REQUEST FOR ARMISTICE LEADING EVENT OF MOST IMPORTANT WEEK OF WAR SINCE BATTLE OF MARNE

Bulgaria's Action Admits Of Two Interpretations

Device To Gain Time or Desire To Desert The Ship

indications That Leaders Recognize That They Are Losing Side and Wish to Secure Best Terms They May—Allies Offer of Conference Without Armistice Would Prove Their Real Intentions—Official Announcements From Bulgaria—Turkey Also Preparing to Quit?

London, Sept. 28.—Bulgaria's request for an armistice to discuss peace appears to be the leading event of what seems to be the most important week of war since the battle of the Marne.

The Allies have made a reply which should enable them, if their proposal is accepted, to judge which of these is the real purpose of Bulgaria. A conference without an armistice will prove what the enemy really desires.

Signs are not wanting that Bulgaria and Turkey feel that they are in the no boat. When Talat Pasha, the Turkish grand vizier, visited Berlin recently, he gave an interview in which he said the war must end this winter, and that it had accomplished all that it could.

If Bulgaria throws up her hands she cuts the vital cord which connects Germany and Asia. She deals a death blow to Germany's Asiatic ambitions. If she is allowed to be skiffed to the western theatre of war, the defection of Bulgaria would make it possible for the great Allied army to turn against Turkey from its base at Salonika.

The Official Statement. Copenhagen, Sept. 28.—The leaders of the ministerial bloc of the Bulgarian parliament, according to a dispatch from Sofia, published the following official proposal for an armistice.

In accordance with orders of the leaders of the ministerial bloc of the government at five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon made an offer of an armistice to the adversary. The leaders of the bloc are in accord that the army and the people must maintain military and public discipline, which is so necessary for a happy issue in the terms which are decisive for the recently begun work of peace.

London, Sept. 28.—An official Bulgarian statement dated 24, announces that Bulgaria has initiated a proposition for obtaining an armistice and peace. The text of the official announcement reads:

In view of the conjuncture of circumstances which have recently arisen, and after the position had been jointly discussed with all competent authorities, the Bulgarian government, desiring to put an end to the bloodshed, authorized the commander-in-chief of the army to propose to the generalissimo of the armies of the Entente of Salonika a cessation of hostilities and the entering into of negotiations for obtaining an armistice and peace.

The members of the Bulgarian delegation left yesterday evening in order to get into touch with the plenipotentiaries of the Entente belligerents.

This statement was transmitted through the German semi-official Wolff Bureau which added to the text the following note:

The report of the departure of the delegation is incorrect.

The Wolff Bureau note apparently was prior to the developments reported yesterday of the Bulgarian move, which showed that emissaries from the Bulgarian government had got into touch with the commander of the Entente armies in the Macedonian war theatre.

Bureau of the Bulgar. Paris, Sept. 28.—"Beware of the Bulgars," says Nikolai P. Pachtich, Serbian premier, and representative of that government at the inter-allied conference here. In a statement printed in the Petit Journal today, M. Pachtich says:

"I firmly believe Bulgaria's action betrays a ruse or scheme. The Bulgars want to gain time. Why this offer, when their armies are not definitely beaten and are still able to resist and their country hardly invaded? It is simple. They wish to bring up reinforcements and then get back to their defence lines."

May Be Sincere. Paris, Sept. 28.—Bulgaria's sincerity in making her proposal for an armistice is taken more or less for granted by most thoughtful writers, notwithstanding slight reservations made by some of them. They are one, however, in agreeing that Bulgaria, in a desperate plight, will have made peace or have peace thrust upon her.

Caused Panic in Berlin. London, Sept. 28.—The publication in a semi-official newspaper of Bulgaria's armistice request was the cause of a greatest panic in the German capital, according to advices received at London and forwarded by the Express on page 3, seventh column.

SERBIANS TAKE IMPORTANT BASE FROM BULGARS

Capture City and Fortress of Vales in Southern Serbia—Now Pushing Forward Towards Uskub—Enormous Number of Prisoners

London, Sept. 28.—The city and fortress of Vales, one of the important bases of the Bulgarian forces in southern Serbia, on the Vardar river, has been captured by Serbian troops, the Serbian war office announces in a statement dated Friday.

The text of the statement follows: "Our advance continued Thursday with excellent results. Our troops reached Rakovitsa and have gone considerably beyond Kochana."

"On the same day about noon our troops entered Vales, and captured the town, including several machine guns and three mortars. The first was immediately continued their advance towards Uskub."

"An enormous number of prisoners, mostly Germans, a huge quantity of war material, including several machine guns and three mortars, and other supplies have fallen into our hands."

WOUNDED NEW BRUNSWICKER BRINGS IN FIRST

Limps Back to Lines in Cambrai Drive With Prisoner—Had Five But Germans Killed Four

With the Canadian Forces, Sept. 27.—(By J. P. B. Livesey, Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—In their drive for Cambrai today the Canadians took many hundreds of prisoners. The first was brought in at 6 o'clock by a wounded New Brunswicker, who started out with five but lost four of his prisoners by enemy shell fire.

MUST CHAIN FOREVER THE FURIES OF WAR

Asquith Warns Against Wasting the Unexpended Sacrifices We Have Made

Manchester, Eng., Sept. 28.—(Reuter's)—Speaking at a conference of the National Liberal Federation yesterday, former Premier Asquith said the development of the situation during the last two months had been highly favorable to the Allied cause.

Mr. Asquith declared he never had doubted the continued pressure of the Allied forces, naval, military and economic would prove in the long run irresistible.

"But the more confident we are in our faith in ultimate victory," he continued, "the more we should be on guard that our unexpended sacrifices are not wasted, frittered away, without securing a clean peace and setting up a new international policy which will chain up forever the furies of war."

MUST WORK IN THE SHIPYARDS OR TAKE PLACE IN THE RANKS

London, Sept. 28.—A government announcement of yesterday says that workers in the Clyde shipyards who remain on strike after Oct. 1 will forfeit their protection certificates and be drafted to the colors. The men, according to the government, after agreeing to submit their claims to arbitration, broke their pledge to remain at work, in defiance of instructions received from their accredited leaders.

Creaser's Call to Farmers. Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Hon. T. A. Creaser, minister of agriculture, yesterday urged upon the farmers of the dominion the desirability of placing finished carcasses of beef and pork on the market.

BELGIANS ADVANCE ON LARGER PART OF FRONT

Attack From North of Ypres to the North Sea With Gains, at Some Points, of More Than Two and a Half Miles; Fighting is Severe; One Thousand Prisoners Already

Paris, Sept. 28.—Allied troops began an attack on the front north of Ypres today and the advance at some points has been more than two and one-half miles. The attack is being made by the Belgian army and is on the larger part of their front south from the North Sea. One thousand prisoners already have been counted. Heavy fighting is taking place between Dixmude and Ypres, and the battle is severe in the Houtholst Forest, north of Ypres.

ORGANIZER OF N. W. MOUNTED POLICE DEAD

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Lieut.-Col. Fred White, commissioner of the northwest territories and former comptroller of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, which he organized, died here last night in his seventy-second year.

Upper St. Lawrence and Ottawa Valley, Lower St. Lawrence, Gulf and North Shore—Strong southwest winds, showery; Sunday, fair with much the same temperature.

Mostly Fair and Warm. Maritime—Strong southwest and west winds, a few scattered showers but mostly fair and moderately warm today and on Sunday.

STEADY PROGRESS BY BRITISH AND FRENCH ON WESTERN FRONT

Canadians Have Reached The Douai-Cambrai Road

Ten Thousand Prisoners Taken by British in The Area—Two Towns Captured—French in Possession of Somme-Py, Important Railway Point—Marks Completion of First Phase of Attack—Battle Continues Favorably to the Allies

London, Sept. 28.—Prisoners to the number of 10,000 have been captured by British in their offensive in the Cambrai area, Field Marshal Haig announced today. Two thousand guns were taken by the British forces.

The British have captured the towns of Ephy and Oisy-La-Verge. The British pressed their attack yesterday without a moment's let up until a late hour, and the evening accentuated notably their progress in the northern portion of the battlefield.

CANADIANS PUSH FORWARD. London, Sept. 28.—Canadian troops pushed their way through Haynecourt and have reached the Douai-Cambrai road, the official statement says.

Paris, Sept. 28.—In the successful continuation of the offensive west of the Argonne the French have captured the village of Somme-Py, an advance of about four miles, says the war office statement today.

The heights north of Fontaine-en-Dormoise also have been taken. The French have taken additional prisoners. The fighting continues.

Pressing on between the Ailette and the Aisne last night the French penetrated the ravine between Jouy and Aisy and captured two villages.

Further north the French gained ground northeast of Nancy and captured 150 prisoners. A German counter-attack north of Alfontant was repulsed.

Official Statement. "The statement reads:—'At five-thirty o'clock this morning French troops continued the attack and took possession of the village of Somme-Py. Important Railway Point.'

Paris, Sept. 28.—(Havas Agency)—French troops have entered Somme-Py, an important railway point on the Cambrai front north of Souain, it is announced here. Reports from the battlefield indicate that the battle continues favorably for the Allies.

With the French Army in France, Sept. 28.—The Associated Press—Arrival of the French infantry on the banks of the Py river marks the successful termination of the first phase of the attack which is being pressed with unremitting vigor in spite of strengthening enemy resistance. The line now runs almost directly west to east from south of the Somme-Py to south of the Cernay Woods. We hold the town of Cernay.

The line thus indicated marks an advance of from five to six miles over extraordinarily difficult ground covered with trenches and deep barbed wire barriers. Early in the attack few prisoners were taken, but the loss of the line of Bulles cost the Germans very heavily in killed and prisoners.

Where Canadians Crossed. London, Sept. 28.—(Canadian Press despatch from Reuter's Limited)—The arrival of the Canadians at the Douai-Cambrai road, the official statement says, marks the passage of the Canal Du Nord, says that it is a formidable obstacle one hundred and twenty-one feet wide, forty-five deep and only crossable at three points. The Canadians secured a second bridgehead at Havrincourt, and remained to find a method of crossing the canal in the centre of the attack in the direction of Moeuvres, where there was no bridgehead. When the artillery by dawn destroyed the masonry banks of the canal several superannuated tanks, on the top of which was the necessary gear for the construction of bridges, were launched into the chasm. The fighting tanks crossed their backs. At Marquion and Havrincourt the canal was crossed in the most gallant manner as the bridgeheads were under fire. The whole operation rendered necessary days of preliminary work in order to make it a success. Picked men entrusted with the delicate and dangerous task included Canadians, a naval brigade, the Scots and Guards. Enemy forces confronting them consisted of nine divisions, two defending Havrincourt, consisting of chosen troops.

More Villages Captured. Paris, Sept. 28, 11.05 a. m.—British forces resumed the battle before Cambrai at daybreak today, according to news received here. They are reported to have captured the villages of Fontaine-Notre Dame, Cantaign, Noyelles and Selly.

Trying to Hold Them. With the American Army northwest of Verdun, Sept. 28—3 a. m.—(By the Associated Press)—With their backs to the outer edge of the Brunelle line the Germans today were fighting desperately in an endeavor to bring the American advance to a definite halt. The Germans were increasing the volume of their fire and indicating anew their determination to resist to the utmost.

The line fought for runs through the northern Argonne Woods and eastward along a line paralleling the Eperonville-Montfaucon road to a point near Ivroy, and thence northeasterly. The Germans are massed in the Cerges Woods, and in the Emont Woods. The Americans are using their artillery freely to break up the enemy dispositions. The Germans are depending upon machine gun fire at every advanced point in their effort to check the Americans.

BRITISH CASUALTIES FOR WEEK. London, Sept. 28.—British army casualties for the week ending today as announced by the war office follow: Officers: Killed or died of wounds, 492; men, 3,386. Officers: Wounded or missing, 804; men, 19,157.

FRENCH AIRMEN DROP BOMBS BACK OF GERMAN LINES

Tons of Explosives Dropped on Bivouacs and Cantonments—Forty-Two Enemy Airplanes Brought Down or Disabled

Paris, Sept. 28.—The following communication dealing with French aviation operations on Sept. 27, was issued today:

"Good weather conditions permitted our aviators to actively co-operate in the battle and many exploration trips were made over and beyond the German lines."

"Our aviators dropped twenty-four tons of projectiles during the day and twenty-three and a half tons during the night on bivouacs and cantonments in the rear of the enemy's front lines. Forty-two enemy airplanes were brought down or disabled and seven captive balloons were set on fire during the day."

The Belgian communication for Sept. 27 says:—

"The usual artillery action on the Belgian front continues. South of the Yser our patrols operating east of Merclen brought back several prisoners. Two balloons have been brought down in flames."

FORD NOT TO BE BOUND BY SHACKLES OF PARTY

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—Making his first purely political utterance since becoming a candidate for the United States senate, Henry Ford criticized the proceedings of the Democratic state convention here with a letter in which he informed the party leaders that, although nominally their candidate, he did not intend to be bound by any party considerations, Democratic or Republican.

"I hold myself to support such measures, whatever their origin, as commend themselves to my judgment for the best interests of all the people," Mr. Ford wrote. He added that he had not spent a dollar to win the nomination at the August primaries and did not intend to spend a cent to win the election. Mr. Ford did not attend the convention.

EVEN THE WELLS ARE BEING MINED

Germans Are Feasibly Developing a Deep Defensive System

On the British Front, Sept. 27.—The enemy is hereby contesting the possession of the remaining positions on the high ground which the Hindenburg line between St. Quentin and Cambrai.

The Germans are degated efforts to stem even local British drives. Following Ludendorff's edict that "there can not be too many trenches and entanglements for defensive purposes," the enemy has been developing a deep defensive system of which the Hindenburg line is the outward bulwark.

It is reported that the Germans are mining everything possible, even the wells over large stretches of the country in the hope of retarding any breakthrough to a certain amount. Occasionally one of these mines is set off by British artillery fire. This mining is probably the enemy's most desperate effort to try to beat the tanks, for the tanks, above all things, have frayed his nerves most.

NEW CONSERVATION SCHEME

Hamilton, Ont., Shows the Way in Meat Sale—Popularizing the By-Products

September 30 will see the inauguration of a new conservation scheme—one which should arrest the attention of the women of every city and village in the country. The stage is set in Hamilton.

The prime mover is Miss Florence Meakin, head of the Women's French Committee, that city. The scheme is nothing more or less than an ambitious attempt to popularize meat by products; to bring them more forcibly to the attention of the modern woman, and to serve to remind her that her grandmother extracted every last ounce of food value from the cow or hog killed by grandfather.

A little education on the cooking of these various meats, the shabbier has taken over the killing of animals and the dressing of the various parts for the use of the animal which are usually nutritious, much cheaper and as palatable as the primal parts. Pigs and cows still have feet, ears and livers and backbones; snouts and ears, tails and tongues, although like crinolines and poke bonnets they have rather gone out of fashion.

The packers have generously come to the aid of the conservation scheme and donate 1,000 pounds of their products the first week, and for every pound they give one cent a pound towards the Christmas fund. It is expected that 1,000 pounds will be donated a day.

Spurred by President Wilson's address here last night, in which he declared that the war must achieve a peace based on equal justice to all peoples, an army of volunteer workers today started the stupendous task of selling $1,800,000,000 worth of the bonds in the New York federal reserve district, or double the quota of the third loan. Confidence was expressed that the district would meet its greatest financial test of the war and everywhere there was optimism that the allotment would be oversubscribed.

START TODAY FOR SIX BILLIONS

New York, Sept. 28.—The United States today set itself to the task of raising a loan of $6,000,000,000 in three weeks. This was twice the minimum of any previous Liberty Loan.

Spurred by President Wilson's address here last night, in which he declared that the war must achieve a peace based on equal justice to all peoples, an army of volunteer workers today started the stupendous task of selling $1,800,000,000 worth of the bonds in the New York federal reserve district, or double the quota of the third loan. Confidence was expressed that the district would meet its greatest financial test of the war and everywhere there was optimism that the allotment would be oversubscribed.

Admiral Von Hintze, the German foreign secretary, according to the advice in a speech before the main committee of the Reichstag, said that the difficulties of the Bulgarians between the V. and the Cerna evidently had been favorably explained by Premier Malinoff, and the Bulgarian government because on Thursday Bulgaria proposed to the Entente commander to open peace negotiations. There were indications, however, he said, that Premier Malinoff would be disavowed by the Entente.

The German high command, Admiral Von Hintze said, immediately threw of the reserves at its disposal into Bulgaria when the bad news from Macedonia became known. The army also sent forces, and these reserves, he said, were sufficient to restore the military situation.

The situation must, however, be characterized as critical, Admiral Von Hintze is reported to have said, "but it will be clearer in a few days and there is no reason to give up the game in Bulgaria."

Result of Anti-War Move. London, Sept. 28.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company says the Bulgarian plea for armistice was in response to anti-war agitation among the bulk of the people. The correspondent also hears that King Ferdinand himself played an active role in the peace move, until Germany captured his move. According to this report the king, realizing that the people were determined to end the war took the initiative some time ago in intrigues for peace, hoping to have his throne and state off a revolution. It was for this reason that he went to Germany, and the correspondent adds that it was a serious fact that his whereabouts and actions since he returned have been a mystery.

A solution of the mystery is said to be that the Germans in Bulgaria realize that the king was turning against them and they practically kept him in prison, at any rate to an extent of preventing him from taking a hand in peace overtures. The Germans, however, were powerless against the popularity of Premier Malinoff, who it is recalled while Bulgaria's policy was undecided opposed an alliance with the Centre Powers.

STRANDED STEAMER IS ABANDONED UNDERWRITERS. Cleveland, Sept. 28.—The wooden steamer Little, owned by the Arragon Grain Company of Chicago, which stranded on Little Chicken Island in Canadian Lake Erie last week, has been abandoned to the underwriters as a constructive total loss. The steamer was insured for about $70,000. She was bound to Toledo from Cleveland when she went ashore.

EXPLOSION IN MINE; 25 MEN ARE KILLED. Murphysboro, Ills., Sept. 28.—Twenty-five men are reported to have been killed this morning in an explosion in the north mine of the Franklin Coal and Coke Company at Royallton, Ills.

DRIVING ON

The Allied attack has spread almost to within sound of the North Sea waves. Beyond Ypres, on that part of the front held so well by King Albert's men, the Belgians went at the Germans this morning. There is heavy fighting but, spurred on by the success of the British, French and Americans farther south, the attacking troops this morning have forced back the enemy as much as two and a half miles at some points and already 1,000 Germans have been added to the number of prisoners.

All day yesterday the British kept their drive in the sector between Douai and Cambrai and were victorious all along the line. Today they are still pushing on and an early cable announced the cheering news that the Canadians had pushed through Haynecourt and had reached the Douai-Cambrai road. Ten thousand prisoners were the toll up to last night in the British drive.

The French, too, still striking hard in the Champagne sector, continued on their way victorious. The village of Somme-Py and the heights north of Fontaine-au-Dormoise have been wrested from the Germans. Victories have also been won elsewhere on this front.

With heavy thrusts on three parts of his defence line the enemy is feeling the force of Allied strength and realizing that it is too much for him. A series of signal successes is marking the close of a week full of good cheer for the Allies. And more must be expected, for each will doubtless make use of every hour left to him while fighting weather withstands.

THE HIGHEST AWARD

New Brunswick is proud today. Two of her sons have won the very highest reward that is possible for a British soldier to gain—the Victoria cross. The names of Corporal H. Jones Good of Bathurst and Private John B. Croak of Sussex will have high place in the honor roll of the province.

The record of the service of these soldiers is given elsewhere in the Times today. It is but a brief account, but it shows conspicuous bravery by these stout-hearted soldiers. Corporal Good lives to receive the congratulations of his fellows in the war and his relatives and friends at home, but Private Croak's brave devotion to duty in special time of stress has cost him his life. Yet his memory will live and his name be honored. In measuring the service of these brave men we are entitled to them to so great a reward it must be borne in mind that to win the Victoria Cross in such a war as this is the act of a particularly gallant one, yet so much should be done in the service of the individual bravery which is shown in the battle. At the more honor then to Corporal Good and Private Croak.

TIME FOR PREVENTION

St. John does not want an epidemic of Spanish influenza. And it is not far from our doors. It has a strong hold in many places in the eastern part of the United States. Deaths are many. There are 300 cases reported in Portland, Me. It is in Quebec province; some parts of New Brunswick even suspect arrival of the unwelcome visitor. Action here is necessary. It is better to prevent than to cure. So far we learn of but one instance that has taken precaution to enforce quarantine; that is the Municipal Home. Wisely an order has been put into effect practically isolating that institution, though there are no cases within its walls. But more than this should be done. Doctor Metcalf, every city and county physicians have been asked to report any cases in their practice but he says that short of prohibiting all travel little else can be done. What of the provincial health board? This is a time to remember the story of the gate without a latch.

BULGARIA'S OFFER

The Allies will test the sincerity of the Bulgarian request for an armistice. There will be a conference of Entente heads on the matter and meantime the military operations will go on. London looks at the situation as meaning one of two things—either Bulgaria writing under the stinging blows of the Allies, is trying a ruse to gain time, or else she is in earnest, is sick of the war and means to give up the fight.

If the former be the correct reading, the conference without armistice should soon determine. If the latter be the real intent of the Bulgarians, the Allies' plan will be equally effective.

Meanwhile the fighting goes on and today's news is of further success for our forces. The Bulgarian city of Strumitza has been captured by the British, who invaded the enemy territory a few days ago. The city and Fortress of Veleo, one of the most important Bulgarian bases in south Serbia, also has fallen to Allied hands, the Serbians themselves effecting its capture. They are now pushing on to Uskub, and if they get that place a telling blow will have been struck.

Much hinges on the Bulgarian move for peace. With Ferdinand's country eliminated from the enemy list, a way would be opened to attack Austria from the rear, the Teutons would be cut off from connection with the Turks and the latter could be the more easily dealt with by Allied armies. Large forces of our troops would also be freed for transfer to the western front.

Commentators on the news tend toward the opinion that Bulgaria really means to give up. A few days should tell and if their view proves correct the duration of the war will be appreciably shortened.

The United States is not formally at war with Bulgaria, but the momentous developments have great part in the general situation and America will be consulted by her Allies. Meanwhile it is of interest to note that Washington holds strongly to the view that there must be no peace with the Bulgarians if Germany has anything to do with the matter and she must give up everything she has won while acting the part of Germany's ally.

President Woodrow Wilson has given to the world another striking address. It is America's answer to the German imperial chancellor. Settlement of the war, he says, will not be a question of terms but the price of peace will be impartial justice to all nations.

The British government means to deal effectively with the strike of workers in the Clyde shipyards. They return to work on next Tuesday or they go into the army.

Von Capelle has gone the way of Von Tirpitz as German secretary of the navy. The new official, Admiral Von Maan, has been promoted from the U-boat section.

The War Gardens Exhibition next week carries a strong appeal and should have the hearty support of exhibitors and the public.

The Bulgarian parliament session called for next Monday will command the attention of the world.

LIGHTER VEIN

The newly elected governor was paying a visit to the state prison, during the course of which he was ushered into the chapel, where the convicts were assembled in a body.

The chaplain had presented him to the company, remarking that the governor would doubtless have something to say.

"But," whispered the startled governor, "I haven't anything to say, and I couldn't say it if I had!"

The chaplain replied: "I beg your pardon, sir, for being so premature, but as I have committed you so decidedly, I see no way out of it."

Whereupon, with a sigh of apprehension, the governor delivered himself as follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen! No, no, I don't mean that—gentlemen and fellow citizens! No, I don't mean that exactly, either—but-but, well, men and fellow prisoners, I can't make a speech, I don't know how to make a speech—and so—so—well, about all I can say is, that what I have said is very glad to see so many of you here!"

He was a bashful lover and had courted her long. She knew he loved her and knew that he was afraid to propose. She resolved to help him out.

"When I get married I hope to see you at my wedding," she said.

"Heaven's!" he gasped, "I hoped to marry you myself!"

"Well, she rejoined, as her cheeks flushed to the line of a ruby sunset, "I meant I hoped to see you there as the groom."

Then he fainted with joy.

The key of the kitchen clock was lost, and as Mr. and Mrs. Subub were going into town they decided to get another.

Mr. Subub waited across the road while his wife went into the jeweller's. Presently she came out again.

"Got it?" said Mr. Subub.

"No," said his wife.

"Well, Mrs. Swaggerer was in there buying pearls, so I couldn't ask for a key for the kitchen clock."

"What did you do then?"

"Oh, I just inquired how long it would take to clean a diamond tiara."

Invaders Must Pay—Materials For Rebuilding Ruined Country Will Come From Berlin

(By J. F. B. Livesey, Canadian Press Correspondent.)

With the Canadian Forces in France, Aug. 28—Just over a fortnight ago we were billeted in the village of St. Hill, a few miles from the front.

It was a sad and dreary village. Nothing but dust and troops and lorries. Occasionally through a half-open gate the glimpse of an old woman doubled under a jagged of kindling.

Much more rarely, a child. One little shop remains open, a miniature department store, where they sell everything, and most of all, white wine of the sourest vintage.

All the villages of this part of France are ugly. Built right to the street with no sidewalk, are the stables and outhouses—blank walls pierced by inopportune double gates. You enter your own little through what is essentially the back yard, a manure pile in its centre and a cart shed on either hand. Back is the decent little house, very old, weather-stained, sadly lacking a roof, red-roofed farm-houses of England. It is a communal life, dear to the French peasant heart. Madame may chat across the wall to her neighbor, keep the white, and keeping an eye on the pot simmering on the stove. There is nothing individualistic about the French peasant. He likes company and he likes to sit in the evenings in the vil-

CLUBS URGED FOR CANADIAN TROOPS

Most Effective Way of Dealing With Conditions in London, Says Officer

London, Sept. 28—A couple of London newspapers are prominently supporting the protest registered by certain American editors concerning conditions in London in relation to American soldiers.

According to their observation, the soldiers, who are billeted in the hotels and restaurants, are being treated in a manner that is not only degrading but also a disgrace to the Canadian name.

Some of this newspaper matter doubtless will percolate to Canada where much uneasiness has already been shown. Therefore the opinion has been sought of a Canadian officer on special duty in England not unconnected with the morals of the Canadian troops.

Although the officer is not a chaplain or at the Y. M. C. A., "London is certainly not a city beautiful," was his comment, "although personally I have been solicited more in other centres in England than in London."

"The Canadian military authorities in London for over two years have had a permanent, but a regular military establishment, where over a quarter of a million Canadian soldiers have been quartered and if affected treated at once. It would be absolute nonsense, in my opinion, to remove women from the streets and provide substitutes. The men will seek female society of some sort. The real remedy is opening clubs where the men can meet respectable girls in an open and honest fashion. Something has already been done along these lines, but more ought to be done. A good deal has been done in the past, but it is not the firing line, but I am more troubled about what will happen when peace is declared."

FINE FOR WEARING UNIFORM AFTER DISCHARGE

An order has been issued from Ottawa prohibiting officers, non-commissioned officers and men from wearing the king's uniform after their discharge. A fine of $300 has been set by the militia department for failure to observe this rule. It is thought that the trouble the militia department had with "Foghorn" MacDonald over persisting to wear the uniform after his discharge has led to this act.

Wounded Canadian Got German Sniper

On the British Front in France, Sept. 28—I heard an incident of individual bravery today that savors of the wild west days in America. A Canadian soldier of an isolated advanced post was under fire from a German sniper.

There was a duel for several hours during which the German twice wounded the Canadian. Despite his wounds and severe suffering, the Canadian partly crawled, partly walked through some trenches until eventually he got on the bank of the German sniper. Before the German could fire again, the Canadian threw a grenade which blew the German to pieces. Then he slowly crawled back to his comrades.

"Every one of you in the remotest corner of the Fatherland," said the Kaiser in his speech to the Krupp munition workers, "knows that I have left you and your people and for the entire civilized European world." But the good man has fallen. The war under his direction obstinately refused to be shortened, and so the job had to be turned over to somebody else.

A highly competent crew composed of British, French, Italian and American has been set to work under Marshal Foch and these men are going to shorten the war materially. By way of acceleration the United States, which already has more than 1,000,000 troops in France, will have 8,000,000 there in the spring, and they intend to finish the thing. The trust that the Kaiser will cheer up and take a more optimistic view of the situation. The war is sure to be shortened.

EAT FROZEN FISH.

Fresh frozen fish is just as palatable as fresh fish. Only a good man's women do not know how to handle it properly.

The thing to remember is that frozen fish must be de-frosted in cold water. When this has been done, clean and prepare as you would any other fish and cook in whatever form you desire.

Fish which has been frozen is just as nutritious as any other and its cheapness should make it more widely known.

Food Board Flashes For Feminine Folk

"The Food Board asks us to use white corn syrup, and we cannot get it anywhere," bemoaned an energetic housewife who is always on the list tip in food conservation.

How many women are asking for white corn syrup? It is on the general retail market, and if a dealer does not handle it the reason probably is that housekeepers have not yet created the demand.

It is an excellent substitute for sugar, and different brands can be had, put up in two-pound tins at thirty cents, five-pound tins at sixty cents, and ten-pound tins at $1.10. It is your grocery for it. If he hasn't white corn syrup in stock, it is time he secured some.

WHY DOES A MAN MARRY HIS NURSE?

(N. Y. Evening Telegram.)

During a dinner recently at which there were several doctors present, the discussion arose as to why trained nurses so often married well. It was generally conceded to be due not alone to the greater susceptibility of the patient when ill and in constant propinquity to his nurse, but also to the fact that they recognized her capability, executive efficiency and immaculate-ness.

One physician goes so far as to say that men feel that nurses, knowing so much of the world, where he might not, and lack of rectitude, are essentially fitted to become the mothers of their children; also, they are prone to weigh in the balance her good points the training that has made her punctual, neat and argue in her favor that she knows she must have a certain amount of rest and takes it when she can get it—unlike the average run of women who work—or play—on the verge of nervous hysteria.

There are many suggestions for the non-professional woman to profit from in the above, some of which she could so easily appropriate to herself without the arduous hours of labor involved in the nurse's curriculum of duty. One of the many beneficial results accruing from the war will be the first aid and emergency work women have been learning aside from the less tangible though equally character moulding lessons in unselfish service.

In many of the recruiting circulars sent out to women in the United States just now "sentimentalism" is mentioned as a thing to be guarded against. It seems to have a slightly different meaning as pertaining to women than its former usual signification of the tender emotions. The age limit of 25 is considered safe in most instances. This barrier is a decidedly wise provision on the whole, for sturdier virtues than "sentiment" are required in the nurse's role of comforter.

Men are only little boys grown older and the love of petting and being mothered is inherent with them. Given this and the propinquity of sweet-faced,

TIME CHANGES ON C. G. R. LINES

Effective Sept. 29, Service to P. E. L. via Cape Tormentine.

Time changes effective on Sept. 29, on Canadian Government Railways lines, will slightly affect trains leaving St. John, N. B. "Express" which connects with No. 299 eastbound "Ocean Limited" for Halifax at Moncton, will leave at 2:10 p. m. instead of 12:30 noon, and will not run on Sundays. No. 10, the "night express," will depart at 11:35 p. m. The "Maritime express" will be the daily train between Halifax and Montreal after the change, and the "Ocean Limited" will run daily except Sunday out of Halifax.

Passengers for Prince Edward Island will make connection by taking No. 18 express leaving at 7:10 a. m. connecting at Sackville with train leaving for Cape Tormentine at 1 p. m. No. 18 will wait twenty-seven (27) minutes at Sackville for dinner, and the new restaurant in the station will cater to the needs of travelers desiring lunches or meals. Passengers for the Island will have ample time to enjoy a meal there.

There is practically no change in the time of trains arriving. No. 18 express, the connection with the westbound "Ocean Limited," will arrive at 6:30 p. m. as usual, but not on Sundays. No. 837 and 838 suburban between St. John and Hampton will be discontinued. 10-3

THE ONLY MEDICINE THE BABY NEEDS

Baby's Own Tablets is the only medicine a mother needs for her little ones. They are a gentle but thorough laxative which instantly relieve all stomach and bowel disorders thus banishing all the minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. J. S. Levesque, St. Simon, Que., says:—"Baby's Own Tablets are a marvelous medicine for little ones. They never fail to cure stomach and bowel troubles and neither my sister-in-law or myself would use any other medicine for our little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ROTARY CLUB OUTING.

At an outing held by members of the Rotarian Club at Bald's Lake fishing club, on Thursday evening, plans for the winter programme were discussed by the president, T. H. Kestabrook. Some suggestions were handed down from the international convention. Among these was the Angelus prayer, which is now being said in several of the American cities, when all work pauses for a minute or two at a certain hour every day. Each member provided himself with tin dishes and after a fast ball game played under the direction of a chicken supper and corn roast proved very appetizing. The fragments that remained consisted of several chickens, which were auctioned off by E. A. Schofield and netted more than $80 for the Playground association.

GOALITION CABINET LIKELY FOR JAPAN

London, Sept. 27.—Marquis Kinnouchi Saionji, former premier and president of the Constitutional party, has been commanded by Emperor Yoshihito to form a Japanese cabinet in succession to that headed by Field Marshal Count Terauchi, recently resigned, according to a Tokio dispatch forwarded from Tientsin to the Exchange Telegraph Company. It is probable, the dispatch adds, Count Saionji will organize a coalition ministry.

SAYS WAR CANNOT LAST MORE THAN ANOTHER YEAR

Washington, Sept. 28.—The war cannot last more than a year, according to Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, who has returned to Washington after a trip abroad. Speaking informally to the press, he said that Austria is a mere subject and vassal of Berlin, and the German emperor would not tolerate another emperor. This would mean the end of Austria as an empire and a separate power. Seeing this, Austria feels that she must get out of the war and if she does not the Cretchis, Bolemans and Poles are going to dismember themselves from the Austrian Empire. Under such circumstances Austria reasons that Germany is being so driven in the west that she needs every soldier to meet the American advance and the pressure of the Allies and will not have an army to coerce Austria, or if she moves for peace, to punish her. Without Austria, the war will end. The interior of Germany will not go on. Germany understands this means the end and she will make peace on any terms rather than see the struggle go on until she is crushed out as a strong power. The only thing required of us is that we must keep driving on, sending men and guns and equipment, and giving the enemy no pause.

THE BUSINESS WOMAN

Today, more than ever before, is woman's opportunity. Many new occupations are now open to her, which, before the war, she was deemed unfitted to fill. And truth to tell she has risen to the opportunity, and now shares many business responsibilities in former times confined to men. But, as women are subject to more frequent fluctuations of health than men, many will be handicapped early, if they regard their health requirements too lightly.

The nervous strain, long hours and prolonged mental or physical fatigue thin the blood and weaken the nerves. Such conditions as women are now called upon to undergo can only be endured by a full-blooded constitution. This is as true for men as for women, only weaker women suffer sooner. The woman worker, in any line, requires her blood replenished frequently. She needs new, rich blood to keep her health under the trying conditions of business life, and to fortify her system against the effects of overwork. This applies also to the woman in the home, who, perhaps, has more worries and anxieties than usual. So let all girls and women take heed and renew their blood promptly at the first approach of pallor, lack of appetite, headache or backache. This can be best and most effectively accomplished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which make new, rich blood and thus help womanhood so perfectly. No woman need fear failure of health if they take these pills occasionally to keep them well, or give them a fair trial if they find themselves run-down.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.80 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SAYS HE FOUND OLD BOTTLE
One prisoner was before the magistrate this morning, charged with drunkenness. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 for two months in jail. When asked where he got the liquor, he said that he was a plumber and was repairing an old stove. In the base of the stove he found a bottle, which he believed had been there for two years. He took a drink from the bottle and it proved very intoxicating. Some of the liquor inspectors in court were not inclined to believe the story, but as there was nothing to prove but what it was correct, only the $5 was struck. The story is an old one, but a good one.

MUNICIPAL HOME IS QUARANTINED
Taking Precautions Against Spanish Influenza—Dr. C. G. Melvin Speaks of the Situation

The Municipal Home has been quarantined because of the danger that the Spanish influenza may get into St. John. There are no cases in the institution. The commissioners have wisely decided to take precautions. The quarantine lasts, no one will be allowed into or out of the institution without having a physician's certificate.

Dr. G. G. Melvin, chief health officer of the city and county of St. John, thinks it well to give to the public the following advice or instructions as to the prevention of the spread of Spanish influenza, which is spreading at an appalling rate over the eastern states.

First—Isolate the patient in upper room, well lighted and airy.

Second—Permit no one to enter the room excepting a physician, a clergyman and the nursing attendant.

Third—Patients should not leave the room until the fever is gone and the cough (if any) has ceased and any discharge from the nose and throat dried up.

Fourth—Cheap handkerchiefs (paper ones will do) should be used and burned at once after use.

Fifth—Other members of the family should apply a good, but non-poison spray to their nostrils and throat daily. One teaspoonful of common salt in a quart of boiled water is suggested.

Six—During sickness and after recovery, all soiled bed and body clothing should be boiled for at least a half hour.

Seventh—After recovery the room should be thoroughly aired for two days, the windows wide open, windows, floors and wood-work should be scrubbed with hot water and washing soda and walls whitewashed, papered or painted.

Eighth—Persons who have suspicious symptoms, such as chills, fever or unusual pains in the head, back or limbs, should not mingle with the public, but should remain at home and immediately obtain medical advice.

Ninth—Persons who have not reported to the health officer, and more especially in the rapid and seemingly inevitable spread of the present one. The local authorities here, he said, are taking every step practicable to mitigate the disease and restrict its spread in the community as much as possible. They have also requested every practising physician in the city and county of St. John to notify them of any case and give the names and addresses of the patients.

U. S. CITIZENS HERE REPORT FOR SERVICE

Henry S. Culver, United States consul, said today that about eighty-five citizens of the republic residing in New Brunswick have so far reported for service under the present draft treaty between Canada and the United States. The treaty was signed at Washington, D. C., on August 14, 1913, and requires that male citizens of the United States residing in Canada, between the ages of eighteen and forty, were either to report for service with the United States government before Sept. 29 or become liable for service with the Canadian army. All those who have not reported by tomorrow night will be liable under the Canadian military service act. Those physically fit will be drafted into the army. These men, while they will serve under the Union Jack, will not lose their American citizenship. They are to be Canadians only for the duration of the war.

NEW BRUNSWICK SOLDIERS WIN THE VICTORIA CROSS

Lieutenant and Two Men Of Same Unit Honored

ONE DEAD OF WOUNDS

Corporal H. Jones Good of Bathurst and Pte. John B. Crook Distinguished Themselves by Deeds of Utmost Gallantry

London, Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press despatch from Reuters' Limited)—The names and achievements of three members of a Quebec regiment, two of whom come from New Brunswick, who have been awarded the Victoria Cross follow:

Lieut. John Brilliant, M. C. of Rimouski, for conspicuous bravery and unflinching devotion to duty while in charge of his company, which he led in an attack during two days with absolute fearlessness and extraordinary ability and initiative, the extent of the advance being twelve miles. Lieutenant Brilliant's wonderful example inspired the men with an enthusiasm and dash that largely contributed to the success of the operations. Brilliant was wounded the first day, but refused to leave his command. He had rushed and captured a machine gun, killing two of the crew.

Corp. H. J. Good.
Corp. H. Jones Good of a Quebec regiment, a native of Bathurst, N. B., for the most conspicuous bravery and leadership in an attack his company, which was held up by a heavy fire from three machine guns which seriously delayed the advance. Good was wounded.

Pte. John B. Crook.
Pte. John B. Crook, late of a Quebec regiment, a native of Sussex, N. B., for the most conspicuous bravery in an attack when, having become separated from his section, he encountered a machine gun nest, which he bombed and silenced, capturing the gun and its crew. Shortly afterwards he was severely wounded, but refused to desert and rejoined his platoon at a very strong point where there were several machine guns. He was again severely wounded and eventually died of his wounds.

ST. JOHN SOLDIER HIT BY GERMAN GUNNER HIDDEN UNDER QUILT

John L. McLaughlin Wounded in Hip and now in Hospital in England

Miss Margaret McLaughlin, 140 Millidge avenue, has received an interesting letter from her brother, John B. McLaughlin, at present in a hospital in Manchester, England, convalescing from wounds recently received in France. The letter reads in part:—

"Just a few lines to let you know that I am getting along O. K. I am at present in a military hospital in England. I got three machine gun bullets in my left hip. I had an X-ray operation and the doctors got the bullets out and say that the bone is not badly hurt and that I will be able to use my leg in a few weeks. I just got a taste of my own medicine as I in a machine gunner myself and when I got hit, I was walking along mowing the Fritz down like grass till I met my match hidden in the tall grass. The German gunner that got me was hidden in the tall grass and had a quilt with grass leaves and little branches sewed on to it and before we found him a lot of us got hit in the arms, legs and so on. As soon as I got hit the rest of my crew dived at him with fixed bayonets and got him to the ground before he had any more chance. I had the pleasure of seeing him fall dead. I then handed over my machine gun and revolver to the next man and wished him good luck.

"I crawled to a place of safety in a shell hole in the ground and hid in the bullet holes in my hip and limped off in search of a dressing station. I found one, but about two miles from the front line. I got a good shave and wash and hit a Red Cross auto for the train and then to bed for England. I am safe in a nice white bed with a nice nurse to look after me. There are many men from outside come and visit us and bring fruit, candy and writing paper."

HALIFAX PAPER SENDS NURSES TO BOSTON

Prompt Response to Appeal For Aid And Graceful Recognition of Help Received at Time of Explosion

The Halifax Chronicle is sending four nurses to Boston to help fight the influenza plague. These young ladies are being sent by the Chronicle in response to an appeal for nurses issued by the governor of Massachusetts.

They will arrive on the Halifax train this afternoon and leave for Boston this evening. The party consists of Miss Bentley, Miss McLaughlin, Miss Hills and Miss Brady.

The action of the Chronicle is a graceful and timely recognition of the need for nursing aid in Massachusetts in the present dire epidemic, and shows that Halifax has in mind the prompt assistance rendered at Massachusetts at the time of the Halifax explosion.

ANOTHER SEIZURE
A passenger arriving on the C. G. R. train recently, heavy laden with two large grips, was somewhat embarrassed when one of the liquor inspectors accosted him and politely invited both him and the grips into the baggage room. The inspector then opened the grips, and found that they were filled with the finest dairy butter. As the prohibition act does not mention anything about butter, the passenger was allowed to proceed on his way.

Kitchener was right when he said— "Either the civilian population must go short of many things to which it is accustomed in times of peace or our armies must go short of munitions and other things indispensable to them." NOW, the only way we can possibly live up to that obligation is by going without in order that our soldiers may have. For the money we waste is not money at all—it is equipment, clothing, shot and shell that are urgently needed in France. By denying ourselves, therefore, we enable Canada to procure to the fullest extent the materials and labor which she and our Allies need for the successful prosecution of the war. What happens when we fail to save? A pull on labor by the Government in one direction and a pull on labor by the people in the opposite direction. Hundreds of millions of dollars are of no use to the country if goods and services can be secured only to the extent of eighty millions of dollars. So we must do everything in our power to release both goods and labor for the purposes for which Canada needs them. WHETHER it be food, coal, wool, steel, leather, labor or transportation, the result in all cases is the same. Whoever competes with the nation by freely satisfying his own desires, selfishly appropriates to his own use that which is so urgently required for our fighting men in France. For the sake of your country and the boys "over there," spend cautiously. Think of what Lord Kitchener has said, and ask yourself first, "Is this something I really need or can I do without it?"

Germans Warn Men About Secrets

Soldiers Who Might be Taken Prisoner Are Told That the War is Not Over for Them

With the American Forces in France, Sept. 1.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Since the Americans took part in the offensive of July 18, new instructions have been issued to the German soldiers, reminding them that silence is the best policy when taken prisoner.

"Keep silent, know nothing, and shrug your shoulders," suggest the German instructions.

A copy of the German communication recently came into the hands of American officers. It says in part: "The new prisoner is a valuable possession in the hands of the enemy. In him lie hidden possibilities that may mean much more than bare facts concerning battalions and regiments. From the highest commander to the lowest wagon driver, every one of us carries with him reminiscences, observations, overheard discussions, or the greetings of neighboring troops.

"Combining all these things, they become a valuable asset of military information. One very seldom realizes how much one really does know. One thinks little of it. But the enemy knows better. He spares no pains to get possession of each treasure. It may begin with friendly and pleasant greetings, with coffee or cigarettes; it ends with a sarcastic smile, with short rations and solitary confinement.

"The last few weeks have brought us fresh and painful evidence showing how easily the German soldier, the moment he drops his arms, succumbs to the false impression given by the words, 'For me the war is over.' He has done his duty on the battlefield with rifle and grenade and falls stronger than he, and he becomes a prisoner with the idea, 'I have done my duty; now I am defenseless, and captured, no longer a warrior, it no longer depends upon me.'

"We have examples, in which the opponent while talking with unsuspecting German prisoners successfully drew from them a German order of battle and attack down to the smallest detail. One stone upon another, what the one did not know the other would tell. It is quite possible that they did not know what important information they were giving when they would say: 'Last evening several artillerymen came into our trench and the battery went into position about 300 meters behind our trench. This afternoon we were to dig three days' iron ration.'

"They had forgotten that the war was not over for them, but only beginning. Following the war of rifle and grenade follows the war of words, questions and conversations. Each word that seems harmless enough in itself becomes an enemy's weapon bringing death to hundreds of comrades.

"No! Becoming a prisoner does not end the war. It continues with more dangerous and subtle weapons. Against these, we have only one protective measure: Silence. Assumed with pride and common sense no one can take this from you, least of all should you be unfortunate enough to be taken prisoner. Keep silent, know nothing and shrug your shoulders."

The Daily Tragedy of BELGIUM

May this country never know the bitter agony Belgium passes through EVERY DAY.

May WE never live to see our people rationed on a bowl of soup and two pieces of bread a day. . . . .

Our children emaciated by slow starvation and falling easy victims to consumption, rickets and all the diseases fostered by mal-nutrition.

It's the little children that suffer most fearfully. The daily ration provided by United States loans to the Belgian Government is so pitifully inadequate for a growing child; it no more than momentarily stays the gnawing hunger.

There is hope for Belgium and her future generation only if YOU and the thousands who in the past contributed so generously to Belgian Relief, will help again. The brave souls who are attempting to administer the needed help to Belgium's children must have the necessary funds to carry on.

Mr. Hoover in his appeal of July 26th, 1918, for help for Belgium's children says, "This transmission of money is absolutely safeguarded by virtue of an agreement between the belligerent Governments, the C. R. B., and the Neutral (Spanish and Dutch) protecting Ministers in Brussels."

Don't wait for someone to come and ask you for a contribution. Send it in. Be generous. Be quick.

Will the Stars and Stripes Float Over the City of Metz?

Many American editors are impressed with the significance of the statement of Marshal Foch in a cabled message to the Knights of Columbus: "It was from Metz that Lafayette went to help your ancestors, and we shall one day see your victorious banner floating in Metz." The Richmond Journal is convinced that before the present season for open warfare closes, "the Stars and Stripes will float over the city of Metz," despite the fact that it is a "long, hard road" according to Colonel Azan, the distinguished French officer.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week, the leading article gives a glowing description of all the incidents relating to the first great American victory in Europe in which the U. S. army, with the gallant French, wiped out the St. Mihiel salient in twenty-seven hours and shows how this victory affects the future downfall of Metz. Accompanying this article is a splendid full-page colored map, with a complete index, of the terrain now being fought over by the United States forces.

Crown Prince Afraid Of British Fists

Kept Hand on Revolver While Talking With Captured Officers

lines and being imprisoned at Creteil and Aachen. While at Aachen Capt. Hunter had an interview with the German Crown Prince. His experience with the latter to the German throne throws some light on the character of that personage. "The prince chatted affably enough with a number of British officers who had been captured," said Capt. Hunter today. "I noticed, however, that all the time he was speaking to me and to the other officers he held us firmly by the hand. This did not indicate any particular friendliness or regard for us. He was simply taking precaution in case any of us should let drive at him. Also he kept his left hand in his pocket, and we could plainly see the form of a revolver which he kept pointed at the person to whom he was talking. "Does the Crown Prince look anything like the caricatures of him which "It is like a dream now to think of the long, weary months I spent in nervous helplessness. Some days I would be cheered by feeling better, but only to slip back again, and to be more than ever discouraged. "I had always been very active. Had a wide acquaintance and did much entertaining. In addition to helping in whatever was going on at the church, there was Red Cross work to be done, and all the time I had my little family to look after and could not get help. "I suppose I tried to do too much, for I got so I could not sleep at nights and always felt tired out in the mornings. Then I would have headaches and did not seem to care for my meals. "Instead of the usual ambition and energy I found myself putting off the duties of the day. I got behind with the housework, and this worried me. "I did not think that I was sick, but only tired. However, the time came when I did not get up in the morning. I simply could not. The doctor came and said, "Nervous Prostration." It seems I had kept on the go until the nervous system was wrung dry of all nerve force. "Then came the long, weary weeks, and weeks dragged into months, without finding much improvement. I was completely discouraged and almost devoid of hope. "But one day a friend told me of her experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and she was so sure that this treatment would do me good that I decided to give it a chance. "I need scarcely say that there were some dark, discouraging days after beginning the use of the Nerve Food, but as my appetite and digestion improved I felt that I was gradually getting back the old-time vigor. Sleep became more natural and refreshing. The dark days passed and I began to take a more cheerful view of the future. Then I began to plan what I would do when I got around again. The house must be decorated and the children brought home, for I had to send them to my sister's on account of the way their noise disturbed me. "Now I feel that I am entirely well again, and without hesitation give the credit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I cannot tell you the pleasure it gives me to be restored to my husband and children after the long period of helplessness." COVENT GARDEN. London, England.—Some four and a half years ago a tremendous interest was aroused not only in financial circles but generally throughout the country by the news that Mr. Malaby-Dodley, member of parliament for the Harrow division of Middlesex, and one of the greatest purchasers of fresh property in London in recent years, had acquired the Duke of Bedford's Covent Garden estate. As already reported, the property has now again changed hands, having been purchased by the Covent Garden Estate Company, Ltd.

Official Insolence. Why is it that we get insolent as soon as we enter the service of the government? "Oh It's Me!" Cries Many a Woman Whose Weakened Run-Down Condition Makes Her Cross, Irritable, Wrinkled and Old Before Her Time. Most Women Who Tire Easily, Have Fits of the "Blues" or Look Pale, Hard and Worn, Need More Iron in Their Blood to Strengthen Their Nerves and Put Color in Their Cheeks, Says Dr. Kenneth K. MacAlpine, Prominent New York Surgeon and Former Adjunct Professor New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital.

Grandmother Gave It To Mother, Mother To Me, I To My Baby. Read what Mrs. Wm. Gray, Jacquet River, N.B., has to say about Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. She writes: "There is no medicine I know of that can come up with Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has been in our house for forty years. My grandmother gave it to my mother, she to me, and I to my baby. For summer complaint it has no equal. I never miss a chance of telling my neighbors about it. I would not think it safe to go to the country in the summer without a bottle of it. It has saved us many a doctor bill."

Physician Says Anaemia—Lack of Iron in the Blood—is the Greatest Curse to the Health, Strength, Vitality and Beauty of the Modern American Woman. Administration of Simple Nuxated Iron Will Often Increase the Strength and Endurance of Weak, Nervous, Careworn Women in Two Weeks' Time and Make Them Look Years Younger.

years it was a problem with physicians how to administer iron in a form that could be taken up by the system and increase the red blood corpuscles without upsetting the stomach, blackening the teeth or aggravating other disorders as most as serious as the lack of iron itself. But the introduction of Nuxated Iron has done away with all the objectionable features of the old mineral salts of iron and gives to every careful, thinking physician a tried and valuable prescription which he can recommend nearly every day with benefit to his weak and run-down patients. In my opinion, Nuxated Iron is the most valuable tonic strength and blood-builder any physician can prescribe.

Dr. Kenneth K. MacAlpine, prominent New York surgeon, member of the New York State Medical Society and for 16 years Adjunct Professor of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, who tells below how by increasing the supply of iron in the blood, women may become stronger, healthier and more successful in the home, social and business life. Dr. MacAlpine says: "In my opinion practically nine out of every ten women who suffer from 'Nerves' can improve their health, strength, vitality and general appearance by getting more iron in their blood. You can tell the women whose blood is rich in strength-giving iron, they are the beautiful, healthy, rosy-checked ones, radiant with life, flowery everywhere they go. Yet despite all that has been said and written by physicians about the alarming iron deficiency in the blood of the average American woman of today there are still thousands who need something to increase their red blood corpuscles and build up their strength and endurance and are either careless of their condition or do not know what to take. In my opinion there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help make healthy, full-blooded, beautiful women. By enriching the blood and increasing its oxygen-carrying power, Nuxated Iron will often transform the flabby flesh, toneless tissues, and pallid cheeks of nervous, run-down women into a glow of health and make them look years younger within a surprisingly short time.

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work without becoming tired. Next take 2 five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron 3 times per day after meals for 2 weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. MANUFACTURER'S NOTE: Nuxated Iron is as prescribed and recommended above by physicians. It is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee whom I would rather have perform it, successful and entirely satisfactory results. I fully agree with Dr. MacAlpine that suits to every purchaser or they will find your money. It is dispensed in this city by Wasson's Drug Store and For emphasized the fact that doctors should all other druggists.

DIED LEADING HIS MEN OVER SHELL SWEEPED BATTLEFIELD

Officer Tells of Gallant Conduct and Utter Disregard of Danger While Directing His Battalion Which Led to Death of Lt. Col. A. E. G. McKenzie

Leading his gallant men forward as he had often done before in bucking the line on many a hard fought gridiron in New Brunswick during his college days, Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. G. McKenzie, soldier and scholar, met his death on the western front, according to advices received by his relatives and friends in New Brunswick. It was the fitting way for a gallant soldier to die and there was none who knew him and heard of his death in action but who realized that it was in the thick of the fight that he fell with his men, with victory as his objective.

The battalion headquarters dug-out was not sufficiently large to hold Colonel McKenzie when a "show" was on. He was in the front line with his men and no doubt he heard before he breathed his last the message which inspired the great "Wells on the Plains of Abraham" before he passed away, "They run," and like him, too, no doubt died happy in the realization that he had done his duty.

Mrs. McKenzie has received a letter from Major Porter, second in command of the 26th, as follows:

Sept. 2, 1918.

My Dear Mrs. McKenzie:
It is my unpleasant duty to have to inform you of the death of your husband. I have delayed writing until I could give you the location of his grave. He was buried yesterday in the Wancourt cemetery, which is about five miles east of Arras.

I am enclosing a copy of a letter received. It was written by an officer attached during the battle to our battalion. It expresses clearly and concisely the good work of your husband and how highly we all thought and do think about him. No man could do more than he did. This letter expresses it better than I can.

On behalf of the battalion I wish to express our sympathy for you in your bereavement, the loss of a man whom we all admired.

Yours very truly,
(Sgd.) C. G. PORTER.

TRIBUTE OF A FELLOW OFFICER.

The letter referred to by Major Porter, reads as follows:
"I wish to bring to your notice the very gallant conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. G. McKenzie, D. S. O., late commanding officer of the 26th battalion, Canadian, during the operations of August 27 and 28.

"The utter disregard of danger, his prompt and correct decisions in time of necessity and his presence in the hottest parts of the fight, inspired not only his officers but all other ranks to deeds of heroism. On one occasion he took a number of prisoners and again when several platoons took cover from intense shell fire, he calmly walked through the barrage and by his cool demeanor encouraged those men to advance. On halting he saw to the condition of his flanks and personally supervised the placing of the men, and, in the meantime, though the field was swept by artillery, machine gun and rifle fire, he repeatedly exposed himself and would not take cover until his battalion was advantageously placed.

On August 28 he followed the immediate centre of his battalion and seeing his men held up by most destructive fire on all sides, he pushed forward to personally lead them and was killed while so doing."

This is a soldier's blunt story of a fellow officer's heroic death in action but beneath its surface, devoid of the veneer of feeling there lies deep and well defined the tale of one of the most gallant men that New Brunswick has yet produced in this war. A commanding officer with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, but with the broad mindedness to revert to the plane of a private during intense action and fight shoulder to shoulder with all ranks of his unit in a common cause. Such a man was Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. G. McKenzie, O. C. of the "Fighting 26th" and slated to become a brigade commander in the not very distant future had only the fate ordained that he live to enjoy this honor.

He was the chief of New Brunswick's fighters at the front, died as their chief and will always be remembered as such.

Mrs. Emery Henderson, 26 Murray street, has received a letter from her son, Signaller C. W. Henderson in which he referred at length to the loss the battalion had sustained in the death of Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. G. McKenzie. He said that not only did the battalion mourn for so gallant a commander, but that each one of the men felt the loss of a personal friend.

THE STORY OF THE BULLY.

(Kansas City Star.)

Years ago in the old home town there was a big bully. Everybody was afraid of him. Even the city marshal, who wore a star shaped on the pattern of Jupiter, and carried a revolver which stuck out of his hip pocket so that every one could see it, and handled a club, always made it a point to be in another part of town when the bully "started something."

The clerks in the grocery stores always accepted the bully's word in any dispute as to the matter of change. A Methodist would agree with him if the bully declared for immersion as the proper form of baptism. Full-grown men gave him the sidewalk. When the bully would get drunk and go on a "bear," the old home town stayed in at nights and didn't use the streets; children ran for shelter when they saw the big bully coming.

There was a tradition in the town that the big bully could whip a field full of ordinary men with one hand tied behind him. Even the more conservative citizens believed that if Sullivan or Corbett or Fitzsimmons should come to the old home town the sporting world would be due for a sensational news item.

One day there came into the town a quiet little man who had the appearance of one seeking a tuberculosis sanitarium. So far as one could judge he might have been either an invalid or a professor in a young women's seminary. It was an unusually dull day in the old home town, and the stranger saw no one in the street to ask for a direction for finding a citizen he wanted to see, except the town bully, for he always was on the street. His wife "took in" washing and his daughter "worked out" and supported him in idleness. The stranger did not take kindly to the direction the big bully gave him, and told him so.

"You're a courteous chap," the stranger said, with a sarcasm which the big bully did not like.

"Maybe you can improve me," the big bully said.

"I can," the stranger replied. And he did.

Before the old home town knew that trouble was brewing the stranger had tumbled his idol into the street. He blacked his eyes, broke his nose, cuffed his ears, and made him get down on his knees in the street and apologise to him for his rudeness.

That evening a young grocery clerk came out from behind the counter and gave the big bully another thrashing, and the city marshal, plucking up courage, grabbed the town bully and led him off to the old home town jail and locked him up. The next morning the police judge fined him $25 and costs, and being unable to pay they put the town bully on the rock pile and made him pound rock. In a week the children were calling to him when he walked down the street, asking him the directions for reaching various places in the town, and his wife, following the lead of the others, one morning chased him out of the house and wouldn't let him come back again. The big bully left the town an exile from the place where he had for years "ruled the roost."

Another Effort For Policemen

Chairman of Mass Labor Meeting Instructed to Appoint Committee to Wait on Common Council

At a mass meeting of organized labor held in Oddfellows' Hall last evening several interesting addresses were listened to in connection with the situation which has arisen over the dismissal of the policemen from the local force.

Several ladies were present at last evening's proceedings but none was called upon to speak.

Mr. Hatheway said that he approved of the stand taken by the dismissed men of the force. Their organization so far as he could see was perfectly legal.

Speaking of one-man cars, Mr. Hatheway said that to his mind it was merely a plan inaugurated by the New Brunswick Power Company to offset the recent victory won by the employees in securing their demand for increased pay.

Mr. Hatheway strongly favored a board of conciliation in the question of the policemen.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND

Another great figure of the Church, a great figure of American life for two generations, is gone.

He was on the verge of his eightieth year, but his fire was undimmed. "The man should not live," he told the Minnesota naval recruits, "who does not love and cherish his country, and our country is that great assembly of men running from the Atlantic to the Pacific who call themselves Americans."

For whatever reason, Archbishop Ireland, whose influence, position, talents, and services to the Church made his promotion to Cardinal seem natural, died without that honor.

Let us pray the God of nations that there be no sacrilegious hand laid upon the courts, impairing their independence or lowering their majesty.

He was a Republican. It was through him that Mr. Taft was enabled to arrive at his settlement of the thorny question of the friars' lands in the Philippines.

It was sometimes said by those who disagreed with him in politics, or whose tea he had trodden on otherwise, that Archbishop Ireland was too much of a politician.

He was a good American when he opposed German parochial public schools long before most of us saw the danger of German propaganda in the United States.

He was a good American in his readiness for every public service, in his noble public spirit. Who can forget his

THE SPIRIT OF THE BOYS AT THE FRONT

Before The Attack, When Next Hour May Be Their Last, After Exhausting Fighting and Under Every Circumstance, General Good Cheer Prevails—Not a Grouch Since Offensive Began

(By Lacey Amy, special correspondent of The Times.)

With the Canadian Forces, France, Aug. 18.—The sound of a distant band drew me up over the hill in time to see a long line of troops file across a field and disperse in a wood through which the German had recently fled so fast as to leave it almost unscathed. At the edge of the wood the band drew to one side while their companions filed past to seek their night's shelter, where there was no covering but the leaves and the cloudless sky of this wonderful weather.

A company passed, fagged a little but keeping in step. The lads were white with dust, their officers whiter, even the Colonel. The brass instruments were dulled but blaring with the customary vigor. Other companies came marching. Further back from the borders another wood emerged a pipe band, piping jauntily, its followers humming tune as they moved nearer.

Except for the dust and the signs of fatigue in laden shoulders and slightly dragging steps, there was no evidence that these Canadians had come straight from one of the hardest fits of fighting in this battle. For two days they had been at it—some of the officers had not taken off their clothes for five days. At the word of dismissal the line broke into units and a thousand eager school boys broke into a gallop through the brush in search of the best sleeping quarters, shouting, laughing as one tumbled into a shellhole or prickly thimbleberry bush, vying for the few conveniences left by previous occupants—a great shout of high spirits.

And lying outstretched on the grass they told me the story of Favrillers, one of the hard shelled nuts of the Somme battle front which succeeded the great drive commencing on the 8th.

Supper was distributed immediately, and when they had settled down again to their respective nooks, they talked and ate as if out merely on a day's hike. A fox suddenly scooted into view and several hundred soldiers dropped their suppers to give chase.

Fighting for two days where anything might happen, hampered and impeded by the uncertainty of darkness on a front they had never before seen, trudging straight from the mist of it a long day's march back to this little haven of quiet, they were brimful of life still. For they had done all that could be asked, more than might have been expected—and they had done it "on their own."

The next day I entered another wood in the forenoon, only six hours after a Canadian unit had marched in from another scrap that extended the number of villages scooped in by this offensive and its off-shots. Here there were old German quarters to take over, dirty and malodorous, but deep and safe and cool. The Colonel was asleep, but several of his officers insisted on interrupting their much needed rest to gloat over the way they had smashed up the Hun counter-attacks that followed their victory.

Men were lying asleep all over the wood, as they had dropped upon entrance, but merely to stop to converse with the few working about the kitchen was to start a growing crowd to whom sleep is a habit easily controlled. Only a few nights ago—I walked down the front for hours, within a very few miles of the enemy. The soldiers were there in trenches, for the villages were ruined and under shell fire. Within a couple of hours they would start for the front lines to relieve other troops, the work before them the taking of a village known to be protected by the wire entanglements and trenches peculiar to the old Somme battlefield. After a rest of a day and a half, they were as eager as hounds on leash. Over that barren ground, marked only by smashed hand-icuffs, a few roads, shell-holes, trenches and fallen aeroplanes, a dozen groups within sight anywhere were playing baseball or football. The few packages of cigarettes I always carry for these fighting lads to whom no organization can cater completely, were more valuable than candies to a child. They passed them about as far as they would go—a five minute smoke for fifty boys, but they were all on their toes at the thought of it.

Yesterday I moved along a trench before a village that had just been captured in brilliant style against strongest resistance. Great shells were crashing down only a couple of hundred yards distant, and now and then high explosives and shrapnel made us duck. Most of the men were lying asleep in little hollows they had scooped in the bank, but many were playing cards and other games, and one was lazily playing a mouth organ. And a strafe was coming in ten minutes, to which Henry would probably return his compliments on their heads.

I have seen the boys before attack, when the next hour might be their last, and after attack when they went to sleep standing in conversation. I have talked to them wounded almost to death, or with only a "cushy blighty." But not a one of them since the offensive began has a grouch—unless it is that cigarettes are scarce on account of a temporary lack of transportation. I have never seen such "cockiness," such general good cheer, such indifference to the discomforts of camp life. "This is the life," is the tone of the Canadian camps and trenches. A small party of Canadian cavalry is said to have even galloped into Roye in the early days of the offensive. Only a few came out. But it is enthusiastic like that which is beating down German morale. As I write Roye seems on the verge of capture. Only a few Canadians may have emerged, but those who remained have paved the way for the bigger success.

TORONTO'S TOLL

Says the Toronto Globe: Toronto's losses in battle since the beginning of the Allied counter-offensive on July 18 have been 2,721, and of this total 469 have been killed in action and 184 as having died of wounds. There are thirty-seven missing, and five are presumed dead. The price of victory is such sorrow in many homes.

Miss Marie Morrissey, the celebrated American contralto, as she appeared in the Imperial Theatre, Tuesday afternoon, September 24th, proving, by direct comparison that no human ear can detect the slightest difference between her own voice and the New Edison's "Re-Creation" of it.

AMAZING

Why It Was Almost Unbelievable

The hundreds who attended the recital at the Imperial Theatre on Tuesday afternoon of this week strove in vain to detect the faintest shade of difference between the glorious contralto voice of Miss Marie Morrissey and the New Edison Phonograph's "Re-Creation" of it. It was the most daring and disarming test ever attempted by a phonograph. Indeed it was almost unbelievable.

There, on the broad stage, was the graceful instrument—the favorite invention of the world's greatest inventor. And there, beside it, affectionately resting her arm on the instrument, stood Miss Marie Morrissey, the famous American contralto.

The sound of music fills the theatre. It is the introductory of the beautiful song "Dost Thou Know That Sweet Land." Then the voice is heard beginning the first line of the song. The lips of the noted contralto are moving—forming the words of the song—it is Miss Morrissey, singing to the eager listeners with all the sweetness of her lovely contralto voice.

But see, the song continues, yet the lips of the artist cease moving; they are tightly closed. It is Miss Morrissey's voice we hear. It is the same warm, sympathetic contralto—but Miss Morrissey, the living, is silent.

Can it be that the instrument is actually—

But now, again, the lips are moving, the artist is singing; yet none could tell just when she began.

Again the tightly closed lips, yet again the song continues without a break. It is—the instrument, alone continuing the song, not in a mere resemblance, not in a flimsy imitation of the voice of Miss Morrissey, but in that tender, caressing sweetness so characteristic of this noted contralto.

It was the same all through the delightful programme. When Miss Morrissey sang in duet with her own "Re-Created" voice on the New Edison, or when her talented assistant Mr. Joel Belov, with his violin, performed in direct comparison with the instrument on which was the "Re-Creation" of his rendition.

The climax came when Miss Morrissey, in her next number was singing with the NEW EDISON, as she stood beside the instrument. Suddenly the lights went out—the theatre was in complete darkness, but the beautiful song continued to fill the theatre.

Which was singing—artist—or instrument—none could tell. The lights flash on. And there,—to the utter amazement of the entire assemblage, Miss Morrissey is gone,—silently she had slipped from the stage at the beginning of the song, the darkness hiding her exit.

The wonder of it. It is scarcely possible to believe it. Applause testifies to the complete astonishment of the audience, that an instrument could provide, could re-create, the actual living voice of an artist so truthfully, as to deceive all present. This, indeed, is music. What more in music could be wished for? It is all that can be obtained.

NOW, THINK of what the NEW EDISON would mean in your home, when, at at your wish, you could have, not a mere imitation, not an approximation, but the actual voices and instrumental renditions of the great musical artists of today.

Don't trust your imagination. HEAR the NEW EDISON. You can believe the miracle of it only when you are standing before it, listening to its literal "Re-Creation" of Music in all its forms.

Come, then, and hear Miss Morrissey, and Mr. Belov, hear any great artists whose performances are "Re-Created," and "Re-Created" only through Mr. Edison's favorite invention, the New Edison Phonograph. Come when it is most convenient for you.
