ALL ABOUT A PAIR OF KINGS.

By a Paper Writer, Through Written by Henry Watterson. From Watterson's Letter to the Courier.

While the bells over all the English churches are joyfully ringing in the jubilee year, and the organs and the choirs within are chanting "God Save the Queen," or words to that effect, the bells and the organs and the choirs throughout the little kingdom of Bavaria are making funeral dirges for the dead monarch, who is to be buried this day in his final place of resting.

You will forgive me if I dwell over-much upon and have seemed to take a disproportionate interest in this melancholy tragedy. It is, of course, the theme of all Europe, because in Europe that which relates to a king concerns all men. To me it has another import. I am something of a fanatic over collective sympathy for the species, albeit my regards are always aimed at the human race. I have not embraced the gratification of any national personal egotism. So, living myself for others and living my interests and serving God in my own poor way, I have the hope that I shall not die in an asylum. This poor monarch, who has been over his head and perhaps murdered his doctor, found happiness alone in isolation. He had fancied himself a great and noble monarch. He had fancied himself a great and noble monarch. He had fancied himself a great and noble monarch.

Free Gazing Under the Seal Act. From the St. Catherine's News. A correspondent from Niagara town writes as follows:—"Drink! Boon!! Guzz!! Such has been the order of the day ever since the late of May. The amount of drunkenness and intemperance apparent on our streets day and night, and especially on the Sabbath, has been the subject of universal remark ever since the Seal Act came in. Many of those who had been staunch supporters of the Act before are now as thorough-going drunkards as the able faces that they would vote against it if it came to-morrow, and our Seal Act supporters if they would candidly speak their minds, have been indulging in 'curses not long but deep' at their short-sighted stupidity in driving away from the town its country trade, as well as prejudicing the popularity of the Seal Act as a whole. And for what? To repeat in Canada the wretched and shameful fate that has made the State of Maine the laughing stock of the civilized world for the last 35 years."

Attacked with cholera or summer complaint of any kind send at once for a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial and use it according to directions. It acts with wonderful rapidity in subduing that dreadful disease that weakens the strongest man, and that destroys the young and delicate. Those who have used this cholera medicine in all its forms, and never failed to effect a cure.

Sullivan and the Boston Journalist. From the Baltimore American. Not one-third of Sullivan's scrapes have ever been made public. For two years ago he gained his fame by vanquishing Ryan, his newspapers of his native place, gave publicity to the numerous outrages he committed. It was assumed that he was young and inexperienced and would improve when he grew older. So he went on. Finally, one day, when he kicked his wife nearly to death at their home in "Loving place, Col. Geo. Eland, of the Globe, printed in Sullivan and robbing him the Columbus blood would satisfy him. So, with three or four of his close friends, he strode into the Globe editorial room, and demanded either the production of an apology from the paper, or the production of the man who wrote the offensive article. As this feature occurred the Colonel, cooled in hand, and asked Sullivan if he desired anything from him. He never said anything. Sullivan, however, said he would like to see the man who wrote the article. Sullivan, however, said he would like to see the man who wrote the article.

Always Have Them With You. Smokers cannot find a better cigar than those favored brands made by Dobson. His "General Middleton" and "General Grant" are the finest cigars manufactured. Ask your dealer's name. Smoke no other.

A Wife Shows Her Husband. A most remarkable case of identification is on hand in Toronto. A gentleman returning from the London Trade Exhibition to his wife to his home. The gentleman returned with his wife to his home. The gentleman returned with his wife to his home. The gentleman returned with his wife to his home.

Why Blind Girls are Exquisitely Formed. The Hindoo girls are gracefully and exquisitely formed. They are accustomed to carry burdens on their heads. The water for family use is always brought by this way. The exercise is to strengthen the muscles of the back while the load is thrown forward. No crooked backs are seen in Hindoostan. Dr. H. Spray says this exercise of carrying small loads of water on the head might be advantageously introduced into boarding-schools and private families, and that it might assist in the treatment of the present mania of dumb-bells, black-legs, kipping, etc.
