CLAIMS RAIL STRIKE IN CANADA IS CERTAIN

LITTLE HOPE OF GREEK SUCCESS DESPITE STAND

Fear Armies Cannot Stem Advance of Turkish Nationalist Forces.

DESERT BY THOUSANDS Entire British Mediterranean Fleet Now in Near Eastern Waters.

Smyrna, Sept. 8.—Greek forces today were holding the line east of Selihli, 60 miles east of Smyrna. It was stated in advices from the front, but there seemed little hope of stemming the tide of the retreat of the Greek army under the Turkish Nationalist thrust.

Deserters are arriving there by the thousands. The Greek northern army, of course, is retreating from Bursa toward Padişah and Mundaia, on the sea of Marmora.

An Adana dispatch today, carrying Turkish nationalist reports, declared Turkish cavalry had occupied Casaba, about 25 miles nearer Smyrna than the Salihli line, mentioned in the foregoing.

A Malta dispatch says that the British cruisers, Concord and Cardiff, under command of Rear Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, are under orders to sail at noon today for Smyrna.

The entire British Mediterranean fleet is now concentrated in near eastern waters. It is also reported that Brigadier General Harrington with high French and Italian officers has gone to the fighting line to get in touch with the Kemalists in an effort to prevent further bloodshed.

GREEK CABINET QUITS.

Athens, Sept. 8.—Succession to the pressure of public opinion as a result of the severe reverses to the Greek arms in Asia Minor, the cabinet of Premier Protopadakis yesterday resigned. Nikolai Kalogeros, former premier, has been charged by King Constantine with the task of forming a new ministry.

MAY ACCEPT ARMISTICE.

Constantinople, Sept. 8.—Unable to extricate their army from the Turks' hold, the Greek military leaders, it is believed here, will be obliged to accept any armistice terms the victors may dictate.

ENDAGERS CREDIT.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—Severe Greek defeats at the hands of Turkish Nationalists and the consequent political turmoil in Athens are raising some questioning as to the capability of Greece to meet continued interest payments on the credit extended by Canada to the Greek government.

DELAYS VENICE PARLEY ON NEAR EAST PROBLEM

London, Sept. 8.—The proposed Near East conference in Venice is unlikely to be held in the near future. In view of the gravity of the situation in Asia Minor, and may never be held in the form originally suggested. It is pointed out that the situation has been so changed by the Turkish victory in Anatolia that it will be necessary to call a full conference of the powers to deal with the settlement.

Charges County Police Are Overpaid

ELLIOTT WILL BE ASKED FOR INVESTIGATION

Definite Ruling Sought On Amounts Legally Earned by Constables.

COLLECT SEVERAL FEES

Believe Police Entitled to Only One Payment Each Day.

Crown authorities have been asked for a definite ruling as to what constitutes a proper legal fee for members of the Middlesex County police force.

Positive information to this effect was disclosed Friday with the added statement that one of the first undertakings by the new crown attorney, J. C. Elliott, when he assumes office, will be to investigate the charge that the constabulary is now being over-paid within the meaning of the statutes governing the same.

The claim has been entered that the revised statutes of 1918, Chapter 25, so read, that a constable is entitled to one fee alone, of $2, no matter how many cases he may have before the court at that sitting.

Crown Attorney Elliott will be asked upon his return to assume a definite stand upon the question, all proceedings being temporarily halted pending his arrival in the city from a month's holidays in the west.

Should he so interpret the act, as contended by the party voicing the charge, the constables in the past have been receiving more than their due, he will be asked to move for a return of certain money, the amounts yet unstated.

Questioned on this point Friday members of the police force, united with High Constable B. F. Watterworth, in the contention that they have been receiving as remuneration not one cent more than they were entitled to, and ridiculed all threats of proceedings.

"I can have a case set for 10:30 a.m.," stated the high constable; "on 11 o'clock at 10:45 a.m., and a third at 11 o'clock, and I will be entitled to a fee of $2 for each individual case, and would collect the same."

The Trooper went to the aid of the Otter in response to a wireless call. For ten days the Trooper, through stormy weather, towed the disabled steamer until the port of Halifax was reached. Of the total amount $17,000 is awarded the C. G. M. M., and the balance to the officers and crew of the Trooper.

PAYS $85 FOR HITTING WRIGHT

Thos. Way Fined by Magistrate Graydon For Assault.

Bench Opines Prominent Citizens Should Have Settled Differences Amicably.

Before imposing a fine of $25 and costs on Thomas Way, of Elmwood avenue, in police court Friday morning, for assaulting Gordon Wright, of Ridout street, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon voiced the opinion that the two prominent Londoners should have settled their differences amicably, "not like two ruffians. Wright rendered a bill of $49.10 for damage to his wearing apparel during the struggle. However, the court allowed him but $25, regarding that as a liberal compensation. His bill was itemized as follows: Hat, $8; tie, $2.25; collar, $5c; shirt, $2.50; combinations, $3; and suit, $36. He also submitted a doctor's bill of $35, which the defendant agreed to pay.

The case arose a few weeks ago, when Way and Wright engaged in a dispute regarding the ownership of some pears on land which Wright owned, but which Way claimed he had been allowed to cultivate. Wright tried to blow, and Way hit Wright on the head with a hoe, inflicting a scalp wound.

"I do not think all the pears in the block are worth the odium cast on these men, the matter having been published in the newspapers," the court opined in the newspapers.

In objecting to Wright's bill of damages, Jared Vining, counsel for Way, remarked: "The suit of clothes obviously had been worn two or three years."

"I don't say Way was justified," he continued, "but I do say Wright annoyed and teased Way until he brought it on himself."

County Police Give Speedsters Rest While Magistrate Holidays?

A general relaxation from duties seems to be the order of the day for certain members of the Middlesex County police squad, who were in the vicinity of the court house Friday and not out on the highways and byways, peering at the license numbers of passing speedsters.

"Our magistrate is having a few holidays and is enjoying the sights at the Toronto exposition," explained one of the constables from his seat on the green in front of the county hall of justice.

CALL MEETING TO PROBE LIEN ON COLLEGIATE

School Trustees to Hold Special Session to Settle Issue.

ALL WORK COMPLETED

Claims All Debts Will Be Paid Before Building Is Accepted.

Passing events point to an immediate "show-down" in connection with the Kingsdon Construction Company and the London board of education.

School Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of the Collegiate Institute committee of the latter body, has called for a special session Friday at 4:30 p.m., when the entire situation will be threshed out.

Information to this effect was disclosed Friday noon, following close upon the public announcement the previous day that another lien, demanding payment of certain debts, had been placed upon the collegiate at the instigation of a local firm.

That the committee will arrive at a definite decision respecting the formal acceptance of the building from the contractors, in addition to the final settlement of all debts, is the promise made.

The school architect reports that all work, as directed by the school board, has been completed at the new structure and that the place is ready for a final inspection.

All proceedings have been halted lately, it is explained, pending a detailed financial report from the Kingsdon firm. This, it is anticipated, will be submitted Friday afternoon.

Members of the board and their officials presented a perfectly unflinching attitude Friday and appeared to be slightly concerned, if at all, respecting the latest development.

"We are not carrying," declares Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of the Collegiate Institute committee. "The building can stand another lien or two. However, I believe that the affair can be satisfactorily settled without further complications."

The board of education will consider such a stubborn problem, and our committee will also have a recommendation after our formal and final inspection of the building. We will see, however, that all debts are paid and all sub-contractors are paid before we accept the structure from the contractors.

"It is really not our funeral, if the other people choose to wait until the building is formally accepted by us before they settle with the sub-contractors, well, perhaps we'll have to withhold these amounts and give the Kingsdon company whatever balance is due them."

The opinion is now freely expressed in board of education circles that the local firm, responsible for the issuance of the lien was adopting this drastic measure as a precautionary move to offset the slim possibility that the board of education would decline ultimately to accept the building for some reason or other.

TORONTO WATER-MAIN BURSTS

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The 36-inch water main on Bathurst street burst early this morning, doing great damage to the pavement and flooding many cellars. This is the fifth break in the pipe since it was laid 15 years ago. This time it was near the Clatter street corner, and the rush of water appeared like a geyser. It carried away veranda steps and lattice-work. The main runs from the waterworks to the reservoir, and, therefore, does not affect the water supply to the taps.

WANT RIDDELL AS C. N. R. DIRECTOR

Regina, Sask., Sept. 8.—A request that Frederick W. RiddeLL, general manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, Regina, be named on the new directorate of the Canadian National Railways, was contained in a resolution passed yesterday by the executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and forwarded to Premier Mackenzie King and Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways.

CONNECT RAPID PRINCE WITH SALVAGING PLANT

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Two more attempts were made yesterday to connect the steamer Rapids Prince, stranded in the lower Lachine Rapids, with the island above her, where the salvage plant is located. The first attempt was fruitless, but the second was successful, the preparation work being much advanced during the day. Much remains to be done, however, before any effort can be made to release the steamer.

TALK JUVENILE COURT BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Children's Aid Representatives Meet Civic Committee Friday Morning.

RETICENT ON SUBJECT

Expect Another Conference to Be Called in Near Future.

Representatives of the Children's Aid Society of London met in conference behind closed doors with Mayor Cameron Wilson and Ald. H. J. Childs, who comprise the special civic-appointed juvenile court committee, Friday morning at the city hall with a view to discussing plans for the operation of the recently established juvenile court in London.

While all those citizens present at the conference refused to divulge the nature of the discussion, it is believed that it assumed an informal round table talk on how best to serve the interests of the children. Representatives of the Children's Aid Society who were present are known to favor proclamation of the juvenile delinquents' act in London at once, but although they asserted after the meeting that the act was not discussed, their manner indicated that they were none too pleased with the conference results, which is interpreted to mean that their request for proclamation of the act was not viewed with favor by the city committee.

It is expected that another conference will be called in the near future, as the Children's Aid Society officials are unanimous in agitating for proclamation of the juvenile delinquents' act, pointing out that a juvenile court cannot really be established until such action is taken.

Mayor Wilson stated that the conference was an harmonious one, and that the informal discussion brought out many points which will be used to good advantage in inaugurating a juvenile court here. He asserts that no decisions were reached at the meeting, but that plans were discussed and these will be decided upon later.

Those present at the conference were: Mayor Cameron Wilson, Alderman H. J. Childs, A. E. Barbour, D. H. McRimmond, Rev. John Garbutt, C. E. Jarmain and Major T. J. Murphy. The latter citizen represented the St. Vincent De Paul Society, while the others represented the Children's Aid Society, with the exception of the mayor and Alderman Childs, who appeared on behalf of the city council.

ONTARIO RAILWAY BOARD IN LONDON

Meets to Consider Caradoc-Ekfrid and Byron Telephone Business.

Members of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board are in the city of Toronto, and will meet at the Middlesex County court house Friday afternoon to consider business involving the Caradoc-Ekfrid and Byron telephone companies.

On behalf of the former company, an appeal will be submitted by W. R. Wadsworth asking for an order, prescribing the terms and conditions for furnishing a telephone service for certain residences, and for the purchase also of occupying space upon the poles of the Byron concern.

The appeal sets forth an alternative to be considered as well, in that it may be possible to obtain consent for the construction of poles parallel to the Byron line.

B.M.E. CONGRESS SCORES DIVORCE

Many Delegates Believe Ministers Should Refuse to Marry Divorcees.

Unanimously Accept Articles On Marriage and Divorce Friday.

Claiming that the ministry of the British Methodist Episcopal Church should be bound to refuse to marry the innocent party of a divorced couple, as well as the guilty party, Rev. J. T. Dawson of North Buxton, a delegate to the Sixteenth General Quadrannual Convention of the B. M. E. Church, asked Friday morning for a general discussion of the point.

The "Discipline," in which the articles of religion were noted, said Rev. Mr. Dawson, permitted ministers to marry a couple, one of whom was the innocent party of a divorced couple, but prohibited the remarriage of the guilty party.

Rev. F. Edmunds of Windsor, in backing the speaker, quoted the text, "Whom God has put together, let no man put asunder." There was considerable discussion over scriptural grounds for divorce, and it was agreed that the one existing ground for divorce mentioned in Scripture pertained to the guilty party, and did not condemn the innocent.

Rev. Mr. Drake pointed out that no minister was compelled to marry the innocent party, but the church upheld him if he did. At the same time the laws were very clear in stating that if any minister about to marry a couple, learns that one is a divorced guilty party, he has no alternative but must refuse to marry them.

Rev. L. Johns, the delegate from Harrow, moved that the articles on marriage and divorce be adopted as they stood. After some further discussion a vote resulted in unanimous acceptance of the articles.

OFFICIAL MAKES STATEMENT ON DELIBERATIONS

Shopmen Dissatisfied With Discussions in Findings of Board.

SEND OUT CIRCULARS

Men Hold Selves in Readiness For Cessation of Work.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—"A strike of the railway shopmen on Canadian lines is inevitable, from what can be seen at the present moment," was the declaration made by J. A. McLelland, Canadian vice-president of the International Association of Machinists this morning, following the second day's deliberations on the findings of the board of conciliation which upheld the wage cuts to shopmen.

Shopmen throughout are being circulated at all points, and told to hold themselves in readiness for a general strike. A reply will be sent today to the minister of labor's telegram sent in response to Secretary Charles Dickie's protest against the findings of the conciliation board. The reply, it is said, will reiterate the shopmen's stand on the findings of the board, will state bluntly that the men recognize the futility of the industrial disputes investigation (Lemieux) act, and that the shopmen hold themselves free to choose their own course.

The circular which is being sent out today to all points, states that the schedule committee is in touch with their international headquarters of the American Federation of Labor, with a view to finding an honorable settlement, but in the meantime the men are to hold themselves in readiness to obey a strike call if it comes.

DROP GENERAL STRIKE.

New York, Sept. 8.—(By the Canadian Press).—Any proposal for a general strike in protest against the rail strike injunction obtained by United States Attorney General Daugherty had been abandoned by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, according to information reaching New York from Atlantic City, where labor leaders are holding conferences preliminary to the opening of the council's sessions tomorrow.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has refused to make any statement on the matter, though he has said the general strike proposal would come before the executive as a matter of business.

A few labor bodies have urged that there be a general stoppage of work for 24 hours in protest against the injunction, but at labor headquarters it was stated that this suggestion had not been given any serious consideration by leaders.

Union organizations which have advanced the general strike as the weapon to be used in the fight against the injunction, have been a minority, and labor leaders point out that the proposal has emanated largely from bodies that have been developing radical sentiments, such as those of Chicago, Omaha and Spokane, Wash.

In the opinion of close observers, sentiment precludes any action favoring such a course by the executive of the American Federation of Labor. Another hindrance to the scheme to call a general strike has been found in the fact that the railroad brotherhoods are not affiliated with the federation and could not be relied upon to participate in such a movement.

LACK OF ROOM BAR TO PUPILS

County Students Seek Vainly for Admittance to City Schools.

Find Further Accommodation Needed in South, West and East.

There must be a new school in West London next year to accommodate the normal increase in students, according to board of education officials, who declared Friday that the Empress avenue public school is now crowded to the last available inch.

Chairs and tables have even been placed in the "Bungalow," the annex to the rear of the building, and not another pupil can be accepted, it is feared. County pupils are now automatically debarred from entrance, and some of them, it is explained, have already made arrangements for their attendance at country schools.

While the Empress avenue school was fairly well crowded in 1918, it is pointed out that practically every class now exceeds the enrollment as stipulated by the provincial department of education, and there is no room for the extra pupils. The Toronto authorities will move for drastic action at the end of this year.

What the prospects for a new building are, or even an addition to the present structure, are somewhat difficult to determine, members of the board of education state, pointing out that they have been a year or more struggling to secure another school for Southeast London, plans for which have not as yet been actually accepted.

Incidentally the officials declare that there are other schools almost in the same class as the London West building. The Riverview public school is crowded to the doors, and every effort is being exerted by the school inspector to locate a seat for a county pupil, who was denied entrance at this institution as well as the West London school.

It is hoped that he will be admitted to the Victoria public school this week, although every principal appears reluctant to accept students who live outside the school area.

The supervisor of principals reports Friday that the situation is such at the Boyle Memorial School that the principal has ordered certain pupils who have attended there, to seek entrance elsewhere.

REPORT BUSINESS BRIGHTER IN CITY

London reports to Bradstreet's say that buying at local wholesale houses is showing improvement, and while forward purchases are not on a large scale as yet the indications are that they will increase, while a good volume of sorting orders is expected. Industry is in a hopeful mood with a good demand for steel products. Implement dealers are also confident of a good year during 1923. Demand for textiles and boots and shoes is also very fair.

There has been little change in the crop conditions here. It is claimed that owing to the presence of the Hessian fly in the district, seeding will be somewhat later than usual this fall.

For not having the required amount of butterfat in his milk, Frank Tinning, a local dairyman, was fined $10 and costs in police court this morning. His percentage of Aug. 30 was only 2.50, health officials found, while the average percentage of all dairymen was 3.80.

CLAIMS PROBATION OFFICERS NEEDED

Rev. T. D. McCullough Believes Appointments Would Round Out Juvenile Court.

Probation officers of good judgment and armed with an insight into child life, who would follow up discretionary work on the part of a magistrate, are needed to fully round out the juvenile court system, according to Rev. T. D. McCullough, district secretary of the Ontario Social Service Council, who recently returned from Toronto, following a consultation with members of the social service executive. "Whether the amount of juvenile delinquency in the city would merit the entire services of both a man and a woman, or whether two part-time workers could not be induced to give part-time services is a matter for consideration," Mr. McCullough said, "but the services of a magistrate in the juvenile court are not sufficient without the services of a probation officer."

He sees no reason why one judge should be needed to deal with adult cases and another for juvenile cases. "Long experience in watching adult cases has given Magistrate Graydon insight sufficient to see through the most cunning and evasive children of his services, completed by a probation officer, should make a complete success of the system."

BOARDS OF TRADE WILL DISCUSS MANY TOPICS

E. S. Little, Gordon Philip and Col. Brown to Represent London at Border City Meeting.

It was announced by local chamber of commerce officials Friday morning that the general meeting of the Western Ontario Boards of Trade, to be held in the Prince Edward Hotel, Windsor, Friday, September 15, will be one of the most important conferences of its kind held in this district, as several questions of momentous importance will be brought up for discussion.

President E. S. Little, of the local chamber, and Managing Secretary Gordon Philip and Col. W. J. Brown, will represent London at the meeting. Among the more important subjects to be brought up are: "Town Planning Legislation," "Blue Sky Legislation," "Immigration," "Western University," "Infant Mortality," "Industrial Exhibitions," "Exports to Great Britain," and "Blue Water Highway."

Representatives of the boards of trade and the chambers of commerce in all cities and towns of Western Ontario will journey to the Border Cities on that date.

URGE CITIZENS TO HOUSE STUDENTS

University Authorities Want Desirable Accommodation for Coming Term.

Until dormitories are provided at Western University, officials of that institution are faced with the problem of helping students to find living quarters during the school term.

There is a movement on foot at present to induce citizens to interest themselves in the matter of housing the students and the opening of boarding houses in the districts near the university buildings.

"In a city the size of London, and where good homes are plentiful, there should be no difficulty in providing accommodation for the student body, and yet other years we have heard students say that it was easier to find accommodation in Toronto than in this city," said Mr. W. J. Brown, executive secretary of the university.

"The financial end of the question is one which merits some consideration, apart from the fact that citizens owe it to the university to see that the students are housed. Thousands of dollars are spent every year by the young men and women who attend, and after all, the term is only about half the year.

"It would be a fine thing if we could induce people to rent suites of rooms to the students. Thousands of dollars are spent every year by the executive secretary stated, "who they could make themselves a real home during their college term."

FIRE AT CONSTABLE'S HOME.

Firemen extinguished a small blaze at the home of Police Constable John Mackey, 1174 King street, Wednesday afternoon. The damage was slight.

Police officers on duty found a herd of vagrant cows holding a banquet in vegetable gardens in Chelsea Green early Sunday. They cornered the trespassers and waited for the owners.

Oslen was the first cowboy to overtake one of the stampeded animals, and he was forthwith charged with allowing animals to run at large.

Recalls Deed of London Soldier Who Rescued Woman From Well

Many who have read the account of how David Mills, of Grafton street, has been awarded the Carnegie medal for rescuing a French peasant woman from drowning in a well, recall that a brave Londoner performed a similar deed in France, but was killed in action before his valor could be officially recognized.

Fred J. Marshall, who formerly resided at 149 John street, and whose early life was spent in the Forest City, a soldier, also rescued a woman from drowning in a well in a French village. Marshall was pioneer sergeant in the Second Pioneer Battalion of the Canadian forces in France, having enlisted here in the Canadian Engineers.

While stationed in a French village on active service, he descended into a well to rescue a woman who had fallen down the pit, and remained there until she was removed, although there was much danger of the quick walls of the old well caving in. Shortly after this occurrence, in October, 1919, Marshall was killed in action.

While he was not awarded the Carnegie medal for his heroism, he was mentioned in dispatches a short time after his death.

MAKES COMPLAINT ON SCHOOL LIGHTS

G. H. Wheable Says Situation at Annex Is by No Means Perfect.

The situation is by no means perfect at the city's new school annex in the basement of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, according to G. H. Wheable, supervisor of principals, who officially inspected that building Thursday afternoon.

The lighting facilities are not entirely satisfactory, the supervisor relates, explaining that lights have been installed on both sides of the basement, contrary to the usual and best arrangements.

Lights should come from one side of the student only, he states, as in the permanent schools, the left side, and care is always taken in this respect under ordinary circumstances.

There are 70 pupils, from the congested Ealing and Chesley avenue public schools, accommodated in the church basement. This body is divided in three grades, and two teachers are in attendance.

As would be expected both teachers cannot hold sway at the same time. They take turns, the supervisor relates. One will teach for 15 or 20 minutes, while the other scrutinizes the work of her class, and so forth.

Considering the circumstances under which the work is being undertaken, however, the supervisor expresses himself as well pleased. Trustees, teachers and board officials have resolved themselves to the fact that they will have to make the best of a truly discouraging situation until the new school is built at Oliver and Trafalgar streets.

WENIGE TAKES CREDIT FOR STREET RAILWAY PAYMENT

Says He Camped on City Solicitor's Doorstep When in Office Last Year.

Ex-Alderman George A. Wenige disputes the statement that payment of $7,000 through the courts to the city of London by the London Street Railway following seizure of the company's assets by the sheriff was due to the efforts of the city solicitor, but takes credit for enforcing payment on himself.

"City Solicitor Meredith got the money because I camped on his doorstep for two or three days when an alderman last year," said Mr. Wenige. "They would have had that $7,000 if it had not been for me. I forced the London Street Railway to pay in the face of much opposition, yet the city solicitor gets the credit."

"If they had listened to my advice they would have received it in a lump sum instead of on the installment plan for a year. I started that thing."

TO REPRESENT LONDON AT MEETING ON IMMIGRATION

R. W. Bogue of Farmers' Section, Chamber of Commerce, Goes to Toronto.

R. W. Bogue, representing the farmers' section of the London Chamber of Commerce, is attending a meeting in Toronto Friday called by the Hamilton Board of Trade to discuss "Immigration." Mr. Bogue is well acquainted with the agricultural and labor requirements in this section of the province, and should see that the London district is not left out in any plans concerning the proposed immigration plans.

Representatives of the department of agriculture and of the Western Canada Colonization Association are present, and W. C. Noxon, Canadian agent general for the Dominion government in England, will address the meeting on the unemployment and emigration situation in the British Isles.

The Toronto Board of Trade is tendering a banquet to the visitors. Col. W. J. Brown has returned from a meeting called in the Queen City by Hon. Manning Doherty, Ontario minister of agriculture, at which certain recommendations regarding immigration to Canada will be presented to the federal and provincial governments were approved.

ASTOUNDS COURT WITH DECLARATION, "I DON'T OWN A HAIR ON BLACK HEIFER"

Magistrate. "Oscar John Olsen of Maple street," replied the defendant. "All right. Summon him." Magistrate Graydon ordered the police. "I'll adjourn this case."

Steve Zaranik claimed one of the bovine wanderers, but pleaded that someone opened his gate every five minutes. "Well, close it every five minutes," the magistrate advised. "There are more cows over there," Steve complained. "Well, we'll get them some other time," came the promise from the bench.

Mrs. Walzak and J. Belibach also paid $2 and costs for the privilege of using city thoroughfares and "beliebers" gardens for pasture lands.

BUILD STRUCTURE FOR FIRE TRUCKS

Western Fair Officials Rush Preparations for Opening of Exhibition.

The Western Fair grounds hum with preparation for the opening of the gates Saturday.

Near the entrance of the grounds, the new fire station is in the process of erection, and it is expected that it will be completed by the opening. Previously a tent has been used to house the fire equipment, while the fair was on, and it is thought that a permanent building will be a marked improvement.

Adequate police protection has already been guaranteed, and the hospital tents have been set up, so that any accidents which might occur in the gathering of such a crowd will be safely covered.

Concession areas are setting up tents in all parts of the grounds. Restaurants under the grandstand will be in business again.

A large number of the exhibits will be showing at the Fair for the first time, and with fair weather, the old favorites all on hand, with a score of new attractions, the Western Fair of 1922 promises to be the greatest in history.

DISMISS M'KAY ON O. T. A. CHARGE

Court Hears That Liquor Was Purchased at Dispensary.

Although an officer testified he found R. Basil McKay asleep in his auto, with a sealed bottle of whiskey on the seat beside him at 2 o'clock this morning, the defendant was dismissed.

In the first place, McKay denied he had been awakened by the officer, and in the second place, through his counsel, Howard Cluff, he contended that as he had purchased the liquor at the dispensary, and had left it in his car since 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, he was not violating any section of the Ontario temperance act.

He had left his car by the curb in front of his store on Talbot street late in the afternoon, and had gone out in another car with a friend. He left the liquor in his own car, returned for his car early this morning, and had gone to a garage to get oil, when he was arrested.

Mr. Cluff pointed out that other judges had decided that prescription liquor could be taken anywhere and used anywhere.

Magistrate Graydon declared that he had always contended that a man could take prescription liquor to a hotel or to a boarding house.

He thought it would be better if the recipients of the liquor would take their bottles to a residence. On the evidence, he could not find the charge proven, he declared.

Upon giving the police a receipt for R. McKay was given the liquor.

W. T. CLARK WILL RESIGN FROM CITY SCHOOL BOARD

Trustee Forced to Take Step Through Pressure of Work Outside London.

W. T. Clark, whose term as a member of the board of education expires in November next, will resign from that body.

His successor will be appointed at the next regular session of the trustees, September 20.

Trustee Clark will not be unseated. No such action has ever been contemplated by his colleagues or others. He is resigning entirely upon his own initiative. Pressure of business, which compels him to be out of the city as a traveler, forces him to make this step.

Questions of resignation were not taken up until the end of the month, and added that "he has already notified the chairman of the board that he has resigned."

A written declaration to this effect will be dispatched to the secretary of the board.

ENTIRE SHIPMENT OF COAL DISTRIBUTED, CITY HOMES

Mayor Wilson Announces That Ohio Lump Fuel Has Been Supplied to 2,000.

The entire shipment of 2,000 tons of bituminous coal ordered by the city of London to avert a fuel crisis next winter, and distributed by local coal dealers, has been sold, Mayor Cameron Wilson announced Friday morning. This announcement means that coal now reposes in about 2,000 more homes of London than a few weeks ago, when the city council authorized the purchase of the fuel.

It was of the Ohio lump variety, a coal of excellent burning quality, and in addition a few cars of Pocahontas were received and ordered at once by citizens. Mayor Wilson states that no more coal will be ordered by the city for some time unless the situation in view of the miners' strike assumes proportions which warrant more speedy action.

65 TROPHIES GIVEN FOR DIFFERENT EVENTS

In the last two months there have been 65 trophies given away for baseball, swimming, flower shows, motorcycle and auto races in the surrounding country. Of course they were sold by John A. Nash, My Jeweler, 182 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy."

Garden Utensils Popular As Weapons

GARDEN utensils seem to be popular as weapons in back fence arguments these days. Sarah Powell, complainant in police court this morning that Mrs. Edith Hart had hit her on the hand with a spade.

Mrs. Hart explained the quarrelling was about some weeds. She also said that Mrs. Powell ordered her children to get off their own property.

Magistrate Graydon pointed out that one man had already been fined heavily for assaulting his neighbor with garden tools, and warned Mrs. Hart to keep the peace. He allowed her to go on payment of costs.

BRANDS ACTION OF WILSON AS CRAZY

Ex-Ald. Wenige Claims Mayor Foolish to Proclaim Fri- day Holiday.

Branding the action of Mayor Cameron Wilson, in proclaiming a half-holiday in London Friday afternoon for the purpose of allowing the public to witness championship baseball games at Tuncumoh Park, as crazy, ex-Ald. George A. Wenige declares that his worship had better close up the city hall entirely.

Mr. Wenige points out that already Labor Day has provided one holiday this week, Wednesday afternoon is observed as a half-holiday by many business establishments, and in addition, Saturday is regarded as a half-holiday at the city hall. To proclaim Friday afternoon a half-holiday in the face of this time lost is in his opinion preposterous.

"The idea is crazy," said ex-Ald. Wenige Friday morning. "I never heard of such a fool thing in my life. If it is just a half-holiday for the city hall, I second the motion. They ought to lock it up for all time."

There was a full holiday Monday. Two sisters, Miss Sarah Best of Hamilton and Mrs. Wm. Bell of Huntsville, Ont.

Rev. A. E. M. Thomson of Central Methodist Church officiated at the services. The pallbearers included four grandsons, Chester, Clifford, Joseph and Verne Cake, and Walter Davidson and Norman Greensides.

HARRY WALTER PAGE.

The funeral of the late Harry Walter Page, whose death took place Wednesday, Sept. 6, was conducted at St. Marys Friday afternoon, the Rev. W. L. Armitage officiating.

Mr. Page died at the residence of his son-in-law, Harry Spear, 250 Ridout street south, at the advanced age of 82 years. He was born at Barnstable, Devon, England, and for 21 years served in the 60th Rifle Regiment of the British army.

The deceased resided in London some 40 years ago, after which he moved to St. Marys, where he resided until ten years ago, since which time he has been in London at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. W. Spear, Ridout street.

Mr. Page is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. W. Spear, and two sons, William of Ottawa and Herbert of Grimsby.

MRS. CAROLINE KIRKPATRICK.

The death was announced Thursday, Sept. 7, of Mrs. Caroline Kirkpatrick at the family residence, 387 Colborne street.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick was one of London's oldest residents, having been born in London 86 years ago, and resided here all her life. She saw the city grow from a straggling hamlet to its present stage.

In religion Mrs. Kirkpatrick was an Anglican, having been baptized and confirmed by the late Bishop Cronyn.

She is survived by two sons, John and William, also three daughters, Mary, Elizabeth and Carrie. Two sisters, Mrs. Louis Bugler, of El Paso, Texas, and Mrs. Joseph Mourny of Chicago, are others left to mourn her loss.

The funeral will be private from the home at 2 o'clock Saturday, Sept. 9. Service will be held at 2:30 a.m. after which the interment will take place at Woodland Cemetery.

MRS. MARY GRANT.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Grant, who died on Tuesday, Sept. 5, after a short illness, was conducted Friday morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Richard C. Balfour, Thornton avenue, to St. Peter's Cemetery.

The service was held at the St. Michael's Church, London north, at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Tierney officiating.

Mrs. Grant is the widow of the late H. C. Grant and the oldest daughter of Susan and Patrick Howard.

TAKE EXCEPTION TO SCHOOL ACT

Authorities Feel Government Does Not Allow Employment of Common Sense.

Forced to Refuse Exemption to Boy Supporting Sick Mother.

The provincial educational authorities at Toronto do not allow for, at least, the average intelligence of school authorities in London and other municipalities throughout the province, according to those who have considerable to do with the enforcement of the adolescent school attendance act, and who expressed themselves accordingly Friday.

That the people who framed the act in question did not consider obviously, that the authorities of communities, outside of the city of Toronto, were capable of employing "common sense tactics" to any appreciable degree, is the contention of those officials who are the daily recipients of protests and anxious queries for help from parents of children who have been compelled to leave their places of employment and return to part-time classes just inaugurated.

On Friday morning there was another homeless case noted when an employer made application at the board of education offices for exemption on behalf of a youth who is the sole support of a crippled mother, who is confined to bed and cannot earn a living, however meagre.

"This is but an example of a just case," the school officials pointed out as they explained kindly but firmly that they were not in any position, as officers of the board, to do other than to see that the act was enforced.

The officials complain bitterly that while they are desirous of using discretion in many instances that have been brought to their attention, they are rendered powerless to act by reason of iron-clad legislation that leaves no loop-holes, and places them in a class with those who are deemed incompetent to exercise ordinary sense.

Obituaries

MRS. CAROLINE S. CAKE.

The funeral of Mrs. Caroline S. Cake took place from the residence of her son, 482 Quebec street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large number of friends and relatives from all parts of London and district gathered to pay their last respects. Mrs. Cake is survived by five sons: Joseph of the C. P. R.; Elias and Frank of the G. T. R.; James, with the Imperial Oil Company, and Thomas, in the furniture trade, and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Rose of Sarnia and Mrs. Ed. Ward of Cleveland, Ohio, besides 21 grandchildren, 5 great-grandchildren, two sisters, Miss Sarah Best of Hamilton and Mrs. Wm. Bell of Huntsville, Ont.

What's the Matter?

A CLOSED DOOR conference is being held at Ottawa to consider the question of unemployment, the gathering taking the form of a Dominion-wide affair.

The trouble with conferences on unemployment is that they do not function. PREMIER DUFFY has been doing some plain talking, according to the rather meagre reports given out of what took place.

For instance, according to figures used by PREMIER DUFFY, live stock prices had advanced only 33 1/2 per cent over those quoted in 1913, while the meat from these animals had advanced 66 per cent in price.

The premier is quite right when he says that the cost of living has a very direct bearing on the matter of employment. It has a greater effect than a slight variation in wages.

But what are they going to do about it? Get together—surely, by all means. But all the facts on the table, blame this man and that man, and then ask the question plainly: Are we getting any place?

What's at the bottom of a whole lot of the trouble that these men run into? One word covers up a whole heap, and that one word is short and ugly, viz., greed.

Greed makes it possible for some coal dealers in isolated places to get a few tons of coal now by paying about $25 per ton.

Greed is causing those who have wood for sale to hold it until people are cold enough to pay double what it is worth.

Greed keeps us so busy wondering when we are going to come out at all the time that we never have a minute to stop and wonder if any other person is going to come out, or be snowed under.

Plain, ordinary, human greed explains a whole lot of the trouble that is holding up the progress of this Dominion.

Some Queer Charges.

S. W. JACOBS, one of the Liberal members from Montreal in the Federal House, is an out-and-out anti-government ownership advocate. He speaks the same in the west as he does in the east.

At the present moment a number of officials of the government railways are being displaced. These are either Conservatives or were appointed under the Unilateral government.

Certainly plain statements from a man supporting the government, but so wide of the mark in fact that one doubts if Mr. JACOBS ever made the statement. Mr. JACOBS is openly opposed to government ownership, and there are others in the Liberal party who entertain similar views.

LITTLE TISERS

is not likely that anything more can be done. The Winnipeg Free Press hardly credits the charge that patronage is running wild, as intimated by the Montreal member.

For the abuse of patronage in such a manner as suggested by Mr. JACOBS, says the Free Press, "there is absolutely no excuse. Nothing but cynical indifference on the part of the citizens of the country could allow parties to go on making noble professions and solemn promises before an election and then disregard the public interest in the most flagrant manner when they are entrusted with the responsibility of office.

The member from Montreal has gone on a tangent in order to make out that the King government is in line to make a political pork barrel out of the national lines, a charge that cannot be substantiated.

Now we have it. Henry Prince, the grandson of the great Indian chief, Peguis, says there will be no cold weather until late in December. He has been looking at the dipper, and says it is taking a long time to turn around, likewise the ducks and animals of the woods and things in general point to the chief that fine weather will hold till close to Christmas.

Losing Labor Day.

A LABOR DAY parade was announced for one of the cities of Ontario this year. Three judges were appointed to judge the best float in the line, and when they were all there, prepared to look over the entries as they went by, they were rather surprised to find that there was only one float in the meagre procession.

Now, what's happened to Labor Day? It certainly has cut the tether and roamed a long way off from what it was first mapped out to be. Originally it was to impress upon the community the dignity and importance of labor.

One Labor Day procession which took place in Bramford some 25 years ago is recalled in contrast with the way the day is observed now. At that time there were floats and bodies of men from various trades. Processions of manufacture were being demonstrated on a small scale, some of the larger factories in the city having gone to considerable trouble to put their very best into the procession.

In nearly every place now a program of sports takes place, or at some points there may be a few speakers. A program of sports is a real Labor Day idea more than going out shooting on Thanksgiving Day expresses in action the spirit of that day.

That Good Old Sign.

THERE may be a banquet at which a very good speaker, after a very good dinner, may tell the guests that times are better, and that business is going to be all right, and he may quote some very nice statistics to prove his point, even getting his hearers worked up to the point where they may clap their hands and now then say "Hear, hear!"

Or again, some genius may devise a very good slogan for the shouting away of hard and dull times, and imagine that if enough people say the thing enough times, conditions will just have to get better whether they want to or not.

Well, just about that time all the rest of the prosperity fakirs can retire with honors, because the old man himself is on the job once more.

for the Worst.' The quartet will sing."

There's a geyser in Yellowstone Park, U. S. spouting hot mud 300 feet high. Following that the elections are coming on.

Any man who says there are no jobs open in Canada should guess again. There's one running the national railways and another piloting the wheat board.

One dealer is in trouble because he sold clover seed that was below par. But the way is still open to the man who wants to sell us wormy apples for pips and apple sauce.

A St. Louis barber says in his long career he has cut 464,000 heads of hair, and the Vancouver Province adds that it's a shame he didn't run a mattress factory at the rear of his shop.

St. Thomas claims it was 101 in the shade there on Wednesday. This entitles the place to the Western Ontario hot weather pennant, which will be a pleasant thing to look at this winter.

Rev. S. P. Rose spoke to the Methodists of Ottawa district. He told them that the lack of biblical education is the weakest spot in the armor of the church, and in so saying, he stated the case correctly and true to fact.

Now we have it. Henry Prince, the grandson of the great Indian chief, Peguis, says there will be no cold weather until late in December.

Flies have been had the last few days, so we got a swatter. On our desk is a new copy of the statutes of Canada, and we simply can't work while flies crawl on our printed laws. On another corner is "Who's Who," a book telling of notable people. It's got a red cover, and a black fly meandering on that color is a great target.

Verily the ways of exchange are hard to understand. Not many months ago U. S. was taking from 12 to 18 per cent off Canadian dollar. Today Montreal reports a discount on American money in Canada, while the Canadian dollar is worth within 3-32 of one per cent of par at New York. Canada has the same security back of her currency now as when exchange was against her; there was as much timber, coal, fish, workable acres, etc. It's quite explainable, the financial experts claim, but equally hard to understand. Be that as it may, it is a confusing and troublesome business.

A London member of the legal fraternity tells this one: He was in a barber shop in Aylmer a few days ago. It was very oppressive, sultry weather, and one of the town folks came in to have his locks shorn. Seated in the chair, the barber prepared for work. Being a man of few words, he simply said: "Close," to which the customer assented. So the cutting went on, and the hair was moved off close to a ground. When the customer got a look at himself he protested that he had too much taken off. "But," said the barber, "I asked you, 'If you wanted it close, and you said yes.' 'Hang it,' replied the victim, 'I thought you were talking about the weather.'"

Value for Value.

CURRENCY troubles in Russia and other countries of Europe have driven the people to resort, to a great extent, to barter. It is decidedly rare, however, for nations to use this primitive method in commerce. Still it is not unknown as a means of overcoming the difficulties due to wild fluctuations in exchange.

POETRY

By Frank E. Ross, London. It was a drowsy day in late June. Most of the world was asleep, but from the schoolroom there issued a slight murmur, and once in a while an auto horn disturbed the calmness.

At irregular intervals he raised his head. After one of these he put his head back and seemed to go to sleep. While he is doing this we will read the badly-written scrawl:

The heat is slowly waiving to the sky, And of strenuous labor there is none, And sweat is rolling into my eye, And everything is dried up by the sun.

Who or what caused this boy to write so? It takes a great man to probe the depths of a boy's soul. The London school boy who submitted this to The Advertiser ended his contribution with a fine phrase, for verily it takes a great man to probe the depths of a boy's soul—Ed.

DEFENDS THE SCOUTS

Sir.—At a recent U. F. O. picnic Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., made a bitter attack on the Boy Scout movement as a military organization "training our youth for war and bloodshed." Such criticism is unjust and uncalled for. In answer to the charge of militarism, let us refer to the incorporation of the movement by royal charter in 1915, as a "non-political, non-military, and non-religious organization for the benefit of the youth of every country." There is no intention of making the lads into soldiers or of teaching them blood-thirstiness. Our drill has been practically converted into a system of sign and signals employed by scouts and backwoodsmen, yet Miss McPhail would have us believe we are teaching the manual of arms. Furthermore, no officer connected with the movement is permitted to use a title denoting military or naval rank.

The Anglican Synod of Huron has adopted the Boy Scout movement as its official program for boys. Would this ecclesiastical body adopt a program of militarism for the moral guidance and training of its youth? Scouting has received tribute from the greatest men of every country. The late Mr. Roosevelt, ex-president of the United States, writes: "The Boy Scout movement is distinctly an asset to humanity, virility and good citizenship." The Right Hon. David Lloyd George, the British prime minister, says, speaking of scouting: "When the development of this movement is such practical proofs of its honor, straightness and loyalty, there is not much danger of that nation going under, for those boys are real training in service to their country as leaders in all walks of life in the future." Lord Rosebery has said of the movement: "If I was to form the highest ideal for my country, it would be this, that it should be a nation of which the manhood was exclusively composed of men who had been or who were Boy Scouts, and who were trained in the Boy Scout theory. Such a nation would be an honor to mankind. It would be the greatest moral force that the world has ever known." When such great authorities pay high tribute to this nature of scouting, and it will be noticed not in a political or military sense, is not it worthy of the support of Canadians as a potential source of citizenship? A nation's wealth depends not so much on fleets and armaments as on the amount of character in her citizens. A country's greatest asset is her boy life, and is not that training which teaches the boy to do his duty to God and the King, to help other people at all times, and to employ his own "law," a very efficient method of developing this great natural resource?

Briefly let me review the scout law: A Scout is true, obedient and honorable, loyal, helpful to others, a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout, courteous, kind to animals, obedient, smiling and cheerful, thrifty and pure in thought, word and deed. Is not this a worthy code for any citizen to follow, whether he be man, woman or child? Miss McPhail claims that the uniform of a scout is military. At this rate, any uniformed body would be military. Are not some of the greatest societies and organizations for moral, social, physical and intellectual betterment, the Salvation Army or our public health nurses as military or bloodthirsty? Again I quote the official handbook: "The uniform and accoutrements, or any uniforms and accoutrements, or any part thereof, must not be worn or copied by scoutmasters." Does Miss McPhail claim that Scout shorts, similar to those used in our school gymnasium, are military? There is not one detail of the uniform authorized by the Canadian General Council.

Among those who attended the meeting of the Wholesale Druggists' Association at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, yesterday were Messrs. James Mattinson and James Kennedy of this city.

The Seventh Band rendered a good program last night at the Princess Rink. The concert was embellished by two vocal solos from Miss Roblyn, a trombone solo from Mr. James Cresswell, and piano accompaniments by Mr. Hewlett.

for the use of Boy Scouts which resembles that used by our regulars or militia. There are two reasons for the use of distinctive dress: (1) It lends a certain esprit de corps, and makes the boy feel his responsibility as a distinct unit of the whole. (2) It enables all to dress alike, so that more easily a Scout may be a brother to every other Scout, no matter to what social class the other belongs.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips. NO. 317—PRACTICAL STUDY OF MENTALS. Once a salesman has struck the right topic of conversation to interest his prospect he generally knows it. The difficulty is to know before you start to talk.

Characterology won't tell you whether a man likes football better than golf, or whether he prefers Dickens to Shakespeare, but it will tell you whether he's liable to like sports better than books.

It is easy to spot the mental type of individual. A single glance will tell you if his head is wisest above the ears and if, in a general way his face tapers to the chin at the narrowest point.

There is nothing particularly difficult about this sort of application of the principles of characterology. It is only necessary to learn and memorize a few types. If you do this, the rest will come instinctively to you as you talk to them.

There is nothing more to it, in fact, than the ordinary amount of observation and thought we give to those we meet as we talk to them, except that you substitute well-or-

GOLDFINCHES

By ALIDA M. BICE, Clarendon. The most cheerful sound about the orchard and buildings just now is the musical "sweet, sweet, chee-wint" of the bright-colored goldfinches, who are gathering in flocks, doubtless to journey farther south when the cold days come. We had always understood that the one and only way to coax these dainty little birds near the house was to have sunflowers growing, so that some seeds are always planted in the back yard. This year, however, the goldfinches have much surprised us by ignoring the sunflowers and devoting themselves to some big bunches of catnip growing by the fence, where often two and three birds can be seen clinging to one stalk, all busily working, with much twittering and chirruping.

All the authorities on bird life say that goldfinches eat few insects, and everyone knows that they fairly revel in the ripe thistle and dandelion heads, and they have been seen cleaning off aphids from the Missouri currant, but no one could account for the attraction of the catnip, so curiosity brought about an examination of a long flower stalk from the clump that seemed to be the birds' favorite feeding place, but a close search revealed nothing on it except a few tiny black flies, and, of course, quantities of ripe seeds. Whatever the finches hunted for must be pretty well cleaned out, for now they are at last condescending to patronize the food supply the sunflowers have been gathering for them for some time past.

COSGROVE TRIAL SET FOR OCT. 23

Change Charge From Shooting To Murder At Preliminary Hearing.

Counsel For Defense Does Not Put in Any Evidence.

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 7.—John Cosgrove, deaf mute, of Proton Township, was formally committed for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction, the fall sittings, on Oct. 23, after a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Cressor this afternoon. The charge had been changed from shooting to that of murder.

The hearing lasted about an hour and a half, and the defense did not put in any evidence.

W. J. Campbell of the Belleville Institute for the Deaf and Dumb was interpreter, and he conveyed the questions and answers to the prisoner rapidly and clearly. He seemed to have considerable difficulty in keeping the attention of the prisoner, and had frequently to ask Cosgrove to look at him. Cosgrove appeared to want to watch the witnesses. When Magistrate Cressor announced that he would send the accused up for trial, and the prisoner was given a chance to speak after being warned, he declined to make a statement. He showed great interest in the hearing, but at no time did he express any feeling other than that of alert interest.

Attends Priest.

Miss Kate Connolly was the first witness. She told of the arrival of Father Clohecy at her parents' home on the evening of the shooting, Aug. 19, and of his condition. He came into the house and called her to his room. He asked her to open his coat. She did so and found his shirt covered with blood. The priest died at her home on Aug. 23.
Michael Connolly, the second witness, said his home was about 200 yards from St. Patrick's Church. Father Clohecy had been a big, stout, healthy man of 36 or 37. He saw Father Clohecy leave his home about dark on Aug. 19 and go to the church, again and go inside. When witness went into the house a little later he found Father Clohecy on a bed, bleeding from a wound in the breast. He stated there was no other deaf mute in that neighborhood except the prisoner.

Find No Weapon.

The witness also told of an occasion about May 1, when John Cosgrove had attacked the priest as the latter got up from his breakfast in the Connolly home. Cosgrove caught him by the collar and shook him, and made a move as if to take something from his hip pocket. There had been stories that he carried a revolver, and he was stopped from taking anything from his pocket, but it was found that there was no weapon there.

John Connolly, son of the last witness, said he met Cosgrove between 7:30 and 8 p.m. on Aug. 19 on the road going toward St. Patrick's Church, and about 200 rods from the church. He had a rifle with him.

William Caughlin was called. He stated he knew Cosgrove, the accused, for about ten years. The latter was working for him on Aug. 19. He did not see Cosgrove take anything with him. Cosgrove had a rifle at witness' place. The rifle was kept in different parts of the barn, garage and in the house. Witness said the prisoner, in referring to Clohecy, made it plain that he did not like the latter. He would say "No good" when he saw a religious picture.

Down On Churches.

James Woodrate, merchant, stated he saw Cosgrove about an average of once in two weeks. By his actions and talk he was down on the churches and priest and things connected with religion. He would say "No good" when speaking of them. When Father Clohecy would be seen going up the road to the church Cosgrove would make motions as if shooting at the priest from behind bushes with a repeater rifle. He would write "Clohecy, hell." This occurred at least four times.

"Cosgrove seemed to be religious crazy," the witness volunteered. To the defense the witness said the prisoner had not tried to hide his feelings toward the priest and the church, but rather tried to show them.

William Rice, an uncle of the prisoner, said that the latter had given money to the priest. He was told that the police would take him if he did not watch out, and the prisoner had gone away apparently insulted.

Patrick Ryan swore that the prisoner had made signs that he would shoot Father Clohecy.

THROWS ACID IN GIRL'S FACE

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—With her face and shoulders badly burned by carbolic acid thrown by William Colclough, aged 40 and married, Jean Robinson, aged 28, is in the general hospital. While she will recover, the sight of her right eye is impaired and she will probably be badly disfigured. Her assailant, who swallowed some of the poison remaining in the bottle, is also in the hospital, but his condition is not serious. Colclough is separated from his wife. He went to Miss Robinson's room this afternoon, and uncorking the bottle of poison, dashed the contents into her face.

HELD FOR FORGING NAME OF FATHER

WINDSOR, Sept. 7.—Vernon Meston, 26 years old, a young farmer of Gosfield North, was arrested last night by a county constable and brought to Windsor to be charged with forging his father's name to a note for $350.

Meston, the constable alleges, took the note to the Union Bank in Essex and attempted to discount it. The note purported to be indorsed by Meston's father.

W. I. CONVENTION DATES ANNOUNCED

Preparations For Western Ontario Conference Shadowed by Loss of Mrs. D. C. Wilson.

The annual convention of Western Ontario Women's Institute branches will be held in London on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 and 2, according to announcement of the provincial president, Mrs. George Edwards of Komoka, who arrived in the city Thursday after attending the first meeting of the autumn of the provincial executive in Toronto. A meeting is called for Thursday next, Sept. 14, in the chamber of commerce board room of the convention executive committee to make arrangements for the program and to discuss other business.

The Northwest Ontario convention takes place at Fort Francis on Oct. 10 and 11; the North Ontario at North Bay on the 17th and 18th; the Ontario East in Ottawa on Oct. 24th and 25th. The day of the provincial convention in Toronto has not yet been fixed, beyond the fact it will follow up in November the division conventions. If possible, it will be arranged during the week of the Royal Winter Fair.

Mrs. Edwards expressed herself as much encouraged over the reports presented and spirit manifested at the executive meeting. "I do not think the outlook for the work has ever been better, or a finer spirit of unity prevailed throughout Ontario," she stated to The Advertiser. "There is one thing, however, which is shadowing us all and saddening us at this time of preparation for the Western Ontario convention. That is the loss of our dear Mrs. D. C. Wilson of Parkhill, a loss to the Institute throughout Ontario, but especially to Western Ontario and North Middlesex. Personally, as well as on behalf of the Institute, I want to thank the Women's Department of The Advertiser for the sympathetic little sketch of her life and work and the loving tribute paid her a few days ago. We all echo it from our hearts."

With regard to this year's convention, "it will be interesting as it is possible to make it," Mrs. Edwards stated, adding that some announcement of the program will be available after next week's committee meeting.

HOLD AUTUMN RALLY

Talbot Street Mission Circle Addressed by the New Pastor's Wife.

A large attendance marked the first meeting after the vacation season Thursday afternoon of Talbot Street Baptist Mission Circle, when a feature of special interest was an address by Mrs. Bowley Green, wife of the new pastor, on her experiences with other mission circle meetings. Mrs. Friend of Los Angeles, a former member of the circle, conducted the devotional exercises, and a solo by Mrs. Watt was much appreciated. A social hour was enjoyed over afternoon tea.

Arrangements were made for the annual thank-offering, to take place the evening of October 3, when Rev. Mr. Stillwell of Toronto will be the speaker.

Groom Comes From Far West To Marry One of London's Most Winsome Girls

A picturesque autumn wedding of great interest to a host of friends was solemnized Thursday evening at New St. James' Presbyterian Church, when Margaret Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCrimmon, was married to Roderick McKay of Ashcroft, B. C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James MacKay, minister of the church, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. J. MacGillivray, a former pastor of Guelph. The church, which had been decorated by the bride's girl friends, was bright with an effective arrangement of rose-toned and white flowers and stately palms. Clusters of asters tied with tulle marked the guest pews.

Entering the church promptly at 6:30 o'clock to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Hugh McFarlane of Sault Ste. Marie, the wedding party presented a charming picture. Leading the procession were two dainty flower girls, little Miriam McCrimmon, in pale blue tulle, and Marian Ferguson, wearing pale pink crepe de china. They both wore girdles of tiny roses and wreaths in their hair, and carried baskets of Sweetheart roses. Miss Clara Preston of Stratford was bridesmaid, wearing a graceful frock of pink georgette with insets of gold radium lace, and pink georgette hat with a plume of the same shade. She carried mauve cosmos and Ophelia roses.

The winsome young bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in her wedding gown of kitten's ear crepe, falling in simple lines, and fashioned with side panels of accordion-pleated crepe, and caught at the waist with a girle of roses of the material and pearls. A court train lined with pale pink fell gracefully from her shoulders, and her veil of embroidered net was caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. She also wore the groom's gift, a necklace of pearls. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses, Sweetheart roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. Neil McCrimmon, brother of the bride, acted as best man, and Messrs. Jack McCrimmon of Toronto and Leslie Gray of this city were ushers. At the signing of the register, Mrs. R. B. Whitehead of Toronto, wearing a gown of black and white georgette heavily beaded, sang "Because." The organist, Mrs. Hugh McFarlane, was gowned in brown canton crepe with hat to match.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Wellington street. The bride's mother received with the young couple, wearing a gown of mauve faille and a black hat. The rooms were bright with asters, tastefully arranged, and in the dining room the bride's table was adorned with roses, and centered with the wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay left on a honeymoon, the bride wearing a suit of navy tricotine, a smart hat of sand shade and a cinnamon fox fur. They will go later to their home in Ashcroft, B. C.

The bride, who is a popular London girl, took an active part in Red Cross work from the beginning of the war, later serving overseas as a V. A. D. Before this she was a member of the kindergarten staff in this city. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Preston and Miss Gertrude Patterson of Stratford; Col. and Mrs. J. D. McCrimmon and Mr. Jack McCrimmon, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Whitehead, Miss Frances Steinhoff, all of Toronto; and Dr. and Mrs. MacGillivray of Guelph.

ARE LITTLE NURSES ATTENDING SCHOOL?

Cheche Family Shows Increase This Week—Donations Gratefully Acknowledged.

The first two days this week following the opening of school, saw a marked increase in attendance at Bodkin, at the September meeting of the day nursery, according to the report of the superintendent, Miss the board Wednesday evening.

A survey of the storeroom revealed the fact that an abundant supply of cereals is on hand. Sugar, both white and brown, cleansing materials, soaps, and fruits, preserved and otherwise, are provisions that would be welcomed. Mrs. A. T. Edwards presided, and Miss Young acknowledged the following donations: Preserved fruit and vegetables, Mrs. (Dr.) McDermid; cauliflowers, Mrs. Ronald Harris; vegetables and fruit, Mr. White; soup bones and vegetables, Mr. Marsh; cake and rolls, Colborne Street Methodist Church.

Not Yet Satisfied With Plan for Court

The juvenile court continued to be a topic for interested discussion at the meeting held this week of the Women's Labor party, presided over by the president, Mrs. Fred White. Having taken an active part in the campaign for the establishment of a court to deal with juvenile delinquents, general gratification was expressed that at last definite action has been taken by the city council. At the same time, officers and members were unanimous in holding to the opinion that, in the best interests of the young people to be dealt with in the court, a separate juvenile court judge should be appointed.

The objection they expressed to the arrangement of the city council, whereby the police magistrate exercises also the function of juvenile court judge, was that both public and young offenders will be inclined to associate the juvenile institution with police court and procedure in connection with crime. One of the chief objects in establishing the court, they claimed, was to entirely dissociate the work from police court.

WITH THE BRIDES WAY-DAVIS.

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Wilfred Hulbert, Hamilton road, when Miss Leah, only daughter of Mr. A. E. Davis, was married to Charles S. Way, youngest son of Mrs. S. T. Way. The house was effectively decorated with fall flowers, the decorations in the dining-room carrying out a color scheme of yellow and white.

The bride, gowned in white satin, and wearing a bridal veil, caught with orange blossoms, was given in marriage by her father. As the bride entered the living-room, the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by the bride's brother, Mr. Lester Davis.

Rev. G. T. Watts performed the ceremony. Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served, and the young couple left later on a honeymoon which will be spent in Detroit, Chicago and Minneapolis. For traveling the bride wore a tan crepe knit dress, a tan cloth coat and a smart feathered hat to match. Upon their return they will reside in London.

TIFFIN-CURTIS. SARNIA, Sept. 6.—A very pretty wedding took place at noon on Wednesday at the beautiful home of A. Curtis at Pine Grove, five miles from Court-ville, when Miss Nellie Fern Curtis of Sarnia became the bride of Mr. Beverly Tiffin of Windsor. The bride was charming in a dress of pearl gray beaded silk crepe, shoes and gloves to match, and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. The house was beautifully decorated throughout in a color scheme of pink, green and white.

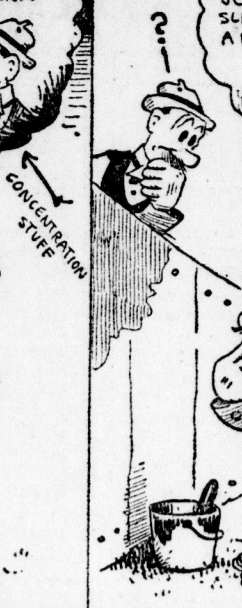

Deeper colors are expected to be favored. Coral, deep orchid, golden maize follow flesh color in popularity. Tailored styles with little trimming are preferred. The trimming is often of two-toned ribbon twisted into flowers or bows; lace is used sparingly, and applique designs of the material of the garment are very well liked.

AFTERNOON COATS. Coats for afternoon wear feature voluminous fur collars and cuffs, but are cut on straight practical lines.

WILLIAMS-FLITTON. A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Flitton, Simcoe street, Wednesday evening, when their eldest daughter, Irene, became the bride of John Edwin Williams of London, son of Mr. Walter J. Williams of Mirwin Heights. Elder Harrison officiated. Sixty guests were present, and the ceremony was performed under an arch of asters and honeysuckle. The bride, who was given away by her grandfather, wore a gown of white and gold lace over georgette crepe and a bridal veil, wreathed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower of gladioli and asters. Miss L. Williams was the bridesmaid, prettily frocked in white net over yellow satin. Mr. Harold Flitton, brother of the bride, attended the groom. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony. The groom's gift to the bride was a Hudson seal coat to the bridesmaid a rope of pearls, to the pianist an antique brooch, to the best man a watch chain, and to the four hostesses, Miss G. Lewis, Miss G. Stanton, Miss L. Smith, Miss O. Nickle, a rope of pearls, and to the flower girl, Miss Peggy Bean, a gold ring. The feature of the evening was the booby prize carried off by the bride's grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. Williams left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto, the bride traveling in a blue serge suit and hat to match. Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Buller of Walkerville and Mr. Eber and family of Detroit. After Sept. 12 Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home at 482 Simcoe street, city.

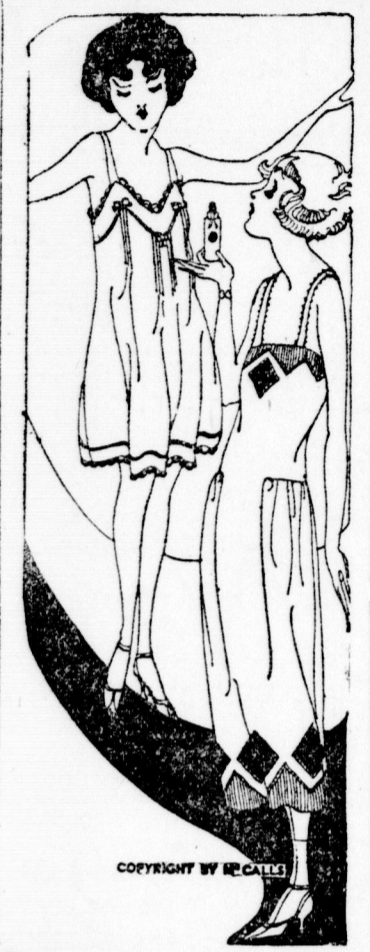

Trains. Trains are featured on nearly all the elaborate evening frocks for the coming season. Some may have the only ornamentation that is heading or embroidery, that is, frock coats.

RESURRECTION ROCK by Edwin Balmer

(Continued From Our Last Issue). "He had a boat; he wants to say I was a humble man; I took fish on hooks and in nets."

Barney wrote out his next question before saying it aloud: "Maneto o mikweniman no nossan gale ningsalan?"

"He wants to say," replied the voice, "I have never heard of father."

"Ninga?"

"He says, 'Yes.' He says, 'Mother I knew; mother came to shore bearing child; not born child; he says: 'She was very sick; I took her in canoe, that is.'"

"What did he do for my mother?"

"He says, 'Took her to my house in the lonely place where was woman, my wife.' He says, 'There boy was born; you stayed there.'"

"What happened to my mother?"

"She was very sick; but she did not die; she went away."

"When?"

"At the moon of the wild rice gathering."

"When she went away, he means?"

"Yes."

"Then when did she come?"

"In the moon of the breaking snow-shoes."

"What year?"

The medium made no direct answer; but after a pause the voice continued: "He says that all summer she fed the baby at her breast till she went sick again. He wants to tell you that she said, when she went away, she surely would return. He says, 'There I lived until water froze again.' He says, 'But no one came back; so I went away.'"

"Where did you go?" Barney cried quickly, as the medium's picture changed; gone from her, as surprisingly as they had come, were the slight motions of her hands, the jerking and mannerisms which had characterized the presence of the "control." Mrs. Davol slowly sat upright and gazed dully about like an ordinary, over-fed woman making an apparent effort of memory to recognize her callers.

"Well, dearie," she said at last to Ethel. "Did you get satisfied? Was there good results?"

Ethel realized, with a gasp, that the seance was over.

CHAPTER XIV "YOU think we'd better have Kin-cheloo arrested?" Ethel asked Barney when she returned home.

"I'd like to know what he's doing now," Barney said.

"Oh; Bepnet's told me. He's having his sort of a fast time. That part of Chicago's called, by people who go there, 'Little Paris.'"

That's why the house was built and left to wait; for you!"

"But this which we learned to-night, Barney, helps a lot; your mother came—with you," she added gently. "To the shore there beyond St. Florentin. In April—the moon of the breaking snowshoes," she repeated the poetry of the Indian phrase, "Noah Jo—we may as well call him that—took her in his boat across the channel to Resurrection Rock where he and his wife took care of her. You were born there, in September your mother was sick. She did not die—there, at least. But she went away and did not come back, though Noah Jo waited there until winter—"

"November, he meant," Barney supplied. "He spoke of the freezing of water; that is the Chipewya name for November—the moon of the freezing again."

"I see, and then, as he was a nomad, he went away and took you; he died—now you're coming to affairs you learned from Azen Maboo—and gave you to Azen without being able to tell anything about you but that the ring went with you. We really got quite a lot tonight, didn't we, Barney?"

"I've got," Barney said, his hands still clenched behind him, "more than I ever had in all my life before."

He moved a little nearer her. "I mean from you—Miss Ethel Carew. You're a strange girl; the finest and noblest in all the world," he added quickly. "You turned against your own people, and you trusted me!"

"You, Barney? Why not? How could I help it?"

"Don't!" he warned swiftly. "I've got to thinking about you in a way I never should."

"How do you think about me, Barney?"

"Think?" he repeated. "I don't think about you. I can't. I love—love—love you! There, I've said it!"

He snatched his hands apart behind him and struck them together before him in his dismay.

"You love me, Barney?" she said. "Love you! Love you!"

"I love you, Barney. I've loved you from our first morning together. I think."

"No; no; no!" he tried to deny her; but she only smiled up at him and said:

"Yes; you've known that, Barney. That's been what's troubled you; not that you loved me, but that it was so plain that I loved you!"

"So plain!" he denied, almost furiously, for her. "It wasn't. It's not true now!"

"Oh, isn't it? Do you suppose I'm ashamed?"

He dropped to his knees before her and caught her hands and held them.

He bent his head and drew her hands to his lips; and his kiss, though not at all like the first love kiss she had dreamed to be hers some day, brought her amazing ecstasy. She loved this boy who so loved her and

He gazed steadily into her eyes, knowing what she would not, and yet wishing to ask. Had he been, even without love, another girl?"

"There are some advantages in being brought up in an Indian shack, Ethel," he said. "They've only one room often, you know; with sometimes two families or three; and lots of human living is there. What you learn turns you straight either one way or the other; it turned me to look for—for you; and to wait till I'd found you."

She bent down and kissed his fingers; so he arose and drew her up with him. For a few moments he held her against him with her bosom trembling on his throbbing breast; then, slipping his arms lower, he lifted her and, laughing at her quiver under his strength, he strode with her a few steps and catching her higher, he brought his lips to her.

CHAPTER XV BENNET, having gone directly home from Scott street, had found his grandfather still up and reading.

"Well, Lucas demanded, thrusting his fingers through his thick hair, as he looked up when Bennet entered. "Where have you been this fine evening?"

Bennet proceeded to relate all incidents in order except for the mention of the spirit who showed the letters "J.Q." Being aware that any reference to Quinlan was unpleasant to his grandfather, Bennet made the most of his satirical description of the other "acts" before he told about the spook who had displayed a capital J. and Q.

This evoked from his grandfather a different quality of attention, but there was no distinct alteration in the moment they caught sight of you."

"And the women, you! Yet you didn't care until you saw me! Not even abroad, Barney, in England and France where girls—"

(To Be Continued.)

"ALL THE MEN IN THE WORLD MUST HAVE LOVED YOU, ETHEL."

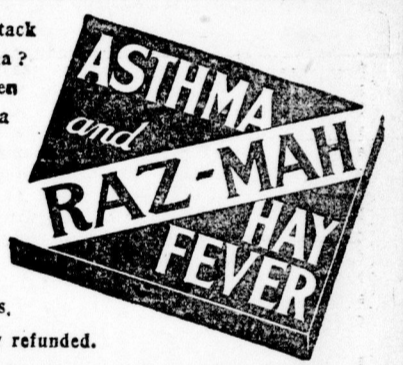

"Nor I! Nor I!" Ethel cried; she caught his hands now and held him before her.

"You'd not? All the men in the world must have loved you, Ethel, in the moment they caught sight of you."

"And the women, you! Yet you didn't care until you saw me! Not even abroad, Barney, in England and France where girls—"

Radio Radiations

TALKING movies have become an assured success through the aid of radio.

The little vacuum tube, which sends and detects sound, sailing through the ether, is the means by which inventors have been able to co-ordinate action and speech on the silver screen. The man who had an important part in the perfection of this tube now can claim a share in the completion of the talking movie film.

He is Dr. Lee De Forest of New York, who is prepared to exhibit what he terms his "phonofilm," by which the characters on the screen are made to talk at the same time. With him, however, in this endeavor to produce a talking film have been other inventors. Most famous among them have been C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, D. C., and Prof. Joseph T. Tykociner, of the University of Illinois.

These two inventors have already produced instruments, the principles of which seem to have been co-ordinated into the ultimate invention of Dr. De Forest. The Jenkins apparatus is said to be based on the principle of transmission of pictures by wireless. According to the inventor, movies may be transmitted from a central broadcasting station, just as are concerts, into the homes of those who own a radio movie receiving outfit.

Jenkins has been experimenting for more than 20 years on the various stages of motion picture exhibition. About a year ago, he conceived the radio movie transmission problem. Tykociner.

Professor Tykociner's invention relates more to the co-ordination of sound and sight on a film, than to their transmission by radio. He also worked on this machine for 20 years before he felt safe in announcing his invention. His apparatus photographs the object and the sound at the same time and on the same strip of film. It is equipped with a mercury arc of special construction.

The intensity of light varies with the speech of the actor. It is focused upon the moving film by a sound picture the rest. This guarantees synchronism of sound and action.

With the radio transmission idea of Jenkins and the talking idea of Professor Tykociner to work on, Dr. De Forest has been able to complete his own radio talking movie film. His contribution is the vacuum tube, the same time the film is shown.

With the help of this audio amplifier and of selenium photoelectric cells, the voice is reconstructed at the same time the film is shown.

BECK EXPLAINS RADIAL SCHEME

Declares That Hydro-Electric Roads Would Bring 2,000,000 To Toronto Fair.

Deprecates Reported Misunderstanding With Canadian N. E. Heads.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—In a 20-minute speech at the C. N. E. directors' luncheon this afternoon Sir Adam Beck pictured the near approach of the time when his hydro-electric roads would bring 2,000,000 to the fair.

His speech was mainly a plea for the radials, and he made the challenge that if the radial lines were given a free right-of-way through the country they would carry traffic at one-fifth the cost of motor bus transportation. He predicted that out of Buffalo alone his Niagara radial would bring 100,000 people in two weeks.

He promised the C. N. E. heads that the exhibition would not suffer by reason of the right-of-way cutting through the Exhibition Park, but he did not say whether it would be an open or a closed cut that would carry the six-track radial line.

Largest in World.

Sir Adam passed quickly to the topic of hydro, asserting that the hydro had 347 municipalities partnered in the largest electric enterprise in the world, and covering an area using more electric power proportionately than any other country.

So far as the officials of the exhibition and the hydro are concerned," said Sir Adam, "we never had any difference in regard to the right-of-way passing through these grounds. There never can be a difference because we are in common with the people, because we both need to protect the best interests of the people."

"It is a misunderstanding," declared Sir Adam with some heat, "that we have a controversy in matters in serving the public. It is only through a unanimous and sacrificing effort of service to the people that we are able to progress. We have always appreciated this fair, and we have not reached the maximum in respect to the amount of light and power supplied here."

Again Sir Adam returned to the question of the radial right-of-way through the Exhibition, when in his closing words he said: "We will meet them so far as the entrance is concerned. We will be a blessing to them. You will welcome that railway, and it will be a benefit to you."

Dalrymple Speaks.

J. E. Dalrymple, vice-president of the G. T. R., said that after hearing Sir Adam he would change the tenor of his remarks. "I want to pass on to you the remarks made by Sir Joseph Flavelle, chairman of the Grand Trunk board of directors and one of your own citizens. He told the officers of the road the other day that he had been told the people had an impression that the officers of the G. T. R. and the C. N. E. were opposed to public ownership. 'No matter what you may think,' he said, 'these roads are now owned and controlled by the people, and it is up to you officers to do your best and make them go.'"

Mr. W. J. K. Skillicorn, rates assistant to the general manager of the South African Railways, was also a guest, and spoke briefly.

HINDU APPEAL WILL BE HEARD

Premier King Tells Indian Councillor Parliament Will Decide Issue.

Points Out That Eight Provinces Now Extend Franchise To Petitioners.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Parliament is to be invited to consider the extension of the Dominion franchise to natives of India resident in Canada. A few days ago Right Hon. Srinavas Sastry, a member of the Council of State for India, interviewed the prime minister and members of the Dominion government to urge the enfranchisement of his fellow countrymen. The interview took place in private, but reports have since been current that the prime minister had refused the request made by Mr. Sastry.

Referred by a Canadian Press representative to these reports tonight, Premier Mackenzie King issued a copy of a letter he had written to Mr. Sastry on the subject. Mr. King's letter, which is dated Sept. 5, reads: "In reply to the representations made by you at the interview with my colleagues and myself on Friday of last week, and which were the subject of further conference between us yesterday, I desire to assure you that, at the earliest possible moment, the government will be pleased to invite the consideration of parliament to your request that natives of India resident in Canada be granted a Dominion parliamentary franchise on terms and conditions equal with those which govern the exercise of that right by Canadian citizens generally.

"The subject is necessarily one which parliament can determine. It will be submitted to parliament for consideration when the franchise law is under revision.

In conveying to the government of India an expression of the attitude of the government of Canada in this matter, we hope you will not fail to make it clear that at the present time in eight out of the nine provinces of which our Dominion is composed the federal franchise is granted to natives of India resident in Canada, on terms which are identical with those applicable generally to Canadian citizens."

MACAROW JUDGMENT TO BE GIVEN SEPTEMBER 14

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—It was announced today by Judge DeCartere that judgment in the D. C. Macarow case will be given on Sept. 14 at 10 a.m. The reason for the delay is due to the lengthy evidence which followed the prolonged enquete three weeks ago.

Macarow as former manager of the Merchants Bank, is charged with having made a false return to the government.

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. HANSEN, 562 Symmonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

SEEK SOLUTION OF MURDER MYSTERY

Police Baffled by Case of Italian's Body Found in Welland Canal.

Special to London Advertiser.

FRANTFORD, Sept. 7.—Mystery still surrounds the murder of Joe Schronia, according to local officials. The murdered man's body was found in the Welland Canal early on Tuesday morning with a rope around his throat, and his head badly battered as though hit with a heavy, blunt instrument. It is presumed that the man was murdered by some gangsters, who have been operating extensively in the past few months. Schronia was a brother of Dominic Schronia, who was murdered near Lewiston, N. Y., some three months ago, and was also a relative of the man found murdered at Oakville, Ont.

Schronia left his home about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, but left no word as to where he was going. Some three or four hours later his body was found in the Welland Canal. The murdered man usually carried a nickel engraved gold watch. This was missing when his body was found. The provincial police found a newly dug grave, but this was only about three feet deep. It was presumed that the murderer had intended to bury the victim, but that they were interrupted, and in an effort to escape threw the body into the canal.

About two months ago Schronia and his brother were in the vicinity of the courthouse while on their way home from work about 11 o'clock. As they approached the courthouse a Ford car, with side curtains drawn up, passed by them. As it did three shots were fired from it. The car rushed away in the darkness, and nothing more was seen of it, although the police made an effort to find out who the would-be assassins were. It is presumed that the dastardly crime recently committed was the work of the same gang.

BRANDS CHARGE OF H. FERGUSON AS FALSEHOOD

Premier Drury Challenges Conservative Leader To Prove Statements.

STAKES REPUTION Declares No Secret Agreement Made With Backus Interests.

GRIMSBY, Sept. 7.—Characterizing the charge as utterly without foundation, Premier Drury today dealt with Hon. G. Howard Ferguson's statement in a recent speech that the English River timber limit had been disposed of by secret agreement between the Ontario government and E. W. Backus.

Dealing with the Ferguson charges, the premier said: "There is scarcely a word of that true. In fact, I think I can say out and out that not a word of that is true. The honorable gentleman says that I am personally involved in that a secret agreement was made in my office. He says he will prove it or resign. I have no faith in his promises. We have had them before, and they have not been fulfilled. There was no secret agreement. Mr. Ferguson says there was a secret agreement. Where was Mr. Ferguson if anything was wrong? If he knew that anything was wrong he should have come out and stopped the deal."

"Now he comes and throws mud in the hope that some of it will stick. The charge that Mr. Ferguson makes is utterly foundationless, the government cares no more for Mr. Backus than for any other with whom we do business. If Mr. Ferguson thinks he can prove what he says I shall be glad to let him name any form of investigation that is reasonable, let him stake his position in public life on the outcome; naturally, mine will be involved, too."

QUEBEC FANS ANGRY AS STRONG MAN MIX PUT OFF

QUEBEC, Sept. 7.—Thirty-five hundred disappointed fans left the Quebec Arena at 11 o'clock last night without seeing the widely heralded strong man contest between Wilfrid Cabana of Montreal and Victor De Lamarre of Lake Bonchette for the championship of the world. De Lamarre was on hand and ready to go on with the contest, but Cabana failed to put in an appearance, and his failure to appear is said to be due to a disagreement with the promoter relative to a cash guarantee.

Woman's Death Shriek As Car Rolls Into Gorge Restores Man's Memory

WINDSOR, Sept. 7.—The shock of witnessing the tragic death of a woman, hurled over Niagara Falls in an automobile Tuesday, restored the memory of Horace Newman, a Windsor mail carrier. Newman, who was reported missing, wandered to the Falls while suffering from amnesia.

Newman stated today that Friday he remembered telephoning his office that he would be unable to report. After that he said he could remember nothing, until he heard the death shriek of Mrs. Agatha Miller of Cleveland as the brakes on her car slipped and she and the car dropped 200 feet over Niagara Falls.

As near as Newman's actions can be traced, he returned to his home Friday and, changing his clothes, walked at least 50 of the 200 miles to Niagara Falls. He believes that some passing motorist gave him a ride for the rest of the distance. Newman is a veteran of both the English and Canadian armies, having served six years in India and enlisted in the Canadian army during the world war at the age of 42, although he was exempt. He saw active service in France and was gassed. He believes that his war experiences coupled with worry over money matters led to his mental lapse.

Copper and Brass Company, Toronto, has been selected to represent the employers of Canada, while Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, will represent Canadian work people.

RAPS GIVING OF DOLES TO HELP WORKLESS MEN

Canadian Conference On Labor Conditions Finds Unemployment Peak Past. ADVOCATES REGULATION

Urges Industrial Co-operation To Distribute Work Over Entire Year.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Condemning the practice of handing out unemployment doles, declaring the belief that the peak of unemployment is now passed, and that no additional means for dealing with it are necessary, and enunciating the principle "that the problem of unemployment is primarily one of industry and that every effort should be made in industry to prevent the occurrence of unemployment," the national conference on unemployment, which opened here last night, came to a close shortly before midnight.

All day the delegates had sat behind closed doors, and it was not until after 11 o'clock that they began to emerge, some of them hurrying to catch the night train. Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, handed out two resolutions which had been passed unanimously by the conference. He was asked specifically with regard to the attitude of the conference on doles.

"The conference," he said, "expressed the opinion that the practice of handing out doles is wrong in principle and is harmful to the worker, and should not be resorted to until all other measures have failed."

The first resolution handed to the press by Mr. Murdock, which, he said, had received the unanimous indorsement of the conference, is as follows:

Urges Regulation. "In connection with attention which has been given by this conference to the subject of unemployment and the measures which may be deemed necessary by the public authorities in Canada to provide for the relief of unemployed persons, the conference hereby places on record as an expression of its views: That the problem of unemployment is primarily one of industry and that every effort should be made in industry to prevent the occurrence of unemployment."

"It is recognized that the causes of unemployment in some cases may be outside of particular industries and in part due to causes which are international. This conference, therefore, urges upon those engaged in industry the necessity of regulating employment in the interests alike of employer and employee."

The second resolution, which was moved by Hon. R. E. Fynn and seconded by C. W. Robinson, also received the unanimous indorsement of the conference. It is as follows:

"Whereas, in departments of government, both federal and local, there are avenues open for employment; and whereas, the Canadian National Railway board is the manager and operator of the Canadian National Railway and Canadian government system; and whereas, there are boards administering under legislative authority—special departments of public works in the various provinces; and Unanimity Claimed.

"Whereas, there are recurring periods of unemployment; there, this conference recommends that the Railway board and the boards administering the special departments of public work and railway operation so as to distribute the work in such a manner as to relieve unemployment to the greatest possible extent throughout Canada."

It was stated that there had been unanimity on all the points mentioned. The unemployment situation was thoroughly canvassed and the difficulties of the various provinces discussed.

question discussed, namely, the matter of baptism. It was pointed out that individuals in the laity had different convictions on the question. Some held that "Christening" did not mean "baptizing." There was the impression that in the case of infants who were baptized by sprinkling, or pouring, that the child was only christened, and upon reaching adult age would have to be "baptized" in immersion. This, Rev. M. Drake pointed out, was a matter for the ministry to set right in the minds of the people. "The standards of the Church," said Rev. Drake, "and the private convictions in a man's mind, are two different things." The speaker claimed that the reason the church was not strong in Nova Scotia could be traced to the above set rule covering every case. In doubtful cases, for instance where the person is not sure whether he was baptized in infancy, the minister should use his judgment. The rule of infant baptism was upheld. "Unless we be as little children," quoted Mr. Drake, "we shall in nowise enter the Kingdom of God."

There were some minor details attended to in the form used in taking new members into the church. It was decided to add a form for receiving probationers to the discipline.

Makes Plea For Funds. Rev. M. Drake before adjourning made a plea for funds, stating that the need for money was never more urgent than now. Aside from the expenses, incidental to carrying on the convention, there were many other uses, stated the speaker, the most urgent of which was the paying for the new church, bought recently at 229 Maitland street. The congregation was a comparatively small one, and any outside contributions would be gratefully appreciated. "We are aiming at an objective of $50,000," said the speaker in concluding, "an amount not large, but which will be used to the best advantage."

Friday afternoon, it was announced, the work would consist mainly in a survey of the church. In the evening, the Rev. R. B. Ball, representative of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, a visitor from Hartford, Conn., will address the assembly, bringing official greetings from his church. Rev. I. H. Jackson and Rev. M. Stuart will reply. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to general discussion.

That the next two or three years would be trying ones for prohibition, was the statement Mrs. Wright, national president of the W. C. T. U., made at the Thursday evening session of the convention. Mrs. Wright touched on the responsibility which she would have to shoulder, and urged her hearers to do their part well. The laws relating to prohibition, stated Mrs. Wright, were good in themselves, but the trouble seemed to be in the enforcement of the law. Mrs. Richardson, a lay delegate from Toronto, also spoke.

Re-elected to Office. Re-elected for a third four-year term to the office of general superintendent of the British Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, Rev. S. J. Macdonald, having to shoulder, and urged her hearers to do their part well. The laws relating to prohibition, stated Mrs. Wright, were good in themselves, but the trouble seemed to be in the enforcement of the law. Mrs. Richardson, a lay delegate from Toronto, also spoke.

Mr. Edwards stated that while the just call on funds, a considerable portion had been given to aid the Woman's Missionary Society.

The conference will occupy the remainder of this week and Monday next. Rev. R. A. Ball of Toronto presided over the elections held in the afternoon.

Rev. Thomas H. Jackson of Guelph becomes the new general secretary. The financial board will be as follows: Rev. R. A. Ball, president; Rev. I. H. Edwards of Windsor, secretary, and Frank M. Edmonds of Windsor, treasurer.

GIVES CURE FOR BUILDING TRADE NEW OATS SELL AT $1 AN CITY SQUARE

John David, at Kiwanis Club, Tells of Contractors' Problems. Calls for More Co-operation in Life and Less Individualism.

"Expand the lines of limitation in the building trade, and you will have removed the lack of continuity of employment, the greatest evil in the building trade," said John David, president of the Kiwanis Club, at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

"Simplicity no longer holds in the building industry. A big job today calls for at least forty different sorts of mechanics, and the trade is so tied up with restrictions and limitations that although at one time all the plumber did was to lay pipe, now he has become a sort of sanitary engineer, and if pipe is ordinary black pipe, it takes men of one trade to do it, yet if the job is the same, but the pipe galvanized, mechanics of another trade must do it."

Hard to Estimate. "If a contractor could estimate the number of men he could take on a job to carry it through to the end, the cost of building would decrease rapidly, but when his bricklayers have finished laying bricks he must lay them off, even though he could use them at finishing up cement floors, and so on."

Refracting his remarks on the building trade with ideas on conditions in general, "There are no Sir John Macdonalds in this country or Abraham Lincolns across the border," Mr. Kennedy said.

"People are beginning to realize that there are too many leaders with too many ideas on conditions in the building trade, and single-mindedness at the head."

Lack of Followers. "And there are no real honest-to-goodness followers. Individualism is asserting itself to such an extent that there is lack of co-operation unless we realize this and stabilize our industries and commerce, the general confusion resulting is going to carry us into disaster."

"The building trade is the barometer of general conditions everywhere," he concluded. "It is the most important factor in the economic situation everywhere, and as such, it demands that the people as a whole stand back of it."

Russell Wright was booster for the day, and his three prizes went to George Lethbridge, Harry Lackey and G. McClary.

Live Soldiers Outing. Forty cars from the Kiwanis Club go Friday night to the Westminster Hotel to take the soldiers for the trip to the coast.

Mr. Kennedy treated the club to a solo, enthusiastically applauded as a prelude to his address, and Mrs. Wm. Workman added much to the program with her two solos.

Two tables, "To and Windsor," were reserved for the Kiwanians who intended going to the Ontario-Quebec convention at Windsor, and indications were that a large delegation would be present.

MANY CASES IN DIVISION COURT AS SESSION OPENS Expect Charge Against William Abel Will Be Heard at Later Date.

With 29 cases on the docket the first division court opened in the Middlesex county courthouse Friday morning with His Honor Judge Joseph Judd presiding.

When the court adjourned after 12 o'clock but a few minor cases had been disposed of, and the more important ones will receive consideration later in the day.

As no new evidence is to be introduced in the case of William Abel, an appeal, entered by the federal authorities, as against a decision recently rendered by Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, the argument will be heard in the judge's chambers at a later date.

Abel was charged with brewing wines contrary to the regulations of the act and without a permit, and the federal authorities, it is claimed, are appealing the decision as a test.

When Fred Copp was charged with negligent and reckless driving in police court this morning, he pleaded that it was necessary to him to speed as he was taking an injured man home from the Grand Trunk roundhouse.

Magistrate Graydon pointed out to him that the difference in time in driving one mile at the speed limit and one mile at 40 miles an hour, or 20 miles an hour over the speed limit, was only one and one-half minutes. As Copp's trip was only a half mile, he would only save a fraction of a minute, it was shown.

After hearing the constable's evidence, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon decided to reduce the charge to speeding and imposed a $5 fine.

HINDUS LOYAL TO EMPIRE, BUT SEEK EQUAL RIGHTS

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—The people of India do not wish to leave the British Empire, but want to remain in it only on a basis of equality with its other citizens.

This is the message brought from India to Canada by the Right Hon. Sriyashastri, member of the Indian Council of state. This is what Mr. Sastri, a picturesque figure in the white turban of his own country, told members of the Empire Club at their luncheon today, when he spoke with eloquence on developments in India and their effect on the relation of that vast country to the British Empire.

Mr. Sastri believes that the status of the few thousand Hindus in British Columbia is a point of enormous importance in stimulating friction between India and the remainder of the empire—of an importance all out of proportion to the number of his compatriots directly concerned.
