THOMAS STONE & SON

Ladies' High Grade Footwear

HERE'S AN ART in Footwear, although few stores give any evidence of that fact. It requires great skill to produce an artistic boot, one that combines comfort and graceful appearance. We know of two American makers who excel in that respect. They are Krohn Fehchheimer & Co., of Cincinnati, and Hathway, Soule & Harrington, Boston, Mas. They produce the finest and most artistic of Ladies' Boots. Their styles are models of elegance and grace in Footwear. Their boots fit perfectly and possess an attractiveness of style that win the favor with careful dressers.

We are the recognized headquarters for American Footwear in Chatham.

MAGISTRATE AND COUNSEL GREW BITTER IN WINDSOR

They Said Many Ugly Things to One Another—Bench Said Lawyer Bungled Case, While Latter Threw Back Equally Tart Stuff.

Windsor, Ont., June 11.—Magistrate Bartlett, and City Solicitor Ellis, had a lively tilt in the Police Court over the Queen City Oil Co. case yesterday afternoon. This was not the first time that his worship and the lawyer have crossed swords, and the memory of past scrimmages served but to increase the bitterness of their repartee.

When the evidence was produced the magistrate discovered that the city solicitor was trying to convict the company for the same offense against the fire by-law, as the company's agent, Walter McGregor, had been convicted some weeks ago. His worship maintained that if he convicted the company, one of the judgments must necessarily be set aside, in case of appeal. Mr. Ellis sought to argue the case, but the magistrate stopped him, saying:

"Listen to me."

"I have done nothing but listen to you," said the lawyer.

"You have bungled this case from the beginning," returned the magistrate growing red in the face. "You are anxious to get me to convict the company for an offense, alleged to have been committed on the same day as the one for which McGregor has already been convicted. I don't propose to be merely a tool in your hands."

"I can't get a chance to make a single statement," said the city solicitor, "unless I get up like a fish-wife and shout at the top of my lungs."

"You are certainly the most extraordinary legal adviser I have ever seen," retorted his worship. "I have to deal with every lawyer in town, but your methods are beyond all comprehension."

EXCHANGE OF COURTESIES.
"You have trouble with every lawyer," said Mr. Ellis. "There isn't one in the city but dislikes to bring a case before you. Before the evidence was in, or the case had been argued, you said that you would not make a conviction. The counsel for the defense tried to hold you to that statement this morning."

"If you want me to be a tool in your hands, you're mistaken," reiterated his worship.

"I will conduct my cases as I see fit," said the solicitor. "You made a nice mess of the Dunn case, where you persisted in arresting five people and said you would arrest every person in the county, if you thought you were justified. Your decision was completely upset."

"I took the advice of a man in your own profession in arresting those people," returned his worship, with a snort, "and I was glad to see my judgment set aside."

The cross-firing gradually died away, and the case was enlarged until this morning at 9 o'clock.

LORD KITCHENER REPORTS A GOOD MONTH'S WORK

Boer Fighting Force has Been Reduced by 2,640—Rumor That Kitchener and Botha Have Reached a Tentative Settlement—A Yarn Exploded.

London, June 10.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria, under today's date, says the number of Boers killed, imprisoned or surrendered during the last month totalled 2,640. From June 1 to June 9, twenty-six Boers were killed, four were wounded, 409 were made prisoners, and 33 surrendered, and 651 rifles, 115,550 rounds of ammunition, 120 lagoon and 4,000 horses were captured.

EASTERN TRANSVAAL.
Cape Town, June 10.—Gen. Bullard's operation in the Eastern Transvaal has been eminently successful in keeping Gen. Botha's force in a comparatively small area. (The bulk of Botha's command, with who he is at present, is still south of the Delagoa Bay Railway. There are now only 600 Boers north of the line.)

KITCHENER AND BOTHA.
London, June 10.—The Weekly Dispatch, which recently anticipated accurately several official announcements in regard to the peace negotiations in South Africa, says Lord Kitchener and Gen. Botha, the Boer commander-in-chief, accompanied by two aides as witnesses, held a protracted conference a few miles from Standerton on June 5 and arrived at a tentative settlement.

MRS. BOTHA'S MISSION.
London, June 10.—The Sun says Mrs. Botha will start Wednesday for The Hague, where Mr. Kruger has been summoned to attend a conference of the Boer agents in Europe and the United States, to consider the report Mrs. Botha has brought from her husband in which he advises Mr. Kruger, as the constitutional head of the Transvaal, to sue for peace on the best terms obtainable.

KRUGER AND LEYDS TOGETHER.
The Hague, June 10.—Mr. Kruger and Dr. Leyds arrived here today. They drove from the railroad station at Hilversum Junction in a closed carriage, and are staying at the residence of Mr. Wolmarans, one of the Boer peace envoys.

WON'T VISIT AMERICA.
Washington, D. C., June 10.—It is understood that former President Kruger, of the Transvaal, will not visit the United States during the coming summer or fall. At one time there was a prospect that Mr. Kruger might make such a visit, but those having some knowledge of his movements, say the visit will not be made, at least for the present.

A BERLIN YARN.
Berlin, June 10.—The Kleines Journal to-day prints a despatch from The Hague saying that Queen Wilhelmina's recent visit here was meant to obtain Emperor William's consent to end the South African war, both the Swabund and the Dreibund being

A FAR DIFFERENT STORY.
The Associated Press has obtained the following foreign office statement, which is authorized by Count Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor:—"Neither Great Britain, France nor Russia ever approached Germany to negotiate in any action aiming at ending the South African war. Germany has all along distinguished between offering her good offices and intervention. To render her good offices would be possible under certain circumstances, viz.:—If both parties to the war should request it; but it will be remembered that Great Britain joined The Hague conference only on condition that the Boer states were excluded. There is no doubt that Mr. Kruger, who is a serious statesman, came to Europe to obtain the good offices of several of the powers to end the war; but there is also no doubt that Great Britain does not want their good offices. At least it is true that since the South African war began Great Britain has never either verbally or in writing, confidentially or officially, broached such an idea. It is quite possible that the Boer side has now formally asked The Hague arbitration Court to lend its aid to terminate the war somehow, and that the court has held a session regarding the matter; but that, of course, is entirely different from any serious steps to end the war."

THREE MORE DEATHS.
Ottawa June 10.—Trooper William Hume, of the South African constabulary, who was a corporal of "G" Squadron, died of enteric fever at Bloemfontein, on May 27. Hanum was from Kildare. Trooper Charles Hallett, who was in "F" Squadron, died of wounds at Rietfontein on May 31. Hallett was from Woonona, Manitoba. Trooper Edward Mullins also died of enteric fever at Elandfontein. He was from Hillsborough, New Brunswick, and joined at Halifax.

OBSERVATION CAR.
A novel contrivance steamed into the city last evening about 5.20 o'clock. It was an engine coal car and palace car, all built together. The palace car is placed right over the boiler of the engine, and is fitted with fancy and easy chairs and the floor is nicely carpeted.

This is what is called an observation car and is the private property of Mr. Tait. It was given to Mr. Tait by Dr. Webb, of the New York Central, and is the only one in Canada. Dr. Webb has one with six drive wheels.

Mr. Tait's has been on the road in Canada about two weeks. From here it goes to Guelph, Woodstock and St. Thomas.

A GENUINE SCORCHER

It was no Freeze-out Firing on the Str. Erie During her Big Race.

Chathamite who Went Through the Ordeal Talks of the Struggle—Pins his Faith to the Erie in Another Race.

"It was the fastest ride that I ever had. We got over a distance of about one hundred miles and during that time we shovelled one hundred tons of coal."

These words were addressed to a Planet representative this morning by John Houston, who acted as a fireman on the steamer Erie when she defeated the steamer Tashmoor in the race held a few days ago.

Fast living, however, evidently does not agree with Mr. Houston as he has been forced to come home to recuperate his strength, having been completely overcome with the heat which issued from the furnaces during the race. Mr. Houston is well known in the city, being a son of Nate Houston, of the eleventh concession, Harwich. He sailed, as a fireman, during the whole of last season on the steamer Erie, which plies between Pennsylvania and Buffalo, and returned this spring to resume his duties for the present season.

When the race was arranged between the Erie and the Tashmoor, which plies between Port Huron and Detroit, Mr. Houston, who has the record for being one of the best firemen on the lakes, was chosen to act on this occasion. For two weeks before the race the crew on the Erie worked very hard to get rounded into shape and everything was in first class condition when the eventful day arrived.

In all sixteen firemen were engaged on the Erie. Twelve of these were to put her through the race and the other four were to fire for the return trip.

"The heat coming from those furnaces was something terrific," said Mr. Houston. "Well," he added, "it was so hot that a couple of the firemen were overcome before the race was nearly completed and two of the extra firemen had to take their places. 'Just to show you how much delay every little accident like that causes on such an occasion,' continued he, 'I can tell you that we lost over ten pounds of steam before the two firemen could get below to relieve those who had become exhausted.'"

Mr. Houston is at present in a very bad condition, and it will be some time before he recovers his former health. He will remain at home during the rest of the summer but will again take his place on the Erie next fall.

It is expected that the Erie and the Tashmoor will have another race this fall. Mr. Houston hopes to have sufficiently recovered by that time to again take part in the struggle. This extra fireman, like every other true sailor, is proud of his boat, and expresses it as his opinion that the Erie will experience no difficulty in again defeating the Tashmoor in the race next fall.

The report was adopted.

It was decided to give a grant to Ridgeway, of $600, for a town hall, when the building was completed, provided the building didn't cost less than $10,000, in addition to the grant of $400 already made.

It was also decided to grant one-third of the cost of a swing bridge over the River Sydenham at Tupperville, this not to include the approaches, and the money to be paid on the completion of the work.

OLD PEOPLE

Have a charm of their own when they are not weak and feeble, but hale and hearty, enjoying the sports and pleasures of youth though they cannot participate in them. The whole secret of a sturdy old age is this: Keep the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in perfect order. The young man who does not think of his stomach will be made to think of it as he grows old. It is the "weak" stomach, incapable of supplying the adequate nutrition for the body, which causes the weakness and feebleness of old age.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the "weak" stomach strong, and so enables the body to be fully nourished and strengthened by the food which is eaten.

"I suffered for six years with constipation and indigestion, during which time I employed several physicians but they could not reach my case," writes Mr. C. C. Popplewell of Spruce Spring, Carroll Co., Ark. "I felt that there was no help for me, could my stomach had vertigo and would fall helpless to the floor. Two years ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little 'Pellets' and improved from the start. After taking twelve bottles of the 'Discovery' I was able to do light work, and have been in growing ever since. I am now in good health for one of my age—60 years. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It was moved by Mr. French, seconded by Mr. Sturgis, that it being brought to the attention of this County that a great number of crimes in the County are perpetrated by a class of tramps and well-known criminals, and considering the case with which this class can escape owing to their nearness to the United States and the great difficulty of arresting and convicting them, we would respectfully recommend that when a case can be made out that a sentence should be imposed to deter criminals and that such sentence should not be interfered with unless for good or special cause, and that a copy of this recommendation be forwarded to the Minister of Justice.

Carried.

A special committee was appointed, composed of Messrs. McCoy, Sifton and Voster, to consider the necessity of a bridge at Louisville and to report at the December session.

The Council adjourned to meet on the first Tuesday in December.

The Chatham Cricket Club are contemplating a tour this summer. This is a good idea and one that should be encouraged. At one time Chatham boasted of one of the best cricket clubs in Western Ontario and although a number of the old members are "dropping off" there are a lot of young players coming rapidly forward. New York, June 10.—Terry McGovern has arrived in New York fresh from his recent victories on the Pacific coast. When asked what he thought of Herrera, Terry said:

"That fellow took a lot of beating and no mistake. He is mighty clever, too. In the fourth round he hit me two wallops on the neck, and up to the going-tap I did not know whether I was on my feet or sitting down. Any fighter who wants to challenge him can do it, but he can take the 'tip' from me that Herrera can put in a punch nearly as hard as Tom Sharkey. I think he could whip Joe Bernstein and 'Kid' Broad easily. He came near doing me up with the swift full arm swings that he kept putting in, and is good enough for the best of them."

THE LOCAL BUDGET

Edward Benson, of Saginaw, is visiting his father, Cross street.

James E. Gray, of The Ark, said: "To-day is a Scotch day. It is so close."

W. D. Samson and T. L. Pardo, M. P., were in the city to-day in connection with the business of the Peat Fuel Co.

Wanted, at once, to rent, house with modern improvements, convenient to business. W. J. Taylor, The Taylor Co.

The contract for the new Separate school was let last evening to Blonde Bros. & Co. for $11,500, this being the lowest of about fourteen tenders put in. There were present at the meeting, Chairman James King, John Welsh, Peter Robert, Wm. O'Brien, Jas. Gordon, Frank Gerber, and J. T. O'Keefe.

N. H. Stevens was around this afternoon getting signatures to the petition being circulated to keep Jos. Eberts in the Customs department. The government has expressed an intention of superannuating Mr. Eberts, but he and a number of his friends do not like the proposed change.

CHATHAMITES SUCCESS.

Yesterday's Toronto Globe, in its report of a musical evening at "Glen Mavor," says of Miss Florence Stephenson, of this city, who contributed to the program:

"The instrumental pieces were most pleasantly varied by Miss Stephenson's two songs, given with great spirit and success."

Miss Stephenson's contributions were "Come where Lindens bloom," by Buck, and "The Rosary," by Nevin.

HEROIC MINERS

Many of Them Died in Flame and Smoke—Cyclonic Explosion in Coal Mine.

Special to The Planet.

Pittsburg, June 11.—At 10 o'clock this morning a telegram was received at the Pittsburg Coal Co., owners of the Port Royal mine in which it was stated that there were from 14 to 16 entombed in the burning mine.

Among the number are Wm. McCune, superintendent of the mine, and W. S. Allison, foreman.

Another relief force was sent into the mine at 9 o'clock this morning.

Port Royal, Pa., June 11.—Explosion of gas in shaft No. 2 of the Pittsburg Coal & Coke Co.'s mine at about 6 o'clock last night wrecked the shaft, fired the mine and caused heavy loss of life among miners of the day shift.

The major portion of whom had not yet gotten out of the workings.

Twelve men are missing and probably lost. Three have been rescued badly injured, and 30 or 40 may be entombed.

The scenes about the mouth of the burning shaft, owing to the grief of widowed women and orphaned children are heart-rending in the extreme.

Smoke rose from the mouth of the shaft in volumes during the night. Great excitement prevailed and the entire population of the town was awaiting some news from those thought to be either buried under tons of slate or slowly awaiting either death from flames or relief from the outside, with small chance favoring the latter.

NO HOPE FOR THE MISSING.

After dawn a second party of rescuers came safely out of the mine. They say that the black damp makes work impossible, and they give up hope of finding any of the missing.

Seven years ago there was another disastrous explosion at Port Royal and the mine caught fire. It was necessary to fill it with water to finally quench the flames. To do this a hole was drilled from the bed of the river.

The Port Royal mines are situated on the Youghiogheny river, 37 miles from Pittsburg. They are owned by the Pittsburg Coal Co. The mines are located in the thick vein coal belt, and are, for that reason, extremely gaseous and dangerous.

WENT BRAVELY TO DEATH.

There is little doubt that the first rescuing party, headed by Supt. McCune, went to death. After their descent two more explosions were heard and at 4 o'clock this morning McCune's hat and a couple of his letters had been found, the hat torn to tatters.

McCune was one of the most experienced and popular miners in western Pennsylvania and knew the awful risk he was taking when he went to the rescue of the imprisoned men with his little band of heroes, not all of whose names are yet obtainable.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE.

"If T. L. Pardo contests this riding at the next provincial election, said a local Liberal, 'what the party secrets there will be a three cornered fight. A large number of Liberals are dissatisfied with Mr. Pardo and the dissatisfied ones will run an independent Liberal candidate.'"

A SEVERE TEST. Suffered Very Little Damage By The Hull Fire.

From the Evening Journal, Ottawa, under date June 7th, 1900.

Since many years "The Wrought Iron Range Co., limited," manufactures the "Home Comfort" Stove, which they guarantee to be as resistant and durable as it is possible for the art and labor of men to make them. Their qualities have been fully shown on the occasion of the terrible Hull fire, the 26th of April last. There were eight of these stoves in that part of the city which was devastated by the conflagration; in spite of tumbling walls and chimneys, in spite of the water which flooded them, they were found perfectly preserved in the middle of the ruins. In one case, however, a cast iron pot which happened to be on one of these stoves, melted all over it; the bronze reservoirs were necessarily melted by the terrible heat of the fire and the fancy work was twisted by the fall of roofs and walls; but not a single piece of the main body was deformed, not a lid nor a single dish was broken nor cracked. The company has generously repaired these damages and returned these stoves to their owner in as good a condition as if they were new. The malleable iron and amiantus which enters into, as well as the method used in their manufacture, is what gives these stoves the "Home Comfort Ranges," their admirable force of resistance. The chemical analysis and the mechanical experiences have proved that the malleable iron has against the heat, a force of resistance twelve times and a half greater than cast iron has. The frame of these stoves, the doors and all of which is exposed to the danger of being broken, are made of that metal. The interior pipe and all the principal parts are carefully lined with amiantus, thus making them as durable, as strong and as perfect as possible.

The following certificate received from the proprietors of these stoves, confirm the above:

We the undersigned citizens of Hull, have bought before the last fire, Home Comfort Stoves from the Wrought Iron Co., Limited, of Toronto. These stoves were, during the terrible conflagration, exposed to the most ardent heat and we thought them entirely destroyed. After examining them, however, we found them well preserved, without any bump or displacing of any kind. A vase of cast iron left on one of them, we found all melted on the malleable iron lid on which it had been placed. The company most generously repaired them free of any charge and returned them to us in perfect condition. We do not know of any other style of stove which could have resisted this terrible disaster. Since our experience, we have no doubt whatever that the "Home Comfort Range" stove is without a rival.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man
 we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indications of Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental weakness than all other combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, if you have indulged in excess, and if you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause, don't risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee that if you do not cure your blood disease, we will refund your money.

LITTLE BIG HEROES.

THE PERSONAL APPEARANCE OF SOME GREAT PERSONAGES.

By Far the Larger Part of the Men
 Who Have Ruled the World, Either Intellectually or With the Sword,
 Were Small of Stature.

One of the natural instincts of men is that curiosity which all feel regarding the personal appearance of those persons who have stood mentally high above their fellows. Whenever we read or hear of a great man, and especially when we are familiar with his history, we unconsciously form a picture of his looks and stature to which the contrast of the actual man is often very disappointing.
 Often we refuse to substitute the strange, unsatisfying reality for our own fond creation, especially if the great man is found to be a small one—the intellectual giant a physical dwarf. As a rule we overestimate the height and bulk of our heroes
 and endow them, if attractive, with su-perhuman beauty or, if hateful, with ugly and repulsive looks. It was this feeling which made the people at Yarmouth, England, when Nelson, delicate in body and insignificant in appearance,
 was passing over the quay to take command of his first ship, exclaim, "Why make that little fellow captain?"

During Napoleon's first campaign in Italy, in 1796, the Italians were greatly surprised at his personal appearance.
 His short stature, his pale face, the sickly thinness of his frail body, which seemed consumed by the fires of his genius, but was in reality made of muscles of steel, seized the imagination of the people by the contrast they presented to the dazzling feats of arms. It was a novel and startling experience to find that direct and penetrating glance, that abrupt, imperious gesture, that laconic speech and peremptory and absolute tone—all which bespoke the man born to command—accompanied with such a dwarfish and attem-pered frame.

It is a singular fact that while nothing would seem to be easier than to ascertain the exact size of great men yet it is really difficult and often impossible to do so.
 How long did "the grand monarch," Louis XIV., pass for a large man, being described as such by courtiers and historians! Yet the measurement of his skeleton some years after his death revealed that he was under the average size. Napoleon III., while on the throne, was depicted as majestic in figure. We now know that he was very short, little more than five feet high.

Indeed, far the larger part of the men who have ruled the world either intellectually or with the sword have been men of small stature. Aristotle, the Greek philosopher who for 2,000 years maintained despotic sway over the world of thought, was a slender man with spindle shanks, small eyes and a shrill, stammering speech. In the great council of Nice, consisting of 2,000 delegates, the most potent spirit, who, after long and fierce disputes carried the council with him,
 was Athanasius, a man of very small stature. "A dwarf rather than a giant," says Dean Stanley, "but of almost angelic beauty of face and expression." In his little body dwelt a mighty soul. Combining subtlety of thought and power of eloquence with reasonableness and simplicity of conviction and integrity of spirit, he fought single handed and for half a century the great battle of orthodoxy
 —"having no friend but God and death"
 and today the creed of Athanasius is substantially the creed of Christendom.

Gregory VII., the mightiest and haughti-est of the Roman pontiffs, who dethroned sovereigns at his will, was a diminutive man, and so were Canute the great and the great Conde, Voltaire, the literary autocrat of the eighteenth century and the most brilliant wit of the ages, was one of the thinnest and most spectral of human beings. Two of the most potent spirits that directed the storm of the French revolution, Robespierre and Marat, were far below the average stature. The former, an incarnation of will,
 who by the sheer force of his intellect swayed the multitude and the national assembly at his pleasure, was but five feet two or three inches high, and the latter was less than five feet. Many of the most eminent Frenchmen of the nineteenth century—La Fayette, Polignac, Forvier, Thiers, Guizot—were small, spare, spiritualized beings, who could distinctly feel their own ribs.

Montaigne, the father of essays; Dr.
 Watts, the hymnist; the sickly Scrooge,
 who, in reference to his ill health and insignificant stature, called himself "An abridgment of human miseries;" Alexander Pope, who wore three pairs of stockings to plump out his legs to a decent size and also wore stays; Campbell,
 the author of "Hohenlinden," "a pretty,
 little, delicate, ladylike, finical general," Thomas De Quincey, the "opium eater," were all dwarfish men.
 Suvarrow, the greatest of Russian generals; Frederick the Great, David Garrick, the wonderful actor, and Alexander Hamilton, whom Talleyrand pronounced
 one of the three greatest men he had ever known, were slender and below the middle height. The brave General Marion
 "was in stature of the smallest size, this as well as low," and Dr. Kane, who surpassed all his arctic companions in braving torrid heat and polar cold, was but five feet six in height and weighed at his best but 135 pounds.

But more dwarfish than any of these ghostly beings was that phenomenon of the eighteenth century, the Abbe Galiani
 of Naples. "Personally," says Marmontel,
 "the abbe—who was but four feet and six inches in stature—was the prettiest
 little harlequin that Italy ever produced,
 but upon the shoulders of that harlequin was the head of a Machiavelli." Referring to the frequent and sudden alternations in his conversation, of great, lofty sublime thoughts, which, Sainte Beuve says, were worthy of Vico, if not of Plato, with pleasantries, jests and buf-foeries, the abbe said of himself, "You see that I am two different men kneaded
 together, who, nevertheless, do not entirely occupy the room of one." William Mathews in Saturday Evening Post.

The Silt in the Pen.
 The center silt in a pen is cut by a machine which seems almost to think.
 It consists of two chisels which barely pass each other when the silt is made,
 and the exact way in which the pen is poised so as to place the chisels in the proper position for cutting is one of the marvels of penmaking.

OLD TIMES.

Old Times, come near,
 Bend low, and let me hear
 Thy sweet refrain;
 Bring thy blocks and toys,
 My careless childhood joys.

Run them up and down the door
 Same as happy days of yore,
 I'll laugh and prattle,
 I'll cry a little.
 Now in joy, now in pain,
 For sunshine always follows rain.

Old Times, come near,
 Bend low, so I hear
 Thy faintest whisper.
 There is the girl I loved when a kid,
 The one who always had my sled?
 A painted spinster!
 Why, we've swapped many a hunk
 o' gum,
 An' many a nibble I took at her bun;
 Ruby lips, each tooth a pearl,
 Foolish, foolish, little girl,
 Still ever in life the same refrain—
 Sunshine and shade, pleasure and pain.

Old Times, come near,
 Bend low, so I can hear,
 And tell me this:
 The old schoolmaster, the big tall
 chap,
 Who wielded well a thick black
 strap

And never made a miss?
 And the bully who chased me home
 from school,
 Broke my slate, and stole my rule?
 The bully doin' kid-gloved praisin',
 The other chap a-still a-teachin'.
 Yet ever in life the same refrain—
 Sunshine always follows rain.

Old Times, come near,
 Bend low, and let me hear
 More of thy story.
 The dunce who always wore the cap
 And danced before the big black
 strap?

Now splurged with glory!
 And the chap who spelled the test
 And always tattled on the rest,
 The teacher's pet?
 A-studyin' yet!
 Still ever in life the same refrain—
 Sunshine always follows rain.

Old Times, come near,
 Bend low, and let me whisper in thine ear

The oft-told story.
 I love thee, Good Old Times;
 In thee a lingering memory finds
 Some added glory.
 The teacher lickin', the bully kickin'
 And stealin' o' my rule;
 A-studyin' gum, a nibblin' bun—
 those happy days at school.
 Old Times, good-bye, you've made
 me kinda sad,
 When I remember all the happy days
 I've had,
 Still ever in life the same refrain—
 Sunshine and shade, pleasure and pain.

TORONTO SCULPTOR SUCCEEDS.

His Model for Monument to Governor Simcoe Selected.

The model for the statue to be erected in memory of Governor Simcoe has been selected by the committee appointed for that purpose, and the chosen one is the model submitted by a Toronto sculptor—Mr.
 Walter S. Allward—who designed the Northwest volunteers' monument which stands in Queen's Park. Nine designs were presented to the committee from competitors in France, Scotland, the United States and Canada,
 and Mr. Allward's model was chosen only after a long and careful scrutiny upon the part of the committee.
 The design was approved at by a process of elimination, and after some time the number of models under consideration was narrowed down to three. Mr. Allward's conception finally carrying off the prize.

The figure of Governor Simcoe will be of bronze, and will be nine feet
 in height. The intention of the sculptor was to present Governor Simcoe
 in both his military and civic capacities, and the figure will be represented as clothed in a mess uniform.
 The model is of exceptional beauty,
 and both the originality of the conception and the treatment accorded it by Mr. Allward excited the greatest admiration.

UNDEVELOPED WEALTH.

North-West Canada to Solve the Food and Fuel Problem.

A block of territory a thousand miles square, 640,000,000 consecutive acres of the richest pasture lands in the world, which yield on cultivation the strongest and best grain ever put on any market.
 Consisting of the underlying this immense area, are the largest coal fields that have ever yet been discovered; large enough to solve the fuel problem for an indefinite period;
 gold, silver and copper, are in abundance, and, above all, there is any quantity of water power.

Such is Northwest Canada, as described at the Royal Colonial Institute recently by the Rev. John Mc-Dougall; and all this rich country is in touch with the home markets
 through British routes, no foreign power lying in between.

"Let the British Government," urged Mr. McDougall, "take a practical interest in this great portion of our Empire; turn the trend of emigration that way, people these immense areas, multiply the producing power of the nation, and thus secure to the home country a sure and certain food supply, as also an ever-increasing field for commercial enterprise and in the investment of capital."—London Express.

REPOSE OF BODY AND MIND.

ANNE H. PENNOCK Writes on the Subject in Health Magazine.

We cannot write or talk too much of repose in this busy, hustling world,
 where people are keyed to such high nerve tension. More mental quiet is an unconscious demand of the race today. Healthy repose of body is a symbol of strength and power of mind.

On every side we meet with this mental unrest, this struggle with burdens of some variety, until from the expenditure of nerve force a large number are among the never-well, always-tired class, after which follows the morbid, and finally the insane.

By repose we do not mean idleness
 or sluggishness; but we mean steady, quiet, life-building activity. Every healthy child is brimful of active life,
 but it is restless only under artificial conditions.

If repose is power then we cannot too
 early train the child to observe times of daily silence, short intervals when both mind and body rest. Our public schools should cultivate more repose on the part of both teacher and pupil, for in the school hours much of the moulding of the race. These practical psychological and physiological lessons can be incidentally taught and would result in a freer, healthier and happier people. The schools would send home fewer tired nerves if relaxation and energizing were more frequently alternated during the day.

Train the mind to free the nerves,
 relax the muscles and lay the inert body down to natural sleep. If you are not able to keep the body still you cannot control the mind; then begin by training the body to lie in repose.
 Focus the thought force on using the right nerves and correct muscles for the immediate work and let those off
 of duty rest.

If every person weighed down with cares and tired muscles would thoroughly relax for a short period daily
 they could retain and generate force sufficient to accomplish the remainder of the day's work without exhaustion,
 and the mind would thus be able to evolve new plans and ideas.

It would be a blessing to humanity
 if there were retreats throughout the business part of every city for times
 of silence interspersed with music; music because it possesses that special power to quiet and harmony.

Many persons never enter a car or boat, read, teach or listen that the nerve tension does not increase, muscles contract, wrinkles come and a sufficient amount of nerve force is wasted to have prevented any bodily discomfort or fatigue. Why? From ignorance how to run their own machinery.
 Note how many in conversation talk
 all over; it tires one to see every nerve and muscle expending force for one duty. Mark the irregular up scale of the voice of the many tired mothers
 and teachers; then they wonder why they fail to discipline the children. The loss of force has weakened the nerves
 and the soul cannot express powerfully
 through them.

Those who have young girls in charge will soon note how strongly people live in their emotional nature, vacillating between elation and depression. There is a difference between true and false feeling.
 You have to reach the girl on the aesthetic side; of the leading character and equipoise are beautiful as well as beautiful. Much of this sensitiveness, self-pity, sympathy, self-consciousness, self-centred and uncontrollable temper contract the nerves until it becomes a disease.

Our Machinists are the Finest on Earth.

One of the greatest obstacles to the general introduction of American machine tools into continental Europe is the ignorance of the average European machinist. This is especially true of the higher class of machine tools. The intelligence which enables an American mechanic to understand and operate a machine seems to be dormant or entirely wanting in his European brother.
 The American manufacturer quotes the sales manager of one of the leading manufacturing of machine tools in this country as saying: "Install a fine machine in a shop on the continent, and unless the maker has sent with it from the works an expert to break the dun-derheads into the using of it, the chances are three to one that the perfect mechanism will be a wreck inside of forty-eight hours after the power is applied to it. Accustomed to work with tools that are crude and simple,
 compared with a ingenious and intricate American inventions, the operating machinists of Europe are slow to comprehend the latter and often do them a lot of damage by stupid handling. These facts are so well recognized by our machine tool builders that when giving an estimate on any considerable amount of work, care is had to add enough to the price to cover the sending of a man, or men, to install the machines and stay with them until they have proved their merits."

A BIT OF DIPLOMACY.

CLEVER TRICK OF AN ENGLISH GOVERNOR OF THE PORT OF ADEN.

The Curious Story Connected With the White House of Bab-el-Mandeb. A Monument of the Undoing of a French Admiral.

On the foreshore of the Arabian coast in the strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, at the southern entrance to the Red sea, stands a large white house concerning which the travelers to the far east may hear a curious story. In the middle of the nineteenth century, when M. de Lesseps, after many difficulties, had successfully floated the Suez Canal company, the governor of the British port of Aden, about 100 miles distant, was surprised one morning by the visit of a French squadron of very unusual size for that part of the orient which, having encountered a terrific storm off Sokatra, had put in for repairs.

In the mind of the governor curiosity was at once aroused as to the destination of so large a command, a curiosity which increased as he found it impossible to extract any further information from the French admiral or his officers beyond the statement that they were upon an ordinary cruise, an explanation which the former was not the least inclined to believe.

Firm in the belief, therefore, that some political move of great importance was afoot if not afoot, the governor, in order first of all to gain time, gave orders to go very tortoise-like on the repairs and then set to work to take the Frenchmen off their guard by giving a succession of such entertainments as both his slender means and the awful barrenness of the place would afford.

But though at the end of two weeks the French and British officers had got upon the best of terms the immediate destination of the French squadron remained as much of a mystery to the governor of Aden as before, and in spite of all possible delay the repairs were nearly completed.

Now, it happened that the wife of the governor possessed an Irish maid, who had been receiving attentions from one of the French petty officers—attentions which the girl did not regard seriously. It occurred to the governor that by such means something might be learned of his unexpected visitor's plans, and a private conversation between the governor's wife and her maid resulted in another between the latter and her French admirer, by which it was discovered that Perim island was the objective point.

At this information the governor opened his eyes wide indeed, for if the Suez canal were cut through, Perim, as commanding the southern entrance to the Red sea, in the middle of the strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, would be a place of great strategic importance, over which, without doubt, it was the intention of the French admiral to hoist the tricolor.

Secretly giving orders, therefore, for a gunboat to immediately embark a detachment of soldiers and steal away in the night for Perim island, the governor then announced a farewell banquet and ball for the day but one following, a final act of courtesy with which the French admiral would willingly have dispensed, for he was anxious to sail, but which he could not well refuse on account of the use he had made of the British supplies and machinery at Aden.

So the dinner and party in due course came off, the governor being in high spirits, because in the meantime he had received the news of the occupation of Perim, which under the circumstances would surely be followed by the longed for promotion, and the French admiral was equally happy, for he hoped on the morrow to add the same important little speck of land to the dominion of his own country, thereby covering his breast with the stars and himself with maritime glory.

Next day, after an interchange of cordial farewells, the French squadron sailed away to an apparently unknown destination, until, when clear of the land, the course was laid full speed direct for Perim island.

Then what was the dismay and disappointment of the French admiral and his officers when, on coming in sight of their destination, they beheld the British flag flying and a company of soldiers drawn up to give them a proper salute. It is said the French admiral was so mortified at being thus outwitted that he first flung his cocked hat overboard and then followed it himself into the sea.

Be this as it may, as Perim was clearly already occupied by the British, the only counter move which the French could make was to take possession of a strip of the foreshore on the opposite Arabian coast, where they built the fortified white house in question, but as the place was entirely at the mercy of the guns on Perim island it was shortly abandoned, to remain to this day as a monument of a French admiral's undoing.—Exchange.

Importance.
"I just saw the young Widow Weeds. She looked just charming in her mourning," said the pretty woman.
"I suppose," remarked her crotchety husband, "that you wouldn't mind being a widow yourself."
"Oh, it's hateful of you to talk that way, when you know I've got a blue silk waist that I haven't worn yet."

The True Restorer of Vitality and Good Health

Is

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

There is nothing vague or indefinite about the kind of good health this is promised by Paine's Celery Compound. Among other blessings the great medicine gives strong nerves, health circulation, perfect digestive vigor, clear complexion, sweet breath, bright eyes and full mental power.

Every man and woman whose nervous strength is overtaxed, or whose life is a busy one, and full of mental worries will soon feel the invigorating and vitalizing effects of Paine's Celery Compound, and after the first few doses of nature's health restorer. Mr. R. McMullin, of Camden, N. S., sends in the following unsolicited letter: "For over four years I have been in poor health, and received treatment from two doctors besides using seven kinds of patent medicines. I also sent to New York and got a month's treatment by a special method, but no good results came from it. I was run down, suffered terribly, could not rest at night, and every morning had a severe pain in my back, dizziness in my head, and vomited bitter green matter, and had no appetite. I heard of Paine's Celery Compound and decided to give it a trial, and am happy to report that it worked wonders. The pains are all gone, I rest well at night, my appetite is good, and my health is now splendid. Paine's Celery Compound has worked wonders for me. I recommend it to all sick people as the best medicine."

The popular view of the relation of the blood to human character and conduct is marked in many a familiar expression. We speak of their being "bad blood" between people at enmity, of "blue blood" as indicating ancestry, of "black blood" as describing a treacherous nature, and in many another phrase mark our belief that in the mental, moral and physical man, "the blood is the life." The one basis of a healthful, happy and useful life is pure blood. With the blood pure, disease has no permanent lodging place in the system. For this reason the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the body of diseases which have their origin in impurity of blood. It absolutely purifies the blood, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter, increasing the action of the blood making glands, and building up the body by supplying the blood in quantity and quality such as is essential to a condition of health. It cures ninety-eight people out of every hundred who give it a fair trial.

A PROPER TREATMENT OF CATARRH.
reaches every affected part. Such a remedy is Catarrhine, which is inhaled into all portions of the throat, lungs and nasal passages, where it kills the germs, and cures the disease. Catarrhine is pleasant, safe and absolutely sure to cure. It relieves the distressed feeling in the head, clears the throat and nostrils in one breath. Positive proof of cure is found in the words of Mr. Kirk, of Kingston, Ont., who says:—"I suffered for fifteen years from Catarrh of the nose and throat, used hundreds of remedies, consulted specialists, but was not permanently benefited. Having personally witnessed a cure of thirty years' standing, effected by Catarrhine, I bought an outfit and used it for a month. It cured me and I am now no more liable to catarrh than if I never had it." This is most convincing testimony from one of Kingston's best known and most highly respected business men. It proves beyond question that Catarrhine absolutely cures Catarrh. It never fails; never harms; guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00; small size 25 cents. Druggists and Dealers. VALUABLE ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS.
Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid damp feet, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Polson's Nervine as an absolute reliever of rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than other remedies, its power over pain is simply beyond belief. Buy a large 25 cent bottle to-day, test it, and see if this is not so. Polson's Nervine always cures rheumatism.

She Was Plain With Her

Two women in the early part of the century lived in Virginia. They were noted for their common sense, and many of their sprightly sayings are quoted and enjoyed to this day. They were both Methodists, and their homes was a place of resort for the clergy of that denomination. One of the women, known as Aunt Sally, the following story is told:

She had a black silk dress which she was accustomed to slip on when she attended church. It that once, while conference was being held near the house, a Methodist minister who had enjoyed her hospitality and was saying goodbye ventured to remonstrate against her use of costly apparel.

"Well, Aunt Sally," said he, "you have been very kind to me and my wife during our stay at your house, and we appreciate your kindness. We will never forget it. But, my dear sister, before parting with you I must say that it has troubled my wife and myself very much to see you in poor health, and the fashion of the world. I notice with pain that you wear your silk dress every day to church, contrary to the rules of our order, and I hope that hereafter you will refrain from such a display of worldly mindedness. I do hope you will pardon me for calling your attention to it."

"But, my dear brother, since you have been plain with me I must be plain with you. Since you and your wife have been staying here I and my cook have some days had to stay at home and be absent from church because we were doing up the white dresses of your wife that she might look well at conference. Pardon me for explaining, and when you and your wife come this way call again."

Her History.

It was 5 o'clock, and in the big tea-house the office force was very busy indeed. The typewriter clicked rapidly, and the heavy pens scratched over the thick leaves.

In the height of the rush a woman entered the office. She carried a fox muff, and a graceful automobile reached to her feet.

"A stunner!" breathed several of the office force, and the young man nearest left his stool and said:

"What can I do for you, miss?" She smiled a bit coquettish.

"I have a great secret," she whispered, but somehow every clerk heard.

"Yes," she continued; "I am a woman with a history."

After this you could not have paid those clerks to return to their stools. "Are you interested?" she asked.

"Interested?" roared the tall pen scribbler. "Why, a statue would be interested in your history."

"And you will not discourage me?" "Never! Do not fear to tell us all. Now for your history."

She drew a fat volume from the folds of her automobile.

"Here it is," a complete history of the Boer war to date; 2,000 pages, 500—

In confusion the office force retreated.

"Run, woman, run!" shouted the clerk.

"What is it?" she gasped.

"That great!"

With a long shriek she rushed to the street.

"When they spring those gags, you have to take heroic means," grinned the tall pen scribbler. "Women's histories ain't what they are cracked up to be."

Jealous of His Prerogative.
A certain American State Governor was noted for being as tender-hearted as a woman, and the way he pardoned convicts was something awful. He was called upon by a committee of the Legislature, who very flatly, and in no uncertain way, told him that this "wholesale pardoning" must stop.

"Guv'nor Bob" looked at the committee, tapped a bell, asked for his pardon clerk, and when he came, said: "Make out pardons for every man who has been pardoned."

The clerk bowed and withdrew.

Then the Governor looked at the committee, who was staring at him as they thought he was going mad.

"Gentlemen," he said, finally, "I am Governor of Tennessee, and if this committee, or any other ever again seeks to interfere with my constitutional right to pardon, I'll sign every one of these pardons which the clerk is taking out. Good morning!"

Practical Demonstration.
A Scotchman went to London for a holiday. Walking along one of the streets, he noticed a head-headed chemist standing at his shop door, and inquired if he had any hair restorer.

"Yes, sir," said the chemist. "Step inside, please. There's an article I can recommend. Testimonials from great men who have used it. It makes the hair grow in twenty-four hours."

"Aweel," said the Scot, "ye can gie the top o' yer head a rub wi' it, and I'll look back the morn and see if ye're tellin' the truth."

Summer dieting that does not contribute to health, vigor and a happy disposition, should be changed at once. If the stomach is weak and irritable; if the digestive system is impaired; if the blood is overheated with tendency to produce eruptions, use Malt Breakfast Food instead of oatmeal and other blood-heating foods. Delicious in taste, light and refreshing to the stomach, easy to digest, are peculiar and prominent features of Malt Breakfast Food. Ask your grocer for it.

WAS TOWED TO THE CITY

Admiral Hadley's Barge Brought in the old Gun Boat Yesterday.

The Ancient Marine Warrior Will Probably be Located at Tecumseh Park.

"I think that the members of the Historical Society deserve the greatest of praise for the energy and enterprise they have displayed in raising the old gunboat and for the successful manner in which they have carried out their plans," said a prominent citizen to The Planet this morning.

Their work has certainly been successful. The boat has already been raised to the surface of the water and yesterday it was towed into the city by Admiral Hadley's steam barge and now lies at the foot of Stanley avenue as complete as when it was raised.

Samuel McCormack had full charge of the operations and did his work in a manner which reflects credit upon himself. The boat was set afloat on timbers, one under her bow and the other under her stern. It was necessary to do this as the timbers in the boat are completely water-soaked and would, if left without a support, sink in the water. Numbers of citizens viewed it last evening.

The Historical society have not yet decided what they will do with the boat. It is thought, however, that they will erect a building for it on Tecumseh Park and keep it as a relic of the war of 1812.

DEATH'S CALL WAS SUDDEN

The Grim Monarch Came Un-expected ly to an Esteemed Citizen To-day.

Deceased Was an Early Pioneer in this District—Much Mourned by Many Friends.

James O'Keefe, an aged and respected resident of this city, dropped dead this morning at the home of his son, J. T. O'Keefe, Queen St.

Mr. O'Keefe had not been feeling well for a few days, and last night he complained of being cold and weak. This morning, however, he felt better and got up and dressed, but immediately fell over on his face and expired.

Mr. O'Keefe was one of the pioneers of Harwich township. He came to this country from Ireland when a lad of four or five years. The family settled at Brockville, where he lived till the year 1837, when he came to Chatham and settled five miles up the creek in Harwich township. There was only eight acres cleared on the old homestead when Mr. O'Keefe took up his residence there, and from Chatham to the little clearing in the woods there wasn't a tree cut. He was married 50 years ago to Julia Kelly. Quite a large family was reared.

Ten years ago the aged couple left the farm to reside with their son, J. T. O'Keefe, Queen St. The mother passed away two years ago and the father has gone to join her to-day. Three sons and two daughters survive. They are J. T. O'Keefe, the well known drover, of this city; Dr. O'Keefe, Mount Clearville; Edward O'Keefe, Iron Mountain, Mich.; Mrs. James Taff and Mrs. James Blythe, of this city. The children residing at a distance have been summoned.

The funeral will take place Thursday morning.

WHAT HE SAYS

Passing Comments Disputed by City Engineer McNab—He Tells one on Himself.

The sidewalk in front of Irish Jack's Hotel has been levelled.

An order has been given to the engineer that the new sprinkler should be painted blue and the gearing red, striped with blue. Blazoned on the sides will appear the letters C. W. D. The civic level taker and general knowledge man says that he wants to see the good Conservative color prominently displayed.

Mr. McNab says that Larry Howard is out after the earth—which, he claims, the city is taking while it belongs to him.

The city engineer is somewhat of a stickler for well blacked boots. He says he used often to smile when he would see the farmers with muddy shoes visiting the Toronto exposition. The street Arabs would gather around the resident of the rural regions and pointing at his foot gear ask if he used a gang plough or a single horse cultivator to till the soil on his boots.

"The quickest man at repartee I ever saw," said the city engineer, "was Professor Baker, of Toronto University. He was also the greatest mathematician I ever knew."

"One day he wrote on the board 'Professor Baker will not be able to meet his classes to-day.'"

"We students rubbed off the 'C'."

and made the professor's statement read 'Professor Baker will not be able to meet his classes to-day.'

We were very proud of our work till the professor came in and rubbed the 'L' off the lassies. We then changed our minds about our exceeding cleverness and never monkeyed with Professor Baker again."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

DEVELOPMENT OF CHATHAM.

Chas. Fountain arrived in this city this morning on a visit to his brother, James Fountain. Mr. Fountain was born and spent the best part of his boyhood here, but left for the West over 50 years ago. He was quite surprised to see what a place Chatham had grown to be. He says that when he left bushes were growing all around the property where St. Joseph's church now stands. He will spend some time visiting here before returning to his home in Indiana.

FIGURED ON TWO.

A good story is going the rounds at the expense of a student of the C. B. C. Between the student and a young lady attending the school an exceedingly strong friendship has been formed, but nothing was thought of the matter until yesterday when an effort was made by a classmate to sell him a ticket for St. Andrew's Sunday school excursion, at 50c. a ticket. After looking at the ticket for a while the student, with a lingering fondness for the young lady classmate, said thoughtlessly—"I would like to go, but I cannot afford it." "It would cost me a dollar to go you know." Now life is being made highly interesting for a certain boy and a girl at the College and they are the mark for all the jibes and jests of their fellow students.

"We were very much pleased with the design you sent. It was beautiful and appropriate." The Victoria Ave. Greenhouses receive such words of commendation every day. Telephone No. 181.

RUTLEDGE BURIED

Dead Desperado Interred in Family Plot—Burial Service Could not be Used.

Streetsville, Ont., June 10.—Frank Rutledge, 12 years ago a simple village boy, a week ago a noted bank burglar and to-day a suicide, was laid to rest this morning in the churchyard that his progenitors gave toward the establishment of the Anglican church in this village. The sentiment which impels humanity to speak well of the dead is abroad in this community. To-day people are trying to discern the reasons why Frank, as they call him, is not alive to-day, living an upright, hard-working, happy life like themselves. If it were possible that the dead criminal could have looked on the assemblage gathered around his grave, he would realize if he never did before that the way of the transgressor is hard. It speaks well for humanity that everybody finds excuses for Rutledge so far as he can. It speaks well for the respect in which his family is held that they were able to secure for him a resting-place in consecrated ground, near to the mother who died long years ago, and to a brother, who had predeceased him.

THE BURIAL SERVICE.

Although the fact that his parents and grandparents had done so much to establish the church, in the shadow of which he was buried, prevailed to enable him to find a resting-place in consecrated ground, the order for the burial of the dead, could not be observed at his grave. For the rubric says: "Here is to be noted that the office ensuing is not to be used for any that die unrepented, or excommunicated, or have laid violent hands upon themselves." In the latter category Frank Rutledge must be included.

In the absence of the usual ritual for burial of the dead, Rev. Mr. Hughes Jones had, however, made a very appropriate selection of prayers. The Lord's Prayer, the Lesser Litany, which appears in the Communion service, recited on Ash Wednesday; and a brief collect asking a general benediction for all, constituted the brief service.

THE FINAL END.

The rhetoric that Shakespeare put into Mark Anthony's mouth: "The evil is oft interred with their bones," certainly does not apply to Frank Rutledge. Those who saw him laid away on the sunny slope of Trinity graveyard this morning tried to recall such good of him as they knew. Not a few were inclined to say that the undue severity of the first sentence upon Rutledge, which placed him at the impressionable age for four years actually, and almost for seven, in company with the most hardened criminals in Kingston penitentiary, was the beginning of the course which had its logical ending in the murder and suicide.
