RETURN OF LIEUTENANT HARRY W. HILTZ

Lieut. Harry W. Hiltz arrived at Kentville on Tuesday and was met at the station by his brother, Fred W. Hiltz and a vast throng of people. The platform was crowded with those who were ready to give him a hearty hand shake or get a glimpse of the hero of Courcellette. He was looking finely and had a ready smile for all. He immediately took the Canning train and on arrival at Canning, he was met by a great number of people and Dr. A. C. Borden read an address on behalf of the citizens and the Canning Band gave excellent music. Sir Frederick and Lady Borden were present in a gaily decorated auto and they took the returned hero in charge and autoed him to his home in Kingsport where the warmest welcome awaited him from his relatives and friends. Tonight Kingsport is giving a reception in his honor at his home.

LIUT. HARRY W. HILTZ
RETURNS FROM EUROPE

Interviewed by Morning Chronicle Representative

back the most cheerful men in the British Empire, although many of them are so maimed for life and others so badly broken in health by reason of the rigors of war that they will never regain their normal strength, the Corsican, the first mail steamer of the winter port season, swung into her dock at the West Side piers at eleven o'clock this morning. The ship brought 365 passengers, of whom over half were khaki clad, 825 bags of mail for Russia and 125 bags for Japan, as well as a large quantity of Canadian mail. The Corsican sailed from Liverpool on November 17, and reports a fair passage across the Atlantic without incident of any kind.

Prominent among the soldiers on board was Lieut. Harry W. Hiltz, of the famous N. S. Battalion, who, was the first Canadian to enter Courcellette, and who was wounded during the battle in a solitary duel with a German. Lieut. Hiltz is from Kinsport, N. S. overseas as a corporal in the Nova Scotia Battalion and finally worked his way up until he became scout officer for that unit.

Some idea of the manner in which the great British tanks fight was given The Morning Chronicle this afternoon by Lt. Hiltz.

"There are two types of tanks, known as the male and female tank," he said. "They fight in pairs, a male and a female. The tank carries two heavy guns and six machine guns and the female has to heavy guns and five machine guns. They certainly proved a great surprise to the Germans, and I might say to us as well, as they came lumbering along during the fight for Courcellette. They, of course, did better work than they have accomplished since, for the Germans became accustomed to them and know better now how to fight back. Nothing but a

"Fruit-a-lives" Builds Up The Whole System

Those who take "Fruit-a-lives" for the first time, are often astonished at the way it builds them up and makes them feel better all over. They may be taking "Fruit-a-lives" for some specific disease, as Constipation, Indigestion, Chronic Headaches or Neuralgia, Kidney or Bladder Trouble, Rheumatism or Pain in the Back. And they find when "Fruit-a-lives" has cured the disease, that they feel better and stronger in every way. This is due to the wonderful tonic properties of these famous tablets, made from fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. heavy shell will damage them in the least.

"It was funny to see the Germans attempting to destroy the one which got stuck in No Man's Land during the Somme offensive. They climbed all over it, throwing bombs at every cranny and crevice but could not harm it in the slightest. It looked like a big animal with countless numbers of vermin running all over it. Inside the members of the crew were as snug as a bug in a rug and were not injured in the slightest. We would charge over and clean the Fritzies off the tank with bombs, then the Germans would counter and drive us out, and this kept up until we had lost a good many men, and the scheme became very costly. So finally the big tank was dragged back to our lines."

Lieut. Hiltz said that the new British war machine travels about two or three miles an hour and when it comes to a trench the front part draws up after the manner of a caterpillar attempting to get over an obstacle. At night when the tanks are used, a white tape is run out ahead from the machine which serves as a guide for it.

There is not a blade of grass, not a brick standing on an another around the towns of Posieres, Combles and La Boiselle. They are wiped off the map as effectively as if the earth had turned a somersault and tipped off into space. Day and night the bombardment continues and the ground is churned up, ploughed, harrowed and ploughed again, and so the everlasting rain of shells continues.

Speaking of the bombardment preceding the attack on Courcellette, he said: "Behind our lines the Field Artillery guns were lined up, wheel to wheel, for miles, stretching along the tops of hills and down into the valleys, and when they let loose, say, it was an inferno of sound. The very earth seemed to rock, and the sun was almost obscured by the flight of shells across the intervening space between the British and German lines."

The Nova Scotia Battalion was the first to go over in the attack, and, as I was scouting officer for the battalion, I went forward first with a small party to reconnoiter. When we got up to Courcellette we noticed a large party attacking on our left and thought, of course, the main force had come up, so we went into the town. What was our surprise to find it still in the hands of the Germans, as it had been for months. We managed to get by and took refuge behind the wall of an old church, which was still standing. We waited there and finally saw the main attacking force coming up about 600 yards away, and we sallied out of our hiding place to have the first crack at the Germans.

"I walked around the corner of the wall, and whom should I meet strutting down the wall with German military pomp but a big Captain of the Prussian Guards. My revolver was still in my holster and so was his. We drew simultaneously and fired almost together. He got me in the left leg, but I guess my bullet must have beat his out for the hunk of lead went into his chest. I squatted down on the ground, while the boys who were with me finished him off.

"Of course, then there was a bit of a scrap and we fought pretty heavy odds, but soon the main body came up and it was all over, as far as we were concerned.

"No, we don't take many prisoners over there now, unless we have to," he said in answer to a question, "although the Germans would much rather become prisoners than take a chance on fighting with the bayonet. The big question over there is to get across No Man's Land and to the German lines. After that it's easy."

At Courcellette we had to charge about a mile and a half over open ground under heavy shelling, but the man who got across that space had the hardest part of his work done. It was a beautiful fine day and of course the artillerymen on both sides had every opportunity to punish the infantry. But the Germans are cool ones too, that is you meet with Germans who show every indication of great courage. Sometimes they exhibit quite a sense of humor which is not often appreciated by the Canadian Tommy.

"I remember one night a small party was coming in. We had been out for some hours and mighty glad that we were soon to get back to billet. On our way in we came upon a big German, a six-footer, lying at full length on a stretcher smoking a cigarette. Everybody was grumbling and out of sorts and wished the war was over. On seeing the Boche we thought he had been wounded, so one of our fellows said we might as well carry the poor devil into the dressing station. The others agreed and bending their backs they staggered over the rough ground, their knees wabbling under them for the German was heavy and the stretcher bearers were weary.

"The load soon told on them and after getting a short distance the party found that they had to rest, so they lowered the stretcher to the ground and squatted about 'taking a blow.' The German had been watching us lazily and enjoying his cigarette to the utmost. What was our surprise when he slowly sat up, then stood erect, sauntered over a short distance and carefully examined some debris nearby. Evidently thinking it was about time that his ride was continued he walked deliberately back and stretched himself off on the stretcher again. The boys were so astounded that up to this time they had watched him in open-mouthed astonishment. Finally one fellow who had been particularly angry and out of sorts jumped up and shouted, 'By the Lord Harry, you don't travel on my little jaunting car any longer, you sausage-eating German,' and rushed at him with his bayonet. Well its not worth telling what happened to the Hun any more than to say he never reached the billet either on foot or by stretcher and out there somewhere in France is a grave which holds six foot of German and the little wooden cross has an epitaph which reads: 'Here lies the latest German in Potsdam.'"

Principal DeWolfe Recruiting
at Yarmouth

The People's Theatre was crowded last night when people from all over the town and nearby county gathered to hear Prof. DeWolfe of Acadia. Like Major Cutten, who spoke last week, he came as a forerunner of Col. Parsons who will be here shortly on a recruiting campaign. Prof. DeWolfe is one of the most able speakers of the Province and his review of the world's crisis at present was a masterpiece. The Empire's great need of men and the duty owed by the young men to their King and country were dwelt upon at length. Other speakers were the mayor, Dr. Bambrick and Sergt. Croft. Post.

DESCRIPTION OF BUCKINGHAM STABLES

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. George Gates, Fort Williams, from Everett E. Fraser of Greenwich, brother of the latter who is with the Grenade Platoon, 219th Battalion.

London, Eng., Oct. 30 '16
Dear Emily and George:

Here we are in London and seeing a few of the sights, half the brigade are on pass in this City. It is some little town believe me! I thought I had seen cities when I went west and took in Toronto, Winnipeg, etc., but there seems to be no end to London.

It is four o'clock in the afternoon in this country, we have just come in from a sight-seeing trip. It commenced to rain so we hustled back to our boarding house for this time. It rains very easily here, just every other hour since we arrived, however, England is a very beautiful country and a very wonderful one to lots of us. We have seen more since we left Nova Scotia than we expected to see in a lifetime. We have written in the home letters about the neatness and beauty of the country we came through from Liverpool to our camp,—on the train which crept along at a pace of 60 miles an hour including stops,—and you will know from that we are pleased with Old England, but I would not swap Canada for her just the same.

We have been up to the Buckingham Stables this afternoon and seen some interesting sights. First we had to go to a man who issues passes to go through the place, then we handed our pass to a man dressed in a swell livery who took us through the stables. We saw all the horses, the carriages, harness, etc. The States have all marble walls, the stalls are large and open with wooden partitions and fancy brass trimmings. Ever stalls kept supplied with fresh clean straw all the time and behind the stalls there is a straw matting attached to an inch rope running along the length of the stables. We saw carriage horses saddle horses and all the others except the State horses which are cream colored, and are only used for Coronations, they were out to a farm somewhere. There are eight or ten black stallions for the King and Queen's own driving, they are certainly splendid animals. Altogether we saw about one hundred horses. Next we were shown the State harness room, first was the Coronation harness, the leather is sort of a dark red in color and all gold mounted, it has been in use (for Coronations only) since 1741. Each side of it weighs 145 pounds, the weight being mostly gold. The bridles are certainly handsome, (I believe they truly have got Delmaney's bridle skinned) they are literally covered with gold mounting. Then we saw many other kinds of harness and a solid silver saddle. We were then shown the carriage house or at least a small part of it. We saw Coronation carriages, waiting maids carriages, the late Queen's sleigh, which she used in Scotland, and a whole lot more, but the most important was the State Coach. It is beyond imagination, I have seen pictures of it in the movies and so on, but could not imagine anything like it. It is one hundred and forty-five years old and took three and one half years to build it. It is all carved oak, covered with gold and bronze. Has a footman's platform on the rear; when the King and Queen ride there are four footmen in attendance, for the Prince or Princess there are two, and so many for Coronations and so on—different numbers for different occasions. Then we were taken to the big shed where the Royal children learn to ride. It is about the size of your new barn and the floor is of soft sand about six inches deep so in case they fall they don't get hurt. There was a different man to show us through each apartment so it cost us a little for tips, but we certainly got our money's worth alright. I believe they are not supposed to take tips, but they all took them and bowed and scraped as if we were a part of the Royal Family.

After leaving there we took a walk up around Buckingham Palace, it is some place believe me! All we were allowed to see there was what we could see from the sidewalk. We had only walked around a part of it, when a heavy rain came along, so we beat it for home.

We have not seen Westminster Abbey yet, the London Bridge and a lot of other things but we hope to get a glimpse of most of them before we leave. On Saturday we were out to see a beautiful place of art where there are wax images of all the noted men and women of the past ages and all the noted criminals, war lords, kings and queens of different countries, etc. Then there is the Chamber of Horrors where there are shown criminals in the act of committing their crimes or receiving their punishment. Everything in these places is in wax and as natural as life. One has to watch out as he is liable to make an ass of himself by speaking to some of them. So much for what we have seen in London so far, all that we expected to see and I guess a little more. The city is all in darkness at night, except a few shaded street lights. There are search lights looking for Zepps out all night, we can see them shooting through the sky as far as the eye can reach.

We have not had much drill in this country as yet but get lots of it we expect when our leave is over. It is not much harder here than it was at home except physical drill which we get more of. We belong to the Fifth Canadian Division, which is expected to go to France in about five weeks, but maybe not. Well will say good bye for this time, with lots of love to all.

EVERETT.

P. S.—Some good gravestones would go good just now, we don't get them over here. You know about the carload the citizens of Kentville sent over with us did you not? They certainly made great eating and were much enjoyed on our trip, as was also the chicken dinner donated by Halifax City to the N. S. Highland Brigade. We bought some apples from an old lady at Milford while waiting for the train to London. They were No. 2 Ribstons shipped by George L. Bishop, Greenwich, N.S., we saw by the stenciling on the barrel. They had kept pretty well and looked well and certainly tasted like home. She was selling them three for a tuppence (two pence). Everything is as high here as at home, though I think they try to roast us Canadians, but we generally come out as well as most of them.

E. E. F.

At the present cost of the necessities of life to the consumer it is highly essential that the most be gotten out of the articles purchased. While boiling vegetables the nutrients soluble in water may be dissolved out and lost. The nutrients liable to be lost include protein compounds, mineral constituents and sugars.

The Minnesota and Connecticut Experiment Stations have conducted interesting experiments in connection with this subject. The first experiments were made with different conditions, and the loss determined. When the potatoes were peeled and soaked for several hours before boiling, the loss amounted to 52 per cent, of the total nitrogenous matter and 38 per cent of the mineral substance; when the potatoes were peeled and put into cold water, which was then brought to the boiling point as soon as possible, the loss amounted to about 16 per cent of the nitrogenous matter or protein and 19 per cent of the mineral matter; potatoes peeled and placed at once into boiling water lost only 8 per cent of the nitrogenous matter, although the loss of mineral matter was about the same as in the preceding case; when, however, the potatoes were cooked with the skins on, there was but a trifling loss of matter, either nitrogenous or mineral. In the baking of potatoes there is practically no loss other than the very little which may escape in the moisture given off.

To obtain the highest food value potatoes should not be peeled. When peeled, there is least lost by putting directly into hot water and boiling quickly. Even then the loss is considerable. When potatoes are peeled and soaked in cold water the loss is very great.

It has also been found that considerable losses occur in the boiling of other vegetables such as carrots, beets and parsnips. The loss in the mineral matter is serious as vegetables furnish mineral materials from which teeth and bone are formed. Vegetables should be boiled in large pieces and in as small a quantity of water as possible.

To prevent the serious loss which occurs when the water in which vegetables have been boiled is thrown out, the water should be boiled down and used in the making of sauces which are to be served with the vegetables.

Intense heat-resisting power is the feature of the almost imperishable fire-box linings of our own McClary semi-steel fire-box made in eight pieces—can't warp.

KENTVILLE, DEC. 1st, 1916.

HAS KENTVILLE DONE ITS DUTY

A military census of the County of Kings has been under way for some time and is now about completed. While the list may not be absolutely correct as people's opinions of ages may differ and some young men, new comers not on the voters list may be overlooked yet it is practically correct.

We learn from those who are supplying information to the official enumerator that there are in Kentville, married and unmarried, between the military ages of 18 to 45 over three hundred men who are not wearing the uniform and offered their services, which the Empire so much needs. In Wolfville the number is only 126, a much more favorable showing.

It is well-known that frequent comment has been made by people who have observed the large number of young men who are constantly seen in Kentville in civilian clothes, many of them without any apparent occupation. It is time now that many of them responded to the call of duty.

PROGRESS OF EVENTS IN EUROPE

Admiral Sir John Jellicoe commander of the British fleet has been appointed First Sea Lord of the Admiralty. His place has been filled as commander of the Grand Fleet by Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty commander of the British cruiser squadron in the Jutland engagement.

The Greek Crown Council has voted to support the Greek Government in opposing the Allies demands for the surrender of arms and munitions. There is much unrest and uncertainty in Athens. The French Admiral in charge will take possession of the city of any special disturbance.

The recent air raids on London has aroused the people and Premier Asquith has been deluged with the request that the Government do publicly announce that reprisals will take place and the Commons should notify the enemy that any recurrence will be followed by the bombing of German towns.

In the Southern Carpathians the Russians have advanced and capturing an important ridge and taking 711 prisoners and 6 machine guns.

The Serbians are still meeting with success and driving back the enemy while in West Wallachia the Roumanians are still retreating in good order. The enemy is still pressing them hard. At other points the Roumanians are more than holding their own.

On all other parts of the battle line there is little change. German submarines are still taking heavy toll in steamers from the British, Russians and neutral powers.

THE TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE MEETS

The attendance at the meeting of the King's County Temperance Alliance which was held at Berwick, November 24th, was small owing to the rush of work following the frosty weather, but, in point of interest, the session proved to be of the best.

The report of the Secretary showed that a considerable amount of work of various kinds had been done. The receipts, including collections at public meetings, donations, subscriptions, and pulpit supplies amounted to $401.51, and the expenditures for literature, traveling expenses, including $38 collected for Rev. H. R. Grant's allowance, were $114.14.

The discussion of the report revealed a deep interest, among the members, in temperance and moral reform, and substantial evidence was given of their determination to support the special work.

The following recommendations of the Executive, which were unanimously adopted, will indicate the scope and purpose of the concluding deliberations:

1-That a representation be appointed for each district to oversee the canvassing for subscriptions to Alliance work.

2-That the churches of the various denominations of the county be requested to hold at least one union meeting quarterly for the consideration of the application of the principles of Christianity to social problems.

3-That a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. E. M. Beckwith in view of the continued illness of her husband.

F. H. BEALS, Secretary

Yesterday was a beautiful fine day - Almost Spring weather.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade, which is open and free to all will be held in the Court House Monday evening, Dec. 4th, at eight o'clock, and promises to be very interesting. Important matters dealing with the present and future interests of our Town and County will be presented by prominent citizens and business men. The committees appointed to make arrangements about welcoming our returning soldiers, and on Hotels will probably report.

Quite an addition to the membership as well as the funds can also be expected as it was voted unanimously at the last meeting that each one would bring in the name of a new member with the annual fee of $1.00; this should make an increase of more than thirty as that number were present at the meeting.

One of the features that is to be commended and which is something new in most public meetings was that the November meeting was called to order promptly on time. It is to be hoped that members will be on time so that the record can be kept up.

In connection with the forthcoming Poultry Show the Canadian Rhode Island Red Club, Barred Plymouth Rock Club, National White Wyandotte Club, Single Comb White Leghorn Club and Canadian White Wyandotte Club are each offering handsome ribbons and badges for competition among members only. If you are a breeder of any of these varieties send in your name for a Prize List and become a member of one of these Clubs. Secretary's name on application.

Mrs. McClung Would Darn 17c Socks

Some men have criticized their wives for lack of economy, for want of thrift, for shiftlessness, for various faults, a great many of which did not exist, but not until a few months ago was a man ever known to grouch because she darned his socks. It is almost unbelievable, but true.

A "Troubled Husband" wrote the Editor of Everywoman's World, asking his advice on a matter of great import. His wife, he said, wasted time mending socks for which he had paid only 17 cents. His contention was that her time was worth at least 50 cents an hour, and that she could spend it more profitably teaching their eldest daughter some of the fine arts, or improving her own knowledge in the pursuit of more.

The publication above mentioned immediately wrote to representative men and women asking for their opinion and incidentally inquiring just what was the value of mother's time in the home.

Among all the replies received, none is more to the point or more enlightening than that of Mrs. Nellie McClung, the famous author, orator, politician, and suffragist. She says, in part:

"My sympathy is all with the woman who darns the seventeen cent socks, for she is really following out a beautiful and truly womanly instinct, of making old things new and weak things strong; and while her time is not being spent very profitably, at least it is not wasted. It is poor policy to discourage industry, unless we are able to substitute even greater industry."

The socks-darner might so easily do worse, and besides look at the good time she is having! This is really the age of short cuts and labor savers, when woman can, with these aids, save much time from routine work, but the question naturally comes, "What are they going to do with that time?" If they save time, only that they may lie in bed later in the morning and play bridge in the afternoon, what advantage is it to them or the world?

"If labor-saving devices merely give women the chance of growing fat and nervous, then it were better we never had labor saving devices. The woman who darns seventeen-cent socks is at least practising the habit of industry, and when she gets a broader vision of her usefulness, that habit of industry will stay with her. In the meantime let her go on darning. We have too many women now, who will not darn a seventeen-cent sock nor any other kind, but with the time thus saved they do nothing. Their attitude toward life is one continuous 'What's the use?'"

"There are many ways of profitable work opening up for women, and the War is opening up many more. We shall have women farmers, bankers, lawyers, stock-raisers, market gardeners. For these occupations we must have women of industry, and women who have acquired the habit in their smaller household spheres will be in direct line for these larger fields of action."

"The transition period is always one of danger. Too many women learn the first lesson, but never get to the second. They know that new socks can be cheaply bought, and that it does not pay to darn the old; but they have never learned to use the time to any advantage whatever. When you see a woman darning socks, let her darn! At least she is doing something!"

British Cruiser Newcastle Sunk

Berlin, Nov. 28, via Sayville.—The British cruiser Newcastle is reported to have been sunk at the entrance to the Firth of Forth, Scotland, November 15, by coming in contact with a mine, according to the Overseas News Agency. "It is understood from Rotterdam," says the News Agency, "that the British cruiser Newcastle, on November 15, in the North Sea, struck a mine and sank at the entrance of the Firth of Forth, while trying to reach a home port. The Newcastle, accompanied by two other cruisers. Of the crew of the Newcastle twenty-seven were killed and forty-seven wounded."

"The total losses of the British navy, with this loss, has, as far as can be ascertained, reached 121 ships, of 567,950 tons, not counting auxiliary cruisers and auxiliary ships."

Just cut off the corner of the carton and pour out the pure, clean, extra "FINE" crystals of Lantic Sugar. The All-Purpose Sugar. 2 and 5-lb cartons and 10 and 20-lb bags. Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., Power Bldg., Montreal.

"The English patrol ship, sunk during the raid of German sea forces the night of November 27, was the steam trawler Narval, which was engaged in the mine-sweeping service. Her crew belonged to the Royal Naval Service."

EVENING FOR CHILDREN

Most of our children are familiar with the morning hymn: "Father, we thank thee for the night And for the blessed morning light, For rest and food and loving care And all that makes the day so fair. Help us to do the things we should, To be to others kind and good; In all we do, in work or play, To grow more loving every day."

Here are lines written by the little mother in our home to the same tune, making an evening hymn the children like: "Father, we thank thee for the day, For all the joy upon our way, And now that all is dark o'er-head, Father, we thank thee for our bed. Help us from every foolish fear; May all our dreams be sweet and bright, Till we are waked by morning's light."

DIPHTHERIA IS PREVALENT

(Issued by the Department of Public Health, Nova Scotia) While there is no season in which we are free from this disease, it is usually most common during the colder months. It would appear that our experience of former years, in this respect, is to be repeated this year. Recently cases of the disease are being reported from many parts of this Province, and several communities are facing limited epidemics.

As in the case of several other infectious diseases, diphtheria frequently is so mild in type that it escapes recognition, and those who suffer from unrecognized attacks, not being restricted in their movements, may distribute infection to many of those with whom they come in contact. Laboratory tests often prove to be the only means by which a diagnosis can be made. By passing a swab of absorbent cotton over the tonsils, some of the organisms which cause diphtheria are detached, and may be identified by the use of laboratory methods. It is very important that a swab should be taken from every sore throat and sent to the laboratory for examination, as otherwise the diagnosis will surely be missed in many cases, and "missed cases" are without doubt largely responsible for the spread of diphtheria.

Persons who have had the disease sometimes carry the germs in their throats for some time after recovery, and during this time they are capable of infecting others. No one should be released from quarantine for diphtheria until laboratory tests prove that the diphtheria germs no longer exist in the throat.

Antitoxin, if administered in sufficient quantity before body is overwhelmed by the poisons produced by the germs, is a certain cure. It should be given very early in the course of the disease, so a prompt diagnosis is of the utmost importance. Given in a small dose to those who have been exposed to infection, it confers immunity for a short period, but seldom for more than three or four weeks.

Children are especially prone to be infected by the diphtheria germs, but a considerable percentage of children are immune to the disease. Probably not more than ten per cent. of adults are susceptible. A simple test enables us to determine whether or no anyone is immune to diphtheria. Should the disease make its appearance in a school or institution, this test should be used. Those who prove to be susceptible should then be kept under especially close supervision, and should be isolated on the first appearance of symptoms suggestive of diphtheria.

No matter how mild the attack from which one may suffer, one who has diphtheria may infect others. And of those so infected, some may develop the disease in its most virulent form. It is therefore the duty of everyone who has a sore throat to make sure that he is not infective before he mingles with others.

The Department of the Public Health issues a leaflet setting out the preventive measures which should be adopted by those who have to care for patients suffering with this disease. This may be obtained free of charge upon application to the Provincial Health Officer, Halifax.

The farm and premises owned by the Estate of John Doyle, deceased situate at Delhaven, Kings Co consisting of upland orchard and marshland, 20 acres orchard and 8 acres marsh lands. Infection of the farm is desired and information will be given to intending purchasers on application by the undersigned on the premises.

Two Canadians Escape From German Prison Camp

London, Nov. 22—Two more Canadian soldiers have successfully run the gauntlet of German guns and bloodhounds and safely arrived in London. One is a French-Canadian named Sergt. Joseph Turcotte, No. 16280, of the Royal Montreal, the other is Pte. Peter Nelson, No. 76227, of the 29th Battalion Vancouver. Both were taken prisoners while on patrol duty, the former on last Christmas Eve, Nelson on the 1st of November. Both men are in good health, and unwounded; in fact, they escaped through their acrobatic agility, such as the ponderous Teutons would not suspect possible. Turcotte was a fireman on the Canadian Pacific and resided at 346 Dufresne St., and was captured while searching for a missing Montrealer, and was taken via Lille to Munster. In this camp he made two unsuccessful attempts to escape, being penalized for so doing, then was sent in April to a camp near Riga, in which camp the treatment was horrible. He asserts that men were tied up and flogged on the slightest offence, or on suspicion. Owing to his refusal to take charge of a working party he was recently returned to Munster, where he was lucky in his third attempt to escape a fortnight ago, during which time he lived on turnips and cabbage which he plucked in fields. Nelson effected his escape about the same time. He also had made ineffective attempts to escape before. This time he heard machine guns turned on him. After escaping his whereabouts were first suggested by seeing young men cycling, which struck him would be impossible in Germany.

Canadians in Race With Death

St. John, Nov. 28—"It's a race with death all right and many a poor chap has been digging his grave all the time, only he did not know it," said Pioneer John Roberts, of Glace Bay, N. S., who returned on the Corsican yesterday, after serving for several months in France a member of the 1st Tunneling Company. He said that he was tunnelling down on the Ypres salient and knew the boys of the 26th Battalion very well. Pioneer Roberts was wounded while driving a sap with 3 other men. "We were driving a sap across under the German trenches," he said, "we knew it was a race with death for we could hear the Germans driving away on the other side of us, burrowing like moles. I tell you when you're underground trying to eat the other fellow out, and every minute waiting to hear an explosion which will more than likely send you to Kingdom Come, well, it's nerve racking work. This day the Germans won out, but it was a close race. We had got under their trenches and were coming out to set it off but the Germans got back first and their explosion caught us. We were all buried up for a while but finally they dug us out, and the entire party is still in khaki, but we are not worth much as fighting machines any more."

"When you're in those little saps you can tell when the heavy bombardments are on. I used to hear people talk about the ground rocking, and laughed at it, but in one of those saps you can feel those little tunnels twisting about like the body of a snake. Sometimes when we are not down very deep a shell comes through and then a new party is sent out to finish the sap."

On the subject of an election, the Winnipeg Tribune, independent Liberal, says: "If the only charge which an election could produce would be the substitution of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his entourage for Sir Robert and his present Cabinet, would there be any improvement in administration? We are not warranted by the record in so thinking. Then why indulge in the costly and distracting and dangerous (at the present time) folly of an election? None but a few machine Liberals or frantic Grit partisans want an election just now, and these want it not for any advantage it will secure for the country, but solely because they, in their rabid fanaticism, see, or think they see, a chance for party gain. All independents and, we believe, the vast majority of moderate Liberals and Tories are opposed to an election just now."

ENGLAND'S LIQUOR

(New York Evening Post)

That England is soon to imitate Germany in setting up a Food Dictator was virtually announced in Parliament notifying the people that they are in for a long period of war. No mention was made by the President of the Board of Trade of the extraordinary appeal recently addressed to the Government by one thousand of the most distinguished persons in the kingdom. It was signed by a score of Admirals, dozens of Generals, hundreds of leaders in finance, industry, medicine, education, literature and art. And what did they ask? That the Government withdraw all drink licenses throughout the kingdom for the period of the war. The argument in favor of such a course is well known. It has often been put forward in England since the war broke out. Not simply the money cost but the labor cost and the transportation cost, of the drink habit are dwelt upon. England has to strike the mightiest blow possible in the war, and finds weakened both in purse and efficiency by drink. The signers of the petition say that they are not "temperance reformers as such" but they believe the nation is ready, and should be called upon, to do what France and Russia have already done—that is, take off "the brake of alcohol" from the energies of England. To prohibit the liquor traffic during the war would be about the most startling thing the English Government could do; but it is not impossible that we may see it attempted.

THE ESSENTIAL THING

The Sunday School teacher was talking to her pupils on patience. She explained her topic carefully, and, as an aid to understanding, she gave each pupil a card bearing the picture of a boy fishing. "Even pleasure," she said, "requires the exercise of patience. See the boy fishing; he must sit down and wait; he must be patient. And now can any little boy tell me what we need most when we go fishing?" The answer was quickly shouted with one voice; "Bait!"

100 YEARS

and more, people with chest and throat troubles have tried to cure them by pouring cough syrups, lung tonics and the like into their stomachs. All a mistake! The Peps way is different. Peps are tablets made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tube—not swallowed down to the stomach, which is not ailing. Try a 50c. box of Peps for your cold, your cough, bronchitis or asthma. All druggists and stores or Peps Co., Toronto, will supply.

Two Zeppelins Brought Down Into the Sea By the British

London, Nov. 28—Two Zeppelins were brought down in Monday night's raid on the North East coast of England. The crews of both airships perished.

The destruction of the airships was announced in an official communication issued by the War Office. Both Zeppelins were brought down in flames into the sea, after being attacked by aeroplanes. One of them was destroyed while nine miles out at sea on her return trip.

The War Office announced that, although full reports of the damage and casualties inflicted by the Zeppelins had not been received, they were believed to have been slight. The following official account of the raid was announced this morning:

"A number of hostile airships approached the Northeast coast of England, between 10 and 11 last night. Bombs were dropped at various places in Yorkshire and Durham. The damage is believed to be slight. "One airship attacked by aeroplanes of the Royal Flying Corps, was brought down in flames into the sea, off the coast of Durham.

"Another airship crossed into the North Midland counties and dropped bombs at various places.

"On her return journey she was repeatedly attacked by aeroplanes of the Royal Flying Corps and guns. She appeared to have been damaged, for the last part of the journey was made at very slow speed. She was unable to reach the coast before day was breaking. Near the Norfolk coast she apparently succeeded in effecting repairs and was proceeding East at high speed and at an altitude of over 8,000 feet when she was attacked nine miles out at sea by four machines of the Royal Naval Air Service and an armed trawler, and was brought down in flames at 6.45 a.m.

"Full reports of the casualties and damage have not yet been received, but it is believed to be slight.

Huns Threaten to Squeeze Norway

London, Nov. 28—An Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company quotes the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, in commenting on the report that the Norwegian Government has conceded that its submarine restrictions can not be maintained, as follows: "It may be supposed that a final agreement will soon be reached, but, in addition to the submarine question, there is also the ecclesiastical question, and the position of Norway as an independent neutral to be considered. To maintain good relations with Germany she must alter her economical politics and accommodate herself to Germany's wishes.

Enlistments in Canada in October were the lowest in any month during war, and less than half the number of casualties.
