

SIR CHARLES AT AMHERST. Farewell Speech to the Nova Scotians.

Stumping Up After the Great Political Battle.—The Girls Polity Dissected—Vigorous a... Trunk Railway—Some Reminiscences of the Days When Sir Charles Was Minister of Railways.

AMHERST, N.S., March 9.—Sir Charles Tupper delivered his farewell address to-day before returning to Ottawa. A number of prominent Liberal Conservatives occupied the platform, among others Senator Dickey and Joseph Wood, M.P. for Westmoreland. Sir Charles followed his heartfelt thanks to the people of Cumberland for the magnificent majority rolled up for Mr. Dickey, and proceeded to point out the great issues involved in the contest, in proof of which he called as a witness a man whose name would not be doubted by the Liberal party here, Edward Blake. Sir Charles made greater sacrifices for his party than any man had ever made in Canada. An intellectual giant and a man whose patriotism had never been doubted, Mr. Blake had written his record with the greatest reluctance, and, in order to save his party from being struck down on the eve of battle, had WROUGHTLY WITHHELD HIS VIEWS from the country until after the contest was over. The fact that the letter had not been published during the campaign was the best evidence that Sir Charles was not a party man. Sir Charles quoted from the document to show that the real question was not of trade, but: Shall Canada remain a part of the British Empire, or become a part of the United States? The evidence given by Mr. Blake on the point will admit of no question on the part of his opponents. Mr. Blake had justified every argument advanced by the Government, and refused almost every statement made by Sir Richard Cartwright. Mr. Laurier, who had been proved that our view of the Opposition policy was the true one, and that Sir Richard Cartwright's was not true, but an idle delusion of the Opposition. Sir Charles pointed out that the Wilmans carefully undertook to publish their speeches during the contest, and showed that they were fighting behind the brush as well as wearing a mask. Their principles could not be discovered even with the aid of the most powerful microscope. But Mr. Blake had torn off the mask and the Liberal Conservatives were now ready to take with the naked eye. But had the elections gone against the Government we could not have obtained FREE TRADE with the States, because it was impracticable to do so without the assistance of Sir Charles. He would have advanced the rates about one third, and the Company refused to stand the raise. The smelters will follow the examples of the mines as soon as the ore on hand is treated. But down will throw 300 men out of work.

THE SACRAMENTO SCANDAL. Committee Appointed to Hush the Matter Up—Estee Gaining Votes.

SACRAMENTO, March 18.—The joint committee appointed by both Houses to investigate the charges of bribery in the senatorial election, met in the Supreme court-room, to-night. Senator Voorhees presided. Attorney-General Hart explained how he had received the documents, and he then delivered a sealed package to the committee. S. W. Leak, assistant librarian, explained how he found the papers in his private office, just after Assemblymen Dibble and Marlow had been in the room. Dibble had previously asked him for the use of the office, saying he wanted to do some figuring. Mr. M. Estee was the next witness. The attorney-general questioned him. Mr. Estee said that he went to the state library yesterday morning and walked into the private office.

THE DALY-MAULIFFE FIGHT. The Philadelphia Stays for Six Rounds, Winning the Prize of One Thousand Dollars.

HARRISBURG, Penn., March 19.—The prize fight between Joe McAuliffe, of San Francisco, and Jim Daly, of Philadelphia, took place in the vicinity of this city, to-night. Nearly 3000 spectators witnessed the mill. The terms of the fight were that Jim Daly should stay six rounds for a purse of $1,000. This he managed to do, and almost as fresh as his burly opponent at the finish. It is only fair to McAuliffe, however, to state that he broke the first knuckle of his left hand in the first round, and was then hit from hitting as hard as he might otherwise have done.

A TOPEKA BANK FAILS. Will Pay Creditors in Full—Cincinnati Shoe Dealers Astonished.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 18.—The United States Savings bank of this city, closed its doors this morning, and made an assignment to the president of the Kansas National bank. The failure of the bank is attributed by the failure recently of the father of W. C. Knox, president of the bank. The assets cannot be learned, but the latter will pay in full all liabilities. The capital stock of the bank was $261,000. President Knox said this evening that the liabilities of the bank were about $200,000, fully equalled by the assets.

AMERICAN NOTES. Copper Must Rise. BUTTE, Mont., March 20.—At noon today all the mines belonging to the Anaconda Company, the greatest copper producer in the world, shut down on account of a disagreement with the Montana Railway which hauls ore from Butte to the smelters in Anaconda.

GOLD IN THE TOMBS. Ancient Scriptures Unearthed in Greece—Rare Jewels Found.

ATHENS, March 18.—The excavations conducted at Eretria, in Euboea, under the direction of the American school at Athens, have been very successful. The theatre has been opened and throws considerable light on the construction of the stage. Before the stage is a low narrow platform. They have opened a large number of tombs, and what appears to be a city of tombs. Of these the finest above ground is marble structure. The only epitaph mentions the "daughter of Aristotele. Dr. Waldstein, the permanent director of the American school, writes that the identification as the tomb of the philosopher Aristotle.

INDENIITY FOR ITALY. Secretary Blaine Thinks $75,000 Will About Square the Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The government law officers are of the opinion that upon the facts of the case the families of the victims of the New Orleans jail shooting are entitled to indemnity from the municipal government of New Orleans. Should the Italian government decide to support the claims of the American government, the government here will lend its services to the recovery of the indemnity as far as desired. For the time being, however, Blaine and the President are both of the opinion that it would be more agreeable to our national sentiment to pay reasonable indemnity direct from the United States treasury than to engage in the business of recovering damages from the city of New Orleans as a form of proconsul.

LAWRENCE BARRETT DEAD. Pneumonia and Heart Failure Cause the Cause—Short Sketch of His Life.

New York, March 20.—Lawrence Barrett, the actor, died to-night at 10:45 at the Windsor Hotel. His death was quite sudden. His illness dates from Wednesday night when he was compelled to leave the theatre where he was engaged. It was said all the time that he was merely suffering from a severe cold and would be out in a few days. Even to-day the reports of his condition were very favorable. Late this evening, however his physician, Dr. Chambers was summoned. Heart failure, superinduced by pneumonia, was the direct cause of the great tragedian's death. Dr. Chambers says pneumonia set in on Thursday morning, and he was taken to the hospital, where Mrs. Barrett who was in Boston was notified and arrived on Thursday evening. Dr. J. P. Oliver, of Boston, the family physician, also came on at once. A consultation was held and it was decided that Mr. Barrett's case was serious, but that if no other complications appeared, he might pull through. Between 5 and 10 o'clock this evening there was a rapid change for the worse, and at the latter hour Mr. Barrett was in a semi-conscious condition. About 15 minutes before the end came Mr. Barrett was entirely unconscious and remained so till he died. The funeral will probably take place in Boston. Edwin Booth was deeply moved when he received the news of Mr. Barrett's death.

THE BATAVIA AGROUND. She Pays the Penalty of Venturing Into the Columbia River.

ASTORIA, March 19.—The Canadian Pacific Company's large steamer Batavia grounded this morning near Long Point, in the Columbia river, about six miles above Astoria. The big Astoria went to the steamer's assistance, but was unable to get her off. It is thought it will be necessary to lighten the vessel before she can be floated. The tide has fallen five feet and the ship is still striking upright, showing 11 feet of water forward and aft. Opinions of pilots are divided as to the kind of bottom the ship rests on. It is claimed that the immense amount of iron in her hull and the great number of bulkheads in the steamer will save the vessel, even should she be resting on the rocks.

ROYAL CITY REPORT. The C. E. Lumber Company Successfully Floats Operations to Be Vigorously Prosecuted.

New Westminster, B. C., March 20.—Andrew McLaughlin, manager of the Canadian Pacific Lumber Company, has arrived home from the East, where he successfully floated the stock of the company, and a mill will be built here this summer. A portable saw mill is now on the way. The company has large timber limits, and logging camps will be established immediately. The exact site of the mill has not been selected, but will either be at Liverpool or Sapperton. It will be one of the largest and most extensive employers of labor on the coast.

RECREATION FOR WOMEN. How the Ladies of London Take Outdoor Exercise.

LANTEANS IN GERMANY. They Were Formerly Used as Symbols of Rank.

The distinctions of rank which exist in European countries give rise to many troubles, though they may seem rather amusing as well as trivial to us, are in reality quite serious in them. In Stuttgart, years ago, says an exchange, there existed a curious custom which is not yet entirely abolished, and in fact still flourishes quite vigorously in some parts of Germany and Switzerland. This was the use of lanterns of different varieties and sizes, by which, at night, the rank of the party could be easily distinguished.

HYPNOTISM.

A Study in the Mysterious and Bewildering Art.

An Interesting Description of the Cell That Closes In by Seven Degrees on Its Victim—How Mind-Reading Is Accomplished.

What most deeply interests the unformed mind concerning hypnotism is the exaggerated conditions which are reported. I propose to give my description.

The first stage of hypnotism is the lesser somnolence, or light sleep of Dr. Liebault. In this stage the subject is in an ordinary dose, produced by a gentle, monotonous movement of the hands in the form of passes, fixing the patient's eyes steadily upon some bright small object, thus producing slight cerebral exhaustion.

The second stage or somnambulism, is also named by Dr. Liebault, of Nancy, and the special characteristics are that the subject is in a deep sleep, but retains consciousness of what is going on around him.

The third stage, of somnambulism is the first in which the subject completely loses control of his actions. In this condition he hears and sees no one except the operator, unless he is placed in harmony with him.

The fourth stage which is absolutely pathological, and is not, as in the former stages, merely psychical effects. In this stage the subject's muscles are all in a flaccid or wax-like condition, and if the subject's limbs are placed in position, no matter how awkward or uncomfortable it may be, he will retain it, while his breathing and pulse will remain more regular than any one in a normal condition could possibly attempt to simulate.

The fifth stage is lethargy. This is a stage which is dangerous for any one not fully competent and with long experience to meddle with, on account of the acute tetanus which always accompanies it.

The sixth stage, or complete contraction, is never induced except for scientific investigation or for extreme surgical operations. All the muscles except those concerned in the circulation and respiration are rigidly contracted.

The seventh stage, or death.

Soap from Corn. It is claimed that an Eastern chemist has discovered a process of making soap from corn.

THE EASTERN DANCE.

It Is a Product of Physical Endurance Begun in Early Youth.

One of the most attractive features of the recent exposition in Paris was the Eastern dancing girls. In half a dozen or more booths or tents, scattered about the grounds, these strangers of another world and civilization held their unique receptions.

A narrow stage occupies one end of the room, which may be thirty-six feet square. On the stage, in semi-circle, sit the dancers and the musicians. The latter produce a concert chiefly with a sort of drums, and pipes that emit a noise not unlike the scream of a bagpipe. It is a howling, exciting noise, which, after awhile, begins to beat the brain and hurry the pulse.

While the undulations are going on, the girl is in other respects performing a slow, graceful and languid dance. Her arms rise and fall and wave about her head. It is her face from side to side, and occasionally smiles as if in a voluptuous dream; her feet shifting rhythmically and without haste; and ever and anon she turns completely round, but always slowly and deliberately.

In a European it would be almost revolting, but in these Oriental dances the effect is different. We recognize that the dance is natural to them; that it belongs to their race and traditions, and that it has come down to them from an epoch so ancient as the sides of the pyramids and the infancy of Buddha. It is not to be criticised by our crude contemporary standards of convention, fashion or morality; it is to be accepted, wondered at, for what it is, and has been since the East was the East.

RARE SPORT.

Chicago Capitalists Shooting Prepared Game in the South.

Recently a large party of wealthy gentlemen from Chicago visited the electric city of the South seeking an investment for the superfluous lumps, and having a little spare time on their hands resolved to make up a hunting team, says the Boston Traveller. Big stories of wild turkey in abundance about the mountains had been floated about the Hotel De Kalb, and enthusiasm crept under the vest of the fortune hunters in large majorities. A well-known trapper was approached, who tumbled to the scheme at once, but knowing that wild turkey did not abound in that region to any great extent he set his wits working, and resolved to keep up his reputation as well as that of the country where he was a prophet. Procuring half a dozen good turkeys from a near farmer and a bright lad to tend them, he located both in a lonesome place up the mountain and left them to their fate, with instructions to keep track of them for so many hours, and where they went to scatter paper scent, a hare and hounds, that the trapper might track them. Bright and early the next day came the party, eager for mountain game, and the guide hitting the scent easily was not long in scaring a bird. Bang! bang! bang! and the wild specimen in all Alabama came down with a flutter of wild feathers, an easy victim to Chicago's prowess.

In a short space of time five more rare birds were bagged, but the hunt kept on unabated, until the sun commenced to slant his scorching rays, when the mighty hunters resolved that the whole family were slaughtered, and weary of the sport, betook a homeward course. Great was the curiosity at the hotel to see the fruits of the hunt, and congratulations were in order all round. The next day the Chicago gentlemen left for home, carrying those six wild-tame turkeys, and are probably today telling their friends of the sport they had in the mountains of Alabama shooting wild fowl.

The trapper thought the story too good to keep, and thus it leaked out.

Officers in Germany's Army.

Special measures are being taken in Germany to increase the number of officers in the army. At present the scarcity of officers is unprecedentedly great, and especially in the Prussian regiments, commissions have been going begging. All the courses of instruction in the various military academies will be shortened so that there may be at least fifty per cent. more young officers turned out in the same length of time than are graduated at present.

A Check Upon Poor Books.

The ministry of education in Russia has issued a circular forbidding all persons of high standing in the management of schools and colleges to allow authors to dedicate their works to them. Works of a very indifferent and, in some instances, even of an objectionable nature, if they are dedicated to persons of renown in the educational circles, necessarily enjoy the patronage of those persons and find more readers than is desirable.

CANADA'S VISITORS.

The Dominion of Canada was visited by a number of intelligent men, whose object was to see the nakedness of the land, but who were in fact making a study of the country...

Just as Canada has a 'Chicago' of its own, so it has a 'London' of its own. It is a city of a hundred thousand people, and is the seat of the government...

Then this country was visited with a visit from a number of distinguished gentlemen, who were in fact making a study of the country...

They saw at the exhibitions of all kinds, and they saw at the exhibitions of all kinds, and they saw at the exhibitions of all kinds...

It is encouraging to see that there are men in Canada who do not believe in the superiority of the mob...

Lord Aberdeen was favorably impressed with Canada. He saw in this country the great deal of the things that he had seen in the United States...

Lord Aberdeen saw that the people who are wanted in Canada are men and women who can work and are willing to work.

who can work and are willing to work. Canada has such 'splendid facilities for education' that it can supply itself with professional men and clerks and have a good many to spare.

upon immigrants from 'home' to 'keep the book boiling. His Lordship believes that Canada has a destiny separate from that of the United States.

Just as Canada has a 'Chicago' of its own, so it has a 'London' of its own. It is a city of a hundred thousand people, and is the seat of the government.

Professional Protectors of Bibulous Gentlemen.

A Useful Institution Not Altogether Confined to the Gay French Capital. An Expensive Luxury.

A correspondent in Paris recently discovered in the cafes a class of attendants which he described as a bizarre novelty in Parisian business methods. He said that these attendants were known professionally as "Guardian Angels."

Some of the results of this want of system, says Youth's Companion, would have been amusing if they had not been disastrous. Mr. Laurence Oliphant, an English traveler and author, tells in one of his books a rather grimy story of a trip which he made by rail in 1888 from Chicago to New York.

New York, says the Sun of that city, has for a long time had its counterpart of the Parisian guardian angels. He is a curious, entertaining and benevolent servant of the public that was brought into existence by the amazing growth of hotel life in this town during the last few years.

The idea of having a guardian angel," said the angel of the Hoffman House, "may strike men about town as something of a practical joke, and they may believe that the angel is a myth. But they are mistaken."

"What's the excitement about?" asked a bystander, when the angel returned. "A good deal more than you think," returned the little guardian.

The existence of the professional guardian angel is a boon to many men of means who have a habit of getting occasionally too convivial to take care of themselves. They depend upon the friendly surveillance of the angel, and give themselves up freely for the time being to the delights of the flowing bowl.

When Railroads were first introduced the engineers, as we call them—or the engine-drivers, as they are called in England—on their trains almost as they liked—making up time when they had fallen behind, picking up such information as they could as to the state of the track ahead of them, and for the most part plunging ahead with their machines without much more than a guess as to whether they could bring up at their destination or at the bottom of some high embankment.

Some of the results of this want of system, says Youth's Companion, would have been amusing if they had not been disastrous. Mr. Laurence Oliphant, an English traveler and author, tells in one of his books a rather grimy story of a trip which he made by rail in 1888 from Chicago to New York.

In the course of time it was found necessary to limit the running of trains to a very strict system, which almost makes the engineer a part of his machine; but even as late as within the past two years races between express trains running between London and Edinburgh have been run, and great interest has been shown in the results of the contests.

In France steam races are not permitted. Instead, an official test of the power, speed and steadiness of locomotives on different lines of the Republic has been made lately and a prize awarded to the winner. Locomotive No. 604 of the "Chemin de Fer de l'Est," or Eastern railroad.

In this test several locomotives without any load to pull attained a speed of from seventy-five to eighty-five miles an hour. The locomotive No. 604 just spoken of accomplishes regularly the feat of making at full speed the heavy trip between London and Edinburgh, and Rhemes and Delle at a single pull, a distance of about two hundred and forty miles.

The engine always arrives at this long haul with steam still on and in perfect running condition. The maximum speed which French passenger trains are permitted to make is about seventy miles an hour, and this is uncommo.

In England the fastest schedule time is sixty miles an hour, though in some of the "races" seventy-five miles an hour have been made. There are regular freight trains in England which make a speed of from thirty to forty miles an hour.

In Germany the ordinary speed of passenger trains is only about thirty-five to forty miles an hour, and this is probably about the average rate of speed in other European countries.

THE VICTORIA WEEKLY COLONIST. March 27. LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

Carriage Returns. A telegram from Barkerville, Cariboo, last evening, contains information that no further election returns can be secured until the arrival of the mail carrier, on Friday.

Outgoing Passengers. The following passengers left on the steamer Mexico for San Francisco, yesterday: E. J. Redmond, R. L. Patterson, George Perival, W. Marler, O. Sanish, Mr. Carter, Mrs. Gurlaux and Miss Polley.

Contract Awarded. Yesterday morning the contract for the construction of Brockman & Ker's new mill at the outer wharf, for which tenders were received up to Saturday last, was awarded to Messrs. Bishop & Sherburne, at a figure in the neighborhood of $10,000. Work will commence at once.

Things Material. Last Thursday evening the ladies of the First British Columbia Spiritualist Society decided to provide refreshments at their coming dance on the 29th inst., thus giving their friends and the indulgent public an intimation that they believe in things material as well as spiritual.

Felice Court. The programme of cases disposed of, yesterday, in the police court, was rather short, and comprised one vagrant, who promised to go home to his father; two women, charged with keeping a disorderly house, pleaded guilty, and was fined $50.

A Belligerent Report. Rev. M. L. R. has received a letter from a friend in Portland, Oregon, enquiring if it is safe to come to Victoria; he had read in Eastern papers that leprosy was making frightful inroads into the white inhabitants. Where this ridiculous story could have originated it is difficult to imagine.

The Titanic at Home. A cablegram received in this city yesterday contains the information that the British clipper-ship Titanic, which left Westminister on November 19, has reached London, 125 days out. This is rather a long trip for the Titanic, but her new master, Capt. Montgomery, evidently thought it was better to go slow on his first trip.

AT THE LYCEUM.

Proceedings at the Meeting Held Last Night It Breaks Up in Confusion. Last night a meeting was held at the Lyceum, on the call of Hon. Amor De Cosmos, to organize a Committee of Public Safety, to apply for such legislative aid as would prevent the city from being over-run by a crashing public debt.

There was only one summons here disposed of yesterday morning, that of Lewis & Strauss v. Hotz. The application was for a commission to examine witnesses in Portland, Oregon, which for 1890-92 are defendants; Drake, Jackson & Helmsken for defendants.

At the R. E. Church. The array of recent secured for last evening's concert, held at the R. E. Church, shows just what everyone knew before—that the directors of these pleasant social gatherings know just where to look for the best providers of musical and literary entertainment. The programme included vocal solo numbers by Mr. Taylor, Misses Worlock and Elford. Tea, coffee and cakes were provided as usual.

Victoria Rifle Association. At the adjourned annual meeting of the Victoria Rifle Association, held in the office of Messrs. Flint & Williams, last evening, the reports of the officers for 1890 were presented and found to be entirely satisfactory.

Knocked off a Bridge. On Tuesday, a man named Collins, who was walking on the railway track from Donald to Revelstoke, met with a serious accident. He lay down by the bridge at the Loop. One of the barrel stands to allow a train to pass, when he was struck by the snow from the snow-plow and knocked off the bridge.

Before the Full Court. The case of the Six Union Miners of Wellington against the British Columbia Coal and Lignite Association, was brought forward. The Chief Justice and Justices Crease and McCreight took their places on the Supreme Court bench at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to hear a Full Court the application of Mr. Charles Wilson, for a rule nisi for a new trial in the case of the Queen v. Joseph Carter and five others.

Baseball. The James Bay and National Baseball clubs will cross bats at Beacon Hill on Good Friday, the 27th inst., at 2:30 p.m. The National is yet a young club, but has some very promising players in its ranks, and an interesting game may be looked forward to.

The Strange Creature Killed in the Woods According to an Arkansas Journal Dr. Collins of Little River County, that State, killed a most remarkable quadruped near his place in the spring of 1877.

According to an Arkansas Journal Dr. Collins of Little River County, that State, killed a most remarkable quadruped near his place in the spring of 1877. From the time of the war up until the year named, several persons claimed to have frequently seen an animal in the form of a large red deer, with the head and neck of a man.

In Lake Nyassa, in the interior of "Darkest Africa," there is a kind of blackfish which every year builds what the natives term a house. In the mud at the bottom of the lake it makes a hole some two or three feet broad, heaping up the mud removed from the hole so as to form a little wall around it.

According to an Arkansas Journal Dr. Collins of Little River County, that State, killed a most remarkable quadruped near his place in the spring of 1877. From the time of the war up until the year named, several persons claimed to have frequently seen an animal in the form of a large red deer, with the head and neck of a man.

In Lake Nyassa, in the interior of "Darkest Africa," there is a kind of blackfish which every year builds what the natives term a house. In the mud at the bottom of the lake it makes a hole some two or three feet broad, heaping up the mud removed from the hole so as to form a little wall around it.
