Farmers

The Farmers' meeting with the adjournment was held at the North West Garage, on Sept. 29, following resolutions were passed by George Gerrie, seconded by Burr, that the last clause of the resolution passed at the former meeting, held at this house, on the 1st instant, be amended so as to read thus:—That we will not, when we can conveniently avoid it, patronise or deal with any merchant, mechanic, or business man whosoever or whatsoever, who shall encourage the laying of a tax upon the Township contrary to the expressed wish of a majority of the ratepayers thereof. Moved by John Dobbie, seconded by Harvey Cull, that whereas the leading issues that have hitherto divided the people of this country into political parties have, in a great measure, been disposed of, or cease to exist; and that the principal questions now demanding the consideration of the people are those involving the honest and economical administration of the Government, and the privileges and power of corporations antagonistic with, and in opposition to the well-being of the people of the Province; and whereas we, the farmers, mechanics and labourers, deem the triumph of the people over monopolies essential to the perpetuation of our free institutions, and the promotion of our private and national property; we, therefore, know of no party measure now before the country, other than above, as worthy of more than minor consideration. Be it therefore resolved that the purpose of all Government should be the promotion of the well-being of the entire people, and that therefore the conduct of any association, whether chartered or otherwise, which may operate to the prejudice of this general welfare, is violative of the fundamental principles upon which all correct law is based. Carried. Moved by John White, seconded by Robert Beahan, that we will not aid in electing any man to any important position whatever who will not pledge his interest and influence against all monopolies and discriminating laws, and more especially the obnoxious grouping law passed by the Ontario Legislature to favor railroad "rings" and other oppressive speculators and adventurers. Carried. Moved by Stephen Piper, seconded by Alex. Cunningham, that in the opinion of this meeting the press or this country is not a political paper, more especially so in the mercantile and other speculative classes of the Community; and would therefore suggest to the farmers of this county the propriety of forming a joint stock company for the purpose of maintaining a non-political paper, more especially to advocate their cause and that of the industrial class generally against rings and monopolies of every description. Carried. Moved by Henry Hamill, seconded by Alex. Burr, that this meeting regret the commotion of the County papers on the merits of our last meeting with the intention of giving our Association a political coloring, therefore we, the members of this Association, pledge ourselves to exclude all subjects of a party or political nature from our deliberations. Carried. Moved by Stephen Piper, seconded by John Dobbie, that the thanks of this meeting be heartily tendered to our County Council for their just and prompt action in disposing of that obnoxious Council By-law. Carried unanimously.

The Provincial Exhibition.

The Hamilton Times of Monday has a lengthy article on the Provincial Exhibition, in which it advocates the holding of the Provincial Exhibition once every five years. It says:— "If held at intervals of five years, these exhibitions would bring together the best agricultural, manufacturing, scientific and art productions of the whole Province, and no doubt large contributions from the United States. In fact, we desire that the new Provincial Exhibition should become a Dominion Exposition, to be held quinquennially. It would then be a grand affair, only less than the periodical World's Expositions held at the capitals of the various countries of Europe and in the United States. "The Central Fairs which are now held throughout the Province have become the popular institutions of the country, and have really supplied that general want and desire of the country which gave rise to annual Provincial Exhibitions. We would advocate the principle that the Local Governments should pay over to the Central Fair Associations all the appropriations made to County Societies, and that Township fairs should be discontinued as useless. Were this done, each Central Fair would be quite equal in its display to the best Provincial Shows as now managed and conducted, and visitors and exhibitors would be infinitely better satisfied. Besides, the prizes could be greatly increased both in number and aggregate amount, and thus greater competition and more entries, as well as visitors, might reasonably be expected. Every year these Central Exhibitions become more and more successful, and are attended by an increased number of visitors. This has been proved beyond all dispute in London, Guelph and Hamilton. Toronto Items. Professor Goldwin Smith leaves the city in a few days for Montreal, where he will remain about a week, after which he departs for Europe, to spend several months. He, however, expects to return to Canada. An immense quantity of labor and money is being expended upon the foundations of the proposed Custom House at the corner of Yonge and Front streets. After deep excavations, piles were driven by machinery in which the foundations are to be set in water-cement. Large fire and glass proof vaults will occupy part of a basement and the building, when completed, will be one of the most substantial and beautiful buildings in the city or in the Dominion. Hon. Adam Crooks, Provincial Treasurer, has returned to the city, after a brief absence in Europe.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 30, 1878

Town and County News.

PROMPT ATTENTION.—Mr. A. O. Buchanan, of the Fashionable West End, telegraphed to a leading wholesale Dry Goods house in Toronto last night at 6 o'clock for a certain article which could not be obtained in town, and the parcel was duly delivered to him this morning at 10.15.

TWO-SIXTEEN AND THREE-QUARTERS.—The wonderful feat of trotting a mile in 2:16½ has been performed by a California horse named Opulent, the property of Governor Stanford, at a race in San Francisco lately. This is the fastest time on record, and beats Goldsmith Maid's 2:17½, which has hitherto been the fastest time made in the state of California.

GRAND TRUNK CROP REPORTS.—In accordance with the practice of the Company for several years past a report on the condition of the crops in the districts along the line has been sent to the press. For this useful service to the public are placed under obligation to the Company. An examination of these reports confirms the opinion already pretty generally arrived at that the harvest was a full average.

CORRECTIONS.—In our prize list of the Central Exhibition, the names of Armstrong, McCrae & Co. appear as prize takers for a piece of carpeting. It should have been Wright, Armstrong & Co. The second prize for two bushels Treadwell wheat was taken by T. & J. Manderson, Guelph, instead of R. Tuck. In the Centre Riding Show John Mundell's name appears in the place of William Thompson's for a pair of carriage horses.

SOCIAL IN GUELPH TOWNSHIP.—A social under the auspices of the Temperance organization in School section No. 44, Guelph Township, will be held in Mr. McCrae's School House, on Thursday evening, the 9th of October. An excellent programme, consisting of speeches, songs, recitations, dialogues, readings, instrumental music, &c., is being arranged, and all the available talent is being secured. Four and a half, West End, is noted for its first-class socials, and this promises to be one of the most successful ever held there. We have no doubt there will be a large turnout from the surrounding districts, and also from town. Tickets are 25 cents; doors to be open at half-past six, and tea to be served at seven.

HAMALL'S SINGERS.—The entertainment given by this troupe at the town-hall last night was an exceedingly good one, and attended by a large audience. Their performance is on the model of the old favorite Christy Minstrel style, given with blackened faces. There are some fine musicians amongst the company, and the musical selection which formed the first part was a real treat. Mr. Hamill is the leading vocalist. He possesses a good and remarkably powerful baritone voice; and a very pretty ballad he sang in the latter part of the evening. "Killarney" received an enthusiastic and well deserved encore. The instrumental accompaniment was thoroughly good, but we think its loudness rather marred the effect of the songs. Although the two brass instruments in the accompaniment were exquisitely played, and well softened down in the "piano" passages, the effect would have been better if one or both of them had been replaced by something less powerful. Mr. Hamill's very fine singing was not improved by his endeavoring just once or twice to shout louder than the band could play. Good songs were given by A. Hamill and Hook Howard. "Sunny Jane," by the latter, pleased the audience much. The choruses to all the songs were capital, and when repeated softly without the instruments, the deep bass of A. Hamill was very effective. Ned West was the comic man of the evening, and his songs and dances, his salutes of fun, created a most agreeable merriment. He executed a few good glee dancing. The Lefoux Brothers showed some neat and skillful gymnastic feats upon the horizontal bar, well worth seeing. Their subsequent trapeze performance showed equal strength, skill, and daring, but were of too sensational a character. The remainder of the entertainment consisted of the usual broad farcical sketches, which excited great merriment. The Hazzard Serenaders are well up to their business.

Central Exhibition, 1874.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Guelph Central Exhibition, it was decided to hold the Exhibition for 1874 the week previous to the Provincial Exhibition, which is to be held in Toronto.

Great International Exhibition of FRUIT.

MOST GRATIFYING SUCCESS OF ONTARIO.
There has been the largest and most brilliant display of fruit at Boston, under the auspices of the American Pomological Society, the world has ever seen. Premiums were offered for the largest and best collection of apples; also of pears, plums, grapes, peaches, &c. Above by any State or Province. The Government of our Province, on the recommendation of the Honourable Commissioner of Agriculture, granted the sum of two hundred dollars to the Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario, to aid in defraying the expenses of sending a collection of the fruits of this Province to that exhibition.

The State of Delaware, as might well be expected, received the first prize for peaches, but Ontario carried off the second prize, thus showing that in an unfavourable year, such as the present, we stand second to the greatest peach growing State in the number and quality of the varieties of this most insectic fruit.

But in hazy open air grapes Ontario took the lead and carried off the first prize for the largest collection, bearing the silver medal.

Ontario's collection of plums distanced all competition, and the first prize was again borne away, carrying with it another silver medal.

Although outnumbered by Massachusetts and Connecticut in the number of varieties of fruit exhibited, such was the excellence of our samples, shown to the Judges awarded a Silver Medal to Ontario for her collection of pears. Her total collection of fruit was so large and fine that the Judges bestowed another silver medal upon Ontario for the entire collection.

There was also awarded to the exhibitors

Central Exhibition, 1874.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Guelph Central Exhibition, it was decided to hold the Exhibition for 1874 the week previous to the Provincial Exhibition, which is to be held in Toronto.

Because the... always correct.
Because, in fact, the proprietor understands his business, desires to please his customers, makes good use of his capital, and buys for cash in the best markets, and always deals liberally with those who honor his stores with their custom.—These and many other weighty reasons have contributed very largely to make the name of John A. Wood, as connected with the Grocery trade of Guelph, so well known, and his stores so very popular.

Guelph Evening Mercury

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 30, 1873

The Agricultural Farm.
We are glad to announce that the purchase of Mr Stone's farm by the Government was completed this morning in the office of the County Solicitor, and the price paid over. Mr. Stone, we learn, yesterday accepted the 33 acres in the form proffered by Mr McKellar.

It seems that Messrs. Starke and Hall left Toronto in too great haste, on a mere verbal preliminary statement of the police magistrate, without having received proper and full instructions. They were telegraphed to, but the telegram failed to reach them. Hence the mystery of Saturday's proceedings, and the ignorance of Mr. McCandless as to their mission. We understand that the tender of Mr Barclay, builder, Guelph, has been accepted for the alterations and additions required in the new college buildings.

The Guelph Game of Euchre.

The last Elora News has a strong editorial against the County Council for rejecting the Credit Valley By-law. The style of the article is in odd contrast with its substance, for it is well and powerfully written, whilst the arguments are of the weakest description. The key-note is contained in the following extract:—

"Despite the opinions of Mr. Blake and Mr. Guthrie that the law is imperative, despite the facts that the only objection which could be taken against the By-law was illegally taken, and overruled by the report of a special committee despite the fact that this postponement of the by-law will involve the County in an expensive law-suit, and despite the further fact that they threw away the cost of two sessions of the County Council, they persevered in their objection, and so enabled one of Guelph's principal citizens to put his finger to his nose and insult a Centre Wellington man with the words, 'You are euchred.' Their triumph will be as short-lived as it is disgraceful.

We did not see the little piece of by-play referred to, but think we recognize its author. He does allow his exuberant animal spirits to lead him into these little ebullitions of playfulness now and again, and it seems that the Centre Wellington man was in no mood just then to appreciate the profundity of his wit. But the Elora News seeks to draw from this the inference that all Guelph puts its collective finger to the public nose of scorn, and mockingly cries to Elora "You are euchred!" Now we protest in toto against this inference. We decline to admit that either the public policy or the public manners of Guelph are framed on the model of the incident which has so aggrieved the Elora News. For our own part we do not for a moment endorse the elegant sneer of the reeve in question, nor do we wish to deprive any portion of the county of railway or other facilities which are the unmistakable wish of the people. But in a former article we gave reasons which appeared to us to justify the action of the County Council in this particular case. Let us take the points referred to in the foregoing extract. "Messrs. Blake and Guthrie's opinion"—why, both of them refer to the desirability of the very judicial decision which the action of the Council will lead to. "An expensive suit." Not so expensive as the cost of submitting the by-law with a great doubt as to its acceptance. "The cost of three sessions of the County Council." This is practically affirming that measures thought undesirable by the majority are to be passed merely because the cost of a sitting should not be lost! Oh, oh! The News does not enter into the merits of the doubtful trustee clause, but dismisses the objection cavalierly, observing that it "is so flimsy that no candid man will give it a moment's consideration." That is all very well just now, when in the eager anticipation of a new railway all looks colour de rose; but suppose that in a few years the Credit Valley Railway should get into financial difficulties and be hard pressed for means to construct this road outside the county? Disappointed stock holders and directors, beset on every side with financial troubles, are apt to become a little unscrupulous. Mr. Laidlaw may now say sincerely enough "Is thy servant a dog that he should do this thing?" but we have no right to leave any loopholes in the by-law that would enable him or his company to play the Jehu with the County. The far-off dividend of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce, and the attempt of the Toronto and Nipissing to stop short at Cobocook instead of completing the line to the promised terminus, are examples pregnant with warning. The hard fact of the vote given by eight representatives of the interested municipalities is contemptuously dismissed by the observation that the people of Guelph have successfully played upon their weakness. Very complimentary to the influence and brains of Guelph people; but the Reeves in question know what they are doing just as well as does the Elora News, and will no doubt be prepared to justify their action to their constituents.

The whole tone of the article shows that it is intended to scare up supporters for the railway scheme by skillfully inflaming the feelings of the residents in Centre Wellington against what is mistakenly called Guelph interference and dictation. The good sense of the people will, we hope, frustrate such attempts at raising sectional bitterness.

Thousands of people went to see the remains of the late Bishop Farrell lying in state at Hamilton.

Rev. Mr. Dawson, of Columbus, has been called to the Canada Pres. Church, Beamsville. He will likely accept.

An exchange says: It is said that the Rev. Mr. Inglis, of New York, is likely to return to Hamilton, having become tired of his stay among the Americans.

A Detroit paper says: Nine-tenths of the ministers of the country are not as well paid as base-ball professionals. But religion is not the "national game."

In passing through a dark tunnel on a Pennsylvania railroad a woman's voice was heard exclaiming: "Don't you fool around there! I carry a pistol in my panier."

His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to authorize the issue of letters patent incorporating "The Mudge and Yarwood Manufacturing Company," with power to carry on business at the town of Whitby, in the County of Ontario, and with the nominal capital of $50,000.

At the meeting of the agricultural and Arts Association held at London on Thursday night last, it was decided that the thanks of the Association be given to Mr. Deary Graham and to Mr. Oswald for their courageous conduct in repelling the attack made on the Treasurer's office, and the Treasurer be authorized to present them with a sum of money as a reward of their bravery.

H. & N. W. Br.—At a meeting of the ratepayers at Glen Williams on Saturday night, a resolution was unanimously carried in favor of supporting the by-law for $85,000 from the County of Halton to the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway. About 300 were present.

Though bank suspensions continue in many parts of the United States, general confidence is being rapidly restored, and the worst part of the crisis over. The Bank of England has fixed its discount rate at 5 per cent.

The Rival Clansmen:

Scottish Vendetta.

CHAPTER I.

THE YOUNG TAKE—"COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE."

"Dead! and the vow taken and resting upon me," shouted Ian, springing to his feet, in his frenzy dropping the light which he held, and tearing his hair.

"Dead! and no renunciation. Too late now to draw back. Silly fool that I was to be entrapped by an old man's eloquence, even though he was my father. What is to be done? Whether will it be better for me to be faithful to the dead or false? Be false, and I can attend to my own pleasures, leave the country if I will, or, staying where I am, perhaps compromise with the M'Leods and change the foes into friends. But then the curses of my kinsmen; and what is more, the spirit of him whose outward form yet lies beside me, may, yea will, haunt me day and night. Ay, so terrible is my father's vengeance that he would bring all the evils of hell to bear against me did I prove false. And he has threatened as much, and nigh already the infernal demons may be hovering around me, ready to assail me whenever I decide."

And Ian, shuddering, looked round the hut, peering keenly into the dark corners, into which the fire threw occasionally a fitful weird light. He listened to the howling of the storm without, and then, stooping down, threw a coverlet over the now stiffening body of his sire, and hastily retreated from behind the screen, taking up his position before the fire.

"And if I be true," he continued, soliloquising, "what then? The M'Leods, my enemies, hunting me day and night, giving me no rest, rendering my life miserable, perhaps running some of their swords through me before I am many days older. No time to attend to my loved Flora; no time to pain her; and no time to enjoy her though she were gained. I am on the horns of a dilemma. I'll think no more of it to-night, but will meanwhile wake up Angus, who, I suppose, would sleep though the wind were to overturn the house upon him. Nor is there much security that it will not do so. How the rain pours, and how the wind shrieks down the glen, as if a horde of demons were let loose, and were revelling in devilish glee.

Ian crossed the floor, and striking the partition before spoken of several heavy blows shouted—

"Angus—Angus MacTurk!"

A grunting noise was heard from the interior of the other compartment, but no voice answered.

"Angus MacTurk, do you hear me call on you, you stupid cat!"

"Na, she'll no hear ye," was the reply in broken English, spoken with evidence of reluctance.

"Come this way instantly and attend to me."

"Gat, what a wint there will be here—cat taps of Pen-Slengash an' Pen-Lair'll be played ower afore t' mornin' 'll be cam. By her ain kilt, if there's maw; mae plews like tat plew tat sounded afore she spak, Slengash and Pen-Lair pe played intill ta Holw Loch. Ugh! an' she'll no pe half sleepit, for yesterday 'll na pe awa' yet."

This muttering and grumbling to himself, a strange-looking male figure emerged from the other compartment through a hole in a corner intended for a door of communication.

He had on a red coat and kilt of the M'Kenzie tartan, both dirty, and very much the worse for wear. His hose and shoes were of such a kind, and indeed his whole clothing was of such a type, as to suggest a strong suspicion that he had been connected with the military, although the man had anything but a soldier-like bearing.

The hair of his head, black and matted, hung down over his eyes, while his face was so overgrown with hair, and so coated with dirt, that not a feature could be seen distinctly. He crouched as he advanced, like some cat ready to spring.

"Do you know what has happened?" asked Ian, addressing him in Gaelic.

"What till has it happened?" queried the Highlander, in reply, and in the same tongue. "Till me that, and I may answer ye."

"To my father."

"The M'Kenzie! Eh? He's not—surely he's not—dead!"

The words were spoken with the tone of a man labouring under a superstitious awe.

"My father is dead. Angus, behold!"

Ian stepped forward and lifted the screen, revealing his father's dead form to Angus' wondering gaze.

"Ochone," wailed the Highlander, crossing himself, and dropping on his knees beside the corpse. "Ochone, ochone, ochone; and the M'Kenzie dead! And this night will there be feasting in the house of M'Leod. The mountain dew and the sun will be served to every M'Leod who can draw a clasp-knife, and they'll sing the song of joy, and laugh with glee because the M'Kenzie lies sleeping here. Ochone, and the Chief will no more be drawing the clansmen around him, and speaking to them of victories won and to win. No more will he lead the march of the clan to the field where their enemies would flee before them. Oh, may the Holy Virgin—the great mother of the M'Kenzies—take his soul to the place where his clan will be first of all the clans, and where the plundering Sasenach will be closed out; to the happy land, where the M'Kenzie will be king of all the hills and of all the glens."

These words were moaned out in pure Gaelic and with an earnest, impassioned intonation, accompanied with a rocking movement of the body backwards and forwards.

Just as Angus had uttered the last word both Ian and he were startled to hear a violent knocking at the door of the hut.

Neither spoke.

It would have been difficult to tell the cause of Angus' alarm—probably an undetectable superstition; but the reason of the fear of the other, though superstitious likewise, was very definite.

"Could it be the visitants from the other world already come to torture him?" was the question that rose in his mind.

A large mass meeting, attended by several members of Parliament, was held at Drogheda, Ireland, on Sunday evening in favor of the release of the Fenian prisoners.

A fatal accident occurred to a laborer named John Crawford, while threshing at Mr. James Hume's, Esq., on Saturday. He fell from the loft into the cylinder of the machine, and sustained such injuries as led to his death within three hours. His leg from the knee was torn and frightfully mangled, and his right knee was also crushed and torn open. Medical aid was called, but the shock was so great that he never rallied.

The British American Claims Commission.

It has been announced that at a late hour on Wednesday night the British American Claims Commission, organized under the 12th article of the Washington Treaty, for the adjudication of the British and American claims, other than the Alabama claims, concluded its business. The Commission first met at Washington on the 26th September, 1871, and during their sessions since that period have had under consideration four hundred and seventy-eight claims of British subjects against the United States, and nineteen claims of citizens of the United States against Great Britain. The result, broadly stated, is that all the latter class of claims—that is, those made by the citizens of the United States against Great Britain—have been disallowed, while of the former sufficient have been found valid to foot up a bill of awards against the United States to the extent of $9,500,000. The nineteen United States claims referred to were for losses said to have been inflicted by the St. Albans raid, and by the detention of some ships at Calcutta, which had been loading with saltpetre. The British cases brought under the consideration of the Commission were embraced under the following heads: For the loss of cotton and personal property taken and destroyed; false imprisonment; and the seizure and detention of ships, which latter class amount to more than one-fourth of the claims represented. Among the most important of claims passed upon were those of British ships alleged to have been illegally captured by the Northern naval forces and condemned in the prize courts. Millions of dollars were demanded as the value of ships thus captured while attempting to violate the blockade. A large proportion of these were rejected, the Commissioners at an early day having decided that they had jurisdiction only in those cases which had been taken on appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. The amount awarded to the claimants under this head totals $700,000, and it has been remarked that in every case the Commissioners have overruled the Supreme Court, which had decided the cases in favor of the United States Government. Thus this chapter in the history of the notorious Washington Treaty has been closed with a measure of satisfaction on the part of the British—which is more than can be said for any previous portion of the work of the High Courts. The value of the fisheries is now the only question incident to the Treaty which remains unsettled.
