SMASHING RECORDS!

BY the last steamer from Liverpool Messrs. T. A. MACNAB & CO.
 received a consignment of "CARR'S" ENGLISH BISCUITS, consisting of 29 large cases. This shipment is, by a very large margin, the biggest consignment of High-Grade Biscuits ever made to this country, and goes to show that the superior quality of "CARR'S" is being recognized by the public generally. Mr. Macnab while in England recently was in Carlisle and spent some time in the immense Factories where these famous Biscuits are made. Messrs. Carr & Co.
 are noted for their up-to-date methods in the manufacture and packing of their Biscuits, selling a standard which their competitors vainly strive to reach.

Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XX. (Continued.) He held out his hand as he spoke, and Cottie put her small brown one into it, with a slight touch of colour in her face—for, in some way or other, his face and voice reminded her of Geoffrey, though they did not resemble his. 'Never, mind, we will see you through. You're lucky to have come across my sister, let me tell you. 'I know that,' said Cottie, in her direct fashion. 'Sir Edward seemed amused at the direct fashion. 'Oh, you do, do you? You're evidently a sensible lad. What's your name—Ronald Bell? And where do you come from?' 'Yes, give an account of yourself, boy?' broke in Sidney, laying hold of Cottie by the shoulders and swinging her round. She wrenched herself free and looked at him haughtily and with flashing eyes. 'I shall not! Who are you?' she said, resentfully. 'You've no right to ask questions!' Sidney Bassington coloured angrily and bit his lip, and Sir Edward burst out laughing at his discomfiture. 'That's a neat one for you, old man. They turn 'em out sharp on the other side, evidently.' Then he shook his head at Cottie, but still smilingly. 'Don't you be so cheeky, youngster. This is a friend of mine—Mr. Bassington, Lord Starbough's nephew, and a neighbour. 'You'd better beg his pardon.' 'He'd better beg mine,' said Cottie. 'Why did he touch me?' She twitched her shoulder. 'Oh, come, you're not hurt,' said Sidney, with a sneer, 'and I should advise you to keep a civil tongue in your head.' He looked down at Sir Edward to Eva. 'Well, you know my opinion; I've given you my advice. I must be going now. Good-bye, Miss Eva.' With a bow to Sir Edward, and a sidelong scowl at Cottie, he swaggered out. Sir Edward looked after him and chuckled. 'Have a drink, youngster—a cigarette?' he said. 'I rather like the look of you, though you're too cheeky by half. Here, help yourself.' He waved his hand to the decanter and glasses on the table; but Cottie shook her head, and Eva, with a pained frown, laid her hand softly to hold her back. 'No, no, Edward; he's too young; don't you see!'

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY. This is the age of research and experiment, when all nature, so to speak, is analysed by the scientific method for the comfort and happiness of man. Science has indeed made giant strides during the past century, and among these, by no means least important, 'discoveries' in medicine comes that of THERAPION. This preparation is unquestionably one of the most genuine and reliable Patent Medicines ever introduced into the Continental Hospitals by RICHTER, ROSSIGNOL, JOBERT, VELOUX, BASTONNEVE, the well-known chemists, and indeed by all who are regarded as authorities in such matters, including the celebrated Lallemand and Roux, by whom it was some time since uniformly adopted, and that is worthy the attention of those who require such a remedy we think there is no doubt. From the time of Aristotle downwards, a potent agent in the removal of these diseases has like the famed philosopher—'Thalium'—been known to exist in the human system, and in the other so effectively, speedily and safely to expel from the system without the aid or even the knowledge of a second party, the poisons of acquired or inherited disease in all their protean forms as to have no name or trace behind it, such is THERAPION. The prevalence of many of the diseases of our day, about which so little is understood, and the increasing demand that has been created for this medicine wherever it is used, and the fact that it is destined to cast into oblivion all those questionable remedies that were formerly the sole reliance of medical men. Therapion may now also be obtained in Druggery (Tasteless) form.

What Many Men Need Dr. Bovel has a Prescription that "Sets" You Right Up

When a man has lost ambition to 'dig in' and stays at things—when he complains of headache, fullness in the right side, pain in the shoulder blade—its purely a case of 'Liver.' These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half paralyzed. Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets stimulate the liver into activity in one night. Being a mild vegetable medicine, they produce results in a few hours. The bilious headache and constipation are cured, spirits are cleared, animation returns. No thing in the calendar so effective for that tired, listless feeling as Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets. Very mild, don't interfere with work, invariably do lots of good. Try a 50c. box, for sale by all druggists and dealers. If your dealer cannot supply you, send direct to us.

BOVEL MFG. CO. St. Johns, Nfld. or Montreal, Ca. 'Oh, is he? I don't know. Only wanted to do the civil thing, my dear. Well, what are you going to do with him? Let him run loose here for awhile? Do! He'll amuse us, I'll swear! 'He is going to stay at Betty's,' said Eva. 'She will look after him and take care of him.' Sir Edward nodded and laughed. 'Oh, all right. Seems pretty able to take care of himself, though. Well, look in when you like, youngster. Here! Can you ride—sho?'

Cottie nodded. Her eyes were downcast now, and her manner quite changed, softened; for she was touched by his kindness, laissez faire though it was. Again it reminded her of Geoffrey, and she wondered how he could have such a man as that Mr. Bassington for a friend. 'Bravo! Somehow you look like a young sportsman. Well, we'll try and make a good time for you. Sure you won't have a cigarette? No? I'll bet my life you smoke on the sly! Why, I did it before I was half your age! Eva led Cottie away, with Sir Edward's musical, devil-may-care laugh following her. 'I—I am glad you did not drink anything or smoke,' said Eva, rather flatteringly. 'My brother—he is very kind; but he is careless and thoughtless—'

'I know,' said Cottie, shrewdly, once more thinking of Geoffrey, 'I like him. I didn't like the other. He's a beast! Eva flushed, but did not look very angry. To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT myself as well as prescribed it in my practice where a liniment was required and have never failed to get the desired effect. C. A. KING, M. D.

'You must not say that. It—it isn't gentlemanly, Ronald. I must call you Ronald.' 'Isn't it? It's true, though. Yes, call me Ronald. No, call me Ronnie; that's what Geoff—I mean, I like Ronnie best.' 'Well, Ronnie, then. And now you must have something to eat.' She ordered some refreshment to be brought into the hall and stood half-waiting upon, half-watching Cottie as she ate, calmly, and quite at her ease; with the ease of the wife and stray accustomed to evil and good fortune alike. 'And your clothes?' Eva said, presently, as if to herself. 'Oh, that's all right,' said Cottie. 'I've left a lot in my bag at the station.'

The vertical line disappeared from Eva's forehead. 'Really! I was feeling worried, for I don't know anything about a boy's clothes. Have you finished? Then you better go now. Do you think you can find your way to Betty's cottage?' Cottie raised her bright eyes and laughed. 'What a few hundred yards in a lane country like this! Why, I can track a bee-line through a pine forest to a town ship thirty miles off! Eva laughed. 'What a strange, quaint boy you are! Oh, I do hope you will be all right and happy! I seem answerable for you!' 'I shall be all right,' said Cottie, with sudden gravity. She took Eva's hand and looked up at the beautiful face with heartfelt gratitude. 'You've been very kind to me, and I—I don't know how to thank you. I'm afraid I've been an awful deal of trouble to you, and—' She put up her face instinctively; but as Eva, blushing, leant forward to meet the kiss, Cottie, with a little shiver of caution, drew back. 'I hate kissing!' she said, shortly; and, catching up her cap, ran out, leaving the gentle Eva in a whirl of confusion. Cottie, once outside the Hall, walked towards Betty's cottage slowly and soberly enough. She was collecting her thoughts and impressions—so much had happened since she had met the beautiful young lady, Miss Eva. For a moment or two she was depressed by and sighed over her lost money; but it was only for a moment or two; then she fell to thinking of Sir Edward and Mr. Bassington. The former reminded her of Geoff, and therefore she liked him; but the latter—Cottie's face grew hot and her eyes flashed as she thought of him. And at that moment, as she was grinding her teeth in resentment of his threatment of her, lo and behold! she saw that gentleman walking slowly ly down the lane. Instinctively, with the backwoods instinct, and with the desire to avoid him, she stepped through a gate into a meadow, intending to wait in hiding until he passed. At that moment a young woman came down the lane in the opposite direction. It was the young woman with the red hair and the red bar across her eyes. At sight of her, Sidney Bassington's face lit up, and he quickened his pace to meet her; but as if Richa Lane knew that she was being observed, she made a little warning gesture and passed Sidney Bassington with a formal bow. This by-play was not lost upon the quick-witted Cottie, be sure. She waited until the lane was clear, then she emerged from her hiding-place and went on to Betty's cottage. The old lady received her with a cordial but placid welcome. (To be Continued.)

Two Women Were Swept to Death. Hillsboro, N.H., March 27.—A motor boat rendered unmanageable by the sudden stopping of the engine was swept into a swift current and swept over the dam of the upper mill pond here to-day, hurling its occupants, the two young women, Mrs.

Itching Piles For 27 Yrs. Despaired of ever getting relief until cure came 3 years ago with use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT. Mr. John Johnson, Cawley, Alta., writes: 'Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of twenty-seven years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I could ever get from the terrible misery of piles. 'Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time now and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this Ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Any one doubting this can write direct to me.' Do not accept an imitation or substitute in place of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there has yet to be discovered a treatment which so promptly gives relief from itching and so thoroughly cures every form of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Nellie Darres, aged 20, and Miss Mildred Craig, aged 17, to their deaths below, while Wm. N. Parker, who was in charge of the boat, escaped by being thrown into the shallow water, from where he was able to reach the shore, although badly injured. The bodies of the two women were swept farther down the stream and were seen to go over a second dam. Although searching parties patrolled both sides of the river throughout the remainder of the day no further trace of the bodies were discovered. Mr. Parke, who is local agent for the Standard Oil Co., invited the women out for a trip on the pond to-day. The boat had scarcely left its moorings when trouble was experienced with the engine. While Mr. Parker was endeavoring to make repairs the boat drifted toward the centre of the pond where the spring freshets had created an unusually swift current. Before the occupants of the boat realized the danger of their position they were being drawn swiftly toward the dam. There were no oars in the boat and Mr. Parker was powerless to prevent the catastrophe. The boat overturned as it struck the flashboards of the dam and went tumbling down some fifteen feet into the water below. The women, it is believed, were caught beneath the boat, but Parker was thrown aside and was able to struggle ashore. On account of high water it is feared the bodies may not be recovered for some time. The motor boat will be a total loss.

The Evening Chit-Chat
 By RUTH CAMERON

Does your daily work exhaust you? Do you feel absolutely worn out, mind and body, and maybe soul, when you crawl into bed at night? Do you wonder how you can hold out to the end of the week and when Sunday comes wonder if you can get through another week? No, this is not a patent medicine advertisement, however much it may sound that way.

It is simply a suggestion that any woman who is doing more than she normally should and for whom it is impossible to take the big rests that she needs—and it's terrible how many come under that category—should make sure that she is taking all the little rests along the way that she possibly can.

What do I mean? Well, for one thing, how do you act in a train or car? Do you sit strenuously upright with every nerve aquiver, and every muscle tense, and every brain cell intent on the tasks that you are about to do or have just been doing, or do you try to relax your mind and body as much as possible and get all the rest you can out of these unoccupied moments?

For another thing, when you get home from your work at night, before you take up the activities of the evening, do you lie down and completely relax for a few moments? You ought to, you know. And, if possible, before you eat.

Absolutely nothing is so bad for the stomach as eating when tired. If every business man and woman who came home tired out would lie down and rest for fifteen or twenty minutes before eating, half the indigestion specialists in the country would have to go out of business.

For another thing, do you make full use of the soothing, restful effect of hot water? It is really marvelous how much of the tiredness and nervousness of the day, along with its grime, can be bathed away by five or ten minutes spent in having one's face in steaming hot water.

And do you also realize how much invigoration, how much strength to face the duties of the day, can be squeezed out of a few spongesful of cold water? To take a sponge bath you must steal perhaps ten minutes from your sleeping hours. It has been my experience, and that of every one else whom I ever knew who had the sponge bath habit, that if you had to steal five times that amount it would still be worth while in added strength and energy.

I do not believe that every one has the vitality necessary to benefit from a cold plunge, but I do think any one is the better for at least a cool sponge bath every morning.

And now, when the warm weather is coming on, is such a splendid time to begin.

Gypsy Smith, the great evangelist, once said:

"A fence on the edge of a precipice is better than a hospital at the bottom."

It is foolish, of course, to live so near this precipice of overwork or breakdown, but since there are so many of us who somehow seem to have to, isn't it better on the whole to build the fence of little rests and little helps, than to make use of the "hospital at the bottom"?

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

Given away.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Ammonia and water will remove red ink stains.

One cake of compressed yeast is equal to a cupful of liquid yeast.

Borax wet with peroxide of hydrogen will often remove black ink stains.

Nickle may be kept bright by being rubbed with wool saturated in ammonia.

A few shreds of candied orange peel will give a delicious flavor to a bread pudding.

Sweet pickles chopped and spread between sliced bread makes appetizing sandwiches.

All lard to fry fritters and doughnuts must be sizzling hot before putting in the batter.

A few drops of lemon juice added to eggs when they are being scrambled improves the dish.

Alcohol and whiting makes a good silver polish, excellent also for polishing plate glass mirrors.

Black lead mixed with vinegar will be found to give a specially good polish to the kitchen stove.

A piece of flannel dampened with spirits of camphor will remove stains from mirrors or window glass.

A weak solution of turpentine poured down the water pipe once a week will drive the water bugs away.

A clean flour sack spread on the table and well floured is an excellent substitute for a bread board.

There is nothing better to use under carpets than old newspapers, as moths do not like printers' ink.

Blood stains can generally be removed by soaking in cold water and salt. Follow with soap and water.

A large round bottle will serve very well as a rolling pin and is more hygienic than the wooden pin.

A good vegetable grater can be made from a tin pail by driving many holes through it with a nail.

If corn meal mush does not brown nicely when it is fried, try brushing over each slice with the white of an egg.

To remove a fresh mildew stain, wet in strong suds, cover with a paste of salt and soap, and put in the sun.

It is wiser both for economy and comfort to wear alternately two pairs of shoes instead of one pair every day.

Rub over new tinware with lard and thoroughly heat it in the oven before using it, and thus protect it from rust.

An easily made sandwich is composed of finely chopped sardines covered with salad leaves and moistened with the box oil.

Mr. Lloyd-George is famous of course, for his brilliant repartee and biting sarcasm. "I am here—" he remarked once at a political meeting, but before he had time to finish the sentence, a noisy interrupter had chimed in: "And so am I!"

But the retort was so quick as it was overwhelming. "Yes—but you are not all there!"

"What do our opponents really want?" he inquired in a recent speech. In the momentary pause that followed the question there came a voice husky from the effects of alcohol. "What I want is a change of Government."

"No, no," was the ready reply. "what you really want is a change of drink."—M. A. P.

Publish My Letter The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushby Who Was Premantly Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as a live." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushby, a well-known man in the plumbing and tin-smithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in The Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferruzone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

"Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nerviline." Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 25c.; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere or The Carrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

 (By the Man in the Moon.)

Plans for beautifying Montreal involve an outlay of $11,000,000.

Professor E. Metchnikoff, of Paris, has announced the discovery of a vaccine for typhoid.

The advance reservation of seats for the Johnson-Jeffries fight had reached $160,000 on the 27th March.

The whaler Sebastian reached British Columbia on March 23, after a passage of ninety-five days from St. John's.

The Pension Bill of the United States was passed on March 24. It carries appropriations aggregating $156,000,000.

"The Lord looks after children, drunken men and the United States," said President Taft at the University dinner in New York recently.

Thirty-five hundred dollars was taken recently from the safe of the United States gunboat Castine. Wonder they hadn't taken the gunboat.

Halley's comet appears to be still attracting considerable attention. There are records of it having been observed at twenty-nine different periods. It is mentioned in Chinese history as far back as 240 B.C.

The story of the deluge written on a tablet of clay and in a language that no tongue has spoken for three thousand years, is the discovery of a Pennsylvania Professor. He also states that his discovery tallies with the Bible story even in its minutest details.

A hen owned by a party in Toronto, Ontario, on March 26th laid an egg weighing a quarter of a pound. The egg was six and a half inches round and was eight inches the other. This was something like an egg, and the hen must have had a good conception of its duties (the day being Easter Saturday).

Great Britain still leads the world in commerce. According to a statement recently made by Mr. Lloyd-George in reply to some strictures by the Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain, the Chancellor said: "Our export of manufactured goods were 83,000,000 above Germany's; we are 296,000,000 above France; we are 118,000,000 above the United States; 156,000,000, so that our exports are greater than France and the United States put together."

Mrs. Russell Sage some time ago made an offer to the American Bible Society to donate $500,000 to its funds if it could raise an equal amount, and a short time ago the officials were able to announce that they had accomplished their task, and that subscriptions to the amount required to win Mrs. Sage's half million had been received, so that they were able to make the million dollar fund an Easter offering to the world.

The Governor Visits the Sealing Ships.

His Excellency the Governor and suite visited the s.s. Florizel on the South Side this morning and viewed with much interest the seals which were being landed. He was shown through the ship by Mr. E. Bowring, Mr. J. S. Munn and Capt. Kean. His Excellency was greatly interested in the different processes of landing, skinning and grinding.

Accident to S.S. Newfoundland.

On Saturday, the 26th March, while trying to butt through some heavy ice, the Newfoundland got nipped between two very heavy sheets of ice and was badly crushed, especially on the starboard side, near the engine room. As a result the discharge pipe became leaky. A box which was filled with cement was made and put over it, and though for a while she leaked badly this stopped the inrush of water effectively. Some of the men on board who have been to the fishery for the past 25 years say that they are the finest seals ever they put a knife in and should easily average 50 lbs. She has the weight of 35,000 seals such as has been brought in the past 20 springs, and her crew of 203 men hope to make $90 each. They believe the old ships will get fair cargoes of hoods.

Died at Halifax.

Mr. E. Gladney of this city had a wire from Halifax yesterday stating that his brother, Michael Gladney, had died there Tuesday last of heart trouble. Mr. Gladney, who was a native of this city, occupied a prominent position in the Queen's Hotel for several years. He was well liked and much respected by all who knew him, and his many friends here will be sorry to hear of his demise. He was in his 35th year and leaves a widow and child. His funeral, which was held Thursday last, was largely attended. The Telegram extends its sympathy to his bereaved relatives in St. John's.

Disgraceful Conduct.

Some young fellows of the East End behaved disgracefully yesterday by chasing a pig while the funeral procession of the late Ernest Snow was going to the cemetery at Forest Road. They drove the pig through the ranks several times, and continued till some gentlemen stopped them.

SCHOONERS ARRIVE.—Several schooners arrived here yesterday, mostly from Placentia Bay, for fishery supplies. They report big schools of herring at Ragged Islands. Eight bankers have already secured battings in the bay and one vessel of 8 dories took her full batting from four nets.

EX-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND THE VATICAN.

Special to Evening Telegram. ROME, April 3. The audience which it was believed ex-President Roosevelt would have with the Pope on Tuesday next will not occur owing to conditions which the Vatican has imposed and which Mr. Roosevelt refuses to accept. Although the definite negotiations relative to the audience ended before Mr. Roosevelt left Egypt, the announcement was withheld until after Mr. Roosevelt reached Rome to-night. At the solicitation of his American Catholic friends here, who believed that in the meantime the Vatican might change its attitude, one of the President's American friends who was with him in Egypt came to Rome yesterday without, however, any authorization from Mr. Roosevelt. Cardinal Merry Del Val, the Papal Secretary, endeavored to avoid a situation which as it now stands has caused a real sensation in Rome, although it was not entirely unexpected. While at Gondokoro in February last, Mr. Roosevelt wrote to Ambassador Delshman saying that he would be glad of the honor of an audience with King Victor Emmanuel and the Pope. The audience with the King was promptly arranged. Before an arrangement could be reached relative to an audience with the Pope, several telegrams were passed and the negotiations ended by Mr. Roosevelt declining in any way to be limited as to his conduct, and announcing that an audience with the Pope under the circumstances was now impossible, as a matter of fact, although declining to accept any conditions with his visit with the Pope, neither directly nor indirectly, during or after the negotiations, made or considered any engagements in Rome except those of an official character, and he actually entered Rome to-night with but two definite engagements—the audience with the King and the dinner to be given in his honor by the municipality. The failure to arrange an audience between Mr. Roosevelt and the Pope is expected to create a tremendous stir here as well as abroad, far overshadowing the importance of the incident in which Vice-President Fairbanks was in. Mr. Kennedy explained that on March 21st John W. Garrett, first Secretary of the Embassy, called on him to transmit Mr. Roosevelt's request for an audience with the Pontiff. On April 5th he said that Mr. Garrett insisted upon the word transmit, Mr. Kennedy immediately present the request to the proper Vatican authorities, and promised an answer as soon as possible. The following day, said Mr. Kennedy, I was authorized to send Mr. Roosevelt the first message, which is quoted in his statement as no Court in Europe granted restricted audiences. Mr. Roosevelt himself, said the Cardinal, when he was President, declined to receive persons unconditionally at the White House. Without giving the name of the person the Cardinal recalled a case where Pres. Roosevelt having been erroneously informed that a certain person was visiting him by the Authority of the Vatican, immediately sent a Cabinet Officer to the Apostolic Delegate at Washington to inform the Delegate that he would not receive his personage, but he meant no discourtesy to the Pope by his refusal. The Pontiff when he heard this replied: "I esteem Mr. Roosevelt more than ever."

The Negro Vote.

Special to Evening Telegram. ANNAPOLIS, April 2. The so-called "buggest bill" for the disfranchisement of the negro in all State and municipal elections in Maryland was passed by the Senate at a late hour last night, following its introduction earlier at the last night's session. They now go to the House, where their passage is assured because of the large democratic majority in that body. It is not proposed to attempt to prevent negroes voting at Congressional or Presidential elections, the restriction applying only to State and municipal elections.

U.S. Protectorate For Liberia.

Special to Evening Telegram. BERLIN, April 3. A U. S. protectorate in Liberia is as good as settled, says the Neueste Nachrichten, which also says: "The hurried departure of the German gunboat Sperber from Liberia and the official explanation which makes a more complete than serious impression, this full speed astern may have a more serious than comic background. Certainly it is not before the Negro Republic, but before the Stars and Stripes, which have made this concentration to the rear."

Daily News Messages.

New York, April 3rd.—Fifty-one days out from Capetown, the schooner Latooka, arrived here after a thrilling six months' battle with ice in South Antarctic waters. On her way to the sealing grounds she sprang a leak, and put into Rio Janeiro. Prior to reaching Rio, the crew were forced to stand at the pumps for nearly a week. Capt. Ryan says that only the heroism of his Newfoundland crew kept the ship afloat.

Berlin, April 3rd.—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William, will be a member of the advance expedition of Zeppelin's North Pole flight in 1912. The party will sail in July.

Philadelphia, April 3rd.—All peace negotiations have been called off, and so far as the strike is now, both sides are marking time.

New York, April 3rd.—Lyngstrom, from Sweden, won the professional Marathon Derby. Time: 2 hrs. 34 mins., 52-5 seconds.

San Sebastian, April 3rd.—Another French aviator, Hubert Seblon, met his death while making a flight in his aeroplane. His wife witnessed the disaster.

CAPE REPORT.

Special to Evening Telegram. CAPE RACE, To-Day. Wind N. fresh, weather clear. The S. S. Siberian passed in at 10 a.m.; several schooners passed in and west yesterday and to-day. Bar. 29.53; ther. 30.

The Governor Has Narrow Escape.

Whilst driving down Water Street this morning at 11.45, the Governor's carriage, which contained His Excellency, Miss Dean, Private Secretary Fitzherbert and Lieut. Gale, A.D.C., was hit by a street car. The carriage was crossing from the south side of the street to the north side. The driver did not see the car coming down Adelaide Street, and as it turned the corner it hit the rear end of the carriage. Fortunately the occupants of the carriage escaped without receiving any injury.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day three drunks were discharged and one was fined $1 or 3 days. Another was fined $1.50 or 3 days. A disorderly was fined $2 or 7 days. A drunk was discharged on paying cash hire. Two men arrested by Sergt. Byrne for stealing a pants valued at $2.50 from the store of Mr. John Harris, Water Street, pleaded not guilty and were remanded to admit of further evidence being prepared.

Seal Stealing.

The annual cry of seals stolen at the icefields is again about. It is said that a steamer now in port had several thousand seals pilfered and that men from other ships when the pans were wheeled away by wind and tide could be seen hauling seals from them after destroying the flags. The crews are incensed as a result and litigation will follow. A report is about to-day that on the arrival of one of the larger ships now out an action for $10,000 will be entered in court against another vessel for the purloining of her fat.

Here and There.

The west bound express left Port aux Basques at 8.35 a.m. yesterday and is due at St. John's at 3.30 p.m. to-day.

SCHOOLS OPEN.—St. Mary's, Bishop Feild and Bishop Spencer schools opened to-day after the Easter holidays.

WEATHER REPORT.—Along the line to-day the wind is N.W. light and dull, snowing in places; temperature 25 to 35 above.

MRS. McCOURT ILL.—We regret to learn that Mrs. McCourt, Duckworth Street East, is very ill to-day and her recovery is doubtful.

FLIPPER SUPPERS.—Several Flipper suppers will take place to-night including the O'Neil billiard tournament dinner at Wood's restaurant.

Now 27 cases of small pox at Grand press last evening to be with her husband at Halifax, who is now very ill having been poisoned by eating canned goods recently.

MORE SMALL POX.—There are now 27 cases of small pox at Grand River, 3 having developed since Saturday. These are people living in houses already infected.

THE FLORIZEL'S AVERAGE.—The Florizel started discharging at daylight this morning and should finish Friday evening. Her seals are showing the splendid average of 48 lbs.

AT ST. PATRICK'S.—At 11 a.m. yesterday Rossi's Mass was sung by the choir under Professor Flynn at St. Patrick's Church, the music being of a very high order. Rev. M. Power was the celebrant. He also celebrated a Missa Cantata to-day and preached a very eloquent sermon.

The Municipal Council held a special meeting this morning and decided to tax all the motion picture shows in the city at the rate of 4 per cent. on the gross receipts. As the gross receipts would be in the neighborhood of $40,000, this would give the Council $1,600 per annum.

MISS TRELLEGAN DEAD.—The sympathy of their many friends will go out to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trelleghan on the death of their eldest daughter, Lilly, who passed away at noon to-day. The deceased young lady was in her 21st year and succumbed to an illness of several months' duration.

BORN.

On April 2nd, to Mr. and Mrs. Terence Kennedy, a son.

DIED.

At noon to-day, after a long illness, Lillian, the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Trelleghan, aged 22 years, died at her late residence, 24 New Gower Street. Friends and acquaintances will please accept this, the only, intimation.—R.I.P.

Shannahan on Love of Country.

Did you ever meet a fellow hailing from Canada or the States, a quick kind of a rooster that looks away in the distance while he talks to you, a fellow that you'd swear lived in the busiest city on the face of the globe. His talk, his belief in the capabilities of the country that gave him birth, and his general get-up imbues you with the idea that he is an exceptionally smart man, and that he came from a country where money is to be picked up. If he wasn't here for the purpose of making more money and trying to induce our people to give him several healthy orders, you'd think he was a philanthropist who struck the town to present us with a dozen or two sprinkling carts, or to devise some patent to do away with the goats up about the Cross Roads, or that he, in his generosity, brought with him a drier to dry up the mud which will stick to us like a bad shilling, till the sun comes out sufficiently strong to dry it up.

That, for unfortunately we lack in pushing our country, and are more likely to err on the other side. This is the age of advertising, and who will be found mad enough to say that advertising don't count. Too much fault-finding with ourselves has been the drawback of this "Land of ours," and we are too ready to listen to the fairy tales of the man from away back without asking him to light another cigar and stay awhile, till we relate to him the beauties of our country and the great possibilities that are within our reach. Talk, talk, keep on talking wherever you are about our great country. The man who bores you about his is living in some little remote place with one schoolhouse run by a touchy old maid, but these people have acquired the habit of talking up their country; their fathers before them did it, and if you notice when you tell a good lie eight or ten times you'll soon start in to believing that you are telling the truth. Lying in business they say is no sin, and I don't think our people will be treated hard by St. Peter at the gate if in their boasting of our country we err on the right side.

LABORERS FOR SYDNEY.—The s.s. Coburn, which finished discharging coal at Placentia Saturday evening, took about 50 men, natives of Carbonear, to Sydney to work in the mines there. They came over by train to Placentia.

CROWDS VISIT STATION.—Crowds of people from the city yesterday afternoon climbed up Signal Hill to the Cabot Tower, and though it was very cold up there on the heights, the prospect seaward well repaid the visitors. It was hoped that a steamer would leave in sight, but all were disappointed in this.

NINE PRISONERS ARRESTED.—Though the saloons closed an hour earlier Saturday night, there was a good deal of drunkenness evident and the police jailed nine prisoners. Six of these were disorderlies and three drunks. Three disorderlies were released yesterday on depositing $5 each.

USED BAD LANGUAGE.—A respectably dressed young man, about "half seas over," used some pretty bad language near the Bank of Montreal in the presence of a crowd of citizens Saturday night, and though warned by Const. Stamp, he persisted. The officer with another, despite his struggles to get away, gave him the double quick to the lockup.

HOW TO REACH THE SOUTH POLE.

Lieutenant Shackleton Tells How the Trick May be Turned, the Main Thing Being Plenty of Solid Food.

New York, March 29.—When the Cunard liner Lusitania arrived at her pier the chief object of interest on her deck was a bronzed, clean-shaven man, slightly above the average height and well built, wearing a blue serge suit and a derby hat. He was Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, who went within 111 miles of the South Pole, and has come to the United States to deliver a series of lectures on "Farthest South," beginning at Carnegie Hall on Tuesday night, March 29. Sir Ernest was very decided on four points: He believed that Peary reached the North Pole; refused to discuss Dr. Cook; would not take command of any expedition to the South Pole until Capt. Scott had made his attempt to reach that goal, and was confident that the latter would get there if his expedition was properly equipped.

"The success of an expedition to the South Pole," said Sir Ernest Shackleton, "depends on the stamina of the men, their equipment, and most important of all, the food. If we had had fifty pounds more solid food we should have reached our goal, as the conditions for travelling were good, and the 111 miles that separated us from it were over practically flat ice. As far as we could see with the Zeiss glasses there was no obstruction ahead. Our range was only four or five miles on the horizon, but a barrier of ice of any considerable height would have been visible between our position and the South Pole. There might have been a rise of 100 feet or so, but nothing that could not have been surmounted."

"What do you mean by solid food?" he was asked.

Always Hungry.

"By that," replied the explorer, "I mean cheese, pemmican and plasmon biscuits. Those do not contain moisture. The pemmican we carried was different from the American kind as it was composed of 60 per cent. of lard and the best parts of beef. It is called Boverly pemmican and comes from Copenhagen, where they understand the preparation of foods for expeditions into the frozen regions of the earth. From Nov. 14, 1908, to Feb. 23, 1909, our party was always hungry, except on Christmas Day, when we divided a four-ounce plum pudding into four parts and licked the spoons. We had another luxury that day in a tin of frozen sardines, which contained seventeen fish. After taking four each we tossed our knives on the ice for the odd one. We started to take a tin of jam with us, but as it weighed two pounds we

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Headache five minutes later.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-inforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach, or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.

Go to your drugist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

"Only Six Weeks to Live"

Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Rheumatism.

A Dying Woman Rescued through the timely use of DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS.

"My doctor told me I had only six weeks to live—that nothing human could help me, but to-day I am hearty and well, because I took a long treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they saved my life."

Continuing her declaration Mrs. Jamieson says, "I had from childhood been a sufferer from biliousness and liver complaint. I suffered excessively from wind and could not eat my food without feeling ill afterwards. Sometimes I was so bad I couldn't stand up straight for the pain. The wind settled in my stomach, chest and sides, and always caused blinding headaches. At times I seemed one mass of aches and pains—I became rheumatic because my blood was so poor. The benefit I received from the first box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills encouraged me and I continued their use, three to five pills a week, for several months and was brought to the most perfect condition of health."

If you suffer from constipation, flatulence, indigestion, palpitation, anaemia, headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness, depression, general debility, loss of appetite, liver and kidney troubles, acute and chronic dyspepsia, or any form of stomach or digestive weakness, you may look with certain hope for a complete cure by the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Safe, mild and sure to cure. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers or The Catarrhose Company, Kingston, Ont.

"The prevailing wind was south and southeast. The distance we travelled on foot as the crow flies was only 639 miles, but with back marches and relays we really covered 1,755 miles. Sometimes we marched six miles to make three forward, and even more to avoid bad places, as it was hard work hauling our equipment. The Manchurian ponies were of great service to us, as we used them until they were worn out, and then shot the animals and dined on the steaks. The rest of the meat was frozen and carried on. The mean temperature taken at the base of supplies was below zero, summer and winter, but with a wind blowing it was much colder. We had the sun night and day, as it was midsummer in the antarctic, but there was no warmth in its rays. Our party was very fortunate in having fourteen days' continuous fine weather, which was purely luck. Weather conditions enter largely into the success of an expedition to the South Pole. I intend to make another trip to the south, probably in 1911, on a larger scale, but it will be entirely for scientific purposes, and not to get to the Pole."

The explorer explained that the ice in the South was land ice and that it had been shown that there was a continent of some 4,000,000 miles of land there. This is not the first time the explorer has visited this country. In 1903 he travelled overland from San Francisco on his return from an expedition in the Discovery, and in 1894 he was in New York for two months as officer on one of the China steamships.

Mr. Melton Prior, the war artist, tells how during the Ashantee War, on going up the hill into the town of Kumassi with the troops under Lord (then Sir Garnet) Wolseley, he was so tired and "done up" that he could scarcely walk. He was struggling along, when Lord Wolseley, mounted on a mule, passed, and without more ado he laid hold of the mule's tail. He had been assisted thus far but a short distance when Lord Wolseley turned round and saw what he was doing. Of course, he apologized, but Wolseley only laughed, and replied, "Hold on, Mr. Prior, we will pull you in."

24,000 SEALS!

Newfoundland Entered Port Last Midnight Hailing for the Above Trip of Prime Harps.

The s.s. Newfoundland, Capt. Jacob Kean, arrived here from the icefields at midnight with 24,000 prime young harps. From Capt. Kean we learn that after the ship left Westville on the morning of March 12th, in company with the wooden ships, she ran until off the Barracks of Foxe, when she burnt down. Continuing on the 18th at daylight she had hard work of it for about 6 days in trying to force through the floe, which was exceedingly heavy. On the afternoon of Friday, the 18th, the ship reached the patch from which the Florizel, Algerine, Eagle, Bellaventure and the others procured their seals. There were still many whitecoats about, and on Saturday, the 19th, the crew turned to with a will and by dark had killed and panned 11,000 seals. On Sunday, the 20th, the crew worked hard picking up the pans, hoisting the seals on board and stowing them in the hold. On Monday, March 21st, with the first flash of dawn, all were quickly over the side and did a fine day's work, accounting for 9,000 pelts by nightfall. Something over 3,000 each day for the 22nd and 23rd were added to the ship's fare and she commenced to sit low in the water. On Thursday, March 24th, something over 2,000 were cleaned up, and the patch seemed to be pretty well "all in" owing mostly to the fact that several ships had come in from the eastward and had secured their quota on the 21st and 22nd. The vessel had been picking up pans from the 25th March until Thursday last, the 31st, but after that date it was found difficult to reach the pans, and most of the seals were hauled on board. On the morning of Friday last the last seals were put on board. The ship was well filled below the hatches, several pounds of seals were placed on deck, and then the captain decided to bear up for home, the ship then being about 60 miles E.N.E. of the Funks. She had fine weather coming south, and Capt. Kean reports that yesterday morning he saw the Beothic and Eagle away to the eastward, forcing through the ice, and believes they were following the hoods. Thursday evening last the Adventure was seen bound east and looking light, she was evidently making for the old fat. The Neptune was not seen since March 19th, nor was any report heard from her, so that it is thought she must have struck the hoods and may yet have a big trip of fat. The young seals have now taken to the water and the only chance for the wooden steamers is to get a round turn on the hoods. The prospects for some of them are not bright, however. This is Capt. Jacob Kean's fourth year in command, and he has been a very successful skipper. In the Virginia Lake he loaded her twice, but last year lost her in heavy rattling ice. We congratulate Capt. Kean on his well merited success. The following ships are reported by Capt. Kean, and their fares are:

Eagle	29,000
Aurora	9,000
Ranger	4,000
Adventure	3,000
Bloodhound	3,000
Erik	3,000
Diana	3,000
Seals in port	141,000
	151,000
Total	292,000

Should the Neptune secure the estimated 15,000 old and the Labrador and Kite 5,000 each, this would give an aggregate of 317,000. Vessels like the Bonaventure, Beothic, Aurora, Adventure and Eagle should at least add 20,000 additional to the catch, so that at the very least 340,000 seals should be the aggregate for the spring of 1910.

Do You Know Your Ailment

Or is it a complication which can be reached only by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

There is only one medicine that can prove thoroughly satisfactory in complicated ailments of the liver and kidneys, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

They begin by regulating the bowels and awakening the action of the liver, thereby effecting a thorough cleansing of the excretory system. By thus removing the poisons from the system they lighten the work of the kidneys and gradually restore them to health. Nobody who once learns of the definite and certain action of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating and invigorating the kidneys, liver and bowels, is willing to take chances by experimenting with other medicines.

Such ailments as biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and kidney disease yield readily to this treatment.

Cochrane St. Church.

On Thursday evening, at the above church, there will be held a Recital, in which the Easter music will have a large part. One vocal number is a Meditation by Dr. B. Agutter, in which the well-known hymn, "On the Resurrection Morning," is used. The Anthem is, "Lo, the Tomb is Empty," by Broome, the solos being taken by Miss Vincent (soprano), and Miss Herder (contralto). Some who heard this piece on Easter Sunday thought that it surpassed any that this choir has done. Dr. Macpherson has kindly consented to sing an Easter solo, and we feel sure the congregation will have a real treat in this. There are four organ numbers, and the beauty and variety of the stops in the magnificent organ in the church will be brought out. The admission is free to all, and ushers will welcome and provide you with seats.

Pansy Theatre.

The special attraction to this week's theatre-goers will be the Vaudeville show at the Pansy Theatre, Mechanics Hall. The special engagement of Archer and Forrester's new Comedy, Novelty and Biograph Co., commences this afternoon and night. Mr. Archer, Manager of the Company, will perform marvellous feats of skill, including wire walking, and other novelty acts. See Foxy, the highest diving dog in the world, descend from the top window of the Mechanics' Hall. Moore and Butt the famous singers, dancers and sketch artists will also give some clever exhibitions. The principal feature is the thrilling and sensational moving pictures, that were never shown in St. John's before, but were brought by the Company directly for the purpose. Another attraction is the exceptionally good singing to be heard, which is a very rare treat to St. John's theatre-goers. This is one of the cheapest shows of its kind in the city. Bennett's full brass band will furnish the music. There will be three changes this week and two performances every night. Matinee for children 5 cents; adults 10 cents. Evening 10 cents to any part of the Hall.

A Good Suggestion.

The suggestion has been made, and we think it a good one, that both the Captains Kean now landing seals here should send some flippers to the old sealers who are now residents of the Poor House. We believe there are several old timers there, and certainly Mr. Prudeaux would see that they were looked for. Such a kindly action would be appreciated.—Com.

Injured on the Newfoundland.

A man named Short, of Bonavista, one of the crew of the Newfoundland, shortly after the ship left for the icefields fell into the hold, striking a distance of about 15 feet on the deck below and sustaining severe injuries to his chest. It was thought at first his collar bone was broken, but such was not the case. He was laid off for several days but is now all right.

One Man Political Meetings.

Orators and Others Who Have Faced an Audience of One.

It is reported that during the late election a Socialist speaker delivered an oration to a one-man audience at a street corner in a town in the North of England. When he mounted a wagon for the purpose of making a speech he expected to soon gather a crowd, but just before he commenced a Unionist speaker set up in opposition a few yards away and the people flocked in his direction. The Socialist was left with only one supporter, and yet we are told the speaker delivered a capital speech.

One-man meetings are not uncommon. Mr. Paveett held forth in the House of Commons to the Speaker only on the evening of February 16th, 1871. The occasion was the grant of £20,000 to Princess Louise on her marriage, and men of all shades of opinion withdrew from St. Stephen's in order to mark their disapproval of the course adopted by the blind statesman. In the division that followed the hon. member found himself alone in the "Nog's" lobby.

Obtaining the Ratepayers' Sanction. Some years ago a meeting was held in the Birmingham Town Hall in order to obtain the ratepayers' sanction for the promotion of a Parliamentary Bill for the city dealing with financial matters. The Lord Mayor and the members of the council appeared on the platform, but only one rate-payer turned up, and he was the organizer of the Liberal Unionist Association. Nevertheless, the Mayor explained the provisions and aims of the proposed Bill to the "audience," and asked for questions from "any rate-payer present."

Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, while on a lecturing tour stayed at Levan, a small town in Fifehire, where he was "booked" for one night. When Forbes arrived at the hall he was non-plussed to find that it was empty. After waiting some minutes past the advertised time for delivering the lecture, one man put in an appearance, and he proved to be a commercial traveller who was staying over night in the place. No one else came, so Forbes strode down to the front of the platform and said to the "audience," "Will you have a drink or will you have the lecture?" "A drink," promptly replied the "audience." "And," said the war correspondent afterwards, "he got one; in fact, he got several."

Irving's Audience.

The late Sir Henry Irving had even a worse experience. Years before he became famous he announced that he would give a reading at Llanthgo, and most elaborate preparations were made for taking money. The hall was opened at eight o'clock on the appointed night, but there was no sign of a rash. The time slipped by and still the audience failed to put in an appearance. At last Irving walked upon the stage and pulled up the curtain.

"Half-past eight," he exclaimed, "and not a single soul in the place, not even a small dog!"

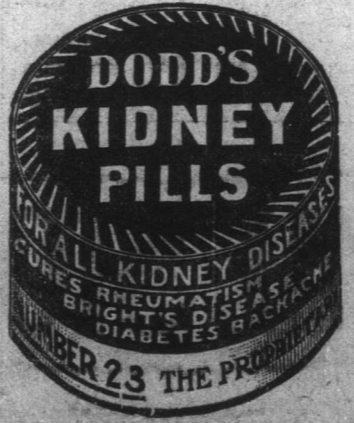

He beat a hasty retreat, and returned to Edinburgh.

A Command Performance.

A sailor paid Stephen Kemble £20 for a theatrical performance for his special behoof. He insisted that no one but himself should be admitted to the theatre, and on Kemble asking what play he would like he replied:—"Let me have the old boy with the fore-castle, built like a Dutch lugger, and lurching like a Spanish galleon in a heavy sea. Give me Sir John Falstaff."

The famous Odeon, in Paris, had an audience one only at a time when cholera was raging in the city. The man who made up the audience demanded to have the play acted, and it was acted accordingly. When the play was over he rose and thanked the actors and actresses for their excellent representation, and expressed his entire satisfaction with all—Tit-Bits.

The return of the belt to the normal waist line has given a renewed impetus to the blouse. It is again in evidence and distinctive in style. Many of these charming separate blouses are in colored chiffon, elaborately trimmed with gold and silver embroideries or with lace studded with imitation stones, to match the tone of the accompanying skirt.

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Breadmade from contains more nourishment than any other, because it contains the greatest amount of gluten, the health-giving nutriment of wheat.

Tendered a Farewell

On Easter Monday a concert was given and a farewell dinner tendered at St. George's to His Grace Archbishop McNeil in the Community Room of the Mercy Convent. Besides His Grace there were present:—Revs. Monsignor Brown, Fathers Joy, McNeil, Power, Pincault, P. Sears (of California), Dr. McDonald and Mr. A. Nolan.

A superb menu was provided, and the concert was a very enjoyable treat given by past and present pupils of the Convent. The pupils later met His Grace and the clergy in St. Michael's Academy when Miss Anastasia Gillis, teacher at the Highlands, read a beautifully illuminated address and presented His Grace on behalf of the young ladies present a beautiful green silk purse containing $80 in gold. His Grace made a touching reply in thanking them and then awarded prizes to those who were successful in their scholastic work for the past term. The premiums consisted of medals and handsomely bound books mostly and were awarded to Hugh Bruce, Mary Keating, Ethel Abbott, Rose Healey, Stella Delaney, Ada LeRoux, Lilly Chafe, Lizzie Healey and Lizzie Quilly.

His Grace leaves St. George's two weeks hence for his new Archdiocese, Vancouver, B. C., and will probably spend a short time visiting his friends and relatives in Nova Scotia.

At the R. C. Cathedral.

Rev. Fr. Fyme celebrated Mass Cantata at 11 o'clock yesterday. Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan preached a sermon on the Resurrection from the gospel of the day.

At Vespers Rev. Fr. Sheehan occupied the pulpit and preached a sermon on the lessons to be learned from the Resurrection of Our Divine Lord from the dead.

FEAST OF THE ANNUNCIATION.

The Feast of the Annunciation was observed to-day at the R. C. Cathedral and the Masses were celebrated at the same hours as on Sunday. As the real date of the Feast, the 25th March, fell on Good Friday this year, the observance of the day was postponed till to-day. Large congregations attended the church.

Who Was Wolfall?

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I should be glad if any of your learned historians of Newfoundland would kindly answer a question, viz.:—Who was this Wolfall, and in what vessel did he come and when did the circumstance take place?

I have copied the subjoined quotation from an article on Thanksgiving Day in America, by Herbert W. Honvill, published in the Sunday at Home, for November 1909.

"Not that this was the first occasion on which a religious service on North American soil had consisted mainly of the giving of thanks for past mercies. The first service of this kind was held in 1578 by an English minister named Wolfall, on the shores of Newfoundland, and therefore a territory that is still a British possession."

Yours sincerely,
CHARLES W. HOLLANDS, R.D.
The Parsonage, Trinity, March 29th, 1910.

Schr. Empire Here.

The schr. Empire, Capt. D. Scanlan, arrived here yesterday forenoon to Monroe & Co., after a passage of 20 days from Oporto with 17 pipes of wine and some ballast. The vessel would have made the run in 12 days but for heavy weather while making this coast during the past ten days when gales of N. W. and S. W. winds, a big sea and snow, sleet and rain made running next to impossible, and the vessel had to lay to for considerable periods. The mainsail was torn into shreds by the force of the storms encountered, but the vessel proved herself a splendid seaboat. Captain and crew are well.

Tender corns, painful corns, soft corns, bleeding corns. The kind of corns that other remedies have failed to cure; that's a good many—lye quickly to Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. 7000 Watches Stolen

From New York Wharf While Waiting Shipment to London.

Boston, March 28. — The biggest theft of watches reported in many years, was made known to this city to-night, when a large watch manufacturing concern of Waltham announced that 7,000 watches valued at $20,000, were stolen from a pier in New York last Wednesday, while waiting shipment to London on the steamer Campania. The news of the loss was kept secret by the insurance people in the hope of capturing the thieves. With the watches disappeared at the same time a horse and wagon belonging to the National Express Company. It is said that as the watches are numbered the robbers will have hard work to dispose of them, as jewellers have been notified.

Grand Concert at Southern Bay.

One of the most enjoyable concerts ever held in this settlement took place on Easter Monday night. The screen arose at eight o'clock mid a packed house of eager faces. The decorations were a type of grandeur and the hall was tastefully lighted.

A flag drill, the first ever seen in this place, introduced by Miss C. March, was a grand success. The whole programme was rendered in a most exquisite manner. Too much praise cannot be given to Mrs. Jas. March for her great interest taken from start to finish; nothing in her power was thought too much trouble, and at the last meeting of the St. John's Society the members showed their appreciation of her labours.

We would wish to thank Rev. Fr. Lynch for his assistance, and likewise the members of the Society who assisted in building the stage. Refreshments were served liberally after the programme was rendered, and we tripped the light fantastic until the rising sun.

And we all joined in saying Our day was just begun.
SALLY & TOM SCOVENDYKE,

Almost Broke Leg.

Saturday night a man who was well under the influence of drink, in passing down Lime Street at its junction with New Gower Street, put one of his legs into a hole and fell heavily to the ground. He screamed with pain and passersby thought his leg was broken. Sergt. Byrne and Const. Tucker came to his aid, and after examining the limb found it was not seriously hurt, though the man had a narrow escape.

McMurdo's Store News

MONDAY, April 4, 1910.

You may not need a Shaving Brush to-day, but you will, perhaps, in a few weeks time. When you do, be sure and get the Rubberset, the kind which has hairs that are made to stay in. The Rubberset Shaving Brush will stand any fair test. Several styles and prices from 70c. to $1.60.

We are still selling the Ever Ready Safety Razor (12 blades complete) at the standard price of $1. The Ever Ready is by far the most popular low priced Safety Razor in the market and will well repay you in the ease and comfort you will have in shaving. Don't forget the standard price, $1.—adv.

Larceny of Clothes.

Saturday evening a man passing up Water Street saw a suit of ready-made clothing hanging on a hook outside the door of Mr. John Harris's dry goods store. He deliberately took the clothing from the hook and started away quickly. He seemed to be very excited, dropped the coat and vest and held on to the pants, and had the audacity to run up over Market House Hill with his booty, passing the police station. He got away but the police have a good description of him and will run him to earth.

C.L.B. Funeral.

The funeral of the late Ernest Snow, a C.L.B. boy, took place yesterday afternoon in the Church of England Cemetery and was largely attended. Besides the C.L.B., which turned out in full force, squads attended from the Methodist Guards, C.C.C. and the Highlanders. The C.L.B. played the Dead March in Saul on entering the cemetery. The service was read by Rev. G. H. Bolt, and the consigning of the body to the last resting place was a most impressive ceremony.

Boy Breaks Arm.

As a lad named Andrews, a member of the C. L. B., was coming down over Signal Hill at a rapid pace yesterday he stumbled and falling with great force broke his left arm just below the elbow. He suffered intense pain and his comrades assisted him home when a doctor was procured and the broken bone properly set.

Reported Missing.

Saturday evening a woman named Shute, of 53 Springdale Street, reported to the police that her son James, aged 14, left his home at 8.30 a.m. on Friday last and had not returned up to the time she acquainted the police. He left to go on board a sealing steamer on the South Side, and the police believe he is still with friends over there.

A NEW TAIL SHAFT.—A new tail shaft for the S. S. Rosalind was brought here by the Almeriana from Glasgow on her last trip. It was very heavy, weighing about 5 tons, and it was placed on the deck of the ship Saturday and will be placed in position in New York.

EVENING TELEGRAM FASHION PLATES.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

8702—A Simple House Dress in Semi-Princess Style.

A deep tuck-over the shoulder in front and back gives the necessary fullness for this design. The waist gathers in easily at front and back and is joined to four skirt gores, that with the panel front completes the body portions of this desirable model. The sleeves are finished at the elbow with a neat cuff that is mounted on a straight band cuff, which in itself forms a desirable sleeve finish. The back of the skirt portion has an inverted plait. This design may be developed in gingham, lawn, dimity or linen. Cloth in light weights will also be suitable. As a house dress or a simple afternoon gown the model will be very appropriate. The pattern is cut in six sizes—32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 inches bust measure, and requires 7½ yards of 44 inch material for the 36 inch size.

Brand New Liner to Carry Royalty.

The Balmoral Castle Selected for the Prince and Princess of Wales to Journey to South Africa.

London, March 29.—Through chartering the Union Castle liner Balmoral Castle for the Prince and Princess of Wales' trip to South Africa to open the first parliament of the Union the Admiralty selected a perfectly new vessel for their Royal Highnesses. The Balmoral Castle has not yet had her baptism of blue water; but will have made two voyages before the royal party start out on board her. She is so luxuriously fitted out that it is not expected the Admiralty will make any extensive alterations to fit her for the accommodation of the Prince and Princess and the others of their party.

The decorations of the saloons and lounges are in the Louis XVI and Sheraton styles, and they are magnificently furnished and upholstered in keeping with these designs. The catering arrangements are superb. There are steam carving tables in the pantries, patent automatic egg boilers and an electrically driven dough mixer, while the refrigerating plant will take 60,000 pounds of fresh meat, 6,000 head of poultry and 10,000 pounds of fresh and dried fish.

Strangled by Her Swing Rope.

Child Asleep in Swing Fell Out and Was Hanged.

Vancouver, B.C., March 29.—The two-and-a-half year old son of James Hazlett, 637 Fourteenth avenue east, was strangled by the rope of a swing. It is supposed he fell asleep on the swing, tumbled off it, and that the rope twisted around his neck. The child's mother, happening to look from the window, saw the little lifeless form dangling on the rope.
