London, Friday, Feb. 28.

An English journal calls Chicago a vulgar city; but what care the victors in the contest for the Columbus Fair. They have beaten New York and St. Louis, and that is enough of glory for one week.It is announced that the Watson Company have about decided to remove from Ayr. They can have a splendid location, with the best of railway facilities, if they choose to move to the capital of the West.According to a return brought down to the Dominion Parliament, the Indian population of Manitoba is steadily decreasing.
In the list of reserves in that Province there are 26 of which the population was shown at the time of location and what it is to-day. Seventeen of these reserves show large decreases in the number of residents, while on the other nine the population is either stationary or the increase merely nominal. The Northwestern Indian appears to resemble the South African native.
He cannot bear civilization and whisky when they come hand-in-hand.Four Eastern Conservatives saw so little merit in the useless and expensive Dominion Franchise Act that they joined the Liberals in Parliament in the demand that the measure should be thrown overboard, and the old system of municipal lists adopted. Against the lists compiled by the non-partisan officials of the cities, towns, villages and townships not a single protest had ever reached Parliament, yet the Tory leaders have so far spent over $966,000 on getting up the lists, and the end is not yet. We observe that Messrs.
Marshall, Coughlin, and Roome, of Middlesex county, endorsed the course of the Government, whether on the ground that they have to swallow everything that the Tory leaders bid them, or because they believe in the doctrine at present preached by them—that the more money spent the higher the taxes can be placed, and the higher the taxes the more prosperous the people. We care not what their excuse, we do not believe that their conduct will be indorsed by the independent electors in their respective constituencies.

MONEY IN TREES.

The man who has walnut trees in his possession these days has a veritable honanza. At a sale on a farm near Delhi, Indiana, the other day, 120 trees were sold on the stump, and brought $10,010 cash.
A few weeks before $8,800 in cash was paid for 89 trees of the same species belonging to the same owner. As the walnut tree matures rapidly, and can be made to grow where cereal crops are difficult to cultivate, it appears to us that farmers might do well to give a little attention to the planting of so valuable a product.
In addition to its timber, it can also be made to pay as a nut-producer. As timber becomes more scarce, we venture to predict that walnut as well as other trees required for building and for the production of furniture will become much more valuable, and that the family of the agriculturalist who keeps putting out a few trees every year will reap a rich reward from his forethought. A sapling costs little, and is easily reared. Why should the waste places of the country not be reforested by co-operation and vastly enriched thereby?
It is a question for the sensible farmers to answer.ANOTHER CONSERVATIVE SHUNTED.Another of the few decent men of the Ontario Opposition in the Legislature has been shunted off the political track by his own friends. We refer to Mr. Hammel, of Cardwell. Mr. Hammel is not a brilliant man, but he is very respectable and very fair as an opponent, and is a well-informed and successful farmer resident in the constituency besides. He was shunted we do not know; but the strange part of the matter is that the man preferred to him is an unknown lawyer of the somewhat aristocratic name of Houghton Lennox, who is not even a resident of the constituency. This is worse treatment than was accorded to Mr. Craig, of East Durham, who was rejected for some John or Tim Collins that is a resident of the riding, but whose name was never heard of before outside of an Orange lodge. Both Mr. Hammel and Mr. Craig deserved better treatment at the hands of their respective constituencies.
But what else is to be expected of a party without principles, and whose only hope of success lies in its ability to pander to the instincts of faction? At the present rate of going on Mr. Morehead's followers in the next Legislature may be covered by the skirt of his own coat.The passion for the silver bangles worn from a dozen to 30 or 40 together, on one wrist has spread until now they are made in New York in white metal that looks as good as the real and sold for a few cents a piece. They were rather attractive before they became so cheap.

A HANDSOME THING.

The Legislature of Quebec has done a handsome thing in voting a grant of $10,- 000 to aid in the reconstruction of Toronto University. The finances of Quebec are improving under Mr. Mercier's administration, and during the past two years the Treasurer has been able to show surpluses in place of the long succession of deficits which characterized Tory rule in that Province. The Legislature, therefore, could with good grace come to the rescue of our noble University, and an act of this kind goes far to prove that such needless attacks upon the French as those led by D'Alton McCarthy have not embittered that people against our Province—thanks no doubt in large measure to the manly stand made by Ontario representatives against the McCarthy crusade. It appears from the resolution that the grant is made as a return for the kindness shown by the Legislature of Ontario in voting $5,000 in 1871 to aid the sufferers by the destructive fires in the Saguenay district—a sum which, the resolution relates, with the simple interest since that time, would now make $10,700.
Of course it is not to be expected that this generous act will please some of our Ontario Tories, especially the Francophobes among them, and we shall not be surprised if some of them do not carp at Mr. Mercier because he has kept back the $700 which would make principal and interest complete. Here is a chance for the London Free Press and the Toronto Mail to show up Mr. Mercier and the French of Quebec generally.

MORE TAXES.

There seems to be no doubt that the Dominion Finance Minister, in the Budget which he is now compiling, intends to provide for a big increase in the taxes on goods brought into Canada for the use of the people. We gather as much from the semi-official organs of the Government, some of which are now engaged in giving the lie to the false statement contained in Sir John Macdonald's declarations at the opening of the session, to the effect that the country is in a highly prosperous condition. Prices of farm products are low, the purchasing power of the farmers has been curtailed, business men find it difficult to make ends meet, argues the Montreal Gazette, controlled by Mr. White, Tory M. P. for Cardwell, therefore the taxes must be increased. Another reason given for the proposed increase is contained in this extract from the same organ.Thirty per cent. duty ten years ago meant, relatively to the cost of an article, much more than the same ad valorem rate does today.
On a yard of cotton costing 10 cents, 30 per cent. meant a protection of three cents a yard, while on cotton costing 2 cents it means a protection of 6 cents a yard, an illustration which will suffice to show how the extent of the protection given by an ad valorem tariff hinges on the cost of the goods.That is to say, cottons and other articles necessary to the comfort of the mass of the people are cheap in the foreign market, therefore it is necessary to put such an increased taxation on these goods as shall keep them out of Canada! How do the farmers and wage-earners like the prospect?
They find it hard to make ends meet. This Tory organ tells us the Dominion Government intends to help them get along by increasing their taxes!

THE FRUIT DUTIES.

At the meeting in Ottawa the fruitgrowing interests of the Dominion were very thoroughly ventilated. One section of the delegates, representing chiefly the Niagara and Montreal districts, took advantage of the occasion to introduce a resolution asking the Government to reimpose the duties on fruits and vegetables not long since removed. Parliament being in session the opportunity was thought favorable. The bulk of the fruit men present were from the districts indicated, and at the outset it was thought the resolution would go through swimmingly. Its advocates contended that they were logical in asking the imposition of taxes on articles that they produce when other branches of industry were supposed to be favored; but Senator Resor, who took part in the proceedings, pointed out that the farmer got no protection, citing such pretenses at protection as the barley duty and others simply designed to humbug the agriculturist.As the discussion went on unexpected opposition to the resolution was developed.
The Maritime Provinces were heard from.
The Nova Scotia Association had unimposedly instructed their delegates to oppose any movement of the kind, because large quantities of apples from the great Annapolis Valley are shipped to Boston and other Eastern States points, and if Canada reimposes the fruit duties the United States will retaliate, thus knocking that trade in the head. The New Brunswick delegation also kicked for a like reason, though their special output into Maine and Massachusetts is strawberries. It was interesting to note that these eastern objectors to the resolution were avowed protectionists, or "Canada for the Canadian" men, as they delighted to call themselves, but they squealed as soon as a pinch of the restrictionists' shoe was felt. Opposition of a like character came from a Windsor, Ont., representative because the fruit and vegetable growers of that locality have a profitable market across the river in Detroit and other Middle States cities, out of which they do not naturally wish to be shut by retaliation. The British Columbia representatives were after protection because the industry has just begun to develop in that highly-favorable climate, and in order to have the local and Northwest markets to themselves they want the California and other fruit growers to the south of the boundary line shut out. Against this proposal the Manitoba and Northwest delegates rose in arms for the reason that heavy freights make fruit dear there already, and though small fruits are going to be abundantly grown larger varieties such as apples do not seem able to survive the winter. It would therefore be a specially great hardship if the settlers of these new countries were to be deprived of such a wholesome variety of food as the fruit in question.Some of the speakers from the Niagara and other localities held that they couldcheaply grow the finest small fruits in the world. More than one speaker claimed that as soon as the Canada strawberries, for instance, ripen, no one will buy the Yankee berry because it has to be picked on the greenish side and must be stale before it reaches the table of a consumer in this city.
It was argued that Canadians will become surfeited with United States fruits coming in a couple of weeks earlier, but the fear is largely imaginary. The taste for fruit is capable of cultivation. The more people eat the more they want, hence the effect of a reimposition of these duties would simply be to deprive a great many people of an early taste of fruit without any likelihood of conferring any substantial benefits on the local fruit growers.By a small majority the convention ultimately hoisted the resolution over for one year in order that the tariff as it now stands, be fairly tried. Some of the growers who were after protection organized an individual deputation which, with the aid of Charley Rykert and others, was swelled to considerable numbers. They assailed the Minister of Customs, and claim to have got a very favorable reply, but whether in the face of so many grave objections as those pointed out above, the Government will reimpose those taxes on the public, is another question. They certainly should not do so if the well-being of the masses of the people is to receive any consideration.SIR WILLIAM GULL, according to a writer in the Medical Record, had a curious fascination over his patients. They always, whether hospital or private patients, believed implicitly in him, and through this opinion final. He is said to have said that for the first few years his practice increased in geometrical progression. He began to practice at 8 Finbury Square, and while there did a large practice; and when he moved to the West End his practice at the height of his fame was probably larger than that of any other physician at any period. He never lost an opportunity to cure his patient. A doctor sent him a lady, a habitual opium-eater. She was shown into Gull's room. He at once said to her: "Madam, before you say anything to me let me tell you you must give up the opium I see you take." She was so impressed by Gull's power of divination that she gave it up at once. His management of nervous and hypochondriacal patients was very excellent, and he gained the confidence of one hypochondriac where no other physician could succeed. The patient, like all of his class, wanted much sympathy for his numerous ailments, and yet would have equally disliked to have been told that he was really ill. The patient went to Gull, and afterward informed us that Gull told him "he was a healthy man out of health." He wanted to know why doctors could not have told him that before.

John Smith on a Back Seat.

[New York Tribune.]
In one city at least, John Smith has to take a back seat. The directory of Minneapolis reveals the fact that there are in that city 2,000 Ole Olesons, 1,910 Erik Ericksons, 1,215 Nels Nelsons and 1,011 John Johnsons. Evidently Minneapolis is somewhat of a Scandinavian city.

Constipation,

If not remedied in season, is liable to become habitual and chronic. Drastic purgatives, by weakening the bowels, confirm, rather than cure, the evil.
Ayer's Pills, being mild, effective, and strengthening in their action, are generally recommended by the faculty as the best of aperients."Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills.
I deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. I have taken two years past I have taken one of these pills every night before retiring. I would not recommend them to any one who is in need of a safe but effectual cathartic." —John M. Boggs, Louisville, Ky."For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels recovered their natural and regular action, so that now I am in excellent health."
—S. L. Loughbridge, Bryan, Texas."Having used Ayer's Pills, with good results, I fully indorse them for the purposes for which they are recommended."

FOOTBALL.

AWFULLY NICE.

Football is an awfully nice and jolly game. An English correspondent writes: "Passing Kennington Oval the other day some of us were startled by the spectacle of a gentleman in athletic costume being gently borne on a stretcher to the nearest burglar's den."

Further progress in the Westminster direction brought us abreast of a mutilated man limping painfully along with the help of a couple of friends. Shortly after we were in our turn overtaken by a vehicle conveying two seeming survivors from a field of carnage. One wore a bandage over the middle of his face, a blotch of red oozing from the middle of his forehead, and the other had his right arm bound up, and sat back with closed eyes, apparently in a half-fainting condition. Inquiry ascertained that these persons had just emerged from the fierce delights of a football match, a discovery which caused the confusion of shame at the stupidity which did not at once recognize the familiar outcome of the noble game."

THE RING.

THE BLACK PRINTER.

Four since the arrival of Peter Jackson in Baltimore the colored population has been wild with excitement, and the pugilist is so beset that he hardly finds time to get food and sleep. His appearance on the street is a signal for a gathering, and the square in the vicinity is black with darkies anxious to pay homage to the black fighter.

At the Monument Theatre, where Jackson gave nightly exhibitions, the negroes seeking admission block the streets as well as the entrance to the theater. Sometimes adverse criticism is passed on Jackson's form and then a fight follows. The other night a white man expressed the opinion that Jackson was no match for Sullivan, whereupon a darky sitting near him dealt him a blow between the eyes and broke up the conversation. A free fight was only prevented by a policeman dragging out Jackson's manager. Another evening there was a pitched battle immediately after the performance concluded. The whites had prepared themselves with rotten eggs and bricks, and no sooner did Jackson show up, surrounded by his black retinue, than the trouble began. From front street to Harrison, the street fronting the theater was packed with whites, a majority of whom were well supplied with eggs and bricks. These soon flew at a lively rate, and Jackson was kept dodging as he walked the gauntlet. He was struck only once, but the darkies about him were not so fortunate. Some of these had their Sunday clothes ruined, while others suffered with cut heads. Several shop windows were smashed and other damage done. The police broke up the fight and arrested several ringleaders. (New York Sun.)

MISCELLANEOUS.

DECLARED A DRAW.

AKRON, O., Feb. 28.—News has reached here of a bloody prize fight which occurred in Northampton township, six miles north of this city, under very peculiar circumstances. Vincent Limer, aged 20, the son of a prosperous farmer of Northampton, and Harry Simmons, aged 21, are suitors for the hand of the same girl. They could come to no satisfactory agreement on this point and decided to leave the result to a trial of physical strength in the prize ring. No gloves were used, the fight was to be to a finish under Marquis of Queensberry rules, and the men were evenly matched. Forty-two stubbornly-contested rounds were fought. It was a game fight from beginning to close, and neither man at any time seemed to have a decided advantage. In the 42nd round both men were tired out and could scarcely stand. Their seconds pulled them apart and the fight was declared a draw. Both principals were terribly punished. In the meantime the question to have been settled by the fight is still undecided.

BASEBALL.

INTERNATIONAL PROSPECTS.

DETROIT, Feb. 28.—Affairs in the International League are very quiet just now, but developments are looked for soon. "We can count on six clubs, sure," said President Mills. "In addition to the four left, Saginaw and Montreal want to be in the league, and they will be in. Secretary White knows Troy, and writes that the prospects are flattering. Thus but one more city is needed." When asked what he thought of the scheme for the league to support a club in Buffalo, President Mills said he was not much in favor of it. The subject had been mentioned before, but no decision made.

Mike Morrison, Hamilton's old pitcher, has signed with Syracuse.

President Nick Young says that an offer of $250,000 for the National League might be worthy of consideration.

Dr. Sippi Before the Public Accounts Committee.

He is Complimented by a Member of the Opposition.

Hon. Mr. Drury's Challenge—Nine Government Measures Passed the Third Reading.

Toronto, Thursday, Feb. 27.

In the House to-day Hon. Mr. Drury rose to a question of privilege. He pointed out that he had been misrepresented in one of the morning papers (the Empire). He was represented as having attacked the Ottawa Experimental Farm and the way it was managed by Mr. Drury.

He said that he had done nothing of the kind. It was true that he had referred to the large expenditure in connection with it, but he had never said that the money had not been well expended. On the contrary, he had spoken very highly of the institution, and had spoken of it as a model of efficiency.

He desired to place himself right before the House. If the farm at Ottawa was open to criticism, he would be glad to hear of it. He desired to place himself right before the House. If the farm at Ottawa was open to criticism, he would be glad to hear of it.

Among the bills read a first time to-day was the following: To amend the act to change the name of the Sarnia Gas Company and to amend a by-law of the said town—Mr. Mackenzie.

The following Government measures passed the second reading: To regulate mining operations; to amend the law respecting the lease and sale of settled estates; to further amend the act to secure to wives and children the benefit of life insurance; respecting official documents required as evidence; to correct a clerical error in the act to make further provision respecting the districts of Parry Sound and Muskoka; with respect to the power of commissioners for taking affidavits; to provide for the appointment of judges in the provisional judicial districts; respecting aid to the Toronto University—Mr. Ross (Middlesex); to amend the Sarnia Mining Act, to provide for security for costs in certain action against justices of the peace.

On the Attorney-General's bill for expediting the decision of constitutional and other questions Mr. Meredith endeavored to make it appear that the Attorney-General had not achieved a victory in his contention with the Dominion Government. Hon. Mr. Hardy reminded him of the Streams Bill and the McCarthy Bill, and said that the contention of the Opposition in the House that the Legislature had no jurisdiction over the question of the Streams Bill. Mr. Meredith's amendment was rejected.

storekeeper without an assistant would be sufficient at the asylum, in spite of the fact that the institution had a population of about 1,200.

Dr. Sippi stated positively that the work could not be done by one man, though he admitted that Mr. Mackenzie, the storekeeper proper, was not, he understood, always on hand. At the same time he had never found any work in the department of the system of the checking in vogue at the asylum, and said the only weak point was the difficulty of getting up the general store in the usual manner. He admitted that it was difficult to find a system that would work well. There was a discussion as to the large account expended on hardware for the London Asylum, and Dr. Sippi explained that it was partly necessitated by the constant repairs that are needed to the buildings, which were in poor condition compared with those of other asylums. It was also occasioned in part during the past year by improvements made in the kitchen, the expense of which had been borne by the institution and not charged to the Public Works Department.

When the examination concluded a very unusual thing happened. Mr. Craig, one of the Opposition members of the committee, and who had done his share of the cross-questioning, congratulated the witness upon the manner in which he had stood the examination and the fairness and honesty with which he had endeavored to furnish the information desired by the committee.

THE PRINCETON MURDER

How Two Men Became Suspects—The Body Buried—The Inquest.

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 28.—The Princeton murder is still the chief subject of conversation in this neighborhood. There is not the slightest clue as to the identity of the victim. At the inquest evidence was furnished relative to the two men who were driving around in the neighborhood of the spot where the body was found on Wednesday night and Thursday morning. These were George Baker, of Woodstock, and his mother resides near Drumbo. They were up a number of people between Princeton, Drumbo and Woodstock, inquiring about the man who was killed.

Princeton caused many people to remark that if some deprecatory had not been committed already there probably would have been some sooner. It was so soon as he heard that he was suspected, placed himself in communication with the police, went down to Princeton and examined the dead body very carefully, and without exhibiting any nervousness.

The body of the unknown man was buried yesterday morning in the quiet little cemetery at Princeton. It was enclosed in a decent-looking casket, followed to the grave by a procession and interred with becoming ceremony.

The inquest John Habb, of the 2nd con., Elmheim, testified that on Tuesday night, after 6, he heard two pistol shots; they were faint shots; Mr. Shultz heard them and called out to him. "That was a queer shot," I said, "Yes; I saw two men moving up and down the concession, and finally they went west; could not recognize them, but I saw them go west." "That was a queer shot," I said, "Yes; I saw two men moving up and down the concession, and finally they went west; could not recognize them, but I saw them go west."

James Atkinson, hotel-keeper, Drumbo; Samuel Stodge, a Princeton hotel-keeper; and James Duke, hotel-keeper, testified to the fact of two men named Robert Col. well and Baker having visited the hotel on Thursday. They had plenty of money and were drinking freely. They had a horse and buggy with them.

The inquest was adjourned to March 7. The testimony of Dr. Bond, who recognized the man as Oscar Scarf, of British Columbia, turns out to be inaccurate.

Detective Murray has made a discovery in the clothing that upsets the theory that the murder was committed while the man was undressed. A bullet hole was found through the lapel of the waterproof coat, showing, too, that the shot was fired at close range, as the cloth was singed.

From the bruises found upon the body it is evident that there was a scuffle before shooting. This discovery leads to the supposition that there were two men, and probably more, engaged in the crime.

Mr. T. C. Patterson told a friend Tuesday that two Englishmen, brothers, called at his place one Sunday about a month ago with a letter of introduction from friends in the old country. They had lunch and drove back to Woodstock, stating that they were going to Toronto. From a description of the clothing, Mr. Patterson is of the opinion that the murdered man is one of the two brothers. He did not view the body.

It is stated that when the stomach of the deceased was opened there was no trace of liquor.

THE RAILWAYS.

Earnings of the Grand Trunk and C. P. R.—A Station Indicator.

The capital of the new Union Pacific line to Galveston is $30,000,000.

The traffic earnings of the Grand Trunk Railway for the week ended Feb. 22 were $339,595, as compared with $327,228 in the corresponding week of last year; increase, $12,367.

The Canadian Pacific Railway's earnings and expenses for January, 1890, were: Gross earnings, $971,141; working expenses, $782,337; net profits, $188,804. In January, 1889, the net profits were $150,936. The earnings and expenses on the Southwestern Railway are not included.

The Grand Trunk Railway is adopting a novelty that all travelers will appreciate. This is a station indicator. In one end of the car is a box filled with cards containing the name of each station on the route. When a train starts out a card attached to a lever in the box is pulled and a card drops into view showing the name of the next station. Thus every passenger who is not blind may know the station the train is approaching without making any effort of inspection to interpret the enigmatical calls of the train men.

The Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad proposes to compete for eastern business from Duluth on a new route, to be constructed from the Ontario, from the Marquette; thence by the Green Bay, Winona and St. Peter to New London; thence to Manitowish; by the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western, and Lake Michigan by the Flint and Pere Marquette to Duluth on the Grand trunk, and from there to New York on the Lackawanna. The line is claimed to be almost an air line, distance by it to New York from Duluth about 1,200 miles.

The driver heeded the warning, and with the engine reversed and hard set brakes came to a stop within five rods of the obstacle. The sleigh stuck across the tracks, and during the attempt to dislodge it the draw bolt broke and the team ran away. Mr. McCann started after them leaving the sleigh and load as described.

We are doing considerable talk about Corsets just now, and not empty talk either. If you remember two years ago we opened with a large and attractive stock of Corsets, at that time chiefly Canadian manufacture. But we did not stop there; we have been watching closely the wants of the ladies. We sought foreign markets; we imported a full line of Genuine French Woven Corsets and the Celebrated C. myself, and I well remember her saying to me one day, after Winnie had left us to go upstairs for something. "Be careful, Paul, be careful, what you are doing remember that the world would scarcely be content to live in the darkness, after it had once known the radiance of the sun."

"Quite true, Aunt Hilda," I replied, "but why not always have the sun?"

"Because it may be beyond the compass of your powers, Paul," she said. "I knew to what she referred, and said, 'I see no reason Aunt Hilda, why I should not try and gain her love, except it be my unworthiness, and if she ever truly loves me she is good, and I think she will forgive me that.'

"There may be other reasons, Paul, of which you are not aware. Her mother when she died was a Roman Catholic; her father is one now, and Winnie has always been taught that it is to be her religion also."

"But, Aunt Hilda, how can that be any reason?"

"I have not finished yet, Paul. Her father is a pre-eminently selfish man, and invalid in very straitened circumstances, and undoubtedly wishes her to marry for wealth, and Winnie is not the sort of girl for whom it will be difficult to find suitors."

"But, Aunt Hilda, I shall not always be poor. You think that because my picture was rejected that I am forever a failure. It is not so, it is anything but that. Why it was presumption for me to send it in, and I could expect nothing but failure. I would have won it in another year, but I will win it yet if I have to work night and day to do so."

"No, Paul, you do not understand me; there is no one believes you more firmly than I do, yet it may be I am wrong; in any case, I see it is too late to warn you now."

"We remained silent for some time, until at length Winnie came in again, and I retired to my studio to work upon my sketches."

"It was not long after this that Winnie and I went out one afternoon sketching together. She had accompanied me upon several occasions, and of this afternoon of which I am speaking had begged so much to be allowed to go, that would have taken a much harder heart than Aunt Hilda's to refuse her. Ah, my friend, that afternoon is at this moment before my mind as if it were but yesterday. I remember how pretty she looked as she walked merrily along, every now and again springing up the grassy bank that skirted the road to pick wild flowers or some bright leaf, which her quick eye had seen in passing. It was from one of these excursions, that she returned holding a daisy in her hand, and calling upon me to wait. I did so, and when she had overtaken me and regained her breath, she began:

"Mr. Arrall, I want you to promise that you will do something for me; you will promise, won't you? Please do?"

"Winnie," I replied, "I wish you wouldn't call me Mr. Arrall; I don't like to be called that by any one, and especially by you. I would rather you would call me Paul; won't you call me Paul, Winnie?"

A man who is fit to have charge of dairy cows never "breaks" an untaught heifer to milk—he trains her. LONDON AND PRECINCTS.

I've lost my heart—an old, old tale.

It's been a romance ever.

But if this new love does not grow

Sh'e such a nice—a winning sprite—Coquette! Ah, well, may be

And I shall soon—youth love her sure—

They call her Booties' Baby.

She has a smile like springtime sun,

A laugh like sweet birds singing;

She trips along as does the May.

Who comes, the summer bringing,

Her eyes are bright, like dancing light,

Her cheeks are velvet pasties;

Her sweet lips part, you know your heart,

As Adele's, may be.

Perhaps 'tis so—I want her, though,

To be just Booties' Baby.

The paper which goes into the houses and Frank Tucker at the Grand.

"Uncle Joshua Whitcomb" was very creditably put on the boards at the Grand Opera House last evening by Frank Tucker appearing again this evening in "Hearts of Oak." Mr. Frank Tucker himself played

"Uncle John," the New England farmer, in the substantial style which has been the secret of his success. The eccentricities of "Josh" were much enjoyed by the audience. Miss Nellie Thompson, leading lady of the company, took the part of "Fot," and—as on previous evening—won the admiration of the entire house. She is an actress of genuine talent. Miss Jennie Platt sang very nicely two or three selections during the evening. The parts of "Cy Prime," "Nellie Primrose" and

"Reuben" were much better than the average, while "Aunt Tilda" by Ethel Tucker could scarcely have been better. For a pleasant evening at an extremely low expenditure the Tucker company is to be considered. The combination's own orchestra, as before, received considerable applause for its selections.
