PICKPOCKET WAS OBLIGING

Clever Touch Pulled Off at Grand Trunk Depot But the Wallet had no Cash and was Returned.

The railway authorities report that a number of expert pickpockets are at present operating on the railways in Ontario. A Brantfordite yesterday afternoon, whilst boarding the parlor car on the 440 train from Toronto had his pocketbook and wallet extracted from his two hip trouser pockets in a most expert manner from underneath his heavy overcoat. Fortunately the books only contained railway tickets and private papers. He noticed his loss immediately on boarding the train and had time to report the theft to Detective Day of the G.T.R. Half an hour afterwards his missing property was restored to him on the train.

The thieves, finding no money or papers of value, most considerably had stuffed both books behind a lantern in the vestibule of the smoking car in the front of the train, where they were found by the brakeman. Travelers would be well advised to keep a sharp lookout for light-fingered gentry whilst on the trains just now. The gang is certainly a very expert one.

LITTLE GIRL ALMOST LOST

Very Gallant Rescue Was Effected by Austin Doherty, Yesterday

A little Hebrew girl, Rebecca Hollander, had a terrible experience yesterday when she was almost another life to the toll of the Grand River. Had it not been for the prompt rescue effected by a young man, named Austin Doherty, the child surely would have been swept away by the torrential current of the river. In company with a number of other little ones the little girl was playing along the river off West Mill street near Jarvis, and it is stated that in the spirit of play a little boy jostled her into the river. She was carried several feet down stream, where she was grappled with by the brave boy with great bravery and tenacity and in the interval Doherty was attacked by the screams of the other children. He secured a pike pole and after a gallant effort effected the rescue. The little one was in an almost exhausted state and was removed to her father's home.

The fire boat was summoned and was told later not to make the trip as the little one had been secured. A doctor was summoned and the girl is reported alright today.

The Triangle Smile.

PARIS, March 25.—It has been decided that the woman who wants to be really up-to-date in her facial expression must "smile in a triangle." This phrase is used by some obscure "beauty expert," who explains it as follows: "The upper lip should be raised so as to uncover the two upper incisor teeth, while the corners of the mouth are slightly lowered so as to give the necessary disdainful look. The eyes must not be changed in the slightest degree." This fashion, which has been started by a few society leaders, is causing a great furore among the Paris mondaines, who are said to practice it at least two hours a day before their mirrors.

CAR BURNED UP ENTIRELY

Peculiar Accident on C.P.R. in which Arthur Hawkes was a Loser.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 25.—Arthur Hawkes, Toronto journalist, a passenger on the Pullman car Elora on the C.P.R. train from Toronto which was burned near Fort William arrived at Winnipeg without his hat, overcoat, or baggage, all being consumed.

Mrs. Henry Leggett, en route with her husband and family from Hamilton to Vancouver, was heating milk for her baby over a spirit lamp, when the car was in a blaze. Mrs. Leggett's hand was badly burned. T. H. Lana, Toronto, a commercial traveller, starting on a three months' trip lost all his personal effects except what he wore at the time. The total loss to 28 passengers on the car is estimated at four thousand dollars, and the loss of the Leggett family alone is one thousand, largely in jewelry. The fire occurred at Fisher siding, seven miles west of Chapleau at 2:30 p.m. yesterday.

Remains of King George

SALONIKI, March 25.—The coffin containing the body of the late King George of Greece, who was assassinated on March 18, was taken to-day on board the royal yacht Amphitrite, which subsequently left for Athens. Great pomp and solemnity marked the ceremony a most impressive one. Practically all the town was draped with black, and huge crowds packed the windows and doors at every point of vantage along the route from the palace to the quay. The coffin was borne on a gun carriage. It occupied the centre of an imposing procession, in which representatives of all nationalities participated, and in which foreign naval officers and men took a prominent place.

TERRIBLE CONDITIONS RESULT FROM BIG WESTERN TORNAO

Whole Families Lifted Into the Air and Dropped In Rivers—Scenes of Desolation in Many Western Cities—Relief Work Pushed Ahead Rapidly—Much Suffering and Distress and Many Pitiable Scenes

OMAHA, Neb. March 25.—Shivering from the cold and awestruck by the nature of their work, scores of men, women and children this morning, struggled in the snow to rescue the dead or injured bodies of relatives and friends, who lay buried beneath the wreckage of homes and buildings which were crumpled like egg shells by the tornado which Sunday, swept with death-dealing force over Nebraska and Iowa, killing more than 100 persons in Omaha alone. The latest reports this morning gave the number of injured at 320, while the death list has not increased over the night report of 202.

The snow storm which seriously is hampering the work of rescue, began shortly after midnight this morning and is continuing with gathering force. More than three inches of snow covers the debris in the section of the city which was struck by the cyclone. Privations of the storm sufferers are being greatly increased by the heavy snow storm which is following so closely in the wake of the tornado. Women tugging at heavy beams, hoping against hope to find the living bodies of dear ones beneath the tons of wreckage; men gruffly cheering their sorrowing mates, shivering children wrapped about with shawls the sunrise this morning greeted the federal soldiers as they moved in blankets, aiding in the rescue work and protecting the destroyed and unoccupied homes from conscientious looting. Later, city officials gathered within the lines drawn around the district by the soldiers and distributed clothing and other necessities among the sufferers. More than $50,000 already has been subscribed for their relief, $25,000 by the city Commissioners and equal amounts by citizens who attended yesterday's meeting of Commissioners and other individuals.

The injured at hospitals are receiving the best possible attention. Physicians of Omaha and Council Bluffs have volunteered their services and trained nurses have willingly followed the example of the physicians. Those patients who have shown improvement to-day will be moved from temporary hospitals to places which have been procured for them by the city officials, most of them are homeless, losing their abodes in the night. Among the searchers last night and to-day is Mrs. W. W. Sherwood. Her ill bed, Mrs. Sherwood, who is her week old babe in her arms when the wind descended upon her little household. The home was unroofed, the infant torn from her mother's arms and blown away and so far it has not been found. In spite of her weakness and suffering from injuries, she herself sustained in the storm, Mrs. Sherwood, aided by her friends, is hunting the hospitals and the improvised morgues about the city.

Lifted Entire House. In Ralston, a suburb of this city, Edward Mote, his wife and three children, were sitting in their home chatting on Easter Sunday when the tornado suddenly carried them and their home to Paio creek, 100 yards away and dropped them into the water. Mrs. Mote was drowned and her body recovered late yesterday under the wreckage of the home. Other Details. In the same town Postmaster D. L. Ham, with his daughter, Mrs. Kimball of Winnipeg, and his grandchildren, were standing in the doorway of their home when the wind struck them. Mrs. Kimball, who is a year-old daughter, Francis, stepped outside the door which was jammed shut. Their bodies were found last night. H. E. Said and wife, bride and bridegroom of a month, were in the Ham house, warned of the approaching death by Mr. Ham, the two sought solace in each other's arms. Thus they were found dead. Mr. Ham was slightly injured. When the tornado rushed upon Omaha fifty men were in the Sacred Heart church. Seeing its approach they hurried from the five storied building and sought refuge at the home of Bishop Richard Scannell, just across the street. No sooner had the east of the women left the convent than the building collapsed with a crash. The 150 girl students at the convent were spending their Easter Sunday at their homes or with friends. None of them were in the building at the time.

Relieving Assistance. To-day all Omaha is rallying to the assistance of the desolate victims of the Easter tornado. The hospitals of the city are filled, churches, fraternal orders and public buildings have opened their doors, the city officials are busy with relief work and hundreds of citizens are offering their homes and money to aid in caring for the stricken ones. The city commissioners yesterday passed an ordinance appropriating $25,000 for relief work. Citizens present at the meeting of the commissioners instantly subscribed to an equal amount. Governor Moorehead notified Mayor Dahlman last night that he would send a special message to the state legislature asking an appropriation of funds to care for the homeless throughout the state. Public subscriptions are being taken by various newspapers and the amount already placed for relief work run into the thousands.

His Conception of Hell. Governor Moorehead after an inspection of the storm district said: "This is my conception of hell. It (Continued on Page 4)

Marconi Scandal Opens To-Day and Stirs Up English Interest

Sir Rufus Isaacs On The Stand, Says, Liberal Leaders Were Partners in Marconi Deal Which Negotiated Huge Contract With British Government

LONDON, March 25.—Widespread disquietude has been created throughout the British Isles by the confession of Sir Rufus Isaacs, the Attorney-General, that he, Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd-George and the chief Liberal whip, the Master of Elibank, were partners in a big deal in the shares of a company associated with the wireless concern negotiating a huge contract with one of their colleagues in the British Cabinet. There was a great rush to-day to secure seats at the opening of the Parliamentary inquiry into the matter as the public desired to hear the explanations Sir Rufus Isaacs and David Lloyd-George would give of a transaction which even such a staunch Radical organ as the Weekly Nation characterized as "inexpedient and delicate and a grievous error of judgment." When veiled suggestions as to ministerial deals in wireless shares were mooted, Sir Rufus Isaacs and David Lloyd-George vehemently protested their innocence in the House of Commons. Both ministers and opposition accepted their denial in perfect faith as covering the whole affair, and the revelation now that it referred only to the parent company, and that they failed to disclose their deal with an associated company has shaken the nation's faith in the standard of ministerial propriety.

On the stand to-day before the Parliamentary committee, Sir Rufus Isaacs told the chairman that up to the time of the agreement for a wireless empire chain, which was signed on March 7, 1912, he had never had any interest in any Marconi Company. The first known about the American company was on April 9 last, in the return of his brother from America. His brother told him he had made himself responsible for taking a large number of shares in the American company and offered to let him have some. Sir Rufus Isaacs said that eventually he took "ten thousand at about $1 each" after his brother had informed him that the American company had no interest in the British company. Sir Rufus, in reply to a direct question, told the chairman that before the purchase he had inquired whether the American company could be affected by the Marconi contract, and had received a very definite answer, which was absolutely in the negative. Sir Rufus Isaacs proceeded to give details as to how he had let David Lloyd-George and the Master of Elibank participate in the transaction. Each of them took 1,000 shares at $1 payment for the shares, and I told them I did not require the money down, but both said they would be ready to pay at the moment the time arrived." When the price went up Sir Rufus Isaacs said he sold 3,570 shares at an advance of about 16.62 cents. He still possessed 6,430 shares, so he remarked that the net result of the transaction was a loss of $6,500. He added that David Lloyd-George and the Master of Elibank owed him each a tenth of the loss in regard to their 1,000 shares, and this represented about $1,600. Sir Rufus Isaacs told the chairman that he had spread much under the "foul lies" smarted about himself and his colleagues. The chairman, Sir Albert Spicer, somewhat pointedly inquired why, when he heard the rumors, Sir Rufus Isaacs did not immediately acknowledge his dealings in the shares of the American company. Sir Rufus replied that it did not occur to him to do so. After remarking that Chancellor Lloyd-George and the Master of Elibank had not yet paid their shares, he generously took any blame that might be attached to the deal, saying that they had bought the shares only because of his recommendation, and that criticism should be directed at him and not at them.

A Hospital Record

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Taken ill with typhoid fever at 21 years of age and still in bed at 80 is the experience of Miss Sybil Schantz, who, after 50 years, will celebrate her birthday next Friday in St. Joseph's Hospital. She holds all hospital time records. Since her typhoid attack, Miss Schantz has been unable to move without assistance. She has been an ardent student of scientific subjects. She has a telephone at her bedside and has seen trolleys and automobiles from the window, but her greatest ambition is to see an aeroplane.

MARY STREET FOOTBRIDGE IS A CERTAINTY

Ald. Ward Makes an Announcement This Morning—Action Started.

The much talked of and greatly needed Mary St. foot bridge will probably be built this year, but things will be in such shape to commence work on the structure next December, when it can be built more cheaply than in the summer. Ald. Geo. Ward, who has been fighting for several years to get the legal entanglements untangled, so that the City Council would build, made the announcement this morning that the City Solicitor had served both the Western Counties and Brantford Gas Companies with notice of expropriation proceedings. In the former case the Electric Company has offered to give the city the right of way and there is only a few feet to be taken from the Gas Company. The bridge will cost about $20,000 and Ald. Ward and the other Ward Five representatives declare that it will be worth more than the money in time and footwear to the hundreds of workmen who are now forced to take a round about route to their work.

OHIO GETS A BAD STORM

Entire State Cut Off To-Day From The Outside World.

COLUMBUS, O., March 25.—Practically the entire state of Ohio was cut off from communication with the outside world early to-day, property damage estimated in the millions of dollars was done, many lives were lost, and scores of towns were under water as the result of floods caused by heavy rains of the last few days. Trains in every direction were blocked by washouts. At Delaware, Ohio, Mayor B. V. Less, and twenty citizens were reported drowned in the high waters and the population of the village, running to the hills for protection from high water.

Dayton and Findlay are reported entirely under water. At Mansfield it was reported that two feet of water was running in the streets and at Akron a report estimates the damage at more than $1,000,000 and 500 families are homeless. Akron faces one of the worst crises in its history. The city reservoir threatens to break and flood the city. Practically the entire southern section of the state is flooded and no reports can be secured from there. Telegraph and telephone wires are down and the telephone companies report that many of their exchanges are under water. In Columbus street car service was stopped, police battled with the flood and attempted to warn and rescue endangered persons.

Many sensational rescues were made. In Cleveland and Northeastern Ohio all streams are at flood stage and the property damage is large. Many of the patients whose conditions are considered more or less critical have not been told of telegraphic complete loss which the tornado made of their property. The snow which according to reports is falling with blizzard-like proportions from Colorado to Central Iowa has seriously interfered with what slender thread of telegraphic communication which yesterday after- (Continued on Page 4).

NOBLE GRAND FRESH AGAIN

But the Water is Not as High as Few Days Ago.

Water is Over Cockshutt Road, But Gas Main is There Yet.

The Grand River has got up on itself again, and this morning the stream looked troublesome. The civic authorities, however, claim that it is only high water, and there is little to fear, particularly as colder weather is promised, with a cessation of the heavy rainfall.

There was some worry this morning when the water commenced to get up over the Cockshutt road, as another break in the gas main was feared. Manager Powell of the Gas Company said that there was no ice, and that was the principal source of danger. Moreover, the water was not as high to-day as during the recent freshets.

City Engineer Jones stated at 10 o'clock that it had fallen six inches since 7 o'clock this morning. The water was 8 feet 6 inches above the dam, whereas it attained a level of something over 9 feet this spring and 11 feet a year ago.

In West Brantford the river was within three feet of the Grand Trunk tracks, and it needed to rise 12 feet before getting to the top of the dyke. In the Homedale Manager Valey of the Slingsby Company reported that his men out watching things, but no damage was anticipated. At the waterworks the water had not attained the proximity to the plant that it did earlier in the spring.

However, with a continuance of the heavy rainfall the level of the river may assume a dangerous height, but this is not anticipated.

At Galt To-day.

GALT, Ont., March 25.—With a drop of only about one foot during the night the Grand River is still in flood, transgressing over its natural bounds and doing damage in many cellars and basements. This is the third time the water has risen to a dangerous height this year and with the exception of the water twice formerly, is the highest it has ever been. The river is now raging through the town at about twenty miles an hour with the waves mounting five and six feet high. Not anticipating the danger, several merchants and basements and their loss will reach several thousand dollars. The necessity of approaching the federal government for adequate aid in regulating the flow of the Grand is common talk and it is likely that a deputation will go to Ottawa in the near future. Situation at Galt.

GALT, March 25.—For the third time this season the Grand River has overflowed its banks. Following the rain of last night, the water rose steadily, until yesterday afternoon it encroached on adjoining lands, flowing over retaining walls and flooding the basements of industrial plants and residences along the banks. Several plants were forced to shut down owing to the water having crippled their mechanical equipment.

Never before have river side manufacturers suffered so much loss from high water as this year, and it is possible that further damage will be done before the river finally subsides. At ten o'clock the river was still rising and up to its former high level. The police have stopped traffic on the north side of Main Street bridge, fearing damage if a barn, which is in a dangerous position, is carried into the stream. Water street south is again inundated and heroic efforts are being made to place goods out of the reach of the water. Merchants are suffering from flooded cellars on account of the water backing up the storm drains. Citizens in the danger zone are prepared for the worst.

Wolsley is Dead.

LONDON, March 25.—Field Marshal Viscount Wolsley, one of the most famous of modern British soldiers, died to-day at Mentone, France, in his 80th year.

Pope's Condition.

ROME—The condition of Pope Pius X is slowly improving, although the weakness resulting from his recent indisposition still persists. The doctors in attendance on His Holiness, prevented him from celebrating mass to-day, the Feast of Annunciation, as he desired. It is said in the Vatican that the celebration of mass is an exhausting effort for the Pope. The sisters of the Pope according to custom arrived in Rome to-day for the Feast of the Annunciation and presented their brother with some unket which he much enjoyed.

AS TO FORCE

Sir Wilfrid Laurier used the connection with his manifesting the navy issue, the would either have to be the "brute force" or else an early "What does" he mean by the "brute force?" Are these the words applied measure introduced in the House by Gladstone, of whom Laurier has always been a great admirer. The then Liberal Premier Old Land found in 1882 that a ordinary business of the Commons held up by obstructionists, and adopted the closure.

There wasn't a Grit in Canada objected to that move under the circumstances, and yet forthwith that a similar step becomes sary in Canada, there are howls "stuffed speech" and "gag method." And then as to the term "force." What have the Laurierites attempting except to "force" the majority?

For a minority to attempt that regard as all right, but for a majority to do a like thing on behalf of the voice of the people, they are outrageous.

Was there ever such a spectacle presented before to any people?

THE WITNESS COMES BACK

The Montreal Witness, a Liberal paper, which has possessed commonsense enough to denounce the tempt by the Laurierites in the tawa House to stultify Winston Churchill in connection with navy issue, has received a long list of protest from Mr. Macdonald, P., one of the obstructionists at Capital.

The Witness says in part in its "It will be new to many to our relations to the defence the empire defined as a purely mestic matter. If Canada is d now map in their to a strict of strengthening the defence forces of the Empire on the solely she should first find from those who have been now maintaining the defence, who are in the present in charge it, what they consider the best of doing this. We can ask friendship of our best friends we believe to be for our general common advantage. We see no son why in their reply they should limit themselves to a strict gorical answer. Such conduct would, in fact, offensively formal. want to know what the Admir think. They frankly express their thought without any thought dictation. We remain quite free to discuss their memorandum, to accept or reject any ideas contained therein. It is not courteous or just to attack the First Lord for his friendly frankness.

The letter was as far as we could judge an unbiased expression of opinion, written for Mr Borden information, and only brought down in the House on the insistent demand of the Opposition."

The Witness has throughout taken a most commendable stand in this matter, and one which thousands of other Liberals throughout the Dominion are also taking.

THE SUBJECT OF WORDS.

The simplified Spelling board of New York State has issued a fourth list of words recommended to be spelled more in accordance with sound and common sense.

Touch is spelled touch, serious is changed to serius, blow is spelled blo, below is changed to bello, forced to forsed, phantom to fantom, handsome to handsum, boss to boss, glue to glu, wretch to retch and so on.

These and kindred changes will appear strange at first but so will all the changes of the past.

For instance what moderny educated man or woman to-day can readily read Chaucer, the father of English poetry, who flourished between 1340 and 1400. His verses in the vernacular are at first glance, almost incapable of translation. And yet he wrote in the current words of the time. It is not so very long ago that the letter "s" was signified by an f such as "foul" for "soul" in old time hymns.

Then as to the origin of some words. There is a story that the word "queer" was the result of a bet be-

Anglican Churches Have Had Much Prosperity

Annual Vestry Meetings Held Last Night in Three Churches—Splendid Work at St. John's

At St. Jude's. There was a good attendance of members at the annual vestry meeting of St. Jude's Church, which was held last night. The assistant rector, Rev. H. A. Wright, presided. The financial year of the parish does not end until 31st of March, so that the churchwardens were unable to make a report of the financial condition, but they hope to present a satisfactory statement at the adjourned meeting. The financial statements of the organizations of the church will be presented at the adjourned meeting. The duplex envelope was considered at length, and a committee was appointed to consider the best way to introduce it should the vestry adopt it. A committee was also appointed to look into the heating system of the church and parish hall.

The rector reported that Trinity Mission would be set apart as an independent, self-sustaining parish on the 1st of June. St. Luke's Mission was also making satisfactory progress and energetic work was being done there. At St. Jude's it was gratifying to know that the number of communicants on Easter Sunday was the largest in the history of the parish.

The following officers were appointed for the coming year: Churchwardens, S. Smith and Dr. Lundy; Blott, J. B. Lundy, L.D.S., W. Foster, J. Broadbent, W. Moss, D. H. Spence.

Mission's committee and auditors were also appointed.

Votes of thanks for assistance given during the year were passed to the choir, the Ladies' Guild, A.Y.P.A., Sunday School and other organizations.

Much regret was expressed that the rector, Rev. Rural Dean Wright, was unable to be present at the meeting, and by a standing vote the vestry expressed its sympathy for him and his family. The meeting was gratified to know that he was making such a good recovery, and hoped he would soon be among them again in a few weeks.

At the congregational meeting which followed the vestry, the following were elected lay representatives to the Synod: W. N. Andrews and W. E. Foster; substitutes, W. Scace and C. House.

At St. James. Notable progress during the year was made at St. James' church, the annual vestry meeting of which was held last night and was largely attended. Rev. Hubbard Miller presided, and the meeting proved most harmonious and was an excellent augury of successful work during the ensuing year. The financial account was of a favorable nature, splendid improvement having been shown in the Sunday school and the Ladies' Air societies. The Wardens chosen were: For the rector, Alfred Vince; People's Warden, C. Simmonds; Lay Representative, C. Simmonds; substitute, A. T. Pickles; Select Vestry, J. Braby, W. Shackie, A. T. Pickles, W. Roberts.

It was decided to instal this year a furnace in the church, and also to carry out considerable repairing, rendered necessary as a result of the recent storm.

At St. John's. St. John's annual Vestry meeting was held last evening and the Rector presided. The financial statement presented by the Wardens was most satisfactory. Reports from the various organizations showed that they were in a flourishing condition. Easter services had been of a most inspiring nature. The Lenten offering on that day was $416.00 and church books showed a balance of $350.00 on hand. Mr. F. E. Morrison was re-elected delegate to the Synod, which Mr. G. Collington as substitute. Mr. Suddaby, who has been Rector's warden since the organization of St. John's parish, was again appointed warden by the Rector and Mr. Tremblay, who was re-elected Peoples' warden. The Rector, in addressing the Vestry, reported over 800 visits, besides the hospital, and visits to institutions; 19 baptisms, 6 weddings and 12 funerals. "One thing we face now" said he, "and that is lack of accommodation. We need a larger Sunday School. We are crowded so that there is not room enough. We must enlarge and must do so soon or we cannot do our work properly. We cannot do all you can for now is the time to act, not in years to come. An effort will be made to wipe out the organ debt, also the debt on the lot in May. Votes of thanks were extended to all the various organizations for their untiring zeal and energy in St. John's Church, also to individual members, who had undertaken definite work and had carried it out in their quiet way. There have been many improvements in the church during the past year. Miss Dalton presented a new altar curtain, also new altar hangings of red plush. St. John's is making steady progress under their present Rector, the Rev. C. W. Saunders.

is horrible and it has presented a most complex situation. The loss of life and damage to property is the greatest conceivable blow, not only to Omaha, but to the entire state of Nebraska. I will call upon the State of Nebraska to request every assistance and I am sure the state will respond.

"My horror and grief are simply beyond my powers of expression."

All Records Broken. CHICAGO, March 25.—The enormous damage caused by tornadoes in Nebraska, Iowa and Indiana brought out the statement from insurance companies that losses thus far this year on tornadoic insurance breaks all records while fire losses are smaller than usual. Tornadoes do not usually come so early in the year.

Insurance agents say that the storms in the south last week were unusually destructive and that the Nebraska storm will up the losses. Figures on the policies affected by the Omaha storm are not yet available, but it is said that many buildings destroyed were protected by tornado insurance. One eastern company collected $124,012 in premiums on such policies in Nebraska alone in 1912.

noon was established from Omaha to the outer world. Practically no information has been obtainable this morning from the devastated sections of Nebraska and Iowa. The fact that such intense suffering is being caused here by the present storm in spite of the heroic efforts being made by the city to provide for and protect all who have been made dependent cause Gov. Moorehead to fear that the conditions within the state are in deplorable shape. He stated that he would hasten action before the state legislature to secure sufficient funds for the immediate care of storm victims.

DIED TO-DAY

LORD WOLSELEY.

How a cut led to 4 years of suffering

Mr. J. H. Brantford, a Justice of the Peace and station master at Wellington, on the P.E.I. Ry., says: "Four years ago I fell on a freight truck, sustaining a bad cut on the front of my leg. I thought this would heal, but instead it developed into a bad ulcer, and later into a form of eczema which spread very rapidly and also started on the other leg. Both legs became so swollen and sore that I could only go about my work by having them bandaged."

"I consulted two doctors, and tried all the salves, ointments and lotions I heard of, but instead of getting better I got worse."

How Zam-Buk Cured.

"This was my condition when I got my first box of Zam-Buk. Gladly to my delight that first box gave me relief. I continued to apply it to the sores, and day by day they got better. I could see that at last I had got hold of something which would cure me, and in the end it did."

"It is now over a year since Zam-Buk worked a cure in my case, and there has been no return of the eczema."

Purely herbal in composition, Zam-Buk is a sure cure for all skin diseases, cold sores, chapped hands, ulcers, blood-poisoned patches, cuts, burns and bruises. All druggists and chemists sell 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on price.

Close Call. There was a very narrow escape from a bad accident at the corner of Market and Dalhousie streets yesterday afternoon. A cab was driven right in front of an approaching car. The motorist jammed everything hard, and the vehicle got clear by a hair's breadth. A smashup seemed so certain that a couple of women onlookers screamed.

Examination of Whitworth. Dr. Ashton is conducting an examination of F. Whitworth, an Englishman, charged in court with threatening to shoot at Middleport. When seen subsequent to the examination the doctor said his mind was evidently unbalanced. Whitworth acknowledges he tried to commit suicide two or three times.

At St. Jude's. Good attendances were witnessed at both services at St. Jude's Church on Sunday, when two eloquent sermons were delivered appropriate to the season. Rev. H. A. Wright officiated in the morning and Rev. G. W. Latimer took the evening service. A splendid musical program was rendered by the choir at both services. In the morning the choir sang "He Is Not Here" and "Praise His Holy Name." Solos were contributed by Messrs. P. Farnsworth and P. Unsworth. At the evening service the anthems given by the choir were "Alleluia" and "Christ Our Passover." Messrs. N. McLeod and P. Farnsworth sang solos effectively. Miss E. Wright presided at the organ with her accustomed skill.

Salvation Army. The special Easter service, Rock of Ages, was given last night, Easter Monday at the Salvation Army Citadel, to a large crowd, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Secretary T. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ward and others took special part. Little Miss Mary McKew, six years of age, sang effectively, "Tell me the Story of Jesus." The service of song was rendered by the Songsters.

Baptist Pastors' Conference. A conference of the Baptist pastors of Brantford district took place in the Park Baptist Church yesterday morning, and a good representation of the district was present. Rev. Dr. Hughson of Stratford read an address on "The Position of the Pastor in the New Testament Church," after which Rev. John Atkins of Burvessville gave an address on "The Position of the Pastor in the Modern Church." Present at the conference were Revs. C. W. Rose, W. E. Bowyer, T. E. Richards and L. The Grit Obstruction. Montreal Star—The effort of the government to force on Friday night the fundamental rule of all serious debating—i.e. that the debator shall keep to the subject—was an exceedingly mild form of pressure to put upon the unrestrained and unconcealed spirit of obstruction which has despotically dominated Parliament for two weeks. It is an amazement to the ordinary citizen that the enforcement of such a rule should be a novelty. He will be astonished to hear that at certain times, Parliament is permitted to violate its own rules, and wander as far as it likes from the subject under discussion. No business meeting would dream of tolerating such "schoolboy" license for a moment.

Value of Drainage.

"Never perhaps has the value of thorough under drainage been more emphatically demonstrated than during the past year. Land that was thoroughly tile drained gave splendid crops despite the excessive wetness, while thousands of acres of undrained land could not even be seeded; and some that was seeded and did produce a partial crop was so wet that the grain could not be harvested. The effect of this lesson," says Prof. Day, "is reflected in greater interest and activity than usual in matters relating to tile drainage. We are holding over a larger number of applications for drainage surveys than we have for some years past and fresh applications are coming in rapidly, so that the drainage campaign promises to be unusually active."

The Department of Physics of which age surveys has charge, makes tile drainage, the only outlay to the farmers being the necessary travelling expenses connected with the survey. These are usually small as generally several surveys are made on the same trip. Those wishing surveys should write the Department of Physics, O.A.C., Guelph, for regular application forms.

Many well informed baseball will be inclined to take issue with Manager John McGraw's question of the relative importance of different departments of the team.

McGraw was lately quoted as saying the sport on the basis of the following classification: batting 30 per cent; pitching 30 per cent; fielding 25 per cent and base stealing 15 per cent. It will be found that the students of the game that the leader has rated the relative importance of pitching entirely and that at least 50 per cent of the team's strength or weakness rests upon the pitching department.

BUCK WEAVER NOW A DEM

The White Sox Player Changed His Style of Batting.

"It's just as easy to hit from left as from the right side of home plate," said "Buck" Weaver, the peppery shortstop of the White Sox, when asked by Frisco and Cleveland pals how he fancied the swing in style recommended by Manager Calhoun. "Once I get the swing down pat the rest will be easy," continued Buck, "and watch my swing when the season gets under way show some of these babies around the American league a few new ideas about hitting that pill."

Weaver's port side batting passed the experimental stage. The young man is "thar" with the club and if anything that change helped him wonderfully for he made no bones about telling Calhoun members of the team that he is better able to judge balls when standing the right side of the platter.

Notice was served upon Weaver last winter to prepare for a season's southpaw hitting and to be ready a stiff trout when the Sox landed in Paso Robles to begin 1913 conditioning. No sooner did Buck get the word than he proceeded to start light training, and most every day

The Good Die Young.

By WALT MASON

Beside the road that leads to town the thistle thrives apace, and if you cut the blamed thing down, two more will take its place. The sunflowers flourish in the heat that kills the growing oats; the weeds keep living when the wheat and corn have lost their goats. The roses wither in the glare that keeps the prune alive, the orchards fail of peach and pear while cheap persimmons thrive. The good and useful men depart too soon on death's dark trip; they just have fairly made a start when they must up and skip. A little cold, a little heat will quickly kill them off; a little wetting of their feet, a little hacking cough; they're tender as the blushing rose of evanescent bloom; too quickly they turn up their toes and slumber in the tomb. And yet the world is full of scrubs who don't know how to die, a lot of picayunish dubs, who couldn't, if place, until at last their age becomes a scandal and disgrace. And thus the men of useful deeds die off, while no-goods thrive; you can't kill off the human weeds, nor keep the wheat alive.

Rating Is Too Low

Critics Are Inclined to Disagree With McGraw's Opinion

Many well informed baseball critics will be inclined to take issue with Manager John J. McGraw on the question of the relative importance of different departments of baseball. McGraw was lately quoted as dividing the sport on the basis of 100 per cent into the following classes: Batting 30 per cent; pitching 30 per cent; fielding 25 per cent and base running 15 per cent. It will be found by many students of the game that the Giants' leader has rated the relative importance of pitching entirely too low, and that at least 50 per cent of a team's strength or weakness is in the having department. Some would put it even higher than this, one veteran major league slaban giving the opinion that the box work measures 80 per cent of the club's strength. It probably would be hard to convince the majority of fans that pitching is not fully as important as everything else combined. This does not mean that they believe a club can win a pennant pitching alone. They do think however that one whose slab corps is weak has little chance. Since Jennings took hold of the Detroit club it has been a hitting aggregation and one that has made a lot of runs. With such sluggers as Cobb and Crawford constantly on duty it is not to mention others who have been doing the club for greater or less periods during the Jennings regime, there has been no lack of force in the attack. In fact for the six year period mentioned the Jungs have been up with the best of them in the scoring way. The first three years that Hughie was the Tiger leader he had good

As Coleridge Might Say. He prayeth best who loveth best. All things both great and small, And yet the man they payeth best is one who slams the ball. The Hunch Incarnate. Once upon a midnight dreary— (This is all I'll swipe from Poe)— While I pondered in my eze— Little Harlem bungalow, Came a hunch that whispered to me: "Spring, old top, is drawing near"— And I heard the echoes woo me With the chorus of a cheer As I opened an epistle Written to me in a scrawl I could hear the bluebird's whistle And the thud of bat and ball— Of all harbingers the leader, Like a May-breeze through the flat— "To oblige a Constant Reader Publish 'Casey at the bat.'" Grantland Rice.

Down in Tampa the Cubs were iced and housed without charge. We leave to your own keen imaginations the feelings of Owner C. Webb Murphy as his troopers started no-harvard into the $3 per rate, not including meals. The poignant anguish pushed upon this fellow must be well nigh unbearable. "The wages of sin," they tell us "is death." Yet of all the Cleveland ball club no man reported in such excellent shape as Roy Walker, a Najlan pitcher. It seems last winter that Mr. Walker assisted in carving up a pig. He was first sentenced to ten years and then ninety days. His winter league assignment, back of the bars, was a job in the blacksmithing department. There, where the rest of his mates were out loafing and taking on surplus weight, Mr. Walker was approaching mid-season form and reheating the old pink before a ball was pitched. He stands a far better show of taking the team through his 90-day blacksmithing assignment than if he had never wielded the deadly hove. Which shows again that no rule carries out an unchanged trail.

With all winter to play and practice in— with the course giving early promise of perfect lines and smooth, true greens— with fine weather promised for an early start— the golfer's 1913 bliss should be complete. But there's still another angle. With all this in his favor, what chance has he now to drag in the sprightly alibi where his crack shows 97 against an "82 game." The genial bug here and there, wields a happy faculty of mispronunciation when it comes to monickers worn by many of our leading athletes. We have often heard Lajoie called Lajo and La-joy; we have heard Schulte pronounced Shult, and Wiltse labeled Wits; Evers is commonly known as Ev-vers, but the prize label was flashed some days ago when an apparently earnest bug— one who at least was in close touch with the dope— referred to the Giants' crack battery as "Ma-thu-and and McGraw." We thought at first that McGraw had signed another pair of athletes until further conversation showed that Matty and the Indian framed the pair under discussion. We have an inside tip as to how Chicago fans are pronouncing the name "Murphy," but you'll never read the answer in any paper which travels by mail— not until the postal regulations permit unlimited license anyway.

If Griff is able to push his Senators away to a flying start this season and hold the pace, we expect to see Walter Johnson establish a pitching record well beyond any other set up for the last decade. The Senators last season were a trifle slow in attaining top form; and later on when they appeared at their best Johnson was forced to work in a long run of games while afflicted with tonsillitis, and thereby badly warped in condition. Even as it was the Blonde Shrapnel cut in with a wonderful season which embraced sixteen straight, over thirty victories, and a smaller count of

Cricket

Mr. W. H. Walsh, the President of the Cricket association executive, is calling a meeting of that body in the Roberts and Van-Lane Shoe Store, 203 Colborne Street on Thursday evening of this week at 8 o'clock. "Lovers of cricket will welcome the news that the two veterans John Stevenson and Charles Taylor will be seen in the game again this season. It is rumored that Brantford is likely to drop out of the Western Ontario League owing to the way dates are altered to them by the Association being so unfavorable, falling on days when it will be hard to get a team together. Work on the pitch at the O.I.B. will be commenced next week, President Walsh having assigned undertaken and Wood has a better batting club behind him to garner the precious tally. He may not reach the amazing figures attained last season but he isn't likely to be far away. Wood's chief handicap is a tendency towards a nervous tension. But with all his nervousness he has the "nerve." Johnson works at an easier stride and isn't so inclined to bother when the situation becomes taut. His philosophy is that of carrying his part of the show, and to hew to the line, let the slips fall where they may. It's funny to hear about Mal. Barry, formerly with Brantford, now with New York, needing speed. Kane told him that two years ago, and tacked on a fine of five dollars one day when Barry didn't field a bunt properly. The Yankee boosters can say what they like, Barry can only play one spot and that is first base. He will be a joke anywhere else, although he may prove a great understudy for Frank Chance on the initial cushion. President Nelson ordered 4,000 reel tickets yesterday for the season. Guess if all those tickets are used it will be a pretty fair season. Well, the Brantford president needs it badly. He's been hollering for two years and 1913 looks like his year.

Johnny Evers is confident. The new leader of the Chicago Cubs is of the opinion that he will make good at the helm of the Windy City bear-leaders. Evers tells on Evers as follows: "All I ask is a fair chance—one good opportunity to show what I can do. I think I can hold down the job. I expect to make mistakes. Every manager makes them. I expect to be criticized. Every manager is. But I don't intend to pay much attention to criticism. "I am going on about my business doing the best I can, and I want the fans to withhold judgment for a while. Don't count me out before I enter the ring. Physically I'm in good shape. Stories that I'm worrying myself to a frazzle are all bull. I may be slipping a little in my playing, but at that I'm not an old man on crutches. I think I can hold my own with the rest of them. As I said before, all I ask is a square deal." Chief Meyers will this year use a bat turned from the wood of which his forefathers were wont to make their arrows in the olden days. O'Toole, Sweeney, and O'Briens of the big top are said to be falling in line with the idea of having their clubs turned from the shillelaghs their fathers swung in the happy days of youth.

A HOT ROAST FOR CORBETT

CHICAGO, March 25.—Billy McCarty is anxious to know why some of the fight critics are picking on his champion, Luther McCarty, and says on Friday fell to Bolton Wanderers by 3-0. But still further disaster awaited the English cup semi-finalists for on Saturday they were routed by Blackburn Rovers by a score that was just about as complete and decisive as it was possible to be. Such a form cannot be explained away at this time on this side of the Atlantic, and it looks very much like as if Oldham's chances of 1912 league honors are gone. It is also worthy of com-

Malcolm Barry of 1911 Red Sox Is Doing Well

Former Brantford Player Makes Hit With Frank Chance—He Needs Speed.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 25.—One young man in the Yankee fold who has attracted no meager amount of attention from the players as well as the camp followers, is Malcolm Barry. He is one of the likeliest youngsters in training here. He can hit and field, but is not as fast as he will be when he has worked off some of the superfluous embonpoint he is carrying. Up to the present time Barry has not shown speed enough to warrant making a regular place on the Highlanders, but Doc Barrett the trainer says his muscles are as pliable and his general build is such as to make him believe that Barry is merely slow to get down to his real playing form and that when he does he will surprise some with his speed. In every other respect the recruit is a real baseball player. He has not shown any weakness at bat, especially having an eye for all kinds of pitches. Chance has been playing him on first base, the position he has played ever since becoming a professional, two years ago. However the manager may try him in the outfield if "Mal" should develop more speed. If his hitting in the practice games can be taken as a criterion he would be a valuable asset to the club as a pinch hitter if for nothing else. He bats and throws left-handed. Last year he played with the Brockton New England league club and batted for an average of 315 in 117 games. His fielding percentage was .991. The fact that he stole but six bases shows that he wasn't exactly a speed marvel. In 1911 he played in Brantford in the Canadian league. It is years since the Yankees have been so plentifully provided with young infielders. If it were necessary Chance could move Chace back to first and fill both second and short with youngsters and still show a strong defensive front. It means something when a training ball club can go through fourteen innings with only one error charged against it, and that a slip by Hal Chase.

Gunboat Smith Can Now Get Big Money

His Victory Over Wells Has Put Him In Front Rank of White Hopes.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Bombardier Wells, the representative of the heavyweights, the man who at one time was matched to fight Jack Johnson and who came to this country recently for the express purpose of forcing Luther McCarty into a match was knocked out in two rounds by Gunboat Smith, who is as well known to San Francisco's four round game as Red Watson or Charlie Miller. Well, it helps to prove that the man who remarked "You can't do fighters," was a good deal of a sage. Wells was the likeliest British heavy since Charlie Mitchell's day. They excused his quick defeat by Al Palmer on the plea that he landed in the country during a torrid spell and was denied a whiff of cool air while undergoing training. They were quite sure he would redeem himself on the occasion of his second visit, but he has gone from bad to worse. Still Jim Barry Must Be Remembered As for Gunboat we could think better of him if we could forget that there is such a fellow as Jim Barry in existence. Barry is the greatest Bedouin the ring has known. He has figured in contests with Sam Langford and Porky Flynn at all the known fighting points on the earth's surface and has been regularly and systematically defeated by each of the men named. Yet Barry has knocked out Gunboat in nine rounds and has beaten him a second time in nine rounds. These are matters of record, indisputable and uncontroversial, and such being the case, there will be more of a disposition to disparage Wells than to exalt Smith. It is only fair to Smith to say that there is good reason for supposing that he is improving right along. Here in San Francisco where he is so well known a suspicion exists that he is chicken hearted. More famous ring men than that kind, but they managed to live it down. As they enlarged their experience they gained confidence which usually passes muster for courage in prize ring pursuits, and one only has to study the detailed reports of the New York event to begot the idea that Smith has grown stronger in self-reliance. He appears to have been a mark of the clever Englishman in the first round and he took his medicine.

ment that on Friday only two away
teams—Aston Villa and Sheffield Wednesday—succeeded in capturing the full points, and on Saturday every home team won outright with the exception of West Bromwich Albion who tied with Bradford City. Saturday's football furnished all kinds of surprises so far as scoring was concerned.
On Friday a total of 20 goals were scored, while on Saturday the total was 33 goals, and in practically every game heavy scoring was the rule. Disaster
overtook Aston Villa at Old Trafford Manchester United thoroughly dominating the Villans at Old Trafford. During the week-end Sunderland scored only two goals but these brought them four points, which now places them at the top of the league with 41 points for 21 games, followed by Aston Villa and Sheffield Wednesday with 40 points for the same number of games. The probable league champions are being gradually edged down to a bad week end for Chelsea and Wolves,
both of whom lost their games.

The Second League
Barnsley supplied the sensational score of the week-end in the second league when they completely shut out Bristol City by 7 to 0, and then on Saturday they checked the probable champion of the champions, Preston North End. The race for the championship has lost much of its interest because of the direction in which it is being supplied by Burnley and Birmingham, both of whom are running a neck-and-neck race for 2nd place, the former having 41 points for 21 games,
and the latter 40 points for 21 games.

Swinton Now on Top
Queen's Park Rangers are dropping points hand over fist and the result is that they are tobogganing down
the league ladder at a somewhat alarming rate. Swinton keeps on roping in points and are now at the head of the Southern league table with 40 points for 21 games, the next in order being Reading and Exeter City with 39 points each. The teams to drop both games were Brentford, Coventry and Metherly.

The Scottish League
With a lead of 10 points over Celtic for the same number of games
it looks very much like Glasgow Rangers for the championship. Falkirk earning for themselves the reputation of being the Sunderland of the Scottish league, for within the space of a few weeks what are looked upon as being Scotland's greatest teams, Rangers and Celtic, have been humbled
by the Bairns. Falkirk's victory on Saturday over Celtic was all the more meritorious as Celtic was all played at Parkhead. The game was performance was that of the Hibs, who journeyed to Paisley, and there scored. The outcoming of Hamilton Acas by Airdrieonians was as good a good afternoon's work.

Buck Weaver
and the third time at bat he fell back to his old method of clouting right-handed. Cal standing by with critical eye, quickly observed the switch, and just as quickly gave Buck a bawling out.
Callahan Thinks Team will Benefit
Here, Buck called the manager,
"stick to one style of hitting. If you find you can't do yourself and the team justice batting left-handed, why get back to the old way. But keep on hitting left-handed until I tell you to return to the other system."
Callahan believes the team will be strengthened both in hitting as well as in speed with Weaver walloping from the port side. Of course it may seem like a tremendous proposition to convert a natural right-handed sticker into a southern slugger on three months notice, but the rate Weaver is improving he should develop into a star before the mid-season
mark has been reached.
Jimmy Austin Made Good at It
Take the case of Jimmy Austin, third baseman of the St. Louis Browns, a natural right-handed batter. Being a swift runner, Jim switched his style to left-handed clubbing and made himself 20 per cent
more valuable to his team.
Bob Bescher, of the Cincinnati Reds, champion baserunner of the National League, is another star who formerly clouted right-handed, but changed under orders of his manager,
Detroit Tiger, is another.
In his daily batting practice Weaver

GRANDMOTHER USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HER FADED OR GREY HAIR
Mixed With Sulphur Makes Hair Soft and Luxuriant and Removes Dandruff
The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur.
Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.
But the brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called asks the Sox pitchers to show him no favors, but to put something on the ball. In this way he gives his new batting style a thorough test against spitters, underhand raise balls, side-arm slant, southpaw offerings, knuckle balls and speed. But the best thing about his hitting results is his easy, graceful, natural swing, and as soon as the 'fog' gets out of his lamps Buck should be able to wallop close to the .300 mark.

Corbett

men in the country—Flynn and Palzer—and only three weeks apart.
The battle with Palzer was Mc-Carthy's thirteenth fight in a year.
And now because Luthy doesn't rush into another combat but is claiming time to rest up and catch his breath
the critics, especially Jim Corbett, there slaming at him and calling him
a shime, are other scuffling terms.
McCarthy while admitting that Jim Corbett could box beautifully, opines
from his record that he liked nothing better than resting. It was always vacation time for Corbett until he was absolutely cornered and forced to make a stand for his title.
Figures indicate that Corbett rested more than any champion we ever had despite the fact that good opponents were plentiful. Peter Maher included —For Peter at his best had to be actively on guard, and he was always landed that deadly wallop of his.
Corbett's Record tells the Tale
As proof of Maher's fitness, it is not possible to quote Corbett's own words in handing the title over to Maher
the night Peter had laid Corbett's friend and sparring partner, Steve O'Donnell out, cold as a wedge?
That's one spot where Corbett opened wards took back the title and prepared to defend it.
In looking over Corbett's record
we find that from Sept. 7, 1892, when he met John L. Sullivan for the title, until Jan. 26, 1904, when Corbett beat Charley Mitchell, a fast decaying Englishman, who was little more than a middleweight, James J. did not fight at all—a matter of sixteen months. And the thirty-eight months following the Mitchell battle found Corbett in almost sheer idleness, he doing nothing in that period except to box Peter Courtney, a mutt, in Jersey City and Tom Sharkey, in San Francisco.

Corbett had twenty-eight serious ring conflicts during the period he was in the business—from 1894 until 1903—a matter of nineteen years.
This does not average two fights per year, which makes Corbett's house one of glass and in consequence he should be mighty careful how he flings bricks around at other fighters.
McCarthy Didn't Sign Articles on Coast McCarthy himself considers that his best performance was in beating Jim Barry, Jack McFarland and Al Kaufman inside six weeks, with a transcontinental trip mixed in between. He regards this as even a greater feat than that of beating Flynn and Palzer inside of three weeks.

Billy McCarthy prides himself on one little incident, or rather two, out show how a fight promoter without articles and without friction Mc-Carthy never signed articles of agreement for either the Flynn or the Palzer battles in Los Angeles, Tom McCarthy accepting that agreement for everything that was agreed upon.
And I wouldn't have to sign articles if we go out there again," Mc-Carthy adds.

Be Thing of the Past
NEW YORK, March 25.—"I feel greatly encouraged over the results attained from the turtle bacilli treatment here," said Dr. F. F. Fried-mann here today at his suite at the Ansonia. The German physician spoke through one of his assistants,
Dr. Maurice Sturm.
Dr. Friedmann was in a cheerful mood, partly due to the apparent improvement in the cases of seven of his patients at Bellevue hospital as demonstrated when they walked into the room where on Saturday the doctor inoculated twenty-three more sufferers.

THE BELL TELEPHONE CO., having been employed there over a year. On the night of the riot VanEvery stated he left the office of the Bell Telephone Co., at 11:30 on his way home to 97 Queen street. He stopped at the corner of The Expositor. The witness went up in front of the police station and in the excitement he which he threw hitting the building, but he stated that at this time the windows were all broken, and shortly after the Mayor asked the crowd to disperse which they did.
Mr. Dixon, the manager of the Bell
Telephone Co., was called by Mr.
Brewster. He stated that the defendant had worked for him for 14 months and was an A1 young man
in every way.
Mr. VanEvery, father of the defendant, was called and said his son had always been a good boy in every respect.
Mr. Brewster was of the opinion that he was not one of the conspirators in his excitement. While he did not think he should be allowed to go on suspended sentence, he thought
Mr. Wilkes called Sgt. Wallace who stated he had seen King on the Sniatyn, Alta, Mar 24—(Special)—

That the natural remedy for exhaustion and nerve weakness is one that will give good circulation and pure blood carrying nutrition to all parts of the body, is again proved in the case of St. Jeremy, a well-known resident of this place.

Dr. Karl Von Ruck of Asheville,
N.C. a specialist in tuberculosis treatment, who was quoted in a medical journal as saying that the Fried-mann culture is not permanently effective.
"I think it has been adequately proven in the cases of 350 babies treated by me in Germany eighteen months ago that the turtle vaccine works a permanent cure," quoth the doctor. "In every case the babies improved from the first inoculation, and they have continued to improve until most of them are entirely cured."
During his absence from Germany,
the physician said his patients are under the care of associates of his.
If further inoculations are needed
they will be administered before his return home.

Dr. Friedmann remarked that since coming to this country he has been regarded by physicians all over the land as asking him for the formula of the cure.
"They want to know how I do it—
how I get the serum and all about it,"
said the doctor. "Well, if I give it out before you have been able to demonstrate it in time I will give the world the benefit of my discovery."
For the present I want to work it out myself.

Lady Marjorie's Love

"I have not kept you out too long, I hope? You are not tired?"
"Not at all, thanks—and the night is so lovely! I am glad I went out—it has quite taken away my headache. Good night! Oh Mr. Barrington, you won't forget what you are to do for me in Upton Waifers in the morning, will you?"
"Yes, of course—I shall ride over the first thing after breakfast, and your commission shall be the first thing I attend to. What do you say to another row on the river in the afternoon? Will you try it?"
"Perhaps, I will see. You will never get all those letters written that you spoke of. Good night!"
Barrington, after shaking Marjorie by the hand, went off towards the park parlour. Marjorie turned towards the steps and then, and the Countess showed herself.
"Oh, Fenella! How you did startle me!"
"Did I? You are extremely nervous, my dear. So you have been out of doors?"
"Yes." The Countess turning back into the drawing-room the girl felt constrained to follow her—a thing which she did not mean to do. A dressing gown and a novel in her own room while Alice brushed her hair and Jack slept at her feet would have suited her far better than Lady Marjorie's company or conversation. She followed reluctantly, wondering how long it would be before she could get away; she felt even less inclined to talk with Fenella than usual. "It is such a lovely night!" she said, explaining carelessly. "The moon makes it nearly as bright as day."
"Does it?"
The Countess looked down from her greater height at the pretty girl with the trace of a hard cold smile about the mouth. "Mr. Barrington was with you, I think?"
"Yes! He suggested going—in—differently."
"Indeed? How was that?"
"He knew I had a headache"—still indifferently.
"Brought on by your being on the river this afternoon possibly?" Lady Marjorie's smile showed itself a little more.
"We—I did not go this afternoon, Fenella."
"Certainly not!" Majorie glanced up swiftly, suspiciously. "Like the water," she said coldly, "and as Mr."

A Reward of Merit

By RUTH CAMERON
VIRTUE says the copy-book, is its own reward. On the whole, I am inclined to think that is lucky, when I see how often it fails of any other reward. That sounds pessimistic, doesn't it? Well, listen to the following dialog. Two women at a church function were arranging some lemonade glasses which had been loaned for the occasion. Said one woman, "Take special care of those glasses with the wreath on them. You know Mrs. H. loaned those; she's a perfect tartar and she'd be terribly disagreeable if anything happened to them. You'd better not let the younger girls touch those."
Said the other woman, "I think those with the monograms are much prettier. Who loaned them?"
"Oh, those are Mrs. R.'s," said the first speaker. "You'd better give them to the younger girls. Mrs. R. is so sweet, you know, she wouldn't make a fuss if they broke a whole dozen!"
How's that for a reward of merit?
As a special premium for her disagreeable manner, the tartar lady had special care given to her glasses—and undoubtedly received, specially elaborate thanks.
While the other woman was rewarded for her sweetness and forbearance by having her property handed over to the tender mercies of the least trustworthy waitresses.
And yet isn't that a thoroughly typical case? Don't we all have a tendency to handle with care those people who are disagreeably tenacious of their rights, and to take unfair advantage of those who are good-natured and unselfish?
It is usually the disagreeable member of the family who receives the most attention, and whose paths are made pleasant for him by the sacrifices of the rest; while the most kind-hearted and generous member of the family is the one most put upon.
In the dormitory in which I lived at college there was one girl so sweet-tempered and unselfish that her name was a synonym for these qualities, and yet, instead of treating her especially well, many of the other girls made a convenience of her and then laughed at her behind her back for letting them do it.
And so, if you reckon in terms of appreciation and gratitude, it does not seem as if unselfishness and sweetness of temper paid.
Isn't it fortunate that there are some people in the world who think these qualities are worth while even if they don't pay?

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Wood's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had worn clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be answered, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

WHAT'S DOING AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, March 25.—The House resumes to-day, after the Easter recess, with the political situation considerably altered. There has been and will be no change in the determination of the Government to render the promised aid to the naval defence of the Empire as provided in the Naval Bill. There is, however, a noticeable lessening of the tension, and this is due to the fact that the usual percentage vote of the estimates for the new fiscal year.

It is also stated that the Liberals have abandoned the intention of maintaining the blockade of the Navy Bill on the lines previously followed, namely, of continuous weekly sittings. If these announcements are made good the effect upon the course of the Parliamentary struggle will be important.

It may mean the beginning of a surrender. It means, if nothing else, that the Opposition recognizes the failure of the attempt to force a dissolution. Some sort of retreat, but not a full one, is being made. It may not be of a very serious nature. If there is anything like a real attempt made to resume the obstruction of the Naval Bill the necessary changes in the rules of the House will be made without delay. Guesses which have been made as to the nature of these changes are wide of the mark. The desire of the Government to provide ample opportunity for discussion has been demonstrated, and the opportunity afforded, the new procedure, if invoked, will, it is understood, furnish sufficient opportunity for legitimate and necessary discussion, while protecting the country against the abuse of such opportunity.

The programme does not promise anything very sensational for to-day.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson is bent upon seizing the first opportunity to bring up the action of the Speaker in taking the chair during the Clark-Pugaley row. He says he is merely anxious to have the propriety of the Speaker's action discussed and passed upon.

MAKING GARDEN

By HOWARD L. RANN

MAKING garden is an antidote for spring fever which is taken in large doses the first week, after which the garden is allowed to die a natural death. Some gardens die quickly, as the result of being assassinated by a late frost, while others linger along on a bed of suffering and are finally strangled by the murderer jimson weed.

Making garden is a favorite pastime with people who have cuddled up to the canned string bean all winter, until the edge of their appetite is dented in several places by the tail end of winter and driven back to the place of beginning. Other folks are more cautious and wait until the sun gets up high enough to raise blisters on the young onions and radishes, when they attack the garden with a steam roller and lay out a tennis court.

There is nothing more pleasant or healthfully exhilarating than to get out in a freshly-plowed garden in the dewy morn and plant the embryonic rutabaga and the blushing turnip, meanwhile sitting down heavily on a family of angle worms and gathering callouses faster than a roller skater. The morning meal, and it will also give him a crick in the back that will cause him to walk like a stepladder.

After a garden gets up where it can be taken hold of with a hoe, it is necessary to cultivate it three times a day and all hours on Sunday in order to keep the breath of life in it. This cultivating brings into play a lot of muscles which the cultivator did not know he had, and which rise up in the night and throw off painful exclamations. This wears off by the first of December, however, and leaves an annual epidemic of muscular rheumatism in its wake.

The Year 1912 Wet But 1902 Was Wetter

Interesting Statistics Given Out By Prof. Day at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Which is the wettest month of the year in Ontario? Probably nine people out of every ten would name April in answer to this question, while as a matter of fact, it is the driest month in the whole twelve, according to Prof. W. H. Day, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Taking all the stations in Ontario where records of the rain and snow have been kept he finds the average precipitation for the various months during the past ten years to be as follows: January 2.23 inches of rain and melted snow together; February 2.40 inches; March 2.92; April 2.14; May 2.81; June 2.92; July 3.46; August 2.62; September 2.81; October 2.34; November 2.43; December 2.62 inches respectively, making a total average precipitation for the ten years of 31.87 inches. April it will be noted has the least precipitation of all.

July the Wettest.

"From these figures," Prof. Day remarks, "one receives another surprise to learn that July is really the wettest month, so far as actual amount of precipitation is concerned. Why does the wettest month seem the driest? During the winter the snow accumulates, and when it melts in March or early April it forms several inches of water which saturates the soil and drains away slowly. Besides in the spring there is cool weather usually coupled with considerable cloudiness and gentle rains, so that evaporation is largely prevented, and hence the soil and roads are heavy, but being few and far between, and as a rule with clear sky and hot weather intervening evaporation is much greater than even the heavy rainfall, as that the soil and roads become drier and drier."

1912 Beat the Record.

"The year 1912 will go down in memory as an exceedingly wet one, yet as a matter of fact 1902 was wetter, so far as actual rainfall is concerned. And 1909 had within an inch as much rain as 1912. But the precipitation was not well distributed. February and March were considerably below the normal. May had nearly twice as much as usual, June and July were both much below the average, while August and September were unusually wet. But worse than the rainfall, was the almost continuous cloudiness, which retarded evaporation and thus prevented the soil, roads and grain from drying out rapidly between rains even in the summer time. These factors combined to make the soil wetter during 1912 than it has been in many years."

Deafness is the result, and unless the Inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
