

WEST LONDON HURLS ATTACK ON ADVERTISER BY MAYOR AND FREE PRESS BACK INTO THEIR FACES

Newspaper and Mayoral Opponents of Breakwater Launch a Boomerang—Offensive Articles Quickly Withdrawn After Sentiment Is Aroused.

PROGRESSIVES AND OTHER RESIDENTS QUICK TO PRAISE THE ADVERTISER

For some time The Advertiser has sought to bring before citizens what it regarded as one of the first needs of the city—adequate breakwater protection for West London. Interviews with citizens—genuine interviews—have been the basis for the agitation.

PRESENT BREAKWATER INADEQUATE.

Recently an article was printed in which the statement was made by a well-known scientific man that in case of cloudburst or any unusual occurrence to cause the River Thames to rise abnormally, the earthen breakwater would not provide protection. West London has had one experience with floods that will never be effaced from the memory of its residents, and every resident feels that his home should be protected, and is ready to pay for it.

BOTH WAR AGAINST THE BREAKWATER.

Mayor Graham, whose attitude toward the breakwater proposal is well known to West Londoners and the Free Press, which is willing to sacrifice any needful work on the altar of electrification, Wednesday night attempted to discredit The Advertiser in the eyes of West Londoners by minimizing the situation and endeavoring to prove that The Advertiser sought to injure West London. It is worthy of note that after Free Press reporters had learned the sentiment in West London in the matter the articles were taken out of the morning edition of the paper. The interviews and statements accompanying will show the feeling of West London in the matter.

SLANDERS OF THE FREE PRESS BRING SHARP REBUKES AT MEETING OF PROGRESSIVES

A Free Press Reader for Twenty Years Says The Advertiser Has Done West London More Good Than Any Other Agency.

Following an article in which The Advertiser was violently attacked by the Free Press on Wednesday evening, the members of the West London Progressive Association, at the meeting held the same evening, accused the Free Press of attempting to make a political issue out of the endeavors of The Advertiser to obtain a permanent protection for that section of the city from floods.

Mr. A. E. Pocock, secretary of the organization, brought the attention of the meeting to the articles in the Free Press of Wednesday evening.

"I would like to ask the residents of West London who are present tonight what they think of these articles," he said. "The Advertiser has been frequently commended by this association for the work they have done towards the securing of a breakwater, yet the Free Press accuses its contemporary of attacking and doing harm to West London."

"A Scurrilous Criticism." "Such an article I class as a scurrilous criticism, and I think the Free Press is attempting to make a political issue out of the endeavors of The Advertiser. The assertions made in the Free Press this evening are entirely foreign to the intentions of The Advertiser."

"There is no doubt," he continued, "but what The Advertiser has done a lot of good for West London during the agitation for a permanent protection against floods. Property in West London was never in better shape than at the present time, and this is due to the fact that we are hopeful of obtaining a breakwater, but it is impossible to obtain a loan on West London property at present from any of the banks because of the danger of a flood.

"Despite the vain attempts of a Free Press representative present at the meeting to belittle Mr. Pocock's statements, the members of the association, with the exception of the Free Press, Mr. Pudney, agreed with the speaker. On several occasions when the Free Press was being criticised the chairman attempted to apply the gag, but was unsuccessful."

"What a F. P. Reader Said." Mr. Churchill said that he had been a reader of the Free Press for nearly twenty years, but that that paper had not done much for West London. "The Advertiser has done more good for West London than our Progressive Association, the city council and the Free Press combined. It would be a good thing if the residents of West London would boycott the Free Press because of its actions."

The chairman again applied the gag, and at his suggestion the stand of the two newspapers was dropped from the discussion.

GOOD, NOT HARM, BEING DONE FOR WEST LONDON

The Advertiser's Efforts to Secure Breakwater Commended by Many Prominent Residents of District.

Residents and ratepayers of West London do not appreciate the attack made by the Free Press on the efforts of The London Advertiser to show the people of the city the absolute necessity of a permanent and safe breakwater to protect the homes and lives of residents of that section.

A canvas of ratepayers and residents of West London was made by an Advertiser representative, the citizens being selected indiscriminately, and in every case they said that they appreciated the efforts on behalf of The Advertiser made for West London. They pointed out that property values were never higher than they are at present in West London, but that they could not receive proper value for their property on account of the insecure feeling of residents over the condition of the breakwater.

Following is what some of the people had to say:

"Showed the Crying Need."

Mr. D. Gilmour—"I certainly do not think The Advertiser has been hurting West London or had any intention of doing so. It simply showed the crying need of a permanent breakwater for this section, and that is what we need to do. West London must have a permanent breakwater, and I think The Advertiser has been doing all it can to get one for us."

"Unfair and Uncalled For."

Mr. W. V. Charlton—"I certainly do not think The Advertiser has been hurting West London. Rather do I think it has been doing a lot for us. Wednesday night, and I certainly think that it was unfair and uncalled for. We need a breakwater to protect our lives over here, and until we get one property will not advance to its proper value."

Foreign to the Sentiment.

Mr. E. A. Pocock—"I think the attack in the Free Press was quite uncalled for, and foreign to the sentiment of ratepayers and residents of West London. The Advertiser has done all in its power to show the people the crying need of a permanent breakwater, and instead of being censured it should be commended."

"We Need a Breakwater." Mr. John A. Glen, 13 Blackfriars street—"We need a breakwater very much over here, and The Advertiser has been doing a lot towards securing one for us. I read the article in The Advertiser, to which the Free Press took exception, and I think it was very truthful. We certainly need a breakwater to build London West up."

Pay No Attention to It. Mr. George Finnigan—"I surely think The Advertiser has been doing a lot for West London. We need a breakwater badly, and you can rest assured that the people of West London will pay no attention to the attack of the Free Press."

Keep It in the Limelight. Mr. R. Collins, ice dealer—"I think the more you can keep the condition of the breakwater in the limelight the better chance we will have of getting a permanent and safe one. I certainly do not think The Advertiser is doing any harm to West London."

"Doing All in Its Power." Mr. George Churchill, builder and contractor, 194 Wharfedale road—"I do not think The Advertiser is trying to harm West London. As far as I can see The Advertiser is doing all in its power for West London. At the last meeting of the West London Progressive Association I suggested that if the Free Press did not do a little more for us that we stop reading it, but they never published it."

"Nothing Less Than Criminal." Mr. Erward Cushing—"In my opinion it is nothing less than criminal to allow the breakwater to stay in the condition that it is. I can't see why the people cannot understand. Building will not go on in West London until we get a permanent and safe breakwater. Until we do we will have to invest our money some place else. I certainly do not think The Advertiser has been harming West London."

HO! FOR BRANTFORD!

The London motorcycle fleet will embark Sunday for Brantford, 60 or 70 strong, where arrangements are to be completed for the big meeting of Ontario riders in May. At the present time there are nearly a hundred riders in London, and various outings for the summer are being arranged. The Sunday spin to Brantford will be the first big run of the season.

40 AUDITORS FOR THE BANKS

Chosen Yearly by General Managers, Subject to Minister's Approval.

MR. WHITE'S PROPOSAL

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 8.—Finance Minister White today outlined his plan for bank auditing to the banking committee. The general managers of the bank would annually select 40 persons qualified to act as auditors and the names would be submitted to the minister for approval.

The proposal was adopted, subject to its being discussed later in the House. The bill was then reported.

BYLAWS CARRIED.

Calgary, May 8.—The ratepayers approved five bylaws at a special election yesterday, totalling $876,160, and including the sunk sewers $527,600, street railway equipment and extensions $250,000.

BIG CONCERN OF PITTSBURG IS LOOKING OVER LONDON

Representative Seeking Suitable Location for Branch Factory in Canada, and Is Favorably Impressed With Conditions in the Forest City.

The representative of a large Pittsburgh concern came to The Advertiser this morning to secure information as to the location of people who own their own homes. "His company is desirous of securing a suitable location, as at the present time it does in the neighborhood of $100,000 business yearly in Canada, and believes it can greatly increase the amount and save duty by having a plant on this side of the line."

The gentleman was introduced to a number of prominent businessmen, who gave him a large amount of encouraging information regarding his line of business, and impressed upon him that for labor conditions such as he desired, London could not be equalled in Ontario. They were confident that he could not secure a better location, and that his firm would not find better transportation facilities any place in the country.

Not Seeking Favors. "We are not looking for favors of any kind," said the representative. "We are prepared to pay our way, and we have ample capital and would not ask for local contributions. I have been looking over other places, and

Chimney Spark Fires Y. W. C. A. Building

Fire, supposed to have been caused by a spark from the chimney, did about $50 damage to the roof of Rev. E. Appleby's residence, 881 Dundas street, shortly before noon today. The shingles were dry after the warm sunshine of the last few days, and the roof was burning merrily when the men arrived. It was necessary to lay a line of hose to extinguish the blaze.

NAVY OIL CONTRACTS.

[Canadian Press.] London, May 8.—The Times warns the Government that very circumstantial and detailed rumors are being spread with regard to oil contracts for the navy. It adds that allegations are being made of personal connections on the part of the ministers and other prominent persons with would-be contractors.

WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT IS RETARDED BY FRIEDMAN

President of National Association Scores Alleged Cure as a Adverse Factor in the Real Work That Is Being Done to Wipe Out Tuberculosis.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 8.—"One of the adverse factors that are retarding the prevention of the white plague," was the characterization applied to Dr. F. Friedman's tuberculosis vaccine by President Homer Folks in his opening address today at the meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. "Nothing like the series of events," said the speaker, "when making the announcement of the Friedman cure in Berlin, has hitherto occurred in the tuberculosis campaign. Only those who have been engaged from day to

Ottawa, Ont., May 8.—A big deputation, representing shareholders and depositors in the late Farmers' Bank, came to Ottawa today and presented their demands to Finance Minister White and Premier Borden.

They declared that they were entitled to reimbursement, and that they had been promised by Hon. Mr. Crothers that their loss would be made good. Hon. Mr. White stated that the question was one which involved many difficulties, but that every attention and consideration would be given to the request.

CHARGED WITH STEALING AUTO

Two Are Said to Have Taken the Machine From a Local Garage.

ASK FOR A JURY TRIAL

Peter Belcher, a chauffeur, employed at the Mitchell garage, and Ernest Hay, a companion, were charged in the police court this morning with stealing a Colby automobile, valued at $2,600, from the former's employer on the night of May 6.

The jury was by jury on this charge, and a second charge of unlawfully taking a car from a garage with intent to operate it without the consent of the owner, was registered against them. The latter charge admits only of summary hearing, and the men pleaded not guilty to it.

Crown Attorney McKillop is undecided as to which charge to press, and is waiting for more information. In order to get this he asked for an adjournment and the young men were remanded until Saturday. The men are alleged to have taken the car from the garage on Tuesday night, and to have driven to Pottersburg, thence to the road from there to St. Thomas. Mr. F. G. Mitchell, the owner, claims that about $150 damage was done to it.

The police were notified by him on Wednesday of the alleged theft, and word was sent out to the police of this section of the country, asking them to be on the watch for the men. It occurred, they were captured in St. Thomas Wednesday afternoon.

Costs $125,000,000.

The moral reform committee of the Methodist Church in Canada estimated that the sum of $125,000,000 was paid out in social vice. While concerted work against the traffic was being done by the church, the report stated, the organization was better suited for the work than the National Council of Women with its 125,000 members, because women could be restricted to a vice area and men could range at large. It was necessary that the latter should be punished more severely than women.

The men spread the diseases contingent on the traffic and doctors had proved that 60 per cent. of the operations performed on respectable women in the hospitals were the result of this class of trouble.

All over Canada, in the cities and the villages, the report continued, there were palpable evidences of the operation of the traffic and spread of disease. As a practical suggestion for combating the vice, Mrs. Gordon's report stated that a careful investigation of the condition under which the women lived must be made and honest work provided for them, because it was known that parents and environment were largely responsible for vice conditions. The church should do something to vary the monotony of village life for girls.

In the cities employment bureaus should be established and conducted in such a manner that girls coming in from the country would not fall into the hands of panders when they sought work.

Watch Stations. The railway stations and docks should also be carefully watched, and the operations of white slavers there checked.

Mrs. Stead presented the report of the committee on feeble-minded. It said there were now six thousand in Ontario alone, and the numbers were increasing. Remedies recommended by the report were prevention of the marriage of the feeble-minded, medical and psychological clinics, Government institutions for the permanent care of mental defectives, stricter immigration laws and school classes for backward children.

Graham Flour Must Be Labelled Properly

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 8.—Having learned that many so-called "graham flours" on the market contain the sweepings from the mill, and that they often contain "red dog," the lowest grade of flour produced, as well as bran and other by-products, the United States bureau of chemistry has defined true graham flour as "unbolted wheat meal made from sound, clean, fully matured, air-dried wheat." This is the result of an extensive investigation just completed.

The bureau holds that mixtures should be labelled "imitation graham flour." This distinction is not compelled by pure food decision, but is advised by the bureau of chemistry "to maintain the integrity of the trade."

GORED BY BULL.

[Canadian Press.] Agassiz, N. C., May 8.—James R. Bean, a prominent farmer, who was fatally gored by a Holstein bull, died last night.

STEAMER WAS LOST.

[Canadian Press.] Valparaiso, May 8.—The Italian steamer Armando arrived today at Punta Arenas, with the captain and crew of the Norwegian bark Brunel, which was totally lost, with her cargo of nitrate, on April 26, on the Pasture Peninsula, while on her way to the English Channel.

WHITE SLAVERS BUSY IN CANADA

Moral Impurity Steadily Growing, Mrs. Gordon Tells National Council.

Urges Employment Bureaus in Cities, and Watching of Stations.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, May 8.—The prevention of the traffic in women was the principal subject discussed at today's session of the convention of the National Council of Women being held in St. James' Methodist Church.

Mrs. Asa Gordon, of Ottawa, handled the report on equal moral standard and prevention of trafficking in women which showed that the operations of the white slavers had reached "appalling proportions and covered the whole of the Dominion."

On this continent it had been estimated there were 300,000 "girls and women of the night" and for every one of them there were ten men of a similar character.

As the life of the women was so short it required sixty thousand victims each year to supply the demand. Many of these victims came from Canadian homes. Moral impurity, she said, is growing in this country.

Regrets Slaughter of Estimates for Many Improvements

"We will have to get along as well as we can," said City Engineer W. Norman Ashplant today, referring to the wholesale slaughtering of the estimates of the engineering department and the board of works by the finance committee Wednesday, "but certainly we needed all we asked for to put the streets into proper shape, and new sewerage beds are badly needed at the sewerage farm. The entire underground drainage system is in a very bad condition."

OVER $5,000,000 DAMAGE CAUSED BY SUFFRAGETTES

Bishop of London Scores Attempt to Blow Up St. Paul's Cathedral.

Leaders Say a Campaign of Greater Violence Than Ever Will Be Waged.

[Canadian Press.] London, May 8.—The damage to property in the British Isles caused by the militant suffragettes during the past three months amounts to upwards of $5,000,000, according to the estimate made by the authorities at police headquarters in Scotland Yard.

To this sum they say must be added the increased cost of protecting lives and property. Three detectives have been assigned to watch over each member of the cabinet at all times, while all suspected persons are shadowed by plain clothes men, and all public buildings have been placed under special guard.

[Canadian Press.] London, May 7.—The Bishop of London, his voice betraying deep emotion, made a reference to the outrage at the Church Army service in St. Paul's Cathedral this evening—to the attempt made to wreck the cathedral with a bomb. It would be sheer want of gratitude, he said, if they did not first stand up after their thanks to God for taking care of his own cathedral against the machinations of the miscreant who tried to wreck it. We say in our way, in a human way, that it was only by accident that the lever of the bomb was turned by mistake to the right instead of to the left, or the chance would have been wrecked today, and, therefore, those who set themselves to do the devil's work often cannot do that right; but we ought to look away from that, to leave that to the judgment of God, and to render thanks to him for his over-ruling providence in saving the cathedral and preventing, perhaps, many innocent lives being sacrificed.

[Canadian Press.] London, May 8.—The militant section of the British suffragettes intends to inaugurate a campaign of greater violence than has hitherto been used in order to avenge the defeat of the woman's suffrage bill in the House of Commons on Tuesday night and the prosecution of the officials of the Women's Social and Political Union, the central militant organization. The more advanced members of the fighting sisterhood promise vast acts of violence in the last few days are to be eclipsed by worse things to come.

Notes for Women, the woman suffrage newspaper, edited by Mr. and Mrs. Petrick Lawrence, says in its latest number: "We see before the country a period of disorder such as has not been known for decades, perhaps for centuries. We see a prospect of violence being answered by violence in a terrible crescendo. We foresee the likelihood of crimes being sympathized with, if not condoned and approved by many of the most respected law-abiding members of the community."

A New Breakwater, Then? With the prospect of the West London permanent breakwater being built $2,500,000 inserted as the cost of repairing the old breakwater was chopped off. The board of works had intended this alternative plan to be available for repairs to the Front Street breakwater, but it went down before the finance committee.

Replanking of Oxford street bridge was out, the bridge accounts being reduced by $1,571. York street bridge will be replanked, as will Adelaide street bridge leading to Chelsea Green, the West London bridge suffering on account of antiquity, which transferred the Chelsea Green bridge to the city. All three bridges need replanking, as the members of the board of works present pointed out, but the finance committee were bent on economizing.

Mayor Opposes It. Street cleaning estimates cut to $12,000, $450 going off. The need of an additional filtering bed at the city sewerage farm was urged by Ald. Bennett. The amount of $8,000 was voted, and the sewerage is running into the river unfiltered. Mayor Graham could not see that the new bed was necessary. THE THORNE LETTER.

Mr. Thorne's letter is quite interesting, more as a piece of literature. The epistolary art is not dead among us. One may raise a pedantic objection to the slang, but the vigor, the easy vivacity, the human vein, the easy humor, show a man of lively intellect and a certain rich experience, expressing himself well in a familiar way. One would like to have Mr. Thorne as a regular correspondent.

It is absolutely clear from the tone of the letter that it was not, as the writer emphasizes, intended for any other eye than Mr. Maisonneville's. This lends piquancy as well as weight in the way of evidence. The somewhat cynical air of humorous detachment with which Mr. Thorne writes of our provincial lords and masters is immensely funny, except to Whitney, Hanna and Company themselves. With an amused disrespect he treats upon their toes of clay, and no wonder if they squeal with pain, rage and fear, so that the skies re-echo their un-biblical phrases, as Mr. Thorne would say. They are no gods to him; he knows them evidently too well. The impression of a sea-green incorruptibility in the Whitney regime, which has made many overlook its stupidity, would not seem to have been very strong in the mind of Mr. Thorne.

It is indeed a tantalizing feature of this letter, that while it reveals much, it suggests so much more unrevealed. A vast familiarity with the secrets of the prison-house, a breath-taking ease of movement among those sinister mysteries as everyday, commonplace realities to him, the repeated assurance to his discreet friend that he could further tale untold to the ear of flesh and blood, but that so eternal a blazon might not be committed to tell-tale paper, all this imparts an unusual interest to the epistle of Thorne to Maisonneville and invests its writer with some guise of a prophet of evil. We want to know more from this philosopher. If he would tell us all that he knows, would it not harrow up somebody's soul? But let the galled jade whine.

The letter is like a single flash of lightning, showing up dark places at night. Something is distinctly shown, something dimly hinted, something left to the imagination. There is depth, perspective, background, in the scenery of this document. Mr. Thorne knew some of Mr. Taylor's charges were true, he apparently believed that Mr. Hanna had done things that would cause his resignation. It is broadly suggested that the Taylor case is not isolated, but that this mode of doing business is characteristic of Mr. Hanna. Finally the references to Sir James himself are rather hazier, in need of a commentary.

Mr. Thorne is keeping a cipher diary of Ontario governmental affairs, he may have a posthumous glory equal to that of Peeps. But the present generation would like to read it. More flashes are desired from one so familiar, it appears, with the leading persons of our public drama.

THE STRENGTH OF TREATIES.

The action of the United States in giving special privileges to certain classes of its own shipping in violation of the terms of the treaty with Britain, has received a new interest by a later proposition before Congress to abrogate the treaty. The facts may be briefly summarized. Under an old treaty with the United States, Great Britain had certain interests in the Panama Isthmus. When the republic undertook the construction of the canal, in order to give the Government a free hand in controlling the territory involved in the scheme, it was thought advisable for the interests of all other nations to be surrendered. This was effected, so far as England was concerned, by the substitution of a new treaty for the old one. Under this, called the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, the empire surrendered all its rights. This was not done, however, without some equivalent. The equivalent secured was that all nations should be allowed the free use of the canal on equal terms.

As the canal neared completion, it was decided by the United States to give its coastwise shipping exemption from the tolls imposed on other nations. To this Britain objected as a violation of the treaty. The answer was that the term "all nations" in the treaty meant "all other nations." The exact wording of the treaty, as well as its history, renders this answer untenable. We are happy to say that the great majority of the best journals, and some of the best statesmen in the country, irrespective of politics, coincide in this view, and declare that the honor of the republic requires that it should be true to its engagements, even to its own injury. Now, the friends of the shipping interests are tacitly recognizing the soundness of this view by proposing that the treaty shall be abrogated.

But this does not improve the situation. To abrogate a treaty when the nation is not getting the best of the bargain is no more honorable than to violate it. The only honorable method is to submit the question at issue to arbitration. This Britain is willing to do, but so far the United States has not agreed.

The proposed plan of getting over the unsatisfactory portions of a treaty by abrogating it is proposed also in the case of the California alien land law. As it has been held that certain provisions of that law conflict with the treaty between Japan and the United States, a New York paper suggests that the treaty must give way, as it interferes with the rights of an individual state to make what laws it pleases for its own government; and that notice should be at once given Japan of its termination.

Foreign nations have always been embarrassed in making treaties with the United States, for the reason that in this latter country the Government has no power to conclude the arrangement. It can negotiate and draft a treaty that shall be acceptable to the other party, but that is all it can do. The Senate is the sole treaty-making power. If to this is to be added the further encumbrance that a treaty, even after it is made, can be abrogated by the republic at its own will, then our neighbors may find some difficulties cropping up in their diplomatic relations. But we are satisfied that this danger will not arise, and that the necessity of national good faith and honor will be recognized in the republic, as it is in Great Britain.

THE CASE NOT CLOSED.

The partisan majority of the Legislature has, of course, accepted the partisan report of the partisan majority of the privileges and elections committee. It has further abused its power by censuring Mr. Proudfoot for making the charges, cynically ignoring the fact that this course was forced upon him by the obstruction of the public accounts committee. Mr. Proudfoot hoped to bring out in that committee the evidence concerning the improper payment to Mr. Hanna, but every avenue of inquiry was blocked by the majority. The levying of specific charges was the only chance for investigation. Mr. Proudfoot courageously took the step. He asked for a royal commission of two judges, and was given the backed jury of the privileges and elections committee. As if the tyrannical suppression of evidence by that tribunal were not sufficiently a public scandal, the followers of Sir James Whitney in the House add insult to injury by abusing the man to whom they had denied justice and fair play.

The case is not ended. Mr. Proudfoot offers to resign his seat if he cannot sustain his charges before a royal commission. The Government will not accept his challenge, but the Proudfoot charges will continue to echo in the forum of public opinion. The public knows that Mr. Proudfoot has not had a square deal. A corner of the curtain has been lifted in spite of the Government. Mr. Hanna could have bared everything if he wished. Why did he not insist on a full disclosure? That question will plague him throughout his public life.

Against Mr. Proudfoot the Ontario Government loaded the dice and called the score.

Mr. Hanna has lost the reversion of the leadership. He is too shrewd not to know it.

The German navy throws no fright into the Borden Government comparable with the prospect of a general election.

Mr. Proudfoot would have merited a vote of censure and failed in his duty if he had refused to try to probe the Hanna-Taylor incident to the bottom.

Hon. T. W. Crothers has been chosen to speak with Mr. Borden at Toronto Arena, perhaps as a delicate compliment to the victims of the Farmers' Bank.

A good freight boat service at Port Stanley is not dependent upon electrification. Our local contemporary's effort to couple the two projects is altogether insincere.

The London Free Press seems to be under the impression that it was Mr. Rowell who demanded and received that $500 subscription from a Government contractor.

Mr. Borden will follow Sir Wilfrid Laurier's meeting in the Toronto Arena. But he will not be able to eclipse, or efface the greatest indoor political rally ever held in the Dominion.

J. J. [London Evening Standard.] A woman stated at a Hackney inquest that her husband's Christian name was James Jonathan or Jonathan James, she did not know which. "You see," she explained, "he was one of twins, and they got mixed up a bit."

IN THE MIDDLE OF THE GAME. [The Washington Herald.] "What's do matter wit' Jimmy?" "Aw, he feels disgraced for life." "How's dat?" "His mudder come out yesterday and took him home right off second base."

THE RACONTEUR. [Lippincott's Magazine.] He is so full of classic jest. That as he tells his tales to me, I feel as though I lay at rest. Beneath some spreading chestnut tree.

CANADIANS IMPROVING. [Ottawa Free Press.] Our thoughts have flowed in materialistic currents. Indeed, the man who showed any tendency to depart from these currents was generally regarded as an impossible visionary and dreamer.

If a man talked of music, or pictures, or poetry, or the thoughts of the masters in preference to the prices of real estate was more or less pitied, while he who chose an afternoon in the woods studying the wonders of nature in preference to watching a baseball or croquet game was utterly despised. It is not so long ago, even if that day has yet passed, when for a schoolboy to spend time learning a musical instrument was to have himself classed as a ninny and an effeminate.

But, thank goodness, those days are passing in Canada, as they are passing in the United States.

NATURE AND ART. [Galveston News.] As a general thing, when a woman gets it into her head that she has a perfect figure she wants to dress like the pictures in the corset ads.

THE SUBJECTION OF MAN. [Pittsburg Dispatch.] Why so much fuss over a husband promising in the marriage ceremony to obey his wife? Most of them do it without promising it.

A LOGICAL CURE. [Washington Post.] The venom of bees is now employed as a cure for opththmia. Nothing really opens a fellow's eyes like being well stung.

FAIRLY ACCURATE. [The Deliberator.] A woman of philanthropic tendencies was paying a visit to a lower east side school. She was particularly interested in a group of poor pupils and asked permission to question them.

"Children, which is the greatest of all virtues?" No one answered. "Now, think a little. What is it I am doing when I give up time and pleasure to come and talk with you for your own good?" A girly hand went up in the rear of the room.

"Please, m'm'am, you're a buttin' in."

WILL POWER. [Athens Globe.] Don't brag too much on your great will power; a setting hen is similarly equipped.

TERRIBLE PREDICAMENT. [Life.] "Here's a funny advertisement in the paper—'Wanted—a girl in a slinkin's store, partly outside and partly behind the counter.'"

"If the boss ever shut the door she'd lose her position."

THE FIVE GREAT RACES. [The Sketch.] Chinese students, like other foreigners, are anxious to master the English language, and sometimes make ludicrous mistakes. Bishop Montgomery, at a recent anniversary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, gave some examples of answers given by students to examination questions.

When asked, "What are the five great races of mankind?" a Chinese student gave the following answer: "The hundred yards, the hurdles, the quarter-mile, the mile, and the three miles."

JUDGING A MAN BY HIS CLOTHES. [Judge.] "What a mistake it is to judge men by their clothes!"

"Yes, I know a self-made millionaire who dresses as well as the clerks in his establishment."

DOUBT. [Judge.] Backer: "Congratulations me, old man! My best girl has just accepted me over the telephone!"

Candidate: "Are you sure she understood what you were saying?"

THE OTHER LADY. [London Sketch.] The Boy: "Quick! Bring a hush-bun-ance down to Paradise Court!" The P. C.: "What for?" The Boy: "Mrs. Murphy caught another lady sneakin' 'er broom."

LIKE ALL THE REST OF US. [Boston Record.] "I never say I will speak at a public gathering," said one of the wittiest after-dinner speakers in Boston, "without lying awake the night before, wondering what kind of a damned fool I'm going to make myself. Then I lie in bed and next night wondering what a damned fool I have made of myself."

PROOF. [Judge.] "Father, my watch is mentally deranged." "Why, my son, a watch can't be mentally deranged!" "Mine is. The jeweler told me today it had lost its balance."

NO FIGHTER. [Cleveland Plaindealer.] "I don't like that disagreeable Mrs. Parker." "I thought she was very pleasant. What's happened?" "We punched together down town today. She said she'd pay, and of course, I mumbled 'Let me'—and she said 'Very well.'"

BADLY ULCERATED LEG Zam-Buk Cured Her When So Bad She Had to Use Crutches.

For varicose sores, bad leg, or chronic ulcers, Zam-Buk is without equal as a healer. A proof of this is just to hand from Montreal. Mrs. T. Edwards, of age 40, had a sore broke out on my left leg near the ankle. For a week or two I did not heed it, but it got so bad that I could hardly walk. I sent for our doctor, and he told me that I would have to lay up with the wound. I did so for three weeks. At the end of that time the ulcer healed a little, but I could only move about by using crutches.

"The sore then broke out badly, and the doctor told me that the only thing that would cure it would be an operation, and that I should have to lay up for a year. This, I knew, was impossible, as I had a family to attend to."

"My son had cured a bad cut on his finger by using Zam-Buk, and he advised me to give this balm a trial. I did so, and in less than a week's time it gave me wonderful relief. It stopped the pain, which had been so bad that I could not sleep. In a very short time the wound was so much better that I had no more sleepless nights, and was also able to move about and do my work. I persevered with Zam-Buk with the result that the wound is now perfectly cured, and the limb is as sound and strong as ever. To any person suffering from ulcerated sores I would say, 'try Zam-Buk.'"

Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, abscesses, boils, scalp sores, blood poison, festering wounds, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, eczema, eruptions, and all other skin injuries and diseases. All drugists and stores 50c box, or Zam-Buk Company, Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

deal with the general proposition of today for the final fray over the point of order, but the result, in view of the large Democratic majority, was a foregone conclusion. Meantime the Democratic leaders in the Senate were preparing for the consideration of the bill there.

There is talk among the House leaders of taking a recess, about 30 days, during the Senate consideration of the tariff. While there have been individual conferences on the subject, the fact that the President has not yet communicated his views regarding the question of currency legislation at this or the regular session of Congress, has precluded any formal consideration so far as to what the House shall do when it disposes of the tariff.

Increase Problem. The manufacturers contend that if the President is given power to negotiate concessions in tariff rates, he also is empowered to negotiate increases, if they are warranted.

Delayed in its passage last night by a parliamentary technicality, the Underwood tariff bill was engrossed today for presentation to the House at its hour of meeting, 1 p.m.

Because of the Democratic insistence on a point of order against the Republican motion to recommit the bill to the ways and means committee, with a view to forcing a tariff commission provision, the reading of the bill in its engrossed form was made necessary.

The Final Move. The parliamentary tacticians of both the majority and the minority prepared

KATHERINE LESLIES HOME CHAT

CLEANING POINTS FROM A PRACTICAL HOUSEKEEPER.

All the year round the cleaning of furniture is an important household detail, says the practical housekeeper. Tapestries and coverings may be cleaned with warm bran, although an upholster has assured me that there is nothing so good as rubbing the material well with stale bread. The vacuum cleaner has also its merits, and there are new methods of dry cleaning, which may be applied to furniture without taking it to pieces. This, however, is very expensive, although quite satisfactory as to results.

Many old fashioned housewives are afraid to touch their polished wood with a wet cloth, and this is a great mistake, though, of course, woodwork should never be left damp. When doing out the rooms in spring the furniture should be washed with soap and water to remove dirt and grease, but it must then, of course, be carefully dried, and last of all, it should be polished with any of the reliable furniture polishes, or a well-tested home variety.

Pillows may be washed at home instead of being sent out to be cleaned, and in the country, or where there are conveniences for drying in the open air, the result, from a hygienic standpoint will be much more satisfactory if they are washed with soap and water and dried in the fresh air than if they are dry cleaned. Nearly all a large clothes boiler with water, dissolve in it plenty of good soap powder, and if necessary add a tablespoonful of ammonia. When the water is nearly tepid put in one or two pillows according to the capacity of the boiler, and let them boil for twenty minutes. Then have ready a large tub with quantities of clean hot water, and plunge the pillows into this small pair of towels will be found excellent for lifting the pillows out of the boiler—sousing up and down to remove all soap. Next in a fresh tub of tepid water repeat the sousing process. When the pillows are clean press as much water out of them as possible and hang them on the clothes line to dry. Choose a sunny, breezy day for this, and while the pillows are drying keep punching them and shaking them as often as possible.

A down quilt may also be quite successfully washed in this way, but it does not require to be boiled if plenty of good soapy water is used. Indeed unless the pillows are very soiled the boiling may be dispensed with, but when dirty the boiling process is more thorough.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

Peanut Brittle Recipe.
Dear Cynthia Grey.—Will you please print in your corner a good simple recipe for peanut brittle? A. C. B.
A.—Peanut Brittle.—Boil together a cup each of brown sugar and molasses, a tablespoonful of butter, and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook without stirring until a little dropped into cold water is crisp. Add immediately a cup of freshly-roasted peanuts, shelled and skinned, and a teaspoon of baking soda. Beat quickly and pour into buttered tin.

What Shall She Do?
Dear Miss Grey.—I have known a very nice gentleman for some time, but he would like to become better acquainted with him, and don't know how, so I am asking your advice. I am sure you can help me out of my difficulty.
A.—Invite the young man to your home some time. You might arrange a little party and include him, or you might invite him to some social affair in connection with your church or your club.

A Popular Girl.
Dear Miss Grey.—I am going with a girl two years older than myself. This girl always seems to be friendly and nice when we are out, but goes with an awful lot of fellows. I have only known this girl for a short time, so do you think it would be proper for me to ask her to stop going with them? We are not engaged, and she does not go with the class of people I go with.
A.—It certainly would not be proper to ask the girl to stop going with another fellow as long as you are not engaged to her.

Has Told Her to Ask Him.
Dear Miss Grey.—Do you think it is correct for a girl to ask a boy to go anywhere with her when she has told him a great many times to ask him when she wants to go? There is also another I want your advice on. Should a girl assist her boy friend when he is putting on his overcoat?
A.—If the young man has extended the privilege it would be entirely proper for you to ask him to accompany you to places. Of course, this applies only to such things as will entail little or no expense to the young man. It is not considered good taste to assist a young man with his overcoat. He is able to get into his coat, isn't he?

Lost Color From Office Work.
Dear Miss Grey.—Since I have been working in an office I have lost my color. How can I get it back?
B. L. N.

A.—Anything that you do to improve your general condition will restore some of the color to your face. When it is possible for you to do so, walk to and from your office, or take as much of the journey on foot as you can take without fatigue. Avoid fried foods and many sweets, also such indigestible viands as pies, pork, etc. Eat an abundance of plain, nourishing food, take fruit as your first course at breakfast, and eat a cereal with milk or cream. For your luncheon eat slowly or some digestible article, "Boiling" a hard-boiled egg, slice of cake, washed down with some sweet liquid, will ruin any digestion except the kind owned by the ostrich. Take a rapid bath each day, followed by a sponge on your head and a vigorous rubbing with a rough towel. Sleep in a room with all the windows open. Keep all the functions of the body regular, and avoid drugs.

How to Clean a Refrigerator.
Dear Miss Grey.—What is the best thing after cleaning to put in refrigerator to absorb the odors? A. C. B.
A.—In cleaning your refrigerator or ice box use hot water and washing soda, adding ammonia freely. Scald out the inside of the box and be sure that the drain pipe is made clear by running boiling water through it, then washing with the brush that comes for this purpose. If your refrigerator is thus cleaned twice a week and allowed to cool before the food is returned to it there should be no odor about it. If you like you may put a lump of charcoal on each shelf of the ice box, as this is supposed to absorb any foul odors.

Always arrange to clean the refrigerator when the ice supply is almost exhausted and several hours before fresh ice is delivered. Thus you will have less loss from the melting of ice from the warmth in the ice box consequent upon the scalding to which it has been subjected.

A Boy of 27.
Dear Miss Grey.—I am 17 and in love with a boy of 27. He seems to love me very much, and tells me that he loves me better than any other girl. I tell him that I love him, but he doesn't believe me. He calls on me every Sunday afternoon. Do you think he really loves me? He doesn't allow me to mention any other boy's name. He seems to think that I care more for some one else than for him. What can I do to show him that I love him better than anyone else? I have been going with him four months. He has asked me to marry him. Would you take him now or wait a while?
A.—Yes, Foolish, you are too young. Wait a while yet. You know her girlhood days are the very happiest days a woman ever knows. Instead of trying to shorten them with the responsibilities of married life you should prolong them as much as possible. Don't think of marrying for three or four years, at least.

The Value of Rest.
Anxious.—You are surely burning the candle at both ends, to use a homely expression. It does not pay in the long run. Everyone can do better work, and more of it, if they get the proper amount of restful sleep. Try retiring at 11 o'clock sharp and rising at 7 for two weeks and see if you do not really feel better. You should be up at 12:30 at night. We always do our best work when we are not over-tired.

Going to Make Butter.
Dear Miss Grey.—I wonder could you help me as you have helped others.
I would like to start making my own butter, and would appreciate your kindness, if you could publish a good recipe, or tell me the name of a good book, wherein I could find same. Trusting you will publish your answer as early as possible. I am,

"INEXPERIENCED."

A.—I am sorry I cannot give you any instructions for making butter. I have made inquiry at the Public Library, and find there is a book entitled, "Milk and Its Products," by Henry H. Wing. This will give you all instructions for the making of butter.

When Baby Travels

When the baby goes travelling—and no consideration of distance or climate deters the up-to-date Canadian infant from accompanying its wandering parents—it should have a combination bag of the latest pattern. This so-called bag is a reinforced braided strip of rubber-lined moire of one-half by one-quarter yard dimensions, handstitched on the outside, and on the inner side having compartments for wash-cloth, sponge, absorbent cotton, gauze, talcum powder, ear-sponge, soap, brush, comb and vaseline. The soap, vaseline, and talcum powder are in ivory-finished pyroxylin cases the ear-sponge, brush and comb are of ivory-finish pyroxylin, and in addition to these toilet conveniences a sack lined with waterproof material runs the entire length of the case, which, when closed, has two inside flaps over the fittings and snap buttons which hold the front and back in position.

STYLE NOTES

Beautiful border designs are shown in the new summer materials, and foulards, voiles, dimities, lawns and Swisses all have taken upon themselves borders—wide or narrow. As a rule, these borders are charming, although it is not always easy for the uninspired dressmaker to use them successfully. Radium foulards have improved until at their best, their texture is marvelously light, supple and lustrous, and yet they are more practical than ever, uncrushable, spot-proof and serviceable. The prettiest things shown in this class of silks are the fancy designs—quaint floral effects in old-fashioned colors.

White silk and linen stockings show hand embroidery, and patterns are sold for stamping them. Satin stitch, outlining, chain stitch and seedling embroidery are effective when combined in carrying out these patterns—fine dross is preferable—whether the stockings be of silk or linen. It is hardly worth while to embroider on quality silk stockings, as the embroidery, to look well, must be well done, and so would outwear the stocking.

The jewelers are showing numerous beautiful designs in earrings, and among them there is a pair of small platinum formed of extremely fine wire in the shape of a knot, with elongated ends. The three loops of the bow at the top are set with pearls, and a large diamond is placed in the centre position of the knot. Where they join the bow, and gradually widen into a ring, are a row of pearls and a pearl drop form the termination.

Daily Healthogram

A woman is penny wise and pound foolish who shuts out the sunshine by pulling down the shades in order to prevent fading of her face. Faded cheeks are more to be feared than faded furniture. Let the sunlight in.

ROYALTY AT THE THEATRE.

The King and Queen of England are counted among the "good public" class at the theatre, laughing heartily at comedy, and following with interest the more tragic parts of the entertainment.

The czar and Czarina, in a somewhat more subdued fashion, exhibit attention all through to play and players. Kaiser Wilhelm essays the role of "unlighted spectator" criticising in technical terms, piece, actors, scenery, and all.

The aged Austrian Emperor has been among the most constant of crowned theatregoers. He loves a good play and has often saved a piece from failure by his hearty and kindly applause.

The kings of Servia and Roumania, on the other hand, are the most inattentive of royal onlookers in the playhouse.

King Peter drums with his fingers upon the front of his box, and looks utterly bored, except when some sprightly comedienne who amuses him appears. When the king of Roumania sees the curtain fall—if he has remained long enough—his face clears, as if he were thinking, "Thank goodness, that is over."

A GARDEN UNIFORM.

The woman who makes a business of gardening will find a regular uniform indispensable. This of course will be adapted to the individual needs. Some women have found the divided skirt plaited in such a way that this fact is not visible answers the purpose, but the amateur who may not care to go to this extent in her costume will find a short skirt of corduroy or denim worn with a loose blouse comfortable and convenient. A big apron of brown Holland which completely covers the dress will also be serviceable, this will be especially useful if made with large pockets which button to prevent the wearer from dropping the various articles carried in them.

To make brass articles like new, heat a little, then rub with hot salt and lemon juice.

To darn a rent in dark material, ravel out and use threads of the same instead of silk or cotton.

FOR THE GIRL WHO LIKES A SEPARATE BLOUSE.

For the girl who likes a separate blouse, the one illustrated is particularly pretty and really more artistic than a white one.

The skirt is of black satin caught up at the side most gracefully, and the blouse is of black crepe de chine with Bulgarian figures embroidered on it.

The vest is of white net, as are the ruffles about the neck and sleeves. Every occupation has its disagreeable side. You cannot reach success along any line without coming to hard places. Stead yourself to that fact and go on your way with a brave determination to do your best. Love your work. Take pride in it. Do not let yourself consider the idea that it is beneath you, that you are fitted for better things. The people who climb to the top of the ladder are not those who are eating their hearts out by dwelling on the difficulties of their surroundings. The successful one is he who is engrossed with his work, not with himself.

The Poets' Corner

RULE BRITANNIA.
When Britain first at heaven's command,
Arose from out the azure main,
This was the charter of her land,
And guardian angels sung the strain:
Rule Britannia! Britannia rules the waves!
Britons never shall be slaves.

The nations not so blest as thee
Must in their turn to tyrants fall,
Whilst thou shalt flourish great and free,
The dread and envy of them all.
Still more majestic shalt thou rise,
More dreadful from each foreign stroke;
As the loud blast that tears the skies,
Serves but to root thy native oak.

These haughty tyrants ne'er shall tame:
All their attempts to bend thee down
Will but arouse thy generous flame,
And work their woe and thy renown.

To thee belongs the rural reign;
Thy cities shall with commerce shine;
All things shall be the subject main,
And every shore it circles thine!
The muses, still with Freedom found,
Shall to thy happy coast repair;
Blest Isle, with matchless beauty crown'd,
And many hearts to guard the fair.
Rule Britannia! Britannia rules the waves!
Britons never shall be slaves!

—J. Thomson.

AN ALLEGORY.

Four flies, which have made their way into a certain pantry, determined to have a feast.

One flew to the sugar and ate heartily, but soon died, for the sugar was full of white lead.

The second chose the flour as his diet, but he fared no better, for the flour was loaded with plaster of paris.

The third sampled the syrup, but his six legs were presently raised in the air, for the syrup was colored with aniline dye.

The fourth fly seeing all his friends dead, determined to end his life also, and drank deeply of the fly-poison which he found in a convenient saucer.

He is still alive and in good health. That, too, was adulterated.

WITTICISMS.

No doubt a henpecked man feels bad even if he is not.

Wise men worry over a lot of things that fools never think of.

It is easier for a young lawyer to get practice than paying cases.

The mantle of charity is not synonymous with the cloak of friendship.

No men can serve two masters, and few women can master two servants.

When a woman trusts to her intuition, she likes to have it corroborated by gossip.

Whenever a man gets into trouble, he always complains that some one pushed him.

Bed in Summer

BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

In winter I get up at night
And dress by yellow candle-light
In summer quite the other way,
I have to go to bed by day.

I have to go to bed and see
The birds still hopping on the tree,
Or hear the grown-up people's feet
Still going past me in the street.

And does it not seem hard to you,
When all the sky is clear and blue,
And I should like so much to play,
To have to go to bed by day?

Want to Stop Snoring?

BY A PHYSICIAN.

The proverbial snorer is usually the object of amusement or disapproval, according to the temperament and good nature of those who occupy the same house with him.

"How can I cure myself of the snoring habit?" is frequently asked by readers of this paper. Most of these queries come from elderly persons whose habits of life are difficult to change.

There probably is no sure cure for such persons. But there are many small aids which if adopted early in life may help the growing generation.

SCOLDING won't help the offenders. But arousing them, when they are snoring, and getting them to sleep on their side, instead of their back, WILL HELP.

Preventing adenoids, preventing enlargement of the tonsils, keeping the nose space clear by preventing colds; sleeping in a cool room; eating light evening meals are all useful if instituted as habits when young and retained faithfully through life.

Vest Pocket Essays GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

BY GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Sivas."

Grand Rapids, Michigan, is a city of 112,000 people, situated on the Grand river, at a point where it falls 13 feet in one mile, making more noise in so doing than a fat man falling down ten flights of stairs.

Grand Rapids was founded about 55 years ago as a trading post and millinery station, but after wandering aimlessly along through the census returns for a few years, it found a real object in life. This object is apparent to anyone who visits the city, or who talks with a Grand Rapids resident for two minutes. Grand Rapids makes furniture for the United States.

Grand Rapids has been making more and more furniture until the Grand River is now lined with furniture factories, and the middle of the town is full of furniture exhibition buildings. Twice a year the furniture buyers of America come to Grand Rapids to pick out the latest styles in dining-room furniture and fine old mahogany beds. No American couple can marry successfully without the aid of Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids is situated in a valley two miles wide, and also runs up the hills on either side. After its people have grown rich in the factories along the river, they move over to the east side of the slope, and buy automobiles from Detroit.

Grand Rapids is a city of contrasts. It is surrounded by fruit orchards in such profusion that the Grand Rapids boy who has not hooked peaches is considered too good to live. However, Grand Rapids boys are above the average, thanks to the Grand Rapids Press, which conducts a combination newspaper and good boy factory, all under one immense roof. Grand Rapids boys have two ambitions—to become carriers for the Press, and to own a furniture factory.

Grand Rapids makes good use of its river. It runs factories and carries

Investigation Into New England Lines

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 7.—Oral arguments concluding the interstate commerce commission's investigation of the New England railroad situation—particularly the financial operations of the New York, New Haven and Hartford—were begun here today before the entire commission. Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, spoke for New England shippers, and Edgar J. Rich and Charles P. Cheate, of New York, were among the first to appear for the railroads.

Mr. Rich, speaking for the Boston and Maine, declared that if the road's service to the public was still unsatisfactory, it was because the public was expecting a better service than it was paying for, and that if the demands of the public were further to be satisfied, an increase in rates must follow. New Haven control of the Boston and Maine, he said, has not in any way diminished the resources of revenues of the latter.

Mr. Cheate said that while the commission's order called for an investigation of the New England railroad situation, it had investigated only the New Haven, Boston and Maine. Central, he declared, charged against the management of the New Haven found their origin in a "source bitter, partisan and unfair." His argument was a detailed review of the railroad's operations.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY HINTS

BY MRS. MAE MARTIN.

Ethel: I am glad you like my canthorax shampoo recipe.

Bertha: You ask why a woman in the twenties gets crows feet and wrinkles, and what to do about them. Well, wrinkles may cause loss of flesh and sagging of the skin, which is no longer filled out by flesh, but mostly they are caused by wear, deep thought, sorrowing or the habit of smiling. They can be quickly removed by using this stimulating vegetable cream, which can be made at home at very little cost, and will fill out the wrinkles, remove skin of minute spots and pimples. Get from your druggist one ounce of glycerine and dissolve it in half pint of cold water, adding two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir and let stand one day. Apply to wrinkled surface or entire face to prevent wrinkles, and leave through night. Then wash off and use more of the jelly cream as a massage. This treatment will remove the most obstinate wrinkles or finest crows feet, while toning the skin to a velvety texture. It is gentle and does not grow hair.

M. W.: Worry will not remove the fuzz from your chin. Get a small original package of delatone and with water mix into a paste enough of the powder to cover the hairy surface. Apply, and after two or three minutes rub off. The skin and the fuzz is gone. This is a harmless method, and does not discolor the skin. Be certain it is delatone you get.

Marg: Thick, glossy eyebrows add greatly to beauty. Get a small original package of pyrox and rub some on eyebrows frequently with forefinger. This produces the desired effect. To make eyelashes long, silky and curly, apply pyrox to the roots with thumb and forefinger. Be cautious and don't get any where near the eye.

Lucille: Face lotions or washes are to be preferred to ordinary face powders. Your yellow, dark and oily skin can be made white and more youthful if you will use this recipe: To a half-pint of water or witch hazel and two teaspoonfuls of glycerine add four ounces of spumax, let stand until cold. Apply to the face and neck with the palm of the hand and continue rubbing the skin where applied until dry. This is a beautifier that when used on a daily basis, gives it a velvety appearance.

Blanche: If your eyes feel tired and are dull and inflamed, you need an eye tonic. Dissolve an ounce of eyatons in a pint of water. One or two drops of this in each eye every day is all that is needed to strengthen your eyes and make them

Grace: Yours is only a spring complaint. At the first signs of warm weather, "spring fever," poor appetites, pale, yellow, pimply faces and drooping, overworked eyelids remind us of the urgent need of taking preventive measures to ward off sickness and give us energy and good health. No better tonic can be had than the good old-fashioned one made at home at once by dissolving one ounce of cardine (which you can obtain at any drug store) in one-half pint alcohol, adding four ounces sugar and hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before each meal will do wonders for those who feel "all gone" after the strain of winter, or who feel sick and yet don't know just what's the matter.

Dorothy: You can make a fine quinine hair tonic as follows: To one ounce of quinine add half pint of alcohol and half pint of cold water; let stand until the quinine is dissolved. Rub in well until absorbed. This will remove dandruff and itching scalp, relieve itching scalp, keep the scalp in healthy condition and promote the growth of hair. Use one ounce of quinine daily for one month. (See answer to Ada J.)

Ada J.: The best and cheapest shampoo I have ever used is made from pure, plain canthorax. Simply dissolve a teaspoonful of canthorax in a cup of hot water and stir well until all is dissolved; then proceed to shampoo by pouring it on the hair and rubbing well. This shampoo cleans the scalp, relieves itching and makes the hair soft and fluffy—and such a shampoo costs very little. (See answer to Dorothy for making a good hair tonic.)

Mrs. T.: It is true that exercising and dieting have brought about satisfactory results to many who considered themselves too fat, but if you are so situated that you cannot take exercise, and that dieting weakens you, I would advise you to try a simple mixture of parvotins in 1½ pints of hot water and shake well until dissolved. Strain when cold and it is then ready for use. Take a tablespoonful three times a day and just before meals. This is a harmless flesh reducer.

Steamer Follette Badly Disabled

[Canadian Press.]
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 8.—Everything went wrong for the steamer Follette yesterday. While towing the heavy keelboat, she became disabled, and she returned here for repairs. After looking through, and while attempting to make the docks, assisted by a tug, she ran her bow against the pier. The iron sheathing was torn off and her bow timbers broken.

Whitened, and appear to be working towards the point. There is a considerable mass of ice along the north shore, near Michipicoten.

LOOKS AS IF TAX RATE WOULD BE HIGHEST IN LONDON'S HISTORY

Strenuous Two Nights' Endeavors of the Finance Committee Cuts the Rate by 2½ Mills Only—Mayor Peevish Over Fire Chief's Estimates—Ald. Richter Advises Saving Money by Wiping Out Comfort Station.

Two nights' strenuous endeavor on the part of the finance committee has chopped approximately $61,000 off the estimates of the board of education. No. 3 committee, and the board of works. The original estimates would have required a tax rate a fraction above 28 mills. Now the rate stands at 26 mills, and the finance committee hopes to be able to bring it down still closer to 25 mills. It is generally agreed that in any case the rate will be the highest on record. In 1900 the rate was 24½ mills.

The industrial committee of the board of education Wednesday night voluntarily reduced being effected by cutting $300 of the supplies, $2,900 of the special equipment, and $1,100 off the furniture.

No. 3's Estimates.
In No. 3 committee estimates, the estimates for new fire hose were reduced from $1,400 to $300, and for the $2,500 automobile asked for the fire chief will be substituted a runabout, to cost about $750. Chairman Rose, of No. 3 committee, pointed out that the largest auto would carry a number of the firemen, the chemical extinguishers, and other light apparatus. Chairman Moore, of the finance committee, thought it would have to be cut out this year.

Mayor Graham suggested that the automobile might have been put with the debentures for the new auto fire truck.

"Yes, you might have put the two together like the storm water sewer and the West London breakwater. You see what was done with them," said Ald. Rose.

It was pointed out that at the present time Chief Aitken frequently arrives at fires when they are out. Ald. Ashplant, however, didn't think it necessary. Chief Aitken should go out on every fire, and he told the finance board about the methods of fire chiefs he had visited and particularly in his old London.

"If I Were Chief."
Mayor Graham also enlightened the board as to "What I would do if I were fire chief." London's mayor was especially displeased because Fire Chief Aitken submitted a supplementary list of estimates for extensions to the east side fire halls required for the protection of the new districts.

LONDON DELEGATES SEE PREVENTORIUM

Visit Institute for Little Patients Similar to One Planned for Byron.

HOW KIDDIES ARE CURED
The Advertiser's Special Correspondent to National Council Tells of Interesting Visit.

[Special Correspondent of The Advertiser.]
Montreal, May 8.—London delegates to the National Council of Women convention at Montreal paid an interesting visit to the Royal Edward Institute of the city following an automobile drive around the metropolis at the conclusion of a luncheon given by the Montreal Women's Club at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

The visit to this institute was fraught with special interest to the London ladies because of the phase of the work for tubercular children quite similar in nature to that which the Women's Sanatorium Aid of London are desirous of carrying on at the proposed preventorium at Byron.

The children's department at the Royal Edward Institute is situated on the second floor, and contains three rooms, one on all sides except one, to the fresh air and sunlight. Children from 5 to 15, are admitted to the institute, and in one of the breezy sections reserved for them, are taught daily lessons on the curriculum of the public schools. Adjoining is the sleeping room, where every afternoon the children enjoy a sleep, and just beyond, a delightfully clean little dining-room, where three meals daily are served to those attending. In cold weather they take their naps in "sleeping bags." All treatment is entirely free—the patients who are unable to pay for it.

Little Patients Improving.
This school for tubercular children in connection with the institute has been in operation only since the first of the year, but already the young patients are making marked progress.

One of the ladies in charge, Miss L. E. Barry, of Montreal, spoke most enthusiastically about the pleasure of noting thin cheeks fill out and additional weight

THE SOLAR PLEXUS A GREAT NERVE CENTRE

With the single exception of the brain itself, the solar plexus is the most important nerve centre in the human body.

Situated just back of the stomach and close to the spinal cord, the solar plexus supplies the motor nerves to the vital organs. Injury to or weakness of the solar plexus consequently means incapacity of the vital organs of the body. This explains why a blow which reaches the solar plexus means helplessness to the person receiving it.

These nerve centres all demand an enormous quantity of good, rich blood, and failing to get this, the nerve cells are starved and depleted, and fall to supply vital energy to the digestive and eliminating organs.

The wonderful success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in revitalizing and reconstructing the broken-down nervous system is due to the fact that it supplies nutrition to nerve cells through the medium of the blood stream.

Weakness of the stomach, failure of the liver and kidneys to filter the blood, inactivity of the bowels and feelings of fatigue and discouragement usually arise from an exhausted condition of the nervous system. The nerve centres, such as the solar plexus, have not the nerve force to work the machinery of the body.

The most natural treatment imaginable is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and its benefits are lasting, because it actually rebuilds the wasted and broken-down nerve cells.

SPILING STREETS WILL BE STOPPED

Ingersoll Council to Pass Stringent Regulations to Prevent Further Damage.

Deposit Will Be Taken in Future When Permits Are Issued.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ingersoll, May 8.—Heretofore considerable damage has been caused and disfigurement created by the moving of buildings in the town, and through the opening of streets for drains and various purposes.

There have been numerous instances where portions of cement sidewalks have been broken by the removal of buildings, and also damaged by limbs being cut off. Sometimes the damage, particularly to sidewalks, has been repaired, but not always. This has happened notwithstanding the fact that the parties to whom permits have been given to undertake the work have signed the customary agreement to leave streets, etc., in a satisfactory condition and to make good any damage.

Much Damage Done.
Recently considerable damage was caused by the moving of a building, and in the light of previous occurrences, this prompted the council to adopt some more drastic means of dealing with the corporation it has been decided to have the town clerk prepare a bylaw making it compulsory for the parties obtaining permits for work of the kinds mentioned to not only sign an agreement that they will make good any damage, but that they make a deposit as a guarantee.

Then, in the event of the contract not being fulfilled, the town will have the deposit to go on with the work. The bylaw is one that will be appreciated by the majority of citizens, as numerous complaints regarding the moving of buildings and the condition in which streets have been left after they have been opened, have been made.

Will Buy Team.
Full power to purchase a new team for fire purposes has been given the fire committee by the town council. The committee will also decide on the purchase of a new team for the fire engine.

Runabout Needed.
Ald. Spittal thought it essential that the fire chief should get to fires in time to direct the work of his men, and proposed that a Ford runabout should be purchased for his use. It might be bought for as low as $400.

Comfort Station Again.
Although No. 3 estimates were cut about $7,500, the comfort station plan for maintenance and completion was cut from $1,432 to $1,000.

"Pull it down and you will be money ahead," said Ald. Richter. Ald. Johnston moved that $400 be cut out of the finance board thought that two attendants should not be necessary. Mayor Graham suggested that some enterprising Greek be offered a show shine stand, and in return for the attendant would probably be appointed for the remainder of the year at a salary of $5 a week.

The cost and market was left in the balance, pending the submission of plans prepared by Building Inspector Piper.

being gained under the course at the institute.

Another department of work at the institute is the dispensary clinic, and its prevention.

The luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton was a most enjoyable affair, during which addresses were given by Mrs. Fortier, president of the Montreal Women's Club; Mrs. J. Owen-Phillips, of London, England, who, it will be remembered, spoke in London last year upon several occasions, and others.

Ex-Warden of Kent Buried at Blenheim

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Blenheim, May 8.—The funeral of John Vester, ex-warden of Kent, held this afternoon from the family residence on Communication road, to Evergreen Cemetery, was conducted by Rev. G. W. Dewey, assisted by Rev. J. J. Cousins.

Although he had been in poor health for some time, death resulted from a stroke.

He served in Harwich council for several years, and was always highly respected and popular for his splendid character. He was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church, and held office as a deacon, and was a wide circle of friends mourn his demise.

John Mitchel Is Customs Collector

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, D. C., May 8.—John Purroy Mitchel, Independent Democrat and president of the board of aldermen of New York city, has been nominated by President Wilson to succeed William Loeb, junior. This selection has been made to a contest in which New York state leaders of every wing of the party had taken a lively part for the last two months.

Candidates for the post, which pays $12,000 and carries with it the appointment of an army of employees in the country's largest customs house, were numerous from the start.

Manitell as King Lear.
Charles Lamb spoke of King Lear as an "unactable play," contending that the passions that tore the heart and mind of Lear were too mighty, too elemental, to be adequately portrayed by any human medium. They are like the tempest on the heath, too cataclysmal for stage representation. Few actors, even Shakespearean actors, essay the role, because of its psychological and physical difficulties.

Manitell has risen in late years to a high and deserved place in the Shakespearean drama, and his King Lear is a proof of his courage and his ability. His interpretation of the mind and mood of Lear showed intellectual insight. His acting was both delicate and virile, and he looked the part to perfection. His main defect was cautionary. Every word of such a play should be given its full value, but Mr. Manitell's voice was less clear than powerful. To those unfamiliar with the play, much of his acting, especially in the storm scene, was merely magnificent dumb show.

The company was the best Mr. Manitell has ever brought to the city. Miss Harper, who played Cordelia, is very young, pretty, and promising, but suffered by contrast with the experienced acting of Miss Reynolds and Miss Scott. Her voice is not so sweet as her presence. Mr. Hastings made an excellent Gloucester. Mr. Royce as Edmund, Mr. Leiber as Edgar, and Mr. Lindsley as the Fool, deserve a

National Association To Fight White Plague

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, D. C., May 8.—After attending numerous committee and division meetings, delegates to the ninth annual meeting of the National Association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis gathered today to listen to the report of their president, Homer Folks, and the report of the executive secretary, Dr. Livingston Farrand.

Preliminary business of the convention then was on the program for consideration. Later in the day meetings of the clinical, sociological and pathological sections were scheduled, and at night a conference of the advisory council. Physicians and others enlisted in the crusade against the white plague are present from all sections of the country. Former President Roosevelt and Sir Wilfrid Osler, of Oxford University, are honorary vice-presidents of the organization, which will be in session until tomorrow night.

SARNIA C. I. TEAM TO PLAY.

Sarnia, May 8.—The Sarnia Collegiate and the Yale Michigan High School team will clash in a fast game of ball tomorrow afternoon. Although the local boys defeated Marine City last Saturday, it is expected that the Yale boys will be a tougher proposition, and a stiff game is anticipated.

SHIPPERS AND ANXIOUS.
[Canadian Press.]
Duluth, Minn., May 8.—Captains report that there are several stretches of hard ice between the Duluth-Superior harbor and Two Harbors, and say the yaw compelled to run at greatly reduced speed.
Vessel owners and shippers are anxious,
as another wind coming down the lake would tie up the American head of the lakes.

To Protest Against Tariff Regulations

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, May 8.—The American Chamber of Commerce in Paris decided today to protest to Congress against the administration section of the tariff bill.

Modifications will be requested in certain paragraphs, particularly those relating to the establishment of market values on consignments of foreign manufacturers and examinations of books by Government officials. Objection will be made also to the provisions of the income tax as applied to American citizens residing abroad and to foreigners residing in the United States, and finally to the provisions relating to reciprocity treaties and the maximum and minimum clauses.

Patrick Quinlan Has
a Very Strong Defence

[Canadian Press.]
Paterson, N. J., May 8.—The prosecution had half a dozen more witnesses to call today at the trial of Patrick Quinlan, the Industrial Workers of the World leader, indicted with Wm. D. Haywood and others for inciting six mill workers to riot, and it was not thought that the state would rest until late this afternoon. The penalty for inciting riot in New Jersey is a $2,000 fine or seven years' imprisonment, or both.
Quinlan's defence is that he did not reach the scene where the alleged rioting occurred until after the strikers had departed. Haywood and the others are to be tried later.

There are some dealers who will substitute for "SALADA" some other tea on which they make a larger profit.
Don't be deceived—there is no other tea that will satisfy you as well. Ask for "SALADA" and refuse the substitute.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT
COQUITLAM.

Coquitlam has all the attributes necessary for the building of a large manufacturing city, being practically on an arm of the sea.

It is located on Canada's greatest railway system, the C. P. R.
Abundant and cheap hydro-electric power furnished by two competitive companies.

Will always have cheap coal from its nearness to the large coal mines.

Large areas of level land suitable for industrial sites.

The provisions made by nature have been supplemented by the planning of men.

The C. P. R. Company are building
the finest industrial railway terminal in Canada at a cost of seven or eight million dollars, which when completed will have 180 miles of sidetracks, repair shops, original car shops, 48-stall roundhouse, coal yards, etc.

A number of other very large industries are located there.

Its scenic beauty is unsurpassed.

To investors, we would say, better work under the law of increasing returns than diminishing possibilities.

Money From England
For Big Projects

Montreal, May 7.—Neither war nor rumors of war, tariff troubles, labor unrest, or any of the other factors affecting the money market seem to interfere with Sir William Mackenzie's financing of the Canadian Northern Railway.

The president of the Canadian Northern returned on the Royal Edward, reaching Quebec today. He was accompanied by Lady Mackenzie; Col.
Davidson, head of the Canadian Northern Railway land department, and by Mr. and Mrs. Cawthra Mulock. All travelled to Montreal on Sir William's private car Atikokan.

In an interview with our correspondent, Sir William expressed himself as being highly pleased with the results of his visit to England. Despite the tightness of the money market, and the fact of London having been pretty well surfeited with Canadian issues, he announced that he had secured ample funds for some time to come. He would not state the exact amount secured.

ZAPATA FORCES DEFEATED.
[Canadian Press.]

Mexico City, May 8.—Zapata forces were defeated in a fight which lasted many hours yesterday a few miles north of Cuernavaca. An official report from Gen. Robles gives the rebel dead as 90, while the federal losses numbered only three, wounded.
The Government denies a federal reserve in Sonora.

To Ease Tight Chest
And Cure a Cold
Rub On Nerviline

NO REMEDY HALF SO
EFFICIENT.

"I didn't have to suffer long with a sore, wheezy chest. I had a mighty bad cold—it held me like a vice, but I knew what to do. I took half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in hot water and rubbed my neck and chest every half hour during the evening. You would hardly credit the way Nerviline breathed like a free man, gave me comfort in a few hours."

This is the experience of J. P. Durand, a well-known resident of Burton's Corners. In thousands of homes Nerviline is used every day. If a little child has sick stomach, just a few drops will suffice. If there is any bowel disorder or diarrhoea, a few small doses are required. Inwardly or outwardly, wherever there is pain or inflammation, Nerviline will always relieve quickest and cure surest of any remedy known. Family size, 50c.

It Pays to Use Good Paint

Protection and Beauty are the two great objects in painting.
Paint that will peel or crack and let in moisture gives poor protection—and is a bad investment. Paint that has cheap colors which fade cannot give beauty—and is a bad investment.
It costs no more to apply "High Standard" than poor paints, and it gives perfect protection and beauty. Lowe Brothers
"High Standard" Liquid Paint sets in a close tight coat that gives perfect protection and long wear. Only fadeless colors are used, and you get lasting beauty.
That's why we sell and recommend "High Standard." We know it will give you best results.

HOT WATER
WHEN YOU

POSSIBLY you
do not know
that an unlimited
supply of hot water—hot water
—when you want it—hot as long as you want it—is now inexpensively obtained without any further thought than you give to turning on or off the gas light. Unless you have seen or heard about the wonderful

Ruud Automatic
Gas Water Heater

this sounds like a pretty big claim, but like all ingenious devices, it is extremely simple.
The Ruud is usually installed in the basement, to the ordinary house piping. The mere act of turning on any hot water faucet starts the heater in operation. The water is heated instantly—pure, unlimited hot water, fit to drink as it is to bath in. Closing the faucet turns off the gas in the heater—without a moment's waste of fuel.
