GRAND DIVISION AT CLARENCE

Large Number of Delegates from Various Parts of Province.—Membership of Sons of Temperance Shows Steady Gain.—Twelve New Bands of Hope Organized.

The second quarterly session of the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance of Nova Scotia was held at Clarence, Annapolis County on Tuesday and Wednesday, and proved to be one of the best quarterlies held for several years. There was a larger number of delegates than usual from different parts of the province, and they took an active part in all the important business of the session, and it was clearly seen that there is rapidly growing sentiment for total abstinence in sections of this Province which have for some time been apathetic.

Reports from all branches of the work of the Order were highly encouraging. The Committee on Agency work has carried on an aggressive campaign, and two agents have constantly been working in different parts of the Province.

Several new Divisions have been organized, and some dormant Divisions resuscitated, and with the new members initiated, a net gain of two hundred and fifty members has been made in three months.

A number of Bands of Hope which have been closed for some time in different parts of the Province, owing to difficulty in securing patrons, have now been opened. Twelve new Bands of Hope have been organized which have added several hundred new members to the roll.

The missing link between the Bands of Hope and the Divisions has been supplied by the introduction of Sections of Cadets. The first one of a number to be started, has been organized under the auspices of the South Halifax District Division, and is known as "Maple Leaf," Section No. 1. Some of the most active temperance workers of this Province received their training in the Cadets of Temperance, and the present Grand Worthy Patriarch of Nova Scotia, Brother Thomas H. Francis received his first training in the principles of total abstinence in the Cadets, and is now head of the Order in this Province.

Fifteen new members were initiated into the Grand Division at Clarence. Fourteen of them were initiated at one time, and with solemn initiation ceremony of the Grand Division performed by an experienced team, the sight was an impressive one.

A public meeting was held in the Hall in the evening, and the room was completely filled, and although many of them came by team and automobile from twenty to twenty-five miles, such enthusiasm prevailed, that not one of them left before the close of the meeting which was a lengthy one. The speakers included all the delegates from Halifax, also Rev. H. L. Eisenhauer, Greenwood; Rev. M. Freeman, Wolfville; W. S. Saunders, L. W. Elliott, S. N. Jackson, Clarence; I. W. Wilson, Digby; Special music was provided by vocalists from Clarence and other Divisions, and Miss Evangeline Elliott of Clarence was accompanist.

The delegates from Halifax were: Thomas H. Francis, Grand Worthy Patriarch; George A. McLeod, Grand Scribe; W. T. Horton, Grand Treasurer, and John E. Hills, all of whom returned to Halifax on Wednesday night.

Nearly a Centenarian.

The death occurred at her home in Annapolis Royal on May 5th, of Susan Baring Godfrey, daughter of the late F. J. Bernard Gilpin, H. R. M.'s, consul in Rhode Island, and widow of the late Rev. W. M. Gourdey, who for eleven years was S. P. G. missionary in Clementsport, Mrs. Godfrey had been ill only a few days, bronchitis, from which she suffered, proving fatal. She was nearly ninety-eight years of age, and was a valued member of St. Luke's church, Annapolis, from whose services she was never absent, excepting through illness or on account of a violent storm. A lover of nature and possessing a mind stored with interesting memories, she will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends. She leaves one daughter, Miss Sophia, at home, and two sons, Charles G. and William A., both of Yarmouth, to mourn the loss of a loving mother. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Godfrey and Mr. and Mrs. William Godfrey attended the funeral which took place on Wednesday at 2.30 o'clock, from St. Luke's, Rev. Mr. Howe of Annapolis officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. Lockwood of Clementsport. Burial took place in the old historic Military cemetery.

Banquet in Honor of Vinton Lloyd

A few of the many friends of our esteemed young citizen, Mr. Vinton Lloyd, on the occasion of his leaving Bridgetown, having obtained a lucrative position at Methbridge, Alberta, banqueted him at the Grand Central Hotel on Monday evening, May 6th.

The party which consisted of about fourteen couples of the young people of the town first visited the Primrose Theatre, occupying the two front rows in the gallery. They then retired to the hotel to partake of the sumptuous repast which was prepared in our friend's honor by his host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Silver. The banquet was a complete success. The dinner was excellent and notwithstanding the fact that the party all regretted that so genial and popular a young man as Mr. Lloyd was about to leave the town all were in the best of spirits and entertained him royally. The menu consisted of all the delicacies of the season and was splendidly served, reflecting great credit upon the proprietor of the hotel and those who assisted in its preparation. After the repast, the time was short, but a carefully prepared program was presented and the following toasts were drunk and in all cases responded to heartily.

"The King" responded to by Mr. V. Lloyd. "The Ladies," responded to by Mr. R. Whiteway. "Nova Scotia," responded to by Mr. B. W. Roscoe. "Banks and Bay," responded to by H. Hoyt. "Our Town and Industries," responded to by Mr. V. Lloyd. The problem of the evening was why a young man of his talents and native country such as this, presenting so many opportunities especially at the present time, to seek his fortune in the wild and woolly west. This question was spoken to very forcibly and humorously by Mr. B. W. Roscoe in making a comparison between Nova Scotia and the country in which he had learned our friend was going to take up his abode, and a number of reasons were suggested why our friend was making the change. We predict, however, for our friend, Mr. Lloyd, a happy and prosperous future and from our knowledge of his abilities and abstemious habits of living here, have no doubt of his success in the country of his adoption.—ONE PRESENT.

Obituary.

MR. JOHN MURDOCH.

A very sudden death occurred on Monday night, the moving one of our best inhabitants, who was stricken with paralysis after retiring and passed away in about an hour.

Previous to this, since the death of her husband ten years ago, she had resided in Bridgetown at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Danzig, and had many friends in Bridgetown and vicinity by whom she was highly esteemed for many fine qualities of womanhood.

She passed her 80th birthday in December last, and is survived by three sons and two daughters, namely: Winslow of Derry, N.H., Reginald, of Boston, J. Snow of Lawrencetown, Mrs. Anderson of Buffalo, N.Y., and Mrs. Daniels. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, Rev. E. Capt. J. W. Salter was elected chairman and Dr. M. E. Armstrong, Secretary.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and on motion approved.

The matter of laying out a new street from Granville street to the cemetery on what is now known as Chipman street, also the present condition of the railway fence on the south side of the lands was referred to the attention of the directors.

The directors met immediately after the general meeting. Present J. W. Salter, H. Ruggles, J. E. Lloyd, Dr. M. E. Armstrong and J. W. Peters.

J. W. Salter was elected president and H. Ruggles Secy-Treas. It was resolved that the Secretary procure from J. H. Hicks & Sons a deed of the land purchased from them by the Company and also the plans etc., and that a new and complete plan be made of the cemetery, and filed in the office of the secretary.

Some discussion took place as to securing the services of a competent person to assist in laying out the grounds and it was reported that Mr. Grace, the superintendent of the Yarmouth Mountain Cemetery, had been communicated with and would probably come.

Meeting adjourned to meet this Wednesday evening the 15th inst. at eight o'clock.

BOSTON ESCAPES COLLISION.

(Yarmouth Times.) The D. A. R. liner Boston on Wednesday morning brought 175 passengers from Boston and sailed to return in the evening with 120. Part of her outward cargo consisted of 1536 crates of live lobsters. In coming in the harbor in the morning she narrowly escaped collision with a fishing schooner which was getting under way as the steamer rounded the Beacon light. Only the quick action of Captain Simms in reversing the engines did the steamer avoid an accident. It was ship-side at the time and nearly low water so that it was necessary to back the steamer out into the sound and await the schooner to work out of the way.

LOHEED-JONES.

Nearly a thousand persons witnessed the ceremony of last evening at the First Baptist church which united Miss Myrtle Gladys Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones, of Los Angeles, to Mr. Arthur Loheed of Buenos Ayres, South America. Proceeding the ceremony a musical program was given by Mrs. A. R. Gates, at the organ, and Mrs. Frank N. Arnold, who sang. The Argentine national hymn was the first number on the program and was played as a compliment to the bride and bridegroom who will live at the place. "O Happy Day" (Goetz) and "Calm as the Night" (Bohm) were sung by Mrs. Arnold, followed by "Benediction Nuptial" (Salze-Saerz) and "Serenade" (Widor) on the organ. "Thou'rt like a flower" (Rubenstein) and "Love Abiding" (Jordan) also were sung by Mrs. Arnold and the program was concluded by the "Gavotte" from "Midnon" (Thomas) by Mrs. Gates. The bridal party then entered to the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march changing softly to the Mendelssohn march and during the ceremony a rendition of the intermezzo from "Cavalleri Rusticana" was given. The church was beautifully decorated in pink and white sweet peas, a large wedding veil of same flowers forming the main decorative piece, and the altar was twined with jets, peum and white fleur de lis; apple blossoms and sweet peas barked the altar. Ropes of asparagus ferns entwined with carnations were hung from organ to balcony and hanging baskets of ferns tied with pink tulle and ropes of the latter forming the aisle for the bridal party were all used in decoration. The bridesmaids, Misses Bertha Sroat, Ethel Alair, Avis Pinkham, Louise O'Brien, Helen Pittman and Octavia Leckett, were all gowned in graduated shades of pink, the first two wearing pink mesaline with gold lace, the next two white over pink and the last ones white. All carried pale pink enchainess carnations as shower bouquets. The maid of honor, Miss Edith Jones, sister of the bride, was gowned in pale pink crepe meteor and carried pink Killarney roses. Little Carolyn Nelson as flower girl, was dressed in white swiss and lace and carried a white basket filled with pink sweet peas. The bride was gowned in white satin charmeuse, with chantilly lace and pearl trimming, and wore a veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower of lilies of the valley. Mr. Herbert Sykes acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Robert F. Knight, Clarence Burrell, Arthur Stinton, Frank Ansell, Paul Jesberg, Neil Hotelling, Rev. Albert Hatcher Smith, assisted by Rev. B.B. Jacques performed the ceremony and the bride was given away by her father. The double ring ceremony was used. After a wedding trip through Southern California, Mr. and Mrs. Loheed will go to Buenos Ayres, where they will make their home. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at Hotel Maryland to members of the bridal party, the decorations being in pink and white in accordance with the color scheme of the church.

Ed.—The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bishop, of Paradise, and a niece of Mr. Horace G. Bishop, of Bridgetown, whom she visited three years ago and at that time favored the congregation of the Methodist church with her musical assistance.

Learn why PURITY FLOUR is unlike any other brand

PURITY FLOUR is unlike any other brand of flour. No two milling companies follow exactly the same process of milling. In fact, no two different brands of flour in the world are exactly alike in quality.

And here is another fact worth knowing: Every wheat berry contains both high-grade and low-grade portions.

The process of milling PURITY flour costs more than to mill ordinary flour. The low-grade portions are separated and excluded. PURITY is an ALL HIGH-GRADE, hard wheat flour. It has greater strength, greater absorption and greater expansion. It is a thirstier, more elastic flour. It drinks more water and expands into more loaves.

Use PURITY FLOUR for your next batch of bread. Count the loaves. You'll find you have made "MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD" from PURITY than when you've used an equal weight of weaker and cheaper flour.

PURITY FLOUR

"More bread and better bread"

IMAGINE, if you can, how much whiter, and more toothsome, and more nutritious, the bread made from such a HIGH-GRADE flour must be.

And can you imagine yourself enjoying the flaky pie-crust and the light, delicate cake?—your reward for using PURITY flour

When making pastry, please remember to add more shortening than required with ordinary flour—for on account of its extra strength, PURITY FLOUR requires more shortening for best pastry-results

Yes, PURITY FLOUR costs slightly more than ordinary flour. But use it once and you'll say it's worth more—much more—than the difference.

Add PURITY FLOUR to your grocery list right now.

It strikes me as just the thing the people should know. I think the columns of your journal one of the best mediums to bring it to their attention.

Alas, how many seem to be rushing on to infidelity. I fear their unbelief has much to do with the spirit of unrest and anarchy everywhere manifested.

SAYS EVERYONE GOES TO HELL Well-known Bible Student Has Original Ideas on Final Destruction.—Declares Hell is Grave.

Alfred I. Ritchie, a Bible student of wide reputation in the United States and Canada, declares that everyone goes to Hell. Mr. Ritchie has some interpretations on the Bible that appear sensational and along a new line.

In an interview yesterday he gave out some interesting information regarding various prominent Bible subjects that require more than ordinary consideration to obtain their full meaning. "I have a new cure for infidelity," declared Mr. Ritchie. "To prescribe the remedy we must find the cause, which I believe is the frailty of the people to understand how a God of all love and wisdom and justice, and having all power, could permit present conditions and conduct human affairs as proclaimed by the dominant creeds of Christendom. Unbelievers choke at the idea of the great Creator providing an eternity of any kind of torture for His own creatures, especially if He was gifted with the fore-knowledge that most of the human family go there, and that He had all wisdom to plan otherwise, and all power to do as He pleased. Truly the general religious teaching on this line is a foe to reason and the mother of doubt.

THE BIBLE GLORIFIES GOD.

"The Bible, taken as a whole, presents no such idea of our blessed Heavenly Father, but praises, glorifies and exalts His holy character. And so, when understood, it will be as natural for average human beings to emulate, love and praise God as has been in all human history for them to worship as leaders and heroes those who have shown greatness of character, whether in power or wisdom or benevolence. When rightly shown the character of our God will compel the admiration and loyalty of the masses infinitely more than the character of a Caesar, or a Napoleon, or an Edison, or a Byran, or a Roosevelt. That is the reason that the character of God is so little revered, that the Holy Name of Himself and of the Saviour are made the commonest "mass" words? We answer that it is because His character is blasphemed by the erroneous "Hell" teaching of deceived Christianity.

"Well did Pastor Russell, of the Brooklyn, N. Y., Tabernacle say, 'If the Bible does teach that eternal torture is the fate of all except the saints, it should be preached, yes, thundered, weekly, daily, hourly! If it does not so teach the fact should be made known, and the foul stain honoring God's Holy Name removed! I understand a free copy of this pamphlet, 'Food for thinking Christians,' which examines every mention of Hell in the Bible, can be had by addressing him.

"Everybody goes to Hell. Why? Because Hell is the grave, or death condition, to which the good and bad alike go to remain until the blessed time of resurrection, judgment, and re-orientation to perfection of all the obedient. The Hebrew word 'sheol' is the Old Testament. Its Hebrew definition is the unseen state, or the face of the dead. It occurs sixty-five times, and nowhere is the word 'fire' associated with it.

NO WORK IN "SHEOL." "Solomon said, 'There is no work, nor device, nor knowledge in sheol,' and he adds, 'whither thou goest.' Why? Because all in Hell are dead, referring to the resurrection, the evangelist says 'Death and Hell marshall receive no reward for the grave' delivered up the dead (not the living) which were in them."

"Sheol" is translated twenty-nine times as "hell," three times as "pit" and thirty-three times as "grave." In the revised version, 'sheol' is translated as 'hell' only about twenty times out of the sixty-five times, and its Greek equivalent, 'hades,' occurring eleven times in the New Testament, is not translated as 'hell' at all, but is left untranslated, because the Bible revisers knew it did not mean eternal torment.

"Only sixteen out of the sixty-six Bible books use the word 'hell,' in the English translation. St. Paul wrote fourteen books of the New Testament, but never mentioned 'hell fire.' John never mentioned it in his Gospel, nor in his three Epistles; nor did Peter in his two Epistles, nor Ruth, Ezra, Esther, Jeremiah, Daniel, Hoses, Joel, Obadiah, Micah, Zephaniah, Haggai, Nehemiah, Zechariah or Malachi. Strange that all these holy Apostles and Prophets did not harp upon the danger of falling into that 'lake of fire' which is supposed to be the doom of billions of humanity!

"No wonder that men turn away in disgust, full of fear and doubt! No wonder that church pews are empty and no one seems to care! No wonder that hundreds of thousands are infidels, or are fast becoming such! I am sure cure, the only cure, is to get a knowledge of God's true character, for to know Him is to love Him. With present-day Bibles, Bible Helps, Bible Dictionaries, and Studies in the Scriptures, no one need to be in the dark."

To the Editor of Monitor:—

Having noticed from time to time, items in the columns of your valued paper about the egg-producing qualities of different flocks of hens, I thought the following hen story might interest your many readers:

HOW THE BULLDOG INDUCED THE HENS TO LAY.

The New York Herald tells a story of a bulldog. Two men, Messrs Archibald Greer and Hall Brown, were told, started in the poultry business. Greer furnished the experience and Erwin furnished the capital and a bulldog.

They started with twenty hens and a rooster, and had very poor success until Greer suggested that they put the bulldog's house in the chicken yard and have the animal sleep there in order to prevent the stealing of chickens and eggs. Lately the poultry farm has been producing twenty eggs from twenty hens day in and day out. Upon investigation the partners found that when a hen came out in the morning the bulldog chased her into his house and kept watch over her while she laid an egg.

Minister Praises Zam-Buk

TELLS HOW IT CURED HIS WIFE'S BAD SORE.

When Everything Else Had Failed.

Rev. Henry J. Munton, of Blackfalds, Alta., writes: "My wife had a very bad sore foot, which it seemed impossible to get anything to heal. The sore would heal to a certain point and then fester again, and so on. I procured a box of Zam-Buk, and after persevering with this herbal balm for some time the sore was completely healed.

"We are so grateful for this cure, and Zam-Buk acted so differently to any other of the numerous remedies we had tried that I thought you ought to know of this case. I have since recommended Zam-Buk to several of my parishioners, and it always gives satisfaction."

Another instance in which Zam-Buk proved of unequalled value is told by Mr. N. L. Gerry, of Brandon, Man. He says, "I had my left foot run over by a wagon loaded with wheat. The foot was very badly crushed, and my little toe and the next toe were laid open. I applied Zam-Buk and only had to miss work for two days. Zam-Buk healed the wound so quickly that on the third day I was able to put on my boot and walk to my work. In a very short time my foot was quite healed, and the foot is not as sound as ever, thanks to Zam-Buk."

Just as good for chronic sores, ulcers, piles, blood poison, burns, scalds, eruptions, eczema, and all skin injuries and diseases. See box at all druggists and stores or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, too, 25c per tablet.

It is not good for a man to devote himself wholly to preparation for dying. It is preparation for living that we need.—Phillips Brooks.

"Be British"

"Be British!" Before going down with his ship Captain Smith of the Titanic coined a phrase that bids fair to take a permanent place among the watchwords of the race.—Globe.

It would be hard to set out in detail all that was meant when in two words the commander of the Titanic said to his men, "Be British." But the men knew, and knew in a flash that first of all it meant bravery, and the performance of duty, and facing death without flinching. The thought of self and of family was lost in that thought of the honor of an Englishman.

It is because all our race traditions are becoming so high that in this catastrophe there is so little to shame our common humanity. The call to honor is now so insistent everywhere, the examples of self-sacrifice to duty are so numerous that it becomes constantly harder for even the weakest to prove a poltroon. In the wreck of this doomed vessel the best traditions of every race are again reinforced.

It is only a question of time when the traditions of business will make a more insistent call for honor and self-sacrifice, and consideration for others. In the end, our politics will be robbed of much of its pettiness and self-seeking and distraction. It will be impossible to forever maintain standards of conduct so far apart as to be an impeachment of each other in our everyday relations in life. What is honorable and praiseworthy in one walk of life cannot be disregarded in any other walk with impunity.

The time will come when an appeal to be British or to be American will mean of some emergency duty. It will mean to live bravely in the ordinary relations of life. It will mean more than to prefer helpless women and children when there are not life-boats enough. It will mean to give helpless women and children their fair chance in the shop, the factory, the home; everywhere, in fact, where the call of humanity is fair play.—Des Moines Register.

How Kentville Man Escaped the Titanic

But for fortunate circumstances Kentville might now be mourning the loss of one of her prominent sons, who is now high in legal and financial circles in Montreal. Mr. H. A. Lovitt, K.C., eldest son of Mr. Henry Lovitt of this town. Mr. Lovitt had ten in London with the late H. A. Alison, a Montreal victim of the Titanic, who went down with his wife and daughter, and one little child only was saved by the nurse. Both Mr. Lovitt and Mr. Alison had decided to return on the Titanic. One day, Mr. Lovitt happening to mention his intention to a London friend well-known barrister, the latter remonstrated and finding that Mr. Lovitt's mind was pretty well made up, set himself seriously at work to induce him to change his decision. "It was foolish," he said, "to take any vessel on her maiden voyage, but especially one of the unprecedented dimensions of the Titanic. There might be no real danger, but as the vessel was on trial, there was danger of delay, on account of engines working badly, or other reasons due to the fact that the Titanic was on her maiden voyage." He declared emphatically that he would not venture on such a vessel under such conditions, and insisted that Mr. Lovitt should take the Olympic instead. Mr. Lovitt, finally consented and undoubtedly, thereby, escaped the fate which overtook the vast majority of the Titanic's passengers.

Richest Farmers of Missouri Leaving For Canada

Louisiana, Mo., May 1-Pike, the banner county of Missouri, the home of Champ Clark, which has supplied national figures and fine stock for half a century to the less fortunate sections of the republic, is powerfully smitten by the 'trek' to Canada.

Now comes the redoubtable Champ on the floor on Congress, resigning for the time his Speakership, to send up his cry for help, for he is sorely grieved-stricken over the loss of 'Pike's best sons.

What these people wanted to leave Pike for, no one knows, for it is the best country in the best state in the world. And yet, those same fellows are writing to Missouri, telling their old neighbors they have reached the traditional 'land of corn and wine.'

And it is true that Champ is not complaining because so many of those immigrants to Canada are Democrats and his supporters, for while Champ is a politician, he is a loyal son of Pike county and realizes that the loss of so many wealthy families is one that cannot be long sustained without serious consequences, even to a county so wealthy and populous as Pike.

The people who have gone from Pike to Canada are not merely the sons of wealthy farmers but are the wealthy farmers themselves—whole families of them, and they have taken with them hundreds of thousands of dollars, special trains of live stock and farming machinery, Professional men, too, have been caught by the lure of the great prairie provinces and have established themselves, with all their belongings, in British America.

Many others who remain in Pike have sent their surplus cash into Western Canada for investment. The banks in Louisiana and Bowling Green, the only towns of importance in Pike, have been almost ruined by the constant and heavy drain. Usually money could be secured here at three and four per cent., so great was the surplus kept on deposit by the rich farmers of the county. Today, money is worth eight or ten per cent here and is not plentiful even at those figures.

CLARK'S SPEECH A BIG ADVANCEMENT. Champ Clark has, perhaps, not yet realized it, but when he stepped down from the speaker's chair in the American Congress and made a plea against the lure and advantages of Canada he did more for the great country to the north than probably any man in the United States ever did before.

Judge Willis Biggs, for twelve years on the supreme bench of Missouri residing in Louisiana, went to Red Deer and brought ten thousand acres for himself and friends. He resides there now and is surrounded by a regular colony of 'Pikers'—in fact, along the new railroads of three provinces there are a number of towns named for some of these old Pike county families who have done so much substantially to develop that section.

OLD MARMADUKE FAMILY JOINS RUSH. Mason Marmaduke, another representative of a family that has contributed to the history of Missouri since the old state secured a place on the map, is now sending his three sons with four cars of stock and machinery to a point west of Battleford on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

The letters these responsible people write to their friends in Pike keep the old country in a turmoil. Land, which at one time was worth four hundred dollars per acre in Pike has actually fallen to half that sum, because of the loss of the farming element. Then, too, the wealthy farmers, and town men with money to invest, have found it so much more profitable to buy large tracts of land in different portions of the Canadian West, that they will not longer tie up their cash in high-priced Missouri lands, which will scarcely increase in value, when they can purchase, with the same amount of money, twenty times as many acres in Canada with every prospect of heavy advance in a short time.

Easy Annuals to Grow

Ten Kings That Will Give Satisfaction in Any Garden.

In this article, while speaking of easily-grown varieties of flowers, I do not wish to discourage the careful culture, or the love of the more costly or even newer novelties. This is principally intended for the busy country people who, while they have a love for flowers, have not the time to spare to properly fuss over, and care for them.

For many years I have found the ideal place to raise these flowers is in the vegetable garden. Here they receive the full benefit of the sun, to properly bring out their brilliant coloring; they also receive the rain and dew to keep them damp and growing, far better than any watering can or hose could do it.

Next place we give to the sweet peas, and where will you find a lovelier, harder, more prolific bloom? Do not allow any flowers to go to seed; pick, pick them every day. Plant the sweet peas very deep, and get the mixed varieties, and they'll be most charming.

My third choice is the zinnia. It is grand and large, easy to grow, fine for bouquets, free to bloom, a rapid grower, with cheerful markings.

Coming next we put the mignonette. This flower has by its perfume won its way into all collections, and your plot this year will not be complete without it. While most annuals will improve by transplanting, mignonette will not permit of moving, on account of its one long tapering root.

For over three hundred years our next has been a much-prized flower; it is the easy grown old candytuft. Sow a little of this occasionally, and an abundance of white flowers will be your reward.

Next we place the bright yellow and brown bloomer, and rapid grower, the coreopsis. This is fine for brightening up bouquets, for its smiling face adds a ray of cheer, like a yellow spray in a lady's hat.

We must not forget the balsam, grand and lovely. This, our flower that is wonderfully improved by transplanting, having the effect of enlarging the bloom, frequently making them like small roses.

There are a host of others all good. Secure some of them if you can, for you'll be cheered, blest, and encouraged, in life's battle, if you fuss over any of these flowers. Be sure to purchase good seed, and all of the ten mentioned seed cost not over seventy-five cents, just the price of a dozen and a half of eggs, the way they sold sometimes the past winter.

It is a beautiful thought that 'flowers are God's smile upon the earth.' Then grow them in gracious profusion, for the house, for the sick for the aged, and for the little children, who covet their wonderful beauty. By cultivating and studying their moods and requirements, your heart and life will become better attuned to the harmony of nature. The more we work and care for flowers, the more we love them, and nothing more quickly responds to sympathetic treatment.—James E. Orr.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1912.

—Now is the time for the annual clean-up, outside the house as well as inside. Remember the cleanliness of a town only equals the cleanliness of its citizens, and one or two careless people can undo the work of a whole community.

There are back yards and even a few front yards in this town that are an eyesore to the whole community. Let us all during the coming week make a special effort to have the town present a clean appearance, so that on Victoria Day, when visitors to the town are likely to be more or less numerous, we shall have no cause to be ashamed.

Let our Board of Health get active in urging our citizens to adopt improved sanitary measures. See that all pig-pens and other offensive objects are banished before the warm weather comes.

Let every man, woman and child begin to wage war on the plague of flies, both by keeping clean premises, by spraying their breeding places with kerosene, and by killing every one that ventures from its hiding place.

The attention of the Councillors is again directed to the necessity for providing metal receptacles at the street corners for the reception of waste that is usually scattered along the streets.

The Boy Scouts may demonstrate their value to the community by organized efforts to spy out dirt and disorder and by directing the attention of the Board of Health to it.

Every one can help to have a clean town.
Let us all try.

THE CHURCH AND SOCIALISM.

Will the Christian church take the lead in the solution of great social problems which press themselves with growing force upon the world's attention, or will the leadership be taken by those Socialists who repudiate Christianity? This question was presented with clearness and force yesterday by Mr. John T. Hawke in an address delivered in this city. It is perhaps the most important question presented at the present time in any country. A social revolution is unquestionably in progress. Everywhere special problems are being forced to the front, and the most outspoken and determined advocates of radical change are not in the Christian church. Mr. Hawke gave one striking illustration when he told of seeing London churches with comparatively few men in attendance at the services, while outside in the streets crowds of working men listened to speakers who stood under the flag of Socialism.

There is a church in the city of Winnipeg which has just decided, to keep its doors constantly open. The pastor of that church is making an effort to the extent of his ability to make the church do its part in solving the social problem. There must be no aloofness if the church is to gain the desired hold upon the conscience and energy of all the people.
Mr. Hawke was quite right in urging that there should be less emphasis upon the joys of heaven and more upon the doing of right because it is good to do right. Perhaps greater emphasis along the line he suggests would strengthen the work of every branch of the Christian church.
The social revolution which is in progress must have a profound influence upon the relations between the church and the working man. No one doubts that the principles of Christianity, sincerely and resolutely applied in every department of human life, would overcome all that is unhealthy in social unrest. It is for the church to say whether or not it will meet the crisis in the right spirit and with the fearless energy which marked the lives of the great leaders of Christianity in ages past.—St.
John Times.

CORRESPONDENCE.

YOUNG WOMEN ARE DUPED.

Philadelphia, May 1st, 1912.
Dear Editor—The newspapers of the smaller towns throughout the country are frequently solicited to insert reading advertisements for the Philadelphia School for Nurses, located at 2219 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, and as it passes as a beneficent and charitable institution these advertisements are inserted free of charge.

The Visitor of the Pennsylvania State Board of Charities in a report states: "Nothing to be seen worth reporting. No indication of lessons or instruction. Your visitor cannot commend this institution," and in a letter says: "This last, places this institution under the head of those we condemn absolutely in our printed report."

It is advisable that the public should know that the young women who enter this school as pupils are sent out after having had the most meagre instruction from incompetent instructors, to nurse in private families for money, eighty per cent. of which is returned to the school treasury. They receive no bedside instruction nor are they under the direction of skilled and competent teachers.

The Chief of the Bureau of Health in his report to the Director of Health and Charities of the City of Philadelphia says: "I feel that it is an imposition on the public to allow this class of nurses to practice their profession, as the following circumstances connected with these cases of typhoid fever prove conclusively to my mind that these nurses are not properly trained to be intrusted with the noble work of nursing the sick."

The graduates of this school are not accepted by the American National Red Cross Society, nor the Nursing Corps of the Army and Navy they are not admitted to the Directory for Nurses connected with the College of Physicians, Philadelphia, nor are they recognized by the Pen-sylvania State Board of Examiners for Registration of Nurses.

I have given you this information for the reason that poor and ambitious young women, attracted by the advantages set forth in the free advertisements inserted in the newspapers all over the country, with great effort travel long distances to attend this school in the hope of becoming trained nurses, only to find after entering that they are giving their time and work to an institution which does not educate and equip them for the profession of nursing.

In the interest of these young women of your locality I would ask that you give this statement as much publicity as possible.
Respectfully yours,
Wm. S. HIGBEE, M.D.
President of the Pennsylvania State Board of Examiners for Registration of Nurses.

It's tone is just what you would expect, from a lady being at the helm, moral, refined and elevating.—Truro News.

Our congratulations are extended to our excellent contemporary, the Bridgetown Monitor, upon the celebration of its 40th birthday on the 17th April last. The Monitor has met with many reverses, as all papers do in a long career, but has survived them all and is today as vigorous and bright as ever. It is one of the few newspapers in Nova Scotia, conducted by a lady, and on that account alone is deserving of a large and increasing patronage, which we are told it is receiving. Success to it.—Yarmouth Herald.

A Hero and Didn't Know It

This statement by a Titanic operator was dictated by Mr. Bride to Mr. Marconi and a reporter for The New York Times, who visited him together in the wireless cabin of the Carpathia a few minutes after the ship reached her pier.

In the first place, the public should not blame anybody because more wireless messages about the disaster to the Titanic did not reach shore from the Carpathia. I positively refused to send press despatches, because the bulk of personal messages with touching words of grief was so large. The wireless operators aboard the Carpathia got all they asked for, and they were wretched operators.

They knew the American Morse, but not the Continental Morse sufficiently to be worth while. They taxed our endurance to the limit.

I had to cut them out at last, they were so insufferably slow, and go ahead with our messages of grief to relatives. We sent one hundred and nineteen personal messages today and fifty yesterday. When I was dragged aboard the Carpathia I went to the hospital at first. I stayed there ten hours. Then somebody brought word that the Carpathia's wireless operator was "getting queer" from the work. They asked me if I could go up and help. I could not walk. Both my feet were broken, or something I don't know what. I went up on crutches, with somebody helping me.

I took the key and I never left the wireless cabin after that. Our meals were brought to us. We kept the wireless working all the time. The navy operators were a great nuisance. I advise them all to learn the Continental Morse and learn to speed up in it if they ever expect to be worth their salt. The Chester's man thought he knew it, but he was as slow as Christmas coming. We worked all the time. Nothing went wrong. Some times the Carpathia man sent and sometimes I sent. There was a bed in the wireless cabin. I could sit on it and rest my feet while sending sometimes.

I did not have much to do aboard the Titanic except to relieve Phillips from midnight until some time in the morning, when he should be through sleeping. On the night of the accident I was not sending, but was asleep. I was due to be up and relieve Phillips earlier than usual. And that reminds me, if it had not been for a lucky thing, we never could have sent any call for help.

WIRELESS BROKE DOWN.

That lucky thing was that the wireless broke down early enough for us to fix it before the accident. We noticed something wrong on Sunday, and Phillips and I worked seven hours to find it. We found a "secretary" burned out at last, and repaired it just a few hours before the iceberg was struck.

Phillips said to me as he took the night shift: "You turn in, boy, and get some sleep, and get up as soon as you can and give me a chance. I'm all done for with this work of making repairs."

There were three rooms in the wireless cabin. One was a sleeping room, one a dynamo room, and one a working room.

I took off my clothes and went to sleep in bed. Then I was conscious of waking up and hearing Phillips sending to Cape Race. I read what he was sending. It was traffic matter.

DID NOT FEEL THE SHOCK.

I remembered how tired he was and I got out of bed without my clothes on to relieve him. I did not even feel the shock. I hardly knew it had happened after the captain had come to us. There was no jolt whatever.

I was standing by Phillips telling him to go to bed when the Captain put his head in the cabin.

CAPTAIN BREAKS THE NEWS.

"We've struck an iceberg," the captain said, "and I'm having an inspection made to tell what it has done for us."

"You'd better get ready to send out a call for assistance. But don't send it until I tell you."

The captain went away and in ten minutes, I should estimate, of time he came back. We could hear a terrible confusion outside, but there was not the least thing to indicate that there was any trouble. The wireless was working perfectly.

JOKED OVER COLLISION.

"What call should I send?" Phillips asked.

"The regulation international call for help. Just that."

Then the captain was gone. Phillips began to send "C. Q. D." He flashed away at it and we joked together while he did so. All of us made light of the disaster.

We joked away while he flashed signals for about five minutes. Then the Captain came back.

"What are you sending?" he asked.

"C. Q. D.," Phillips answered.

The humor of the situation appealed to me. I cut in with a little remark that made us all laugh, including the Captain.

CHANGED TO "S. O. S." SIGNAL.

"Send 'S. O. S.'," I said. "It's a new call, and it may be your last chance to send it."

Phillips, with a laugh changed the signal to "S. O. S." The Captain told us he had been struck amidships, or just back of amidships. It was ten minutes, Phillips told me, after he noticed the iceberg that the slight jolt came that was the indication of a collision.

CARPATHIA ANSWERS SIGNAL.

The Carpathia answered our signal. We told her our position, and said we were sinking by the head. The operator went to tell the captain, and in five minutes returned and told us that the Captain of the Carpathia was putting about and heading for us.

Our captain had left us at this time, and Phillips told me to run and tell him what the Carpathia had answered. I did so and I went through an awful mass of people to his cabin.

The Brave Phillips

The decks were full of scrambling men and women. I saw no fighting, but I heard tell of it.

I came back and heard Phillips giving the Carpathia full directions. Phillips told me to put on my clothes, and dressed. I went to my cabin and dressed. I brought an overcoat to Phillips. It was cold. I slipped the overcoat upon him while he worked. Every few minutes Phillips would send me to the Captain with little messages. They were merely telling how the Carpathia was coming our way, and gave her speed.

THE BRAVE PHILLIPS.

Phillips told me the wireless was growing weaker. The captain came and told us our engine rooms were taking water, and that the dynamos might not last much longer. We sent that word to the Carpathia. I went out on deck and looked around. The water was pretty close up to the boat deck. There was a great scramble aft, and how poor Phillips worked through it I do not know. He was a brave man. I learned to love him that night, and I suddenly felt for him a great reverence to see him standing there sticking to his work while everybody else was raging about. I will never forget the work of Phillips for the last awful fifteen minutes.

BRAVE OF OPERATOR PHILLIPS.

I thought it was about time to look about and see if there was anything detached that would float. I remembered that every member of the crew had a special life-belt and ought to know where it was. I remembered mine was under my bunk. I went and got it. Then I thought how cold the water was.

REMEMBERED I HAD SOME BOOTS AND I PUT THEM ON, AND EXTRA JACKET, AND PUT IT ON AND AN EXTRA COAT FOR PHILLIPS, WHO WAS STILL SENDING AWAY, GIVING THE CARPATHIA DETAILS OF HOW WE WERE DOING.

We picked up the Olympic, and told her we were sinking by the head and were about all down.

As Phillips was sending the message I strapped his belt to his back. I had already put on his overcoat. I wondered if I could get him into his boots. He suggested with a sort of a laugh that I look and see if all the people were off in the boats or if any boats were left or how things were.

I SAW A COLLAPSIBLE BOAT NEAR A FUNNEL AND WENT OVER TO IT. TWELVE MEN WERE TRYING TO BOOST IT DOWN TO THE BOAT-DECK. THEY WERE HAVING AN AWFUL TIME. IT WAS THE LAST BOAT LEFT. I LOOKED AT IT LONGINGLY A FEW MINUTES, THEN I GAVE THEM A HAND, AND OVER IT WENT. THEY ALL STARTED TO SCRAMBLE IN ON THE OAR-DECK, AND I WALKED BACK TO PHILLIPS. I SAID THE LAST RAFT HAD GONE.

THE CAPTAIN'S TRIBUTE TO HIS MEN.

Then came the Captain's voice:—"Men, you have done your full duty. You can do no more. Abandon your cabin. Now, it's every man for himself. You look out for yourselves. I release you. That's the way of it all this kind of a time. Every man for himself."

I looked out. The boat-deck was awash. Phillips clung on, sending and sending. He clung on for about ten minutes or maybe fifteen minutes, after the Captain had released him. The water was coming into our cabin.

While he worked something happened; I hate to tell about it. I was back in my room getting Phillips' money for him, and as I looked out at the door I saw a stoker or somebody from below decks leaning over Phillips from behind. He was too busy to notice what the man was doing. The man was slipping the life-belt off Phillips' back.

A JUST RETRIBUTION.

He was a big man, too. As you can guess, I am very small. I don't know what it was I got hold of. I remembered in a flash the way Phillips had clung on, and that I had to fix that life-belt in place because he was too busy to do it.

I knew that man from below decks had his own life-belt, and should have known where to get it.

I suddenly felt a passion not to let that man die a decent sailor's death. I wished I might have stretched rope or walked a plank. I did my duty. I hope I finished him. I don't know. We left him on the cabin floor of the wireless room and he was not moving.

BAND PLAYED A RAGTIME.

From aft came the tunes of the band. It was a ragtime tune. I don't know what. Then there was "Autumn" Phillips ran at it, and that was the last I saw of him.

I went to the place where I had seen the collapsible boat on the boat deck, and to my surprise I saw the boat and the men still trying to push it off.

HELD UNDER THE BOAT.

The wave carried the boat off. I had hold of an oar and I went off with it. The next I knew I was in the boat. But that was not all. I was in the boat and the boat was upside down and I was under it. I remember I was wet through, and that whatever happened I must not breathe, for I was under water. I knew I had to fight and I did. How I got out from under that boat I do not know, but I felt a breath of air at last.

A BIG STREAM OF SPARKS

When at last the waves washed over her rudder there was not the least bit of suction I could feel. She must have kept going just so slowly as she had been. I felt after a little while like sinking. I was very cold. I saw a boat of some kind near me, and put all my strength in an effort to swim to it. It was hard work. I was all done when a hand reached out from the boat and pulled me aboard. It was our same collapsible. The same crowd was in it. There was just room for me to roll on the edge. I lay there, not caring what happened. Somebody sat on my legs. They were wedged in between slats, and were being wrenched. I had not the heart left to ask the man to move. It was a terrible sight all around—men swimming and sinking. I lay where I was, letting the man wrench my feet out

THE HOME

ONLY A THING.

In a pretty sunny parlor, modest but tasteful, two women were arranging flowers. One was the hostess the other a visitor, who was helping with the preparations for a tea that afternoon. It was from the visitor's hand that a delicate vase slipped and crashed to pieces on the hearth.

"Oh, Ellen, I'm so sorry!" she exclaimed, in distress. "The Venetian glass vase your sister brought from Italy—the very one I can't possibly replace! It's too bad."

"It was pretty, and I'm sorry, of course," acknowledged Ellen, frankly, burrowing promptly in a closet for the dust pan; "but don't stand there frozen with horror, and your face like a tragic mask. After all, it's only a thing."

Ellen laughed outright.

"Most things certainly are things," she admitted, "and a few things are precious; but even then there's a difference. I forgot that you didn't know the family byword, and could not finish it out for yourself. You see, I was quoting my aunt, who was the dearest, easiest, most comfortable, and yet the most wide-awake and spirited old lady in the world. She always declared that the richest gain that came to her through age and experience was the perception of relative importance. Life is so much more easy and interesting if we never let ourselves be troubled about what need not really matter; and compared with people and actions, things, our mere little possessions, are, after all, so trifling. She deemed it disgraceful that anything less than war, earthquakes or fire, affecting things, should make us unhappy."

"When a heart, a promise, or a principle is broken," she used to say, "that's disaster, and one may grieve; but when a teapot is—a thing is only a thing. Laugh and take a brown pitcher, and the tea will taste just as good."

"I suppose it would," agreed Ellen's friend, reflectively, "if the laugh were genuine, but so many of us couldn't laugh. It's Emerson, isn't it, who says, 'Things are in the saddle, and ride mankind—it's the housekeepers who are slaves to things.'"

"Oh, not all of us," protested Ellen cheerfully. "Suppose you put the pink chrysanthemums in that old Dutch mug and twist the trailing fern round the handle—I'm not sure it isn't going to be prettier than the Venetian vase after all."—Youth's Companion.

TRAINING CHILDREN IN POLITENESS.

We often hear some working man who has risen from the ranks referred to as one of "Nature's gentlemen," but it is rather a humbling fact that no man or woman was born courteous. The soil may have been there, but unless good seed had been sown from infancy in the home the harvest would have been the tares of boorishness and rudeness, rather than the wholesome grain of courtesy and kindness.

It goes without saying that it is not easy to make some children understand the art of politeness, and there are easy-going mothers who will tell you in excuse, "You can't be always checking and drilling them," but all the same it is highly necessary unless parents are to be ashamed of their family as they grow older. The force of a good example stands for much, and impresses the young people with all the force of a well-taught object lesson. Mothers who habitually speak in loud, angry tones and are forever scolding, need not wonder if the children imitate them in this respect.

Children are entitled to politeness and respect just as much as their seniors, and when they are asked to render any little service, the favor should be proffered nicely, instead of their being commanded, peremptorily to go here and there. The girl who is treated with politeness will inevitably become polite, and the boy who is ordered about anyhow is almost certain to be rough and rude in speech and manner. The facility for imitation in children is simply marvelous, and if the mother is well-bred, it will seem the easiest thing in the world for the little ones to follow in her footsteps.

Children should be early instructed in table manners, for the natural child eats noisily, takes advantage of the fact that fingers were made before forks and knives, rolls or shakes his little head to save him the trouble of answering a question, speaks with his mouth full, and is pretty much of a little animal. It is a sincere pleasure to a visitor or guest to sit at table with well-bred children, who conduct themselves properly, and are not given to spilling their tea or refusing what is set before them. A healthy child ought to be able to eat anything, and it is a mistake for parents to foster notions that they cannot partake of this, that, and the other thing.

THE GIRL AT HOME.

"It is so roky at home," many girls say, and to them the faraway hills look green. But their voyage of discovery to these same hills often leads them to another discovery—that we carry "pokyness" or the reverse around with us.

"But what if father dies, or our circumstances should change," says the prudent girl; and that brings us to another principal point. While it may not be best for a girl to make her own way unless she has to, I believe that everyone should receive a training along some special line by which she could earn money if the necessity arose. With that security she could enjoy life at home. In older countries many a girl's hobby has been turned into a remunerative source of income in time of need.

Also it is said many a time, "I can't afford to stay out of business now because perhaps twenty years hence I may have to depend upon myself, and where would I be then?" Would not an ordinary healthy, middle-aged woman, well trained in the ways of a household, be better fitted physically and commercially to depend upon herself, than one who has been in business for that length of time, has borne its stress and is galled with its monotony?

I am not advocating a company of girls unprepared for conditions which they may have to face, girls so sheltered and nurtured that they lack strength to stand alone, but I do feel that the intelligent girl who is not forced to direct her energies into one particular wage-earning channel has a peculiar and special opportunity for development along the lines of her own particular nature, along the lines of her most womanly qualities, qualities which are her greatest strength, an opportunity which she should not lightly part aside when ambition or restlessness tempts her to seek self support outside the home.

DON'T BE "A WET HEN."

Early in my married life I decided that there was more work here than I could possibly do, so I began studying which to do and which not to do. I finally decided it did not make much difference just so long as the most important things were done and I kept my temper. Not that I was in the habit of losing it often, but that I would not allow the duties of home to make me fretful. I settled the question early that my children should not in later years think of mother as "an old wet hen" and of home as a place where mother worried herself and everyone around her, about the things that wouldn't stay fixed and the things that couldn't be fixed.

I want to tell you mothers, not harshly, however, that many of you make your children miserable and you don't know it, by fretting so much about the work and if you were to ask them after they had homes of their own, what you guess mother is doing, they would say "Oh, just fretting around there—you know she always frets, but—it wouldn't be mother if she didn't fret." You see she wouldn't seem natural to them if she didn't fret.

Now, young mothers, I ask you with a heart full of love to consider this subject. You are young and can keep yourself from falling into this habit, and for the sake of your children and the peace of your home, don't be "an old wet hen."

TO PRESERVE GOOD HEARING

Hints on the maintenance of good hearing are given by the Family Doctor, which points out that the inside of the ear should always be left alone. The wax in the ear is absolutely necessary to keep it in a healthy condition. Never try to get it out. Washing the auditory canal with soap and water is also injurious, as in this way the wax is moistened. Never put cold water or any other cold liquid in the ear. When going for a swim insert cotton, or what is better still, a little wool in the ears. When out in a cold wind or snow storm it is best to protect the ears. Avoid blowing the nose violently in case of a cold. This sometimes causes the inflammation to spread into the eustachian tube, and causes deafness.

Keep a bottle of peroxide of hydrogen handy to prevent infection from numerous causes—for instance, cuts, wounds, rusty nails, or anything in which the perforation of the skin is made, allowing germs to infect the wound.

Never black a kitchen stove. Wash it every day with clean soap and water. This will leave it black and smooth, and will not soil your hands. Is the advice given by a recent writer,

Proposed Censorship of Theatres

(Sydney Record editorial)

It will hardly be denied that moving picture shows need on behalf of the public some supervision, and the proposal now before the city council for the appointment of a censor probably has public approval in some sort of form. At the same time it would seem to be a matter which requires to be approached cautiously.

Censorship of whatever sort, and especially in a matter of this kind, is a difficult not to say hazardous role to undertake. Questions of mere taste are apt to become mixed up with those of morals and public decency. From the report of the meeting of the police commission at which the subject of a moving picture censorship was discussed, objection is taken to pictures showing scenes of domestic infelicity and accretes where intoxicated women appear. Pictures of crime and violence, prize fights, and in general those which show man in his more or less barbarous state, will also likely fall under the disapproval of the censor. Man is to be shown only in his tame and domestic aspects.

But if we are to have a censor to supervise the pictures, equally necessary would it seem to have one to look after the vaudeville. Some exceedingly coarse and suggestive performances in this line have been given in Sydney, since the opening of moving picture theatres. It is a question whether objectionable vaudeville does not need more attention in the way of censorship than the objectionable moving picture. Then there is a good deal of bad music which has a tendency to vitiate the public taste.

Once having established a censorship, it may become difficult to decide where the line is to be drawn. From moving pictures and vaudeville it may extend to the ordinary drama and here the censor will have his work cut out for him. England has a censor of plays, and we note from English journals that he is frequently in hot water, and often the centre of heated controversy. From the drama to the press would be only a natural step. Then we should be back in Russia's class, and the tendency of the day seems to be in that direction. The censorship of the local papers would be a great card in the hands of the ruling powers at the city hall and would be particularly convenient at election times.

As regards the censorship of moving pictures, a good deal would depend on the temperament of the official. If he were sensitive and fastidious, for instance, or of a highly artistic temperament, he would be apt to condemn a great many pictures in which a man of coarser mind would see nothing to object to.

Again there is the question of appeal from the decisions of the censor, and if appeals are to be allowed to whom are they to be made? Probably a committee of the city council will have to act in the capacity of board of appeal to hear questions of this kind much as the senate hears divorce cases.

Then I was hustled down below to the hospital. That was early in the day, I guess. I lay in the hospital until nearly night and they told me the Carpathian's wireless man was getting "queer," and would I help? After that I never was out of the wireless room, so I don't know what happened among the passengers. I saw nothing of Mrs. Astor or any of them. I just worked the wireless. The splutter never died down. I knew it soothed the hurt and felt like a tie to the world of friends at home.

In The Garden

Just as soon as the land is dry enough to use the spade the garden should be broken up.

Raking the surface very fine is not necessary or desirable when planting trees, shrubs or bushes.

Do not try to raise cauliflowers on poor soil. Cauliflowers need plenty of nitrogen and humus to retain moisture.

Many of the small fruits respond readily to an increased supply of plant food applied in the form of fertilizers, and they are comparatively easy to experiment with.

The pruning of the raspberry canes should be done as early as possible in the spring. Very little need be done to the thick canes, but thin, weakly ones should be well cut back. Some manure can be dug in afterwards between the rows.

The earlier that rose bushes, shrubs and trees are planted, now the better. Always try to plant just before a shower time. Never plant trees in heavy soil when the mud is sticky—it is better to wait for the soil to dry a little.

When the frost has left the ground it is not too soon to prepare the bed for sweet peas. Go down deep, put a layer of short horse manure, and fill up with rich clay loam. The peas should be soaked in water overnight and planted as soon as the soil gets warm.

If a new lot of rhubarb is wanted any of the large roots of the old plants can now be dug up, cut into three or four pieces with a sharp knife and replanted on deeply-dug ground. The second year after planting the young roots should produce better rhubarb than the old ones.

Combining roses will grow sometimes fifteen to twenty feet in length from the roots. They should therefore be planted from ten to fifteen feet apart. The average rose bushes attaining a height of, say, three or four feet should be planted about three feet apart. Give the bush type of rose an open, sunny position.

We can recommend the following selections and quantities of seeds to purchase for a farm garden 90 by 240 feet.—Asparagus, one hundred roots; beans, green podded, one pint; beans, wax, one pint; beets, two ounces; cabbage, early, one packet; carrot, one ounce; cauliflower, one packet; celery, one ounce; sweet corn, extra early, one pint; cucumber, one ounce; lettuce seed, one ounce; onion seed, two ounces; onion sets, bottom, one quart; onion sets, top (perennial), one quart; parsley, one packet; parsnip, one ounce; peas, extra early smooth, one pint; peas, early dwarf wrinkled, one quart; pepper, one packet; potatoes, three pecks; radish, three ounces; rhubarb, one ounce; spinach, one ounce; squash, summer, one ounce; winter, one ounce; tomato, two packets; turnip, one ounce.

TOWN CLEANING.

The St. John Telegraph has the following which is highly applicable to all other towns and cities:—

St. John should clean up. The spring season is fairly opened and the flies will soon be breeding in filthy places which ought to be made clean. The time to fight the fly pest is before the warm days come, for reduction in the number of favorable breeding places will reduce the annoyance and the danger to health. The board of health inspectors should lose no time in making a thorough inspection of all back yards and should visit more than once to be sure that instructions are carried out to the letter. Of course all of the responsibility does not rest upon the officials. It is the duty of the people themselves to see that cleanliness prevails about their premises. Unfortunately, however, there are far too many who are very careless in such matters and who take the breeding of flies and a house filled with flies as a matter of course. In the interest of public health the officials should attend promptly to the case of people of this sort. St. John is to be bigger and busier. It should also be cleaner and better as a home for the people.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, of Newberg Junction, N.B., writes "My wife has been using Chamberlain's Tablets and finds them very effective and doing her lots of good." If you have any trouble with your stomach or bowels give them a trial. For sale by druggists and dealers.

The Exact Key to the Courtenay Bay Situation

MILLIONS OF GOOD EASTERN DOLLARS HAVE BEEN SUNKEN IN WESTERN REAL ESTATE, in most cases in localities offering no real merit as to profitable investment. St. John, N. B., destined to be Canada's Greatest Shipping Centre, and the one great point of export for the three transcontinental railways, as well as docking and shipbuilding port, is now the most real, most alluring of all Canadian investments. Western real estate men have been some of the biggest buyers of St. John property, particularly in Tisdale Place.

TISDALE PLACE is at the very entrance to the Courtenay Bay district.

TISDALE PLACE COMMANDS ALL TRAFFIC to and from the city, governing the assured Dry Dock and Ship Repairing and Railway activities.

MORE THAN HALF OF TISDALE PLACE HAS BEEN SOLD already. Stores, a hotel and homes are to be erected. The Place is being laid out on modern lines.

TISDALE PLACE IS THE CENTRE OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT. The big factories etc. following the railways, are selecting their sites nearby.

THE STREET RAILWAY ALMOST SURROUNDS TISDALE PLACE, making it very accessible, though on foot it is only ten minutes from the city centre.

WATER, SEWERAGE AND OTHER UTILITIES are soon to be installed in Tisdale Place.

THE CONTROL OF INSECT PESTS IN CANADA.

The Division of Entomology of the Experimental Farms Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has recently issued a bulletin by Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist, on "The Control of Insect Pests in Canada."

An account is given of the history of the war against insect pests in Canada and of the manner in which insect pests have invaded the country as it has been gradually opened up and cultivated. The manner in which the Dominion and Provincial governments are endeavoring by legislation and other means to prevent the introduction of insect pests into Canada and the increase and spread of those pests already here is described. An interesting summary of the various lines of work undertaken and carried on by the Division of Entomology at Ottawa is given and the general public will no doubt be surprised at the many problems which come within the scope of the Entomologist who are called upon to deal with insects in their relations to all the varied activities of man; insects affecting farm crops, fruit growing, forest and shade trees; insects attacking man's possessions and animals and finally affecting the health of man. All insects, however, are not injurious and the work of the Entomologist includes bees and bee-keeping and the study of parasitic and other enemies which may be of assistance in obtaining control of insect pests.

TRURO COUNCILLORS ON JOY RIDE.

Truro, May 8.—An interesting series of complaints against automobile owners was given judicial hearing here today before Stipendiary Crowe. The information was laid after directions by Councillor Dunbar who notified the Chief of Police that three auto were rushing about town one night last week at a speed exceeding the limit.

The first of the cases was gone into and decision reserved. The evidence showed that the occasion was a special one in which Mayor Robinson of Moncton and a company of Truro Town Councillors and guests were being shown round Truro.

Councillor Dunbar was not of the party. He owns an auto and claimed to be able to judge speed. The three cars containing the joy riders made the pace on Prince Street, in his opinion, at faster than twenty miles an hour. T. G. McMullen, A. R. Coffin and W. P. McKay were the witnesses. The latter corroborated Dunbar, but the other two could not fix ideas on speed. Judgment was reserved.

MRS. MCGEE BOUGHT MANY MATCHES.

Witnesses Became Suspicious at the Large Quantity the Woman Was Using.

Charlottetown, May 12.—The preliminary trial before Magistrate Reddin of Mrs. McGee charged with murdering her six children by poison, opened at Georgetown on Friday and was resumed yesterday. The first day's evidence disclosed little of importance in addition to that given at the inquest. Yesterday the principal evidence was that given by Agnes Maper, her sister Annie, and Mrs. Wm. Hicken relative to the purchase of matches. Agnes Maper swore Mrs. McGee got at her store four bunches of old-fashioned card matches on April 18th. Next day the boy, Johnny was sick, Mrs. McGee said that her husband had gone to work in a factory. She was therefore lonely and needed more matches. The previous week, just before the other five children took sick one of them bought twelve bunches of matches. Shortly before or after that another got ten bunches.

The witness had remarked to her mother that McGees were buying an unusual quantity of matches. The Mapers live a quarter of a mile from Mrs. Hicken.

Mrs. Hicken who keeps a store three miles away testified that ten days before Johnny took sick he bought seven bunches of matches. Annie Mahar testified that the day after the funeral of the five children Johnny came to the store with a note from his mother ordering twelve bunches of matches. The note stated that the other matches were used to light papers, and some were wasted. The witness was suspicious, and gave the boy only two bunches.

The report of Dr. Rattan, of McGill who analyzed the organs of the children, and the contents of the stomach has been received. The authorities are keeping the report secret, but it is understood that the poisoning was caused by the phosphorus on each bunch. One grain is considered deadly.
