JOHN MAY TAKE LEAD AHEAD IN BASEBALL GAME

Entry Into One Of Bigger Leagues

NOW BEING DISCUSSED

Canadian or New England League... Failing This For Next Likely St. John, Moncton, and Halifax

Things that yet have been and are being thought of and quieted about for St. John in baseball... less than a decided step to the city and entrance into the New England or Canadian league.

There have been some conferences along the matter and, while it is as the embryo stage, the matter is under consideration. Always is the possibility of failure to get the league together, but the next few weeks probably see the situation placed before the league.

At any rate, things so themselves as to show that St. John is gaining a name as a baseball club.

There had good baseball in the past. Leagues of the last few years have had many teams into rivalry here. The fans have been given good baseball while more players than before have been given good baseball.

It is to be hoped that the league will be worked out, so much that the arrangements be completed by St. John can procure a franchise in the Canadian League, Hamilton, St. Thomas, Berlin and London, St. John, Moncton, and Halifax would materialize.

It may still be the outcome but if the plan that have been referred to is worked out, so much that the arrangements be completed by St. John can procure a franchise in the Canadian League, Hamilton, St. Thomas, Berlin and London, St. John, Moncton, and Halifax would materialize.

THE NEW CONQUEROR IN MEXICO

(By Staff Photographer W. H. Durbin)

General Francisco Villa, rebel commander who recently captured Juarez across the river from El Paso, Tex., and immediately executed about thirty federal prisoners. Photographer Durbin snapped Villa in the saddle. He is holding the bridle. The round ball in front of him is the peculiar pommel of the Mexican saddle.

REBELS REPORTED IN CONTROL OF MAZATLAN; IMPORTANT CAPTURE

Mexico City, Nov. 28.—The town of Mazatlan, the most important port on the west coast, was captured by the rebels on Thursday, according to authoritative information received here yesterday. It is believed that the foreigners resident at that port were unharmed, as several attacks recently made there resulted in a general exodus to the part of the foreigners and many Mexicans.

SEES FREIGHT RATES LOWER WITH THE TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAY COMPLETED

Berlin, Ont., Nov. 28.—At a Canadian Club luncheon last evening, W. H. Hearst, minister of lands, forests and mines, expressed his confidence that the completion of the Transcontinental Railway and auxiliary branches would result in lowering of the freight tariffs, which have been a bar in trade relations between the eastern and western portions of the Dominion.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL; BUSH IS EXONERATED

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 29.—After deliberating less than ten minutes a coroner's jury last night exonerated Leslie Bush, Philadelphia, American League pitcher, from all blame in connection with the death of Louis T. Miller, who was struck and killed by Bush's automobile.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Issued by authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, R. F. Stupart, director of meteorological service.

Synopsis.—Pressure is still decidedly high over the eastern portion of the continent, and low on the British Columbia coast, and in the southwest states. Light snow has fallen in eastern Ontario and western Quebec.

Sleet or Rain. Maritime—Generally fair today with a little higher temperature; Sunday, easterly winds, local sleet or rain, chiefly in the afternoon.

MURDERER WHO SLAYS VICTIMS WITH HATCHET

Two Business Men of Oklahoma Killed in Same Way—Robbery Not the Motive

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 28.—A mysterious murderer, who chops his victims to death with a hatchet, has made his appearance in this city and already has slain two aged business men, having no clue leading to the establishment of his identity.

B. P. Richardson, an elderly furniture dealer, was murdered in his place of business about dusk on Thursday, and early last night C. S. Everett, a groceryman, was killed in his store, about five blocks from the scene of the former crime.

Both men were killed with a hatchet, and the head and bodies of both victims were terribly mutilated. Other points of similarity in the execution of the two murders have convinced the police that the two crimes were committed by the same person.

The robbery was not the motive as indicated by the fact that the cash in neither store was robbed.

IN PLEA TO SAVE BECKER'S LIFE BISHOP TAKES VIEW OPPOSITE TO BOURASSA'S

Twenty-Five Reasons Against Execution To Be Presented Next Week

(Canadian Press) New York, Nov. 28.—Twenty-five reasons why former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, should not be executed for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, will be presented next week to the state court of appeals. Becker is now in Sing Sing prison, under sentence of execution.

"Becker," says the appellant's brief, "is a victim of the greatest conspiracy of the age. He was not given a chance for his life. The effect of the ruling of the court made the trial a mockery."

Both Speakers at St. Andrew's Society Dinner AN IMPERIALISTIC NOTE Bishop Fallon Strong For Closer Empire Bond—His Speech Direct Refutation of Stand Taken By Nationalist Leader

London, Ont., Nov. 28.—St. Andrew's Society last night, at its 65th annual dinner, brought two of the most famous speakers of Canada together—Henri Bourassa and Bishop Fallon, of the Roman Catholic Diocese of London. Owing to Mr. Bourassa's well known opinions on French Nationalism, and Bishop Fallon's decided stand on imperialism, there was an audience assembled, which expected some oratorical fireworks.

They were not altogether disappointed, for Bishop Fallon's address was a pointed reply to Mr. Bourassa's, and was an out and out declaration for imperialism and the federation of the British colonies in a closer bond of union, and a more united empire to face the problems of the world.

Mr. Bourassa covered the usual ground of his stand against imperialism. He argued that the only way for the empire to exist was to allow each and every dependency to work out its own destiny, but under the British flag. He said that, to carry out the scheme of imperialism as advocated by its ardent supporters in this country, would be to complicate the problems for the old land and break up that which it was sought to preserve in still closer union. Bishop Fallon's address

Bishop Fallon said in part, after declaring that no one in Canada or the United States now thought of annexation of Canada by the republic. "I am prepared to admit that there may not be an inconsiderable number of our people whose minds are open on the question of Canadian independence, and I am quite ready to express my entire belief in their honesty and quite in harmony with the spirit of the age which grows at the thought of obedience. The independence of a nation of ten millions side by side with another of a hundred millions, can be no better than a hollow mockery. The independence of Cuba or of Mexico is not a political reality for me, but I have to say of Canadian independence is that in the inevitable day it will place Canada in a false position. I say that the inevitable day for the empire will come and on that day the fate of an independent Canada will hang in the balance and she may suffer for having failed to face her higher destiny. For there is a higher, a nobler and a nobler destiny than Canadian national independence.

If annexation is undesirable, and independence is either futile in itself or false to the higher and nobler destiny of our native land, then there remains only one scheme for making permanent the bonds that now bind together the scattered portions of the British Empire and through which we may honorably discharge those obligations that are common to us all. Call this scheme imperial federation, if you please. I am not afraid of the phrase. It is quite as respectable, quite as defensible and quite as practical as either annexation or independence. If you cannot federate the empire, because its parts are unlike, then neither can you federate Canada even under independence. There is no greater spokesman taken as a whole between Australia or New Zealand on the one hand and Canada on the other, than there is between our eastern and our western provinces, or between Ontario and Quebec.

This question is too great to be made a subject of party politics either here or in England. It does not, and it can not, enter within the proper scope of party concerns, and I believe there is a sufficient number of good men and true in this Canada of ours to insist that it shall not be made by our political leaders, either a handy stone with which to hit their opponents, or a stepping stone to office and influence."

Honor for Ontario Priest. Cobourg, Ont., Nov. 28.—His Lordship Bishop O'Brien of Peterboro, has notified Rev. Father Edward H. Murray of this town, that letters have been received from Rome elevating him to the dignity of Domestic Prelate.

Fast Express or Slow Local Train? Mr. Manufacturer, if you wanted to go to New York would you take the local or the fast express? Both would get you there! But the express would get you there much quicker and at less expense in time. Newspapers are the fast express trains in advertising. They get you where you want to go quicker and at less expense than any other medium. And the other travelling companions are very desirable friends of yours—the local dealers who handle your goods.

Ever hear of the co-operative way to travel to greater sales? Write the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

TO USE DYNAMITE Further search was made this morning for the body of Milford Galbraith but without success. Friends will go out to Dog Rocks this afternoon to use dynamite in the hopes of raising the body.

GONE TO WASHINGTON Mrs. Alice S. Wells, pioneer policewoman, who lectured in the city last evening, left this morning for Washington to lecture.

Forty In Building Have Close Call ploded in a burning building. Several women and children were missed after the explosion, and until the ruins cooled sufficiently to permit their being searched, it could not be learned whether there had been loss of life.

More than forty men, women and children, who occupied rooms in the second story of the burned building, a hardware store, barely escaped with their lives, the firemen succeeding in getting them out of their apartments only a moment before the main charge of dynamite of the explosion tore the structure to bits, and scattered it over an area of four city blocks.

Dynamite and Powder In Hardware Store Explode (Canadian Press) Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 28.—More than a score of spectators and a dozen firemen were burned or bruised and cut by flying debris, when a quantity of dynamite, gun powder and gasoline exploded in a burning building.

Missing Ritual Book Found Regina, Sask., Nov. 28.—A valuable ritual book, the property of one of the Regina Odd Fellows' Lodges, has just been recovered, after having been missing for more than a year.

At the time of the cyclone on Dominion Day, 1912, the book was in the possession of one of the officers of the lodge. The house was wrecked, and its contents were strewn far and wide. The book was found on the prairie by a farmer.

BURIED TODAY Many friends attended the funeral of Miss Helen Mary Fackler, who was taken from her late residence, Manawagonish road, this afternoon. The funeral services were conducted at the home at two o'clock. Rev. J. H. MacVicar, Rev. R. A. Armstrong and Rev. W. F. Dunham officiated. The pall bearers were James Manchester, John B. Magee, A. L. Law, Hon. J. G. Forbes, W. C. Whitbread and Alexander Wilson. The body was taken to Fernhill for interment. There were very many beautiful floral offerings from friends.

The funeral of Mrs. W. H. Paterson was held at 3:30 this afternoon from her late residence, Brussels street. Services at the house were conducted by Rev. Mr. Chip. The body will be taken to Cumberland Bay, Queens county, for burial, which will take place there tomorrow afternoon.

At 2:30 this afternoon the funeral of Mrs. William Brundage was held from her late residence, Rodney street. Services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Simpson.

The funeral of Mrs. Murray King was held this afternoon from the residence of James Wolf, 683 Main street. Rev. O. Raymond conducted the services. The interment was in the Methodist burying ground.

THE THIRD TIME There was one man charged with drunkenness in the police court this morning. His name was called and he was told to come forward. "Oh, I plead guilty," said the unfortunate. "Fine me eight dollars or send me below." The man was remanded as he was considered as not being in a fit condition to appear before the court. The magistrate remarked that this was the third time within a very short period that this man had been before him for a similar offence.

PRESENTATION Friends of Mrs. Emma S. Foster held this afternoon a tea in honor of her last evening and presented to her a lock and chain suitably engraved, prior to her departure for her winter home in Boston.

KEYS FOUND A bunch of keys found in Brussels street last evening awaits an owner at the police station.

AT HOME Mrs. Edward A. Linton gave an enjoyable at home in honor of Miss J. McMaster, who is about to leave the city and make her home in Montreal. Mrs. J. J. McCaskill assisted in receiving the guests. Mrs. Herbert W. Parlee and Mrs. James Brown, ushered. Mrs. J. Fraser Gregory and Mrs. F. W. McNeill poured. Those who assisted were: Mrs. Fred W. Lilley, Mrs. W. Lilley, Mrs. Ernest M. Pitt, Mrs. J. A. Harrison, Mrs. L. Kincaid, Miss Sabra Vincent, Mrs. Robert Clark, Miss Jessie Brown tended the door.

Inventing a Surname Foreigners often make curious changes in their names when they come to this country. A physician in a Massachusetts town was called to attend the wife of an operative in one of the cotton factories. The man's nationality puzzled the physician a good deal, for although his name was Nison, which sounded Swedish, he was of an unmistakable French-Canadian type.

"Nison?" asked the doctor. "You are a French-Canadian are you not?" "Yes, sir," replied Nison, "I am French, and was born in Quebec. My real name is Beausoleil, but when I came down here to work, the other men in the factory had so much trouble in pronouncing my name that I translated it into English. 'Beau' means 'nice,' and 'soleil' means 'sun.' I put these two words together and spelled them in the easiest way. Every one can pronounce 'Nison.'—Youth's Companion.

12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation. Dear Mrs. Currah—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women this world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a walnut, and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement for it is the only truth, and you cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louisa E. Bolleridge. This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling womb, irregularities, leucorrhoea, etc. I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it. If she will send me her address. Enclose 4 stamps and address Mrs. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Old-Schrs Coral Leaf, for Philadelphia; Stilletto, Plean, for Bonne Bay (Nfld). Allan liner Tunisian is due here Wednesday. Donaldson liner Letitia is due Monday with 107 passengers, and the C. P. R. liner Lake Manitoba is due the same day with 141. Allan liner Pomeranian, from London and Havre, due Tuesday is bringing 121 passengers. During the year which ended on June 30 last, 651 new vessels were built under the supervision of Lloyd's surveyors. Of this number, 583 were steamers representing 1,643,250 tons, and 68 sailing vessels of 21,417 tons. About 60% per cent of the new tonnage was for the United Kingdom, and the remaining 39% per cent for British colonies and foreign countries. The number of vessels classed in Lloyd's Register, including those newly built, comprised 10,466 merchant vessels, registering over 22 1/2 million tons gross, of which 6,297 vessels were of British, and 4,169 vessels of foreign registry. Vessels of over 10,000 tons gross, registered during the year, numbered nine. They included the new C. P. R. Pacific liners Empress of Asia, 16,909 tons, and Empress of Russia, 16,810 tons; also the new Canadian Andania of 18,408 tons. The latest return of vessels building show the same tendency towards the construction of vessels of large tonnage.

VESSELS IN PORT. Steamers. Cassandra, 5,229, Glasgow, Robert Reid Co No 4 berth.

They include 20 steamers of 12,000 tons and above, the largest of which is the Canadian liner Aquitania, which when completed, will be about 46,000 tons gross. The Battle liner S. S. Himeras, Capt. Tocco, sailed from Ystad for Copenhagen yesterday.

"BLINN" NIGHT WAS A BIG SUCCESS; SHE IS ST. JOHN YOUNG LADY (Lynn News, November 11) "Genevieve Blinn night" at Lynn theatre, Monday evening, proved a gala affair for all concerned. The popular leading woman was given a welcome as the curtain rose in the first act, which would have done credit to a Presidential nominee at a national convention. In the opening scene of "The Talker" she was discovered in the stage and the rounds of applause which greeted her caused a cessation of the play for nearly five minutes, while she stood and bowed to the floral tributes through the house to the footlights. Miss Blinn reached her climax, when Lynne Overman, the new leading man, took the principals and every member of the cast were showered with flowers, it requiring the full staff of ushers to carry the floral tributes through the house to the footlights. Miss Blinn was called to the front for a speech and Mr. Overman was called to the front for a nearer inspection. He passed it with a perfect mark and before the end of the play he was enrolled beside Miss Blinn at the top of the list of Lynn favorites. Mr. Morrison, who had just come from an equally encouraging opening performance of his new company in Chelsea, was liberally applauded as he came to the front to take his share of the glory for gathering the finest company he has ever had under his management. Even Mr. Morrison, however, failed to satisfy the audience and quiet was not resumed until after Kendal Weston, the new stage director, had been paid a high tribute for the excellence of the settings which he has produced. Mr. Weston gave his stage crew Messrs. Hughes and the Dowling brothers great credit for their work. An audience which packed the spacious house to the doors then settled back to watch another innovation in the play itself, which, despite its merits, was made secondary to the popularity of the two new members of the company. Miss Blinn in the title role gave the finished performance for which she became so well known last year. She had the long part under perfect control at all times and gave to it the many effective touches which has always characterized her work. Lynne Overman brings the breezy air of Broadway with him. He is possessed of a remarkable voice, a most taking personality, and an ability to wear clothes seldom seen in a stock company. Miss Blinn, Mr. Morrison, Bolla Cairns, Winifred Wellington, Hal DeForest, George Wellington and James Barrett all had most congenial roles, which they essayed well, and Miss Edna Oliver, although not in the cast this week, appeared with the rest on the receiving line to learn how popular she was.

TERRIBLE DEATH TOLL OF UNITED STATES ROADS

2,535 Killed and 49,911 Injured in Three Months - Collisions and Derailments For the Quarter 3,596

Washington, Nov. 28.—The Interstate Commerce Commission's accident bulletin issued for the quarter ended June 30, 1913, shows that as compared with returns of the corresponding quarter of 1912, there was a total increase of 140 in the number of persons killed, and of 238 in the number injured in railroad accidents of all kinds in the United States. There was an increase of 124 in the number of train accidents.

The total number of casualties in all classes of accidents, incident to railroading during the quarter, was 2,535 killed, and 49,911 injured. Of this total, 2,296 were killed, and 46,898 injured in other than train accidents, including accidents to employees while at work, to passengers getting on or off cars, and to trespassers.

The total number of collisions and derailments reported for the quarter was 3,596, of which 148 collisions, and 242 derailments affected passenger trains. The financial damage caused by the accidents was $3,294,289, a material increase over the returns for the corresponding quarter of 1912.

MAY INQUIRE INTO HIGH FOOD PRICES

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—The government is preparing to meet parliament with an "emergency" and "contribution" policy in the tariff and cost of living problem as well as on the naval defence issue.

Liberalism has proposed in each a permanent policy on strict economic and constitutional lines. The government, by its alliance with the protected interests of wealth and tariff privilege, cannot reduce the tariff even on food-stuffs, or propose any permanent programme of tariff relief for the consumer.

Because of Premier Borden's alliance with the Nationalists, he cannot propose the only practical and permanent solution to the problem of naval defence and must again revert this session to an "emergency" policy.

The "emergency" policy in the tariff and cost of living policy was semi-officially announced today in dispatches sent to the government press and inspired by the minister of finance. In order to tide over the financial stringency, give employment to the unemployed and help the general taxpayer to meet his grocer's and butcher's bills, it is announced that the government proposes to greatly increase the expenditures of the people's money.

It is also hinted that a Royal Commission would be appointed to enquire into the causes of the high cost of living.

That, in effect, is to be the temporary reply of the government to the demand of the government for permanently relieving the consumer of a part of the burden of customs taxation. No action towards appointing a Royal Commission in cost of living has yet been taken by the cabinet, but it is believed here that such action would be taken before parliament meets.

An Excuse for Delays.
The government hopes to take temporary shelter behind the promise of definite tariff action after the report of this commission is made. Meanwhile public works and heavy borrowings has been decided upon.

Within two years the total expenditures have been practically doubled under the present parliament. Last session the total appropriations amounted to a quarter of a billion dollars and the actual expenditure for the fiscal year will be well over $200,000,000.

For the coming year it is deliberately announced that this enormous total will be exceeded. Revenue is decreasing, but expenditures are to go up.

Finance Minister White has already started the borrowing process on a big scale, even at a time of high interest rates. His recent loans in the London money market at 4-8 and 4-8 per cent, are considerably higher than Canada has had to pay for many years past. Today the treasury of Canada is practically emptied and the public debt has again started to climb.

Another aspect of the policy of increased expenditures is that it will afford an excuse for not reducing the customs taxation. The plea can be made that revenue is not adequate to meet expenditures and therefore the customs revenue, the chief source of income, should not be reduced.

For the last twelve months the customs revenue has totalled a little over $117,000,000, or something like $60 for every dollar in Canada. Yet there is no prospect at present of any relief save through the policy enunciated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

How To Make Your Hair Beautiful

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Wonders, Stops Falling Hair, Itch Scalp and Dandruff and Makes Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous & Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "tonics" in the world is a simple & fashionable home recipe consisting of Bay Rum, Lavona (the compound) & a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, you wonders with any scalp. Try it for one night and see. Get from your drug gist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum & 1/2 drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and put in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add 1/2 oz. Lavona, shake well and let it stand an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a so. cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strain at a time. This cleanses the hair of scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again in the lotion brought into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush apply night and morning. A few days and you cannot find a single lock or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vice. In ten days you will find downy new hair sprouting up all over your scalp, and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

City Life

"How long have you known that gentleman you just passed?" "Well, I don't really know him at all, to tell you the truth. I just have a sort of acquainted acquaintance with him, you might say. We have lived in adjoining flats for about ten years and the other day I ventured to speak to him, don't you know?"—Kansas City Journal.

Calendar Joke

"Well, George," said Will, "as they met in the street, 'how is Arthur going on now?'" "Oh, much better," replied George. "He has been in the country for seven days to regain his strength."

"That's funny! I should have thought seven days in the country would have made one week!"—Stray Stories.

WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Knights of Columbus At Home Keenly Enjoyed By Large Gathering

The at home conducted last evening by the members of St. John Council, Knights of Columbus, in their elegantly appointed quarters in Coburg street was a brilliant and enjoyable social function, with about 800 members and lady friends in attendance. The rooms were handsomely decorated, palms, potted plants, and cut flowers being tastefully arranged and they presented an attractive appearance and a fitting setting for the beautiful costumes worn by the ladies. The floor of the new council chamber was used for the first time for dancing and the new dining hall was also used for the first time. Dancing began at nine o'clock with Kelly's orchestra providing music. A delightful programme of dances was given and bridge was also enjoyed. During the evening a hearty farewell was bid to the visiting degree team, the members, John H. Gately, of Melrose, Mass., and his wife, were called upon and gave very pleasing addresses, expressive appreciation. A light supper was served in the dining hall a little after midnight, the catering being done by Frits & Wright, and after a few more dance numbers the large gathering dispersed. The reception will be long remembered as one of the most successful and brilliant affairs of the kind yet conducted by the members of St. John Council. As the visitors from the states left for their hotel a little after midnight, they were escorted to the main door by the local knights. Auld Lang Syne was sung and they were given three hearty cheers.

G. P. R. ANNOUNCES NEW SERVICE PLANS

Announcement was made from the local offices of the C. P. R. this morning that on December 1, they would start operating the lines of the New Brunswick Coal & Railway Co., the Fredericton & Grand Lake Coal & Railway Co. and the Southampton Railway. These roads will be run, not as a part of the Atlantic division of the C. P. R., but as separate lines with A. Sherwood as manager. This will give two trains daily between Fredericton and Chipman and one each way south of Chipman to Norton. The Southampton branch was built recently by J. K. Plater, M. P. F., and runs from Millville, on the Gibson branch to a place which will be called Otis, about 12 1/2 miles distant.

THE CHECKERS AND THE C. P. R.

The situation in regard to the strike of the C. P. R. railway checkers is practically unchanged today and from present indications would seem to effect only the night crews. The work at West St. John was suspended last night, although the C. P. R. found it necessary to employ a whole crew of non-union railway checkers to effect the night shift. When asked about the matter this morning, H. C. Groat, superintendent of the Atlantic division, said that, so far as the company was concerned, the action they took on the night on which the trouble commenced was the only course open to them, owing to the fact that there were not enough union men in good standing available to fill out the crew and for this reason the man who is said to be behind his dues was put to work. "This company," said Mr. Groat, "always gives the preference to men who have been in the employ the longest. If there are enough union men on hand we employ them rather than the non-union, but it seems unreasonable to me that the union should object to our employing non-union men or union men not in good standing, when it is not possible for us to secure sufficient help from the members in good standing. The checkers' union is the only one with which we have experienced any difficulty. All of the other labor organizations have allowed us at different times to employ other than their members, so long as we were not crowding out a union man and made no objection to it. "The matter of a man's standing in the union to which he belongs, is not a matter for the transportation company to adjust, but I think it should be arranged by the members of the union."

TRIP ROUND THE HARBOR

While the new tug G. S. Mayes has been doing some work, she can really not be said to have been put into commission until now. Hereafter she will be busily engaged in connection with the dredging business in the harbor. Mr. Mayes invited a few friends whom he casually met this morning to go on board the G. S. Mayes for a trip around the harbor. They went across to the west side, where some ladies were taken on board, and thence down to Partridge Island, around the Norton Griffiths dredges, up into Courtenay Bay, back into the harbor and up past Navy Island and the new marine depot, and thence back by the western channel past the J. C. R. pier to south wharf. Those on board were greatly interested to get the new work at Sand Point, the new sugar refinery, the Courtenay Bay works, the marine depot, and of the front. The G. S. Mayes is a fast as well as a powerful tug boat, and her fine lines are greatly admired by all who see her ploughing the waters of the harbor. She is splendidly equipped for her work.

FORCED TO DRINK BRANDY HE SAYS

Evidence in Case of Alleged Theft is Interesting—Some Statements That Do Not Agree

The preliminary examination in the case of the King vs. Harry McHugh, charged with assaulting and robbing William H. Ford, a colored man, of $1 on Monday last was begun before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning. Ford also said there was another man with McHugh at the time, but was not sure who he was and when the case first came before the court last Wednesday the preliminary hearing was postponed until the other man had been arrested, but as this has not yet been done it was decided to begin the examination today and hold another examination if the accomplice were arrested, as it was not thought necessary. Ford gave his age as sixteen and said he had been employed at the Municipal home for nine years, and acted as trainee for the institution. On Monday last he went to the city for some groceries and among the things bought a bottle of brandy to be used in the home for medicinal purposes. On his way home he passed two men on the road, who asked him for a drive. He said he pulled up his team and the two men got in. One of the men, Ford identified as McHugh, and the other he described as being tall and dark with a dark mustache, and he thought his name was Owens. Ford said McHugh found the bottle of brandy and poured some down the witness' throat, making him drunk. He said McHugh put his hand in his pocket and took from him a dollar bill. The witness swore it was seven o'clock. He afterwards swore that it was seven o'clock when he passed Mowatt's drug store on Haymarket Square on the way out and that he had walked the horse all the way.

Mr. Barry then asked how many drinks the witness had "only one" was the reply, "when the half bottle was poured down my throat." When asked later by Mr. Barry how many drinks he had, he replied "three."

Witness—"Yes, I might have had four drinks." Mr. Barry—"Do you know how many drinks you had?" Witness—"Yes, I had four drinks."

Witness—"Yes." Edward C. Woods, superintendent of the Municipal Home, said that Ford had been sent to the city on the day mentioned to buy some groceries and had telephoned from Messrs. Gallagher's to whom he had been sent to buy the brandy, but had not been heard from after that until he was found lying on the side of the road about 7:30 in the evening, while the wagon, in which he had gone to the city, was in the ditch. Mr. Wood said that Ford was paralyzed with liquor when he was found by one of the boys at the home. The court would not allow this as evidence as it was not direct. The case would be put over to procure the persons who found Ford at the scene. It also appeared that other witnesses will appear.

B. L. Gerow is acting for Ford.

LIKELY HAVE USE OF WHARF FOR COAL TILL MIDDLE OF DECEMBER

The city commissioners have decided to allow the Dominion Coal Company to retain possession of the North Rodney wharf, West St. John, on which their coal pocket is located, until about the middle of December at least. Alexander Dick, manager of the company in Montreal, wired to Mayor Frick yesterday asking that action be delayed until December 15. It being that he would be here on December 9 to discuss with the commissioners the terms on which their lease might be extended. F. P. Starr, local agent for the company, called at City Hall this morning to ask about the matter and after some discussion the mayor intimated that the company would not be disturbed until Mr. Dick had an opportunity to see them about it. The matter will come up again at the meeting of the Common Council on Monday afternoon.

CEMENT AND BUILDING COST IN ST. JOHN

In connection with the higher cost of building in St. John than elsewhere, it is worth noting that cement, which is now used so very extensively in building operations, can be got in the city of Bangor today at $1.60 a barrel, while in St. John the price is $2.20. Whether at wholesale or retail, builders in American cities can get cement from 50 to 60 cents cheaper than it can be got here. If the duty on cement were lowered or removed, it would be a distinct gain to consumers in Canada and tend to reduce the cost of building.

CONGRATULATIONS

Hon. H. A. McKeown, Justice of the Supreme Court, was receiving congratulations on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his birth, which event occurred in St. Stephen on November 29, 1863. During his fifty years Judge McKeown has attained a prominent place in the community with a reputation that extends well beyond local confines. He holds the degree of B. A. (1887) and D. C. L. (1910) from Mount Allison University; LL. B. (1888) from Victoria University, Toronto, and D. C. L. (1910), King's University, Windsor, N. S. He was admitted to the New Brunswick bar in 1884 and was appointed K. C. in 1901. He served two terms in the provincial legislature, holding at different times the portfolios of solicitor-general and attorney-general. He was a candidate for the House of Commons on two occasions. He has been Judge of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick since 1909.

OFFER TO ALFRED NOYES

English Poet Who Was in St. John Recently — The Climax in Condensed Form—Grace George

Alfred Noyes, English poet, in St. John a short time ago, has been offered a twenty weeks' engagement in vaudeville to recite several of his popular ballads.

Rehearsals of David Belasco's new production of The Secret were begun recently by Henry Bernstein, with Frances Starr in the leading role. For her support Mr. Belasco has assembled a cast of well-known players, including Robert Warwick, Basil Gill, Cecil Young, Harriet Deland, and Margaret Leslie.

With pleasing anticipation local followers of the stage are looking forward to the presentation of a Canadian drama, written by a Canadian, and dealing with natives of the far north of Canada.

The Toronto Telegram asks: "Has Gaby's press agent tired of writing that pathetic stuff about Maudel and his lady of the pearls or has that dainty demurelle at last developed qualms of conscience? Be it what may, Gaby has sprung into a first-page news item in the English papers through her endeavor to have the Rev. A. J. Waldron allow her to have his sketch 'Shall a Woman Tell' to stage during her American tour.

Grace George, who was so well received in St. John a few years ago, is again under her husband's (William A. Brady) management as the new show in which she will appear is being promulgated under his direction.

The Younger Generation, and "Half Hour," which Miss George played at the Lyceum, New York, moved on Monday to Cincinnati, where it opened with Martha Hedman in the former George James R. Waite Dead

James R. Waite, a veteran actor who played some years ago in St. John, died recently in the house for incurables.

NEWS OF LONDON STAGE

Brilliant Play is Given The Cold Shoulder

Maud Allan to Indiv Gaiety Theatre to Try a "One Man" Musical Comedy — Rubens Writes Book, Music and Lyrics of Next Production

(Times' Special Correspondence) London, Nov. 16.—Cyril Harcourt's play, "A Place in the Sun," produced at the Comedy Theatre two weeks ago, is a failure, if we are to judge by the fact that the public will not go to see it, and it is to be withdrawn. Yet in many ways it is an extremely clever play, full of dialogue that is as good as anything Shaw has ever written, and showing distinct promise in a comparatively new man. Unfortunately for all concerned it has to do with a true but disagreeable and uncomplimentary picture of a small, worthless section of the English aristocracy and it has undoubtedly displeased the very class that are the main support of the theatres.

"A Place in the Sun" tells the story of the sister of a young author who has come up from the lowly social station of the son of a country farmer. In her altered situation she meets again the dissolute, spoiled son of a rich man of title who, in the old farm days, knew and looked down upon her and her brother. At the same time the daughter of the same title meets the author and a double love interest is introduced.

At the end of the first act the author discovers that the aristocrat's son has wronged his sister and refused to marry her. He is entirely dependent upon his father for support and declares that the latter will cut him off without a penny if he marries below his position.

In the second act we find the brother confronting the worthless son at his home and demanding the only possible reparation. As he refuses, the author reveals the facts to the old aristocrat and demands that he make provision for his son and give his consent to the marriage during the best part of this scene the daughter of the house is present unnoticed and learns the truth. In a big scene she denounces her father and brother and leaves the house.

The final scene is laid that evening in the rooms of the author. He comes home to find the aristocrat's daughter present. She explains that it is just what she wishes, she follows a few minutes later with her brother and father to their senses. While they are arguing it out the brother comes in, followed a few minutes later by the old father, carrying in his hand a letter left for him by his daughter and telling him of her intentions. The reader is that the dissolute son agrees to marry the author's sister, even if the old man cuts him off, the author is captured by the aristocrat's daughter, and the old man, finding himself a rank outsider, blesses his children and provides to provide for the son.

Maud Allan, barefooted "Salome" dancer, has closed her house next to the Baptist College in Regent's Park and set sail for India. On November 24, she writes me, she will open in Bombay, despite all the fuss that has been made about the effect of her dancing upon the natives of the white people. Just before she sailed she sent me a copy of her public letter explaining her position in India. It is as follows: "I am suggested by my friends, that any valid objection could be urged to my appearing in India. As soon as criticism was made by correspondents in the English and Indian newspapers I was quite prepared to reconsider my intention. If I found on inquiry that there was any real ground, either social or political, for reasonable hesitation.

"What did I find? After close consideration of the matter it became clear to me. 1.—That the agitation was based on an entire misconception of my methods. 2.—That the majority of my critics had never seen my performances; and 3.—That the Indian government had not in the past prohibited dancing by white women in India, and apparently had no intention of prohibiting such dancing in the future.

"I may add that I do not propose to give 'The Vision of Salome' in India. From consideration of this kind I came to the conclusion that if I abandoned my tour in deference to the wishes of some Anglo-Indians my motives would very probably be misconstrued and that the impression left on the public mind would be that Maud Allan, and Maud Allan alone, was banned from exercising her art in India. In circumstances like these it is hardly surprising that it is due to my reputation and indeed to my self-respect that I should carry out my programme as originally designed."

At the Gaiety "The Girl on the Film," in which Emmy Wehlen has been appearing at the Gaiety, is not an unequalled success and is to be withdrawn before Christmas. The Gaiety is to remain dark for a couple of weeks or so during the preparation of a new musical play by Paul Rubens. Rubens has written music before for Gaiety pieces; he has written lyrics as well, in many cases, but this is the first time, I believe, that he has ever attempted book, music and lyrics all on his own. He has a lot of confidence in himself, despite the fact that he is young, and the critics have heretofore refused to regard his musical compositions as anything more than pleasing jingles.

Rubens must have used a lot of weighty arguments on his boss, George Edwardes, to convince him that it was possible for one man to write an acceptable musical comedy. Of late years, the average number of engagements on the Gaiety, Adelphi, or Daly's theatre play has been not far short of the half dozen, and that company did not include the two or three authors and composers of the German or Austrian operas

ENTHUSIASM WASTED

Frank Keenan has two daughters, each of whom is clever in her own way. One has been making rapid strides as an actress; the other, preferred domesticity, and has been demonstrating her ideas on the subject by fitting quite naturally into the quiet life of the army post at which her husband is stationed. Recently she paid a visit to her parents' home on Long Island, where she had a happy time renewing old friendships. Among her callers was one impulsive girl who proceeded to entreat.

"And to think," she exclaimed, "that you married a soldier! How wonderful! And just to think! What a pleasure it will be when we have a war and believe me, my dear, it is coming soon—then, then you can fasten on his sword and send him forth to die for our country. How glorious!"

"How splendid, my dear. Just think! How good you have been to our country. I can see them growing up, with little tin swords in their chubby little hands and little toy drums hanging around their sturdy little necks. Zip—zip—they pound their drums. And then—and then—there comes a time when you will fasten real swords about them and they will go off to fight for our country. Isn't it a stirring picture?" she appealed impressively.

"It would be," replied the mother, "if my children were boys. They happen to be girls."

Dir. Distress. "Excuse me, Wombat," said the well-dressed one, "but personal friendship prompts me to speak."

"What is it, old chap?" "I fear that, unless you improve your personal appearance, you may lose your job."

"I hope not." "You need a new hat." "You need shoes. Man alive, your feet are on the ground!" "Quite true," admitted Wombat, with a sigh.

"Then take this week's salary and spruce up!" "Can't squander any money on myself, old man. My wife is worse off than I am."

"Dear me! How is that?" "She needs a new feather in her hat."

Up to the Doctor "I want a nickel's worth of chocolate candy," said the small boy to the clerk in the little corner drug store.

"When his wants were attended to, the clerk waited expectantly, but no payment appeared to be forthcoming.

"Where's your nickel?" he demanded. "Why you charge this to Dr. Peters?" said the kid, with a show of confidence.

"Nothing doing. Your father said I got the money with you. Besides, why should I charge it to Dr. Peters? He ain't your pa."

"Now, that's all right. I had a nickel but I swallowed it. An' I'm going right on up to th' doctor's office, an' he'll get me that nickel."

Florence Turner Makes Contract Thirteen Vaudeville Appearances on the Ocean Liners

After having established herself firmly as an actress on the regular stage, Mary Pickford, a prime local favorite, who played the blind girl in "A Good Day," has returned to the field of films under the management of Daniel Frohman.

Florence Turner has just signed contracts for thirteen weeks' appearances in English vaudeville theatres over the Moss Empires circuit. Many other contracts have been offered the popular screen actress, but she has been forced to reject them, since they would prevent her continuing the making of pictures for the Turner Film, Limited. The Moss dates have been arranged so as to not interfere with the making of the pictures.

Readers of the New York World and the papers throughout the country to which it syndicates its Sunday Magazine section, will soon see Paul West's little philosopher, "Bill," the office boy, in action. Mr. West has signed a contract with the Mutual Film Corporation to supply the scenarios for a series of reels, which will feature the irrepressible "Bill."

Marc McDermott, Edison leading man, recently met with the first serious accident since he became a photoplayer. While Edison players were doing a run scene outside of London, in which Marc appeared on horseback, when Marc mounted the horse it bolted, then began whirling, kicking and finally struck the forehead of one of the party's automobiles. The horse scrambled to his feet and galloped down the road, leaving Marc bleeding and unconscious. He was placed in the auto and rushed to the city, reviving en route and suffering great agony until given morphine by the surgeons, to whose office he was taken. It was thought at first that Marc had sustained internal injuries, but a more thorough examination showed that the most serious injury was to his shoulder, in which several ligaments had been torn. He was confined to his bed for several days, but is now completely recovered. It was a close call for Marc, but he was chiefly disturbed, after he had recovered from the first shock, by the fact that the horse had carried him out of range of the camera before falling, and so another "thriller" was lost.

They are now showing pictures to the steamer passengers on the big ocean liners. They educate them where to spend their dimes before they even get into the country.

That salaries to movie stars are just as high, and that much more to movie performers are just as frequent, as compared with the "legit" is the announcement of Frank L. Dyer, president of the General Film Co., who questioned by government counsel at a recent investigation of the General Film being in the "trust" category. Mr. Dyer indignantly denied that the General is trying to drive the small independent to the wall, or forcing the "little fellow" to sell out to them. He also took pains to put them "hep" to the terrific expenses to which the film concerns are subjected during these "high-cost-of-living" days.

They call Carlyle Blackwell's studio in Los Angeles the "Happy Family" studio, things run along so smoothly and easily there. Carlyle Blackwell is producing a two-reel drama, which embodies some new ideas. It is called "The Em-

Want Names in Film actors are scrambling for light. Printing the cast of the principals of the multiples, and the rest of the film mummies, lists is causing the trouble. The film directors and executives now going through the expense of Broadway impresarios of regular direction in attempts to pacify what went in their names mentioned well as those who insist that it; So's name is in big type theirs; too.

The grumbling for name among players not holding contracts on this score. But the film actor supply is immense in excess of the demand, the plants so far have only reach stage of round robin asking; film companies to give everybody Broadway impresarios of regular direction in attempts to pacify what went in their names mentioned well as those who insist that it; So's name is in big type theirs; too.

The kick of the film actors is in names to go on all casts of all panics. It would seem that London is being a grey city from the list of citations for music, dancing and film licenses which the London Council will deal with at the annual meeting. The applications nearly 600, including that three license for every 1,000 persons. Pictures have made the figures even more suburban theatres, however applying for music hall licenses; that something with more vig than the ordinary legitimate per- sone is required to compete with "movies" there are also many a citations for music and dancing in for West End hotels and restaur where the tempo tense and routine acts are still in favor.

OUR SHIPS AND OUR BOYS

The Navy Sentiment in Australia—Broken Faith at Ottawa

White Halifax is welcoming the British warship, "New Zealand," there comes an interesting description of the mighty welcome given the new Australian fleet in Sydney, where the enthusiasts knew no bounds and the heart of Australia beat high with pride to greet her own ship...

"We're hanging out the sign from the Leuwinton to the line. This bit of the world belongs to us." Five years ago when the American fleet came, Mr. Deakin, then premier, spoke: "We live in hope that from our own shores some day a fleet will go out not unworthy to be compared with the fleet of the world."

Never before have Australians, especially Australian mothers, watched the entrance of a squadron largely manned by their own boys. "My boy's on the Sydney, and I must go down to the Heads to see him come in," said one eager, tearful woman to the tram driver when he slowed his overladen car on a steep grade...

The speaker then referred to what, in her opinion, was the true, if not the only, cause of poverty, and that was crime. "The liquor traffic must and will disappear in your lifetime and in mine," she said.

TENANTS OF KING WILL NOT GET OUT

Sumptuous Homes But They Pay No Rent

USE ROYAL RESIDENCES

"Charity Tenants" They are Called Yet Some Well Able to Pay—King George and Queen Seek to Have Some Move But Have Trouble

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Nov. 28.—"An Englishman is master of his own house," runs a proud British boast. Recent developments would seem to prove that King George is one of the exceptions to this rule. He has been trying, by soft persuasion, by firm insistence and by hard threat, to oust some of his tenants, but they stay. And to make the situation still more ridiculous, these defiant tenants are what are known to the man in the street, who calls a spade a spade, "royal charity tenants," and never pay any rent for the sumptuous apartments they occupy.

Among the "perquisites" of the English monarch one of the most valued is his right to give free housing, and very comfortable housing at that, to some of his relatives and to some of his way and another the English sovereign can find free housing accommodation for some forty or fifty people outside the court.

At Hampton Court, for instance, there are twenty separate sets of apartments varying in size from a small suite of five rooms to a large and commodious suite of twelve apartments, which are tenanted by friends of the king and for which no rent is paid, though the nation has to pay $7,000 for the upkeep of Hampton Court. The occupants of these rooms are mainly the widows and daughters of officers in the army, navy or the royal establishment. The occupants of the rooms at Hampton Court are avowedly indigent; before rooms are granted the applicant has to produce evidence that she has not a larger income than $1,000 per annum.

No such rule, however, prevails in regard to the other free house accommodations that the monarch has at his disposal and which are granted in many cases at the present moment by people of considerable means who could well afford to pay rent. It is in an account of Queen Mary's endeavors to make some of the occupants of these "gift" residences to pay rent for the use of the rooms at Hampton Court that King Edward and Queen Victoria received substantial rents for some of the other free houses.

At the time of King Edward's death, all the gift residences were occupied by persons who were paying the rent. Queen Mary, who has a keen business instinct, has been for some time considering the advisability of compelling some of the well-to-do occupants of these free residences to pay rent, by which means the private income of Her Majesty could be increased by several thousands per annum. Some little while ago some of the occupants of the gift residences were given notice that from September last they would be required to pay rent or to give up possession of their residences.

Only One Replied

The first, and only, reply to this notice was from Countess Feodor Gleichen, who occupies one of the best sets of rooms in St. James' Palace, and she pleaded her inability to comply with the request on the score of poverty. The apartments at St. James' Palace are mainly occupied by the widows of royal household, but there are some half dozen sets of apartments occupied by private persons who are in no way connected with the royal household, and the rental value of these apartments is very considerable. The Countess Feodor Gleichen is a cousin of King George and the rooms were granted to her father as a free residence in London by Queen Victoria and when he died the countess, by the consent of King Edward, continued to occupy them.

The countess is a sculptor of some repute and makes a fair income (certainly not less than $12,000 per annum) out of her art, which she follows professionally and in addition to this she has an annuity of $7,500 and one way or another her regular income cannot fall below $20,000 per annum and she has no one but herself to support.

The countess has a set of six rooms and a large studio in the western wing of the palace the rental value of which at a moderate estimate would be $2,000 per annum. Queen Mary, who is perfectly aware of the income of the countess, has asked her to pay $2,500 a year. In the way of rent. Four other occupants of rooms in St. James' Palace have consented to pay rent, but the Countess Gleichen and another lady, Mrs. Whitaker Laking, have so far refused to do so. The latter occupies only three rooms and since receiving notice that she would be required to pay rent for them she has locked them up and gone to live on the continent, leaving it to the king and queen to decide whether they are legally entitled to take forcible possession.

Still Harder Problem

But in regard to the gift residences about Windsor Her Majesty has been confronted with a much more difficult and quite unexpected problem. One of the largest and handsomest of these residences is Royal Lodge, which the late king gave as a free residence to

MAKING BOYS GOOD CITIZENS

Training Them For The Obligations and Responsibilities

THE WINSTON-SALEM PLAN

Principal Characteristics Co-operation Between Schools and Board of Trade; School Government and Economics Department and a Juvenile Club

Training boys for the obligations and responsibilities of citizenship has been undertaken in Winston-Salem, N. C., along rather broad and unique lines. After nearly a year's experimental operation the Winston-Salem plan is worthy of careful consideration, and possibly of imitation. The principal characteristics of this plan are, first, co-operation between the public schools and the local board of trade; second, the establishment of a department of government and economics in the city high school; and third, the formation of a boys department, or a "Juvenile Club," as it is called, of the board of trade.

Work in the High School

At the beginning of the 1913-14 school year, Supt. R. H. Latham, of the city schools, provided, as a part of the high-school curriculum, a course in government and economics open to the senior students, and placed the new department under the direction of the secretary of the board of trade, who, with the approval of the board, had volunteered his services. Under this department, the students are taught the elements of government, special attention being given to the history and constitution of the city, county, state and federal governments. During the term ending with the Christmas holidays most classes were held, and the class was organized as a city council, state general assembly, and as the congress of the United States.

Immediately after Christmas a series of lectures treating of the fundamental principles of government were arranged, and the attention of the students directed to the important industrial, commercial and agricultural problems of the country, particularly the problems of the Southern States.

As a result of this work the boys developed a very active interest in public affairs, and it was found that at the same time was recognized that their historical and theoretical study of political and economic problems in some way be connected with the practical, everyday experiences in the community. Winston-Salem being essentially a manufacturing community, the means of studying activities of the city immediately available. As a feasible method of undertaking this it was suggested that there be organized a juvenile club of the board of trade and the establishment of a closer co-operation between the activities of the high school and that of the board.

The Juvenile Club

Having declared that "No commercial organization performs its legitimate functions unless it makes its members acquainted with the principles of true citizenship," the board of trade resolved to inaugurate the social conditions of the people always ahead of the march of industrial and commercial progress, "the board of trade readily endorsed this plan to form a boys' division of the board, under the direction of the secretary of the board of trade, and the result is the Juvenile Club of the Winston-Salem Board of Trade.

Membership in the Juvenile Club is not limited to high-school boys, for it was thought best to open to all interested boys of the city a way to become identified with constructive and active civic work. The club has a membership of about fifteen years of age and under twenty-one years old. Another condition of membership is that the boy must subscribe to and recite from memory before the secretary of the board the ancient Athenian oath, pledging himself to perform faithfully his civic obligations. This pledge is as follows:

We will never bring disgrace to this our city by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many. We will reverse and obey the city's laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to annul or to set them at naught. We will strive unceasingly to outdo in all these ways, we will transmit this city not less, but greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

A membership register is kept in which the boys sign their names after subscribing to and reciting this oath. The boys have the privilege of attending all regular meetings of the board of trade, with the right to take part in debates, but without any voting powers. They are assigned committee work, and special meetings are held for them twice a month or more frequent if the work demands it. Members of the Juvenile Club pay no fees.

The club has a membership of about fifty boys, the first member being enrolled October 14, 1913.

Every effort is made to properly train these boys for the duties of citizenship, to create in them respect for honest and efficient public service, and to actively interest them in the work of making Winston-Salem a better, greater and more beautiful city in which to live.

New World Figure--James Larkin-- Made by Dublin Dock Strike

Snapshots of Starving Women and Children Getting Food From Foreign Friends.

James Larkin

(James Dunn in London Daily Mail)

A big, powerfully built man, dressed like a dock laborer, speaking in a deep, rasping voice, and walking crooked like a prize-fighter entering the ring—that is the first impression one gets of Jim Larkin, the man who is said to have occupied so much of the attention of ministers at the last cabinet meeting.

And afterwards, when you know the man better, you never lose that first impression of being faced with a fighter. His face is stern, one is tempted to say sullen; he smiles rarely, and hearty laughter he does not know. He was born to fight, and his mission is war. If he were not a prize-fighter, a pioneer in the pugna, anything and everything where pugnacity and fearlessness carry a man to success.

For Larkin is fearless. That is one of the secrets of his power over the turbulent Irish laborers. He may not be able always to convince a man, but he is ever ready to fight him.

I have seen Larkin at a moment of irritation, cuff a stalwart dockerman in the ear, and the man, who would cheerfully fight a Dublin policeman, has slunk away in shame. Coming from nowhere, from nobody, Jim Larkin has by sheer force and magnetism become a big man in every sense of the word. He is feared as much by English labor leaders as he is by Dublin employers, and he has few friends in the powerful Ancient Order of Hibernians controlled by Joseph Devlin.

At the same meeting where he defied William Martin Murphy, the strongest employer in Dublin and one of the most influential men in Ireland, Larkin sneered at the Labor Party and taunted the followers of John Redmond. He fears nothing and respects nobody, he has the splendid egotism of a dominant personality, and his strength is also his weakness.

He is vain with a vanity born of power over his fellows; and, like most big men, he is lonely. Even in his own camp he is not understood. He is an industrial Napoleon, consulting few, taking advice from none. His powerful figure and compelling voice silence criticism as they sweep from the platform and hit his accusers on the jaw. That is his method in labor troubles. He finds a place to hit and then strikes.

A Born Orator

Again, like most big men, he has a weakness for dramatic effect. He will keep a crowd waiting for hours outside Liberty Hall and then suddenly appear on an open window, and with half a dozen words make the crowd forget that they have been kept waiting at his will.

A born orator, Jim Larkin has the gift to stir men's blood with mere words. When he speaks he is primitive, he gets the right word by instinct, and he speaks as he fights—straight talk aimed at the heart.

And the man's memory for faces is wonderful. In his organization there are something like 80,000 workers, and he seems to know every man. I have seen him interrupted in a speech by a laborer whose enthusiasm was more distracting than encouraging, and, stopping in his madden flow of eloquence, he has pointed a finger at the man, named him, and sent him cowering to the rim of the crowd.

I first met Larkin in his Belfast days when he wore a fierce moustache and a wide picturesque hat. It was during the last days when 9,000 troops with machine guns were sent to overawe the strikers. In those days Larkin performed a feat that had hitherto been thought impossible: he got Catholic and Orangemen to join in the same labor procession and to meet on the same platform. Now he has discarded his moustache and his hat, and with his clean-shaven face he looks more pugnacious than ever.

Larkin is in goal for using seditious language; it is not his first experience of prison. His heavy fist and aggressive jaw are turned against law and order. He loses friends as fast as he makes enemies, for his man's temperament is incapable of conciliation or concession. He will knock down or be knocked down—that is his creed and life's purpose.

A Rebel From the Cradle

A popular belief, and one that Larkin encourages is that he is a son or grandson of that Larkin of the "Manchester Martyrs" who were hanged in 1847 for the murder of Sergeant Brett in the rescue of Fenian leaders from a prison van in Manchester. There are people, however, who dispute this statement. He was born in Liverpool, of Irish parents, some forty years ago, and he has been a rebel from the cradle. Labor Dictator of Dublin, his name has given a new impetus to industrial disputes. If he can keep his head, Jim Larkin will be a great power in any Irish parliament that might be formed. Joseph Devlin, M.P., and he will fight for control of the labor party, which will be opposed to John Redmond's Conservatives.

The question is whether Larkin can keep his head. Already he has made two blunders in the Dublin dispute—the first when he sneered at the Labor Party and lost financial aid, and the second when he defied the priests over sending starving Dublin children to England and gave the Catholic church the lever it was seeking.

Not Martin Murphy and the employers who follow him, but the priests are Jim Larkin's most formidable enemies. So long as he was obtaining higher wages for underpaid workmen they remained silent, but when Irish Catholic strikers were being sent to English prisons and Catholicism proved stronger than Larkinism, he was not slow to take his fight against the priests he has gained in his imprisonment. He went to prison with a smile, knowing that the sentence of the court meant the clamor of the crowd. And that is why Jim Larkin's name is now a household word mentioned by cabinet ministers, quoted in by-elections, a popular "gag" in music halls, and a power in labor politics.

London, Nov. 15.—The king and queen do not make many new friends, they stick to the old, unless King Edward, who was always ready to add an interesting fresh acquaintance to his circle. Lord Durham, with whom the king and queen will soon be staying, is a man with a tragically sad history. Almost since his marriage, his wife has been an inmate of a private asylum with no hope of recovery. A terrible shock was it appears, the cause of the calamity and from the very start it was realized she must go on enduring this living death. The story is so pathetic that it is never discussed.

Lady Anne Lambton, Lord Durham's youngest daughter but one—there are twelve of the family—his "right hand" and always acts as hostess for him. She has spent considerably more than twenty years refusing men who have proposed to her. One great party who wooed Lady Anne said, "You don't mean to say you are going to be an old maid, I think well and realize the shame of such a position." "Oh," replied Lady Anne laughing, "didn't you ever hear of St. Paul who laid it down that those who marry do well but that those who don't do better. And if it is a shame for a woman to lead her own life. I mean going to be that shameful woman."

It is ten and a half on by six feet wide. is carpet is said to have taken more three years to produce. It is almost composed of strings of pearls the centre ornaments, are worked diamonds. Some writers assert this costly ornament was originally ded by the late Maharaja Khan- as a covering for the tomb of Ma- nel. Others say that it was design- a present for a woman of whom Mahraja was enamored, but that British resident interfered, saying the wealth of Baroda was not suf- to warrant such an expensive gift e part of the ruler. This ornament retained among the regalia at Bar- and is probably the most costly pearl ornament in the world. It was the Gackwar, by the bye, who, on being asked at a dinner party in Paris recently, why he was not wearing any of the jewels for which he is so famous, replied: "I am building schools with them." The Casaria's Probably the finest collection of pearls in Europe belongs to the Casaria of Russia, whose sensational loss of the famous Romanoff pearls by theft, will not have been forgotten, though the pearls of the German Empress and those of the Dowager Queen of Italy, are world renowned. It is a custom with many European monarchs, by the way, to present to either their consort or their daughters, a single pearl on the latter's birthdays, wonderful strings being the result. The late King Humbert was particularly fond of lavishing these regal jewels upon Queen Margherita, whose name signifies pearl, and who always had been fond of the ocean jewel. King Edward likewise gave his three daughters a matched pearl on their birthdays up to the age of twenty-one, a practice that has also been followed by the Czar. The portraits of the four daughters of Czar Nicholas, the Grand Duchess Tatiana, (who recently was erroneously declared to be engaged to the Prince of Wales) Olga, Maria and Anastasia, show, indeed that their splendid pearl necklaces are built up gradually, as that of the eldest daughter is notably longer than those of her younger sisters. Other possessors of wonderful pearls in English society are the Duchess of Roxburgh, whose collection of these jewels is said to be worth more than $800,000, Lady Rothschild, the Countess of Hchester, the Countess of Dudley, the Marchioness of Londonderry, Baroness de Forest, and the Marchioness of Ripon, the latter of whom has one string valued some years ago at $125,000. Lady Rothschild has two rows of pearls the size of marbles, while the Countess of Sheshbury has a pearl and diamond necklace given her by the late Duke of Westminster which is valued at $75,000.

Are your hands chapped, cracked or sore? Have you "cold cracks" which open and bleed when the skin is drawn tight? Have you a cold sore, from bite, chilblain, or a "raw" place, which at times makes it agony for you to go about your household duties? If so, Zam-Buk will give you relief, and will heal the frost-damaged skin. Ancient the sore places at night. Zam-Buk's rich healing essences will sink into the wounds, and the smarting, and will heal quickly. Mrs. Yellen, of Portland, says: "My hands were so sore and cracked that it was agony to put them near water. When I did so they would smart and burn as if I had scalded them. I seemed quite unable to get relief from anything I put on them until I tried Zam-Buk, and it succeeded when all else had failed. It closed the big cracks, gave me ease, soothed the inflammation, and in a very short time healed my hands."

at Windsor Castle, a like arrangement was made. But in the case of Sir Dighton Probyn a further and rather peculiar cause bell has arisen. Sir Dighton, though he expresses himself quite ready to give up possession of the Norman Tower, has for years been in possession of the beautiful grounds at Windsor Castle known as the Mount Garden, which the late king when he came to the throne, granted to him for his life. Sir Dighton spent a considerable sum of money in improving the Mount Garden, which occupies some four acres, and put down two fountains in it at a cost of $10,000. The king and queen, though they do not wish to disturb Sir Dighton in his possession of the Norman Tower, want him to give up the Mount Garden which they can now only use as Sir Dighton's guest. Sir Dighton is willing to do so if their Majesties will reimburse him for all the money he has spent on it, but the king declines. Sir Dighton, therefore, remains the legal owner of the most beautiful private garden at Windsor Castle to use which the king and queen must obtain his permission.

Can Curtail Privileges

There are nine gift residences at Windsor and it appears that six of these are held by people with no special arrangements were made when they were put into possession by King Edward and that they are, therefore, entitled to hold them free during their lives. But if Queen Mary cannot compel these free tenants to pay rent she can curtail several of their privileges. For residences about Windsor used to receive a free supply of milk, butter, eggs, vegetables and flowers from the home and castle farms at Windsor. More than $100,000 worth of farm produce was distributed from the two royal farms. In the future, says Queen Mary, such commodities will have to be paid for at ordinary market rates. Custom gives the tenants of the gift residences the privilege of using the magnificent library in Windsor Castle when the court is not in residence and this privilege is to remain, but in a restricted form; the library is to be opened to the gift tenants on two days a week only. The gift tenants had the right of using the private park for motoring, riding or cycling. They can continue to do so at a stated fee which varies from $250 to $1,000 according to the valuation of the house the tenant lives in. These fees are put towards the upkeep of the private park, which costs about $40,000 a year to maintain, and this has to be paid for out of the grant of $100,000 per annum which the king gets from the state for the upkeep of all royal parks. Another source of revenue which Queen Mary in the course of her investigation has discovered is in connection with the occupation of Cumberland Lodge the residence of Prince Christian.

One of the largest and most celebrated winter in the world is at Cumberland Lodge the fruit from it the prince sells every year. The king has now claimed the right, which he undoubtedly possesses, of selling the fruit of this vineyard himself and this has added at least $2,000 per annum to his private income. The original idea of giving the monarch the disposal of these residences was so that he might be able to find accommodation for impoverished relations who came to England in great numbers when the House of Hanover came to the throne. But the number of these has greatly lessened in the last three reigns and many of the gift residences are now occupied by persons who are not royalists and who could quite easily afford to pay rent for them.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time. I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot spend too highly of the Pinkham medicine."—Miss Jessie Arst, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy. Asked For Million Dollars For Montreal Playgrounds (Montreal Telegraph.) A million dollar grant for playgrounds, the money to be spent in a period of three years, was asked of the Board of Control by a deputation from the Parks and Playgrounds Association today.

The resolution presented set forth the good done by the supervision of playgrounds, especially in the more densely populated parts of the city, and urged the appropriation of this money for equipping as play areas properties already in possession of the city and in acquiring other properties for play areas when needed.

J. C. Walsh reminded the Board of Control that $10,000 was voted by them for two playgrounds in Lafontaine Park and Fletcher's Field last summer, and he and Miss Watt had made a report on the results.

Mr. Ferney, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association and Board of Trade, had approved of this step, so to the extent of the full million dollars, others without mentioning such an amount, or without accepting the sum asked for, while expressing a desire that the city should spend whatever sum was necessary for this purpose.

Mr. Walsh produced a stock of approving letters and petitions, for the expending of this sum as suggested. The petitions were signed by many thousands of names.

The controllers will soon make a final decision as to the making of the grant. Mayor Lavallee, Controller Almy, Godfrey, Lachapelle and Dupuis all are in sympathy with this movement. The question to decide is how much money they can find for this purpose.

To the thousands of people who toss on a sleepless pillow night after night, or who pace the bedroom floor all wrong, and to whose eyes sleep will not come, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer the blessing of sound refreshing slumber, as they restore the equilibrium of the deranged nerve centres and correct the wrong action of the heart.

Mrs. Charles Teel, Horncastle, Ont., writes:—Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. My heart and nerves were so bad I could not sleep, and the least noise or excitement would make me feel so that I used to think I was going to die and I would tremble until I could hardly stand. I took doctor's medicine, but it did not do me much good. At last I tried Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and can certainly say they did me a great amount of good. I can recommend them to anyone who is suffering as I was. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have been on the market for the past twenty years, and have done more to steady shaky nerves and strengthen weak hearts than any other known preparation.

100,000 Copies of Remarkable Book Describing Peculiar Psychic Powers to be Distributed Free to Readers of the St. John Times-Star

The wonderful power of Personal Influence, Magnetism, Fascination, Mind Control, call it what you will, can surely be acquired by everyone no matter how unattractive or unsuccessful, says Mr. Elmer Ellsworth Knowles, author of the new book entitled: "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces."

The book, which is being distributed broadcast free of charge, is full of photographic reproductions showing how these unseen forces are being used all over the world, and how thousands upon thousands have developed powers which they little dreamed they possessed.

The first employment of the members of the juvenile club was in the recent industrial survey of Winston-Salem conducted by the board of trade.

In this work the boys visited the local manufacturing establishments and filled out a detailed industrial schedule in the same manner as do special agents of the statistical bureau of the federal government.

WATCH YOUR PIMPLES GO AWAY

Then Feel the Ecstasy of Delight When Your Complexion is Made Perfect By Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Don't worry about your pimples. Stop that heart ache and regret. Just make your mind that you are going to use Stuart's Calcium Wafers and make pimples vanish.

"I Don't Look Like I Did Since I Used Stuart's Calcium Wafers."

The pores of the skin are little mouths. Each has a sort of valve that opens into tiny canals connecting with the blood.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers keep the pores open and the canals then carry off the waste matter the blood empties into them.

Don't use cosmetics. They will not hide pimples long, and then they clog the skin. You ought to know that the skin breathes in air almost like the lungs.

Look at your pimples and unsightly eruptions in the right way as a disease of the blood and pores and use Stuart's Calcium Wafers to give you the complexion you want.

Famous Hoaxers and Hoaxes

(London Globe). Hoaxers exist in every profession and walk of life; they flourish in every age and clime; they ply their art either as a means of livelihood, or from the sole desire to gull the credulous public.

Hook let a London that a certain modest dwelling in a quiet thoroughfare leading out of Oxford street, had become the most notorious house in town, and set about winning his wager by audience before a thousand attendants, containing orders to tradesmen, with the request that they would at a certain hour bring to the door of a certain house in Berners street.

As the result of a bet between the Duke of Montagu and Lord Chatterfield that the former would, by reciting an utterly impossible performance, find tools enough to fill a playhouse, it was announced that on January 10, 1740, on the stage of the Haymarket Theatre, the Archbishop of Canterbury and the commander-in-chief were among the many victims that fell into the trap and only arriving at the appointed spot experienced most unceremonious treatment and the turbulent and exasperated throng.

The papers, especially those of the Jacobite party, made great fun of this and in "The World" appeared this burlesque advertisement, having reference to the Duke of Cumberland's lady's demolished smock petticoat, a gift handed over of martial temper and length, not much the worse wearing with the Spey curiously engraved on one side, and the Scheldt on the other; supposed to be taken from the fat sides of a certain great general in his hasty flight, and to be sold to a playhouse, it lost it may inquire for it at the sign of the Bird and Singing Land, in Hotten.

A hoax equally diverting, and with no harmful issue, was that originating with Daily, the manager of the Dublin Theatre, who wagged that within twenty-four hours he would introduce a perfectly meaningless word into the English language. To effect which he chalked on every wall to which he could gain access the four letters QUIZ, which at once set all Dublin wondering as to their significance—wondering in vain, the result being the general bombardment being the circulation of a word that has remained current till the present day.

"7" A hard stubborn cold that hangs on, is broken up by Humphreys' "Seventy-seven" COLDS.

The easy time to stop a cold is when the shivers first run down your back, your bones begin to ache and you feel sore all over.

FAMILY TRAGEDY OF KING'S HOST

(Continued from page 12). I hear that the Marchioness of Tullibardine has been invited to take up the duties of president of the British Women's Emigration Society made vacant by the death of Lady Knighthley of Waverley.

The Anglo-Canadian wedding took place yesterday in St. Paul's Oratory Square, between Cyril Kingston Frederick Andrews, son of the Rev. J. F. Andrews of Nonchurch, Isle of Wight, and Gertrude May, daughter of Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway.

The curio included articles which came from France, Egypt, South Africa, Jerusalem, Persia, Morocco, Spain, Russia, South Africa and Denmark, while many old English curios were displayed. Specially interesting exhibits were an English Testament, illustrated, dated A. D. 1527, an English prayer book of the same date, and a Breches Bible, A. D. 1608.

Irritations and Eruptions of the Skin Besides that annoying and torturing itching of eczema, you cannot forget that, left to itself, it becomes chronic and spreads over the body.

It is wonderful how quickly Dr. Chase's Ointment affords relief from the itching and sets the healing process in action.

Dr. Chase's Ointment owes its wonderful success to the fact that it positively cures eczema. Put it to the test. 60c a box, all dealers. Sample box free, if you mention this paper. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.
