The 2nd Ntld. Battalian

The approval by the Newfoundland Government of the suggestion of Major Whittaker, commanding at the Depot at Newton on Ayr, that the unit there shall no longer be called the "Depot," but the 2nd Battalion of the Newfoundland Regiment will we believe be generally approved. The advantages in dealing with the War Office on administrative matters, set forth by Major Whittaker, are endorsed by Sir Edgar Bowring, who has been sparing neither his time, energies or purse in watching over the welfare of the Newfoundland forces. Major Whittaker, however, speaks of it as a reinforcing unit, and must do so, as long as the standard laid down by the Government remains one active battalion to be kept at full laid down by the Government remains one active battalion to be kept at full one active battalion to be kept at full strength by reinforcements to make good the losses caused by deaths, wounds and sickness. This is quite a different matter than setting up a standard of two active battalions with necessary reinforcements. Recruiting has now reached a standatill, and the opportunity now presents itself for the Government to state definitely what they intend to do. Is it the intention to keep the standard at one active battalion and reinforcements? This is a matter which cannot be settled by the Patriotic Association or any non-government body. Such a body must wait a clear lead from the Government. So far no lead has been given. If that standard should be set

OPPOSES AGITATION FOR REPEAL OF COMPULSION BILL.

The Labor Congress adopted by a vote of 1,716,000 against 360 a declaration opposing the Military Service Bill, which has been passed by Parliament. A proposal to agitate for its repeal was defeated by 649,000 against 614,000.

Parliament was prorogued yester-day until February 15. In proroga-ting the King said: "We shall not lay down our arms until we have vindi-cated the cause which carries with it cated the cause which carries with it future civilization." The speech was the briefest on record on such an occasion, but his reference to the war were regarded as highly important: "For eighteen months my navy and "For eighteen months my navy and covernment believed it to be its duty to facilitate the work of the relief commission, but only as long as that "For eighteen months my navy and army has been engaged in concert with the breave and steadfast Allies defending our common liberties from time to time by His Majesty's Government. The Parliamentary Unand overseas to carry our flag to a final and decisive victory in this struggle forced upon us by those who hold in light esteem liberties which we regard as sacred. We shall not lay down our arms until we have vin-dicated the cause which carries with it future civilization. I rely with confidence upon loyal united efforts in all my subjects which have never failed me, and I pray that Almighty God may give us His blessing." The King thanked the Commons for the unthanked the Commons for the un-grudging liberality with which it has provided for the heavy demands of war. The speech was read by Baron Provided for the heavy demands of war. The speech was read by Baron Ruckmester of Chedbington Lord war. The speech was read by Baron Buckmaster, of Chedbington, Lord

LONDON, To-day, The doubt which appears to have arisen in some quarters as to whether German control was being exercised over the relief work of Belgium was voiced in the Commons yesterday by Sir Charles Henry, who asked Lord Robert Cecil whether further supplies of food and other commodities should be sent to Belgium, and upon being assured that further supplies were necessary, asked for assurances there was no German control. The denunciation of the exportation of arms and ammunition to belligerents in the world war has been voiced in the United States Senate by a dozen Senators, Democrats and Republicans, in a debate which followed upon the presentation to the Senate of a huge petition from an organization of American women for strict neutrality. The calling for the enactment of an embargo by legislation seemed to presage that a vote may be forced upon the embargo resolution now pending before the Foreign Relations Committee.

Prohibition in War Time Only.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.-Dominion-wide prohibition during war time is advocated in a resolution of which H. P. Stevens, Conservative member for Vancouver, has given notice.

While the resolution is somewhat different from that proposed by the Dominion Alliance, it is calculated to produce practically the same result, except that it does not cover the suggested period of three years after

Mr. Stevens will move: "That at this time, when the Empire is at war, the conservation of the wealth and resources of the Dominion and the promotion of efficiency of our nation would be materially aided by the prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage should be enacted forthwith."

20, Castle Street, Liverpool, 4th January, 1916. Dear Sir Walter Davidson,—Since my arrival here by the Adriatic, on Dec. 16th, I have been to London and Ayr where I have had interviews with those concerned with our Newfoundland Regiment. Knowing that there was some newspaper excitement in St. John's over the non-delivery of comforts at the Dardan-elles, I made full enquiries of Mr. Steel-Maitland, Capt. Timewell and Mr. Fenn, who has taken Mr. Revost place during his absence for the winter. From what I am told I am convinced that ample comforts were sent from here in good time, but the difficulties of transport and delivery were very great, so much so that the comforts appear to have been set aside by the authorities until such time as the necessaries of war were fully provided for. Over this state of affairs the London Committee had no control whatever, they did their duty well, as far as they were able, and placed the comforts in the hands of the best organization in London for getting such things to the front, and who have been, I understand, most your such that he foldied and who have been, I understand, most your such that he foldied and who have been, I understand, most your years truly. getting such things to the front, and who have been, I understand, most successful in reaching the individual soldier. The rumor that the Aus-tralian and New Zealand Contingents ared better than ours must be accepted with reserve, for whilst things sent them early in the campaign may have reached them by the time our boys got out there, the same difficul-ties had to be faced later, for the same organization was handling their comforts and ours in inentically the same way. However, since I was in London, I understand the comforts forwarded have reached the contingent all right, and with the result that the trouble is over for the present at any rate, and not likely to oc-cur again. Should any of our friends e anxious regarding the work of the Newfoundland War Contingent Association, London, their minds may be set at rest, for these people are ren-dering valuable service in many ways and most interested in their voluntary work, whether our boys are at the

PROBABLY THE REVERSE.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.

The Cologne Volks Zeitung has published a despatch from Cairo, stating that the British in Southern Arabia are in a dangerous position, as the result of fierce attacks by Arabs and result of fierce attacks by Arabs and any of our Newfoundland boys that any of our Newfoundland boys that were well enough to take a drive alties up to Dec. 30th, amounted to could do so at any time they were allowed to do it. I have not heard so car, but trust that it has been out a good many times. Mr. Steel-Maitland informs me that hospital accommodation of the best kind is now ample, dation of the best kind is now ample, so that all wounded officers and soldiers are well taken care of immediately they arrive in England. Our convalescent officers can always find those who are only too glad to have them at their houses during the convalescent period. It is not so easy for those in the ranks, and it has een pointed out to me that this is a weak spot, so it has occurred to me that I might do as many others are doing, run a convalescent home at my own expense in connection with our Newfoundland Regiment for the dura-

Newfoundland Regiment for the duration of the war, in the same way as my cousin, Sir William Bowring, is doing here in a suburban house, which has accommodation for about twelve or fifteen soldiers. The house and equipment has been provided free, the help is voluntary, and he does the rest. It may not be feasible for us to obtain all these privileges, but when I see Mr. Steel-Maitland on Friday next, we are going into the matter, when I think something practical will come of it. At any rate I am prepared to put up £100 per month for the duration of the war towards this object, and if we can only month for the duration of the war to-wards this object, and if we can only get a suitable house with a nice gar-den on reasonable terms, with some volunteer help, we can run it quite well, so I am told. I took the liberty of cabling you from the Pay and Re-cord Office on the 22nd of December, about the supply of comforts, think-ing that it might be some relief to all concerned to know that every effort had been made to meet the situation, which was acute on account of the Ayr, where I arrived on 27th December and left on 30th. I found the Contingent Reserves under Major Whitaker well housed and cared for in the Newton Head School House, a large airy building just outside the town, having ample space for the number quartered there, with large playgrounds suitable for drilling and training. The men looked smart, clean, well and hearty? I saw their food in the course of cooking, and being served, it seemed to me very appetising, nourishing and plentiful. I inspected their rooms, clothing, equipment and sanitary arrangements, and can say as far as my knowledge goes that everything bore the stamp of efficiency and good order, and the greatest praise is due to Major Whitaker for his unremitting care and attention. It is at once apparent to any one conversing with him that he is proud of his boys. Both officers and men like him, and there is mutual good understanding. I can say with confidence that the military instruction of various kinds is now receiving full attention, and he is anxious to do all he can for them, and that he does a good deal. Those that came over with Montgomery were in huts at Gailles about nine miles from Ayr, and I spent the afternoon of the 28th there, and found Montgomery in charge doing excellent work. Them were busy drilling and looked very fit. There has been some trouble from measles, but apart from this all was well with them. Your Excellency,with further reference to my letter, number 89, of 11th October, and to my telegrams of 10th and 11th December, and to a telegram from Sir Edgar Bowring of 28th December, 1915, asking that this Unit may be called the 2nd Battalion, First Newfoundland Regiment, Instead of Depot?

(1) All reinforcing Units of the Army here are called "Battalions."
(2) No change would be visible in Newfoundland; no extra expense would be caused, no men would be required in excess of present needs.
(3) Much trouble and inconvenirequired in excess of present needs.
(3) Much trouble and inconvenience would be avoided here, as "Depots" are real brick and mortar in-stitutions, built after a sealed pattern, with definite establishments of officers and other ranks; and provision is made for them on a definite scale a "Depot" brings it into the category described above, and from its fellow depots this Unit differs in every particular. Administration. I have the honour to be, Your Excellency's obedient servant, C. W. WHITAKER, Major, Commanding Depot, Nfid. Regt., Newton-on-Ayre, N. B.

Hockey Season Opens.

Terra Novas Defeat Victorias by 6 Goals to 5. The Hockey League began its fix-tures last evening at the Prince's Rink where the Victorias and Terra Novas clashed in the presence of a large gathering of onlookers. His Excellency the Governor promised to attend but was prevented by engage-ment elsewhere. The ice conditions were ideal and in consequence play-ers had not much difficulty in controlers had not much difficulty in control-ling the puck. The game was clean and though it could not be considered anything spectacular, it was nevertheless a hard fought contest. The sides faced off at 7.30, the personnel being:

FIRST PERIOD. Immediately the puck was put in notion the Terra Novas started hossion of their opponents' who equally prepared for the "drive" and retaliated with a fierce attack, which, however, proved of little effect. Some ides, each trying to gain an advantage. Assuming the aggressive the Terra Novas made several fine dashes but the Victorias put up a stubborn defence and managed to keep the danger zone clear. Ten minutes of play had expired and nothing of a brilliant nature occurred until Stick-gave a splendid exhibition of sticksides scoring the first goal for the sea-on.

This aroused the Victorias who showed up better, though only for a short period, while the Terra Novas worked hard to increase their score. Ford "forgot the law" and was penalized for two minutes. The attempts of the Vics. to equalize were futile and Stick acquitted himself the second time by beating Hunt. The Terra Novas had their opponents "on the run" and before another 30 secs. had elapsed Stick triplicated his trick. With three goals in their favour matters looked as if the Terra Novas were going to have a "walk over," but the Victorias thought otherwise and after a clever bit of combination play Duggan. Nothing further of any account happened in this period and the teams crossed: Terra Novas, 3 goals;

Victorias, 1.

On resumption the Wics. struck up their opponents' goal quarters. Ere long Brien secured an opening and egistered the second goal for his team. Continuing their attack the Victorias got the equalizer in quick time through King. Encouraged by their success the Vics did not let up anything while their opponents ap-peared to be rattled and Coultas made a fine run and scored the 4th goal for the Vics., followed by Johnson evening up matters for the Terra Novas.
The latter then semed to get the best of it and Tobin beat Hunt. Brien sent in No. 5 but before the Timekeepers had time to change their minds Trapnell had passed all opponents. No nell had passed all opponents. No other scoring was done and the game ended Terra Novas, 6 goals: Victorias. goals.
The goals and penalties were:—

was very effective.
