of the "baby" style fastens in the back and has a little round yoke of lace, with deep cuffs also of lace.

Heavy silk laces are used on the sheerest white gowns and often form more than half of the dress.

A number of the daintiest white fabrics are crossed by fine lines of black, forming a tiny check.

Soda and the Skin.
When one washes dirty dishes in strong soda water it will be seen that the water becomes more or less brown. This is especially the case when the dishes have been soiled with meat juices, as after an ordinary dinner. Now, soda in any form will act similarly on the complexion, although in a milder manner. It turns the skin sallow.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Seasickness Remedy.
A scratch which goes no deeper than the varnish on furniture may be healed by holding a red-hot poker an inch above it for half a minute. When the place cools rub it with a mixture of alcohol, olive oil and cider vinegar in equal quantities. This also makes a cheap and excellent furniture polish and will remove white spots from varnished furniture.

At the Yarmouth Y. M. O. A. Boy's Camp, held at Tuckett Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LINIMENT most beneficial for sunburn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

ALFRED STOKES, General Secretary.

There are many able preachers in the world, but few listeners who grasp the full meaning of the argument presented.

A childless home is a cheerless home. The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified she is deprived of much of her happiness in life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause which can be removed, and often is removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organism, puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every woman should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. It is sent entirely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing and customs. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper bound volume, or 50 stamps for cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The best way to please a woman is to allow her to have the whip-handle in the conversation.

Europe's Largest Building.
The Winter palace, in St. Petersburg, is the largest building in Europe. It was begun by Peter the Great, and finished by Catherine II. and is built in red sandstone. It contains the finest staircases. Beside these, staircases it has 1,500 other rooms. The imperial nurseries are very large, and when it is explained that one of the rooms is large enough to hold a "mountain" down which the children toboggan some idea will be given of its magnitude. This room is upholstered, and here the royal children are taught and are sometimes joined in their lessons by cousins or friends.

A BOY'S VACATION TIME.

Hail, that long awaited day When, the schoolbooks laid away, All the thoughts of merry youngsters Turn from pages back to play! Done with lesson and with school, Done with teacher and with rule, Stray the vagrant hearts of childhood To the tempting wood and pool!

Who will tell in rhyme and rhyme Of the glory and the grime In the dusty lanes and byways of a boy's vacation time? Hark, the whistle and the cry That is piping shrill and high From the chorus of glad youngsters Trooping riotously by!

Say, did sun ever brightly shine As when, with his rod and line, Tramps the barefoot lad a-fishing, and the water clear and fine! Sweet the murmur of the trees, And what glory now he sees In the chatter of the wild birds and the buzz of bumblebees!

Hear the green woods cry and call Through the summer to the fall, "We are waiting, waiting, waiting, With a welcome for you all!" Hear the lads take up the cry, "With an echo shrill and high, "We are coming, coming, coming, for vacation time is nigh!"

How the skies are blue and fair, How the clover scents the air, With a witchery of fragrance that is delicate and rare! How the blossoms bud and blow And the great waves flood and flow In the ocean of boy happiness, like billows, to and fro!

Ah, my heart goes back and sighs When the piping calls and cries From the hearts of merry youngsters "Like a song of triumph rise! And I would that mine and rhyme Might be splendid and sublime In my heart to tell the story of a boy's vacation time!"

—J. W. Foley.

ANTS WHICH EAT ROCK.

Queer Dinner of Six Courses Which Spell Failure in Cable Construction.

The engineers in charge of a telegraph line at Hong Kong were surprised recently by the discovery of about seven miles of their cable, though it was well protected and laid underground in a concrete trough, had been severely damaged. For the greater part of the length oval holes had been bored quite through the casing down to the copper wire itself.

It was agreed that insects must have been the authors of the mischief, though what kind of insects was not obvious. It might be possible to find one which enjoys perforating lead. But these insects seemed to have drilled the holes not in order to make a passage, but by way of making a meal. They had taken a dinner of six courses, consisting first of tarred rope, then of tape, then of hemp fiber and lastly of india rubber. The copper strand had been too much for them.

Portions of the damaged cable were sent to the Natural History Museum with a hope that some opinion might be given, and the oracle replied that there could be very little doubt that the damage was caused by white ants. Specimens of their peculiar form of appetite and industry are kept in the museum, which show not only that they will eat lead, but will also bore through hard sandstone rock—London Spectator.

Chinese Chicken Farming.
Canadians might go to school to the Chinese in the art of chicken farming. A traveler passing through the province of Chekiang a few weeks ago was struck with the enormous number of young chickens carried in the farmers' carts he met in the rural country. He made inquiries on the subject, and at length he was asked by a poultry farmer to go and inspect his rearing arrangements. The plant deals with 10,000 eggs at a time, and the average product is 5,000 chicks. The arrangements are simple and inexpensive. The eggs are examined at the end of the fourth day, and those that show no signs of fertilization are "sold cheap!"

Extravagant Living.
The Emperor Franz Josef of Austria has good cause to grumble about his kitchen expenses. Although the actual cost of the food he consumes himself does not amount to $5,000 a year, he pays his chef, a Belgian, a salary of $10,000 per annum, and the kitchen expenses at the palace are never less than $75,000. The Emperor's chef always submits a menu for the following day's dinner to his royal master when dinner is served. Punctually at 6 o'clock he visits the emperor with a large tray, and while Franz Josef is eating his soup he scans to-morrow's menu and crosses off with a blue pencil anything he does not care for.

London's Paupers.
London lays out for poor relief $22,000,000 a year, and 28 out of every 1,000 of the population receive relief as paupers. In one district, West Ham, 40,000 persons were recently reported as on the edge of starvation. There is not work enough there for all the workers, but a large proportion of the destitute are incapable of performing labor. They are human wrecks and must be supported by charity or parish.

Throughout England at large there is considerable poverty, but it is most pressing and visible in the capital, and students of social phenomena and symptoms say it is mainly due to drink.

Europe's Largest Building.
The Winter palace, in St. Petersburg, is the largest building in Europe. It was begun by Peter the Great, and finished by Catherine II. and is built in red sandstone. It contains the finest staircases. Beside these, staircases it has 1,500 other rooms. The imperial nurseries are very large, and when it is explained that one of the rooms is large enough to hold a "mountain" down which the children toboggan some idea will be given of its magnitude. GOOD PARADE

The 24th Regiment Attended Divine Service in the First Presbyterian Church Last Evening

The 24th Regiment attended divine service at the First Presbyterian church last evening in good strength considering the short notice of the evening parade. Both the Brass and Bugle Bands, under the respective leaderships of Bandmaster Watson H. Walker and Bugle-Major Plumridge, were out in goodly numbers and rendered excellent selections.

The sermon preached by the pastor, Rev. A. H. MacGillivray, was an inspiring and eloquent address based on the second verse of the thirty-second chapter of Isaiah:—"And a man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

The music of the choir, under the leadership of E. B. Arthur, was splendid, and included a male quartette and a duet. The latter, sung by Miss McKellar and Mr. Flowers, was especially good.

On June 5, the 24th Regiment was dismissed after a few remarks by Col. J. B. Rankin and the announcement of the drills for this week.

THE BODY OSTEOPATHICALLY CONSIDERED.

THE BONES AND LIGAMENTS

The bony system, a model of architectural perfection, combining throughout the greatest possible strength with the least weight, consists of, first, the skull or brain case, complete except for the foramina openings through which pass the nerves and vessels and the spinal cord; second, the spine, flexible and elastic, yet rigid enough to support the head and body, and, third, the ribs, which are connected to the spine by the important extension of the brain called the spinal cord. The spine is made up of a larger number of irregular bones, between which are the openings transmitting nearly all the nerves of the body as well as the blood, which passes inward to nourish the cord. These bones, like all other joints of the body, are held together by strong ligaments called ligaments (ligo-bind), but which are loose enough to allow the varied movements of the body. These bones may become sufficiently twisted or turned upon each other to cause pressure upon the nerves or vessels which pass between them, or, as a whole, the spine may become bent in any direction, causing the different varieties of spinal curvature, which must be cured, if cured at all, by some such mechanical method as osteopathy; third, the thorax (the spine), together with the ribs and the breast bone, form the chest, a bony case, though not as complete as the skull, for the protection of the vital organs, the heart and lungs. The ribs are attached just at the openings in the spine, and a slight turn in their direction may compress the nerves and vessels passing through these openings, which predisposes to consumption, which osteopathy can always correct, if taken before actual disease has begun. Other parts of the body system are the bones which comprise the pelvis and the bones of the extremities, which are not recognized surgically, but which by irritation and pressure set up a great variety of disease. So called sprains of the ankle, wrist, etc., are more frequently slight dislocations of the small bones, which osteopathy may relieve in from one to three treatments, instead of their requiring weeks and months of rest usually prescribed.

3 CRUISERS AT MANILA

Admiral Enquist Arrives At the Philippine Port.

U. S. Admiral Train Escorted the Russian Commander, With His Flag-staff the Aurora, and the Protected Cruisers Oleg and Jemchug, Into the Harbor—The Oleg in a Storm of Shells—Likely to Be Interned.

Manila, June 5.—Rear Admiral Enquist, who was commander of the heavy cruiser squadron of the Russian fleet, arrived in the bay at 9 o'clock Saturday evening on board his flagship, the protected cruiser Aurora, accompanied by the protected cruisers Oleg and Jemchug. All the vessels were more or less damaged and there were many wounded on board.

Rear Admiral Train, on board his flagship, the battleship Ohio, with the battleships Wisconsin and Oregon and the cruisers Raleigh and Cincinnati, was outside Corregidor Island manœuvring when the Aurora saluted with thirteen guns, and the Ohio answered.

Admiral Train and his squadron accompanied the Russian vessels to Manila. The Oleg in a Storm of Shells. In an interview, Rear Admiral Enquist's executive officer said:—"When the battle began the admiral was aboard the Oleg, which was hit a number of times by large shot. There was an incessant rain of shot from quick-firing guns and the ship was soon badly damaged."

"The admiral transferred his flag to the Aurora, which then drew the combined fire of many torpedo boat destroyers at close range and the attack of submarines. We were overwhelmed by the latter. A mist arising, we made a dash for the open sea and were followed by the Oleg and Jemchug."

Rear Admiral Enquist is unhurt. Capt. Egoroff, of the Aurora, was killed by a shell which struck the conning tower, and he was buried at sea the day before reaching Manila.

On the Aurora three officers were wounded, twenty of the crew were killed and eighty-three were wounded. The losses on the Oleg were thirteen of the crew killed and eighteen wounded. On the Jemchug the casualties were twenty-one officers killed and one wounded, twelve of the crew killed and thirty wounded.

Work of the Submarines. From their appearance, the Russian vessels are not damaged below the water-line. Their funnels, however, are riddled by large and small shot. Several large shells pierced the cruisers' amidships and a number of guns were disabled. All the Russian officers interviewed assert that a large number of submarine boats were used and that the Russian fleet was badly cabled his arrival to the Emperor of Russia.

The battleship Ohio and the cruiser Cincinnati are guarding the Russian ships. No official action against their disposition has been taken yet.

Vessels Seriously Damaged. Washington, June 5.—In a cablegram to the United States Navy Department from Admiral Enquist, he says:—"The Aurora and the Oleg are both seriously damaged and are not seaworthy. The Jemchug is in a bad condition. He makes the request to fill up with provisions and to repair damages. A board has been ordered to examine and report their condition. One hundred and thirty men are wounded. Permission has been granted that they be landed."

It is said the State Department that the Russian vessels will be treated precisely as was those which arrived in the Chinese ports during the earlier stages of the war, namely, they will be allowed to remain 24 hours if undamaged and seaworthy. Otherwise they may make absolutely necessary repairs, or, lastly, they may be interned until the end of the war. It is expected that the latter course will be followed.

The enforcement of neutrality will be left in the hands of Admiral Train.

Togo Visits Rojstevsky. Tokyo, June 5.—Admiral Togo visited Vice-Admiral Rojstevsky at the naval hospital at Esanbo Saturday, and expressed his sympathy for the admiral's wounds. He praised the desperately courageous fight of the Russians and expressed his hope that Vice-Admiral Rojstevsky would soon be able to return to Russia. Rojstevsky was deeply moved by the admiral's words and thanked him. He congratulated Japan on the courage and patriotism of her sailors and said it lessened his regret and the sorrow of defeat to know the high character of the victors.

Rear Admiral Nebogatoff is not likely to sign his parole.

WITH THE ARMY. Some Small Fighting—Where Commander Linovitch is.

Tokyo, June 5.—It is announced at the imperial headquarters that the following message has been received from the headquarters of the Manchurian armies:—"At 7 o'clock on the morning of June 2 the enemy's cavalry, numbering about 30, came to Sianhsatan, nine miles east of Changtu. On the same day at noon cavalrymen of like number appeared at Nanchengtau, six miles northeast of Whyuanpaomen, but were repulsed."

"On the same day also our scouts attacked the enemy's cavalry five miles north of Changtu railway station, killing one man and two horses and capturing one saddle horse."

"Otherwise there has been no change."

Gen. Linovitch is believed to be at Kunchulan, eight miles west of Fakoman, with his main force, his advance guard occupying the Fengawa and Itsungchu line.

Godsyadani, Manchuria, June 4.—A movement of Japanese along the Valley of the Kiao River and its tributaries to the northwest is noticeable.

PANIC AND RIOT

Clamor for Funeral March Leads to Many Injuries.

St. Petersburg, June 5.—At a great demonstration last evening in the Pavlovsk Gardens, near Tsarskoye Selo, the five thousand persons present clamored for a funeral march in memory of the Russian sailors who had lost their lives in the naval disaster in the Sea of Japan. The members of the archestra became alarmed and fled from the platform, when Mr. Novikoff, former Mayor of Baku, rose and said: "Let us all by rising show respect for the victims. Down with the war. We have had enough of blood."

Some eighty policemen entered from either side of the hall and elbowed their way through the crowd toward Mr. Novikoff, whereupon cries were raised of "Let us attack the police." Chairs were seized and hurled at the police, the crowd being led by a colored with a drawn sword. The policemen fled. Order being restored a number of speeches were delivered on the national crisis. Suddenly the police, reinforced to between 200 and 300, again invaded the hall and rushed on the audience with drawn swords.

The people defended themselves with chairs and sticks, but after ten minutes were driven from the hall into gardens where there was a battalion of tirailleurs, who raised their rifles to their shoulders preliminary to the order to fire being given, causing a panic. The public fled toward the exits and finding them closed smashed the doors and windows of the hall and as gained the street. Many persons were injured, some so seriously that they had to be taken to an hospital.

M. Novikoff was arrested and the gardens were occupied by police and Cossacks.

High Powers For Treppoff. St. Petersburg, June 5.—The Russian Government has shown that it has not weakened in the hour of disaster. Instead of yielding to the stormy demands which the radicals hoped Rojstevsky's defeat would force the Government to grant, the Emperor Sunday issued a ukase conferring greatly increased powers on Governor-General Treppoff, making him assistant Minister of the Interior, in place of Major-General Rykoffsky, who is made a Senator, also chief of the department of police and commander of the corps of gendarmes.

General Treppoff is given the right by the ukase to close all assemblies and banquets, to suspend indefinitely all societies, leagues and other bodies, manifesting pernicious activity, and to take all other steps necessary to preserve order so as to prevent interference with the established regime, and to suppress the revolutionary propaganda.

This ukase, which entrusts almost dictatorial powers to the head of the imperial police to control the agitation, now almost persistently demanding a constitution, representative Government and surrender of vital principles of the autocracy, to put down the disorders with which the revolutionaries are threatening the country, makes him responsible to the Emperor.

BUSY YEAR

In a conversation this morning His Worship the Mayor called attention to the fact that Chatham faced the busiest and most prosperous season in its history. The Wallaceburg & Lake Erie Railway, the market building and the new armories are well under way; the Defiance Iron Works will soon be in its new quarters; the Bending Works are assured, and the Wm. Gray & Sons Co. contemplate the erection of an addition to their already immense establishment. The work of having out place attractive also grows apace. Head street, Murray street, Raleigh street, William street, and the market square already being assured. In addition to the foregoing, which may be classified as being more or less of a public nature, there are a great number of private enterprises afloat, notable among which are the new buildings for both the Bank of Montreal and the Bank of Commerce, the Glasgow Hotel and the Richards-Johnke's Block.
