Newfoundland Says That is the Basis of Agreement With States

TO COME UP IN HOUSE

Legislature of Colony to Take Up Matter of Negotiations Next Month—Concessions Which Sir Edward Morris is Willing to Make

(Canadian Press) St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 23.—The proposed fisheries negotiations recently concluded by Newfoundland and the United States will probably be considered by the colonial legislature which has been called for February 8. It is considered possible that the recent decision of the United States making fish purchased in Newfoundland by American fishing vessels subject to duty may hinder the legislature's adoption of the proposed fisheries regulations. Newfoundland wants to land all of her fish without duty, and according to Sir Edward Morris, such is the basis of agreement.

MORE JEWS NEEDED, SAYS JACOB SCHIFF

Hebrew Population of States Two Per Cent, He Says, and Should Be Five

(Canadian Press) New York, Jan. 23.—The United States needs more Jews, says Jacob H. Schiff, the banker and philanthropist. Addressing a great crowd in the Educational Alliance building yesterday, at the annual meeting of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigration Aid Society, he said: "There are not enough Hebrews in this country. Statistics show that the Hebrew population is but 2 per cent of the total, and five per cent would not be too much. We could have 3,000,000 more Hebrews but it should be arranged that they go west and help build up the great country there. 'The money test,' that is a requirement of funds when an immigrant lands, Mr. Schiff thinks should be abolished, as a bar to many honest and desirable immigrants. Judge Leon F. Sanders, president of the society, said that 73,779 Jewish immigrants had arrived in this country in 1910, as compared with 61,134 in 1909. Of last year's total, 53,822 gave New York as their destination.

THE TIMES' NEW REPORTER

AN ARBITRATOR. The editor of the Standard did not hammer at the business men generally, the few disgruntled persons who now read the paper would drop it, and there would be no circulation. It was clear from the discussion that both the manager and editor regarded the future with forebodings. Without advertising there would be no revenue and without circulation there would be no advertising. At this juncture the new reporter was asked to arbitrate, for the business manager was warning up in defence of property and the editor was quoting Carl Marx.

WANTS ONLY MEN TEACHERS

Ontario Principal Says Provisions Intended Women Not For Teachers but the Household

(Canadian Press) Toronto, Jan. 23.—Principal Scott of the normal and model schools, told the committee on technical education here on Saturday that Ontario's schools, especially in the country districts, are not efficient and never will be until they are in charge of male teachers. It is impossible, he said, that women could teach as well as men, very few women, he said, started out with the idea of making teaching their life work. He had no doubt that good men could be secured and retained if a governmental allowance were provided sufficiently large to maintain them in comfort after their retirement. Good women came to the profession now, but teaching was not the work that Providence had intended them to do, but rather that they should be the heads of households.

THE OUTLOOK AS WALL STREET EXPERTS SEE IT

New York, Jan. 21.—Whatever cheerfulness has seemed to prevail in general business in the last week or two is due almost wholly to the influence of activity in the investment market, most pronounced in bonds, with stocks following along pleasantly because business itself has shown little, if anything, in the way of actual improvement, which could be called encouraging. The decision of the Federal Reserve board to stop 2,500,000 spindles shows perhaps the trend.

This whole cheerful condition, then, thus far, has been largely produced by the comparative ease in money and in the prospects for money. This is a very impressive circumstance which did not pertain to the attempt in October to push up prices, and as far as it goes, is of much assistance in the present movement. There had been some expectation that the bank of England would reduce its rate this week from 4 1/2 per cent. This expectation was framed on the earlier situation in the London discount market, where a 3 per cent. to 3 1/2 per cent. rate prevailed. The bank, however, maintained the 4 1/2 per cent. rate, but its weekly return was an especially strong showing, recording a reduction in loans of $3,300,000, an increase in gold of nearly $9,000,000 and a proportion of reserves to liability of 312.3 per cent.—which figures are higher for this period than at any time for eleven years.

The French bank, also, showed improvement, as did the Bank of Germany. The currency tide from the west has turned in favor of the money centre and agricultural liquidation in the southwest has added its part.

Such output of new securities as has been made, has been readily absorbed—almost greedily. The evidence is for a very large amount of issues of all kinds, eager to take advantage of the tendency towards much easy money. While this lasts the activity engendered, will reflect itself in the security market, with indications that the advance may continue for some time at least.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By BETH CAMERON

I'm going to make you acquainted with two women whom I know, and tell you a little poem that I wrote today.

The connection and the comment I leave to you.

The first woman is an old acquaintance of mine. She lives in a beautiful home not far from mine. She has been married about twenty years, but has no children. They say she is glad because she dislikes children. Sometimes she says more than that. The empty home is the disappointment of her husband's life. He has a more than ample income and is always striving to adopt some "lonely baby," but she absolutely refuses.

She belongs to two bridge clubs and one civic improvement club, and is on the committee for the "suppression of unnecessary noise."

There is a fine young man in our community who lodges complaints against shop girls, street car conductors, etc. Last year just before Christmas a girl fagged out with the Christmas rush, went into the street discharged at Madame's complaint that she had answered her sharply. From another girl at that counter came the story that Madame had been shown about fifteen heavy boxes, and then on not finding what she wanted had insisted the girl—who was extremely pretty by the way—went out into the streets the day before Christmas saying that she was not going to try any more—it wasn't any use.

The other woman, whom I met in the course of my newspaper work two years ago, is a woman about whom the tongue of rumor is continually saying cruel things. How much is true, I don't know. I don't want to know. What I do know is this: She supports her father and mother and not only supports them with money but with love.

I don't think she ever said an unkind word about anybody or passed a bezar by without giving. There is a girl in the city who tells this story about her. She, the young girl, came to the city looking for work, spent her savings without getting it and on Thanksgiving day was wandering the street penniless. She met this woman, whom she knew slightly. The woman, on finding out her trouble insisted on lending her five dollars and later found her work. Subsequently the girl discovered, through very roundabout channels, that the five dollars was not only the woman's last cent, but a very treasured pocketpiece which, even in her own worst extremity, she had never parted with.

There is a fine young man in our community with a splendid wife and baby and an ideal home, who owes everything to this woman. She found him a desperate young fool ready for any vice. She saw the worth in him, and helped him find himself. And then when he would have married her in gratitude, she refused, because she loved him too well.

I don't believe that anyone ever suffered any more than she did at this time, and yet through it all, she kept her fine cheerfulness and her marvelous interest in other people's needs, which makes her unique in a world filled with people adding the earth with their troubles.

The poem is by Joaquin Miller. Perhaps you already know it and love it as I do.

In men whom men pronounce divine,
I find so much of sin and blot;
In men who men pronounce as ill
I find so much of goodness still,
I hesitate to draw the line
Between the two, when God has not.

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

THE PAROLE SYSTEM

CANADA has had, since 1899, a system of releasing prisoners on parole. This system has long since passed the experimental stage, as the increasing number of parole licenses granted, shown in the pictures, proves. Since the system was established, 3,079 paroles have been granted; 1,863 from the Dominion penitentiaries, and 1,216 from the Provincial prisons, jails, and reformatories. In this time, only 103 licenses have been cancelled because of non-compliance with conditions, and 62 have been forfeited because of subsequent convictions. The number of sentences completed on parole is 1,915, and 999 licenses have not completed their sentence and are still reporting. The administration of the parole system is under the Minister of Justice, who has splendid facilities for working this system. In considering each case, he has at hand the reports of the trial judges, of the parole officer, of the wardens and jailers, of the institutions and of the Dominion Police. The parole officer, Mr. W. P. Archibald, states that "it would be a step backward to even consider an alteration of our Canadian system," and to exchange it for a "Board of Paroles," or any like body. Mr. Archibald further says: "The administration realizes that the inmates are criminals, sentenced to confinement on account of crime, and to convert a penitentiary into a place of recreation and amusement would be to pervert the purposes for which it was instituted. In our Canadian institutions, men are punished for criminal offenses, and on this fact or basis only the mercy of a parole can be safely administered." Of the working of the system itself, he says: "It has also been demonstrated that the Canadian parole system is working harmoniously with the principles of law and order in every community in which it is in operation.

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes: "For many years I have been troubled with chronic constipation. This ailment never came single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel me from the one ailment that caused me such trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That I had secured a lucky day for me, for I had to improve with the statements made by the doctor, and I determined to give them a trial. I had regulated my stomach and had an immediate cure of constipation, and I feel that I have secured a real medicine. For over a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box.

DEVEY AGAIN NEW YORK POLICE CHIEF?

Friends Are Said to Be Planning Legislation to Reappoint 'Big Bill' to Office

Friends of the one-time chief of police of New York city, William S. Devey, are ready to announce him as the most logical candidate to lead the New York police department, if plans now under way are carried out by the New York legislature to frame a law placing the police department of the city under the control of a police board, abolishing the one now in force.

Mr. Devey was seen at his home in West End avenue about the reported action of his friends. He said he had heard of the proposed legislation, but would not discuss the matter in so far as it concerned himself. He did discuss the question dealing with the abolition of the bipartisan board and the creation of the present system.

Mr. Devey was in charge of the police department for four years during Mayor Van Wyck's term. He was called "the best chief of police New York ever had" by the Mayor. When the police board was abolished and a commissioner put in charge of the uniformed force, Mr. Devey was allowed to go. Although it has taken ten years to right the wrong done him, Mr. Devey said, he is glad the opportunity has presented itself.

When Mayor Van Wyck removed two Republican police commissioners a controversy arose over the appointment of their successors. When the names for the vacancies were put up and proved unsatisfactory to the county and state plans were immediately made by the state leaders to have the department run single handed. As the Democrats had been out of power for 18 years, it was an easy matter for the Republicans in charge of the state legislature to push the matter through. "They stood by their organization when the change was made," said Mr. Devey. "I wonder now whether the Democrats will have equal courage."

The former chief is in favor of the bipartisan board. He thinks by its adoption an improvement will be made in the police department. To prove his assertion Mr. Devey said that during his four years as head of the department there were only four "hold up" cases, and in each instance the men were caught. One safe was cracked. All but ten persons out of 900 hold-ups were captured.

When asked how the police department could be made more efficient he said by the appointment of a man who has grown up in the service and understands it just as a carpenter or printer does his trade. Since he left the department Mr. Devey has been a policeman at large. He was never removed on charges or retired. He still retains his shield.

UNIFORM LAW ON BILLS OF EXCHANGE

Great Britain and United States Unable to Subscribe in Entirety—The Chief Features

(Canadian Press)

Washington, Jan. 22.—While the United States and Great Britain were unable to subscribe in its entirety, to the uniform law on bills of exchange adopted by the international conference on that subject held at The Hague last summer, the report of Charles A. Conant, the American delegate to the conference, which has been adopted by other countries, would greatly promote uniformity and facility in carrying out the systems of commercial law. These systems, he says, would be replaced substantially to two in place of the many systems with which international bankers now have to deal.

GARNEGIE GIVES AWAY TEN MILLIONS MORE

LANCASTER PAPER MILL.

Joseph R. Clarkson, accompanied by his wife, returned last evening from England, where they have been for the last few weeks. They left here on December 23, and made good use of their time while away. Mr. Clarkson said last night that plans were now being prepared for the erection of a large paper mill here by the Edward Partridge Paper & Paper Co., and that while in the old country he had discussed the matter with Mr. Partridge and had made very satisfactory progress. A new and up-to-date mill will be erected without delay, he said.

Suffered for Years From Constipation and Sick Headache.

Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed, some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief. The most frequent of all are bilious or sick headaches, and are caused by some derangement of the stomach or bowels, or both.

Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the digestive and biliary organs, removes acidity of the stomach, improves digestion, regulates the constipated bowels, and promotes a perfect circulation of pure blood to all portions of the body.

Mrs. C. McLaughlin, Scarborough, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with sick headache and dizziness, and was constipated. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and only took three bottles of this medicine, and now feel like a new person as I am completely cured. I can truthfully testify that Burdock Blood Bitters is the best medicine I have ever used."

Burdock Blood Bitters, has, during the last 35 years, built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for all troubles arising from a constipated condition of the bowels.

CHARLOTTE COUNTY FISHERMEN TO ASK FOR A REDUCTION PLAN J. A. Belyea returned home Saturday evening from St. George where he had been attending the annual meeting of the Charlotte County Fish and Game Association. The meeting was held at St. George in the Foresters' hall on Saturday at noon. The meeting, he said, was largely attended and in addition to the election of officers some very important business was transacted. Last season's poor catch of sardines was the principal matter discussed and the enquiring into the reason of it brought out some spirited discussions, which resulted in several resolutions being passed. The supposed motor boat epidemic was debated at length and the general consensus of opinion was that the use of the motor boat was injurious. A resolution was passed to be forwarded to the department of marine and fisheries asking for an investigation and also the passing of legislation making compulsory the use of man-powered boats.

Our buyer went to Montreal and, as said above, he secured a large portion of this stock. You cannot detect the damage to any of the materials shown excepting in a few lines.

IS AWARDED SUM OF $360

Judgment Given in Claim Against Mary Shea Estate

Court Awards Mrs. Julia Lane $360 on Claim Which Amounted in All to $999.85—The Text of Judge Armstrong's Decision

In the probate court today, Judge Armstrong gave judgment in the matter of the claim of Mrs. Julia Lane in connection with the estate of Miss Mary Shea. The judgment stated—
This claim which, by agreement between the parties, was left to the decision of this court, is for nursing and special care of the decedent from the time she became an inmate of the household of James Lane, the claimant's husband, until the date of her death, at the rate of $7 a week from the time she became such inmate in 1907 until the end of that year; $8 a week for the winter following, and at $10 a week for 1909 until her death—total claim being $999.85. No payment was made by the deceased on this account.

As a rule, a claim such as this, filed against a deceased estate, should be looked upon with doubt unless there is corroborative evidence that the claimant endeavored to make and made the claim in the lifetime of the deceased, and that the deceased recognized and acknowledged such claim.

The deceased was a cousin of James Lane. She went, on his invitation, to live with him, and became an inmate of his household when she was getting on in years, and required more attention than could be given her at home. Her condition was known to both the claimant and her husband, notwithstanding which the husband agreed to accept and she paid $2.50 a week, hardly an equivalent for her board. For the period of more than a year from the time she went there is no evidence that she required more care and attention than might be expected in the case of a person in her condition of health when she first took up her abode there, and so long as this continued I am of the opinion that no charge for extra attention should be recognized.

On July 2, 1908, the deceased, while walking in the old Grave yard, had a partial stroke of paralysis, and there is no doubt, that from that time on she required and received much more care and attention, such gradually increasing and towards the last becoming more irksome and unpleasant until her death sixty weeks later.

Evidence was given by the claimant and her husband, of a promise by the deceased after the stroke that her money in her bank should go to the claimant in return for her services, but such was not put into effect, and there is no corroborative evidence of such promise. There is, no doubt, however, that the very moderate board paid by the deceased was an entirely inadequate return for what the deceased received from the time of the stroke, and, without attempting to gauge the exact value of such services from time to time, or to apportion an increasing remuneration, therefore, I think that a reasonable sum to allow the claimant will be an average of $6 a week for the last twenty weeks of the deceased's life.

I therefore allow the claimant the sum of $360, and direct the administrator to pay her that sum, under the circumstances the costs of both sides will be paid out of the estate.

J. A. Barry is proctor for the claimant; E. T. G. Knowles, proctor for the administrator.

RUMOR DENIED

Report Said Sale or Option on Oak Hall Building to C.P.R.

It was rumored this morning that the C. P. R. had purchased or had acquired an option on the building at the corner of Oak Hall and Green streets, occupied by Oak Hall, and that they would tear down the building and erect a large structure capable of accommodating their general office, ticket office, telegraph and express business. George E. Fairweather, agent for the Vermont estate, owners of the building, when asked about the matter said that no purchase had been made or option given. Members of the firm of Scovil Bros. & Co., also denied any knowledge of the matter.

Mr. Fairweather said he had received many inquiries about the building and several offers but nothing had been done. It is understood that Scovil Bros. & Co. have a lease of the building dating from May 1, next, for five years.

TWO SISTERS HERE

Schooner Ashore at Cutler, Maine, Floated and Comes to St. John

Schooner Two Sisters, Captain Fred Clarke, which went ashore at Cutler, Maine, in a blinding snow storm some days ago, arrived in port this morning. She was cutler yesterday morning and had a good run up.

It was only by the hardest kind of work that Captain Clarke got his vessel off and as it is, she is pretty badly damaged, though the exact extent can not be ascertained, as she is still full of lumber. After lightening his deck load, a number of gasoline boats took hold of the little vessel on Tuesday last and were able to float her.

As she now lies in North Market lot the little schooner is pretty well ice coated, and plainly shows the effects of her experience.

Now Is The Time To Consider The Stove Question

There is no time like the present to consider the stove question. While you are sitting around the stove this winter trying to keep warm, you want to note how many coal holes of coal you have to burn in order to get the heat out of your stove, and if your stove will throw the heat it should. This is a very important question, for some stoves take a lot of coal and then you don't have the proper heat. The Glenwood Ranges are noted for saving of fuel and for making cooking easy. We can supply Glenwood ranges for wood or coal, with the Shelf Mantles on or off; Hot Closet Reservoir and Gas attachments.
